BERLIN, Jan. 13.—The Minister of Finance introduced the budget for 1891-92 in the Lower House of the Diet yesterday. In this the revenue and expenditure balance at $430,208,000.

The Chillen Trouble.

The Chilian Trouble.

London, Jan. 13.—Don Carlos Antunez, Chilian minister to England, to-day denied that there had been any fighting in the streets of Santiago or Valparaiso or in the provinces of Chili. He said there is no revolutionary movement in progress in Chili and the present disturbances are only a protest against illegal collection of taxes, which are not sanctioned by the Chamber. The Chilian navy sides with the Government, and only 3 out of 31 ships in the Chilian navy joined with the party of the opposition.

Archbishop Magee.

London, Jan. 14.—Wm. C. Magee, who has just been raised from the bishopric of Peterborough to the archbishopric of York, is one of the few Irishmen who have risen to prominent positions in the English hierarchy. He is a brilliant orator, and his eloquence is such that not only are enormous audiences attracted by his sermons, but his speeches in the House of Lords are eagerly read. Among the most femous of those latter were those in which he defended the Irish Church against the disestablishment movement. His selection for the exalted position, left vecant by the death of the learned Dr. Thomson, is generally commended.

Colonizing Palestine.

London, Jan. 14. — Baron Hirsch is said to be negotiating with the Sultan for an extensive Jewish, settlement in Palestine. In Baron is willing to pay liberally for a section of the Holy Land large enough to make an asylum for several thousand of the Jews now being driven by persecution from Russia. There is reported to be a difference of opinion between the Turkish Government and Baron Hirsch as to whether the Jewish settlement should constitute a separate province, to be ruled over by a Hebrew. Many of the Russian Jews have their eyes turned toward Palestine, and would hail with delight an opportunity of removing to that country. The negotiations have been conducted with must be secrecy.

Morley's Interview with O'Brien.

London, Jan. 13.—Arnold Morley, the Liberal whip, went to Paris recently, where he had an interview with O'Brien. The subject of the differences in the Irish Parliamentary party and the relations of that party with the English Liberal party were thoroughly discussed, but Mr. Mocley found it impossible to bring Mr. O'Brien around to his way of thinking or of looking at the situation, and the course to be pursued to bridge the existing difficulties between the Irish factions and the Liberals. It is said the McCarthyites expect that John Dillon on his return from the United States will signify his adherence to the faction of the Irish party which supports Mr. McCerthy.

In a Dem of Wolves.

London, Jan. 13.—A telegram from Bolton, Lancashire, states that Bostock's menagerie, now giving exhibitions here, was crowded the other evening, when William Entwistle, a local publican, keeping the Roebuck Inn, volunteered to enter a cage containing a pack of Siberian wolves. The menagerie people consenting, Entwistle walked into and around the cage with a woman performer, amid the cheers of the audience, and broke a bottle of champagne. The cheers being renewed Entwistle and the woman toasted each other and remained in the cage until the wolves very decidedly intimated that they proposed to take a hand in the game. On some of the more sober portion of the audience remonstrating and appealing to the police the latter stated they had no authority to interfere. It appears that Entwistle's bravado was indulged in to win a bet of £20.

Terrible Disaster in Paris.

Paris, Jan. 13.—A terrible accident, by which nine foothardy persons lost their lives, occurred here to-day. The Seine, with the exception of the cente: of the river, has been frozen over for some time. Yesterday the whole river was covered with ice, the middle of the stream, however, being hidden by what the police judged to be dangerously thin ice. Consequently the authorities forbade the people to cross, and the police were instructed to enforce the order. In spite of this a number of venture-some men and boys, utterly disregarding the warning cries of the police and of the crowds of people who were watching them, attempted to cross. As they neared the middle of the stream cracking reports were heard, causing a number of the foothardy people to rush back, but others to show how daring they were pressed on. Suddenly the ice gave way and precipitated a crowd of people into the freezing water. Nine persons are known to have been drowned.

The Newfoundland Dispute.

Paris, Jan. 13.—M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has informed Lord Lytton, the British ambassador, that France will not accept any compensation for her fishing rights in Newfoundland that she does not consider to be their full equivalent. Nothing of that nature has yet been offered her. It is for England to say what she can give. Money will not be accepted.

Paris, Jan. 13.—Sir Charles Dilke, who is at present residing in this city, in an interview, published by L'Eclair, in regard to Newfoundland matters, said he thought, apart from the lobster question, the great difficulty lay in the impossibility to reconcile French treaty rights with the developments of Newfoundland. The entire territory belonged to the colony, yet they could not exercise the rights of sovereignty. The colonists, he said, unable to obtain a settlement of the matter in dispute, would some day certainly take the law in their own hands. During the coming spring, according to Sir Charles Dilke, shots would probably be exchanged between the crews of the French ships and the colonists. It was essential, therefore, to immediately discover ground for an agreement.

True to Irish Interests.

During the heat of the Irish elections in December last, Dr. P. S. O'Reilly, of St. Louis, Mo., addressed a letter of encouragement to Hon. W. E. Gladstone, telling bin of the feeling of Irish-Americans in that civ on the Irish question and promising M. Gladstone moral and material support. A reply has been received from Mr. Richard J. Gladstone, dated Hawarden, Dec. 4. Speaking for his father, the young man says:

"It is ampast satisfactory to know that the opinion of a large majority of leading Irishmen in St. Louis remains true to the policy which nearly five years age joined Irish Nationalists and English Liberals in a firm and, we trust, a lasting friendship. You recognize that on our part we have been in every particular, large and small, abidingly true to the proposale of 1886. In heaven's name, why should the Divorce Court be allowed to compromise the future of Ireland during the past five years. A Question of Veracity.

Dublin, Jan. 14.—At the meeting of the National League yesterday, Parnell was given an enthusiastic reception. He retitreated his statement that he had informed Justin McCarthy as to the chief features of his manifesto at least 24 hours before twas published. Mr. Parnell said conspiracy and lying were, next to Billingsgate, the prominent features of his opponents' resources and arguments. He said he had outlined to Mr. McCarthy what are known as the four points of his manifesto. Mr. McCarthy twice told him he had consulted with Mr. Gladstone on these points—once when they were alone and once in the presence of John Redmond, According to Parnell, Mr. McCarthy said: "All I can say is I have already told you that Mr. Gladstone intends to deny point blank all your statements," which, said Parnell, showed that Mr. Gladstone was aware of the proposed points of the manifesto. Parnell announced that the subscriptions to the National League funds since the last meetings exceeded £5,000. He warmly urged the claims of the war against landlordism."

John Redmond has authorized the Dublin Telegraph to state that "the night before Mr. Parnell's manifesto was handed to the press it was read by Mr. McCarthy in the presence of Mr. Parnell, Mr. Leamy, W. Redmond, Mr. O'Kelly and himself, Mr. McCarthy then informed Mr. Parnell that Mr. Gladstone said that if it was published he would immediately contradict it and dispute Mr. Parnell's memory as to the Hawarden conversation." Mr. Redmond adds: "My recellection of the incident is wholly inconsistent with Mr. McCarthy's denial."

A Renfrew Farmer's Advice

A Renfrew Farmer's Advice.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—Prof. Shaw, of the Ontario College of Agriculture, has recently been engaged in estimating the loss occasioned to Canadian farmers by the McKinley Bill, and he will shortly publish the result of his investigations. A reporter interviewed the professor during his stay in Ottawa en route to Rockland. In the field of politics in the United States, he said, the result of the McKinley legislation had aiready been seen in the series of disasters which befell the Republican party. But the change wrought in the condition of Canadians' markets was simply a question of facts, and should be decided altogether apart from partisan predilictions.

"To any man who is free to think candidly and clearly, and to any man who wishes to do himself the justice of knowing the truth, there can be no room for doubt as to the immense damage done to the agricultural interests of this country by the McKinley Bill. Next year will see the poultry and egg trade in Canada almost annihilated. We managed to forestall the closing of the American market by shipping our eggs and barley across the border carlier than usual last season, but we cannot do that next year."

With regard to the possibilities of the European or British trade, Prof. Shaw said that the prices there are purely problematical. If the old country market for eggs should prove better than that of the United States private traders would soon discover the fact without any special board of commissioners finding it for them. The wonder was that the egg merchants had not learned that they could make money in the transatlantic trade before this late day. The simple truth Prof. Shaw has ascertained to be that Canada will lose by the McKinley Bill about $500,000 in the egg business alone; that is, if our farms continue to produce as many eggs at the greatly reduced prices of the future as they have produced in the past. But the chances are that the falling off in production will occasion enormously greater loss.

The greater decline, however,

Her screams brought her sister to the scene, but too late to render effective aid. The girl was so badly burned that death soon resulted. The house dog happened to be in the room at the time. He sprang at the flames, and with teeth and claws attempted to tear the burning clothes from the girl's body. The dog's paws and mouth are badly burned, and nearly all the hair is singed off his head.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Jan. 13.—The Yakima Indians have been indulging in gioest dances several days, and it is feared some of the Blanket Indians may join the hostiles. The Yakimas number 3,800 and are divided into civilized Indians and renegades. The former are greatly in the majority and are mostly well-to-do farmers, some of them being wealthy. The renegades live along the line of railroad. They are well armed and under control of the medicine men. They have been obtaining much whisky of late, and are becoming quarrelsome. Plute runners have been among them and it is said they are combining with Chief Moses' Indians from the north.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Gen. Schoffeld has received the following telegram from Gen. Miles at Pine Ridge: "Gen. Brooke's command is now camped five miles distant on White Clay Creek and the entire body of Indians are between the two commands. The Indians have great'fear their arms will be taken away and then all treated like those who were on Wounded Knee. They have a large number of wounded women and children, which creates a most depressing feeling among the families and a desperate disposition among them. Military measures and movements have been successful. The control and government now becomes the problem, yet no serious embarrassment is apprehended at present."

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 14.—A dispatch from Rushville, Neb., says: Between 400 and 500 Indians broke away from the hostiles, and have started for the Bad Lands via Wounded Knee. They are crazy and frantic, committing depredations wherever they go. Gen. Carr, with the Sixth Cavalry and one company of infantry, and Col. To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Thanks for inserting my article on court house management. Still there are a few points which I did not bring out, but which I think are worthy of notice. First, jurors do not sit in our court house by the good grace of any cnc. They are all ratepayers and may be said to own a share in the building, and in addition each pays hh share of the cost of heating, etc., and when they come to court, either as jurors or visitors, they have a right to demand comfort and safety. Contrary to that, what are the facts of the case in point. There is ne question that on account of those west windows being kept open the west end of the court room is unbearably cold and positively dangerous to sit in, just to pleas one person. Who? Why the judge. It would be nearly as warm and certainly safer to sit in the opes street than in that draft of cold air, for it the street they might keep their caps on.

certainly safer to sit in the oper street than in that-draft of cold air, for in the street they might keep their caps on. Now, what deductions can we make from three facts? Simply these, that should any person take cold, become sick, or die on account of said exposure, that damages could be obtained, for I fail to see any difference in the responsibility of a corporation to rur over a man with a street car or give him hid death of cold in the court house. Certainly not much difference to the man. Jurors and others from the country will not long allow themselves to be imposed upon. If a word to the wise is not sufficient, recourse to law must be had. The idea of keeping men shivering in their overcoats in the court house is outrageous.

In reference to good order, it is not to be wondered at if at times when Mr. Schram, hearing a hum of noise in the court, may be led to believe that it comes from the auditorium, when in reality in many cases it comes from the bottom of the pit (certainly not the bottomless one), where all the lawyers go to. I submit that lawyers who are not on the case have no more right to disturb the court by talking than others, and I think a constable should be located among them to keep them straight. Yours truly,

Mayor Taylor. The civilized world has recently been deeply agitated over the announcement that Dr. Koch, and eminent German physician, had discovered a lymph for the cure of consumption. This discovery has been heralded throughout the world, and is looked upon as one of the greatest achievements of modern medical science. Of equal, the net greater importance, is a discovery ments of modern medicascence. Or education in the greater importance, is a discovery made by a well-known Canadian druggist, which, while it does not pretend to cure consumption after the lungs had been affected, is offered with every confidence as a preventative of that disease. Medical WAS THERE INFLUI In explaining clause No. consumption after the lungs had been affected, is offered with every confidence as a preventative of that disease. Medical testimony bears out the statement that more than two thirds of the cases of consumption, occurring in this country annually, are of catarrhal origin. The trouble begins with a cold in the head, which the sufferer treats as a light matter, and toc frequently neglects. This in time invariably develops into catarrh; the mucous membrane becomes thickened, inflammed and hardened and there is a profuse discharge of watery and poisonous matter from the nostrils, or else the poisonous secretions become clogged and hardened. In either case the breath is inhaled over this poisonous matter, and produces baleful results. The inflammation gradually extends to the bronchial tubes, and thence to the lungs, which, already poisoned and weakened by the foul breath inhaled, are ripe for that dread disease—consumption—which ends in death. A remedy that will prevens these disastrous consequences must be regarded as a boon to mankind, and, as already stated, such a remedy has been discovered by a Canadian druggist. There is no case of cold in the head which it will not instantly relieve and permanently cure. Do not, for an instant, neglect a cold in the head, for, by its prompt treament, you will prevent its developing into catarrh—the second stage on the road to the grave. If, however, catarrh has already developed, the use of this great remedy will prove equally beneficial, as is affords speedy relief, and will effect a certain cure, even in the most aggravated cases, if persistently used. It removes the secretions, frees the clogged nostrils, and sweetens the breath, stops the inflammation and thus saves the lungs and prevents the disease developing into consumption. This great discovery is known and sold throughout the country under the name of Nasal Balm. It is a positive and certain cure, and the thousands of testinonials in the hands of its proprietors prove that it is all they claim for it. Add. Thomas recorded himself as opposed to patching up contracts after a free competition. "I'de not think it is right," he said, "that one man should have the privilege of bidding lower than another that expect to bleed the Council for the remainder of the amount necessary for the competition of the work."

"I'am in faver of giving every man a living wage," said Aid. Taylor, "but I do not think it is right," he said, "that the perivilege of bidding lower than another that way."

"I'am in faver of giving every man a living wage," said Aid. Taylor, "but I do not favor doing it in that way."

Ald. Shaw was not in a humor of seeing any workman do work at a loss. "If the $275, cost of slating, was added to the incher," he said, "for the carpentering way short of the figures of the other tenders. I think it would be a hardship for the contractors to lose the whole thing."

Ald. Shamer supported the motion trefer the matter to the new Council.

Mr. White was granted the privilege of the floor to explain his position, "I tendered," he said, "for the carpentering work, not knowing that the elating wag included. "There was a difference," added Ald. Boyd significantly, "between Chief Roe and Electrician Crawford, and I am in receipt of correspondence from Mr. Anderson, of Toronto, in which the electrician is charged with being biased in his views on account of other interests than those of the city. question. Experience has demonstrated One suggestion the ADVERTISER would throw out for the consideration of the Minister of Agricultural, and that is that in some way a permanent record should be made of what might be deemed the cream of these conventions. Many papers, addresses and discussions are of real, permanent value, as farm literature and packed in a handy along with the departmental and col-lege bulletins which Mr. Dryden has promised, would be most acceptable and of great service to farmers. Under present circumstances much of the valuable material is almost wholly lost to view after the day of the meeting. A good odel of this kind is now issued annually in connection with the farmers' institutes

THE SEWING MACHINE INDUSTRY. Mr. Raymond, sewing machine manuhe is ready and willing to compete with the iron and other raw material and the opportunity to freely sell in the markets over the border. The chief trade restrictionist argues, how good and how profitable a thing it is to make sewing machines by the 'coddling" and high tax plan. All you have to do is to make the taxes sufficiently high for a period of years, and you have an established industry, no longer an infant, but a sturdy fellow ready to stand alone. This is not the truth, however, for the exerience of all countries in which high taxes on imports have been resorted to as a the expense of the consuming public the more persistently infantile in its dependence upon public subsidy it becomes. The facts about the sewing machine industry are deplorable in the extreme. For example there used to be five big factories in Hamilton under the old system of taxation, and the Wanzer and other machines were sent all over the world. "Twenty years ago," should be chosen to attend we are told by the Times, "the sewing envention, it being understood that machine men were the aristocrats among Hamilton workingmen. There were hundreds of them in the five factories, and they way companies for special rates, of which due notice will be given. All other needed information can be obtained from Mr. W.

In his annual message to the Legislature f the State of New York Governor Hill deals amongst other matters with the assessment question, and argues forcibly for ome change in the law which has been in operation in that State for more than 60 ending to a man's life! Bismarck had his years. His argument is founded in part upon the interest which the subject possesses to the farmers, whose condition is grievous and is growing worse under the operation of unjust fiscal laws. Persons who have made taxation and estimate that the value of personal property in York State nearly equals the value of its real estate. This view is confirmed by the State assessors and other authorities, and Governor Hill thinks that the difference cannot possibly exceed 30 per cent. Yet by the equalization made last October real property in the State was fixed at $3,298,323,431, while that of personal property was only $385,329,131, or only about one-eighth of the real estate value. Twenty years ago, in 1871, the valuation of ersonal property amounted to $452,000,000, $67,000,000 more than it now is in spite of the growth of population, wealth and all material interests in the State which has since occurred. Obviously, there is a gross inequality here, and there does not seem to be any way of procuring a fair equalization under the law as it stands. ean countries. This provision, as we have stated, has remained on the statutes of the State for more than 60 years, and although it has often been shown through which personal property prac-tically escapes taxation, every effort at amendment has been stoutly and successfully resisted. "It is urged with much force," Governor Hill says, "that this provision invites perjury, encourages fraud, establishes a wrong principle, prevents equality in taxation, and practically exempts personal property. It is claimed that the true theory of taxatics with the prevents of the province that the true theory of taxatics with the prevents are the province that the true theory of taxatics with the prevents are the province that the true theory of taxatics with the true theory of taxatics with the prevents are the province that the true theory of taxatics with the prevents are the province that the true theory of taxatics with the prevents are the province that the prevents are the province that the province the province that the province the province that the p

But why, it may be asked, should the law sanction a deduction of the just debts corporal 1. The Prince reckons that by this means the country will be euriched erty and not also in the case of his real next spring by 4,000,000 vines and 20,000 property? Emperor William is on the right tack if he favors even a partial disarmament of fictitious indebtedness upon which to claim a similar reduction of taxation This point is well taken, and it happen to be just as applicable in the Provin

Ontario as in the State of New York. But it is extremely doubtful if any effectual plan can be found whereby real estate and Mr. Raymond, sewing machine manu-facturer, Guelph, has recently asserted that he is ready and willing to compete with the United States makers, if he has untaxed personal property a fair scheme of asses ment is impracticable. There is no remedy we are convinced, short of putting th whole burden of taxation upon real estate. That cannot be kept out of sight, and as organ jumps at this declaration as a dying long as men live upon the earth the charges man clutches at a straw. Behold! it against the land, if equitably made, will in the end be equalized by distribution.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL. -D'Alton McCarthy, who, for the pur poses of the Ontario elections, pretended that he had cut adrift from Sir John Macdonald, announced at Stayner yesterday that at next general election he would be found fighting for his old leader.

The medical superintendent of the Middletown (N.Y.) Hospital for the Insane, in his report for 1890, strongly commends baseball as an outdoor amusement for patients. During the season, the lunatics were found to be better players than their sane competitors.

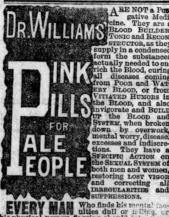

-By the death of Mr. Charles Watson, of Providence House, Halifax, England has lost "the Napoleon of tract distribu-tors." For more than 40 years he supplied gratuitously temperance tracts and books. In twelve months he distributed nearly 8,000,000 tracts, weighing 25 tons and containing 25,000,000 pages of reading.

-It is now said that Governor Hill of New York, will be the next Senator from that State, and that Roswell P. Flower will be the Democratic candidate for Gov ernor. It seems highly probable that Govindustry. Surely it is time for every ernor Hill will be put up as a Democratic patriot to be earnest about undoing the candidate for the Presidency, but it is believed that the Cleveland influence will b too strong for him.

-Prince Bismarck refuses to visit Alsac because he is "unable to obtain any sleep in strange beds." "In such cases," plains, "he often failed to close his eye lids, and then his thoughts flew back to th past, and tormented him." What a melan spell of autocratic greatness, but it has after effects truly to be dreaded.

Two hundred and seventy-five miners were killed while at work in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania last year. The Over 1,000 were injured. It is a sad record especially when it is considered that a little more care on the part of those in authority would have prevented not a few of the casualties that brought sorrow and want to many a home.

-Professor Shaw, of the Agricultural College, Guelph, rightly says the evil result-ing from the McKinley Bill and the policy of trade restriction is simply a question of facts and not of politics. The damage done by the increased trade restriction, or Shaw says, will be immense. The barley and egg trade will be most affected; the surplus barley and eggs were shipped before the increased duties were put on. This year, the pinch will come.

I was attacked last fall with lung and throat disease, and run down till got very weak. I had a very bad cough, which troubled me night and day. My case was pronounced consumption by a prominent physician, who gave an untavorable opinion to my friends as to my chance of ever recovering. I then had the misfortune to get la grippe, which complicated my case and made it seem hopeless. I was attended for eleven weeks by a stillful physican of this city, and received no benefit, I gradually grew worse, and became much discouraged. A friend of mine sent me a medical book explaining Dr. J. Eugene Jordan's Histogenetic System of Medicine. I consulted Dr. Rear, medical examiner for the association. He gave me a thorough and careful examination, and through his advice I commenced taking the Histogenetic treatment. In one week I felt a great improvement; in three weeks I resumed my business, and have not lost a day since. I am getting strong and hearing, and will soon be as well as ever. I do not think any system of medicine so harmless, pleasant, and attended with such quick and permanent results as the Histogenetic. HENRY HOPCROFT, 744 Markham street, Toronto, Oct. 25, 1890.

A startling state of demoralization was discovered in the passenger rates between Buffalo and New York at a meeting of those roads in the Trunk Line Association. The meeting was called to act on what is virtually a rate war. It is claimed one of the roads flooded the offices of brokers with their tickets, and they have been selling them very much below the tariff. Other lines not to be beaten followed suit, and the result is that tickets can be bought lines not to be beaten followed suit, and the result is that tickets can be bought from Buffalo to New York at various prices, according to the luck of the broker who has them in stock in procuring them at a low rate. One road, it is said, has 6,000 of the tickets outstanding at a price that enables the broker to make $2 per ticket himself.

A Washigton dispatch says in spite of the Presidents opposition, there are indica-tions that free coinage is expected to pre-vail before the close of this session. Treasurer Annen, of Malben, on Tuesday paid off the balance, $7,000, due by that township on the bonus they gave to the Canada Southern Railway. Is Life Worth Living?

Is Life Worth Living?

The great frequency with which pale, sallow and enfeebled girls are met now-adays is cause for genuine alarm. The young girls of the present generation are not the healthy, robust, rosy lassies their mothers and grandmothers were before them. Their complexion is pale and sallow or waxy in appearance, and they are the victims of heart palpitation, ringing noises in the head, cold hands and feet, often fainting spells, racking headaches, backaches, shortness of breath, and other distressing symptoms. All these betoken chlorisis or anemia—or in other words a watery or impoverished condition of the blood, which is thus unable to perform its normal functions, and unless specially enriched with those natural remedies which give richness and redness to the blood corpuscles, organic disease and an early grave is the inevitable result. Is not this prespect sufficient to cause the gravest alarm? Mothers, are your daughters suffering from any of the symptoms indicated above, or from any of their regularities incident to a critical period in their lives? If they are, as you value their lives do not delay in procuring a remedy that will save them. Delays in such cases are not only dangerous, but positively criminal. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is a remedy compounded especially to meet such cases. These pills are not a patent medicine, but a remedy prepared with the greatest-care from the formula of an experienced physician, who has used it for years in his daily practice with unvarying success. These pills are especially rich in those constituents which stimulate the blood and give it that rich, red color necessary to preserve health and life. They are in all cases a neverfailing blood-builder and nerve tonic, acting upon the system in a natural manner and restoring health and strength to all who suffer from a watery or depraved condition of the blood or from any of those weaknesses peculiar to females. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt

"Do you think Wagner's theory of music is sound, professor?" "Yes; too much."
Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

New York, Jan. 13.—At noon yesterday Policeman Evans, of the sixth precinct of Jersey City Hights, received information that an aged couple of the name of Charles and Augusta Thieke, living at 70 Thorn street, had not been seen or heard of for two days. The policeman burst open the doors of their room and found them lying dead in bed. On a table were found two empty teacups which had evidently contained poison. On the table was found a letter written in German, saying that they wanted to die together and would like to be buried together.

The postman had taken the key from his pocket and was attempting to insert it in the keyhole of the box. He touched one side, the other, above, below, but never made a straight hit.

"Let me unlook it," said Manston, taking the key from the postman. He opened the box and reached out his other hand for Owen's letter.

box and reached out his other hand for Owen's letter.

"No, no. Oh no—no," the postman said. As—one of—Majesty's servants—care—Majesty's mails—duty—put letters—own hands." He slowly and solemnly placed the letter in the small cavity.

"Now look it," he said, closing the door. The steward placed the bar across, with the black side outwards, signifying "empty," and turned the key.

"You've put the wrong side outwards!"

"And dropped the key in the mud, so that I can't alter it," said the steward, letting something fall."

"What an awkward thing."

"It is an awkward thing."

They both went searching in the mud, which their own trampling had reduced to the consistency of pap, the postman unstrapping his little lantern from his breast, and thrusting it about, close to the ground, strapping his little lantern from his breast, and thrusting it about, close to the ground, the rain still drizzling down, and the dawn so tardy on account of the heavy clouds that daylight seemed delayed indefinitely. The rays of the lantern were rendered individually visible upon the thick mist, and seemed almost tangible as they passed off into it, figures dripping with wet; the postman's cape and private bags, and the steward's valies, glistening as if they had been varnished.

"Now soriginally a mason by trade; no dense to you if you be a parsen?"

"Ness at all, said Manston.
The rain now came down beavily, but they parsed their path with alacrity, the produce of several fields between which the law wound its way being indicated by the pealir character of the sound emitted by the falling drops. Sometimes a soaking it proclaimed that they were passing by a direct then a patter would show that the a fall won some large-leafed root cop. "It tell you what we had better do," said Manston. "I shall be back this way in an official wone of the said shalling with each page they took. Besides the small private bags of the tensining inhabitants along his beat, At each village or hamlet they came to, the postman bear the large general budget for the resider's cottage—the village, post-offices being mostly kept by old women whe had not risen, though lights moving in other cottage windows showed that such people as carters, woodmen, and stablems.

The postman had become markedly unsteady, but he still continued to be too conscious of his duties to suffer the steward to carth the bag. Manston was perplexed, and at lonely points in the road cast his eyes keenly upon the short bowed figure of theman trotting through the mad by his side, as if he were half inclined to run svery great risk indeed.

It irequently happened that the house of farmers, clergyman, etc., lay a short distance up or down a lane or path branching from the direct path of the postman's journey. To save time and distance, at the point of junction of some of these lanes with the main one, the gate post was belowed out to form a letter box, in which the postman deposited his missives every morning, looking in the box again in the evening to collect those placed there for the return the residual process of the postman of the postman and office path of the postman's journey. to collect those placed there for the return post. Palchurch vicarage and farmstead, lying apart from the village, were unitedly served on this principle. This fact the steward now learnt by conversing with the postman, and the discovery relieved Manston greatly, making his intentions much clearer to himself than they had been in the earlier stages of their journey.

They had reached the outskirts of the village. Manston insisted on the flask being emptied before they proceeded further. This was done, and they ascended the sandy hill from which branched the lane leading to the church, the vicarage and the farmhouse in which Owen and Cytherea were living.

300 acres of land under cultivation. He grows a variety of fruits, such as peaches, prunes, apricots, nectarines, grapes, apples, etc. For his display offruits and agricultural products Mr. Porter was awarded the gold medal at the Spokane Falls Exposition. It is over ten years since Mr. Porter was in London, and he notices many improvements in the Forest City.

—How easy an infringement of the stringent Liquor Law in force in this Province can take place was exemplified in the Police Court yesterday. On the night of the 2nd inst., shortly after the hour for closing, Mr. T. K. Grigg thoughtlessly entered his bar to see that all was right for the night. While so engaged, a policeman passed, and the circumstance was reported. The police magistrate imposed the usual penalty. This is the first charge of violation of the law brought against this establishment, which has the reputation of being carefully conducted.

Prisoners' Aid Association at Work.

Wm. Proctor finished his term of two months in the county jail Monday, and was given an order by County Crown Attorney-Hutchinson, secretary of the new Prisoners' Aid Association, for a night's board and lodging. Mr. D. S. Perrin also promised to try to secure work for him. Proctor rewarded this kindness by getting drunk. At the Police Court yesterday a charge of vagrancy was laid against him, to which he pleaded guilty, and was allowed to go. Prof. D. M. Bristol's Equine Wonders.

Prof. D. M. Bristol and his remarkable school of 30 educated horses, mules and ponies will appear in the Opera House all next week. Family matinees will be given on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday afternoons at 2:30. When the professor was here before, nearly six years ago, those who attended his performances—or the performances of his horses, rather—were more than pleased. He certainly did give an intere-ting entertainment. Now, however, citisens have reason to look for something much better, as he returns with his school enlarged to 30 highly intelligent animals, and many new features added. He brings with him an excellent band and orchestra, in all 25 people, and comes in his own complete train of palace cars. This is a "Barnum affair" when compared to that he brought when last here.
