Did Two Thousand Dollars Worth of : Damage in Ten Minutes.

WICHITA, Kas., Jan. 21.-Mrs. Carrie Nation came back to Wichita today after her recent incarceration under a smallpox quarantine, and the net result of ten minutes of work by her this afternoon are two wrecked saloons. Mrs. Nation was assisted by Mrs. Julia Evans, Mrs. Lucy Wilhoit and Mrs. Lydia Muntz, all of the local W. C. T.

With hatchets concealed under their cloaks they entered the saloon of James Burns on Douglas avenue, and did not leave a com

Douglas avenue, and did not leave a complete piece of glassware or a working siot machine in the place. All show-cases, plats glass windows and doors were broken.

Next they ran into John Herrig's saloon, and had broken everything in the front of the room when he appeared with a revolver, placed it at Mrs. Nation's head, and said that he would blow her brains out if she did not desist. She yielded, and with her companions ran to the Carey hotel bar, where she made her first attack three weeks ago. There three policemen met her. She struck at Detective Sutton with a poker, but he shoved her aside. A youth struck the officer in the face, and in turn was knocked down. The police then overpowered Mrs. Nation and her friends, and took them, followed by 2,000 people, to the city prison.

Chief of Police Cudbon discharged the prisoners after they reached the jail. The women made him a promise not to wreck any more saloons before noon tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans' hand was badly cut by broken glass, and her husband, a physician, sewed it up.

Mrs. Evans' hand was badly cut by broken glass, and her husband, a physician, sewed it up.

After leaving the city building Mrs. Nation began a street lecture to the immediate crowd around the building, saying that she expected to begin saloon wrecking again at noon tomorrow, when her truce with the chief of police expires. Shaking her fist at the crowd, she said:

"Men of Wichita, this is the right arm of cod, and I am destined to wreck every saloon in your city."

The women procured a wagon and rode through the streets singing Nearer My God to Thee and other hymns. They halted in front of the saloons they had smashed and held prayer meetings. The damage done by the three women is estimated at between $1,500 and $2,000.

David Nation, the husband of Mrs. Nation, was in this city, but took no part in the wrecking of the saloons, nor did he go to the city jail when his wife was arrested.

It is estimated that 5,000 persons, men and women, have viewed the wrecks since belock.

o'clock

Mrs. Nation caused a new sensation tonight. She was at the Union station, in the act of buying a ticket to a neighboring town, when the sheriff pulled at her sleeve, saying:
"You are my prisoner, madam." Mrs. Nation turned and gave the sheriff a violent slap across the face. She followed this up by taking hold of his ears and wringing them viciously. A policeman came to his rescue, and with the aid of some bystanders they succeeded in carrying the woman to a eab, which was driven rapidly to the county jail.

There she insisted on being placed in the private room for women, but Sheriff Simons put her in a cell, where she began to pray and sing hymns.

Late tonight Mrs. Wilholt and Mrs. Evans were arrested at their homes and taken to the county jail. Mrs. Muntz could not be found. It is stated that a complaint of insanity will be lodged against Mrs. Nation Accourtow.

Colonels Appointed Subsequent to July Last to Retire at the Age of Sixty-three.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 .- An obligatory course of Morris tube rifle practice is authorized for recruits of all city corps during the course of their first annual drill. Fifty rounds of Morris tube ammunition per man may be drawn for this purpose upon requisi-tion in the usual manner. Commanding officers will arrange for the conduct of these practices at the usual ranges for which a miniature target is graduated, formed in a safe and orderly manner. The free use of ammunition is for recruits and untrained men only, and is not to be drawn for non-commissioned officers or men who have completed their class firing. District officers commanding will report upon corps unprovided with faciltties for complying with this order. A recent militia order states that "a private soldier who has served in South Africa shall be considered as having qualified for the rank of 2nd lieutenant in the arm of the service in which he served in South Africa." ## MAY LIVE THE THURSDAY.

Physicians Now Hope that Her Majesty May Live that Long.

Rallied Slightly Monday Morning and Asked for Certain Nourishment.

Prince of Wales, Duke of Connaught and Emperor William Reached Osborne House Early Monday-Expressions of Sympathy from All Quarters.

OSBORNE HOUSE, Jan. 21, 11 a. | m.-Queen has rallied slightly. Since midnight her majesty has taken more food and has had some refreshing sleep. There is no further loss of strength. The symptoms which give rise to most anxiety are those which point to a local obstruction in the brain (Signed), JAMES REID,

R DOUGLASS POWELL, THOMAS BARLOW.

LONDON, Jan. 21, 12.12 p. m.-The more hopeful bulletin received at noon hardly lessened the universal apprehension, and everywhere that bulletins are posted sorrowing crowds have gathered, awaiting the outcome of her majesty's illness. Preparations made in all official quarters for all eventual-ties indicate the expectations of those who might be suppose to be best informed. The royal apartments in Windsor castle are being made ready for a sudden return of the court, and all state officials in anyway concerned in the issue are holding themselve in readiness for prompt action. Another of the queen's physicians, Sir Thomas Barlow, reached Osborne house this morning, and a moment la-ter carriages dashed up bearing Em-peror William, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and the Duke of BERLIN, Jan. 21, 1 p. m.-The foreign office has received information since Emperor William's arrival at Osborne house that the condition of the queen is hopeless. COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 21, 12.15 p. m.—The Queen is jus her own.

COWES, Jan. 21.-12.25 p. m.-The Queen's slight rally of this morning was followed by a gradual sinking which it is thought will result in her speedy death. No surprise will be felt here if her death is announced at any moment.

Shortly before this announcement was made Emperor William, the Prince of Wales and their party drove up to Osborne house. A good sized crowd had met them as they disembarked at Cowes. Naturally there was no cheering, but the men present took off their hats and the German emperor cordially and frequently responded by bowing. They drove to Osborne house in open carriages. The Prince of Wales appeared to be half dazed and the Duke of York's eyes were red, while the Duchess of Connaught never ceased crying. There was intense relief at Osborne house on arrival of the imperial and royal party, for ceveral times during the morning it was feared the Queen would not live to hear of the Prince of Wales return. LONDON, Jan. 21, 4.47 p. m.-Although no official bulletin has been ssued since 11 o'clock, a telephone message, timed at Osborne House 4 p. m., says: "The queen is very slightly better." There is little trust, however, in the rally proving permanent. COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 21, 4.35 p. m .- A slight improvement is said to be visible in the queen's condition. But there is no hope of anything but a fatal ending. The night is awaited with the greatest anxiety. Paralysis is spreading to vital parts.

Nourishment is being artificially administered. The palace is packed. There is scarcely room for the Emperor of Germany and his staff. With the exception of newspaper correspondents there are only a few people outside the gates. Inquiries from all parts of the world continue to pour in. LONDON, Jan. 21.- The secretary of state for home affairs, C. T. Rit-

LONDON, Jan. 21.-A special despatch from Cowes this evening says Emperor William was admitted to the Queen's presence at about five o'clock. She spoke a few words to him and after two or three minutes he withdrew. The Queen took a little nourishment and fell asleep in the arms of the Princess of Wales. COWES, Jan. 22, 12.15 a. m .- The bulletin issued at midnight announced that there was no material change in the Queen's condition.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 22, 12.20 a. m.—The following is the full text of the midnight bulletin, posted at Osborne House:

"There is no material change in the Queen's condition. The slight improvement of the morning has been maintained throughout the day. Food has been taken fairly well, and some tranquil sleep secured. (Signed) JAMES REID, COWES, Jan. 22, 5 a.m.-The Queer is expected to live until Thursday morning unless unexpected complications occur.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 22, 1 a. m.-Another day in the Victorian era, now so rapidly drawing to a close, passed without any great change in the condition of Queen Victoria. The slight improvement s frequently mentioned in the official bulletins merely indicates a postponement of the inevitable. The end may be a matter of days or only of hours: but the members of the royal family who are now dragging out weary visit at Osborne House, know that the death of Her Majesty is merely a question of a short time. The most noticeable feature of yes terday was the satisfactory portion the Queen spent in consciousness and his mother, but it is believed which she regained early in the after noon and still retained at 10 p. m. At been unconscious since Wednesday that hour she had not seen Emperor William, local rumors to the contrary notwithstanding. Royalty at Osborne thus had a chance to recuperate from the terrible ordeal indergone during the early hours of Monday. The correspondent of the Associated Press is informed that the members of the royal family were called to a room adjoining the Queen's bedchamber no less than four times yesterday morning and were kept in momentary expectation of being summoned to witness the end up to half-past five. Her Majesty's physicians then had only > in existence until the Prince of Wales To secure this result they resorted to the frequent use of brandy and champagne. These stimulants used to an extent which only the greatest emergency justified, worked their process and when the Prince of Wales and Emperor William entered the castle grounds at 11.30 a. m. they found the Queen a trife better than had been expected.

a vestige of hope that they would be able to keep the Queen's feeble life

The desperate remedies employed Monday morning to enable Her Majesty to live until her eldest son's arrival will not be used again to the same extent, for the doctors are fearful that the remedy might be almost worse than the disease. They trust to prolong her life by a moderate application of stimulants, combined with as much nourishment as can be assimilated. Such expedients as were employed during Sunday evening and Monday morning are not considered justifiable.

The Queen's rally astonished no one more than her physicians, and when at four yesterday afternoon they heard her ask for chicken broth, their amazement almost equalled their delight. Privately, however, they build no false hopes upon these fading signs of what has been one of the strongest constitutions with which a woman was ever endowed.

Despite the favorable afternoon the doctors dreaded greatly the period between 6 o'clock and midnight. When that was safely passed they seemed hopeful of Her Majesty's living at least through another day, although the memory of the previous night's relapse kept their anxiety at high ten-

Already the villagers are bewailing the fate that is likely to befall Cowes, for it is known that the Prince of Wales will probably never make Osborne House a place of residence. Up to 8 a. m. no further building had been received in London since the one issued at midnight.

Emperor William is spending the night at Osborne, where the accommodations are so severely taxed that the Battenberg children slept Monday night at Lord Gort's residence, East Cowes Castle, and the royal yachts at Cowes are being fitted up for the accommodation of visitors. The Queen's illness was so sudden and, in the first onset, was expected to be so brief that no arrangements were made for the posting and circulation of bulletins. An agitation is on foot to have them posted immediately in all post offices throughout the United Kingdom. At present the provinces have no means of knowing anything except from the newspapers, and the result is that all kinds of baseless rumors are circulated.

For instance, at Chelmsford county court yesterday a report was received that the Queen was dead, and the judge, in tears and great emotion, referred to the sorrowful tidings, which later he was able to denv.

Up to a late hour last evening crowds were gathered in the vicinity of Buckingham Palace and Marlborough House, and there was a constant stream of persons anxious to enter their names upon the visitors' book. On all sides it is a tale of public and private engagements and functions postponed, and a settled gloom rests over all classes of society.

The newspaper editorials reflect this feeling and the suspense the country is enduring, together with the gratification and consolation derived from the sympathy testified on all sides

GENERAL SYMPATHY. LONDON, Jan. 21.—The despatches received here from nearly every capi-tal in Europe, from India, Australia, Jamaica, and all the British colonies, shows the press and people to be sympathetic in their comment on the Queen's illness. PUBLIC AND SOCIAL FUNCTIONS CANCELLED. LONDON, Jan. 21.- The engage ments of cabinet ministers and other notable personages to appear at public dinners, at charitable fairs or at the dedication of new public buildings, etc., are being cancelled, and it seems likely that all functions of this sort will be postponed throughout the United Kingdom. The Duke and Duchess of Devonshire have recalled their invitations to a house party, and their example is being followed by other titled entertainers. Many

Her successor will probably entertain different views on many questions. He is credited with strong French sympathies. The power of an English sovereign is greater than commonly stated, thereore the change may produce a revo lution in international politics."

AT THE FRENCH METROPOLIS. PARIS, Jan. 21.-The despatche from Osborne are eagerly followed here. The evening papers publish frequent editions, which are quickly sold. This is somewhat at variance with despatches from Berlin to the other morning papers, which report that the condition of the Dowager Empress is a trifle more favorable, but as the Associated Press has already announced, the news that Queen Victoria was dying had a very serious effect upon her oldest daughter. county of Kings, and, if current reports at Sussex, Hampton, Westfield and other centres in that riding go for anything, there will be wigs on the green at the meeting of the Kings municipal council next week. Small bunches of swamp voters have been worked successfully on the borders of Westmorland and Albert, and the scheme has been tried with more or less success in Kings, but never before has such a wholesale importation of non-resident voters been projected in this prevince The audacity of the thing is, however, but the legitimate outcome of the manner in which Mr. Blair's liberal organizer for New Brunswick has been running ante-election work in various parts of the province for the past three or four years. Possibly Mr. Milligan would not have made such a wholesale mistake as to crowd 400 voters on to a bit of very common farm land not over twenty acres in extent. He would have tried to attain the same end se far as the ballot box was concerned by methods that bore the guise of plausibility. But Mr. Milligan, unfortunately for his reputation, has in the liberal fold some very wicked partners, who will stop at nothing to debauch the elec-

The parish of Rothesay is, apart from politics, about as decent a spot as can be found in the maritime provinces. Its people live together in harmony and the only complaint ever raised against them is that the residents of the village proper are said to be socially very exclusive. But that charge has no connection with

And it is politics that has given Rothesay a black eye. It is the poll at which the bulk of non-resident votes for the county are deposited, years made it a point to capture the bulk of that vote, if every ward healer in St. John city had to be forced to the front. The good people of Rothesay have lively memories of the scandals enacted there every time a provincial or federal contest is

The success that attended these liberal tactics evidently led the boss minds of the party in Kings to believe they could not only swamp Rothesay, but control the verdict of the entire electorate of the county. Hence their present attempt to plant over 400 voters in the parish. When it is taken into consideration that the qualification for an elector is at least one hundred dollars worth of real estate, it will be seen that it would require quite an acreage of unimproved land such as exists near Rothesay to cover a value of $40,000, provided that the assessors and revisors held the scale even as between this particular spot and other parts of the parish. Just how these names were placed on the list of electors is susceptible of only one explanation. They reached the county secretary of Kings in the regular way from the revisors of Rothesay, signed by these revisors, and bearing their certificate and affi-

A Sun reporter interviewed Secy. G. O. D. Otty yesterday. Mr. Otty said he had as an officer of the municipality asked Mr. Gilliland for a copy of the revisors' report for Rothesay parish, and that gentleman stated he had already mailed the document to his address. A few days later, meeting Mr. Gilbert, another revisor, on the train, he mentioned the matter to him, and Mr. Gilbert kindly forvarded to him a copy of the list he had in his possession. A little later he (Otty) again met Mr. Gilliland, and told him that the cepy he said he had mailed had not yet reached his office. Mr. Gilliland replied that he would look into the case at once. The next day Mr. Otty received the list, signed by the three revisors and duly certified as above. Mr. Otty declined to furaish the Sun reporter with a copy of the list of names he had received from Mr. Gilbert, stating that it was not a lie document, but merely an ac-medation in the matter of work, given in a friendly way by Mr. Gil-

It may be here remarked, however, that the Sun reporter gathered from other sources that Mr. Gilbert's list was but a skeleton as compared with the list sent in to Mr. Ofty by Mr. he owned any property in that parish

THE REASON WHY "Shiloh" Cures Consumption.

Consumption is not meetly a disease of the lungs, as so generally supposed, but before the lungs become affected the blood has—from various causes—been rowded with the bacillus of Consumption. These gerras are deposited in the lungs by the blood, causing ir damation, coughing and the spitting up of diseased mucopurulent matter. Shiloh's Cure arrests the ravages of the germs by destroying them-it purifies the blood and enriches it-allays the inflamation and irritation ar d sets up a healing process, which causes the sore parts to get well and cicatrize. Shiloh's Consumption, Cure strengthens and tones up the whole system ar a makes it particularly repellent to the dreaded germs of Consumption.

It is guaranteed to accomplish this. If dissatisfied when 3/3 of a bottle has been used, return the remaining portion and the whole purchase money will be refunded.

J. H. Caldwell of Malta, Idaha, writes as follows to S. C. Wells & Co., Toronto. "I have used Shiloh's Consumption Cure many different times, and always received great benefit from it. I believe it saved my life in a case of congestion of the lungs—and saved me from an attack of consumption, as many Dyson Walker, now temporarily absent from the city. Dr. Walker evidently did not see eye to eye with the reporter, as when, after the object of the visit had been stated, the scribe ventured to ask, "Have you any property in Rothesay?" Dr. Walker's reply was vigorous and to the point. "growing time" of liberal principles it remarked: "Take my compliments to the Sun and tell them that it is none of their business where I own Then he showed the reporter to the door and briskly wished him good night.

H. J. Anderson and W. Lantalum said they were not Rothesay men and had never applied for the right to vote there. One of St. John's free and intelligent electors accosted a Sun reporter on Canterbury street yesterday. "Do you want to invest in some desirable real estate?" he asked, with the lofty dignity of a prosperous land owner. incredulously inquired the reporter.

There's a vote in connection, too, but I don't know much about the management of large estates and I want to sell, with a lib eral discount for cash.

The reporter offered fifty cents. "Is that cash?" he asked, doubtfully, and the reporter was obliged admit that, in the present stringent condition of the money market, he would have to tender an I O U until next pay day. After some meditation the land-owner declined to negotiate. "For," he said, "the trip up the line election day is worth more than that, and I may be able to work a little something out of the vote."

SWAMP VOTERS.

(Star.)

The holders of lately acquired property in Rothesay are called "swamp voters." The term originated from an occurrence similar in some respects to the present one, that has made so many new Kings county voters. In the early sixties, when a party contest was raging somewhat warmly, a number of men purchased a swamp out on the Loch Lomond road and divided it up into small sections. By giving freehold possession of these plots county voters were made wholesale. (Star.)

sale. So far as can be learned there has been no such purchase of property in Rothesay for this philanthropic purpose. Thos. Gilliland, one of the assessors, who is in town today, said that application, not personal had been made for each of the names placed on the list. In at least one case one of the voters, whose name appears among the four hundred odd, is dead. It appears that there are altogether about four hundred names acked who have absolutely no property rights in Rothesay.

(Globe.)

The Globe this morning interviewed Hon. Wm. Pugsley, attorney general, on the Kings county non-resident vote. The attorney general said he had returned from Nova Scotla this morning and only knew of the matter by what he had seen in the press. He had immediately opened communication with the government revisor in Kings county, and if it appeared that names had been added to the list that were not entitled to be added, then he would at once take steps to have the lists corrected, and would see that the legitimate vote of the county was not swamped by those not legally entitled to vote. Mr. Pugsley added that if no other way opened, and if it became necessary, he would have the Kings county election delayed until after the opening of the session of the legislature, so that an act could be passed that would prevent those voting who have no right to the vote.

To the Editor of the Globe: To the Editor of the Globe:

Sir-Last evening's issue of your paper conveys to me the intimation that I have been added with almost hundreds of others to the list of non-resident voters of Kings county. As I do not recognize any right to exercise a franchise obtained under the circumstances, may I be permitted to say that I will not make any use of it. If such action has been taken in the supposed interests of the liberal party, it does not commend itself to the judgment of those who wish liberalism to be free from reproach.

REVISOR GILBERT TALKS OUT. REVISOR GILBERT TARKS OUT.

To the Editor of the Globe:

Sir—I notice an article in your paper of recent date intimating that some queer work had been done with the non-resident list of voters of Kings county in the parish of Rothessy, and inferring that this queer work had been laid at the door of the revisors, Messrs. Gilliland, Thomson and myself. If the list published in your issue of last evening is supposed to be correct, I would suggest that you be more careful in future in obtaining your information, and would say that Mr. Thomson and myself were most careful in preparing the list of voters from the assessors' list furnished us by our assessors, and vouch for its correctness. Mr. Gilliland came to Rothessy and checked the list with the tax collectors' list, also furnished by the assessors. Messrs. Gilliland, Thomson and myself signed the list, and I personally gave it to Mr. Gilliland afterward told me that he had mailed the list to Mr. Otty. I have retained a fac-simile copy of the list furnished. And if there has been any queer work, as you term To the Editor of the Globe: qualified to vote at Rothesay, and he Peter J. Yours truly. HENRY GILBERT, JR.,

To the Editor of the Sun:

Sir-No one who knows the attorney general could read without amusement his statement in tonight's Globe in reference to the crime committed against the electors of Kings county. In his most oily manner he assumes the position of an injured innocent announces that if necessary, legis lation will be obtained to redress the wrong that has been done. No one better than the attorney general that no such legislation is neces sary, for since Mr. Gilbert's repudiation of the crime it is clear to every one that the list as filed was obtained by fraud, perjury and forgery, and is in fact no list at all, and ample provision is made in the Election Act to meet such a case. If the attorney general is alive to the duties of his office he will at once take steps for the punishment in the criminal courts of the perpetrators of the attempt against electors of the county and of the gravest political scandal ever known in New Brunswick. The attorney gen eral, too, should not overlook the fact so well known that Councillor Gilliland, one of the revisors, who state yesterday that proper applications had been made to place all the bogus names upon the list, is a henchman of the local government, one of the leading liberals of the county, a close friend of his own, and the petitioner against Mr. Fowler's election. It is stated that it was to Mr. Gilliland that the correct list was entrusted by his brother revisors to be delivered to Secretary-Treasurer Otty, and was never received by him. A local election is now pending in Kings, and it was for the purpose of defeating the wishes of the bonest voters of the county in that election that the swamp vote was created. In talking about postponing the election Mr. Pugsley is grasping at the one hope of escaping defeat, for owing to the ever-increasing unpopularity of the local government and the lack of confidence in their candidate, who was nominated in consequence of a deal, it is daily becoming apparent that Kings will at the first opportunity return an opposition supporter. The attempt made by the local government heelers to fasten the responsibility of the outrage upon a gentleman who has for years been the most prominent figure in Kings county politics would be laughable were it not so despicable.

ROTHESAY. Joseph N. Ellis, E. H. Acalpine, C. H. Ferguson, Col. Cunard, Henry Brennan, Frank B. Ellis, Richard O'Brien, A. O. Skinner, H. J. Anderson, W. Lantalum and others stated that they had no property in Rotheray and had not applied to have their names added to the voters' list. W.

H. Trueman writes to the Globe to the same effect. Hon. Wm. Pugsley assures the Globe and Telegraph that action will be taken in the matter and that a legal and proper list will be provided. E. S. Carter, editor of Progress, de nied today that he had anything to do with the scheme to place so many names on the big list. He says he had no connection with the matter at

Who are legitimate non-resident voters in the parish of Rothesay is a question that possesses an exciting interest just now and will be dealt with by the county council of Kings, which body meets tomorrow. According to a list forwarded by registered letter to G. O. D. Otty, secretary treasurer of the municipality of Kings, between 400 and 500 non-residents have been added since the last revision. This list reached Mr. Otty duly signed by the three revisors, that is the two parish councillors, Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Gilliland, and Mr. Thomson, the government revisor.

A Sun representative went to Rothesay on Saturday to see the revisors. Mr. Gilliland was not to be found. Enquiry at the station and other places failed to discover traces of his presence in the village. The Sun man visited Mr. Gilbert at his store, and when a lull in trade came, for Mr. Gilbert's store is a busy spot at any time and particularly so on Saturdays, stated his business. Mr. Gilbert listened to the statement and promptly replied that he had nothing to conceal. As one of the revisors he had given a great deal of attention to the work, and in connection with Mr. Thomson had prepared a list which had been placed in the hands of Mr. Gilliland, to be forwarded to the secretary treasurer of the county. He had kept a copy of the list, which was now in Mr. Thomson's possession.

Mr. Gilbert then took the reporter acros the street to Mr. Thomson's store and exchanged a few words with that gentleman. Mr. Thomson was busy at the time, so they went back to Mr. Gilbert's place, Soon after the copy of the list was sent over by Mr. Thomson and handed to the Sun reporter, who started to copy it, when Mr. Gilbert objected to this bit of work on the part of the scribe. Mr. Gilbert stated that the list was a matter in which his personal reputation was concerned, and until he had taken legal advice he did not feel like making its contents public through the press. He and his colleague had given a great deal of time to the revision of the list and were prepared to stand by what they had done. Until the meeting of council on Tuesday he did not feel like being party to any publicity through the newspapers. The reporter had, however, gone through the list and found that it contained the names of but 85 non-resident electors of Rothesay parish, and Mr. Gilbert, on his attention being called to this point, said the list spoke for itself. It was the original copy, prepared by himself and his associate, and was the list they had given Coun-Gilliland to forward to the secretary treasurer of the county. He had nothing whatever to do with any other list received by Mr. Otty. This was the only one that he had signed, and he would stand by it.

The list examined by the reporter in Mr. Gilbert's store was typewritten and bore marks of having been corrected for clerical errors, but did not contain the names of the host of nonresidents that figure on the list now on file in Mr. Otty's office. Mr. Gilbert admitted, incidentally, that he had unofficially given Mr. Otty a copy of this list for the purpose of facilitat ing his work, but this was only a per sonal action as between friends. The plain fact evolved from the interview with Mr. Gilbert is that while the revision of the electoral list of Rothesay parish, as done with great care by himself and the government revisor, shows only 85 nonresident voters, there is a list now on file in the county offices of Kings county that contains the names of between 400 and 500 non-resident electors in Rothesay parish. Mr. Otty says this list was mailed to him, in a registered letter, and bears signature of the revisors. Mr. Gilbert and M son say they never signed this big list. Mr. Gilbert retains in his hand the original list, and this list he will no doubt carry with him when he goes to Hampton tomorrow to attend the meeting of Kings county council How Coun. Gilliland will explain the discrepancy between the two lists remains to be seen. That a satisfactory explanation must be forthcoming will be insisted upon by the people of Rothesay, who now feel that their good name has been brought in question.

The matter is the sole topic of discussion at Rothesay and Hampton and all along the railway line through Kings.

To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-No event of late years has caused so much interest in Kings county as the attempt to stifle the honest vote of the county by the riff raff and off-scourings of the worst element of the liberal party in the city of St. John. Liberals and conservatives alike are filled with indignation, and demand the thorough investigation and will be satisfied with mothing else-for if it is true that the lists were changed after leaving Mr. Gilbert's hands and the original oath made by the revisors affixed to the bogus list, it is quite certain that the penitentiar is the proper place for the criminals who plotted and worked out the scheme. The people who did the wrong should be ferreted out and the responsibility placed upon the proper shoulders, for the people will not b satisfied with the excuse given by the few friends the local government has left ir Kings county that the whole thing "was the work of Domville and Carter." Where does a north end dentist come in, and can it be believed that the plot could have been devised and carried out in such a wholesale manner without the attorney general, who is a member for the county, having at least a shrewd suspicion of what was going on? KINGS COUNTY.

MONCTON, Jan. 19, 1901. To the Editor of the Sun:

Sir-The interview with Mr. Pugsley in last night's Globe was read with interest here. In view of recent events, however, but little stock will be taken in Albert county at least in his promise to hold an investigation. Your readers may not be familiar with the fact that last year a liberal swamp vote of over eighty was created in the parish of Elgin. At the last bye election when these swamp voters appeared at the polling booth they were challenged for qualification. Some refused to swear, others took the oath like little men. Arrests for perjury followed and the proceedings were brought to a close by the attorney general instructing the justices before whom the informations were laid not to proceed with the cases before them. This is the way justice is now administered in New Brunswick, and it is the same Mr. Pugsley who restrained the arm of justice so as to prevent the punhment of the orime of perjury in

Albert, who now promises an inves tigation in Kings. MONCTON.

Woodstock Gives a Magnificent Reception to Her Returned Soldiers -The Men Presented With Watches.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Jan. 18 .- The panquet and presentation of watches to the Carleton county quota of "E" battery, last night, was a very pleasant and successful affair. The first part of the programme was a thanksgiving service at St. Luke's church, which was so well attended that by the time the service began there was not a spare seat in the church. Archdeacon Neales' address to the congregation, and particularly to the boys, was most touching and effective. The banquet was altogether a suc-When the time came for the presentation of the watches, Major Good and his men lined up in the middle of the house, and as the warden of the county handed each man his watch there was a round of hearty applause. The toast list had to be somewhat curtailed owing to the lateness of the hour when the speechmaking began. It consisted of The Contingent, proposed by Rev. W. F. Chapman, and responded to by Major Good, Gr. Parker and Corp. Gray; Dominion Parliament, proposed by J. C. Hartley, responded to by Senator Baird; United States, by Wm. Dibblee, responded to by Mr. Denison, consul at this port, and Rev. Mr. Martin; Provincial Government, proposed by H. Paxton Baird, replied to by Messrs. Dunn, Hill and McKeown; Provincial Legislature, proposed by W. S. Sanders, responded to by Messrs, McCain and Flemming; Militla of Canada, proposed by Archdeacon Neales, responded to by Lieut. Col. W. Clark. Rev. Father Chapman, who proposed the first toast, The Contingent, was in an extremely happy vein and was warmly applauded throughout a very bright address. Senator Baird replied to the Parliament of Canada in a well thought out speech. Messrs. Hill and McKeown, who spoke for the Provincial Government, were listened to very attentively, and Mr. Fleming, who did the honor for the Legislature, as usual, eloquent. Mr. Denison, responding to the toast of the United States, was in good form and was most heartily, applauded during a first rate ten minute speech. C. J. Tabor catered for the banquet and deserves much credit for the excellent mnner in which he carried out the affair. A large number of ladies were present during the greater part of the entertainment, occupying seats in the gallery. The Opera House was really artistically arranged. The decorations were in good taste, and with the prettily decorated tables, added materially to the general effect of the whole affair.

LIVELY ADVENTURE OF AN M. P.

An imperialist M. P. was the hero of a lively adventure at one of the most fashionable halls the other evening. The M. P. had his soul stirred within him by hearing a crazy, well-dressed Frenchman orating wildly in favor of the Boers in one of the refreshment bars. In, his enthusiasm the wretched foreigner mounted a table. Thea came the M. P.'s opportunity. With a skilful turn of his stick he hooked the foreigner's leg and jerked him on to the floor. The stalwart janitors of the door were called and "chucked out" the M. P. No whit dismayed he went to the box office, paid his seven and sixpence, and was again admitted. Going straight for his enemy he found him gesticulating madly as to what punishment he would inflict on "Le diable Anglais" if only he could lay hold of him. The M. P. went for him, and had succeeded in mauling him pretty well before the "chuckers-out" again intervened, and he was put out.—Birmingham Gazette.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN

ST. JOHN, N. B., JANUARY 23, 1901.

THE QUEEN.

. (Daily Sun, Jan, Mst.) The Queen is dying. Perhaps before these words are read the sceptre will have passed to other hands. The greatest reign in the history of the British Empire draws to a close with the life of a sovereign worthy of all honor, and affection. The sorrowing nation thinks of the woman rather than the Queen as it waits for the last word from the royal couch at Osborne. Representatives of many royal houses are near that chamber, for the Queen has many relatives on European thrones, but the sorrow which speaks most eloquently is that of the millions who live in humbler homes. These pay their spontaneous tribute to the royal lady, who has given to her people not only the devoted service of a long life, but the wealth of her personal love. England has had her share of splen did reigns, of powerful and prudent monarchs. She may have had those better fitted for their times than Queen Victoria would have been. But the historian of the remote future will find no record of one who has been loved so truly and sincerely at home, and so universally esteemed and admired in foreign lands. In the age of chivalry, when the nation was small, strong language of devotion to the sovereign was supported often by gallant deeds, and the full measure of sacrifice. But the story of those tim is of courtiers and soldiers and poets. The monarch was far away from the common people, and no one cared to tell what the masses thought or knew about their sovereign. Queen Victoria has Kved through a time when all the acts and movements of royalty are public property and has not shut herself and her personal life out from the sight of her subjects. Sympathizing with the joys and sorrows of her subjects, the Queen has taken them into her fullest confidence, asking their sympathy in the hour when her own home was desolate, and calling on them to share her days of rejoicing. Never in any country has there been, or can there be, a fuller personal fellowship between ruler and people than the British Empire has seen during the reign that is now closed. Never has king or queen so fully recognized the common bond of humanity, and our Queen has had her reward in knowing herself to be dearly and universally beloved.

Every Briton can be proud that he has been a subject of Queen Victoria. Whatever may be said of other British kings and queens this one has given no occasion for apologies. Her court was pure. Its example has, no doubt, done much to remove reproach from other courts in Europe and much to elevate the moral standard of aristocratic society at home. The teaching of her own life is all in favor of a simple and natural way of living and of the domestic virtues which are the basis of a nation's greatness. The love of a noble husband, who died all too soon, the affection of her children and children's children, have been hers to enjoy, and while the state and dignity of the exalted position has been maintained, the duties of the head of the house and of the family have been faithfully performed. The wonderful reign which now seems about to close has been reviewed on many recent occasions. This period of nearly two-thirds of a century has seen revolutions in most other nations. In Britain it has seen only evolution. British statesmen have made many mistakes, but none which were fatal to the influence of the empire, or could permanently stay the march of national progress. British generals have made many blunders, but none which British soldiers have been unable to retrieve. It has been a period of steady though fluctuating advance, and it is almost universal belief within the empire that the nation is stronger, more united, and more certain of its future than at any previous time. By outliving four score years the Queen has seen a great sight, the most significant of any recent historical event. She has seen every part of the Empire offering assistance to the defence of the nation in Africa, thus recognizing in the fullest way the unity of the British people

Queen Victoria is leaving the nation, as she found it, at peace with the great powers, in Europe, America, and Asia. She is leaving the people as free from political and social discontent as they have been this century. Her subjects are well disposed toward the royal house, and satisfied with the essential features of existing institutions. For half a century, so far as the world knows, there has been no such thing as strained relations between the sovereign and the responsible government. Yet it is believed that the Queen has exercised a strong and constant, though constitutional influence in public affairs. If there remains little of royal prerogative by which she could control her ministers against their inclination, the prerogative right of a sagacious, earnest and devoted Queen to influence by persuasion the will of her ministers has

In this hour many thoughts and many prayers will go out from all parts of the British Empire on behalf of the next sovereign. We are not of those who believe that the loyalty of the British people has been so personal in its character as to suffer oss by the death of Queen Victoria. It is not to be expected that the same veneration and tenderness not been taken away. Among the great statesmen of Queen Victoria's reign, perhaps the most successful and wisest has been Queen Victoria of personal affection will be felt toward the King as was enjoyed by the aged lady whom the people have known and loved so long. But there is more in loyalty than a personal feeling for the man or woman who for the time wears the crown. The British people are loyal to the Empire itself and to the sovereign as the representative of the Empire. Nor will the element of personal loyalty be wanting. The Prince of Wales has during a life. now approaching three score years, been steadily growing in the respect and confidence of the people. If Queen Victoria has been the most popular lady in the Empire, the Prince has been, of late, at losst, the most popular man in Eng-

ACCUSES ITSELF.

The valued Telegraph in its issue of Friday, publishes two editorial articles accusing other papers of misrepresentation. A hird editorial reads as follows:

"In an article which appeared in the 5th of November last, referring to handbills which had been posted up about the city offering a reward for information as to any person personating at the then approaching dominion elections, it was said 'he (referring to the party signing the handbills) would do well to keep an eye on Mr. George E. Foster, who manipulated the ballot boxes of two or three polling districts in Kings in 1891, so as to secure himself a major-'ity.' We have no information which would justify any such charge against Mr. Foster, nor have we any information or any reason to suppose that Mr. Foster countenanced or was a party to any such offence We desire in ample manner to express regret at the publication of the article referred to, which did grave 'injustice to Mr. Foster."

A PATRIOTIC CANADIAN

Sir Frank Smith was a man of whon everybody spoke well. He had the confidence of business men in his own apacity as a business man, and few had more varied financial interests. As a public man he was a member of several ministries, though always an unpaid member. In his case, however, the position of minister without office did not imply a minimum of responsibility. It is believed that Sir Frank was one of the most influential members of Sir John Macdonald's ministry in times of great stress.

The inner history of the period in which the Canadian Pacific Railway Company found itself unable to finance its securities or to finish its contract, will some day be written. It is a matter of record that three years after the contract for the construction of the railway was made, the government was obliged to make the company a cash advance of $30,000,000. Later the company was again without available resources to go on with the work, and further advance of $5,000,000 was made. These concessions were not obtained without much searchings of eart among the ministers. The whole undertaking was/regarded by many in the country as a risky experiment. Mr. Blake and Sir Richard Cartwright were sceptical about the future of the road, and the people had been told over and over again that the original subsidy was far too large. Mr. Blake and his friends scouted the idea that the loans, or any part of them, would ever be repaid, and doubtless the opinion prevailed rather generally that in this they were right.

The secrets of the debates in council have not been revealed, but, it is well known that the government at first decided not to make the advance on one of these occasions, and that this conclusion was reaffirmed after the question had again been brought beald, speaking for his colleagues, had given what he thought was the final answer. Mr. Stephen, now Sir George, and his fellow directors had tried every other method. They had pledged their own private fortunes last dollar. They knew what the refusal of the government meant. is perhaps safe to say that had the government not changed its decision the next week would have seen th collapse of the company, the bankruptcy of half a dozen of the men who had been reputed among the richest in Canada, the failure of some of the leading Canadian banks, and the greatest financial panic ever seen it

Canada. The government reconsidered once nore and the loan was made. Sin Frank Smith is believed to be the minister who had most to do with this reversal of policy. He always had faith in the great enterprise and had from the first advocated the loan His knowledge of the financial situa tion showed him that the peril of re fusing was greater than any possible danger of losing the amount of the loan. Various stories are told of the rude but strong language he used in urging his views of the case. There s also a weird story of a memoran dum submitted by Mr. Van Horne as he was then, to Sir John Macdon ald, showing what would happen in forty-eight hours if the company should be abandoned to its fate.

The result is written history. were carried through ment, Mr. Blake denouncing the last one in a powerful speech of six hours. The company got the money Work went on. Bonds were issued and taken. The credit of the company was restored. Of the $35,000.000 advanced $25,000,000 was repaid vin eash and $10,000,000 by a surrender of land grants. The railway was completed in half the time allowed, and n the year after the last loan was The course of the government made.

was amply vindicated. The summer of 1891 gave another opportunity for Sir Frank Smith to show the kind of man he was. was the year in which Sir John Macdied, and when Sir Hector Langevin and his department was under the shadow of the McGreevy disclosures. Sir Frank Smith places himself at the service of Sir John Abbott, who asked him to take charge of Sir Hector's department as acting minister. From June until the next winter Sir Frank managed the department without the status or the pay of a department chief. Early and late he was in his place, and no minister knew his work or managed it better than the acting minister public works.

THE ROTHESAY FOUR HUNDRED.

We reprint from the Globe the list of names said to have been added in the last revision to the Rothesay list of non-residents owning one hundred dollars' worth of real estate in that The names added are 406. This is a large addition to a list said to have previously numbered 96. It must not be supposed that these include all the non-residents in Kings. The 500 non-residents named by the Globe are non-resident land owners in the single parish of Rothesay. Or the same basis we might expect a list, of seven or eight thousand for the whole county.

A few of the new names, perhaps a more out of the four hundred, are known to represent legitimate applications made by the person desiring to be registered. As to the rest we do not propose to say much at this moment. Some of the men whose names are in the list say that they have no property in Rothesay, and they are registered without their own knowledge and consent. Others are not known as land owners in Kings county or any other part of the world, and the official announcement of their position as real estate owners may cause them some embarrassment.

The following officers were elected at the last meeting of Court deputy, D. T. McKay.

F., Kensington: Court deputy.

F., Kensington: Co are known to represent legitimate ap-ion that few of these persons whose names have been added to the list, knew that they were property owners, in Rothesay. As three members of the Globe staff are included in the list, the statement is not made without knowledge. But if it be true that in one parish alone the three sworn revisors have deliberately and improperly stuffed the list by adding some hundreds of bogus votes, the case can hardly be allowed to drop. It is not to be supposed that any three men can be allowed to overwhelm the vote of the legitimate electors of Kings by imposing on the county the vote of hundreds or thousands of persons who do not live in the county, and have no stake there, and no right to vote there. We can hardly suppose that the people of Kings will submit without some form of protest to a state of things which takes from them the last vestige of control over their own affairs. If three hundred bogus names can be added this year, three thousand can be run in next year, and all the rest of the people in the neighboring counties the year

The Globe demands an investigation. We should suppose that the authors of this list would not wait long for such an inquiry. They and the innocent persons whose names are wrongfully on the list should be heard from without much delay.

WHAT BRITAIN HAS BEEN.

Britain was the first smelter of iron ore among modern nations, but it is open to doubt whether there is in Great Britain a single bleat-furnace that can compare in capacity with the best furnaces now smelt-ing iron in America for shipment to Europe. Britain was the first maker of coke for smelting and manufacturing purposes, but her coke ovens have long been antiquated, and she is only now tardily adopting ovens and plant of foregn design.—Cassier's Magazine.

Packages must be addressed so as t enter Canada at one of the above named ports of entry, and the route by which they will be shipped mus be clearly stated upon each package. As it is well known that well ma tured and thoroughly dormant nur sery stock may be safely treated, but that there is danger of serious injury to the trees if fumigated in the autumn before the buds are thoroughly dormant, or in the spring after the ouds have begun to unfold, all stock which when received is immature of too far advanced for safe treatmen will be refused entry and held at the risk of the shipper.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE. The Canadian Society of New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 15, 1901. To the Editor of the Sun:

Sir-It is stated that there are between forty and fifty thousand Canadians living within a radius of ten miles of the New York City Hall, and yet many of them are not aware that there exists a very flourishing Canadian Society in New York city. There is little doubt but that the Sun, one of Canada's foremost newspapers eaches many of these Canadians. attention to the existence of the Canadian Society of New York. The society was started about four years ago and has now a membership of nearly two hundred. It is purely a social organization, its aims being to band together those Canadians living in and near New York city, who wish to meet one another in jolly good fellowship, and to give them an opportunity to show their love for their native land, and their respect, if nothing more, for the British Queen. The society holds its annual dinner or the evening of the Queen's birthday and during the winter months a dinner and entertainment is given a one of the leading Broadway hotels on the evening of the second Thursday of the month. Canadians in and near the city, and those who come to New York, and wish to join the society can obtain any further information they may desire, by addressing the secretary of the society, C. H. Hunter, 160 Broadway, New York city. A NEW YORK CANADIAN.

Henderson arrived in Dawson he learned the facts from Mr. Langstroth and went to the hospital, but Mr. Weldon was dead before he arrived. Mr. Henderson communicated with Haliberton Weldon, a son of the deceased, who is a lawyer in California. It may be added that Mr. Henderson and the late Mr. Weldon were second cousins. Mrs. Weldon was a Miss Millidge, and also has relatives in this city. SHOE FACTORY FOR ST. STEPHEN Some prominent citizens of the town are interesting themselves in securing a shoe factory for St. Stephen, and have fair prospects of success, says the Courier. The parties sought are the McGibbon Bros., of Auburn, Me. A meeting was held in J. T. SMOKE CONSUMER FOR KILNS.

If the Rockland-Rockport Lime Co. supply their kilns, says the Bangor Commercial, with the patent smoke consumer, which was put in operation at the Crockett kiln at the north end, the other day, citizens who reside near the smoking furnaces wil appreciate their efforts, for in certain kinds of weather the dense smoke is almost unbearable. The consumer above mentioned is known as the "hy dro-carbon system," and is controlled by the Steam Roller Equipment company of New York. It was tested with excellent results, no smoke issuing from the kiln, nearly perfect combus tion resulting. The consumer is guaranteed to save 10 per cent of the fue and costs about $1,000 for each kiln. It is very likely that all of the kilns of the company will be supplied with the new apparatus.

INDIANTOWN POSTMASTER DEAD.

He Had Held the Office for Over Forty Years.

One of the best known residents in the north end of city died Saturday morning in the person of W. G. Brown, postmaster at Indiantown. The deceased gentleman who was in his seventy-second year, had been a sufferer from almost total paralysis for over ten years, making it impossible for him to engage in any work. Of late he grew gradually more feeble and his life's termination was most peaceful. For over forty years Mr. Brown filled the office of postmaster in that part of the city. In this connection, as well as in his duties as justice of the peace, issuer of marriage licenses, banking agent, etc., he became known to a very large number of people along the river, and outside the city generally. His dealings were always fair and without reproach. As a citizen Mr. Brown enjoyed the respect and esteem of all. He came to St. John from his native Ireland many years ago and married here. The surviving children are Mrs. Paterson, proprietress of the A. Paterson concern, Indiantown; Mrs. Bailey, wife of Fred Bailey, of the Western Union night telegraphic staff; William Brown, clerk to Col. Dunbar, at the Fredericton infantry school, and Miss Bertha Brown, who has been attending to the postal duties in her father's office for several years. Miss Fanny Hamilton is an adopted daughter, also living home. Mrs. Brown died about three years ago.

NO TRACE OF MCLAIN.

A Minute Description of the Murderer

PORTLAND, Jan. 20 .- Although it is over a week since the Moshier tragedy no trace of John McLain, the murder er, has yet been found. Sheriff Pearson has made the strongest possible ef-fort to find him. Up to Friday night the sheriff had put out $200 of his own money, and had offered a reward of $100 for his detection. John McLain has been an elusive factor in the mystery from the first.

The hunt in the dark has been great one. The description of the man who called himself John McLain is now very minute. He is possibly five feet ten or a little better. He is about 40, and looks every day of it. He is very bald, and there is a V shaped scar on his head, and a well defined scar on his face below his eye, and on one of his arms a tatooed mark of identification likely to trouble him. It is two interlocked hearts, pierced by an arrow. His handwriting is that of an uneducated man, and he spells in an erratic and entirely independent way.

I. C. R. TRAINS RUNNING WILD. The delays of the train leaving Moneton for St. John, popularly known as the Quebec express, are once more causing much annoyance to patrons of the Intercolonial. This particular grievance was freely exposed not long ago by the Sun, and it was understood that an order had been issued ordering the St. John train to proceed whenever the northern train was over ten or fifteen minute late. For a short time this order was enforced, but recently the old order of things has been restored. On Saturday the train was over an hour late and yesterday it was again sixty minutes behind time, to the intense disgust and incovenience of passe particularly men who had banking business to transact before 3 p. m. There is no excuse for the mans ment of the people's railway holding pack this express at Moncton because the train from the north is hours' late The people on this end of the I. C. TO DEVONIANS IN CANADA.

To the Editor of the Sun:

Sir-I shall be glad if you allow me to appeal to Devonians and descendof Devonians who are residents in that vast area of the Empire known to the dwellers in the "Old Country" as Canada, upon a subject in which I am deeply interested, and which, I think, may be made keenly interesting to us of Devon and the Devonians of Canada. As having had a Canadian experience, I take a real interest in all the developments of the dominion, and especially such as knit it and the old country together, and particularly that which seems to be likely to interest Devon-lans. I have done considerable in interesting people of this country in the fair and magnificent part of the Empire that stretches from the Atlantic to the Pacific. As a journalist and public lecturer I have, I think, probably been the means of inducing some Devonians to try their fortunes in Canada, and I know that when new towns are formed, as is the case continuously, the dear old Devoniar names are used again, either the old place names or that of people giving title to places. And so it comes about that glancing at the map one see places one knows here repeated, signal points as it were, along the imperial line of communication. "Devon, our County." with the City of Exeter, motto, "Semper fidelis," is ever before us, and it is hoped its motto is a good guide and watchword. We want all who come to visit the "Old Country," whether Devonians or not, to give Devon a share of their holiday, so that they may see and enjoy its great charm of coast line, river, moorland, and sylvan beauty, together with its many quaint villages and towns, still tinctured with old fashioned ways. I want the assistance of all Devonians in Canada to help me to create a closer bond of sympathy and interest by sending me photographs of places in Canada bearing the old Devonian names, places bearing the namons of Devonshire families, and of any subject that may be comprehended in a wide range, that I may prepare lantern slides of these and show them to the people of Deyon. Photography is now so widely practiced that I know I am not imosing a difficult task. I do ask, nowever, that the photographs shall be as good as possible. Of course I shall be glad of descriptive notes, without which my information will be incomplete. I have to thank you, sir, for considerable trespass upon your space, but this is a matter of some interest to many and will, I think, have your approval. I shall be glad if Canadian papers will copy. As to my bona fides, if this is deem ed necessary, I beg to refer to Jos. G. Colmer, C. M. G., secretary to the high commissioner for Canada, 17 Victoria street, Westminster, London.

nnual Meeting of the Shareholders-Appreciation of the Services of Three Prominent Officials Now Deceased, Placed on Record.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of New Brunswick Jas. Manchester presided and Walter Foster acted as secretary. Mr. Manchester, in his address, referred to the loss sustained by the death of Senator Lewin, Chas. Woodman, and last Geo. A Schofield, one of the most prudent bank managers of Canada. It had been Mr. Schofield's wish to make the last year of the century the best year of the bank's business, but on account of certain forgeries this was impossible. However, the bank was in good condition, and commenced the new century with a clean sheet. Mr. Schodeld was succeeded by W. A. Stavert. The work of the officers of the bank was most commerdable.

G. S. Smith, after a short speech moved, seconded by Judge Barker, the following resolution: Whereas, it has pleased Divine Providence to remove by death during the year three officials prominently connected with the management of the institution, the shareholders of the Bank of New Brunswick desire at this, their annual meeting to place upon record the sense of the great loss sustained by the respective deaths of Hon. J. D. Lewin, Geo. A. Schofield and Chas. F. Woodman.

Mr. Lewin had been connected with the bank for well nigh half a century, during the greater portion of which time he had the chief manage ment of the affairs, of the bank, and brought it from a comparatively in significant position to the high standing it now holds. Mr. Lewin's courtesy of manner, combined with strict regard for the best interests of the bank, will cause him long to be remembered, not only by the shareholders, but by numbers of others with whom he was brought in contact in the discharge of his duties.

Mr. Schofield, who entered the institution as a young man, many years ago, by his talent and business ability, rose through the various graduations to the position of manager, the dutles of which he discharged in a most efficient manner for a period of fifteen years or upwards, wherin he promoted the efficiency of the bank, and as sisted not only in maintaining but in improving its high standard.

Mr. Woodman, though not taking such an active part as the gentlemen first named, rendered very acceptable what reluctant about talking about old times.

He, however, soon became interested in comparing the past with the present, and in a few moments he forgot that he was talking to a shorthand reporter.

He said he was formerly a farmer and for years carried on that occupation at Rossway, Digby Neck. Later he moved to Clementsport, Annapolis county, where he kept a small store in connection with his farm. After having spent ten years in that locality he moved to Digby town, where for twenty years he was one of the few merchants whe carried on a successful business.

When asked how long he had been a member of the Methodist church he said: "Ever since there has been one in Digby"—over 50 years. He has attended the Methodist conference several years and was always the oldest man present.

When asked the condition of the roads in his younger days he said in fact there were nothing but foot paths. He would often be called to do road work eight miles from his own home.

nothing but foot paths. He would often be called to do road work eight miles from his own home.

When asked about the number of stores in town when he was a boy and the mode of travelling between Digby and St. John, he was obliged to laugh, as he replied.

Number of stores, why there was only one that I can remember. James Crowley kept a general store and ran a packet to St. John, carrying mails, passengers and freight when there was anything to do in that line. His idle time was spent on his farm. This packet was called the Caroline, and was lost in 1831 with all hands. She left Digby on Saturday with over a dozen persons on board, a number of whom were passengers. Before reaching Partridge Island the wind changed northwest and drove her up the Bay of Fundy to Isleaux. Haute, where she stranded on the beach. Her master was Capt. James R. Bryant of Smith's Cove."

"Was there no steam communication in those days across the Bay of Fundy."

"Yes, four years previous to that we had a steamer on the poute. She was called, I think, the St. John. She looked like a salling vessel, but used steam and salls. She was a great curlosity, having been the first steamer to enter our harbor. Other steamers followed this crait, but none were running when the Caroline was lost."

"No, sir; there was only one clock in the entire neighborhood, and I understand that one, which was made entirely of wood, is running today.

"We had fire-places and candles those days. I remember that a party of half a dozen ministers, Baptist, would visit tather occasionally. At that time, as well as at Christmas, we would put on the fire huge logs of wood, which were cut and said only to be used on special occasions.

"It was astonishing the heat these logs would throw out into the room. Many times would throw out into the room. Many times it wewld become tool but for the parsons, who would ask to have the heat reduced."

"How often did you get your Yarmouth and Halifax mail when you lived at Rossway?"

John McDonald has returned to Weymouth from California and will take up a permanent residence at the former place.

CHATHAM, N. B., Jan. 17.—Despite the fact that a blizzard was raging, a large number of townsfolk proceeded to the junction to meet and greet the young hero, Stan. MONCTON, Jan. 18.—Nothing is known here of the intended changes in the Intercolonial staff, although according to all reports the freight and passenger departments will be remodelled. The railway men profess to be in entire ignorance and probably nothing will be known until Tiffin's arrival next week. It appears to be Blair's policy to manage the railway largely from Montreal, leaving the ds of departments here without information as to his intentions Much comment is excited in railway circles by an Ottawa despatch in the Chronicle representing Mr. Pottinger as saying that he had not heard of the recent dismissals from Moncton shops, and that probably they were extra men. As a matter of fact, the men dismissed have been in the service ten, fifteen and twenty years, many being experts in their departments, and it is thought Blair may have ordered the dismissal on the representation of politicians without consulting Mr. Pottinger. It is the general impression that Pottinger's days as general manager will be few, and that some heads of departments will be removed or reduced in rank. ## FAREWELL ADDRESS.

Letter from Sir Charles Tupper to the Conservative Party.

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.-Sir Charles Tupper, bart., has written a ringing farewell address to the parliamentarians of the conservative party and to their supporters throughout the dominion of Canada. It is needless to say that this document, which is probably the last ever penned by the retired veteran chieftain to the conservative party of Canada, will be found quite worthy of the previous utterances of that eminent staesman, and will be read with pleasure by not only the friendly members of the house of commons and senate but the thousands of conservative electors throughout the dominion. Sir Charles penned this important and historic address to his tried and trusted followers since his return from the coast, a few finishing touches having been put in during the last few days, and although the ex-member for Cape Breton will not be here when it is given out to those for whom it is intended, the letter has in the meantime been placed in exceedingly safe hands. The aged baronet thought it better to choose the day of the conservative caucus on the eve of the opening of parliament to deliver his farewell words to the party representatives and to the people, and it is from the lips of George Taylor, M. P. and chief party whip, that will fall the retiring leader's adieu to an admiring and appreciative people The letter will detail the glorious past of the conservative party, the leaders of which he says were the veritable nation builders of the dominion. Si Charles asks for moderation and union and predicts a bright future for that great political organization, the leadership of which he has so recently laid down. The communication, which Mr. Taylor will impart to his colleagues in caucus assembled, is statesmanlike and wise document and while increasing the admiration which all of his former supporters undoubtedly possessed for Sir Charles Tupper his patriotic and eloquent words of adieu will assuredly be placed side by side with Sir John Macdonald's ever memorable appeal: "A British subject

JAMES J. HILL IS A CANADIAN

The Story of an Ontario Farm Lad's Career-How He Has Become One of the Great Railway Kings of This Continent.

The financial world of the United States-and by reflection of Great Britain and Canada-has been much excited during the past few days by the remarkable stories of railway deals which have been ascribed to James J. Hill. It may not be generally known that Mr. Hill-this man of millionsis a Canadian, and that all his success has resulted from his own exertions. He was born on a small farm near Guelph, in Upper Canada, September 16, 1838. His father was of that sturdy race of Scotch-Irishmen, and his mother a Scotch woman, both frugal, industrious and religious, and they had a hard struggle to win a livelihood from the soil of a new country and rear a growing familyof chiliren. Mr. Hill's early life was precisely that of other farmers' sons of the period, very little schooling and a plenty of hard work on the farm, with the chores and the cattle. He succeeded, however, in getting a fairly good education, even to a slight knowledge of Latin, but when at fifteen years of age his father died, he was unable to presecute his studies further, and was forced to take up with work in a country store.

When but eighteen years old, in 1856, young Hill set out to seek his fortune in the states, as so many other Canadian lads have done, both before and since his time. He remained for only a short period in the east, and in July, 1856, reached St. Paul. Minn., then a thriving little river town of five thousand inhabitants, in the remote Northwest. No railways had penetrated to the city at that time, and the only means of reaching it was by the broad, flat, stern wheeled steamboats tht plied the Mississippi. His first employment was with the Dubuque and St. Paul Packet company, the agent of which at St. Paul was the firm of J. W. Bass & Co. At this stage in his career young Hill turned his hand to anything, loading cargo as a laborer, ac-ting as clerk and levee agents, as foreman of gangs and doing whatever presented itself to be done. He was indefatigable and obliging, and mastered all the details of river transportation, and in 1865 he was offered and accepted the agency of the Northwestern Packet company.

HIS FIRST OPPORTUNITY. In the meanwhile railway communication had been opened with St. Paul, and Mr. Hill, while still continuing as a river transportation | by a grand head, covered with a shock agent, became agent of the St. Paul and Peific railway, handling all the freight received from and transferred from the river bank. In 1869 he formed the firm of Hill, Griggs & Co., which engaged in both the transportation and fuel business, and which took to St. Paul the first coal ever used there for fuel. The partnership lasted until 1875, and in the meanwhile, in 1870, Mr. Hill embarked in the first venture which was desti to make him famous. This was the establishment of the Red River Transportation company, which opened up the first regular communication between St. Paul and Manitoba, and developed the great grain resources of the Red River Valley, "the bread basket of the world."

The St. Paul and Pacific Railway, which had been operated in connection with the river lines in which Mr. Hill was interested, either as owner or agent, defaulted on its bonds in 1873. This afforded Mr. Hill his great opportunity in the line of railway de-He knew the vast resources of the Red River country and of Manitoba, and he realized that water transportation was doomed. Many another man in his position would have regarded the failure of the railway as the failure of a system, or of an idea, and stuck to his river steamboats. But not so with Mr. Hill. The fault, he concluded, was not with the railway, but with its shocking construction, worse management and grossly exorbitant debt. There was outstanding $27,000,000 of bonds on the St. Paul and Pacific Railway, a majority of which were held in Amsterdam. Mr. Hill's fortune at the time amounted to about $100,000. How to acquire the $27,000,000 of bonds with a capital of $100,000 was the problem Mr. Hill had to study. In his transportation business to Manitoba county he had become acquainted with Sir Donald A. Smith, chief rissioner of the Hudson Bay Co. (new Lord Strathcona). To Sir Donald he submitted the proposition and unfolded his plans. The hypnotic power highly developed in later years won the day. Sir Donald Smith became a warm adherent of the project. So did George Stephen, president of the Bank of Montreal, and now Lord Mount Stephen, and with them was associated Commodore Norman A.

INVESTED HIS ALL.

Mr. Hill's confidence in the undertaking was such that he invested every penny of his fortune in the enterprise. For five years he labored unceasingly, and at times it looked as though his $100,000 was lost. But he persevered with his negotiations, and finally, in 1878, had acquired control of the bonds of the St. Paul and Pacific Railway. Then the mortgage was foreclosed and Mr. Hill and his associates came into possession of the property, which dur-ing the long receivership had degenerated to a condition little better than that predicted by Jay Gould of a certain property, "two streaks of rust through the grass." The road was promptly reorganised under the name of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba, and construc-tion work went on rapidly, pushing out and extending, tapping a wheat country here and a lumbering country there, and a lake port at some other

From this property of only 38s miles in length in 1879 was evolved the Great Northern system, with its 5,441 miles of road. The same plan that was followed in building the 380 miles of ortginal road has been pursued in build-ing the entire 5,441 miles, and the other system of vast mileage and importance in the United States, and the whole thing has been accomplished without land grants or subsidies except a small portion in the state of Minnesota. The Great Northern Railway, as such, dates only from 1889.

It has been said that Queen Victoria owned shares in the Great Northern Railway, and it is not impossible that such is the case. It is certainly true that until recently, if not at the present time, there was scarcely a member of the British nobility able to own stock but held some Great Northern. It is also true that hundreds of conductors, engineers, brakemen, yard master, and the like, connected with the Great Northern Railway, are partners through share-holdings in company that employs them, with Mr. Hill, Queen Victoria and the British nobility. Between the nobility of Britain, on the one hand, and the humble Great Northern fireman on the other, are the Morgans, Rockfellers, Kennedys, and the vast capitalistic interests of the United States, all reposing confidence in this self-made, many-sided man, and following eagerly where he leads.

WROUGHT A REVOLUTION. Not so many years ago Mr. Hill was regarded by some of the Wall street contingent with whom he came in contact in somewhat the light of a charlatan. Not that there was anything that suggested the juggler or mountbank about the somewhat short, stockily built man whose deep chest and broad shoulders are surmounted of hair, and a face framed in a tangled beard, from which two glinting eyes peep out under bushy brows, but then he had made the statement that a railway could be run and maintained at from 50 to 55 per cent of its earnings, and probably less. It was a startling proposition.

"Ridiculous," cried Wall street, "Absurd," "Nonsensical," "Mere bookkeeping," "Jugglery of figures." With railway and financial experts turned to their books and their records, and showed that the average of operating expenses to earnings of all the roads in the United States was but a trifle short of 70 per cent, and that when roads were operated for less they were peculiarly favored, or had been marked out for inevitable bankruptcy and the protecting care of courts and receivers. Ocular demonstration and practical results bore fruitfully, and the influence of this Canadian genius spread apace. Man after man passed under the spell, sought his co-operation in properties of vast proportions, imitat-ed his methods, tested them and found them true. He had wrought a revolution in the methods of operating his own property, and he is working a revolution now in the management of the railways of the United States. SOME PERSONAL CHARACTERIS-TICS. What is the secret of Mr. Hill's su cess in railway management? was the question asked the other day of a number of bankers of New York City. "Common honesty, I should say," replied one man. "His stockholders know and believe in him. They know that they will get as much out of the property as he gets. Everything goes to the stockholders of the Great Northern road. It owns its own telegraph lines, its own express company, its own dining car service, its own steamship line; everything that contributes to its earnings is owned by the company. There is no milking

"Attention to detail, 'I believe," is the dominant quality in Mr. Hill," re-plied another banking friend to the same question. "Singleness of purpose and a complete mastery of detail of everything connected with his prop-

"Why," he continued, "he knows the number of ties on every bridge along the line from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Seattle and Vancouver. And there is not a figure relative to the cost of anything he cannot give you offhand."

"Out of his head?" was asked. "Yes, out of his head, and his figures are always correct. It is marvellous. To illustrate: "It is only a short time ago that the representative of the largest locomotive works in the country told me that in trying to get an order for locomotives from the Great Northern, Mr. Hill took exception to the price. Finally the estion narrowed down to the cost of materials entering into the construction-bolts and rivets, screws and everything else. "What rivet do you use in such and such a place, asked Mr. Hill, specifying the part. "The locomotive man replied and

"'If you're paying that you're paying too much for them,' replied Mr.
Hill. 'I can buy them for so and so,' naming a price considerably lower." A LESSON FOR AN ENGINEER. Bearing upon this same subject, a story is told how once Mr. Hill was strolling through the train yard of and noticed that one of the engineers was "limbering up" his locomotive by running it up and down short stretches of track.

"What are you doing there, my man?" called out the president. "Only limbering her up a bit, sir," returned the engineer.

"Do you know the cost of a locomotive of that pattern?" asked the pre-

The man mentioned an approximate figure. "Do you know the life of a locomo tive?" Mr. Hill queried further. Again an approximate period was given. "Well, I know them both," Mr. Hill continued. "I know them both, and I know the number of revolutions they should make, and dividing the cost by the number of revolutions, I know the cost of each. Now, what you were doing was unnecessary and wasteful, for it shortens the life of the locomotive by just so much and costs the company so much unnecessary money. You must not do it again." ......

TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

BY THE WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPER-ANCE UNION OF ST. JOHN.

[Trust the people—the wise and the ignorant, the good and the bad—with the gravest questions, and in the end you will educate the race.]

COST OF INTEMPERANCE. A Long Record of Heavy Expenses Entailed on the Community by the Prevalence of the Vice.

Many attempts have been made to estimate the cost if intemperance, but the figures that make up the appalling total are necessarily untrustworthy. It is impossible to learn, in spite of the ingenuity of statisticians, how much loss is incurred through this horrible vice.

Who can tell us, for example, how much of the poverty that is in every city is the result of intemperance? What is the difference in the wealth of the community between the situation in which the man is doing hones productive work and the same man idling his time away in the saloon, while his wife's friends support her and her children? That difference is a distinct loss to the public, and is part of the cost of intemperance. Then there are the poor who are supported in the public almshouse of every state. Some there are who are there through misfortune, and God forpid that one word of suspicion should ever be uttered against any man simply on account of his becoming a public burden. But there are others whose poverty is the direct or indirect result of intemperance. Lawyers whose clients have deserted them because of their drunken habits, physicians whose patients became afraid to trust them, business men whose stores have been neglected for the saloon until the sheriff took possession, mechanics of rare skill who have been discharged because they were addicted to drink and became unreliable—all these are familiar, and if they live to old age they are a burden to their friends or the public. The gross loss from this cause cannot even be guessed at. The loss through the crime that is the result of intemperance is equally beyond computation. Experience has proved that in a sober community, the jail is often empty and the police force has little to do. Our citizens are a law-abiding people and they go about their business in an orderly manner molesting no one, so long as they retain their senses. But let the demon of drink get possession of them and they become capable of all kinds of wickedness. It is no uncommon experience for a man to wake up from a debauch to find himself behind the bars and to be horror-stricken when he learns what he did when he was drunk. He cannot be convinced that he did things so contrary to his nature. A kind husband and father maddened by liquor, beating and even murdering his wife and children; a good neighbor setting fire to his friend's house or barn; an ordinarily careful man after indulging in liquor driving over some child or woman; peaceable man, quar elsome in his cups, attacking some inoffensive citizen-such are a few o he awful variety of crimes directly raceable to intemperance, besides the indirect results of the robberies that are committed by them whom intemperance has made desperate. The cost of police, of jail wardens, of judges and the whole apparatus of justice is increased by this vice more than by any other and is beyond the power of any man In addition to these shocking teams to calculate.

of cost, there are the innumerable cases of insanity produced by intemperance which are to be found in our asylums for the insane and the sui-cides which coroners must investi-gate. Nor does the distressing list end with the life of the wrongdoer Too often he leaves a horrible legacy to his children of a craving for intoxicants. The cost of intemperance goes on indefinitely and is multiply ing day by day. After bearing the cost of the drunkard's support, o keeping policemen and courts to des with the drunkard's crimes, and jail to lodge hm in when he has outrage the law, of maintaining almshouse for the support of his wife and fam ily, of a coroner to hold an inques on him when he commits suicide, an paying an undertaker to bury him the public must begin all over again with the children who have inherite his horrible propensity. Truly a

CHATHAM, Mass., Jan. 21.-The sted schooner Electa Bailey was discovered ashore off Harbing's Beach early this morning. She was bound from Poole's Landing, Me., for Portsmouth, Va., laden, with ice. She encountered the storm 'Saturday night off Cross Rip, and Capt. Clay reports that they had a hard time of it. The sails were blown away, so that they could not get to windward, so they turned back and anchored off the northwest of Handkerchief Lightship. A great deal of ice formed about the vessel and finally her anchor chains parted, and she was driven before the gale into Chatham Bay, where she went ashore. Capt. Herbert Eldredge and crew of the Chatham Life Saving Station went to the assistance of the crew this morning and took them off. The men were all badly frostbitten, but are deing well tonight. It is expected they will go to Boston temorrow.

It is believed that the vessel will go to pieces, as she is an old one, although she is now in an easy position. She was built at Petersburg, N. J., in 1868, and hailed from Bangor. She is 118 feet long, 31.1 feet broad, 9.2 feet deep; net tornage, 299. ered ashore off Harbing's Beach early this

How St. John Received News of Death of William IV,

And How the Ascension of Princess Alexandrina Victoria to the Throne was Celebrated

In This City as Well as at the Capital of the Province-A Quaintly Worded Proclamation - Some Interesting Local History.

For the following timely extracts from the files of the St. John Courier of 1837, the Sun is indebted to the courtesy of Clare Ward, clerk in the mayor's office, who possesses the most complete collection of local historical data of any man in St. John.

According to the Courier of Saturday, August 5th, 1837, the first intelligence of the death of His Majesty William the Fourth, which reached St. John contained in an Extra from the Woodstock Times office, brought by the steamer John Ward from Freder icton on Tuesday afternoon. It had arrived at Woodstock in regular course of the mails from New York, via Bangor, Houlton, etc.-The sub sequent arrival, on the same day, of the steamer Gazelle from Eastport furnished us with further particulars of the sad event. The dates are to the 24th June from Liverpool."

The Courier, which appeared with column rules turned, editorially stat-

"We have this day the unpleasant duty of announcing the demise of His Majesty William the Fourth. This melancholy event took place at Windsor Castle on the morning of the 20th June, after a few weeks' suffer ing from 'Angina et hydrops peo toris,' inflammation and dropsy of the chest, and will, we believe, cause universal sorrow not only throughout the British nation, but in surrounding foreign states. • • •

"We have, however, every confidence in the judgment and prudence of the young Queen Victoria, and, we think, a strict adherence to those principles laid down in her declaration on assuming the arduous and responsible duties of her station, will ensure the lasting glory and stability of the great Empire over which she has been called to sway the sceptre. "The London Gazette of the 21st June, contains an Order from the Herald's College for general mourning for his late Majesty—to begin on Saturday, the 24th.

"The funeral of William IV. is appointed to take place on the 6th
