King Winter is armed with countless millions of ice-hard snow-crystals, driven by the full force of winter winds; his destructive work is aided by rapid changes in temperature, which freeze tiny particles of water in the pores of unprotected woodwork, tearing the wood fibers apart as freezing water splits a wrought-iron pipe. In the course of a long Canadian winter he can cause irreparable damage to an unprotected silo, barn or house. He attacks in vain, however, the building protected with

"ENGLISH" B-H PAINT

The pure white lead (70%) and pure white zinc (30%) which it contains, serve as a thin but effective metallic armor-plate, defying all the forces of natural decay for many years. The superiority of B-H "English" Paint is due both to the purity of its ingredients and to its special methods of manufacture. These produce a paint, which on account of its smoothness and marvellous fineness, spreads easily and penetrates far into the fibres of the wood.

It Is Up to You.

Grow! and the way looks dreary; Laugh, and the path is bright; For because the light brings sunshine white A frown shuts out the light, and you take in nothing; Work, and the prize is won; For the merry man With the backbone can by fighting be undone. Humble, and fortune awaits you; Bold, and defeat is sure; For there's no chance of adversity For the chap who can't endure. King, and the world's harmonious; Gracious, and things go wrong; For the man who tries with the hoop, bounding through; Kick, and there's trouble brewing; Whistle, and life is gay; And the world's in tune 'Till day in June, And the clouds all melt away.

Donington Hall.

LARGE AND HYGIENOUS HOUSE, BUILT 1780.

A party of journalists who were invited to go round Donington Hall, where German officers about whose over generous treatment there have been many ridiculous rumors are entertained, report the absence of any form of luxurious accommodation, and dismiss the stories of feasting on rich foods and rare wines as inventions. Prisoners' expenditure on drinks is restricted to an average of 1s. a day. The average amount spent last month on liquor per man per day was 10d. Beer costs 4d. and 6d. The most expensive wine in common use is Hochheimer at 3s. 6d. The following is a specimen menu: Breakfast.—Porridge, tea, bread, margarine. Lunch.—Soup, cold meat, boiled potatoes. Dinner.—Roast mutton, potatoes and cabbage, jam cake. Prisoners, of course, supplement this to any extent they like from the canteen. The chef is an Englishman. Money and parcels come regularly from Germany. There has been hardly any food in the parcels during the last six months. Donington Hall is a large and hygienic house, built about 1780 by 'Capability Brown', who seems to have been as good as an architect as he was a wandering old place and draughty, and would be difficult to keep warm in winter.

Salt for Moths

For moths salt is the best exterminator. The nuss in one of the hospital convents have tried everything else without success, says an exchange, and their experience is valuable as they have so much clothing of the sick who are there, and strangers, when dying there, often have quantities of clothing, etc. They had a room full of feathers, which were sent there for pillow making and they were in despair, as they could not exterminate the moths, until they were advised to try common salt. They sprinkled it around, and in a week or ten days were altogether rid of moths. They are never troubled now. In heavy velvet carpets, sweeping them with salt cleans and keeps them from moths, as particles of the salt remain in the carpet and corners. Salt is not hurtful to anyone, and has no bad smell. Here is a little hint I add which, perhaps, everyone does not know. For cleansing wash basins, baths, etc., use the same thing, common dry salt with your fingers on the basin. Often a sort of scum is noticed in the basin in a marble washstand in the bath room; the salt takes it off easily, and leaves the basin shining and clean.—Ex.

Observations made to test this question showed that bees can carry with ease twice their weight in honey. Several bees were caught as they returned to their hives laden with honey and, after enclosing them in a little box, they were carefully weighed. When the bees had unloaded their honey they were again caught, placed in the same box, and weighed a second time. This experiment showed that the bees, when laden, weighed three times as much as when empty. It was therefore demonstrated that a bee can carry twice its own weight of honey, and can fly very considerable distances with that weight.

High Cost of Living.

No economist has put enough emphasis on the fact that in the cost of living is higher now it is to a large extent because the average man is demanding more comforts and luxuries, and these must cost more. Before the days of plumbing and bath-rooms bills, but is he now ready to throw the plumbing out of the house? Oil is cheaper for light than electricity, but people pay more for a modern light because they want the better service even at the higher prices. Workman by the thousands have phonographs, a form of entertainment unknown until a very few years ago. Even street cars are rather a new thing, and the poorest families spend many dollars every year for this service, which has become indispensable. Magazines are purchased now by many people who ten years ago had never subscribed for such a publication.

Salt as a Poison.

A writer on dietetics has the following to say about salt: 'First, we get all that is necessary in our natural food, just as we do of iron, soda and potash. Second, that in large and oft repeated doses, it affects the brain, as shown by impaired memory, dizziness and hallucinations. Third, that in very large quantities it will kill man, bird, beast, reptile and insect, as well as vegetation. Fourth, that its use is a habit, pure and simple, and a much more general one than the use of coffee, tobacco or alcohol. The crux of the argument of the author is, of course, that we use salt in our food as a condiment and purely from habit and that there is enough salt in our foods naturally to supply the needs of the body.

Strikes and Treason.

A certain well-known firm recently obtained a large contract from the War Office to ensure it being carried out in time, it was necessary for the workmen to work overtime. This they did perfectly willing to do, being paid the union rates. After a while the Secretary of the trade union called upon the head of the firm concerned, and advised him that the hands would be called out to work overtime no way out of it.

Canada's First Railway.

The twenty-first day of the month, (July) just passed, marked the eightieth anniversary of the first Canadian Railroad. It was called the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railway, and connected the towns of Laprairie and St. John's, in the province of Quebec. About three hundred gentlemen and ladies including His Excellency, the Earl of Gosford, the Governor, went down from Montreal in the steam boat, Princess Victoria, to Laprairie, to attend the inaugural ceremonies. There were in all sixteen cars provided for the trip on the railroad; but, owing to an accident which had happened to the locomotive and had not been fully repaired, only two cars were attached to it, and the other cars were drawn by horses, a pair to each car. It took the whole arrangement about two hours to reach St. John's, fourteen and a half miles distant.

Save the Children.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer. In most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or it given occasionally to the well child will prevent them. Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

For Baby's Tender Skin.

A child's skin is tender as well as beautiful and eczema may be caused by chafing of clothing, the use of poor soap, exposure to cold or sudden change of temperature. Probably no treatment for eczema has ever proven so successful as Dr. Chase's Ointment, and this applies particularly to baby eczema. This ointment is delightfully soothing, stops the itching and consequently prevents scratching. Gradually the eczema is healed and the skin is left soft and velvety.

Self-Sacrifice.

Could anything better illustrate the point of self-sacrifice than the following anecdote: One scorching day when his comrades were nearly prostrated, he was carrying his own gun and another's, two cartridge belts, two knapsacks and a dog. The colonel snatched him. Look here, you marched all yesterday and fought all last night, the colonel said. 'Yes, sir,' said the young soldier, respectfully. 'Well, then, what are you carrying that dog for?' 'Because, colonel,' said the soldier, 'the dog's tired.'

Girl a Nervous Wreck

At Eleven Years of Age

Was Tired Out, Pale and Sallow—Would Tremble Till the Bed Would Shake—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Cured Her.

In the schools of to-day there is found an alarming proportion of weak, nervous children who have little chance of developing into healthy, useful men and women. Nature requires the attention of such children to be given to the treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to help them over a trying period and set them on their feet. There would be fewer wearing glasses if the nerves were invigorated, less irritation in the school, and more robust health and a greater pleasure in the school tasks. This letter bears a cheering message to parents whose children are weak, puny and nervous. It shows you what may be expected from the use of this great restorative.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 8, 1916.

Editorial Brevities.

In the course of a few days the Dominion government will make a definite announcement in regard to recruiting throughout the Dominion under the new recruiting scheme, under which all people will be classified with the idea of ascertaining their fitness for military service or for duties at home. Certain recommendations drafted by the officials of the militia department are now being considered by the cabinet.

The accession of Roumania to the ranks of the Entente Allies actually adds 895 miles to the frontier which the Teuton Allies have to defend. Previous to Roumania's interference, their ranks along the various frontiers were considerably attenuated, but today it looks as if territory would be yielded to the Allies by force of circumstances, which otherwise might have cost untold lives to win. The ring of steel around the central power is now virtually complete. There are only a few miles adjoining Switzerland, Holland and Denmark, which the Hunns have not to defend. Roumania affords Russia two gateways into Austria, one through Roumania herself and the other through the Danube river. It is too early yet to apprehend Russo Roumanian military tactics.

The report of the Massachusetts state tax commissioner for the current year records an average tax rate in 137 towns and cities of $18.20 per $1,000, or $1.82 per one hundred dollars. One community, Orleans, has a rate of only $4.50 per thousand and there are several others under $10.00, but a majority collect more than $30.00 per thousand. Mashpee, with a rate of $25.50 and Medway, $25.00, are the highest on the list. Boston's rate, $17.80, the same as that of Springfield, is 40 cents below the average. Considering that Boston is the largest city of the state the rate is not excessive. Large communities have many demands which do not fall on smaller centres, but small centres are very frequently ambitious for metropolitan conditions and undertake public expenditures far in excess of their means.

Of all the cranks, the crankiest is the chronic pessimist. He is always whining like a half starved dog with a tin can tied to his tail. When the sky is beautifully clear, he is positively certain that everything will dry up and there will be a scarcity. When the gentle rain begins to fall, he laments and is afraid the crops will be spoiled. He is always expecting some great calamity, misfortune of some kind, or being laid up with rheumatism. No matter how rosy the apples look or how juicy the pears, he is afraid that they are wormy at the core and can't be kept until Christmas; the country is going to the bow-wows and everybody is a dirty, dishonest rascal. His own peaceful and progressive town is all right but he is convinced that it will never improve very much. He himself enjoys excellent health at present, but he is sure that he won't live long—and he shouldn't. The world would be much happier without such cranks.

Sobering of Russia.

Undoubtedly prohibition of the vodka traffic has done much for Russia. In proof, the Metropolitan Bishops of the Russian Church, in a statement to the Czar concerning prohibition, say: "Fear of God has been awakened, respect for the laws and ordinances of the church has been strengthened. Faith and old Russian godliness have been awakened. Moral standards have been developed in the people's conscience. Peace and quiet have been established in the homes. In one word, the whole face of the Russian Empire is changed. The sense of morality among the peoples has arisen, and a serious and pure religious sentiment has been awakened in the face of the trials sent of God. It is difficult to enumerate all the blessings coming from this great historic act of the sobering of mighty Russia." Obviously, prohibition of vodka has enabled Russia to put his armies in the field, to provide munitions of war, to withstand the shock of defeat and to win victories which will give Russia a new place in world affairs. The success of what was a war experiment has been so tremendous that the prohibition has been made permanent, and Russia has been freed from a traffic everywhere recognized as a handicap to national development. In the prohibition on vodka visitors see the real reason for the Russian renascence. An American banker on his return from an important business trip to Russia epitomized this belief with the remark: "There is work, work work, everywhere—not a drop of drink." Students of world politics see this war measure as the salvation of Russia after the war. An enormous growth in savings bank deposits, a direct result of prohibition, will, it is believed, prove a safeguard against the revolution, predicted as certain to follow the return to their homes of millions of soldiers who have learned what world freedom means. A revolution there may, probably will be, but a peasant revolution, the outcome of official recognition that the time is ripe to extend the liberties of a people ready for liberty, and possessing a country of incalculable forests, mines and agricultural wealth.

Fall Painting

The fall of the year is a good time for people to paint their houses, and for two reasons. First, because it is a time when men are not so busy with regular farm work as they were in the spring, and second, because in the cooler weather paint takes the proper length of time to dry. It is also a well-recognized fact nowadays that a house well painted in the fall will withstand the destructive effects of winter snow and ice much better than the house which has not been recently painted. And so it is that each year in Canada, as well as in the United States, there is an increasing interest in fall as well as in spring painting. More of it is being done, particularly in the country districts.

We were interested this week to see the fine stock of house paints being shown by L. W. Sleep, the local agent of Brandram-Henderson, Limited, who make famous Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead and B.H. 'English Paint.' We were interested to hear that the latter product is guaranteed to contain 70 per cent. of pure white lead and 30 per cent. of pure zinc, thus combining in the proper proportions the two pigments which assure the most serviceable paint. The consumption of this paint in Canada has increased enormously in recent years.

It may be news to some of our readers to learn that the Brandram firm has been in business in England since the latter part of the eighteenth century. The Brandrams were well known throughout the world for nearly a century before Canada had made any progress as a manufacturing country, and very early they established a Canadian connection. It was, in a great measure, from this connection that the necessity arose from the great lead works in Montreal operated by Brandram-Henderson Limited. It is there that the supply of B. B. Genuine white Lead for Canada is now corroded and it is there also that B.H. 'English' Paint is made. Any of our readers who will call at the local agents for B.H. 'English' Paint will be given full information regarding prices and also an estimate of the quantity required for each yard of surface he may wish to paint.

The Yellow Sunday.

The recent 'Yellow day,' Sunday August 6th, 1916, when the sky was of a yellowish hue, has caused the recalling, by the American press, of other 'yellow days,' but there is nothing of record which equals that of May 19, 1780, regarding which Charles Sylvanus Hussey, of Nantucket, Mass., left the following description: "On the 19th of the 5th month, 1780, the morning opened with thunder and lightning, with the wind S. S. W. The sun shined out about 9 o'clock in the morning. About 9 o'clock it began to rain small 'showers,' and continued until about 10 o'clock. Then the rain ceased, and the clouds seemed to be gathering together in great thickness, and about one-half after ten there seemed to be a darkness gradually appear, and by eleven it was quite discovered to be something uncommon, and by 12 o'clock it was so dark that we could not see to dine, but were forced to have candles lit, as in the evening when the moon shone out not very bright. So the darkness continued for about two hours, with but little alteration from 12 to 2 o'clock.

"At length the darkness began gradually to go off, but left a heavy yellow which was all the time, inasmuch that silver buckles looked exactly like gold in our shoes. That yellow look continued till about one-half after three, when it went off pretty suddenly, and left the looks of Nature much as usual, but in the evening the wind had got to the north or eastward of it, when it smelled of sulphur, or something like being on fire. A darkness came on in the evening, inasmuch that we could not see any odds when our eyes were shut fast, or when they were open, notwithstanding that the moon was at its full. The darkness continued until after 12 o'clock at night, and then went off. The moon rose a minute after nine.

"It was to the astonishment and terror of almost every person. For my part I was not without thought that the last day was come. No one who did not see it can imagine how gloomy it looked."

"I leave this a memorandum for future generations to see how it was at this time, so that if the like was ever to be again, they may know it was no more than has been before."

For Potato Trade.

A license dated 10th August, 1916, has been granted by His Majesty the King, acting through the government of Canada, to the United Fruit Companies of Nova Scotia, Limited, authorizing the erection of a warehouse for the storage of potatoes and other perishable goods, on or adjacent to the east breakwater at Harbourville. The said warehouse is to be 100 feet in length by 24 feet in depth and at least 5 feet from the edge of the wharf.

The license is signed by the Deputy Minister of Marine or Canada, E. L. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice, affixes his name in the margin under the Royal Seal. The license is terminable at the pleasure of His Majesty, who, moreover, takes pains to state that he does not warrant his title to the privilege granted, and will not be liable for damages should the title prove defective, or in case of the cancellation of the license. These, of course, are matters of form.

Mr. John McMillan

Mr. J. McMillan, who has initiated many notable improvements since he became General Manager of the C.P.R. Telegraphs eighteen months ago, has just decided to inaugurate an important service entirely new to Canada over the hundred and ten thousand miles of wire under his immediate control, namely, the day letter which may now be sent between points in Canada on the Canadian Pacific system at a rate very much reduced as compared with the usual commercial rush telegram. Mr. McMillan is convinced that many of those who send telegrams would be quite satisfied if these arrived on the same day, whereas a proportion of the cost of the rush telegram is due to the cost of speedy delivery. The day letter of fifty words will be rated at one and a half times the cost of a regular rush message of ten words and can still bring an answer the same day, which is as quick as many people desire. There are sixteen hundred C.P.R. telegraph offices throughout Canada, at each of which the new service will be in force, so that this will be a Dominion-wide service stretching from Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, to Victoria, B.C. Messages will be taken in either French or English, code words not being permissible.

Mr. John McMillan owes his success to a genial and tactful disposition which made him one of the most popular C.P.R. officials in the West, where his work centred until he was called to the head office in Montreal last year. Although less than fifty years of age, he joined the C.P.R. as its inception, working on construction in 1855. After acting for a number of years as operator at Donald, B.C., he became Inspector of Telegraphs at Winnipeg in 1902, Assistant Superintendent in 1906, Superintendent at Calgary in 1907, General Superintendent at Winnipeg in 1914, and finally Manager of the whole telegraph system in March, 1915.

The fact that German newspapers are now permitted freely to discuss peace and terms upon which it may be secured, and the fact that the subject is receiving very general attention, is again arousing world speculation as to the German purpose. A desire on the part of the government to sound popular opinion appears to be the generally accepted theory as to the meaning of the press discussion.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

COMPULSORY SERVICE.

Canada Already Has a Law Requiring All to Serve.

The compilation of the National Register in Great Britain has given renewed impetus to the rumor that "conscription is coming" in the Old Country. In some quarters, too, it is stated that it is coming in Canada.

In Great Britain, there is no legal liability to military service at all. A measure imposing such liability would have to be enacted by Parliament were compulsory military service to become the rule.

In Canada, on the other hand, there would be no necessity for Parliament to enact any fresh legislation at all, should compulsory military service be deemed expedient by the Government of the day. For the legal liability to military service already exists in this country. It was imposed by the Militia Act.

Section 10 of that Act provides that "all the male inhabitants of Canada, of the age of eighteen years and upwards, and under sixty, not exempt or disqualified by law, and being British subjects, shall be liable to service in the Militia." And "service in the Militia" does not merely mean service in Canada alone. For section 69 of the same Act further provides that "the Governor in Council may place the Militia, any part thereof, on active service anywhere in Canada, and also beyond Canada, for the defence thereof, at any time when it appears advisable so to do, by reason of emergency." It would not, perhaps, have been possible to send the Canadian Militia to South Africa at the time of the Boer War, under the provisions of this section. For it could hardly have been contended that Canada required defending from the Boers, a pastoral people without ships, situated on another continent.

But with the present war, it altogether different. Canada is being defended in France and Flanders against Germany, a formidable maritime, as well as the most formidable military power, as surely as though the German fleet were bombarding Canadian coasts.

Moreover, not merely the male inhabitants of Canada between the ages of eighteen and sixty years, but all the male inhabitants, whatever age, are liable to military service, on the requisition of the Governor-General in the case of what is known as a "levée en masse." The expression, "levée en masse" means the taking up of arms by the people, in the case of invading troops. Thus, in the case of sudden invasion every male can be called on for the work of the nation.

The following persons are exempt from military service: Privy Counsellors; Justices of the Peace; Provincial Cabinet; deputy ministers of the Federal and Provincial Governments; clerks of all kinds; telegraph clerks in actual employment; members of the Federal and Provincial Legislatures; members of the police force and fire brigades; professors in colleges and universities; persons disabled by bodily or mental infirmity; the only son of a widow, being her only support; pilots and apprentices to pilots during the season of navigation, and persons averse, on religious grounds, from rendering military service.

The Gentle Art of Giving. Somewhere in the obscurity of the backwoods of British Columbia there lives a woman with a woolen bag of triot. Though thousands of miles away from the heart of the Empire, she has heard the clear, insistent bugle note which calls upon the nation to serve in the present need.

The following letter, written to Mr. Noel Marshall, Hon. Secretary of the Red Cross of Canada, speaks eloquently of the money to London.—Canadian Courier.

"Dear Sir,—A few days ago I got your letter telling me you had sold my brooch and would forward the money to the British Red Cross Society. I offer you my warmest and most grateful thanks for your kindness and for the trouble you have taken. I thought the brooch was worth $20, but I did not expect to get more than about half, and I am very thankful to your friend for buying it."

"I am sending you two more small trinkets—a pearl heart-shaped locket and a small amber brooch. They will be posted at the same time as this letter. I hope I am not encroaching too much on your kindness in asking you to sell them or get some one else to do so for the benefit of the British Red Cross, and to forward the money to London.—Canadian Courier."

Protecting Our Feathered Friends. In any discussion of the protection of bird life in Canada, considerable opposition has always been manifested by the agricultural interests. It is claimed that birds are responsible for great damage to maturing fruits, berries, tomatoes, etc., and, earlier in the season, to the seed planted in the ground. This is true to a certain extent. But, as in the study of any subject, there are two sides to the bird protection question. The damage to the fruit is visible to the eye of the grower, and he consequently waxes wrath.

The other side of the subject is one with which the agriculturist is less familiar. Should the birds place their daily food beside these hostile to them it would readily be seen to what extent they serve the interests of those who are dependent upon the products of the soil.

An analysis of the contents of the stomachs of thousands of birds has shown that 50 per cent. of the food consisted of insects and 10 per cent. of vegetable matter. Upwards of 5,000 insects have been found in the stomach of one bird. It has been estimated that the destruction by insects in Canada amounts to approximately fifty millions annually.—The Maritime Farmer.

Answered Prayer.

Private John W. Allison, of the 6th Durham Light Infantry, who is a Salvationist, recently told the following story:
"While on duty between Ypres and Hill 6 (the said twelve of us who were on advance guard duty were ordered to raid a farm-house and out buildings in the occupation of the enemy. This was about ten o'clock as near as I can give you.
The first advance line had swept past, and firing had ceased from the buildings, but we were approaching with great caution before making a rush at every door and window.
When we were about thirty or forty yards away we heard someone singing, and what do you think it was? 'When I Survey the Wondrous Cross'!
When the singing ceased we advanced about another fifteen yards and then made the rush. Every door was covered, and we found no difficulty in getting in. Imagine my feelings when in front of me I saw eight German soldiers on their knees, and one of them praying aloud. When we rushed up to them with fixed bayonets they did not move, but kept on praying.
Presently they ceased, sprang to attention with hands raised above their heads in token of surrender, and shouted 'Thank God for deliverance and answered prayer!' Then they struck up 'Jesus, Lover of My Soul'. I can tell you it was touching to see how relieved they seemed to be. When I told them I was a Salvationist they nearly ate me, they were that pleased, and the German who had been leading the singing said he, too, was a Salvationist. With others I was told to escort the men into our lines. So we marched off with them. They seemed so pleased to be in safe hands that they could not help shouting 'Thank God for deliverance!'
We handed them over, and when I gave the officer the report, he said, 'Take them into safety.' From that day to this I have not seen them, but I shall never forget the scene as long as I live.
From what could be gathered, the Germans had been told that the British rarely took prisoners, but killed all who fell into their hands, hence the great joy of the captured men at finding they were well treated. I can tell you it cheered me.—British War Cry."

Sugar Instead of Alcohol.

Pure candy ought to be marketed at cost by temperance organizations. It is a great foe to old King Alcohol. Let a man keep a box of candy in his desk or handy by his work bench, to nibble at when he is tired, and he won't crave a drink of beer or whisky—all he'll want is water.
The United States authorities ship tons of candy to the Philippines to be sold through the canteens to the soldiers. It satisfies the soldier's need of an easily digested, quickly available carbohydrate food, and so makes spirits unnecessary to his welfare. This is what a medical man has to say

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.
In perfect health we hardly realize that when health is failing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dizziness, sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.
To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutritious oil gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs, Scott's Emulsion Relieves Nervousness.
Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.

of slight in connection with temperance; and the same doctor when asked for directions for the use of whisky, said to keep the bottle tightly corked and not reach to the patient, and if a stimulant was wanted to administer half a teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in a few spoonfuls of cold water. It is very significant, this same writer remarks, that the free lunch counter presents nearly every variety of food but candy. It would seem that such places have little use for a food that kills the craving for alcohol.

Paying Calls in Russia.

Town life in Russia is as different as can be from "lille in the country districts. One curious custom is the after dinner call. People call on their friends after dinner at night or even after the theater, paying calls at midnight being quite the thing to do. The Russian dinner always begins with a sideboard course of cold meats, hors d'oeuvres etc.—that is to say, the dishes are laid out on the sideboard and the guests help themselves before sitting down to partake of the regular meal. It is from this custom that we derive the term "service a la russe" as applied to dinners at which the carving is done for the sideboard.—London Answers.

Do not suffer another day with these troubles. Do not let them grow worse. Do not let them ruin your life. Do not let them ruin your health. Do not let them ruin your happiness. Do not let them ruin your peace of mind. Do not let them ruin your future. Do not let them ruin your life. Do not let them ruin your health. Do not let them ruin your happiness. Do not let them ruin your peace of mind. Do not let them ruin your future. Do not let them ruin your life.

How Marbles are Made.

All the boys like marbles, but who knows how they are made or where they come from?
"Marbles," says the Chicago Herald, "are made in great quantities in Saxony for export to India, China and the United States. A hard, calcareous stone is used. This is broken into square blocks, and about 150 of these blocks are thrown into a mill, in which is a flat slab of stone with numerous concentric furrows on its face. A block of oak of the same diameter as the stone, a part of which rests on the small stones, is made to revolve on the slab while water flows upon it. The whole process requires but a quarter of an hour, and one mill can turn out 2,000 marbles a week. The mills at Oberstein, on the Nahe, in Germany, manufacture marbles and agates especially for the American market."
So marbles are made by going through the mill and getting the rough corners rubbed off the edges smoothed down, and a mass ground into a globular form. And boys are made into men in much the same way, by being run through life's school which is their mill. Till their rough corners and edges disappear, and they become rounded and smoother and fit for use in the world. Poverty, adversity, hard times, and hard fare, all have their uses in this world, to round men and smooth them, and polish them, and fit them for usefulness here and for the glory hereafter.—Selected.

Got Rid of Bronchitis.

Mr. W. H. Walker, Calmar, Iowa, writes: "I am pleased to say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Lungs and Turpentine has done much good to myself, wife and children. My eldest girl 7 years, had bronchitis and the doctor who attended her did not seem to do much good. We got Chase's Syrup of Lungs and Turpentine for her and she soon got well. We always keep this medicine in the house now ready for use and find that it soon cures coughs and colds."

Current Cynicism.

The book of life is illustrated in black and white, dreams are the color supplement.
Most women start a love affair by having a secret with a man and end by having secrets from him.
Plenty of men want a girl to be their very own, but they don't want a wife of their very own.
For a social career a degree is a much higher recommendation than any scholastic degree.
"Pain of 20 years' standing removed in one night."—(Advertisement.) Who could blame them for lying after that?
A man does not leave off loving a woman without a reason, and if the reason isn't good she is probably pretty.
By all means be mysterious as long as your mystery is impenetrable. A mystery solved becomes a scandal, and no one likes a scandal.
Love is not only blind, but deaf and dumb, in the case of a woman who is a missionary spirit foolishly persists in marrying a man to reform him.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of J. C. Watson
An Englishman went into a restaurant in a New England town and was served for his first course with a delicacy unknown to him. So he asked the waiter what it was, and the waiter replied:
"It's bean soup, sir."
Upon this the Englishman rejoined in high dudgeon, "I don't care what it's been; I want to know what it is!"

The Boy Who Will be in Demand.

One of the first qualities in a workman is the quality of seeing what needs to be done and doing it without being told. One of the rarest in a servant in the house is the doing of things that need to be done without being told. Young men working their way through college are invaluable if they have this quality. A tool is left out on the lawn; there is a nail on the fence; there is a lock broken off the door; there is a window pane gone somewhere. The boy who tends to these things because they need attending to, is not only a great help to his employer, but other things being equal, is going to be in demand when he gets out into the great world, and it is to attention to little things and the habit of observation, which sees what needs to be done and then does it which makes a man's usefulness to his employer. There will always be a position for such persons. Their will always be a call to come higher. It is in one sense a small thing to do these things without orders, but it is the doing of them that make great captains, great engineers, great artists, great workers in any department and it is the absence of this quality that makes incompetent men and women who will always have to live under the domination of petty orders and men who do nothing but what they are told to do. It is this quality which makes volunteers in church work, and the invaluable men and women who do not have to be stood over. They are the joy of the pastor; they are the ones who do not have to be watched.

A WORTH WHILE HOLIDAY

crossed the mountains fifty-five years ago—the rest having been killed shortly afterwards by Indians.
For many miles after passing the great divide, the Canadian Pacific Railway follows the river valley of the Columbia, which at first remains one of the small rolling hills happy with his hoop, as he dashes down the village street; then of the staid man whose strength conquers all difficulties, and as the river widens and flows along in all its majesty, of the stately old man, satisfied that he has worked out life's problems well. This river and its immediate environment abound in scenic splendor. The snow-crowned eminences of the Rockies and Cascade ranges with their rivulets and glaciers, lakes as clear as crystal and swiftly flowing mountain streams abounding in gamay trout and other fish, the dense forests and fastnesses wherein roam the larger game, all fascinate and invite the sportsman and mountain lover; and are within easy reach of a metropolitan city. Along its banks can be seen magnificent cataraacts, cliffs, which tower from dizzy heights and are clad with verdure from base to summit; deep and shady canyons and gorges. Here it is smooth and untroubled with no perceptible motion. A little farther along and it is still waving content to the barriers to its uninterrupted flow. It rushes to the party submerged rocks to be dashed away to foam. It is ceaseless in its attack, unrelenting in its endeavor and irresistible to the last.
Seventy miles east from Vancouver, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and picturesquely situated at the foot of the beautiful Harrison Lake is a delightful drive of four or five miles from the station of Agassiz, are the famous Harrison Hot Springs. Since the "early days of mountain engineering, this resort has been the mecca for both health and pleasure seekers—the efficacy of the waters proving a boon to many who are troubled with rheumatism. There are many beautiful walks overlooking the lake, and the waters are bordered with ferns and flowers; mountainous rugged paths invite the amateur mountain climber, good fisherman and hunter in season, and boating unsurpassed anywhere. INVASION OF WOMEN

BEFORE the war there were five million, the highest women wage earners in Great Britain; to-day there are said to be over ten million. Five million more have enlisted for active service, and a woman has taken the place of every able-bodied man who might have been engaged in peaceful occupations. England has never seen so busy a manufacturing and industrial country as she is in this, but this would never have been possible if women had not stepped into the breach.
In Canada there is not the same supply of surplus available women, so that in this respect Canada has not experienced as great a revolution in industrial life, but many new occupations are being opened to Canadian women, and the demand for women workers in factories and in the great industrial life of the railways is steadily on the increase. If Sir Robert Borden is to secure his 600,000 Canadian soldiers, 100,000 women must temporarily step into the shoes of men so that the latter may be released for service, as the limit of available man power almost to be reached. Women are already working along side of men in sackings and hauling of grain at the Great Lakes elevators in the Canadian Pacific yards, and shops where they are clearing cars, in the telegraph service and in many clerical positions, either to hold by men. They are doing in some places as Stating Agents of satisfaction to their employers. But Canadians who visit England are surprised to find women in elevators, attend the baggage checkers, chauffeurs, and train conductors, women as red tops to many who are surprised to find women as baggage checkers, women as baggage checkers and train conductors.

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BLANCH JEFFERSON, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.
Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure the defects with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.
