LIBERALS WILL FIGHT ELECTION IN LONDON CITY

At an Enthusiastic Convention
They Decide to Place Candidate in the Field.

DR. STEVENSON IS NAMED

May Be Choice of Special Committee Appointed to Select Nominee.

STIRRING SPEECHES MADE

Enthusiasm of Rally Arouses Delegates to Determination to Get Out and Fight.

There will be a fight in London for the provincial elections on June 29. Amid the greatest enthusiasm, this was decided at the open convention of Liberals held in Hyman Hall Monday night. It was a remarkable gathering. In attendance, in enthusiasm and in a determination to fight, despite any odds, the convention eclipsed anything held in this city for years. It banished the last hopes of the Whitney followers that there would be no fight in London. It put new blood into the Liberal party in London, and when it broke up, amid cheers, it sent every man of the hundreds present out with the determination to make the fight of his life in support of Rowell and his temperance platform—"abolish the bar."

Dr. Stevenson Is Favored.

No candidate was selected. Instead, a committee of 32 was selected to consider names and present a report at an adjourned meeting to be held Friday night. The one name brought before the convention, that of Dr. W. J. Stevenson, was received with the greatest enthusiasm. The doctor was tendered a wonderful ovation, but despite the desire of a large section of the crowd, he declined to accept them, asking that the committee make its choice first.

While he would not commit himself to his candidacy, amid cheers, he declared that he would not allow the election to go by default. This intelligence was received with deafening applause and cries from the crowd to "Give it a chance."

No Dissension There.

In contrast to the Conservative convention of Friday night, when the party was split by internal strife, last night's meeting was marked by the greatest unanimity of feeling, temperance men and Liberals were one in determination to fight.

Chairman Philip Pocock, of the Liberal Association, presided.

"The prospects are encouraging," said Mr. Pocock, in opening the meeting. "I feel assured that Mr. Rowell will have a good following after June 29."

Dr. C. T. Campbell was then called on for the first address.

Liberalism Is Not Dead.

"It is after several years' abstinence from political warfare that I again appear here," said the doctor, "and I wonder if I would feel at home. As I look out over this audience I miss a great many faces that I used to see in years gone by—the old Liberal workers like Coffey, Jones (Continued on Page Fourteen)

MRS. ROWELL DID NOT MAKE THE STATEMENTS

Declaration, Credited to Her by Mistake, Was Made by Another.

Although The Advertiser was given the information in good faith by a member of the Aikin Street Methodist Church congregation, the statements credited to Mrs. Newton Rowell, wife of the Liberal leader, were not made by her, nor was she in the city on Sunday.

At one of the classes Sunday, the statement was made by one of those present that if the Rowell policy were defeated at the next election there would never be another opportunity to accept the policy from a political party. Several other members of the class concurred in this view.

In some manner The Advertiser's informant got the impression that Mrs. Rowell was present, and that she had expressed herself as stated.

MAYOR OF LISTOWEL DOUBTFUL ABOUT INCENDIARISM IN TOWN

Chiefs of Police and Fire Department Are, However, Suspicious—Comment Made on Fact That Nearly All Heavy Losers Are Liberals.

[By Staff Reporter.]

Listowel, June 16.—The frequency with which fires have broken out in Listowel since the beginning of the year, and the mystery surrounding most of them, is beginning to affect the nerves of the businessmen of the town. Since the first of January no fewer than six buildings have been destroyed, and in only two cases was the cause explainable logically.

One peculiar feature of these fires is that they all have occurred in the early hours of the morning, when the buildings destroyed were not occupied. In the latest case, that of the McDonald Building, in which McDonald's feed store, A. C. Chapman's barber shop, Dave Wilkes' bowling alley and a dance hall were wiped out, the flames were noticed first early on Sunday morning, several hours after the premises had been locked up, and so far the cause of the conflagration remains a mystery.

To such an extent has public feeling been aroused that Mayor Clinie has called a special meeting of the council for tonight to consider holding an investigation, and it is possible that a provincial detective may be called in.

Rogers Refused Help.

"We did ask for a detective to be sent to investigate, after we had had several fires last month," said Mayor Clinie to The Advertiser, "but Mr. Rogers, of the provincial police department, refused to send a man. He gave no reason, simply would not grant our request."

"Personally," continued the mayor, "I do not think there is much to investigate. While it is true that we have had more fires since the beginning of the year than in any similar period previously, and while most of them were to some extent mysterious, we have not been definitely suspicious of incendiarism."

One Suspect.

He admitted that some suspicion had attached to a local man, who was in the habit of sleeping out in barns and other buildings around the place occasionally and whom he, the mayor, had sent to jail for 30 days as a vagrant.

Asked if this man had been questioned, Mr. Clinie said that he had not, although (Continued on Page Eleven.)

C. N. R. BOND ISSUE MAY SELL CHEAPLY

Government Worried in Case More Aid Is Asked Next Session, on Account of Poor Price.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 16.—The printing presses are busy grinding out Canadian Northern bonds to the par value of $45,000,000. Sir William MacKenzie is preparing to take them to market, and the Government is growing anxious about the price they will bring.

Finance Minister White has been selling Canadian Government bonds in London in such quantities recently that the value of Dominion securities has dropped. The last twenty-five millions had to be sold at 98. The Government fears that the forty-five million Canadian Northern issue will have to be disposed of at such a low figure that enough cash will not be sustained to enable the road to be completed. If this is so, the Canadian Northern will have to come back to Parliament next year for more assistance. The Government does not want to see MacKenzie & Mann back again for more until after the next general election.

Many After Prize.

There is a good deal of competition among the trust companies of Canada to obtain the trusteeship of the hundred-million stock of the Canadian Northern, which was provided for by the contract the Government put through Parliament last session.

It is believed that the National Trust Company, of which Hon. W. T. White was formerly manager, and of which Z. A. Lash is the president, will get the plum. It will mean about fifty thousand dollars for the company which lands the prize.

CHARGING PREMIER OF NEW BRUNSWICK WITH BIG GRAFTING

Inquiry Into Dugal Charges Against Hon. J. K. Flemming and an Ex-Minister Opens Today.

[Canadian Press.]

St. John, N. B., June 16.—The inquiry into the charges of alleged graft against the Hon. J. K. Flemming, premier, and the Hon. H. F. MacLeod, former provincial secretary, preferred by L. A. Dugal, Liberal M. P. for Madawaska, was opened here at ten o'clock this morning by Provincial Supreme Court Justice H. A. McKeown, chairman; Former Justice W. W. Wells, of Ottawa, and W. S. Fisher, a prominent businessman of St. John, royal commissioners appointed by the lieutenant-governor of the province.

Briefly the charges are: That Premier Flemming unlawfully extorted about $100,000 from the holders of timber lands in the province—the money is alleged to have been secured through the agency of William H. Berry, chief lum-

EVERY PRECAUTION TO GUARD ROYALTY FROM MILITANTS

Many Hundreds of Police and Detectives at Ascot Race Meeting.

WHOLE DRIVE IS LINED

Special Efforts Made to Guard Track From Repetition of Last Year's Trouble.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 16.—Never before have such precautions been taken to guard members of the royal family from the attentions of the militant suffragettes, as were taken today at the Ascot racecourse. The opening of the leading society race meeting found upwards of 1,000 men of the metropolitan police and hundreds of detectives from Scotland Yard assembled on the historic course, as reinforcements for the regular Berkshire County police force, which had been mobilized in full strength to prevent any attempt by the suffragettes to interfere with King George and Queen Mary.

The six-mile route from Windsor Castle to the course, over which the King and Queen and their guests were to drive in the state procession, was lined practically all the way by policemen.

Militants Determined.

The militants, in spite of the Queen's threat that she would cancel the rest of the season's social engagements if she should be again annoyed, showed themselves more determined than ever to obtain publicity for their cause by attacking the King.

In consequence of this resolute attitude of the women, the arrangements for guarding the entrance to the royal inclosure on the racecourse were on this occasion made more stringent than even and every person before being able to secure a ticket had to be vouched for by some responsible official.

Guarding Track.

The track also was closely guarded to prevent a recurrence of last year's sensational incident, when August Belmont's Tracery was interfered with and thrown by a mad woman, while he was leading for the race for the Ascot gold cup on the third day of the meeting. Triple rails have been erected along the track, and for several days past throughout the day and night men of volunteer civilian control, patrolled the course, while alarm guns have been placed in position at night around the stands and the lawns.

To Protect Churches.

London, June 16.—As a means of circumventing the militant suffragettes' "arson squads," the county authorities throughout England have started the organization of volunteer civilian control, whose first duty will be the protecting of churches. The volunteers are to be sworn in as special constables, and will be armed and accompanied by dogs.

REGISTRATION IS LIGHT ONE SO FAR

Only Few Names Added to List in Big Down-Town Districts.

REGISTRARS ARE PEEVISH

Under New Regulations They Have No Lunch Hours, But Must Stay on the Job.

Registration of manhood suffrage voters in the various divisions of the city was decidedly slow today. Up to two o'clock this afternoon the only five men had registered in No. 1 division, which is the largest in the city, embracing as it does all the territory north of Dundas street and west of Wellington street and including the whole of West London.

In No. 1, another large division, which takes in the district west of Wellington street to the river south of Dundas street, not a single name was added to the voting list up to the same hour and in other divisions a similar state of affairs was reported.

"In any case," said one of the registrars, "the largest registration is always at night and it is especially heavy on the last night. It seems to be a characteristic of would-be voters to leave registration to the last minute."

The registrars have a grievance. On previous occasions in the past the registration booths have been opened from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. and from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m., but this time they are open continuously from 9

CARPENTER SUCCEUMBS TO FALL OFF SCAFFOLD

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, June 16.—John Jenkinson, the carpenter who fell from a scaffold yesterday, succumbed to his injuries today. From the first his condition was regarded as precarious, but it was difficult to determine the full extent of his injuries. The deceased had resided in Ingersoll for a long period. He leaves two sons and two daughters.

LORD MERSEY'S SPEED AT DISASTER INQUIRY LEAVES THE LAWYERS BREATHLESS

TWO FIRE VETERANS

"Doc," seventeen years in the service of the London fire department, and Lieutenant "Geordie" Gray, who for 35 years has answered the call of the fire bell.

Firemen Will Miss Old Friends When Horses Are Gone

Motor Apparatus Will Deprive Fire Fighters of Their Equine Comrades at the Stations and the Men Do Not Want Them To Go.

Fire Chief John Aitken says London's fire apparatus should be "motorized." Cities everywhere are accepting this solution to the fire-fighting problem. That is looking at it from an economic and time-saving standpoint.

There is another side to the coin that counts for something. In fact, it counts for a great deal among the fire-fighters. It is this: If the swift, motor-driven trucks come into their own, the horse must go. That is where the opposition comes in. There is the "rub." To the average person a horse is a horse. To London fire-fighters, the animals at the stations throughout the city are more. They are friends.

Seventeen Years of Service.

There is old "Doc," for instance. Big, mare, black, sleek-looking in spite of his years. He came to the department seventeen years ago. He was five years old then.

Fires have no terror to Doc. He has seen the worst of them. He has stood quietly while flames were roaring on high from high buildings, while tons of water deluged on conflagrations sent up roaring clouds of steam. Sometimes a stream, "getting away," has almost drowned him. He has stood still. It is part of the game that he plays—that he has played for seventeen years.

He had gone to fires under the hand of one driver. He has come home with a strange hand on the guiding line. Perhaps he never saw his former master and companion again. Fire was responsible.

When he was young, strong and could pass most horses on the road, he was honored by being attached to the chief's light wagon. Here at the head of the department he has conducted himself nobly, as a fire-horse should. Even as the chief has done.

HURON SYNOD IS LIKELY TO PASS VOTES FOR WOMEN

Advocates of Equal Suffrage Confident of Victory for Fair Sex.

WANT VOTE IN VESTRIES

Opposition of Last Year Said
To Be Weaker—Fight
Comes on Tomorrow.

Last year's fight in the diocesan synod of Huron for the extension of the vestry franchise to women will be repeated at the session of the synod now in progress. According to those conversant with the program of work that will come before the delegates, it is said that it will be tomorrow afternoon at the earliest before the question can be voted on.

Those who are in favor of the "votes for women" are confident of victory. They claim to have the requisite two-thirds majority of both lay and clerical delegates, and while they are expecting opposition they are expressing the great confidence in the outcome.

The debate on the question attracted widespread attention last year, especially the latter. It was a very interesting general debate, by J. M. McKeown, of this city, who criticized the present dress in no uncertain manner.

THREE WOMEN IN AUTO RUN DOWN OFFICER M'GUIRE

Put on Power and Speed Away

Prostrated.

NUMBER LOST IN CONFUSION

Accident Happens Near Entrance to Victoria Park at Supper Time.

Three women in an auto speeding through Victoria Park at the supper hour last night knocked down Adam McGuire, the aged officer of the Humane Society, and without waiting to see if he was hurt, turned on their power and disappeared before the number of their car could be secured.

The accident happened near the entrance to the park, as Mr. McGuire was on his way home. Without an opportunity to get out of the way the car struck him and shunted him off to one side, bruising his knee and completely dazing him for a few minutes. A man on a bicycle who was following the auto went to Mr. McGuire's assistance, helping him to his feet and rendering first aid.

Mr. McGuire was hardly able to get down to work this morning, feeling very sick, sore and lame as the result of last night's accident. All efforts to find out who the three women were who struck Mr. McGuire and sped away while he lay prostrate on the ground have been in vain.

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, June 16.—With a speed that frequently found the lawyers almost breathless, Lord Mersey, the eminent British admiralty authority, opened up the proceedings in connection with the inquiry by a Dominion Government commission into the sinking of the Empress of Ireland off Cock's Point near Father Point in the River St. Lawrence. In the courtroom here this morning, His Lordship, with a sprightliness that his seventy-five years would argue him incapable of, walked briskly to his seat on the bench and began at once tapping his pen impatiently for the clerk of the court to call the court to order.

Probably as a consequence of the rapidity with which Lord Mersey took the early stages of the proceedings, the lawyers in the case seemed to be at a standstill. At all events everybody appeared to be suffering from extreme nervousness which grew into confusion when his lordship began to discover that little things like the selection of a commissioner to swear the clerk of the court, a Bible upon which the swearing could be done, and various necessary statements were not quickly forthcoming. Various hints were thrown out that an adjournment would enable everything to be straightened out, but Lord Mersey would not hear of it. "I don't like adjournments," he exclaimed and on one occasion offered to write out a statement himself because a stenographer could not be fought.

Progress Made

As it was, when everybody settled down and a little smile of approval began to play on his lordship's face, the proceedings bowed along at a rate that permitted of the introduction of the opening and explanatory statement of the representative of the Dominion Government, summaries of the cases of the C.P.R. and the Stordard, the collier which rammed the Empress, and a part of the testimony of Captain Kendall of the lost ship.

Captain Kendall, though still limping badly and requiring the assistance of a stick, looked to be practically recovered from his experiences, and when offered a seat preferred to stand and face the court.

Commission and Council.

The Empress of Ireland inquiry got under way at ten o'clock this morning, with the little criminal room of the courthouse crowded with the members of the Dominion commission and assessors conducting it, and lawyers representing the various parties involved in the proceedings. The personnel of the commission follows:

Lord Mersey, of the British House of Peers, and Sir Adolph Routhier, Quebec, and Hon. Ezekiel McLeod, St. John, Canadian admiralty judges. The nautical assessors are Capt. Demers, (Continued on Page Three.)

MINISTERS ENJOY SPRINGBANK PICNIC

Presbyterian Divines Cast Aside Clerical Solemnity in Gay Frolic.

SOME BALL PLAYING

Final Score of 37 to 35 in Strenuous Battle, Won by Rev. McFarlane's Nine.

Nearly every Presbyterian minister in London, and many from the churches near this city, enjoyed their annual picnic at Springbank yesterday. The outing lasted from 10:30 a.m. until the early evening. The ministers threw aside the dignity that goes with the clerical position, and played baseball, bowled, and had a great time in general. About 30 ministers and their families enjoyed the outing.

The ball game was the feature of the day. At the end of nine hard-fought innings the score stood 35 to 37 in favor of the team captained by Rev. Hugh MacFarlane. The pastors admit now that the real fighting took place in disputing the umpire, Rev. J. G. Stuart. His decisions caused continuous arguments and protests. "We would have thrown pop bottles if we had them," one of the players on the losing side declared.

Rev. John Hosie fished unsuccessfully all day long, and missed the ball game. The teams lined up as follows: Rev. H. McFarlane's team—Rev. G. S. McCray, Miss McCrae, Miss Burnett, Rev. W. G. Knox, Rev. W. R. McIntosh, Rev. W. M. Martin, Dr. G. G. Cameron, Rev. A. D. McCrae's team—Mrs. F. C. Harper, Mrs. W. R. McIntosh, Miss A. Nichol, Rev. P. Nichol, Chas. Evans, Rev. F. C. Harper, Mrs. Ingram, F. C. Lyons. Dinner and supper was served on the grounds.

APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE GREET'S CHARITY CONCERT

Leading Local Artists Give Services in Aid of New Treatment for Children.

The charity concert given in the New Masonic Hall last night by nine of London's most popular musical artists was a great success from a musical point of view, though not from a financial one, a little over eighty dollars being the proceeds which will be devoted to procuring the Dorian treatment for tubercular children.

Though the audience was small, it was extremely appreciative, and encored number after number.

The program was one of the finest ever given in London by local talent. Miss Hicks, who rendered "The Fairy Pipers," possesses a rich contralto voice, and was encored repeatedly. The duet "Life's Dream is O'er," given by Miss Hicks and Mr. Anderson, was artistically rendered.

Miss Evans was heard to advantage in "Valley of Laughter," and in her duet with Ed Webster.

Miss Edna Weston, who gave "Angus MacDonald," was in excellent voice, and well deserved the applause given her.

Miss Wright, of Astbury, possesses a pleasing voice, her solo numbers being greatly appreciated.

In J. Alderson, the new tenor soloist of the First Methodist Church, London has added another excellent soloist to its already long list.

The trio, "Old Thomas Day," given by Messrs. Alderson, Pink and Capt. Robson, was the hit of the evening.

Mrs. A. D. Jordan, Miss M. Pink and Miss A. Robson acted as accompanists.

MAN SAID MEN ATTACKED HIM IN CHELSEA GREEN

His Explanation of Rough Treatment He Had Evidently Received.

That he had been molested and roughly handled by a couple of men he did not know, in the outskirts of Chelsea Green, was the explanation for the battered state of his facial features, and a number of bruises on his body, given by a man who had been attacked yesterday afternoon by two men in the neighborhood of the Waterloo street. When they saw the patrol, they took to the lumber yards along the side of the track.

Those who were on the tracks believe that had the police surrounded the lumber yards, the arrest of the men would have been certain. Instead of this, the patrol was speeded down Bathurst street, all the way to Maitland, touching York street on the way back to the scene of the fight, some minutes later. By this time, the two men had disappeared. Then the lumber yards were searched.

The backs of the two men as they climbed the lumber piles, was the last the police have seen of them. They are, of course, keeping a close watch, as one of the men is expected to return for his hat, supposed to have been dropped near the tracks. He was bareheaded when he escaped.

The descriptions of the men are clear, as Conductor Watson had ample time to observe them. One is described as being about 26, the other about 35 years of age. Both were brown, of medium height, and of medium build. The police departments have a full description of the men. Two suspects are said to have been arrested at the Carnival in Queen's Park on Saturday night, but were let go, upon proving alibis.

Baby Eczema Becomes Chronic

This is one reason why every mother should know about Dr. Chase's Ointment since it is an unfailing cure for all itching skin diseases. Mrs. F. Clarke, Belmont, Man., writes: "My baby had eczema on her ear. The sore was very bad, and nothing seemed to do her much good. Hearing of the remarkable cures Dr. Chase's Ointment was making, we sent for some, and after the third application the sore began to heal. I am glad to say that it is quite well now, and we give the credit to Dr. Chase's Ointment. We cannot recommend this preparation too highly."

Here is another letter, which tells of the cure of a five-weeks-old baby: Mrs. Wallace Minton, River John Road, Colchester County, N.S., writes: "My little girl took eczema when she was five weeks old. Though we doctored her until she was nearly a year old, she got no better. I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Ointment and this treatment completely cured her."

CONTRACTS LET FOR DECORATIONS

Old Boys' Committee Makes
Preparations for 1914
Reunion.

SYSTEM OF MANY ARCHES

Dundas Street, From Ridout St. to Fair Grounds, Will Be Brilliantly Illuminated.

Old Boys' decorating committee practically decided last night upon the plans for street decorations, during Old Boys' week. The contract was given to the Electrical Decorating and Equipment Company, of Toronto, and plans and specifications of this company will be submitted today for final approval.

The streets will be brilliantly lighted, in a system of arches, along the sides of the roadway from Ridout street to the Fair Grounds, on Dundas, and from the Grand Trunk Station to the Postoffice, on Richmond. The arches will be decorated with flags and pennants. The decorations altogether will cost in the neighborhood of $1,300, which the committee expects to raise by public subscriptions.

According to the members of the committee, the streets will be as light as day. Never before has London been as brilliant as it will be for the 1914 reunion. The bright lights will be a feature of the celebration. The Dundas street arches will be terminated at the Fair Grounds by a huge arch, surmounted by a quick-moving design resembling a sunburst.

The printing committee decided last night to call for tenders for programs. Orders will be placed for 50,000 stickers and several thousand large bills, for county advertising.

Committees meet every night this week, concluding in a general meeting of all the committees and members and citizens interested, on Friday night. More than 25 were present at the meeting last night, and great enthusiasm was displayed.

Police Enjoy Fast Trip in Motor Patrol While Thugs Make Get-Away.

Two crooks who beat up William Watson, a M.C.R. conductor, on Saturday afternoon, after a fifteen-minute fight, are still at large. Those who saw the methods of the police in action on the scene, say that the police evidently preferred an auto ride to a foot chase.

About 1:30 Saturday afternoon, Watson saw two men in the act of making a get-away with three boxes of fancy biscuits, from a box car on the railroad tracks near Wellington street. He grabbed one of them, and held him for nearly fifteen minutes, until his companion beat him off with a coupling pin, wounding his hands and arms.

In the meantime, a spectator had sent in a police call, and the patrol was rushed to Bathurst street, at Wellington street. The thieves were running down the tracks, toward Waterloo street. When they saw the patrol, they took to the lumber yards along the side of the track.

Those who were on the tracks believe that had the police surrounded the lumber yards, the arrest of the men would have been certain. Instead of this, the patrol was speeded down Bathurst street, all the way to Maitland, touching York street on the way back to the scene of the fight, some minutes later. By this time, the two men had disappeared. Then the lumber yards were searched.

LEAGUE "AT HOME"

Askin Street Entertains That of Wellington Street Church.

The members of the Askin Street Epworth League were "at home" to the Wellington Street League in the school-room last evening, when a very interesting program was carried out, consisting of solos by Miss Vivian, Miss Taylor, and Mr. Lawson. Readings by Misses Clarke and Brazier. Miss Mabel Reynolds gave a "bright, thoughtful address on 'The Romance of the Commonplace as Revealed by Wordsworth.'"

One unique feature of the program was the address and presentation, by Miss Edith Long and Miss Ethel Johnston to the pastor, Rev. W. H. Harvey. After a social intermission was enjoyed, when all repaired to the dining-hall, where ice cream and cake were served. The evening was brought to a happy close by the pastor.

Men Who Won Range Contests Presented With Cups and Prizes.

MRS. CAMPBELL HONORED

Regent of Regimental D. O. E.
Is Made Recipient of Silver Tray by Officers.

Presentation of cups and trophies won by members of the Seventh Regiment in the annual rifle competition held at the Cove ranges, October 20, 1913, featured the drill held in the Armories, last night.

With the regiment formed in two half battalions, facing each other, and the band drawn up in the centre, the ladies who were to present the prizes, were escorted to the platform directly in front of the main entrance. To this platform each successful marksman marched as his name was read out, between the lines of his cheering comrades.

Following the presentation the men, Mrs. (Col.) A. A. Campbell, grand regent of the regimental chapter, Daughters of the Empire, was made the recipient of a large silver tray by the officers of the regiment. Interspersed with the numbers on the programme, the band, under the direction of Bandmaster Slater, rendered a repertoire of pleasing selections.

The following is a list of the prizes and names of those who presented them:

The trophy making the highest score at 200 and 500 yards, won by Private Manship, H. company, the Beck Cup, by Hon. Adam Beck, by Mrs. Campbell; the highest score in regimental match, won by Sergeant Campbell, A. company, shield by Lieut.-Col. A. A. Campbell, by Mrs. McCrimmon; the highest score in the City of London Corporation match, won by Sergeant M. H. Lee, G. company, City of London Medal, by Mrs. E. B. ERNEST SACKVILLE WEST'S DEATH DISCLOSED IN PARIS

PARIS, June 15.—Ernest Henry Sackville-West, who four years ago brought a suit at London as claimant to the estates of the late Lord Lionel Sackville-West, died here recently, but the fact was only disclosed today. It is reported that he committed suicide. The court in London dismissed the petition.

Ernest Sackville-West was the son of a Spanish dancer, Josefa Duran, who was married to Lord Sackville-West at Madrid. Subsequently Sackville-West alleged that the man had a husband alive, when she formed an alliance with him, and the son and three daughters born from their union were never recognized by the courts as having any right to the title and estates.

HEART WAS SO BAD Could Not Do Her Housework

Many women get run down and are unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung. To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. Thomas Melville, Saltcoats, Sask., writes: "I thought it my duty to write and tell you how much your Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. My heart was so bad I could not sleep, eat nor walk about the house. I could not do my household work at all, and what my husband could not do had to go undone. I had two small children depending on me besides three men to cook for, and it worried me to not be able to do anything. My husband had taken some of your pills some years ago, and insisted on me trying them, so I started, and before I had taken them two weeks I was considerably better, and before I had taken two boxes I was doing my own work again. Any one suffering from heart or nerve trouble should just give your pills a trial. If anyone cares to write me I will gladly give them all the information I know concerning your wonderful medicine."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 60 cents per box, or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

STORE CLOSÉS AT ONE O'CLOCK WEDNESDAY

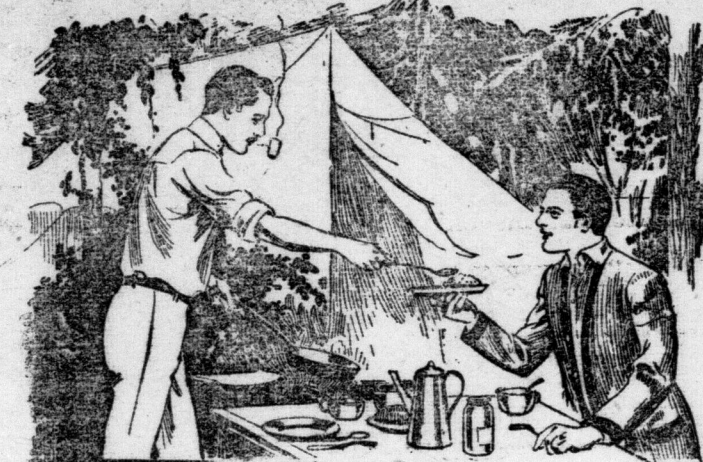

Wednesday Morning Sales Attract Many

Our efforts have been greatly stimulated by the success of the first two half-holiday morning sales. Last week we made an appeal to morning shoppers for a full day's business in the forenoon through these columns, with a list of special merchandise picked from the different sections of the store, at prices obtainable at no other time, and in most cases the quantities were cleared before the closing hour.

While we are pleased to find that our customers appreciate our selection of bargains for them, it is also gratifying for us to find our cash sales greater for the half-day than for the corresponding full day last year, which was the case last week. Wednesday morning sales exceeded the full day's business of a year ago, and our efforts are stimulated for still greater results tomorrow, as the list below, which is the best yet, will demonstrate. Don't miss one item—bring the list with you.

NO PHONE ORDERS TAKEN.—As a protection for those who come out Wednesday morning all special sale goods will be sold over the counter only, but in any case it will be wisdom to come at 8:30, as some quantities will not last the forenoon.

HALF-HOLIDAY TOMORROW
During June, July and August store will close at 1 o'clock Wednesdays, Saturday and other days at 6 o'clock.

DIES SUDDENLY; CAUSE UNKNOWN

Wolfe Street Domestic's Sudden Death Is Cause of Post-Mortem Examination.

NO INQUEST TO BE HELD
Coroner, After Investigation, Decides One Is Unnecessary—Expired in Hospital.

Coroner Dr. Robert Ferguson, who conducted a postmortem today into the mysterious death, last night, of Mrs. Edith Lingkey, a young woman employed as a domestic in the home of a Wolfe street resident, has decided that no inquest will be necessary. Dr. Ferguson stated this afternoon that while there were no apparent causes of death revealed by the examination, he did not consider a further probe necessary.

Detectives Robert Eggleton and Harry Down are endeavoring to ascertain her previous address and to get in touch with relatives. Up to two o'clock this afternoon the officers had been unsuccessful in their search. The young woman, who was about 25 years of age or perhaps slightly more, had only been employed in the Wolfe street home a week and was to have left yesterday. It was not known where she intended going. For about two weeks immediately previous to securing her last situation, she roomed in a house on Maple street, where The Advertiser was informed she exhibited marked reticence and talked very little about herself. She was unusually reserved and of a quiet, refined and agreeable disposition.

Had Friends in East London. When she rented a room here she stated that her trunk was at the home of some friends on Egerton street in East London, and that she had left it there for some time and would not move it to her new address. It is believed that she has a brother in Saskatchewan or some other part of Western Canada. She did not say whether her husband was alive or where he was residing, but she received letters addressed, "Mrs. E. Lingkey."

Shortly before being taken ill last evening, Mrs. Lingkey was lighting an instantaneous bath heater, in which the flame ran back in the pilot and flared up with considerable explosion. Members of the family by whom she was employed found her badly frightened, but not burned, and after recovering from her fright she took a bath and went up to her room. A few minutes afterwards she was found there very seriously ill, and Dr. Alexander was called.

Her condition was so acute that she was unable to give any explanation for her sudden illness, and Dr. Alexander had her taken to Victoria Hospital. On the way, her condition grew rapidly worse, and she died a few minutes after arriving. Uncertain as to the cause of her death, Dr. Alexander notified Dr. Ferguson, and it was decided that a postmortem examination should be held.

Cause of Death Uncertain.

Dr. Alexander stated that her death might possibly have been due to an attack of heart failure following her fright at the bath-heater exploding. There was also reason for suspecting an internal hemorrhage as the cause of her death, but no surmise could be made as to the cause of the hemorrhage. She was not burned at all by the flame and there was no evidence of her having inhaled either gas or flame.

Mrs. Lingkey was of English nationality, and had, it is believed, relatives in England, besides her brother in the west. While rooming on Maple street, she had talked of going to Saskatchewan, but her employers only knew her Christian name, and her surname was only learned after her death, by means of letters addressed to her at her former address on Maple street.

"BOSSY" PRINCESS RULES FATHER AND STOPS IMPROVEMENTS

Princess Xenia of Montenegro

Cettigne, Montenegro, June 15.—Princess Xenia, the elder of King Nicholas' unmarried daughters, is the despair of the foreign legations here on account of her remarkable influence over him. Her ideas are quite despotic and she insists all suggestion of improvement in the government, it is said, be referred to her. When foreign ministers get the king alone he is amenable. But he always takes the precaution to ask for a day's grace in which to think matters over, which means he talks them over with his daughter.

More than likely when he sees the ministers again he says "No" to their suggestions.

DR. NORTHCOTT ATTACKS TUBERCULIN INJECTIONS

In Defending Preparation He Represents Says None Allowed to Die at Sanatorium.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dr. Craig seems still unable to distinguish between the tuberculin injections. At the outset he pleaded that the public should not take for granted the unsupported statements of one man. He now asks that they accept the emptiest kind of statements without question. However, the doctor is young and has plenty to learn, although he has not realized this important fact since 1911. Reference has been made to the doctor to over two hundred cases treated with Dorian, reports of which have been printed in recent numbers of the leading medical journals of the world. We would suggest that a portion of the four thousand dollars recently granted by the county council to the sanatorium be used in purchasing such papers as the doctor may be able to acquire up-to-date methods in his treatments.

Long before 1911 the most advanced had discarded tuberculin and vaccines as useless and even harmful remedies in tuberculosis. The farmers have refused its use on their herds since cattle are quoted at $50 per head. It may be of some interest to compare the two methods of treatment. Dorian is a mixture of pure drugs, forming new non-poisonous compounds; it has never been advertised in newspapers, it is of uniform strength (according to Dr. De Saender's oath) it is not a patent medicine in the sense that Dr. Craig would lead us to believe; it has always been presented in an ethical manner and a treatment is much less expensive than with tuberculin.

It has never been stated that Dorian is a cure, but is a very useful remedy in the treatment of tuberculosis. The first and second stages of the disease usually respond quickly and a cure in the large majority of cases results in from three to six months. The cost of the remedy in such cases is from $35 to $75. No ill results have ever followed a single injection or a course of this form of treatment. Dr. Craig admits while in London studying methods for using tuberculin and autogenous vaccines that he did not obtain a knowledge of a reliable remedy for tuberculosis. This admission is certainly encouraging, for there would seem to be still hope notwithstanding the ill that may have resulted to his patients by that lack of knowledge. Tuberculin is prepared from the sputum of a tuberculous patient. The tubercle bacilli are isolated, grown on culture media and a solution made for injections into the patient. Autogenous vaccine is prepared by taking the sputum of a patient, growing it on a culture medium and making a solution preparatory to injecting into the patient from whom it came. This later so-called remedy contains not only tubercle bacilli but the bacteria which cause abscess, blood poisoning, erysipelas, scarlet fever, pneumonia, grippe, and other germs.

This solution is then injected into the patient to raise his resistance to the disease which nature is struggling in an attempt to throw off. The patient suffers for several days from violent chills and high fever, and, according to the doctor, his resistance is raised accordingly. If he endures this sort of treatment for a year he is sent home adjudged cured. If he cannot combat this treatment he is sent to the hospital, for it is the proud boast that no patient has ever yet died at the sanatorium.

We are heartily in accord with the doctor's view of our Government appointing an investigating committee for all remedies, and feel sure that one of its first duties would be to adjudge the antiquated practice of injecting tuberculin or autogenous vaccine according to the education of the people are aroused to a knowledge of methods, which are being used in their midst, investigation is sure to come. Yours truly,

EPHRAIM NORTHCOTT, M.D.

ENTRANCE WILL START TOMORROW

Separate and Public School Pupils Will Write in Thirteen Centres.

COMPOSITION FIRST EXAM.

Entrance Class Pupils Will Have To Be in Their Places at 1:15 Wednesday.

Writing on the high school entrance will start tomorrow afternoon in the thirteen examination centres in London. This is the first year that the entrance has been written in the public schools, the 450 students writing on the exams having heretofore been accommodated at the collegiate institute. All students will be in their places at the various centres at 1:15 tomorrow afternoon for registration and assignment of places. According to the regulations, the fact that the child will be writing in familiar surroundings ought to mean a higher standing, as it will prevent nervousness that might be induced by strange surroundings. The supervising examiners, of course, are in different schools. The time table follows:

Wednesday.
2:30 to 3:30—Composition.
3:30 to 4:25—Spelling.
Thursday.
9 to 11:30 a. m.—Arithmetic.
1:30 to 3:30 p. m.—Literature.
Friday.
9 to 11 a. m.—Grammar.
11 to 12 m.—Writing.
1:30 to 3:30 p. m.—Geography.

Examination Centres.
The following will be the entrance examination centres for both public and separate school pupils: St. Mary's separate school, St. Peter's separate school, Aberdeen, Alexandra, Chesley Avenue, St. George's, Simcoe, Lorne Avenue, Princess Avenue, Rectory, Talbot Street, Victoria, Wortley Road. Part II. of the entrance subjects—hygiene, art and history—are the subjects on which the pupils are passed by certificate of the principal for the year's work.

REGISTER TODAY.

KAISER FROWNS ON "SMILING PRINCESS" AND BABY THAT OUGHT TO BE A GIRL

Princess Louise and her baby boy.

Berlin, June 16.—The "Smiling Princess" has called down the wrath of her royal father, the Kaiser, upon her again. The royal infant born to Princess Louise and the Duke of Brunswick is a boy, and the Kaiser wanted it to be a girl. The birth of the hereditary Guelph princeling opens up the old feud between Brunswick and Prussia, and the war lord is consequently sadly displeased.

In their castle at Gmunden, the "royal love birds" are very happy, however, and proud of the sturdy boy baby that has so provoked his grandfather.

yesterday afternoon. Huron College Jubilee fund showed a total of cash received, $606; promised, $549; making a total of $1,155.

Eight per cent of the ordinary expenditure will be needed in the diocesan apportionments, as shown by the secretary-treasurer's reports. A commission will act in the question as to the division of St. James' and St. Paul's parishes, Brantford.

St. John's Church, Sandwich, was given leave to mortgage the rectory property. Chatham glebe appropriations will be referred to a court of jurisdiction to be held.

The Bible and Prayer Book Society report was read by Principal Waller and ordered to be published.

Mission for South London. The establishment of a mission in South London, at Emery and Chester streets, was decided upon, and $100 was placed in the hands of the bishop for use in this direction. The bishop will decide also the boundaries of St. David's Parish in East London.

Leave was granted St. James' Church, Parkhill, to build a tower. The committee favored the building of a mortuary chapel at Galt Cemetery.

The establishment of a mission in South London, at Emery and Chester streets, was decided upon, and $100 was placed in the hands of the bishop for use in this direction. The bishop will decide also the boundaries of St. David's Parish in East London.

Heavy rains today added to the difficulties of the firemen and city workmen engaged in the task of searching for the bodies of people believed to have been engulfed and to be buried beneath the debris.

Strict precautions were taken to prevent the public approaching places where the danger of further subsidence, owing to washouts caused by burst sewers and water mains.

Many streets were barred to wheeled traffic, entirely, while police kept back pedestrians to a safe distance.

A street collapsed early today in the northern district of Montmartre, behind the cemetery, far from the other cave-ins. People in the vicinity hurried away as the ground began to sink, and all managed to escape.

When communication was partially restored with the suburbs today, it was learned that fruit and vegetable growers had suffered enormous damage from the storm. Rain ceased later in the day, but the weather continued very threatening.

URGES MINISTERS TO BE EXAMPLES

Bishop of Fredericton, in Address to Synod Delegates, Pleads for Influence.

SOUTH LONDON MISSION

Provision Made for Establishment of One at Emery and Chester Streets.

Speaking to delegates to the Synod of Huron, in St. Paul's Cathedral last night, Rev. Dr. Richardson, Bishop of Fredericton, called this the age of underdomination, declaring that definiteness of teaching was what was needed. The creeds of the Anglican Church were not repeated merely as a form in worship, but as a real spiritual weapon in spiritual warfare, he said.

"The creed is not a burden, but a crutch to make it easier for you to walk," he said. Adherence to these creeds would give the desired end of church union.

Emphasis was laid upon the life of the clergy themselves. The speaker warned them not to become forgetful of the possibility of sin in their own lives, while they worked too blindly serving others. By carefulness in living, ministers can be a wonderful influence in their community, the speaker declared.

Five Essentials.
"Five things are necessary to a close life with God," said Dr. Richardson. They were, he said, prayer, penitence, aspiration, meekness and virtue. Penitence without aspiration is despair. We cannot aspire to be with God and be left alone," said the speaker. The closer we get to God the closer we are getting to our fellow-men, which is the aim of the church.

The diocesan executive committee met last night.

Dominion wreck commissioner, Engineer Commander Howe, Canadian naval service; Prof. John Welch, naval architect, Newcastle-on-Tyne, and F. W. Caborne, of the royal naval reserve, Alton, Tascheran, Quebec, is secretary of the commission.

The examination-in-chief of the witnesses is in the hands of Edmund L. Newcombe, K. C., deputy minister of Justice. The C. P. R. owners of the Empress, for the case, are represented by Butler Aspinall, K. C., London, England, and the following Montreal lawyers: E. W. Beatty, K. C.; F. E. Meredith, K. C., and A. R. Holden, K. C.

The counsel for Captain Kendall and the officers and crew of the Empress were: Alms Geoffrey, K. C., Montreal, and A. C. M. Thomson, Quebec.

The Stordard owners rely on C. A. Dulos, Montreal; J. F. Griffin and G. S. Haigh, New York, both members of the United States Admiralty; Norman Bercher, New York, and Arthur Fitzpatrick, Quebec. R. H. Lofnas is acting for the underwriters.

Hon. J. D. Hazen, Dominion minister of marine, and Alms Johnston, deputy minister of marine, represented the marine department, and J. A. Webster and George L. Vaux the British Board of Trade.

The sailors and firemen of the Empress will be acted for by Robert F. Bell, British representative in the United States of America and secretary at New York of the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union of Great Britain and Ireland, and George P. Gilman, Quebec.

Thomas Owens, acting as clerk of the court, editor of Hansard, Ottawa, read the act appointing the commission after the commissioners had taken their seats, and the lawyers retained were then introduced.

Some Facts.
When the lawyers retained had presented themselves to the court, Mr. Newcombe outlined the salient features of the founding of the Empress as at present known. He explained that the commission had been appointed to investigate the cause of a shipping casualty which most unfortunately had resulted in the loss of the Empress.

The Empress of Ireland, Mr. Newcombe continued, left Quebec on May 28 at twenty-seven minutes past four in the afternoon. She carried a crew of 429 men, 253 second class and 717 third class. She had some general cargo destined for Liverpool. The Empress called at Rimouski that night in the ordinary course of her journey, left there and put down her pilot at Father Point. At 1:30 on May 29th she proceeded out to sea, arriving off Cook's Point, near Father Point, at 2. At that time she was still on a course necessary to take her to a point where she proceeded down the river to the sea.

The Collision.
At this place the Empress came into collision with the Norwegian steamer Stordard, bound from Sydney, N. S., to Montreal with a cargo of lumber. The catastrophe was sudden. The Empress received a severe blow on her starboard side, being struck by the starboard bow of the Stordard. She began to fill, and water on her beam ended and sank in about fifteen to twenty minutes, according to estimates. It has been very difficult for the C. P. R. to obtain accurate figures of the lost and saved, on account of the number of European foreigners on board. There were now placed at 463 saved and 1,014 lost. Of the saved, 36 were first class, 48 second class and 133 third class, and the lost were 51 first class, 205 second class and 584 third class.

Sympathy Expressed.
Mr. Newcombe remarked that the sympathy of both Canada and Great Britain went out in the largest measure to the friends of those who had perished. The case invited the most searching inquiry, not only to ascertain the immediate cause of the disaster, but also to learn from the lessons learned for future advantage in shipbuilding and navigation. The Canadian and British Governments were communicated with, and the best possible possible procedure to investigate the cause of the disaster was suggested at the last session of Parliament to make the investigation thorough. The causes, direct and remote, contributing to the accident would doubtless be ascertained.

Divers Failed.
The nature of the damage which the Empress had received could not be proved. Divers were sent down, but it was informed that it was impossible for them to ascertain what was her condition, as she was lying on her wounded side. The whole question of equipment and handling of the Empress was under consideration. The Empress was a fine vessel, and it was estimated that 700 miles or more from the point where the St. Lawrence expands into the Gulf, and yet, going inland, it was only at the beginning of the great waterway to this country. The channel was well buoyed and there was an abundance of lights. It was anticipated with confidence that not even an interest or desire to disprove the St. Lawrence route could find anything to substantiate it in this case. The question of pilotage was not involved. The proximity to the land was not involved. The regulations for preventing collisions at sea applied to the case.

Twenty Questions.
Mr. Newcombe then submitted a long list of twenty questions which had been served upon the masters and officers of the two ships. These had been accepted by the seamen, and their reception was admitted by their counsel. They related to the number of passengers on board the Empress, sex, boat equipment, arrangements for life saving, boat drills, boat capacity, state of all life-saving equipment, the wireless apparatus, number of wireless operators, when and where the pilot was discharged, what were the weather conditions, lights of the Stordard and conditions prevailing when they were sighted? Did the vessels cross, so as to involve risk of collision? Did fog or mist come between the ships after they sighted each other? Did they indicate on their steam whistles the course being pursued? In what position in the St. Lawrence, and at what time during the collision occurred? Why did the Empress sink so quickly? Were proper precautions taken to save lives? What wireless calls, if any, were made? Were all water tight doors closed? How many persons on the Empress were killed in collision or by accidents on board?

Lots of Boats and Belts.
According to the report of the survivors the vessel carried more life boats and belts than the regulations required for her passengers and crew. He filed three copies of the C. P. R. regulations, under which captains worked. Lord Mersey did not wish him to read the rules to the court. Before witnesses were called Lord Mersey asked who was to administer the oath to the commission and many law books were looked up to find out the persons qualified to act. Nobody in the court seemed to know whether the commission should be sworn or not.

"I can't do any harm, you know," said Lord Mersey, "and we must have this thing in order."

It was finally decided that any justice of the peace or judge could act, and Judge Newbury, of Quebec, was appointed to take the oaths. Then a Bible could not be found. "Surely there's such a thing in court," laughed Lord Mersey.

Bibles were then suddenly forthcoming from a dozen places and the members of the commission and assessors solemnly took oaths to act without partiality, fear or affection for the Stordard's owners.

His Lordship Obliging.
Lord Mersey on and if the counsel for the Stordard's owners had been shown a copy of this document, and, being assured that they had not, insisted on the summary be given to them for consideration, even presenting them with his own copy, because Mr. Aspinall had exhausted his supply of copies.

The court waited for five minutes when Judge Mersey asked how long the Stordard waited to prepare a similar statement. The reply was several hours.

"What!" said his lordship. "There can only be a few pages!"

The complaint was made that no stenographic assistance could be obtained. "Why, then I'll write it for you myself," said Lord Mersey, and prepared to do so, when it was suggested that a verbal statement be made, and the witness for the Stordard owners' case was then outlined by C. S. Haight, of New York, as follows:

Stordard's Case.
The Stordard was running on time chart when she was on her way to Montreal with 10,800 tons of cargo. She was abreast of Netis Point at 1:30 Montreal time, or 2:30 Sydney time. When abreast there and four miles off shore, her course was altered to starboard, and at 10 o'clock and would have been at high at four in the morning. By the patent log we ran six knots; then ran west one-half south, being six knots. Shortly after the log was taken in as being necessary. Then course was changed to west by south. Then the mast lights of the Empress were seen on the port bow. She was six or seven minutes after sighting the green light and the red remained. After from two to four minutes the fog shut her out, the red still showing. Then the Stordard saw a signal of one whistle. We answered the signal and the engines were ordered slow. We were not yet in fog.

About two minutes afterwards fog shut her out, and we slowed; the fog shut us in, and we stopped.

The Signals.
Then there was a second exchange of long blasts between the two ships. A little later we heard three whistle blows by the Empress. To that we blew one long whistle.

Lord Mersey—"Meaning what?"
We were under way and keeping our course. We were still heading west by south.

When the whistles of the Empress were heard again the mate in charge of the Stordard put his wheel to port, while the ship slowed up. The mate said it was hard to port when she did not answer it, assistance was given by steaming up sufficiently. Two long blasts were given to the Stordard. About 40 minutes later the engine room was ordered to go slow ahead, so that the vessel would not become unmanageable. The captain, who was below, below, below, called up by the mate. He asked, "Can you see Father Point?" and the mate said that it had just been shut out by the fog. He made no mention of the Empress and called the captain back to the wheel. He had asked to be called if it got foggy.

Captain Saw Empress.
When the captain got on deck he saw the mast lights of the Empress three miles to port. He immediately ordered full steam astern. The vessels were then about 800 feet apart. The green light of the Empress then appeared. Three minutes later the vessels were together. The master of the Stordard heard a hail from the Empress, telling him to keep going ahead. He had ordered this, but found that he could not keep the collars of the vessels apart. The master of the Stordard was swung around until she was parallel with the liner and the collars' master was afraid his ship would be struck on the port side by the starboard quarter of the Empress. He immediately ordered the Empress to swing around in a complete circle and in the meantime the Empress disappeared. The Stordard blew signals to the liner, but the liner did not answer. About ten minutes afterwards the master of the Stordard heard a chorus of cries and proceeded toward them with care, his four boats ready to launch. The Stordard's boats were lowered, and the survivors of the Empress, survivors, and manned a tireless Empress boat on its trip back to the scene of the wreck and another boat partially.

Captain Marks Site.
Captain Kendall said the accident happened 6 1/2 to 6 3/4 miles east of Father Point. The point where the liner sank was marked on a chart by Captain Kendall. The Empress was not sighted until it was difficult to mark the place right. The accident occurred at 1:55 a. m. He had looked at his watch two minutes earlier. It was eastern standard time.

He proceeded down the river at full speed, weather was clear, he had been on the bridge all the time.

We met slight fog between Red Island and the Empress. We used our fog whistle, and we proceeded at full speed. Later we met more fog between Bic and Father Point, and reduced to half speed and slow. Then we passed on.

Six On Bridge.
We landed the pilot at Father Point, so we had to stand in towards Father Point. We landed him on the Eureka, a mile north of Father Point, gas buoy. A course north 47 east magnetic was steered, after dropping the pilot. This, he said, was the usual one, proceeding full speed with fine clear weather. The liner in charge of the vessel with First Officer Jones, Third Officer Moore, the quartermaster at the wheel, another standing by, and a boy to carry messages on the bridge. Three only were saved.

After running on the course I saw the Cock Point buoy. It was reported by the lookout in the crow's nest. There was a watch at the stem head. I looked and saw the buoy. The weather was still clear and fine. Then I got one bell, saying something was on our starboard bow. There were three or four points on the starboard bow. There was then no risk of collision. I still stood on until Father Point was ahead. Then ported the helm, as usual there, altered course to north 73 magnetic, the right course for an outward-bound vessel there.

The Stordard lights were then one mile on starboard bow. I intended to pass her on my starboard side. There was still risk or danger. I checked the course by the ship's head and also by the standard compass. The Stordard's masthead lights had opened with mainmast light to the north. This mast was 15 feet higher than the vessel with which we were in collision. The Stordard was showing her starboard side and going clear. I came back to the navigation bridge and proceeded on the course.

Fog Bank Coming.
I noticed a fog bank coming off the south shore land, coming northward and spreading very thin at the end, running northward, of Quebec, when the Stordard's lights getting misty, I stopped.

LONDON, TUESDAY, JUNE 16

AN IDEAL CANDIDATE.

IF Dr. W. J. Stevenson can be persuaded to run for the Ontario Legislature in the approaching campaign, he will be a candidate who meets every demand the situation makes.

Dr. Stevenson is, first of all, a Liberal; he is a temperance man who could conscientiously support the Rowell policy, and his genuine friendship for the laboring classes has always been positively known.

He believes that at this juncture the Liberals of London should put up a fight, and he was supported in this ground by a unanimous and enthusiastic convention, which determined that the contest should not go by default.

In point of enthusiasm, London has had few better conventions than the one held last night at Hyman Hall. There was a united opinion that the riding should be contested, and this opinion will be materialized into a decision to put up a candidate within the week.

In opposing Mr. Beck the Liberals will enter the field not on the negative issue of opposing the present member, but on the positive issue of supporting Mr. Rowell. Mr. Beck has had the courtesies demanded by his services to the city and province in previous campaigns. Now it is a question of whether London Liberalism shall see Newton Rowell fighting, and stand aside, or whether it shall do its level best to send him an able supporter.

That Dr. W. J. Stevenson may be persuaded to accept the nomination will be the wish of every true Liberal and every moral reformer in the city.

MR WISE ON HUMOR.

IN an interesting and very clever letter to the London Times on the subject of American magazine circulation in Canada, Mr. Wise, President of the Macmillan Company of Canada, observes, that with an increase in the postage on British periodicals, some of them will cease to be sold here, and "we shall be compelled to seek our humor (without the u) from Life, our home stories from the Ladies' Home Journal, etc."

Humor without the u may be an inferior article if it means Life and Judge, but the trouble is, that Mr. Wise is not up to the minute on British spelling. He is in a colonial backwater in that respect. The best English scholars in Great Britain, the Murrys, etc., who are advancing the Simplified Spelling Society so rapidly, spell humor without either h or o, and the greatest English weekly, the London Nation, uses the American spelling without the u. Dr. Pyne, not Dr. Murray or Mr. Maessingham, spells humour with the u. Of course, Dr. Pyne is a great authority in Toronto.

IT IS THE TIME FOR WORK.

IN his manifesto to the electors, and in his speeches, Mr. Rowell has made it plain to the Liberals and to the temperance people of all parties that he has done his part, and it is now up to the voters.

Mr. Rowell is still doing his part. He addressed eleven meetings last week through a territory stretching from Fort William to North Bay and from North Bay to Oxford County. On Saturday night he stated that every moment of his time from now until June 29 would be devoted to this campaign. He is covering the entire province. He will address every possible constituency within the limits of physical endurance.

Mr. Rowell is giving more time and energy to the present campaign than any other three men of either party. He is bringing into the fight the terrible earnestness of a man with a principle at stake. His speeches are not of the frothiness of Hanna's or the transparent evasiveness of Lucas'. He is backing his principles with arguments that no opponent can answer, because his arguments are right.

The question is whether Mr. Rowell is to be obliged to play a lone game throughout this campaign.

Mr. Rowell is facing the organized Conservative forces of the province and the organized Conservative forces of the dominion. He has opposing him scores of men trained in trickery and intrigue, and working as a unit. The organized liquor forces of the entire country, with millions of dollars at stake, are fighting as in a death struggle, and are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to save the Tories and the bars.

Mr. Rowell is doing his share to remove the temptation that is wrecking weak humanity; to bring about social, political and economic reform in the province. The various Liberal and temperance candidates are doing their share.

The Young Men's Liberal Association will have their first test in the coming election. June 29 will show the stuff they are made of. If they are made of the right stuff, they worked twenty hours a day to see that every Liberal vote was registered. If they neglected the registration they lost their great opportunity in the towns and must redouble their efforts to swing the doubtful voters to the Liberal standard.

It is unlikely that the temperance people and the church people will have again in a generation such an opportunity as they have now to work for right and righteousness. The whole of Canada is watching this movement in Ontario. The clock is ready to strike. Will the temperance vote allow the hands to be turned back?

Mr. Rowell is going back to Queen's Park with more supporters than he ever had before.

He will go back with a working majority if every man who believes in Liberalism, temperance and sound economic principles makes it his business to work and work, and work during the next two weeks.

WEST MIDDLESEX.

AT the last provincial election, Mr. Elliott was returned by a good majority. His nomination again means his re-election; and we look to the people of that riding to make his majority bigger than ever. Among the sturdy little band of Liberals who have surrounded Mr. Rowell in the Legislature there has been none more active and more efficient than the member for West Middlesex. He has not only been a capable supporter of Mr. Rowell, but he has shown himself an energetic legislator. He has introduced good measures, though they have been defeated by the Government's majority. He has been an active member of committees, and tried his best to improve all bills that required bringing into better shape. He is not only a good talker, but a good worker. That is where he differs from some other people when in opposition. We know of one very prominent member of the present Government who, when his party was on the left of the Speaker, was seldom seen in the assembly. He made no speeches, introduced no bills, took no part in the work of committees. He was on hand when his vote was required, unless he had paired off with some other member. When in Toronto he attended to his personal business and personal amusements. That is not the patriotic course for any man to follow. Even if in opposition, even though he may be modest enough to realize that he cannot secure what he wants, yet he is honest enough to give his best services and leave to the majority the responsibility of defeating all his efforts. That is Mr. Elliott's idea, and the voters of West Middlesex will doubtless recognize the fact, and act on it.

THANK YOU, SIR!

THE Conservative candidate in North Oxford called Mr. Rowell "the Lloyd George" of Canada.

 If the Whitney Government is really the friend of Labor it is remarkable that the votes of Mr. Studholme, the sole representative of Labor in the Legislature have been as 16 to 1 against it.

A MILLION DOLLAR PALACE.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]
 During the coming campaign in Ontario it is likely that a good deal will be heard about Ontario's new million dollar Government House. And no wonder. It was estimated by a member of the Legislature in the course of a debate that the total expenditures, including the grounds, the buildings and furnishings and the capitalized value of the increased annual expenditure for maintenance, would be over two millions of dollars.

And for what use? Nobody seems to be able to tell. Col. Hon. Sam Hughes makes the claim that the armories with which he is dotting the country will come in handy for the holding of fair trials; but nobody has yet suggested such a use for the Toronto palace. It just seems as if the Government took the position that it could get the money and that it might as well spend it one way as another.

PARSON CANDIDATES.

[Ottawa Free Press.]
 One feature of the present provincial elections is particularly well worth noting, and that is the manner in which ministers of religion are coming forward as candidates. They believe that great moral issues are at stake and are accepting a share in the deciding of those issues. We often hear denunciations against the mixing up of politics and religion, but the critics themselves mix up statesmanship with more party politics. The church, if it is to retain the position it has held Tango foot is a new and widespread complaint. Tangle-foot is not new, but it is much more widespread.

"It is a chance that only comes once in a lifetime," writes an Advertiser correspondent. Just let that sink in.

As local option abolishes the bar, the man who approves of the former can't very well be opposed to the latter.

Abolition of the bar will be the thin end, and half the thick, of the wedge inserted against the whole liquor traffic.

The kind of man who should be disfranchised is the man who is not taking an interest in the "Abolish the Bar" campaign.

If you are now unregistered and do not avail yourself of the opportunity, you will not be permitted to vote at the next general election.

A Conservative contemporary remarks that The Advertiser's editorials are caustic. And we might reply that our contemporary's editorials are mostly lies.

England has won back the golfing honors and it looks as if the polo championship was going the same way. This puts it very much up to Sir Thomas Lipton.

Whitney's immigration policy has done nothing for the farmers of Ontario. On the other hand, last winter it helped to overcrowd the cities and caused much misery.

It is right and proper to enforce the regulations regarding liquor in militia camps, but it is right and proper to throw the whole responsibility upon the commanding officer of a corps?

Old time fiction used to illustrate the course of true love to the matrimonial conclusion. Newer romance shows rather how the course of marriage never does run smooth towards the happy haven of divorce or a second venture.

"You have permitted, you are now permitting, thousands of young Ontario farmers, the cream of our agricultural people, to leave their own province for the West, while, by your inertia, you show you are not cognizant of the advantages of continued residence in this province, if full advantage is taken of the opportunities which open in response to intelligent effort."—From a letter from J. W. Flavell to Hon. James Duff.

GO FEEL WHAT I HAVE FELT.
 Go, feel what I have felt,
 Go, bear what I have borne;
 Sink 'neath a blow a father dealt,
 And the cold, proud world's scorn:
 Thus struggle on from year to year,
 Thy sole relief the scalding tear.

GO, WEEP AS I HAVE WEPT.
 Go, weep as I have wept,
 O'er a loved father's fall;
 See every cherished promise swept,
 Youth's sweetness turned to gall;
 Hope's faded flowers strewed all the way
 That led me up to woman's day.

GO, KNEEL AS I HAVE KNELT;
 Go, kneel as I have knelt;
 Implore, beseech and pray,
 Strive the besotted heart to melt.
 The downward course to stay:
 Be cast with bitter curse aside—
 Thy prayers burselured, thy tears defiled.

GO, STAND WHERE I HAVE STOOD.
 Go, stand where I have stood,
 And see the strong man bow;
 With gnashing teeth, lips bathed in blood,
 And cold and livid brow:
 Go, catch his wandering glance, and see
 There mirrored his soul's misery.

GO, HEAR WHAT I HAVE HEARD.
 Go, hear what I have heard,—
 The sob of sad despair,
 As memory's feeling-fount hath stirred,
 And its revealing tears
 Have told him what he might have been,
 Had he the drunkard's fate foreseen.

GO TO A MOTHER'S SIDE.
 And her crushed spirit cheer;
 Thine own deep anguish hide,
 Wipe from her cheek the tear;
 Mark her dimmed eye, her furrowed brow.
 The gray that streaks her dark hair now.
 The toll-worn frame, the trembling limb.
 And trace the ruin back to him
 Whose plighted faith in early youth
 Promised eternal love and truth,
 But who forsook, hath yielded up
 This promise to the deadly cup,
 And led her down from love and light,
 From all that made her pathway bright,
 And chained her there mid want and strife,
 That lowly thing, a drunkard's wife,
 And stamped on childhood's brow, so mild,
 That withering blight—a drunkard's child!

GO, HEAR, AND FEEL, AND SEE, AND KNOW
 All that my soul hath felt and known,
 Then look within the wine-cup's glew;
 See if its brightness can atone;
 Think of its flavor you would try,
 If all proclaimed,—"This drink and die."

TELL ME I HAVE THE BOWL.
 Tell me I have the bowl,
 Hate is a feeble word;
 I loathe, abhor—my very soul
 By strong disgust is stirred
 Whenever I see or hear, or tell
 Of the Dark Beverage of Hell!

That "Bar or Boy" Cartoon

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
 Your cartoon of Saturday, entitled "The Bar or the Boy," should change hundreds of votes in the coming campaign. I hope that the fathers of this province will vote on the moral it conveys.
 A MOTHER.
 Strathroy, June 14.

The Strongest Poem On Temperance Ever Written

The following is considered the strongest temperance poem ever written. It was written by a young lady, who was told that she was a monomaniac in her hatred of alcoholic liquors.

GO FEEL WHAT I HAVE FELT.
 Go, feel what I have felt,
 Go, bear what I have borne;
 Sink 'neath a blow a father dealt,
 And the cold, proud world's scorn:
 Thus struggle on from year to year,
 Thy sole relief the scalding tear.

GO, WEEP AS I HAVE WEPT.
 Go, weep as I have wept,
 O'er a loved father's fall;
 See every cherished promise swept,
 Youth's sweetness turned to gall;
 Hope's faded flowers strewed all the way
 That led me up to woman's day.

GO, KNEEL AS I HAVE KNELT;
 Go, kneel as I have knelt;
 Implore, beseech and pray,
 Strive the besotted heart to melt.
 The downward course to stay:
 Be cast with bitter curse aside—
 Thy prayers burselured, thy tears defiled.

GO, STAND WHERE I HAVE STOOD.
 Go, stand where I have stood,
 And see the strong man bow;
 With gnashing teeth, lips bathed in blood,
 And cold and livid brow:
 Go, catch his wandering glance, and see
 There mirrored his soul's misery.

GO, HEAR WHAT I HAVE HEARD.
 Go, hear what I have heard,—
 The sob of sad despair,
 As memory's feeling-fount hath stirred,
 And its revealing tears
 Have told him what he might have been,
 Had he the drunkard's fate foreseen.

GO TO A MOTHER'S SIDE.
 And her crushed spirit cheer;
 Thine own deep anguish hide,
 Wipe from her cheek the tear;
 Mark her dimmed eye, her furrowed brow.
 The gray that streaks her dark hair now.
 The toll-worn frame, the trembling limb.
 And trace the ruin back to him
 Whose plighted faith in early youth
 Promised eternal love and truth,
 But who forsook, hath yielded up
 This promise to the deadly cup,
 And led her down from love and light,
 From all that made her pathway bright,
 And chained her there mid want and strife,
 That lowly thing, a drunkard's wife,
 And stamped on childhood's brow, so mild,
 That withering blight—a drunkard's child!

GO, HEAR, AND FEEL, AND SEE, AND KNOW
 All that my soul hath felt and known,
 Then look within the wine-cup's glew;
 See if its brightness can atone;
 Think of its flavor you would try,
 If all proclaimed,—"This drink and die."

TELL ME I HAVE THE BOWL.
 Tell me I have the bowl,
 Hate is a feeble word;
 I loathe, abhor—my very soul
 By strong disgust is stirred
 Whenever I see or hear, or tell
 Of the Dark Beverage of Hell!

HER POINT OF VIEW.

 Rich Papa—You foolish girl, that English nobleman who's courting you really doesn't look on you as his equal.

WILFUL HEIRESS I don't care for that, papa, as long as he's my peer.

GREAT MYSTERIES.

 What became of the New Haven millions promises to become as famous a mystery as the location of Capt. Kidd's buried treasure.

ANOTHER HAND.

 The hand that rocks the cradle has a recognised influence everywhere, but in Britain just now the hand that cradles a rock is running it a rather close second.

THE HUMP STAYED.

 In bicycle days it was feared that the hump would make us a round-shouldered race.

And now it's the debutants slouch that we like.

And consider the same of grace.

THE 29th OF JUNE ONLY COMES ONCE IN A LIFETIME

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The great question that has forced itself upon the political arena at the present time is bar-room abolition and other restrictions of the traffic tending toward the ultimate elimination of intoxicants for beverage purposes. The election now pending is the chance of a lifetime, when partisan narrowness should be forgotten and every citizen should be brought to mind that the man sane enough to be in favor of abolishing the bar will not be found wanting in respect to minor matters. Neither political party dare openly proclaim itself in favor of the traffic.

The one, however, is trying to get the vote, money and influence of the brewers and distillers, and their dependants, claiming all the time to be opposed to the traffic while licensing it. The others are uniting themselves with the Alliance forces by guaranteeing, if given the power, to make the laws such as they desire, and see them enforced.

So far as those soliciting our vote is concerned, the former puts its party candidate past securing the vote of the temperance elector, and makes it imperative that an Alliance candidate be nominated in every district to prevent the temperance voter being disfranchised.

The Christian churches as a body are avowedly against licensing the business, and therefore every sense of a consistent member would revolt against voting and working with those who from selfish motives had that end in view.

Party associations in the past and inherited tendencies should now be forgotten and the inconsistencies such an attitude would involve avoided.

How could our Presbyterian Sabbath school teacher, our Methodist class leader, our Baptist minister, or our Roman Catholic priest formulate a prayer for the young man going forth to qualify as a first-class bartender, that he may be apt in his profession, proficient in mixing and selling the poison, and ultimately become our most prominent and effective church worker? Would that he any more absurd than the church member publicly and privately calling for divine direction

9928—A Pretty Gown for Youthful and Slender Figures—Costume for Misses and Small Women (With or Without Chemise, Tunic and Ruffles, and With Long or Short Sleeves).

Pretty bordered gowns, embroidered crepe or voile, silk chiffon, batiste, dimity, lawn, or cotton duvetyne, are all suitable for this style. As here shown white voile was used embroidered in pale blue with here and there a touch of amber. The waist is simple and becoming. It is closed at the back, and may be finished with sleeves in wrist length, or short, as shown in the large illustration. The tunic may be made with or without one or both ruffles. The skirt is gracefully draped in front, and finished at the back with plaits. The pattern, which is also good for a combination of materials, is cut in four sizes: 14, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 6½ yards of 44-inch material for the 16-year size. The skirt measures about 1½ yards in length, or short, as shown in the large illustration. Write to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Songs We Used to Whistle and Sing

REMEMBRANCES.

I remember, I remember,
The house where I was born,
The little window where the sun Came peeping in at morn:
He never came a wink too soon,
Nor brought too long a day;
But now I often wish the night
Had borne my breath away!

I remember, I remember,
The roses red and white,
The violets, and the lily-cups—
Those flowers made of light:
The lilacs where the robins built,
And where my brother set
The laburnum, on his birthday—
The tree is living yet!

I remember, I remember,
Where I was used to swing,
And thought the air would rush as fresh
As swallows on the wing:
My spirit flew in feathers then,
That is so heavy now,
And Summer pools could hardly cool
The fever on my brow!

I remember, I remember,
The fir trees dark and high;
I used to think their slender spires
Were close against the sky!
It was a childish ignorance,
But now 'tis little joy
To know I'm farther off from Heaven Than when I was a boy.
—Thomas Hood.

THE HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1914.

While Uranus is in benefic aspect the early part of the day, Mercury is adverse in the evening. Astrologers find it a day that is not particularly favorable for the important activities, especially those that involve great issues of public moment.

Conditions are promising for those who travel on business. Scientists are subject to a most auspicious rule, which promises success for any mission they may undertake.

Educators are believed to be fortunate under this day's signs, which pre-sage larger vision, keener susceptibilities and broader sympathies.

There is a prophecy that a new invention, which will be finished before winter, will be of great value in its results. It is said to be connected with aerial navigation.

The evening will be most unfavorable, the seers believe, for entering into agreements of any sort. Contracts, leases and other important papers should not be signed until Mercury is more benignant in its sway.

According to ancient lore this should be a propitious time for certain household industries, especially baking and cooking.

Unusual heat is prognosticated for the last week in the month. Danger from the Sun is foreshadowed and many prostrations will be recorded.

The stars give a peculiar omen for the Panama-Pacific exposition, according to the interpretation of a foreign seer. It will have a history that will be unique, for its success will be surprising in lines not now considered important.

Hungary is under a menacing star, which gives warning of a possible revolution. The death of a European sovereign is predicted.

Religious controversies are foreshadowed again. These will take the form of political propaganda.

Persons whose birthdate it is have a fortunate forecast. They may benefit through legacies or unexpected windfalls of money. Men and women will succeed financially. There is a possibility of annoyance by means of correspondence in which young folk are concerned.

Children born on this day have lucky stars to guide them and they will probably inherit money. They are likely, however, to be discontented and to be fond of travel. They should be taught concentration.

They're having such jolly fun!
I go there, then, that's what I'll do,
As soon as my errands are done.

Two new-laid eggs, a dozen eggs,
And a pound of rashers of ham.

He thinks himself grand, I declare!
I should like to make it fly—up, sky-

Ever so much higher than the old churchspire,
And then—but there!

"A pound of tea—er—one-and-three,
A pot of raspberry jam,
A dozen eggs, two new-laid eggs,
And a pot of rashers of ham.

"Now, there's the shop—outside I'll stop,
And say my errands through again;
I haven't forgot—no, not a jot,
It shows I'm pretty cute, that's plain!

WOMEN APPROVE PROHIBITION
At a meeting of the Woman's Social Service held last week in Toronto, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, that as a Woman's Social Service Council of the Presbyterian Church, we wish to place ourselves on record as being in sympathy with any movement which has for its object the abolition of the drink habit; believing, as we do, that this great evil contributes more largely than any other to every form of vice, the downfall of humanity, the sorrow, suffering and poverty which follow in its train, and which fall most heavily on women and children."

silver knife in the jar, and thus effectually prevent breaking. Shake the knife out when the jar is nearly full, fill up, and seal as usual.

Parasol and Gown Same Color Note

One of the prettiest lingerie costumes seen this season has a narrow underskirt made of white linen, with a wide band of cretonne around the skirt. Over it is a long tunic of fine cotton voile. The parasol carries out the same idea, and a short loose coat of the linen covers a thin voile blouse trimmed with the cretonne.

MENTALLY DEFICIENT SHOULD RECEIVE BETTER PROTECTION

COUNCIL OF WOMEN TO URGE STEPS FOR SPECIAL TEACHING AND SEGREGATION.

The following letter is addressed by Mrs. Stead, convenor of the committee on the "Care of the Mentally Deficient," to the officers and members of the local councils:

"The question of mental deficiency confronts every city and district of the Dominion—its worst features are hereditary—and, unpleasant as the details are, it is important that we, as women, should at least be familiar with it, for only as we realize its seriousness can we ever obtain a solution of the problem.

"May we ask (1) that your council devote a special meeting—preferably public—to the discussion of mental deficiency;
(2) that you will strive to educate the public, through the press and the platform, to the fact that a true economy lies in providing for and segregating mentally deficient children now, so that an increase of the present deplorable conditions may be prevented for the coming generations; and (3) that you will advocate special classes for backward children, (such as already exist in Toronto and in Sunderland, Essex, and other places) as the most effective means of segregating mental defectives from those children who are backward from mere physical causes, such as deafness, short-sightedness, etc.

We shall be glad to hear from you about making the chain that the armours with the matter."

—M. K. STEAD, convenor.

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

Thirty-Seven Chapters.

Dear Miss Grey,—Some one asked how many chapters there are in the book Intelligence. Just thirty-seven.

Ans.—The information is passed on to
"Geranium," who made the inquiry.

More About Cameos.

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw where someone was asking about the cameo. Might say it comes from a shell taken from the waters on the coast of Africa.

MR. W. C. (City).

Ans.—Many thanks for this information.

Tar on Raincoat.

Dear Miss Grey,—While motoring on the London streets while they were being oiled, I got my raincoat splashed with tar. Can you tell me how I might remove the stains?

Am very interested in the song column.
Please obtain, if possible, the words of two old songs, "We Were Forced to Leave Ireland Because We Were Poor," and
"The Chimes of Trinity." Yours truly,
A. B. C.

Ans.—One method of removing tar is to spread the coat out flat and scrub with a hand brush dipped into warm soapy water, then rinse with clear water. A second suggestion is to mix turpentine and yolk of egg and apply, when dry, remove the egg and scrub the spot in warm water.

2. The request for songs is referred to our readers. Are you sure the last one is an "old-timer"?

Believes in Fortune-Telling.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a constant reader of The Advertiser, especially your column—I always look for it first. This is the first time I have come to you. Will you answer a few questions for me?

1. The meaning of these names: Ada,
Rose, Donald, Leah, Thelma, Rosamond, Emily, Louise, Elma, Bright, George,
Isabella, Georgia.

2. I would like the words of these songs:
"Doe and Dore," "Let Me Hear the Songs My Mother Used to Sing," "A Wee House Among the Heather."

3. Do you believe in fortune-telling? Can anyone tell your fortune by your handwriting?

4. Will boracic acid bleach your face without injuring the skin?

5. I am sending an old song. Sometimes I wonder if it. Hoping to see it in print soon.

Ans.—Ada, happiness; Rose, beautiful as a rose; Donald, a feminine form of Donald, meaning proud chief; Leah, tender-eyed; Thelma, magnificent; Rosamond, a rose; Emily, energetic; Louise, desirable; Elma, lofty; George, a landholder; Isabella, worshiper of God;
Georgia, feminine form of George.

2. Referred to our readers.

3. No, I am not a fortune-teller, and matter-of-fact, and must confess that I don't. I never heard of reading "fortunes."

To clean water bottles, pickle jars, or any glass that is stained, when unable to get the hand in to wash properly, crush the shell of an egg small enough to get through the neck of the bottle, add a little warm water, shake well, and you will not only find the glass clean, but the bottle neatly polished.

COUNTRYWOMAN DEPLORES UNSIGHTLY WEEDS

"Elspeth Wilson" Urges Farmers to Take Greater Interest in Weed Fighting.

[BY ELSPETH WILSON.]

A recent article in a farm journal regarding the unsightly weediness of the roadides along our public thoroughfares strikes us as being all too true, and we regret that our very superior province is being marred by these existing conditions. Yet when one considers the lack of interest displayed by the majority of farmers relative to weed extermination, not alone bordering their farms, but those spreading throughout fields and grain, the wonder is that our roadways are not more unsightly.

Only about one farmer in ten carries on a systematic fight with the weed nuisance.
He keeps his fields clear of thistles docks and other common species, realizing that by eternal vigilance only can he hope to master the situation. Yet how discouraging when probably his adjoining neighbor carries on at best only a half-hearted effort at weed eradication. Even what appears to be one of the very worst species met yet—the sow thistle—is allowed by many to bloom and scatter seed broadcast. It spreads not alone through the indifferent man's farm, but liberally seeds the more careful farmer who has painstakingly mastered the evil on his own acres thus far.

In this way is progress hindered and the difficulties in presenting an attractive farm and roadway multiplied. Yet a little more care given to the small patches of weeds when starting would prevent perhaps years of trouble later.

Such disregard of the dangers from the weeds whose seeds are blown and carried by winds, is a sore trial to those earnestly striving to overcome, or at least keep in subjection, the more serious pests, and as neither example nor persuasion seems to have any effect, some more effective method should be adopted, that each would be compelled to do his part and make for cleaner farms and farm surroundings.

GIRDLES OR SASHES FOR SUMMER GOWNS

Girdles are mostly broad and soft, many reaching nearly to the bustline.

The waist-line will tend toward normal in the tailored effects, while in party or evening gowns the waist line may be either very high or extremely low.

For the stout woman, a yoke-shaped girdle, with seam in front, line tapering into a long sash at the back and tied at the end with a flat bow, give height to figure and relieves breadth at the hips.

A fancy sash, four or five yards long and ten inches wide, made of soft crepe or charmeuse, worn twice around the waist and allowed to drop from sides to centre of back, where it is tied in a big flat bow, is seen on many dainty white gowns.

Girdles of Persian embroidery, cut with two deep points in front and one at back, finished with black silk tassels, gives an Oriental touch to a dark-colored gown.

PROPER LIVING DURING THE HOT WEATHER.

Much of the irritability of the human race is caused by overindulgence in unbalanced meals composed of badly cooked foods.

The modern, thrifty housewife plans her meals so as to secure the best diet for her family. During the hot months of summer, producing food—fats, sugar, starches, heavy puddings and pies and fried things should not be eaten, but rather those which are easily digested and cooling to the blood.

The business in which the breadwinner of the family is engaged must be considered when planning the meals. The man or woman leading a sedentary life requires foods easy of digestion and assimilation. This class of people does not require as much food as that engaged in muscular labor. The latter class needs heavy meals, but these should be less burdensome than in winter.

For both classes too much cannot be said about masticating one's food. The teeth were made for this purpose and many ills would disappear if food was not bolted down into the stomach, which is too often overtaxed.

Salads rich with mayonnaise or boiled dressing should never appear at dinner,

CONCERNING CUCUMBERS.

To grow cucumbers to perfection, plenty of heat, light and moisture are required.
They will thrive in any good soil not too heavy or sandy. Seed may be sown as soon as the danger of frost is past. Six or eight seeds should be planted in each hill, the hills being about six feet apart each way.

In the early spring seed may be sown in hills which are protected by glass covered frames. When the plants have grown to about four inches in height, and there appears to be little danger of them being injured by insects or other causes, they should be thinned out to about three plants in a hill.

REISLING-BEEBE COMBINATION KEEPS LONDON CREW ON TOP

Tecumseh Manager Allows Five Erie Tallies, But Beebe Shapes the Bacon Londonward—Mullin, Four Times Up, Pounds Out Quartette of Hits—Great Doings in Erie Town.

(Special to the Advertiser.)
ERIE, Pa., June 15.—Doc Reisling mounted the hill this afternoon and, after allowing the Yanks five tallies in the first five innings, he retired in favor of Beebe, who held the locals scoreless, and allowed them but one hit during the remainder of his contest. Back of Reisling the visitors carved their initials in the doormat eight times, and two more tallies were made after he had retired, giving London a victory of a 10 to 5 score.
Had Erie given Dorbeck the support he was entitled to, it would have been a different story, but the Yanks played indifferently, and each of their four misuses figures in the scoring. In addition to taking advantage of Erie's errors, London made hits when hits counted. In but one inning did they lean heavily against the ball when it did not count for runs.
Looie Bierbauer, Erie boy, who started his professional baseball career as a member of the Erie team back in 1910, when Matty Broderick was at the helm in the old O and F league, was a big attraction at Perry Field this afternoon. Every time Looie came to the plate he received an ovation. He secured one hit off Dorbeck, figured in a double play, made a sacrifice and tallied one of the runs made by the visitors.
Mullins was the real hitting kid of the day. Four times he was at bat and each time he straightened out of the. Dorbeck's twister. Two of these hits were for three sacks.

ENGLISH TEAM IS FAVORITE TODAY

Grounds Are in Fine Shape and Second Polo Match Will Be Played This Afternoon.

[Canadian Press.]
Meadowbrook Club, Westbury, L. I., June 15.—The international polo field was in fine shape this forenoon, and announcement was made that more rain between now and four o'clock, the second game between England and America would be played. Last night's rain it was said improved the condition of the field.
Members of both the British and American teams were ready to take to the field for the second match the former anxious to clinch their claim to the cup and the latter to even up matters and thus force the visitors to a third game to decide the ultimate victory. There is to be no change in the line-up of the British team for the second game, but on the American team, while the same players are retained, there is a change in their positions. Devereux Milburn is placed at his old position at back and Lawrence Waterbury at No. 3, thus transposing the two men from their positions in the first match.
This new line-up of the American team has restored confidence among their admirers, although the betting odds have changed but little. The favorites to win the second match, the odds remaining at 3 to 1.

U. S. A. Delegates Vote Thus With Turkey and Japan—A Swedish Suggestion.

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, June 15.—The delegates from the United States to the international Olympic Congress stood hand in hand with those from Turkey, Japan and France yesterday at the opening session of the congress, when they voted against the eligibility of women to compete at the Olympic games. The English proposal—that points gained by women should be counted in calculating the position of the various nations—was adopted.
A suggestion from Sweden which attracted attention was that women should organize a series of exclusively feminine Olympic games, to be held between the quadrennial Olympic games for men.
Judging from the speeches delivered even by advocates of the competition of women, it is proposed to allow women to take part only in a few sports, such as tennis, skating and possibly fencing, swimming and gymnastics as displays. The congress, whose sittings are held in the Sorbonne, decided to abolish all mention of an age limit in the rules for the Olympic games. The congress will sit daily until June 22.

One spectator, listening to the splutter of the racing machines during the Indianapolis race, remarked: "Sounds like a baseball club eating soup."

Saints Beat Them in First of Series Yesterday.

KANE WAS HAMMERED OUT

Lill, Who Succeeded Him, Was Wild—Hughes Pitched Good Ball Throughout.

[Special to the Advertiser.]
ST. THOMAS, June 15.—The Saints came from behind today, and grabbed the first of a four-game series from the Ottawa champions. In the opening inning the visitors took a three-run lead, but Lill, who succeeded Kane, hit the home run and Hughes pitched good ball throughout. The locals came back in their half, and put two over. Kopp was hit by a pitched ball, and stole second, Hadley driving him with a single over third. Kust's single and Bullock's error filled the sacks. Craven also got plunked in the ribs, and Hadley walked home.
The Saints got another in the second on singles by Hughes and Kopp, and McNeill's sacrifice and Hadley's sacrifice fly. The Shag men went in to the lead again in the third on two errors, a walk and a sacrifice fly. The locals, however, put the game on ice in their part of this frame. Kading started off with a two-bagger, and Craven poked a single through the infield. The Saints were not dangerous after the third. Hughes steadied down, and pitched splendidly. A double-header will be played Tuesday, the first game starting at 2:15. Gillespie, a new man, played third for the Saints in today's game.

HAMMOND OR HECK WILL PITCH TODAY

Bobby May Work in Order to Let Scouts Watch Him—Beebe Will Likely Work Tomorrow's Game.

[BY BERT PERRY.]
Hammond or Heck will pitch today's game against Erie, while Morse will probably be on the mound for the Yankees. Although Hammond is the likely selection, there is just a chance that Heck will work today, as the southpaw is eager to work one of the games in Erie. It is also likely that a couple of big league scouts will watch today's game, and for this reason the star London southpaw may be called upon to perform.
If Hammond works today, Beebe will take his regular turn tomorrow, and Heck will pitch the opening game in Toronto on Thursday. Beebe worked part of yesterday's game, otherwise he would have started today.

DETROIT, June 15.—Detroit went into second place today, by beating New York 4 to 1. Boehler was wild, but effective, and allowed only four hits, after the first inning. New York's best chance came in the fourth, when Boehler walked three men and Daley singled, but the Highlanders scored only one run, because two would-be base stealers were retired.

CHAMPS AGAIN BEAT SOX

CLEVELAND, June 15.—Cleveland won an exciting game from Washington today 7 to 6, single by pinch hitter Williams in the eighth gave Washington two runs, on which the Nationals went ahead, in the Naps' half of the ninth Joe Jackson, who has a lame knee, batted for Collamore and doubled. Graney beat out a bunt. Shaw went into the box for Washington. Turner drove a triple against the wall in right field, scoring two runs, and winning the game. Roy Wood, a recruit, made a homer with one on in the seventh. It was the first four-base hit the Naps have made here this year.

INFELDERS MUST NOT USE EXTRA BALL—TENER

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 15.—President Tener, of the National League today issued an order that infielders must discontinue using an extra ball for warming up purposes between innings. D. LeRoy Reeves, secretary to Gov. Tener, in notifying the Philadelphia and St. Louis clubs here today, said the order was issued to help shorten the games. Pitchers are still permitted to warm up while waiting for batters to reach the plate.

When the ball players are engaged at a $1-limit game and the clubs' owners play a ten-cent-limit game it indicates something.

STRAATHROY CLERKS DEFEAT THE PROGRES

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRAATHROY, June 15.—At the best attended and most enthusiastic ball game this season the Clerks tonight defeated the Progress by a score of 9 to 8. It was anybody's game until the last ball was thrown, and a wonderful running catch by Davis of a long drive to centre was all that saved the game for the Clerks. The score was:

The standing of the clubs commences to look more natural. But what are the Reds doing up there.

PETES SHUT OUT HAMS IN SLOW EXHIBITION

Athletics' Failure to Hit in Pinches Cost Them Game.

YATES TO HOLD POSITION

Directors of the Club Will Find Some New Material to Strengthen Team.

HAMILTON, June 15.—The Athletics failed to hit in the pinches today, and were much slower on the bases with the result that the tail-end Canadian leaguers, the Peterboro aggregation, were victorious 4 to 0. The locals out hit the visitors, but it looked like charity, when his meant runs. Belting tightened up and there was nothing to it. Athletics were dangerous in the sixth when a double by Harry Corbin, and an error let Fisher on. But Jack White who has been hitting like a fender lately was easy for Belting. Again in the seventh trouble loomed up for Peterboro, when Dougherty and McGreary singled with but one out. But Dudley hit into a double. In the second for Peterboro, Gorman was passed, and Fox was safe on an error, Gorman scoring Miller sacrifice fly to third, and in latter scored on Belting's sacrifice fly. In the eighth Peterboro put two more across. Stewart was safe on an error, and King went out. Gorman singled, Stewart reaching third. Miller walloped out a two bagger and the counters were tallied. The revived rumor that Manager Yates would be let out by the directors of the local club, was denied tonight, and announced was made within a day, or two, a new pitcher and two more infielders would be on the job. Outside of Donohue who will be out of the game for two weeks because of poisoned arm, and Dougherty the local pitching staff is very weak and the infield must be strengthened at once.

FOUR HEATS NEEDED IN 330-YARD DASH

London Harriers Hold Another Twilight Meet.

THREE EVENTS RUN OFF

Winners of Four Heats in 330-Yard Dash Will Meet on Thursday, June 25.

Owing to the large number of entries in the 330-yard dash at the London Harriers Club Twilight meet in Queen's Park last evening, it was necessary to run that event off in four heats, and postpone the final heat until a week from Thursday. The four heats ran off last evening provided some fine sprinting. Vincent Adams, C. McLean, George Pelton and Belton were the respective winners. The time made by Vince Adams was the fastest of all four heats.

McLean carried off the running, hop, step and jump, doing 42 feet from scratch. Bert Simmons won the 1,000-yard run. The meet was largely attended, and these weekly gatherings of the best athletes in the city are gaining more popularity every day.

The Results.
 The results were:
 330-yard dash, 4 heats—First heat—1, V. Adams, 2, M. Pollock, 3, R. Campbell. Time 35 seconds. Second heat—1, C. McLean, 2, Douglas, 3, Buttwell. Time, 36 seconds. Third heat—1, G. Pelton, 2, Hughes, 3, R. Burridge. Time, 35 4-5 seconds. Fourth heat—1, Britton, 2, Simmons, 3, Pierce. Time 27 seconds.

When Shall You Buy?

Without the Doughty-Patent Process, Dunlop Traction Tread Bicycle Tires would still be the best buy, but with the Doughty-Patent Process exclusively applying to Dunlop Tires there is no discussion as to which tire excels the field.

The Traction Tread gives the mileage and prevents side-slipping. The Doughty Process insures uniformity of construction. See your dealer and specify DUNLOP

WILL BE DECKED ON DAY OF DAYS

BY MAYBELLE MORTIMER.
June, the month of brides and roses, is welcomed now by thousands of girls who just now are sewing into their trousseaus all the dreams of future happiness that come to the girl in about to be married.
The bridal robe this year is made of white crepe, taffeta or charmeuse, and about the hips, reaching to the knees, is a full of princess lace. Over this is a turned-under ruffle of the silk material which is put on at the belt with an upstanding ruffle. The upper part of the waist is made of princess lace.

The June bride this June will carry a prayer book with a marker of ribbon and flowers. The bridesmaid's gown is of pink taffeta made with a narrow pleating about the skirt. The tunic is very full and hangs straight and long on one side with a bias short effect on the other. The sash is of pink taffeta with a wreath of small pink roses through the centre.
A white chip hat with pink roses and black velvet ribbons, a cane and a large bunch of La France roses, pink slippers and stockings, make the pretty girl who will wear them look like a rose dawn.

The groom, who usually holds about the same relative position at the ceremony that he does in the illustration, is correctly garbed in striped gray trousers, black cutaway coat, light waistcoat and dark tie.

l rally will be held in Cook's Hall tonight (Tuesday) at 8 p.m.

The main speakers for the evening will be Rev. J. W. Maywood, of Toronto, and R. S. Robertson, K.C., of Stratford, candidate for North Perth. A bumper crowd is expected. The "abolish the bar" policy is gaining ground in this town.

A garden party under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church will be held on Mr. England's lawn on Thursday evening.

The speakers, Resident clergymen and James Torrance, M. P. P., and R. S.
Robertson, K.C., of Stratford, the popular candidate for the Liberal party in North Perth. Special music by outside talent.

events of any consequence in the last few years. He is strong in the sprints and is a member of the world's champion relay team.

DOWAGER EMPRESS OF RUSSIA IS CALLED
"A QUEEN OF TEARS"

Queen Alexandra's sister, the dowager empress of Russia, is known throughout the empire as the "queen of tears," as every important event in her life has been heralded with suffering. She was little more than a child when the czar-itch, her betrothed, died practically in her arms.

Soon after her marriage to his brother,
the present czar's father, the emperor, Alexander II, was blown almost to pieces in the streets of St. Petersburg.

At the coronation of her son, the present czar, she witnessed the awful tragedy of the Khodynsky Plain at Moscow when 1,500 people were crushed to death.

Attraction Programme MANY INQUIRIES FOR FOR WESTERN FAIR W. LONDON BREAKWATER

Acts of Exceptional Merit Are Secured This Year, Including Royal Canadian Dragoons.

Arrangements have all been completed for free attractions at the Western Fair in September. They will be of an exceptionally high class this year, and should be satisfactory.

The Canadian Royal Dragoons will give their famous "musical ride" on the track before the grand stand every afternoon and evening. A few of the others will be Patrick and Francis, the New York Hippodrome Haywagon Act, the funniest act on the road; the Four Dordens, the sensation of the day; De Carro, a new feature, the most daring act ever seen;
the Pichiani Troupe, seven people, the most graceful and sensational act ever seen at the exhibition; the Melvin Bros., America's greatest gymnasts; Apple's Zoo.

The fireworks will be furnished by the International Fireworks Company of New York, and will be entirely new and novel.
The entire program will be changed each evening. There will be plenty of music by the best available bands. The program throughout will be one of the best which money can furnish, and will be put on each afternoon and evening in a manner that will be pleasing to the visitors of the great exhibition.

AMERICAN YACHTSMEN FEAR LIPTON CRAFT. CUP DEFENDERS FAIL TO SHOW CLASS.

[BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.]

American yachting experts from the entire Atlantic seaboard, studying the construction of the boats that are to defend America's cup and the tuning-up performances of Shamrock IV, believe that, if America's cup is to remain on their side, it will be due to American seamanship

Launch of SHAMROCK IV

ship rather than to the construction of the boats.

The showing of Vanitie and Resolute in the trial races has been far from satisfactory.
The yachtsmen declare they believe that the Vanitie is in rig rather than in lines, and a boat that would have to have all the luck of the weather to win.
Her performance in the third race was frankly in heavy rain and there, a gusty blow she bucked and heeled.

Resolute, built close to the old Herreshoff lines, they claim is much better under all weather conditions. Vanitie's victory in the first clash was due, they say, more to the luck of the weather than to any sailing superiority. Besides, Resolute was faulty in rigging, and the errors were corrected after the race.

Lipton's fourth Shamrock is keeping them all guessing. The English critics declare her a freak, and claim she either will be an immense success or a dismal failure. She is of the skimming-dish type, and the sharp decline she violates a score of the accepted rules of yacht building. The American critics, however, are quite enthusiastic over her, although declaring that under certain weather conditions she will be hopeless.

One yacht sharp writes me from New York that he believes either of the last two yacht defenders could beat Resolute, and that he is pinning his hopes on Reliance, which has been delayed by changing rigging from entering the trials.
Sir Thomas and many of his friends are enthusiastic. They have built a boat to meet the conditions of the contest. Here-before the British critics have complained of conditions that they favored American boats. Now, Sir Thomas has built a boat that is more extreme than any he ever has sailed against. It looks as if he will have better than even on measurements and allowances.

FINANCIAL and COMMERCIAL

DECIDED SLUMP IN LOCAL HOG MARKET

Due to Importing of Manitoba Pigs—Strawberries and Oats Are Lower.

The hog market has taken a slump and prices are expected to be cut down lower, on account of the flooding of the markets here. Several loads of straw shipment of 4,000 hogs from Manitoba was received here a few days ago. The price has already dropped to $7.50 per cwt. There were few on the square this morning.

Strawberries also took a decided drop, from 18 cents per box on Saturday to 12 1/2 cents per box this morning. The supply for sale was small, and unless there is rain almost immediately the strawberry crop will be a poor one. Berries this morning were of exceptionally good quality.
Some of the poorer boxes were sold for 11 cents each, wholesale. Retail prices for best quality, ran up to 13 and 14 cents.

Oats were a third article on the market to take a drop in price. The highest money paid for the grain this morning was $1.30 per bushel. Last week the price went to $1.34. It has been fluctuating for several weeks, mostly with small and large supply. Several loads were on the square this morning.

The hay market consisted of about four loads, which sold for from $10 to $12 per ton. The market was slow, and sold slowly for $7 and $8 per ton.

There was a fairly large offering of vegetables, and the market was slow this morning, but buyers were scarce.

Strawberries, lettuce, and rhubarb sold at prices quoted below. Beets are cheap, at 90 cents per dozen bunches.
Hides and eggs were scarce today, but

Winnipeg, June 15.—The Winnipeg market was higher for both months in sympathy with Liverpool cables, and later advanced 1/2c on each month, due to short covering and talk of rain being wanted in some sections in Canadian west. Liverpool closing cables were easier, and the market here sagged somewhat, closing half to three-quarters higher.

The cash demand was fair for all grades of wheat, exporters buying No. 3 northern chiefly. Oats and flax were in demand, while barley was in keen demand.

Cash wheat closed 1/2c to 3/4c higher.
Cash oats closed 1/2c to 3/4c higher, and cash flax closed 1/2c to 3/4c lower.
Inspections Saturday totalled 294 cars, as against 249 cars last year, and in sight were 320 cars.

DECLINES TO DISCUSS HUGHES' STATEMENTS

Major Leonard Will Say Nothing to Ottawa Dispatch Crediting Minister of Militia With Declaring Battery Officers Would Be Retired

Major Wood Leonard today refused to make any statement concerning a dispatch from Ottawa quoting Col. Hughes, the minister of militia, as saying that any officer of the London battery who failed to clear himself in the inquiry which is to follow the seizure of beer in camp at Petawawa would be retired without being given the opportunity of resigning.

The message from the capital was as follows:

LAMBTON FARMERS FORM CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY

Will Work Together To Secure Mutual Advantages and Boost the County in Every Way Possible.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
PETTICOKE, June 15.—Probably the most important step Lambton farmers ever took, was made today, when with the building, packed with representatives from all parts of the county, it was decided amid great enthusiasm to form a Lambton Farmers' Co-operative club.

The meeting was called to order by F. McManis, president of the Osborne Farmers' Club, who said that local clubs could go only so far, and at this juncture work must be taken up by a county organization.

He declared that, to hold boys on the farm, they must be given the same opportunities they would have if they were in the cities.

Dr. C. O. Fairbank, elected of Lambton, was elected to the chair, and called on Mr. P. J. Gardiner, of Osbourne. Having given the question of co-operation considerable thought, he had mapped out a plan of procedure in case a club was formed. There are about 200 school districts in Lambton, and his plan was to have a local union in each district with a central office at the county seat. At the end of each month local officers would send in a report to county officers as to the amount of each commodity for sale, and in this way arrangements could be made to sell to buyers at a universal price. This, also, overproduction would be cut out. This would apply also in buying.

The speaker said that manufacturers admitted that, under the present conditions, they had to charge from 10 to 50 per cent extra for machinery.

Collateral in Bank.
Mr. J. Leckie said that his plan was that each member would place collaterals in the bank, and when he needed any new machinery, he could get money from the bank on the credit of the club, and thus buy with cash. In this way manufacturers would have no bad debts, and

RAINS WILL MEAN RECORD BERRY CROP

Growers Anticipate Exceptional Quantity of Strawberries if Weather Is Right.

The end of this week will be the record days for the strawberry crop, according to the growers. Unless there is rain almost immediately, however, the crop this season will be much smaller than expected.

Berries sold on the market this morning for as low as 11 cents a box, whole sale, and 13 cents a single box. Several weeks ago there were expectations of one of the best berry crops for years, but the absence of rain has hindered the growth. Several crates were on the market square this morning, and the supply will be much larger tomorrow and following days.

WARD AT HOME

M. H. O. Hutchinson Denies Knowledge of Any Recent Smallpox Cases in London.

Dr. Hutchinson, M. H. O., said today he knew nothing of any recent smallpox cases coming to the attention of his department. There was a story yesterday to the effect that F. Ward, of 434 Grey street, whose house is under quarantine, got out and became intoxicated. It was said the board of health intended to prosecute him when the quarantine was lifted.

INDEPENDENTS GET "BELASCOS" OF SCREEN WORLD AT BIG SUM

When he was the director of the biograph pictures, they were called the best in the business. But now the independents have captured him at a salary of $100,000 a year. And he is directing the Belasco and the Majestic Mutual movies.

At one time in his career, not so far long ago, Griffith was with Walker Whitehead's travelling company earning the meagre sum of $18 a week.

Here is the man who stands out prominently in the business of moving picture production. He has been called the "Belasco of the screen world."

ONE HUNDRED GREEKS MASSACRED BY TURKS

Town of Phokia Looted and Burned—Another Attack on Durazzo.

(Canadian Press.)
Athens, Greece, June 16.—Greek refugees from Asia Minor today brought reports of the massacre by Turks of 100 Greeks, including priests, old men and children, in the town of Phokia, 25 miles northwest of Smyrna. The official report, was issued by a group of armed men, who looted and then set fire to all the buildings. They are said to have been assisted by the Turkish police. All the inhabitants, most of whom were Greeks, fled, leaving their property behind them, and 3,800 of them have reached Saloniki. They declare that the bodies of the massacred people were thrown into wells. The refugees, many of whom were suffering from wounds, were in a state of starvation on their arrival at Saloniki.

Durazzo, Albania, June 16.—Another attack on the Albanian capital was made by Mussulman insurgents at 6 a.m. today, when heavy artillery was brought to bear on the defending force, commanded by Prince William. The guns of the attacking force were soon located in the vicinity of Rasbul, and the artillerymen in the garrison quickly found the range. The opposing forces then engaged in a brisk artillery duel. Detachments of bluejackets from the international fleet lying off the coast took up positions in the neighborhood of the foreign legations and consulates, and also erected barricades round the royal palace.

MAYOR OF LISTOWEL

his action had been carefully watched. "It would be no use questioning him, the mayor said, "because in any case he would be sure to deny any knowledge of the fire. At the same time, it is quite possible that he was smoking in some of the buildings that were burned, and set fire to them."

Mayor Clinch also stated that since the McDonald fire, he had given instructions to Chief of Police William Hamilton to secure the services of two watchmen to keep a look out in the town at night.

Chief Wants Detective.

The chief of police frankly said that he would be glad to have a provincial detective brought in. He is not at all satisfied with matters as they stand, and thinks that something should be done to clear up the mystery of the fire and set at rest the feeling of uneasiness that certainly exists.

The fire chief, J. F. Wilson, declared that he "had his little suspicions," but would not specify what they were.

The fires which have occurred since the beginning of the year and the approximate damage in each case, are: The town hall, in January, total loss $8,000; J. C. Hay's factory, in January, about $1,000; J. C. Hay's factory, in May, about $2,000; Calder's planing mill, in May, about $2,500; Brethaupt's tannery, in May, about $1,000; McDonald's block, in June, about $10,000.

The town hall fire and the one in J. C. Hay's office undoubtedly were accidental, the former having been caused by an over-heated furnace, and the latter resulting from an attempt to thaw out frozen water pipes. The tannery, an old disused building, is close to the railway tracks and possibly may have been set on fire by a spark from a passing locomotive, but in all the other cases, no theory quite fits in with all the facts.

One point, which may or may not be a coincidence, but which has caused a good deal of comment in the town, is that nearly every loser in the recent fires was a Liberal.

REGISTRATION

a.m. to 10 p.m., and no provision is made for a lunch hour. "It is simply ridiculous," said one man. "When we were on duty only eight and a half hours each day we were not rushed, except at intervals now and then, and now they have crowded an eight and a half hour day into a ten hour day. We are not allowed even to go out to eat. We have to be here for thirteen hours continuously, and unless we get in a lunch, go without food for that length of time."

Qualifications Required.

Qualifications necessary for the right of registration are that the would-be voter is a subject of the King, a resident of the municipality for twelve months, and of the municipality for three months.

The importance of the present registration is great, for the voters' lists now being compiled will stand for the next Dominion election.

At registration booth No. 7 (Foresters' Hall, East London) only three were registered this morning and two this afternoon.

ROTHSCHILD HORSE WINS ASCOT STAKES

Gold Cup Carried Off By Lord Derby's Gloriosa.

(Canadian Press.)
London, June 16.—James A. De Rothschild's Broadwood, a four-year-old today, won the Ascot stakes, the principal race on the first day of the Royal Ascot meeting. Asparagus was second and the Guller third. Twenty-four ran. The stakes are valued at $10,000 and the distance is two miles.

The gold vase given by the King was won by Lord Derby's Gloriosa. Cinnabar was second and Thistlethorn third. Eleven ran. The gold vase is valued at $1,000 to which $2,000 are added as well as a sweepstakes. The distance is two miles.

Some Exonerated.

Subsequently, however, Mr. Dugal exonerated the other members of the Government in this connection, naming only the premier and former provincial secretary, when he said: "I am advised, and believe I can prove, that $10,000 were so paid to Hon. J. K. Flemming, and $1,000 to Hon. Mr. MacLeod."

The total of money alleged to have "disappeared" is given as about $600,000.

NEW FRENCH CABINET SURVIVES FIRST ROUND

(Canadian Press.)

Paris, June 16.—The new French cabinet, formed on June 13 by Rene Viviani, survived its first contact with the Chamber of Deputies. A motion involving the confidence of the chamber in the ministry was adopted by a vote of 362 to 139.

"WHEAT KING" PATTEN WINS VARSITY "N" AS AN ATHLETE

James A. Patten
Special Correspondence of The Advertiser.

Evansville, Ill., June 15.—"Jim" Patten, the man who made the wheat corner of a few years ago, has discovered that he is an athlete.

Patten spent a good bundle of profits of his grain speculations in building a gymnasium for Northwestern University here. When the alumni gathered all wanted to give him the greatest of all college athletic honors, the right to wear the letter "N" on his sweater—i.e. "Jim" Patten, with his $20,000 ever wears a sweater.

But an obstacle was encountered. The "N" is purely an athletic reward. No one seemed to remember what Patten ever did in athletics.

But—happy thought:
"He lifted a whole cotton crop without taking off his coat or mopping his forehead," suggested one alumnus.
And "Jim" got the honor.

SERIES OF MEETINGS FOR NORTH OXFORD

Liberals Will Discuss Leading Issues of the Campaign.

PROMINENT MEN TO SPEAK

Leader Rowell to Return Saturday and Talk at Drumbo and Plattsville.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
WOODSTOCK, June 15.—The North Oxford Reform Association has arranged an extensive program for this week, in the form of a series of meetings to be held all over the riding on behalf of Leader Rowell.

Prominent speakers have been secured for the meetings, and it is expected that these meetings will be the best that were ever held in North Oxford.

The first is to be held at Princeton on Tuesday night, when Thomas Macleod, ex-mayor of Toronto, will be the principal speaker.

On Thursday Arthur Hawkes, of Toronto, will address a big mass meeting in the city hall here, dealing with the social and labor conditions.

Friday night, Rev. E. F. Farewell, of Toronto, will address the electors of Heckson, on Mr. Rowell's abolition-the-bar policy.

Mr. Rowell will be here on Saturday, and will hold big meetings on that evening, one at Drumbo, and the other at Plattsville. Mr. Rowell will speak in his own behalf, and will tell the electors of these districts what he has been doing since taking the leadership of the party. The coming election is causing a great deal of interest in this city, the registration, which closed on Saturday, was the largest ever recorded here.

FINLAY McDIARMID CHOSEN

(Special to The Advertiser.)

DUTTON, June 15.—Conservatives unanimously nominated Finlay G. McDiarmid for twelve months, to be the agent of the party.

This was moved by J. W. Elgin today.

The motion was seconded by J. W. Sandham. Duncan B. McColl, president of the association, presided. There was a large crowd, and the speakers were Messrs. McDiarmid, J. W. Elgin, Thomas, and Dr. Guest, of St. Thomas.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. John R. Mackay, of New York City, the guest of her father, Dr. T. Hutchinson, 522 Central avenue.

Mrs. L. Shoemaker, of Indiana, Pa., is in town, called here by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. J. P. Baker. The condition of Peter Taft, the old man in the employ of the city's white wing brigade, who was overcome by the heat last week, was reported last night to be much improved.

DEATH OF MISS McTAVISH.
(Special to The Advertiser.)
DUTTON, June 15.—Miss Jane McTavish, aged 65, of Cowal, died today after a long illness, in a private hospital in St. Thomas. She leaves one brother, Archibald. The funeral will be held on Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

THE EXCHANGES.
New York, June 15.—Wall Street, 2 p.m. Selling ceased in the early afternoon, but prices manifested little tendency to recover. Speculative bond issues were offered at concessions. London and the Continent were not especially prominent in the day's sales for foreign account, mainly coppers and Harrimans, aggregating little more than 3,000 shares.

PENILESS WOMAN SENT BACK TO SARNIA

Had Nothing to Eat for Twenty-Four Hours.

APPEALED TO POLICE THEN

Son at Dunnville Wired to Send Her Money to Come On.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

DETROIT, June 15.—Mrs. Mary Walls, aged 45, Pinconning, Mich., mother of a family of 11 children, is at the Central station, absolutely penniless, and waiting patiently to hear from her son, Martin House, of Dunnville, Ontario, for enough money to go there. Her grandson, George Walls, aged 19, is with her.

Ignorance of the immigration laws is the cause of the woman's predicament. Saturday she arrived at Sarnia, Ont., with her grandson, and was stopped by the immigration officials, and sent back to Detroit, because she did not possess $25. After going without anything to eat for twenty-four hours, Mrs. Walls appealed to the police. Her son, at Dunnville, has been notified.

HUNDRED MILLIONS SPENT BY MONTREAL IN FOUR YEARS

Figures Presented to the Board of Control Cause Astonishment.

MONTREAL, June 15.—Within four years, from February, 1910 to April 6, the city of Montreal, represented by the old board of control, spent approximately $100,000,000, according to a statistical report laid before the aldermen this morning by City Comptroller Pelletier.

The tables compiled by the city comptroller show the amount of money spent out of revenue and the proceeds of loans, special loans and land sales since the first board of control was elected. The aldermen, although used to big figures, were astonished at the contents of the report.

NEW RAILWAY TO JOIN DENVER AND SAN DIEGO

Will Have 2,200 Miles of Track and Cost $105,000,000.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 15.—Articles of incorporation for the Southwestern Pacific Railroad, which capitalists purpose to build from Denver, Col., to San Diego, Cal., were filed today with Secretary of State Jordan. The capitalization figure was given at $2,200,000.

President D. C. Collier, of San Diego, president of the company, said the railroad would cost approximately $105,000,000 for its 2,200 miles of track. The main line between Denver and San Diego will total 1,021 miles. A branch will run from Denver to Salt Lake, with several others to mining districts.

CUSTOM-RIDDEN MAN MORE TO BE PITIED THAN WOMEN ARE

"In the first place we have the great fact of a created universe; of a well-ordered system—a world of law—a world of design wherein everything works in harmony. It is the fact of a creator of all this. The scientist says the universe evolved from atoms; he says 'In the beginning, force.' But the Christian says, 'In the beginning, God.' Which is the more satisfying? The force of the atoms must first have been created."

"Then there is the second great fact of life—the mind of man. What is this consciousness that knows that the world is a well-ordered universe? What is this being from which we cannot separate ourselves for a moment without losing life itself? A world of machinery is not everything, for in it there is man, a being possessed with powers of reasoning, able to project himself into the future on the wings of imagination, or to look back into the region of the past. No matter how wonderful the world is, it is matter not mind. Man, puny, weak and small, compels the forces of nature to obey him."

Do Not Satisfy.

"But even this great fact of mind is not all. There is the spirit that is life. There is the soul with its clear recognition of the consciousness of right and wrong; its voice of conscience impelling to the right and persuading against the wrong. How does science account for this? It speaks slightly of religion and the church; it says that the world has come into being by long processes; that the six-thousand-year chronology of the Christian is all wrong; it says 'In the beginning protoplasm'; but the Christian may well claim that these things do not satisfy, that they do not solve the fact of man's mind and soul, and answer 'In the beginning, God.'"

His lordship also pointed out that it was a mistake to seek to eliminate mystery from religion. This was a grave danger of the present day. When we are full of so many mysteries, why not religion?

"The problem of the universe is like a lock and key," he said, in closing. "We might as well ask what makes the key what it was made of; but the sensible thing to do is to take the key and unlock the door. Do you ask yourself who made God? Or do you accept the glorious fact of 'In the beginning, God' in other words, do you take the key and try it?"

City Clergy Assist.

A number of the city clergy assisted at the service this morning, among them being His Lordship Bishop Williams of Huron Diocese, Canon Tucker, rector of St. Paul's; Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, Dean Davis, Rev. Canon Sago, and others. The business sessions of the synod opened this afternoon at three o'clock. A large number of clergy and laymen have already registered.

That the materialistic theories of science do not satisfactorily account for the three great facts of life—a universe of orderliness, and the mind and soul of man, were points strongly maintained by His Lordship Bishop Richardson, of Fredericton, in preaching the opening sermon before clergymen and lay delegates to the Synod of Huron in St. Paul's Cathedral, this morning.

His Lordship spoke from Genesis I. 1: "In the beginning, God." It was rather a departure from the usual synod sermon, he stated, but the subject of the beginning of the world had been one of such controversy, he had decided to discuss it.

"It is a question upon which neither science nor religion has yet come to a clear conclusion. It will not startle you to hear that even among the most conservative Christians there is little unanimity of mind as to the question in which these opening chapters of Genesis should be read. On the other hand, scientists disagree over various theories. Those who advocate the theory of evolution have not yet reached a satisfactory conclusion. This serves to show that science like religion has not spoken the last word upon the subject."

Foundation of Faith.

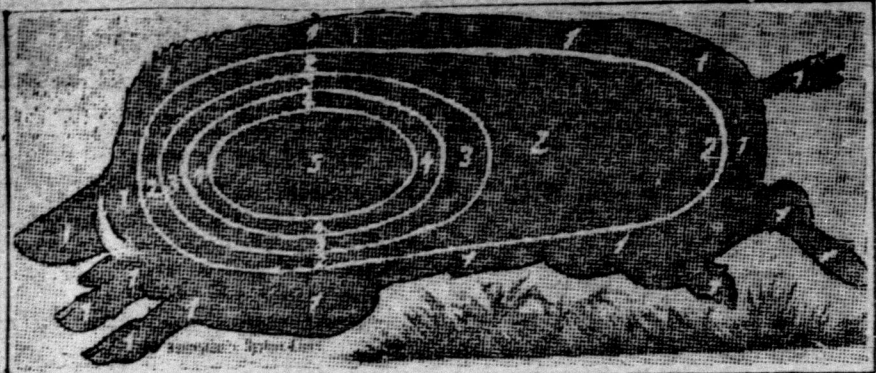

"In the beginning, God, those are the first words of written revelation; that sentence speaks of the priority of God; presents the simple truth that before everything was, God is; that without His intervention this great universe, the stars, the round world, and all that dwell therein, had never been. And why do we accept it as the foundation of our faith? Because it satisfies. We say we believe in God. Why? Why do we cling to it so closely? It is well, indeed, that we do in the face of the bewildering problems of the present day. Our faith needs to be founded upon a rock."

"If a skeptic asked you, 'Why do you believe in God? What would you answer?' Because the Bible tells me to believe—or, because the Bible is inspired, and answers would not satisfy the skeptic because he does not believe in the Bible. We must meet the scientist and the skeptic on their own ground, give them certain logical facts, and pursue these to a definite conclusion."

Must Be a Creator.

"The first place we have the great fact of a created universe; of a well-ordered system—a world of law—a world of design wherein everything works in harmony. It is the fact of a creator of all this. The scientist says the universe evolved from atoms; he says 'In the beginning, force.' But the Christian says, 'In the beginning, God.' Which is the more satisfying? The force of the atoms must first have been created."

This year for the first time the marksmen at Bisley will shoot at "the running bear" target, which is shown in the picture. This moving target is for long range shooting, the idea being borrowed from the German army.

HAS THE SAME POLICY WHEREVER HE SPEAKS

Leader Rowell Tells Big Audience It Is Fair to All—Is Warmly Applauded.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
CORNWALL, June 15.—N. W. Rowell started the second week of his whirlwind campaign with a large meeting here to-night, which over 700 people attended. The hall was packed to overflowing, and many had to stand throughout. The tone of the meeting was most encouraging, and the local candidate, James W. McLeod, made a most favorable impression.

There was evidence of unqualified disgust with the Government's shifting policy on the bilingual school question. Mr. Rowell reiterated his former declaration on this matter, stating that he had only one policy, whether in New Ontario, or in the counties of Prescott, Stormont and Glengary, or even in the City of Toronto. That policy, he believed, to be fair and just to all classes and would not divide the people into hostile camps through racial impulse.

Change in Two Weeks.
Mr. Rowell spoke of the change that had taken place in the situation in the past two weeks, and remarked that in his own constituency of North Oxford the provincial secretary on a recent visit had "hoisted the flag of distress and admitted that the Government was going to lose a number of seats in the fight."

Mr. Rowell dealt with agriculture and education in vigorous fashion, and declared that the provincial treasurer in Woodstock on Saturday had ventured to touch the bilingual question, exhibiting a tendency to handle it with the gloves. (Laughter.)

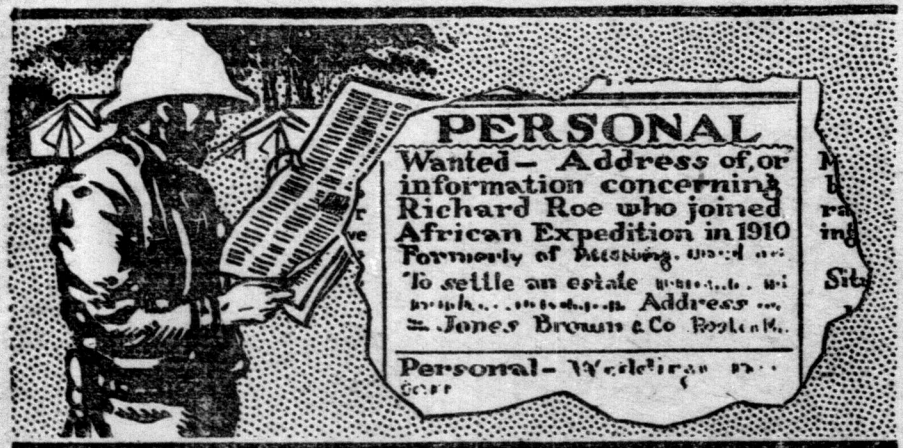

The Liberal leader concluded with a strong pronouncement of his temperance policy showing that the bar was an evil and a menace to the community, and as such it ought to be abolished. The Liberal leader's pledge that, if returned to power, the whole policy of bar abolition and liquor traffic regulation would at once be introduced to the legislature, brought forth loud applause, which spoke significantly of the feeling in this section of the province.

TEMPERANCE PEOPLE PLEDGE SUPPORT TO LIBERAL CANDIDATE

Reply of Conservative Candidate to Important Questions Regarding Policy Was Most Vague and Unsatisfactory.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
HENSALL, June 15.—At a well attended temperance convention held here this evening the following resolution was unanimously passed: "That, whereas the reply of Mr. H. Ellier to the letter sent out by the temperance organization asking candidates to state their attitude in regard to securing legislation to banish the bar is very definite and unsatisfactory to the temperance people, and whereas Mr. Edmund Zeller has pledged himself to support in its entirety the policy of our alliance, namely: abolition of the public bar, the treating system and drinking in clubs, and the imposition upon the liquor traffic of such restrictions as shall most effectively curtail its operation and remedy its evils, therefore, be it resolved that we, as a temperance convention, endorse the candidature of Mr. E. Zeller, and call upon all Christians and all temperance workers to do their utmost to secure his election."

DREDGING STARTED FOR NEW BREAKWATER

Cribs Ready To Be Sunk for Kincardine Structure.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
KINCARDINE, June 15.—The dredge has arrived, and started dredging the bottom for the cribs to be laid for the new breakwater. There are five strongly built wooden cribs now in the harbor, ready to be towed to place and sunk, and then filled with stone, until three feet from lake level, when cement concrete will be used to build the upper structure. There is every indication the 600 feet contracted for will be finished this fall. The bottom of the lake is very hard clay with boulders that make difficult work preparing a suitable foundation. The harbor and passage to the lake will have to be dredged more before the cribs can be towed out. The lake shore is lively now, as all the cottages are taken. Bathing, boating, dancing, and fishing are very popular. Holidays and excursions will soon commence. Many of the Lord's Day Alliance members look askance at boating, and some of the other enjoyments going on on Sunday.

"BLACK-LEG" AMONG CATTLE AT WINGHAM

Three Die Before Veterinarian Is Called to Check Spread of Disease.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Wingham, June 15.—Farmers here were excited when they found out that a disease called "blackleg" had broken out among some of their cattle. One farmer recently bought a cow for breeding purposes paying $125 for it and discovered that it was beginning to swell around the legs. Soon the swelling went to the body, killing the animal. Two other animals caught the same disease and died. A veterinarian was called in and pronounced it blackleg, and at once vaccinated other cattle showing signs of infection. It is thought that the disease is now under control.

German Prince Ignores Royalty to Wed Countess

COUNTRESS VON BASSEWITZ-LEVIT-ZOW AND PRINCE OSCAR

Opposition of Kaiser Wilhelm to the morganatic marriage of his fifth son, Prince Oscar, to Countess Ina Marie von Bassewitz-Levit-Zow has disappeared, and the empress' maid-of-honor will become her daughter-in-law.

The countess is one of the most beautiful women in Germany and daughter of the minister of state of the grand duchy of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. The prince, who is 22 years of age, is believed to be about four years younger than his bride-to-be.

This Girl Wears Grandmother's Gown at Debut

Esther Cleveland Underwood & Underwood

London, Eng., June 15.—When Esther Cleveland made her bow at the court of St. James recently her court gown was quaint enough and old fashioned enough to please even the austere Queen Mary. The debutant's gown was a magnificent robe of Venetian lace made in the fashion of 50 years ago. It had been worn by her grandmother—then Miss Harmon—when she was presented to Queen Victoria.

INGERSOLL MEN HURT

[Special to The Advertiser.]
INGERSOLL, June 15.—Injuries of a very serious nature were sustained today by Mr. John Jenkinson, carpenter, by a fall from a scaffolding. He was working on a new house, which is being erected for Mr. F. A. Ackert, and fell a distance of twelve feet. One hip was seriously injured, and it is also feared he is suffering from internal injuries. He was removed to his home in the ambulance.

Had he not clung to the scaffolding when struck by a swinging chain today, James Magee, an employee of the Condensing Factory, would probably have been fatally injured by the fall, as he was up to a height of 30 feet when struck. Although stunned, he had the presence of mind to cling to the scaffold until rescued. A nasty cut was inflicted on his head by the chain.

WINGHAM YOUTHS NEGLECT THE CURFEW

Police Are Watching Them—Fireman Found Purse in Building.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
WINGHAM, June 15.—Harry Hinchcliffe, one of the firemen who were at the fire which destroyed the residence of Robert Saint, found a purse of money on the floor, which was thought to have been burned. The purse was handed over to the owner, the finder refusing a reward. The police here are on the alert for many young folk under the age of sixteen years who are not off the street when the curfew bell rings at nine o'clock. It is stated that if caught again after being warned to go home, they will appear before the magistrate.

The clover crop appears to be in good shape, although rain is badly needed. Small fruits also appear to be plentiful.

Confirmation services were held in the Catholic Church yesterday, when thirty-five girls were confirmed.

"All Raphael Advertising is Absolutely True."

"On the Doorstep of Desire."

THE merchant of today is not satisfied to merely let his advertising invite people to his store. The right kind of an advertisement virtually takes the merchant's goods to the home—places them on the doorstep of the reader's desire and says:

"Mrs. Housewife, won't you take me in?"

Thus good advertising for a retail store does especially important work in bad weather—the advertisement talks on days too bad for Mrs. Housewife to go "downtown."

Most merchants recognize this, and depend on their advertising to make sales when the store window, by reason of adverse weather, doesn't get a chance to talk.

And just as there are winter days so stormy that the daily newspaper is the only real point of contact between Mrs. Housewife and the shopping district, so are there summer days so sultry that "downtown" is out of the question.

But is it ever too hot for the daily newspaper to get a hearing? Is there a single day in the whole summer that the merchant could not, with the proper kind of advertisement, place his goods on the doorstep of Mrs. Housewife's desire?

Put your goods there every day—hot or not. They will be taken in, all right.

"Seeing Is Believing"

The Truth of the Old Saying Was Proven Once Again on Saturday Last, When Scores of Londoners Visited Lambeth at Our Expense, Saw and Believed.

Julius Caesar, writing his famous report of the conquest of Britain, said: "I came, I saw, I conquered."

Many Londoners who came to see Lambeth New Survey last Saturday afternoon could sum up the trip by saying: "I came, I saw, I bought." Now, the question that holds most interest for you, Mr. and Mrs. Rent-Payer, is this: What made them buy?

Here's the Answer

They came out to look over the ground, to carefully investigate every condition and every possibility before investing. It was a case of "Investigate first, invest afterwards." They saw how close their lot would be to the Traction line, noticed that no less than three stopping points of the cars were very close to Lambeth New Survey. Then they looked over the lots. Be sure they didn't fail to remark the generous size, 50 feet wide by 185 feet deep, most of the lots.

They also liked the way we have had the property platted out to give every lot frontage on Broadway avenue. They were pleased with the outlook on every side—they liked living conditions in Lambeth as they are and as they will be. Another thing that impressed them was the low rate of taxation—ten mills.

We told them about hydro coming by next October, that the municipality will oil all roads, showed them how pure and how easily obtained was the water supply and satisfied them on every point.

Then and not till then—they bought, and took what will prove to be one of the best steps they ever took in their lives.

Don't Be a Second-Hand Buyer—Get In Now

The number of lots for sale has materially decreased as a result of last Saturday's business. Be the original owner of one or more lots in Lambeth New Survey instead of having to buy later on at a big advance in price. If you can't come out, tell us when we may come to you. Use the coupon and we will do the rest.

You'd be surprised if you knew who some of the Londoners were who took their first step on Saturday towards owning a home out here. It's not too late yet for you to decide to "LIVE IN LOVELY LAMBETH."

PLURAL VOTING BILL GETS THIRD READING

Measure Once Rejected by Lords on Way Again—Introduced April, 1913.

[Canadian Press.]
LONDON, June 15.—The plural voting bill passed its third reading in the House of Commons tonight by a vote of 226 to 242.
This bill was first introduced in April, 1912, and after passing its third reading was rejected in the House of Lords by a majority of 124. The bill passed the second reading in the House of Commons on March 11, and provides that before a general election a plural voter must select which of his votes he wishes to register.

How To Cure Stomach Troubles

Excessive acid in the stomach or hyperacidity, as it is called, is primarily responsible for nearly all cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and flatulence which quite frequently lead to stomach ulcers. The successful treatment for the prevention of such cases depends entirely upon neutralizing the excess acid, stopping the food fermentation and healing the inflamed mucous membrane that lines the stomach. For this purpose, specialists are now universally advising the use of pure bismuthated magnesia which has recently been found to be unequalled in the treatment of even the severest cases. It is a teaspoonful in a little water immediately after eating stops all pains almost instantly, neutralizes the acid and soothes the inflamed stomach and if regularly used will quickly remove the cause of the trouble. Being well known, bismuthated magnesia can be obtained from any druggist and will keep indefinitely if kept tightly corked.—Adv.

BIG DREDGE DELIVER CAPSIZES AND GOES DOWN OFF ITS PORT

Ten Members of Crew Saved
With Difficulty, and One Drowned—Boat, Valued at $100,000.

[Canadian Press.]
ST. CATHARINES, June 15.—The big dredge Deliver, owned by the Dominion Dredging Company, having the contract for No. 1, section of the Welland Ship Canal, in tow of the tug Alice, capsized outside Pelee Harbour tonight, just before 11 o'clock, and sank, while endeavoring to take shelter in Port Dalhousie harbor.
The dredge was at Port Weller with the tug Meteor. The tug Meteor, under the command of Captain McGrath, attempted to take the Deliver to the shelter of Port Dalhousie, but she broke all lines and was driven toward the shore. When the Deliver capsized, Captain McGrath, the Alice, displayed distress signals, bringing the tug Meteor to her assistance. The two tugs saved the ten members of the Deliver crew who were rescued with difficulty. One member of the crew, however, was drowned.
Although the Deliver's crew consisted of eighteen men, some of the number are believed to have been left ashore and only one man, Walter Burt, married, of Port Dalhousie, is definitely known to have been drowned.
The survivors were taken ashore and placed in bed at the Lincoln House. The sinking of the Deliver represents a loss of $100,000.

Syrup of Figs, and in just a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels and you have a well, playful child again.
You need not worry sick children to take this harmless fruit laxative; they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.
Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Health and Beauty Hints

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

MRS. A. T. B.: You are not shampooing often enough and may not use the best shampoo. Try my favorite, which is canthrox—just dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and rub briskly as you pour it on the hair and scalp. This has an abundance of rich, cleansing lather that is very soothing to tender, itchy scalps. Canthrox leaves the scalp immaculately clean, and each strand of hair will be soft, shimmery and full of health. Canthrox shampoos are splendid for correcting unnatural conditions, such as excessive oiliness, dryness or profuse dandruff. I like its drying qualities too.

MRS. G.: The symptoms you describe, pains and aches in the limbs and small joints, loss of appetite, lack of strength and ambition are danger signals—warnings your blood is laden with poisons which will cause serious sickness if not eliminated from the system. The karden tonic of grandmother's day is excellent to use and can be prepared at home at little cost by dissolving ½ cupful sugar and 1 ounce karden in ½ pint water (not whisky) to which is then added hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful before meals is the dose. The timely use of this tonic frequently saves serious ills.

MAZIE: Yes, you can cure your weak, watery eyes with a soothing, healing, strengthening eye medicine which can be made at little cost by dissolving an ounce of crystals in 1 pint clear water. When you put 2 or 3 drops in each eye daily, it will relieve the inflammation and soreness and reduce swelling. This crystals tonic is especially fine to make the eyes sparkle and give them expression.

SOCIETY GIRL: Here is that weight-reducing treatment which she told you would work without danger or inconvenience. It is a skin-cleanser (which you can obtain at any drug store) in 1½ pints hot water. Strain when cold, take 1 teaspoonful before meals. Keep up treatment until weight is sufficiently reduced. Parnotis is gentle in action and results in results and leaves the flesh and skin firm and smooth.

GIRLIE: It is easy to make an inexpensive quinzoin with ½ pint alcohol, then adding ½ pint water. The scalp should be gently massaged with a weak with this quinzoin tonic. Its regular use will quickly banish the dry, scaly condition and cure excessive oiliness, and when this is done the natural color and silky softness returns and the hair will grow in long and thick and have a beautiful sheen.

MARGE: Friends tell me I have every reason to be proud of my complexion, which is the result of discarding powder and using spumax lotion. This is inexpensive and easily made at home—I just wash with hazel or hot water, then add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine and 1 ounce spumax. To apply this lotion sparingly and rub lightly for a moment until it dries and seems to become a part of the skin, to which it gives a velvety smoothness and refined color that is delightful.

O. T.: The wrinkles of which you speak will soon vanish if you apply a plain almond cream-jelly and massage the long, straight tendons of the face. This simple treatment tends to vivify the dormant tissues, causing the creases or lines to fill out. To prepare the cream-jelly, put 1 ounce almond (which you can get at your drug store) in ½ pint water and add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Let remain overnight before using. As a skin-cleanser and beautifier this greaseless cream-jelly is not equaled.

STRATHCONA WILL GIVE OVER MILLION TO ROYAL VICTORIA

Document Entered for Canadian Probate at Montreal.

LARGE FUND FOR QUEEN'S Debts Owed From Estate of Sir Richard Cartwright and Hon. G. E. Foster Cancelled.

[Canadian Press.]
MONTREAL, June 15.—The will of the late Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, late commissioner for Canada, has been entered for Canadian probate at Montreal, probate having been granted in England on March 19, 1914.
The Royal Victoria College of Montreal receives from the will more than any other institution. Lord Strathcona has provided a fund amounting to a million dollars. He also donates to the Royal Victoria College the land fronting on Sherbrooke street, worth about a quarter of a million dollars.
Half a million dollars is provided for the Royal Victoria Hospital. The other legacies are:

Other Legacies.
$5,000 for Principal Peterson, personally, of McGill College.
$1,250 for Christie E. MacKay, of Montreal.
$100,000 for an extension fund of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont.
$6,000 for the endowment of a professorship in the Presbyterian College, Montreal.

One clause remits and cancels all debts owing to Lord Strathcona from the estate of Sir Richard Cartwright, the estate of the late Lieutenant-Colonel William White, at one time deputy postmaster-general of Canada, and the Hon. George E. Foster.

Daughter Gets Residue.
The whole residue of his lands and estates are bequeathed to his daughter, the Honorable Margaret Charlotte Howard, who also receives the income of two and a half million dollars to be invested on her behalf by the trustees. His niece, Margaret M. Smith, of Edinburgh, receives $100,000, and a similar amount is given to Eliza Jane Grant, of Fort, Scotland. All his lands at Picton, Nova Scotia, part of which is known as the Norway House property, is given to James Hardisty Smith, of 129 Peel street, Montreal, who also has invested for his benefit $125,000.

Half a Million for Yale.
St. John's College, Cambridge, receives $50,000, and Yale University receives half a million dollars. There is, in addition, a long list of hospitals and charitable institutions, many in the United Kingdom, who receive bequests.

"And I declare that I am and I intend to remain a domiciled Scotsman," is one short clause in the will, which is contained in thirty-nine typewritten pages, dated June 15, 1903.

FUND PROVIDES FOR A MONTREAL LIBRARY.

MONTREAL, June 15.—The will of Henry Herbert Lyman, of Montreal, who, with his wife, perished in the Empress of Ireland disaster, has been filed for probate. The estate is valued at $400,000. There are several charitable bequests, as follows:

To McGill University, Cambridge, $20,000.
To the National Museum and Antiquarian Society, $10,000.
To the Montreal General Hospital, $3,000.
To the Royal Victoria Hospital, $3,000.
To the Protestant House of Industry, $2,000.

The Situation in N. Oxford

[BY A. D. CLARKE.]

Leader Rowell carried North Oxford in 1911 by 559 majority. His majority should be increased this year, for though his opponent, R. E. Butler, is a very prominent and much beloved merchant in Woodstock, and a canvasser from the drop of the hat, and has been personally known as a man of temperate habits, he cannot shuffle the cards skilfully enough to prevent the liquor interests from turning up as trump. The jeopardy which the six hotel licenses are in with this paramount issue, the very pulse of the campaign, has led the vested interests to cling to Mr. Butler's shoulders like the "old man of the sea."

The activity of these interests during the hustle for manhood suffrage registration in the past week was coincident with the fury with which the Butler automobiles shook up the dust on the Woodstock streets.

The registration was the greatest ever recorded in the city of Woodstock, 764 names being placed on the voters' lists.

Previously the largest registration was in 1911, when 708 were registered. With all the fuss and bustle of the past few days, only 58 more names were added than in the previous election. There was no registration in the rural localities, so the list throughout the riding can show little numerical difference. Woodstock city has gone Conservative. In 1911 it gave Robert Lockhart a majority of 168 over Mr. Rowell on a vote, which stood, Rowell 875, Lockhart 1043.

PERSONAL CONVICTION TO PREVAIL.

The abolition of the open bar-room was not so pronouncedly the issue of that campaign as it is today, and many people of Conservative persuasion will certainly forsake party allegiance for personal conviction this time.

There was only one other polling division, which gave Mr. Lockhart a majority, and that was Blandford, where the majority was 9.

The other six rural municipalities gave Mr. Rowell 736 of a majority. Mr. Butler's chief strength lies in the City of Woodstock. It is the only centre in the riding where liquor licenses flourish, aside from Bright, where there is a small hotel, which a strong deputation of citizens are striving to have removed and at present is only operating under a three-months' extension.

Mr. Butler has tried on three previous occasions to get elected in North Oxford, but failed. He was twice defeated by Col. Munro, and once by Dr. Andrew MacKay. Mr. Lockhart, who opposed Leader Rowell in the last campaign, would have liked a re-nomination at this time, and endeavored to persuade the Conservative convention to this view. When he saw that he was to have the opposition of Mr. Butler, he advised that three beatings should be enough to make a man retire, and let someone else try.

CONCENTRATING ON THE CITY.

Mr. Butler apparently hopes to gain little outside of Woodstock city. He is concentrating on the urbanites, and particularly upon the new arrivals, who have attained to their majority. It would appear that his automobiles, and those who are working for him, have been the greater part of the 764 manhood suffrage voters to registration. In strenuous campaigning the Liberal executive of Woodstock could take a few lessons from Mr. Butler and his friends. They may be reserving their energies for the charge on election day, or they may have quieter and more effective methods than are employed by the great hoary party. But even though an analysis of the electric figures of previous years gives positive assurance of success, and the silent vote on a great moral question is all in their favor, strenuous opponents in election fights have been sometimes encouraged by the other fellow taking too much for granted. The stir and commotion kicked up by a glad-hand artist is apt to attract the fellows who have only a superficial knowledge of the issues, and are to mark their ballots for the first time. Then, sometimes, a young chap feels more complimented by the party friend who asks him for his vote than he does by those who do not appear to take a personal interest in him. Newcomers to a community may even be sensitive to this regard.

MR. BUTLER'S AMMUNITION.

The campaign of Mr. Butler is undoubtedly to be waged largely upon his record as a donor to local institutions. He and his friends are not over modest concerning the fact that he gave $2,500 to the Y. M. C. A. for a play-ground, and that he has offered to stake the ball team to any amount that will secure for Woodstock the premiership of the "webby league" and the "webby league" of the Presbyterian General Assembly he took all the children of Knox Church Sunday School for an automobile drive, or, in certain gatherings, that, though he doesn't take a drink himself, he has been known to stand a treat.

Some of these virtues he proudly advertised at his meeting Saturday night, even as the Pharisee of old.

But Mr. Rowell should win North Oxford by an increased majority. The earnestness of the man, the ability of the man, the sincerity of the man, and the progressive policies of the man have impressed the intelligent electorate of North Oxford as these qualities have the thinking bodies of the whole province, and made him an outstanding figure in Canada's national life.

ROBLIN IS CONFIDENT OF BEING RE-ELECTED

Says He Expects Over Forty Out of Forty-Nine Seats on July 10.

Winnipeg, June 16.—Premier Roblin announced in an address at Carman last night that provincial elections would be held Friday, June 10, with nominations a week earlier. "I have no fear of the result," he said. He predicted that forty or more of the forty-nine men to be elected would be his supporters.

Speaking of the Liberal advocacy of direct legislation, the Premier declared that "the Liberal party, if returned to power, propose to introduce responsible government in this province. They propose to introduce an element of republicanism that is foreign and repugnant to every man that loves British institutions and the British flag. Members of the legislature under direct legislation are so many pawns on the chess board."

Found a Friend In Dr. Chase

His Medicines Proven Effective, and Always Kept at Hand in This Home.

Mrs. Chas. Lovell, Agassiz, B. C., writes:—"I may tell you that I have found a great friend in Dr. Chase's medicines. I cannot praise his medicines too highly, and Dr. Chase's name is a household word in our home. Well, quite a number of years ago I sent to you for a sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for protruding piles, and, having used the sample and found relief, I sent to a neighboring town for four boxes, and I am completely cured. "I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver pills for constipation, and, after using them, I am completely cured of this dreadful disease. I am the mother of ten children, of whom nine are living, and when seven of my children were all very bad with whooping cough, caught in the middle of a severe winter, I used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and they were all cured before the winter was over, and now we are never without Dr. Chase's medicines. In our home, and I recommend them to all."

creatures having no power, nothing to stimulate them to action." He then proceeded to discuss and defend the Government's attitude regarding immigration, railway construction, temperance, etc.

In the course of his address, Premier Roblin said: "I have been nearly fourteen years in office. We have a record of which we are proud. Manitoba's development and expansion in that period is marvellous, and there has been no part of the moral, educational or material side that has not been fostered and cared for in a way that has earned for us the commendation of all who are competent to express an opinion."

CHURCHES UNITING TO FIGHT COMMON EVILS

Anglican Bishops and Other Clergy Hold Conference to Discuss Question.

[Canadian Press.] Montreal, June 16.—A London cable to the Daily Mail says: As a definite step towards united Christian action, the Presbytery held yesterday in Westminster Abbey, at which the Bishops of Winchester, Oxford and Bath and Wells, with other dignitaries of the Anglican Church, discussed with representative free church ministers the possibility of common action of the religious bodies of the country, in regard to such matters as purity, gambling and general social and moral questions.

ONLY ONE DROWNED WHEN DREDGE SANK

William Burt, of Port Dalhousie Sole Victim—Portion of Boat Savable.

[Canadian Press.] St. Catharines, Ont., June 16.—It is now known that but one man perished when the dredge Delver, of the Dominion Dredging Company, sank outside the piers at Port Dalhousie. The victim was William Burt, of Port Dalhousie.

The crew consisted of seventeen men, but only thirteen of these were with Capt. Gamble when in tow of the tug Alice he set out for Port Weller to escape the sea by taking shelter in Port Dalhousie. A portion of the dredge, which lies just outside the piers, is salvable. The survivors were picked up by the tugs Alice and Meteor.

MIDWAY ATTRACTIONS

Western Fair Side Shows Will be Supplied by Con. T. Kennedy Organization.

The midway at the Western Fair this year will be filled by the Con. T. Kennedy Shows. This organization is not only the largest but is acknowledged as the best in the field of outdoor amusements. It requires 3 double length railway cars to transport this aggregation from place to place. It carries with it a thirty-five piece band of very high class musicians.

There will be a variety of shows and something that will appeal to all. What pleases one will not always appeal to another. There will be a trained wild animal show. The Leota Musical Show, Kempt's Motel City and Farm, An Aztec Village, Langland, The Igorrotes, The Hindoos, The Jumping Horse, an Egyptian Hall of Mystery and various others, twenty in all. This will be one of the cleanest and best midways ever shown at the exhibition. The exhibition dates are September 11 to 19.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD

[Canadian Press.] Paris, June 16.—On the formal complaint of the Brazilian minister, legal proceedings have been taken against Wenderly De Mendoca, formerly financial agent of France in the State of Alagoas, Brazil. De Mendoca is charged with defrauding the state of $2,000,000. The police have seized his books and papers, but have not located him.

DEATHS OF THE DAY.

Canon Dies in Westminster Abbey. [Canadian Press.] London, June 16.—The Right Rev. Robert Tucker, canon of Durham since 1911, became suddenly ill in Westminster Abbey yesterday, and died in that edifice. Canon Tucker was bishop of Eastern Equatorial Africa from 1896 to 1899, and bishop of Uganda from 1899 to 1911. He was born in 1849.

Well-Known Actress. London, June 16.—Charlotte Addison, the actress who had played scores of roles during the past 50 years, died yesterday. She was born at Liverpool in 1849, and made her first appearance on the stage as a child in Tom Taylor's old play, "Nine Points of the Law."

COURT CASE AN ECHO OF TITANIC DISASTER

[Canadian Press.] Nice, France, June 16.—The hearing in a suit brought before the civil court by Mme. Marcelle Navratil, widow of a victim of the Titanic disaster, was begun yesterday. Mme. Navratil asks damages to the amount of 150,000 francs ($30,000) for the loss of her husband. The court reserved decision.

METHODIST LAYMEN STRONGLY INDORSE "ABOLISH THE BAR"

Pass Resolutions at Montreal Urging Brethren in Ontario to Give It Hearty Support—Wish Rowell Godspeed.

[Canadian Press.] Montreal, June 16.—At a meeting last night of the Laymen's Association of the Methodist Conference, the policy of N. W. Rowell, leader of the Opposition in Ontario, in regard to the liquor question, was indorsed in the following resolution: "Recognizing the unquestionable evils of the drink traffic in any form and the uniform opposition of the Methodist Church to the traffic, therefore be it resolved: (1) that we, the laymen of the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church, here assembled, do learn with gratitude that N. W. Rowell, K.C., has added the abolition of the public bar and club licenses as a plank in his platform in the present campaign in the Province of Ontario; (2) that we wish Mr. Rowell Godspeed in his worthy undertaking and express the hope that all members of our church in the Province of Ontario will use both their influence and their franchise to elect candidates who will support Mr. Rowell in his undertaking."

A stir was caused by a speech in opposition by Bob Moha, of Milwaukee, at the end K.C. of Morrisburg, who argued that conditions in many parts of Ontario were not favorable to a successful enforcement of such a law, citing his own county of Dundas as an example. He was strongly in favor of local option, but it would, he thought, take an army of officials to enforce such a law.

The consciences of the majority strongly dictated their support of the abolition plank, however, and the measure was carried without a dissenting voice, although several members refrained from voting.

A resolution that stationing committees hereafter be composed of fifty per cent laymen instead of entirely of ministers as at present was passed during the afternoon, between ballots.

BELGIUM OF DISASTROUS STORM

One Killed, Many Injured, by Lightning—Hundreds of Cattle Drowned.

[Canadian Press.] Brussels, June 16.—A great storm did immense damage throughout Belgium last night. In Brussels five persons were seriously injured by lightning. Near Ghent a railway employee was killed. At Renix two trains collided, the signals having been disarranged by the storm, and many persons were injured. Hundreds of cattle have been drowned or killed by lightning.

MUSICIANS MARRY.

London, June 16.—The American singer, Mme. Alma Gluck, and the Russian violinist, Efren Zinkovsk, were married yesterday by a registrar in London. The announcement of the engagement was made last February.

DEAN OF THE ROTA PASSES ON BULK OF CHURCH LAW CASES

Monsignor Lega

Monsignor Lega is dean of the Sacred Tribunal of the Rota. He is one of the highest authorities in the Catholic Church on canon law.

The Rota passes on the great bulk of law cases arising in the church, subject to canon law, such as the Gould-Castellane divorce case.

LONDON LIBERALS

and the others. I know and feel it that though some of these old workers may be dead, that the Liberal party is not dead. It may be in adversity, but it is not cast down. It may be wounded, but its wounds are slight and it is recovering."

He then paid a glowing tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the men at the head of the Liberal party in Ontario, tributes that evoked the greatest enthusiasm from the audience, declaring that Sir Wilfrid was the statesman who had created the true Canadian imperialism, the imperialism that had made the Dominion an integral part of the British Empire and had made it an ally of the Mother Land.

A Unique Figure.

Of Newton Wesley Rowell, he said he was a figure unique in the political world, a man who filled a position that no political leader in the country had ever filled before. The high moral character of the men who had been at the head of political affairs in the Dominion was reviewed. These men, he said, had, however, been politicians, men active in political life, while Rowell was a man of good a character, and a man who had gone before, to the political field, had been a known leader who sought to benefit humanity and make citizenship higher.

"The Liberal party has allied itself to the great moral question of the day. Is it going to be successful?" asked Dr. Campbell.

"The Liberal party took an advanced step when it allied itself with the moral and temperance issue and that it would suffer a great deal as a result. It was said that we would lose the support of many. We have lost their support."

Not Matter of Expediency. "If the Liberal party took up the Moral Reform policy as an idea for the purpose of securing party support, then from his party, and when I say that I am not finding fault with the Conservatives, for there are many good men among them, and those two forces are a personal grievance and a charge of dynamite."

Hold Ties Lightly. "I do not know how strong the personal grievance feeling is, but there is the great mass of the voting public who hold their party ties lightly, and who control a general election. If the majority of these believe as does Rowell, then there is no question that there will be a change of Government and that change soon."

Dr. Campbell then paid his respects to the present provincial administration. "The Government that has recklessly squandered the revenues of the province, revenues greater than were ever handled by a government before, a government that has raised the expenditures of the province from $5,000,000 to $22,000,000 in ten years is not managing your affairs right. It is not enough that it has been reckless. If it had been modest enough the increased revenue it would not have been so bad, but it has reverted to increased taxation. It has had to borrow money. The provincial treasurer, at the head of the house, frankly said that he had not enough money, and that he would have to borrow more next year."

Using The Prod. "If there has been anything worth doing that the present Government has done, it is because it has been prodded into it. It has not made a movement without the prod. (Cheers.) We hear a lot of the Workmen's Compensation bill. They delayed giving us the bill for years while the Liberals prodded and pushed. Finally, they got Sir William Meredith to prepare a bill and got it through the house. The Liberals allowed them to do it. Now that the bill is through, the Government has put off putting it into force until the end of the year. It would not allow a single amendment to be made, though it is still uncompleted. It does not go into force until next December. If reports are true, it is the intention, if the Government is sustained, to amend the act in favor of the employers. If it is going to be amended at all it should not be in favor of the employer, but the employee. (Applause.)

The Three Fifths Clause. "Then they tell us of the temperance policy of the Conservative party. They point to the number of licenses that have been cut off. This was made possible when the Mowat act passed, and if it had not been for the three-fifths clause that was tacked on by the Conservatives, there would be many more."

"What about Hanna and his prison reforms? Give him all credit for what he has done. If the Government had done anything it should have been something for the prevention of the making of criminals, not for their care."

"The Government has been reactionary."

In the ten years that it has been in power it has run into debt."

Speaking of local conditions, he said that while frankly he did not consider the present conditions encouraging for a win, he advocated placing a candidate in the field and fighting for principle. He asked that the Moral and Temperance party, for whom Rowell was fighting, be heard from, and declared that he did not care who the man was who was brought out as long as he was a good man and would support Rowell's policy.

"What ever the result in London," declared the speaker, "Mr. Rowell is going back with a greater knowingness than he ever had before, and I am optimistic enough to believe at times that he will have a majority (prolonged applause.)"

Names Committee. C. A. Whitman then took the floor and introduced a resolution, naming the committee, afterwards selected, to consider the advisability of placing a candidate in the field.

P. G. Rumball, who followed, declared that the time was ripe for a change in Government, and made a stirring appeal for a fight in London.

His declaration in favor of an election, like every one of similar character, was greeted with prolonged applause.

Claude R. Sanagan, past president of the Young Liberals, said the only question in the various nominations throughout the country was whether the Liberal party would nominate a candidate to stand by the abolish-the-bar policy, but whether or not the man would measure up to the standard set by Rowell. This, he declared, was the question for the London Liberals to face. London was a good town to try out a temperance fight. The presence of the breweries here made it an excellent field.

Favors an Election. J. F. Madden, a temperance worker, and himself a life-long Conservative, declared himself in accord with the sentiment expressed for an election.

"I want to see an election here. I don't want Hanna, if he is elected, to go to the premier's chair and point to London as an example of where the people were satisfied with the Conservative temperance policy," was part of his speech.

W. T. Mossop, another temperance man, declared that there were many Conservatives who were not content to tunity to cast their ballot for Rowell and temperance.

"There is the money of good Conservatives being spent at Toronto to secure moral reform, and it is not being spent for fun," he declared. Conservatives are contributing to the moral reform funds, and they want to see their money bearing fruit. We have been asleep here in London. If we had placed a man in the field three weeks ago he could have won.

"Don't you ever think that the Conservative party has this riding in its pocket. I put it up to a Conservative last week, and he referred to the consistency of their platform, declaring that he would likely support Rowell's abolish-the-bar platform."

"Come with me and I'll ask him right now whether he will or not," I answered.

Might Stir It Up. "I wouldn't do that," was his answer. "It might stir him up against it."

"I'd like to see a man I'm afraid to ask whether he would support this abolition of the bar or not. What we want is a man in whom the principle of temperance is grounded deep, and then get behind this man and support him." (Applause.)

Another speaker likened the Conservative temperance policy to the killing of a dog by starting with slings pieces out of his tail instead of cutting off his head at once.

William Edgcombe referred to Rowell's prolonged fight, the weak policy of imitation of Whitney in introducing the anti-treating legislation, and the doing of this with it, and ended his short address by the declaration that it was up to London to fight.

Michael Donahue took the platform after J. A. Cody had spoken briefly, nominating Dr. Stevenson whose name brought forth great applause.

"He can carry London hands down and he's the man to give us just Government and pure legislation," said Mr. Donahue.

Surprise to Dr. Stevenson. Dr. Stevenson was then called to the platform, and was manifestly surprised that his name had been brought before the meeting. He declared that he had simply come to do his share in fighting for the Liberal party when a candidate was nominated. He expressed his gratitude at the honor that had been accorded him, but declared that the question of acceptance was beyond his comprehension.

He commented on the enthusiasm of the meeting, and its democratic character, declaring that the democracy of the Liberal party was the feature of it that he worshipped. At the same time, he made a plea for the party to stand by its candidates.

Just as Good in Defeat.

"If he is defeated, stand by him for four years till he has another chance," he said. "He is just as good a Liberal because he is defeated as he is when he is victorious. A better one."

"We should not be cast down by defeat. We ought to come back stronger each time. I glory in the work of this meeting to put up a candidate. We have to stand by the policy of our leader, and we must put up a fight."

"We know that there will be the same old knock, the same old cry, 'What is that to us?' The song is getting so old that it is a joke. We will mind our own business, and go on with our fight. We are all united here."

Must Consider It. "As I said before, I was greatly surprised by my nomination. It would require a great deal of thought for me to consider it. There are other candidates the committee could secure. In my profession it is not always possible to devote the time that this would require."

"However, I will not see the election go by default. With the enthusiasm that has prevailed here tonight I feel sure that we will have a candidate."

T. H. Furdon, K. C., was the last speaker of the evening. He reviewed the temperance policy of the Liberal Government from Sir Oliver Mowat down to Leader Rowell, declaring that Mowat, Hon. A. S. Hardy and Sir George Ross had gone as far as it was possible for men to go in the temperance legislation that they had enacted. It was a question, he said, how far to go in temperance legislation. He also touched on the many sides of the question.

In closing the meeting Chairman Pocock congratulated those present on the splendid attendance and the enthusiasm that had been displayed over leader Rowell's policy.

Hearty cheers for the King and Leader Rowell brought the convention to a close.

Committee Named.

The committee appointed to select a candidate will meet Wednesday afternoon. The members are: T. H. Furdon, Frank Leonard, C. E. Somerville, T. S. Hobbs, George S. Gibbons, R. C. STORSTAD OWNERS READY TO PUT UP VERY STRONG FIGHT

Inquiry Into Empress Disaster Beginning With Public Opinion Favoring Liner and Expert Opinion the Collier.

[Canadian Press.]
QUEBEC, June 15.—With practically all the witnesses in town except the captain and crew of the Storstad, who are expected down by the Richelieu and Ontario boat in the morning, the stage is set for the great legal battle connected with the disaster in which the Canadian Pacific Railway steamship, Empress of Ireland, and more than a thousand souls went down to their doom, which is to open in the courtroom under the presidency of Lord Mersey, the distinguished English jurist, tomorrow morning.
Boiled down, the situation at present, so far as can be gathered from a careful canvass of all the parties concerned, seems to be that popular opinion seems to favor the Empress, and the bulk of expert opinion the Storstad. Although the representatives of the latter were most reticent in their expressions, it is the general idea that they consider they have a strong case. There are probably two main points on which interest will center, these being the question of the international rules governing collisions, or rather the prevention of them, and the action taken by the captain of the Storstad, subsequent to the calamity.

Storstad Case Strong.
It is understood that on both these points the representatives of the owners of the Storstad think they have a strong case. It is said that their contention will be that when the Empress saw the Storstad, she was in the starboard bow of the latter, and that therefore, according to the principal rules of the sea, the Empress was bound to keep clear of the Storstad's way. That is to say, she was bound to keep her course, passing port to port and red light to red light. Instead of that, it is said, the Storstad struck the Empress on the starboard, or green light side, and therefore, the onus of proof is likely to be on the Empress.

As for the charge that the Storstad drew away after the fatal accident, the opposing story will in all likelihood take the form that the Norwegian collier kept her engines going full steam ahead in order to fill the gap, but that the rate of speed at which the Empress of Ireland was going swung the boat that rammed her around and wrenched the Storstad's bow out of the hole which she had made. It is argued that the condition of the Storstad's stem will corroborate them.

Empress the Faster Boat.
Emphasis may also be laid on the fact that the faster boat, the Empress, was going down stream and the collier coming. The Storstad will be represented by C. A. Duclos, Montreal, formerly mayor of Westmount.
He will be assisted by J. W. Griffin of C. S. Haigh, of New York, both of whom are lawyers of the United States Admiralty, and figured in the Titanic investigation, and Norman Peecher, also of New York, and Arthur Fitzpatrick, of Quebec, son of Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.
Captain O. Lange will represent the Storstad owners, and R. H. Lohas the underwriters.

It has been expected that Robert Lange, K.C., of London, would also

A Woman's Charm.

Beautiful hair, fluffy, lustrous, abundant and free from dandruff, is one of woman's greatest charms—it is her main delight—yet many who would be most attractive but for their streaked, thin and lifeless hair, think there is no remedy and that pretty hair is a gift of nature.
Beautiful hair is a matter of care and attention. Parisian Sage, when rubbed into the scalp and applied to the hair, will work wonders—you will be surprised and delighted with the first application.
not only will the hair appear abundant, soft, fluffy, radiant with life, but really doubly beautiful.

Parisian Sage supplies hair and scalp needs. It surely removes dandruff with one application and cleanses the hair of all dirt and excessive oil. It is an inexpensive, scientific tonic, and contains nothing to injure the hair or scalp. It can be secured from W. T. Strong or at any drug or toilet counter.
Delighted users pronounce Parisian Sage the best, most pleasant and invigorating hair tonic made.—Adv.

act for the collier, but he found it impossible to come over.

Many Witnesses Called.
Between 40 and 70 witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear by the Government. These will include Captain H. G. Kendall, of the Empress;
First Officer E. Jones, Chief Engineer
W. Sampson, Lookout J. Carroll, and about thirty others of the crew. For the Storstad there will be Captain Thomas Andersen, First Officer A.
Tufness, Second Officer Einar Renert, Third Officer Jacob Sachs, Chief Engineer L. Syvertsen, Third Officer Jacob Lundquist, who was on watch at the time of the accident, and between thirty and forty others. It is quite possible also that Mrs. Andersen, the wife of the captain, may also be called, besides a number of Empress passengers whom the Storstad counsel are said to have in reserve, but who have not been subpoenaed as yet.

SEVEN BURNED IN A BOARDING-HOUSE FIRE

Others May Die as Result of Blaze at Milford, Mass.

[Canadian Press.]
Milford, Mass., June 15.—Seven Americans were burned to death and twenty seriously injured when eighty men were trapped in a burning lodging house early today. Two of those injured are expected to die. The bodies were taken from the upper floors of the four-and-a-half story brick and wooden structure. In addition to the twenty men taken to a hospital suffering from burns or injuries received in jumping from windows, thirty sustained minor hurts. The interior of the building was burned out.

The fire started in the dining hall on the ground floor of the structure.
When the firemen arrived flames were shooting through all four floors. The heat was so intense that the firemen were unable to enter, and the only way they could aid the occupants was by spreading nets and blankets to catch them as they leaped from the windows.
The victims were laborers and moulders employed at a manufacturing plant in Hopedale. None of them had families.
The financial loss is small.

U. S. ARMY DESERTER TOLD A WEIRD STORY

Claimed He Was Taken From a "Blind Pig" and Locked in Boxcar.

TORONTO, June 15.—Ten days ago a man with hands bound and apparently in an exhausted condition, was found in a boxcar in the West Toronto yards. He told an extraordinary story of having been taken by unknown persons from a "blind pig" and placed in the car ten days before his liberation.
His story was so suspicious that, after being taken to a hospital, he was arrested and sent to jail as a vagrant.

He has now been identified as a deserter from the United States army post at Hayes, West Virginia, having left there in September, 1913. He was identified by a circular.
The name which the man gave,
Andrew Milne, was that which he bore in the army.

HAMILTON BOY KILLED

HAMILTON, June 15.—Willie Hogan, five years of age, ran over by an automobile near his home, 99 Oxford street and almost instantly killed this evening at 8 o'clock.
He was walking along the side-walk and stepped off in front of the car. He had left his home only a few minutes before meeting death.

Fred Williams, 27 Harvey street, the driver of the taken to a hospital, he rendered all the assistance he could, taking the body to the city hospital.

SKELETONS OF INFANTS TERRIBLE REMINDERS

MONTREAL, June 15.—A new house to the old building occupied by the Montreal City Mission, once one of the most evil of Cadieux street, is a notable mark of progress in the work of the mission during its four years of life.
This house was one of the most evil of the red light district. In the course of making the necessary repairs and renovating the place, the skeletons and disjunct bones of infants were found in profusion, buried in the woodwork and under the floors.

SIX THOUSAND BUSHELS OF WHEAT ARE BURNED

C. P. R. Grainshed at Hamilton, and Contents, Destroyed.

HAMILTON, June 15.—The roof of the
C. P. R. grain shed caught fire here about 7:30 this evening. The building and contents, six thousand bushels of wheat, are a total loss. The wheat was owned by the grain buyers and insured.
An apple shed also burned down and a coal shed was damaged.

CAPITAL OF FRANCE STRICKEN BY FLOOD

Streets Undermined Sink Away, Causing at Least 7 Deaths
—Taxi and Two People Buried.

[Canadian Press.]

PARIS, June 15.—A thunderstorm of phenomenal violence raged over Paris for three hours this evening. It caused loss of life and enormous damage to property. The great volumes of rain flooded the streets and caused the bursting of sewers. In the central fashionable quarter of the city street caved in, engulfing several pedestrians. The number of victims is not known, owing to the danger of approaching the immense pits resulting from the collapse of sidewalks and roadways. The police estimate the victims at seven, at least.

The most serious cave-in occurred at the Place St. Philippe de Roulet, at the junction of the Rue la Boétie, and the Faubourg Saint Honoré. When the storm was at its height a sharp, rending sound was heard in this quarter, and simultaneously five hundred square feet of the roadway heaved up and sank, carrying with it a number of persons who had taken shelter under the awning of a café. Water spouted from the broken main, and added to the torrents from the skies, converted the whole district into a veritable river. Gas mains, telephone wires and electrical supply were broken off.

Darkness Prevents Rescue Work.
The quarter was immediately isolated, and the Prefect of the Seine, with large detachments of police, were hastily summoned, but for a long time nothing could be done owing to the darkness. Firemen stormed the city street lamps, and with the assistance of the men of laborers, began the risky task of exploring the wrecked street. Meanwhile, the occupants of two large houses at the corner of the Rue la Boétie were ordered out of the buildings, as it was feared that the foundations might be undermined.
As soon as he was informed of the accident, the President of the Senate, Berthelot, sent a member of his military household to the scene, and troops were ordered to aid the police and firemen in their efforts at rescue.

Taxicab Buried in Street.
About the same time, a large section of the roadway in the Place Saint Augustin, where the Boulevards Malesherbes and Haumann intersect, suddenly collapsed. A passing taxicab was engulfed.
Eyewitnesses saw a woman's hand waving from the vehicle and the head of the chauffeur as the taxicab disappeared. Almost immediately, a great block of stone fell upon it. A large wagonette just missed the same fate, the hind wheels sinking axle deep in the soil, but the occupants made their escape.

A cordon of police and soldiers was also established here. The flood reached a depth of three feet and swept everything before it. Almost at the beginning of the Rue Thionnet, at the junction of the Rue Thionnet, the Rue Alber and the Boulevard Haussmann, one of the busiest sections of Paris, disappeared, leaving an opening thirty feet long and fifteen feet wide, into which the water from a broken main poured in a torrent. A pedestrian fell in, but was quickly dragged to a place of safety.

Escaping Gas on Fire.
The cordon of police kept the people

Home Wrinkles Recipe— Astonishing Results

Such startling, sensational results come from a very simple, harmless home-made wrinkle-remover, there's no excuse now for anyone wearing those hateful marks of age, illness or worry. No need fooling with worthless pastes, creams, nor "skin foods" which don't feed the skin. No need using harsh, massaging, steaming and rubbing methods which expand and loosen skin and underlying tissue, aggravating a wrinkled, flabby condition.
Better, safer, more scientific is the scientific formula. Thousands have successfully tried it—thousands freed of wrinkles, enlarged pores, saggy cheeks, double chin
—thousands younger looking, happier!
All you need do is to dissolve one ounce of powdered sassafras in one-half pint witch hazel, and bathe your face in this.
The effect is almost magical. Even deep-set wrinkles, saggy cheeks, double chin —all disappear. Skin becomes firm, smooth, fresh looking —bears no trace of treatment except enhanced beauty. Obtain this inexpensive ingredients at your druggist's, try this marvelous sassafras lotion today.—Adv.

NEW MEANING OF STARS AND STRIPES

[Canadian Press.]

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Waving his hand toward an American flag, hoisted by a squad of bluejackets, President Wilson told a great crowd assembled today before the state, war and navy building to celebrate Flag Day, that flying over a reunited nation, this banner for the future was "meant to stand for the just use of undisputed national power."

"I sometimes wonder why men take this flag and flaunt it," said the President. "If I am respected I do not have to demand respect. If I am feared I do not ask for fear. If my power is known I do not have to proclaim it. I do not understand the temper, neither does this nation understand, the temper of men who use this flag boastfully."

"This flag for the future is meant to stand for the just use of undisputed national power. No nation is ever going to doubt our power to assert its rights, and we should lay it to heart that no nation shall ever henceforth doubt our purpose to put it to the highest uses to which a great people of justice and government can be put.
"It is henceforth to stand for self-possession, for dignity, for the assertion of the right of one nation to serve the other nations of the world—an emblem that will not condescend to be used for purposes of aggression and self-aggrandizement; that is too great to be debased by selfishness; that has vindicated its right to be honored by all nations of the world, and feared by none who do righteousness."

Dorothy Vernon, a typical girl of New York life, who by environment is practically brought up on the streets, finds herself at the age of twenty-two, pretty, well dressed and living in style, but owing it all to her earnings as a stool pigeon for a gang of crooks. She gets sick and tired of the life she lives. Jim Clark, an Arizona farmer, finds himself at the age of thirty a widower with a little girl who must depend on his housekeeper, Miss Brown, for motherly attention. Miss Brown does not like children and Clark realizes that the child is not happy. He advertises for a wife and at a psychological moment Dorothy reads of the opportunity to cut loose from her wicked life, and in a new country start anew. She accordingly answers the ad and Clark sends her money for the trip to join her. They are married and the future looks rosy, but Miss Brown, who finding her nose out of joint, looks with suspicious eye on the newly-wedded pair. One day, when she comes across a letter which leads her to suspect something of the life the wife has led prior to her marriage. The husband is informed, then follows a sequence of sorrowful events, but which the man ignores. One day, Dorothy finds that she has found a haven of rest for her tired soul upon which she can depend forever.

SIXTH BATTERY NOW CONSISTS OF ONE OFFICER

He is Regimental Sergeant Major, Member of Permanent Force.

OFFICERS HAVE RESIGNED

All Volunteer Members of the Corps Receive Their Discharge.

CIVIL ACTION THREATENED

End of the Petawawa Incident Has Not Likely Been Reached.

Canada has a one-man militia department. London has a one-man battery. Save for this one man, the regimental sergeant-major, who is a member of the permanent force, the Sixth Field Battery exists on the books of the Canadian militia department only. There are guns, equipment, arms and saddlery, but neither men nor officers, save, as before mentioned, the sergeant-major.

In addition to the resignation of every officer of the battery, every one of the volunteer members of the corps asked for and received his discharge when the battery was paid off at the Armories yesterday morning, as a direct result of the Petawawa incident, when the officers' tents were searched and a quantity of liquor was seized, and the commanding officer, Major Wood Leonard, subsequently asked for his resignation.

Civil Action May Follow.
The matter will not rest with the disbanding of the corps, it is said, and, as announced in The Advertiser of last night, there is every likelihood that Major Leonard will enter a civil action against Lieut.-Col. Morris, Petawawa camp commandant, and those responsible for the searching of the tents.

One person's close touch with the situation stated yesterday that the officers had good grounds for an action, and that their friends were urging them to sue. "No Canadian house," he said, "can be searched without a warrant, and an officer's tent or room is his house for the time being at least."
As has been already published, an order was placed with a local brewer, prior to going to camp, for a quantity of local option beer; and just before leaving, this local option beer was loaded, together with a quantity of lager beer, and presented by the company for use on the train. No mention was made of this latter to anyone before leaving, and the beer was under the impression, as far as the battery was concerned, that it was all local option beer; and no one in the battery was aware that there was anything in their lines other than the local option beer, which was, of course, allowed on the grounds.

Officers Were Confident.
There was no secrecy whatever in handling the beer and no one had any suspicion that the mistake had been made. That was why, when asked in hesitation that there had been brought in, and they did so in perfect good faith. Anyone conversant with the work of the battery knows that the officers have their hands full and have no time to personally pick over each bottle brought in for use in the canteen.

In the battery order book, brought back to the Armories, an order issued by Major Leonard prior to going to camp, forbidding the taking of liquor of any kind to camp, and furthermore cautioning every sergeant to see that the order was obeyed, was taken and that beer was in camp unknown to anyone in the battery, is therefore, claimed by the officers' friends, and the authority for the action taken by the camp commandant at law expressed intense indignation over the treatment of the officers.

Seizure During Absence.
"They gave their word of perfect good faith," he said, "and it should have been accepted in good faith until proved otherwise. Instead, the beer was seized, which is tantamount to calling the officers all liars, and the camp was searched. Major Leonard and all the officers were absent on the ranges when this was done, and Major Leonard, a long galled, only arrived for the finishing touches of the action of the department is inexplicable," he continued. "The information comes in the first instance, I presume, from the sergeant-major, the seizure is made behind the backs of the officers concerned. Their word was not accepted and their tents were searched without legal warrant and without giving grounds for swearing out a warrant. In this country, where there is such a thing as personal liberty, no minister of militia has authority from the people to act as the minister did in this instance."

Making London An Example.
"It is no wonder the officers resigned. In fact, Major Leonard would have at once marched the battery off the grounds had it not been that it would have been unfair to the men who had worked so hard and so loyally to put their corps in good shape. The London Battery was the only militia unit in camp at the time, and the minister apparently thought that by making an example of the Londoners he could impress those coming later with his absolute and autocratic power. In doing so he seems to have forgotten that there are such things as honor, justice or law."

Looks Like Spite Work.
"But, in addition to showing his authority, there was probably another motive in giving Major Leonard his leave of absence. Of course, following the indignity, all the officers placed their resignations in the hands of the commander, and the leave of absence, coming a few days before camp broke up, looks like petty spite work. It means that after getting all the work out of Major Leonard, the militia department was to dispense with his services just when his presence was necessary for the battery to make a good showing in the competition against the other batteries of the Dominion. The mere fact that he was not present at inspection and in the shooting competition automatically lost the battery a number of marks, no matter how well the others worked in his absence."

Another "Raw Deal."

The London Battery is also indignant over the alleged partiality shown by Colonel Hon. Sam Hughes towards the Quebec corps. As stated some time ago in the press, the officers endeavored to secure palace cars to transport their horses to Petawawa. Major Beattie, M.P., and Hon. Adam Beck both worked to this end, but the necessary permission was not forthcoming. The officers then decided to pay the differences themselves and notified the C.P.R. A wire, however, was received by Mr. Wm. Fulton, C.P.R. agent, to the effect that the Minister of Militia had instructed the railway not to comply with the request of the officers, with the result that the ordinary stock cars had to be used and the battery was short of a number of horses for its camp.

Since the return of the battery to the city it has been learned that the Londoners received a great surprise when the Eastern Townships brigade came in. The horses of the three batteries, Granby, Sherbrooke and Coaticook came in palace cars, and the members of the Sixth Field Battery began to ask whether the intention was to give London a "raw deal," or whether the minister had some special reason for "favoring" the Quebec batteries, as the London horses had considerably farther to go than the Quebec horses.

OFFER TO WALK IS TURNED DOWN

Police Magistrate Would Not Have Quartette Indulge in Long Hike.

ORDERS REST INSTEAD

Separates Holidays So as to Solve Problem of "When Shall We Meet Again."

Three Hamilton gentlemen, David Simms, Henry Smith and Thomas Smith, boarded a Grand Trunk fast freight train last night, hour unstated. At Dundas, Roy Reynolds also boarded the freight. They met at London they were met. Grand Trunk Detective Hughes officiated at the meeting. This morning they were officially introduced to the magistrate.

Officer Hughes explained that they were riding in a box car, bonded through to Detroit. The car had been broken open. "Come out here," invited the magistrate. They came out, and were lined up.

"What have you to say to the charge?" Mr. Simms acted as spokesman. "If you will only let me go this time I'll go right away from here," he said. "Yes, you'll go right away from here on another train," returned the P. M. "No, sir, if you let me go, I'll walk all the way to Sarnia. I'll get a job on a boat there. I will."

The others were equally anxious to see the Imperial City at close range. "But you will all go together, and that would never do," reasoned the magistrate. "I must find some other way." Then followed the handing down of justice. Reynolds drew $2 or two days as his portion. David Simms, he of the oratorical powers, got $2, but an additional day tacked on his holidays. The magistrate then looked at the Smiths. "There are two of you," he said. "It would never do to have you come out together."

While this perplexing question was being settled, Reynolds took the floor. "I may as well go, and that would never do," reasoned the magistrate. "I must find some other way." He paid and was let go. "That simplifies things somewhat," said the magistrate. "There are two of you," he said. "It would never do to have you come out together."

He is Trying.
Samuel Chapman was drunk. "Why don't you look after your wife, Chapman?" asked the magistrate. "I'm trying to," was the answer. "You're trying in a poor way. I'll fine you $10 or 21 days."

Claims to Work.
John Lawrence, charged with being a vagrant, appeared in the prisoners' dock. He stood up and faced the magistrate. "Where did you come from?" "Bristol, England."

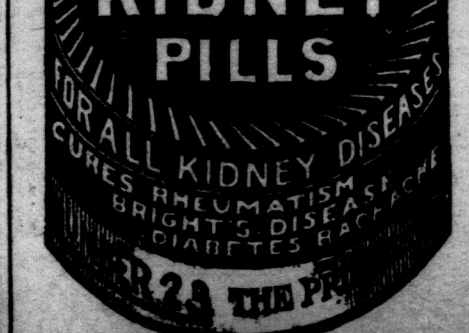

"What are you doing here?" "Why, I work. I work in a box factory."

"Yes," said the magistrate, without encouragement, "45 or 10 days."

Only Had a Couple. Bigger?
"Why were you drunk again, Bigger?" asked the magistrate, when Charles appeared before him. "I only had a couple, your worship," he defended.

"That makes no difference. You had enough to get drunk." He was allowed to go.

Draws a Pass.
David Rutherford drew a pass out of court. He was drunk, but hadn't been up on the carpet this year. He left with a warning in his ears.

SPLENDID CONCERT IN NEW CHURCH

Egerton Street Baptists Celebrate Opening of New Building in Interesting Manner.

The first concert in the new Egerton Street Baptist Church, given last evening, drew a record crowd. The auditorium was well filled and a most enjoyable time was spent by the church members and their friends. Greetings were extended by other denominations, Rev. S. E. McKegney, of St. David's Church, and Rev. G. Millard, of the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, making short addresses. Rev. Dr. McCrae, of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, was also to have been present, but he sent a letter of regret.

A feature of the meeting was the presentation of a framed picture of the new church to Deacon Finch by the pastor, Rev. W. C. Kiddford, and George Graham, Mr. Finch had charge of the oversailing of the building's construction. In the absence of Hon. Adam Beck, who was to have acted as chairman, the chair was taken by the pastor. Rev. W. A. Cameron, of Toronto, delivered an interesting lecture on "A Pilgrimage to the Land of Burns." The following took part in addition—Wilfred Head, solo; Miss Cochran, solo; and Mrs. W. Terry, solo.

MONTREAL REGIMENT FULFILLED THE LAW

Forbidden to Carry Government Rifles, They Obtained Others, Says Hughes.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, June 16.—The sixty-fifth regiment violated the spirit of the law, but not its letter, when on Sunday it guarded the host with arms in hands, as it was carried through the streets of Montreal last Sunday in the corps christening procession.
This morning Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes returned from Niagara. He says that "The Sixty-fifth observed the letter of the law, because the rifles they carried were not Government rifles."
It appears that the regulations forbid militiamen carrying their own guns in a religious procession. According to the Minister of Militia, the Sixty-fifth got rifles which did not belong to the Government, and carried them in the parade. It is understood that Col. Hughes did not give his consent to this manoeuvre, but that he does not propose to disband the regiment or hold a court-martial of Col. Ostell or any of the regiments because of the action.

THE ADVANTAGE OF KILTS.

[Montreal Mail.]
A Montreal tailor explained to the fire commissioner that he was unable to put out a fire in his store because he was changing his trousers. The supreme advantage of kilts is obvious.

GENIUS DEPENDS ON WIFE TO "REMEMBER" ENGAGEMENT DATES

George K. Chederton.
London, June 16.—George K. Chederton, writer of books and famous wit, never declines an invitation to dinner or an invitation to speak. The trouble is that he is likely to accept a half dozen invitations for the same date and then forget every one of them.
Chederton's absent-mindedness has caused him so much inconvenience that he now depends on his wife entirely to do his "remembering" for him.
