ndications, However, Are That the Peace Conference Will End With Work Undone - Only "Words and Money" Separate Them, But It Looks As If They Would Only Meet to Separate as Enemies.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 26.-The Associated Press is permitted to ap-nounce that Emperor Nicholas' an-swer to President Roosevelt's latest appeal was partially responsive.

Headed For the Rocks.

The peace conference seems headed straight for the rocks. Despite the fact that every question of principle involved in the quarrel between the two countries has been settled in favor of the victor and in reality only "Words and money" still separate them, the ne-gotiations seem on the verge of a final rupture. The air was filled last night with gloomy forebodings. In the most positive fashion it is declared that no new instructions had reached M. Witte up to last evening which would permit him to entertain the consideration of the compromise proposition submitted by Baron Komura on Wednesday, and, by Baron Komura on wednesday and, therefore, unless Japan has a new proposal to make to-day, all that seems to remain is for the plenipotentiaries to meet, sign a declaration that the conference has completed its labors, to meet, sign a declaration that the conference has completed its labors, shake hands and part as enemies.

Nothing Doing.

The time for the sitting of the conference to-day was not set when the adjournment was taken on Wednesday. Last night M. Witte, through his secretary, notified the Japanese mission that he was ready to meet it in the morning at 9.30. The Japanese, after consultation, demurred, on the ground that the minutes of the last meeting was set for 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Information received at a late heur indicates that President Roosevelt's efforts are not exhausted; that he is still in communication with St. Petersburg and Teklo. Te-day's meeting consequently is likely not to prove decisive.

Japan Urged to Insist.

Tokio, Aug. 26.—Following the receipt of a cablegram from Barén Komura, Premier Katsura and Scoretary-General of the Affairs Chinda called Marquis ito into a lengthy conference. ## STORY OF NIGHT'S ORGY LAWSON'S WEAPON

From Which It Appears Gamble Was Killed by Indian.

But Adam Seneca Probably Got His Death Wounds From the Hands He By the Freight Train-Drink, Dancing and a Doubly Fatal Quarrel-

Stratford, Aug. 26.—The small shred stratord, Aug. 26.—The small shred of mystery that had enveloped the local tragedy was almost wholely lifted yesterday by the inquest over John Gamble and the dead Indian, Adam Seneca. The two men under arrest, Harold, better known as Billy Crawfield, and Caleb Poyner, while they differ on minor points agree on the differ on minor points, agree on the main issue, that it was Seneca and Gamble who fought, and that they died from wounds that they inflicted upon one another without the intereference of any person else. Indian Took Ginger Ale. Jermiah Hurley, proprietor of the Dominion Hotel, was the first witness called. Gamble, an Indian, Crawfield and Poyner were in his house on Wednesday night. The Indian took ginger nesday night. The Indian took ginger ale, but no spirits. The others drank some beer and whiskey, but were sober when they left. Poyner did not leave until a little behind the others.

Caleb Poyner's Story.

Caleb Poyner, one of the men detained on suspicion of complicity in the crime, on being sworn said that he had worked for Gamble pulling flax and cutting hay. He had seen Seneca, the Indian, but did not know his name. Seneca was te come and help pull flax. Seneca was to come and help pull flax Witness first saw him on Wednesday in the flax field. After tea, at 6 or 7 e'clock, the Indian came to the shanty and left his valise there, and went up town. Witness, Gamble and "Billy" (Indicated as Crawfield) then went up town to the same team of the same te (indicated as Crawfield) then went up town also. Later, Seneca and another Indian joined them and they visited a couple of hotels, taking several drinks. The dead indian took at least one glass of whiskey. He saw the others with bottles. The Indian had a big bottle of whiskey. At the shanty they had a "little bit of a dance, and more beer." The Indian played a mouth organ, and he danced "a bit of a jig," and all drankout of a cup. Then out came the long out of a cup. Then out came the long black bottle of whiskey, which was full to the top. Again the Indian struck up on his mouth organ, and the dancing was renewed on the floor of the clapboard shanty. The Indian shuffled around, and they tried to get him to lie around, and they tried to get him to all down and sleep.

An Ali Round Scrap.

Then Seneca and Gamble did some strettling, and the Indian shoved him around. They "scrapped" around. The Indian went out and John Gamble followed. The Indian had taken the bottle with him. It was neather lowed. The Indian had taken the bottle outside with him. It was nearly fold, for they had only taken a "smile" out of the bottle. "After they went out," said the witness, "a couple of bottles came driving up against the shanty, and I thought things were getting too hot. Billy put his fiead out off the door and was hif with something. He fell to the floor and I left." When he first woke up at Donaghy's house Master Herb Donaghy had told him that Gamble was dead. He was afraid there would be trouble for him after that.

Indian we were with, and who was going to pull flax, was not the one that is dead. The body on the track was that of a stouter man than the Indian who was going to work for Gamble."

Quarrelled Over a Bottle.

Dealing with the scene in the shanty, the witness corroborated the story of the dancing and musical specialties, with the Indian as grand master of the Indian as Game ceremonies. Then the Indian and Gamble began to quarrel over the possession of a bottle, which the latter declined to let the former put into his pocket. Gamble was the best man, and chased the Indian out of the open door to the road. The Indian had his valise in his hand, and had left the bottle behind on a table. Crawfield and Gamble were having a smoke, when the Indian came back and struck him

Gamble were having a smoke, when the Indian came back and struck him over the head. He did not remember anything else after that until morning. In the morning he dressed the cut resulting from the blow himself. Looking eutside, he saw the dead body of John Gamble. Then the train came. When the police arrived he was bathing his wound. Further questioned as to the identity of the dead Indian, the witness modified his statement somewhat by saying: "It did not look like the Indian that was with us."

G. T. R. Engineer McGowan was the next witness called. He told of running over the Indian's body and the discovery of the murder of Gamble. He maintained, and the statement was substantiated, that the Indian's body was cold and clammy at the time it was lifted from beneath the train.

Various other witnesses were examined, including the mother of the Indian, the train crew, Annie Donaghy, at whose home Poyner slept, and the doctors who made the post-mortem. They said that the wounds would indicate that the man had died or was on the point of expiration at the time that he was struck by the train.

William McArdell, the neighbor, told of looking out into the night while the fight between the Indian and Gamble was at its height. The hut was in darkness and he saw matches light at the doorway and heard Crawfield's voice call out several times, "John." Other than that there was little told that had material bearing on the case.

Coroner Rankin adjourned the inquest until Friday next at 2 o'clock.

Forms Company of Millions to De press Copper with Peat

Boston, Aug. 25 .- That Canadian nd Irish peat bog fuel controlled by a Lawson syndicate is destined to revolutionize the copper industry, force down the price of copper to seven cents a pound and close onenalf the copper mines in the world is asserted here.

By the use of this peat bog fuel, it is said, the cost of freeing the copper ore will be reduced one-half. The possession of this secret, obtain ed from a chemist and tested time and again with satisfactory result, was what inspired Thomas W. Law son, Albert C. Burrage and other rich men to make their war upon the copper stocks. For two years, this syndicate has been buying up in the fuel, according to report, and the work of getting out the peat has been going on for months. A com-pany capitalized at millions has been formed to carry out the scheme but there is nothing in its title to indi-cate the purpose for which it has

A plant costing $700,000 has been built in New Jersey, it is said, and as soon as all of that particular sort of peat in the world has been cornered this plant will be put to work and other large plants will follow.

AN OLD ONTARIO FEUD

Children Shot as They Appeared at a Window.

Five Men Attack the House of Robert Hill, Near Norwood, and, as Boy and Girl Are Seen, Fire, Killing the Former-Another Son Just Escapes a Bullet - No Arrests Until After the Inquest.

Norwood, Aug. 26 .- As a result of a midnight attack upon the residence of Robert D. Hill, who resides in the 7th concession of Dummer, about eight miles from here, one of his children is dead and the other wounded. The murder is the culmination of a feud, which has long existed between the Hills on one side and the Dewarts and Murphy families on the other. Thomas Edward Hill, 12 years old, the murdered boy, and his sister Ma-bel, the youngest daughter, were sleen-ing peacefully in an upstairs room, when they were aroused by shouts. There were five men in the party, composed, it is said, of James Herbert Dewart, Edward Dewart, Stewart Murphy, William Murphy and an unknown Shot Killed Boy Instantly.

As the children stuck their heads out When he first woke up at Donaghy's house Master Herb Donaghy had told him that Gamble was dead. He was afraid there would be trouble for him after that.

Crawfield's Surprising Stattment.

Harold Crawfield, the other man who was detained, gave evidence that he spent most of Wednesday with Gamble in the flax field. He corroborated Poyner as to the meeting of the men, and made a startling statement to the effect that he had never seen the dead Indian before he saw his body. "I did not know the dead man at all. The Indian we were with, and who was goran back into the house. The attack-ers then fired another shot, which struck the house near an upstairs win-dow. With a loud laugh the men then went off.

William Hill says that he can identify Stewart Murphy, as the man who fired the shot, having seen his face by the flash of the rifle. The parties who are suspected of the crime refuse to speak of the affair and this afternoon were at work as their face.

are suspected of the crime refuse to speak of the affair and this afternoon were at work on their farms adjoining. The Hill family consists of the father, mother and six children, and had blood has long existed between them and the Dewarts, who are nephews of Hill's wife. The Murphys, the other opponents of the Hills, are friends of the Dewarts. It is reported that both the Murphys and Dewarts have made threats against the Hills. At church last Sunday Stewart Murphy challenged any of the Hills to a fight.

Arrests Are Delayed.

Hill seems to have been badly frightened by the shooting, as he made no report to the authorities till To'cleck yesterday morning. His mission to the village was for the purpose of swearing to information against the Murphya and the Dewarts. Knewing the splendid character of the parties accused, Magistrate Pearce delayed action till after the inquest to-day. The magistrate was not prepared to accept Hill's version of the affair, knewing his reputation to be anything but savory. He, however, communicated with Police Magistrate Edmondson and Crown Attorey Wood, who set out High Censiable Cochrane and County Censtable Moore. A large number of wiineses have been summoned for the inquest.

"How fast can trains run with safety?" this official was asked. "That is rather a difficult question to answer. President Newman, of the to answer. President Newman, of the New York Central, recently put himself on record as saying that he thought modern trains ran too fast. I rather think he was in error when he said that he thought all railway men believed as he did.

"As a matter of fact, most railway nen would rather ride on a fast train han a slow one, because they know the fast ones are the safest. If there is an open switch like that on the Lake Shore, when the Twentieth Century was wrecked, the slow train is going to be wrecked as well as the fast one.

"If I -knew I was going to be in a train wreck I would take the fast in preference to the slow one. To begin with, the fast train is made up of the best equipment and managed by the best men the company has employed. The flier never has as many cars as a slow train, and there is less to smash when the crash comes.

"Every employe of a road that has a flier is always on the lookout for the fast train. It has a clear track and extraordinary precautions are taken for its safety.

"The same principle holds good with the fast train. If it runs into a solid wall it is going to be wrecked, but if it hits an obstruction on the track the chances are that it won't. It will shunt the obstruction aside just as the running man shunts his slow moving brother out of his way.

"The train that is running slowly and hits an obstruction is apt to be derailed at least. The Twentieth Century once hit a freight car and out it in Iwo and none of the passengers knew of the accident."

This railroad man voiced the sentiments of a majority of railroad men. As to the limit of speed few will contradict him.

This country still holds the palm for high speed trains, although it may be taken away from it if the syndicate that was recently formed in Brussels makes good its boast. This syndicate was formed to construct a straight line railroad from Brussels to Berlin, the motive power to be electricity.

It has been planned to make the can in seven hours, and to do it will require a speed in excess of ninety niles an hour. To do this the railway will have to be built as nearly in a straight line as possible and high lower electric engines will be used. MUCK AND ITS USES.

Muck contains plant food according to its quality, and is one of the best absorbents that can be used in the stable. The best way to manage muck is to dig it and place it in piles to be acted on by the frost. Some dig it and apply it directly to the soil, usually in the fall, or very early in spring, but in such cases about ten bushels of lime per acre should be applied to the land in addition to the muck. Some kinds of muck, if applied to the soil direct, injure the crops. It is always best to dig it after work in the summer is over, and leave it until May or June. If lime is mixed with it in small quantities it may be used sooner. The muck should be allowed to dry before hauling it, in order to avoid hauling water. If it is placed near the barn yard and used, with the manure every day, it will be very serviceable. A ton of dry muck contains 16 to 20 pounds of nitrogen, with small proportions of phosphoric acid. It does not pay to apply it to the land except after using it with the manure, owing to the labor required to procure and haul it. Muck contains plant food according

No Gas-No Smcke-No Dust in the "HEGLA" FURNAGE.

As the mercury in a thermometer expands with heat and contracts with cold, so does every other metal expand and contract but in different expand and contract but in different proportions. Steel and iron in a furnace expand and contract, but in different degrees. When the metals are joined by bolts and cement, the expansion and contractions gradually loosens the bolts and allows the cement to drop out, and the openings left allow the dust and gas to escape to the rooms above.

In the HECLA, there are no bolts—no cement. The joints are made by fusing the steel and iron together at white heat—just as a blacksmith thoe.

The HECLA FUSED JOINTS are indestructable—as tight after ten

A DOTY WOMEN OWE THEMSELVES

Good actions speak londer than words, so too, does the testimony of many thousands of women during a third of a century speak louder than mere claims not backed by a guarantee of some kind. That is the reason why the propietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are willing to offer $500 re ward for women who can not be cured. Such a remarkable offer is founded on the not be cured. Such a remarkable offer is founded on the long record of cures of the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women. If there is an invalid woman, suffering from female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of womb, or from leucorrhea who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription without complete success, the proprietors of that medicine would like to hear from such person—and it will be to hear from such person—and it will be to hear from such person—and it will be to hear davantage to write them as they offer, in perfect good faith, a reward of $500 for any case of the above maladies which they cannot cure. No other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its makers in making such an offer.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd, at their convent, Our Lady of the Woods," Carthage, Ohio, use a reat dea of Dr. Pierce's medicines; they say, in reat dea of Dr. Pierce's medicines; they say in reat dea of Dr. Pierce's medicines; we beg to assure you of the ground their excellence."

When the druggist says he has something that is as good as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, just tell him, "There's mothing just as good." He says so because he hopes to make a better profit but his own mixtures have not stood the test of long experience and success that Doctor Pierce's medicines have. Then, too, many patent medicines advertised as tonics, contain large quantities of alcohol. Dr. Pierce guarantées that his "Prescription" does not contain a particle of alcohol.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser—sent on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps for a copy in paper; 50 stamps in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. V.

International Bible Lesson for To

Jeremiah in the Dangeon-Jer. 38;

"For six years I suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia. I tried a number of remedies for this dreaded complaint with little or no good results. A friend of mine brought me a bottle of your celebrated medicine and I began taking it. Golden Text—Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake; for their's is the kingdom of heaven.—Matt 5, 10.

Jerusalem was a doomed city, surrounded by the army of Babylon, doomed for its departure from the living and true God and its devotion to idolatry. God sends his messenger, Jeremiah to warn them to repent and He will deliver them, but the king and ruling classes had him imprisoned and cast into a miserable, mirey pit that he might be smothered and starved to death; for telling the people their only safety was to flee from the city and the wrath to come. Note what Jeremiah's faithfulness cost him. A true servant of God is Note what Jeremiah's faithfulness cost him. A true servant of God is always a true friend of man, but he is not always so regarded; he is often branded as an enemy and a disturber of the peace, because his testimony weakens the power of unust oppressive ruers!. (Note Count Tolstol in Russia). Jeremiah they considered a traitor and worthy of death, but God sends him a deliverer, Ebed Melech. A black man with a white heart, was moved with pity and indignation. He denounces the conduct of the princes to the king, who grants him a guard to the king, who grants him a guard of thirty men ,who resous Jeremiah just in time: but had he died in thein hands as thousands have in similar hands as thousands have in similar circumstances: "theirs is the kingdom of heaven." Many of God's suffering people need to-day the ministry of restoration, thousands of precious lives are sinking deeper into the mire of sin, perishing for want of a helping hand. A cheering gospel word and grip inspired by the Holy Spirit, lifted John B. Gough from the mire and clay, and his feet resting on the rock he helped to get others there. General Booth says to-day with his life-long experience, "I would rather a winner of souls than the Czar of all the Russias, the Emperor of Germany, or the honored King of England on his mighty throne, holding the seeptre over a group of nations," "He that winneth souls in wise."

ROBBERY

this morning.

Entrance was gained from a front window, and the burglars escaped through the back door. Some tobacco three or four cans or sardines, two cans of cornact beef, some candy and cakes were taken. The total value of the stuff taken would be about $4.

It is sapposed that the robbery was committed by some hoboes who have been camping around the outskirts of the city, for some time. When last heard of the gang was camping near the C. P. B. bridge, near Pikeville, but when Detective Skirving went out a couple of days ago, he could find no trace of them.

A quantity of meat was also stolen

A quantity of meat was also stolen from Hallinan's butcher shop. It is supposed that this is the same gang that broke into a couple of Pere Marquette freight cars on Colborne street last week.

Which he Yielded to Smooth Stranger Who Has Since Disappeared

What looks like a "confidence" game was perpetrated yesterday, as a consequence of which Thomas J. Dunlop, of Dover, is, to all appearances the loser of $150.

While driving into the city yesterday, Mr. Dunlop lost his wallet, between the fourth and fifth concessions on the town line. A young boy, the son of Mr James McGrail, while on his way to school, picked it up and, being overtaken by a man driving a light hay rick communicated the intelligence to him. The man, naturally, was interested and took the parse from the lad eaying he was coming to Chatham, and could advertise the find and return the money to its rightful owner. The boy, very, foolishly, let him take it and since then both money and man have vanished.

The boy's description of the man is very meagre, but he was driving a light wagen, to which was attached a light bay and a brown horse.

This is the troupe for whose services every circus owner in America were bidding, but it remained for Norris & Rowe to offen the princely salary that was the final inducement for the Bellford Family to come to the Norris & Rowe Greater Circus. The troupe consists of seven young women and men and they are justly conceded to be the greatest acrobatic marvels of the present century. In them one sees greatest acrobatic marvels of the present century. In them one sees physical culture of the highest art. The graceful, clean limbed athletes present exhibitions of strength, dexterity and skill that has never been equalled. To describe their feats is impossible, for the technical terms would not be understood.

FINE CHURCH

Write for Catalogue, if interested.

J. L. Wilson was in Leamington yesterday inspecting the new Methodist church being constructed in that place after plans drawn by this popular firm of architects.

The structure when completed will have cost $25,000 and will seat one thousand people. It is built of pressed brick with cut stone trimmings and is a credit to the energy and resourcefulness of its supporters.

NINETY-EIGHT PER CENT.

Parada bids fair to be a great success. Many of Chatham's young sobilety ladies are taking part. Rehearsals are being held every evening.

Miss Edith Northwood, William St., gave a delightful dinner party last night for Miss Hattie Northwood and Miss Helen King, two September brides. Covers were laid for ten.

NINETY-EIGHT PER CENT.

There is a fascination about big profits to a business man. But the conservative and cautious trader prefers to have the lesser per cent. of interest and the larger per cent. of safety in his investments. There is no business man who would not consider it a sound proposition to invest in an enterprise in which absolute loss was impossible and which offered ninety-eight chances in a hundred of loss was impossible and which offered ninety-eight chances in a hundred of a rich profit. The statistics of curea effected by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Descovery show that ninety-eight per cent. of cases of "weak lungs," can be absolutely cured. Almost, if not all, forms of physical weakness may be traced to starvation. Starvanot all, forms of physical weakness may be traced to starvation. Starvation starvation starvation starvation starvation starvation starvation starvation starvation from the starvation from the food it receives as when there is no food. Weak lungs," bronchial affections, obstinate coughs, call for nourishment. "Golden Medical Discrery" supplies that nourishment in its most condensed and assimilable form. It makes "weak flings" strong, by strengthening the stomach and organs of digestion which digest and distribute the food, and by increasing the supply of pure blood.

Improvident people are often up in the clouds looking for some of those silver linings. THE FAST TRAINS.

To California are run over the Union Pacific, via Omaha, 16 hours quicker to Sun Francisco than any other line. No change of roads, no detours, "The Overland Route" all the way. Be sure your ticket read over the Union Pacific. Inquire of H. F. Carter, T. P. A., 14 James Building, Toronto, Canada, or F. B. Choate, G. A., 126 Woodward avenue, Detroit.

A Young Lady Transformed!

All the charm of Girlhood restored.

This is only one of hundreds of cases in which "Fruit-a-tives" changed Pale, Sallow Skin into the Rosy Bloom of Health.

Too many women have sallow skin—bad complexions dark circles under the eyes—headaches—backaches—

—dark circles under the eyes—neadaches—backaches sick stomachs.
Too few women have the robust health and rosy bloom of girlhood—that "Fruit-a-tives" preserve.
Some women don't realize how surely Constipation undermines the health and brings premature old age.
The intestines do two things—give up nourishment to the blood—and carry off waste matter.
But—if Constipation keeps the waste IN the intestines, the blood takes up poison instead of nutriment.

It is this waste—carried all over the system by the blood—that causes Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Bad Breath, Headaches, Backaches, Sallow Skin, Pimples, Paleness and Thinness. The woman who wants

THE BEGINNING OF THE TROUBLE

Is The Time to Stop it—And the Means of Stopping it are Provided by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Means of Stopping it are Provided by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Have your meals become of interest to you simply because of the trouble they bring? Is your appetite gone? Do you get up in the morning with a dark brown taste in your mouth? Is your head muddled and sort of half aching? Is your day's work a burden? Do trifles worry you?

If you have any of these symptoms it is time to pay attention to your stomach. It has been overworked and needs help. Attend to it at once or you will drift into Indigestion and from that to Dyspepsia. Help your stomach with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They never fail to tone up the stomach and bring it back to a healthy condition.

Maria Ann Bujold, of Marie Cap, Bonaventure Co., Que., says: "For two years my life was a burden. I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach. One box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cured me and I have had no return of the trouble."

BABY QUIRK'S

Torturing Raw and Scaly Eczema-Grew Worse Under Two Doctors' Treatment for Three Months-Face in Terrible Condition.

ANOTHER MARVELLOUS CURE BY CUTICURA

"My baby was afflicted with a loathsome running eczema. Two doctors treated him for three months, but he grew worse and his face was a sickening sight. We then started to use the Cuticura Remedies, and noticed an improvement at once. Within a fortnight the running had ceased and the scabs were nearly all dried off, and in a month his face was perfectly clear.
You are at liberty to use this statement, as I should like all to know of

STILL ANOTHER CURE

"A terrible sore and humour broke out on my baby, looking like raw flesh, and causing the child untold agony. My physician could not help him, and I was discouraged. Then I tried Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment with almost immediate success, and a complete cure in two weeks.—Mrs. J. H. Block, 281 Rosedale St., Rochester, N. Y." Baby Raw With Humour.

AND STILL ANOTHER

"At four months old my baby's face and body were so covered with sores and large scales you could not tell what she looked like. At last we got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The sores began to heal at once, and she could sleep at night, and in one month there was not a sign of a sore. — Mrs. Mary Sanders, 709 Spring St., Camden, N.J."

the spirit of the act which constituted the company, as well as in violation of both the spirit and letter of the rall-way policy of the Government.

It is contended that no part of McDonald & McMullen's contract for the Whole 275 miles is more than ten miles away from either the Canadian Pacific's main line or its branches, and this has been sanctioned by the Government, in spite of their well-defined policy of keeping all the competing lines 35 miles apart, and it is also claimed by the C. They declare, also, that there is no possible need of a raifway where the G. T. P. is at present located.

DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS

Now Proceeding Between the Czar and Roosevelt.

President of United States Sald to Be Taking Direct Steps to Save Peace Conference -- Count Lamsdorff Declares Russia's Ultimatum, But Witte Doubts If He Did-Linevitch Reports Successes.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 25.-Up to 11 o'clock last night six cablegrams had been received by M. Witte from St. Petersburg. All came from Count Lamsdorff and all were opposed to the Japanese compromise proposition as presented at Wednesday's meeting. However, it is positively stated that the cablegrams announce that direct pour parlers are now in progress between Emperor Nicholas and President Roosevelt.

Still a Chance.

The prospects of peace seem des-perate, but they are not hopeless, despite the prevailing pessimism.

There is still a chance, and the forces working for peace are, continuing their labors. The result of Ambassador Meyers audience at Peterhof dor Meyers audience at Peternoi Wednesday was unsatisfactory, but at least it was no rebuff. It left the door open, and within a few hours after the receipt at Oyster Bay of Mr. Meyer's account of his audience the president had sent a new appeal through M. Witte, who received it from Mr. Pierce about 3 o'clock this morning. The Emperor had already in effect declined the proposed compromise offered by Japan.

Portsmouth, N.H., Aug. 25.—It is significant that M. Witte made it a point last night to express his disbelief in the report from St. Petersburg, that Count Lamsdorff had authorized Reuters' agent to declare that Russia under no circumstances would pay a contribution, either direct or indirect, or make any cession of territory what contribution, either direct of indirect, or make any cession of territory what-ever. M. Witte said he could not ima-gine that Count Lamsdorff could have authorized such a statement without informing him.

Linevitch Upholds Witte's Hand.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—The Emperor has received the following from Gen. Linevitch, dated August 22: "Advanced Russian detachments or August 20 drove back the Japanese from three positions. One detachment in the Tzinche Valley occupied the village of Lagovtzeakzy; another operated in the direction of Schimladzy, and a third dislodged the Japanese from their position on the south-ward of Mopeyschan. The three Russian columns drove the Japanese back to their position near Sendjan."

An official communication says that unaulmous approval was given to the geriah cidzen.

An official communication says that unanimous approval was given to the instructions to be sent to the French Minister of Fez. St. Rene Taillandier, and to the subsequent action to taken to compel the Sultan to give complete satisfaction.

The nature of this action is not disclosed but it is known that it contemplates the military occupation of a Moroccan town near the Algerian frontier, probably Oudjda, owing to its proximity to a large French garrison in Algeria and to its strategic importance, as it commands the route to the interior of Morocco and the capital, Fez. The latest official advices from Fez show that the Sultan continues to hold the Algerian a prisoner Following the meeting Premier Routinues to hold the Algerian a prisoner Following the meeting Premier Rouvier sent instructions to the French Minister to demand the immediate release of the prisoner, informing him that a military demonstration would be made in case of a negative response.

What Flour Granulation Means in Bread-Making

Flour is composed of myriads of tiny granules.

To make good bread these granules must be uniform in size. In poorly milled flour some granules are large, some small. The small ones absorb yeast, "rise" and "ripen" before the large onesthe result is bread of coarse, poor texture. The large granules are not developed into "sponge," they bake into heavy hard particles, spoil the texture of the bread and make it harder to digest.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is perfectly milled-all the flour granules are uniform in size—the sponge rises uniformly—the bread is even in texture - perfect in flavor - goodlooking, appetising bread - easily digested.

Ogilvies back it with their reputation by branding it son's pitching, nor did he award a base on balls or hit a batsman. Two Chicago players reached first base, both by virtue of errors in the New York infield. In the nine innings 29 batsmen had faced Mathewson.

When one takes into consideration that the alertness and steel arms of catchers in recent times have made bast stealing almost a lost art, Hartsel's daring in pilfering home plate in the first inning of the game with Washington on June 3 was nothing short of phenomenal. It was a clean steal in every phase.

No other runners were on base to disconcert pitcher or catcher, nor was he favored by a poor throw. Hartsel in the opening round dou-bled and was advanced to third on bled and was advanced to third on a sacrifice. Another out was made, but the Athletics' outfielder had to hold his base. Hartsel knew that it required a hit or an error to score, and, though Lave Gross was at the bat, he quickly studied the situation and devised a way to cross the rubber without depending on any assistance from the batter.

Dr. Frederick I. Sohon, Who Heads the Expedition

The Land of Perpetual Sunshine and Low Temperature Now Sought by Sufferers of the Great White Plague—An Expedition Under the Leadership of One Who Has Been Cured

O GREENLAND and the Arctic present in the summer the ideal conditions for a successful combat with

If the expectations of a party of invalids who hope to spend the season in the Arctic are realized, the ice-bound island will, in all probability, become the world's most famous sanitarium for the cure of tuberculosis.

Thirty consumptives compose the party. During most of their visit North they have planned to live upon the steamship Havana, which has been especially fitted up as a sani-

Dry and germless is the air. At the same time it is bracing and invites outdoor life and exercise. It lures an appetite for such strengthening food as the consumptive needs, but almost invariably rejects at i.ome.

In every way, Dr. Sohon asserts, climatic and other conditions in Greenland assist nature in throwing of the dread disease.

This happy result, he feels confident, can be accomplished within a single summer. To prove his theory, he has organized the present expedition.

IS own experiences and those of others known to him confirm Dr. Sohon in his belief that tuber-culosis can be cured by a sojourn in Arctic regions regions.

When he accompanied Peary on one of his expeditions in search of the North Pole, Dr. Sohon himself was a sufferer from tuberculosis. It disappeared, however, during his sojourn in Greenland.

So rapidly did Dr. Sohon improve in health that he was astonished. He began also to wonder what possibilities of cure the Arctic regions had in store for others straights affected.

ties of cure the Arctic regions had in store for others similarly affected.

In 1992 Dr. Sohon made a second trip to the frozen North. This time he made a special study of the subject.

Numerous bacteriological cultures were attempted in Greenland, but never, Dr. Sohon says, was he able to develop the germ of tuberculosis. It is his belief that such germs cannot exist in a frigid climate, as the propagation of them depends entirely upon a temperature almost as high as that of the human body.

In support of his theory, Dr. Sohon points to three other cases of consumption that were cured by Arctic conditions.

A number of Eskimos brought to this country upon an ereturn of one of the Peary expeditions contracted irulent tuberculosis soon after their arrival.

Four quickly succumbed and one still remains uncured. Another, who returned to Greenland, recovered. So much faith had the thirty members of the present party in Dr. Sohon's theory that they decided to spend the summer in the Arctic.

Their ship will cruise along Baffin's Land and central Greenland, anchoring at times in various sheltered fjords for the benefit and diversion of patients.

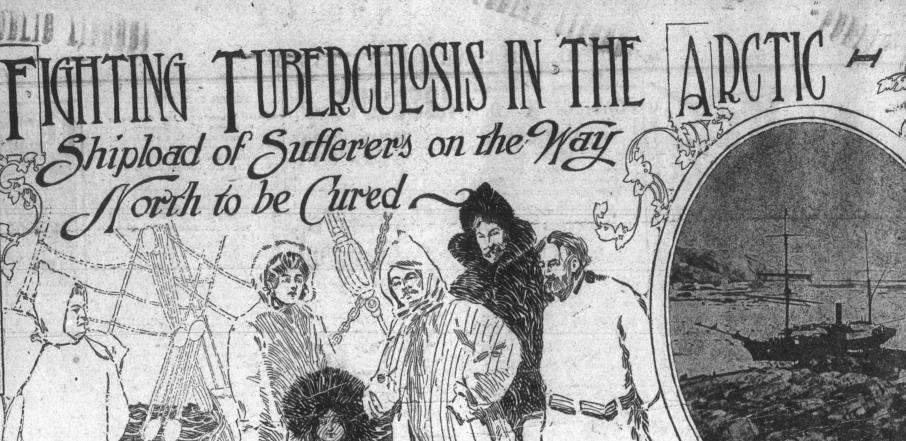

Those too weak to travel will remain on shipboard most of the time, or content themselves with short excursions ashore. The more vigorous expect to journey about seventy-five miles into the interior of that little-known country, and to combine the interest of exploration where the search for health.

"Even at the best resorts in this country for the elimatic treatment of tuberculosis," said Dr. Sohon, in discussing his theory, "the patient has good days and beat nights. He cannot go out into the damp air and ordinarily loses at night what he has gained during the day.

"The sun never sets entirely. Although its declination be low at certain hours, its rays are intense in power from the clearness of the atmosphere and reflection in all directions from water and ice. The skin always becomes tanned and sunburn is not uncommon.

"In the North plants spring from seed to flower in a few weeks; animals are large and vigorous under unfavorable food conditions, and man in the Arctic is given a feeling of buoyancy and vigor that cannot be experi-

'In the North man craves meat, and particularly fat meat. The Eskimos are so full-blooded, from their exclusively flesh and blubber food, that violent exertion always makes them bleed from the nose, and they also bleed from excitement, grief and even laughter.

''A ship's crew, subsisting on pork, corned beef, potatoes and bread, will show an invariable and extraordinary increase in weight. On both my trips to Greenland I have exceeded my usual weight-gaining—on the first visit, thirty pounds in two months, and on the second, nineteen pounds in six weeks.

''Naturally,'' concluded Dr. Sohon, "the time is short in which it would be advisable for tuberculosis patients to remain in the Arctic, and the question arises as to whether three months of even such ideal conditions as are found there can be effective toward a cure.

whether three months of even such ideal conditions as are found there can be effective toward a cure.

"The contention in answer to this is that nature has a means of curing, and does cure, tuberculosis, if she is not handicapped. How long it will take to reach the necessary standard of vital resistance depends on how the patient can be forced along the upward path.

"In the Arctic this forcing takes place naturally. The step is radical; the patient is remeved entirely from all foreign influences which favor a further development of the disease, or which militate against an improvement, and is placed at once under influences conducive to vigorous health.

"Three months under such conditions may be time enough for a cure in patients not greatly run down, and the time is at least imple to give the patient a good start on the upward path. In this connection we may reflect on what is accomplished in a half year, or less, in places not

In the Murri trial bias, springing — political partisanship, was, perhaps, the chief disturbing influence. The ultra-Catholic party, represented by one of the worst Italian Journals, day by day during this trial indicated victims and suspects, as did Marat in 1789; and the Judge Advocate faithfully followed it, just as the Convention followed Marat. The object was to demonstrate that the crime was the fruit of immorality begotten by the Liberalism and positivist philosophy professed by Tuillo's and Countess Theodolinda's lating, incree, on the one hand, a false or doubtrul onstruction has been put on hundreds of letters and telegrams; and, on the other, countless investigations have been altogether disregarded with the set purpose of striking one of the grandest and most enlightened leaders of the Liberal party in Italy.

The principal cause of error lies in having followed evidently contradictory testimonies, and without weighing their refative contradictory testimonies, in the principal cause of error lies in having followed evidently contradictory testimonies, and without weighing their refative contradictory testimonies, and without weighing their refative contradictory testimonies of his own special reasons, and influenced they have a companion of hers, who both affirmed they had not seen Bonmartini quit the pisce after 8 o'clock; nor did the Judge take into account that this same couple had not, in fact, noticed two other persons who at that very hour had entered, and left the house by the self-same staircase.

CAUSES OF WITNESSES' ERRORS

What are the causes of such errors as those in the Murri trial and the Beck case?

Judges are not psychologists, and the public is still less alive to the fact how numerous are the sources of error that almost invariably distigure the testimony of witnesses. that almost invariably distigure the testimony of witnesses.

Apart from the frequency of the pathological lie, which consists in a large number of people being inclined to tell falseboods without reason, it is necessary to remember that many have, in the first instance, been led into error physiologically through inaccurate observation. It is a well-known fact that a square divided horizontally appears greater in breadth than in height; but when divided vertically it appears greater in height than in breadth. Similarly, a man dressed in black seems smaller and thinner than when clad in white. We know, still. Fear and sorrow intercept sensations and falsify them. An ordinarily courageous man, unnerved in a rail-way supposedly identified by victims, was discovered in the back accused of robbery supposedly identified by victims, was discovered inter and had served part of that time.

**Professor Cesare Lombroso**

VERYWHERE in Europe, even in so highly civilized a country as England, justice miscarries, sometimes grossly. More often error creeps in through the fallibility of human testimony, of which fallibility judicial procedure does not take precise account. In this respect, it is enough to recall the Beck case to recize how little progress toward exactitude has been made in comparison with other sciences in this age of ours.

The Murri trial at Turn furnishes another example. Errors have become visible which will detract from the justice of the sentences. Yet the causes of such so obvious as to lead us to ask if we are in trial bias, springing. The political participation is a proper of the province of the progress in through the fallibility and the sciences in this age of ours.

Wellington, though a high example of loyalty to duty, as well as a famous captain, was cold and austere, He even showed lack of feeling for the soldiers who had won his victories, and in return was by them much more trusted than beloved. O, it's all There goes that old longright. nosed fellow," said one soldier to an other, when Wellington came up at a crisis of apparent peril. But the union in Nelson of simplicity and tenderness of character with heroic daring and famous deeds, forms a picture by which all hearts are touched. He was the glory of that service which is especially national. He was lucky also in having in Southey a popular biographer of the right sort, one who presents a true and vivid portrait of his character without prolix details and documentary lumber. One blot on his character there was, and they do him as well as morally wrong who would represent as anything but a blot his infatuated passion for Lady Hamilton. It betrayed him into the one great error of his life.-Bystander, in the Weekly Sun.

HYMAN'S CONTINUOUS PICNIC.

Says the Ridgetown Dominion: Everybody has heard of the great Hyman picnic, and those interested in statistics have fyled away for future reference the number of sandwiches and gallons of lemonade consumed at London. But now comes a tale from Windsor that the picnic like the continuous show, is yet in progress. The Hon. Charles S Hyman with a party of bosom friends is touring the lakes to "look into the condition of the harbors lighthouses, etc.' They are doing the act on the Canadian Government boat Speedy, and really there is nothing slow about either the boat or the party aboard. From all accounts the party is having a swift time. The news from Windsor reads as follows:

. About Wednesday the dreadfu discovery was made that liquid refreshments were giving out, and every ounce of steam was immediately put into play on the Speedy in an endeavor to get to Windsor as soon as possible, at which place it was known that the junket's thirst alleviated. Thursday ing the ship's steward made his way up to town an d bought $90 worth of booze and $65 worth of provisions."

Here we find more statistics; $65 for grub and $90 for booze. How is that for proportion. All that is missing to make the figures really valuable in fitting out future ministerial inspection parties, is the number of guests, the number of days out before the awful discovery was made that the liquids were about consumed, and the amount on board when the party started. Armed with these, and doubtless they can be procured, the average temperance talk on-"How to have a good time at the country's expense."

fistory Shows That the Old Rules

Years ago, when a low standard of norals prevailed, the epithet "Great" was bestowed upon any monarch who won battles and enlarged the territory and resources of his kingdom. It mattered little then to the historian what might be a king's private character, provided he made his nation formidable by its brute strength and full treasury. Even if he was a bad man they eulogized him as a good ruler. Peter I. of Russia is called Peter the Great because he transformed a barbarous into semibarbarous nation. But no one can now read the following summary of his character without a feeling of disgust. Voltaire, in his "Philosophical.Dictionary," says that "Peter was half hero and half tiger." Macaulay declares that "to the end of his life he lived in his palace like a hog in a sty, and when he was entertained by other sovereigns never failed to leave unequivocal proof that a savage had been

Peter, when the fit was on him, literally caned everybody-from his cook to his counselor, from the meanest peasant to the highest noble—sparing neither age nor sex. He would get up from the table and flog the host who was entertaining him. He would stand at the door of the senate house and flog each senator that went in. Lefort was an intimate and trusted friend, vet on slight provocation he was knocked down and brutally kicked by his imperial master. But all this flogging was in the way of recreation When Peter "meant business," it was more serious matter. Incredible as it may seem, it is nevertheless well authenticated that one of his own sisters-it is said more than one-received 100 strokes of the whip on her back in the presence of the whole court.

In 1713 Alexis, his only son who outlived infancy, was for some offense of no great seriousness several times tor-tured in the presence of the diabolical father and in the end died either from the effect of the torture or by assassination. For sympathizing with Alexis the Princess Golitsyn, the bosom companion of the Empress Catherine, was publicly whipped by soldiers. For the same reason the brother of his first wife, Eudoxia-whom he had thrown into prison-was tortured and then torn in pieces on the wheel. Nothing ever told of Nero is more horribly grotesque than this, yet this man, or m ster rather, is paraded before the world as Peter the Great.

SUCCESS THOUGHTS.

The best in others will only come out to meet the best in you. The man with an idea has ever changed the face of the world.

One reason why we do not make the nost of the winning material in ourselves is because of a magnified idea of the great superiority of others who do things in the world. As a rule no good comes from criticising others. Anybody can do that, but the man who can accept his own honest estimate of himself and resolve to profit by it has achieved something. No matter what you are doing, think your way. Don't go without thinking. Think everything out. Don't run with-out a schedule. Have a programme and go by it. Think! Think! Think!

Mr. Noble's Promise Given. In the early stages of his ministry the Rev. Mr. Noble preached for some time in a village in Maine. One day a committee called upon him to settle with him for his services, and, after stammering awhile, signified to him sired. "What does this mean, gentlemen?" asked the parson. "Why," replied the spokesman, some hesitation, "the people have got the impression that you are inclining that his further services were not deto universal salvation." "Gentlemen," answered Mr. Noble, "I never have preached that doctrine, but if I ever should I promise to make the people of this town an exception."

"Have you any pins?" she asked. The woman had none, but passed the purry on, and in a little while every assenger was feeling along concealed edges and turning back lapels. At last sixteen pins were produced. Fourteen of them were contributed by men.

"We never need them as much as the women, but somehow we carry them and they don't," said one of the latter.

Early Railroading. In the pioneer days of railroading it was sometimes necessary for the freight conductor to run forward over the roofs of the cars to shout orders to the engineer. Traveling at night was generally avoided, though one road adopted the expedient of running ahead of the locomotive a flat car loaded with sand, on which a bonfire was kept burning as a headlight,

THE ARROWS OF TRUTH

USED WITH DRAMATIC EFFT AGAINST PREVALENT VICE.

"FULL OF DEADLY POISON"

Inspired Verbal Utterance Against the Sin of Slander In Business and Social Life-One Thing That No Man Can Tame - The Tongue, and Its Varied and Infinite Capacity For Making Mischief.

entered according to Act of Parliament of Canada in the year 1905, by Frederick Diver, of Toronto at the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 20.-In this sermon the preacher rebukes the pre-valent vice of loose and censorious ut-terance, and especially of slander in business and social life. The text is

James ii, 8, "Full of deadly polson."

Never did inspired writer feather his verbal arrows of truth with more dramatic comparisons than the author of my text. He seems to take us out to the corral of an eastern Bedouin Mothing Least the leader of chief. Methinks I see the leader of chief. Methinks I see the leader of this nomad tribe looking over his herd of fine limbed, high spirited, mettle-some thoroughbreds. Then he turns to one of his men and zays: "John, I think we will bridle yonder colt to-day" and break her to the saddle," "Aye," answers the man. "That is sooner said than done. Never did we have a higher strung, uglier four legged beast than that colt. She will kick and bite and snort and foam at the mouth whenever we go near her." "Is that so?" answered the chief. "Then the sooner we break her the better." I see the ropes flung over the colt's neck. I see her attempt to kick, and bite the hand that puts the bit into her mouth and the saddle upon her back. I see her eyes flash. I see her rear, plunge and roll on the ground and afterward bolt, and for miles run way our the hills. Then I see her away over the hills Then I see he gradually subdued until at last that nomad chief makes her his pet riding mare. I see her finally under perfect control, like Job's mighty war charger, smelling the battle from afar, and as I see all this transformation the author of my text says, "Behold, we put bits in the horses' mouths that they may obey us, and we turn about their whole body * * * but the tongue can no man * but the tongue can no man

Then the author places us upon the deck of one of the Alexandrian corn ships: He pictures one of those awful Mediterranean euroclydons that played such havoc with the shipping of old, and which destroys so many ships of the present day. The wind is blowing a hurricane. The sails are whipped into shreds. But though that ship is tossing about in the mighty, heaving yet she is under complete cor billiows, yet signs is under complete con-trol of the steersman, who, with his single hand, moves the rudder to the right or to the left. Then the author, of my text says: "Behold also the which though they may be so great, and are driven of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small helm, whithersoever the gov-ernor listeff * * * but the tongue no man can tame."

Then he takes us away up in the mountains. He gathers together a few dried grasses and strikes a spark and ignites them. No sooner are the grasses afire than the evening winds fan them into a great conflagration, which sets all the forests of those mountains ablaze. Aye, for nights you can see them burning, as we have seen the mountain fires burning up in the Adirondacks or upon the Berkshire hills. Then he says: "The tongue is a little member." It is almost as insignificant looking as a small spark. But "behold how great a matter a lit-tle fire kindleth." The damage which tongue or the spark can do is infinite. Then he compares the evils of the tongue to the awful ravages of physical disease - to those of hideous leprosy or cholera or the bubonic plague—"It defileth the whole body." he compares the evil tongue of man to the poisonous fangs of a hissing ser-pent. The reason I have drawn for you all these different comparisons, used in connection with the comparison of my text, is this: I want you to know that no symbol is too demoniac, no comparison is too destructive or too. no comparison is too destructive or too repulsive for the author to cite as a and where it is most able to strike its deadly poison into the flesh and hearts of its helpless victims.

deadly poison into the fiesh and hearts of its helpless victims.

The evil tongue of man, in the first place, is a vindictive tongue. It has stored up among its deadly poisons the accumulated malice, not only of days, but of weeks and months and years. Like the North American savage of old, it never forgets a supposed injury which some one has done against it. It will go out of its way a hundred miles, a thousand miles, aye, it will stealthily lie in ambush for years, to get a suitable opportunity to strike. It is not like an ordinary snake, which will leave you alone unless you trample upon it, but it is like a panther stalking its prey. It is like a hound on the track of a deer. It is like a lioness following the man who has robbed her of her whelps. It will pursue a supposed enemy for miles and miles, and for years and years, always seeka supposed enemy for miles and miles, and for years and years, always seek-ing the right moment when it can bury its fangs in the hearts of its foes. And when that time comes, like Shylock, it will always strike for the vital pound of flesh nearest to the beating heart. Oh, the abject mercllessness of a vindictive tongue! You well know its unforgiving relentless nature; for it may be that such a vindictive tongue has be that such a vindictive tongue has been following you for years. It may have pursued you, a minister, for a quarter of a century. When you took your first church you found the choir loft in the viselike grip of an elder. One of his daughters was the organist. Another daughter sang as the soprano. A future son-in-law was the tenor. The music was an utter failure. What were you to do? You could no more run a successful church could no more run a successful church without good music than you could run it without the right kind of preaching. One day, in a state of desperation, you called your church officers together and demanded a complete change in and demanded a complete change in your musical leaders. You got it, but you got it at the cost of that elder's unrelenting hate. He never ceased to persecute you. He did everything he could to undermine your ministry. He pursued you even after you left his church. He wrote letters to distant cities against you. As the vendetta is carried on for generation after generation in certain families in southern Europe, so the children of that old nerchant or lawyer or doctor or minister or wife or mother be careful that eth a lie. you are not yourself using one of those poisonous and vindictive tongues. I once read of a venomous cobra of India having been decapitated. As the people were standing around looking at the headless snake a native reached forth his bare foot and struck the head. No sooner did his foot touch the opened mouth of the snake than, by muscular contraction, the poisonous fangs pierced the bare foot, and in one hour the man was dead. Has not the pois-onous fang of hate of that old enemy of yours, many years dead, entered into your life? Why did you make that mean remark about that young doctor or lawyer or minister or merchant the other day? Why did you slur that young man's character who is trying so hard to earn a livelihood for his widowed mother or younger brother? As others in the past have buried their poisonous fangs of hateful jealousy in your heart are you trying to destroy others who seem to come between you and your success? Men, beware how you try to destroy your supposed rivals! Women, beware how you attack that young woman! Her good name is her life. Hate not. Despise not.

Water, for instance, is composed of a gas called hydrogen, and another gas called oxygen. Chemically, the definition of water is H2O. Sodium sulphate is composed of three gulnhata ia c different basic elements. Its component parts are sodium, sulphur and oxygen. Chemically, it is written Na2, SO4. Now, as I analyze in God's great laboratory the poison of the "evil tongue," I find it first compos of the element of hate, and, second the element of falsehood.

A professional falsehood came directly under my observation, when, many years ago, I was preaching in an eastern city. One of my church officers was taken down with lung trouble and had to go to Arizona to live. While there, his little daughter became very sick with heart trouble. The mother brought her back home. The father telegraphed me to look after them. I at once went to my family physician, one of the most eminent in the state, and had him examine the child. He looked the little girl carefully over, and this was his diagnosis: "She has valvular trouble of the heart in its most fatal form. She may live a year, her the state of the little girl carefully over, and this was his diagnosis: "She has valvular trouble of the heart in its most fatal form. She may live a year, her the state of the same that the same tha A professional falsehood came direct most fatal form. She may live a year, but in all probability she will die in about six months. This other physician came in and said, "I can cure her if you will give me full charge of the case." That physician knew he could not cure her. Death had written its fatal mark all over that child, but be-cause that other physician said be-could cure the child the new doctor became the attending physician. He called twice a day for six months. The child grew worse and worse, just as my family physician said she would. Then she died, as he had predicted. But on account of that false hope was able to get the patient and to se-cure the fee.

In business as well as in professional life men are guilty of "the lying tongue." They lie about land, they want to sell; they lie about houses they want to rent; they lie about their stock; they lie about their furniture stores; they lie about their horses; they lie about everything they desire to get rid of. They keep on lying in a business way just as though King Solomon had never hurled his condem-nation against business lies when he Europe, so the children of that old elder are still pursuing you. Their hatred has never let up, although their father has now been dead for years.

My friend, I sympathize with you in that persecution. You say you do not you have the same and the seek death. The robbing of the wicked shall destroy them because they refuse to do judgment." But the evil tongue of man is also a vile tongue. Vile in the sense that it is filled with air uncleanness. Vile because the lewd, the corrupt, the filthy, the defiled, the debased, the impure, the coarse, is often the type of the language in which it glories. Vile in the sense that the stories and the com-munications it speaks are often unfit for respectable ears. Yet its corrupt conversations are not only heard in the notorious places of evil resort but they are also heard in the street and in so called respectable homes and among so-called ladies as well as so called gentlemen.

But the vindictive tongue and the But the vindictive tongue and the lying tongue and the vile tongue is also the blasphemous tongue. Then the man of one talent in the Bible went and hid his talent in the earth he immediately commenced to put the responsibility on God. When you and it do wrong and continue to do wrong, he may pounce upon it, so the evil tongue of man seems to glory in the banquet of dead reputations, of evil re-ports and of debasing rumors which af-to discuss the overthrow of a fellow man. "Have you heard the news?" asks one evil tongue. "No," answers another evil tongue. "Tell it me. What is it?" "Why, you know Mrs, So-andso, the daughter of our pastor. Well, she is being sued for divorce by her husband." "Is that so! Well, I knew it would come! I never did like her father. He always pretended to be so good that that I felt there was something wrong about him. If that father so good that that I felt there was some thing wrong about him. If that father had only lived as good a life as he pre-tended to live, his daughter would not have turned out as she did. Good for him! I never did like that daughter anyhow. She always thought she was better than any one else, and now to think she is nothing but a hypocrite!" But, though man cannot tame his sinful tongue, thank God, the Lord God sinful tongue, thank God, the Lord God Almighty can tame it, and will tame it by the Bower of the Holy Spirit if we will only let him. He will make the vindictive tongue the tongue of forgiveness; the tongue of vileness the pure tongue; the tongue of deceit the truthful tongue; the tongue of blasphemy the praying tongue, and the tongue of condemnation the tongue of charity. It is said that many years ago in a hotel dining room the late Dr. Annesley heard some men cursing God and their fellow men at an adjoining table. The good doctor bade the waiter carry a glass of water to the blasphemers with his compilments. "What is that for?" they asked. "I thought," said Dr. Annesley gravely, "What is that for?" they asked. "I thought," said Dr. Annesley gravely, "that you would like to cool your tongues in it, after the fiery language you were uttering." That may have been a just rebuke. But if we to-day will there over the said to the said that the said been a just rebuke. But it we to-day will thrust our evil tongues into the "water of life" we shall not only cool them, but by the power of the Holy Spirit we shall change them. Oh, my friend, will you not to day let God change your evil tongue into the tongue of purity, the tongue of prayer, the tongue of love and the tongue of gentleness?

"But," says some one, "how can God make this change?" I do not know how it is done, but I do know he can do it and he will do it, if you will only talk with him and ask his help. He can change your evil torque in the can change your evil tongue in the same way that your Christian mother used to chang' it. You remember, when you look back to your boyhood life, hw angry you used to get. I can see you now in one of your quarrels with your brother. Your little fists were clinched. Your eyes were flashing. Your breast was heaving. You had raised your arm to strike a blow when you looked up and saw your mother. She looked at you so tenderly and reprovingly as she said, "Charley!" can change your evil tongue in the and reprovingly as she said. "Charley At first you could not answer. Then the muttered imprecation left your lips. Your hand was lewered. Then you burst into tears as you said, "Mother! Oh, mother! Forgive me, mother!" Se with this evil tongue of ours. If we only use it to pour out our desires into his ear, instead of being the organ of hate and or blasphemy, it will become the organ of kindness, the organ of gentlemess and forgiveness, and mercy and love. Oh, my friends, will you not let God to-day conquer your evil ton-

Would that this daily habit of talk-Would that this daily habit of talking with God might become ours! I once read of a mother who tried to stop the evil tongue scattering its poison by her fireside by writing down, day after day, every evil saying which she heard her children speak. Then, in the evening hour, she would read to her family the evil words of the day. That may be one way to halt the evil habit of a sinful tongue, but I believe the best way to conouer the tongues evil best way to conquer the tongues evil deeds is not to make a record of its deeds is not to make a record of its faults and errors, but to get our tongues in the habit, every houd of every day, of having private conversations with God. When we are about to do something, we should life up our voices involuntarily and say, "Lord, would you like me to do this?" When we are about to speak, we should ask, "Lord, shall I say this?" When we are about to rebuke a brother we should say. to rebuke a brother, we should say "Lord, shall I denounce this evil deed?" Then, with the close touch of our ton-gues with God's ear, God's tongue will become_our tongue. Lord God Almighty may we never tire of talking with thee! In Christ's name, we ask thee to govern our speech, and then we know thou shalt rule our lives. Tame them, O God! Tame our evil tongues for thy divine service.

SICKLY CHILDREN

A conce our evil tongues begin to find fault with the God who created us, and with the Christ who wants to redeem us. One of the worst signs that your tongue is an evil tongue is when it begins to talk about God as a cruel God, a merciless God, a mean God and a heartless God. The vindictive tongue, the lying tongue, the lewd tongue, almost inevitably becomes the blasphemous tongue.

But I cannot close this line of my talk without declaring that the blasphemous tongue inevitably becomes the tongue of a human beast of carrion. As soon as man gets out of touch with God he inevitavly acquires a depraved idea of the human race. Like the buzzard which circles about in the heavens over the hills and the valleys and the prairies of southern California waiting for the horse or the cow or the sheep to drop dead in his tracks that he may pounce upon it, so the evil tongue of man seems to glory in the bles but all the minor ailments that afflict infants and young children. They contain no oplate or harmful drug, and may be given with equal banquet of dead reputations, of evil reports and of debasing rumors which affirm that men and women have gone astray and become as bad as or even worse than ourselves.

No example of the evil tongue is worse than ourselves.

No example of the evil tongue is more sinfully suggestive than when a party of men and women get together to discuss the overthrow of a fellow man. "Have you heard the news?"

The Government Objects.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 25.—There is talk of an international controversy over the desire of certain Detroiters to get possession of three British gunboats, sunk in the Thames, near Chatham, during the war of 1812. They have located the hulks, half-buried in the river bed, and have acquired the right from the owners of the adjacent property to remove them as historic memorials to Detroit. The Canadian Government, however, is objecting. The vessels were a part of the British fleet dispersed at Put-in-Bay by Commodore Perry.

OUR SCHOOL.

About twenty-six years ago Mr. James Brackin came as principal to the then Head Street School. He found it very miscrable indeed compared with the present McKeough school. The entertainments a gentleman got up and said that that school was not a fit place for such accomplished pupils. That was the first thought of building a new school.

a famous reconceur, was entertaining with his funny stories a little group of men in the smoke round of the Anglo-Bengalee club, when one of the party happened to remark that he believed Petilifer would tell a funny story even if he were within an ace of death, Petilifier then related how such was once actually the case.

Invited by Oorbett, a fellow member of the dragoon regiment in India to entertain a rather gloomy coterie, Petilifier had been making them laugh from time to time. "The punch was going another round and fresh cigars were selected, when I said: 'Gentlemen, before we separate, I must tell you one more story,' and it's true. A burst of appliance greeted this announcement. "It was a very long story, replete with gesture, facial contortion, and seraps of native dialect, came in at an early stage, and was greeted with a sporm of laughter and applause. I had my subject well in hand and felt that my audience was in sympathy with me. For a minute or so I was perfectly happy—nay, triumphantly with me. For a minute or so I was perfectly happy—nay, triumphantly with me. For a minute or so I was perfectly happy—nay, triumphantly was a look of frozen terror. Where have a stony stare had replaced the recent glancing beams of a diminution in the laughter; of a dord, strained, and unsympathetic eves, if was about to of God, keep your hands raised, Petitier.

The school was built in 1882 and The school was built in 1882 and was mamed Forest Street School. The highest class was the Senior Second, in which Mr. Brackin was principal. The west side of the building was used for an assembly room, in which the pupils used to sing. One of their most popular songs was the Old Black Cat." But that song was pover sung again because Mr. Brackin found out that some boys used to fassemble in a burn where they had a "pipe-organ composed of cats. For the base they had the class. And the treble they had the kittens and cats were put in pipes and then the boys pulled their tails.

Then the assembly room was divided and a class put in the southered and a class put in the southered and a class put in the southered was they had the break up the assembly room and use it for class rooms.

The McKeough school is situated on Forest street. On the east side is Llydican avenue and one block west of Victoria avenue. It is surrounded on three sides by streets. The old school was located on Head street and was where the old brewery is now. In 1881 Mr. Brackin became principal of the school and in 1882 the Forest street school and in 1882 the Forest street school and in 1882 the Forest street school and in 1882 the chairman of the School Board and he would not allow the trustees to name the school after him, but when he died it was named the McKeough School in his memory. The school itself is surrounded by pine and maple trees, of which all the pine trees are trimmed meely, and a lawn which is always kept clipped. At the back of the school is a large shed for the children to play their games in in stormy days, and around the shed are two large yards—one for the boys and one for the brise play baseball, croquet, basket ball and hawn tennis, while the boys play hockey.

A SOAPY LAKE.

Some interesting items may at times be unearthed from the Consular reports. For example, there is a description of a soapy lake in the annual statement of the trade and commerce of Nicaragua. This sheet of water, the Lake of Nejapa, contains a strong solution of bearbonate of potash, bicarbonate of soda, and signate of magnesia. This water, water rubbed on any greasy object, at once forms a father. The report says it is used as a hairwash, and enjoys a local reputation as a cure for external and internal compaints. The German Emperor, with an almand income of about four million dollars is a poor man and has great difficulty in making both ends meet, declares the London Express. He does not receive a farthing in his capacity as German Emperor, but fuffils the duties of the honorary position free of charge to the federation of German States. The Kaiser draws his income first as King of Prussia, and, second, as a private landowner.

His income as King of Prussia and, second, as a private landowner, and second, as a private landowner of Russia receives an annual allowance of approximately $5,000,000, and the Emperor of Austria an annual allowance of more than $4,000,000. Both these monarchs receive additional allowance of more than $4,000,000 Both these and both of them own vast landed estates far superior in acreage to the Cerman Emperor's possessions.

The Sultan of Turkey receives an annual allowance of $10,000,000, and the Emperor in his capacity as large as that of the King of Prussia.

The amount of $4,000,000 granted annually to the German Emperor in his capacity as king of Prussia. The arount of $4,000,000 granted annually to the German Emperor in his capacity as king of Prussia is not taken from the national exchoquer, but from revenues from State dominions which were formerly the private property of the Prussian than the second private property of the Prussian of the state, and in required to the farmers, but the greatest landowner whose which were formerly three landowners whose estates rank next to his own far exceed those of the three landowners whose estates rank next to his own far exceed those of the three landowners whose estates rank next to his own far exceed those of the country. PEARL BOOTH, McKeough School.
MISS ABRAM,

of the several schools in Chathamic none are more excellent than the one which we are justly proud to call "Our School." It is situated on the corner of Queen and Cross streets and has been built about four years. The former school situated to the west of the new building, has been removated and is now used as an auditornian and gymnasium.

The rooms of our school are large and well ventilated, each of them contains about forty pupils. It is a very imposing dooking building of three storeys. The front presents a very imposing dooking building of three storeys. The front presents a very imposing dooking building of three storeys. The front presents a very imposing dooking building of three storeys. The front pupils of the central or main divisions are formed by two large corridors off which on either side are the spacious class rooms.

A beautiful unright plano graces the main hall. This adds life as well as beauty for from it issues the strains of stately marches and lively drills to which the pupils keep time as best they can.

The books used are catechism, withmetic, grammar, speller, reader, physiology, geography, distory, fiterature, while in the windows baskets of flowers and plants are hung. On the outside of the windows baskets of the upper floor we have a beauty of the place.

There are seven teachers who develous well as instructive and amusing books can be obtained, such as Evandering.

IMPERIAL SPLENDOR.

IMPERIAL SPLENDOR.

He is, however, extravagant in one respect, namely, in keeping up the Imperial magnificence of his Court on a scale never previously attempted by a King of Prussia. The support of relatives forms a first-charge on the Kaiser's income. He has to provide an annual allowance for his six sons, and has to maintain a separate Court for several more distant relatives.
The Crown Prince, now he is married, will be surrounded by his own Court, comprising a marshal, a master of ceremonies, a master of horse, a master of the hunt, lords in waiting, gentlemen in waiting, aides decamp, and so forth. The maintenance of the Crown Princely Court is expected to cost the Kaiser at least $2,100,000 per annum. His other sons are growing up, and it will soon be necessary to provide for them in the The Kaiser travells in the same splandor in which he lives at home. Wherever he goes he is accompanied by a large suite of officers and gentlemen and of household and gentlemen, his saddlers, his own coachmen and grooms, his own oachmen his saddlers, his smiths, and so forth. As he journeys his entire study is transported from place to place, the place of the diamond ring, a hundred and fifty diamond ring, a hundred and fifty diamond ring, a hundred and twenty diamond pins, thirty-three necklaces, thirty golden watches, a hundred golden eigarette cases, and twenty other articles of jewellery to various persons from whom he received attentions in the course of the journey. The whole Mediterranean trip is estimated to have cost over sixty is estimated to have cost over sixty thousand pounds. The cost of the Kaiser's journey to Palestine six ty years ago exceeded one hundred thousand pounds.

Kaiser's journey to Paustine six years ago exceeded one hundred thousand pounds.

Apart from his expenditure for purposes of royal display, the Kaiser devotes a large sum every year to the encouragement of art and of the drama. He is continually ordering monuments to be erected at his own expanse, and buys pictures for presentation to public galleries.

The Kaiser maintains the Boyal Opera House, the Royal Theatre in Berlin, and the Royal Theatre at Wissbaden at his own expanse.

Speaker Cannon, at a dinner he attended in Washington some time ago, talked about mean rich men.

"The mennest rich man in Illinois," he said, "lived in Vermillion County. He is a bachelor and we'll call him Crust.

"No, said the salesman. He admitted that I reasoned well and that the lots were fine ones, but he said that if he bought one he might not get the value for his money in the end.

"Why, said the superintendent, there's no fear of that. The man will die some day, won't he?

"Yes, said the salesman, but he says he might be lost at sea."
