THE COUNCIL HOLD REGULAR MEETING

Much Business Done at Tuesday Night's Session. Large Payments of Bills

NEW PROJECTS

The Town Council held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, His Worship Mayor F. M. Murray presiding. There were present at the beginning of session councillors White, Lunam, Miller, Stewart, Alexander and Pinault.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed.

Communication was received from S. Rosenhek with regard to the license of $150 charged him when others doing a like business had only paid $40. As Mr. Rosenhek would be one of the large taxpayers when his building was completed he claimed he was entitled to a rebate in the amount of the fee. Letter was referred to Police and License committee.

A communication from J. O. Pichette asking for a sidewalk on Sugarloaf street near his house was referred to Public Property and Streets committee.

Communication was received from W. T. Cook with regard to coal shipped in the same cargo as the town's, and was referred to the Electric Light committee.

Communication received from Thos. Carter with regard to assessment of 1912 and was referred to Assessment and Appeals committee.

Communication received from G. Teed enclosing account of $147 being expenses in connection with the Crockett case.

Coun. Pinault thought that the amount was reasonable and moved that it be paid. This was seconded by Coun. Miller and carried.

A petition from the residents of McMillan terrace and vicinity was received praying that the light formerly at the corner of Chapel street and McMillan terrace be replaced.

Speaking on the petition Coun. Pinault said not only here but all over the town more lights were needed and considering the power we had he said fully a third more lamps were required, and hoped the Electric Light committee would take this matter up.

In reply to Coun. Pinault and in explanation Coun. Stewart said that early in the spring a meeting of the Electric Light committee was held for the special purpose of arranging for some street lights. At that meeting that manager of the Electric Light department had informed the committee that no more street lights could be added to the existing plant.

The Explanation

The power generated from the present plant is called alternating current, and the street lamps are supplied by direct current. To make this change transformers are used and the transformer in use at the power house is now loaded to its fullest capacity. The plant has ample power but before any more arc lamps are put in the streets a new transformer will require to be purchased at an expenditure of roughly $3000, not including the lamps, and this charge the committee were loath to make at this juncture. The petition was then referred to the Electric Light committee.

The following reports of committees recommending payment of accounts were received and adopted. Councillor Lunam, Police and License committee $41.74; Councillor Miller, Finance $169.90; Councillor Stewart, Electric Light $8457.32; Councillor Alexander, Water and Sewerage $1048.25; Councillor Pinault, Public Charities $98.00.

In answer to His Worship, councillor Pinault said he was cognizant

THANKSGIVING SHOOTING AT RANGE

Restigouche Rifle Club Have Enjoyable Matches to Wind Up the Season.

THE SCORE

The Restigouche Rifle Association wound up their shooting season on Thanksgiving day with the usual competition open to all comers. The attendance was a fairly large one. Separate competitions was held for 200 and 500 yards and the combined totals. Some very good scores were turned in, in spite of the weather which was dark with a nasty fish tail wind which is hard to negotiate.

At 200 yards the highest score was 33 by Capt. John White; for second place three tied with 32; Hamilton, McKenzie and Blyth. Hamilton later winning the shoot off with three straight bulls. McKenzie running him hard with two bulls and an inner.

At 500 Capt. White was again high man with 34, Hamilton being second with 33. Before starting at 500 yards Blyth had the mortification to have his rear sight accidentally damaged putting him out of the running.

Following are the scores:—

of the condition of Frank Boudreau who lost his all by fire last week, and stated that the family were being cared for while Mrs. Boudreau was in the hospital. Instructions for assistance had been given the commissioner Mr. Asker.

Sewerage Matters

The Water and Sewerage committee then took the floor and occupied a considerable time with new projects. With regard to the extension of water and sewerage system on Athol St., Councillor Alexander said that this as well as other matters to come up was just a question of expenditure, whether we could afford it or not. To put sewers right up Athol St., in the middle of the roadway would cost $1760.88, not including street grading.

After discussion Mr. John Mair appeared before the council, and said that the work could be done cheaper by going down the east side of the street, thereby getting clear of the rock and saving blasting.

Councillor Lunam thought the matter was urgent and should be gone on with at once. In his opinion he did not think the slight deviation to clear the rock would amount to much, and he moved that the committee be instructed to proceed with the laying of sewer pipes up Athol St. from Dalhousie St. to a point at John Mair's house, the pipes to be laid at the side of the road to clear the rock. This was seconded by councillor Stewart. Councillor White moved as an amendment that the work be proceeded with as far as the engineer's estimate and plan, but this found no seconder and the motion was

DALHOUSIE MAKES FORWARD MOVEMENT

Vote of Ratepayers to be Taken on Electric Light Proposition.

RAILWAY SCORED

Notwithstanding the many setbacks our town has met with in the past, such as the side tracking of Dalhousie when the I. C. R. was built, the big fire of 1886, which destroyed 228 buildings, the loss by fire in 1907 of the Restigouche Woodworking factory, which afforded work all the year round to a goodly number of men, as well as supplying house building material, etc., all over the county, followed by the burning of the saw mill of The Dalhousie Lumber Co., and recently the ruin by fire of the Sydney Lumber Co's plant, our people still endeavor to make the most of their advantages and many facilities.

With the incorporation of Dalhousie in 1905, began a new era for our town. Lands that were held for years by some of our pioneer citizens, were offered for sale or lease and our working men began to build their own homes. In the summer of 1907 a long felt need of the town was supplied by the completion of a water system, which has proved most satisfactory for both household and industrial purposes and with sufficient power for fire protection.

With our commodious harbor, suitable for all purposes, and so well protected and rendered safe by several light houses along the coast, the successful operation of the large mills owned by the Dalhousie Lumber Co., and the hopeful prospects of the Sydney Lumber Co., rebuilding, with other industries in sight, our townspeople have every right to look forward to a prosperous future.

The population of Dalhousie has grown over 30 per cent. since the incorporation of the place.

The action of our town council at their regular meeting held recently, in taking steps to have a vote taken on Nov. 5th to ascertain the views of the ratepayers on the proposition to install an electric light plant in Dalhousie, is a move in the right direction and every citizen who is not influenced by selfish motives, will confirm the action of our mayor and council in voting yeay.

Dalhousie is very fortunate having located within its boundaries a fine hotel for tourists and health seekers. This summer resort adds from 200 to 350 to our population during the months of July, and August and considerable money is put in circulation by the very genial people from the cities who visit us on account of our beautiful scenery, good bathing, fishing, etc. One great drawback to the success of a summer hotel on our branch line of seven miles than they would in travelling from Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, Halifax, St. John, etc., to Dalhousie Junction. Who is responsible for this condition of things our people are determined to ascertain.

It is to be hoped that the I. C. R. officials will be instructed to provide the necessary car accommodation, etc., on our branch to encourage pleasure seekers to come to our picturesque little town so beautifully located at the foot of hills and heights.

BOARD OF TRADE HAS GOOD MEETING

Many Subjects of Deep Interest to Campbellton Discussed

PROPOSED PULP MILL

An interesting meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Council chambers, Wednesday, President Harquail in the chair.

A good number of members were in attendance and the various subjects were well discussed and prompt action taken.

Among the matters discussed were:—

The advisability of organizing an Agricultural or Exhibition Association. This was left in charge of a committee.

Proposed to change date of holding town elections from third Tuesday in April to a date in February or March. Stood over until next meeting.

In future the Board of Trade will be held monthly instead of quarterly as formerly.

There new members were admitted.

The violation of the Building by laws was discussed.

A resolution asking the Public Property and Streets committee to put down street crossings at various places, but particularly at the I. C. R. depot.

Pulp Mill Proposed

The Council of the Board of Trade in their report announced that the matter of the establishment of a pulp mill here had been discussed. Two eminent engineers representing New York and Philadelphia parties had been here and together with members of the Board of Trade went over the proposed site which seemed to favorably impress them. They have returned to New York to report and will advise the Board of Trade as to their intention.

"THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY" IN TOWN

This high class play will be seen here on Friday evening November 8th. Of this company the New Glasgow News says:—

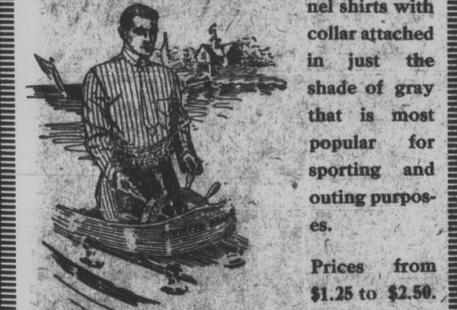

"Thanksgiving Day patrons of the Academy of Music were treated to a farce-comedy that was far above the ordinary. 'The Arrival of Kitty,' which has been advertised as 'for laughing purposes only,' sustained its reputation as a laugh-getter. It is loaded to the brim with funny complications, is full of catchy musical numbers and sparkles with wit and humor. Hal Johnson, who plays the leading role as 'Billy Brown,' proved himself to be a versatile actor and a capital female impersonator. 'Kitty' is abundantly amusing. There is just enough plot to make innumerable complications. The fun is due to the fondness of 'Cal Bell' for Kitty Benders, a vaudeville artist, who for many good reasons, does not introduce her to his family. 'Billy Brown,' a college boy, learns the fact and takes advantage of it. He masquerades as 'Kitty,' makes love and engages himself, and gets everything topsyturvy. The arrival of the real Kitty further complicates matters and gets Billy in bad with his best girl. But it all ends happily in a triple wedding. The whole show from start to finish is the best mirth provoker yet seen here. Every artist is a finished actor. Should they ever come this way again they can be assured of another bumper house.

CAMPBELLTON, N. B.

A THANKSGIVING OF THE PAST.

An old time, rambling farmhouse, set far back among the trees. A broad walk leading up to it. A door which opens with ease. A snow-haired couple just inside. To grasp your willing hand, A merry welcome for you bring, And ever growing band. The slow and solemn service, led By father's trembling voice, And hymns which stir the soul and make The weary heart rejoice. The festive board round which we meet In jovial, happy throng, The stories of the year just past, The jest and laugh and song, The glorious old fireplace, filled With crackling, glowing flames, The roasted apple, cider, nuts— Do others taste the same? The quiet nook upon the stairs, With neat, cosy and soft sofas, The downcast eyes, the sweet, soft voices That opened hearts to you— Did ever modern Thanksgiving Contain such joy and bliss? Can theater or football game Bring happiness like this?

THANKSGIVING FOR TWO.

The Widow Wilson's farm had seen better and more prosperous days, and now was traveling backward. It began at the top of Brindle Hill, where it was bounded by the county road, and straggled down the steep slope, its hundred steps or so wandering over hills and dipping into hollows, until they terminated at the bay, with its rim of white and glistening sand.

One of the most picturesque spots of earth, and right in the center of it, crowning a rounded knoll, surrounded with tall, white willows against the level of the sea, stood the house of its owner.

It was always a difficult spot to reach in winter, when the drifting snows piled high their white billows against the low-curved structure and hid the windows from the outer world. But in summer it was a delight, this moss-brown dwelling beneath the oaks, and at one time had been a home around whose hearstones had gathered sons and daughters. Now it was deserted. The passing stranger would have but added it to the category of deserted farms. No sign of life was visible this bright Thanksgiving morning, from its wide, pebbly chimney as curl of smoke invaded the crisp and frosty air; the light fall of snow that had covered the ground the night before showed no trace of footstep leading from the weather-beaten door. And yet there was a stir of life in the farm yard, in the hollow among the trees, where the old barn tottered, ready for the fall. There a flock of fowl and turkeys wandered disconsolately about. In the adjacent stall an old horse stamped impatiently for his breakfast, and a foal eyed chafed restlessly at her stallions. Except for these, the old farm was as silent as the first snow-covered fields of the virgin wilderness. A rustling of the shrubbery that fringed the tall, stiff-ranked pines on the hill beyond the barn told that a visitor was coming to Lone-brook Farm. A human head appeared in sight. It was crowned by a woolen cap, from beneath which peered a pair of black, bright eyes. The eyes were cast off the cap and mopped his brow. He was a rugged country lad of 18, well knit and sturdy, with a pair of ruddy cheeks, white teeth and lips rosy, but with a droop of sadness.

New England, always hard to her children, that it takes from their joy the home and mother that make Thanksgiving, even as it had taken from the widow all but the wretched framework of what had once been home.

"Hous looks like mother's used to after she got to she couldn't get about," soliloquized the boy, staring at the motionless chimney. "I bet she's been nobody near the wider in a week, and I'll bet, while I'm a bettin', that she needs somebody. Guess I'll find out what's the matter."

He strode down to the house and knocked. There was no response. Only the creak of the door as he pushed it open by the unwonted noise and flew away with a cry of alarm. A second knock startled the fowl in the barnyard, who peered him with one eye under the eaves, but there was no answer from within. "Guess I might as well go in," he pushed open the creaky door and entered the room which served as kitchen and sitting room, all in one. A table stood in the center of it, covered with a snowy cloth and set as if for supper. A tall, dark-tipped chair stood under the stairs, but its rhythmic beats only seemed to make the silence audible. "It seems like empty, that's a fact. Hope there ain't nothin' happened to her. Wonder where she is! Praps she's asleep."

He rapped loudly and then put his ear to the key-hole, listening intently. At first there was no response. Then he thought he heard a faint, quivering voice.

"Is me—Jem Hastings. I've come to see if you need anybody."

"Come in." The feeble voice struggled with a cough, then: "Yes, I'm so glad you're come. I was taken faint yesterday and had just strength enough to crawl to bed. Perhaps—"

"What an you aint had nuthin' to eat?"

"No," with a feeble smile.

"Well, if you'll let me try, I'll make a cup of tea."

Jem closed the door, set his gun in a corner and looked around for the place in which the widow kept her stores. The dressers ranged against the wall were bright with old-fashioned pewter platters and china. Here he found a candy of tea, and then set about making a fire. A huge fireplace yawned at one side of the room, hung with a black iron crane from which suspended a tea kettle. The wood pile was outside, near the back door, and brushing off the snow, Jem soon had some dry wood with which he made a roaring blaze. It was hot long before he had the satisfaction of seeing the kettle send forth a volume of steam, and a few minutes later he tapped at the bedroom door with a tray, on it a steaming cup of tea and two well buttered slices of bread. The bread had been intended for his luncheon, the gift of the farmer's wife who paid for his services in "keepin' New England ways."

Wrapped in a shawl of Canton silk, the heirloom of a grandmother whose father came from Salem to the Isles, the widow sank back into her comfortable chair with a deep sigh of contentment. She closed her eyes from sleep, but when she awoke she found the room "setting things to rights" and preparing the table for a prospective meal.

To be sure, there was very little in sight, but he had faith that there might be something in the cellar and in the cupboards, for the widow was known in the township to have been a "good provider" in her days of affluence.

Through the narrow-paned southern window an advance guard of the outside suspense came streaming in, one of them lighting the gray hair of the woman with a silvery halo. Jem thought he had never seen a woman who appeared so "ladylike" and how young she looked. He paused a moment to regard her and she opened her eyes. He retreated in confusion a step or two, the red blush staining his honest open face.

"You've made me very happy Jem; very thankful."

"Well, ma'am, I'm glad of it. It's Thanksgiving."

"What! Really Thanksgiving Day? It's the first time I've forgotten it—ever. I must be growing old."

Jem grew bolder.

"There's a turkey out in the barnyard. He ain't very fat, but if you say so I'll help you fix a turkey dinner."

The widow urged no objections, and both fascinated at the prospect of a Thanksgiving dinner with themselves as host and hostess, the boy trudged out to the barn.

Some sticks of hard wood were soon piled on the fire, and by the time the turkey was ready for the oven the widow had peeled the vegetables and dropped them into the mysterious depths of the steaming kettle, Jem looking on with glowing but bashful appreciation.

A snowy cloth over a round table, with two seats opposite each other, is always an inspiring sight, and when topped by a steaming brown turkey, with all the "fixings" of a turkey dinner, the seats in one's heart harder than that of the lonely widow and the homesick New England lad.

"It is the happiest Thanksgiving dinner I have had in many a year, my boy," she said to him, as he cleared away the dishes and brought out the dessert, of fragrant quince preserves.

"May God bless you, and to think how the dreadful, gloomy morning has been turned to such bright sunshine by your coming!"

Jem turned to the widow to hide some tears that would perch in quivering themselves out of his eyes. "I wish she wouldn't be so sentimental," said he to himself, quite wrathfully. But to the widow he said: "Why, ma'am, I ain't done nothin' great; so more'n you'd have done for me, I'll bet. I ain't enjoyed a dinner so myself, since I can remember. I wish I could just stay here all the time."

A new light came into the woman's faded gray eyes, born of a thought that had been struggling for expression for an hour or more. "And why can't you stay, Jem?"

"I could, ma'am, if I could come as— as partner."

It was out at last, the boy's yearning for something as his own and the chance he saw upon the widow's farm. "I could fix things up," he went on eagerly, "and make the chickens lay eggs and the cow give milk and—"

Jem stopped, but the widow's respectful attention led him on.

"I could earn my board in saving things that's goin' to waste. When I came through your wood-lot this mornin' I noticed cards an' cords of dead trees that ought to be cut an' made firewood of. An' as for timber, there's more'n a hundred dollars' worth there that'll all be split if it ain't cut an' sold pretty soon."

The boy hesitated, amazed at his audacity, but the widow nodded her head and smiled approval. "That is true Jem. The farm is running down for the lack of someone to oversee out of doors. So, then, it is a bargain."

And so this strange partnership began. The first winter Jem spent in thinning out the superfluous wood in the neglected lots, stacking up behind the house enough fuel to satisfy even the cravings of that yawning fire-place for years to come, and selling to the saw mill on the pond timber for shipping that came to quite $500.

As the spring opened he was soon at work, continuing the good work of improvement, and "planting time" found the farm with more and earlier labor performed than it had ever before experienced. In front of the western door he threw out a platform, protected by a lattice work covering, and here the widow passed all the spare time she could snatch from her indoor duties. It had never occurred to any one before that farm work might be made attractive. The widow had only looked upon the beauties of her farm around her through the kitchen window, or during a heavy trip to the well farm yard. The lattice-work porch was a revelation to her, and a haven of rest where she sat and mused during the long twilight of summer.

"I never thought I should take such comfort here," she said. "Before you came I was more than willing to give up the farm and go away. But now, Jem, I want to live here the rest of my life. I would not leave it for the world."

"That's so, ma'am. It would have been a great mistake to leave the old place. Why, there ain't a prettier view in all the world than this from your front door. If there is, then it is right there, down in the woods where the great trees meet overhead, the brook sings a soft song of rest and the fern-covered banks stretch down to the pond. I never traveled any yet, but I don't want to; this suits me." And he returned to his work with a cheery whistle that sent a thrill of satisfaction through the widow's heart. A wonderful change had been effected by the time another year had rolled another Thanksgiving into the calendar. The roof of the old house

HUSBAND AND WIFE BOTH ELECTROCUTED

They Had Only Recently Returned After Their Honey-moon Trip.

Milan, Oct. 29.—Professor John Baptist Polacchi and his wife were electrocuted in their bed at Chieti, in the Abruzzi Mountains, a few days ago. It is conjectured that the lady on awaking stretched out her hand to switch on the electric lamp by means of a cord wound round the metal bed post, and that contact ensued between the high and low tension wires.

So intense was the current that not only were both burned almost to cinders, but seven other persons who rushed in to render aid were terribly injured. While trying to wrench the bodies away from contact with the bedstead the professor's brother and a policeman were struck down senseless.

The electrocuted couple had only just returned after their honeymoon.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose cured them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.

"How did you break that boy of his practice of breaking windows?"

"Easily. I told him nobody did such things except little girls who were learning to be militant suffragettes."

LETTER AND SPIRIT

As there is quite a lot of talk going around regarding the action of the Mayor in giving coal to the town, we say giving, perhaps it would be quite in order to make some little explanation. Owing to the shortage of hard coal in town (none of the merchants having any) and the inability of the Electric Light committee to procure a cargo in time, the town was faced with the two alternatives, buy coal from the mayor or shut down the electric light plant. The manager of the electric light station was unable to procure coal at any price and in a manner demanded the coal of Mr. F. M. Murray. It would have been quite easy for His Worship to have sold the coal through some of the other merchants, and we suppose not a word would have been heard about it.

Rather than do that however Mr. Murray told the committee that if they must have the coal it would be done open and above board.

What would have the towns people thought if the plant had been shut down and some accidents had happened on the streets through the lack of light, putting the town into more lawsuits? We are afraid that those who are talking most would have howled loudest had not the Mayor stepped in and by his action assisted the town as he is in duty bound to do.

If some of those who are doing the talking would keep the letter of the law as well as His Worship keeps the spirit, there would be no necessity for such small mindedness as is being shown at this time.

SHINGLE MILLERS FORM ASSOCIATION

An association of those interested in the shingle business of this part of the province and the eastern section of Quebec was formed on Monday Oct. 27, at Campbellton under the name of the North Shore Shingle Association. The officers for the association were elected as follows:

President—Angus McLean, Caspédia, Que.
 Secretary—F. E. Blackall, Campbellton.

Additional Directors—W. F. Napier, Campbellton; W. P. Miller, Charlottetown; W. B. Snowball and W. P. Eaton of Chatham.

 carried. Mr. Mair then thanked the council and retired.

The next matter from the Water Sewerage committee was the proposed extension of water and sewers for 200 ft on George St. This in 9 inch sewer and 6 inch water main would entail an expenditure of $392.00. This line could be continued at any time to Sugarloaf St., thereby making another main water service. After discussion the committee were authorized to proceed with the work if it could be done at the estimated cost for such distance as was required.

With regard to the clearing out of the Brook which is very necessary Councillor Alexander said this work could be done by Mr. Underhill for the sum of $275.00. So far all the property owners but two along the banks had given the town permission to do the work. After discussion on ways and means it was decided to hold this matter over till the Spring.

The matter of expropriating part of the Moor's property on Rosebury St., for street purposes was then gone into. Mr. S. M. Moores appeared before the council and said he would like the matter fixed up right away, as he purposed changing the front of his building and doing repairs and would like to know what the council were going to do about it. He said he could not accept the offer made by the town and was only asking what he would have to pay for other ground in the vicinity.

Councillor Pinault said that an offer of 40 cents per sq foot had been made by the town and he as well as many others thought it was a generous offer at the time in comparison with prices paid for land sold in other parts of the town. Mr. Moores said his lowest price was $2800 and he would remove the building. Councillor Pinault said he had intended moving, that the offer be valid only for a certain time, but if Mr. Moore's word was final there was no use in proceeding further. After general talk on the question Councillor Pinault moved that the offer stand open till noon of the 4th November when the offer would be withdrawn. This was seconded by councillor White. Before the question was put Mr. Moores said that the town had been using this land for 14 or 16 years on which he had been paying taxes and he was not asking any return of these, but only what he would have to pay for other ground.

Councillor Lunam thought the offer was a liberal one and was on the same basis as the government used when expropriating land for the subway. It was pointed out that the Miller lots on Water St. were sold for $1000 with two buildings and larger area than the property under discussion which would net $1760. The motion was then carried.

Mr. O. Smith then appeared before the council relative to the purchase of the Murray property on Water St. Mr. O. Smith said that he had refused offers for this property feeling certain that the town would be purchasers, and was informed that the project was only turned down for lack of money. That being so he would like the council to take up the matter again as he was willing to accept a small payment and take notes for the balance at 6 per cent for as long as the council wished. He thought the town should look to the benefit of the people and as the price was reasonable $50 down and notes for $450, it was in the interest of the town to buy the property. In the discussion of the plan it was thought that the Thomson property might also be included in the deal, thereby giving a full square block of land from the river front to Water St., and the Electric Light committee were instructed to procure an option on the Thomson lot and close the deal for the Murray property. Mr. Smith then thanked the council and withdrew.

Councillor White then submitted a resolution that a vote of thanks be tendered the Minister of Public Works for his prompt action in the matter of deciding in response to the request of the Town Council.

Councillor Pinault said this was the first time a resolution of this kind had ever come before the council. The town was indebted to the liberal party for much more than the present government had done and yet no votes of thanks had ever been tendered them. He thought it was quite out of place. His Worship "Two wrongs don't make a right." The resolution was carried, councillor Pinault voting nay.

The Fire Protection committee were instructed to grant Wm. Noble two weeks holidays and arrange to have a substitute.

Councillor Pinault asked that a list of workmen who are legible for holidays with pay be prepared.

With regard to the compulsion of property owners to connect with the sewerage system, Councillor Pinault as Chairman of the Board of Health said the matter had been thrashed out by that body and it was the duty of the council to compel owners to obey the regulations. The result of the deliberations of the Board was that if any names of defaulters were handed to the town solicitor, action would be entered against them.

Councillor Lunam asked if the Board of Health would not insist on the proper cleaning of yards, and further asked what were the regulations applicable to the keeping of pigs within the town limits. Council then adjourned.

OCTOBER WEDDING

A very pretty event took place on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trites, High Street, Moncton, when their eldest daughter, Mary Evelyn, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Fremont Archer, of Campbellton. Rev. Mr. Lane, pastor of the Wesley Memorial Church, officiated in the presence of a large number of friends. The bride was handsomely gowned in white duchess satin, pearl trimmings, and carried a bouquet of crysanthemums and maiden hair fern. She entered the parlor on the arm of her father to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Mildred Trites, sister of the bride. Miss Nellie Way acted as bridesmaid and wore a gown of apricot satin de chene, while the groom was supported by Mr. Budd McKenzie of Chatham. The bridal party stood under an arch of evergreen and white carnations. Many valuable presents were received, testifying to the high esteem in which the young people were held both in Moncton and Campbellton. The groom's present to the bride was a gold pendant of white sapphires, to the bridesmaid a signet ring, to the groomsmen a set of signet cuff links and to the pianist a gold brooch. Mr. and Mrs. Archer left on the Maritime express for a short honeymoon trip to Montreal and Portland, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue whipcord and hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Archer will reside in Campbellton on their return.

DALHOUSIE
 (Not from our regular correspondent)
 Our town has been photographed. The work was done by our local artist, Mr. Cracher, under instructions from the local government and under the direction of Mr. C. H. LaBillico and His Worship the Mayor, who posed the citizens and told them how to behave. Two plates were taken. The first was not considered good by the photographer. He explained its defects by saying that "the mayor had a square face." Shocking, Billy! shocking! And the town local option.
 Mrs. C. H. LaBillico has returned from a prolonged visit to Montreal.

 The law abiding citizens of Dalhousie are gratified at the formation of a "morality squad" which has conducted a number of successful raids. The chief members are Mr. Henry Good, Mr. H. Grimes, Mr. Wm. Iott, Alderman Ed. Elziger and Alderman Narcisse Doucett. With such distinguished citizens enforcing the law, our inhabitants now sleep easily.
 Mr. C. H. LaBillico has had a tin roof placed on his house, which adds to its appearance.

 Your correspondent read with approval your editorial remarks on political dissimulations, with particular reference to Mr. G. E. Aker. There was no ground whatever for this dismissal except to make room for a hungry placeman. It has the disapproval of all right minded Conservatives and the dispenser of patronage who caused it will live to see his mistake. If the Conservatives of this county desire to use the axe in a locality which will meet with almost universal approval,—by all means fire the poor master of Dalhousie. He was appointed by the liberals and had been slated for the "hook" had they been returned, but unfortunately they were defeated.
 In the storm of Friday the Barque "Acadia" seeking harbor from the tempest, had to run in without a pilot. It is reported that some of them paralyzed by fear, were afraid to go out and preferred to play checkers. The others were said to be paralyzed by something else. The ship took the inner side of the buoy at Miguasha, but fortunately did not ground.
 It is understood that the Conservative party are trying to secure a candidate for the next Dominion election, the movement originating in Campbellton. It is hoped they will secure a man whom the best elements in the party feel they can support.
 Dredging goes on here still at increased prices and without tender. It strikes your correspondent as curious that former critics have no fault to find and that "everything is lovely."

SHE FAINTED WITH THE AGONY

Fruit-a-lives Cured Her Kidneys

MISS MAGGIE JAMACK
MOUNTAIN, Ont., Dec. 14th, 1910
"I desire to let the world know the great debt I owe 'Fruit-a-lives' which saved my life when I had given up hope of ever being well again.
For six years, I suffered from dreadful Kidney Disease. My legs and lower part of my body were fearfully swollen. The pain in my side and legs would be so bad that I would faint with the agony. Five different doctors attended me and all said it was Kidney Disease and gave me no hope of getting well.
A kind neighbor visited me and mentioned the case of Miss Penwick who had been cured of a sickness like mine. I took 'Fruit-a-lives' and in a short time, I began to feel better—the swelling went down—the pain was lessened—and soon I was well.
I have gained over 30 pounds since taking 'Fruit-a-lives'—and my friends look upon my recovery as a miracle."
MISS MAGGIE JAMACK
'Fruit-a-lives' are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, and also on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

RUN AWAY TO WED THE MAN SHE LOVED

Silent Until Fortune Came in New Land, Then a Letter and Forgiveness.

Vienna, Oct. 29.—Two years ago a wealthy merchant informed the police that his daughter Henriette had suddenly disappeared. The girl was engaged to a manufacturer and on the eve of the wedding declared that she was going out to make purchases. She did not return.
A search was made for her, the inquiries lasting months. Then the relatives began to entertain the idea that the girl might have committed suicide.
A short time ago the parents received a letter from their missing daughter in which she begged their forgiveness. She declared that she had fallen in love with a young man who was beneath her in station and that she preferred to marry him rather than the wealthy manufacturer to whom she was engaged. She fled with him to America, where the marriage took place.
Her husband found work in a factory in St. Joseph, and by his industry won the sympathy of the proprietor, an old man. When the latter died his will revealed that he had left his factory to the young emigrant.
When the good fortune came the fugitive ventured to reveal her whereabouts to her parents and to ask their pardon. At first the parents did not believe the story, but when the statements in the letter were confirmed by the detectives, they telegraphed their pardon and an invitation for them to come home.

LADS DIE AS THEY PLAY ROBBERS

New York, Oct. 29.—William Blooma and John Picarella, playmates, aged nine and twelve respectively, were found dead today in a "robbers' cave" which they had discovered in a vacant lot back of their home. The walls of the cave had fallen in, burying them under several feet of earth as they were sleeping during the night.

FRENCH CANADIANS FOR FACTORY

Fastport, Oct. 29.—Owing to the trouble which the Canadian Sardinia Company is experiencing with the hand of Norwegians whom it induced to come to St. Andrew's in the new sardine factory at that place, no more people from that place will be brought to this country. A large delegation of French Canadian girls will arrive this week to work at Chamcook and with the large number expected from Cape Breton it is thought the company will have sufficient workmen to start the plant in operation in a few weeks.

no longer shared the same had been raised from its state of depression, and its moves were now bursting with joy and gladness. He had spent his days in a state of gloom and his younger and more vigorous animal did the work, actuated by a joy of big and handsome creature. The solitary cow now had plenty of company and friends, and gambolled about her in the summer time. There was no longer any doubt as to the availability of any of the fat gobblers for a Thanksgiving dinner.
Thus the seasons succeeded one another with their measure of content. Each pleasant day was a new day, and the handsome young man who watched over her so assiduously was not in fact her own son. Important to Our Country

The importance of the Thanksgiving festival lies in the fact that on this day the people of Canada are called upon to attribute their happiness, peace and prosperity, not to the genius of Washington or the statesman's wisdom of Lincoln, but to the great President of the United States who has given us the gift of a day of national thanksgiving as the happiest, the most gratified, the best treated that a country could expect to in vindicating itself from the charge of irreligion and placing itself on the same plane with other Christian nationalities.—Churchman.

PIANO CONTEST LOOMING UP

Wet Weather Interferes With Work for Past Week.

THE RESULTS The weather for the past week has been of such a severe nature that contestants have found it impossible to move around, so that personal work has not come up to expectations although Miss Hamilton of Point la Nim has added 9,000 to her score while Miss Cyr and Miss Grenier have added about 7000 and 4000 respectively. One gratifying feature is the number of people who are remitting direct to this office either for new subscriptions or renewals, and voting for one of the contestants. The contest closes Dec 14th so there will be plenty of good weather for personal work yet. The standing up to Thursday evening was: Miss Lydia Grenier, 21,250 New Carlisle Miss Juliet Cyr, 15,250 Ruisseau LeBlanc Miss Ella Hamilton, 14,750 Point la Nim Miss Ruth Donnelly, 4,125 Jacquet River Miss Alice Robertson, 2,000 New Richmond In remitting subscriptions direct be sure to vote for one of the contestants.

LOST IN THE WOODS FOR OVER TWO DAYS

Well Known Campbellton Gentlemen Have Hard Time.

A CLOSE CALL

The community was stirred to its depths on Saturday last when word was received here that Judge Botkin and Mr. J. F. Andrew were lost in the woods at Antimori Lake, 13 miles from Jacquet River station. These two gentlemen with Mr. Austin McDonald and Mr. Kenneth Wingate were enjoying a hunting trip in the woods last week, accompanied by a guide. Mr. McDonald returned to town on Friday, leaving the others well and hearty, the guide being sent out to return with Saturday's mail. On Friday after dinner Judge Botkin and Mr. Andrew left camp on a little hunting excursion, leaving their companion in sole charge of the camp. They did not return that night and Mr. Wingate becoming alarmed, at 9 a. m. next morning left camp, travelling four miles to head of settlement and sent word to Jacquet River for help, also a wire to Campbellton.

A search party was immediately got together by Messrs. J. & A. Culligan and sent at once into the woods searching for them all afternoon unsuccessfully.

Upon receipt of Mr. Wingate's wire by Judge Matheson at 6-15 p. m., he communicated with friends in town and connections at Antimori and Jacquet River. The Campbellton party, consisting of Mr. Matheson, Mr. LeGallais, and Mr. Allan Miller, left on Saturday night's freight, being met at Jacquet River by Mr. Culligan and others, who at once proceeded to organize a thorough search party and provided necessary conveyance to take them to the lost gentlemen's camp, arriving there about daybreak on Sunday morning. No news of the missing men being received here, on Sunday a second party, consisting of Charles Alexander, A. McC. McDonald, W. H. Miller, J. R. McKenzie, R. B. Keith and Robert Fawcett, left on the limited to render what aid they could.

In the meantime men had been sent out from the search party along the road in about the vicinity where the lost men were likely to be. Upon the arrival of the second party at the hunter's camp, the first searchers came straggling in and after being properly organized by Mr. Culligan, immediately set out again to scour the woods, which they did during the whole of Sunday.

Most of the party returned on Sunday evening at dark to the camp with a number of men not accounted, and this was considered good news, the men taking it for granted that the others had found the lost parties and made straight for the settlement instead of returning to camp. This proved to be correct, the joyful news being received in Campbellton shortly after six o'clock, that a few of the search party had come across the wanderers about four in the afternoon, five miles from camp.

The rescued gentlemen had been fifty-two hours without food or shelter, but notwithstanding their precarious position were in good spirits.

Seen by our representative on his return, Judge Botkin said in reply to the query "How did it feel to be lost in the woods?" "Neither tongue nor pen can describe the utter helplessness which pervades one when he realizes he is lost." Of his experience Judge Botkin would say very little. They managed to build a fire on Friday night and on Saturday, but with the heavy rain they were in a terrible plight on Sunday. Soaked to the skin and their matches useless through the wet. Their fire on Saturday evening was kindled with the last available match. On Sunday their position was precarious; faint and weak it was with difficulty they took one step after another and one can but dimly realize the joy in their hearts when they heard the gun shot and answered the hail on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Botkin spoke with deep feeling of the heroic part his young friend Kenneth performed when "he done the right thing at the right time and in the right way," for the weary travellers could not have stood out over another night. The woods were full of fog and all sense of direction was at fault and they continually trailed in circles.

The friends from Campbellton who were interested in the search, are proud in their admiration of the praiseworthy manner in which Mr. Culligan and other friends in Jacquet River organized the expedition and also the energetic manner the men under Mr. Culligan's charge prosecuted the search. In the opinion of the townspeople they deserve the greatest praise from a humane point of view for what they so nobly did under most trying and desperate circumstances.
