TURKEY SENDS SEPARATE PEACE OFFER TO ALLIES

COUNT KAROLYI FORMS INDEPENDENT HUNGARIAN STATE

THOUSANDS OF PRISONERS ARE TAKEN IN A BIG DRIVE IN ITALY

British and Italian Forces Are Driving a Wedge in Austrian Lines Along the Piave ---Battle on 37-Mile Front Along the Brenta.

FOE RESISTANCE BROKEN.

With the Allied Forces on the Piave, Oct. 28.—The last lines of the Austro-Hungarian resistance on the central positions along the Piave River were broken today by the British, French and Italian forces.

The Austrians were dealt a smashing blow. It resulted in the Allies making new advances, pushing forward as far as Vayolla, which was taken by the victorious Italians, notwithstanding desperate resistance.

BATTLE ON LONG FRONT.

Vienna, Monday, Oct. 28.—(Vienna, London, Oct. 29).—A great battle is raging on a front of 37 miles east of the Brenta, according to the official statement today from Austro-Hungarian headquarters.

MORE THAN 15,000 PRISONERS TAKEN IN CROSSING OF PIAVE

Italian Headquarters on the Piave, Monday, Oct. 28.—Fifteen thousand prisoners had been taken by the British, Italians and French up to late today in the advance across the Piave, which for the third time in one year is the scene of a desperate battle. This time, however, the tables are turned against the Austrians, who are steadily being pressed back from the eastern bank of the river.

The battle now has been going on for five days, and has been marked by the desperate resistance of the Austrians. They have directed their artillery fire against pontoon bridges thrown across the Piave and their bombing airplanes also have caused trouble for the allies.

Once across the river, the Allies have had to overcome strong Austrian trench positions and machine gun nests.

Austrian prisoners declare that they know nothing of the political situation at home and the efforts of their government to arrange an armistice. The Austrian army command is said to have stopped the delivery of mails some time ago. Facing a strong cannonade and machine gun fire, the Allied troops succeeded in effecting a crossing of the Piave. The British, Italian and French soldiers are in the best of spirits and eager to continue the advance.

GERMANS USED GAS SHELLS.

With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, Oct. 29.—(By the Associated Press).—Activities along the centre of the American front began long before daylight this morning with a furious bombardment. The enemy opened a heavy fire with gas shells at 2:30 o'clock, which was changed to high explosives between 4 and 5. The American artillery responded. American patrols were active in Bantheville Wood all night.

FRENCH CLOSING IN ON GUISE.

Paris, Oct. 29.—Gen. Debeney's 1st army continues to close in on Guise, and has captured German first-line trenches and the barracks and hospital south of the chateau in the town of Guise, according to the war office statement today.

South of Guise, the French have passed beyond the Louvry Farm. They also continue to make progress on the right bank of the Peron River.

The official statement reads:

"The artillery fire has been rather lively in the region of the Oise, especially opposite Grand Verity. In the course of the night the French, overcoming the resistance of the Germans, approached slightly nearer to Guise. We captured the barracks and hospital near the railway station and the first-line trenches south of the chateau.

"More to the south, we have passed beyond the Louvry Farm. On the right of the Peron, French elements continue to progress east of Monceau-le-Neuf, and have taken forty prisoners."

DO NOT LISTEN TO SIREN VOICES

Once there was a man who wouldn't buy a Victory Bond because a couple of smooth individuals told him they would give him 10 per cent for his money. "And the Victory Bond pays only 5½," said they. So he lent them his money, and they gave him their note, and he would be very glad to see them if they would come back—which they won't. But he has learned this:

In lending money it is always wise to make sure: (1) That the security for the loan is adequate. (2) That is will continue to be adequate until the loan is paid back. The security for the payment of principal and interest on Victory Bonds is the whole Dominion of Canada—its mines and its forests, and its farms and all the other assets comprised in a country larger in area than the United States. And while companies may come and companies may go, the Dominion of Canada is sure to be right where it is now when the Victory Bonds mature. It is always where it can be found, and the investor in its bonds can sell them for cash any time.

Moreover, the interest he receives is as high as he is likely to secure from any non-speculative investment. The Victory Loan combines an attractive interest rate with unequaled security.

AN INDEPENDENT STATE FORMED IN HUNGARY BY COUNT KAROLYI

Program Presented to Emperor Was Refused.

IMMEDIATE ACTION TAKEN

Czechs and South Slavonians in Agreement With New Organization.

Copenhagen, Oct. 29.—An independent and anti-dynastic state has been formed in Hungary under the leadership of Count Michael Karolyi in agreement with the Czechs and South Slavonians, according to Vienna reports received by the Politiken.

In a speech at Budapest, Karolyi declared he had presented his program to Emperor Charles, who refused to accept it. Karolyi thereupon put into effect his plan for an independent state.

Count Michael Karolyi is president of the Hungarian Independent party, and has long been an opponent of the Government party of Count Tisza. He has been in favor of Hungarian independence and on October 20 submitted a motion in the Hungarian House of Lords for the disunion of Hungary from Austria.

In addition to being anti-German Count Karolyi has appealed to Austria-Hungary to make peace since December, 1915. On several occasions he has demanded in the Hungarian Parliament that Hungary make peace.

NATIONAL FISH DAY

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Thursday is National Fish Day. It is dedicated in a nation-wide movement to Canadian fish, to make it known, to develop the industry, to give more variety to the home diet and popularize for war time and after, the wealth of our own seas and lakes. The Canada Food Board states that if fish is substituted for meats on that day, 3,000,000 pounds of the latter can be exported to the Allies. Exceptionally large supplies have come into the hands of wholesalers and should be easily obtainable by housekeepers if asked for in time for Thursday.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES CREATING PROBLEM FOR SCANDINAVIANS

Thousands Flee From Cruel Conditions Imposed There.

MAY COME TO AMERICA

Food Shortage in Sweden and Norway Causing Alarm.

Stockholm, Oct. 26.—The overflow into Scandinavia of Russian refugees seeking an asylum in Finland has created such a problem that Dr. Hellner, the Swedish foreign minister, has taken up the question with Great Britain, informing Great Britain that Sweden has had to refuse to receive a new invasion of the Russians.

Thousands of victims of the Bolshevik regime have fled into Finland and have compelled the Finnish population to divide with them the already meagre supplies of food. The food situation has become so serious in Finland, it is reported, as to endanger public health. Some time ago the Finnish Government asked Norway and Sweden to give shelter to some of the Russians.

Forced To Bar Russians.

Although food is scarce in Scandinavia, a large number of Russians were permitted to come into Sweden and Norway, but recently the Governments of those countries have been compelled to inform Finland that they could no longer permit the unlucky Russians to enter. The housing problem in Sweden and Norway also is very bad, even if the food difficulties could be overcome by means of increased importations from allied countries.

In some Government circles in Sweden it is declared that the only rational solution of the Russian problem would be to send the whole stream to America, as Europe for some time will not be able to feed and shelter the Russians. Most of the refugees belong to the former well-to-do classes in Russia.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER IS OPINION OF THE ALLIED PRESS ON AUSTRIA'S REPLY

Most Serious Consequences Are Bound To Follow in Germany—Total and Irremediable Defeat of Teutons Is Only a Question of Time—Italians Can Invade Germany With Austria Out.

London, Oct. 29.—Austria's reply to President Wilson's is viewed here as an unconditional surrender. Although recognized as an event of intrinsically the greatest moment, denoting the breaking up of Hapsburg power, main interest in the situation lies in the effect it will inevitably have on the position of Germany.

"It removes," says the Telegraph, "any lingering doubt as to the total and irremediable defeat of Germany. Besides being a grave military misfortune, it involves ultimate crushing political defeat, as it destroys the monstrous fabric known as Pan-Germanism."

The Chroicle says: "It completes the isolation of Germany, which, if it decides on a war of defence, must be prepared to meet invasion from the Austrian side, where the whole Italian army will be able to operate against it."

The Daily News likens the chaos in Austria-Hungary to that in Russia, adding: "Chaos may soon follow in Germany."

Emphasizing the serious consequences for Germany, but reiterating, nevertheless, its former warning to the Allies not to make the terms for an armistice such as to sting Germany into resistance, the Post says: "It now remains for Austria's plenipotentiaries to go with the white flag to the Italian headquarters, and when Austria-Hungary has been disarmed and her armies demobilized, it will be for Italy and the Allies to decide upon terms."

OPINIONS OF FRENCH PAPERS.

Paris, Oct. 29.—"The Capitulation of Austria" is the unvarying caption with which the morning newspapers precede Count Julius Andrassy's note to President Wilson. The editorials of the newspapers, while accepting this conclusion, urge caution lest there be a hidden snare behind the Austrian offer. "Beware of the last convulsions of the colossal enemy who is not yet completely crushed," writes Maurice Barres in the Echo de Paris. The situation will not clear until military defeat is acknowledged or inflicted. It will draw in its train the central empires, including Germany."

Alfred Capus, editor of the Figaro, and all writers agree there can be a question of armistice only on the terms set by the Allies. Count Andrassy, they say, represents nobody, and, therefore, separate peace with Austria-Hungary is absurd and impossible.

The Journal says: "There is a unique opportunity to lay down a reasonable basis for the future edifice of Central Europe. The total dislocation of the Hapsburg monarchy threatens to strengthen Germany by the addition of twelve million Germans and Austrians and as many Magyars. A centre of gravity is necessary in Middle Europe. This centre can only be at Vienna or Berlin. What will happen if we put Vienna and Berlin in the same helmet?"

U. S. PRESS VIEWS ON THE AUSTRIAN REPLY

New York, Oct. 29.—Generally speaking the newspapers give scant space to editorial discussion of the German and Austrian notes. Those papers which do comment, epitomize the situation by declaring that any decision on an armistice is now in the hands of the allied war council.

The Herald says: "It is for the allied war council to reply to this Austro-Hungarian note, as to the latest note from Germany. The Austro-Hungarian plea for an armistice there should be the same reply that it is expected will be made to the German suggestion—'ask Foch.'"

The World says: "President Wilson has opened the road to Versailles. There Germany and its vassals will come face to face with their military masters. If their political reforms are true, their predatory divisions, still on foreign soil, will have to give up their arms."

The Times says: "As with quickening steps Germany and Austria approach the inevitable stage of capitulation they act and react upon each other with reciprocal incitements to further yielding. . . . Austria now gives up the fight. She is ready for a separate peace. It may be necessary to remind her, as Germany had to be reminded, that there can be no negotiation as to principles and terms; only specific applications thereof are open for discussion.

UNION GOVT'S UNPOPULARITY EVIDENCED IN LIB. VICTORIES

Ottawa Politicians See the "Handwriting on the Wall."

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—News of the defeat of the Unionist candidate in the Alberta provincial constituency of Red Deer yesterday, coming as it did right on the heels of Liberal victory in Manitoulin and Estevan, is considered in political circles here to be particularly significant of the growing unpopularity of Union. There are three Provincial vacancies still to be filled in Ontario, namely North Huron, North Ontario and Lincoln, and it is almost certain that strong Liberal candidates will be put up in all of them.

There are also three federal vacancies in the Dominion, namely: in Glengarry, in North Ontario, and in Assiniboia, and these the Federal Government is far from anxious to throw open. In fact, nobody here expects that the Government will care to risk a test of public opinion in these seats for some time to come. Moreover, reported changes in the cabinet are, it is stated, being hopelessly held up owing to this same fear of opening seats for the accommodation of whatever new men the Government might decide upon bringing in. As a matter of fact it is much easier to get rid of the present dead wood in the cabinet than it is to secure new material to patch up the holes.

INORDINATE LOVE OF FINERY REASON OF WOMEN'S DOWNFALL

Theft of Hats Brings Three to Court.

TEMPTATION TOO STRONG

But Bitter Tears Are Shed When Folly Is Realized.

The old, old story of the garden of Eden, minus Adam and the apple, but with the addition of two Eves and a couple of hats, was told in the police court today. The tale as it was unfolded before the magistrate showed to what extent some women will go in order that a little bit of finery should adorn their heads.

The oldest of the three worked herself up to such a pitch that at the conclusion of the case, she fell to the floor in a faint, moaning at intervals: "My God, what will my husband and boys say." It has been many moons since so many tears were shed in the old Carling street hall of justice. The women wept bitterly as they told the story of taking the hats."

Didn't Need Finery.

"They surely didn't need to steal pretty hats, any old thing would look good on their heads," said the young and unsophisticated police representative of one paper, as he gazed admiringly at the women. However, the women didn't.

"I really don't know why I took it," said the oldest woman. "It wasn't for myself. She asked me to do it. The hat was $7.75, and she said she only had $5. I took it while she engaged the sales girl in conversation. She said to me: 'Do take it. I've got to have it, and I haven't got enough money.' I walked down the street with it to Clarence street, and told her for God's sake to take it, as I knew I had done wrong."

Denies Asking For It.

The next one of the trio declared that although she had taken the headgear, she did not plead for it to be stolen. "When she asked me to take it, I told her I couldn't, I was too frightened," she said.

"I got mine at the same time," said the third member of the tribe. "I just took it," she went on amid much dabbing of handkerchiefs. All this time the trio had been working themselves up into a high pitch of excitement, and when Magistrate Graydon, in summing up the case declared that it looked to him like a case of preconceived theft the women were overcome and, as before mentioned, the oldest fell to the floor before Chief Williams and Sergt. Birrell had time to catch her.

The women were remanded to jail for a week for sentence. The millinery people have been watching for the appearance of their hats on the street since last August, and it was not until Saturday that one of the women had the courage to wear the lid for the first time

IN POLICE COURT

Five youths, Earl Hunter, Richard Watson, Edward Clark, W. A. Hanson and C. Smith appeared in police court today, charged with disorderly conduct. The case was dismissed, as Magistrate Graydon did not feel that enough evidence had been submitted. Arthur Wright complained that the boys had thrown some rotten apples at his door, and had told him he was nothing but "a big sparrow." He considered that being called "a sparrow" was enough justification for a police court appearance, but absolute proof as to who had pulled the Ty Cobb stuff and the insulting language was wanting.

William McDowell paid $5 and costs for using bad language to Constable Tomlin when he searched him on Sunday at the house of Alfred Hill, 905 Maitland street. The constable, reinforced by Inspector Keenleyside, paid a visit to Hill's residence Sunday, but found no liquor. Chief Williams was suspicious of McDowell's presence. "What were you doing there?" inquired the chief.

"Went over to see Mr. Hill about digging a cistern."

"You didn't get anything for your inside cistern, did you?" asked the chief.

"I did not," replied McDowell, in a regretful tone. "This is a spite case. Mr. Tomlin has been following me around for some time, I don't know what for."

Mr. Graydon accepted the evidence of the officials, and the fine resulted.

WIARTON HAS HALF.

WIARTON, Oct. 28.—Wiarton's allotment in connection with the Victory Loan is $50,000, but the very first day of the campaign saw a total of $26,500 subscribed, and this by only 38 subscriptions.

LONDON GOES ONE-THIRD OF WAY TO GOAL IN BIG PUSH FOR VICTORY LOAN

Almost $3,000,000 Is Listed on First Day—City To Go Beyond Its Objective — Enthusiasm Reigns Everywhere Throughout District.

The city of London is going to put over a real Victory Loan if the first day of the campaign can be taken as a criterion. City Organizer Jack Clark announced last night that $2,733,000 of the city's objective of $7,300,000 had been subscribed. The team-workers garnered in approximately $100,000 on their rounds, while the big share of the day's results goes to the Huron and Erie Mortgage Corporation, and the Canada Trust Company, which, Major Hume Cronyn, M.P., announced last night, had subscribed three millions to the loan. Of this, $367,000 was convertible from the 1917 loan. The canvassers received some 367 applications for bonds during the day.

One hundred and eighty men attended the complimentary dinner tendered the canvassers by Chairman George Reid in the Tecumseh House last night. The men received enough pep in the live speeches of Chairman Reid, W. C. Breut (district organizer), Major Cronyn, M.P., and last, but certainly not least, Capt. W. A. Cameron of Toronto, to last them not only through the campaign, but for months.

Shook With Cheers.

It was not hard for those present to ascertain just how the canvassers felt about their chief. The old Tecumseh fairly shook with cheers when Mr. Reid arose.

"I can't get a big enough word to express the size of last year's chairman, the late Sir George Gibbons," said Mr. Reid. "His loss was a great one to us all. A truer friend or more open-hearted man never lived. Although I can't do this job as well as Sir George, yet I will do my best. I know we have a wonderful organization, and it is bound to show results. I am specially delighted at the wonderful reception given us today by the special clients interviewed by Mr. Clark, and myself."

"Of course we had to use a small crowbar in some cases," continued Mr. Reid with that expansive smile of his, "but they all came up smiling and we generally managed to get them to come up some on their subscription. It's a privilege to buy Victory bonds and these people should have taken more than they can carry.

Feeling Is Fine.

District Organizer Brent, who followed Mr. Reid, explained the loan in detail. "The feeling is simply fine through the country declared the speaker. "London's quota has been raised to $7,300,000 while the country objective is $2,775,000. The divisional quota is $24,875,000.

"I find that very few farmers are opposed to the loan. It is not a case of 'Will you buy?' but 'How much do you want?' Don't be afraid to approach the people, Messrs. Canvasser. You are giving them one of the best, if not the best, of financial opportunities they will ever have.

"All this talk of peace is dangerous to the loan. I say that this is the time we should push the war with our greatest effort, and it is the money behind the men that will do this. Part of the loan has already been spent. The banks have been carrying the country since last June. I would not be surprised if the $1,000,000,000 mark will be reached the final Victory Loan," continued Mr. Brent, amid cheers.

Tribute to Late Sir George.

Major Cronyn, M. P., congratulated the city on its choice of chairman. He also paid a tribute to the memory of the late Sir George Gibbons. He declared that there were three reasons why everyone should support the loan—self-interest, duty and pride.

Capt. W. A. Cameron of Toronto, army chaplain, gave one of the most eloquent and inspiring speeches ever heard in London, and as a result the canvassers will go out today determined to outdo themselves. Capt. Cameron said that he knew as much about finance as a hen did of astronomy and as some of his audience did about going to church.

"We fight for no privilege except to retain our souls," said Capt. Cameron. "We entered as an act of faith, and only by continuing that faith shall we win through. Who would have dared to predict in 1913 the splendor of the youth of our country? We have found ourselves. We know that we are not weaker than our fathers. We have not only found ourselves, but each other.

Will Want To Come.

"When the war is over people from the four corners of the earth will want to come to us. We don't want them to come too fast. I would sooner have 10,000 who would make real Canadian citizens than a million who merely come looking for a happy hunting ground.

"You ought to realize the importance of the part you are playing," continued Capt. Cameron, turning to the canvassers. "You are standing on the line of communication. If this line weakens it means that the army starves or surrenders to the enemy. It is up to you to see that this line is not broken. You've got to put this loan 'over' in order that the people of Canada may get the right perspective. We've reached a critical stage of the war, and must have an unlimited stock of patience. Oh, the patience of the army! They expect you to see that what they've won will not be given away. We're not going to ask them to leave their rough road for a peaceful one, only to have a rougher one later on. Woe unto the man that tries to lead them from that track! They day is approaching, andwe must stick to our guns.

Where It Will Stop.

"To use the words of Abraham Lincoln, this war will cease when it shall have ceased on the part of those who began it!" That's when it stopped for Bulgaria, and where it is going to stop for Germany and Turkey. I hope you will work for these sentiments as vigorously as you applaud them," concluded Capt. Cameron as he sat down amid cheers.

Frank Oldfield of Toronto, accompanied by C. E. Musgrave, interspersed the speeches with songs that were greatly appreciated.

Following is a list of the men who rendered excellent service last night in totaling up the day's results: O. C. Barrie, O. Zoellner, R. M. Winslow, H. E. Sowers, R. C. Balfour, John Harvey, J. B. Welt, Wm. Simson, H E. Westland, G. W. Hammett.

ABATEMENT OF EPIDEMIC IS ENCOURAGING CARELESSNESS WHICH MAY YET PROVE FATAL

Influenza Going, But Greatest Precautions Are Necessary in Order That There Shall Be No Renewal During the Coming Days.

While the influenza situation is decidedly brighter today, so far as the city is concerned, it is stated that there are indications that it is spreading in the surrounding country and in smaller towns.

A visitor from out of town today said that the doctors in his district are being kept going night and day, and are finding it practically impossible to handle their cases. Traveling is light on the railroads, and shipments both by freight and express are small. Farmers are behind with their fall work, owing to the epidemic; fields are lying idle, awaiting fall plowing, and apples and root crops in many cases are waiting to be harvested.

So far as supplying nurses for private homes is concerned, last night was the best night yet for the board of health. One doctor phoned to 4816 about 9:30 o'clock for a nurse to take care of a mother and three children who were all in bed, with no one to look after them. By 10 o'clock the nurse was on the way.

The help very much needed at the present time, in addition to nurses with some training, is workers who will go in and give sufficient care for a sufficient length of time to people who are not seriously ill, but who must stay in bed to prevent complications setting in. A little longer in bed is the surest means of preventing pneumonia and possibly death.

People Getting Careless.

The statement has been made to The Advertiser today by the public health nurse that people are apparently getting just a little careless about precautions. Children are being allowed to run out and play with other children. Yesterday she saw several groups of twelve or fifteen.

"By exercising care for a few days longer in keeping children from playing with others, and also in taking precautions, people would save themselves both trouble and sorrow," said Miss Friend.

One of the doctors also emphasizes the supreme importance of doing everything possible to prevent the epidemic from getting a fresh start.

"It is on the wane now," he says, "and many people have escaped the epidemic through the precautions of the board of health and the precautions they have taken themselves. We aren't out of the woods yet, and there cannot be any relaxing of vigilance. If there was ever a time when it was true that cleanliness is next to godliness, it is right now, in the midst of this epidemic. It is supremely important to keep houses well ventilated. Nothing will get rid of germs more quickly than soap and water, fresh air and sunshine. Plenty of soap and water should be applied to the hands, especially before eating."

Printed Instructions.

One doctor has had instructions printed for his patients and their families. He advises gargling and cleansing the nasal passages with a solution of warm water and baking soda and also taking a small teaspoonful of soda in a glass of water two or three times a day, both as a preventive and to aid in cure of influenza.

A woman reader of The Advertiser wants to know why tin signs prohibiting spitting on the sidewalks and in public places are fastened up all over the city, yet nothing is said about enforcing the bylaw. "I should have thought in an epidemic like this that the ban on spitting would have been insisted upon by the board of health," she says. "It is disgusting at all times, but I suppose one is more sensitive to it just now in view of attention being given to prevention of the spread of influenza. I have seen numbers of men from whom I would expect better things expectorating serenely on the sidewalks and even on the stairs of office buildings. I was rather amazed to see one man I know quite well, who is just back at work after a bad cold, so lay called it. He was standing in the doorway of his office building on Dundas street, smoking and coughing and expectorating on the sidewalk alternately.

Teachers' Great Work.

Another woman reader states that she has been pleased to see reference in The Advertiser to the fine work being done by members of the Women Teachers' Guild to assist in the midst of the epidemic. "I know a number of women teachers," she says. "Several of them are helping in the kitchens at Victoria Hospital all day long. Others are giving their services from early morning till late in the evening at the diet kitchen in the Alexandra School. Still others, from the time the Red Cross kitchen was organized in the Collegiate have been devoting long days to helping there. Still others of the teachers, with first aid and home nursing training, have been on duty continuously nursing the sick ever since the schools closed.

"I am glad the fine work of the members of the Women Teachers' Guild is being thus given verbal recognition. What about the other teachers? I suppose they are helping out, too, going into homes of sickness and building fires and doing things like that. There are so many things that men can do to help around a house. But there hasn't been any mention of what the men teachers are doing."

Miss Friend, public health nurse, referred to the number of pathetic cases of little children bereft of both parents by the dread secondary developments from influenza. In other cases little ones whose fathers are on service overseas have been left motherless. "This is going to constitute a big problem for the city to face during the coming winter, the care of these little children," she said.

Slums Discovered.

While London has boasted of its immunity from slums, the epidemic and organization to cope with it, have brought to light the fact that there are houses in London in a dirty, dilapidated condition, little better than rookeries and giving slum conditions. A prominent city official is responsible for the statement that there are a number of such places, unfit for human habitation, which should be torn down.

Better at Camp.

A striking evidence that the influenza epidemic is abating comes from the figures furnished at the camp today. Only one patient has been admitted within the past 24 hours, and eighteen have been discharged during the night, and some are still quite seriously ill with pneumonia. In all, the number of patients suffering from influenza and its complications is away below 100. Ah the doctors have been able to return to duty but one, Capt. Simpkins.

At Victoria Hospital today the balance is on the wrong side. Eight patients have been admitted, three discharged, and one has died. The nurses have been given leave of absence, as they have recovered sufficiently to be discharged. Two more were taken ill yesterday, but it is not yet known definitely that they are suffering from influenza.

St. Joseph's Hospital has about 48 patients, two or three of them in serious condition.

Patients were reported by Mrs. J. F. Thomson, superintendent of No. 4 Nursing Division, to be doing nicely at the emergency hospital in the Latter Day Saints' Church.

'How is your hospital getting along?" was an inquiry made at 404 Talbot street, the original St. John Ambulance emergency hospital.

"It isn't a hospital any longer," laughed the V. A. D. in charge. "We have a brass band, or perhaps it would be better to call it an orchestra or choir up here now. There, one of the patients is shouting for attention now."

The unmannerly patient who ruthlessly interrupted the conversation was a very small patient indeed, just a wisp of humanity who was crying to exercise his small lungs.

Children Well.

The children taken from the emergency hospital at Maitland street, where parents are ill, occupy a part of the building at 404 Talbot street, while two convalescing influenza patients are in the other part of the building.

"Are the children sick, or have they had influenza?" was asked.

"No," was the reply. "One of them was threatened with croup, but they are all doing well now. They are getting along all right."

The sick list of the London division of the G. T. R. this week shows a gratifying reduction in length. A week ago about 365 employees were on the sick roll. This week only 313 are off duty. These represent all departments of the service. Trainmen and shopmen have been hardest hit by the influenza. Sixty-seven trainmen are off, and 52 shopmen.

Ten members of the local freight office staff alone are reported away, owing to illness. One death has occurred, that of Bruce Craig, the car clerk, who died on Monday afternoon.

No meeting of the board of health was held today. Unless new emergency arises, it is considered that a meeting every second day now will be sufficient to keep the situation in hand.

Doctors Die Often.

Alarming rumors were circulated yesterday in regard to the number of doctors who were seriously ill with influenza, and some were declared to have succumbed half a dozen times on Monday. An inquiry at the home of one doctor, persistently reported dead all day long, elicited the information: "He's good as a thousand dead men yet." "He's very much alive, thank you." "Yes, he had been ill; is still so, in fact, but on the road to recovery."

The writer last evening called up the house number of another prominent young medical man, who, rumor stated, had died from influenza. The doctor's voice came back over the wire, crisp and vigorous.

"I'm very much alive, thank you," replied the doctor. "You needn't order my tombstone yet. By the way, what did I die of?"

Recovered By Now.

"You are supposed to have died of pneumonia which developed from influenza. Have you had influenza?"

"Yes," said the doctor. "I had it in 1889, but not since then. I have quite recovered, and I don't feel any symptoms of a relapse."

The extent to which the doctors have escaped is a remarkable feature, considering their constant exposure to the disease, the loss of sleep, irregularity of meals and fatigue which has been their lot for weeks.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

AS TO LORD MILNER.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Would you kindly state in your paper where the British war secretary, Lord Milner, was educated, and who was his mother? A. SUBSCRIBER.

Stratford, Ont.

Ans.—Lord Milner was educated in Germany and at King's College, London, and Balliol College, Oxford. His mother was Mary, daughter of Major-Gen. Ready, governor of the Isle of Man.

AILING FOR THREE YEARS.

CHATHAM, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Fred Gerber, Edgar street, died today. She had been ailing for over three years and had been in the hospital for five weeks. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Alex. LeGue and Mrs. Edith Whitsel of this city. Mrs. Warburton of London is a sister.

ILL WITH PNEUMONIA IN A BRITISH HOSPITAL

Capt. H. C. McMordie, M. C., Is With Engineers.

Mrs. Robert McMordie, of 785 Hellmuth avenue, this city, has received word that her son, Capt. Henry C. McMordie, M. C., is ill at No. 8 British Red Cross Hospital, with pneumonia, brought on by Spanish influenza.

Capt. McMordie, who was in the employ of the Reinforced Steel Company, Winnipeg, enlisted in that city, going overseas as lieutenant with the 29th Battalion. Previous to this he was a member of the 70th Regiment, Cameron Highlanders. Since going overseas he has been raised to the rank of captain, been decorated with the Military Cross and transferred to the Canadian Engineers. His mother and sister reside at 785 Hellmuth avenue, this city.

RODNEY RESIDENT DEAD.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 28.—Daniel S. Markle, one of the best-known residents of Rodney, died last night at a late hour in his 77th year. The deceased had resided practically all his life in Elgin County, and was very widely known. He leaves one son, Charles, of Rodney.

AUSTRIAN SERVING TIME FACES SECOND CHARGE

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 28.—Mike Simmonds, the Austrian, who has caused so much trouble in this city, was again before the magistrate this morning, charged with stealing another wheel. The machine this time was found in pieces, and certain portions were discovered on the premises formerly occupied by Simmonds. The remainder was found in a field not far away. He denied any knowledge of the theft, but the magistrate found him guilty.

A plea for leniency was made by his counsel, Andrew Grant, and in view of the sentence that he is now serving, Mike was allowed to go on suspended sentence. That, said the magistrate, will serve to keep him in the straight and narrow path when he returns to civil life.

RAILWAYMEN BY THE THOUSANDS ARE DOWN WITH "FLU"

Embargo on Freight Must Remain as a Result.

EPIDEMIC IS ABATING

Reports From All Points Show Improvement in the Situation.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—With a total of 10,000 railway employees now off duty in Eastern Canada on account of influenza, the storm of telegrams from Ontario shippers to the Canadian Railway War Board, requesting the board to lift the embargo which forbids the acceptance of freight from points west of Toronto for points east of Toronto, except overseas export freight, will apparently have no effect upon the attitude of the Canadian Railway War Board. In a statement issued this morning, W. M. Neal, general secretary of the board, explained that nothing but the abatement of the influenza epidemic could enable the railways to meet all the traffic requirements, and that in the meantime the embargoes imposed were absolutely imperative to keep the roads from being congested.

Mr. Neal said: "It is true to a certain extent that the embargoes strangle trade, but it is better to refuse freight than to accept it and fail to move it.

"This is the critical time of the year in railroading. We are entering the winter when engines can only pull part of their normal summer load. Operating conditions are more difficult. The volume of traffic grows heavier on account of the winter movement of wheat, and the shutting off of inland water transportation. The Canadian Pacific Railway has 3,790 men off the eastern lines alone with influenza. That was yesterday's report to this board. The G. T. R., for the same day, had 3,878 men off with influenza, eastern lines only. The Canadian Government eastern lines, for the same date, had 2,308 "flu" victims among its employees. T., H. and B. had 94 off; Michigan Central in Canada, 179 men."

SUBSIDING AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 29.—Ninety-six cases of suspected Spanish influenza were reported to the city board of health today. Since yesterday morning there were four deaths in the city. The provincial health board, in a statement issued today, says that the influenza situation continues to improve so far as the province generally is concerned.

YOUNGER MEDICAL MEN FEEL DEEPLY DEATH OF DR. BEAL

Expected Much From Him In Future.

A number of the progressive younger medical men of the city who were closely associated with Dr. Norman H. Beal, ambitious like himself and zealous for the maintenance of a high standard for their profession, last night expressed profoundest sorrow over his death. It had come as a great blow to one and all. They had built so much upon his return with reinforced knowledge and experience after his year with the Mayo brothers of the famous Rochester hospital. Apart from their admiration for his ability, they loved him for his kindliness, his genial personality, his unfailing sense of humor. His devotion to his work and his high ideals for it set a standard for others.

Seeking Progress.

Four years ago, a group of these younger men organized the "Journal Club," to keep themselves closely in touch with what was going on in the world of medical science. The idea came to them from Dr. Rowntree. The Journal Club members subscribed to all the leading journals dealing with medical science and these they read and met once a month to discuss. Articles were reviewed by them, and the maximum of benefit derived. Among those who were associated with Dr. Beal, not only in the Journal Club, but in the Pathological Society Clinical Society and other organizations which were affiliated in the spring in the Academy of Medicine, was Dr. Edward Spence, also a gold medalist of the Western Medical College.

Tremendous Loss.

Last night, Dr. Spence said: "Beal's death means a tremendous loss to us all. I can't realize that he is gone. We did a great deal of research and postgraduate work together, and it was a terrible blow to me when I heard the news today. One of the first things that occurred to me when I heard the news was something that he said at a farewell banquet which the Journal Club gave for him. We had been saying what we thought of him, and when he got up, he said he was glad to have heard such eulogistic things about himself. He was glad we gave him the bouquets while he was still alive and didn't wait until he was dead to send them. There was one thing about him that struck me and others associated with him. He worked too hard, used up too much nerve energy. He had been told he wouldn't live to be fifty. The cutting off of his life now means the loss to Canada of one of the men of most brilliant promise in the medical profession in the Dominion."

INSPECTOR THREATENS TO CLOSE UP CENTRAL FIRE HALL; INSANITARY

First Will Give Explicit Clean-up Directions.

Will London's central fire hall be closed? This is the question that some are asking today. Inspector James Lutman says he will have to ask the board of health to take this step if something is not done. He was in conference with E. H. Russell, chairman of the board of health, this morning on the question. Mr. Russell advised him to call at the central hall and leave explicit directions as to what he considers necessary.

There have been many complaints reaching Mr. Lutman regarding the alleged insanitary condition of the hall in question. Chief J. Aitken of the fire department says that there are absolutely no grounds for complaints. The lavatory, which apparently received the most abuse from the public, has been torn out. Members of the clean-up squad have been told that the plumber who was sent to do the work at the hall has died of pneumonia. Chairman Russell thinks that this has been a coincidence rather than a consequence.

CITY BREVITIES

NO VOLUNTEERS YET.—Once more no volunteers are listed at the local mobilization centre, although there is an increase in the number of defaulters enrolled. Yesterday three defaulters were listed.

FINGERS AMPUTATED.—Henry Stead, an employee of Lawson & Jones, had two of his fingers so badly crushed in a printing press about 8 o'clock last night that it was found necessary to amputate them at Victoria Hospital, where he was taken after the accident.

FIREMEN RECOVERING.—The majority of the firemen on the city fire department, who had Spanish influenza, are gradually wending their way back to work. At one time nine of the firefighters were laid up with the sickness.

GIFT TO RED CROSS.—The choir of the Church of St. John the Evangelist has turned over to the North End Red Cross Auxiliary a check for $200 for the prisoners of war fund. This amount represented the proceeds of a successful rummage sale held by the choir. The choir further announces its intentions of giving a regular subscription of $5 a month to the same fund.

FIGHT PHONE INCREASE.—City Clerk S. Baker has been appointed by the Ontario Municipal Association to act in conjunction with S. H. Kent, city clerk of Hamilton, in the fight against the Bell Telephone Company in its application to the Dominion Railway Board for the right to increase its rates. Mr Baker and Mr. Kent will secure the services of a lawyer who will take up the case for the municipalities.

NO REPORT TONIGHT.—City Engineer H. A. Brazier will not have a report on the proposed purchase of the Traction Company bridge for the meeting of No. 2 committee tonight, he says. He is working on the proposition. It is a question as to whether it would be cheaper for the city to buy this bridge and move it to the foot of Richmond street and widen it, to enable vehicles to use it, or whether it would be preferable to build a new bridge outright. The estimates of the cost will not be ready for four or five days, he says.

MYSTERY STILL UNSOLVED.—The Dominion police are still awaiting reply to the message which they sent to the United States authorities concerning the pigeon which was found on a farm just outside of London in an exhausted condition, and with a suspicious-looking name and numbers attached to it. Capt. Minard stated to The Advertiser today that he thought that it might take some time to investigate, but as soon as the United States authorities had probed the circumstances they would wire him a full report.

SCHOOLS OF LONDON MAKE FINE SHOWING WITH PENNY BANKS

City Is Third in List for Dominion.

London makes an excellent showing in the report of Penny Bank of Canada, appearing third in the list for Canada, with a total investment of $9,444.06. This report, which is made up to June 30, 1918, puts Toronto at the head of the list, with $238,523.45, and Ottawa second with $29,355.51, the Toronto average being $6 per pupil, and that of Ottawa $5 per pupil. London's average is but slightly over $3. Over 40,000 accounts were opened for Toronto, 5,384 for Ottawa and 2,758 for London.

The Alexandra school stands first in London with a total of $1,007.15 from 172 pupils, which is an average of nearly $6 per pupil. Aberdeen school shows the greatest number of accounts in the city, 234, but the total investment is but $781.18. The report for the London schools follows, the figures in parentheses signifying the number of accounts opened at each school:

Aberdeen, $781.18 (234); Alexandra, $1,007.15 (172); Boyle Memorial, $263.12 (114); Chesley, $591.96 (191); Colborne, $129.01 (44); Ealing, $320.64 (110); Egerton, $57.59 (31); Empress, $397.29 (176); Lord Roberts, $755.51 (186); Lorne, $[illegible].07 (187); Pottersburg, $177.66 (76); Rectory, $407.75 (109); Riverview, $189.56 (113); Ryerson, $828.89 (166); Simcoe, $342.28 (156); St. George's, $673.07 (159); Talbot, $464.34 (137); Tecumseh, $517.14 (102); Victoria, $313.78 (133); and Wortley road, $578.07 (162), making a total of $9,444.06 (2,758);

CHURCHES MAY BE OPEN FOR SERVICE ON SUNDAY

Chairman of Board of Health Thinks It Is Probable.

If the schools and theatres are allowed to open on Monday, November 4, the churches may be opened on Sunday, November 3. This is the opinion of E. H Russell, chairman of the board of health. He thinks that if conditions continue to improve, and all indications would lead one to believe this probable, the ban will be lifted by the first of next week. Several of the city ministers have been requesting the board to lift the ban as far as the churches are concerned in time to allow services to be held on Sunday.

That the ministers will have some difficulty in gathering their broods under their wings again is a view freely expressed in some circles. Some ministers have themselves intimated that this would be the case.

DRIVE WELL PREPARED.

CARGILL, Oct. 28.—If extensive publicity and efficient organization count for anything, the Victory Loan campaign here will be a great success.

BULLETS FROM VICTORY LOAN MACHINE GUN

One hundred thousand dollars from the house-to-house canvass was not bad for the first day of the campaign, and the sum justifies Chairman Reid and Organizer Jack Clark in the peaches they picked for canvassers.

The special clients are subscribing till it hurts, according to Messrs. Reid and Clark. Wish we had a chance to get hurt.

The foundries are going after Victory Bonds with a rush. One hour after an honor roll was tacked up in one factory, every employee of one of the departments had signed on for a bond.

Ald. W. Wilson suggested to the writer that the reporters should have got the money spent by the city in sending round pamphlets to every householder. "You fellows do more good than any pamphlets," he said. William never got our vote before, but he's going to get it next time.

The Muller Manufacturing Company of Sarnia, with 500 employees, subscribed $50,750, or 110 per cent of the objective. Every employee bought a bond. Foresight and patriotism are a good mixture, and the Muller employees have found it out.

"Do it now" is a time-worn slogan, but it applies with a vengeance to the buying of Victory Bonds.

Our friend, Bill H., bought $5,000 worth of bonds today. Bill may be a money hoarder, but he's a wise Gazook, whatever that is.

The motor power employees of the Grand Trunk roundhouse bought $3,900 worth of bonds before 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. Wise in their generation, these men.

The International Harvester Company has subscribed $100,000 to the loan, of which $7,500 will help swell London's total.

Place your "V's" on Victory. Buy Victory Bonds.

Watch the Industrials. The factories are going to astonish even the industrial committee. The men have acquired the saving habit since 1914.

Idle dollars, are pro-German. Is YOUR bank account an enemy alien?

How about a $50 bond for the youngster? He will appreciate it in years to come.

J. Cottam addressed the Hall Dent Company today at 11:45 o'clock, while Geo. M. Reid spoke at the G. T. R. car shops. Both reported an enthusiastic reception.

Rev. H. H. Bingham will speak Wednesday at noon to the employees of George White & Sons; E. V. Hessian will explain the loan to the men of the Globe Casket Company.

Help Haig to hurry. Buy Victory Bonds.

THOUSANDS OF PRISONERS ARE TAKEN IN A BIG DRIVE IN ITALY

ITALIAN OFFENSIVE POPULAR.

Italian Headquarters, Monday, Oct. 28.—People living in the war zone are tonight surrounding the bulletin boards, upon which are placarded the official statement that the Piave River has been crossed and that the battle is still going on.

It is evident that the offensive is popular. It has been warmly desired for many months, especially by the thousands of refugees who were driven from their homes last fall by the advancing Austrians.

HEAVY ARTILLERY DUELS.

London, Oct. 29.—Artillery duels and patrol encounters were the only activity on the British front during the night, Field Marshal Haig reports in his official statement today.

The statement reads:

"Apart from artillery activity and patrol encounters on different parts of the front there is nothing of special interest to report."

AMERICANS GET ENEMY PLANES.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Continued aviation activity on the front of the 1st American army, in spite of the bad weather, was reported by Gen. Pershing today in a second communique for Monday. Three enemy airplanes and an observation balloon were shot down and all the American machines returned. Heavy artillery fire marked the day on both sides of the Meuse. In the Woevre prisoners were captured in a successful raid.

ALLIED FORCES DRIVING THROUGH AUSTRIAN LINES NEAR ODERZO

New York, Oct. 29.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following: Suddenly shifting the direction of their attack the Italian and British troops on the Italian front have crossed the Piave over a wide front and are driving a wedge into the Austrian line in the direction of the city of Oderzo.

When the Italian front flamed up late last week, the storm centre of the allied attack was apparently between the Brenta and Piave rivers. Between the Montello plateau and the point where the battle line leaves the Piave to mount into the heights, there was some hard fighting and it seemed probable that the allied effort to break through would be exerted in a northerly and northeastwardly direction. This evidently was the view of the Austrian command, which rushed troops into the Monte Pertica region and regained some of the ground lost in the first onslaught.

Then came the development of what seems to be the real attack. It was along the Piave River, below the Montello plateau, where the Austrian armies met a terrible defeat last June and July. The river has been safely negotiated, and official statements show that the Allies are over three miles eastward of the stream and hold the eastern bank for approximately seven miles.

ODERZO IS ALLIED OBJECTIVE.

Oderzo is an important railroad centre and its capture by the Allies would probably result in an enforced retirement along the Piave River to the sea. It is also probable that a readjustment of the line northward would become necessary.

The French are developing the successes won by Gen. Debeney's army below Guise on Saturday and Sunday, when the German line was pierced and the enemy was forced to retire from the sharp salient which he has been stubbornly holding. Reports indicate further progress by Gen. Debeney in this sector, and at the same time it seems that the French forces along the line of the Aisne have resumed their attacks, which are intended to drive the Germans back on their lines of communication running in the direction of Hirson. The American units have joined with the French in this sector and have advanced upwards of a mile in their particular sector.

It would seem that the British, south of Valenciennes, have reached a point where the line of the Scheldt, to the northward may be turned. If Field Marshal Hig succeeds in forcing the enemy to evacuate Valenciennes, the advance of the British, French and Belgians in the direction of Ghent may soon be resumed.

AMERICANS TIGHTEN HOLD.

An American long-range cannon has opened fire on the important railroad line paralleling the German line north of Verdun. The distance of this road from the American lines is about 15 miles. It is indicated that airplanes are being used in checking the work done by this formidable piece of ordnance.

East of the Meuse American troops have tightened their hold on the positions won by them last week, while west of the river there has been constant pressure brought to bear on the enemy's positions. Minor tactical successes are reported from this sector.

British divisions along the Tigris have again defeated the Turks and have advanced ten miles.

Austria has sent a note to President Wilson announcing in effect that she is ready to withdraw from the war, regardless of the negotiations now going on with Germany. No official comment on the situation has come from Washington as yet.

EIGHTY DEATHS A RECORD FOR MONTH FROM SPANISH FLU

This Does Not Include All Fatalities.

There have been 80 deaths registered in the city hall which were caused by influenza or pneumonia since September 30, according to the records in City Clerk Baker's office. This does not indicate the number of deaths that have occurred from these diseases up to date, it is said, as they are not being registered before burial in many cases.

Forty-three of those registered were attributed to pneumonia, 32 were the result of influenza and pneumonia combined, and only five were attributed to influenza. Nineteen deaths were registered on Monday. Some of these had occurred before then, but had not been registered.

F. J. BISAILLON, K.C., IS LIKELY TO BE MADE NEW COMMISSIONER

Recommended To Fill Vacancy on International Joint Waterways Commission.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—F. J. Bisaillon, K. C., of Montreal, has been recommended to the Imperial Government to fill the vacancy of the Canadian section of the international joint waterways commission created by the appointment of Mr Justice Migneault to the supreme court bench. Mr. Bisaillon is one of Montreal's foremost members of the bar, and has on several former occasions declined a judicial appointment. The waterways commission was created by treaty, hence the appointment is an imperial one.

PRODUCERS OF MILK PUT UP PRICES FOR THE WINTER MONTHS

Will Sell at $2.80 a Hundredweight.

The cost of milk production was the main topic of conversation at the monthly meeting of the Middlesex Milk Producers, held in the county building. Owing to the high price of cows and all kinds of feed, plus the scarcity and high cost of labor, it was decided to advance the wholesale price of milk and the following resolution was passed: "That the wholesale price of milk delivered in London for the six months beginning with the 1st of November should be $2.80 per cwt. Milk will be sold by the hundredweight, and not by the test."

This is an increase of 40 cents a hundred, and will probably mean a further increase in the price of the liquid food to consumers.

MAKING IT PLAIN

Notice of October 2 Refers Only to Farmers Who Hae Not Reported.

Local theatres have had notification of the increase in taxes on amusements. When the ticket does not cost more than 15 cents the tax is 1 cent; up to 45 cents, 2 cents; up to 95 cents, 5 cents; up to $1.45, 10 cents; up to $1.95, 15 cents; up to $2.00, 20 cents; over $2, 25 cents. Managers have been asked not to sell at one time more than the number of tax tickets necessary for that performance, which will mean a great deal of inconvenience in handling change. Apart from this, local picture houses will not be affected by the new orders.

BRITISH ADMIRALTY DO NOT BELIEVE HUNS HAVE QUIT SUB WAR

Temporary Inactivity May Be For Hidden Purpose.

London, Oct. 29.—Reports of German submarines being recalled to home ports, coupled with comparative inactivity of the present U-boats, are being discussed by the admiralty officers here. It is not believed that Germany has abandoned her submarine warfare.

The view expressed is that Germany, in checking the operations of submarines, hopes to lend weight to the evidently inspired reports that she is withdrawing them. It is possible that Germany expects to create a better feeling in America by this procedure, and doubtless plans to bolster the waning morale of the submarine crews by demanding less of them. At the admiralty it is believed that if the inactivity continues most of the submersibles will be withdrawn temporarily, the men will be given leaves and the boats will be repaired preparatory to the last great effort on the part of Germany. One admiralty officer says: "If the war continues, you may expect the submarine menace to be as great, if not greater, by January than any with which we have as yet had to deal."

VOTERS' LIST SHOWS BIG DECREASE FROM THAT OF LAST YEAR

Over 200 Fewer Ballots To Be Cast.

WOMEN ARE INCREASING

Some Wives Are Taking the Privilege Away From Their Husbands.

There are 215 fewer names on the voters' list this year than there were last year, according to the figures of City Clerk S. Baker. There is a decrease in the number of male voters of 294, but an increase of the number of women voters of 79 brings the total decrease to 215. The number of owners is smaller by 281, while the tenants have increased by 17, and those assessed on their income number 439, being 49 more than in 1917. The total number on this years' list is 18,681.

One of the peculiar phases is the fact that many of the wives who up till last year have allowed their husbands to vote on their property are now asking for this right for themselves.

EVEN IN DREAMS IS FLU GERM WORRYING PEOPLE THESE DAYS

And Children Watch For It On the Streets.

A well-known London professional man of many years' standing, not a medical man, however, has been hearing, thinking, reading and talking so much about Spanish influenza that he has taken to dreaming about it. "It is very seldom I dream," he says, "but the other night I had a dream about Spanish influenza, which so impressed me, I believe I can recall every detail of it. I thought someone told me I wasn't doing my part to help and that I was to go to assist at the hospital at once.

"I reported and they set me to carrying trays of food to the patients.

"In my dream, I didn't like it at all. I was filled with fear that I was going to contract the malady. I wanted an excuse to get out. I told them I didn't like my job and wasn't going to do it any more. I said I was going home. They told me that would never do, that I had to do something. They gave me tracts and scripture cards to distribute among the patients. I was doing that and trying to think up a plan to get out of it when I wakened up."

Even the small children who can scarcely lisp have an intimate acquaintance with "flu germs." Some of them imagine the germs are dressed up in uniform like German soldiers. They associate them with Germans—not without reason, according to some people.

One little laddie just three years old informed me the other day that he "didn't even lick his lips now, for fear they'd be some germs sitting on 'em." He was taken out for a walk the same day by a young aunt. To her amazement, he didn't want to go downtown and look in store windows.

"No, no," he said, "mustn't wide street cars. Get germs."

As they walked along a quiet street, suddenly he clutched auntie's hand in terror. "Look, look, auntie," he cried. "Look" pointing with his finger to a cloud of gnats. "Germs, keep your mouth shut, or they get you."

LONDON MAY TAKE THE INITIATIVE IN FIGHTING 'PHONE RATE INCREASE

In connection with the opposition to the application of the Bell Telephone Company for permission to raise its rates, it is possible that London may take initiatory action and call a meeting of the committee for this purpose. City Clerk Baker has been expecting word from Toronto and Hamilton in reference to what action should be taken by the Ontario Municipal Association, but as yet he has had none. City Solicitor W. D. Doherty of St. Thomas has written Mr. Baker advising him that he should take some step without waiting for Toronto and Hamilton to initiate the action.

Mr. Baker says that unless he has some definite word by Wednesday he will call the committee together to decide what course to take. The committee is composed of Mayor C. R. Somerville, Controller E. S. Little, and Ald. H. B. Ashplant and F. E. Harley.

NO SHORTAGE OF POWER HERE ON MONDAY NIGHT

E. V. Buchanan, manager of the public utilities commission, states that there was no difficulty in maintaining the power load last night. Between the hours of 4:30 and 6 o'clock the needle hovered well around the peak load of 8,000-horsepower. "The public is assisting us, and if it continues to show the same regard we will be able to weather the power shortage."

STREET RAILWAY IS DEFENDANT IN SUIT FOR $2,000 DAMAGES

Four Cases Entered for Fall Assizes.

Three jury and one non-jury case were entered at the courthouse today for trial at the fall assizes, which commence November 4 at the courthouse before Mr. Justice Rose.

Fred B. Jarvis is suing the London Street Railway for $2,000 and costs, alleging that, through the negligence of the street railway he was violently thrown from the step of a "pay as you enter" car on November 20, 1917, and sustained serious injuries to his left shoulder and neck. The defendants deny that they were to blame, and declare that Jarvis was careless. W. G. R. Bartram for the plaintiff and Ivey & Ivey for defence.

Dyson Frezell has entered action against Thomas Heard for $1,500 damages, alleging that he received serious injuries, two crushed ribs and a broken jaw, when he was struck by the defendants' car on July 11 at the corner of Adelaide street and Central avenue. Mr. Heard denies that he was in any way to blame. Gibbons, Harper & Gibbons for Frezell, and Meredith & Fisher for Mr. Heard.

The Charles C. Robbins Company of Chicago is suing the St. Thomas Packing Company for unstated damages, alleging that of the 101,255 pounds of dressed ciscoes sent the defendants to be frozen, a large proportion was not properly treated, resulting in much waste. The packing comapny denies all the allegations made. Gibbons, Harper & Gibbons, for the Chicago firm, and St. Clair Leitch of St. Thomas for the packing company.

The first non-jury case to be set down for trial is a $7,000 damage suit brought by F. McGibbon & Sons of Sarnia against the Northern Navigation Company of the same place. The plaintiffs allege that the steamer Majestic, which was burned December 15, 1915, was moored too close to the Cataract, owned by them, that it took fire, too, and was greatly damaged. The Northern Navigation Company alleges that the Cataract was but an old hulk, abandoned, and resting on the bottom of Sarnia Bay. Meredith & Fisher for the plaintiff, and Cowan, Towers & Cowan for the navigation company.

Catarrh Of the Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How To Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind, and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluid cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucus from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the bisurated magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover, the Bisurated Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bisurated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bisurated form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.—Advt.

Steel, Wood and an Embargo

Business men know something of the troubles that beset the path of those who need steel; but not all of them know that the situation is not getting easier.

The United States Government, for instance, has embargoed the use of steel for pulleys except upon war orders.

But an interesting development has come out of this embargo.

Men who previously were quite honest in their convictions regarding the great efficiency of a metal pulley have discovered that a Dodge Wood-Split Pulley will not only do all that a metal pulley ever did, but it will do it better and for a less cost.

They have discovered that the surface of a Dodge Wood-Split Pulley provides greater adhesion, hence there is less belt slippage, and a corresponding saving of power. They have found the Dodge Wood-Split Pulley lighter and better balanced; consequently, there is less weight friction. They have proved that the Dodge Wood-Split Pulley may be run at higher speeds than metal pulleys without danger of bursting.

And, most interesting of all, they have learned that they can get Dodge Wood-Split Pulleys when they order them. We carry large stocks at our factory and branches, and ship all sizes from 4-inch diameters up to 6-feet diameters on the day orders are received.

BRITAIN CUTS DOWN FRESH MEAT RATION TO CONSERVE SUPPLY

Step Necessary to Prevent Depletion of Home-Grown Stocks.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Owing to the demands made upon British tonnage by military requirements in the transportation of American troops the British food controller has ordered a reduction of the fresh meat ration from one pound to three-quarters of a pound weekly as well as an increase of 4 cents a pound in the retail price of all meats.

The ration reduction was necessary, according to information received by the food administration today, to prevent a depletion of home-grown stocks as in the past one-third of the meat supply for the British isles has been imported. The increase in price is in accordance with an advance in price to farmers.

EIGHT HUNDRED VETS RETURN TO DOMINION

HALIFAX, Oct. 28.—Eight hundred returned soldiers are in the city from overseas, and passed through the district today. The majority of those arriving are for provinces west of Nova Scotia. Perhaps the most war-ridden soldier in the party is Pte. Charles McDonald, Collingwood, Ont., who belonged to the original 15th Battalion, which went across with the first contingent. He was in the battle of St. Julien, and it was there he was captured by the Germans. He was badly wounded in the lungs, legs and arms, and gassed. A few months ago Pte. McDonald was repatriated with a number of other Canadians. Among the members of the party who left for their homes last night was Nursing Sister I. Patten of Stratford, Ont.

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR

Dandruff is the primary cause of falling hair. This disagreeable condition of the scalp and hair glands is almost certain to cause temporary or permanent baldness.

Loss of hair may also be ascribed to the use of improper shampoos containing irritating substances, animal oils and alcohol, any of which may produce gradual decay of the hair.

Don't use a stale liquid preparation that contains too much alkali (a harmful irritant). The surest, safest and easiest way is to make your own liquid. Buy a carton of Velner at any drug store. Dissolve one of the small packets into half-glass of fresh water, and you will have an abundance of non-injurious liquid that will relieve itching of the scalp, falling hair and dandruff, also improve the natural color of the hair. Velner being in concentrated form never spoils and will keep forever.

DANGER THAT U.S. MAY BECOME APART FROM THE ENTENTE

Frank Simonds Sees Menace in "Notes."

"UMPIRESHIP" IS WRONG

Washington Must Not Presume to "Write the Laws" of Nations.

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—We are at the present time facing the greatest danger, which we have had to confront since we entered the world war. It is the danger that we may become the advocate of Germany in the peace discussions which are to come, and thus find ourselves in the future isolated from those nations with whom we have been associated in an honorable enterprise, the task of freeing mankind from the German menace.

This danger is in all minds today, in Europe and in America. It finds expression only vaguely, most clearly in the ever-growing demand of our public that the war shall be prosecuted until Germany surrenders and in surrendering gives up the arms and the opportunity to resist the nations whom she has wronged and bring to nothing the sacrifices and sufferings of more than four years of struggle.

Ominous Phrasing.

President Wilson's last note to Germany, despite the fact that it calls for an armistice fixed by the military commanders in the field, has not silenced the doubt, and the apprehension because it is accompanied by many qualifying phrases and suggestions, all of which, however harmless in themselves, are beginning to take on an ominous character, as they are interpreted by those believed to be in the confidence of the president.

To take a simple example, from Washington comes the information that, since the occupation of Alsace-Lorraine is recognized to be one of the essential conditions of an armistice, Germany may be expected to argue that this occupation be by American troops pending a later decision as to the disposition of the "lost provinces" of France. But this instantly opens the way for misunderstanding; it puts us in the position not of an ally, but of a judge; it admits that the question of the disposition of Alsace-Lorraine can be a matter of debate. Out of such a preliminary condition discord in the alliance against Germany might develop to almost any extent.

Colonies May Be Snag.

Not less disturbing is the similar suggestion from Washington that if Mr. Balfour spoke the decision of the British Government when he said that German colonies would not in any case be returned to Germany, he must count upon the opposition of the United States. But these German colonies, having been used as the basis for fomenting rebellion in British colonies, have been conquered mainly by the troops of British colonies, were conquered before America entered the war, and we have had the solemn promise of the labor prime minister of Australia, for example, that Australia would never consent to the surrender of the German colonies taken by her, even on British command. South Africa is not less determined in the matter of German Southwest and German East Africa.

It would be possible to multiply these examples, but it is unnecessary. The fear in many minds today is lest Mr. Wilson's championship of the league of nations may be used by Germany to separate the United States from its allies. The fear is not lessened by the suggestion from Washington in obviously inspired correspondence, that the remedy for this is the adherence of the "Fourteen Points" formulated by Mr. Wilson, without reservation, condition or amendment.

League Idea Popular.

For Mr. Wilson's plan of a league of nations there is naturally enlisted the liberal-minded men on this planet. After the last four years of agony, even those who are most skeptical as to the practical possibility, feel that an honest and an earnest attempt should be made to create an international machinery which shall make tragedies like the present war impossible.

Thus the president is assured of the overwhelming support of all shades of opinion and political faith in all the really democratic nations of the world, for his noble conception of a league of nations, provided that there be no attendant circumstances, which separate him and his country from the other liberal nations. And the thing that might separate us from our allies is an effort to prevent France, Britain and Italy from taking those precautions against a new German attack which are consonant with their own necessities for self-protection.

The great fear manifested in many quarters, where the league of nations has become the chief concern, seems to be lest something might be written into the peace settlement which would so anger the German people that they would not join in a league of nations. But there is no concern manifested lest by subordinating the legitimate interests of the nations now fighting Germany in alliance with us, to the desire to propitiate Germany the support of the Allied peoples should be lost to the principle of the league of nations.

Germany Manoeuvring.

Germany is manoeuvring obviously and desperately to divide the president from the nations now in alliance with us. She will promise anything short of suicide to bring this thing to pass, because it is her only hope of salvation, salvation meaning for her escape from paying the just price for her crimes and her offences. She has made sufficient progress, superficially, to awaken intense alarm in this country and in Europe, although this alarm has as yet found little positive expression.

So far the press and the public have in the main contented themselves with asserting that the various notes of the president have said what they hoped would be said. Never have public documents been more forcibly translated than the several notes of Mr. Wilson in recent weeks. But as against the forcible translation, there has been the inspired explanation, which has more and more tended to establish the idea that in some fashion the United States is to act as judge, at a court in which the issue between Germany and the nations fighting her is to be tried.

This means that the United States would assume to tell France, after her four years of agony and her half-century of peril and humiliation, what safeguards she could take and what were forbidden. It would mean that we should assume to write the law of the sea for Britain, whose fleet has saved us and the world from the German yoke. It would mean, in plain fact, that in the peace negotiations we should appear as the German advocate and find ourselves, in no long time, associated with Germany against our allies.

This is the greatest peril of all, those who feel it most keenly are the very men and women who are most eager to follow the president and more earnestly hope he will not make it impossible and thus doom the noble conception of a true league of nations.

GERMAN SURRENDER WILL COME SOON IS SIMONDS' PREDICTION

BY FRANK S. SIMONDS.

Copyright, 1918, New York Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The passing of Ludendorff is something more than were the exits of the younger Moltke and Falkenhein. With them he failed to bring off the great decision, and, like them, he was doomed, as all unsuccessful generals must be doomed, by their own failures. But Ludendorff was more than an unsuccessful general. He was a symbol. He was the final hope of German militarism, and it staked all upon him. When he failed, the military autocracy fell. Sedan blew the last vestige of the tinsel glory of the Napoleonic tradition out of French imagination. On the morrow of Sedan, France remained, but the evil Napoleonic sham was gone forever.

His Great Gamble.

When Ludendorff undertook his great gamble last spring Germany was in the position of Napoleon in 1813. When he had won the victory of March 21, Ludendorff was in the situation of the great emperor after Dresden. The moment had come to make peace, while the prestige of victory still remained. But when the chance of supreme triumph had already gone glittering, the mastery of the world was no longer to be won, but the retention of great conquests and assured position at home and abroad was still unchallenged.

Like Napoleon, Ludendorff chose to stake all, risk all, win or lose all, in the pursuit of world power. He was the incarnation of the German autocratic ambition to repeat the achievement of the Caesars, and rule, not alone the European continent, but the Asiatic and African.

Mitteleuropa was still the goal. Profitable peace, peace necessary for the German Empire and the exhausted allies of Germany, was put out of the calculation; as Napoleon went to Leipsic, Ludendorff marched to the second Marne.

Political vs. Military.

After the second Marne Ludendorff's position was always desperate. He could and did execute a brilliantly-successful retreat out of the Marne salient. But any further retreat would be, an advertisement to the German people that the German military autocracy had lost the war. On the military side a swift and wide retreat was unavoidable. On the political side such a retreat would at once prove to the enemy that Germany was beaten and to the German people that they had not merely lost the war, but would have to pay the costs. It was not Foch Ludendorff was most afraid of in August. It was the German people. As a result, Ludendorff lingered in the Somme lines and brought upon himself the defeats of August which compelled a retreat to the Hindenburg line, with such losses as made the defence of this line beyond his resources. Yet he lingered there again, with the political consideration overweighing the military. He was concerned not primarily with saving Germany, but with saving the military autocracy, of which he was the head and front. Every retreat lowered his prestige at home. Could he hold the Hindenburg line until winter set in, a war might be opened for a peace by negotiation, by which he would save the military autocracy. Not to try was to risk all.

Faced Truth At Last.

Only after the defeat of the Hindenburg line did Ludendorff face the truth, and then it was much too late. Unconditional surrender was now the demand of a victorious enemy, the military autocracy had lost the confidence, the support of the German nation.

In my judgment, the passing of Ludendorff is the most considerable single step in the direction of German surrender. If we are not now deceived, misled, turned aside from the task before us by illusory pursuit of impossible goals, we shall have that surrender at no distant time. And with that surrender the legend of the German military machine will perish utterly.

HEAD OF MEDICAL BOARD WITHOUT AN ONTARIO LICENSE

Doctor of One Year Presides Over Military Exams.

PROBING SOLDIERS' DEATH

Inquest at Iona Station Into Demise of Harley Stride.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 29.—"I would not go so far as to say that Harley Stride died through the treatment of the military authorities, but from what I knew of him, and through treating him for many months before, I can safely say that the treatment accorded him at London and in transit there hastened his death to a very great extent."

This was the answer to a query at the close of the inquest held at Iona Station today into the death of Harley Stride, a former Dunwich man, who died from tuberculosis some two weeks ago. The above statement was made by Dr. C. Turner of Lawrence Station, one of the best-known medical men in Elgin, in reply to a question by Crown Attorney McCrimmon.

Dr. Turner had treated the deceased for some years, and he said that when he last saw him before he went to London he was getting over his illness and was gaining weight. He saw him when he returned, and based his remarks on that experience.

Has Changed Opinion.

After hearing the evidence of the numerous military men who were summoned to appear, and who received special summonses ordering them to bring all "documents, records or other evidence bearing on the case of the deceased, and the medical examination, if any," Crown Attorney McCrimmon took occasion to state that while he had at one time held the laws of the military authorities and their system in the highest esteem, the admissions made by the witnesses at this inquest had compelled him to change his mind entirely.

"I am very much surprised," he declared, "and judging by the way in which the witnesses acted here today, they evidently did not want us to obtain the evidence; they could not get it, or they intentionally withheld the documents requested."

Inquest Adjourned.

The jury decided that owing to the absence of another witness, who was with Stride for some time, and returned to his home with him on his last trip, it would be advisable to adjourn the inquest. It will therefore be resumed at Iona on Tuesday of next week.

The first witness called was the father of the deceased, who was afterwards corroborated by the mother. They testified that their son had been taken by Dominion Policeman Baker in an open Ford car, without wraps or protection of any kind on a cold, rainy day. Stride was to have been back next morning, but he did not return for over a week. When he did come home he told some startling stories of the treatment accorded him. He had been placed in category A2, and given fatigue duty. Among other things he was called on to do was to clean the latrines, wash dishes, and clean out the tents. He later managed to go before a medical specialist, Capt. (Dr.) Craig, and was at once recommended for a discharge.

Could Not Get Meal.

According to what Stride told his mother, he was unable to obtain a meal when he went with the military policeman, and before obtaining medical examination he was placed in the "clink" (meaning the jail), where he slept on a board. He refused to eat when he returned home, and in a few days all hopes of his recovery were given up. He had in his possession all this time, a document (produced in court), showing that he had been examined by two Detroit medical men, and pronounced unfit for military service in any capacity, owing to tuberculosis.

Policeman Baker stated that when he apprehended Stride he did so on instructions from Capt. Minard. He asked the deceased to come with him, and he merely asked permission to put on another suit of clothes. Stride also wore two overcoats in order that he would not be cold. Baker knew nothing about the case after he had turned the man over to the military police.

Comment by Crown.

Sergt. Young and Corp. Keew both testified to having taken the accused from Baker, the latter accompanying him to London. He left him at the headquarters of the W. O. R., after going through the usual routine.

Lance-Corp. Crest of London recalled having taken the deceased to Capt. Craig for a special examination.

The evidence of Capt. Brain, president of the medical board, brought forth more comment from the crown attorney than that of anyone else. Brain admitted to the jury that he had only graduated from a Detroit college in 1917. He had no license to practice in Ontario, and although he had permission to practice in British Columbia, his only authority in Ontario was in the capacity of a military M. O. At the present time he is president of the official medical board in London. He examined the deceased and sent him on to his battalion. He later decided to call in a specialist, and he took the specialist's word that he was unfit for service.

Papers Not Produced.

"Who was with you on the board?" questioned the crown attorney.

"Lieut. Pennicott," replied the witness.

"I suppose you would call him the vice-president?" came back from the crown attorney.

Capt. J. M. Watt, assistant in charge of the mobilization centre at London, stated that the only record he had brought with him was the papers showing that Stride had passed through the mobilization office and gone on to a medical board. He knew nothing else.

"Let me see your summons," requested the crown attorney.

The summons was produced, and read as follows: "You are further ordered hereby to produce at 1:30 on October 28, all books, certificates, and other records to show that an examination, if any, and the result of said examination to Harley Stride. The medical certificates of or records of any date prepared while he was in the company, the name and all data respecting the various officers, all particulars of discharge and any other information."

Could Have Got Them.

Capt. Watt was asked why he did not produce these documents, and in reply he stated that he could give no reason, except that it was outside of his department. He admited that he could have done so if he had asked the proper officials, but he thought it was their duty.

Capt. Minard in his evidence stated that he had merely acted under his authority, and further than having the man apprehended for the purpose of having his papers adjusted, he had had nothing to do with him, and never heard of him until he was summoned to the inquest.

Capt. Craig, the specialist, stated that he had been for five years in charge of Byron Sanatorium, and he was now doing work for the army. He examined the deceased and found him unfit for service without any difficulty. He said he was in an advanced stage of tuberculosis. Capt. Craig would not, however, say that Stride's condition was noticeable to the unprofessional.

Harry Rose, a friend of deceased, recalled hearing him tell some of the boys when he returned that about all he got to eat while in camp was beans and saltpetre.

The case was then adjourned until a week from tomorrow (Tuesday).

MY WHOLE LIFE

was spent in trying to cure an ulcer by using ordinary ointments," writes Mrs. Jeffrey, of 21 French Street, Methuen. "Then I heard of Zam-Buk, used it, and am now completely cured.

"Thirty-three years ago the ulcer appeared on my ankle, and gradually spread to my knee. The pain was terrific. For years I could hardly walk and had to remain in the house. For twenty-five years I received doctors' treatment but got only temporary relief.

"Then I heard of some wonderful cures worked by Zam-Buk and commenced using it. The relief I experienced was wonderful. The inflammation was gradually drawn out. The pain was soon ended and, at last after thirty-three years of misery, I was on the road to recovery. To cut a long story short — perseverance with this wonderful balm resulted in a complete and permanent cure."

Zam-Buk is also unequalled for eczema, ringworm, abscesses, boils, blood-poisoning, burns, scalds, cuts and all skin injuries. All druggists or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

WEST LORNE BARNS BURNED.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 28.—A serious loss was sustained by Daniel Denby on Thursday evening, when his barns and crops were destroyed by fire. There is only a small amount of insurance on the property.

ST. SPANISH INFLUENZA

Measures to be taken in order to prevent it and to put a stop to its ravages.

The Spanish Influenza is a contagious disease brought about by a germ which is found chiefly in the spittle and secretions of the nose, the throat and the bronchial tubes. The following advice, if scrupulously adhered to, will help to reduce to a minimum the risks you run.

1.—Do not get frightened beyond measure, but be prudent; look for subjects of conversation other than the grippe, and observe, as well as you possibly can, the elementary rules of hygiene.
2.—Avoid crowds, meetings or gatherings of people, which bring contagion.
3.—Breathe the air to the full of your lungs, breathe through your nose and not through your mouth. Get into the sunshine, it kills germs. Walk to your business, if possible.
4.—Keep your bedroom window open at night, and that of your office in the daytime, if possible.
5.—Choose a sustaining, easily-digested food, and chew it properly.
6.—Always wash your hands before meals.
7.—Use saline gargles morning and night (RIGA PURGATIVE WATER, rich in salt, is recommended for this purpose), also vaporize your nose and throat with liquid vaseline containing camphor, menthol and eucalyptol.
8.—Keep the digestive tract and the bowels clean and healthy by taking every morning a glass of RIGA PURGATIVE WATER, which insures, without pains in the stomach, qualms or irritation, the freedom of bowels, and gives you health.

The celebrated Dr. Metchnikoff proved that contagious diseases strike in preference coostive people. In case of epidemics, he recommends, above all, to clear the bowels, to empty them frequently, by using a saline purgative, such as RIGA PURGATIVE WATER. Follow his advice and you will keep healthy.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Flickering Light Is Most Injurious to the Eyes

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D., (Jo hns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

If you would do justice to your eyes, you should shun glaring, dim and flickerng light. Poor illumination of the printed page, writting, sewing or other work and employment of the eyes in twilight all contribute toward a severe strain of eye muscles in their vain attempts to dilate the pupils to their widest degree.

Sharp, intense, bright or glaring light produces a contrary effect. The ocular muscles now try to shrink the pupil to its smallest point. This is intended by nature to exclude the cutting, radiating particles of light from the retina. Headaches, eye muscle exhaustion and tired, droopy, sleepy eyelids soon give warning.

Flickering light is produced by a combination of brightness and dimness. The delicate structures of the visual machinery alternately try to keep pace first with poor, then with intense light. You call this a flicker, but the swift, fine perceptions of the eyes sense the automatic variations and suffer accordingly.

Obviously, all sorts of eye disturbances are the prices you needs must pay if you use your eyes in any of these three varieties of light without some sort of corrective eyeglass.

Eyeglasses ought to be worn by a great many beautiful women and handsome men too vain to try to ward off serious eye troubles. When so important a sense as eyesight is sacrificed for personal appearance you can understand the failure in life of the guilty persons.

Of the various kinds of eyeglass materials to be had you should pick out a glass which most clearly defines objects and removes all glare. Glasses that have a pale yellow green tinge are recommended as a means to diminish the glare of light.

The eye is most sensitive to the yellow-green light in electric arc welding as well as in the manipulation of melted quartz. A smoky effect introduced, yet almost invisible, and certain tints of dark mica have been found very effective. They exclude the glares and absorb the heat rays.

Reflections Are Bad, Too.

Finally, the reflection of vivid and flickering flashes from walls, floors and ceilings should be taboo. These damage the eyes as much as a flicker in the actual source of light.

Eyeglasses and goggles made with ordinary pebble or crystal clear quartz do not eliminate the glare and the ultra-violet rays of arc lamps. To protect your eyes these mild, pale tints or plain, clear glasses should be adopted.

Answers to Health Questions

WORRIED. Q.—Kindly tell me what to do for diabetes.

A.—The newest treatment for diabetes is to fast in bed two to three days a week until the sugar disappears from the kidney fluids. A doctor must be in attendance, and an analysis must be freqeuntly made of the kidney fluids. Nothing should be taken except a little coffee and whiskey, and simultaneously, an analysis of the kidney fluids should be made to see the amount of sugar contained therein. Take ten grains of bicarbonate of soda every four hours.

Good Night Stories

DORIS AND MRS. LADY-BUG.

One day as Doris wandered in the garden she spied a little lady-bug crawling on the stem of a bush.

"You needn't say it!" exclaimed Mrs. Lady-bug, waving her feet at Doris. "Everybody tells me the same thing and I know better,"

"Why, what in the world are you talking about!" laughed Doris, who was surprised to find a lady-bug that could talk. "I haven't said a word."

"Certainly not," laughed Mrs. Lady-bug, "but you were getting ready to say, 'Lady-bug, Lady-bug, fly away home; your house is on fire and your children will burn.' Everyone who sees me says the same silly thing, and I know better. Both my children are safe. One curled up in his cradle and the other out fighting for the flower fairies."

"Then no one can frighten you, can they?" laughed Doris.

"Not that way," replied Mrs. Lady-bug, "but nevertheless I must be going home. Sure! Come along if you care to," she laughed, as she saw Doris was about to ask. Waving one of her feet around, Mrs. Lady-bug touched one of her black spots on her back and muttered something under her breath.

Immediately Doris became so tiny Mrs. Lady-bug looked as large as a horse beside her.

"No Wonder They Say Your House Is On Fire."

"Jump upon my back and we'll be there before you know it," cried Mrs. Lady-bug. When Doris climbed up, away she flew over the garden wall and settled on the red-top growing in the meadows.

"No wonder they say your house is on fire!" exclaimed Doris, looking at the red-top where Mrs. Lady-bug made her cosey home. "The whole meadow seems to be on fire."

"So it does," laughed Mrs. Lady-bug. "But here comes my youngest. I wonder how the flower fairy army is.

Over the red-tops a queer-looking creature came crawling toward them. Doris gathered her feet under her dress.

"Oh, don't be frightened," laughed Mrs. Lady-bug. "That's my youngest baby."

Doris could hardly believe that such an ugly, lizard-like creature, crawling on six legs and waving a blue and red tail in the air, could possibly belong to this quite pretty little lady-bug.

"He's ugly, but so is a caterpillar," sighed Mrs. Lady-bug. "He's the best fighter the flower fairies have. He eats up more plant-destroying insects than any fellow in the army."

Doris didn't doubt the fact when she saw his big mouth, and she kept her feet under her dress.

"When he's a wee bit older he'll go to sleep in a little cradle like this," said Mrs. Lady-bug, pointing to a chrysalis shell hanging on a red-top stem near them. "Then after a nap lasting about two weeks he'll come out a dear little lady-bug."

Just then the end in the shell-like cradle opened and out tumbled a dear little lady-bug, the great big black dots looking like ink spots on its bright reddish-brown back. Mamma Lady-bug seemed to be extremely proud of the black spots, and Doris asked her what they were for.

"Wishing spots," whispered Mrs. Lady-bug. "If you can cover up one of those black spots without touching the brown spot, and wish, your wish is bound to come true."

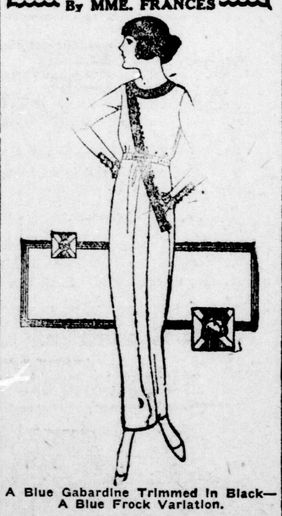

Doris laughed, and, covering one of the black spots with her finger, wished herself big, and down she tumbled into the grasses, a great big girl again.

Doris jumped up, and, gathering Mrs. Lady-bug in her hand, tried to cover one of her dots, but, dear me, Doris's finger was so big it almost hid Mrs. Lady-bug herself.

Mrs. Lady-bug laughed merrily, and, taking her babies by the hand, ran away, leaving Doris staring after them, a puzzled expression on her pretty face.

The navy blue frock is more in evidence this year than ever, and its variations also are many. Wool embroidery, braid, buttons, soutache are all being used. A very attractive model is the blue gabardine shown here. This is trimmed in long bands of black embroidery, for the black and blue combination is one of the most distinguished of the season's styles. Buttons in groups of three outline the opening in front of this frock; and the same effect is repeated in the sleeves.

MY SOLDIER HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S CONTINUATION OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Who Is E. Stern, Whose Name Appears So Frequently in Dicky's Dwindling Check Book?

I drew back protestingly from my mother-in-law's outstretched hand, which held Dicky's personal check-book. I have always scrupulously respected my husband's letters and personal belongings. Indeed, I have never seen the inside of his personal check-book, although he is perpetually losing it, and I am as often finding it for him.

"This is no time for Puritanical scruples, Margaret," my mother-in-law said sharply. "I have never been in the habit of inspecting other people's check-books myself, but Richard is distinctly not himself, and when he carelessly left this book on the table tonight, I seized the chance to examine it and the envelope of back stubs which lay with it. What I found worried me, but I thought that perhaps he had turned over money to you that didn't show in the record. And when you told me you had only $150 it took my breath away," she finished with a grim little twist of her lips at the patness of her expression.

"I'm sure you are worrying yourself unnecessarily," I began, but there was no conviction in my tone, for my mother-in-law's manner, with its hint of disagreeable things yet untold, had frightened me more than I cared to admit. "I suppose you've found Dicky's balance to be low, but perhaps——"

"Low! Look at that!" she interrupted, flipping open the check-book and showing me the last check Dicky had drawn. The date was a week before, a cash check of $18. And the balance showing on the stub was less than $5.

A "Ragged Edger."

My fingers tightened on the little book, while the pulses in my temples pounded unmercifully. For the thing which had vaguely frightened my mother-in-law was a horrible certainty to me. Far better than she, I knew Dicky must be reduced to straits indeed to check out so much. It was a rule of his bank that checking accounts should not fall below a certain sum, and while he was careless to the last degree about money, yet from little things I had heard him say casually, I knew that it was a matter of pride with him to keep his balance well above that sum. He had once cautioned me about this very thing.

"Never let 'em think you're a 'ragged edger,' Madge," he had said, and the expression came back to me as I looked again at the pitiful little balance.

"What do you make of it?" My mother-in-law's voice was hoarse with the frightened anxiety with which most elderly persons always meet a unexpected financial tangle.

"I don't know—yet," I responded dully. "And, of course, I can't ask Dicky. No matter what comes he must not be bothered. So—as I've already meddled, I might as well find out what I can about it. Perhaps," a sudden gleam of hope leaped from my brain to my voice. "Perhaps some of the magazines haven't paid him yet. I know about the sizes of the checks due him in a general way, and can easily tell from his stubs if he has had them."

My mother-in-law silently handed me the envelope containing the used stubs, and for the next half hour I patiently traced Dicky's receipts and expenditures.

Fortunately for my purpose, Dicky, usually the most careless of mortals, is as methodical as the traditional old maid about his check-books. For years he would not bother with one, and when he did finally achieve one he confessed that he enjoyed it as a small boy would a new pair of boots. Every entry on his stub of "amount deposited" showed the source of the amount, and most of his entries of checks issued bore beneath the names, in microscopic writing, the reason for their issuance.

So when I had searched through all the stubs, I realized that every possible source of Dicky's income had been drained. All his assets were comprised in the paltry sum of less than $5. I had $150. And our bills, especially for the last month!

I turned faint at the very thought of what the total must be.

But I must put a brave face on the matter before my mother-in-law. The poor old woman was positively shaking as if she had the palsy, and I did her the justice to realize that no iota of her emotion was caused by fear for her own future. Her boy was bankrupt, ill, facing hardship. That was the reason for her pallor.

"Never mind, mother," I said as cheerily as I could. "There's a mistake somewhere. There are checks which haven't yet been given to Dicky, I am sure. And when he gets a little stronger I'll ask him about them."

She looked at me with doubting eyes, eyes that held also a question which she hadn't put to me, that I saw that she hesitated to put. And I knew before she spoke what it was. I also had seen something odd about the stubs of Dicky's check-book.

"Margaret," she said, hesitatingly, "did you notice how many checks were drawn to E. Stern? I never heard of anyone of that name, never heard Dicky speak of him. Did you?"

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30.

While the sidereal forces for this day are conflicting, the probabilities are in favor of a busy day, and one on which the issues will result satisfactorily, provided an ordinary amount of precaution be exercised. The principal danger is that of self-undoing through the tumultuous Mars under Lunar affliction—a position warning against hasty and rash actions, loss of temper and flying to "the law" for vindication or reprisal. Mercury is splendidly aspected for a resourceful and eventful day in all commercial and professional lines, with the benevolent and fruitful Jupiter aiding and abetting both by mutual and Lunar aspect. From all testimonies the best astrological advice is to be as calm and clear-sighted as possible, and all things will flourish. Guard the health.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of prosperity if they remain calm and deliberate, avoiding law and disputes. A child born on this day will be brilliant, industrious, enterprising, kind and generous, but should be carefully taught the futility of impetuosity.

Canada CAN and WILL

ON July 31, 1918, Canadians had on deposit in banks more than a billion five hundred million dollars — that was $160,000,000 more than was on deposit on the same date in 1917.

And, in the meantime, Canadians had invested $425,000,000 in the Victory Loan 1917. Besides that they had bought $60,000,000 worth of provincial and municipal bonds.

So the people of Canada during the past year have accumulated $485,000,000 in bonds and over $160,000,000 in cash more than they had on July 31, 1917. That represents concrete accumulated wealth.

Canada is to-day the richest country in the world, per capita.

Her war debt per capita is lower than that of any other fighting nation.

So Canada undoubtedly has the ability to oversubscribe the Victory Loan 1918.

And Canada must manfully and loyally support the Victory Loan 1918, because the national safety, the national honor and the prosperity of the country are at stake.

Canada's business prosperity is necessary to the maintenance of Canada's war efficiency.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

THE TECUMSEH HOUSE is one of London's institutions. It has held many memorable gatherings, but few, if any, in its history, more memorable than that of last night.

The chair was occupied by George M. Reid, who received an ovation. On his right sat Captain Cameron, on his left Major Hume Cronyn, M. P., and His Worship C. R. Somerville, mayor.

The singing was splendid. Mr. Musgrave at the piano and Mr. Oldfield in splendid voice, delighted the audience.

Major Cronyn delivered a splendid address on the financial aspect of the Victory Loan. He convinced the audience from every viewpoint of the desirability of the loan, and at the chairman's request announced that the companies, with which he was connected, had subscribed for three millions of dollars. His address throughout was manly, straightforward, generous and eloquent. It gave promise that he had not far to go, until he would be in the class of the late Sir Richard Cartwright, who was described as a perfect parliamentary speaker. The peroration was particularly eloquent. He looked confidently forward for "the day-dawn of peace when the shadows flee away."

Captain Cameron spoke with his usual fire and enthusiastic eloquence. He held the audience from first to last. They were his all the time. Perhaps the most eloquent point in his speech was when he declared by the war we had found ourselves. We were not weaker than our fathers. This shows the Anglo-Saxon race is more than holding its own. It is well when the son is a better man than his father. If he is not so, it is not right. But there was no doubt in his mind that the boys at the front were splendid fellows. How touching his story of the boy offered freedom if he would betray Christianity and join Islam. He straightened his shoulders and told them he would see them damned first and fell dead. From point to point with vigor and pathos, he painted several scenes, and closed with magnetic reference to the results, bound to come to both Britain and America, when both countries would know each other better. He told the story of the meeting of Arthur J. Balfour and Joseph H. Choate when Balfour stepped down where Choate was standing and silently shook hands. The multitude realized it was "hands across the sea" the day both Balfour and Choate had long hoped for.

The pathetic and sudden death of that best of England's friends, Joseph H. Choate, a few days after made the occasion sacred. The great audience had done the only thing they could do when these men grasped hands, they cried.

Altogether it was a glorious meeting and everyone present felt "it is good to be here." The spirit of the meeting was perfect.

THE REAL "INVESTIGATOR."

THE DECISION of the authorities at Ottawa to conduct an investigation into conditions at the Base Hospital, Toronto, does not mean that the situation is to be cleared up to the satisfaction of those concerned.

The tendency of investigators in Canada is to look for a soft spot upon which they can let down those being investigated. It is the customary thing when conducting an investigation for the Government to choose investigators who will make their decision in advance and take the evidence as a matter of course. Ninety-nine out of one hundred of these inquiries result in nothing. Can the average reader recall one verdict of a court of inquiry which punished all the guilty ones and which brought about the desired result? The history of investigations in Canada, graft investigations, crooked horse deals and rotten munition transactions, as well as a host of minor inquests, has been that the guilty—those who were "guilty as hell," as Parker's character would have said—went forward from the court in frock coat, perhaps to lunch at the Chateau with the official crowd that takes good care of its kind.

But in spite of all the wire-pulling and subtle influences that work to protect the criminal in the high places and the criminally careless, there is an influence that works for the ultimate clearing up of foulness and dishonesty. That influence is publicity. It is the particular property or machine of no man. It finds its expression largely in the press, and when this press is unshackled, and unblinded with subsidies or patronage, and when it is not the creature of any great financial "ring" that cracks the whip of politics in any country where it can secure power, the investigation of wrongdoing or culpable neglect becomes the function of the press. The people and not the few political appointees who sit upon the bench are the jury who give the verdict.

Readers who have been following the story of Belgium's fate in wartime from the pen of Brand Whitlock, American ambassador in the gallant land that kept faith with its allies, must have observed with what persistency he dwells upon the conviction that a country without the proper methods of publicity is helpless. His struggle to secure from German overlords in Belgium a measure of justice for the enslaved people was often futile because there was no voice of the press with which to express the appeals, and no stern condemnation of the grafting that continued on the markets by those who exploited even the few ounces of food handed to the starving population. He declares that the "purifying, antiseptic light of publicity" was lacking, and that the sombre clouds could not be dispelled.

Canada has the means whereby civic and national diseases may be healed. Publicity cannot be denied the movements of truth in this country. A thousand voices will arise to condemn injustice, and even with the restrictions placed upon the newspapers, and the willingness of many of these newspapers to conceal the truth, justice will not be denied. The guilty may go unpunished, but they do not go unwarned that the people are their judges. "Investigation" is a misnomer in this country. The whitewashers are always looking for a job. But sometimes there is so much black paint being sprayed on the canvas that the kalsominers go away leaving the ugly patches showing through. Canada through its people is largely swayed and under normal circumstances would be governed by the force of honest publicity.

LUDENDORFF'S FINISH.

LUDENDORFF, Germany's master strategist, has been mastered by Foch and has stepped out. This augurs well for the Allied campaign, as it has been generally accepted that Ludendorff furnished the brains for his superior, Hindenburg. The latter was valuable because of the hero-worship that centred upon him. Hindenburg was the popular war chief upon whom the nation pinned its faith, but Ludendorff was the man who matched wits with the Allied commanders. For many months he has been the real ruler of Germany, dictating both military and political moves. He planned and carried out the great drive which turned back the Russians and saved Austria. Later he laid out the campaign which overwhelmed Rumania.

Ludendorff played the game as have all Germany's military leaders, stopping at no frightfulness or dishonesty. To him is credited much of the treacherous treatment of Russia which climaxed in the Brest-Litovsk treaty. The devastation in the wake of the retreating German armies shows him quite as ruthless as the other war chiefs of Germany whether by sea or land. His reputation as a brilliant strategist, which he undoubtedly was, has been hopelessly soiled by the indecencies and brutalities to which all of the German leaders have committed themselves up to the hilt.

It matters little now who will succeed Ludendorff. They all look alike to Foch, but with the best that the enemy could produce in the way of miltary leaders out of it, the driving of the Prussian from France and Belgium may be carried on with even greater dispatch than at present.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The kaiser is a film hero.—Max Harden. And just now he is doing the fadeaway.

By buying a Victory Bond you get a good bargain and a good bang at the Hun.

Max Harden says the kaiser is a film hero. The Allies would like to "fillum"—full of holes.

Too old to catch the flu is a happy state that a lot of us wont admit to once the epidemic has vanished.

The kaiser refuses to abdicate. Still that would make a more graceful exit than being kicked out.

Turn up the corners of Lord Milner's moustache and he bears a remarkable resemblance to the kaiser.

Wilson may not have a "mailed fist" a la kaiser, but he is certainly handling the latter without gloves.

With absolute defeat certain Ludendorff's resignation might be called another of his "strategic withdrawals."

As the Toronto Mail and Empire would say, Mr. Bowman of Manitoulin shows that he is some pumpkins at archery.

Ludendorff, Germany's "military brains," has quit, but Germany's military scatter-brains, the clown prince, is still on the job.

Wilhelm is said to dislike Wilson's note. But then nobody likes to be bawled out as a liar and crook, especially when it happens to be true.

Demobilization of Canada's military forces will make a serious problem for the country. Demobilization of Union Government force will not be so difficult of accomplishment.

The Hamilton Spectator warns Premier Hearst of the "handwriting on the wall." We think the Spec. has a long thirst, but Bowman will scarcely bring back the cup that cheers.

Austria's reply is also ready and is most conciliatory.—Headline. Coming from a crumbling and badly-licked nation this is rich. It indicates one sad lack of the Austria, a sense of humor.

The German chancellor says Germany was "ringed around from the beginning by political and physical obstacles too great to overcome." They bit off more than they could chew, as it were.

THE TRUE CANADIAN.

[Grain Growers' Guide.]

No true Canadian will be found wanting in his response to the appeal which the next Victory Loan will make to him. He will weigh in his conscience the question of how much he is going to subscribe to that loan to help to victory the highest cause for which men have ever faced the supreme sacrifice. He will not fail to hear the call of duty. He will do his part towards making the loan a success worthy of Canada, whose resources, from ocean to ocean, are all behind it.

TAKE THE LOAN!

(Written in May, 1861.)

Come, freemen of the land,
Come meet the great demand,
True heart and open hand—
Take the loan!
For the hopes the prophets saw,
For the swords your brothers draw,
For liberty and law,
Take the loan!

Ye ladies of the land,
As ye love the gallant band
Who have drawn a soldier's brand,
Take the loan!
Who would bring them what she could,
Who would give the soldier food
Who would staunch her brother's blood
Take the loan!

All who saw her hosts pass by,
All who joined the parting cry,
When we bade them do or die,
Take the loan!
As ye wished their triumph then,
As ye hope to meet again,
And to meet their gaze as men,
Take the loan!

Who would press the great appeal
Of our ranks of serried steel,
Put your shoulders to the wheel,
Take the loan!
That our prayers in truth may rise,
Which we press with streaming eyes,
On the Lord of earth and skies
Take the loan!

THE WEDDING KNIVES.

By S. B. Hackley.

They were very beautiful—those delicate trifles of the ancient wedding toilet of the seventeenth century bride—the wedding knives of Mistress Anne Hogarth.

Margery Byers took them reverently from their faded green brocade sheaths, and, running her fingers over the elaborately chased blades, and the quaint pearl set handles, handed them to Stephen Palmer. The young physician turned them over curiously.

"So these pretty trinkets were necessary to the bridal toilet away back in the days of your grandmother ancestress, Margie?" he remarked. "I don't remember of ever reading of them."

Margery's brown eyes sparkled with interest and admiration.

"Why, don't you remember, Steve?" she cried. "Juliet wore them at her girdle when she was in the Friar's cell, and she had them on when she was about to take the sleeping potion."

"What did they symbolize?" asked Palmer.

"They had something to do with severing the knot of love, I believe," answered Margery vaguely, "anyway, whatever they meant, they were beautiful things to wear."

"And you, Margie, I suppose you'll wear these when you're married?" Palmer hesitated a little over his words.

When a girl has a well-defined, relative-implanted idea of engaging herself when she gets to the seashore summer resort to a rich man she doesn't care for, but who is going to ask her to marry him—to see unexpected love in the eyes of the man she'd like to marry, even though disapproved of by the relatives, is disconcerting. Margary turned away before she answered a bit tremulously:

"My—my wedding day is a long time off, most likely, Steve. I'm not quite twenty, you know."

"I—listen, Margie," Stephen tried to keep his voice steady, "I want to tell you something."

"Hurry, Margie," an impatient voice called from the next room. "Are you forgetting we have an engagement this evening?"

"I'm coming, mother," the girl answered. "Come down to the station tomorrow, Steve," she said in hasty goodby, "early. I'll go down a half hour before mother does, and we—we can talk before the train leaves."

But a man in a factory got himself cut up badly the next day an hour before Margery's train was to leave, and Palmer was called to hold life in him. There was not even time for telephoning Margery, and the letter of explanation he sent her was returned to him unopened.

When three weeks later Margery's engagement to Elmer Troxell was announced Stephen worked so many extra hours at the hospital that the head surgeon protested.

In September the Byers family returned, and Palmer could not escape the accounts of the wedding that was to be one of the city's social events. A few days before the wedding, unable to deny himself the uncertain unhappiness of trying to catch a glimpse of the bride-to-be, he found himself passing the Byers house. As he went by, driving at a snail's pace, he heard frightened screams from within. He leaped from his car. As he ran up the walk a terrified maid thrust open the door.

"Oh, Dr. Palmer!" she cried, recognizing him, "come in, quick!"

Another one of the maids had fallen, carrying a tray of glasses, and had cut her wrist. She was shrieking in fear and clinging to Margery, who with a pencil and a handkerchief was twisting a tourniquet about the wounded arm, while the blood spattered her lovely white dress.

"Come away, Margery," frowned a heavy-browed man in a white serge costume, standing at a safe distance from the maid, as Palmer came forward, "and let the man attend to her. It's his business—besides you're getting your frock spoiled, and we were ready for our drive."

Margery snook off his hand. "Go away, Elmer!"—Palmer detected a note of dislike in her tone—"you are in Dr. Palmer's way. Never mind the drive. I shall stay with Sophie."

As Troxell sulkily left the room his foot touched something lying on the rug something that tinkled, as with a murmur of disgust he shoved it aside.

The next morning when Palmer returned to the house to attend the injured maid he found her crying.

"I'm not scared for myself, it's Miss Margie I'm worried about," she told him. "He—that man ain't fit for her nor anybody else. Miss Margie told him yesterday she was going to wear her great grandmother's wedding knives (maybe she's showed them to you) at her wedding, and he got awfully mad—asked her how she would look, standing up there in her bridal robes, before all his friends with 'those absurd things dangling at her belt, like a housekeeper's keys!' And he threw them on the floor, and when I came in with the tray I stumbled over them and fell and cut my arm."

Palmer paled as he listened, and though he made no comment he had to set his teeth to keep the words that came in his mind.

Two days later Palmer read the following paragraph in the evening paper:

"Troxell Neglects to Get License," ran the headline. "After being supposedly joined in matrimony at the most elaborate society wedding of the year at noon today, with both Rev. Robert Clinton and Bishop Phelps officiating, Miss Margery Byers and Elmer Troxell were informed by County Clerk Veal in the most matter-of-fact way that they were not married at all. They had been married without a license."

The paper further stated that the guests had left Miss Byers' residence after the reception, when the vital omission was discovered. A messenger was hastened to find Bishop Phelps, and the good prelate was begged to come to the house in an emergency situation. He did so, and when he reached the residence he was told the nerves of the bride were so shaken that the second ceremony would have to be deferred until the next morning.

For eight hours Stephen had thought her Troxell's wife, and she was not married—not married! An errand boy touched his elbow.

"You're wanted at the telephone, doctor."

"Is that Dr. Stephen Palmer?" the voice was trembling. "This is Margie Byers. Oh, Steve, come to the house right away. Come quick! I—I want you!"

Palmer stumbled out to the street and hailed a cab. The maid Sophie, her arm in a sling, let him in.

"Miss Margie wants to see you alone," she told him, and led him to a little upstairs room at the back of the house. As the door closed behind him something in a white dress flew to him.

"Oh, Steve, I want you to save me!" Margery gasped. "They put it in the paper that I was so shaken the second ceremony would have to be deferred, but I've told father and mother I'm not going to marry him at all."

"Not marry him!" he echoed.

"No! Father, mother, everybody thought it would be so fine for me, I agreed to marry him. I never loved him, but that day he quarreled with me over wearing great-grandmother's wedding knives at my wedding (the day Sophie cut her arm), I knew I hated him. But I thought it was too late then. They talked to me until I was nearly crazy this afternoon when I told them my eyes were opened and I was thankful the license was forgotten. They said it would be a scandal to the family if I didn't marry him now, and they've set the hour for 8 in the morning."

"Margie," the young man's lips were white, "did you send back my letter that I wrote to explain why I didn't come to the train the day you went to Bar Harbor?"

"I never received any letter," she faltered. "I looked and looked for it; then I thought you didn't care. Mother——

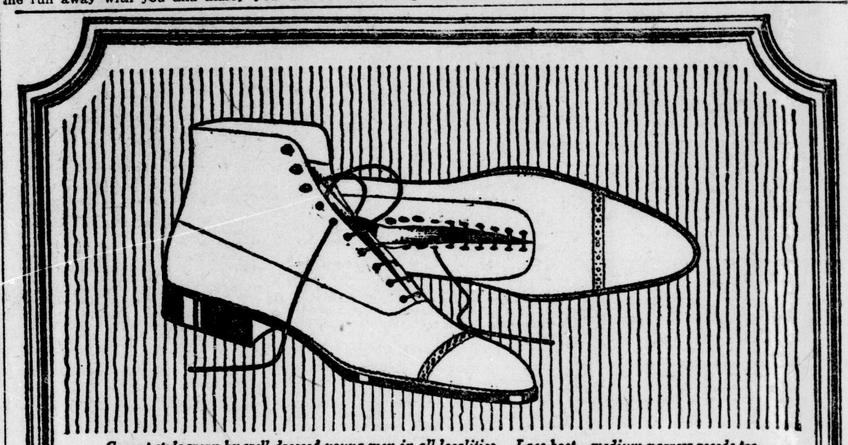

"But I did care—I do care—so much I don't dare advise you. I wanted to tell you that day—I wanted to tell you."

She looked up at him and her wet eyes began to shine. "Tell me now, Stevie!" she cried softly. "Oh, Steve, it wouldn't be any scandal for you to let me run away with you and marry you tonight, would it?"

At 7 o'clock the next morning the justice of the peace, just over the state line, stood before a tall young professional man holding the hand of a pretty girl, clad in a grey traveling suit of French design, and wearing at her belt her great-grandmother's knives, and pronounced a ceremony that was binding and fast.

Mind your eye!

A BUG darts at your eye. Your eye closes—before you think. Reflex action. Your eye telegraphs to your brain "Bug coming!" Your brain flashes back "Close up!" You aren't conscious of the exchange of messages—but your eyelids close. Force of habit protects you. Habit and reflex action save time and effort in numberless ways, and keep your brain clear for the real problem.

Habit, for example, sets the hour when the delicate departments of your digestion combine in a supreme reflex action to move your bowels. Nujol cultivates that habit. If they move regularly all you know is that you feel well.

If they don't move regularly, you know it—the habit has failed.

The food waste stagnates in your large intestine, decays, generates poisons, which are absorbed into your blood and carried all over your body. Your next effort will be more difficult and soon the bad habit of constipation will be established. The good habit of regularity is replaced by the bad habit of irregularity—reflex action is paralyzed, and the waste accumulates.

Don't exchange a good habit for a bad one. Nujol builds such a strong habit that it offers a maximum of resistance to the clogging of the intestines. Don't wait until you're "sick" to start. Nujol night and morning will give you a reflex action as "regular as clockwork." Be as proud of your inside cleanliness as you are of a clean face and clean teeth.

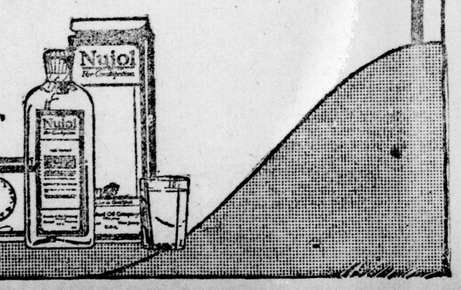

Pills, purgative mineral waters, salts castor oil and other cathartics, weaken and cause strain. They increase constipation. Nujol acts easily, harmlessly, naturally. Your druggist has it

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

FARM WOMEN MUST DISTINGUISH ESSENTIAL FROM NON-ESSENTIAL

Margery Mills Takes Housewives To Task for Saying "I Haven't Time."

Do you know, many of us country women have a real dread or fear of coming out into public notice. The belief that was common here a generation or two ago, and that which the Kaiser adheres to today, viz., that woman's sphere has properly to begin and end with "kitchen, children, church," is to be found in man a woman's attitude toward present day tendencies. It is on a par with the attitude of the farmer, who alone among men clings to the old party ties rigidly, whereas all other classes have far more elastic ideas on party claims.

"I Have Not Time."

So many woman say, "I have not time. I cannot get my work done." Now, see here, you can't get all the work in the world done in your lifetime. It is useless to try. When you "shuffle off this mortal coil," the work will get done. If I were some women, I would pretend to be dead once in a while. Those of us who practice leaving our work for a few hours' conference with others who are doing the same thing as we are come back fresher, with new ideas and with something to employ our minds. (Please emphasize that word "employ.") Usually our daily round of work becomes a fixed habit that does not require real mental effort.

Tired Faces of Women.

I attended a great gathering last August at a lakeside resort, and one of the things which impressed me was the empty, tired faces of so many of the women who had passed middle age. They had never thought anything but work, and now, unable to work all day, every day, life was empty. You know such women. And then, too, I came in contact with the bright face of an old friend who is nearing fourscore, a woman who has all her life been the mistress of a farm home, who has accomplished as much actual work as many of those others, but who has lived with open windows, never too busy to enjoy the beauty about her, nor to chat with a friend a few minutes, nor to read. Once I heard her say: "I always find time for one big thought every day." And her face shows it.

We simply must not allow ourselves to think for every minute of every day that the little four walls of home are all that have a claim to our attention, that this big outside world will get along without any thought from us, just as well if we help. I grant you that work for every minute can be found without any prolonged search, but some of us have discovered that much of our work is unnecessary, that our homes are not the less attractive these days when we bake less pies and cakes than when the shelves were full and the table groaning.

Essential and Non-Essential.

We must learn to classify our work as essential and non-essential, then do as little as possible of the latter. There isn't one of us but could by that plan save time enough to be real members of the U. F. W. O., attend its meetings and aid in discussions and plans, and have time for other recreation and pleasure besides. Necessary work should never be neglected, but, perhaps, my idea of necessary work and yours might clash. A clean, comfortable house and proper meals are enough to aim at. Of course, you couldn't "eat off the floor." You wouldn't if it were sand-papered. But, if you adopt my plan, your tins won't shine like silver, but the time today won't stand such scouring; nor is the stove like a mirror. why should it be?

Believe me, your home and mine is bettered by our contact with outside interests. They keep us young at heart. It is too bad that so many bright, clever women allow themselves to stagnate instead of developing their powers of mind and heart along with their physical activities.

Experiment for a Time.

Just experiment for a time, you busy women, and see if the theory does not work well when put into practice. Your "wider vision" will make you a more efficient housekeeper, a better mother, a more companionable wife than the restricted one which you have so long regarded as the only one possible.

Besides this, outside thought has now become an essential. Men have discovered that they need woman's assistance in government. They have had about as much success with Dame Canada's dwelling as the average man would have if left in charge of any of our homes. It is time for housecleaning, and what man can tolerate that, much less do anything worth while toward it? Let us up and at it!

We Must Polish Our Glasses.

If reports be true, many of the women who helped last election time were blind to the cobwebs and other accumulations, or perhaps they were blinded to them.

This shows conclusively that you and I must spend some time polishing our glasses and making sure that our eyesight is clear. No voter who finds it impossible to see beyond his or her own personal advantage is of any use to the country.

If we women are not going to study politics (civics, not party politics), our franchise will be a curse, instead of a blessing to the land. But we farm women, most of us, are studying, and who wants to be an exception to the rule when the rule is a right one?

Let us study together, plan together for better conditions on the farm and throughout the land. "Look forward, not back! Lend a hand!"

The Adventures of the Little People of the Great Forest.

BENNY MINK WARNS THE BEAVERS.

Well, Benny Mink told the Beavers that Sammy Muskrat had a secret plan to ruin Beavertown and lovely Mirror Pond, and you know, of course, that the hard-working Beavers were very sad and greatly worried. But they appointed many watchmen to watch their houses and Mirror Pond.

All the little folks in the Great Forest around Mirror Pond heard about Sammy Muskrat's secret plan of awful mischief, and were very sorry, for the toiling Beavers had lots of friends, because they were so peaceable.

You know that people who work hard, and love peace, and attend to their own affairs, have lots of friends. And the peaceable Beavers had lots and lots of friends in the Great Forest.

Well, nothing happened for some time, and everybody thought Sammy Muskrat's secret plan to ruin Beavertown and the Silver Pond had been forgotten.

But Sammy Muskrat hadn't forgotten his mischief, Oh, my, no; that little rascal had not forgotten! For, you know, he had envy in his little black heart. His heart was not black before, but he cherished envy and jealousy against the successful, the peaceloving engineers of the Great Forest, until he was quite changed. You know that envy and jealousy against successful and smart people will ruin anybody.

Well, one very dark and rainy forenoon, at about ten o'clock, when the rain was just pouring down in buckets full, Sammy Muskrat took his digging tools and started to swim for the dam of Silver Pond. This little scamp knew that if he could make a big hole in that dam, then the water would all run out of Mirror Pond, and that the houses of the Beavers would be ruined. You ask me why their houses would be ruined? Well, it was like this: The water in Mirror Pond was like locks and bolts on all the doors of every house in Beavertown. You see, all their doors were under water, and so their enemies could not enter their homes. And the doors were all secret. But if all the water flowed out of Mirror Pond, then the wild people, who like Beaver meat, could find the doors of their houses, and creep into their bedrooms, and eat them up while they were sleeping in their beds.

Sammy Muskrat took his digging tools and started to swim.

And Mr. Fox, Mr. Wolf, Mr. Lynx, Mr. Fisher, Mr. Weasel and other gentlemen who like Beaver steak for breakfast would certainly find them then. But Sammy Muskrat had not thought of this terrible possibility; he had only thought about destroying the Beavers' homes—because he was jealous that the Beavers' homes were so much better than his own home, and people always compared them and praised the little engineers' homes, but never praised Sammy Muskrat's.

Tomorrow—Sammy Muskrat's Act of Jealousy.

RED CROSS VISITING COMMITTEE IS NOW PREPARING BABY DIET

Work for Soldiers at Camp and Children's Shelter Still Goes On.

The Red Cross visiting committee now at work in the diet kitchen of the Collegiate Institute has undertaken to cook for No. 4 Nursing Division Emergency Hospital, as well as for the ill soldiers at the camp and the Children's Shelter. Previous to this, the St. John Ambulance Division No. 4 had been depending on friends for patents' nourishment. Now nurses' day and night lunches are being sent out as well as a soft diet for patients. Hitherto the nurses at 404 Talbot street had received no hot meals, but now the lunches are piping hot, and most appetizing.

An interesting work of this diet kitchen is the feeding of the babies at 404 Talbot street. Here a regular nursery is maintained—the children belonging to parents who are either very ill or have died with the influenza. Two tiny twins, but three weeks old, are perhaps the most interesting members of the nursery, and the preparation of baby feedings for them is one of the works of the collegiate diet kitchen.

In response to the appeal for chickens to be used in the preparation of suppers for convalescent soldiers at the camp, already twelve chickens have been donated. However, many more are needed.

The following donations have been sent to the collegiate diet kitchen:

Mrs. Ashplant, 4 quarts milk, 1 quart cream; Mrs. McLurg, 5 pounds sugar, tapioca, tea biscuits; Mrs. Ingram, $5; Mrs. Donald McCrimmon, $5; Miss Helen Woolley, 2 baskets pears; Mr. Deacon, $1; Mrs. T. H. Carling, soup shank; Mrs. F. Lawson, $5; Mr. Fred Routledge, 1 bag apples; Mr. Aleck Wright, $10; Mr. Bruce Wanless, $10; Mrs. Madge, R. R. No. 1, bag carrots, bag onions, bag turnips, celery; Mrs. C. R. Somerville, $5; City Creamery, 10 quarts milk; Miss Boon, $2; J. A. Scandrett, R. R. No. 3, 1 bag sweet apples; Miss Stiles, $2; Mrs. C. H. Firth, 1 chicken; Mrs. Norfolk, grape jelly; Mrs. Gates, 1 chicken; Mrs. C. F. Stephens, 1 chicken; Lady Beck, 2 chickens; Mrs. Dr. Moore, 2 chickens; Mrs. George Reid, 1 chicken; Mrs. Clegg, 6 pounds sugar, 3 boxes jelly powder; 6 jars fruit; Mrs. G. G. McCormick, 1 basket sweet apples, 1 jar jelly, 1 jar fruit, 1 can tomatoes; Mrs. Nicholls, 1 chicken, tapioca, vegetables; Mrs. T. A. Rowat, sugar; Mrs. R. C. Eckert, vegetables; Mrs. Hume Cronyn, 3 chickens.

The members of the chapter are now busily engaged in getting Christmas boxes ready for local boys overseas. CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

A Big Patch.

Dear Miss Grey.—Will you please print as soon as possible for me a recipe for apple butter, also a recipe for red cabbage pickles? I have quite a little patch of them. Are there different ways of making it up? And oblige

MOTHER OF FOUR LITTLE GIRLS AND TWO BIG BOYS.

Ans.—Apple Butter.—Boil new cider down one-half, then add an equal quantity of apples which have been pared, quartered and cored; boil till the apples are tender, then sweeten, and boil to a smooth, buttery mass, without stirring; spice to taste, and put away in stone jars. If cooked properly the spices can be omitted if desired, and the true apple flavor preserved. Better if left slightly tart.

Apple Butter Without Cider.—Pare and core the apples; boil in water until fruit is soft; mash to a fine pulp; to each 25 pounds of apples add 2 ounces of cinnamon, 1 ounce nutmeg, 6 pounds sugar. Cook until thoroughly mixed and thickened.

2. Red cabbage may be pickled by chopping finely, sprinkle with salt and let stand over night. In the morning drain, and pack into sealers. Heat sufficient vinegar with sugar and spices to suit taste, pour boiling hot over the cabbage and seal up.

Cabbage and Beet Relish.—Three cups cooked, chopped beets, 3 cups red cabbage chopped fine, 1 cup grated horseradish, 1 cup yellow sugar, 1 cup vinegar, little salt.

Stiffening Crochet Basket.

Dear Miss Grey.—Could you or any of the readers of The Advertiser tell me how to stiffen crochet flower baskets? I have one that was dipped in a syrup of sugar and water, but it did not stay stiff very long, and it did not sparkle like some I have seen in the stores. Thinking perhaps you would know, I inquire. Thanking you in advance, Yours truly, BLUE BELL.

Ans.—Probably a solution of gum arabic and water would give better results, or has any reader a better way?

Those Chapped Hands.

Dear Miss Grey.—Will you please reprint formula for hand lotion which appeared in your column some months ago? The only ingredient I remember is tragacanth. I find it indispensable, especially in the winter when my hands chap so easily. Thanking you.

ALEEN.

P. S.—What do you think of my writing?

Ans.—I believe this to be the formula which you wish:

Hand Lotion—Gum tragacanth, three-eighths ounce; cologne, two ounces; rosewater, 2 ounces; glycerine, 2 ounces; warm soft water, 1 pint. Dissolve the tragacanth (which must be in crystals, not pulverized) in water (it may take 24 hours), before adding the other ingredients. A little boracic acid may also be dissolved and added, as it is very healing.

2. It's beautiful!

A Good Gargle.

Dear Miss Grey.—Thinking the inclosed recipe may be of help to some of The Advertiser readers, am forwarding same. Yours sincerely, PASS-IT-ON.

Gargle for Throat—One pint boiling water, 1 teaspoonful borax, 1 teaspoonful baking soda, 20 drops carbolic acid, 3 tablespoonful glycerine (3 ounces). Shake before using.

Ans.—Sincere thanks for sending the formula at this time, when no precaution against germs should be neglected.

Those Flour Substitutes.

Dear Cynthia Grey.—Please forgive me for calling you by your first name. I wrote it before I thought, and, sad to relate, this is absolutely and positively my last sheet, so I can't begin over without taking the middle page out of my Latin scribbler. The next time, when I write the long, juicy letter, I shall address you less flippantly.

Could you tell me a wee bit about a food regulation or two? Can one be compelled to take 25 pounds of cereal, wheat substitute, with every 100 pounds of white flour? I read in the columns of your valuable paper (isn't that what one should say) that if one uses 25 pounds of some substitute it is all that is necessary.

We use as much potatoes as flour (a great deal in the bread), but as we grow them ourselves they don't count, and we have rather a hard time using the cereals that we buy with the flour. I shall have to stop now, as you see. Sincerely,

THE POWERFUL KATRINKA.

Ans.—Now, honestly, P. K., are you really as apologetic in spirit as in word? I don't believe it! And I can assure you it does not worry me in the least to be called Cynthia. You even spelled it right, "Trink", and that's more than some folks do. Now about the wheat flour subs, where's all the worry? Yes, you have to buy 24 pounds (one quarter) of substitute with each 100 pounds of wheat flour purchased, but you may include in this 24 pounds of rice, tapioca, cornstarch, cornmeal, rolled oats, oat flour, corn flour, rice flour or barley flour. With rice, tapioca and cornstarch for puddings, corn or oatmeal for porridge, johnny cake, muffins and cookies, it is not difficult to use a percentage of these within a short time. And either oat or corn flour are very nice in tea biscuit, nut or date loaf, cakes, etc., used in a proportion of one to three of white flour. Now, does this help to solve the problem any?

White and Pink.

Dear Miss Grey,—May I just wander into the Mail-Box long enough to ask one question? Last winter I had a brushed wool skating set, white trimmed with pink, which became soiled. Could you or any of the readers kindly advise me what to do? It is just as good as new, so that I hate to throw it away. I remain, your sincerely.

SWEET LAVENDER.

Ans.—Can any reader be found who has ventured her brushed wood sweater, scarf or cap to the tender (?) mercies of gasoline or soap and water? And if so, will she write and tell us what success she had? I should think, Lavender, that a washing with Lux and warm water ought to give good results, and it wouldn't hurt to try it on one piece of your set, anyway.

Inviting Herself.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—My first visit to the Mail-Box, and I hope I am welcome. To come to business. I have noticed where several readers have asked for a young girl to come and stay with them while their husbands are overseas. Well here's a girl that's going to ask herself. Is there any young soldier's wife who would like a companion? I am sixteen years old. My father is in France. I work in a factory here, but the wages are so small that I find it very hard to pay board and dress respectably. I am English and have been out in Canada for seven years past, and I like your country very well, Miss Grey. I have no relatives out here, and I know nobody outside of this village. Now, if some London lady, whose husband is overseas, would be willing for me to come up I would be very much obliged. If I could get a good job up there I would pay her board and help her around the house. NOBODY'S GIRL.

Ans.—You are very welcome to a corner in the Mail-Box, and your letter may be the means of finding a corner for you where the surroundings will seem more home-like. If any replies are received I shall put a note in "The Box" for you.

Hers Are Keeping.

Dear Miss Grey.—Here I am coming again to your column. I see that "Farmerette (2)" peas are spoiling. I would like her to know that I canned string and shell beans from the same receipt from this column and they are just the same now as when I put them up. I am sorry "Farmerette's are not the same as mine. BETH.

Ans.—Well, I'm pleased to know that everybody's canning is not having the unfortunate keeping qualities experienced by "Farmerette." We'll just have to wish her better success next year.

Muffins and Marmalade.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here is a good recipe for corn muffins, if anyone would like to try them: Two eggs, ½ cup butter, ½ cup sugar; work all to a cream; ½ cup cornmeal, ½ pint flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, and ½ pint water. Bake in a moderate oven.

Now, Miss Grey, would you mind reprinting the recipe for pumpkin marmalade, as we have lost it, and would like it? Thanking you in advance, I will sign myself, IRISH GIRL.

Ans.—Very glad to reprint the recipe. I'm not sure just which one you wish, so here are two to choose from:

Pumpkin Preserve—Choose a good sweet pumpkin, pare, slice and take out the seeds; allow 1 pound of sugar and half a lemon for 1 pound of pumpkin. Put the pumpkin on to boil, adding a little water; when nearly tender add sliced lemon, sugar and a little ginger; boil half an hour longer, when the conserve will be dark and rich-looking. Put into jars and seal up.

Pumpkin Preserves, No. 2. — Cut pumpkin in small squares less than an inch in size; put in crock or granite dish, and cover with equal parts of vinegar and water; let stand over night. In the morning drain and throw liquid away; measure pumpkin and use 1 cup of sugar to 2 cups of pumpkin; add enough water to make a good syrup; drop in a few sticks of cinnamon, add pumpkin and boil until thick and clear.

Lice on Fuchsia.

Dear Miss Grey,—Can you or any of the readers tell me how to rid a fuchsia flower plant of lice? Now, I'll try to be helpful by sending a recitation for "Girlie." May I call again? Will sign as a NEWCOMER.

Ans.—1. A solution of sulpho-tobacco soap sprayed on the infested plant should rid it of the aphides. Best to keep the fuchsia away from other plants until the last little aphis is chased away.

"Girlie," please send a stamp for the recitation. You are very welcome to pay a return visit, "Newcomer."

To the Tune of "Tipperary."

Dear Miss Grey.—In reading your column I saw where stranger asked for the words of the hymn to the tune of "Tipperary." I think likely these are the ones:

It's a good thing to be a Christian,
It's the best thing I know;
It's a good thing to be a Christian,
Wherever you may go.
Good-bye, sin and Satan;
Farewell, all that's bad.
It's a good, good thing to be a Christian,
For it makes me glad.

BELVA.

Ans.—It was "Stranger" who asked for the above, and he (or she) will be much obliged to "Belva" for supplying it.

Over There Three Years.

Dear Miss Grey.—I am inclosing a lonely soldier's address. He has been over there for three years. Would like to get the directions for a sweater. This is new ink, and I'm having such a time trying to write. R. E. B.

Ans.—I shall see that the name you inclose is given out to some of those wishing to send parcels overseas. You do not say just what kind of sweater you wish directions for. This one is a man's sleeveless sweater, and you may like it for an overseas package.

Man's Sweater—Three hanks of yarn, three-quarters pound. Cast on 80 stitches, knit 2, purl 2, for 4 inches; knit plain until sweater measures 25 inches; knit 28 stitches, bind off 24 stitches for neck; knit 28 stitches; knit 10 rows for shoulder; cast on 24 stitches; knit plain for 21 inches, purl 2, knit 2, for 4 inches; bind off. Sew up sides, leaving 9 inches for armholes. To strengthen neck and armholes, either buttonhole them around or crochet a couple of rows around them. If directions are followed the garment is very easy to make.

M. M.'s Mincemeat.

M. M. requests address of firm from whom Another Farmer's Wife obtained her peeling set. The address has been set to M. M., who also kindly supplies this recipe:

Green Tomato Mincemeat.—One peck green tomatoes, chopped or cut fine as for chow-chow, 1 pound seeded raisins, 1 pound currants, 5 pounds yellow sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 1 nutmeg, grated, 2 heaping teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, ground, 1 heaping tablespoon salt. Boil tomatoes fifteen minutes, then add sugar, vinegar and spices. Boil these two hours, then add fruit and boil all one hour. Pack in jars and seal hot.

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 3.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Appetite and Greed. (World's Temperance Sunday.) Genesis, xxv., 27-34.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

4. Verse 28—Which of the parents, Isaac or Rebekah, were the more spiritual at this stage, and why do you think so?

5. What is generally the result when parents show partiality to one child more than to the rest?

6. If one son brings his father the things he likes best to eat and drink, and the other son seeks to minister to his father's mental or spiritual comfort, which, as a rule, will the father like better?

Golden Text: Every man that striveth in the games exerciseth self-control in all things. Now they do it to receive a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible.—I. Corinthians, ix., 25.

WE MUST TRAIN OUR MORAL MUSCLES.

The control of our bodies is absolutely essential for success in life, and, in order to successfully master the strong appetites and passions of our bodies, it is essential for us to train our moral muscles. We must be true to our conscience; must think those thoughts, and speak those words, and perform those actions which are right. We must accustom our moral forces to be absolutely true to our highest thought, and that will make us true to God; in return we shall have the strength to control our entire complex nature, and therefore be enabled to accomplish the plan and purpose of our lives. This takes prayer, and the cultivation of every Christian virtue, and thus, by the grace of God, we shall be strong and successful.

HOBLITZEL, NOW ARMY DENTIST, PASSES THE THIRTIETH MILESTONE

Red Sox First Baseman Played in Two World Series.

Dick Hoblitzel, former American League first-sacker, now serving Uncle Sam, celebrated his thirtieth birthday Saturday.

Dr. Richard Hoblitzel, D. D. S., is the name and title he traveled under during the cold months of former years, although when the weather became warmer he automatically changed his name to "Dick" or "Hobby," while pursuing his career as a first-baseman. Hoblitzel is an expert practitioner of the "painless art" of dentistry, but he finds baseball more to his liking, when there doesn't happen to be a war on, than extracting and filling molars of a thankless populace.

Hobby was born in Parkersburg, W. Va., 30 years ago, and got his baseball start in Clarksburg, in his native state in 1907. In the intervals of studying dentistry he played professional ball in Reading and Wheeling, and in 1908 he was sold to Cincinnati for $2,700. Hobby became the regular first-baseman of the Reds almost from the day he joined the club, and in 1909, his first full year in the majors, he batted .308. In 1914 he batted so poorly that Cincinnati turned him adrift, every other club in the National League having waived claim on him.

It looked as if Hobby's major league days were over, when Bill Carrigan, who needed a first-sacker, decided to give the cast-off a trial. The dentist hadn't been able to get along with Herzog, and that was responsible for his poor work. In any event, he had no sooner put on a Boston uniform than he seemed to be a new man. He covered first with great skill and regained his batting eye and got along just fine.

Hobby is a clever fielder and his work is quite up to the average of big league first-basing, although not of a sensational character.

SEVERAL JOCKEYS TO BE BARRED FROM THE TRACKS NEXT SEASON

Charges Made Against Riders —Licenses May Be Refused.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. — Certain prominent jockeys who have been riding on the New York tracks this year will find themselves barred when the 1919 campaign opens. The stewards of the Jockey Club, it is freely predicted, will refuse to grant licenses to these riders, who have been closely watched both at the tracks and elsewhere ever since the horses returned from Saratoga.

The turf governors, it seems, have been carrying on a quiet investigation as a result of numerous exhibitions of suspicious horsemanship coupled with frequent stories of manipulation. It isn't the policy of the Jockey Club to make sensational charges against persons who are suspected of shady transactions. But when sufficient evidence has been obtained to warrant action, unscrupulous individuals, including jockeys, will be told to keep away from the New York and Maryland race courses.

During the recent Jamaica meeting the movements of several former jockeys, who frequented the paddock, were followed at the instance of the turf authorities, it is said. It is charged that these young men, after whispered consultations with notorious operators, gave signals to certain riders who sat in the windows of the jockeys' building. This assertion was made at Jamaica by well posted racing men, who seemed to think that the suspected riders, when beaten on heavily played horses, had taken orders from confederates.

The reported collusion may have been based on idle rumors, but the fact remains that there is a determined effort to establish underground connections between riders and professional operators, who care nothing for the welfare of the turf or the public. Nobody who is familiar with existing conditions will deny that unless crooked jockeys and their agents are eliminated racing will be killed. The Jockey Club is the champion of honest sport and is supported by many thousands of turf patrons, who are clamoring for drastic methods.

MOTHERWELL TEAM DEFEATS RANGERS

League Leaders Meet With Surprise in Scottish League.

GLASGOW, Oct. 27.—The Scottish League shows some interesting results in Saturday's games, the surprise being the inability of Rangers to defeat Motherwell, having to be content with a goalless draw. Dumbarton were easy for Celtic, who won by 5 to 0. Partick Thistle jumped into third place by a 3 to 0 win over Kilmarnock, while, after a strenuous game, Lanark won from Queen's Park by the odd goal in seven. Scores:

PRO HOCKEY TROUBLE MAY CEASE SHORTLY

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 28.—Indications are not wanting that if Eddie Livingstone wishes to return to the fold of organized hockey, from which he was gently but firmly ushered two seasons back, he has only to knock at the front door.

In inner circles there has already been some talk of taking Livvy back if the "Stormy Petrel" wishes to return. This news leaked out today. It is not denied by anyone concerned that Livingstone is making life miserable for his former associates. His horde of lawsuits and of threatened lawsuits, injunctions and writs are very disturbing and expensive as well, and so, it is said, one influential member of the Toronto Arena Company has already made tentative inquiries among the other directors of the National Hockey League with a view to finding out their feelings in regard to taking Livingstone back.

It is also said on considerable authority here that Eddie Livingstone has offered the Toronto Arena a check for their N.H.L. franchise and that he may get it.

ETERNAL WINS THE HONORS AT LAUREL

McLean Memorial Cup and Handsome Purse Goes to Winner.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 28.—Eternal won the six-furlong race for a purse of $20,000 and the John R. McLean memorial cup at Laurel today, beating Billy Kelly by a head. The time was 1 minute and 12 seconds.

The end of the race was accompanied by scenes of wild enthusiasm, and the monster crowd stood yelling as the horses came down the stretch.

Eternal took the lead almost immediately after the start and kept it for a few seconds, when Sande, on Billy Kelly, closed the gap. Schuttinger, on Eternal, nursed his mount into great speed and nosed ahead at the barrier. The winner paid $4.40 to win.

CLUB-OWNERS DO NOT WANT SEMI-PRO BALL

Ban Johnson Does Not Approve of Week-End Games.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 28.—Several American League club owners do not approve of the proposed semi-professional week-end baseball league planned for next season, B. B. Johnson, president of the league, stated today. In communicating this to Mr. Johnson, he said, they asserted they would not permit use of their plants for such an organization.

"The promoters plan a league of major league players and cities and a Saturday and Sunday schedule throughout the season, as I understand it," Mr. Johnson said. "The expenses of such a project would be enormous and there also might be difficulty in obtaining players as baseball is not essential employment."

JOHNNY LAVAN NOW OFFICER IN NAVY

Former Big League Player Says He Is Through With Game.

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Oct. 24.—"I'm through with baseball forever." Johnny Lavan, late of the Washington team and now a junior grade lieutenant of the medical corps, United States navy—the highest ranking big leaguer in service—was the speaker.

"In a few weeks possibly a month or so, I expect to be in France. I like the navy and probably will stick to it, but regardless of my future, I've played my last game in a big league uniform. That's settled."

For several years Lavan has been hesitating between abandoning baseball to follow his chosen profession of medicine. During the winter seasons while a member of the St. Louis Browns, he was attached to the staff of the St. Louis city hospital and later was the physician for large public utilities. Each spring came the decision whether to make the training trip or to follow his practice.

The lure of the game was always too strong, and he returned to the diamond.

A year ago Lavan decided to turn in his shoes, hang up the uniform and store his glove. Then came the controversy with Magnate Ball, of the Browns, with the resultant court action. Lavan was suing for $50,000. Rather than retire under fire he played through the season—his best since he broke in from the Michigan varsity field.

Lavan divided his career between St. Louis, Philadelphia and Washington, breaking in with the Browns six years ago. He went to the Athletics in a cash deal in time to receive a share of the world's series pot. Later Connie Mack returned him to St. Louis.

Enlisting in the navy last December he was not called to Great Lakes until late in the summer. Lieut.-Commander John B. Kaufman immediately placed him in charge of the Station baseball team, which later won the naval championship from teams managed by Rabbit Maranville and Bill Jacobson.

O.H.A. TEAMS TO TAKE PART IN SPORT DRIVE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Hockey enthusiasts here are arranging to have the great Canadian winter game do its share toward raising the ten million dollars expected of sport during the nation-wide "sport week." It is proposed to have seven O.H.A. teams come to this city to play exhibition games between themselves and with New York teams.

The artificial ice rinks are closed by order of the fuel commission, but it is proposed to set aside the huge natural ice rinks in Van Cortlandt Park, Central Park and elsewhere during the week of the drive for the benefit of the fund.

"POP" GEERS STILL AT THE OLD GAME

Edward F. Geers, known as the silent man of the sulky, dean of the Grand Circuit drivers, is 67 years old, but he doesn't look it.

Trainers come and go, but Geers seems to go on forever. His features are browned by the accumulated tan of years in the open under hot suns. His body is twisted and wrecked, by his many accidents. But his eye still has a youthful sparkle. The star of his present string is St. Frisco, 2:01 3-4.

Asked how long he intended to drive Pop answered in his peculiar drawl. "Well, I don't know. Maybe ten years more. If I keep on feeling the same I guess I'll live to be 100. But it will all depend on this St. Frisco horse. If I can just drive him one in 2:00 or better, I guess that I'll be about ready to step down and let the younger fellows do the driving.

"But I couldn't keep away from the horses. I'd just have to go to the races. And I guess I'll own a couple as long as I live."

There you have Pop Geers' ambition—to drive St. Frisco to a record of 2:00 or better.

PRESTON TO ENTER TWO TEAMS IN O.H.A. LEAGUE

Hockey Club Has Been Unable to Hold Meeting Owing to the "Flu."

PRESTON, Oct. 28.—On account of the prevailing epidemic the Preston Hockey Club have been unable to hold a meeting as yet, but intend doing so in the near future. They intend, however, to enter two teams in the O. H. A. junior and intermediate. All of last year's team is intact, and with the addition of some new material should make a very creditable showing this coming season.

REICHSTAG WILL NOT DISCUSS PRESIDENT WILSON'S LAST NOTE

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28.—A dispatch from Berlin says a proposal that President Wilson's note to Germany should not be discussed in the Reichstag was adopted by that body at a meeting held on Friday. The Conservatives and Independent Socialists voted against it.

Charles Announces the Day of Peace Is Coming Nearer

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28.—The Vienna Gazette today published a letter signed by Emperor Charles appointing Count Julius Andrassy to succeed Baron Burian as foreign minister and president of the Austro-Hungarian cabinet council.

Emperor Charles in an order to the army and navy, dated October 23, which also is printed in the newspaper, announces that the day bringing peace to the homes is coming nearer. The emperor appeals to all to maintain "loyalty and obedience in these grave times full of confusion which must not spread to the army and the navy."

ROYAL RECEPTION.

VIENNA, Oct. 28.—Via Basel.—Emperor Charles and Empress Zita of Austria, arrived at the Schoenbrunn palace on Sunday morning from the Royal Chateau at Goedoello, near Budapest. The emperor immediately received Count Julius Andrassy, the new foreign minister and Professor Lammasche, the premier.

MILD TYPE AT CLANDEBOYE.

CLANDEBOYE, Oct. 28. — There are a number of cases of influenza in this vicinity. Most cases are of the mild type, but two have proved fatal. Mrs. Scott, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Hardy, con. 2, Biddulph, and Mrs. Laughton of Lucan, formerly of this place, succumbed.

Word was received this morning by relatives here of the sudden death of Jerry Hodgson, near Ailsa Craig. Mr. Hodgson was a son-in-law of Mr. William Lee of this place. Mrs. Hodgson's brother, George Lee, was buried only a week ago.

Many of the farmers are at fall plowing and taking in their root crop. A number are laid up with influenza.

FARMERS WANT WAR ELECTION ACT REPEALED

United Body Also Declares For Absolute Freedom of Discussion.

PLATFORM IS PREPARED

Permanent Prohibition and Nationalization of Railways Also Advocated.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—Absolute freedom of discussion; no change in Canada's relations to the United Kingdom till after full discussion by the Canadian people; repeal of the war times elections act; permanent Dominion-wide prohibition of the manufacture, importation and sale of liquor; nationalization of railway, telegraph, telephone, and similar public utilities; natural resources to be leased for short terms by public auction.

These were the main planks in the proposed platform of the United Farmers of Ontario tentatively agreed upon at a meeting of executive officers held at the headquarters of the organization in this city today.

Planks previously adopted by the Canadian Council of Agriculture were reaffirmed, including sweeping reductions in customs, taxation and the substitution of a direct tax on unimproved land values; a sharply graduated income tax, a heavily graduated inheritance tax on large estates, and a graduated income tax on the profits of corporations with a special squeeze on watered stock.

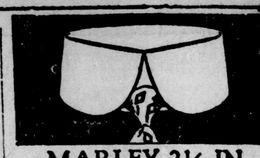

All these matters, however, will come up for review at the annual convention to be held in December before final adoption.

Sergt. Hunter, a returned soldier, addressed the meeting, and asked the aid of the United Farmers in a national committee composed of representatives of employers, labor unions, and the organized farmers, for the purpose of aiding in restoring returned soldiers to civil life, and in settling future disputes as to wages and terms of employment.

$12,160,600 SHELLED OUT BY ONTARIANS IN FIRST DAY

Last Year's Record Was $7,924,500.

SOME BIG SUBSCRIPTIONS

Steel Company of Canada and Huron and Erie Loan Company Mentioned.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—Ontario has "gone over the top" with a rush in the first day's drive of the 1918 Victory Loan campaign. While reports from only 39 out of 58 units had been received tonight at provincial headquarters, these showed subscriptions totaling $12,160,600, as compared with $7,824,500 subscribed on the first day last year.

A subscription of $3,000,000 from the Steel Company of Canada helped to swell Hamiltons' total, while London's figures included $2,633,000 from the Huron & Erie Loan Company.

Toronto Over Two Millions.

Toronto rolled up the splendid total of $2,202,950, divided among 3,029 applicants. Ottawa subscribed $141,500.

G. H. Wood, Ontario chairman, after viewing the first day's results, said:

"Although the weather conditions were most unfavorable, as it was raining in nearly all parts of the province, the canvassers got off to a splendid start. Last year splendid results were obtained from employees in industrial establishments, which were supposed to be the result of their accumulative savings, and could not be repeated in this campaign. It is apparent, however, that this surmise was wrong, as reports indicate that the splendid average of last year is going to be exceeded, and what is equally gratifying is the response coming from people of foreign birth.

Sarnia's Demonstration.

"Sarnia had the largest parade in its history, one and a half miles long, and two industries there have already won the honor emblem. These are the Mueller Company, with one hundred per cent of its employees subscribing for an amount over 10 per cent of the annual payroll and the Lougheed Company, also one hundred per cent of the employees subscribing 20 per cent of the annual payroll.

"Thamesville stole a march on the whole province by starting to canvass at midnight and within 25 minutes had practically doubled its objective.

"While the first day's canvass is hardly a fair test of the organization the returns so far indicate that the time and care spent in organization are going to achieve a magnificent result."

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; The action of hot water and limestone phosphates on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.

WAR VETERANS ASK BORDEN AS TO LAND SPECULATOR'S FATE

Pertinent Queries Addressed to Prime Minister.

ASKS AS TO GRANTS

Not Enough Land Available for Soldiers' Settlement—Urge Appropriation.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—R. M. Stewart, secretary-treasurer of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada, has addressed the following letter to the prime minister, Sir R. L. Borden:

"Sir,—While it has been admitted by certain members of your Government that the available crown lands are both insufficient to meet, and unsuitable for the estimated requirements of soldier settlement, it is a matter of common knowledge that many millions of acres of land, a large portion of which is suitable for agricultural purposes, is held idle and unproductive by the railroads, various other corporations, and a multitude of private speculators.

"As the members of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces have been led to believe that such of them as desire to settle on the land would, on discharge receive a free grant of one hundred and sixty acres, and possess the right of homestead entry on an additional one hundred and sixty acres, they now expect that the Government will fulfil her promise by making idle lands in the provinces of Canada in which they are domiciled available for the purpose of soldier settlement.

What Is Being Done?

"It is understood that your Government has entered into negotiations with the several provincial governments with a view to acquiring, by purchase, a portion of the idle and unproductive lands within their respective borders.

"The returned soldiers naturally wish to be made aware of the manner in which the Government purposes to acquire these lands, and as the matter is one of vital importance to them this association requests the favor of a definite reply to the following questions:

"1. Will the Government consider the possibility of state expropriation by fixed schedules, which will eliminate all speculative values, and will not impose onerous burdens either on the cultivator who works the land or on the general community?

"2. Does the Government intend to buy, at the public expense, such land as private speculators are willing to disgorge at prices out of proportion to their 'practical' values?

"3. Will the Government, failing other measures, consider the idea of passing legislation whereby all idle agricultural lands in Canada, if not brought under cultivation within a definite period, 'say ten years,' will revert to the crown?

Want Penalty Imposed.

"Believing that a penalty should be imposed upon all those who hold agricultural lands in a state of unproductiveness, we suggested to the then acting minister of finance at the time of the introduction of the budget during the last session, that the Federal Government impose a super-tax on every acre of land fit for agricultural purposes, held idle and unproductive, such tax to increase in proportion to the acreage held.

"In reply, the Honorable Minister MacLean stated that he believed the matter 'would have the consideration of the Government during the recess.'

"But while the Government has refused to tolerate the idleness in the individual, punishing all who do not work; and while, for the good of the country you have compelled the individual citizen of military age to place his person at the service of the state, we find that millions of acres of agricultural land are held by speculators in a state of unmolested idleness, although it is of vital importance to Canada that her agricultural resources be developed.

"We do not believe that the right to hold land or property is more sacred and inviolable than the right of the individual to the possession of his person, and we do not understand why, when the individual surrenders the right to possess his persons, or is deprived of it for the good of the state, the right to hold land in idleness, when the best interest of the country requires it to be productive, should not be made highly unprofitable.

For Privileged Only.

"If land for the purpose of soldier settlement is to be acquired by purchase, the Government paying the present holders the prices which they are now demanding for it, it follows that soldiers' settlement, instead of being open to all those honorably discharged soldiers who desire to settle on the land, will be open only to the privileged few who have funds of their own to enable them to take over land so acquired.

"Such a scheme would be manifestly unfair, and, as we consider that these lands could be acquired by expropriation, without occasioning any actual financial loss to their present holders, we would respectfully request the favor of a reply to the following question:

"4. Does the Government, while demanding that men must give their services for a daily wage 'often far below their earning capacity in civil life' propose that property shall continue to be widely held on terms which enable the holders to exact extravagant toll from the producers, particularly the returned soldiers who seek to rejoin their ranks?"

KERKUK TOWN CAPTURED

Important Centres in Turkish Kurdestan, 155 Miles Above Bagdad.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—When British armored cars and cavalry came in sight of Aleppo, the Syrian city captured by Gen. Allenby on Saturday, Field Marshal Liman von Sanders, the German commander of the Turkish forces, withdrew 10,000 of his 12,000 troops and retired toward Kaima.

A Turkish rearguard was left at Aleppo, but it put up slight resistance. Before retiring the Turkish rearguard burned the railroad station and most of the railroad stock. The retiring Turks are now being pursued by the British cavalry.

British troops have taken the important town of Kerkuk, in Turkish Kurdestan, lying 155 miles north of Bagdad, according to the war office announcement on operations in Mesopotamia. The town was occupied on Friday. The statement says:

"The Turks still held on Friday strong positions on Jebel Hamrin, west of the mouth of the Lesser Zeab. But on the previous day some of our armored cars by desert track farther west thrust into the Turkish line of communication in the vicinity of Kaler Sherghat, where they attacked enemy convoys. At the same time our cavalry moved up on the left bank of the Tigris, threatening the enemy communications from the east.

"The pressure of our troops in front, combined with the attacks on their communications compelled the Turks to retreat twelve miles to the north on Saturday night to a position three miles south of Kaleh Sherghat, where we are in close contact with them. Our troops are showing great powers of endurance in a country possessing no roads and devoid of supplies.

"Kerkuk was captured by us on Friday after slight opposition, and the Turks retreated towards Altyn Kupri. Armored cars inflicted many casualties on the enemy close to the latter town, and on Sunday our main body was in touch with the Turkish troops covering the crossings of the Lesser Zeab."

FLAVELLE SAYS THERE SHOULD BE SUFFICIENT LIQUOR TO MEET NEED

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—If the druggists, doctors and hospitals of the province keep the continuous stock of liquor on hand which they are entitled to, the Ontario license board believes there ought to be enough liquor available to fill all the requirements for strictly medical use during the present influenza epidemic. There has been some confusion in the minds of many as to the amount of liquor doctors and druggists are allowed to have on hand. To clear up the situation, Chairman Flavelle of the board of license commissioners for Ontario, today issued a statement.

The maximum prices the vendors are permitted to charge for whiskey range from $1.10 per reputed quart bottle of G. & W. ordinary to $1.50 for Walker's Club and $1.75 per imperial quart of draught whiskey filled by the vendor. Mr. Flavelle mentions that druggists are entitled to have ten gallons of liquor on hand at any one time, while duly qualified medical practitioners may carry the same amount in their homes or offices. Hospitals may have unlimited supplies in stock, which may be given to patients when prescribed by a duly qualified medical practitioner.

BURGLARS ENTER FARMERS' CLUB

THAMESFORD, Oct. 28. — The M. O. H. is keeping the ban on all public meetings for another week, although there have been no new cases of influenza reported of late. There are several cases of it in the surrounding districts.

Misses Myrtle and Lillian Wallace, who were very seriously ill, are gradually improving.

The Farmers' Club building near the station was forcibly entered again Saturday evening and about $200 worth of flour, corn syrup and soap taken. The provincial detectives were notified and are working on the case. A $200 reward is offered by the club leading to the arrest of the guilty parties.

THE VICTORY DRIVE

By Chas. H. Sabin, President Guaranty Trust Co. of New York.

If the Allies are to win the war in 1919, as General March has declared is possible, we shall have to do more than put 4,000,000 fighting men in France. Victory will depend equally as much upon our ability to equip and supply that colossal army with all that it will need to defeat the Huns decisively and completely. Victory in 1919 will be contingent, in fact, upon the financial support which we give the Government in 1918. The present fiscal year will undoubtedly be the most important of the entire war, and, consequently, every dollar placed at the disposal of the Government now will have greater power and significance than its predecessors—vitally valuable as they were.

It is in this light that we should view the monetary demands which the war is making upon us. Commensurate with the extent of those demands is the magnitude of their promise—a promise of victory, perhaps a year hence.

We have awakened at last to our unrivalled military, economic, and financial strength. It is a matter of common knowledge that the United States must provide the new armies which are necessary to win the war. France and England have done more than their share. It is enough that henceforth they shall maintain their forces at their present military strength. We are abundantly able to furnish the additional power that is needed to deliver the decisive blow, although we may be sure that even after four gruelling years of terrible struggle France and England will continue their heroic efforts to the utmost and to the end.

America's titanic power should be transported to Europe as rapidly as it can be mobilized. The quickest and surest way to victory is through obtaining so vast a superiority in striking force that German military strength can be broken by a strategic defeat—not by the slow process of attrition. But in order to accomplish that we shall have to perform a prodigious amount of work. We shall have need for enormous quantities of coal, for ships without number, for munitions without limit—for dollars without stint. We can, and we will, have them all.

The issue which we face is concrete and grim. We must win this war decisively. Peace must be dictated—not negotiated—by the Allies, if we are to have a world safe and fit to live in. Until such a victory is achieved we must give up whatever privileges may be necessary and endure whatever sacrifices may be demanded of us. But the price, whatever it may be, cannot be too high for freeing the world forever of the Prussian menace. Victory is possible in 1919—if we do our full share here at home, if we do our duty as magnificently as our heroic soldiers are doing their duty in France, Italy and Russia.

The fourth Liberty Loan must, and will, be a complete success. It is the great Victory Drive.

The great Liberty Loan was a success, reaching over $6,000,000,000.
Our great Victory Loan will be a success, and will reach over $300,000,000.

The Use of Life Insurance as a Means of Enhancing the Credit of Business Enterprises During Times of Financial Stringency.

Just as an endowment policy proves serviceable as a means of accumulating a substantial fund without the insured being conscious of any sacrifice, so nearly all other forms of life insurance policies contain a saving feature, although in none does that feature appear so prominently as in ordinary types of endowment policies.

It is not intended here to encourage the altogether too common habit of borrowing the loan value of policies, because in many instances the privilege is exercised unnecessarily, simply because some luxury is desired or because the security market seems low, or because some other apparent opportunity to make money quickly seems to present itself. And even where these considerations are not the motive, the insured frequently uses this asset because it is so easily obtained, never considering at the time the relation of that asset to his beneficiary, and often overlooking some other valuable asset which should have been used in preference to the cash value of his policy. Borrowing under such conditions is not contemplated in this discussion. What it is intended to show is that the surrender or loan value of a policy is a real asset, which enhances the credit of the businessman, because it is available on demand, irrespective of the financial conditions which may prevail, and usually at the fixed rate of 5 or 6 per cent.

Bankers and other creditors always regard the cash value of a businessman's policies as an additional asset, justifying larger extension of credit on his firm's paper. But suppose the borrower must have additional credit at a time when the condition of the money market is such as to make it highly inconvenient or impossible for the banks to meet his requirements. It is at such times that the loan privilege contained in insurance contracts affords a convenient and most excellent means of relief, as has been amply testified to by many of our leading businessmen.

During the panic of 1907, for example, when such stringency prevailed in the credit market as to make impossible the floating of loans even on the best collateral, millions of dollars were borrowed on life insurance policies, and numerous businessmen, firms and corporations used their life insurance contracts as a means of securing funds to make up their payrolls or to meet other pressing obligations. This service of life insurance to the business community and the spirit in which it should be used, is well exemplified by the experience of one of nation's leading businessmen. He writes:

"Never, except as a last resource, should a man use his insurance policies as the basis for borrowing. It should be a source of joy and satisfaction that this sacred investment is kept clear of encumbrance. Whatever advantageous financial operations may offer with reference to other investments, sums set aside for insurance should be regarded as of a different class, to be maintained unimpaired.

"In the autumn of 1907 there was a panic. Rates of interest advanced to prohibitory figures, and even at these higher figures loans were all but impossible. Three or four years before one of my partners and I had taken out life insurance policies for considerable amounts. Those gave the right to borrow from the insurance company at the fixed rate of 5 per cent. We were, therefore, enabled to place this credit at the disposal of the partnership of which we were members, and about $120,000 of cash was instantly available in a time of great need. Of course these loans were repaid to the insurance company immediately upon the restoration of normal conditions. Such a privilege must, in many cases, mean the avoidance of actual disaster."—Huebner.

WOMEN AND MONEY

Chancellor James R. Day, Syracuse (N. Y.) University, in one of his admirable addresses, paid the following tribute to women and their ability to handle money judiciously: "The balance which self-denial holds in the home is the balance of prosperity and peace. Here woman has her place and her office. Is she equal to self-denial? Can she wait? There is nothing so persuasive, so irresistible, as the love of a man for the woman he loves. No money is spent with so much joy as the money that goes to her and the children. Happy, a thousandfold happy, is the man whose wife loves him too much to permit him to be foolish when he should be wise, who is so judicial in her temperament, so prudent in her domestic economy, as to add her decisive voice to the month's allowance, and so brave as to insist that the expenditure must always be at least a little less than the income. She ought to say: 'I am not seeking or consenting to support. There will be two of us. If I cannot earn as much as you, I can save more. We will plan together. I will be the home side of your life.' Such women as Dr. Day herein describes are the helpmeets, the home managers, whose husbands are now among the purchasers of Victory Loan bonds. This has already been evidenced in the experiences of some of the canvassers now calling at every home. We are proud of our Canadian woman, her charm and her achievements, her devotion to duty, and the wonderful amount of work she has accomplished in her solicitude for the soldiers' comfort, but we may not be blind to the many instances where she has, since coming into receipt of a larger income than she ever enjoyed before from her husband's earnings, been most unwise, when not profligate, in spending all instead of saving some. On the contrary, those who live in their own homes, and we have more than the average of such in London, have "Mother" to thank largely for their home possessions. It is not the money we make, but the money we save that makes for the home with its comfort and peace.

MONEY AND THE STOCK MARKET.

It is a most difficult situation which confronts the Money Committee in these times of optimism on securities and need of conserving the supply of credit.

In normal situations no expedients would have to be adopted if money was tight and security prices wanted to run away. An increase in rates would immediately follow, and this, in most all cases, has been an effectual cure for a too excitedly advancing market.

Now, however, to let money rates go where they would, if unrestricted, up to at least 8 per cent or 9 per cent, would seriously hamper all operations, especially the financial operations of the Government.

The Money Committee has concluded to try the expedient of recommending (and this is equivalent to ordaining) that margins required by the banks on Stock Exchange loans be increased from 20 per cent to 30 per cent after November 4.

Brokers, as a rule, keep their margins higher than the formal requirements of 20 per cent, and in some cases up to full 30 per cent. The recommendation will thus be more moral than actual in its effect upon loans.

In this connection it may be said that the co-operation of Wall Street brokers has always been and still is strongly enlisted on the side of the Government's purposes, and no effort has recently been made by the brokers to stimulate speculative activity; on the contrary, the effort has been distinctly in the direction of curtailing such activities.

It would be unfortunate if from these moves of the Money Committee any inference should be drawn that purchases and sales in Wall Street—a free market where the values of the country's most valuable commercial assets as represented in shares are recorded and may be realized upon promptly in cash whenever funds are needed—if inference, we say, were drawn that these functions of the Stock Exchange were not of the most essential and beneficial character.

In all this matter the value of securities is not affected and the Chairman of the Money Committee emphasizes this point when he says:

"It should be clearly understood that the present recommendation or any future recommendation by the money committee is not to be construed as expressing any views as to values represented by current prices of securities, but is designed solely to conserve the public interest by preventing, in so far as possible, undue speculation at a time when the credit resources of the country must be marshalled for the use of the Government in carrying out its war program."

The strength of the market, which is at the bottom of all the trouble—that is, which is the force pulling at the leashes to record higher prices, is not to be regretted. It has been a favorable force in sending through the Liberty Loan successfully, and keeps all business cheerful and American effort at its best.

The judgment thus recorded, that many high-class securities are a purchase—a judgment based in many cases on values as they will be after the war—is of interest to the outright investor. In buying judiciously now and paying for his purchases, he does not overstep any of the rules against too much activity, and, in fact, helps along the situation.

What Is the True Meaning of the Victory Loan?

We are within sight of Victory, and now, less than ever, can we afford to rest in a false atmosphere of security.

Now is the moment for a grand rally, an irresistible push forward with men and money.

The men are there—and always fresh ones go. They must continually be fed, clothed, and supplied with ammunition. The work of supporting them, the EASY PART, is ours. Shall any of us fail them at this end?

NO, A HUNDRED TIMES, NO!

And what are we asked to do? What is it that Canada asks of us?

Simply to LEND to our own country, more money, that the great fight may be finished for us, and that the sacrifices made for us in four years of war shall not be in vain. No thinking man or woman who realizes this can fail to respond to the limit of his or her ability.

And Canada makes it very easy for us to do this through

THE VICTORY LOAN 1918

She will pay us interest at 5½ per cent on any amount we lend. She offers us Bonds issued in convenient denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, repayable in 5 or 15 years, as we may desire.

Let us get right down to business, OUR OWN BUSINESS—AND HELP TO OVER-SUBSCRIBE THE VICTORY LOAN 1918. And let us do it NOW.

A Business Proposition

Canada looks to YOU for help in making this great Victory Loan a success.

Canada needs your MONEY.

Ours is a country whose individual citizens are more prosperous than those of any other country in the world.

Canada has come to YOU—her citizens—with a straight business proposition.

That proposition in a nutshell is this:

"I need Three Hundred Million Dollars to help finish up my business over in Europe. Lend me the money for a short time at 5½ per cent interest, payable half-yearly, and I pledge the return of every cent of your loan."

Plan to take all the Bonds you can possibly pay for. The payments are as follows

10 per cent on application. 20 per cent January 6, 1919.
20 per cent December 6, 1918. 20 per cent February 6, 1919.
31.16 per cent March 6, 1919.

How Many Crowns Shall We Have On Our Honor Flag?

Every city, town and village in Canada is asked to support the men who fight our battles on a dozen fronts An honor flag will fly in each place which meets this call with honor. We are asked for $6,000,000, an amount set as a fair response from London. If we subscribe 25 per cent over that amount a crown is added to our honor flag, and for every additional 25 per cent another crown.

How Many Crowns Shall We Have On Our Honor Flag?

With our pocketbooks wide open we will answer this call. To the limit of our means we will do our share in helping to OVER-SUBSCRIBE

Canada's Victory Loan 1918

Canada—the whole commercial fabric of our country—stands behind the Victory Bonds. Whether we buy a $50 Bond or one at $100 or $500 or $1,000, let us do it quickly. There is no safer, no finer investment in the world than a Victory Bond—a bond pledging the repayment of our money at the end of a definite period, and paying us, meanwhile, interest at 5½ per cent. Money arms the soldiers, money pays for the thousand daily needs of the war. It is our part to lend the money to the limit of our ability.

The Victory Loan Honor Button will show that you are a buyer of Victory Bonds. Get it early. Your name on the Honor Roll of your place of business will be an inspiration to others. Get it there quickly. London must have a place of honor on the list.

BABES PARENTLESS BECAUSE OF "FLU"

Six Families of Five Each Left in Brantford.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 28.—Owing to the number of children left as orphans through the ravages of the Spanish influenza epidemic the Brantford Social Service League has taken action at once to provide for the children. In six instances, families of over five have been left without parents, and the undertaking has been made by the league to keep the children together and to look after their welfare.

Contempt of Court Is Charge Against "Flu" Germ Carriers

Chief Justice R. M. Meredith Warns Court at Kitchener.

KITCHENER, Oct. 28.—Chief Justice R. M. Meredith in addressing the grand jury at the opening of the fall assizes here this afternoon advised them not only to purchase all the Victory Bonds they possibly could, but also to use their influence in persuading others to do the same. He hoped Waterloo County would more than subscribe the amount set down as their county's share.

His lordship also referred to the influenza epidemic that is raging throughout the country, and in order that the holding of assizes should in no way contribute to the spread of the disease he ordered that any juror, witness, official or spectator in the court room suffering from the malady, or who might be a germ-carrier through having the disease in his home, should leave the court room and not return.

To emphasize his strong feelings in the matter his lordship said: "We must keep the unclean away from the clean, and I now make this order that anyone having had this disease or who has it now, or anyone in whose home the disease exists, must leave this court and not return. Any breach of this order will be considered as contempt of court, and will be dealt with as such."

The effect of his lordship's order was the retirement of about twelve from the court room. There were three jury cases on the docket, and on each the grand jury found a true bill.

They were: Crown vs. August Exner of Waterloo, assault; crown vs. Mrs. Peifener of Galt, perjury, and A. A. Eby, Kitchener vs. Ald. A. S. Campbell, Kitchener, defamatory libel.

RETIRING CONSTABLES MAKE SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST SUPERVISORS

BRANTFORD, Oct. 28.—At a special meeting of the board of police commissioners here this afternon four constables who had resigned some time ago appeared and made charges against the discipline of the department as enforced by the sergeants. The commissioners took a serious view of the charges made, and appointed City Solicitor Henderson to act for the men, and an investigation will be held. No complaints were made against the chief of the department, outside of the claim that seniority had not been recognized in promotions.

SUBSCRIBERS OF RIDGETOWN OPPOSE TELEPHONE INCREASE

RIDGETOWN, Oct. 28.—A meeting of the telephone subscribers was held in the township hall here for the purpose of discussing the proposed raise in Bell Telephone Company rates. Hiram McLarty was chairman and Walter Latimer secretary. A number of those present expressed their opinions in the matter, and the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Moved by Rev. C. A. Sharp, and seconded by Peter Sheweburg, that, whereas, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, Limited, has given notice that their contracts will cease on or about the 20th of November, and that they have already appeared before the Dominion railway board asking for an increase in rates, be it resolved that this meeting does hereby protest against any such increase until a thorough investigation has been made, and it is shown to the satisfaction of said board that such increase is fair, and that no undue profits are being made out of the subscribers, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the railway commission, and one to our representative, A. B. McCoig, M. P., for Kent, and also one to the United Farmers of Ontario.

CRANBROOK POSTOFFICE TO BE CLOSED UP

BRUSSELS, Oct. 28.—Pte. F. Hunter was wounded in the hand and arm while doing his duty in France.

Cranbrook postoffice will be closed by Government orders after October 31, and the work done by the rural carrier. This office, located five miles from Brussels, has been in existence for the past 60 years. The rural mail cut off most of the business.

Continuation and public schools will not resume work this week, and there were no services in the churches last Sunday, as precautionary measures to avoid the influenza.

In jumping from the table of a threshing machine Telford Sellers had the misfortune to break his right ankle. He alighted on the end of a plank on the floor, causing the injury.

Regret is expressed here that Peter McMartin of Waterford, brother of Mrs. W. Wilton, Brussels, has suffered a stroke of paralysis. He is section foreman on the railway, and a former resident of Brussels.

WONDROUS PARADE MARKED OPENING OF SARNIA'S CAMPAIGN

Speeches Marked Close of Event — Thousands Present.

SARNIA, Oct. 28.—The biggest parade ever held in Lambton County was staged here this afternoon to usher in the Victory Loan campaign. In spite of the cold winds and chill atmosphere ten thousand people turned out to view the procession. Almost five thousand took part in it, and the floats and displays were wondrous. It took one hour for the procession to pass a given spot, it being almost two miles long. All the industries closed down in honor of the occasion. The kaiser held a prominent part in the parade, he appearing mostly with a chain around his neck. At 4:30 the parade ended at Victoria Park, where several well-known speakers addressed the multitudes. S. L. McKay was chairman of the occasion. Dr. Hugh A. Knowles of Chicago, campaign manager of the Western Ontario division of the war activities fund of the Salvation Army, was the first speaker, and the aptness of his remarks captured the throng. Monsignor Aylward spoke at some length, pointing out that it should be an act of love in lending to the Government this loan. Hon. W. J. Hanna then addressed the gathering, showing the absolute necessity of the loan, and announcing to the crowd that the Imperial Oil Company had subscribed $350,000 to the fund in Sarnia. F. C. Slater, American counsel, then addressed the people with a few well chosen words.

TWO BLENHEIM LADS DIED WITHIN HOUR

Mother Is Also Seriously Ill With Influenza.

BLENHEIM, Oct. 28.—The funeral took place here yesterday of two young sons of Mrs. H. Bawden, both victims of influenza, who died within half an hour of each other at the hospital in Chatham. The mother and two young lads about 9 and 12 years of age were visiting south of town in Harwich with their uncle, George Bawden, at the time they were taken ill. The mother is reported seriously ill also with the disease.

Blenheim Soldier Dead.

Word was received yesterday that Pte. Peter Reid had died in London from pneumonia following an attack of the "flu." Pte. Reid had seen service overseas, and some months ago was sent home, being unable to continue service. He was at London when taken ill. His wife paid him a visit on hearing of his illness, and was returning home, as he was some better, but a telegram met her at the station on Saturday, and she immediately returned. He was an Englishman, and leaves, besides his widow, one child.

High Sheep Prices.

That sheep are still valuable was shown by the prices obtained at a special auction sale of sheep and lambs which took place here Saturday on the fair grounds. G. Robertson of Wheatley brought over about 130 sheep and lambs, consisting of Oxfords, Leicesters, Southdown, Shopshire and good grades. They were auctioned by R. A. Harrington of Chatham in pens of about half a dozen each. The lambs brought from $16 each to $27, and some of the sheep sold as high as $40 each on ten months' time.

Sheep raising here has been profitable the past year, and many more sheep are to be seen on the farms than formerly.

All the schools and churches have been closed in Harwich Township for a time by the board of health owing to the outbreak of influenza.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR EMBRO AVIATOR

EMBRO, Oct. 28.—On Sunday night the memorial service was held in the Congregational Church for the late Flight Lieut. Osborne McKenzie, who was a faithful member of that church. The large attendance showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The Masons from Embro and Plattsville occupied the centre seats.

Rev. E. G. Warren conducted the service. It was his wish to have Rev. Dr. Gunn of Toronto, a former pastor here, conduct it, but owing to his daughter being very ill, he was unable to come. Dr. Gunn sent a sympathetic letter, which Rev. E. G. Warren read, in which he spoke very highly of the departed aviator.

Rev. Mr. Warren read other sympathetic letters, all of which expressed words of praise for the deceased, and he referred to many interesting times they had spent together.

Miss Isabel Harris of Beachville sang "Some Day We'll Understand," and Mr. King of Woodstock sang "Crossing the Bar." Both those solos were rendered by the deceased in that church some months before he enlisted. The church was nicely decorated in red, white and blue for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Masters of North Embro received a letter from their son, Pte. George Masters, who was wounded in the arm on September 28, and is in a hospital in England. The letter stated that his wound was healing nicely. Pte. Masters went overseas with the 168th Battalion.

SECOND CROPS NEAR WABASH

WABASH, Oct. 28.—The Wabash public school has closed and will not reopen until Monday, November 4, on account of the influenza situation.

There are only a few cases at present and one death has resulted.

Farmers have finished pitting potatoes and pulling stock beets. Some of the latter are exceptionally large and in some cases the average yield has been about 600 bushels to the acre.

What is regarded rather an unusal occurrence is that some of the beet tops were covered with quantities of good seed. Although it is so late in the fall there is considerable growth in the ground, and a second crop of lettuce is found. Onions fresh and green are found springing up from old ones still left in the garden.

Wheat and pasture lands present a very verdant appearance and fall plowing is made easy, as a result of the recent warm rains.

A meeting of the Wabash Corn Shredding Company took place recently and arrangements were made to commence work as soon as the weather is permissable.

Clover threshing has not yet all been completed, and in most cases the yield is light.

During the past two weeks quantities of oats have been drawn to market, and sold at from 68c to 72c per bushel. Wheat has been selling at $2.10 a bushel.

TENTH OF OBJECTIVE.

INGERSOLL, Oct. 28.—The Victory Loan campaign here was inaugurated today with much enthusiasm and success. Citizens generally are behind the campaign, which was formally opened this evening with a rousing celebration. To the clanging of bells, the shrieking of whistles, and band music, citizens congregated on Thames street, where a big parade of school children with flags, decorated automobiles and Victory Loan workers was held. From a number of decorated platforms stirring addresses were given and solos rendered. The official registration showed that $30,000 of the $350,000 objective had been subscribed today, and all the canvassers are optimistic.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

The local market was small today, with a considerable drop in the price of potatoes. The tubers are selling at $1.65 per bag by the load, $1.75 by five and ten bag lots, and 1.85 to $1.90 per single bag. All other produce remained firm Hay and poultry are both scarce.

GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Opening: Corn—November, $1 23⅛; December, $1 19¼.
Oats—November, 69⅛c; December, 68⅝c.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Further bearish effects from Austria's plea to President Wilson developed today in the corn market, as the full text of the document was not at hand during yesterday's trading. Improved weather tended also to carry prices downward. Selling, however, was of only moderate volume. Opening quotations, which ranged from ⅛c to ⅞c lower, with November at $1 23@1 23⅛, and December at $1 19@1 19½, were followed by additional declines, and then something of a rally.

Unfavorable crop reports from Canada gave comparative firmness to oats. After opening unchanged to ¼c off, the market sagged a little more, but then made a complete recovery.

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—Oats opened unchanged to ⅛c higher for December, at 79¼@79⅜c.

Flax opened unchanged for November and December at $3 47½ and $4 37½ respectively.

Inspections on Monday totaled 622 cars for all grades. The contract grades of wheat were 401.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 29—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Declines of from 1 to 6½ points measured the heaviness of the stock market in the first half hour of today's trading. Oils, notably Mexican Petroleum, were the weakest feature, being closely pressed, however, by rails, tobaccos and some of the leading industrials, including United States Steel, on which dividend action is to be taken after the close of today's market. Coppers opened with a show of strength, also shippings and low-priced coalers, but gains in those issues were not retained.

The population has increased 1,280 in a year, while the assessment jumped to $31,105,579, or an increase of $1,473,752, compared to last year. The second ward, the business section of the city, shows the largest advance in assessment values

HEAVY FINE IMPOSED ON GAMING HOUSE KEEPER

WINDSOR, Oct. 28.—Thomas Pastorious, real estate dealer, paid a fine of $100 and $20 costs in police court today, when he was convicted on a charge of running a gambling room. Peter Meretsky testified he played poker in Pastorious' room, and that a rake-off of every pot was taken. He added that he was "hooked" and could not take a trip out of the city he had planned as a result. William McIntyre also said that he had played poker in Pastorious' place.

BAD IN DISTRICT.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 28. — Vienna schools and churches are still closed on account of the epidemic of influenza. The various parts of the country, however, are not as seriously affected as the city. Dr. Smith of Fingal stated to The Advertiser that he expects shortly to begin the work of inoculating, and he thinks that this will at least prevent any new cases, although he says it will not cure those who are already suffering. The doctor states that the only cure is plenty of fresh air and good food, and above all things not to catch cold after the influenza.

TORONTO.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—There was a weaker feeling on the western markets for oats today. According to the board of trade quotations, on the basis, in store, Fort William, cash prices of Manitoba oats are unchanged. Ontario oats were unchanged, but the chief complaint is the comparatively small quantities being offered. Reports from country points state that shipments are very light and much smaller as compared with last year. This is accounted for in the fact that farmers are still very busy on the land with their fall work. The weather this autumn has been so very wet that operations on the farms have been very much delayed.

There is a fair movement of barley at prices from $1.02 to $1.07 per bushel at points of shipment. Shipments of wheat from Ontario farms are fairly heavy and ample for the demand. There has not been a great deal of western wheat moving for domestic account, but shipments for overseas have been considerable.

HOLLANDERS EN ROUTE FOR JAVA HAD GLIMPSE OF LONDON YESTERDAY

Three hundred and thirty-six Hollanders passed through London on Monday in the G. T. R. "Dutch Special" en route for San Francisco. They are on their way to Java, where they will remain for five years. It has been the custom of the Holland Government to send out a lot every five years to work on the island plantations. They made a rather interesting party with their quaint but picturesque costumes. Fifteen coaches were occupied by them. The train did not stop long at London, and they had no time for sight-seeing. They were taken on their way to the west via Port Huron.

THREE OF FAMILY ARE VICTIMS OF "FLU" IN PERIOD OF TWO WEEKS

O. H. Littleford, Wife and Child Die—Two Sons Orphaned.

O. H. Littleford of Cartier, 39 miles north of Sudbury, his wife and child, have succumbed to pneumonia developed from Spanish influenza, all within two weeks. Mr. Littleford was the first victim. He died on October 17. His wife and three children accompanied the body to Denfield, where interment was made, but on the way, Mrs. Littleford was taken sick, and was unable to attend the funeral. She was taken to the home of her father, George Brown, of Lobo Township. The little 4-year-old daughter of Mrs. Littleford was also taken ill with Spanish influenza, and died a few days after their arrival from Cartier. Mrs. Littleford died on Sunday from pneumonia. Two little sons, Edward and Osborne, survive their father, mother and sister. Although they are both ill with influenza, it is expected that they will recover. The funeral of Mrs. Littleford will be held from the residence of her father on Tuesday afternoon. Interment will be made in St. George's Cemetery, London Township.

Iron Recommended After Influenza.

Any doctor will recommend that people take iron to build up the blood after an attack of Spanish Influenza. The germs of this dread malady impoverish and poison the blood, and as a result the system is left in a weakened condition. The limbs feel weak, and the man or woman recuperating from "Flu" find they have no inclination to perform their duties. The best and most modern way known to science to take iron is in the form in which it is put up in Tonal-Iron Capsules, the new French gelatin remedy, and hundreds of people are using it after an attack of influenza with excellent results. These capsules are soft and dissolve very quickly in the system, and all the iron they contain is quickly absorbed. This remedy also contains several other non-narcotic stimulants, and creates an appetite, as well as working on the bowels, liver and kidneys. When hard pills are taken into the system they frequently pass through whole without benefiting in any way. Tonal-Iron Capsules are guaranteed by the manufacturers, and are sold by all druggists in Canada and the United States for $1 a box, or mailed anywhere in Canada on receipt of the price. Tonal-Iron Company, Box 184, London. ywt

FARMERS CAN BUY COAL ONLY AFTER GETTING A PERMIT

Ontario Controller Orders Regulation Enfoced Here.

MAY CUT CITY'S SHARE

Over Fifty Per Cent of Coal Received, Declare Dealers.

Any person living outside the city limits, except those living in the immediate vicinity of London, will be required to get a permit from J. W. McCallum before he can purchase coal in London in future. This was decided at a meeting of the coal dealers with J. W. McCallum, local fuel controller, on Monday afternoon. Ald. F. E. Harley and Controller J. M. Moore were also present. It was decided to take this action on account of the order which Mr. McCallum received recently, stating that this course would have to be followed in the case of the farmers.

Will Report Weekly.

A weekly report of the coal received will also be made to J. W. McCallum by all the dealers. He has been asking for some method by which he can keep tab on the amount of coal which London receives, and it was decided that in this way it could be done.

Mr. McCallum received a telegram from E. L. Cousins, fuel administrator for Ontario, stating that on account of the "flu" epidemic there was a possibility that London might have to cut still further on its supply of anthracite coal. It also suggested that the dealers be called together for the purpose of laying the matter before them, with the idea of urging them to secure a supply of bituminous coal to make up for any possible deficiency in anthracite.

Situation Encouraging.

In the opinion of those present the coal situation this fall is far more encouraging than it was during the corresponding period last year. It was agreed that London already has between fifty and fifty-five per cent of its allotment of coal delivered. If this estimate is correct many will conclude that it has not been evenly distributed, as there are many families in the city who have no coal in yet.

"This condition would have been remedied by a card system of distribution," says Mr. McCallum, "and the card system will be adopted by the dealers that they would not stock up with bituminous coal for fear that it might be a white elephant on their hands.

Practically all the coal yards were represented at the meeting.

SOCIETIES TO JOIN TOGETHER TO HELP SOLDIERS' FAMILIES

Joint Bureau to Prevent Overlapping—May Ask for Funds.

Considerable overlapping has taken place in London in handling relief work for returned soldiers, and their dependents. This is going to be prevented in the future, if possible, by having a bureau where all in need of help may apply. A file of the names of those receiving help will be kept. This bureau will be operated by two representatives from each of the organizations interested in the welfare of the soldiers. Each society will choose its own representatives to make investigations among those that are in need of help. A report will be made in each case to the bureau, where it will be filed.

This was decided at a joint meeting held last night by the G. W. V. A. relief committee and the executive of the Soldiers' Aid Commission. It was stated that the applications for help come mostly from persons with money due them. They are in immediate need of it, and apply to the Soldiers' Aid Commission for a loan, which they return in a lump sum or in payments. It was suggested that the funds of the different organizations be pooled. One has already used up its money in relief work, and is at present short of funds.

It is likely that the city will be asked to make a grant to the bureau when it gets under way. Letters are being sent out to the different societies giving full particulars and asking for their aid in the matter. Quite a number of persons are getting relief from the Soldiers' Aid Commission, and then asking for aid from other societies, while the most distressing cases are hardly ever heard from, and then only through indirect sources.

"NATIONAL FISH DAY" IS HEARTILY APPROVED

It Will Take Years to Stock Europe With Meat.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28. — The naval service department in a memorandum issued today commends the action of the Canadian Fisheries Association in setting apart April 21 as a "national fish day," and expresses the hope that the press and the people will do their part to make the day a notable success.

The department points out that it will be the duty of Canada for years after the war to send overseas every ounce of meat available, and that the substitution of fish for meat is possible, because fish can be delivered in one form or another in perfect condition in any part of Canada.

A.—1. No. They will be given a searching medical examination only, and if suspected Spanish influenza cases will be isolated.

2. How should a letter to him be addressed?
A.—1. Brig.-General L. W. Shannon, C. M. G.

2. If it is possible to do this, to whom should I write regarding same?
A.—1. It is possible that he may be permitted to return on compassionate grounds?
2. Forward your application with the facts of the case in full. Names of four sons, regimental numbers, dates of enlistments, and units in France, to the district intelligence officer, Wolseley Barracks, London, Ont., and the case will be forwarded to Ottawa for consideration and action.

2. Could you give me any information regarding the Engineers and Signal Corps?
A.—1. LATE DR. BEAL WAS FIRST TO LECTURE TO WOMEN'S CLASSES

Work Which He Started Has Grown to Huge Proportions.

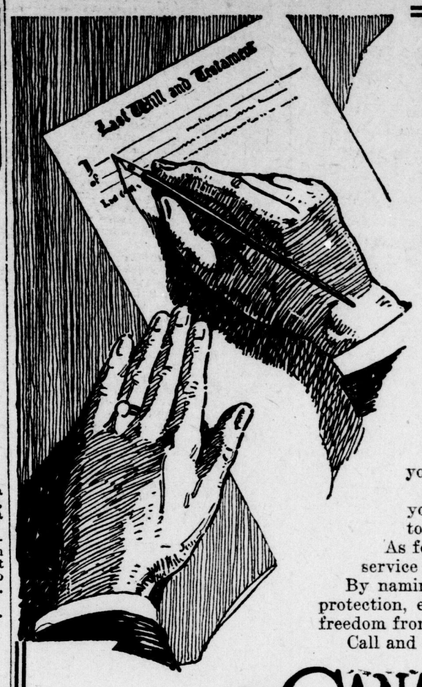

Few people are ignorant of the wonderful work being done by the women of London in caring for the sick in the present epidemic, yet not many are aware of the fact that the unselfish accomplishments of the women of this city in the big emergency are, to some extent at least, a silent but beauteous monument to the memory of the late Dr. Norman H. Beal.

This fact was brought to the attention of The Advertiser by William Loveday, secretary of the St. John Ambulance Association here.

"Dr. Beal was the first doctor to deliver a course of lectures to women in this city," said Mr. Loveday, and it is largely to his foresight and breadth of vision that the work was started among women here.

"There were ten girls in the first class, and Dr. Beal began the lectures in 'first aid' on January 16, 1913, in connection with the Y. W. C. A. The lectures were delivered at the Y. W. C. A. residence on Wellington street.

"To many persons the work probably seemed somewhat of a joke at first, but to those who know what is being accomplished in London today by the women nurses, and others assisting in the care of the sick, the vast possibilities of it, as visioned by Dr. Beal, are apparent."

A Law To Which Two and One Half Million People Must Bend
In Ontario, when a man neglects the duty of making his will, the "Devolution of Estates Act" upon his death breaks up his estate into certain fixed portions regardless of his family's requirements.
Are you a married man without children? This law, if you leave no will, will distribute your estate as follows:
If you are survived by:
(1) Wife only . . . First $1.000 to wife. Balance—half to wife and half to next of kin.
(2) Wife and father . . . Half to wife—half to father.
(3) Wife, brother, sister and mother . . . Half to wife, half to brother, sister and mother equally.
Imagine the hardship this might cause for your wife!
Have your lawyer draw your will. Make sure your wife will receive what she is justly entitled to—not what the law will give her.
As for your executor, your estate will need the best service available—that of The Canada Trust Company.
By naming this Company you inspire for your heirs—protection, experienced service, impartial distribution and freedom from unnecessary costs.
Call and discuss the service we can render your estate.

NOT AN INFLUENZA CASE AT PROTESTANT ORPHANS' HOME HERE

Children Kept Well by Sane and Careful Methods.

"Not one case of influenza—not even the suspicion of a case." This is the report from the Protestant Orphans' Home on Richmond street north.

In the home there are 27 children, under the personal and particular supervision of Miss E. Auld, and members of the board attribute the really remarkable health record of the children to the judicious management and constant care of Miss Auld. Every day the youngsters are inspected, and the least disorder is noted and treated immediately. During the epidemic mothers are not permitted to come and take their children out, and, so far as possible, every avenue of infection is kept shut.

"Are there any special precautions taken?" asked the reporter.

"We give them all lots of good food, keep them in the fresh air as much as we can, insist on cleanliness, and send them to bed early," was the reply.

If this is not a direct preventive of influenza, most people will agree that the treatment is likely to maintain a standard of health which is good insurance against any infectious illness.
