ON THE JORDAN!

Great Fields of Mineral Wealth Discovered Both Sides of the Noted River.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The department of state has received from Ernest L. Harris, consular agent at Eibenstock, a report on the mineral treasures of Palestine. The report says:

"The newly discovered mineral deposits lie on both sides of the Jordan and the Dead Sea. The salt deposits of the Dead Sea could be developed into an industry. The most important of all the deposits is phosphate. At present the phosphate mines of Florida almost supply the world's demand. The immense fields of phosphate to the east and west of the Jordan need only better means of traffic and communication in order to insure development. This, it would seem, is not far distant, as the Turkish Government is planning a continuation of the Yafa-Jerusalem Railroad and steamboats are already plying the Dead Sea."

More Cape Traitors Sent to Jail---Four British Columns Operating for Weeks Against Viljeon Boers Lost Heavily.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—The Tageblatt announces that its correspondent, Herr Meirback, who was with the Boers, has been arrested as a spy by the British, and that he will be tried by court martial at Middleburg.

CANADIAN LOSES HIS EYE.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—The following cablegram from the secretary of state for the colonies to Lord Minto was received at the militia department today:

"London, Aug. 6.—Please inform S. A. Walker, Brandon, Manitoba, that his son, William John Adams Walker, South African Constabulary, has been accidently wounded at Petrusburg, on July 31. Eye removed.

(Signed), CHAMBERLAIN."

OPERATIONS AGAINST VILJEON.

London, Aug. 7.—On July 30 Lord Kitchener reported that Gen. F. W. Kitchener had captured a pom-pom and several wagons and prisoners from Commandant Viljeon after a long pursuit. This pursuit appears by dispatches to be early in July. Four columns, under the command of Gens. Benson and Beatson, and Cols. Spens and Park, had been operating against Viljeon to the north of Middleburg, above the Delagoa Bay line. Early in the month the Boer leader was in laager near Rhenoster Kop. From there he began to move in the direction of Dullstroom, with the object of barring the route. The two forces came into contact, and an action ensued on the 7th, resulting in considerable loss to the enemy. Two days later Gen. Benson seized Witpoort Ridge, which commands Dullstroom, in the conviction that Viljeon also would seek to occupy that position, and his expectations were fully realized.

While his troops were ready and waiting the Boers came on to seize the ridge, under the impression that it was not already held. They encountered, however, a fire as warm as it was unexpected, and fell back in confusion. Gen. Benson lost no time in following up his advantage. A reserve of 100 Boers did their best to stop the pursuit, but they, too, were speedily put to flight. In the meantime Viljeon's main body, with one pom-pom, swerved by the hill road in the direction of Sekukuni's country, but, as the natives showed themselves determined to prevent the Boers from treking over their location, the enemy were obliged to turn back, and made by the main road for the drift at Olifant's River, along which by this time the reserve was in headlong flight. It was absolutely vital to the safety of Viljeon's force that he should gain the road before Gen. Benson came up. In this dilemma he was compelled to abandon sixteen of his wagons. But Benson was not to be denied. Following up the Boers for 25 miles without once calling a halt, he forced them to an action before he could cross the drift and inflicted on them a loss of six killed and five wounded. Our casualties were very small, the chief sufferers being the Scottish Horse, who fought with great skill and gallantry. Viljeon then returned to his old haunts near Botha's Berg, after which the capture by Gen. Kitchener was made.

GEN. BADEN-POWELL IN LONDON

London, Aug. 8.—Gen. Baden-Powell has contented himself with one or two flying visits to London, and has avoided showing himself to crowds. There has been little risk of the repetition of the vagaries of Mafeking night. Enthusiasm over the most conspicuous figures of the war was spent long ago. There is no longer any disposition to cheer for anybody. Military men assert that while General Baden-Powell was in the right place in Mafeking he was unfitted for the work subsequently required, and that, in one instance at least, he was responsible for the escape of a large force of Boers when Lord Kitchener expected the success of one of his best combinations.

TRAGEDY AT THE SOO!

Terrible Crime of Frederick Schults, While Drunk.

Killed His Wife and Fatally Shot His Daughter—Made Good His Escape.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 8.—A double tragedy was enacted in his Canadian home yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Frederick Schults shot his wife and 12-year-old stepdaughter in a drunken fit of jealousy.

His wife died almost instantly and the girl, who was shot through the breast, cannot live.

Schults had been drinking on this side, and on going home had some words with his wife, during which he worked himself into a frenzy. He secured his revolver and fired at his wife. The daughter was clinging convulsively to her mother's neck, and received one of the bullets.

The murderer, after emptying the revolver of all but one shot, turned it on himself, but did not inflict an injury.

A man and two women were in the house at the time, but were terrorized into quietness at the point of the revolver by Schults, who remained there for half an hour after the tragedy and then made his escape. No trace of him has yet been found.

QUEEN OF GYPSIES SECURES A DIVORCE.

King Drank Too Much Cider—Property of the Tribe Divided Between Them.

Morristown, N.J., Aug. 8.—King Giardioni Byrrd and his wife, Queen Natalie, of the gypsy tribe camping near town, were divorced yesterday according to the rites of the tribe. The king is about 40 years old and the queen ten years his junior. He comes from the old country, but she was born in America, her father being the gypsy king, Jordan Welles, who died in Elizabeth two years ago. King Giardioni and Queen Natalie had been married for fifteen years.

This tribe of gypsies has been in camp in the Rockaway Valley, about a mile and a half from town, for the past month. The other day King Giardioni walked over to Morris Plains and purchased a keg of cider. He started to carry it to camp, but found it too heavy, so he transferred part of the load from his shoulder to his stomach, and arrived at camp unsteady on his legs. Queen Natalie raged and stormed. She kept it up for two days and then gave forth her ultimatum. She would be divorced. King Giordioni agreed and the tribe was called together.

The sacred marriage rod was brought out and placed on a cloth in the center of a circle of gypsies. Then the property of the tribe was brought out piece by piece. Half of it was placed on one side of the rod and half on the other. The horses and wagons were drawn up in the same order. Then the queen opened a book and gave the number of the page. The king did likewise, and as he came nearest the center of the book he stepped over on the north side of the marriage rod. The queen took her place among the goods on the south side of the rod. They stooped to the ground together, picked up the rod, each holding an end, and after a moment's hesitation broke it in twain. They were divorced.

Queen Natalie ordered her horses hitched up and her followers to assemble. Less than half an hour later she, with about half the tribe, moved westward. King Giordioni and his followers remained. They will stay there until the sun has risen seven times, when they will move to the north.

Canada's Greatest Fair.

Matters never looked more promising for Toronto Exhibition, to be held from Aug. 26 to Sept. 7, than they do this year. Entries in all departments are good, while in live stock and manufactures they are well in excess of previous years. The show of cattle is bound to be superior to anything ever seen in Canada before, a number of prize animals having been imported especially for exhibition at Toronto. The Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier premier of the Dominion on Tuesday, Aug. 27, will undoubtedly have the gratification of opening the best of the twenty-three successive annual exhibitions that will have been held at the capital of the province. It will be thoroughly representative of the industrial arts, agricultural and horticultural products and general resources of this great country, and will abound in entertaining as well as instructive features. As becomes these warlike times the military will be much in evidence arrangements having been made by permission of the general officer commanding and the minister of militia for daily practice with Maxims and other guns by the Royal Canadian Artillery, and for various cavalry evolutions by the Royal Dragoons. There will be the usual trotting, pacing and running races, balloon ascents by a man who escapes from a bomb that explodes a thousand feet in air, an entertainment of great variety in front of the grand stand, athletic sports, butter-making tests, judging competitions, experiments in photography by wire, an international military tattoo on the opening night, the best dog show in America, lectures on the cultivation of the sugar beet, music by a score of the finest bands in America, and in fact more attractions and novelties than could be enumerated in a column of this paper, the whole being nightly crowned by a representation of the Bombardment of the Taku Forts by the Allied Forces in China, concluding with a brilliant display of fireworks. While every day will be a great day from Aug. 26 to Sept. 7, the day of days will be Tuesday, Sept. 3, when a reunion of Canadian Old Boys and students of all the colleges and schools in Canada will be held. The following day will be Farmers' Day, but the probabilities are that with a full programme every day and favorable rates on the railways the grounds will always be thronged by delighted crowds. Canada's Great Exposition will play second fiddle to no other.

IRISHMEN ARE OUT IN FORCE TODAY

The Picnic at Port Favored by Splendid Weather and a Big Crowd.

The Irish Benevolent Society picnic took an immense crowd of people to Port Stanley today, the first train comprising fifteen crowded M.C.R. coaches, which left at 9:25, and this was followed by others comfortably filled, for an abundance of cars made crowding unnecessary. The 7th and Cleveland bands paraded the strets before the departure of the first train, and on their return to the station joined forces to play "Wearing of the Green," a tune that caused every Irishman within hearing to expand his chest. The 7th took the first train to St. Thomas, where it played through the principal streets. Meanwhile the Clevelanders entertained the waiting crowd at the G. T. R. station by giving various popular selections. On the arrival of the second train at the St. Thomas depot the two bands again met and went through for the Port. The picnic promises to be one of the largest in the history of the society.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 8.—A most striking innovation in surgery is told by a man named Jacob Hartz to Superintendent of the Poor Lodge, to whom he applied for transportation to Batavia. Hartz says while he was at work for a farmer outside the city he fell on a scythe, the point of which pierced his throat and cut into the jugular vein. His cries for help attracted the attention of a passing wheelman, who opened his tire repair kit, stuffed the wound in the neck with tire glue and wrapped some tire tape about the wound. The man was then sent here for examination at a hospital.

LIVING UP TO THE BEST SHE KNEW.

A little girl from the East End slum was invited with others to a charity dinner given at a great house in the West End of London. In the course of the meal the little maiden startled her hostess by propounding the query:

"Does your husband drink?"

"Why, no," replied the astonished lady of the house.

After a moment's pause, the miniature querest proceeded with the equally bewildering question:

"How much coal do you burn? What is your husband's salary? Has he any bad habits?"

By this time the presiding genius of the table felt called upon to ask her humble guest what made her ask such strange questions.

"Well," was the innocent reply, "mother told me to behave like a lady, and when ladies call at our house they always ask mother those questions."—London Spare Moments.

SYMPATHY FOR THE DISCOURAGED

Women Should Not Lose Heart—Life Not a Failure.

[By Angelo Morgan.]

To the woman who has lost heart, or who is struggling in the verge of discouragement, I have an urgent word to say. It is this: Look up. Look out. Get away from that sorrowful self. Make the acquaintance of your best self.

These are not heartless words, nor are they unsympathetic. No one would attempt to deny that life is full of trials and troubles, seemingly ready at any time to attack both the strong and the weak alike. We know that this existence holds disappointments so keen that ofttimes they threaten to kill the fath of even the most courageous.

No doubt you feel that you have cause to be discouraged. Perhaps the fair ideal of a lifetime has been shattered at one stroke before your horrified eyes, and you have no heart to piece the fragments together again.

Perhaps unyielding circumstances bind you down to a life utterly distasteful to you in every way, and totally at variance with the high purpose that fired your early dreams. You are cramped, fettered, baffled at every turn.

Or perhaps you are a busy mother, so absorbed in the cares and worries of the household that existence means to you little more than a round of ever-recurring duties.

Perhaps, again, someone near and dear has deserted you—proved false to you—left you to struggle alone with your problem—to strive on with a great ache at your heart. It's hard to work, even at one's chosen profession, when away down in one's heart is a deep wound that pains afresh at each recollection of a time gone by.

Perhaps, still again, you call your life a failure. You say the world holds no more interest for you—that it has no need of you, that you are a "back number." Your life stretches before you, a gray monotony of endless, useless days.

Perhaps—oh, all of these things and more. Yet, in spite of all, I say, and I say it resolutely, that when you allow yourself to give way to discouragement you are doing wrong, you are committing a crime. You are sinning not only against yourself, but against the human family.

Discouragement is the foe from within. Enemies on the outside have small power compared to this enemy on the inside. Discouragement is the foe to your best interests. It kills the beautiful possibilities of your nature. It prevents the growth of all high and noble qualities of character.

Never mind the shattered ideal. Don't lose faith in all humanity just because one member of it disappoints you. Go on hoping and believing and loving. It won't hurt you, even if people are not worthy of your esteem.

If you are forced to occupy a station in life that is beneath you, don't think any less of yourself as an individual because of it. Do your part well and still aspire to the highest. Keep up your ideals, meanwhile. Work for a better place, and expect to get it. Above all, don't despair.

If you are tied down to household cares, try with all possible endeavor to get away from them for a time—not only in body but in thought. Forget that you are Mrs. Alexis Smith, and that during the coming week you must be sure to finish Mamie's dress, mend Sammy's trousers, go over your husband's wardrobe also, make a cake for the church picnic, write that letter to Cousin Lucy, put away the winter things—and all the rest of it—besides attending to the regular routine of every day. Forget all about yourself and your family—just for a little while. Go off somewhere and look at the grass and the trees and the flowers. Take deep breaths of sweet, clover-scented air, stretch out on the ground, and look away up into the blue. Don't be afraid you'll seem sentimental. That's always the trouble with us. We're too practical in this age. We're afraid "people" will ridicule us if we gaze at the stars. Gaze at the stars just as often as you can. It'll do you good. Think of the millions of planets circling in space, and the power that keeps them in their courses. All such moments of supreme exaltation are an uplift to any human being. We want to be taken out of ourselves; to forget our petty worries; to come in touch with grandeur and with beauty.

Don't let that heart sorrow wreck your life. Resolve to be an individual—to cultivate the highest possibilities lying dormant in your nature. Life has lost its interest? Why need it be so? Life is big with interest. Think of the people in the world who need help—the problems waiting to be solved—the great questions that should claim the attention of your mind and heart and soul. Get in touch with these things. You'll forget about your heart sorrow.

And now to the woman who calls her life a failure. Frankly speaking, you're looking the wrong way. Right about face and begin all over again. If you only knew how much happiness you are missing when you maintain the wrong attitude. How did you come to think, in the first place, that you were of no more use in the world? Do you know that the world needs you—right now, this very hour? The world needs every single human being on its surface. You have a special part to do. Begin as soon as you can, now, and make up for lost time. Life is so full of rich, deep joy and golden interest that it seems a shame for you to miss another moment of it. Investigate your own possibilities. How do you know what you might not yet accomplish? So wake up from your discouragement. Start in afresh. Resolve to banish that enemy which retards your progress and prevents you from living the life God planned for you.

After Aesop.

A Jerseyman, writing home from southern Alaska, tells the following:

"I happened to see with my own eyes the other day a clever trick played by a pair of ravens, which carried me back to old Aesop and his fables, for here, as I gazed was one of the venerable tales acted out in real life.

"A silly little pup was playing about when he came upon a nice, tasty bone. I was watching him worry the bone and was enjoying the pleasure he seemed to get out of it, when down dropped two ravens. They wanted that bone; it stuck out all over them, their desire, and their eyes shone with the lust of conquest.

"They fluttered about for some time, but Jo, the pup, paid no attention. He wouldn't be fooled, and I could scarcely keep from laughing to see how adroit the ravens were and how stubborn the pup was.

"Finally one raven sneaked behind Jo and scuttled quietly up until he was perhaps two feet from the pup's tail. The other raven remained in front, fluttering here and there, just enough to keep the dog's attention on him. When the raven in the rear had gained a proper position, that is, had crept close enough, the wily old bird in front began to jump up and down. I was bewildered at first. I couldn't make out what the birds were up to for the longest while, and when the jumping process began I was more mystified than ever, until the dog, distracted by the jumping process, stopped worrying the bone and looked up. Then I realized with an awesome feeling that those ravens were up to something prety close to human. I confess it scared me a bit. It made the birds seem diabolical, and I found snatches of Poe's verses on the immortal birds of this feather running through my head.

"Gradually the jumping bird drew nearer and nearer to Jo. Alas, for the pup's innocence! I held my breath as the sable charmer flopped closer and closer to Jo's smutty nose. Suddenly Jo's jaws clicked. Almost at the same instant there was a flutter, a plunge from the rear, and the bird behind the pup had the bone.

"It was done so quickly that my eyes could scarcely follow it. When the raven in front got too near Jo raised his head from the bone and snapped at the bird. He missed the raven and, forgetting the bone and everything else, made a plunge for the bird. Then the raven in the rear got in his work.

"Of course the moment the rear maneuver had succeeded, the light cavalry that had been demonstrating in front flew off. The noises those birds made were weird. As the bird in the rear grabbed the bone he let out a hoarse yell, precisely like laughter, jeering, taunting laughter. I could hear them as they flew across the bay from Ketchikan, laughing and laughing as they went.

"Poor Jo. It took him an instant to realize what had happened, and when he did you never saw a pup look more sheepish. It was a mean trick, but a rare joke on Jo, just the same."—New York Sun.

Letters to the Editor.

CHINESE FAMINE SUFFERERS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have recently received several letters from parties in different sections of the country, who state that they have been appealed to by the Christian Herald, New York, for contributions towards famine sufferers in China, and asking if the Presbyterian Church in Canada was doing anything for its persecuted and famine-stricken converts in Honan, China. Will you kindly give me the use of your columns to state that we have already sent some money for the relief of our converts in Honan, and I will gladly receive and forward any contributions for this object that parties may desire to give. Those should be addressed to me, Presbyterian Church Offices, Toronto.

RE PRIZES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Please, allow me space in your valuable paper to correct an error which appeared in last evening's issue. First, in justice to the Riddell sisters—they were engaged by Mr. Walter Bartlett to give exhibition dancing at Queen's park. There were no prizes given in the Highland fling for Miss Aditha Sage to win the first. When Mr. Jones called for the Highland fling he had no idea of any other dancers being there but the Riddell children, until the Miss Sages placed themselves on the platform.

REPLY TO MR. WEBB.

To the Editor of The Advertiser.

No doubt Mr. Webb is correct in his figuring on the profits of the manufacture of sugar from beets. If he has faith in his expressed opinion he should show it by endeavoring to form a company and taking a liberal amount of stock, showing his faith by his works. It is easy in almost any enterprise to figure out large dividends which do not always materialize. The sugar beet and beet sugar industries are new in this country, and there are a great many difficulties to contend with from lack of knowledge, which can only be overcome and obtained by experience. At the beginning, no doubt, there will be a good deal of money spent in formulating plans, obtaining a charter, inducing men to take stock, loss through mistakes in starting, time and money spent before the whole of the capital is obtained, interest on money invested before there is any returns from the sale of sugar. To meet those expenses from which there is no direct return it is right that any company should receive a liberal bonus. If, by giving a bonus of $25,000, a factory costing $500,000 or over would be erected in the city of London, there is good reason to believe it would be a gilt-edged investment for city and surrounding country. The government have wisely protected the farmer who grows the beets the first year. The factory must pay $4 a ton for beets or receive no bonus for the manufacture of sugar. No doubt in many cases the beets will run below the standard quality of 12 per cent sugar and 89 per cent purity. From lack of necessary preparation of the soil and lack of cultivation of the beets the quality is often poor. The sugar made from poor beets often costs more than it can be sold for. It is to meet those losses and drawbacks that a bonus is asked for. If Mr. Webb has money to invest and can form a company that will build a factory without a bonus I will render him all the assistance I can in any and every way in my power, believing it would be a good investment for the stockholders. The erection of a factory would necessitate the outlay of some $500,000 or over, and a yearly expenditure of from $250,000 to $300,000 in the city and surrounding country for labor and beets and other expenses in connextion with running the factory.

H. C. GREEN,

GLEN OAK.

Glen Oak, Aug. 5.—Quite a number of young men will go to the Northwest this week and next from Caradoc and Ekfrid to aid in taking off the big wheat harvest.

The corn crop promises to be a good one in West Middlesex, also the root crop, which has a fine appearance.

There is but little fall wheat sown in this district this fall.

There are no threshing machines out yet. Threshing wheat this year means a lot of work and little pay.

Blacksmith's Backache.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets Cure This Serious Trouble.

There is hardly a blacksmit in Can- There is hardly a blacksmith in Canada who does not know what backache means—the stabbing pain, the sore, lame, stiff back that makes work misery.

Mr. Thos. Leonard, the well-known blacksmith of Port Hope, was troubled, as thousands are, and gladly tells of his cure, in the following words: "My life work as a blacksmith has been a hard one, and my back and kidneys bothered me for a long time. I have tried many medicines without relief, until I got a box of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets from R. Deyell, the druggist. Since then I have had comfort, and am able to work with ease. I am sure those who use your medicine for backache, kidney, bladder, or liver troubles, will never regret it. They are so easy to take, and yet work so well."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets cure so well that you'd be wasting money to experiment with anything else. Price 50 cents a box, at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

RETURNED FROM TEMISCAMING

Mr. George Taylor Well Satisfied With the Country.

Settlers Are Crowding in and Whole Townships Have Been Taken Up—Character of the District.

Mr. George Taylor, who has returned from his tour of inspection through Northern Ontario, where he went on behalf of the Veterans' Association, says that the claims in the townships of Bucke, Dymond, Harris, Kerns, Harley and Casey have almost all been taken, but the townships of Brethour, Hilliard, Armstrong, Beucham and those northwest are still open for settlement. Speaking of the country near the town of New Lisgar, he said:

"The timber is spruce, tamarack, balsam, and on the ridges that are sandy and rocky, hard and soft maple, elm and ash are to be found, but not in great quantities. The timber will not last long here, owing to the fires, which will destroy it in a few years.

"The land, which has been burned over, is easily cleared, as the stumps do not run deep into the ground. This is owing to the land being covered with a moss. I observed a settler with one horse and a chain pulling over the stumps and clearing the ground, while one team of horses was following and doing good work for the first turning over of the soil. The soil is white clay, and appears to yield good crops wherever it has been cultivated. Settlers have taken up the land to six miles up the Blanche River. Numbers are in on their lots, and others will follow as soon as they get their crops off farms rented.

"The fall crops of wheat, oats, parsley, peas, hay, timothy and clover, owing to a dry spring and summer, are not what could be called heavy crops, but will compare favorably with the crops in any other part of Ontario," said Mr. Taylor. "Potatoes appear to be further advanced than around London. Red and black currants, strawberries, gooseberries were past ripe. Mr. Guy, a gentleman in Villa Maria, takes an interest in gardening, and has tomatoes, cucumbers, squashes and other tender vegetables well advanced, and he informed me that his tomatoes have already ripened in the open air. His grapes were doing well, and he also assures me that they ripen. He stated that last year he had a field of eight acres of oats that yielded 63 bushels to the acre. The soil is a white clay and works free and loamy. Whether this will continue long after cultivation remains to be seen, but the opinion of the residents generally is that the land will improve with cultivation."

Mr. Taylor says that settlers are entering the country in large numbers. He is well satisfied with the appearance of the districts through which he passed. He returned through North Bay district, and made inquiries there respecting the land, finding that it was pretty well taken up, and hard to get any claim that is suitable. He also visited Sudbury, the great nickel mining center. The lands through Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie are rough, but he believed that several townships might be found where fairly good farms might be obtained, but no land in great quantity is available between the two places. At Sault Ste. Marie quite a rush and boom is taking place, and hundreds of new houses have been erected this year. Pulp manufacturing is the chief industry.

THE LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATION.

St. Thomas City Council Again Refuses to Make Grant of $200.

St. Thomas Times: A deputation of the Retail Merchants' Association waited upon the city council last night asking for a grant for the labor demonstration to be held on Labor Day, Sept. 2. R. M. Anderson said there had been no demonstration in St. Thomas in six years. It was proposed to make the celebration a good one, and in order to do so it was necessary to secure funds. Citizens generally had subscribed, and the deputation desired that the amount be augmented by $200 from the council. The citizens had subscribed over $400 and it would take about $600 to carry out the programme outlined. If the council granted what was asked they would not be establishing a precedent, as grants had been made heretofore. While the Trades and Labor Council were at the head of the affair the demonstration would, as a matter of fact, be a citizens' demonstration. He was certain the public would heartily concur with the council making the grant asked for. * * * It was moved by Ald. Meehan, seconded by Ald. Trott, that the council grant the sum of $200 with the object of assisting the demonstration to be held here on Sept. 2, said sum to be placed in the hands of a committee consisting of the mayor, Ald. Maxwell and Ald. Trott.

After nearly an hour's discussion, in which all the aldermen spoke once and some two and three times, the motion was lost, only Ald. Trott, Meehan and Price voting yea.

MANILA UNDER CIVIL RULE.

Manila, Aug. 8.—Gen. George W. Davis, provost marshal of Manila, in the presence of Gen. Chaffee, the military commander, and the whole military staff, turned over the city administration yesterday to Civil Governor Taft and the newly-appointed officials.

KILLED HER LITTLE BROTHER.

Tuckerton, N. J., Aug. 8.—During the temporary absence from home of their parents, the children of H. E. Hanly, of this place, secured a revolver, and Ethel, aged 9, shot and killed her brother, Elmer, aged 5 years. The 38-calibre bullet entered and passed entirely through the boy's head.

LARGE DEALS IN LUMBER.

Saginaw, Mich., Aug. 8. — Bliss & Van Auken have just contracted for the entire cut of the mills of Ross Bros., at Beaverton, for the season, consisting of hemlock and hardwood, and estimated at about 12,000,000 feet. The same firm also bought 5,000,000 feet of McArthur Bros. & Co. at Little Current, Ont., and also bought 7,000,000 feet in the last ten days of Saginaw River manufacturers.

The Saginaw Lumber and Salt Company sold all of the best of the white pine lumber to be cut at the Crow Island mill during the remainder of the season, estimated at not less than 7,000,000 feet, to local dealers. The consideration was considerably over $100,000.

STRUGGLE WILL BE A HOT ONE!

No More Attempts To Be Made to End Steel Strike.

Amalgamated Won't Make Further Propositions.

The Union Has Closed One Big Plant and the Combine Has Partially Broken the Strike in Another Mill.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 7.—In the big steel strike honors are easy in this section tonight. The Amalgamated Association succeeded in closing down the big steel plant at Newcastle, and the manufacturers partially broke the strike at the Clark mill in this city. Neither side is exulting, nor is there any expression of discouragment. Victory or defeat of either at this early stage of the warfare can have but little effect beyond indicating the probable line of battle to be pursued by each. Up to this hour not the slightest trouble has occurred at any point in this immediate territory. The following quotations show the spirit animating the contestants:

"We have made our last proposition to the Amalgamated, and will now proceed to start our works."—President Schwab.

"The next proposition must come from the United States Steel Corporation."—President Shaffer.

SHAFFER'S CALL FOR WAR ON THE TRUSTS.

Brethren: The officials of the United States Steel Trust have refused to recognize as union men those who are now striking for the right to organize. The executive board has authorized me to issue a call upon all amalgamated and other union men in name and heart to join in the movement to fight for labor's right. We must fight or give up forever our personal liberties.

You will be told that you have signed contracts, but you never agreed to surrender those contracts to the United States Steel Company. Its officers think you were sold to them just as the mills were, contracts and all. Remember, before you agreed to any contract you took an obligation to the Amalgamated Association.

It now calls you to help in this hour of need. Unless the trouble is settled on or before Saturday, August 10, 1901, the mills will close when the last turn is made on that day. We trust you and need you. Come and help us, and may right come to a just cause. Fraternally yours,

T. J. SHAFFER.

INFLUENCES AT WORK.

New York, Aug. 7.—The Commercial Advertiser says: "As far as can be learned no communication has been received by J. P. Morgan & Co., or by any of the steel companies here from the labor leaders since the conference of Saturday last. Peace, however, may not be far away after all. It is learned that independent influences are at work, which may surprise everybody within the next few days. Mr. Morgan will not say a word, but it is believed in some quarters that he has received important communications from persons strong enough and independent enough to bring about a settlement before Shaffer's order to strike takes effect. Those who know Mr. Morgan say that he will welcome any move that will hasten the end of the controversy, providing the fundamental objections he urged on Saturday last are respected. That something is being done in the direction of amity is apparent from the manner of the steel men here and the course of the steel stocks on the exchange.

WINNIPEG CARPENTERS GO OUT.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—Between two and three hundred carpenters and joiners met tonight and almost unanimously decided to go on strike tomorrow morning. Only four voted against the motion. This is a serious matter, as it affects a large number of important bank buildings, blocks, public institutions and private residences now under construction.

Over 500 men will walk out, and on this account the other trades working with them will be so embarrassed that they will be unable to proceed with their operations and they also will be forced to stop work. The carpenters demanded a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour and a nine-hour day. They now work ten hours per diem at a scale of wages all the way from 15 to 30 cents per hour.

NOTES.

Fifteen per cent is to be chopped off the wages of 25,000 cotton operatives in and around Fall River.

McKeesport may spend $500,000 for paving immediately and give the work to strikers.

Prices are already higher, and it is increasingly difficult to get steel for structural work in New York.

Strike among ironworkers of Lake Superior region is not expected as they are not very thoroughly organized.

Walter Larkins, union leader, says Schwab would hardly let Morgan get his mouth open during the last conference in New York, interrupted his suggestions and overruled his proposals.

TELEGRAPH OPERATORS WANT BETTER WAGES.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 8.—The telegraphers on the Canada, Atlantic and Parry Sound Railway have united in a demand for higher wages, and have presented the same to the company.

DUMONT'S AIRSHIP WRECKED

Just as the Aeronaut Had About Accomplished His Task.

The Plucky Voyager's Thrilling Experience and Narrow Escape From Death—Will Try Again.

Paris, Aug. 8.—M. Santos Dumont, the aeronaut, this morning attempted to circle Eiffel Tower. Santos Dumont started from the Parie de St. Cloud at 6:10 a.m., amid hearty cheers. His initial movements were promising, as the balloon turned around Eiffel Tower, 9 minutes and 34 seconds after starting, and reheaded for St. Cloud.

Just over the Avenue Henri Marion, a strong gust of wind struck the aerostat, which veered violently to one side, almost simultaneously bounding backwards a distance of 50 yards. The hydrogen gas was forced from the front to the back part of the balloon, creating a sudden expansion, which caused the machine to dip. Her screw touched the steel cords and broke them. M. Santos Dumont immediately stopped the motor and the balloon began to descend. Unfortunately the corner of the aerostat struck the corner of a six-story building. A report like the shot of a cannon followed. The balloon collapsed, and fell rapidly.

Luckily the frame caught on the coping of the building, and the balloon remained suspended. Otherwise Santos Dumont would have been killed. As it was, the aeronaut hung in a most dangerous position in midair for half an hour until by a great effort he succeeded in catching the iron bar of a window, to which he clung until rescued with some difficulty by the use of ropes. He escaped without a scratch, and superintended the removal of the machine.

The explosion of the balloon attracted enormous crowds, and the reception of M. Santos Dumont upon reaching the street was most enthusiastic, many ladies clinging to his neck and kissing him repeatedly.

The balloonist said he was quite ready to recommence operations.

M. Dutsch, who offered the prize of 100,000 francs for the rounding of the Eiffel Tower, and the return to the starting point, within a given period of time, was so affected by the danger that Santos Dumont had passed through that he told him that he would rather present him with the prize at once than see him kill himself with his experiments, but the balloonist replied that he had rounded Eiffel Tower in such a short period of time that he considered the result too satisfactory to permit the relinquishment of his attempts in the future.

The Big Strike.

The New York Sun takes one view of the big strike, and the Springfield Republican another. The Sun says:

"The United States Steel Corporation has been condemned for numerous reasons. It was a monopoly; it was a destroyer of smaller steel works; an undue consoldiator of wealth and power. We shall not weigh these notions; but if the steel company were guilty as charged and more, it would have earned public commendation for its stalwart defense of the American workman's right to work, which the trade union organized within the steel works atrociously assails. The Steel Corporation proposes to keep its doors open to all artisans, without discrimination. These doors the union is straining every nerve to close against all men but its own members; so the steel company, in resisting that effort, is rightfully an object of national thankfulness. Because of its unprecedented size, the steel company, in the issue imposed upon it by the Amalgamated Association, stands for the equality of rights in the industrial world to an extent that no other employer ever stood before. As long as the laws of the states and of the United States are fearlessly and impartially enforced, the right of the American workman to work for his living and for the support of those dependent upon his labor, and to choose for himself his own employment and his own employer, will be vindicated and preserved."

✦

The Springfield Republican takes another view. As long, it contends, as industry is organized as it is, labor unionism will assuredly exist. It is a fact which cannot be escaped, and must be reckoned with. "Accordingly, in undertaking, at immense cost to itself and to the public peace and prosperity, to drive unionism out of its mills, the steel trust seems to be acting most unwisely. Its temporary success in the matter is assured if it is ready to place no limit on the financial sacrifice involved, but the ultimate end will be the rise of new organizations of workers on the ruins of the old."

Labor in the United States has in the American Federation of Labor over a million men in its ranks—a powerful influence in creating public opinion; and public opinion counts for a great deal. The Republican thinks unionism as a principle is gaining ground through abler, more sagacious and more self-restrained leadership. It says:

"One thing certainly has been effected by capital's resistance to unionism in the past. The more intolerable and dictatorial manifestations of unionism especially characteristic of its earlier and cruder days have been largely suppressed; and in refreshing contrast with the old method of sending to the employer ill-natured ultimatums in the hands of bloated and bad-mannered upstarts representing the union, we have this exhibition of self-restraint, cautious action, a manifest desire to reach peaceful conclusions, and gentlemanly conduct generally, afforded to all appearances at least by the representatives of the labor union involved in the present contest."

The very fact that up to this date public opinion has not inclined decisively to either side, is proof that this is one of the disputes that ought to be settled by arbitration. Obligatory arbitration would probably settle the strike in short order; or, if it did not, the full publication of all the pros and cons would inform the public as to which side was in the right. Public opinion would do the rest.

Moderation Even in Golf.

In the matter of exercise there is a tendency sometimes to carry to excess that which, if practiced in moderation, would prove beneficial to health. An account is given of a man who had attained the grand clamacteric, indulging immoderately in the game of golf. His rashness resulted in his death. With advancing years he had become uncomfortably stout, and attempted to reduce his obese condition by a radical change in diet and immoderate exercise on the golf links. He managed to reduce his weight 38 pounds, but the removal of the fat that had accumulated around the heart had lessened the heart's power of resistance. The rapid pulsations of that organ forced a weakened blood vessel in the brain, and paralysis followed. This instance proves the fallacy of undue exertion by persons who have passed the meridian of life, or of too great and sudden changes in one's accustomed manner of living.

A noteworthy instance of the intellectuality of the Hindoo race appears in the fact that twin brothers, sons of a Hindoo gentleman, stood sixth and seventh in the list of mathematical honors at Cambridge University.

Springbank and Protection to Life and Limb.

The extent of the attendance at Springbank Park on Monday night last—(the celebration on that day should have been at Queen's Park)—loudly calls attention to a condition which urgently requires immediate remedy. There is a large element of danger in the system which gives people only a choice between a wait of hours, and a dangerous, violent struggle to gain a foothold on the trolley cars. The crowding and jostling which take place as each car is brought up to the crowd, provide all the necessary conditions for a tragedy, and it can be only a matter of time until other human existences are crushed out or human bodies injured for life beneath the wheels of a car or the feet of the surging crowd of men and women. The danger exists not only on the occasion of holidays, or big demonstrations, but in a lesser degree every night on which an attendance of considerable proportion is attracted to the river park. So long as people are urged by impatience or necessity to disregard the safety and comfort of others, it remains for the Street Railway Company to devise some method of obviating the danger that accrues from their actions. Some system of inclosures and gates should be found practicable as a means of enabling the visitors to the park to board the cars without danger to life and limb, and only in sufficient numbers to be properly and safely accommodated with seats. The saving of even one individual from death or serious injury would be more than ample return for the comparatively small outlay of money necessitated.

After the unfortunate occurrences of last Monday, it is the plain duty of the city authorities to insist that the lives and limbs of the citizens be better safeguarded. Not for an hour must the theory be assented to that the citizens exist for the profit and convenience of the Street Railway Company. The only theory to which the public will permanently subscribe, is that street railway franchises are permitted to exist at all solely in the interest of the citizens, an interest that must be jealously guarded at every point.

"Novelties in Insurance.

Under this heading a United States contemporary gives an interesting study. The idea of insurance has had an immense development in the 19th century; in the 20th century it is likely to go forward by leaps and bounds. Of late years it has included "nearly every risk that a man is forced to run. The ordinary fire policy has been liberalized so as to cover consequential damage—such as loss of rents, interruption to business, and curtailment of income pending restoration of a burned building. This protects the investment and insures revenue under circumstances which half a century ago would have rendered temporarily unproductive the best paying property. Millions of capital exposed at trade centers are now safeguarded by indemnity of this kind, offered by the strongest underwriting corporations in the world."

Furthermore, the twentieth century fire insurance policy is in all respects an improved contract for the assured, being drawn to favor honest settlements at short notice. As an advance over the haphazard methods of earlier years, when contested claims delayed adjustments and brought the policyholder into frequent litigation with the underwriter, this in itself constitutes a noteworthy reform. Most insurance companies have learned to pay losses as soon as substantiated, without trying to make a man out a thief.

"In life insurance the effect has been to overcome the limitations of the 'die-to-win' contract. Posthumous benefits are not as attractive as formerly, and the man who sets aside an annual sum for the protection of his family now demands some form of paid-up insurance, or an old-age pension. For this reason, the twenty-payment contract has largely supplanted long-term insurance, and the modern policy has been reduced to the simplicity of a promissory note. This is as it should be, for of all technicalities, those which cut off the rewards of thrift are the most vexatious. Even the 'war clause' has been eliminated from some policies, so that military service in the tropics is no longer made the pretext for extra premiums."

Then, too, men are insured today who would have been denied such protection a few years ago. This has resulted from the discovery that a large proportion of applicants formerly rejected each year as bad risks, lived to a good old age, and that the insurance companies were losing a heavy premium-income on account of adherence to foolish prejudices. Women are also accepted (under certain restrictions), and with the remarkable growth of industrial insurance, conducted on the weekly-payment plan, it is possible now for every member of a family of wage-earners to protect the others against loss by death.

"But perhaps no phase of the development is more significant than the recent determination of foreign underwriters to offer health insurance in the United States without restriction. Formerly a man had to be attacked by the smallpox, measles, or some other specific disease, to derive benefits under a health policy, assistance being denied unless thus afflicted. But investigation here and abroad has shown that where the moral hazard is provided for, health insurance can be granted free of all limitations. In other words, the man who is too honest to feign illness in order to draw $25 or $50 a week, will be given an unconditional policy for a moderate premium. While such insurance is still in the experimental stage, the accident policy has been similarly liberalized without detriment to the underwriters or the assured."

Burglar insurance is also being developed in the United States on a scale never attempted before. While the risk is hazardous, with proper supervision the indemnity can be offered wherever a proper insurable interest exists. In this, as in other branches of casualty insurance, the moral hazard presents the chief problem. If that is covered, the underwriters are secure, and people can go to the country in summer without thought as to the safety of unoccupied city homes.

Then, too, other forms of casualty insurance, covering plate-glass breakage, boiler explosions, elevator accidents, hail storms, hog-cholera, flywheel mishaps, employers' liability, landlords' liability, and the ingenious 'team policies' (protecting department stores against damages growing out of carelessness on the part of employes in the handling of vehicles), to say nothing of the innumerable contracts of suretyship for persons in positions of trust, give an idea of what has been accomplished in the field of underwriting within recent years. Although underwriters on this continent have not gone to the reckless lengths of protection guaranteed in the wager contracts offered at Lloyd's, London, the development of the insurance idea in the United States ranks altogether among the most interesting phases of commercial progress.

ARE BLENDING NATIONALITIES

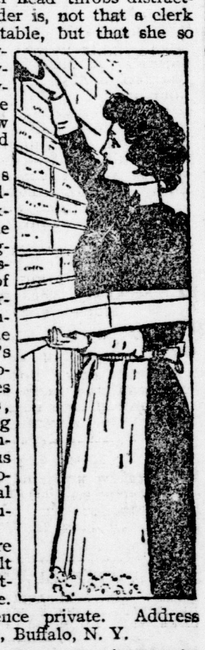

Old Boys Watering the Seeds of Anglo-Saxon Unity.

Have Thrown New Strands Around Two Countries, Says Chicago Post, and Should Be Encouraged.

Five hundred former residents of London, Ont., have temporarily absented themselves from Chicago for the purpose of holding their annual reunion in their native town, says the Chicago Post. The main—in fact, so far as they are concerned, the sole—object of the journey is pleasure. Those "Old Boys" merely wish to get back among old friends for a time, to crack old jokes and to spin old yarns; but there is something of greater significance than this in the annual jaunt of the London Old Boys' Association. They left for their old home in Canada wearing badges on which the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack were intertwined. If one should ask them which flag they love better they would point to this badge and ask you to take your choice. They not only are blending flags on these yearly pleasure trips, but they are blending nationalities, peoples, impulses, ambitions, ideals—all, in fact, for which these flags stand. As the "Old Boys" gather around the old hearthstone they will talk of the days when the red banner of St. George was to them the only bunting worthy to be flung to the breeze; and then they will come to speak of those later, more mature days, when they learned to love and respect another flag, not more than that of their nativity, perhaps, but quite enough to interweave the red field with stripes and to dot the union of Britannia with fair Columbia's stars. And thus by imperceptible stages international dividing lines are effaced, national differences and characteristics are forgotten and in 500 Canadian homes the seed of Anglo-Saxon unity, sown by the sons who left the roof-tree, is watered and strengthened by these yearly visits of the "Old Boys." The Canadians have confidence in these "Old Boys." They are of their own flesh and blood. When they speak well of Columbia the first born of Britannia listens. And when the visit is over and they come back to the land of their adoption they shall have thrown new strands around two countries that nature made one and that man cannot much longer keep separate. Let us encourage these journeys of the "Old Boys," for they are doing more to bring the Dominion and Republic closer together than any other single influence.

A Cross Clerk

Is a rarity. For the most part the young woman behind the counter is smiling and obliging, though her back hurts, her side pains, or her head throbs distractingly. The wonder is, not that a clerk is sometimes irritable, but that she so rarely shows irritation, when every nerve is quivering and she hardly knows how to hold her head up.

The nervous condition, headache and weakness, which are the results of irregularity or a diseased condition of the womanly organs, can be entirely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the functions, stops enfeebling drains, strengthens the nervous system and promotes the general health of the entire body.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free of charge. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Having used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' during the past year," writes Mrs. Mattie Long, of Pfouts Valley, Perry Co., Pa., "I can truthfully recommend the medicines for all female weakness. I have used several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' which I consider a great blessing for weak women. I was so nervous and discouraged that I hardly knew what to do. Your kind advice for home-treatment helped me wonderfully. Thanks to Dr. Pierce."

NEGRO BURNED AT THE STAKE!

Revolting Tragedy Enacted Near an Alabama Town.

A Mob of 500 Men Take Part in the Spectacle Either as Actors or Audience.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 8.—With agonizing screams and his eyes bulging from his head, John Wesley Pennington, a negro, was burned at the stake near Enterprise, Ala., before a crowd of 500 citizens of Coffee county yesterday morning. The mob was composed of both whites and blacks, and though the suffering man pleaded for mercy and frantically endeavored to break the chains that tightly bound him, was shown on the faces that peered at him through the james. Pennington had committed a brutal assault upon Mrs. J. C. Davis, wife of one of the most prominent farmers of Coffee county, and had confessed his guilt. The crime was committed Tuesday afternoon while Mrs. Davis was gathering vegetables in her garden.

NOT A TRACE OF SYMPATHY

THE CHASE.

As soon as she regained her senses Mrs. Davis crawled to the house and told her husband what had happened. A large posse was quickly organized with bloodhounds, and they chased the negro until early this morning, when he was captured in a swamp. He was bound hand and foot and taken to the Davis home for identification.

News of the assault had been spread for miles around Enterprise, and every farmer in the neighborhood had joined in the pursuit. When the posse arrived with Pennington at least 500 persons were gathered near the Davis residence. A great shout went up when the prisoner appeared, but at a signal the men withdrew to the woods and quietly awaited the result of the meeting of Mrs. Davis and Pennington.

RECOGNIZED.

Mrs. Davis recognized him as her assailant, and the negro broke down and wept. He admitted having committed the assault, and pleaded for mercy, but he was dragged from the house to the woods where the crowd had gathered.

PREPARATIONS SPEEDILY MADE

Evidently expecting the confession, several citizens had already driven an iron pipe in the ground, and as the captors approached with Pennington, both white and colored were piling brushwood around the stake. The negro saw his doom, and with a scream of terror fell in a faint. He was quickly revived and dragged to the stake while the crowd stood silently by. The frightened man was limp, and had to be held up while the chain was fastened around his neck and body. A match was applied to the pile, and with oil to feed upon, the tiny flame soon burst into a flaring fire.

VAIN PLEADINGS.

The terrified negro in vain pleaded for mercy in agonizing tones, and prayed that those who bound him might perish. He then called upon his Maker for forgiveness, and as the flames leaped up and encircled his neck an unearthly shriek was heard, and the man's eyes almost bulged out of their sockets. By this time the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be seen except a wriggling motion in the circle of fire.

THE END.

A silence followed, and in a few minutes the flames had subsided sufficiently to show that Pennington's head had fallen forward and hung limp over the iron chain. His body was quickly consumed, and nothing remained but a pile of ashes. The crowd then quickly dispersed.

KLONDIKE GOLD

Is Controlled by Great Britain—New Phase in the New York Exchange Market.

New York, Aug. 8. — According to the best information the advance in demand sterling is due to the necessity for demand bills against receipts of Klondike gold, falling at a time when there is a notable dearth of bills in the market.

The purchase of demand bills to remit to England the proceeds of the gold coming into the country from the Klondike and British Columbia adds a new phase to the present curious exchange market, and is apt to put a different aspect on the gold receipts from these sections than that which has been ordinarily placed on them by Wall street, where gold from British Columbia, the Klondike and Alaska has been regarded as adding so much new wealth to the country.

As explained by foreign bankers, practically all the Klondike and British Columbia gold and some of that from Alaska is produced either by mines owned largely by British subjects or through processes of getting the gold to the assay office the financial operations are carried on through the Canadian bank agencies, so that the final proceeds are due to foreign interests.

If the United States was still the possessor of a credit balance abroad, the products of the mines would go toward the reduction of the credit and offset some of the innumerable international transactions between this and foreign countries. At present the banks are simply buying demand bills for the amounts of the gold receipts and remitting the proceeds in that way.

The amount paid out by the subtreasury on Klondike gold recently has been quite heavy, amounting to $948,000 yesterday and $758,000 the day preceding, or $1,706,000 in two days.

FELL INTO A WELL

Child of John Davis, Springfield, Rescued With Difficulty

Springfield, Ont., Aug. 8.—A little daughter of John Davis, who is employed by Geo. Smith, fell in a well a few days ago. The well is about fifteen feet deep, with considerable water in it.

Mrs. Davis saw the child go, and her screams brought Mr. Smith and D. A. Woolley to the spot. Mr. Smith went down the stone curbing and reached the little one as she was sinking the third time. He managed to hold her and cling to the side until Mr. Woolley came to his assistance with a rope. It required considerable effort to restore the child to consciousness, but she is now doing quite well.

LOSS OF TWO LIVES

Salt Lake, Otah, Aug. 8.—Cloudbursts and heavy rains in various parts of Utah Tuesday night caused the loss of two lives and resulted in considerable damage to railroad and other property. At Winter Quarters, where the mines of the Pleasant Valley Company are located, a flood caused by a cloudburst swept away the home of Matt Korbillo. Korbillo, his wife and child were swept away by the torrent, the father and child being drowned, while the mother was rescued only with great difficulty. She was terribly bruised, and received injuries that may prove fatal.

CONGRATULATES THE DISCOVERER

The Famous Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Won Further Testimony in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 5.—Special.—William Widdicombe, of 79 Aurora street, Hamilton, is a delighted man these days. He writes: "I would like to congratulate the discoverer of Dodd's Kidney Pills on the wonderful merits of that remedy.

"I have been in ill-health for the past year and of late unable to attend to my work, suffering with severe pains in my back and loins. I was indeed so crippled as to be unable to walk, and was continuously in agony.

"My family physician failed to relieve me, pronouncing my trouble Rheumatism. I rapidly grew worse, and was finally persuaded by several friends to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and did so. Today I am a well man, and, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, never felt better in my life."

SIGNS OF PUBLIC SORROW!

Are General in the West End of London.

England Tired of Gloom—People Eagerly Look Forward to Coronation.

No Change in the Duke's Tour—Countess Warwick Will Train English Girls to Do Farm Work.

THE DUKE'S TOUR.

London, Aug. 8.—It is officially announced that the tour of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York will not be curtailed.

Port Louis, Mauritius, Aug. 8.—The steamer Ophir with the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York on board, left today, bound for Durban.

LADY WARWICK'S PRAISEWORTHY EFFORTS.

Anxious to better the condition of young women, and especially to save them from poorly-paid domestic service, the Countess of Warwich has inaugurated a branch of the agricultural college at Reading for women and boys, and hopes by its means to widen the sphere of usefulness for her proteges. Lady Warwick came into prominence in the world of philanthropy some time ago when as Lady Brooks she determined to help the daughters of the tenants on her estate in Essex to earn their own living without being compelled to leave home. She opened a school of needlework in connection with the establishment of a shop in which to dispose of the pupils' handiwork. The experiment proved unusually successful.

TIRED OF GLOOM.

Signs of public sorrow are general in the West End, and preparations are making at court for a reversion from half to full mourning, on account of the death of the dowager Empress Frederick. The remarkable series of bereavements which have overwhelmed royalty have excited public compassion and also created a desire for brighter inside court functions.

The coronation will be welcomed by the nation and by society as a sign that the period of mourning has ended and that "Merrie England" is not an obsolete phrase. Preparations for the ceremonial are in progress, and many important points have been settled. The attendance at the Abbey will be limited in every possible way so that the function will be witnessed only by those who can establish a right to be there. The King has decided that peers with historic privileges at the coronation are not entitled to have more than one page. This ruling will reduce the number of costumed figures in the royal procession and will relieve the pressure from the peers for the appointment of pages.

FRENCH CLAIMS ON TURKEY.

There are two matters pending between France and Turkey—the affair of the Quay Company, and a number of claims of Frenchmen against the porte, the amount of which was fixed and payment promised long ago. M. Constans has been unable to obtain satisfaction in either matter, and in May he intimated that he would be forced to ask for his recall if the Turkish Government persisted in its procrastinating tactics. Still, it is probable that the matter will be speedily settled in a manner satisfactory to France. The members of the Turkish embassy at Paris maintain diplomatic silence.

The Marseilles correspondent of Le Journal (Paris) reports that a French squadron is waiting for the signal to proceed to Turkish waters.

CROWN PRINCE WAS UNNERVED

A Cronberg telegram says: From 10 o'clock in the morning the ex-Empress Frederick was unconscious. Canon Teignmouth Shore, chaplain of King Edward, and an old friend of the dying woman, prayed long by the bedside, having come over at the summons of Kaiser William, who at the other side of the bed sat gravely and sorrowfully watching for the end.

The kaiser sat constantly during the entire day, the death of the empress occurring at 6:15 o'clock.

All the rest of the royal family, including the empress, passed frequently in and out of the room noiselessly, but the emperor sat there on and on from early morning, just leaving the bedside for meals.

The person most visibly affected, however, was the crown prince, who on this occasion probably came face to face with death for the first time. He looked utterly upset.

NO GROUNDS FOR A SCARE!

In Regard to Export of Coal From America.

Statement of Secretary Moore Bell, British Commercial Agent in the United States—Collape of a Grand Stand at Paisley, Scotland—Trade Returns.

London, Aug. 8.—Secretary Moore Bell, the British commercial agent in the United States, in the course of a report on the coal and coke trade of America, says:

"It is more than doubtful if there will ever be the enormous export of the coal from the United States looked for."

Morgan and Vanderbilt, and the Pennsylvania interests appear to be trying to coerce other coal interests not owning railways, particularly those of the Ohio coal fields, and prevent them selling at a lower price than the railways working coal mines, by denying them transportation facilities except upon their own terms. Federal laws forbid discrimination in rates, but it is an accepted fact that rebates are allowed to the large trusts and coal operators friendly to the road's concerned.

SHOT HIMSELF IN A CEMETERY.

Suicide of a New York Real Estate Agent—Died on the Grave of His Sons.

New York, Aug. 8.—August Schwab, 65 years of age, a real estate agent, shot himself through the heart late yesterday, and died on the grave of his two sons, whose death within a few days of each other four years ago, had, it is thought, affected the man's mind. Leaving his wife earlier in the day, he told her to light the candles in their room, claiming that it was the anniversary of the death of the oldest son, who, however, died on Aug. 4. The wife, who is 70 years of age, complied and was waiting in the lighted room when she received word of the finding of her husband's body in the cemetery on Long Island.

THE LOST CHILD FOUND BY A DOG

Campers Search in Vain, Then a Farmer's Collie Locates the Little Girl.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—The intelligence of a farmer's collie dog and its affection for a child was the means of saving the life of Leonie Male, 3½ years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Male of Chicago, who are now at their summer camp at Gage's Lake, near Waukegan.

The child wandered away from camp last Friday afternoon, and for nearly 24 hours the half frantic parents and sympathetic neighbors looked in vain for it, until the dog found the little one under a pile of brush some distance from camp, where she had cried herself to sleep.

The dog was owned by Henry Beak, on whose land, eight miles west of Waukegan, the Male family have established their summer camp, close to Gage's Lake. Leonie, who had been playing with the dog most of the forenoon, was missed from the camp at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

The ground around the camp was carefully hunted over without result. All through the night men tramped through the woods and fields on the Beak farm, calling the little girl's name and searching through the grass and bushes.

At 10 o'clock in the morning Mr. Beak was walking along the edge of the woods with the dog bounding at his side. Suddenly the dog left him and ran into the clump of trees. Mr. Beak went to find the reason. The dog was running around a clump of brush and, hidden underneath, with clothing torn and her cheeks still wet with tears, lay the lost child, asleep.

THE FACTS FROM I. B. S.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The Irish Benevolent Society musical committee, replying to an item that appeared in the Free Press this morning in reference to the Musical Society Band, would say the facts concerning the matter are: The I. B. S. used their best endeavors to secure the band in question, and would have done so had not the leader given them to understand that his band, on account of engagement at Springbank, would be unable to remain at Port Stanley later than 5 p. m.; this agreement the committee could not consider. In reference to last year, the I. B. S. took the Chicago band, the committee at the last moment being prevailed upon by the manager of the street railway company, who accepted a sum of money from the I. B. S. and took the Musical Society Band off their hands, as it would be impossible for the society to meet the enormous expense.

LATE LOCAL ITEMS

—Contractor Gould has completed the construction of the St. James street sewer.

—Mrs. W. J. Ashplant will be at home (23 Becher street) to her friends on Friday afternoon of this week.

—Charles Clark, of the wholesale millinery firm of Clark, Van Delinder & Co., arrived home today from Europe.

—Ten crowded cars, full of people, went to join in the Irishmen's jubilation at Port Stanley. They were attached to the 2:30 p.m. train this afternoon.

—There was a large attendance at last night's band concert at Victoria Park, under the auspices of the Irish Benevolent Society. An attractive programme was rendered by the City Railway Band of Cleveland.

—The horse attached to a Dominion Express wagon ran away in the absence of the driver this afternoon, but beyond inflicting a cut on one of its hind legs, no damage was done, as the animal was stopped by a plucky young man who was near by.

—Mr. G. A. Graham, who has assumed control of the Iroquois Hotel, at Toronto, is well-known among the commercial men of Western Ontario. For many years he was proprietor of the Imperial Hotel at Galt, one of the best hotels in Western Ontario. The Iroquois under his management will without doubt keep up its reputation as now being one of the best hotels in Toronto.

—A bright reflection in the western sky last night caused many people to think the pavilion at Springbank was on fire, and the officials there answered several telephone messages to the effect that everything was all right. This morning it was learned that a barn in the vicinity of Komoka was destroyed, but the owner's name could not be obtained nor the amount of damage done.

HOLT REMANDED.

James Holt, of Dorchester, was brought before Judge Edward Elliott this morning on the charge of abducting Annie Smith. Holt was unready to elect trial, and he was remanded till Saturday.

BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH.

Shortly before The Advertiser went to press it was learned that Mr. J. B. Aikenhead, who was so seriously injured in the street car collision at Springbank Monday evening, was still alive, but in a very critical condition. The young man's parents have arrived here from Brussels, to attend the sick bed of their son.

SQUIRE NUGENT SUMMONED.

Squire Nugent, of Belmont, was this morning served by Detective Egelton with a summons to appear before Police Magistrate Love on Thursday, Aug. 15, to answer to a charge of perjury, laid by Daniel Smith, of Belmont. The alleged perjury consisted in falsely swearing to the possession of property qualifications to serve as a justice of the peace.

UNSATISFACTORY STREET WATERING.

Complaints are made of the unsatisfactory manner in which the contractor for watering Richmond street does his work. This forenoon at 10:30 the dust was blowing about in clouds, and not the slightest appearance of the watering cart. The same applies to other portions of the city, and the matter deserves the attention of the authorities.

A SMALL FIRE.

The firemen had a run this afternoon to the premises of John A. Brownlee, 426 Piccadilly, where a barn was discovered on fire. Being full of hay, and fanned by a strong breeze, it was impossible to save the structure, which, with its contents, was entirely destroyed, but good work was done in preventing the barn next door, owned by Joseph Nicholson, from going up in smoke. As it was, the end was badly scorched for the first fire was a fierce one while it lasted. Mr. Brownlee saved his house, but lost a buggy, harness and bicycle, besides other things usually found in a place of that kind. Damage about $300.

FLOWER EXHIBITORS.

The following were exhibitors at the flower show: Mr. David Sare, Mrs. Simpson, Mr. John Stevenson, Mr. Ewing (Berlin, Ont.), Mr. J. C. Crombie, Mrs. A. Ellis, Mr. Austin M. Ella Thompson was charged by Ida B. Simpson with using abusive language. The case was adjourned till Monday.

Thomas Mulligan was charged with insanity. He was remanded till Monday.

Catherine Hastings, Mary Horn and Samuel Henderson, who have been in trouble before, were gathered in and charged with being drunk and disorderly. Sentence was suspended on Mary, but her two companions were each fined $10 or 21 days.

A QUARTER CENTURY'S SUCCESS!
How the Irish Benevolent Society Was Organized in 1877.
Enthusiastic Sons of Erin Combined to Help Less Fortunate Fellow Countrymen.
Many of the Original Members Have Now Passed Away Forever, While Others Are Still Actively Interested.

The Irish Benevolent Society, which is picnicking at Port Stanley today with thousands of its friends, has had a career of usefulness that extends over a period of nearly 25 years. It has abundantly fulfilled the prediction made by The Advertiser, of March 13, 1877, that it would have a "career of usefulness second to no similar organization in the Dominion."

The report of the formation of the Irish Benevolent Society appeared on the date mentioned, and the facts chronicled are doubly interesting in view of the splendid success of today and the presence of so many Old Boys.

A meeting of representative Irishmen and descendants of Irishmen to the number of over one hundred, we are informed in the account of the organization, assembled at the Mechanics' Institute last night for the purpose of forming an Irish Benevolent Society for the city of London. The deepest interest was taken in the proceedings, and leading citizens of every religious denomination and political faith attended, to show their sympathy with the movement. The partial list of gentlemen who attended the meeting will awaken many memories in the minds of older residents. Mr. Henry D. Long, then of Messrs. E. Adams & Co., was chosen chairman, and Mr. John Smith secretary, pro tem. Others who were present were W. R. Meredith, M. P. P., John F. Mahon, B. Cronyn, J. Taylor, J. Martin, J. A. Roe, J. D. Sharman, Ald. Regan, Ald. Egan, T. Coffey, J. J. Gibbons, W. Hudson, Hiram Lee, H. Gorman, Dr. Sippi, James Magee, James Smith, H. D. Long, Ald. Thompson, Dr. Mitchell, R. Wigmore, M. Flaherty, J. M. Keary, P. McCann, P. J. Boyle, M. O'Meara, M. D. Fraser, R. Bayly, R. Kneightly, J. McAuliffe, H. Wilson, A. Loughrey, M. Walsh, J. O'Connell, M. Curry, T. Phelan, J. McDonald, Thomas Peel, D. Lester, and "over seventy others whose names we could not ascertain."

After referring to the objects for which the meeting had been called, and the necessity that had for years existed for such an association, the chairman called upon the secretary to read the report of the committee on bylaws and constitution, which was, after slight amendments and lengthy discussion, adopted.

Mr. McMahon, Q.C., who had been very active in promoting and furthering the association, sent a letter apologizing for his unavoidable absence in Toronto.

"The constitution provides," continues the historian of 1877, "that the name of the society shall be 'The Irish Benevolent Association of the City of London and County of Middlesex.' the seal of which shall have that name engraved thereon, and around the harp, surmounted by a crown, shall be the motto, 'Quis Separabit.' The object is a charitable one, and is intended to afford assistance to Irishmen and their descendants. Irishmen, or male person of Irish descent, either on father's or mother's side of eighteen years and upwards, are eligible to become members, the voting for which shall be by ballot, four black balls being necessary to reject an applicant. The remaining clauses specify the number of officers to be annually elected, their duties and other routine matters."

The election of officers was then proceeded with, as follows:

President—Lieut.-Col. James Shanly.

First Vice-President — Hugh McMahon, Q.C.

Second Vice-President—John Beattie, Westminster.

Third Vice-President—Ald. Daniel Regan.

Treasurer—John F. Mahon.

Recording and Corresponding Secretary—James Magee.

Financial Secretary—John Smith.

Executive Committee—Messrs. H. D. Long, W. R. Meredith, M.P.P., Ald. James Egan, Richard Bayly, J. J. Gibbons, John Taylor John Wright, Benjamin Cronyn, Henry Wilson, Martin O'Meara, Dr. Sippi, A. B. Powell.

Physicians—Drs. Moore, Hagarty, Niven, Going, Brown and Mitchell, and all doctors who are members of the society.

After the election of officers the secretary expressed himself, open to receive the fees of members, and in a very few minutes nine life members and forty active members were enrolled—$130 receipts.

The association then adjourned to meet at the call of the president. The society starts under the most favorable auspices.

The Irish Channel Disaster.

THT OCEANIC'S INJURIES.

Queenstown, Aug. 8.—Later details of the collission show that the only damage sustained by the Oceanic consisted in a few dents to her port plates. She proceeded at 8:50 p.m.

THE COLLISION.

The collision occurred this side of Tuskar, at about 1:30 in the morning. The fog was very dense. The Kincora was struck amidship.

All the passengers of the Oceanic were in bed at the time, and there was some commotion until Capt. Cameron asured them that there was not the least cause for alarm.

Headway was kept on the Oceanic after she struck the Kincora in order to give the crew of the latter a chance to clamber on board the Oceanic. The boats were lowered to rescue every man possible. The Kincora sank very rapidly. The Oceanic remained in the vicinity of the collision until daylight, but nothing was then visible beyond some floating wreckage.

With the Workers.

STATUS OF STEEL STRIKE.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 8.—Events are moving quickly in the steel strike now, and unless there is some unlooked-for intervention, the contending sides will soon face one another in the full measure of their strength.

This morning the United States Steel Corporation succeeded in reopening the Farm mill at the Lindsay & McCutcheon plant, and President Samuel J. Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, arrived here to confer with President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association.

The Steel Corporation count the opening of the Lindsay & McCutcheon mill a material victory over the strikers, while the latter insist that the company has not sufficient men to keep the mill in operation. There was no disturbance over the reopening of the mill.

Most of the men who struck at the mill have found places in independent plants, and when the start was made there was nobody on hand to offer opposition.

The steel officials are elated with their success at the Wellsville, Hyde Park, Clark and Lindsay & McCutcheon plants, and are preparing to open other mills.

OVER 100 VESSELS TIED UP.

San Francisco, Aug. 8.—Although the Municipal League has not abandoned its attempt to have the labor troubles in this city settled by a compromise, both sides are preparing for a protracted struggle. The tie-up of shipping is becoming serious. There are at least ninety coasters and twenty deep water vessels at anchor in the bay. Some of these cannot be unloaded, and others cannot be loaded under existing conditions.

THE CONCILIATION COMMITTEE.

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Mr. Shaw, chairman of the Order of Railway Conductors, and Mr. Pope, chairman of the Brotherhood of Engineers of the C. P. R., western division, left on Monday for Montreal, in connection with business relating to the trackmen's strike.

STRIKE NOTES.

Railway mail clerks employed on the C.P.R., west of Ottawa have petitioned the minister of labor to intervene in the trackmen's strike, as they fear that the track is becoming unsafe.

How King Alfred Expelled the Danes.

... the year 878, the Danes had completely established their power in England, and King Alfred, with a remnant of his nobles, was compelled to seek shelter in desolate marshes and woods in the west. Alfred himself was a fugitive at Athelney, in Somersetshire, and was sheltered in the cottage of a poor peasant there. Here the king learned many lessons, the chief being a kindly consideration of and esteem for the common people. It was during this time, too, that the historic incidents of the burned cakes took place.

Alfred found means to make known to his adherents the place of his retreat, and in the five months he stayed there he matured a plan. An army was gathered, and he resolved to attack the Danes at their headquarters, and break their power, and, if possible, drive them out of his kingdom. He had great faith in prayer, and his personal habits were those of strict self-denial, sobriety and industry.

In May, 878, Guthrum the Dane — King Guthrum as he now called himself —was in his camp, rejoicing in his success. His chieftains were with him, and they had now become insolent, and it may be indolent, with prosperity. The Norse nations were great drinkers of mead, a drink made from honey, allowed to ferment and become intoxicating. When kept this beverage was very potent in mounting to the brain. The ale that the English brewed — their barley-wine, as they called it — was not less heady and enervating. Doubtless many a dwelling had been robbed of its store to afford the means of wassail and revelry to the conquerors. Ah, the Danes, like many in modern times, were their worst foes!

While Guthrum and his victorious chiefs are feasting and rioting, the sound of a harp is heard. The harper has been through the camp singing his lays, and now he is called to the chief. The harper is none other than King Alfred.

The invaders listened, applauded and drank. Alfred used his eyes, and noted the strength, and assuredly the weakness also, of his foes. He saw the swinish stupidity of intemperance. Undiscovered he left the camp and the revelers. The next day the victory of Eddington was gained—a victory so complete that the foreigners had to quit Wessex without another blow. Alfred's kingdom was regained, never again to be lost by him.

The strong eat well, sleep well, look well. The weak don't. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the weak strong.

IN DREAD OF FROST.

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—About 1,300 harvesters, the first of a party, reached Winnipeg last (Wednesday) evening. Harvesting weather continues fine in the west, but it is growing very cool at night. Fears of frost were entertained last night, but none has been reported.

GIRL KILLED BY A BULL.

Woolsey, N. W. T., Aug. 8.—On Sunday morning a Polled Angus bull belonging to John Schar, a German living north of Ellesboro', broke its tethering rope and went along with the herd of cattle which were being tended by Mr. Schar's daughter, a girl about 14 years of age. During the morning the beast attacked the girl furiously and killed her.

HUNTING A WIFE-KILLER.

Boston, Aug. 8.—Officials here believe that the man that State Officers Dunham and Lotenay are following through the woods of Quebec is Joseph William Blondin, suspected of killing his wife at Chelmsford, Canadian detectives have been put on the trail, and are now hunting him. They say they will smoke him out of the woods, if they have to set fire to the forest to do so.

A SHOT IN THE DARK.

He saw a slender figure in heavy dark robes come quietly out of a light sitting-room, the door of which was held open by a handsome man, looking distinguished and aristocratic in his faultless evening dress. As she passed, he dropped lightly on one knee, and caught the little, trembling hand to his lips, pressing a burning kiss upon it. He saw that she drew it away, and came quickly from him up the stairs, and, as she lifted her face, he saw what he had dreaded, that the lady was Andree Lancaster.

As she reached the head of the stairs she met him face to face, and the reproof and sorrow in the kindly blue eyes broke down her forced composure.

"Do not judge me unheard," she said, brokenly, as they entered the sitting-room together.

It was empty, for Pearl had retired to rest. Andree crossed over the room until she came to the marble mantel-piece. Then she dashed her hand, the hand he had kissed, against the hard stone with a gesture of repressed passion, which caused the hand, when she drew it back again, to be bruised and bleeding. And then she told Mr. Fenwick all she could tell—that the man had a secret of hers in his power which would ruin her happiness and that of others if he betrayed it, and she prayed him to trust her still, as he had done through these months of mystery and concealment.

"I will trust you," he said, gravely and frankly, "I will trust you Andree. Would you like to leave Rome and return to England."

A momentary struggle ensued. An occasional glimpse of Douglas brought such joy and such pain.

"Oh! yes—yes!" she cried, eagerly. "Let me go, even if you wish to remain. It is better, safer, far."

The next day the Fenwicks left Rome, and though they left no address, Lord Drotsford knew that in London such a man as Russell Fenwick was easily found out, and he resolved not to let Andree escape him so easily.

The passion which her marriage with Douglas had partially quenched, was ready now to rise again with a fierce flame, although he felt it would be more honorable to leave the girl in the retreat she had found.

"She can't love him still," thought Frank Graham, Baron Drotsford, "especially if she thinks he likes that other girl. If I could but win her love she might be happier."

And so, veiling his own wishes under cover of kindness towards her, Lord Drotsford resolved to attain his end.

CHAPTER XXIV.

The London season was at its height, and an unusually good and brilliant season it happened to be. Park, Rotten Row, theaters, opera and concerts were crowded with the fair patrician faces of the English aristocracy; wonderful toilets in every combination of colors might daily be seen at every fashionable reunion; balls and parties, soirees and dansantes, were the order of the day, and none of those among the elite would have been considered quite complete without the presence of one or both of "the two brides."

The two brides were Lady Marchmont and Lady Donaldson—Kathleen Lancaster and Constance Stavely—and their own great beauty, added to the high position and great riches of both bridegrooms, had made a slight stir among the distinguished friends of both.

The fair young wives themselves were not averse to their sudden popularity; they were by no means dazzled by it, but though they felt it was quite evanescent, they enjoyed it thoroughly. They dressed alike, in wonderful parisian toilets, which drove the London queens of fashion wild with envy. They rode and drove together, smiled at each other from their respective opera boxes; showed their beautiful faces, radiant smiles and wonderful golden hair at every reunion where it was "the thing" to be seen, and, being both of them honestly in love with their husbands, did not fall out or become deadly enemies if the new color proved more becoming to one than to the other, as rival belles generally do.

Sir Hugh and Sir Kenneth Donaldson looked on very complaisantly; they believed thoroughly in the good sense of their young wives, and were sure that the time would come when they would return to the quiet country mansions and reign supreme as chatelaines, for both Hugh Marchmont and Kenneth Donaldson had determined to be thoroughly practical landowners, and do their duty to the tenantry on their large estates as it should be done.

Sir Kenneth, indeed, had felt too deeply the ill effects of his loitering on the continent to neglect his duty again; while Hugh had been deeply touched at the way in which the country people had rallied round him after his father's death; how every rumor had been ignored; what sympathy had been shown for Andree, thus obliged to stand before the court as her father's accuser; how the sorrow that Sir Edward's untimely death, taking place, too, when he was on his way to explain the accident, had prevented him making things clear, had been publicly shown; and he had resolved to live on his estate as a country gentleman ought.

Kathleen was nothing loth. There was no reason, she said, laughingly, because she was too timid to hunt, that Hugh should not be master of the hounds; and in her inmost heart she was longing to have a quiet time and her husband all to herself.

Meanwhile, she "gathered Time's roses while she might," and enjoyed London gaieties thoroughly.

Douglas Lancaster was in town, also, his health greatly benefited by his winter abroad; but he preferred the more quiet mode of living of a third "happy couple." Mr. and Mrs. Philip Clement, who had settled down in their cosy house in Brook street, where Dr. Clement was already becoming a well-known man among the members of his profession, as well as among the public.

Douglas had given up any settled profession now, although it was generally known that he still dabbled in literary matters, and that an anonymous volume of poems, which had caused some sensation in the literary world, were from his pen. His aunt's death had made him a sufficiently wealthy man, and when Sir Edward Marchmont's will was opened, it was found that he had left a joint legacy to his daughter and her husband, which would have enabled them to resume the style they had been used to before their marriage. This Douglas was steadfast ni refusing to touch, and the interest was remitted to some of the London hospitals under the initials "H. M. D. L."

His sister's marriage had given Douglas unmixed pleasure, and, though he missed her sadly, and felt lonely and ungettled in his wandering, hotel existence he rejoiced in Kathleen's happiness. As he put her hand into Hugh's on their wedding morning, there came before him the remembrance of another wedding day, which seemed so far away in the past. At that wedding there were no bridesmaids, no gaily-dressed wedding guests, no carriages, no favors, only a fair, noble-looking bride in her flowing robes of cambric and lace, standing in the dark, moldy church, and a sweet, clear voice sounding like a silver chime in the gloomy building:

"I, Andree Gabrielle, take thee, Douglas!"

Oh, Andree—Andree!

Some such ideas flashed into Kathleen's mind also as she turned her beautiful face, pale and moved, under her veil of Malines lace, for one moment to the grave, calm face, beautiful in its sadness, of her brother, and met his eyes with their far-away look, as if he were gazing back into the past, with its mazes and mysteries.

In the second marriage, Sir Kenneth's, he had been also deeply interested, having fathomed the depth of the baronet's affection for Constance; and it pleased him to see how Lady Donaldson turned to her husband, and clung to him with the leaning affection of a rather weak woman toward a character stronger and firmer than her own.

Semething Worth Knowing.

[From the Arthur Enterprise.]

Catarrh is more prevalent than it formerly was, and many people are afflicted with this dangerous disease long before they are aware of it. Then it has developed into the worst form, and the sufferer rushes for a doctor, from whom he gets little or no relief. A special study of the disease was made by the Catarrhozone Company, and their labors have been rewarded by the discovery of a true specific, "Catarrhozone," which they guarantee is a sure cure. The Enterprise can vouch for "Catarrhozone," as a member of the editor's family used it with most satisfactory results; it is pleasant to use, and gives instant relief.

A company is being formed to supply London residents with rain or soft water for the bath at 2d. per gallon.

ITS POWER GROWS WITH AGE.—How many medicines loudly blazoned as panaceas for all human ills have come and gone since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was first put upon the market? Yet it remains, doing more good to humanity than many a preparation more highly vaunted, and extending its virtues wider and wider and in a larger circle every year. It is the medicine of the masses.

A pair of old English brass andirons or "fire-dogs" were sold for 280 guineas in London the other day.

Backache, swelling of feet and ankles, puffing under eyes, frequent thirst, scanty, cloudy, highly colored urine, and all urinary troubles lead to Bright's disease, dropsy, diabetes, etc. Doan's Kidney Pills are a sure cure. w

These Pills, in doses of from two to four, will quickly regulate the action of the liver and free the patient from these disorders. One or two of Radway's Pills taken daily by those subject to bilious pains and torpidity of the liver will keep the system regular and secure healthy digestion.

"I am 120 miles from the nearest drug store, and want you to send me a dozen boxes of your Pills. I have muscular rheumatism, and for nine months have been at Hot Springs. My liver and kidneys are affected. I find that your Pills do me more good than all the medicine I have taken and the Springs combined.

"Respectfully, W. JAMES.

"Harqua Hala, Yuma County, Arizona."

"Your Radway's Pills have worked wonderfully in my family. My children, when sick, have received instantaneous and complete relief by their use. Sudden colds, sore throat, I find I can quickly cure by the use of your Ready Relief and Pills. They should not be wanting in any well-kept home. That doubly serves what helps you once. Yours truly, DR. H. E. SCHNEIDER.

"60 Hudson street, Hoboken, N.J., and Times Building, New York."

"For years I have been troubled with rheumatism and dyspepsia, and came to the conclusion to try your pills. I immediately found great relief from their use. I feel like a new man since I commenced taking them, and would not now be without them. The drowsy, sleepy feeling I used to have has entirely disappeared. The dyspepsia has left me, and my rheumatism is gone entirely. I am satisfied if anyone so afflicted will give Radway's Pills a trial they will surely cure them, for I believe it all comes from the system being out of order—the liver not doing its work.

"GEORGE SCALLY.

"75 Nassau street, New York."

TO THOSE OF SEDENTARY OCCUPATION.—Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly cheap, considering their excellence.

A DENIAL.

Mr. A. Clark, of Clandeboye, whose brother's body was allowed to go to the Medical School here, writes The Advertiser denying that he was deserted by his friends, but had before deserted his own relations.

FINNEGAN—IRWIN.

P. C. James Finnegan was married yesterday afternoon to Miss Minnie E. Irwin, a niece of Mr. Thomas McCormick, at whose residence on Grand avenue the ceremony took place. Rev. James Kennedy officiated. The couple left on a trip to the old country, and on their return will reside in South London.

SMASHED THE WAGON.

Another milk wagon has come to grief on the street railway. Joseph Purvis, a London township dairyman, came in collision with a street car, while driving on Dundas street, near Waterloo, yesterday morning. Though the smashup was a complete one, Mr. Purvis fortunately was unhurt, but the milk cans were rendered almost useless.

AN OLD BOY FROM MANILA.

Mr. Versey H. Wigmore is a London Old Boy who is at present visiting his mother at the corner of Dundas and William streets. He came home from Manila just in time for the reunion, and naturally was delighted with it and the city, too. Londoners all over the world, he says, have a good word for the city. He was in San Francisco when the Spanish-American war began, and served with the 1st California Volunteers. Mr. Wigmore is now in the government service at Manila, and is enthusiastic over the possibilities of the island.

LOST BY FIRE.

Telegraphic dispatches the other day contained the report of a large fire in Davenport, Iowa. Word has been received by Mr. Michael Gray, of 446 Hill street, from his brother, John Gray, saying that the latter had been burned out in the fire, and that his loss would be very heavy. Mr. Gray was at one time a cooper in this city, but left for the west many years ago. He had accumulated considerable property and was well-to-do, but the insurance on the buildings was very small, so that Mr. Gray's loss is very heavy.

DIED AT IDLEWILD COTTAGE.

The death occurred last evening at Idlewild Cottage, the summer residence of Mrs. E. N. Hunt, of London, at New Orchard Beach, of Mrs. Getia M. Weldon, relict of the late Joseph Weldon, of con. 4, Westminster. Deceased, who was in her 52nd year, had been in poor health for about a year. She arrived in Port Stanley on a visit last Saturday night, and on Sunday was taken ill, remaining unconscious until the time of her death. She leaves one daughter and three sons, namely: Miss Esther May, Arthur, Willsie and Leslie, all at home. One sister, Mrs. Willsey, of Derwent, Ont., and two brothers, Adolphus and George Bostwick, of Missouri. The remains were taken to her home today and the funeral will take place tomorrow at con. 5, Westminster.—St. Thomas Journal.

CASSELMAN—SMITH.

A quiet home wedding was celebrated Tuesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, Dufferin avenue, when Ward A. Casselman, salesman for the Slater Shoe Company, Montreal, was married to Miss Minnie Louise, youngest daughter of Mr. J. D. Smith, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Robert Johnston in the presence of a number of intimate friends. Among those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ferguson, Phillipsburg, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Clint Casselman, Morrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. T. Duff, Toronto; Dr. G. W. Palmer, wife and daughter, Port Huron; Mrs. W. S. McDonald, Picton, and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Smith, brother of the bride, who resides in Omaha. The bride was attired in white China silk and veil, carrying bride's roses. She was supported by Miss Eva Casselman, of Morrisburg, while Miss Imo Palmer, of Port Huron, made a charming flower girl. Among many handsome presents was included an upright piano, a gift from the bride's parents. After a dainty wedding breakfast had been enjoyed the young couple left on the G. T. R. eastern flyer to spend their honeymoon in Toronto and other eastern points, after which they will locate in Montreal.

IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

The Windsor police made what they deem an important capture yesterday afternoon, says the Detroit Free Press. Sergt. Nash and Officer Reid arrested three suspects shortly after they arrived down town from the race track, and they are now locked up at headquarters awaiting examination. Geo. F. Case, a well-known liveryman of Detroit, had his pocket picked of $75 while boarding a street car at the race track. F. L. Seaman, of Cleveland, Ohio, complained that he had been relieved of $19 at the ferry dock. From the description given to the police by Case, Sergt. Nash arrested a man Sunday, giving the name of John Davis, and he is now in jail pending an investigation of his record. Case alleges that Davis is the man who caught hold of his arm as he was climbing on the car. He also described the other three men who were in the crowd, and acting on this information the arrests were made yesterday afternoon. The men arrested yesterday gave their names and addresses as follows: Thos. Gray, a waiter, Indianapolis, Ind.; David Rice, bartender, 226 St. Clair street, Toledo, Ohio; George Fuller, clerk, 414 Smithfield street, Toledo, Ohio. Sergt. Nash says he believes they have rounded up a crowd of expert pickpockets. He says he has a tip that the men were among the crowd of sharpers who fleeced the Detroit crowd going to London Sunday. They were in Windsor Saturday, but with the exception of Davis they disappeared until yesterday.

HARDING HALL UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT.

Mr. J. J. Baker, M.A., Will Preside Over the Popular School for Girls.

Mrs. Wells informs us that she has disposed of the girls' school to Mr. J. J. Baker, M.A., a pupil and friend of her husband, the late Dr. Wells, and a gentleman of educational standing. Mr. Baker is an honor graduate in several departments of Toronto University, and since graduation has kept himself in touch with our educational work, having served as occasional lecturer and examiner. In losing Mrs. Wells, we are pleased to learn that Mrs. Baker, a lady of fine culture of head and heart, will also devote all her energies to the interests of the school. Mrs. Baker has had wide experience in teaching and in dealing with young ladies. We congratulate the many patrons of the school, and are sure they will thank Mrs. Wells for her choice out of the different applicants for Harding Hall. The Advertiser welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Baker to London, wishing them the highest success in their work.

SURE TO ASK

The Kind of Coffee When Postum Is Well Made.

"Three great coffee drinkers were my old school friend and her two daughters.

"They are always complaining and taking medicine. I determined to give them Postum Food Coffee instead of coffee when they visited me, so without saying anything to them about it, I made a big pot of Postum the first morning, using four heaping teaspoons to the pint of water and let it boil twenty minutes, stirring down occasionally.

Before the meal was half over, each one passed up the cup to be refilled, remarking how fine the coffee was. The mother asked for a third cup and inquired as to the brand of coffee I used. I didn't answer her question just then, for I had heard her say a while before that she didn't like Postum Food Coffee unless it was more than half old-fashioned coffee.

After breakfast I told her that the coffee she liked so well at breakfast was pure Postum Food Coffee, and the reason she liked it was because it was properly made, that is, it was boiled long enough to bring out the flavor. I have been brought up from a nervous, wretched invalid to a fine condition of physical health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

I am doing all I can to help the world out of coffee slavery, to Postum freedom, and have earned the gratitude of many, many friends." Myra J. Tuller, 1023 Troost avenue, Kansas City, Mo.
