CUP DEFENDER BEATEN.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 20.—The rejected America's cup aspirant of two years ago, Constitution, is rapidly becoming a dangerous rival of this year's production, the Reliance, for the honor of defending the trophy, for the older boat defeated the new one in today's run of 37 miles, the third of the N. Y. Yacht Club cruise from New London, by 45 seconds, availing herself of her time allowance estimated at about two minutes and 17 seconds. This is the second time on the present cruise that Constitution has won from her rival on time allowance, and while the victory on the first occasion, that of the run from Glen Cove to New Haven, was due in some measure to changeable breezes, the conditions today were as fair for one as the other. Columbia sailed a lonesome race, dropping behind from the start and finishing more than ten minutes behind Reliance.

Before leaving for the west, Isaac Taxter was presented by a number of friends with a handsome gold headed umbrella. Members of the police force also presented him with a pair of gold cuff links.

KING AND QUEEN IN IRELAND

King Edward Opens Visit by Declaring That New Era is Coming.

KINGSTOWN, Ireland, July 21.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra, accompanied by Princess Victoria and their suites, arrived here at five minutes past nine o'clock this morning, on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

Immediately after the yacht took its position in the harbor the royal salute was fired by thirteen vessels of the home fleet.

A heavy rain, which has been falling since an early hour, ceased at nine o'clock and the sky cleared, giving promise of fine weather for the royal entry into Dublin.

In replying to an address here King Edward said he shared in the sadness of multitudes of his subjects over the news of the Pope's death. The king added that his visit came at a time when a new era was opening for Ireland. A special performance which had been planned for the royal theatre in Dublin, July 24, has been countermanded in consequence of Pope Leo's death.

CHIEF ARTHUR'S FUNERAL.

CLEVELAND, July 20.—The funeral of the late P. M. Arthur, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, took place this afternoon from the family residence, Rev. Dr. Paul F. Southen, pastor of the second Presbyterian church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Vernon Harrington.

Hundreds of railway men, representing all sections of the country, were present. Among these were the heads of all of the various railway brotherhoods. The services throughout were marked by extreme simplicity, in accordance with the life and habits of the deceased. Following a selection by the choir, Rev. Mr. Southen spoke feelingly of the great work accomplished by Mr. Arthur in the world of labor.

The six members of the brotherhood who escorted the remains from Winnipeg were the active pall bearers.

NOT A WORD HEARD AT A BIG PICNIC.

Deaf Mutes Go to Camelot for an Outing and Visit Gaiety Home.

Ordinarily two hundred and fifty persons inquiring at once about a man, and then saying that they certainly would go to Camelot, would have drowned out the noise in the Grand Central Station, but as they were deaf and dumb and did their talking principally with the fingers, not a ripple of disturbance was caused by their presence. Members of the combined societies of deaf mutes of the city of New York made up the excursion which yesterday morning departed for Camelot, where is situated the new Gaiety Home for the Aged Deaf and Dumb. The deaf mutes of this city, some of whom are wealthy, furnished the funds, and yesterday they went there to have a picnic on the grounds.

Deaf mutes half an hour before starting time, began to file into the waiting room, where they talked so much that nobody else could get in a word edge-wise. Committees went hither and thither giving instructions and distributing badges. There was all the activity and all the conversation which attends other excursions, but none of the noise.

All the party was finally assembled before the gate which barred the way to the excursion train.

"The gatekeeper is very slow. Must we show our tickets? Why must we stand here? Why doesn't that station master make the train start?" were some of the things which the delegation remarked while the preliminaries for departure were being arranged.

"They never make any complaints," remarked the station agent, placidly, as he looked at the flying fingers. "They are the quietest passengers I ever saw."

In the company were pretty women, appreciative young men and dignified elders, and the dignified quietness of all was incessant. The last of the delegates, conveying Dr. Chamberlain, rushed through the gate, and the special was soon under way.

THREE BOYS FORM A SUICIDE CLUB.

They Decide on Taking Spirits of Salt But One Backs Out and Goes for the Police.

LONDON, July 20.—The vanity of life has evidently appealed to an early stage to three boys who were concerned in a case before the Manchester magistrates yesterday.

They were tired of living, they wrote to their parents, and therefore intended to end their lives by taking poison.

With this intention they held a council of war as to ways and means. Their proposal was defeated by a scheme of suicide by spirits of salt.

Accordingly, fourpennyworth of this poison was purchased and the boys adjourned to a local park to carry their plan into effect.

Two of them took a draught of this deadly concoction, but the third boy suddenly realizing that life was not such a burden as it first appeared, declined the beverage and ran for a policeman instead.

The irony of the whole affair was that this lad, according to one of his companions, was the main supporter of the idea and taunted his little friends with being frightened.

"If you die," he consolingly remarked, "nobody will know anything about it."

Fortunately they did not die, for the officer, when summoned to the spot, immediately removed them to the infirmary, where antidotes were successfully applied.

One of the would-be suicides, however, was very ill and lies in the balance for several days.

Yesterday these precocious youths were dismissed with a caution, and two of them at least are not likely to again philosophize on the hollowness of life through the unpleasant medium of salt.

POPE'S DEATH BRINGS WORLD-WIDE GRIEF.

Protestant Clergymen in St. John Joins With Catholics in Appreciation of Late Pontiff.

ROME, July 21.—This morning began the first of those grand and unique ceremonies which follow the demise of a pope and, although private, it was conducted with great pomp and was most impressive. All the cardinals present in Rome, numbering twenty-nine, assembled at the apostolic palace to view the remains of the late Leo XIII. and to officially pronounce him dead. Cardinal Oreglia, dean of the sacred college and camerlengo of the Holy Roman Church, had to put aside his cardinal robes as a sign of deep mourning and was gowned entirely in violet. The other cardinals wore mourning robes with violet collars indicative of mourning. Within the death chamber the body lay with a white veil over the face, on the bed, surrounded by Franciscan penitentiaries, while outside the noble guard maintained a solemn vigil. The profound silence was only broken by the chanting of prayers for the dead.

Into this solemn presence came the mourning procession of cardinals, who, kneeling, silently prayed. The prelate Oreglia approached the remains. For this morning's function the pope's bedroom had been transformed into a kind of mortuary chapel with the altar at one end, having the centre a crucifix surrounded by six lighted candles. Four candles stood at the bed corners.

The white veil was then removed from the dead man's face, revealing the cameo-like features of the departed pope, rendered sharper and more princely by death. So life-like was the body that those present half expected Leo to raise his hand in the familiar gesture of blessing. A moment of breathless silence ensued and the cardinal camerlengo, taking an aspergillum, sprinkled the late pontiff with holy water and said in a firm voice: "Glochanio" (the Christian name of the deceased holy father). The same word was repeated three times, louder and louder, after which, turning to the cardinals, the camerlengo announced: "The pope is really dead."

The words were announced there arose from the cardinals a sigh like that of the wind in the trees at night, a tribute paid to the late pontiff by those princely heads of the church. After this, in voices trembling with emotion, the ranking cardinals recited the profound, gave absolution and sprinkled the body with holy water.

Following the ceremony of the recognition of the death of the pope by the sacred college came another, shorter, but no less significant and symbolic. On Leo's finger was the famous Fisherman's ring, which the camerlengo, with a whispered prayer, drew gently off and which, later, will be broken by the cardinals, re-set and presented to the new pope, when he is elected.

LONDON, July 21.—Long biographical sketches and memoirs are called for by the death of the Pope and the English papers all seem with expressions of the warmest sympathy and deep regret on account of his simple saintly life and admiration for the statesmanlike qualities displayed by him throughout his pontificate. A contrast is drawn between the unique position of the papacy now holds in international consideration compared with its shattered, discredited position at the time of the death of Pius IX. His victory over Bismarck is everywhere recalled, as the most brilliant example of his diplomatic sagacity and the editorial dilate upon the successful manner in which he reconciled himself to the spirit of modern times in his dealings with France, America and England.

VIENNA, July 21.—Emperor Francis Joseph has telegraphed from Ischl to Cardinal Taliani, the papal nuncio at Vienna as follows: "At the moment when the Catholic world is plunged into the deepest grief by the news of the death of the supreme shepherd, my heart urges me to express to your eminence all the pain which this cruel loss, so deeply felt in the whole world, has caused me. The filial loss and unlimited veneration which during his lifetime I felt for the Holy Father follow into eternity the exalted deceased whose memory is blessed for all time and who will ever occupy a distinguished place in the annals of our holy church."

PARIS, July 21.—The Figaro this morning in its article on Pope Leo describes him as one of the greatest of the political popes. It says: "Pope Leo leaves the Roman church stronger, more alert and more closely allied to the hearts of the people than it was under any predecessor during the past century."

The Journal the Gaites, the Matin, the Eclair, the Petit Journal and the Soleil all join in eulogy of the deceased pontiff.

Following are, in brief, the sentiments of some of the prominent clergymen of St. John regarding the dead Pontiff:

BISHOP CASEY.
Bishop Casey's tribute is taken from a sermon preached by him in March last, during the celebration of the Pope's silver jubilee. He said in part: "What Leo's reign meant for the church during these twenty-five years, what it will mean for her until the day of judgment, my feeble tongue will not attempt to describe. I might well ask is there a man living whose eloquence is meet to do justice to his reign? We can easily feel how unutterably grand it has been, how the good works it has inaugurated will go on developing through the ages, how the maxims of his writings will inspire future doctors and philosophers, how the charms of his piety will animate saints and virgins; and yet we stop, awe-stricken, when we attempt a description. We wonder at his intellectual, we marvel at his scholastic attainments, we admire his poetic genius, we look in astonishment at the frail body which, with the extraordinary weight of ninety-three years enjoys health and vigor."

"With no other means than the ministry of the word, he secures the triumph of faith, he promotes truth, he brings error, he brings down prejudice, and thus gains victories greater than any that ever followed the flashing of the steel or the roaring of the cannon. Other great ones rise gradually to the zenith of their glory, and they more rapidly decline; his sun flashed at once in midday splendor twenty-five years ago, and not a cloud has dimmed its glow since then."

REV. CANON RICHARDSON.
Rev. Canon J. A. Richardson, of Trinity church, said: "By the death of Leo a striking figure has been removed from the stage of human action. More than any other Roman Catholic, perhaps more than any other living man, he made the re-unification of Christendom seem a sober possibility. As a foremost and consistent advocate of arbitration he made war more difficult, and brought the reign of peace appreciably nearer. By his attitude towards the burning question of the day he brought the church in closer contact with the people. Great as an ecclesiastic, greater as a Christian, and greatest, perhaps of all, as a man, Leo XII will be remembered and revered when the names of contemporary statesmen have passed from the minds of men."

DR. GATES.
Rev. Dr. Gates, of Germain Street Baptist church, said: "Christians everywhere have watched the bulletins regarding the late Pope's illness with much interest and concern, and now that the venerable prelate has passed on, a universal sympathy is felt for the millions to whom he was the religious head. Alas how weak the greatest of earth born are when face to face with death. Those in highest places, those most commanding, those most powerful, death's arena is invincible. But let us not fear, for great and universal as is death, it shall be forever destroyed by Him who is stronger, even Jesus the Christ."

DR. SPRAGUE.
The Rev. Dr. Sprague, of the Queen Square Methodist church, said: "I have the greatest possible admiration for the man. In showing our appreciation of his splendid diplomacy we should not lose sight of his sterling character and his magnificent personal traits, which went not a little to make up his power. His influence in preserving the peace of the world has been very great, and has done a great deal toward breaking down the prejudice and bitterness which existed between Catholics and Protestants; and as a result he has won the respect and esteem of Protestants and Catholics alike the world over. I think if his spirit and aims could have had better co-operation on the part of his own clergy, or rather those who belong to the papal court, even greater good would have accrued from his splendid idealism, not only to his own church, but through his church to the world."

REV. D. J. FRASER.
Rev. Dr. Fraser, of St. Stephen's Presbyterian church, said: "The passing of the Pope recalls to us in this country the passing of the Queen. The sympathy with the brave sufferers was equally universal and the sorrow at their death equally spontaneous. There were striking resemblances between the two. They were the greatest world rulers, and also perhaps the outstanding personalities of their times. They both bore a splendid witness to purity and simplicity of life. Their personal goodness was transparent. Their interest in the welfare of their subjects was touching in its solitude. Their capacity for work was enormous. They were jealous of the prerogative of their offices. They lived almost in retirement, and yet exerted the influence of their wonderful personality far beyond the bounds of their own church. They both prayed and worked for the peace of all nations. Protestants are not second to Roman Catholics in their genuine admiration of the pure character, the firm and gentle spirit, the commanding will of Leo XIII. They will cherish his reverent life and heroic death as a legacy of the Roman church to the best traditions of Catholic Christianity. It would not be in good taste for one terably grand it has been, how the good works it has inaugurated will go on developing through the ages, how the maxims of his writings will inspire future doctors and philosophers, how the charms of his piety will animate saints and virgins; and yet we stop, awe-stricken, when we attempt a description. But let us not fear, for great and universal as is death, it shall be forever destroyed by Him who is stronger, even Jesus the Christ."

The Rev. Dr. Sprague, of the Queen Square Methodist church, said: "I have the greatest possible admiration for the man. In showing our appreciation of his splendid diplomacy we should not lose sight of his sterling character and his magnificent personal traits, which went not a little to make up his power. His influence in preserving the peace of the world has been very great, and has done a great deal toward breaking down the prejudice and bitterness which existed between Catholics and Protestants; and as a result he has won the respect and esteem of Protestants and Catholics alike the world over. I think if his spirit and aims could have had better co-operation on the part of his own clergy, or rather those who belong to the papal court, even greater good would have accrued from his splendid idealism, not only to his own church, but through his church to the world."

ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 21, 1902.

THE POPE.

His Holiness Pope Leo XIII. is no more. After nearly ninety-four years of good work, terminated by two weeks' of wasting sickness and great pain, rest has come at last to this gentle old man, who had held his lofty office past the traditional days of Peter. His life was beautiful and his dying, with its patient endurance, Christian self-effacement and pure courage, was splendid. The church, though suffering by the loss of a great pontiff, gains immeasurably in spiritual things by the high example set its members in the life and death of such a man. The closing words of the burial ritual of the mother of churches will find an echo in the heart of all Christendom. "May his soul and the souls of all the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. . . . And may the light eternal shine upon him."

His successor is still in doubt. There seems no one to fill the place he has left. The two leading candidates are strong men, shrewd statesmen, each well qualified to pilot the church as far as worldly affairs are concerned; but a man with the fine character and eminent ability of Leo XIII. is not available every day.

THE MANITOBA ELECTIONS.

When Hon. Hugh John Macdonald defeated the Greenway government of Manitoba in 1899 all sorts of explanations were given to account for the conservative victory. It was said that Mr. Macdonald had made long and careful preparation and had a perfect organization, that having no record and no responsibility he was able to construct an attractive platform and to make promises which could not be fulfilled though they could please. Much was attributed to the personality of the conservative leader.

Yesterday, with none of these advantages, the conservatives swept the province of Manitoba. In a house of forty members the liberals will not have more than six, and it is not certain that they have four. Mr. Greenway himself is the only prominent member of the party who has been returned. The three Winnipeg, the two Brandon, Portage, Minnedosa, Jordan, all the towns except Birdie, have gone with the Roblin government. In spite of the Sifton influence, in spite of the efforts of the former provincial minister now a senator, who managed the machine, in spite of all that could be done by the party in power at Ottawa, and by the agents of that government scattered over the west, the victory has been complete. Hugh John left Mr. Greenway with fourteen supporters. Mr. Roblin has left him with perhaps four or five.

This result is doubtless partly due to the confidence which the Manitoba people feel in the Roblin government. It has been a prudent and capable administration. The affairs of the province are now in a much better condition than Mr. Greenway left them.

But the Manitoba victory is also a response from the west to Mr. Borden. The opposition leader made a strong impression during his western tour last year and nowhere was he received with more enthusiasm than in Manitoba. He talked straight to the prairie people. He had the same policy in the west as in the east. His straightforward declaration of policy was a cheerful contrast to the duplicity of Mr. Sifton and his leader. Mr. Borden and Mr. Roblin stood together on the same platform in Manitoba last year. They will be together in the coming federal campaign, and what the west has now done for Mr. Roblin and the provincial conservatives it will do for Mr. Borden and the federal conservatives.

No doubt the resignation of Mr. Blair had some effect in the west. Mr. Blair has enjoyed more popularity and influence in the west than in Ontario and Quebec. Mr. Tarte had also made himself many friends on the Red River. When Mr. Tarte and Mr. Blair lose confidence in the government the former government supporters in the west naturally conclude that there is something wrong. No part of the dominion has been more grossly deceived by the Laurier government than Manitoba. It is not surprising that the western people are the first to resent it.

MR. BLAIR'S REASONS.

Many upper Canadian papers are holding up Mr. Blair as an astonishing example of a public man who on a question of pure principle is resigning a position of great power accompanied by a handsome salary, stepping down from the dominion cabinet to the position of a private member of parliament wholly of his own free will. In New Brunswick, where Mr. Blair is better known, there are many who will not readily fall into similar admiration. The reputation he has acquired down here is that of a very able or practical politician with a valuable faculty for allowing the greatness of an end to cover a multitude of questionable means that might as-stat in its attainment. And it has been observed that these ends were generally located in Mr. Blair's vicinity.

So in the present emergency, those who think they know the ex-minister of railways will be slow to believe that he has made such a sacrifice for principle. Should future developments show that he has done so, friends and enemies alike must accord him the approbation due to a man who has done a fine thing and one almost unprecedented in Canadian politics. But for a short time general judgment will be reserved.

THE PAGE THAT KILLS.

Now it is Charles M. Schwab, the million-dollar-salaried president of the United States Steel Corporation who has broken down permanently and gone into retirement at an age when he should be at his best. Strong man mentally and physically though he was he attempted too much and from being the head of the greatest combination of capital in the world, has become only another pitiful example of the results of the American spirit of business.

It is fine to look at, from one point of view, this American spirit. All hustle and drive and grind without a let-up. Keen comprehension; brilliant forming of schemes, skillful planning, culminating in great achievement. But only one end is in view, the gathering together of money, and though this may be one legitimate end of man's endeavor, that it is not everything is shown by nothing more forcibly than by the appalling effect upon those who follow after it alone. There are greater things in this world than the acquisition of wealth or power. The man with the muck-rake is not the ideal citizen.

Sixteen out of twenty-two unions have signed the arbitration agreement with the New York builders, which puts the walking delegates out of business. The sooner labor unionism thus gets down to business methods the sooner will it command the respect of business men.

The United States government has, in consequence of Russia's refusal to receive the Kischeneff petition, decided not to present it. It's just as well. Russia might have taken a horrible revenge by protesting against some of the atrocities which the Southern negro is daily suffering.

It is announced that Rev. Mr. Barr will retire from the ministry because he no longer believes in eternal punishment and because he wants to be a real estate agent and with the agents stand. Mr. Barr's belief is a splendid qualification for a real estate agent.

The Canadian government is to send another expedition to Hudson's Bay for the purpose of discovering if it is not an available grain carrying route. It is to be hoped that the picnic will be a pleasant one.—Montreal Gazette.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson has visited Moncton. The Transcript yesterday predicts that with a possible exception the liberal members of New Brunswick will, almost as a unit, support the government's proposals as against Mr. Blair's disension.

NORTH END ELOPEMENT.

Wm. Knodwell, of 17 Simonds street, left on the morning of July 13th to participate in the Orange parade at St. Stephen. On the same day Mrs. Frederick Logan, of 657 Main street, went to Calais, as she told her husband, to visit her sister, Mrs. Louisa. Neither has yet returned, and as they were seen together on the steamer St. Croix, it is suspected that they have eloped.

Wm. Knodwell is about 45 years of age, and has been married eleven years. His wife's maiden name was Matilda Chambers. They have lived in the city for ten years. They were prosperous and lived happily, although Mrs. Knodwell has for some time suspected that her husband was intimate with Mrs. Logan.

Mrs. Knodwell said last night that she had some money in the bank, and that if her husband did not return, she would leave her comfortable flat on Simonds street and keep a boarding house in the city.

Mr. Logan said that his wife and daughter left on Monday, July 13th, to visit a sister in Calais. She had taken only money enough to buy the two tickets. He had heard nothing from her since she left. He knew Knodwell and used to meet him at his house, but never thought that Knodwell came to see his wife. He had recently heard that Knodwell came to his house in the day time when he was at work.

A NEW SHELL.

Eljah Ross, the well known carman and boatbuilder, launched yesterday the new shell which he has just completed for the Belyea crew of Carleton. The shell is a remarkable piece of handiwork. The material used in her construction is New Brunswick wood. Her timbers are made from the roots of elm trees, the box is of oak, the planking pine. All braces are of cedar. The outriggers are made of steel tubing.

The Belyea crew gave the new shell her initial trial yesterday and declared themselves as altogether pleased with her rowing qualities. The crew will go into active training today. It is believed that the boat's first race will be in the amateur class, when she will be manned by four young men from the West Side who are now in training under the eye of the Belyea crew. Their entry has been sent to Halifax for the August regatta.

The Coburg street and Douglas avenue Christian Sunday schools picnic will be held at LePauzeux instead of Crystal Beach. IN THE DEATH CHAMBER.

Pathetic Scenes by the Bedside of the Dying Pope.

ROME, July 20.—The final scene in the death chamber was profoundly impressive. The Pope's death having been expected since noon, his deathbed was surrounded by practically all the members of the sacred college now in Rome and the whole papal court, while the pontiff's nephews remained in the papal library until they received word from the doctors which announced that his expiring breath was approaching. They moved silently within the death chamber, some standing, some kneeling, all awaiting the awful moment of dissolution.

Profound silence reigned in the Pope's bedroom, only broken by the doctors rising to render their expiring patient more comfortable, by the sobs of the ever faithful valet, Pio Centra, or the murmured prayers of Mgr. Pifferi, the papal confessor, himself 84 years of age, who had to be assisted to the bedside. Softly he recited the prayers for the dying, the pontiff at the same time conscious of what was transpiring, but he could not speak. Then the dying Pope murmured something to himself, in which those bending over him heard the words "Father," "Mother."

Finally the Pope was asked to bless his nephews and all the other present. He attempted to raise himself, and the extreme emaciation of his person, covered with a fine nightgirt, was rendered more pronounced by the surroundings.

It was a most solemn moment. The head of the pontiff, with its white skull cap, no whitener than the fringe of silver hair, rising above the crimson coverlet, his hand raised in the familiar gesture of benediction, the kneeling assemblage, being too earnestly absorbed in deep affliction, veneration and weeping to even make a movement.

The doctors again examined the dying father and this time found that he was at the extreme limit of his powers of respiration. His eyes began to close, his face grew more clouded, and Leo XIII entered into the real agony of death.

The last conscious act of the pontiff was to turn his eyes towards the great crucifix on the wall, after which he suffered from a paroxysm of choking, during which he passed away.

Then the silence of the awe-stricken assemblage was broken by the sonorous, solemn voice of Cardinal Serafino Vannini, the grand penitentiary, intoning the requiem eternam (rest eternal).

This was the signal for an outburst of tears and the sound of weeping which could no longer be repressed, all the kneeling prelates and others kissing the dead hand.

As the senior member of the Sacred College, Cardinal Oreglia, to whom the Pope today solemnly confided the interests of the church, he now became the exponent of the cardinals until Pope Leo's successor has been elected. This has brought forth Cardinal Oreglia as the striking personality of the hour.

The cardinal is the exact antithesis of Pope Leo, having none of the late pontiff's sympathy and benevolent characteristics. He comes from a noble Piedmontese stock, and his ability is shown in his ready and austere bearing. He is not popular among his colleagues or the Romans, and his brusque manner has earned him the title of "the Piedmont bear." He is a man of robust and his seventy-four years are shown by the whiteness of his hair. His face has the tawny hue of old parchment and is deeply lined. Despite his austerity, the cardinal's hair and plenty are universally recognized. This is the man who for the time being is practically Pope. It was he who issued the orders to clear the vatican from intruders and brought tranquility out of the confusion immediately following Pope Leo's death.

ST. JOHN TO WESTPORT.

Str. Westport, Capt. Lewis, was in port yesterday taking in cargo for C. T. White, her owner, at Apple River. The vessel has been engaged by the Insular line to resume on Thursday of this week the performance of the service between St. John and Westport for several weeks till the new str. Westport is completed. Capt. Lewis will have charge of the steamer, as Capt. Powell is required at Yarmouth to complete the equipment of the new boat.

N. B. TRAVELLER'S LOSS.

GLACE BAY, July 20.—A New Brunswick commercial traveller, whose name is kept secret by the police, lost his purse, containing $100 on the Glace Bay Electric line this evening. The car was crowded and it is supposed that his pockets were picked. After the loss was discovered the car was brought to a standstill and each person searched. As several people got off the car before this was done the search was fruitless.

MANITOBA IS ALL RIGHT.

WINNIPEG, July 20.—The elections today resulted in a great conservative victory. This city elected three Tories.

OTTAWA, July 20.—Woe prevails in the liberals' camp tonight. The Siftonians have been confidently counting upon a clean majority of five in the Manitoba elections, and when return after return came in indicating the complete rout of the grit forces there was a feeling of depression in government circles here, and corresponding elation on the conservative side. It is confidently expected that British Columbia will tell the same story in October.

WINNIPEG, July 20.—Three conservatives were elected in Winnipeg city today. This is a growing time all over Canada for the conservatives.

BASE BALL.

Amateurs to Play Saturday.
Saturday afternoon it is the intention of the Amateur League management to put on a double-header; that is, two exhibition games between the four clubs, the Clippers, Franklins, Portlands and Y. M. C. A., on the Victoria grounds. Every follower of the game is acquainted with the players; they are all local men and each team has its following. But one admission will be expected for both games. Good ball may be expected. The three leaders are strong, and the Y. M. C. A. players will be greatly strengthened by Saturday. It is an innovation in base ball and one that will be heartily appreciated by the sport-loving public of St. John.

League Meeting Tonight.
A meeting of the executive of the St. John Amateur League is called for tonight at 9 o'clock at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., when business of the utmost importance will be transacted. A full attendance is desired.

Franklins v. Clippers Tonight.
The greatest game in the Amateur League series will take place tonight on the Shamrock grounds, when the leaders, the Clippers and Franklins meet. There is but nineteen points difference between them, with the advantage on the Clippers' side.

The Franklins have upset all league traditions, winning ten straight games, and feel confident of landing in first place tonight. The Clippers, on the other hand, are bound to retain the leadership, and, flushed with their Halifax victories, they will leave no stone unturned to still keep in the lead.

Two Wet to Play.
The scheduled game last evening in the Amateur League race between the Portlands and Y. M. C. A., on the Victoria grounds, did not take place on account of the rain.

Portlands v. Moncton.
On Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, on the Victoria grounds, Marsh Bridge, the Moncton team will play their return game with the Portlands of the St. John Amateur League. This is the first game here against an outside team this summer, and should be well patronized.

Church Teams to Play.
The Monarchs of St. James' church will play the base ball team of Trinity church at the St. James' picnic to Westfield Beach on Thursday of this week. The Monarchs are pretty evenly matched. It should be a good game.

A Junior Game.
The Young Portlands of Sheriff street last night trimmed the Young Jubilees, 9 to 8. Batteries: Burke and McParland; Ramsay and Ferris. The game was played on Strait Shore road.

Hardware Men Won.

LOVE'S YOUNG SWEET DREAM.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 20.—Victor Hughes and Miss Lou Foster, both of Windsor, drove to St. Croix, N. B., where they were married by Rev. Mr. Henry the same evening. After the marriage they drove to another town, where they remained until about five the next morning, when the groom was arrested on a charge of abduction from the maternal roof. He was subsequently discharged. The groom was unable to procure a marriage license in Windsor, as both parties were under age, but obtained one in Kings county. When the bride's relatives learned of her marriage, great excitement prevailed and every effort was made to locate the couple.

When brought to Windsor on Saturday morning, the bride was forced from the carriage and had her clothes torn, her head cut and was taken to her home, where she remained a captive all day, during which time the groom was under arrest. Efforts were made several times during the day by the groom's solicitor to gain possession of the bride, but without success.

A Windsor crowd watched the house all day, and late in the evening fully 1,000 people—men, women and children, had congregated. The excitement was at its height about 11.30, when a ladder, about 25 feet long, was put up to the window of the room in which the bride was kept captive by her mother.

The glass was quickly broken, but before the parties could enter the room, the young bride was taken to another part of the house. Enraged at being thus defeated, the ladder was removed and the front door was demolished and the crowd rushed in. There were no lights and great confusion prevailed. One of the shouts of the bride could be heard many blocks away. This increased the excitement, as many thought someone was being murdered.

Mayor Armstrong, with one of the town councillors, endeavored to quiet matters. Policemen arrived on the scene, but were unable to cope with such a multitude of people. When the groom entered the house, having obtained access by a ladder at a window, there was great cheering and when quietness prevailed, one of the councillors informed the vast assembly that Mr. Hughes was at present in the house, where he would remain with his wife, and that Police Constable Conlon would also remain to see that no harm was done to either party.

He asked the crowd to disperse quietly and the crowd did so. This they did, at midnight, after cheers for the groom, who is popular. The officers of the town remained on the premises.

MUST DIE OR ELSE GIVE UP THE GIRL.
So Says Threatening Postal Cards Sent Daily to Mr. Langer, Bellhanger.

NEW YORK, July 20.—By a slender wire hangs the life of George Langer, a hanger of bells, for every day brings a postal card telling him that a full portion of death will be served to him unless he renounces Miss Augusta Rosen.

He gets two or three threats a day and he worries so much about them that he has not adjusted a door bell or a push button for a week.

Miss Rosen formerly presided in his mother's restaurant, and the mother says her son was there so much that the customers grew weary of seeing him. He and his maternal relative had words about the young woman, and Augusta departed. So did Langer.

Than the threats began.
"We are in need of money," said threat No. 1, "and will ask you to send us some." (No address.)

A kind friend sent Langer word that the plot was to get him away from Miss Rosen, and that it would be unsafe for him at present to go out at night alone.

One of the notes asked him to call at No. 126 Elizabeth street for work. There dwell in that house 613 Italians, and none could be found who knew anything about the invitation.

Another letter, which professed to be sent for the purpose of luring him to Brooklyn to be killed, asked Langer to call at an address in Kent avenue at eleven o'clock at night. Further attention from the writers who sign themselves the "M. B. Association," can be obtained, the letter says, by the payment of $50 or a discontinuance of the electrician's attentions to Miss Rosen.

"She and I," explained Langer yesterday, "are not engaged yet, but we will marry in two years. I fear no man, and if any man comes to kill me one or both of us shall die the death. Not long from now Augusta and I give an engagement party that will 'beat the band.'"

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

A meeting of the board of school trustees was held last evening at 8 o'clock. A. I. Trueman in the chair. The trustees present were D. H. Nasse, C. B. Lockhart, John Keefe, R. Maxwell, Mrs. M. Dever and Mrs. E. C. Skinner. H. S. Bridges, superintendent of the city schools, and Edward Manning, secretary of the board of trustees, were also present. The secretary read the minutes of the meetings held June 8th, June 16th, June 25th and July 3rd.

At last night's meeting applications from teachers were read. W. L. McDiarmid was appointed principal of Victoria annex. J. F. Owens and L. H. Randall's demand for increased salary was referred to the teachers' committee.

A communication from Dr. Inch was read, in which he approved of schools closing on the last Friday in June.

It was moved and seconded that a contract be again entered into with the N. B. Telephone Co. for the ensuing year at the rate of $40 per annum. Miss Margaret H. McClaskey's request that payment be made to her for days lost by reason of sickness incurred in a city school was referred to the buildings committee.

The following changes in the teaching staff were made: Malcolm D. Brown was appointed principal of Dufferin school; Miss E. Colwell was removed from Alexandra to Victoria school; Miss Lottie Fullerton was appointed to the staff of La Tour school. The secretary's report for June showed an enrollment of 7,173, the largest number yet recorded. The daily average attendance was 5,502, or 75 per cent. of the enrollment.

CHURCH BELLS TOLLED

Immediately Upon Receipt of the Cable Announcing the Pope's Death.

Immediately upon receipt of the news of the Pope's death, Bishop Casey was notified, and he began at once to make preparations for carrying out the usual ceremonies connected with the death of a Pope. The bells of the Cathedral and the Church of St. John the Baptist were tolled ninety-four times out of respect for the dead pontiff, each stroke signifying one year of Leo's life.

The Cathedral is being heavily draped in black. Bells will toll every evening after the Angelus till the next Pope is elected. There is also to be a Pontifical High Mass celebrated sometime this week. It is not known for sure just what time it will take place, but probably on Friday.

GARDEN PARTY AT FAIRVILLE.

The garden party last evening, under the auspices of the Church of the Good Shepherd, at Fairville, was held indoors owing to the state of the weather. Two more of these events will take place, one tonight, the other tomorrow night. New prizes will be offered each night for the different events. A gate prize has been offered, to be decided upon the last night. One of the tickets to be sold at the gate draws the prize, which is a very handsome chair. If the weather permits tonight, the sports will be held on the grounds near the church. Among other things in the way of entertainment there will be three different gramophones.

LEASED McCULLOUGH'S LAKE.

A company composed of several American men and some St. John citizens, with W. E. Skillen of St. Martins at their head, have leased McCullough's Lake, which is said to be one of the best fishing lakes in the province. A large property in connection with the lake has been secured. A comfortable cottage is being built, as well as a boat house sufficient to accommodate three or four boats. The members of the O'Neill Lumber Company, on whose property the lake is situated, have been made honorary members. The scheme would seem to be one very much in favor of the gentlemen who are fortunate enough to get into it.

AT ST. PHILLIP'S CHURCH.

Rev. B. B. Johnson and wife, late of Niagara Falls, will conduct evangelical service at St. Philip's Church this evening. Mrs. Johnson, who is an ordained preacher, spoke at the Indian town mission yesterday afternoon, and at St. Philip's Church last evening. Mrs. Johnson made so good an impression last evening that she has been induced to remain over tonight. She will later go to Halifax, where she will remain for some days. A camp meeting will be held here soon and will be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, assisted by Rev. Mr. Coffin and other church workers.

THE DRY DOCK.

A meeting of the sub-committee on the agreement with the dry dock company was called for last evening. Besides the recorder and city engineer, only Ald. Macne and Baxter out of the seven members who compose the committee were able to attend. It was felt that under such circumstances discussion of the details of the agreement would be useless. Another meeting will be called for Thursday evening, when it is hoped to get down to business.

AT BISLEY.

MONTREAL, July 20.—Bisley cables say that so far the event of the meeting as far as Canadians are concerned is the winning by Captain Elliott of the Canadian team of the Keystone Burgundy cup.

In the Daily Graphic, Smith, King and Naughton each won 2 pounds. In the Graphic Hayhurst is tied for one of the principal prizes and Stewart won 3 pounds.

In the Daily Telegraph Simpson got 5 pounds, Russell 3 pounds, Smith 2 pounds, the recorder and city engineer, only Ald. Macne and Baxter out of the seven members who compose the committee were able to attend. It was felt that under such circumstances discussion of the details of the agreement would be useless. Another meeting will be called for Thursday evening, when it is hoped to get down to business.

WANTED—A case of Headache that KUMFORT Powders will not cure.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Borden enquired as to the date on which the government proposed to bring down its long promised G. T. R. measures. There was no notice on the order paper of any resolution, and possibly Mr. Wilfrid might be in a position to give some information.

Laurier replied he could not say exactly when the government policy would be announced, but certainly this week.

The redistribution committee held a meeting tonight, at which Toronto city boundaries were discussed and two rival propositions put in. Cape Breton Island loses one member, making four instead of five. The government proposal is to join Victoria county to Cape Breton county and give the joint counties two single member constituencies in place of three, with Sydney harbor as the dividing line.

An animated discussion took place on the item of $56,940 for repayment to Peterson, Tate & Co., the amount of their deposit and interest at 3 per cent. of the fast Atlantic contract.

Mr. Borden drew attention to the boasts with which the liberals had heralded the fast line contract and how it had petered out to nothing, as many of the schemes of the liberals had.

Mr. Oiler thought the money should be paid back, the country thereby getting cheaply out of a bad bargain.

Mr. Monk agreed that the money should be returned, but not the interest.

Considerable discussion took place as to whether a contract had been signed and not with the Allans, and what steps Sir Charles Tupper took before going out of power.

Sir William Mulock said Sir Charles Tupper had arranged a fast Atlantic service contract, but it was a bad one and was not signed.

Mr. Borden pointed out this was not the case, as all that was required to the contract was the assent of the governor general, and this could not be obtained.

Mulock said he failed to see that the country had suffered any by reason of there being no fast Atlantic line; indeed the necessity for one was a much-disputed question.

Mr. Monk considered the frank admission of Mulock a most important one, and one that the people should not lose sight of.

Mr. Borden said the country had been led for seven years to think the government had done all they could for a fast service. The postmaster general now said they done nothing, and practically that they would do nothing, although the country was so prosperous.

Mr. Oiler said the people of Canada would be much annoyed at the way they had been fooled. At a banquet at Toronto not long ago at an opportunity a telegram was read stating, "Fast Atlantic service signed." This was received with loud applause, and reflected the feeling of the people. Now the government went back on its record.

Eventually the item passed and the house adjourned at 1 a. m.

KISHENEFF REFUGEES CANNOT STAY IN VILLAGES.

POLICE ORDER THEIR EXPULSION FROM LOCALITIES THAT ARE CLOSED TO THEM.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 20.—The police commissary of the Kisheneff district has transmitted to the police commissaries in his jurisdiction the following circular:

"As a result of the disturbances at Kisheneff, April 19 and 20 and in consequence, also, of the alarming reports in circulation and the possibility of fresh disorders, many Jewish families left Kisheneff and settled in villages of the district, contrary to the law of May, 1888.

"Consequently, with a view to avoiding the very disagreeable results to which this much talked of, I herewith instruct commissaries to take vigorous measures for the expulsion of such Jews from localities where they have no right to live.

"I think it my duty to add that if the commissaries fail to carry out these instructions I will deem myself obliged to inform the governor thereof."

The foreign office authorizes the statement that the Russian government is technically consistent and irrefragable, but it thinks that it will not tend to convince the world of the strength of Russia's case or of her intention to amend her policy toward the Jews in the future.

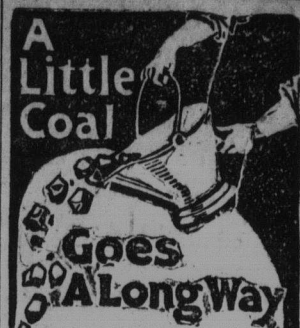

The Times says it is impossible that such a striking demonstration by the government of a great people as was afforded by the diplomatic communications should not come to the notice of the czar, who would not fail to realize its importance.

THE PROVINCIAL MATCHES.
Riflemen will be interesting in learning that long range shooting is to be introduced at the coming P. R. A. matches. As the range at Sussex is not fully equipped with firing points and targets, not very much will be attempted this year, but there will be at least one match at 800 and one at 900 yards, and both will count in the grand aggregate.

The competitions will open on Tuesday, August 18th, and the firing on that day and on Wednesday will be confined to the shorter ranges. The Nursery, Donville, Prince of Wales and Association matches will follow in order, and the ranges, number of shots and other conditions will be as last year, but all shooting will be in the prone position.

Then a change will be made to the large targets, and the Provincial will be fired at 800 yards and a match for Hon. Mr. Pugsley's cup at 900 yards.

Programmes and entry forms will soon be issued and will be obtainable from the county secretaries and captains of rifle clubs. Entries should be made prior to August 13th. All residents of the province, members of the militia or civilians are eligible for towards heating a house if fed into a furnace made to heat—one which does not send the fuel up the chimney in smoke.

'Sunshine' Furnaces

will extract more heat from a unit of coal than any other good Furnace.

Every square inch from the bottom of fire-pot to top of dome is a direct radiating surface.

The dome is made of heavy steel-plate, which makes it more effective heater than the cast-iron dome put in common Furnaces.

The "Sunshine" has every improved feature and still is so simple that any person can operate it.

OTTAWA IDEAS

'ABOUT BLAIR.

Opinion is Believed he will

Draw All Support from the Government

His Course Approved by the Opposition and Many Leading Liberals—Emmerson Says No.

J. D. McKenna, a member of the press gallery at Ottawa is in the city today. Speaking to the Star on the Ottawa view of Mr. Blair's resignation, Mr. McKenna said:—

"You may say that Mr. Blair's course has the endorsement of His Majesty's loyal opposition and of a considerable section of the liberal members of parliament to sever his connection with the Laurier administration, rather than take the responsibility for a measure which he has condemned in such emphatic terms, has elicited many favorable expressions of opinion, not only from friends but from some who have never been able to appreciate Mr. Blair's administration of the Intercolonial Railway."

"The crux of the position is that after Mr. Blair informed Sir Wilfrid Laurier of his intention to resign, the scheme which had as its basis the paralleling of the Intercolonial and the presentation of many million dollars to a carefully selected party of grafters the premier must have the support of his minister of railways to live and act the lie by remaining a member of the cabinet and thus give tacit support to the iniquity which forced him out of the government."

"It is said that Mr. Blair will accept office under the government and continue to support the liberal party in matters of policy other than that having a bearing on the Grand Trunk Pacific. From what I could gather previous to my departure from Ottawa I can scarcely credit this. Mr. Blair has strengthened himself all over Canada by his many action. If he consents to sacrifice this prestige for the emoluments which may accrue from an office of the crown he most assuredly will prove a disappointment to all the best elements of Canadianism."

"However, the few days will definitely determine his position, and if it is not antagonistic to the exploitation of Canada's finances many opinions of men who are in close touch with political conditions will be found lacking in substance."

"The news of Mr. Blair's resignation was announced by the opposition journals several days in advance of the government organs, was received by many liberals as a huge joke. When it was found that Mr. Blair had really decided to sever his connection with the cabinet consternation reigned. It is generally thought that Sir Wilfrid Laurier misjudged the New Brunswick cabinet representative, thinking that by his sunny ways he could mould Mr. Blair to his own way of thinking."

Hon. H. R. Emerson passed through St. John Saturday on his way home on business connected with the N. B. Petroleum Co. He is reported as having told some friends on the train that Mr. Blair will not have the support of more than one member of parliament from New Brunswick, and perhaps of not one.

SWEET PEACE IN ST. PHILLIP'S.

Rev. Mr. Coffin Contrasts Present Blessed Conditions With Those Under Mr. Morley.

Harmony rules in St. Philip's, according to Rev. Mr. Coffin. The white dove of peace has flapped its wings and settled comfortably on the roof of the Lower Cove colored church, quieting all unruly conduct, healing injured feelings and bringing the calm of sweet contentment to all. The congregation are now bound together in love. The brethren are living in unity. There are no more broils, no dissensions, and no prolific abuse among members. They bear one another's burdens and, singing as they go, shut out from their thoughts all memories of former unkind acts. Peace reigns supreme.

But it was not always thus. Mr. Coffin says that not so very long ago, in the time of his beloved predecessor, the Rev. J. A. Morley, the church was divided against itself. There was a big lot of trouble over what is known as the Ferrie trust fund, and Mr. Coffin sees now that owing to circumstances Mr. Morley was compelled to "take sides" in the matter. This led to a division in the ranks of the faithful and for a time there were contentions. Mr. Coffin recalls that even during his own pastorate there was one what might be called rather discordant meeting in the schoolroom over the church. But he was not there.

All this, however, is now over. The trouble and storm has been succeeded by peace and calm. Mr. Coffin feels that he can point with pride to the satisfactory condition of St. Philip's church. During his pastorate the membership has trebled, and what is more to the point the services are perfectly harmonious. Rev. Mr. Morley was not always sure what sort of a reception he would meet with on his pastoral visits, but Mr. Coffin can go to any or every house in his congregation not only without fear of actual bodily harm but sure of a hearty welcome. Mr. Coffin may be added, feels justly proud of his work in binding up wounded hearts and drawing together into closer affinity those souls which had previously been drifting apart.

The island people have not yet had time to form definite opinions.

TOO MUCH WHITEWASH.

There have been some complaints about the careless way in which the painters are doing their work in the Union depot. Passengers rallied all morning because their coats and dresses bore drops of kalsomine that were not visible when they entered the station. In fact, one young man was heard to remark rather vindictively that he had started from home with black clothes and that when he boarded the train any passing observer might have thought he was in an ironing parlour.

THE TANYARD GANG AGAIN

Delegates in Police Court Today.

It Costs $20 To Bite a Cop.

—More Fines.

The tanyard gang bobbed up serenely in police court this morning, reviving almost forgotten memories of the Doherty murder trial. Three boys were arrested by the police for loitering about the streets between three and four o'clock this morning, and it turned out that two of them had been in the old crowd. The prisoners were George McLaughlin, John Beckwith and Harold McNeill. They had been out on a picnic or something, and coming to the city at a late hour they decided not to go home. They were arrested near Smyth street, after one of them had tried to run away. This morning the magistrate said things and warned them that they would be given the utmost penalty provided by law. The boys were remanded for sentence.

The four sailors who made the trouble about the city on Friday night were disposed of today. One of them, who had bitten Officer Sullivan, was fined twenty dollars and the others eight dollars each. The fines were paid by the ship and the men released.

John Booth and George Saunders were each fined four dollars for drunkenness.

Bridget Beers did not feel well. Drinking? Perish the thought! What could one little drink or even two do to her? But she is almost seventy years of age, and Brussels street booze was different from other kinds. Bridget had been in a sad condition quite early in the evening, and a night's sleep had failed to do away with all traces of her outbreak. She was sent to jail for two months.

There was quite a racket on board the tug Flushing lying at her wharf at Indiantown, between ten and eleven o'clock last night. John Taylor, while under spirituous influence made things lively for a while. He ended by grabbing an axe and starting hot foot after Capt. Hiram D. Ferris. Now He did not feel inclined to soar away and be a little angel, so he naturally objected to such treatment, and when Taylor threatened to do some killing, the services of a police officer were requisitioned. This morning Taylor was fined twenty dollars or two months in jail.

CAPT. IVEY PRAISED.

A short time ago the London, Eng., Sunday Strand published a lengthy article on the work of the Shipwrecked Fishermen's and Mariners' Royal Benevolent Society of London. This article has been republished in pamphlet form and is being sent wherever the work of the society is known.

Capt. Robert H. Ivey, formerly one of the best known master mariners sailing from St. John, has for years held the position of superintendent in the London institution, and in the pamphlet he receives much credit for his work. One of the cuts accompanying the article shows Capt. Ivey seated beside the now historical boat used by Grace Darling, which is carefully preserved in the institution.

Half the Fun of Business is buying goods at prices below regular and selling them at prices that make bargains. We've a large outlet here for all classes of worthy goods and quick cash purchases keep us constantly supplied with new attractions. Special chances are coming all the time, and people who watch this store news regularly fare vastly better than those who don't.

Compared with other stores our prices are considerably lower on the same class of goods. Compared with other stores these values are vastly better. Make your own comparisons:

$1.50 White Lawn Waists for 98c.

It was very fortunate for us that the manufacturer made a greater quantity than he could sell, consequently we purchased them much below what it cost to make them.

Don't Miss This Great Bargain.

Ladies' White Lawn Waists, made up in handsome up-to-date style, finished with embroidery insertion and fine tucks. A pretty hemstitched tie with each. Sizes 32 to 38 bust measure. These would sell in the regular way at $1.50 each. While they last only Black Sateen Waists.

Prettily finished with wide tucks and many rows of stitching. Made from an excellent quality of material. Size 32 to 44 bust measure. Good value at $1.25.

Special, 98c.

Summer Dress Skirts

200 Navy Blue and White Stripe and Spock Duck Skirts, trimmed with bands of plain blue duck, now only $1.49

White P. K. Skirts.

Good White Pique Skirts, good style, 7 gore, flare. Regularly $1.50, now only $1.19

$2.25 White Organdy Waists for $1.49

1.50 Black Muslin Waists for .98

1.50 Colored Waists for .75

Child's White Pique Reefers, 1.50

Supply and demand are the prime factors in any business and Dry Goods values are regulated by that standard. It is easy to understand why Summer Goods should sell cheap towards Fall, when people have mostly stopped buying, but this store reverses the order of things and makes prices lowest at the height of the season. Warm weather stuffs never cheaper than now—partly because of our audacity in buying. We never hesitate to take big quantities where prices are sufficiently low, and that fact explains the presence here of such unusual bargains.
