"A Roman Catholic."

(From the Antigonish Casket.)

A Catholic in conversation with a Protestant minister a couple of weeks ago had occasion to use the words "We Catholics." He was at once interrupted by the minister and told to say instead "We Roman Catholics." Would it be right to comply with the request? When may the word Roman be used as descriptive of the Church or of Catholics, and when must it be excluded? These are practical questions of much more importance than many imagine.

The word Roman, as understood by Catholics in speaking of the Church, means that Rome is the centre of Catholic unity. It expresses a quality or property of the Church, just as the word holy or Apostolic expresses a quality or property of the Church. But that does not justify anyone in demanding that one or other of these words be always included in the proper name or title of the Church. The proper name or title is

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH. The Church herself officially recognizes no other title. In the Congress of the Powers of Europe at Vienna, 1815, Cardinal Consalvi objected to the joint use of the terms Roman-Catholic, "but was willing that they should be separately applied to the Church which is Roman by reason of its necessary dependence on the See of Rome, and Catholic on account of its universal diffusion." Of the many qualifying words which denote essential properties of the Church, one had to be chosen to serve as her proper name. The one so chosen is the word Catholic, and when we speak of Catholics, or Protestants, there can be no misunderstanding as to who are indicated. The words Roman and Catholic therefore agree in this, that they both express essential qualities of the Church; and they differ in this, that Catholic has been officially adopted by the Church to be her proper name or title, while Roman has never been so adopted. The adoption of Catholic as a title was first made in the Apostles' Creed. It is then perfectly right to use such expressions as the Roman Church, or the Roman Catholic Church, or the holy Catholic Church, or the Apostolic Catholic Church, when we wish to emphasize the qualities denoted by these qualifying words; but it is wrong to use any of these expressions simply as the name of the Church. That name is recognized by the world at large to be the Catholic Church. On the continent of Europe one never hears people speak of Roman Catholics or the Roman Catholic Church. In English-speaking countries there is to some extent a confusion of ideas and of language, which would disappear at once if people confined the word Roman to its connection to its proper use as a qualifying word instead of using it as a name or title.

The English language is Teutonic in origin and properties, but that is no reason why we should speak of it as the Teutonic English language. The Spanish language is Latin as to some of its properties, but that is no reason why we should always speak of her as the Roman Catholic Church. There is no other Church on earth that ever claims to be exclusively the one named in the Apostles' Creed. On the other hand there is grave reason for insisting that the word Roman be confined strictly to its legitimate use as a qualifying word. Protestants use it in a sense of their own. They use it to imply that the Church of which Rome is the centre is not the only Catholic Church, and some of them nowadays call themselves Catholics, adding that they are not Roman Catholics. Now they wish to take another step in advance and make us call ourselves always Roman Catholics, so as to leave them more room for their pet title of Anglo-Catholics. The most effective way to meet such presumption is the method of passive resistance. We are in possession, and if we always call ourselves Catholics and nothing else, their efforts to fasten any other name upon us will be fruitless. We have no right to call ourselves Roman Catholics unless the Church herself sanctions the name. Much less have we any right to permit non-Catholics to select a name for us. Strictly speaking we should have no right to call ourselves Catholics even, if the Church had not adopted the name. We cannot call ourselves Apostolics, for instance, although the Church is as really Apostolic as she is Catholic. A word which expresses a quality of the Church is not therefore applicable to each member and thing in the Church. It becomes thus took a prominent part, through the Jesuits and Recollets, in spreading the Gospel among the Indians of the present United States long before England displayed any activity in that direction; but Spain was in the field many years before France. It was not until 1611, three years after Champlain started the colony at Quebec, that Fathers Biard and Masse, the earliest members of the Jesuits to cross the Atlantic under the auspices of France, appeared in the new world. Long before that time, however, Spain's missionaries had traversed the region from the Atlantic coast of Florida westward to the Mississippi, northward to the Chesapeake, and from the Gulf of California to Kansas. The work which Spain's missionaries performed amid perils from the wild beasts and wilder men of the savage wastes of the new world two centuries and over before the United States was founded forms one of the most thrilling pages in American history. — S. Death of Our Oldest Bishop.

(Standard and Times.)

Burlington, Vt., November 4.—Right Rev. Louis de Goebriand, Bishop of this diocese, died last evening.

Bishop De Goebriand was the oldest Bishop in the United States. He was born at St. Urban, France, on August 4, 1816, and had therefore passed his eighty-third year. His early studies were made at Quimper and Point Orix; afterwards he was sent to the seminary at Quimper and also to the seminary of St. Sulpice in Paris. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1840 in Paris. He was then but 24 years of age, but carrying out a long cherished idea, he resolved to devote himself to the American missions.

Before the close of the year in which he was ordained he had taken passage on a steamer and was heading for the United States. He repaired to Cincinnati and placed himself at the service of Bishop Purcell, the then head of the diocese. From 1840 until 1847 he was engaged in missionary duties in the diocese, frequently going as far as Cleveland, Columbus and Fort Wayne. In the early part of 1847, when the Diocese of Cleveland was established, Father De Goebriand went thither and accepted the post of vicar general from the hands of Bishop Reppes. He became at the same time rector of the Cathedral in the episcopal city of Cleveland.

MADE BISHOP OF BURLINGTON. He remained in Cleveland as rector and vicar general for six years, discharging his duties in a manner alike acceptable to Bishop, priests and people. At the end of that time the Diocese of Burlington, in the State of Vermont, was established and Father De Goebriand was made its first Bishop. He was solemnly consecrated October 30, 1848.

Only those intimately acquainted with the Church in New England can form any adequate conception of the great work performed by Bishop De Goebriand. Temporary houses of worship were erected and priests and Sisters increased. Quite a number of seminaries of Europe. The Bishop established hospitals, erected schools and convents and many charitable institutions. Another of the prelate's first works was the erection of the beautiful Gothic Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception at Burlington. From the date of his consecration until the present day the history of the diocese has been one of progress.

During his administration the number of churches in the diocese increased from 8 to 71 and the number of Catholics nearly doubled.

A VISIT TO ROME. Early in the present decade the Bishop journeyed to Rome and visited Jerusalem and the Holy Land. He was affectionately received by Pope Leo XIII. and brought back with him sweet memories of that great Pontiff. One result of his trip is especially interesting to the Catholics of Vermont as well as those of the United States. It is a priceless relic of St. Peter, the first of the Popes. To use the Bishop's own words: "Through the kindness and authority of Cardinal Perron, of late protector of the Basilica Sancti Petri and Vinculi, I obtained to be forged for the Cathedral of Burlington a fac-simile, full size, of the original chains of St. Peter. Each link of our chain has been made to touch each corresponding link of the original chains of the great Apostle. "Our chain was also placed on the tomb of St. Peter in Rome and in the Holy Land on the altar of the Church of Mount Carmel at Nazareth on the altar of the Annunciation, and at Jerusalem, at Gethsemane, on the place of the sweating of blood and also on the altar of the scourging, the place of the crucifixion and the grave of our Lord. We were told by the clergy of St. Peter that there were only four other chains of this size in the world. Another favor still greater. It is known that in the course of ages some links of the chain of St. Peter were given away by Popes to persons well deserving of the Church. Whilst I was in Rome I found that there were a few of these links in the treasury of relics of one of the basilicas of the city. After much inquiry and labor I had the pleasure of hearing Leo XIII. say to me: "Your request is granted. Tell Cardinal R. to detach one of the links and give it to you with authentic." So I have brought to Burlington one of the links of that chain which St. Peter dragged nine months in the Mamertine prison."

AN AUTHOR OF ABILITY. Bishop De Goebriand was an author of no mean ability. He had been writing in various ways for forty years, and if all his private works were collected they would make several large sized volumes. His style was plain, simple and unaffected and always interesting. It should be remembered that all of this was done in the spare moments that could be snatched from important and often times laborious pastoral duties. His latest work was "The Teaching of the Nations." This volume briefly but comprehensively outlines the lives of each of the Apostles and gives besides a summary of the origin and history of the Christian religion.

Sir Louis' Campaign.

As intimated in our last issue, the Grit cause had grown so desperate that the prospect of gaining the elections in Belfast and Murray Harbor had grown so hopeless that Sir Louis Davies, Minister of Marine and Fisheries had to be sent for to make a tour of the districts in question, in the hope of stemming the adverse current and propping up the tottering Local Government.

When Sir Louis Davies and his friends were in opposition, they proclaimed that Local and Dominion politics should be kept separate. Now they threaten to deprive the people of the public works justly due them unless they support a Provincial Government in accord with the administration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Legislature of Manitoba has been dissolved and a general election is to be held on December 7th. Mr. Greenway seems to have put off the elections as long as possible, and to have given the least available time for the campaign.

AT OTTAWA.

GENERAL ELECTION PORTENDED UNTIL MANITOBA AND ONTARIO ARE HEARD FROM.—NOW SIR LOUIS YIELDS TO THE UNITED STATES, AND THEN PLAYS THE BULLY AT HOME.—A SMALL MINISTERIAL PANIC.—THE REFORMERS DO NOT STRIKE OIL.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—After long halting and vacillating, Sir Louis has at last decided to yield to the United States, and then to play the bully at home. A small ministerial panic is also reported.

charge of returning officer Farr, of West Huron fame. "Keep your man low," having kindly made up the machine and the returning officer's name, as the machine stole West, Sir Wilfrid claims his property, to follow the precedent by the late Sir John A. Macdonald. The same paper which explained that an enquiry was to be made into the West, Sir John A. Macdonald, as Mr. Preston had done "over the hills and far away" to the Canadas to see about possible immigrants. Having thus placed another continent between himself and the coast, Mr. Preston may be expected to give notice of new bill.

LITTLE SIR LOUIS. When the minister of marine returned from his Alaska boundary negotiations, he told how he had beard ambassadors and "talked up" to combine and other committees of "the continent to which we belong." Afterward came the announcement that the temporary arrangement made by Sir Louis gave the United States control of the whole coast line of the inlet and all the ports and landing places by which access could be obtained to the Yukon.

Butter maintains its former price in this market, though there has been an easing off in Montreal. New Zealand is putting forth great exertions to send more and a better quality of butter to the London market than ever before, and this may soon affect Montreal and eventually affect Nova Scotia. New dairy butter, sales in Halifax at 15 cents and 10 cents creamery prints at 23 cents and tabs at 20 cents.

SIR LOUIS IN A SMALLER ROLE. But at present the minister of marine is not engaged in a real contest, seeing that the United States Government is confirmed in the meantime in the possession of all its claims, and also a little harder to get an award in our favor, after this occasion by constant Canadian opposition, seeing that the United States Government is confirmed in the meantime in the possession of all its claims, and also a little harder to get an award in our favor, after this occasion by constant Canadian opposition.

The Markets.

CHARLOTTETOWN. Twenty-five cents a bushel is the price paid by buyers in this city for oats, while prices for export bring only 10 cents. The local butter market has of late been somewhat short, which has, of course, advanced prices. Prime is going at 18 cents to 22 cents, tub rating from 14 cents to 18 cents, according to quality. The price of eggs ranges from 14 cents to 15 cents. The supply will be short from this out, and as the markets abroad are not very active, the price will not likely advance much.

HALIFAX. Potatoes are now selling at 26 cents to 28 cents per bushel, ex-vessel, which is considerably lower than prevailed at the corresponding season last year. Whether figures will remain low is a question. Potatoes are not coming forward from P. E. Island very freely, and freights are scarce. Nova Scotia Potatoes sell at 32 cents.

ONE LAXA-LIVER PILL every night for thirty days makes a complete cure for biliousness and constipation. That is, just 25 cents to be cured.

THE WAR!

Misfortune steadily crosses British employment of armored trains, the fascinations for which has given the Boers their first and latest victories. On this last occasion the British seem to have walked into a deliberate trap. An armored train, having on board a half company of the Durban volunteers and a half company of the Dublin Fusiliers, steamed to Chivley early this morning. On its return it was shelled by artillery of the Boers, placed in four positions. Two trucks in front of the engine left the rails, toppling over. While the train was thus helpless, the Durban and Dublin regiments, who were in the rear, were shelled by the Boers, and the engine and tender steamed back. During this juncture Lieut. Winston Churchill of the 4th Hussars, newspaper correspondent of the London Morning Post and New York World, and grandson of the late Leonard Stanley of New York, displayed much courage, as also did the driver and fireman. It is feared the Durban and Dublin regiments were killed or wounded. A Red Cross party has gone out to the Natal Mercury, describing the engagements.

The enemy apparently opened fire with a Maxim and two nine pounders, getting the range accurately. The fire was so severe that telegraph wires and poles were destroyed. Their guns were hidden behind boulders. The Dublin and volunteers fighting an unequal battle, threw down the enemy back; but the fierceness of the rifle and gun fire was too much for the brave little party, which was weakened at the outset by the overturning of the trucks.

THE LONDON STANDARD'S CORRESPONDENT at Ladysmith, in a despatch to his paper, dated Nov. 17th, says that the arrival of the British relief column at Ectorous has completely modified the plans of the Boers. Gen. Buller has now moved to the southwest of Ladysmith, in order, it is presumed, to prevent the junction of the relief force with the Ladysmith garrison. In the meantime a despatch concerning the ability of troops in Ladysmith to hold out until relieved. There is plenty of food in the town and the supply of ammunition is abundant.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE. THANK YOU ALL THE SAME. The officials of the War Office, London, having considered the offer of Sir Thomas Lipton of his steam yacht Erin for use as a hospital ship have decided that she is not suitable for the purpose.

WAR IN NEW GUINEA. A despatch of the 20th in the London Daily Mail from Sydney, N. S. W., says that a disastrous civil war has broken out in British possession of New Guinea. Eleven villages having been obliterated with heavy slaughter to the inhabitants.

WIRE FENCE SAVED HIM. A despatch of the 18th from Ladysmith says that in a skirmish, Lieut. Brooke was cut off but escaped. One ball passed under his leg as he mounted. A second killed his horse, and the third killed his horse. Lieut. Brooke then started on foot, but was captured by the Boers, who were posted, and would certainly have been killed and killed him but for an intervening wire fence. The bullets fell thick around the lieutenant as he climbed this fence, but he escaped unscathed.

PLAGUE IN NEW YORK. The British steamer J. W. Taylor, which arrived at New York a few days ago from Santos, Brazil, has been detained at quarantine under suspicion of having bubonic plague among the crew. One man died at sea, November 7th, with very suspicious symptoms. Captain Waters and the ship, sook are both in quarantine, showing indications of bubonic swellings. The sick seamen will be transferred to Swineburn Island for treatment. All of the crew will be sent to Hoffman Island for observation. The quarantine is fully equipped with every appliance to meet and combat this disease.

The cup is to be presented in recognition of Mr. McLeod's valuable services in defence of Canada's cup. Mr. McLeod is a Prince Edward Islander.

THE advance in the prices of manufactured goods, and the decrease in the prices of all farm products, must as an exchange remarks, (quoted elsewhere) make the farmers feel that they have been "badly fooled." The Liberals have failed to carry out their promise to make Canada a better country to live in, as they have failed in every other promise.

SIR William Dawson of Montreal is dead. Sir William was a native of Pictou, N. S., and was 79 years of age at the time of his death. He had been principal of McGill University, Montreal, for nearly forty years. Under his principalship McGill rapidly acquired fame. He was an eminent scientist and the author of a number of valuable scientific works.

THE annual St. Andrew's Dinner, under the auspices of the Caledonian Club of Pictou, was held on Thursday evening, the 20th inst. Those in charge of the arrangements are putting forth every effort to make the affair a success. Tickets may be had from the following committee: Jas. Paton, Alex. McDonald, R. McMillan, John A. McDonald, John McPhee and D. B. McJannet, Secretary.

Rev. William Hogan, of Portland Oregon, and son of Mr. M. P. Hogan of this city, who is here on a brief visit to his parents, preached in St. Dunstan's Cathedral on Sunday last. His discourse, delivered in plain and emphatic language, referred in a general way to the excellence of Catholic Christianity and to the stupendous good that Christ has done for us all. He referred in eloquent terms to the new Cathedral, pointing out that it was highly creditable to the Catholics of Charlottetown to erect such a magnificent mansion to serve as a dwelling place for our dear Lord.

THE schooner Safe Guide, Capt. Kenny, of Sheet Harbor, whilst on the way from Capraud to Salmon River, N. S., sprang a leak about three miles off St. Peter's Island on Thursday morning, and sank within twenty minutes. Capt. Kenny, his son, and his brother, constituting the crew, took to their boat, and were five hours trying to make the land and would probably have perished were it not for the timely arrival of the steamer Jacques Cartier, which picked them up, and brought them to Charlottetown. The schooner had a full cargo of produce shipped by Wright Bros. of Capraud, besides some produce and live stock belonging to the captain, all of which was lost. The cargo was insured. The schooner was owned by Capt. Kenny, and was not insured.

THE Moncton Times says: The farmers who were promised and believed that they would get better prices for their goods as a result of liberal government, must feel themselves badly fooled. The prices of manufactured goods have advanced from 25 to 100 per cent, in the last two years, while farm produce has seldom been quoted so low. In the Charlottetown market last week oats were selling at 27 cents per bushel, potatoes at 15 cents and pork at an average of 5 cents per lb. But for the abundant crops of the war, and the establishment of butter and cheese and butter factories in pursuance of the policy inaugurated by the Conservatives, the position of the farmer would be bad enough.

C. M. B. A. Rev. Dr. McMillan, Grand Deputy for King's County, paid an official visit to Branch 981, Souris, at the regular meeting. He found the Branch in excellent condition and delivered a splendid address setting forth the advantages to be derived from membership in the association, and exhorted those present to persevere in their efforts for the advancement of the good society. Branch 981 has initiated twelve new members since January, and several others are on the way. This is a good showing and indicates that the members of this Branch are fully alive to the benefits of the C. M. B. A.

Rev. Gerard de Finance, who has been attached to the diocese of Charlottetown for the past seventeen years, has returned to his native France, where he expects to reside in future. For the past fourteen years Father de Finance has been in charge of a large parish in the Magdalen Islands. The Rev. gentleman is a native Toulonaise, France, and his former parish priest in the diocese of Versailles, and has offered Father de Finance a parish in that diocese, which he has declined to accept. Although he regrets leaving this diocese where he has so many friends he has a desire to return to France, so that he may be close to his aged parents who now reside in the vicinity of Paris. He left here on Monday morning last for New York, where he embarks for Havre. Bon voyage.

My little girl, 7 years old, used to grind her teeth at night and had pain in her stomach. I gave her Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup and it acted promptly and with good effect.

IN NOVEMBER.

In heavy folds the mourning symbols droop From stately domes and from each shadowed shrine, And 'tween the tapers in their guard of love With faint and fitful lustre seem to shine.

But look, and 'mid the shadows dark that fall, The stately lamp, like morning star, In gleaming near the altar, and its rays Lead on and upward to the light afar.

A Victim to the Seal of Confession.

A True Story, by Rev. Joseph Spillman, S. J.

Published with the permission of Mr. J. H. Warden, publisher and bookseller, St. Louis, Mo.

"Certainly, I will see what can be done for them. Do not lose heart, think of our Lord, my dear friends, who for our sins was counted amongst the ungodly. You have now to carry the cross as he did."

"The cross is a heavy one. Pray for me, and ask the prayers of others, that I may not fall beneath this weight," replied the prisoner, as his visitor rose to take leave. He then begged him to hear his confession, which Father Regent did very willingly. What an alleviation it would have been to the unhappy priest if he could have at least in confession told everything to his experienced Spiritual Father, and ask him for counsel. But not even was he free to mention a circumstance or ask a question which could indirectly reveal what Loser had said in confession. His lips were sealed; he was obliged to bear the whole burden alone.

The warden now came to intimate that it was time for the visitor to withdraw. At the same time he laid his breviary on the table and took the prisoner's letters. The Director of the Seminary accordingly bade farewell, after again exhorting him to keep up his courage. His visit had been much consolation to the unfortunate priest, who on being left alone, took up the Breviary and turned to the office for St. John Nepomucene's day.

CHAPTER XIV.

IN THE RUE DE LA COLOMBE.

When Mrs. Montmoulin, who had been carried out of the market place into a neighboring house, recovered consciousness, she was almost beside herself with grief. Some compassionate persons tried to comfort her, others contented themselves with staring at her; so all attempts at consolation she could only reply: "My son has died in custody of the police and he a priest! And she cooed at her face with her wrinkled hands in shame and sorrow, while her granddaughter stood by sobbing piteously.

Now do be a little more charitable in your judgment, replied the first speaker; "remember nothing is proved against the man yet." "It is, take my word for it, otherwise they would not have put the handcuffs on his wrists."

"She doesn't seem to feel it so very much, after all," said another. "She does not even cry, the child has far more feeling."

"Come grandmother, let us go home," said the girl, trying to rouse the old lady, who seemed quite prostrated by the blow she had received. In fact, when she made an attempt to stand up, she fell back on her chair helplessly and hopelessly.

A cab now stopped at the door, and a policeman who had been standing outside all the time, entered the house, saying: "She does not seem well able to walk, so I have got a conveyance for her."

"It really is not necessary. She lives only a few steps off, in the next street," was the answer. "We know that. But she is not going home just yet, the Superintendent of police has a few questions to put to her first," the man replied. "Oh, she is to be arrested! she is an accomplice in her son's crime!" the bystanders ejaculated, as they fell back in consternation.

When Mrs. Montmoulin understood what was going on, fresh energy seemed to come to her. "If my son is said to be guilty, no wonder that people should have a poor opinion of me," she said. "Are you going to hand me up too?"

"That will not be necessary at present," the constable replied, as he assisted the old lady to get into the cab. Turning to Julia, who hung on to her dress, she said: "Go home, child, and tell your mother either I shall soon be back, or she will have to come to me in prison. Who knows but they will end by taking you and poor little Charles up too." So saying Mrs. Montmoulin entered the cab, the policeman took his seat opposite to her, closed the door and they drove off. The child stood crying and looking after the vehicle, until one of the neighbors took her by the hand and led her home.

will be done, were he ten times a priest.

"Look, here comes the old lady's granddaughter," exclaimed a kind-hearted neighbor. "What is to become of those children if first their grandmother and then their mother is put in prison?"

"They must go to the almshouse, or they will be placed in an orphanage like my children," said another of the bystanders. "They are better off than here."

"The child pass," the former speaker rejoined. "Don't fret, Julia, if they take your mother away, you and Charles shall come to my place. One or two more do not make much difference."

"Yes, sir, but my mother's name is Jardiner. Please let me pass, I have something to tell my mother." "Wait a moment. So you are Miss Jardiner, and the clergyman at Ste. Victoire is your uncle?"

"Yes, sir, and the bad people say he has done something very dreadful, and they have taken him to prison, and poor grandmother too. And it is all a lie; my uncle is a priest and a very holy man."

"No doubt it is all a lie, I think so too. I dare say he often gave you nice presents?" "Yes, he gave me a prayerbook and a number of beautiful pictures with gold and lace edges."

"There now, what a kind uncle you have. Did he not give your grandmother any money yesterday?" "Yes, grandmother brought a lot of money home yesterday that she had got from uncle. A good priest lady gave it to him; we all said our beads for her last night."

"Look there now, what pious people you all are! Cannot you tell me how much money your grandmother brought home yesterday?" "I do not know how much, but it was a great deal. Grandmother said she had not had so much money in the house for twenty years."

"Bless me! And what did she do with it all?" "She went in the afternoon to old Mr. Levy and paid him what she owed him. I do not know what else she did with it."

Fighting the Fires.

Hard life the plucky fireman lead; out in all sorts of weather, losing sleep, catching cold and starting their backs.

Doan's Kidney Pills are helping hundreds of such to health. Mr. John Robinson, chief of the fire department, Providence, Ont., says:

"Prior to taking these pills I had kidney trouble which caused severe pain in the small of my back and in both sides. I had a tired feeling and never seemed to be able to get rested. However, I commenced the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking three boxes am completely cured. I have now no backache or urinary trouble, and the tired feeling is completely gone. In fact, I am well and strong."

cried Mas. Jardiner, springing to her feet. "By whom? My God, what a calamity!" "By whom? Do you mean to say you do not know by whom?" "Merciful Heavens! It cannot be that my brother is suspected."

"You have soon hit upon the right person," answered the detective coldly regarding the unhappy woman, who wrung her hands in grief and horror. As soon as the first outbreak of sorrow was over, and she resumed her seat, her tears still flowing, he continued: "Now my good lady, I quite believe there was no complicity on your part in this deed, and that you did not even know how your mother had come by the money she brought from Ste. Victoire yesterday. But I require you to inform me at once what has become of the remainder of the sum."

"If you do this, I will not be hard on you; if you do not, I shall be obliged to have you taken to the police station. I give you two minutes for reflection."

"I want no time for reflection," sobbed the poor woman. "It is all a terrible mistake! The mere idea that my brother could be guilty of such a crime, and that my mother would lend herself to such deceit is outrageous! No one who knew them would ever believe it of them."

"I shall only be too glad, if you and your relatives succeed in clearing yourselves. Meanwhile I regret to say that I am compelled to take you into custody."

"Whatever will become of my poor children?" (To be continued.)

B. B. B. Banishes Blemishes.

There is no other remedy equal to B. B. B. for making the blood pure, rich and red, and the skin clear and smooth.

Here's proof from Bertha J. Tozer, North Esk, N.B. "I have had pimples on my face for three years, and about two years ago I took an attack of nervousness. I got so bad I could not sleep and lost my appetite and was very weak and miserable. I was taking different kinds of medicines but seemed to be getting worse. A friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, I did so, taking in all four bottles. As a result I sleep well, have a good appetite, my face is free from pimples, my skin clear and my health is in every way perfect."

MISCELLANEOUS.

A MATTER OF CHOICE. They do a heap o' talkin' 'Bout the man behind the gun; They're always singin' o' the deeds This man has bravely done. We're all proud of this hero, Who bears the battle's brunt— But I'd rather be behind the gun Than standin' out in front.

I'd rather squint along the sights Than to be squinted at; I'd rather see the breech-block Than the muzzle—tell you that! More fun in bein' hunter Than the object of the hunt— So I'd rather be behind the gun Than dodgin' round in front.

In fact to put it plainer, I wouldn't like to be Out where the other fightin' men Could get a shot at me; And just about the moment The shootin' was begun, I'd like to be ten miles behind! The man behind the gun!

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL

will generally correct this difficulty. If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk. If you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

Pain Ceased First Day. Mrs. Mary O'Dell, 262 Dunn Ave., Toronto, says: She used Millburn's Rheumatic Pills for a severe attack of Rheumatism and she got relief from pain after taking the remedy one day.

Hep, hep to the right Companies form for fight! Cock your guns, Ye patriot sons, An' slay 'em left and right! Roam, ye patriot's roam Over the salt sea foam, An' the men who make The war will shake Hands with you an' stay at home!

Getting overheated and catching cold often brings on Cramps and Colic of the worst kind. A few doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry give relief from pain and quickly cure the worst cases.

The only kind of a nail that a girl Can drive and hit it plumb!" The cymbal began, and the chorus howled, "Is the one that grows on her thumb!"

TO TAKE OUT MACHINE GREASE— Cold water, a teaspoonful of ammonia and soap, will take out machine grease where other means would not answer on account of colors running.

Minard's Liniment Cures Cough in Cows.

The Crow of Croup.

It strikes terror to a mother's heart to have her child wake up at night with a croupy cough. Child can scarcely speak, can hardly breathe—seems to be choking. There is no time for delay—apply hot poultices to the throat and upper part of the chest, and give Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup—nothing like it for giving relief. It will cure a child when nothing else will. Mrs. Wm. Young, Frome, Ont., says: "One year ago my little boy had a severe attack of inflammation of the lungs and croup, which left a bad wheeze in his chest. I was advised to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which we did, and it cured him completely. Now we always keep this remedy in the house, as it cures all others for the several kinds of coughs and colds."

WEAK, PAINT FLEETING.

Serious Conditions that Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can Readily Cure. One of the indications of serious heart trouble is the sensation of weakness or faintness that comes on at times. Sometimes it is simply a dizzy feeling that passes off, or it may be a state of consciousness with hands and feet cold and countenance perfectly pale. These symptoms indicate a weakened heart. They are unmistakable evidence of the engine of life breaking down.

Now there's only one reliable remedy for restoring strength and vitality to weakened hearts and relieving all the distressing symptoms. It is Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. The case of Mrs. A. Stratton, Fredericton, N.B., amply proves this. Here is her story: "I suffered very much from an impoverished condition of the blood, coupled with extreme nervousness. A dizzy sensation on arising quickly or coming down stairs, often troubled me, and my breath was so short that I could not walk up stairs. The least exertion caused my heart to flutter and palpitate violently, and I sometimes felt a smothering sensation on going to sleep. I doctored back and forth for my weakness, until I tried Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I can say that they have cured me wonderfully. Sometimes my face and arms would swell and puff, but all these troubles speedily yielded to the restoring influences of Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I am now strong and well. I did not use them long until I regained the pleasing of healthful, refreshing sleep and it will always be a pleasure to me to recommend them to others."
