Big Death Rate in Santiago-80 Men Macheted by Spaniards-Reducing the U.S. Army.

Washington, Aug. 19.-The war department has made public the order sent to Gen. Merritt regarding the occupation of the city of Manila by the American forces. The order follows: "The president directs that there must be no joint occupation with the insurgents. The United States, in the possession of Manila city, Manila bay and harbor, must preserve the peace and protect persons and property withing the territory occupied by their military and naval forces. The insurgents and all others must recognize the military occupation and authority of the United States, and the cessation of hostilities proclaimed by the president. Use whatever means in your

PITEOUS SCENES Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I., Aug. 19 .- Some of the pitiful stories of death coming in here make one wish war was a thing of romance and not a reality. Here's James Scanlon, one of the Seventy-first New York, wounded at San Juan hill. He was shot six path that we took to get into the open from a clump of trees where we had been held in reserve. He been shot through the head, and was dying as fast as the blood came out of his wounds. Some fellows with me stopped to give him a drink, for we knew that he was thirsty, and I raised up his head so he could drink. "He could not even raise his hand when I touched him, but he opened his eyes and said: 'Who are you?' "'We're the Ninth,' said one of the fellows; 'take a drink, and you'll feel "'No,' said he; 'don't mind me here; I'm done for. I'm the Ninth, too, and I'm dying. Keep your water;

you'll need it up in the firing line, where you belong. They want you there; but I'm done." TO WELCOME SAMPSON AND

SCHLEY. New York, Aug. 19.—Rear Admiral Sampson and Schley, and the six ves-sels of the North Atlantic squadron that are coming to this port are expected to arrive some time this afternoon. If the squadron arrives Sandy Hook when expected it will be met by a flotilla of excursionists, and escorted up the bay to an anchorage off Tompkinsville. As the warships pass in at Sandy Hook the guns at Fort Hancock will belch out a salute

At Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton more salutes will be fired.

Judging by the number of excursion steamers and tugs being engaged for tomorrow, the river will be crowded with all kinds of craft, loaded with sightseers. A great many steamers and tugs have been hired for private parties. The parade, if the warships arrive on time, is to start at 10 o'clock from the anchorage off Tompkinsville. The warships will steam slowly up the Hudson River to Grant's tomb, where a national salute of 21 guns will be fired. They will then make a wide circle and slowly steam back to the man-of-wer anchorage. BIG DEATH RATE AT SANTIAGO. Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 19.-Yesterday morning, General Wood, military governor of Santiago, increased the lo-cal police force with additions from various regiments. There has been trouble from soldiers who have disobeyed orders, and there have been some thefts, several street fights, at least one murder, and a good deal of drunkenness, so that an exceptionally large force is needed to preserve order. There were seven Spanish transports in the harbor awaiting the embarkation of Spanish troops. The general appearance of the men is pitiful. There has been much sickness among them and within the last two days over 200 bodies have been buried. The death rate in the city is about 70 per day. The heavy rains increase fever among the soldiers and the inhabitants alike.

EIGHTY MEN MACHETED. Ponce. Porto Rico, Aug. 19, noon,-Reports are coming in from all sections of outrages committed within the Spanish lines. Doubtless many of these are exaggerated, but the rumors of a massacre at Ciacles are confirmed Some of the natives there took refuge in the belfry of the cathedral and fired on the Spanish troops, but they were overpowered and macheted to the number of 80.

Asked by the correspondent concerning the status of the Catholic Church in Cuba and Porto Rico, now that they were under the control of the United States Government, he made the following statement: "The moment the Stars and Stripes was raised over the conquered islands the Catholic diocese became subject to the laws of the United States, as did the dioceses of every other religious denomination in the The Catholic Church in Cuba and Porto Rico will, as usual, be under the immediate ecclesiastical control of the bishops and archbishops, as was the case before the war began. It is possible that in time a cardinal may be established in one of the islands, the same as here. In the meantime it is also probable that the cardinal archbishop of Baltimore will be asked to extend much the same jurisdiction over the church in the islands as he now exercises over the church in the United States.

"I have no fear that the priesthood of the islands, whether Spanish or Cuban, will not be loyal to the new sovereignty established in their country. It is the policy of the Catholic Church-a policy almost as old as the church itself-to support the existing government. [G. N. W. Special to The Advertiser.] Windsor, Ont., Aug. 19.-At 8:30 this morning William E. Jeffrey, a switchman, was run over and fatally injured in the Grand Trunk yards here. He fell in front of two moving cars while preparing to make a coupling, and both passed over him, laying bare his entrails and otherwise fearfully mangling him. He died in an hour after the accident. He was 23 years old and un-

To Secure Rest He Resorted to an

Opiate and Never Awoke. Berlin, Aug. 19.-At Picton on Tuesday, Harry Raymond Carter, a popular young druggist (formerly of this place), died suddenly under particularly painful circumstances. At 2:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning flames were observed issuing from the cellar of Carter's drug store. The alarm was given, and the fire, which gave considerable evidence of incendiary origin, was quickly extinguished. Mr. Carter, with his wife and child, occupied apartments above the store, and the household was naturally thrown into much confusion by the midnight alarm. Mr. Carter was himself noticed on the street, however, after the fire had been extinguished, and seemed to be in the best of health. Later in the morning he retired. Shortly before 10 o'clock his wife was alarmed at finding him in a heavy stupor. Dr. Kidd and Dr. Philip were hastily summoned, but the young man was past recovery, and expired shortly after their arrival. The doctors found that death had probably resulted from an overdose of morphine, but considered an inquest unnecessary. Deceased, who was only 25 years of age at the time of his death, was the second son of the late James North Carter, of Picton. He leaves a widow

Five People Drowned and a Number

Missing. Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 19.—A cloud-burst at Bridgeville, about five miles south of here, this morning, caused Saw Mill Run to overflow, causing great damage in the west end. Five people who were standing on an embankment when it gave way are known to have been drowned, and others are missing. The names of those drowned are: Regis Loftus, Mrs. K. Loftus, Mrs.

O'Shaughnessy, unknown child, unknown man. The accident occurred near the foot of Mail street, where a vast crowd had congregated to watch the rapidly increasing size and fury of Saw Mill Run. Nine people are known to have been standing on that portion of the bank which gave way, among them Mrs. K.

Loftus and her three children.

Toronto, Aug. 19.-The annual meet. ing of the General Sunday School and Epworth League Board of the Meth. odist Church was held in the board room of the Wesley building yesterday. Rev. of periodicals, etc. The annual report of the general secretary, Rev. A. C. Crews, was read and discussed. This report showed that there are 3,387 Sunday schools in the Canadian Methodist Church, with 270,239 scholars, being an increase of 136 schools and 17,783 scholars during the past four years. The home departs ment is a feature which has been developed rapidly during the quadren-nium. In 1895 there were 1,856 mem-bers. In 1898, 7,151, an increase of 5,-275. There has been a very fine growth of the Sunday school periodicals published by the church.

The Epworth League report was full of encouraging facts and figures. There are now 658 Epworth Leagues and 869 Epworth Leagues of Christian Endeavor, besides a number of other societies. The total number of Young People's Societies in the church is 1. 947, with 81,935 members. For missions the societies have raised during the year $12,159 80, an increase of $5,112 68 over the previous year. This has been largely the result of the efforts of the Students' Forward Movement for Missions, the promoters of which have displayed unusual activity. The Epworth League reading course has been a great success. Commencing three years ago with a circulation of 420 it has increased to 2,000. The general secretary gave a personal statement showing that during the past four years he had traveled 52,100 miles and had delivered 856 addresses, in pursuance of the duties of his office Resolutions of thanks to the general secretary, Rev. A. C. Crews, and to Messrs. J. F. Flavelle and Warring Kennedy, treasurers of the board were unanimously passed.

Five Boys Burned to Death in a Fatal Accident to a Tilsonburg Man-▲ Teamster's Terrible Death.

Tilsonburg, Aug. 18 .- A distressing accident took place last evening about 5:30 on the new railway bridge in course of construction over the Otter River, by which a man named Albert Brown was killed. Mr. Brown had only commenced to work on the bridge yesterday morning. The men were drawing one of the arge cylinders, used as piers, to its position, and while passing by the derrick to which the ponderous hammer used in driving the cylinder is attached, the leads or frame in which the hammer slides up and down suddenly gave way, and struck Brown, killing him instantly. The hammer had not been in use for some days, and was lying on the top of the cylinder, and it was the heavy timbers in which it worked that struck the unfortunate man. Berlin News-Record: The Grand horrible threat. Lodge meeting of the I. O. O. F., which was held at Galt this year, has been the means of a pleasing little romance, such as one reads of in dime novels or magazines. It is nothing more nor less than the uniting the lives of two of the visiting delegates until death does them part.

The romance opens at Belleville, where the Grand Lodge met one year ago. Miss Mary Louise Webster, of Elora, represented Myrtle Lodge, No. 17. Daughters of Rebekah, and John Jefferson Kenyon was a delegate from Beaver Lodge, No. 85, Ruthven, at the meeting. The two had never met At the close of the first day Mr.

Kenyon passed her while descending the steps from the hall. She made a casual remark to him which arrested his attention for a moment. He turned to see who had spoken, and on seeing the charming features of the young lady he inwardly said: "That is the woman who is to be my wife." It was a case of love at first sight on both sides. The young couple had several walks and tete-a-tetes before the Grand Lodge adjourned, and during the long months of the year which followed, Mr. Kenyon visited his Grand Lodge sweetheart seven times in the village by the

Both were delegates at the Grand Lodge this year in Galt. Thursday they took a trip to Hespeler on the street cars, and when he suddenly popped the question she did not faint or go into hysterics as many would, but took the proper view of the matter and accepted there and then. The license was procured and in a short time the Rev. F. E. Nugent, of Hespeler, had tied the e attempt to blow up Hill's house, bomb was exploded beside a win-Hill's house about 2 o'clock in the morning. No one was injured. Officers found that the deed had been carefully planned and carried out so skillfully that they marveled at the escape of the family from death. They discovered also that little in the way of tangible clues had been left. The men who had placed the bomb, though they left some traces of their previous subsequent movements, were a giant negro, trembled in his boots, and besought the police to put him tracked only a short distance.

The bomb, when it exploded, was resting against the sash a the north window. It had been secured in an inrious manner. With the aid of a antity of insulated bell wire, two ongue and groove boards about three inches in width had been spliced in such a way that their total length was 19 feet. A bomb, with fulminating cap, had been tied to one end, and a fuse of sufficient length to reach the ground attached. The board was close to the window pane on the side nearest Mr. Hill's bed. In the darkness of the early morning the fuse was ignited and the plotters crept away.

HOOLEY, THE ENGLISH FINAN-

CIER. Ernest Terah Hooley, whose recent gigantic failure startled the business world, was an interesting character. He was born in England in 1859, and started in business as a stock broker. Eastern Canada to Manitoba, and this year He has floated a great number of successful enterprises. A remarkable trait was his lack of modesty; he was always ready to be interviewed by press representatives, and delighted in giving to the public tales of his personal peculiarities and habits. He said that his successes were due to the fact that he went in for the big things. "If you go half-way up the ladder you will find it crowded with competitors; making money is more a matter of will and self-sacrifice than of luck and brains." But events have proved that a little mixture of brains with will and selfsacrifice might have saved Hooley a had fall.

One of his eccentricities was the collection of threepenny pieces. He had the larger banks of England save all these coins for him, and he bought them up at face value. He is a married man, and very fond of fast horses and swift yachts. Not long ago he presented a gold communion service to St. Paul's Cathedral, but the bankruptcy laws in England are such that the service will have to be returned, as it was bought within a limited time before the failure. They do Not Despair.

HAMILTON WON. St. Thomas, Aug. 19.—The Ambitious City aggregation turned the tables on the St. Thomas team yesterday. Pears was hit hard, but his support was anything but good. Friske, the ex-Port Huron phenomenon, was in the box for Hamilton, and kept the home players guessing all through the game. The Hamiltons clinched the lead in the fourth inning, piling up four runs. Mcvisitors, and Sheehan's sharp fielding for the home team were features. Dean also made a beautiful stop of a hot liner from Shehan's bat. Score:

the most important ruling ever made in which baseball figures. The case was a trial fairly and squarely of the legality of the much discussed reserve rule, a rule by which the players of a baseball club are held from one year to another. A strong point raised by the club's attorney was that if a number of employes have the right to agree with each other not to work for a certain employer, a number of employers have an equal right to agree with each other not to employ any certain persons; in other words, if it is legal for a number of employes to strike, it is equally as legal for the employers to make agreement for mutual protection. This view was evidently taken by Judge Buffington."

MRS. STEIN AT HOME SATURDAYS TO

London Adbertiser. ESTABLISHED BY JOHN CAMERON IN 1863.]

Lanaging Director John Cameron

London, Friday, Aug. 19, 1898. Their Interests Are One.

It is very gratifying to mark the attitude of the American press towards the Eastern trouble. With insignificant exceptions, the newspapers are strongly upholding the British side. The material interests of the United States in the Chinese question are parallel with the British, and the Americans, flushed with gratitude to Great Britain for her conduct during the late war, now see this more clearly than would have been possible had the old unfounded suspicions of British friendship lingered. It is a case where the heart is helping the head.

The American press not only reflects the moral sympathy of the United States with Great Britain, but urges diplomatic intervention in behalf of the British policy of the open door. This would strongly reinforce the British position, as Russia might well pause before defying the united protest of the two great Anglo-Saxon nations. Perhaps something of the kind has already occurred, as the tension between Great Britain and Russia seems to have been relaxed. However, if Great Britain should have to fight alone for the open door, which she is prepared to do, even the passive friendship of the United States would be of inestimable value. It would mean that the chief source of British food supplies would remain open, and that only a fraction of the British navy would be required to patrol the trade route.

American commerce with China is forging ahead with leaps and bounds. Already China is the largest customer for American cotton, taking $7,438,203 worth, or 140,121,035 yards, last year, as compared with $1,688,657 worth in 1893. British exports of cotton to China last year were 542,814,700 yards. When both nations see Russia threatening to shut the door on this gigantic trade, it would be strange if they did not act The New York Sun. a brilliant and influential journal, which has never shown pro-British sentiments until now. voices American opinion when it says: "We should be blind not to recognize the fact that, with reference to the Celestial Empire, there is between the English and ourselves a complete solidarity of interests. * * * Only through the reassertion and reestablishment of British influence at Pekin, and China's consequent recovery of political independence and territorial integrity, can we be thoroughly assured of a vast extension of our trade commensurate with the increased demands of a reinvigorated Celestial Empire.

American Editors in the North-West.

The Canadian Northwest, including Manitoba and British Columbia, has been visited this summer by a large number of American editors representing the leading journals of the Western States. They came upon invitation of the Minister of the Interior. These press tours have been features of Mr. Sifton's vigorous immigration policy, and we think very profitable ones. Some Conservative papers doubt their value on the ground that the visitors would not constitute themselves immigration agents and boom an exodus to Canada from their own communities. Nobody expected patriotic journalists to go to this extreme, but they have more than repaid the kindness shown them and have done great service to this country by the eulogistic descriptions of the Canadian Northwest which they have published in their newspapers and which will be read by multitudes who have had very hazy conceptions of our magnificent territory. The emigration from the Western States to the Canadian Northwest has been considerable this year, and must certainly be stimulated by the handsome advertisements given us by the American editors. The latter have not only done justice to the Northwest, but their articles, as a rule, have been as enthusiastic as if written by Canadians. We have seen a large number of long ex-sight seeing, which revealed the wonderful resources of Canada and its marvelous scenery, and of social intercourse which accomplished the other avowed object of drawing the people of two countries into a better acquaintance and more friendly relations. Most of the party, when they crossed the boundary, were at once in a terra in-Many of them perhaps expected that Manitoba would look much like the Minnesota portion of the Red River Valley; but the surprise was the American nation as being composed native longing of a splendid blossom, great at the fertile plains stretched of all the "social excrescences," away on each side of the railroad, all through a long day after leaving Winassured that the prairies on either side for hundreds of miles were of the same character and produce the finest wheat in the world. The country is new, and is devoted almost entirely to wheat; but there is every indication that diversified farming will succeed equally well when the country is ready for it. This was demonstrated by the flourishing gardens occasionally seen and by the splendid experimental farm at Brandon.

The Minneapolis Times says: From the Minnesota state line to Regina, a distance of almost four hundred miles, the train runs through a rich, though thinly settled, agricultural country-a country of wonderful possibilities. There room for homes and abundance for a contented and happy population of millions of freemen. * * Throughout the country between Regina and Calgary there are numerous mines of valuable coal, and the deep borings find a great deal of natural gas. But an account of the resources of this remarkable country-remarkable for its of its resources-would require a

These fairly represent the opinions of all the newspapers. The following excerpt from the resolution of thanks unanimously passed by the Minnesota Editors' and Publishers' Association, is an epitome of the general impressions of the visitors:

We are grateful to the citizens of the Dominion of Canada for the cordial receptions and hearty manifestations of friendliness accorded us on every hand. We were especially pleased with their repeated assurances of their interest and sympathy with the United States in the present war with Spain. * * * While we recognize in the grand and beautiful mountain scenery to be viewed from the Canadian Pacific Railway a great source of delight to the traveler, we are the more impressed with the great agricultural wealth of that vast empire reaching from the base of the mountains eastward to Winnipeg. Yet but partially developed, it is easy to see that this vast and rich agricultural area offers the greatest possible inducements to home seekers, and is destined become one of the richest sections of the North American continent.

The cost to the Government of entertaining the journalists was small, especially when compared with the results obtained. The visitors were the guests of every large municipality from Winnipeg to Victoria, and were royally treated. The sentimental value of this should not be overlooked. These people help to mould public opinion in their own country, and the kindness will also be better qualified to discuss Canadian affairs with intelligence.

A SIGNIFICANT MOVE

It is a notorious fact that our Ministers to Great Britain generally return to the United States strongly inoculated with a pro-British sentiment, and the fact that Col. There may be no formal alliance, but the position of affairs in the east is so critical and the interests of the two countries are so nearly identical that a common understanding would be for the advantage of both.-Brooklyn Times.

BRITISH AID

The Washington Star Says That America Appreciates It-Future Friendship Assured

[Washington Star.] The good feelings existing in this country toward England will be materially increased by the revelation made in the July number of the London National Review respecting England's action at the outset of the war with Spain in preventing a European coalition against the Uniter States. The story has for some time been current in the form of gossip, but the editor of the National Heview sets the seal of fact upon it. He gives it, as he claims, upon authority. The story is that Europe conceived the intention of making a European question of Cuba. She was, in effect, o take Spain's side and order the United States to keep hands off. France made the move, and was seconded by Austria. Germany when approached approved, but pointed out the necessity of England's co-operation. When England was approached the proposition was promptly declined. Mr. Balfour, at the head of the for-eign office in the absence of Lord Salisbury, refused absolutely to countenance it, and Sir Julian Paunceforte at this capital was advised accordingly. That killed the proposition. Without England's aid it could not succeed, and England's refusal of aid was in substance a warning to Europe that a combination against the United States would result in bringing her into the field as the active friend of the United States. That was a service of the highest importance, as any one may see who reflects upon what would have been the position of the United States had Europe, even with England as a passive observer, combined to lay down the law to this government with respect to Cuba. Such a challenge could not have been ignored, and yet the taking it up would have been to invite war with a combination possessing six times our strength on the sea, and standing armies of thousands to our hundreds. England objected, and the scheme came to naught.

POLITICS IN SOUTH AFRICA

(New York Sun.) The electoral campaign in Cape Colony has opened with a declaration of policy by the premier, Sir S. Gordon rian of the American knavy.—The In-Sprigg, that amounts to a challenge to a race conflict. In a speech to his constituents he said that the maintenance of British supremacy in the fullest sense was the issue before the elecrespective of other questions. He was under the British flag, but to repudiate the pretension of the Transvaal republic that points of difference between it and the suzerain power could be made the subject of arbitration by a third party. The tone of his remarks, which were approved of by the audience addressed, was pitched in the highest key of dominion, and pointed unmistakably to the possibility of an armed conflict. On their side the organs of the Afrikander party have unhesitatingly accepted the challenge conveyed in the dissolution of the Cape Parliament and the speeches of the premier. They point out that the action of the gov-. I sleep like a baby." Absolute change ernor and high commissioner, Sir. Alfred Milner, in granting a dissolu-Sir tion to a defeated cabinet, instead of following the usual British precedent of calling on the leader of the opposition to form a government, was unconstitutional, and say that, in the event of the victory of their party at the ballot boxes, Sir Alfred Milner will have made his own resignation necessary. Mr. Cecil Rhodes, being understood to be the cause of the alleged unconstitutional action of the high commissioner, will be opposed by the whole force of the Afrikander Bond in the constituencies for which he has been nominated where the Dutch vote is the strongest. The declaration of Sir Gordon Sprigg. it would appear, has been received almost in silence by the governments of the Orange Free State and the Transvaal Republic, at which more particularly it was aimed. The expedition under General Joubert which was sent into Swaziland in consequence of the troubles there fomented by outsiders, has occupied Bremersdorp, a point close to the Swazi capital. The king, Bunu, whose ill treatment of some subordinate chiefs had given rise to the Boer intervention, had been summoned before the civil court at Bremersdorp, but had failed to appear, and was reported to have taken refuge in British Zululand with a handful of followers. This has simplified matters for the Boers, who are dealing directly with the Swazi people, and are taking the necessary military measures to secure the tranquility of the territory against outside raids or local risings in the interest of the self-exiled the Transvaal Government is ra e loan of $30,000,000 at Berlin and the award of $12,500,000 against the Portuguese Government in the case of the Delagoa Bay Railway bring the out-standing dispute between Portugal and England once more to the front. There is a general idea that Transvaal, backed by Germany, will arrange the payment of the amount of the award through the Portuguese Government, and, in return, secure privileges over the road and in the Portuguese territory through which the railway runs. Whether the British Government will accept this solution of the question, which would interfere with its well-known desire to acquire a controlling influence at Delagoa Bay and in the Portuguese territory between the Transvaal and the sea, is open to doubt. A Boer control of the Delagoa Bay road, or even its complete neutrality in the hands of Portugal, with the continued independence of the Transvaal and Orange Free State republics, is, either of them, incompatible with British supremacy in South Africa as defined by Mr. Cecil Rhodes and Sir Gordon Sprigg. The results of the Cape Colony elections, of the Swaiziland troubles, and of the Delagoa Bay railway arbitration are therefore of much more than local importance, and, in certain eventualities, may become matters of international concern.

LOOKING BACKWARD

How the Present War Will Appear to People 8,000 Years From Now.

This is the way it will look to the critic three thousand years from now: "It is, of course, evident to the unprejudiced reader that the traditional account which has come down to us of the war between Spain and the United States has suffered at the hands of interested redactors. As it appears in what purports to be the official record. the naval battles of Manila and Santiago resulted in the destruction of two entire Spanish fleets, embracing a dozen of the finest ironclads affoat with the loss of but two killed upor the American side and three wounded This is so absurd upon the face of it that it must be at once rejected. But when we remember that at the time the engagement outside Santiago was fought, with the reported death of one man as the only fatality on the American fleet, the American army lost 1,800 on shore, then the critical historian does not need to disprove the fiction, but only to search for the sources of it. Battles at sea have always been far more destructive to life than those on land, that between Lord Howe and Admiral Ushant, one hundred years before, having cost over 8,-000 marines. We know, therefore, that the accounts of these engagements at Manila and Santiago have no historic verity whatever, but have either been retouched in the interests of the navy, or were from the first manufactured by persons engaged in the construction and sale of ironclads. official dispatches from both of the places to the Spanish capital, Madrid, have been found, with contemporary dates, denying practically that any such engagement took place. Gover-nor-General Blanco says in just so many words that "Cervera made a sortie from the harbor and escaped." However that may be, it is simply imin no sort of doubt. It would seem to possible that ten or fifteen men-of-war, most of them armored with iron and steel plates, could have been sunk, and hundreds of Spaniards killed, thousands taken prisoners, and the American loss could have been "two killed and three wounded."Interested motives lie at the bottom of such a report as that, and strongly as the tradition has been maintained, it must be rejected in toto as not only impossible, but absurd. Even the Books of Kings in the Bible, with all their wretched confusion of numbers, contain nothing so palpably fictitious as that. The priestly redactor who in his books of "Chronicles" falsified the earlier history in the interest of his caste was modest in comparison with the epauletted histo-

CURED OF ITCHING PILES OF 23 YEARS STANDING

M. T. Wigle, better known to every one in the vicinity as "Uncle Mike," was troubled for over 23 years with itching piles. At times he was so bad he would have to quit work. The irritation became so intense with constant rubbing that they became ulcerated and would bleed. He had been treated by many physicians, but found nothing that gave him relief. Reading in the paper the cure of a friend who had suffered in a like manner, and been cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, he procured a box. After the third application he got such relief that he had the first comfortable night's sleep he had enjoyed in years. The one box made a complete cure, and he says he would not be without it for $50 a box if it could not be replaced. Mr. Wigle is a wealthy farmer, well known in the community in which he resides. It is over two years since he was afflicted, and he has never been troubled since.

DEATH OF GEN. TCHERNAIEFF. St. Petersburg, Aug. 19 .- Gen. Tchernaieff, the conqueror of Tashkend, died suddenly on Wednesday. Michael Gregorovitch Tchernaieff, a Russian general, born Oct. 24, 1828, entered the Russian military service in 1847, distinguished himself greatly in the Crimean war, and attained the rank of general of infantry. On the con-clusion of the Crimean war he was first apointed chief of the staff of a division in Poland, and in 1858 he was sent to Orenburg in the capacity of aide du chef de la ligne du Syr Daria. In 1859 he commanded an expedition on Lake Aral, to support the Khorgiss tribes, at war with the Khivans. Then he was placed in command of an expeditionary force consisting of 1,000 men, with instructions to march from Orenburg, through the passes of the mountains bounding Siberia on south and across the steppes of Turkestan, and to effect a junction with an-other detachment under Col. Verevkin, which had set out from Emipalatinsk, in Siberia. He took Tchemkend by assault, and immediately afterwards unsuccessfully attacked (October, 1864) the important city of Tashkend, about 80 miles south of Tchemkend, and also in possession of the Khokanians. Having wintered at Tchemkend, he renewed successfully the attempt of Tashkend (June 27, 1885). It is stated Arabia, to the St. Petersburg Viedomosti, to the effect that Great Britain had recently assumed a real Britain had recently as a real Brit Russian dominion further southward. Tchernaieff disobeyed his orders, took Tashkend, and was afterwards welcomed most enthusiastically at St. Petersburg, and recived a sabre of honor from the emperor in recognition of his military enterprise; but from that date he was not actively employed in the Russian service.

CABLE NOTES. Gen. Augustin, the governor of the Philippines, has left Hong Kong for Spain.

De Staal, the Russian ambassador to Great Britain, according to a special dispatch from St. Petersburg, will soon retire from London, and be succeeded by Count Cassini, Russian ambassador to the United States.

Continuation of the Debate on the Constables' Bill.

Mr. Whitney and Mr. Ross Pitted Against Each Other.

Mr. Whitney Craves the Law-Mr. Ross' Defense of the Government Position plause)—of the practices in North On -The Right of Constables Should Not Be Attacked.

Toronto, Aug. 19.-The galleries of the house were crowded yesterday when the debate on the constables bill was renewed. THE RAM.

Before this, Hon, Mr. Davis, rising to a question of privilege, called attention to an editorial article in the Mail and Empire in reference to the charge made by Mr. Hodgens regarding the alleged purchase of a senile ram for the agricultural farm. He held in his hands a certified statement from Mr. Hodgens that this animal was imported by him in 1882, and that in the fall of 1885 he sold it to J. Glennie, of Guelph, and that he saw it at the Guelph farm in was there, he pointed out that the Hon. Mr. Dryden was not minister of Agriulture in 1886. That was before any pinister of agriculture was appointed in the province at all, and when Supt. Brown had charge of the college at Guelph. So that the charge that Hon. Mr. Dryden was guilty of anything wrong was entirely mistaken, was not borne out by the facts, and he hoped that the paper would make a retrac tion, stating the facts of the case. With reference to the charge that the animal had been purchased at an exhorbitant price in 1886, the records of the farm have been searched studiously, and it could not be found that in that or any other year any such animal had been purchased from Mr. Glennie or anybody else. (Cheers.)

THE CONSTABLES' BILL. Hon. Mr. Hardy moved the second reading of the bill respecting the election laws, without offering any remarks upon the bill. Mr. Whitney was received with loud applause by his followers. Mr. Whitney claimed that Liberals of Toronto could be counted in large numbers who were openly dissatisfied with the state of affairs in existence today, by reason of the government calling this session in an extraordinary manner for the purpose avowed by the government. Mr. Whitney criticised the me-morandum published by the government in the Globe. This was accom-panied by an editorial intended to explain and extend the memorandum. The Globe would never dream of publishing one word pretending to voice the sentiments of the government without their opinion. The Globe said that the right of constables to vote has been exercised for some 30 years without question. Why is it that honorable gentlemen of the government keep repeating day after day, ad nauseum, that constables should be allowed to vote, when the fact that whether they should should not vote has nothing to do Globe says of a verity was on all-fours with the proposed legislation of this government of 1898? The legislation in Ottawa was simply in effect etroactive legislation, declaring that these people had a right to vote. The speaker wondered bow much longer they would hear this contention repeatthat there was no authority anywhere for the suggestion that the Ontario Goernment had intended to pass legislation similar to and on all-fours with the legislation at Ottawa of 1887. Mr. Whitney went on to say that the right of constables to vote had not been challenged during the last precedent, because use result in that case was entirely different. Under the Dominion law the retroactive principle was of no avail, because the ballot was secret, and it could not be ascertained how any man voted. It was entirely different under the Ontario law. His honorable friend, the at-torney-general, asserted that what was right at Ottawa is right at Toronto, which was a very good rule, but the same conditions must exist in order to justify the assertion, and they did not exist in this instance. But if it was right at Ottawa, why did the government abandon the principle In reply to Mr. Hardy's request to give some reason why constables should not be allowed to vote, Mr. Whitney said that he had never said that they should not vote, but he in-LIFE SAVED.-Mr. James Bryson the law on the 1st of March disquali-He taunted Mr. Hardy with lack of Mr. Whitney claimed that the present bill did not cure the evil. demned section 13, which provides that in case of the disallowance of the constable vote new elections are to be ordered, and the seats not given to claimants. He objected to the second reading of the bill.

MR. ROSS' REPLY. Hon. G. W. Ross followed. In opening he said he had listened to his honorable friend, Mr. Whitney, making many speeches, sometimes dealing in argument, and sometimes in denunciation and invective, as it had been in the speech just concluded. In all his experience he had not seen the honorable gentleman so completely unhorsed and demoralized as he had been during the afternoon. The trouble was that the honorable gentleman had manufacture an earthquake, but the earthquake had not materialized. Touching the matter of the ballots, Mr. Ross said: "How is it if the one ballot is so secret that we have had the disclosures in Manitoba-(aptario a few years ago. If this ballot is so great a security of the independent electors, how is it that these disclosures have to be made? (Cheers.) Were it not for the numbered ballot, where would the honorable gentlemer opposite be today? What position would they be in? The argument in regard to the scrutiny and elimination of the votes they objected to would fall to the ground. (Cheers.) The very ballot against which they protest is the only conceivable excuse for any argument which the honorable gentlemen have offered so far. (Cheers.) Has there been any evidence produced in this house or out of it that the secreey of the Ontario ballot has not been preserved?" "Was the Dominion act of 1887 retroactive or not?" Mr. Ross asked. the Ontario Government's decision to Mr. Ross read the effect of the act. and declared that it was. Mr. Whitney had argued that the retroactive phrase had no meaning and effect. He could not believe that such men as Sir John Macdonald, Sir John Thompson and Mr. McCarthy put a law upon the statute book that had no meaning. It had a meaning, and it was that the law should be retroactive, so far as deputy returning officers, poll clerks and constables were concerned. Continuing, Mr. Ross said: The hon-orable gentleman (Mr. Whitney) said in some of his interviews-for the honorable gentleman has a habit of being interviewed, he delights to be interviewed-(laughter)-and in the Mail and Empire a month or six weeks ago, in reply to a question, "What is the feeling of the province with regard to the government at the present time?" he said: "Speaking generally the tide of public opinion is clearly against the government — (ironical 'hear, hears,' from the government benches)-and is growing in volume every day." (Laughter.) One would actually suppose that this was the rising of the Nile, and that the honorable gentleman was the great serpent in the bottom of the river that was lifting it up as the ancients supposed. (Laughter.) I am the great prophet who sees into the future! I am the leader with the wonderful political instinct who sees how the tide is rising! It is pretty clear to many of his supporters, some of whom are not backward to avow it. Well, we have reached the climax in this tide of public opinion. This house has met. Where is that tide of public opinion that is going to submerge the government and the Liberal party? memory has not failed me, Mr. Speaker, any of you who have an excellenmemory, who have heard denunciations like that in this house for the past four or five sessions will remember that this tide was always going to rise and we could no more sweep it back than could Mrs. Partington sweep back with the principles of this bill? What the tide of the ocean with her broom. was the legislation of 1887, which the (Laughter.) We are still here and unaffected by the tides that rise in the imagination of the honorable gentle-man. (Laughter.) The government is as sure in the public confidence of the country and the public opinion of it as it ever was. (Liberal cheers.) The majority at the back of the govern-ment, at the back of the Liberal party, ed by honorable gentlemen opposite is stronger today than it was after the general election in 1894. (Cheers.)

Mr. Whitney had asked the house to take a high plane, and not look at this question from a party standpoint. Was that the view which animated the opposition? He thought honorable gentlemen opposite were taking a very not been challenged during the last narrow view, and one very different nied that the Dominion case was a ottawa in 1887, when they cheerfully assented to the retroactive law passed by the parliament of that time. Mr. Whitney had charged the government with wanting to cheat and juggle candidates out of their seats. The line which Mr. Whitney and his followers were taking was calculated to have that effect. They were proposing to juggle men out of their citizenship who had exercised the right for 50 years. The government's legislation provided against the taking of seats away by technical objection. Mr. Ross then quoted a number of British cases, which, he claimed, would justify the government not only in passing reasdoing so when judicial decisions were awaited.

Mr. Ross proceeded to quote a number of cases of acts of the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments which he claimed to be declaratory in their nature. Mr. Whitney had asked for a declaratory law, but he really did not want such a law. "We have brought in a bill which will keep the honorable gentleman where he is," said Mr. Ross, in conclusion. "Hear, hear," ironically said Mr.

"Through the medium of the courts." Mr. Ross added, and he went on to say that Mr. Whitney would be kept in opposition for the next four years.

TORONTO'S BIG FAIR

Greater Attractions and Lower Railway Rates Than Hver.

Toronto, Aug. 19.-Arrangements for the twentieth annual exhibition of the Toronto Industrial Fair Association are complete. It's now evident that the list of attractions, including the Diving Elks, Performing Lions, Dog and Monkey Circus and the brilliant spectacle of the Blowing Up of the Maine, the Destruction of Cervera's Fleet, the Bombardment and Surrender of Santiago, and the exploding of submarine mines, and the blowing up of the ships and the storming of forts, in which the Royal Engineers of Halifax, a battery from Kingston and the Canadian Infantry, will participate will he presented on a scale greater than ever before attempted. T. J. Mc-Grave, Imre Kiralfy's manager, who is here to look after the spectacular productions, says that they will be far ahead of anything given at Earl's Court, London, or in New York. The entries, except for poultry and dogs, and they close tomorrow, the 20th inst., are all in and exceed all previous years. The managers of both the C. P. R. and G. T. R. say that the railway rates from all points in Canada will be much lower than they are ever likely to be again. Thus everything points to this being a banner year for Torouto Exhibition.

MOUSE AND DIAMONDS.

The Western New Yorker, of Warsaw, New York, tells a very singular mouse story. Mrs. Corning, of that city, being engaged with some household duties, took off two diamond rings and put them into a cup in the china closet. Shortly afterwards she opened the closet door, and screamed at the sight of a mouse, or rather at the sight of a ring in the mouse's mouth.

The mouse vanished, and then Mrs Corning looked into the cup. Both rings were gone. A carpenter was summoned in haste, and after taking up a part of the floor and making a prolonged search, he found the creature's nest. In it were If Mrs. Corning had not happened

The position of affairs will probably be brought to light at the re-gular meeting of the council Monday night. A FORMER LONDONER'S DEATH. About 9:30 yesterday morning the last dread enemy claimed all that was mortal of James Thompson, who might not inappropriately be called one of the "landmarks" of Owen Sound, so well were his face and figure known for almost 40 years upon the streets of this town. Mr. Thompson was an Irishman by birth, and, being a man of remarkable vigor, had attained to a ripe old age, being at the time of his death within a couple of months of 86 years old. He came to Owen Sound in 1860, and has resided here since then. In unteers in response to the call to arms to repel the formidable Fenian invasion of that year. He was an experienced and capable lock and gun smith, and nection with the Napanee bank rob- | for many years carried on a business in that capacity on Bay street. His unique and interesting workshop is still vividly remembered by many a resident of Owen Sound. Mr. Thompson has resided in his declining years with his daughter, Mrs. John Corbet, who, with Mr. Thomas Thompson, a son, have continued to reside in the town where their father spent so many of his most vigorous years. Two other children, a son and a daughter, and also Mrs. Thompson, reside at London, Ont. Deceased had been ailing all winter, and had not been down town since last fall. The Junta Sends Out Its Emissaries to Counsel Compliance With U. S. Regulations.

New York, Aug. 19 .- A special to the Times from Washington says: There have been conferences between Estrada Palma and other representatives of the Cubans with officials of the United States Government relative to the Cubans and what would concern them. Mr. Palma said that the United States would not consider the question of compensation of the Cuban troops, because there was no power in the government to do so, even if there was an inclination. He was told that the best that the Cubans could do was to advise the men in arms to disband, retire to their homes, and engage in peaceful pursuits. That the members of the Cuban junta recognize that this is the only thing to do is seen in the fact that emissaries have already been dispatched to Cuba with a view of carrying out the desires of the United States Government. These emissaries will try to persuade the Cuban leaders that resistance to the United States authority would result only in further distress to

The King of Italy receives $2,925,-000—the same sum as the whole British royal family—and the King of the Belgins gets only $625,000 a year. The private property of the sove-reigns is also very great. The Russian imperial family is the richest of all imperial houses, and probably among commoners also. Apart from his salary as ruler, which amounts to twelve and a half million dollars year-Romanoffs, owns 21,000,000 acres land in different parts of Russia. These yield more than $10.000,000; $2,-500,000 of this is paid in allowances to 46 grand dukes and duchesses, and the remainder is at the disposal of the czar, who thus enjoys the enormous income of $17,500,000 a year-$2,000 per hour.

The daughter of the czar and czarina, the infant Grand Duchess Olga, is the richest heiress in the world. The week she was born $5,000,000 was settled upon her. The sum was invested in British, French and foreign securities partment has received the following as a precaution against the possibil-

The Hapsburgs, the royal house of Austria, are very intle, if any, poorer than the Romanoffs. They own im-mense landed estates, and have also inherited large private fortunes. The income of the Austrian imperial famly is not less than $7,500,000, in addition to the grants from the state.

The Hohenzollerns of Germany have a private income of nearly $5,000,000 per annum, partially derived from tion to the grants from the state. large investments in New York. The Italian royal family has a private income of $3,000,000 a year, much of it also derived from American property. Thus the British royal family is the poorest of the great ruling houses. The Sultan of Turkey, as a despot. is, of course, fabulously rich. His and nual expenses are said to amount to $30,000,000 a year. Seven million five hundred thousand of this goes for the clothing of his harem, $400,000 for his own wardrobe, $7,500,000 for presents, $5,000,000 for pocket money, and an-

Gerard started as he met the brilliant flash of her eyes. They had the glitter of a snake's. He could not but recall those soft, clear, feminine ones, which, despite himself, were ever haunting him.

Esmer, from compulsion, consequently yielded, and, finally, with rather an ill grace, consented to accept the guardianship of Lady Davenant, a distant connection, and a widow, with two ladylike, pleasant, but passe daugh-

It would be wrong not to say the earl felt infinite relief in his cousin's absence. He saw matters all satisfactorily arranged at the hall; signed pa-pers, renewed his tenants' leases; then

Why did he so long to be in the metropolis? Why, on reaching Euston station, did he cast such a long, lingering gaze around. He dared not ask himself—dared not; for he knew very well he was possessed by a craving, an uncontrollable desire once-yes, if only once-to see that lovely countenance again, every lineament of which was impressed indellibly upon his memory. He knew he was wrong—that he was an engaged man. Still, he could not help it. Despite all his efforts he detected himself searching ever for that face as he traversed the crowded London thoroughfares.

On the day of the drawing-room he was sauntering down Piccadilly when Lord Hampton, an old college chum, broad-shouldered, frank, full of vitality, and cheery of countenance, came in his bon-homme fashion, sailing down

"Lethrington, by George! The very fellow I desired to meet!" he cried. "You are not engaged anywhere this evening, are you? Now, don't say you are, dear boy.By George! you mustn't." He had already linked his arm in the earl's and was piloting him down Pic-

"My dear Hampton, you do so much yachtin that I declare you are getting quite naucical in your manner. I shall expect to hear you 'shivering your timpers,' and 'splicing the mainbrace,' or something of that kind, soon."

The nobleman burst into a cheery laugh, startling aristocratic Piccadilly, but of so contagious a nature that many a face turned pleasantly towards him, as if he had bestowed a gift on them, as, in a fashion, he had.
"You are right, Lethrington, I delight in it, and, 'pon my life, I've half made up my mind to rig out an expedition to go in search of the north pole myself. But, to leave greater matters for less, are you engaged this even-

"Bravo! I am going to ask you. There are two or three capital fellows you know—old Cantabs, Limerick, and Dunleith—going to dine with me this evening at the club, and I want you to toin us.

The earl willingly gave his consent, and the hour not being far off, the friends bent their steps towards St.

The dinner was a very merry one; a blending of wit and good hearty fellowship, such as exists between men. Rather late the door opened and another guest entered.

"Hallo! here you are at last, Com-bermere!" cried Lord Hampton. "I thought you were not coming." "Better late than never, eh, Hampton?" replied the guest, taking a seat, and filling his glass. "I could not resist attending at the palace today to see Lady Westbrook, the to-be-belle of the season, and hence my delay."

"Excused — excused," e Hampton with a long-drawn sigh. "Ah, my dear Combermere, what a lot of broken hearts, what an awful amount of envies and jealousies Lady West-brook is heaping up for herself." "How do you mean, Hampton?" "Why, when a lady is transcendently beautiful, you may be sure she will possess more enemies than friends." "'Gad!" exclaimed Jack Doran,

"Lady Westbrook has made one victim already, eh, Combermere?"
"No, Jack; I'm safe," sighed Hampton, serio-comically. "And I'm glad of it; glad because I should have no chance. Still, I here maintain," and he raised his glass, "that Lady Westbrook, niece of the Marquis of Santyre, is so peerlessly lovely that she has not her equal in England. Come, will anyne present gainsay me?"

"Nothing is more diverse than masculine idea of feminine beauty," broke in Gerard, jestingly, yet with a throb of chivalry at his heart. "Consequently, for the sake of argument, I will take up your gauntlet, Hampton."

"How! You, Lethrington, know a su-perior?" ejaculated his host. "But, then, you have not seen Lady Westbrook." "I have not. Yet I will maintain," and unconsciously his tones grew fervent as he thought of that never-to-beforgotten countenance, "that her ladyship, whom I would not for a second disparage, does not surpass, if she equal, a face I know."

His manner brought a little volley of jokes upon him, which he received good humoredly enough. "Do you hear that, Combermere?" cried Lord Hampton. "A face exists "A face exists that excels Lady Westbrook's."

"As the earl remarked," said the guest addressed, leaning back easily in his chair, "on nothing do opinions so differ as female beauty, Still, he has not seen Santyre's nlece, therefore his lordship must own that his judgment is a blased one."

"True; but what do you say to our putting him to the test?" "By going to the opera this evening.
Patti, the queen of song, the sweet nightingale of choristers, sings tonight in 'Dinorah.' Lady Westbrook will be there, and Lethrington can judge." "Yes," laughed Gerard, "I can; but how will you? Unfortunately, it is out of my power to show you the face I up-hold."

"Never mind," rejoined Lord Hampton. "I am so assured of my wager and your honor, old boy, that I will let Viscount Combermere. "If you like, I will introduce you." The dinner having been rather prolonged the party instantly arose and repaired to her Majesty's.

As Lord Hampton had stated, Patti was that night to appear in "Dinorah," and the superb house, brilliantly crowded, presented the most splendid coup d'aeil conceivable. The young men, however, were fortunate to procure seats in the third row of the stalls. The latter, dress-circle, pit, and even gallery were filled, present, he nervously delayed letting only several loges in the grand tier had his engagement be known, was greeted the curtains yet closed. "Santyre is sleeping late over his Burgundy," whispered Hampton, "and the theater. Meanwhile, Gerard studied the numerous female faces. No; none there equaled the one he had beheld. He was so engaged when Lord Hampton's voice fell on his ear.

"Her ladyship has arrived. Now, my boy, speak the honest truth, unblinded by Master Dan Cupid." Smiling rather bitterly, as his friend's speech recalled how little he must have to do with the young gentleman named, the earl brought his lorgnon to the marquis' loge. Standing in front, as she glanced for one second with pleased admiration round the house before she took the seat, the marquis had arranged for her, was Lady Westbrook. As Gerard's eyes beheld her he felt the blood drop from his cheek, then return, sending a hot, surging throb through his frame. Again growing pale he sat down to conceal his agitation. "Well," whispered Lord Hampton, gleefully, "your opinion, my boy?" Controlling his tones, the earl re-

You have won, Hampton; I confess it. Never have I beheld a countenance so exquisitely lovely!"
"I knew it!" ejaculated the cheery nobleman, when Jack Doran whisper-

"Hush! the curtain is rising." Had it been one of the most mediocre talent, instead of the charming Patti, who sang that night, it would have been the same to Gerard. He had lost all his senses but one-sight, and that was engrossed by the Marquis of Santyre's box. Why? The countenance of Lady Lucille Westbrook was the very counterpart of the one he had beheld at the Euston station. That the evidently delicately-nurtured niece of the marquis could bear any affinity to that scared, neatly-attired lonely girl was impossible; yet the resemblance was most striking. Nevertheless, as Gerard studied the features more closely, and marked the animation and interest that played over the superb countenance as the opera proceeded, he felt that Lady Westbrook's bore greater refinement, and were more classically molded. [To be Continued.]

Largest Wheat Yield in Ontario Since 1883.

An Estimated Total of 25,000,000 Bushels-Other Products.

Toronto, Aug. 19. - The Ontario Department of Agriculture has just 18sued the August bulletin of the crop estimates for the year. The acreage figures are final, but the yields of grain will be revised in November from actual thresning results: wheat 1,048,182 acres; yield, 25,305,890 bushels, an average of 24.1 bushels per acre. In 1897, 950,222 acres gave 23,-988,051 bushels, an average of bushels per acre. The average for the sixteen years, 1882-97, was 891,144 acres, giving 18,022,748 bushels, being an average of 20.2 bushels per acre. The average this year is the largest since 1883, when 1,097,210 acres yielded only 10.6 bushels per acre. The largest crops for the last sixteen years were: In 1884, 20,717,631 bushels; in 1891, 21,-872,488 bushels; in 1892, 20,492,497 bushels, and in 1897, 23,988,051 bushels. The yield of 1898 therefore promises to be the largest recorded by the department since 1883. The big increase this year is partly due to the fact that only 25,159 acres were plowed up this spring, as against 55,477 in 1897. On the basis of acreage, yield and quality, the Ontario fall wheat crop of 1898 may be set down as the best since 1893 at Spring wheat—389,205 acres, yielding 6,714,516 bushels, an average of 17.3 bushels per acre. In 1897, 323,305 acres gave 4,868,101 bushels, or 15.1 bushels per acre. The crop this year is the largest since 1891, in which year 510,634 acres gave 10,711,538 bushels, or 21.0

Barley-438,784 acres gave 12,048,245 bushels, or 27.5 bushels per acre. In 1897, 451,515 acres gave 12,021,779 bushels, or 26,6 bushels per acre. The acreage has fallen steadily since 1890, when 701,326 acres were sown, but the yield of the past four years has been about

"Nay, I will go further," laughed with the control of $2,132,026 bushels, being 34.5 bushels per acre. In 1897, 2,432,491 acres gave 86,318,128 bushels, or 35.5 bushels per acre. In 1896 the yield was about 83,000,000 bushels, and 1895, 84,700,000. Rye—165,089 acres give 2,683,828 bushels, being 16.3 bushels per acre. In 1897, 187,875 acres gave 3,382,005 bushels, or 18.0 bushels per acre. The average of the sixteen years was 16.2 bushels. Peas—865,961 acres give 15,681,782 bushels, or 18.1 bushels per acre. In 1897, 896,735 acres gave 13,867,093 bushels, or 15.5 bushels per acre. The average the sixteen years' period was 19.9 bushels per acre. The total crop of 1891 was 18.300,000; that of 1896 was 17,500,000

Beans-45,220 acres give 831,698 bush els, being 18.4 bushels per acre. In 1897, 50,591 acres gave 981,340 bushels, being 19.4 bushels per acre. The largest yield was in 1895, when 72,747 acres gave 1,-414,988 bushels, being 20.5 bushels per Hay and Clover-2,453,503 acres yielded 4,399,063 tons, being 1.79 tons per acre. This is an increase over 1897 of 587,54" tons, and over 1,000,000 tons above the average of 1882-97. The yield per acre has been equaled only once in the past ten years, in 1893.

the past ten years, in 1893.
Other crops—Acreage alone can be given at present. Corn, for husking, has fallen from 335,030 acres in 1897 to 330,-714 in 1898. Silk corn from 202,055 in 1897 to 189,948 acres in 1898. Buckwheat 150,394 acres, and potatoes, 169,946, both practically the same as last year. Mangels increased from 41,175 in 1897 to 47,923 in 1898. Carrots from 12,025 to 12,418, and turnips from 149,336 to 151,-601. Rape shows 36,651 acres, as against 31,905 in 1897. Flax drops from 16,240 acres to 10,720 acres. Hops declined from 1,688 to 1,423 acres, and sorghum from 1,175 to 904 acres. Tobacco was reported in 1897 as covering only 786 acres; this year 7,871 acres are reported, of which 5,086 acres are in Essex and 2.140 in Kent. Live stock on hand on July 1—Horses, 611,241 in 1898; 613,670 in 1897; 624,749 in 1896. Cattle, 2,215,943 in 1898; 2,102,-326 in 1897, and 2,181,958 in 1896. Milch cows show an increase of 25,000 in the past year, and store cattle a decrease of 20,000. Oxen have dropped from 3,411 in 1896 to 1,780 in 1898. Sheep were 1,-677,014 in 1898; 6,190,350 in 1897, and 1,-849,348 in 1896. Swine increased from 1,269,631 in 1896, and 1,284,963 in 1897, to 1,642,787 in 1898. There is an increase of no less than 325,000 in young swine over last year. SETTLING LAND DISPUTES

The Dunnett and Thomas Properties Again Considered.

Sewer Committee Will Buy Land for Section B-Services of Consulting Engineer Chipman To Be Dispensed With.

After the meeting of the board of works last night the sewer committee held a session, and again reached a conclusion concerning the Dunnett and Thomas properties. It was also decided to recommend the council to dispense with the services of Consulting Engineer Chipman. All the members were present.

Mr. P. Mulkern, representing Miss Dunnett, said his client had asked $3,-000 for the property, but sooner than go to the expense of arbitration she as willing to accept the offer of $2,500 Miss Dunnett pointed out the nature and extent of damage to her property by the construction of the bridge. Ald. Belton thought Miss Dunnett entitled to $2,500 for all the property on King street, 250 feet, by 60 feet frontage on Thames street. Ald. Douglass said the engineer held that the city did not need the property, and asked how much would be accepted as damages. Mr. Mulkern replied

Ald. Carrothers believed it neces-sary to purchase the property so that the London foundry could be given a right of way.
After further discussion Miss Dunnett said she was willing to give 100 feet frontage on Thames street by the depth to the water's edge on King street for the sum of $2,500, on the condition that public swimming baths be not put up on the property to interfere with the business of the Sulphur with the business of the Sulphur Springs' baths. Ald. Belton changed his motion to accord with this, and

The city solicitor wrote that the London Rowing and Canoe Club would accept $360 as compensation for damages to their right of way, caused by the erection of the King street bridge The right of way is on property be-longing to Mr. J. A. Thomas and which the city expropriated.

It was held that the rowing club should deal with Mr. Thomas, and the council will be recommended to allow Mr. Thomas $1,000 for the property exagainst any claim for damages the club may make.

The purchase of property for section B of the new sewer system was considered, and left to the engineer and chairman, Ald. Cooper, to secure what they deem necessary. The sewer runs from the foot of the hill on Evergreen avenue across the Grand Trunk Railway and the street railway track. to the cove, and will be through the property of Messrs. Coveny, John Taylor and the Kent estate.

The engineer would have had the matter entirely in his own hands had not the chairman protested vigorously and referred to precedents to show that the chairman for the past two years had always been on such committees. The committee is willing to pay $150 an acre for the property quired in the Kent estate, and $200 for

Mr John Taylor's land. The matter of saving Mr. Chipman's salary was brought up by the mayor, who said that as the council had seen fit to postpone the completion of the sewer system, it would be well to dispense with the services of Consulting Engineer Chipman. He was informed that the city engineer and Mr. Ashbridge were able to go on with section B.Mr. Chipman's salary would be about $100 a month, and that amount should be saved to the city.

Ald. Carrothers asked about the baels upon which Mr. Chipman was paid. The mayor said that so far as the city clerk could find there was no agreement. There had been one framed, but not signed. A resolution of the council had been passed, though, to pay Mr. Chipman a certain sum every year besides expenses. Ald.Carrothers thought the resolution was that Mr. Chipman was to get $750 a year for 48 days' work and pay his own expenses. He was paid extra if employed more than 48 days in the year. The motion of the mayor to dispense with Mr. Chipman's services carried.

BOARD OF WORKS

Decide That Residents of a Ward Should Do the Ward Work-Sewer Dispute.

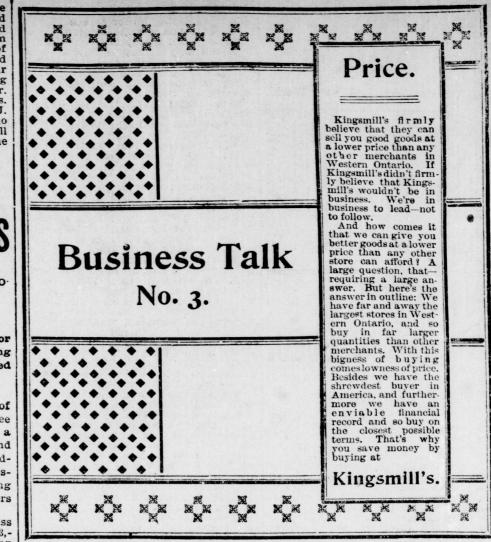

The board of works met last night. with all the members present, and dealt with some matters of minor importance.

Mr. Frank Gibson wanted permission to lay a small sewer on the north side of South street, to drain the cellars of his houses. Only three of the ratepayers were willing to sign a petition for the sewer, said Mr. Gibson; but a remedy had to be brought about. as water was lying in the cellars, and tenants were being ordered by their physicians to leave. Mr. Gibson was willing to construct the sewer at his own expense. The matter was left to the engineer and Ald. Belton, with power. Ald. Dreaney objected to a citizen living outside of the ward being engaged to spread gravel in ward 5, and moved to remedy the matter. His motion carried, and Mr. Wm. Legg will be succeeded by a fifth ward resident. The pay sheet for the week amounted to $449 73.
