"BEAVER" FLOUR

Makes the True Home-Made Bread Your Mother Used to Make

Canadian women are the most attractive in the world because they are the most womanly. They are home bodies. Their interests are centred in their homes. They are proud of their skill in bread-making. They know that with "Beaver" Flour, they can make bread that equals anything turned out by the most skilful chefs in the world.

One of the first things noticed by travellers in Canada is the fact that "all you women know how to make good bread."

If they knew all the facts, they would add "all your best bread makers use "BEAVER" FLOUR.

The reason is quite simple. "Beaver" Flour is a blended flour. It is really two flours in one. It contains the quality, nutriment and flavor of Ontario Fall wheat and the strength of Manitoba Spring wheat. "Beaver" Flour is a perfectly balanced flour. It makes baking easy because it is always the same in strength, quality and flavor. You can make more bread to the barrel than with any other flour—big, brown, nutty, delicious loaves that will delight both the eye and the palate. Perhaps you have never tried "Beaver" Flour. Your grocer has it. Try it. You can't make the best pastry without it.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The Return of Frank Whitney.

She reasoned that whenever a woman does that which she desires to keep secret from her husband, she does that which is wrong; and to her, secrecy meant guilt. She firmly believed that the midnight meeting beneath the old willow was a lover's meeting, and the journey to the farm was, in Jane's opinion, only another guilty escapade.

Major Grant had seen his friend at the South give up his life and silently depart for the eternal home. He had not tarried to "mourn with those that mourn," but had hastened home immediately after the funeral was over. His beautiful wife welcomed him home with a childish show of delight with which no shadow of her weary trials mingled. She was apparently the gayest of the gay, and the most devoted wife in all the world.

Grant Whitney was cool and unconcerned whenever they met. He seemed to have forgotten the incident of the day when Major Grant and Mrs. Whitney had left Laurel Glade for a short time. No one could be more respectful than he was to Mrs. Grant.

ARE YOU

ONE OF THE HUNDREDS THAT LEAN UPON OTHERS, OR ARE YOU SUFFICIENT UNTO YOURSELF?

It takes energy, brain-power, concentration to make a livelihood.

Vitality—and the power to keep it, must be considered.

To be a Tower of Strength, you must have staunch nerves, with brain and body working in harmony.

Scott's Emulsion

is the best nerve, brain and body-builder. It is pure, wholesome, invigorating.

ALL DRUGGISTS

He assumed a brotherly freedom of department, which she accepted as becoming them both, and thus the time hurried along until the following autumn.

It was quite early in October, before the harvests were gathered, that Major Grant and his nephew were out hunting one fine morning, when a tall bronzed-faced man leaped over the wall near which they were "sighting" partridges, and cheerily called out:

"Throw down your guns! Give me a word of welcome, won't you?"

"Frank by George!" exclaimed Grant Whitney, throwing down his gun and going to meet his brother.

Major Grant was equally moved, and he quite forgot his fifty-five years when he ran like a boy to meet his favorite nephew, Frank Whitney.

"They tell me that both you and my brother have turned Benedict since I went away!" laughed Frank, after the first salutations were over.

"Very true, very true," returned his uncle. "Grant has a beautiful wife, and my Evangeline is a perfect little fairy! I wrote you about her, Frank?"

"Yes, indeed, uncle. I have about fifty pages of letters describing the charming young girl whom you married. Impatience to meet your lovely wife was one of the motives inducing me to come home before my term expired. Are the ladies well?"

"Quite well, I thank you. You will meet them at lunch; and that reminds me that we must hurry to be home in season," replied Major Grant.

"We will not say anything to the ladies about our visitor, uncle. Let them meet him at the table before they know anything about his coming."

"Certainly, Grant. Give them a surprise," said the major.

Grant Whitney wished to be present at the meeting of his wife and his brother, for he wished to judge for himself if any lingering regard for Frank yet lived in Belle's heart. Therefore, he made this proposition.

The ladies were both upstairs when their husbands returned from the hunt.

Mrs. Grant happened to be looking out from a window when they approached the house, and her heart told her that the stranger was her old lover and husband, Frank Whitney, whom she had supposed to be dead.

She gazed upon him unspoken, until he entered the house, and then she sat down to think. First of all she asked her heart "Do I love him yet?" But her heart refused to answer, and she quickly decided that love was dead.

Next came the question, "Do I hate him?" Still her heart refused to move.

"There must be perfect indifference to my old love," she murmured, "or I could not think of meeting him so calmly, Jane!" she called.

Jane made her appearance. "I wish to appear as well as you and nature won't allow me to appear to-day. I leave myself in your hands. Beautify me."

"Oh, my lady," cried Jane, clapping her hands. "I am all delight! Your complexion is like the blended lilac and rose for freshness to-day. Sit here in the sunlight. There is nothing so good to brighten one's complexion as sitting in the sun. There, now, sit still while I dress your hair. Stay a moment. This blue is not your best shade. I will fetch the violet silk and ribbons to match. Oh, my lady, you shall be very splendid!"

The violet silk was donned, and Mrs. Grant surrendered her hair to the skilful fingers of her maid, who knew well how to arrange each shining coil of golden hair, until the whole seemed but a crown of burnished gold.

Chafed and Aching Feet

Make walking a misery to many who do not know of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

How far can you walk without suffering in one way or another from discomfort to your feet?

Modern footwear is a prison house and the result is chafed, scalded, inflamed feet.

You can get a world of comfort by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment when your feet give you trouble. This treatment is so delightfully soothing and healing that helps you at once.

Unlike unsanitary powders which clog the pores, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes the skin soft and smooth and prevents corns and bunions.

When the feet are chafed, scalded, itching and tired, it takes out the stinging and burning and its benefits are ooth quick and lasting.

This ointment also affords relief and cure for chilblains and frost bites. Whenever there is itching of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with most satisfactory results. 50 cts. a box; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The dainty toilet was completed at last, and Jane cried:

"My lady! Never in all my life have I seen you look so charming. Oh, what will Major Grant say when he sees you looking so lovely?"

"That will do, Jane. You may give me the little Indian fan and then go," answered Mrs. Grant absently.

The perfumed fan was placed in her hands, and Jane went out of the dressing room.

Mrs. Grant sat down to collect her thoughts and nerve her heart for this meeting. Not for the world would she have Frank Whitney know that she was his early love, his wife—plain little Goldie.

While she was yet thinking of all this the bell sounded for lunch, and a moment after Major Grant entered the room.

His noble face lighted up with a glow of pride in the beautiful woman who rose gracefully to meet him; but he could not understand the emotion of her heart prompting her to lean her royal head upon his shoulder, and in a childish, clinging way to whisper:

"You are so strong, and I am so weak, let me always find safety from the world in your protection."

He could not look into her heart and see all the whirl of doubt and dread, remorse and fear, making sad commotion there; but he understood that his beautiful Evangeline claimed his protection from some fancied evil, and folding his arms tenderly about her replied:

"While I live, Evangeline, no harm shall come to you!"

For a moment there was silence between them.

He was lifting his heart to Heaven in thankfulness for this beautiful sunbeam, sent to cheer and brighten his life; she was thinking how strangely eventful her life had been and how different from what her husband had ever imagined.

When they had first talked of marriage, Mrs. Grant had solemnly promised her soul that no future action of secrecy or deception should lead to a further need of concealment, and her conscience reproved her that she had so soon broken that vow.

The calm, deep voice of her husband aroused her from the depths of painful thought. He was saying:

"Come, my love, they are waiting for us in the parlor. Let us go down."

She accepted his proffered arm, and they walked slowly down the stairs.

Mrs. Whitney had been busy all the morning with attending to the childish wants of her son. Christy was not feeling very well, and in consequence was fretful and exacting.

Mrs. Whitney was a very indulgent mother, and she had neglected to arrange her toilet to appear presentable at the lunch table. When the bell rang she had hastily torn herself from the screaming Christy, and entering her own room, stood before a mirror, exclaiming:

"What a fright!"

She brushed her curls a little, smoothed her plain collar, re-arranged the silken cord at the waist of her morning robe, and hastened down to the parlor.

She did not notice that the voice in conversation with her husband was not Major Grant's until her hand had turned the knob of the door. Then she became conscious of the presence of a stranger.

She saw her husband arise and come to meet her, and heard say:

"This is my wife, Frank. Belle, this is my only brother."

She heard a deep, rich voice reply:

"Mrs. Whitney and I are old friends. I am delighted to meet you here, Belle—Mrs. Whitney."

And though it all she was conscious of a staggering sensation of her own failure to meet the expectations of her husband, and the mortifying consciousness of her slatternly dress was the only prevention of a fainting fit.

With a crimson flush upon her face, Mrs. Whitney seated herself beside her husband, and attempted an apology for her disordered dress.

Grant Whitney, who could never disguise his feelings, sneered at her apology, and threw more uncomfortable people than Frank Whitney and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Whitney could not have been found at that hour.

While they were sitting in an embarrassing silence the door opened and Major Grant came in with his young wife upon his arm. He introduced her to his nephew with a feeling of pride, and was intensely chagrined when that young gentleman merely bowed over the extended hand of Mrs. Grant, and then walked away to the window, where he remained for several moments.

"Come, Frank, we will escort you to the table," said Mr. Grant coldly.

He had expected that Frank would show, by his eyes and voice, how truly he appreciated the beauty and grace of the woman who had been chosen from all others to be the mistress of Laurel Glade and the heart of its owner. Instead of this a cold how had been the only acknowledgment of Major Grant's taste or his wife's charms, and the high-strung Major resented it.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

There is a certain subject on which I have often thought with no satisfactory results. I bring it up to-day in the hope that some of my readers may have chanced to consider the matter with more success.

The subject is

"wearing" people. I suppose you know the kind of people I mean—those well-meaning, often extremely kind-hearted, sometimes highly interesting and entertaining folks, who, despite all their good qualities, somehow seem to wear upon you and tire and inspire you with a sense of relief at their departure.

A girl wrote me about one of these people—a relative of hers. "My cousin is a wonderfully bright girl and keeps us laughing all the time she is here; and yet somehow after she is gone, I always feel less strained and tired."

We sometimes have a specimen of this class in our home. She is the most kind-hearted and well-intentioned person possible. She does everything in her power for us and yet we are all worn out if she stays more than a week or two.

Now, what I want to know and can't seem to think out is this—first, what is it that makes wearing people wear and hard to live with when they try so hard to please, and secondly, how can they get over it, or can't they?

Is it something that can be cured or is it some incurable misfortune like freckles, sandy eyebrows or a pug nose that simply has to be endured?

I am especially keen on this topic just now because a wearing person who—contrary to most of her species—actually realizes that she is wearing, has applied to me for aid.

"I've thought it all out," she says, "and I've decided that I am what people call 'wearing.' Now, can't you tell me just what I do that makes me tire and fret people so, for truly I don't mean to. And can't you please show me some way to get over it? I'll do anything on earth."

Now what am I going to tell this poor lady?

It seems to me that the thing that makes wearing people wearing is that they are keyed up all the time and that they have a tendency to screw everyone with whom they come into contact up to the same tense key and thus tire them out.

Wherefore I should say that the only possible cure would be to try to un-screw themselves—if that can be done.

I am afraid that this is entirely inadequate advice.

Corrections, contributions and suggestions solicited.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Household Notes.

Honey is said to be a good substitute for cod-liver oil.

White of egg poured over a burn will give quick relief.

A weak solution of salt and water will brighten mattings.

Milk should not be covered tightly. Use muslin or cheesecloths.

Worn-out lace curtains cut into squares, make good dishcloths.

A dash of vinegar is an essential touch to a sharpened salad dressing.

Every cellar should be thoroughly whitewashed at least once a year.

When the skin seems too dry, use less soap and more good cold cream.

If a child's stomach is acid, lime water should be added to the milk.

Sponges are great germ collectors. They should be frequently scalded.

Water should never be used to clean gilt frames. Use a dry, soft cloth.

Turpentine, naphtha, benzine and kerosene are all deadly poison to moths.

To take out iodine stains, sponge as quickly as possible with pure alcohol. Newspapers are better than anything else for stuffing out bows and sleeves.

Silver may be cleaned and brightened by letting stand half an hour in sour milk.

The best fluid to use in washing muslin dresses of delicate color is rice water.

White wood may be washed and

SECURED PROMPT RELIEF

From Severe Neuralgia of Eight Years' Standing.

Mr. James Tait, of Westmeath, Ont., writes:

"I have been a dreadful sufferer for the past eight years. The doctors said I had neuralgia of the muscles of my back; the pain was so great it would draw me all up. I tried different doctors, but could find no cure until I used Egyptian Liniment, which was highly recommended by Mr. Fraser, of this place. It had the desired effect, and I secured prompt relief and have had no relapse in over 15 months. I only used one bottle, and can now load my own produce, press hay, etc., myself. Egyptian Liniment has made my old days brighter, and I trust others may be benefited through the publication of this letter."

You will find it splendid for rheumatism, sciatica, and all bruises, sprains, burns and frost-bites. 63¢ at all druggists. Free sample on request. Douglas & Co., Napanee, Ont.

And can't you please show me way to get over it? I'd do anything on earth."

What am I going to tell this lady? It seems to me that the thing that is wearing people wearing is, that are keyed up all the time and they have a tendency to screw people with whom they come into contact up to the same tense key, and tire them out.

Therefore I should say that the only cure would be to try to un-key themselves—if that can be done, I am afraid that this is entirely inadvisable.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

TRY THE SUNLIGHT WAY.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

My neighbour is a millionaire, whose brow is seamed with lines of care. His eyes are sad, his hair is gray, he seems in trouble everyday. He's always brooding, deep and hard, while I go prancing round my yard as happy as the bumble bees that sting men with their snickersneezes. I've noticed that as men grow rich, accumulating bones and sich, their care-free manner disappears, they seem distraught by doubts and fears. I've never seen a rich man yet who didn't walk the floor and fret. The more he likes the golden flood, the more you'll find him sweating blood. And that is why you hear me cry that worldly riches come too high. The simple joys are far the best—the joys by workmen possessed, the joys that do not cost a pile—they are the ones that make you smile. I fuss around my shack all day and chase the sore-eyed wolf away, and carry down my spavined plug (which doesn't trotting, so "chug-chug") and paint the pump and milk the cow, and pack in kindling for the frau, and have more solid pleasure there than any worried millionaire.

ONE TRIP MORE.—The S. S. Stephano will make one trip more to this port after going to New York, and then will make three trips down to the West Indies carrying large numbers of passengers. Her state rooms have been all taken up months in advance for each trip.

AN ENJOYABLE DANCE.—The dance held at Smithville last night in aid of the funds of the C. C. C. and given by the Misses Furlong, was largely attended. Miss K. Furlong gave some excellent piano music, and the affair was thoroughly enjoyed. Refreshments were served in the manner for which this famous hostelry is noted. The dance concluded this morning.

BROUGHT GIRL BURGLAR.—Yesterday by the express Const. J. Synonds brought here from Newtown the girl to whom we alluded a few days ago who was arrested for burglarizing a store there. She forced an entrance to the place at an early hour of the morning and stole $50 in cash as well as some goods. She was brought before Magistrate Miffen, pleaded guilty, and was given 9 months. The cash and goods were secured and sent back to the owner.

OPENING NEW FACTORY.—The new clothing factory is now finished and the employees will begin work there on Monday next. To celebrate the event a ball will be held in the new building to-night and many guests will be present. This building is undoubtedly one of the finest of its kind in St. John's, and is a credit not alone to the owners but to the skilled contractors, Messrs. Kennedy Bros., who created it.

The Bonavista Railway

Throne, and have the pleasure in extending to you our Governor, to Lady Williams and to the distinguished visitors, who honour us by their presence here to-day a most hearty welcome to our historic town.

We are confident that you will rejoice with us in the opening of the railway, and in all that the operation of this Branch will mean to us, and we trust that when you return to the city, you will be able to say that if anything was lacking of a social nature in our reception, it was amply atoned for by the hearty goodwill evinced toward you by the people of Bonavista.

John, Roper, S.M., Augustus G. Bayly, Rural Dean, S. Bennett, Meth. Minister, J. Murphy, D.D., J. W. Lawrence, J. T. McArthur, J. L. Crewe, John Lockyer, P. James, John S. Rowse, A. Mackinson, James Brown, J.P., Edward Harding, Esq., S.A., H. H. Abbott, B. E. Forbes, M.D., A. Rutherford, M.D., N. Ryan, J.P., Levi Templeman, H. J. Swyers, J. Clarence Macdonald, M.D., J. Whiffen, H. G. Miffen, A. G. Reader, Edgar Jones, Ph. D., R. Brown, Heber House.

A word as to this Address is due. It was beautifully written; the text, and surrounding scroll work of the cover were artistic, the work of Miss Lu Roper, daughter of Magistrate Roper; whilst the body of the address was a specimen of clever and beautiful penmanship by Mr. Michael Hartary.

Arrangements had been made by the Bonavista Committee to drive the visitors through the town before night in carriages so as to get a good view of this large and prosperous place. It was too late when the train arrived and that part of the programme had to be abandoned. After the proceedings in the Fishermen's Hall His Excellency, Lady Williams, the Premier, Lady Morris and the other St. John's visitors and all those who had come down from points along the Branch were invited to the Orange Hall where a beautiful supply of refreshments was given by the ladies. Bonavista did itself honour and the credit is mainly due to the ladies of the town.

The next function was the sending off of the first passenger train by His Excellency the Governor. This event took place at 9.15. The Governor having said a few words took the Conductor's lantern and at the signal given by Conductor Maher, waved the lantern when the train started forward amidst the cheering of those assembled. An excellent display of sky rockets was then set off by Mr. P. J. Hanley.

At 11 o'clock the special train with the St. John's visitors left for home, the train reaching the city at 1.15 p.m. At Holyrood in a public spot on the side of a hill the train was stopped and the party lined up for a photo by Messrs. W. Parsons, Bert. Holloway and J. C. Parsons.

The Governor then at the request of the guests presented Mr. Reid with the subjoined address:

W. D. Reid, Esq.,
President, Reid-Nad. Co.
Dear Sir,

We, who have partaken of your generous hospitality on the occasion of the opening of the Bonavista Branch Railway, take this opportunity of thus briefly expressing our very cordial appreciation and thanks; and of wishing our host every happiness and prosperity.

George H. Bolt, J. Withers, John Harvey, Levi Curtis, S. Rees, W. C. Job, P. T. McGrath, Isabel Morris, Edith H. Job, Ethel L. Harvey, May Padgett, W. Woodford, J. A. Paddon, Sara B. Ayre, Stella M. Bishop, G. C. Cashin, Eliza M. Bolt, R. Watson, Flora L. Robinson, Catherine Morrison, D. Morrison, R. K. Bishop, John B. Ayre, Laura J. Bennett, Annie M. Kent, Bessie Fraser, Mary Keegan, Bessie Herder, Minnie Woodford, Cliff. H. Emerson, Ethel N. Munn, H. G. Harvey, F. L. Peterson, K. G. Ryan, W. R. Warren, W. Veitch, M. P. Cahsin, John R. Bennett, Wm. Woodford, J. Robertson, S. D. Blandford, J. Hanley, H. W. LeMessurier, W. J. Edgar, W. J. Herder, Charles Emerson, Wm. A. Mann, P. E. Moore, P. Templeman, E. Templeman, P. K. Devine, J. C. Parsons, Thomas Ryan, Alex. A. Parsons, T. A. Hall, Wilfred F. Grenfell, J. Alex. Robinson, E. P. Morris, Alan Goodridge, Wm. Miller, J. Gunn, D. M. McParlane, P. K. McLeod, D. Forsyth, P. G. Ledingham, O. G. Maund, E. M. Robertson, A. Vincent, A. Mercer, P. Hanley, W. Parsons, R. P. Holloway, D. W. Prowse, J. M. Kent, J. M. Allan, J. A. W. Howard, Gale, Jesse Williams, Ralph Williams, Governor.

His Excellency warmly endorsed the sentiments expressed in the address. Mr. W. D. Reid could not possibly do more to make the guests comfortable and the trip a pleasant one. He was ably assisted in this by Mr. J. W. N. Johnstone. There was a bountiful supply of everything required on such a journey, and not only were the 150 guests from the city entertained but the 400 who had joined the trains at points between Brooklyn and Bonavista. The stewards under Mr. Robt. Allison had a busy time and a hard time but they did their work well. Mr. Stephen Hissett, the sub-conductor of being the conductor on the occasion and was ably assisted by Mr. Blackler.

THE SOLWAY HERE.—The S. S. Solway, Capt. Taylor, reached here last night from the Islands, and will sail to-morrow on her last trip to the Labrador. She has been running the past two weeks between Bay of Islands and Sydney with freight which had accumulated at the latter port.

AN ENGINEERS' UNION.—The engineers of the sealing and other ships held a meeting on Wednesday night in the British Hall and discussed the advisability of forming a Union. Mr. J. Forbes was moved to the chair, and after briefly reviewing matters relating to the profession, it was decided to form a Union, and a committee was appointed to draw up rules, etc., to be submitted at another meeting to be held shortly.

Oil on Troubled Waters
Judging from to-day's cable reports of the reception of the Chancellor's speech, there appears to be a section of the German people disgusted that the German Government did not use the mail fist more in the Moroccan crisis. The Secretary for the Colonies refused to defend the Agreement in the Reichstag and resigned. In defence of the Government the Chancellor said, "We are not living in the Homeric Age, where threats and boasts were thought necessary"; and also "Germany is strong enough to dispense with such shield rattling and will know how to draw the sword when the time comes." It would appear that the Chancellor was on the defensive and that he is "up against" much hostility for concluding the agreement. In his Guildhall speech Premier Asquith appears to have been diplomatic and soothing and making an attempt to throw oil on troubled waters.

Police Court News.
To-day's docket was large. Three drunks were each fined $1 or 3 days, and a fourth $1.50 or 3 days. A drunk who appeared for the 4th time this season was fined $5 or 14 days. A drunk who stood at the bar for the 6th time this year was released on promising to take the pledge. A drunk and disorderly for the 4th time was fined $4 or 14 days, and another drunk who made his second appearance was fined $2 or 7 days. Pat. Hansen, former inmate of the Poor Asylum, who has no home and was up for vagrancy, was sent down for 6 months. Quite a number of civil cases were disposed of in the C. D. Court.

Bowring's Boats.
The Prospero left Nipper's Harbor at 2:45 a.m. to-day and is due here Sunday.
The s.s. Portia, taking a full freight, sailed west at noon to-day. Her passengers were Mr. Hunston, Miss Coombs, Miss Power, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. O'Neill, Miss O'Neill, Mr. Evans, Mrs. Evans, Miss Costello, Mrs. Broders, Miss Doyle, Debra J. J. Doyle, W. Ingraham, C. Meade, Mr. Parsons, Mr. Fiedle, Miss Harvey, A. Power, E. Johnson, Miss Johnson and 54 steerage.

SEEKING MORE MEN.
Though large numbers of men are now at work on Bell Island, both companies are seeking more help. There will be a big output of ore during the next few weeks and all who go to the island seeking employment get it quickly.

INTER-COLLEGIATE FOOTBALL.
The inter-collegiate football match between the Methodists and St. Bon's was postponed yesterday afternoon owing to wet weather. It will take place at 3:15 this afternoon and will draw a large gathering of spectators.

WINTER CRUISES.
From Messrs. Harvey & Co. we have received a folder containing some pretty views and also descriptions of the cruises from New York to Bermuda, Nassau, Havana and Colon, in which the Stephano will engage the coming winter.

INVERMORE'S PASSENGERS.
The Invermore arrived at Port aux Basques this morning on time bringing the following passengers in saloon: James Murray, Miss G. Broder, H. Hicks, H. T. Small, P. B. Kniff, J. Watt, W. H. Hibbs, R. J. Allen, S. M. Jones, C. D. Stoneford, C. G. Ross, H. L. Montjim, Miss F. Cowan, A. J. Thompson, A. R. McIsaac, L. C. Cameron and G. Martin.

Down on Agreement.

Special to Evening Telegram.
BERLIN, To-day.
The Chancellor vigorously defended the Franco-German Moroccan Agreement in his speech in the Reichstag. The Crown Prince and many notables listened to the speech and there was a noticeable lack of enthusiasm among them. No doubt exists that the country generally is much dissatisfied with Germany's bargain. It is likely that the Chancellor and the Foreign Minister will be forced ultimately to resign. Strained relations are reported to exist between the Kaiser and his sons as the result of the Agreement. The latter are said to have the intention of protesting to their father against the agreement. The attention of spectators in the galleries during and after the speech of Van Hertog (Clerical) and Hoydebram (Conservative) was attracted by the attitude of the Crown Prince. He openly applauded the speech. "Our peaceful professions are regarded abroad as a sign of weakness," and when Hoydebram spoke of the "German sword which alone can guarantee German prestige."

$20.00 in Gold Given Away!

The great "QUEEN LINIMENT COMPETITION" opens every Monday and Child in Newfoundland. On the 1st of March, 1912, will be given away to the Four or more successful winners of this competition the sum of $20.00 in Gold.
We have on exhibition in the window of our Medical Hall, Theatre Hill, a rectangular box having an inside space as follows: length, 8 inches; breadth, 4 inches; height, 3 inches. This box is filled with Antiphlogistic Pills of about the size of a pea.
The competition is to guess as near as possible the number of pills contained in the box. The person guessing the exact number, or the nearest number of Pills in the box, will receive for the first prize, $10.00; second prize, $5.00; third and fourth prizes, $2.50 each.
In the event of two or more persons guessing the same number, the amount of the prize will be proportionately divided amongst the successful winners. That rule will apply to all prize winners. Every person purchasing a bottle of our "QUEEN OF LINIMENTS," whether in the city or outport towns, and mailing us the outside green wrapper of bottle, with the name of guesser, together with their name and address will have a chance of winning the grand prize.
If outport competitors who are unable to obtain this Liniment in their own will mail us Twenty Cents in Stamps, together with number of guesser, name and address in full, we will forward post paid by return mail a bottle of our "QUEEN OF LINIMENTS" but with the outside wrapper removed and retained by us, as a pledge of purchase, and a due record of that fact. The person forwarding us the greatest number of the outside green wrappers of bottle together with their name and address will not only receive an additional prize of $5.00, but will have a chance of winning some other prizes as well, if they send a guessing number with each accompanying wrapper.
This competition will close on the 31st day of March, 1912, at 12 o'clock noon, estimates after that date and our will not be considered.
On the same date the box will be opened, by two reliable and competent judges who will carefully count the number of Pills, and make the awards to the successful competitors.
"STAFFORD'S QUEEN OF LINIMENTS" is one of the most perfect and penetrating Liniments that can be purchased in Newfoundland, and ought to be in every household. Once used always used.

Funny Little Welsh Town Where Sexes Have Changed Places. There is in Pembrokeshire, Wales, a little town called Llanguwm, where it were not for an exceedingly strange custom, would never in the wide world attract any more attention than any other community of little stone cottages and old world fisherfolk. ANOTHER BIG HOUSE.

In their reproduction of the drama "Across the Desert" the Klark-Urban Co. last night drew another concourse of people to the T. A. Theatre. This stirring drama, the scene of which is laid on the western prairies, is one of the best we have seen the company put forward since their coming here. The work of Messrs. Klark, Schrieber, Urban, Kenneth and Field was of the usual excellent nature. Mr. Pendexter starred in his personation of Wango, the Indian, and Billy Webb, as the Chinaman was superb. The ladies gave splendid exhibitions of talent, and the specialties were exceptionally pleasing. Robert's trapeze performance showed some particularly daring feats, and in the musical specialty Mr. Urban earned much applause by playing "Rock" in "The Cradle of the Deaf" on a bassoon. "A Woman's Sacrifice" will be played to-night.

The very successful Bazaar held in the British Hall the past 3 days and nights netted exactly $1,500. The first day yielded $568.76; the second, $499.91, and the third, $231.33. Enough has been donated to clear all expenses, so that the affair nets $1,500. Mrs. Charles Lester who supervised the table made a record, taking $178, the best ever done before being $100.

Sidewalk Sketches.

THE HOTEL CLERK.

The hotel clerk is a tight-fitting imitation of a feudal lord of the year 116, B.C. With one withering glance he can make the ordinary citizen look like Jacks up after the third passing of a clock. When a graduate bell hop can shrivel a meek drummer until his vest would pinch a lap dog. Aside from giving the stuttering rables to travelling salesmen who ask for the key to the sample room, the hotel clerk's principal occupation consists in running a decayed pen through a jardinerie of B. B. shot and examining the fillings in his front teeth with a pocket mirror. Taken as a class, the hotel clerk has set more people's teeth on edge than all the rhubarb pills since the first period when the locusts landed on Pharaoh's physique, and caused him to emit some pleasing Hebrew swear words. Nobody ever asked the hotel clerk the rate for a room with bath and got away with his savoir faire or his religion. The man who can wring kee water and a crash towel out of a clerk who was brought up in a humble home, where they had apple pie and cider for breakfast, and can make his room without shrinking to the size of a parlor match, ought to be decorated with medals from earlarks to Oxford. The day is coming when you can walk up to a hotel clerk and eat out of his unoccupied hand, but our advice is not to sit up and wait for it.

From British Columbia

Mr. J. J. Swain, a native of Caplin Bay, arrived from British Columbia a couple of days ago to visit his mother and sister. Mrs. Nugent, wife of Const. John Nugent. Mr. Swain, who is a carpenter by trade, left here in 1888 and was in British Columbia, mostly at Victoria, 23 years. He has been a successful man, was 10 years in the fire department in Victoria, and for several years also was carpentry inspector at the Christy Industrial School for Indians. He was also in business for himself. He speaks well of the country as a place for young men to settle and says most of the Newfoundlanders there are making good. He remains here with his little boy for a few months and will return to British Columbia.

This is a remarkably low price for oil of this quality, and we invite all interested to come and inspect it. Compound Syrup of Canadian Spruce is selling well these days. The wet and changeable weather has induced many cases of coughs and colds, and people who have found this excellent Compound successful in relieving their chest and throat troubles have been telling their friends of its remarkable qualities, and thus the news spreads. If you have a cough or cold try a bottle. Price 25c.

The Bonavista Railway

Opened by His Excellency Governor Williams.

Wednesday, the 8th inst., was a memorable day in Bonavista, when His Excellency opened the new railway. The people entered into the spirit of the occasion wherever addressed by His Excellency. The special train with the Governor and party left the city at 11:15 a.m. and reached Charleville about 1:30 in the morning. The train remained there till 8:30, when the journey was resumed. In the daylight in order that the party might be able to view the beautiful scenery through which the road passes. There are veritable beauty spots at Random Sound, Shoal Harbor and George's Brook, which were all new to visitors. The new line after leaving Random Sound at Trinity Bay runs to the north, then in Goose Bay, which is one of the most beautiful sections of the country. The scenery of the upper reach of the Arm is unequalled by anything in the Colony. A run of 15 miles will take the traveller from the main line on the Trinity Bay side at Shoal Harbor to the north, where the line runs down the Goose Bay shore through agricultural land, passes behind James' Cove and on to the remarkable fjord. There is about twelve miles in length and not more than an average of half a mile in breadth. The water in the ship run in the middle of the Bay is 900 fathoms deep, and herring and codfish may be caught there in the middle of the winter. In February huts have been let down through the ice and all the herring required for local consumption have been caught. The next place of call on the shore of South-west Bay is the settlement of Royalton, a prosperous little settlement and the home of the Princeps, who are well known for their hospitality. The houses were decorated with bunting, and the people turned out here in large numbers to welcome His Excellency and see the first passenger train. Our friends in Royalton, Mr. Oulovoy, who is 80 years of age, walked all the way over from Sweet Bay to see the first train. He was the pioneer of Sweet Bay in the early days of settlement, and in meeting Mr. Rev. Monsignor Velch, who was parish priest of the district 25 years ago, when there was no priest in the district, he declared to Your Excellency our unserving devotion to our great and noble King.

We have heard and read that Your Excellency takes it as your duty to discover all that pertains to the welfare, comfort and progress of this Colony and its Dependencies, over which it is your pleasure and duty to declare Your Majesty that you shall rule. We now have personal evidence, in your presence amongst us, of that which we had previously known only by report. The opening up of this part of the country by what is known as the Bonavista Branch Railway, and the possibilities of which our forefathers never dreamed in the wildest flights of their imagination, and which the present generation will only gradually realize. Your Excellency is about to pass through land which, for richness and fertility, we have never equalled, but not surpassed in this Colony. Lack of knowledge of modern methods of farming, and dearth of facilities for raising produce, have so far combined to militate against agriculture being engaged in on an up to date and extensive scale. The advent of this branch railway will at once annihilate the latter difficulty, and in the natural order of things, improvement in methods will follow, thus encouraging our fishermen to make far more advantageous use of the land which is theirs to cultivate than his hitherto been done.

In passing through Trinity East and neighbourhood the railway opens up a thickly populated district, in which, owing to the peculiar geographical conformation, the separate settlements are so hidden from view that Your Excellency will hardly realize that within a radius of sixty miles from this station there resides a thriving population of 8,500 people. These up to the present have had to be content with a minimum in the shape of travelling and other facilities, compatible with the advance of civilization in other parts of the Colony. Your Excellency's time is valuable. We therefore can say no more, save that we pray that this visit will be only the first of many that we may be honoured with by the representative of our King.

We wish Your Excellency God speed, and tender the hope that you and your suite may have an entirely enjoyable trip on this, to us, most memorable occasion. We are, Your Excellency's humble and obedient servants, Richard Fowling, M. Lawlor, John P. Fowling, Alonzo Fowling, C. T. Fitzgerald, W. Tolman, John Jones, sr., Richard Jones.

At Port Rexton His Excellency and the party were given a great reception. This town is particularly prosperous. Our earnest hope is that the opening of this branch line will be followed by increased trade and a general development of that section of the country through which the line passes.

We would extend to Your Excellency and suite our respectful good wishes upon the occasion of such an auspicious event in the history of Newfoundland. We are, Your Excellency's humble and obedient servants, G. R. Lill, J.P. Srip, Magistrate; E. J. Ryan, J.P. Samuel Hussey, J.P. Arthur E. White, M.D., Joseph Morris, John Green, James Wilson, M.L. Deputation.

His Excellency replied to the address in suitable terms. Cheers were given, guns fired and spirited airs were played by the Highlanders' pipe and drum band, viz. Sergt. Drummer Miller, Lance-Corps. Gunn and McLeod, Pipers McFarlane, Maundier, Ledingham and Mercer, ably assisted by Drummers Forsythe and Robertson. They created a great sensation all along the line owing to the novelty of the music and their costume. At Trinity East, the next station along the line, the people presented the following address:—

TRINITY EAST. To His Excellency Sir Ralph Champey Williams, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander in Chief in and over the Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies. May it Please Your Excellency—We, your humble servants, residing in Trinity East, feel it a pleasure as duty is bounden to offer to you, representing as you do, our Sovereign Lord King George, the warmest welcome we have at our disposal. For us this is an unprecedented occasion. For the first time in history we find ourselves enabled to address—our King's representative in person, and we seize the opportunity to identify ourselves with His Majesty's loving and loyal subjects throughout the vast British Empire, in declaring to Your Excellency our unserving devotion to our great and noble King.

We have heard and read that Your Excellency takes it as your duty to discover all that pertains to the welfare, comfort and progress of this Colony and its Dependencies, over which it is your pleasure and duty to declare Your Majesty that you shall rule. We now have personal evidence, in your presence amongst us, of that which we had previously known only by report. persons just now owing to the successful fishery. The town included the two settlements of what were formerly known as Ship Cove and Robin Hood. The railway work along to this point from Trinity Junction shows some very heavy rock cuts through the solid cliff. The people of Salmon Cove (now Champey) were also present at the station when the following address was read:—

PORT REXTON. An Address Presented to His Excellency Sir Ralph Champey Williams, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander in Chief in and over the Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies. November 8th, 1911.

To His Excellency Sir Ralph Champey Williams, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander in Chief in and over the Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies. May it Please Your Excellency—We, the people of Port Rexton, number in all, seven hundred souls, beg to extend to Your Excellency as the direct representative in Newfoundland of His Gracious Majesty King George the Fifth, a sincere and hearty welcome.

The early patriotism of the English settlers who founded homes and families in this portion of England's Old Colony, has been strengthened through the succeeding generations, and we beg to assure Your Excellency of our loyalty to the British Throne, and to the Person of our Sovereign Lord the King. We often read of Your Excellency's great interest in everything that tends toward the general welfare of this Colony and its people, and how Your Excellency has visited various outposts, and with words of encouragement inspired your people with greater faith in the possibilities of our local industries, and your Excellency's presence at Port Rexton to-day confirms what we have heard.

The benefits accruing by the easy travelling service and the quick transmission of freight to those of our people living along the railway lines previously built in this country, have made possible a condition of prosperity otherwise unattainable. The extension of railway, known as the Bonavista Branch Line, which Your Excellency is to-day formally opening, has, by its construction, created an era of prosperity throughout the length of the Bonavista Peninsula.

Your Excellency has doubtless heard of the agricultural possibilities of Port Rexton. Within easy access of the branch line there are hundreds of acres of farming lands awaiting but the means of marketing its produce, which it has now received, to become a valuable asset to the country. We understand Your Excellency has many duties to perform to-day and we will not delay you longer. We wish Your Excellency a safe passage, and we tender the hope that you and your suite may gather pleasant memories from your first official visit over the Bonavista Branch Line.

We are, Your Excellency's humble and obedient servants, S. D. Grant & Company, John Randall, George Guppy, Patrick Hanlon, S. M. Gover, John Bailey, Herbert Bannister, A. Plossiman, Wm. G. White, Wm. Bannister, Chas. Ash, William Mate, John Butler (of Wm.), Signed on behalf of the people of Port Rexton.

Near Port Rexton, but not on the line of railway, is English Harbour. A delegation of its people came forward and presented the following address to the Governor:—

ENGLISH HARBOUR. To His Excellency Sir Ralph Champey Williams, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander in Chief in and over the Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies.

May it Please Your Excellency—We, the inhabitants of English Harbour, beg to extend to your Excellency a sincere welcome to this part of the District of Trinity. We beg to assure your Excellency of our loyalty to the British Throne and the Person of Our Sovereign, King George the Fifth. We are proud, in our humble way, to belong to such a vast nation as forms the British Empire.

We are told Your Excellency takes great interest in all that concerns the betterment of the people whom you govern, and Your Excellency's delay at this lonely spot has made us very glad. We know only in part of the great benefits which follow the building of railway lines throughout our country, and we know the extension of the Bonavista Branch line will prove a blessing to this part of the Colony. All around Your Excellency at this time are untilled lands capable of producing large quantities of vegetables, and ere long, we hope, have a different scene at this place.

THE CHEAPNESS AT THE

In assuming control of the Encyclopaedia Press regarded its sale at a low price in the price, was, in their estimation, to be accounted for. They believe that in respect of cheapness of the Encyclopaedia Britannica at the present time.

No Comparison

A single volume of the new (11th) Edition, pages, and over one million words, and is for the India paper impression only 25 cents. An ordinary book of travel, or of men or text book, containing from 100,000 to 200,000 words, a purchaser, therefore, obtains in a single volume of the new Encyclopaedia much matter at a less cost than if he were to purchase a number of books. To obtain an equal quantity of readable matter would be incurred upon over ten times the cost.

The relative cost appears even smaller when regarded as at all equivalent to the cost to expend several thousand dollars and to collect a library of books dealing with biography, physics, engineering, industry, chemistry and the authoritative articles upon those subjects. The accepted scale of book prices is, in the only true criterion in the matter is the price of the book. This was originally sold at 30s. ($7.50) and is now sold at 25s. ($6.25) than do those of the new edition, which make half that price.

To the former figure, however, of 30s. standard, charge) the price of the new edition. The first step towards this higher price is the United States. The original low price is, in fact, a period only.

Easy Payment

The expense of producing extensive volumes of this nature is so great that the production and printing of those that are to follow is favoured in this particular. For the first time in the history of the Encyclopaedia, great work of reference were practically free of charge. This point finds mention here only because it is a new feature, not a portion of the work, but the whole of his purchase at once, can pay in small instalments. An immediate payment of only $5.00 may be more easily afforded owing to the small outlay that is required to obtain delivery of the work. purchase may be completed in monthly payments placed within the reach of all.

Should the subscriber, however, find it a shorter time, he may do so by making 4 instalments of $12.50 each.

The 11th Edition A REVOLUTION of the Encyclopaedia Britannica consists of 28 volumes (960—1,000 pages each) of text and an index (vol. 29) of 500,000 references, classified table of contents and lists of contributors and titles of their articles. There are 7,000 illustrations in the text, 417 maps and plans, 40,000 articles, ranging from a few lines to 100 pages (150,000 words) or more and treating of every subject of human knowledge and interest. Its articles are the work of 1500 contributors, including leading authorities in all parts of the world and in every branch of learning. It is a new work and not a mere revision of former Editions.

It has been planned and produced as a complete whole and not volume by volume as in the past. Full terms of the prices at which the Encyclopaedia Britannica can now be purchased in Newfoundland, can be obtained by tearing off the coupon and posting to the Cambridge University Press, Box 990, St. John's, N. BY NAMING THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE
For the New, 11th edition, of the Encyclopaedia Britannica

The Cambridge University Press places the work within the reach of the greatest number of readers.

THE CHEAPNESS OF THE NEW EDITION AT THE PRESENT RATE.

In assuming control of the Encyclopaedia Britannica the Syndics of the Cambridge University Press regarded its sale at a low price an inherent characteristic of the undertaking. To place the work within the reach of the greatest number of readers, by naming the lowest price, was, in their estimation, to be accounted an essential element of their trust. They believe that in respect of cheapness no publication can be compared with the 11th edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica at the present price.

No Comparison with other Books.

A single volume of the new (11th) Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica contains some 1,000 pages, and over one million words, and is sold at $4.00 a volume in the cheapest form on thick paper. For the India paper impression only 25 cents more per volume is charged.

An ordinary book of travel, or of memories, a biography, historical or literary, a scientific manual or text book, containing from 100,000 to 200,000 words, usually costs about $5.00. A purchaser, therefore, obtains in a single volume of the new Encyclopaedia about eight times as much matter at a less cost than if he were buying ordinary books.

To obtain an equal quantity of reading matter as is contained in the Encyclopaedia Britannica, an expenditure would be incurred upon ordinary books of over $1,000 (one thousand dollars), nearly ten times the cost.

The relative cost appears even smaller if an attempt be made to construct a list of other books that could be regarded as at all equivalent to the new Encyclopaedia Britannica. The reader would have to expend several thousand dollars and display the greatest care and knowledge before he could collect a library of books dealing with biography, geography, history, religion, law, medicine, mathematics and physics, engineering, industry, chemistry, zoology, botany, geology and the arts, comparable with the authoritative articles upon those subjects included in the new Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The accepted scale of book prices is, in fact, too different to afford a satisfactory comparison, and the only true criterion in the matter is the price of the 9th edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. This was originally sold at 30s. ($7.50) a volume, although each volume contained 100 pages less than do those of the new edition, which may now be purchased (in the same style) at little more than half that price.

To the former figure, however, of 30s. ($7.50) (which may be regarded as the normal, the standard, charge) the price of the new edition will eventually be raised.

The first step towards this higher price has already been taken in Great Britain, Canada, and the United States. The original low price is, however, still available in Newfoundland but for a short period only.

Easy Payment by Small Instalments.

The expense of producing extensive publications has hitherto been minimized by the expedient of issuing them volume by volume. The sale of the earlier volumes thus provides funds for the production and printing of those that are to follow. The new Encyclopaedia Britannica has been more favoured in this particular. For the first time, the editorial labours of producing and perfecting a great work of reference were practically completed before a single volume was printed for sale. The point finds mention here only because it bears upon the fact that in the present case the reader is offered, not a portion of the work, but the whole of it, for which the applicant, though he receives the whole of his purchase at once, can pay in small sums suited to his convenience.

An immediate payment of only $5.00. The book is now at its cheapest, and the present low price may be more easily afforded owing to the institution of serial payments. $5.00 is all the immediate outlay that is required to obtain delivery of the 29 volumes, and, after they have been received, purchase may be completed in monthly payments of the same small amount. The work is, therefore, placed within the reach of all.

Should the subscriber, however, find that it better suits his convenience to complete purchase in a shorter time, he may do so by making 4, 8, or 12 monthly payments, at practically the cash price.

The 11th Edition A REVOLUTION IN BOOK PRODUCTION—THE INDIA PAPER IN SPECIAL BOOK STAND.

of the Encyclopaedia Britannica consists of 28 volumes (960—1,000 pages each) of text and an index (vol. 29) of 500,000 references, classified table of contents and lists of contributors and titles of their articles.

There are 7,000 illustrations in the text, 417 maps and plans, 40,000 articles, ranging from a few lines to 100 pages (150,000 words) or more and treating of every subject of human knowledge and interest. Its articles are the work of 1500 contributors, including leading authorities in all parts of the world and in every branch of learning.

It is a new work and not a mere revision of former Editions. It has been planned and produced as a complete whole and not volume by volume as in the past.

Full terms of the prices at which the Encyclopaedia Britannica can now be purchased in Newfoundland, can be obtained by tearing off this coupon and posting to the Cambridge University Press, Box 990, St. John's, N. F.

Although it contains nearly 1,000 pages, a volume of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica, printed upon India paper, is only 1 inch in thickness, and is light enough to hold easily in one hand. Its convenience in this respect is much enhanced by the flexible leather back, which permits the reader to double a volume back, cover to cover, as is shown in this tracing from an actual photograph.

Special Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Nov. 9. Thomas Crosby, M.D., was inaugurated as Lord Mayor to-day. He is eighty-one years of age.

Special Evening Telegram. HONG KONG, Nov. 9. Canton has formally declared its independence. The dragon flag was lowered and a salute fired in honor of the new government.

Special Evening Telegram. SHANGHAI, Nov. 9. Nanking in the South and Peking in North are the last strongholds of the Manchus. Foreigners so far safe. In Nanking, Manchus are outnumbered 4 to 1. British, Germans and Americans have landed their protest contingents where foreigners are gathered. In Shanghai the situation is becoming increasingly serious.

Special Evening Telegram. CHANG SHA, Province of Hua Nan, Nov. 9. A state bordering on anarchy exists here owing to the desperate rivalry of the leaders who took possession of the city a few days ago. The two most prominent Republican chiefs, General Hsin and T'ing, were both murdered by soldiers to-day. They had been jealous of each other's position, and their quarrel had been taken up strenuously by their followers.

Special Evening Telegram.

AMOI, Nov. 9. The city of Fu Chow, capital of this province, is in the hands of the revolutionists. After taking it they wiped out the entire Manchus district. Foreign settlements are not disturbed but fires have broken out in several sections of the native city, threatening its destruction. Fu Chow is one of the most important cities in the south. The situation in Amoy is quite to-day, but a serious state of affairs is threatened owing to the search for revolutionists who are being actively sought. A revolt of troops in the vicinity of Hai, fifty miles north of this city, is causing trouble. The soldiers have taken the magazines and the Custom House.

Special Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Nov. 9. The Unionist members have arranged a party meeting for Monday day, and are talking about the unusual passage of a resolution in favour of Balfour to take a long holiday, an pledge unbroken support next session. This course is recommended by Cairns, and the boy suggested that King ought not to go to India with the succession to opposition undecided. Not even the extremists, who have been proclaiming that Balfour must be deposed for the crisis has come prematurely. An alternative suggested that Balfour go to the Lords. Carson, Smith and Long have spoken of as leaders in the Commons.

Zam-Buk Cures His Sores

Cures Also Chapped Hands and Chilblains.

Mr. Chas. Hardy, of 558 Hom Street, Winnipeg, says: "My elder son has proved the value of Zam-Buk and we would not be without a supply in the house. He had both ears so badly frozen that we became alarmed for fear they should have to be amputated. His ears were swollen to several times their usual size, and were very much discolored. Large blisters formed and then these burst and painful sores on both ears resulted. The sores matted, scale formed and the boy suffered terribly. The preparations which we first used were found next to useless in fact the wounds grew steadily worse, so we then tried Zam-Buk and found a great improvement in one or two applications. We continued with this herbal balm until the scales and foul matter were cleared away thoroughly, and healing began. In a week from first using this excellent balm the lad's ears were almost well again. In three weeks you would never have known his ears had been frozen, so well has Zam-Buk brought about healing. Here is but one illustration out of scores how superior Zam-Buk is to other sores. It also cures chapped hands, chilblains, piles, inflamed sores, ulcers, abscesses, blood-poison, cuts, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases. On account of its purity and its herbal composition it is the ideal balm for babies and young children. All druggists and stores at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., upon receipt of price. Try also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. per tablet."

Had Enjoyable Outing.
 The College Company of the Church Ladies' Guild enjoyed their annual outing at Donovan's yesterday afternoon. The outing which is each year given the boys by Hon. Edgar Bowring proved to be particularly enjoyable this year. The company left the city at 2.30 p.m. in uniform and made a quick tramp of 11 miles to the hotel. A sham battle took place shortly after arrival in which half of the company were the attackers, while the rest defended the "position." Other sports were indulged in after which a sumptuous dinner was served, full justice being done to it. The ladies returned to the city at 8.30 and all were very thankful to Mr. Bowring for affording them such an enjoyable time.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DANDRUFF.

Shannah Tucker and The Cute Man at The Theatre.

Tucker, the Cute Man and myself went to the play last night. We had a tough job to get the Cute Man to pass Jack Rossley's, as he put up a rather strong argument, and said, "Now, if we go to the play 'twill cost us 60c., and if we go to Rossley's we'll save 30c. of that, and be just as well off when 'tis all over."

But Tucker treated his argument with contempt, dragged his pipe a little harder, and kept on. We arrived at the box to buy our tickets, the Cute Man hung on till he saw there was no chance of roasting one of us, and then he parted with his shilling as if it were his only daughter going to Nova Scotia. We secured seats well in the front, and gazed on the reserved seat people as they sat in and we were much amused. There's more to be seen at a play than the acts on the stage; there are many side-shows to afford you interest and amusement if you are gifted with ordinary perception. People going in on the reserved seats walk differently from those of us who stroll in the pit. The very fact of your knowing that you are going in on the reserved puts a feeling of reserve all over you, 'till you're likely to trip in a match. People that were there once or twice have told me that you mustn't laugh too loud, or clap a man when he deserves it, they leave that to the 'pit' crowd, and though they enjoy the performers when they come forward the second time, still they'll never be called out if 'twas left to them to do it.

Tucker looked around the pit and said to me, "Why, there's scarcely a face here I know, what a change from old time."

I didn't want to be bothered talking to him so I failed to answer him. The Cute Man was procuring a chew of the weed from a fellow next him, when he was informed by the genial doorkeeper that producing tobacco juice was strictly prohibited.

"Not much like old times," says the Cute Man, "why, I was in the 'Old Hall' when you could float a twenty ton schooner after the first act. Times are changing," said he, "and we'll soon be told 'tis unhealthy to breathe more than thirteen times a minute. What do they manufacture the stuff for?" says he, "why the same crowd of gen'ry who are growling about spitting, and holding meetings chewing the rag about it, are the self same people who are drawing large dividends from the factory." "Inconsistency," says the Cute Man, "thou art a jewel where dollars and cents are concerned."

The play went along nice and smooth, and the lover, after being in a lot of 'hot water,' came out on top in the end, and all were happy. What a change 'twould be if we could see a play where the villain won at the finish. They often win in real life, and why they don't get an odd chance in the drama puzzles Tucker a bit.

The Fat Man at the Bell is a "howler" in every sense of the word, and an entertainer that pleases, but his "Then, then, then let her go" is getting a bit stale. 'Twould be refreshing to hear him say "Now, now, now, let her went," next week.

The dancer will cause you to smile, whether you like it or not, except you remember what you owe, and you should always forget that when you go to a place of amusement, it doesn't do a bit of good and only makes those around you unhappy. He is a dancer without a doubt, and his comical expression helps to increase his popularity; he's not too funny, either, and we are glad of that, for the 'too funny' man has a short life in this community.

"Most people," said the Cute Man, "when they come around here to play think we're a kind of green and are out to get scared and laugh at anything. These people pay for their experience, for they generally leave by express a little earlier than they had arranged, and take second class tickets, too."

The acrobat is a wonder, "down on the dead level he's a howler," says a young fellow with a butt of a cigarette hanging out of a scalloped tooth.

No one should miss the chance to see this act. Tucker says he'd make his fortune as a politician, if he hung on here, for 'tis the slightest thing on his knuckle to twist himself inside out.

The fellow who comes out to thank you for taking your money can talk like a "Phil Markey," but, thank goodness, he knows when to quit, and doesn't jade you till your jaws go asunder yawning.

Baking Powder made Cream of Tartar

We will not further delay your Excellency.

We sincerely wish Your Excellency a safe trip, and we hope you and your suite will have an enjoyable run over the first line to Bonavista.

On behalf of the inhabitants of English Harbour, we are, Your Excellency's humble and obedient servants.

Henry Geo. Batson, Martin Busden, Gilbert Bugden.

The run from Port Rexton to Catalina is about 18 miles. The country for the most part level and the running is easy. The train stopped at the station when the latter town was reached. His Excellency was invited to the Parish Hall where Mr. Fred Somerton, P., read an address from the people. The hall was crowded, and when Edmund J. Ryan, J. P., of Trinity, called for cheers they were given with enthusiasm. Catalina looked at its best and suggested its old time prosperity in its hopes and shipping which were decorated with flags all over the harbor.

A run of a little over ten miles after the proceedings at Catalina were over completed the journey to Bonavista where the train arrived at 11.30. The shipping, public buildings and residences were bedecked with flags. The Governor was escorted to the Fishermen's Hall by a delegation of the people where the following address was read by Magistrate John Roper. His Excellency replied at considerable length and expressed the pleasure it afforded him to take part in the function. Sir Edward Morris spoke briefly at the close of His Excellency's speech.

Following is the address read by Mr. Roper:—

BONAVISTA.

Address of Welcome to His Excellency Sir Ralph C. Williams, K.C.M.G., Governor, Commander in Chief in and over the Island of Newfoundland and its dependencies, on the occasion of his opening the Bonavista Branch Railway.

My dear Sir:—

A quarter of a century ago a protest was sent from this town against the proposal of the Government of the day to build a Branch Railway to the town of Placentia, prior to the extension of the Railway system to Bonavista.

The protest was dismissed. The branch to Placentia was built, and for twenty-five years we have not been able to participate in the general progress of the Colony.

This day unfolds a new epoch in the history of our town and peninsula. We can no longer lament our isolation in winter, nor the consequent detriment to labour and capital.

Our business men are, from this date, in a position to give the advantage which immediate purchase makes possible to the public.

Our workmen are now able to go and return without the ill-chances and hardships incidental to a seventy mile walk to the Trunk Line.

Our home industries and farm products will profit by the stimulus that a ready market must afford. All accessories are brought within reach, and the tremendous gain of a ready outlet for all our fishery products is realized, and we hope that this improvement in travelling facilities will be appreciated and utilized not only by the people of this town, but also by all who may wish to visit that part of the seaboard, which first gladdened the eyes of Cabot, four hundred years ago, and gave to this place the name of "Bona Vista."

We take once more this opportunity of voicing our abiding Loyalty to the (See 7th page.)

The Kidneys Wear Out

But in advanced years you can keep these organs healthy by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

As old age comes on most people suffer more or less from derangements of the kidneys. With some there are years of pain and aches, with others Bright's disease sets in and the end comes quickly.

Fortunately many have learned about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and are enabled by their use to keep the kidneys healthy and active.

Mr. Richard Preston, Osborne, Lambton County, Ont., says: "Seven years ago I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills when my back was so bad that to stoop or rise was torture to me. The kidneys were in bad condition, but these pills entirely freed me of back pains. I have used them ever since, whenever the kidneys would get out of order, and now, at eighty years, am well and hearty, thanks to this grand medicine."

Marie Corelli Talks "Right Up"
 To the Rev. R. J. Campbell of "The New Theology" fame,
 In what she considers an unfair attack on her new book, "The Life Everlasting," Miss Corelli says, "That while preaching in the City Temple, London, he deliberately slanders both myself and my work without compassion. He says there is a certain strain of hard, bitter and intolerant depravity running all the way through it, and I challenged him to prove it. Far from any hard or unsympathetic feeling towards human depravity, I endeavour to show how it may be lessened and finally overcome by one's own noble effort when once we realize the eternal law—that evil is always repaid by evil and good by good."
 Every person interested in good fiction and in the social conditions of the people should read "The Life Everlasting." Paper, 50c.; cloth, 75c. Postpaid on receipt of price.
 All books by Miss Marie Corelli and the Rev. R. J. Campbell now in stock. Write for list, also for lists of 10, 15, 25 and 30 cent reprints of the world's best novels.
