CORRESPONDENCE

Hotel Grand View, Jacksonville, Florida, May 21st, 1901.

Editor ADVERTISER:—Your note of 13th came in due time, and on your invitation I shall be pleased to do so, from time to time, a brief contributor to your columns.

The attachment to the world's history, esteemed a virtue of the noblest and highest class. It has been my experience, and observation as well, that it is not an easy matter for a British subject ever to become anything else, naturally. I am still a Britisher, although having spent the greater part of my mature life under the Stars and Stripes. When I pick up the letters left by the carrier, those bearing the Queen's head are invariably opened first. I presume that long before this your readers have become familiar with the tremendous disaster which occurred two weeks since came upon the fair city of Jacksonville. What two weeks ago was a beautiful, prosperous and charming place, is to day almost a waste and desolate wilderness.

On May 3rd about ten o'clock, an alarm of fire rang out from a palmetto, fibre factory in one of the western suburbs, and in less than two hours one square mile, about 640 acres, of the very best portions of the city lay in ashes and ruins. With more than twenty thousand inhabitants, houseless and homeless.

When it was found about an hour after the fire began that the home fire companies would not be able to cope with the fearful conflagration, telegrams were sent to Savannah, one hundred and seventy miles to the north, to St. Augustine forty miles south, and to Macon and Fernandina for help. These cities quickly responded, and trains with firemen and engines, were soon making a mile a minute to the rescue. Reaching the city, these noble firemen fought the devouring elements with heroic fortitude, but the odds were against them. A gale was blowing and from block to block, they were driven till they were a mile away and covered and hopelessly in the water but completely ruined by the smoking ruins.

The writer's home lay directly in the path of the onward sweep of the devouring element, and so sudden was the onslaught and so terrifically heated was the entire atmosphere that nothing was saved. Friends came to our aid, and many things were taken from the house only to be abandoned on the streets, and burned before our eyes, while being driven by the intense heat to seek shelter to preserve life.

Besides thousands of dwellings some of them magnificent residence, ten fine hotels, nearly a score of churches, and about two hundred business houses, wholesale and retail, were destroyed. This will give you some idea of the terrible fire. Individually we lost the accumulation of more than twenty years, regretting the loss of about from one thousand to twelve hundred books in our library, with no insurance whatever, more than anything else. With all the newspaper accounts and eye-witness descriptions of the terrible nature of this fire, no adequate description has yet been given. Not but what the writers have been honest, and minds to comprehend. No one can possibly realize what a terrible disaster these seven hours of rolling, roaring, seething flames wrought.

With the exception of the corner south-west of the government building, there is not a building as far as the eye can see in any direction. The thousands of dead trees, once lining our streets with perennial beauty and the tall chimneys stand out like an immense cemetery, unkept and uncared for by human hands. During the fire, the screaming of women, the puff of the engines, the cries for help, the rushing here and there, the roar and crackle of flame, the falling and crashing of walls, with now and then some terrific explosion, were most appalling. Quite a number of lives were lost, in burning houses, others were driven into the harbor and drowned, their burned and scarred bodies being discovered in a day or two after the fire.

But we are pulling ourselves together as best we can. The day after the fire I saw a sign board looking out from a tremendous mass of smoking ruins which read—"You downed us, but you can't keep us down"—A fellow feeling has drawn us close together. We are working with what little we have. Shacks for temporary refuge are going up every where. Sister cities are aiding, and this fire I believe will be chiefly in mind as a miles stone in the city's progress.

Owing to the thousands of a class of negroes in and about the city, who with such opportunities are prone to pillage and plunder, our city was at once placed under military rule. Soldiers and men-of-war sailors and marines are on duty everywhere.

The writer is on the commissary staff in charge of all clothing, and we are at our desk in that department from eight in the morning till five in the evening, with a guard of Uncle Sam's soldier boys to keep order about us.

All the Churches in the main part of the city were burned, and as preachers we meet our flocks where best we can. Last Lords-day, I held two services for my own congregation, and two for the Presbyterian church. Next Lords day, I held beside my own services, one for the Congregationalists, their pastor being north for funds. But I must not lengthen this.

A THEATRICAL SOCIAL EVENT

W. S. Harkins who for the past 10 years has been giving to Halifax the features of its theatrical season, opened for an eight weeks run at the "Academy of Music" in that city during the early part of this year with a very successful season. His engagement was most successful during the season and he closed with the highest of his long career.

Among the number of charming plays presented, Sarah's "Madame Sans Gene" Barry's "Little Minister" and Ouida's "Under Two Flags" proved the favorites, and while the lines are finely drawn, yet the enthusiasm may have been more pronounced over the first named. Be this as it may, it was in "Madame Sans Gene" that Jessie Bonstelle, dainty and fanciful, won the warmest applause in her portrayal of the title role, and her position before the footlights in the garrison city has never since been questioned, if indeed it ever was. A player of note, Miss Bonstelle commands a respectable remuneration, and therefore Mr. Harkins has need of the success which is everywhere greeting him.

Up to the year 1893 Mr. Harkins never played outside of St. John and Halifax in the Maritime Provinces, but intervening towns growing ambitious they prevailed upon him during that year to depart from his usual practice. The result of Mr. Harkins experiment at that time is shown by his having already included in his present tour Charlottetown, P. E. I., Fredericton, Moncton, Sackville and Truro, and for one night, Thursday 6th June, he has been prevailed upon to come to Kentville, when our people will be able to see Miss Bonstelle in "Madame Sans Gene."

THE LOST TRAIL
While the drizzle falls on the slimy pavement, swelling
The yellow gutters' flow,
And the ways are dense with the hosts
of buying, selling,
And hurrying to and fro,
I know that out in the north the winds are crying
Round the willowed shores of the long white lakes outlying,
And the black pine woods where my lost friends are dwelling,
And the splendor of the snow.
I know that mysterious land of wood and river,
Where the half-breed hunter's range,
The snow wraiths dancing upon the hill slopes ever,
The grey sun, low and strange,
The bull moose skulking through wino-
row and through hollow,
The creek and crutch of raquettes
where the trackers follow,
The dark spruce shades where the forest dreams forever
But never dreams of change.
A snowshoe track leads up from the swamp and over,
Where the otter trappers passed,
To the drifted winter hut in the hemlock cover
That shields it from the blast;
Are you there, Perry Gaultier, as when we were together,
Free in the face of the grim Canadian weather,
Learned the changeless spell of the North to hold and love her,
And t'ru to her at the last?
The snowstorm blindly drives through the woods to another
The ancient trail I knew;
The track we blazed is lost, and never other
Has marked that blind way through;
But the same great roar through the leagues of branches sweeping Wakes the desire of a homesick heart that has long been sleeping, Oh, dark North woods, wild love and ruthless mother,
I cry, I cry to you!
—F. L. Follock in the May Atlantic

The news of the death of Mrs.
Mary Jane, wife of Capt. D. B. Shaw entire community. Her demise takes from our midst one of the noblest of characters. Mrs. Shaw was a daughter of W. A. Porter, now of Boston and a niece of Capt. H. Porter of Hantsport, and Capt. Lockhart Porter now at sea. She leaves five sisters and one brother, as follows: Mrs.

Geseho, of Hantsport; Mrs. Coffill, of Bridgewater; Mrs. J. L. Davison,
Mrs. Terry, Mrs. Rogers and brother Harry Porter, of Boston; also four daughters and a husband, to mourn their loss. Mrs. Shaw was in her 39th year. The funeral will be held tomorrow, Thursday, at 2 p. m. The relatives have the sincere sympathy of all their acquaintances.

Parties went to "Davis' Lake" fishing, some went to Berg mill, mills, some to Wolfville to take in the sports, and a good crowd to Aberdeen Beach.
During the evening most everybody from this place returned to town and took in the Baptist Bean supper.
There was a fine gathering at Aberdeen beach. People from Windsor, Mt. Denson, Hantsport and vicinity, witnessed the sham fight and partook of the refreshments provided by the proprietor, Mr. Shaw. Many brought lunches with them and had a regular picnic.
At Bridgewater the horse races were the attraction. Ferron and Perfection Bleed won the races.
Amherst and Sydney also celebrated with a good program of sports.

lies very ill, indeed, with pneumonia.
Two Drs. have been in attendance fat to cushion your nerves—you are probably thin—and Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil will give you the fat, to begin with.

Cure, so far as it goes.
Full cure is getting the fat,
you need from usual food, and Scott's Emulsion will help you to that.

its agreeable taste will surprise you.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

EARTH'S BEST AND SAFEST SPRING MEDICINE

IT PURIFIES THE BLOOD FORTIFIES THE SYSTEM AND ESTABLISHES PERFECT HEALTH

Is your blood impure and poisoned and circulation sluggish? It must be if you have eruptions, blotches, sores, pimples, eczema or salt rheum. With such troubles the blood is fast carrying poison and disease to every part of the system.

To be clean, sound, vigorous and healthy you should use Paine's Celery Compound. Its vitalizing and health-giving virtues show at once upon the blood; it is unequalled as a cleanser and health-giver.

The ordinary bitters, nervines, sarsaparilla or pills cannot remove the dangers that lurk in your system at this season of the year. For pure, red blood, rosy cheeks and good digestion you need Paine's Celery Compound that has done such a marvelous work for others in the past.

Beware of the substitutes that are offered for Paine's Celery Compound and those worthless imitations that are fostered on the unsuspecting for the sake of large profits. Insist upon having PAIN'S, the kind that makes people well.

HANTSPOBT

The many friends of Mrs. Brown will regret to hear of her death which occurred Tuesday morning.

Rev. Dr. Gaetz of Windsor, gave a very interesting Lecture in the vestry of the Baptist Church here Monday evening. A full account will appear in next issue.

Capt. Wm. Baxter of Canning, while working last week on the Schr. Preference at the ship at Kingsport, nearly severed two of his toes with an ax.

Miss Annie McCabe of Amherst, sang a solo, "Father in Heaven," in the Baptist Church here, Sunday evening service. Her voice showed evidence of careful training.

Mr. J. E. Stevens went to Dartmouth on Monday morning's train to attend the funeral of his brother, who died there on Saturday.

Joseph E. Bortin was home from Amherst to spend the Victoria holiday, he left on Monday morning to return.

G. P. Smith of Windsor, was in town over Sunday.

Robt. Gordon, Canning's Band instructor, spent Sunday with friends in Hantsport.

Mrs. John McLeod, formerly of Hantsport, now of Amherst, has been visiting friends in town, she returned to Amherst on Monday.

Edgar Eaton and family of Canning, spent Sunday with Mrs. Cyrus Davison on Wm. St.

Miss Mabel Saunders of Wolfville, is visiting her friend, Miss Churchill at The Ceders.

Mrs. Anna Andrews has returned to Hantsport and will remain the summer.

The Misses McCulloch who have been spending a few days with friends in Brookline, have returned to town.

The Misses Allison of Avondale, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Burgess on the 24th and 25th.

H. E. Blakeney, drug clerk with Hattie & Mylius, Halifax, was visiting his cousin, Harry Cahoon, on the 24th and stayed over until Monday.

James Burgess was visiting his brother, C. E. Burgess of this town, on the 24th.

Mrs. McCabe and Miss McCabe, formerly of this town, now residing in Amherst, are visiting relatives here.

Mr. Beazley of Halifax, brother of our popular confectioner, was in town on May 24th and stopped a few days with friends.

Judson Borden and "Bud" Lawrence of this town, left by express Monday morning for Eastport, Maine, where they will remain the summer.

Rev. A. B. Calder of Kentville, was in Hantsport over Sunday. He has sold his jewelry business to J. E. Hennigar, Canning.

Rev. Mr. Aikens of the Methodist church here and Rev. Mr. Gaetz, pastor of St. Stephen's Methodist church, Kentville, exchanged services last Sunday.

Miss Laura Marchant of Brooklyn Corner, Kings Co., teacher in that section, was down to Cheverie a few days ago, giving her sister, who directs the youthful merris in that vicinity, a pleasant surprise. On her return, Miss Marchant paid me a friendly call.

Capt. Edward Davison, who has been confined to his house for a few weeks, was out walking last Saturday. Everybody gave the genial old gentleman a pleasant greeting. How many of us will be as nimble as Mr. Davison at his age?

Quite a number went to the Davison Lake on the 24th, fishing. Bosts are in great demand out there. Somebody made the remark that one man stayed up all the night before so as to keep a boat for some parties for trouting on Victoria Day.

Capt. D. T. Faulkner was out to Auburn, Kings county, on the 24th, visiting his friend, Pastor Ryan. The captain went by train this time, but has a horse which thinks nothing of doing the journey in a day.

The Baptist Sewing Circle tea and fancy sale held in Sweet's Hall on Victoria Day was a complete success in every way. About $40 was realized. The well known hospitality of the ladies in charge and the good things provided, drew a large number during the evening. There was a bean supper, with ice cream and temperance drinks. Also a fancy article sale table, where you could purchase, not anything from a needle to a haystack, but at least from a bottle of perfume to an apron. Fruit and candy was sold by two of the youthful dames. Excitely seemed happy and no doubt will call again.

Capt. Fred Brown of Hantsport, with his wife and daughter, Miss Elsie, who returned to Nova Scotia recently, were in town on the 24th visiting friends. Mrs. Brown is a daughter of Capt. Hilsbert of Berwick. Miss Brown is stopping for a few days with her friend, Miss Adria Coakley.

Adlerman Frank Eden of Halifax, accompanied by his wife and son, were in Hantsport last week. While here Mr. Eden purchased the fine horse of Nelson Patron, for about $200. This animal is a beautiful black, very showy, and the buyer got a beauty. Mr. Patton's horse took first prize at the last Halifax exhibition for best carriage horse.

A jolly party of Hantsport and Mt. Denison young men went fishing down the Bay last Thursday and Friday. They didn't get "over the bay," but down the Bay. They caught 15 codfish, pollock and haddock, but say they didn't have the right kind of bait. They had a splendid time. Mr. MacKinlay of Mt. Denison took them down in his yacht, and had considerable fun racing with the other cup defenders.

Geo. H. Yeaton & Son, wholesale confectioners, started out Monday morning on a trip with their brass wagon. There has been nothing in this vicinity to equal the turn out, now owned by Messrs Yeaton. The wagon is fine-lined in beautiful style, with gilt letters in the way of advertisement on the sides, and varnished to such a degree as to render the carrying of a looking-glass unnecessary. Attached to the equipage were a fine matched pair of bays, with new harness. Business is prosperous with the Yeaton's and the increase of trade and the wish to be up-to-date has necessitated the larger and better accommodation.

"Played Out" Is one of the curious expressions used for worked out. Many a woman drops into a chair, in utter weariness "all played out," and wonders why she feels so weak. She has not yet realized that the general health is so intimately related to the local health of the womanly organism, that weakness in one follows womanly diseases. Restoration of the general health invariably follows the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep. There is no substitute for "Favorite Prescription," for there is nothing "just as good" for womanly ills.

"I wish to advise the suffering women of this great land, of the good I have received from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. M. A. Shapell, of Columbus Grove, Putnam Co., Ohio. "For years I had been a sufferer from female troubles, and at times was unable to do even the household work. I had such pains that I suffered almost death dozens of times, but after taking five bottles of your medicine I can truthfully say that my health was greatly improved. I have a good appetite and am gaining flesh right along. This spring is the first time in five years that I have done my house cleaning all by myself and without the least fatigue whatever. I hope all suffering women will find relief as I have done. My gain in weight has been just ten pounds, and I am still gaining."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only, or for cloth-bound book, send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

How to Cure a Corn It is one of the easiest things in the world to cure a corn. Do not use acids or other caustic preparations and don't cut a hole in your foot. It is simply to apply Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor and in three days the corn can be removed without pain. Sure safe painless. Take only Putnam's Corn Extractor.

Mr. William O. Taylor of Falmonth recently purchased a property at Berwick from Mr. McNeil and has moved there with his family.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper

Where She Was Vaccinated

It was just after a dinner, and the man who had been sitting next to the young woman with the beautiful arms and neck thought that he was the most fortunate individual in the room. He said all the bright things he could bring to mind and was congratulating himself that he was keeping up his end of the conversation fairly well, when the young woman began to display signs of nervousness. She gazed around the room as if looking for an avenue of escape, moved restlessly in her seat, and allowed two or three jokes to pass her by without making it evident that she recognized them. Astonished and half alarmed, the man looked at her inquiringly, and meeting her look, she said: I am in a hurry. Is misery? echoed the man. Yes, she replied. I was vaccinated the other day and it has taken beautifully. I could almost scream. It hurts so. The man looked at the beautiful arms, and, seeing no mark there said: Why, where were you vaccinated? In New York, she replied, with a smile.

Freely the gold within your heart is spent, Freely your sunshine to the meadow lent, Freely your face smiles upward to the sky. While, quite unheeding, hundreds pass you by. And yet I venture, if amid our world Each year or instant, only, you unfurled, We all would cry, on seeing you displayed: "Oh, what a beautiful duty God hath made!"

ALMOST CONSUMPTION Mr. J. J. Dods of Pleasant Ave., Deer Park, Ont., writes:—I have suffered in my head and throat and all over my body since last summer from a very heavy cold which I could not get rid of. I have tried several of what are considered good remedies, but none seemed to be of any avail. I began to think that my cold was developing into consumption as very many have to my knowledge. I am thankful now to say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has worked a complete cure as I am now entirely free of the cold.

BACK TO HEALTH

Through The Kindness and Persistence of a Friend

An Every Day Story That Will Bring Health and Happiness to Young Girls Who Act Upon the Advice Given.

From the Sun, Orangeville, Ont.

In every part of Canada are to be found grateful people who cheerfully acknowledge that the good health they enjoy is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the town of Orangeville there are many such people among them being Miss Lizzie Collins an estimable young lady who resides in the eastward. Miss Collins cure through the use of this medicine was recently brought to the attention of the Sun, and a reporter was sent to get the facts from the young lady. Miss Collins cheerfully accorded the interview and her statement is given practically in her own words: "Two years ago," said she, "I became so weak that I was forced to take to bed. The illness came on gradually; I found myself much run down, suffered from headaches, and was as pale as it was possible for a living person to be. I used several medicines, but they did not help me. Then I consulted a doctor and he said that I had scarcely any blood, and that my condition was one of danger. Medicine did not seem to do me any good and I found myself growing weaker. I reached the stage where my heart kept palpitating violently all the time. The headache became continuous, and my condition one which words can scarcely describe. I really despaired of getting better and loathed the sight of medicine. I had been confined to bed for about two months when one day a friend called and urged me to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I told her I had lost faith in all medicine but she was apparently determined I should try the pills for she brought me about half a box she had been using herself. I could not do less than try the pills and when they were used while I cannot say that I felt much better I had more confidence in the pills and got half a dozen boxes. Before these were gone there was no doubt that they were rapidly restoring me to my old-time health as I was soon able to sit up and then be around and out. I used in all eight or nine boxes and before these were gone I felt as though I had never had an ache or pain in my life. That is what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me and I think I may be very ungrateful if I did not add my testimony for the benefit it may be to some other young girl. Miss Collins story should bring hope to many thousands of other young girls who suffer as she did. Those who are pale lack appetite suffer from headache and palpitation of the heart dizziness or a feeling of constant nervousness will find renewed health and strength of a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Sold by all dealers or sent by mail post paid at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. We also learn that the offer must be accepted speedily or it will be withdrawn."

In the United States they have twenty six crematories and more are being built. The latest census of that country shows such a large increase in population that they evidently have people to burn.

Divorces and separations are becoming so frequent now—fashionable as it were—that Max O'Rell thinks that marriages would be happier if women could choose their husbands instead of men choosing their wives. The instinct and keen insight of women would lead to this happy result.

The increase of the seasonal indemnity to members of parliament and senators has produced a unanimity of expression in its favor with both houses of parliament. This seems to be the only question this session that both parties have, unanimously agreed to. There are 213 members of Parliament and 81 Senators so that it will entail an increase annual expenditure of $147,000.

Delegates from the different towns throughout the valley met at Halifax last Tuesday and passed strong resolutions against the action of the fire insurance companies in the proposed increase of rates. It was shown at the meeting that the threatened increase was not justified throughout the province. A resolution strongly opposing the increase was passed and it was resolved,—That a joint committee, consisting of five members of the city council and five members of the Halifax board of trade, with one member from each of the boards of trade, and one member from each town council throughout the province of Nova Scotia, be a committee to consider what steps shall be taken to carry into effect the resolutions passed at this meeting respecting the proposed increase of rates of fire insurance.

Parliament prorogued last Thursday afternoon with the usual formalities. One hundred and ten bills were assented to by His Excellency. The people of both parties have been watching the leader of the opposition with great interest. The Ottawa correspondent says "I can say with authority that Hon. R. L. Borden has filled the bill. He has led his party with great judgement and tact. Comparatively new to the responsible position of leader, he has made no mistakes. He has held the reins with a light but firm hand. In debate he is more than a match for any man on the other side. "He is always, even when hitting hard, courteous and respecting himself, he challenges the respect of all. His readiness is equal to his logical power which is of a very high order. I believe he has only to become known to the people to impress them as deeply as he has impressed the House."

PROHIBIT EXPECTORATION

While Kentville and other towns are making a move to have a much needed system of sewerage for the benefit of the public health, other safeguards should be taken. It takes time to educate the mass of people to the necessity of spending a lot of money for sewers but we think all respectable people will concede the advisability of prohibiting spitting in public places. If our Board of Health would take the matter up and have a bye law passed prohibiting anyone from expectorating in public conveyances, places of amusement and public resort, they would be doing a wise thing. Apart from the filthiness of the habit it is conclusively known that expectoration is the source through which disease is spread especially in connection with tubercular affections. The death rate in Canada from this source is greater than from any other. Even spitting on the sidewalks where ladies dresses are liable to catch the filth should be prohibited. Public feeling against the disgusting habit is such that any measure adopted for its suppression would receive the hearty support of nearly all. If such a bye law were passed we believe it would be enforced. In many cities it is strictly enforced and why not in our towns here?

THE OUTLAWS

The Detective from Halifax, who went to Annapolis county in search of Frank Sabean and gang, which has been terrorizing that county and the western part of King, has been obliged to return to the city with an empty cage. This is the only instance of the present time that we are aware of that any great effort has been made to bring the gang to justice but this has ended in failure. We dare say that the police of that place are on the lookout but it seems that they are not over exerting themselves in the matter. If they are not sufficiently active let the proper authorities call on the Attorney General for assistance. This has not been done to our knowledge and this thieving party is still at large. Before assistance is asked for, all information that is known in regards to their haunts should be collected. Without this information it would be useless to send an expert to work with out any tangible clues. When assistance is called for let the local constables co-operate with the expert detective and have this gang brought to justice and the sooner it is done the better. Constable Wright was sent to Annapolis to search for parties committing robberies and in his report to Attorney General Longley he said he could not find any clue of them. We would not think he would expect to find them when it came out in city papers the day before, that he intended leaving to hunt up Sabean. By this it would show that the "secret services" of the province was operated on a wonderful scale? Before he as on the scene of action in all probability the gang had either read or heard that they were being sought after and hid themselves. When the officer or officers starts out again we would advise them to keep their movements to themselves and try to see if this gang cannot be caught. The robberies recently committed are now under consideration and no pains will be spared to remedy this nuisance.

GRAND PRE'

A heavy rain Monday night and all day Tuesday. The grass and grain are looking magnificent and the trees are in full bloom. Caterpillars are numerous. Those who cannot spray can kill them easily with a bit of sheepskin on the end of a light pole dipped in Kerosene Emulsion. It is sure death to every bunch it touches.

Fortunately Mr. Thro, who was capable and careful, found no San Jose scale in the Province. The P. G. A. and the government are to be commended for their vigilance which should not slacken. The expense was only about $200, while our representatives and senators at Ottawa at the close of the session helped themselves to $500 each out of the people's treasury as "increased seasonal indemnity" and left for home. Each member and senator at Ottawa is now to receive $1500 each session with a travelling allowance. This combined raid on the treasury is passed over without a word of criticism by the press. How is that for partyism? Both sides afraid to touch it.

Mrs. Sadie Cowill and daughter Katie, Liverpool, are visiting at Mrs. Bowers.

Mr. Gove, who purchased Mrs. Augustus Brown's farm, is at work on his property.

John Lawrence has purchased Capt. Theodore Harris' property down the hill west of Clear View and moved into the house.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

BY MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

For you, and came in twice. Wanted you for something pressing. Now, I believe, he is doing the job himself. Wise man. Do it a blamed sight better than you or any man Jack of us."

"At this moment an office messenger came in with a huge bundle of papers, which he placed before me on my desk. They were enveloped in the usual green "jackets," which meant extreme urgency, and on the outside was written, in a big, bold hand, "Captain Wood-speak."

"He'll do most of the talking, I expect," went on Swete Thornhill gallously. "He's fit to be tied. Go in, man, at once, and take your punishment."

The distinguished officer at that time head and chief of our department was Major General Sir Charles Collingham, V. O. K. C. B., one of the most notable soldiers of the day, and, in addition, a highly skilled, strong in counsel, foremost in the field, who had served almost everywhere, in all the wars, great and small, of recent years and had made a close study of the science of his profession as well. He had travelled far and wide, knew men and many cities, was as much at home at court as in camp, popular in society, which he cultivated in his spare moments, although he allowed nothing to stand in the way of his work. The service came first, and first in the service was the all important, transcendently useful department, as he thought it, over which he presided.

Sir Charles expected—nay, exacted—a like devotion from us, his staff officers, whom in all matters of duty he ruled with a rod of iron. None of us liked to face him when he was put out, which, it may be said, was not seldom.

"I reckon this is no laughing matter, captain. Guess your enemies will soon fix that. They mean mischief."

He spoke it like a sentence of death and seemed very much in earnest, yet I could hardly take it seriously.

"Such a throat scarcely affects me. You see, it is my business to risk my life. The queen has sometimes enemies, and hers are mine."

"These I speak of are altogether your own, captain—people who grudge you your new wealth."

"You have heard then?"

"Heard?" he cried, with great scorn. "There is nothing I do not know about you, captain. How did you enjoy the summer on the Cuyul river, and were the maps you got at Angostura very useful to you?"

"Hush, man, hush! Who and what are you? What the mischief are you driving at?"

By this time we had entered Queen Anne's gate and were at the door of the office.

"Is this your bureau?" he now asked. "May I not go inside with you, only for one moment? The matter is urgent. It affects you very closely. Your danger is imminent. They are bound, these enemies, to do you an injury—a terrible injury."

"Oh, well, then, it must keep," I said petulantly. "I can not give you any more time now; I am expected here. I suppose Sir Charles has arrived?" I asked of the office messenger, old Sergeant Major Puchey.

"Yes, sir, he has been here these three hours. He came on his bicycle—soon after 9 a. m., and he has asked for you, I think, twice."

"There, your business must keep, Mr. "

"Snayze. I bow to your decision, but if you will permit me, I will call in Charles street this evening at—"

"If you must come, come about 5. Good day," and I passed into the office. I shared my room at the "Intelligence" with a colleague, Swete Thornhill, of the artillery, a lively youth out of hours, but who stuck to his work manfully—more so than any of us, and we were by no means idle men.

"Thought you were dead," he said shortly, and without looking up from his papers; "wonder you took the trouble to come at all."

"I was detained by something special. Important business. Anyhow, it's no affair of yours," I answered, rather nettled.

"Yes it is, when it throws me out of my stride. I wish you'd make up your mind either to come or stay away altogether. There has been a regular hue and cry for you all the morning, and I've been disturbed abominably. I have those calculations of the comparative penetration of the new projectiles in hand, and they take some doing."

"Well, keep your hair on. I don't want to disturb you. But who was it, anyhow?"

"The boss chief himself, Collingham, Sir Charles. He has sent three times ing, guard-mounting routine, and when you are grizzling your soul out in that beastly tropical hole, Bermuda, you may be sorry for the chance you've lost. Go away, I say. I've done with you. I hate the very sight of you."

And I went, meaning in my rage—for I, too, had become furiously angry—to take him at his word and walk straight out of the house. But custom is strong. The spirit of subordination, of obedience, the soldierly sense of duty, when once imbued, are not to be shaken off in a second. When I regained my desk and saw the papers there, I remembered that I was bound in honor to fulfill my obligations. My chief had, no doubt, gone too far, but that did not release me. Before I took any further steps I must first complete my work.

There was not much wanting to finish my report on the Canadian frontier, and I did it out of hand. Then I sent it in to the chief and prepared to tackle the second set of papers, which proved to be a scheme, marked "strictly confidential," for a combined attack upon New York by sea and land. (Our political relations at that particular moment were greatly strained. There were rumors of grave disagreement, if not of war.) But now I noticed the word "speak," and I knew that I must take verbal instructions before I set to work. I must face my irascible chief again, and I had no great fancy for it. However, it must come sooner or later, so I scribbled a few words on a sheet of foolscap and went in.

The general was at his standing desk (he seldom sat down) pouring over my other report, but he looked round as I entered and nodded pleasantly. Bright sunshine had already succeeded the all-ways fugitive storms in his hasty temperament.

"This will do first rate, Wood. There are only one or two points that need amplification," and we went over the items together.

Then I asked him about the other matter, and soon heard all I wanted to know. I can set down nothing of this here, for the whole affair was very secret and particular—of vital interest to two great countries—and Sir Charles impressed it on me very earnestly that the paper and plans must on no account pass out of my possession.

"You may have to work on the scheme at your own diggings, for it must go in by the end of the week. But pray be most careful. Lock up the papers in your dispatch box at night."

A Minister's Experience

So far as is known there is no other treatment for piles so wonderfully prompt and effective as Dr. Chase's Ointment. This preparation has never been known to fail to cure piles. It stops the itching at once, and positively and thoroughly cures piles in every form.

Rev. J. A. Baldwin, Baptist Minister, Arkansas, Ont., writes:—"For over twenty years I was a great sufferer from itching and protruding piles. I used many remedies and underwent three very painful surgical operations, all without obtaining permanent relief. When about to give up in despair, I was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and did so, finding relief at once. I used three boxes, and am almost entirely cured. The itching is all gone. I have advised others to use it, believing it would cure them, as it has me."

The Queen's Birthday (now Victoria Day) has come and gone. Almost from the youth of our oldest inhabitant the anniversary of the birth of good Queen Victoria has been celebrated, the patriotic feeling of her loyal subjects exhibiting itself by a liberal display of the Empire's colors.

Now King Edward VII sits on the British throne, and though the nation is safely entrenched under his sway, how long it will be before we can all realize the loss sustained by the death of our Lady Sovereign.

To the casual observer, a subdued feeling pervaded the celebration of Victoria Day this year. Even the exuberance of the small boy seemed to be somewhat hushed by the fact that Queen Victoria, the one next to his mother in his esteem, had passed away from mortal gaze. In fact, in some places the people seemed to consider the usual noisy celebration out of place for the day. The memory of our late Queen will be long cherished by the loyal subjects of the Empire.

CAMBRIDGE

Miss Eugenie Webster arrived home from South Carolina last Wednesday. Mrs. Biogay, teacher of Prospect school, spent Sunday with Miss Myrtle Caldwell.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Jos. Sawyer on account of the sudden death of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Keizer, who died last Thursday of pneumonia.

Miss Lucy Neily and sister visited friends at Hillston recently. Mr. Joseph Arenburg has had his house newly painted by Mr. Rudolph, who has been engaged to paint a number of houses in this vicinity.

Quite a number from this place enjoyed the sports at Coldbrook, Victoria Day. The pleasures of the afternoon were sorry to say, were much marred by the rum curse, which was very much in evidence.

Mr. and Mrs. James Craig spent Victoria day at Harberville. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webster enjoyed a visit last week from Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McConnell and baby daughter of Boston. Mr. McConnell is Mrs. Webster's youngest son.

It is rumored that Mr. Benjamin Sanford of Woodville, is talking of purchasing Mr. Moses Rachford's place. Mr. William Taylor is very low with consumption.

Miss Gertrude Mahaney is still quite ill, but is able to take a short drive when the day is very fine.

A new baby girl is reported at Mr. John Stuart's. We extend congratulations.

Mrs. Burpee Graves of Aylesford, visited her sister, Mrs. Dodge last week. Miss Minnie Fullerton of Pt. Williams, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert Webster.

Our school examination took place last Thursday, which being Empire day was also celebrated by the hoisting of a new Canadian flag, which had been lately procured by the combined efforts of Miss Caldwell and pupils.

The school room was artistically decorated with flags, mottoes done in colored crayon, flowers, etc., while each scholar wore a rosette of red, white and blue. Interspersed with the regular school lessons, which were well rendered, were patriotic songs and recitations, also a number of original papers by the larger pupils as follows:

—Lena Knowlton, —Unie Best, —George Neily, —David Webster, —Edith Woodman.

These papers were exceedingly good, and would have been creditable to much older scholars and the whole afternoon's exercises gave evidence of a painstaking, energetic teacher and wide awake pupils.

Miss Ethel Craig visited her sister, Mrs. Henry Borden Chipman Corns, one day last week. Mr. Borden has the misfortune to break his leg about a week ago.

Mrs. William Strong and little daughter of Somerset, are making an extended visit with Mrs. Strong's mother, Mrs. C. W. F. Webster.

Crutches Discarded

Mrs. Wells, of Mochelle, Annapolis, Annapolis Co., writes:
May 8th, 1900

"I am an old woman, nearly eighty years of age. Some time ago I fell and injured my hip. I was afterwards troubled with Sciatica; at times my sufferings were intense; I could not get about my room without the aid of a pair of crutches. I tried many remedies; none did me any good; some of them made me worse. At last I read of Egyptian Rheumatic Oil and tried that. I am happy to say that it has given me great relief, removing the pain and enabling me to move around much better than I could. I think Egyptian Rheumatic Oil a splendid liniment for use in cases of Rheumatism."
