INCENDIARY KILLS FOUR.

Set Fire to a New York Tenement.

Four Suffocated and Two Fatally Injured Today—Firemen and Police Save Many.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Four persons were suffocated and two were overcome by smoke in a fire which gutted a five-story brick double tenement house at 15 Moore street, Williamsburg, early today. Two of the injured, a boy and a girl, probably will die. Incendiarism is supposed. The fire originated in the basement and ran up a dumb water shaft, causing crowded flat to fill rapidly with smoke. The flames spread through the flat on the fourth and fifth floors and escape for the persons asleep there was cut off.

BATTLE RESUMED; RUSSIANS RALLY

They Capture a Japanese Position and Eleven Guns—Russian Losses Over 40,000 Men.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 17, 1.15 p. m.—Official reports received by the war office, dated early this morning, say that the battle resumed on the daybreak today. The Russians still hold the right bank of the Shalke river, while the pressure on the Russian left has been relieved and the contest on the right is continuing. Unofficial reports say the Russians had some success at Syakhe yesterday, where General Kurapatkin again took the offensive. While admitting that the Russian losses were very heavy, but not offering figures, the general staff declares the Japanese reports of the Russian losses are exaggerated, while their own are minimized.

SUNDAY'S FIGHTING. BERLIN, Oct. 17, 11 a. m.—Col. Gaedke, the war correspondent of the Tageblatt telegraphs from Mukden that when he left the battlefield yesterday at 8 p. m., a general engagement was in progress, which was not yet decisive, although not unfavorable to the Russians. The battle opened at 7 o'clock in the morning, 12 miles south of Mukden. At about 2 p. m. he heard heavy artillery firing from the Russian right. He understood that General Stakenberg was attacking the Japanese right flank. An immense number of shells were being fired at Mukden. On this, the eighth day of the fighting, the weather was fine. Col. Gaedke sent another despatch Saturday, which was detained at St. Petersburg, describing the operations on the Russian right, which he accompanied. He says that after four days hard fighting with losses the Russians had reached the base of Tunia Pass, which is situated eight miles from Mukden. The Russian losses were only from 200 to 500 yards distant from the Japanese positions and intended to capture them on the morning of the fifteenth, but the order to retreat arrived during the night, and they retired. The Russian infantry and artillery co-operated with great success. In retreating from the pass the Russian firing heard from the Russian center and right on the fourteenth was considerably stronger than the firing at Liao Yang. The Russian losses up to the evening of Oct. 15 were estimated at 15,000.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE 11 GUNS. St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—General Sakharoff telegraphs that the Russians yesterday captured Lonely Tree hill, 11 Japanese guns and one quick firer. JAPS GET 14 MORE. TOKIO, Oct. 17, noon.—It is reported here that Major Takahashi's battalion captured fourteen guns at Sachu on Oct. 16. This makes a total of 34 guns captured by General Nodzu's centre army since Oct. 14.

RUSSIANS LEFT 10,000 DEAD. TOKIO, Oct. 16, 1 p. m.—A report dealing with the Russian casualties received here at midnight, says that, according to a report from the centre army, one hundred and fifty prisoners were taken on Oct. 15. The Russian dead, under investigation on that day, will reach 500. On October 14, the enemy's dead totalled 1,000. One hundred prisoners were taken, together with rifles, guns and wagons. Under investigation here at midnight, the number of the centre army are estimated at 2,500. The enemy's dead already investigated, the reports total at $550, but the enemy's losses during the two days of fierce engagements on Oct. 14 and 15, are not included in this number. Moreover there are some undiscovered dead by all of the armies, so that the enemy's dead left on the field will reach a total of over 10,000. Applying the usual calculation and making reasonable allowance for the fighting on the 14th and 15th, the Russian losses will exceed 40,000.

TOKIO, Oct. 17.—It is authoritative-ly reported that the Russian fleet at Port Arthur is suffering severely from the fire of the Japanese batteries. Reports of a recent attempt by the fleet to sortie are unfounded, as is the reported capture of another blockade runner. ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 17.—The Novoe Vremya, protesting against the sending of the Baltic squadron to the Far East without a single friendly port on the route thither in which to repair or refit, advances the suggestion of purchasing one of the smaller Dutch East India Islands for the purpose of establishing a naval station where the squadron might be finally overhauled before starting on the last stage of the journey for Port Arthur. FAKKELBERG'S DEPARTURE, Oct. 17.—The Russian Baltic Sea fleet passed the southern extremity of Langeland Island this morning. The Danish cruiser Hinda exchanged salutes with the Russian flagship and then accompanied the Russian vessels to the northward. The fleet comprise twenty-four ships. Shortly afterwards the vessels anchored in Langeland Belt to take in coal. Three steamers were awaiting them. HARBIN, Oct. 17.—It is reported

BABY'S BODY IN A FURNACE.

A Horrible Find Made in Woodstock.

Child's Mother, a Servant—Under Arrest Charged With Murder—Coroner's Inquest.

(Special to the Star). WOODSTOCK, Oct. 17.—The body of a female infant, apparently well developed, was found by G. W. Vanwart and his hired man in Mr. Vanwart's furnace yesterday. A girl named Linda Drosse, a domestic, working for the past two weeks for J. N. W. Winslow, and for some years previous for G. W. Vanwart, has been arrested on suspicion of being the mother of the child, and of having murdered it and placed the body where it was found. Coroner W. W. Hay began an investigation this morning. Mr. Vanwart, the first witness, said that yesterday morning he went down to the furnace with his man, named Robert Magee. He told Magee to clean out the furnace preparatory to building a fire. The body of an infant was found. He had suspected a domestic who had been in his employ up to about two weeks previous, and who had been working at J. N. W. Winslow's, but sleeping at his home, of being, enroute and had accused her of it, and she had admitted that she was. When he found the body he called to her in her room, she was in bed, and told her of what he had discovered. She told him to do with it what he liked. Her name was Linda Drosse. J. N. W. Winslow said that Linda Drosse worked at his house as a domestic for the past two weeks. She worked every day from half-past six in the morning to eight in the evening. Robert Magee gave evidence corroborating that of Mr. Vanwart as to the finding of the body of the infant. The inquest was then adjourned until half-past one this afternoon. In order that the testimony of Dr. Hand may be given, as well as other witnesses. In the meanwhile the girl, Linda Drosse, is held in goal, pending the result of the inquiry.

MURDERED IN CHURCH

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 16.—Clay Crubb, a prominent distiller, shot and instantly killed O. L. Davis, his brother-in-law and former business partner, in Piney church, Davidson county, this morning. Davis was attending church when Crubb walked up behind him and emptied three chambers of his revolver into his body. Crubb immediately surrendered to the authorities. There had been bad blood between the two for some time. Davis leaves a family and was a man of wealth.

MONTE CRISTO'S PRISON.

Chateau d'Ir Yields Big Profits From Curious Visitors. MARSEILLES, Oct. 16.—The Chateau d'Ir, an island in this port of Marseilles, the scene of Dumas' "Monte Cristo," which had been leased last year by the municipality for $2,000 a year rent to an enterprising speculator, has within the last 12 months yielded a net profit of $3,000. Thousands of tourists have visited the cells where the imaginary Dantes and the Abbe Ferra, were immured, and from which Dantes escaped with the abbe's secret of fabulous riches. The small admission fee charged and the sale of steamer tickets have been so enormous that the municipal authorities are now seriously considering the advisability of running the show in the interests of the city.

A BULL-DOG IN 'A BUS.

(Paris Letter in London Telegraph). "Placid but grim, a brindled bull-dog sat in a bus. In the seat by his side was an elderly gentleman. The conductor came up agast. Do you mean to tell me, he said to the passenger, "that you are unacquainted with the police regulations forbidding the presence of dogs in buses—especially bull-dogs?" he added, eyeing the animal. "What of that?" answered the elderly gentleman. "The conductor, naturally choleric, like all his colleagues, grew purple with rage. "Remove that dog instantly!" he shouted to the passenger, who, perfectly undisturbed, said, "Certainly not." "Then get out and take the dog with you." "By no means." "I shall throw the dog out myself." "Do so." But the conductor did not, having caught the eye of the bull-dog, who was beginning to show interest in the proceedings. "I shall call the police," the conductor went on. "If you like." The policeman came. "Monseur is surely aware," he began amiably, "that dogs are not allowed in omnibuses?" "I dare say they are not," the placid, elderly gentleman replied. "I request you to remove that dog." "Most certainly not." "I shall then take out a summons against you. Kindly give me your name and address." "With pleasure, if you wish it. But on what ground will you summon me?" "This is too much. You are defying the law. You will be summoned for bringing a bull-dog into an omnibus." "I fancy not. Why did you not explain before?" That is not my bull-dog, and I have not the least idea why it sits beside me," said the elderly gentleman, sweetly.

BORDEN IS CONFIDENT OF A GREAT VICTORY.

His Meeting in Montreal Was A Wonderful Triumph—"The People Are Turning to The Old Party" He Says.

MONTEAL, Oct. 16.—Hon. R. Borden left town this evening by the C. P. R. for Quebec, where he will speak Monday night. Tuesday afternoon he will be in Three Rivers, Wednesday night in Sherbrooke, Thursday in Woodstock, N. B., Friday in Fredericton, Saturday in St. John, N. B., Monday in Moncton and in Halifax on the 27th.

MONTEAL, Oct. 16.—The conservative demonstration yesterday afternoon and evening was among the largest of the kind yet seen in Montreal. The procession started from the Hautes Murs at 4:30 and paraded the streets, gathering in volume as it proceeded. From the time of starting until it reached the Monument National at 8:30 it was a triumph.

The enthusiasm was most marked all day through. There were ten brass bands. The McGill and Laval students were in evidence to the number of some hundreds, and citizens of various divisions of Montreal turned out in force. Some idea of the size of the procession may be gathered from the fact that it took three-quarters of an hour to pass a given point. A detachment of mounted police followed the parade, following them came a tallyho with prominent conservatives, including the executive of the conservative clubs of the city.

Then came twenty double rigs, with officers of the clubs. Each carriage carried a banner with mottoes. There were over three hundred carriages.

Some of the mottoes were as follows: Borden, a man of his word. Canada for the Canadians. "Made in Canada." The people behind Borden and protection. Canadian unity, peace and progress. Borden and victory. Borden brings Canada no shame. Liberals made Ontario's blunders. Borden, the man courageous. Borden's a winner. The people are with Borden. A workman's policy. The national policy made Canada. Less politics; more protection. Borden leads the machine. Not Prefontaine's pets. A good leader; a good cause. Protection that protects. Adequate protection a winner. What's the matter with Borden. Borden, a man to cheer for. It's time for a change. What the "Dampier Act" on November 3.

Peace and Harmony. Borden, the man who speaks. Protection and higher wages. No American trusts need apply. As darkness came on the streets were lit by the city's electric lights. The procession went east as far as Frontenac street. All along the route there was a cheering crowd of citizens. They proceeded as far as St. Henry to Dr. Bernard's residence. From there they retraced the route by Atwater avenue and St. Catherine street. At Sir John A. Macdonald's status on Dominion square there was a tremendous display of fireworks. Mr. Borden was there taken possession of and was taken up. The residence of the Hon. J. G. Bourke was now illuminated by little lanterns provided for the occasion.

Union Jacks and red-roses were also decorating horses and carriages, and the procession was a perfect blaze of colored lights. At the Hautes Murs and Laval were in the procession, and as several hours were occupied in the event, sandwiches and other refreshments were served.

On arriving at the Monument National Mr. Borden received an ovation. Of course not a note of the vast assemblage could get into the building. But as it was Saturday night, and the market was closed by it was impossible to arrange for an outdoor overflow meeting without seriously interfering with the regular traffic of the street. Weather conditions were fortunately of the best, and such a turnout of citizens has not been seen in Montreal for many a long day.

"I wouldn't believe there were so many carriages in Montreal," said one old resident as he saw the immense cavalcade pass by. French-Canadians were there in great force, and scores of mottoes displayed on banners were in the French language. Between tunes by the bands, songs in English and French were taken up by hundreds and crowds on the streets swelled the refrain.

It was certainly such a demonstration as any party in any country might well be proud of. The front of Monument National was decorated by a trophy of flags surrounding a portrait of Mr. Borden with electric illumination.

All along the route such expressions as "What's the matter with Borden?" "He's all right," were to be heard. The name of Borden was spelled out and followed by cheers. At times the street car traffic was absolutely stopped and teams outside of the procession had difficulty in penetrating the crowd. After the meeting ceased and those who could not get in realized the fact, they gradually drifted away and the city settled down to the ordinary work of Saturday.

JAMES ROBINSON, the unanimous choice of the conservatives of Northumberland county.

The meeting at the Monument National was a triumph for Mr. Borden. The vast edifice was filled to the very doors and thousands had to turn back, unable to find admission. The managers of the Monument National at once gathered within its walls. The platform was crowded to its full capacity, the wires having been removed, and a great room for hundreds who stood around. The auditorium was packed. Every seat was taken, while the aisles were crowded with men and women. Students rendered patriotic songs in both languages, "Rule Britannia" and "Canada Mon Foy, Mon Amour."

When Hon. L. O. Tallon, former prime minister of the province and member of the Upper government in 1881, entered with Mr. Borden and conducted the leader to a seat on the platform, the hall fairly went wild with waving of chairs, hats and handkerchiefs. Every one rose to his feet, and the cheering was universal. Cheers upon cheers rent the air, and it was some minutes before the crowd was settled down.

On the platform with Mr. Borden were many of the candidates who will stand in the several constituencies at the next election. Hon. Mr. Tallon opened the meeting with a brief address. Mr. Borden when he rose to speak was given another ovation. Students shouted his name, spelled it, and he was assured in both languages and in vigorous tones that he was all right, and still the crowd cheered.

It was full five minutes before the cheering subsided and the speaker was allowed to address the meeting. When he proceeded to address the chairman and the people present in French, the applause broke forth afresh. Cheer upon cheer was emitted as he proceeded to reiterate his freely as he would like in their best language. He went to lay down the principles of the party which he was called upon to lead.

The union of Lafontaine and Baldwin had cemented the races and laid the foundation of this great country. The leading political idea of these two great patriots had been liberty and equality of all before the constitution and before the law. Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir George Etienne Cartier had been their worthy successors. He would try to carry out, so far as in his power, the principles laid down by these great patriots. He considered himself above prejudice of race and creed, and they could be assured that if, as circumstances seemed to indicate, he were called upon to form a government after next election he would give the French-Canadian his proper share of representation and influence. He lauded the broad spirit displayed by the French-Canadian majority in this province towards the minority, and assured them that the other provinces entertained none but friendly sentiments towards old Quebec.

Speaking in English, Mr. Borden vigorously laid down the conservative policy in a few words. He dealt in strong language with the ever found in a liberal paper that he was here to decide whether Monk or Tarte or Casgrain was to be leader of this province. Sir John A. Macdonald had come to this province, said that paper, and called Cartier his leader. There was no man more untied to leadership than Canadian in the best sense of the term, and the speakers upon his merits and the honors upon his merits, and the honors upon his merits, and the honors upon his merits.

So far as Mr. Tarte was concerned, it was well known that he could take good care of himself. It was also well known that he had left the cabinet as a protest against the policy of refusing adequate protection to the working man, manufacturer, the farmer, and all classes the community. He questioned whether one member of the present government would give office for any cause or any principle. As to Mr. Monk, Mr. Borden was in the midst of an eloquent passage paying a tribute to his energy, his industry, his eloquence, and his high character, when Mr. Monk, who was just returning with Leonard on the train, managed to get through the crowd at a side door and came in. His entrance at that moment was particularly opportune and was greeted with cheer upon cheer, which were renewed as Mr. Borden expressed his conviction that Mr. Monk would be triumphantly returned in his country.

As to Mr. Casgrain, Mr. Borden referred to his admirable qualities as a parliamentarian and a fighter, and he was equally convinced that Mr. Casgrain, despite all efforts of the machine which he knew was let loose against him, would be returned at the head of the poll in Montmorency. He was asked who was behind him. The people of Canada, he believed, were behind him. Then, without wishing to underestimate the great men who had upheld the conservative cause in this province, he said that he never had a better class of candidates been in the field than those who were standing as candidates in the conservative interests today.

THOUSANDS HEAR MISS BOOTH. The Opera House Crowded Twice Yesterday. Canadian Army's Great Leader Gave Two Inspiring and Impressive Addresses Yesterday.

Miss Eva Booth, the retiring head of the Salvation Army in Canada, addressed the meetings at the Opera House yesterday. The Opera House on both occasions was crowded as it never was before. The eloquent words of the speaker were given in an unflinching and revealing manner. She said that she had been in Canada for some time and that she had seen the work of the Salvation Army in this country. She said that she had seen the work of the Salvation Army in this country. She said that she had seen the work of the Salvation Army in this country.

Her heart was stirred by the large audience assembled before her. The people of St. John had made quick roads to her heart at the first meeting she had held here, and since then she and the Salvationists of this city had stood shoulder to shoulder in many fights. It would probably be the last Sabbath meeting she would address in St. John and she would be a source of blessing to many.

She wished to read a couple of verses from the Bible, but she was interrupted by the cheering of the audience. THE EVENING MEETING. In the evening Miss Booth was given an ovation. She spoke from the verse in the Psalms, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." This was a very dear word to her. It was overwhelming in its suggestiveness. It was taught to the children in the cradle, and it was the comfort of old age.

She went on to explain at some length the appropriateness and suggestiveness of this name. She pointed out that the shepherd, poor, mustard and con-back to us the great creature, the tenderness and the watchfulness of the shepherd, poor, mustard and con-back to us the great creature, the tenderness and the watchfulness of the shepherd, poor, mustard and con-back to us the great creature.

CONSERVATIVE PROSPECTS ARE ROSY IN QUEBEC.

Liberal Forces Discouraged; Conservatives United--St. Joseph's College Boy Opposes Hon. R. Lemieux.

MONTEAL, Que., Oct. 16.—A feature of the campaign in the Montreal district of Quebec which gives great uneasiness to the Liberal candidates is their inability to reach "the responsible ministers" of the Liberal government. Raymond Prefontaine is so engrossed in matters pertaining to his own constituency of Massonville and the district of the officials of his department outside of the province of Quebec that he is inaccessible to the candidates in the Montreal district. The consequence is that these candidates are very much discouraged because of their inability to discuss their organization plans and receive assurances which would warrant them to meet the conditions which exist in their respective constituencies.

Falling to gain the ear of Mr. Prefontaine, for these and other reasons, they are venting their dissatisfaction on Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, solicitor general in his own behalf, is compelled to refer the candidates back to Mr. Prefontaine with expressions of dissatisfaction at the way the campaign is being conducted. This attitude on the part of Mr. Lemieux has communicated itself generally throughout the Montreal district to such an extent that the Liberal leaders in the various constituencies have become seized of the fact that the organization of the Liberal party much boasted in the Liberal press, is more or less non-existent.

As against this, the magnificent demonstration of the Conservatives on Friday and Saturday, have had the effect of impressing the public generally, including the Liberal workers, that as in the respective organizations it is hard to get the balance is largely in favor of the Conservatives.

Setting on the general result was a dogmatic market change. Whereas a few days ago, odds were procurable at 3 to 1 against the Conservatives today it is thirty-one years old, a native of Gaspe county, where he still has interests and his home. He is a graduate of St. Joseph's University, Ste-Anne-de-la-Croix, N. B., and an accomplished journalist. He was for some time private secretary to Hon. E. J. Fillion, prime minister of Quebec, and is thoroughly acquainted with the issues as well as with the conduct of a campaign. Mr. Fitzpatrick has been so strenuously engaged in the preparation of the Liberal platform that he has had little time to devote to organization. This Frances, aged four, was compelled by force of circumstances to wear clothes made from her mother's old ones, and one day she exclaimed: "Oh dear! I wish I could hurry and get too big to occupy other folks' old clothes!"

A TORONTO GOLFER ABROAD. (Toronto World). A Toronto man who is an enthusiast devotee of golf tells a story at his own expense. He was down in Ottawa last week on business, and having some time on his hands, went out to see the new course that was being laid out. He was one of the finest imaginable. He borrowed a set of clubs that were much too long for him and played abominably. "But," he says, "one can imagine how his feelings were soothed when, after missing my drive on the second tee by casting solemnly asked: 'Is this the first time you've ever played golf?'"

SEVEN DAYS FIGHTING, LOSS SIXTY THOUSAND.

St. Petersburg Admits a Complete Defeat-- No Hope Now of Relieving Port Arthur This Season--Kuropatkin's Fate.

At the close of the seventh consecutive day's fighting between Mukden and Liao Yang the battle was still raging, the Russians offering a stubborn resistance to the fierce onslaught of the Japanese. The sacrifice of life has been appalling. Estimates of the Russian losses alone in killed and wounded at the end of the sixth day's fighting being concededly 20,000, while it is not improbable that it aggregated at that time 40,000. Japanese official reports estimate that 10,000 Russians were left on the field of battle up to the night of Oct. 14 and claim that the Japanese losses are small by comparison with those of the Russians. General Kuropatkin's report to Emperor Nicholas depicts the desperate character of the fighting and praises the valor of the troops, indicating, however, that he is hard pressed, with the result still in the balance. All hopes of succoring Port Arthur this season has been abandoned. St. Petersburg has an unconfirmed report that the Japanese General Notoji has been seriously wounded. A question of interest in St. Petersburg is the fate of General Kuropatkin in the Russian military situation.

IN NOVA SCOTIA. Cape Breton Will Probably Return Four Conservatives.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 16.—At a big conservative meeting in North Sydney on Saturday night, among the speakers was R. H. Butts, one of the leading baristers at the Cape Breton bar, and a life-long liberal, who for the first time took his stand upon the conservative platform and formally renounced his allegiance to the liberal party. Mr. Butts said he had not left the liberal party, but the liberal party had left him.

A HEALTHY SPORT. More Interest Should Be Taken in Football, Which is Not Necessarily Dangerous.

An article appeared in one of the evening papers on Saturday in which it was stated that some parents have refused to allow their sons to play football, owing to the accidents which have occurred on the Shamrock grounds. Several seem to think that this is an extreme view to take of the matter. It is a most unusual thing for such accidents to occur in St. John, and because two such accidents have occurred they think it is somewhat hasty to conclude that football is not a fit game for boys to play. Last year there was not a single accident of any consequence in St. John, during the whole season. The Shamrock college boys have played thirteen years, with only two accidents, the broken leg of last week and a broken collar bone some time ago. At the University of New Brunswick, over eighty per cent of the men play football. There are two organized teams and also individual class teams. Yet there have been remarkably few accidents.

LUMBERMEN ARE BLUE

Their Wages are Very Low This Year and the Cut Will be Greatly Reduced.

Good times will hardly be the happy lot of the lumbering fraternity this winter, unless there is an immediate and radical stiffening of the market for the great staple. Men who are now going into the woods, in crews much smaller than last winter, are downcast at the prospect of the poor pay they are to get, but there is nothing else for them to do; in fact, it is a case of the half loaf, which most men are philosophically looking upon as better than none.

Wages will run this year from $18 to $24, as against $24 to $32 last year. The cut will also be greatly reduced. All told the cut of last year at the headwaters of the St. John—those operations in which local firms are interested—was over 200,000,000. This year, however, it will be very much less, as the following figures will show:

Robert Aitken will cut forty millions on the Arctostock for the Ashland Milling Co.

Fraser Brothers will cut only twenty millions on the Temiscouata. They cut 12 million on the two or three operations in which local firms are interested—was over 200,000,000. This year, however, it will be very much less, as the following figures will show:

The Andre Cushing Co. camps are situated 12 miles above Seven Islands in Maine, on the St. John river, a place about 100 miles above the Windfall Ledges. There are about eighty men in the crews, thirty of whom are on the scene. Two and a half millions of spruce and cedar will be cut.

W. J. Now has two or three crews on the Baker Branch of the St. John, and will cut eight millions.

The St. John Lumber Co. at VanBuren, Maine, will get out about two millions.

Premier Tweedie Home. No Provincial By-Elections for Some Time Yet, He Says—He Liked the West.

Premier Tweedie, accompanied by Mrs. Tweedie and his two sons, arrived in the city this morning from the west.

The premier says that his trip to the west proved one of the most pleasant periods of his life. The weather all the time was gloriously fine, with the exception of one day, which was wet.

He met New Brunswick people everywhere he went, and at Vancouver he was formally entertained by an association of his membership in made up exclusively of maritime provincial people. All the people from the east, broke up several pieces of household furniture, officer McCallum was called in and when making the arrest was kicked in the face and hand by Kilfoil. Both parties are badly swollen. The magistrate remanded him.

Thomas Davis drunk on Main street, was fined eight dollars or two months with hard labor.

Andrew Ervin charged with being drunk on Simey street and using blasphemous language, pleaded guilty to the first charge, but did not think he was guilty of the second. When officer Finlay took the stand and swore to the truth of the charge, Ervin suddenly shook his head, "I can't remember it, your honor, I was drunk at the time." Eight dollars or two months for each offence was the fine imposed.
