BRITISH HOLD GAINS AGAINST FOE ATTACKS

Fighting Lulls on the Cambrai Front, But Elsewhere Teuton Assailed Allied Lines Unsuccessfully—Raids Executed by British.

By Courier Leased Wire
London, Dec. 1.—The Germans last night made no further large attacks on the Cambrai front, where they conducted a violent offensive yesterday in an effort to regain the ground captured by the British last week. The following official announcement was given out here to-day:
"On Cambrai battle front the Germans during the night, made no effort to renew their principal attacks."
"Southwest of Vendhuile, local attacks were successfully repulsed by us. The hostile artillery has been more active than usual in the Scarpe valley."
"Three raids attempted by the enemy last night southwest of La Bassee were driven off by our fire. We made two successful raids in the neighborhood of Warneton, inflicting many casualties on the enemy and securing prisoners on both occasions."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Even the kitchen waste at British army camps, is being used to send shells against the Germans, according to consular reports to-day to the Department of Commerce. Glycerine sufficient to provide the propellant for 17,000,000 shells yearly is being produced from fats which hitherto were thrown away. The waste is producing products worth $400,000 monthly.

BURFORD STRONG FOR HARRY COCKSHUTT AT RALLY THERE

Brant's Win The War Candidate and Other Unionist Supporters Laid Issues Before People of Burford Last Night—Col. Cockshutt's Reply to N. W. Rowell

Burford, Nov. 30.—(By Staff Reporter)—"For myself, I stand for Union Government and the winning of the war, before all else. That achieved, I shall follow the dictates of my conscience in supporting whatever policy seems to me the best for Canada's future. To-night, for the sake of this man overseas and those who have fallen, I appeal to you to see that Canada does her duty."
In this above words, and like fearless and unqualified utterances, Col. Harry Cockshutt, endorsed candidate of the Great War Veterans' Association, laid before his hearers the issues of the day, at a union rally held here to-night in the armories, attended by a goodly gathering, which included a high percentage of women and a large number of farmers, solid for union government and the winning of the war. The speakers of the evening were Lt. W. G. Flowerday, Mr. W. S. Brewster, Col. Harry Cockshutt and Senator J. H. Fisher, all of whom sounded the slogan of the union government.

Col. Cockshutt in particular, had a reply to the charge of Mr. N. W. Rowell, that Sir Robert Borden had requested him (Col. Cockshutt) to withdraw from the field.
"This is true," stated Col. Cockshutt. "That request was made to me, but only on Nov. 17, two days before nomination day, and after I had waited nearly a month for a reply to my offer to withdraw provided Mr. Harold did likewise. I had then gone too far to back out with honor to myself, or loyalty to my supporters, and I am in the fight to a finish, for union government, the winning of the war and whatever else may prove of benefit to Canada."

Mr. W. F. Miles occupied the chair, and in opening the meeting extended a welcome to all present, apologizing for the delay in starting. He then called upon Mr. W. Millard, for a song, the latter rendering, very pleasingly, "There's a Land."
"There is a strong fight on in this riding," observed Mr. Miles, "as through the whole of Canada; the reasons you all no doubt know."
He then called upon Lieut. Flowerday, a former pastor of Burford, prior to going overseas.
"From the early days of the war there has been a steady stream of khaki clad Canadians to the front," declared Lieut. Flowerday. "The men at the front are anxiously scanning the horizon for reinforce-

WEATHER BULLETIN

Toronto, Dec. 1.—A disturbance is developing quickly on the Connecticut coast while a cold wave is spreading into the great lakes from the northward. Rain has been general in the southern and eastern Ontario. Rail and snow in Quebec and northern Ontario and snow in Alberta and Saskatchewan.
Forecast:
Strong breezes, moderate gales, west to north; light snow falls and flurries and raining much colder. Sunday—Local snow flurries, but generally fair and cold.

Violent Attacks Against British Lines Along Moeuvres-Gonnelieu Salient—Initial Gains For Enemy Follow Teuton Stroke

German troops are making a strong effort to wipe out the salient which the British drove through the Hindenburg line toward Cambrai. Violent attacks have been hurled against the British lines all around the salient from Moeuvres to Gonnelieu, a front of about 18 miles, but except near Gonnelieu, the Germans have been repulsed with heavy losses.

Crown Prince Rupprecht evidently purposed to make an amends for his defeat by crushing the new salient with attacks all along the front and with especially strong efforts at the northern and southern ends with the apparent plan of driving north and south and cutting off the British east of a line from Moeuvres to Gonnelieu. On the northern flank and west of Cambrai, the German attack was crushed by artillery and machine gun fire and heavy losses were inflicted.

The stroke on the southern flank brought initial gains, the British being driven back to La Vacquerie and to Gouzeaucourt, about 1 3-4 miles northwest and west-southwest of Gonnelieu, respectively. In counter-attacks the British regained La Vacquerie and Gouzeaucourt and drove the enemy from the ridge east of Gouzeaucourt. At other points between Masnieres and Villers-Guislain the strong German attempts made no impression on the British defenses.

During November the British forces on all fronts lost more than 120,000 men, including 94,600 wounded and missing. These totals are the highest reached in five months and include the casualties in bitter fighting in the Ypres salient and in Palestine as well as before Cambrai.

There has been little except artillery activity on the other fronts. The violent fighting on the northern Italian front has stopped for the moment; the Austro-Germans are reported active behind the lines and are said to be building defenses on the eastern bank of the Tagliamento River, 23 miles east of the Piave.

The allied supreme war council begins its sittings to-day at Versailles. In attendance will be, Premiers Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Orlando and Col. House and Generals Wilson, Foch, Cadorna and Bliss. The other inter-allied conference delegates continue their conferences in Paris, doing their work through committees meeting in secret sessions. M. Maklakoff, the Russian ambassador to France, who sits in the conference as an unofficial observer, has been dismissed by the Bolshevik Government for taking part in the meetings.

Spokesmen for the British Government deny that the letter written by the Marquis of Lansdowne expressed the view of members of the cabinet. Lord Lansdowne says that the letter was entirely his own. He declines to discuss its opportuneness, saying he has nothing to add or retract and that the subject is too controversial. The Unionist party has condemned the letter.

Elections in Petrograd of delegates to the Constituent Assembly resulted favorably to the Bolsheviks, who gained more seats than the Constitutional Democrats. Siberia is reported to be about to declare its independence. Ministers are meeting at Omsk and a Siberian flag has been raised.

"The men need help, and Col. Harry Cockshutt stands for that help," declared the speaker in conclusion, "and I am sure that you will cast your ballots for him."
W. S. Brewster

expressed pleasure at the number of farmers present supporting a Union government and the Military Service Act. He saw encouragement in the progress made by the Victory Loan Campaign.

"Who is going to spend that money?" he demanded. "It should be spent by Sir Robert Borden and his union government, not for the Province of Quebec."

We have all agreed on raising the money, and must agree on sending the men forward to win it back. Every cent of it is going to be spent for war purposes in the Dominion of Canada. Without it there would not be a dollar to pay the farmers of this country for the wheat bought by Great Britain.

"Do you think that Britain will spend another dollar in this country if Canada puts Laurier into power and quits the war? It would mean financial depression for Dominion."

Delay Dangerous
There were two policies, before Canada, those of winning the war and of quitting it. "There was no referendum when Canada entered the war," declared Mr. Brewster. "Why such delay, when the enemy is at our gates? I have never known a referendum to be followed by definite results; under Sir Wilfrid Laurier, we would never have conscription if

Quebec voted against it. No one else for the winning of the war would vote for a referendum. "I could understand the basis supporting it," declared Mr. Brewster. "Every delay by us is a victory for the enemy."

Must Win the War
"There would have been no necessity for conscription," declared the speaker, "had Quebec done her duty. Conscription is the only fair way, and the only way to keep our forces up to strength. If Canada does not send reserves by April next, our reserves will be utterly wiped out. We went into the war for the sake of democracy and liberty, and we must continue until victory is achieved. Every one of our soldiers would vote for staying in the war to the finish. The world in all its history has never seen soldiers braver or better than the Canadians. Our men at the front never complain, but they make a great plea for reinforcements."

"We are fighting for the defence of Canada in Italy or France, just as much as if we were fighting on the banks of the St. Lawrence. Don't let us say that 32,000 of our heroes have fallen in vain; let us take up the standard where they have left it and carry it on to victory."

"I know no better endorsement than that of the G.W.V.A., which has been given to Col. Cockshutt. We know Col. Cockshutt and his family; they stand for all that is best in the city of Brantford, and the duty of every supporter of Union Government is to cast your vote for him. You may be sure that he will be true to the standard which you have placed in his hands. He is no recent convert to the cause, he has been a supporter of Union Government from the outset, and in casting your ballot for him you will be casting it for your boys at the front."

Mr. W. Millard at this juncture delighted the gathering with another solo, "The Trumpeter."

Col. Cockshutt was next called upon by the chairman, and was met with a rousing ovation as he rose to his feet.
"There are three candidates in this riding," observed Col. Cockshutt. "One has been employed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, one by Sir Robert Borden and one by the G.W.V.A. You must take your choice."
"As for me, I am for winning the war; I stand for Canada, the Empire, and all that belongs to them, for they are dear to my heart."
"We are facing a very critical time, a time for thought and consideration, not one for our own interests, but for union for the sake of the nation. I ask you for your votes as a man who wants to see the war won. It can only be won by collective unionism, and we must all be of one mind for that purpose."
"To-morrow morning on the battle field of France, of Flanders, the men overseas will be voting. You, ladies and gentlemen, have two weeks and over yet to go, and you should unite and be true to the flag which protects you and will protect

Accepts Full Responsibility For His Proposals; Letter Entirely His Own—Showing the White Flag, Says New York World.

By Courier Leased Wire
London, Dec. 1.—The Marquis of Lansdowne was interviewed by The Daily Express concerning his letter and said:
"I should like it known positively that the letter was entirely my own. I consulted nobody about it. An absurd idea has spread that the suggestion was made by other people. I wish to deny that."
Lord Lansdowne declined to discuss the opportuneness of the letter or the possible effect in discouraging people concerning the purpose and prospects of the war, and added:
"I have really nothing to add or retract and can hardly allow myself to be catechized about it. The subject is necessarily too controversial."

New York, Dec. 1.—Leading editorials in all of the New York papers this morning leave no room for doubt that the Marquis of Lansdowne's letter to The London Daily Telegraph has created an exceedingly unfavorable impression on the editorial mind of New York. The New York World publishes a cartoon depicting John Bull standing beneath the Union Jack, confronted by the Marquis of Lansdowne, who holds in his hands the white flag of surrender, and has an editorial under the caption "Lansdowne's surrender."

MAKLAKOFF, AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE, DISMISSED BY TROTSKY

Is Relieved of His Post Because of Participation in Inter-Allied Conference at Paris—Loyal Russians Protest Against Bolshevik Excesses

By Courier Leased Wire
London, Dec. 1.—The German foreign secretary, Dr. von Kautmann, is quoted in a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam, as saying it was absurd to imagine Germany would enter a peace conference with large claims.
Petrograd, Friday, Nov. 30.—M. Maklakoff, the Russian ambassador to France, has been declared dismissed from his post by Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik commissary for foreign affairs. This action was taken because of the ambassador's participation in the inter-allied conference, which is considered a state offense, entailing a heavy penalty.

Ambassador Maklakoff, who was appointed by the Kerensky Government, arrived in Paris on November 7, but up to this time has not presented his letters to the French Government, as he has been waiting to see what happens in Russia. He sits in the inter-allied conference by special invitation and as an unofficial observer.

M. Maklakoff, in interviews during the last month, has expressed his opposition to the Bolsheviks. On November 26 he predicted the fall of the Maximilians within a short time.
London, Dec. 1.—The Saxon finance minister, during the budget debate in the Saxon diet according to a dispatch to The Times from Amsterdam, said that Germany must demand a large indemnity without bothering which of her adversaries should pay it, adding: "Let them only think of America."

THE GRAND
 A typical war drama, exposing the German system of intrigue, the "Seven Days' Leave" the attraction at the Grand last evening, this afternoon and to-night. The play is a melodrama, not of the lurid type, but of a high calibre. It is of a patriotic character and most appropriate at this time.
 The submarine scene, showing the rise of a "U" boat to the surface of the sea, and its destruction there by British destroyers, is a well staged feature of the production.
 Without exception the members of the company portrayed their roles to great advantage, but the work of the young lady who played Lady Mary Heather, and the men cast in the roles of Colonel Sharrow and Private Lord Arthur Pendennis, were prominent through their excellent interpretation.
 "Seven Days' Leave" is presented in four acts, the action is speedy and continuous and there is not one dull moment from the commencement until the drop of the curtain. It is distinctly the military melodrama of the year, insofar as Brantford is concerned.

Markets for grocery commodities presented numerous changes during the week and included such lines as sealing wax, candles, grape juice, tobaccos, catsup, jam, baking powder, molasses, dates, pink salmon, cream of tartar, pecan nuts and shelled walnuts. The run of lake herring came to a rather abrupt end due to the storms of the lakes and cold weather which froze the bays. Frozen fish will now take the place of fresh lake fish. The science of freezing fish has been developed within recent years and large stocks of this food product are thereby conserved which would otherwise go to waste.

An embargo placed on the shipment of cottonseed oil by the United States Government has had the effect of shutting this basic material in shortening out of the Canadian market for the time at least. It is anticipated that licenses will be granted by the United States Government to bring this commodity into Canada, but in the meantime stocks are very light. Some manufacturers are not quailing on shortening as a result and prices have been firmer in consequence.
 Representatives of the Cuban cane planters have agreed to accept a price for their sugar on the basis of 4.90c per pound cost and freight Atlantic ports. If the International Sugar Commission thinks favorably of this offer and agrees to take Cuban sugar for the allies at this figure there should be a reduction in the price of refined sugar to the extent of about one cent per pound. Flour prices have not yet been announced, but it is expected, as the Food Controller, Business with the wholesale grocers is reported brisk. The party broke up in the early hours of the morning, after giving hearty cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Mann, who will take up their home in Shelburne, Ont.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
 The wholesale grocers have decided, and so notified the retail trade, that hereafter certain lines of staple goods must be settled in full every ten, fifteen or thirty days.
 The retail grocers are very seriously considering the advisability of running their business on strictly cash basis, but before starting this they will try out asking each of their customers hereafter to settle their accounts in full either semi-monthly or monthly, and unless this is done, the cash basis will be resorted to, as all goods have advanced to such a high price, thus requiring extra capital to run their business.
 It is sincerely hoped that the general public will assist the trade by making prompt payments for their goods.

Y.M.C.A. DIRECTORATE.
 The monthly meeting of the Board of the Y.M.C.A. was well attended. T. E. Ryerson, president, in the chair. W. S. Brewster took his place as a new member and was warmly welcomed. The Men's Club report showed a good start on re-organization. The board decided to redecorate the walls of the club rooms. The "300 Club" membership campaign to secure 300 new members by December 31 was presented by Chairman Danby and enthusiastically endorsed. Treasurer Cook in the absence of the chairman of Finance, Geo. Wedlake, introduced the budget for 1917-1918, amounting to $16,449 for the year. Recognition of the services of Geo. Wesley, physical director; Miss Elvidge, stenographer, and Mrs. Gardner, assistant matron, was shown in increases in salaries. Mr. Cook pointed out that the greatest economy would be required in carrying the work for the year. A letter was read from the Patriotic Society appointing the president, T. E. Ryerson, as Y.M.C.A. representative on the body. Chris Stodden, a Y.M.C.A. man, was appointed a member of the staff to succeed D. Gardner, who resigned. The House Committee were empowered to appoint a night janitor. The question of semi-centennial celebration was deferred until later owing to other matters attracting public interest at present. The report of the Ottawa National Convention delegates was left over for the next meeting.

THE SITUATION
 The Germans attacked the British in strong force on the Cambrai sector yesterday, but were repulsed after very heavy fighting. They penetrated the British lines at one point but were driven out. The enemy suffered losses, and the struggle still continues.

The conference of Allied representatives, which is taking place in Paris will be mainly concerned in a consideration of the state of affairs in Russia, and the cause of Great Britain and the rest with reference thereto.

The Huns have carried their grossly barbarous methods into Italy. They have placed women before their troops, thus forcing Italians to shoot down their own people. They have also inaugurated slave raids, as in Belgium, and have conscripted all labor in the invaded regions.

The Turks are showing greater activity in Palestine, and Gen. Allenby reports demonstrations virtually along his entire front. No serious attack, however, was developed.

Last night Canada's Victory Loan had reached the splendid total of $306,000,000, with several reports to be yet received, and all of to-day to further help. It begins to look now like $400,000,000 or over.

HELP AVERT THE DANGER
 If Laurier succeeds in securing 125 members in the new House he will have a clean majority of 15.

Already it is certain that he will secure at least 60 out of the 65 seats in Quebec, and another 15 seats in constituencies where French votes hold the balance.

That is 75 out of the 125 for a starter, and leaves only 50 more ridings to be secured.

If the thing is accomplished, Quebec will boss the rest of us in the Dominion and everybody knows what the people of that Province desire.

It is that Canada shall pull out of the war and our brave boys at the front be abandoned.

Are you going to stand for that? If not, then your plain duty is to support the Union Government.

AN INSULT TO THE WOMEN OF BRAVE MEN.

The campaign of slander, and vilification and personal abuse, of Mr. W. F. Cockshutt is in full swing.

The latest statement in this regard is that soldiers' wives are trudging from house to house on "the mean business" of asking votes for Mr. Cockshutt.

Is it "mean business" to help support a man who has always supported the brave boys in every possible way.

Is it "mean business" for these women to help in the cause of reinforcing their husbands, their brothers, their sons and other men folk who are offering their lives for the cause of Empire and of liberty.

The very suggestion constitutes one of the most contemptible insults ever offered to any class in the community.

The entire womanhood of Brantford will rightly rise in just and righteous resentment over the attempted besmirching of them and the cause they have at heart.

NOTES AND COMMENTS
 Keep up the good work.

Mr. Cockshutt's honorable record in this community stands too high for mud slinging to have any effect among thoughtful men and women.

Keep the fact in mind that a vote for Cockshutt means a vote for backing up the men who are on the firing line for us.

Women engaged in laudable war effort, cannot be slurred with impunity.

Only two weeks from Monday will be polling day. In the meantime do not neglect any opportunity on behalf of stopping Quebec domination.

No man or woman ever had a greater privilege than the chance to give a vote on behalf of Canada, the Empire and human liberty.

If the Union Government is defeated, there will be great rejoicing among the Hohenzollern bunch.

Every Liberal Premier of Canada, except Gouin, of Quebec, is backing the Win-the-War administration.

IF LAURIER WINS.
 (1) Canada will send no more reinforcements to the front which practically means quitting the war and placing the country in the same class as Russia.

(2) The French-Canadians who have shirked their duty in this war will be the dominating force in the Government of the country.

Are the English-speaking people prepared to stand for that? It is because the French-Canadians have not done their duty that Conscription had to be resorted to.

The French-Canadians have made it perfectly clear that they do not like war and are against Canada participating in it further. Some of them even go the length of saying that the soldiers should be brought back from the front.

The Nationalists are demanding that the men who have been enrolled under the Military Service Act be disbanded and sent back to their homes. To secure the Nationalist support Laurier-Liberal candidates in Quebec have signed the following pledge:

"I, the undersigned, candidate in the Federal Elections, undertake by these presents, if I am elected, to demand the immediate suspension of the Military Service Act, 1917, and of all its effects until Canadian electors have pronounced by way of plebiscite; and should the majority of the electors condemn it, that it be considered as null from its origin and that in consequence all conscripts be disbanded."

"I also undertake to vote against any Government which should refuse to adopt the above enunciated policy."

THE EFFECTS OF CANADA QUITTING THE WAR WOULD BE THAT:
 The country would be disgraced and dishonored.

Our heroic soldiers at the front would be put to everlasting shame, and the sacrifice of our glorious dead would have been in vain.

The Allies would be dealt a severe blow in the house of their friends. The detestable Hun would be encouraged to keep on fighting; our defection would be a great victory for him which he would gloat over. The world would spread like lightning all over Germany that the fighting Canadians had quit sending men to the front, and there surely would be great rejoicing.

Our kith and kin in Great Britain and Ireland—the land of our forefathers—would feel nothing but shame and sorrow. They would say to themselves that life in Canada must have degenerated the old British bulldog stock—the breed that never lets go.

Canada would sink to the level of the lowest of the civilized countries of the world, because it would have lost its self-respect and its manhood. We would lose the respect of the Allies, and particularly of our neighbours in the United States.

We should be classed as quitters, we who have, rightly been so proud of our courage.

The country's credit and business would be seriously and permanently injured. To-day we are entirely dependent upon the United States for necessary supplies of cotton, hard coal, tin plate—the base raw material of the great canning industry—the largest proportion of our iron and steel and many other commodities. All these articles are to-day shipped from the United States under license from the Government of that country, and Canada gets the same treatment as the citizens of the United States because we are in the fight with them. What would happen if we quit? Common sense tells us we would lose the active sympathy and co-operation of our neighbours, and that, surely, would have disastrous effects upon our industry.

What about Great Britain? Would she be likely to continue sending us orders for shells, or would she spend her money in the United States which supports her in the war?

Munition making has practically kept the country from collapse, and is paralyzed should rightly be viewed with great alarm.

There can be no doubt that the credit of the country would suffer in proportion to the degradation of our honor, because the honor of a country has a direct bearing on its credit. No lender likes to lend money to a borrower who does not manfully see things through—and he never lends, if he can help it, to a quitter. As it is with individuals so it is with nations. The country which maintains its honor at the highest point is the country that has the highest credit.

NO CANADIAN WITH RED BLOOD IN HIS VEINS CAN TAKE THESE RISKS.

ANOTHER LIE NAILED.
 One of the latest falsehoods with regard to Mr. W. F. Cockshutt is this:

"The women are being told that Mr. Cockshutt supported the Conscription Bill. This is absolutely false. Mr. Cockshutt was up in Muskoka having a holiday when the Conscription Bill was put through."

As a matter of fact Mr. Cockshutt made a strong speech in the House on behalf of the measure and the Courier has in its possession official copies of Hansard—the report of Parliamentary proceedings—which show the name "Cockshutt" on division after division of all the important clauses.

The arrant and mendacious falsehood that he took no part is on a par with the other barefaced lie that he opposed the Soldiers' Home.

Common decency should lead to a retraction of both charges.

Will they be forthcoming, or are the people of this community to understand that there is not enough of manliness, or fair play, for honorable retraction to be made when falsehood is proved?

SEE TO IT.

HAVE DONE ENOUGH SAYS LEMIEUX

Speaking at Hochelaga the other night, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's lieutenant in Quebec, said, as reported in Le Canada, the Montreal Liberal organ: "We have no interest on the other side of the sea. Why have the Tories imposed conscription in Canada? To treat a precedent, in order that Canada may become for England a reservoir of men for the wars of the future. That is the basis of imperialism I say that before doing more—and we have already done enough—we should wait until the United States has furnished at least 1,500,000 men."

The address of Dr. Hanley at the Tabernacle last night was one of the mightiest arraignment of the liquor traffic ever heard in the province of Ontario. Dr. Hanley went at the question without fear or favor. He said that if we did not kill alcohol, it would kill the Christian church. There is no excuse for any Christian who is in favor of booze, and certainly not any for a minister of the gospel. Saloon keepers themselves have no respect for such a man.

The license system is illegal, for it simply to render us more licentious, but to kill it, and there are enough Christian people in Brantford to keep Brantford dry forever. Drink is responsible for corruption, heathenry, and extermination in comparison, the worst day that Rome ever saw is paradise. It is the most expensive business to the country, for the liquor man makes returns to the extent of one dollar for every $8.50 that he gets, and this money comes out of the homes and hearts that are wrecked and broken. No one runs a bar but for the money that is in it. Because of the curse of drink, there are enough widows in the United States who, with clasped hands could circle the globe three times round. Through the 50,000 saloons in the States, five million men, women and children pass every thirty days. He thanked God that the U.S. army had kicked out the saloon, and put in the Y.M.C.A. Last year New York spent in drink $100,000,000. Night money has been given to Red Cross work since the beginning of the war.

If any wet law is again passed, it is only right that the liquor men shall provide for the paupers, imbeciles and criminals that drink makes. The traffic lays its unclean hands on the boys, nor does it stop there, but it seizes hold of the girls and the babies. One of the Mayo brothers has said that '85 per cent. of the operations are performed on those whose ancestry was affected by this blight of drink. Immorality is superinduced and aided by it, and when you kill the liquor business, you kill one of the biggest agencies that the devil has.

One of the most striking and dramatic scenes ever seen on a public platform was when Dr. Hanley called ten boys, and chose three of these. In the proportion of three in every ten called, the boys saw public places within six polling subdivisions. After said lists are posted they should be examined for any omissions and a court of Appeal to rectify same will be opened in the Court room at the Court House at 10 o'clock on Friday, Dec. 7 before Judge Hardy.

Sittings will be continued until Dec. 12th unless all appeals are sooner disposed of.

Don't take it for granted that your name is on the list. Make Sure.

EXEMPTIONS FOR FARMERS' SONS

Gen. Newburn, Ministers of Militia, in his address at Dundas, said: "Farmers' sons who are honestly engaged in the production of food will be exempt from military service, and I continue to be Minister of Militia I will give you my word that if any farmers' sons who are honestly engaged in farm work and in the production of food-stuffs, if they are not exempted by the Tribunals, an dare called up for military service, I will have them honorably discharged from the Canadian Expeditionary Force, provided they go back to the farm, because it is very important that we should increase our production of foodstuffs."

The marriage took place at Bassano, Alberta, on Wednesday afternoon of two former Parisians, when Mr. John Jefferson, Jr., was united in marriage to Miss Edith Jean Flanagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flanagan, Willow street. The many Paris friends of the bride and groom will join in extending congratulations.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Henry Isaacs was again stricken with a paralytic stroke. This is the third time, and his condition is very serious at his advanced age.

The marriage was solemnized at the Church of the Sacred Heart of Mr. Basil Sweeney to Miss Leah Goss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Goss, Burwell street. Rev. Father Cassidy performed the ceremony. They will reside in town.

The death took place at Barrie of Mrs. William Finlayson, while on a visit to her son, Mr. Hugh Finlayson, of the Barrie Advance. Deceased was only a few days from Bright's disease. Deceased was born in the old land and came to Canada some seventy years ago, and had been a resident of Paris since 1861. Five years later she was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Finlayson, who predeceased her 37 years ago. She was a faithful member of the Presbyterian Church and highly esteemed. She leaves one daughter, Miss Jennie, and one son, Hugh Finlayson, of the Barrie Advance. The remains were placed in the cemetery vault there and will be removed to Paris for interment in the spring.

The marriage is announced of Miss Sarah Matilda McCosh, daughter of our esteemed clerk and treasurer, Thos. and Mrs. McCosh, to Mr. Thos. G. Tate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tate, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Nicholson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

At a meeting of the Paris branch Children's Aid Society, it transpired that there were several cases in town and vicinity that required some action on part of the society. Anyone knowing cases of neglect of children are requested to notify the society.

Appeals Against The Voter's List

Sittings of the voters' list board of appeal with His Honor Judge Hardy presiding, will commence at the Court House, Friday, December 7th, for the purpose of hearing complaints regarding the work of the enumerators who compiled the lists of voters as provided by the war times election act.

Under the act any person whose name the enumerator has refused or omitted to enter upon the list of voters may, or in case of such person's absence from the polling division at the time of enumeration, any voter in such division may within four days after the posting up by the enumerator of such list, appeal to the board of appeal by notice in writing, stating the facts, such notice to be filed with the enumerator and with the clerk of the board of appeal.

In the case of an appeal against a name already placed on the list by the enumerator, the person appealing against shall be notified by registered letter to be mailed to the address of the person as appearing on the list, in other respects the procedure be the same as in the case of a name omitted.

The lists must be completed by the enumerators on December 3rd, one copy posted in a prominent place in each subdivision and another copy in the post office, where voters may inspect them and ascertain whether or not their names appear. This leaves but a few days in which those who have been overlooked may enter an appeal and the Win-the-War Association are desirous that all citizens entitled to the franchise should exercise care in making sure that their names appear on the lists.

your children and your children's children.
"To-night, for the men that have fallen, for the men wounded or facing the foe, I ask you to see that Canada does her duty. I ask you to the name of all that is sacred to look after your Canadian and your imperial interests. You have got to protect the flag."

"I did not want to run. I have had no desire for public life. I have refused time and time again to become a candidate in this riding, but at the request of Sir Robert Borden I considered it my duty to run. There was no candidate then in the field in Brant, and I accepted the nomination unanimously offered me. I learned that there was dissatisfaction, and I left the question in the hands of Sir Robert Borden and Mr. Rowell. I wrote to them on October 15, and on November 16 received an answer, asking me at length to get out of the way. I had then committed myself too deeply to retreat with honor to myself and loyalty to my supporters, and I am going to fight until December 17."

"I have little to say as to myself. You have known me a long time. I remember well my old friend Peter Doran. I have nothing to say with reference to his son or to the other candidate; but I am telling you what I am and what I stand for. I am for winning the war and nothing else until it is done; after that, I will vote for the best interests of Canada and this riding in particular."
"I want to tell you that my funds the 25th Battalion ever had if there is a shortage, it is of my own money."

Anxious to Reach Front
"I am told that you deserted the 215th when it went overseas," interrupted an spectator.
"I did not collect any military appointment," replied Col. Cockshutt, "for I was never trained as a soldier, but at the request of Gen. Logie, I undertook the raising of the 215th battalion. I could have gone across the sea with my battalion, but I was told that I could never go to France that I would have to turn back from England, my case was exactly similar to that of the Hon. Chas. Balfour, of Montreal. Providing I could have gone to the front, my back would never have been turned. There is no one who can say to my face that I have not done all possible for the boys at the front, and the winning of the war. Are you satisfied, sir?" he inquired of his interlocutor.
"I was satisfied before," replied the latter.
Col. Cockshutt expressed pleasure

YOU'RE BILIOUS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS TONIGHT

Don't stay headachy, sick, or have bad breath and sour stomach.

Wake up feeling fine! Best laxative for men, women and children

WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Enjoy life! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarets from the drug store and eat one or two to-night and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced? You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarets never gripe or sicken like salts, pills and calomel. They act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a cathartic. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascaret any time—they act thoroughly and are harmless.

ure at the increase granted in separation allowances, and strongly advocated measures to compel the foreign element to bear their share of the burdens of the country.

"Quebec's failure to do its duty has made conscription necessary, and Quebec's failure is due to the failure of her leaders to instruct the people of the province in their duty. How a man can support Laurier's policy, I can't understand; my mind doesn't run in that channel.

"Think right, get right with your flag, stand up like a man for your country. The longer the war goes on, the harder you will feel it. There is going to be a great change after the war. Prosperity is with us, but it has made us selfish, and we often fail to realize that the men overseas are fighting for us. They did it not for money, but for loyalty to the empire, and we at home must pay and pay hard before we get through. Are those men fighting for us not entitled to an advance? I think they are, and I am in favor of it. You are up against a serious proposition; perhaps you don't grasp the whole situation, and I tell you there is only one thing you are not voting for the individual, but for the principles and the policies he advocates. If you do not think me the man, you fail to realize that the men overseas are making your own choice."

Win the War!
"I'm out to fight to the finish, and I want you all to be able to say that I fought the fight and won. I hope, if not, I will have no hard feelings."

"Of all the 48 colonies of the British empire, Canada is the brightest star. It is our liberty, our rights, our flag stands for liberty, civilization and protection of the weak; our fathers fought for it; they labored many centuries for the liberty we enjoy, and we can't cast it aside with the Huns at our gates. Let us to-night stand for Canada, for civilization, and let us not forget our duty to our country."

Applause again greeted the speaker. Rev. Mr. Cropp, while her old friend, Rev. A. Bowers of Brantford took charge at the church and grave, and Mrs. Gibson rendered most appropriate music. Her gall bearers were all nephews, Arthur Coulbeck, A. E. Watson, C. H. Watson, Russel Fonger, Lewis Fonger of Brantford and R. North of London.

She has left behind a family of six children, all in the near vicinity. Mrs. Dufferin Cole, Mrs. W. H. Dawdy, Mrs. W. R. VanSickle, Mrs. Emerson Bristol, Mrs. Norman Holden, and one son, Hartley at Hamilton.

She was laid to rest in Jerseyville cemetery to await the resurrection, leaving those behind saddened but rejoicing in the bright promises that joy cometh in the morning.

time her share in the war, it must be through the returning of the Union Government to power. In Brant riding, no blame attached to Col. Cockshutt, who had twice offered to resign in favor of N. W. Rowell. Mr. John Harold, alone, he believed, might have been willing to make way for Mr. Rowell, but by accepting the advice of others, he (Mr. Harold) had been induced to remain in the fight. The speaker had hoped for the avoidance of an electoral fight in both Branches.

Mr. Laurier alone was responsible for conscription, which would never have been necessary had Quebec given her fair quota of men. Senator Fisher gave all credit to the French-Canadians, who had gone overseas in the face of discouragement at home. He saw no fault with the work of the exemption tribunals, explaining that men necessary for production would never be taken off the farms. He read Gen. Mewburn's statement to this effect. Sir Robert Borden had promised an end to wholesale exemptions granted in Quebec in defiance of the law, and had given assurance that Quebec would be made to do her duty. The Penman plant at Paris, out of 140 male employees of all ages, had given over $0 for active service, while out of 300 males employed at another mill in St. Hyacinthe one lone man had enlisted, under the voluntary system.

"So that the Premier is well justified," declared the speaker, "in promising that Quebec will be made to do her duty and to contribute her fair quota."

"Col. Harry Cockshutt is here tonight as our candidate because Sir Robert Borden asked him to run. When he was nominated, the field was clear, and we felt that we had a man upon whom all might agree. We have two union candidates, however, in the field. Col. Cockshutt offered to withdraw in favor of Mr. Rowell, who was having difficulty in finding a seat, but Mr. Harold refused to do likewise.

"There are a dozen constituencies in Ontario which would be proud to have Col. Harry Cockshutt as their candidate, and I am confident that the night of December 17 will find him elected by a huge majority."
The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Obituary

Mrs. Colbeck

On Monday, the death occurred at Lynden of Mary Fonger, the beloved widow of the late John Colbeck, in her 72nd year. She was the daughter of the late David Fonger, of Pine Grove, and was united in marriage to John Colbeck on April 17th, 1855. Together they shared the joys and griefs, the poverty and prosperity of early life.

On March the 17th, 1913 her beloved husband was taken suddenly away, and her grief was so great that from that day she never saw a human face.

Since then, though broken in health and spirit, she has patiently waited, and after a brief but acute illness, the silken cord was loosened and she passed away to a brighter home above on Monday Nov. 26th, 1917.

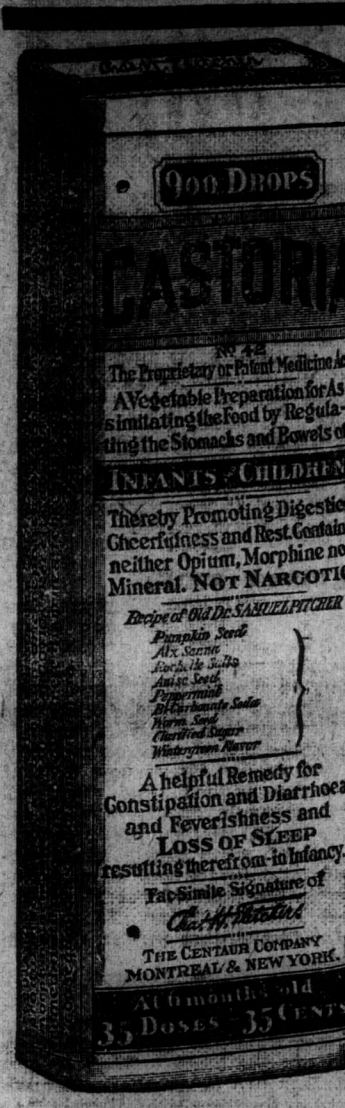

Her funeral on Wednesday was conducted at the house by her pastor, Rev. Mr. Cropp, while her old friend, Rev. A. Bowers of Brantford took charge at the church and grave, and Mrs. Gibson rendered most appropriate music. Her gall bearers were all nephews, Arthur Coulbeck, A. E. Watson, C. H. Watson, Russel Fonger, Lewis Fonger of Brantford and R. North of London.

She has left behind a family of six children, all in the near vicinity. Mrs. Dufferin Cole, Mrs. W. H. Dawdy, Mrs. W. R. VanSickle, Mrs. Emerson Bristol, Mrs. Norman Holden, and one son, Hartley at Hamilton.

She was laid to rest in Jerseyville cemetery to await the resurrection, leaving those behind saddened but rejoicing in the bright promises that joy cometh in the morning.

Every Dollar Spent in BRANTFORD Helps Your City!

SEES BENEFIT TO COUNTRY AS WELL AS TO CITY IN CO-OPERATION

"Rex" Contributes an Article on Co-operation, Which Makes Interesting Reading—The Broader View of Co-operation.

Much has been said on the subject of co-operation, in fact, to-day the world teems with co-operation in various and varied forms. There is hardly a walk in life that is not represented by some form of co-operation. There are unions, guilds, clubs and associations, all of which could be placed under the category of co-operation but all these without one exception have but touched the hem of the garment of true co-operation.

True co-operation is the birth-place of national existence, but any co-operative organization formed for the purpose of benefiting a select few and which, in time, would injure any legitimate business, ceases to be a co-operative organization and becomes a combine. Combines always did and always will cause internal strife. Internal strife is the breeding place for national discord plants revolutionary ideas which if allowed to mature, brings forth the same state of affairs that exists in Russia to-day.

A perfect nation must have political, commercial and social co-operation. In the political world, all parties, although they differ in many points must be willing to co-operate for the national welfare of their country. In the commercial world each business organization must recognize the rights of each and every other business organization and in the social world each class must have individual recognition.

Co-operation is more necessary to-day than ever before in the history of the world. Not only is it necessary for the continued co-operation of these nations who for the cause of humanity are giving their best blood but it is necessary to have co-operation in every city and town. There can never be true national co-operation if citizens will not even co-operate for its benefit in their own city.

Let it not be said that in Brantford there are citizens who receive every penny they earn from some industry or business in Brantford and do not support their own business people, but send their money where it is used to build up some other city. If every citizen of Brantford did likewise, Brantford would cease to be a city and would become the graveyard of dead industries marked by tomb stones of vacant buildings.

A PLAIN TRUTH

A MAN may patronize the mail order houses for years—may send them in that time hundreds of dollars—and at the same time they wouldn't accommodate him for a two-cent stamp. This is the plain, unvarnished truth. If you think otherwise try it for yourself and see. These out-of-town houses do not know YOU—do not CARE to know you—are not interested in you in any way—only in the money you send them. Spend your money with our own townsmen, who know you for what you really are, who appreciate your worth, your business, your assistance in building up home interests.

Brantford is a Progressive City. Are you helping progress or are you stifling Progress? Money spent out of town for goods you can get here, are methods of stifling your city's growth. There may be other ways of hurting the city, but this is sure, fatal action. Be loyal—Boost Brantford.

JOIN THE MOVEMENT

Hundreds of Brantford citizens have complimented The Courier on its campaign in favor of Buying in Brantford. Individually merchants have subscribed to the idea, and scores of citizens will, as a result of careful thought, do their Christmas Shopping in Brantford.

And Brantford merchants will not alone benefit. Again let us remind you, that what benefits the individual in co-operation, benefits all. Brantford needs no help from out-of-town merchants to build streets, schools, etc. But Brantford does need the money made in Brantford to finance her local improvements. And the money spent with local merchants is the money which eventually, through the profits made, pays taxes and assessments.

Let us all, this new month, the last in the year, make a resolution. Let us resolve that we will Boost Brantford. If we find a selfish citizen, let us believe that he is an exception. In our hearts we all want Brantford—our home city—to become one of the finest, at least, of Canada's many fine cities. To achieve this we must all, without exception, boost for Brantford, not only in the matter of spending our money here, but in every way which offers.

Keep Away From The Candle

KEEP away from the flame of the candle if you don't want your wings singed' is a proverb as old as the hills. So old we have almost forgotten to apply it to OURSELVES. In every community men and women are imitating the moths. HOW many times have WE been singed by the fascination of that LONG DISTANCE "bargain?" And how many times have WE come BACK and back AGAIN, to the flame. How much MONEY is lost each year to this community by the same SINGEING process? The flame of the candle mounts higher. The moths crowd closer and closer to the flame. It is OUR business to put that flame OUT. WANTED:—A few MEN and WOMEN in OUR community to apply the SNUFFER.

Don't Play Blind Man's Buff

HOW many men and women in this community do their shopping blindfolded? Funny when you think of it that thinking men and women will play "Blind Man's Buff" with their money. You don't HAVE to shop blindfolded unless you want to. The Out-of-Town Houses started the Big Game of "Blind Man's Buff." But it's a dangerous game for US to play in OUR TOWN. It isn't a fair game. It isn't fair to ourselves. It isn't fair to our COMMUNITY. It isn't fair to our home merchant. He is helping US, co-operating with US, working WITH US to upbuild and improve our home institutions. Then, let us play fair with ourselves and with him. Let us give the home merchant the first chance. That is all he asks.

NEWS OF NORFOLK

Bombardier Chas. Edmonds at Halifax; Is Nearing Home.

Write Simcoe Agency, Box 311, or phone 356-8 all matters regarding delivery or subscriptions, news items or advertisements.

(From Our Own Correspondent). Simcoe, Dec. 1.—Bombardier Chas. Edmonds wired yesterday morning from Halifax, "Landed." He is the survivor of two sons of Mr. R. Edmonds, Norfolk street, who enlisted early in the war, and went to France in August, 1915. He comes home from the hospital unfit for further service, the exact nature of his incapacity is not stated, but he had one arm badly wounded. The other brother lies under the poppies in France, after winning the Military Medal for valor under arms as lieutenant in the 10th Battalion. He was expected three weeks ago and is expected this evening.

Jail Breakers Get Six Months. James F. Cooper and John Smith, the prisoners who escaped from custody on Tuesday, were escorted back on Thursday, were brought before Magistrate Gunton at 5 o'clock yesterday instead of 8, to accommodate the court, and pleaded guilty, received each an extension of six months each in servitude. James Feere, charged with desertion and ordered to be handed over to the military authorities, will bid good-bye to the castle to-day. Word was received yesterday that an escort was on the way up for him.

More Life Insurance. We learned yesterday that an under-standard life insurance company with headquarters in Toronto contemplates commencing business early in January. This means that any who heretofore have been turned down as medically unfit will have an opportunity of buying protection for their families. A day or so ago we learned of a man who had written ten years been seven times rejected for insurance and claimed that every physician who examined him is now dead, where he looks like going for some time yet.

Friday, 8 p.m.: Total reported, $850,450; Simcoe's portion, $217,200. All going strong and a possibility that the total will reach $90,000.

Odd Ends of News. Notwithstanding the picture shows at Opposition headquarters and the Melbourne House corner, the Lric appreciates no falling off in attendance. Of the hundreds who registered in answer to the call for Class I in Norfolk, so far as we can learn, only three did not ask for exemption. So the Opposition plan would have secured three soldiers from Norfolk.

We do not care to criticize the disallowing of exemption to the local outside telephone official, but did it occur to the reader that in case he is called out, we may find his position with the company filled by a young Frenchman from Quebec, which province supplies a great percentage of the company's outside force. Would it not be splendid to have a young slacker from Quebec, calling to replace the batteries and inspect the phone? Just think a minute.

It has been pointed out to us that Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

BOARD OF APPEAL from ENUMERATORS' VOTERS' LIST Notice is hereby given that the Board of Appeal from Enumerators' Voters' Lists, under the Dominion Elections Act, for the City of Brantford, will sit:

Friday, December 7, 1917, at 10 o'clock, a.m., in the Court Room, at the Court House, in the City of Brantford and will continue as to things to the 10th day of December, 1917, unless an appeal should have been previously disposed of.

The following provisions relating to appeals in which either the enumerator or the voter is aggrieved, shall apply:

1. The enumerator: (a) If the voter is aggrieved, he may appeal to the Board of Appeal, in person, or in the case of a qualified person who may be absent from the voting division at the time of the enumeration, an elector in the Polling Division acting on such absent person's behalf, may, within four days after the passing up by the enumerator of such list, appeal to such Board of Appeal by notice in writing stating the facts and filed with the Enumerator and with the Clerk of the Board of Appeal. An Appeal shall also lie in like manner, and on the like and a further notice by register letter to the person entered on the list, from the entry by the Enumerator of the name of such person on such list. The registered letter shall be mailed to the address of the person as appearing on the list.

All such Notices of Appeal relating to persons omitted from the Enumerators' List, and to persons wrongly inserted on the said List must be given not later than the 6th day of December, 1917, as above directed.

F. G. BISCOE, Clerk of the Board of Appeal Court House, Brantford.

ALEXANDER D. HARDY, Chairman of the Board of Appeal.

STOP DANDRUFF!

HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Stop Dandruff! Draw a cloth through your hair and double its beauty. Spend a few cents! Dandruff vanishes and hair stops coming out.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy, and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knoveton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed, and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will, you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—richly colored at first—yes, but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits anyone who tries this.

Thos. Hambley, of Townsend, who was chairman of the meeting referred to yesterday, at which the war loan appeal was given a rude reception was the man who should have approved the Wallace supporters who interrupted Mr. McKie's appeal. There is some point in this argument too. But was Mr. Wallace, at the time, if not technically, practically, the party in a progressive young man, personally highly respected, and in private and business life generally esteemed, but he will have his own troubles to get a prominent agent of his support in conformity with his own unquestioned ideals of citizenship.

Advices from Port Dover places the town pretty well in the possession of Mr. Wallace. The citizens will throw in the old dock, besides, any old time that a new one can be secured.

Travellers continue to enquire for the post office box there; pedestrians want more citizenship in the yard, and the company are beginning to realize that the yard is not sufficiently lighted at night.

Presentation by Kith and Kin On Thursday evening the members of the Eagle Place Kith and Kin Association gathered at the home of their energetic president, Mrs. William Gibbs, 85 Post street, and presented her with a bronze ornament and an address. Refreshments were served and the gathering broke up at a late hour after an enjoyable evening.

The Address To the President, Eagle Place Kith and Kin Association. Dear Mrs. Gibbs.—The committee and members of the above association have gathered here this evening to present you with a token of our esteem and appreciation toward you, you have been ever ready in sickness or sorrow to be the first to give a word of cheer or comfort. You have shared in our sorrows and you have had many problems to face and you have fought them with the best of your ability and have come out victorious.

We, as a body of soldiers, wives and mothers, pledge ourselves to stand by you to fight for good and right and to conquer all. United we stand, divided we fall. We all, as members of the Kith and Kin, wish you good health, and may God give you strength to carry on this good work which you began and to be with us for all time. We extend our good wishes and kindest regards to Mr. Gibbs and family.

From every member of the Eagle Place Kith and Kin Association.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headaches.

You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve, but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a scorching twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if your tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, if your breath or have indigestion, flatulency, constipation or sour acid stomach, begin the phosphate hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

Indians Given Until Feb 1st

Indians, though liable for service under the military service act, are to have until February 1 to report for service or to claim exemption. This ruling, which was issued yesterday from Ottawa, was made with the idea of clearing up any misunderstanding that may have existed up to the present time with regard to the status of Indians under the draft law.

This will give the Indian citizens who through ignorance of the provisions of the act, or for other reasons, have failed to comply with the military service act by going to the post office and reporting for service, or claiming exemption, before Nov. 10, an opportunity to comply with the provisions of the act without suffering any penalties which might have been imposed upon them through their neglecting to do so.

Such men as have failed to comply should do so through the deputy registrar or through any of the Indian agents in their district. It is apparently not the intention of the authorities that they should go to the post office as the postal authorities have nothing further to do with the reports or claims for exemption.

Instructions in this regard read as follows: "1. Indians are liable for service under the Military Service Act. "2. Owing to the fact that some

Now is the time for them to begin and in buying a Victory Bond, which they can pay for in easy instalments, they are not only helping themselves, but are helping Canada to finish the war.

The Government and every financier in Canada urges the people to buy Victory Bonds because: 1. They will help you. 2. They will help your family. 3. They will help your country. 4. They will help civilization.

The man who does not buy a Victory Bond is going to feel lonesome. To-day is your last day to buy a bond.

MEETING OF GAS CO.

Financial Statement is Submitted. Purifier it is Announced has Been Completed.

A meeting of the directors of the Brantford Gas Company took place yesterday afternoon. Mayor Bowby was present representing the city. The following financial statement was submitted:

Table with 2 columns: This year, Last year. Rows include Gross earnings of the company, Total operating expenses, Net earnings of the company, Earnings applicable to general mortgage bonds, Less interest on general mortgage bonds, Earnings applicable other indebtedness, Less interest on other indebtedness, Net profits.

The Southern Ontario Gas Co., which furnishes through the Dominion Natural Gas Co., natural gas consumed by the city of Brantford, announces that the purifier erected at Glenwood, Ont., has been completed. It has been found, however, that in practical operation certain chemical reactions take place which were absent from the laboratory experiment. These reactions, so far have prevented the successful operation of the plant. The company's chemists are working diligently upon the problem and hope to solve it in the near future. The efforts of the company to purify the gas has involved an expenditure of over $130,000 to date.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted: Resolved, that it would not be to the interest of the city of Brantford or to the Gas Company to accept the resignation of Mr. A. J. Wilkes as a director of the Brantford Gas Co. He has been a very valuable member of this board, therefore, he is requested to continue to be a director of the Brantford Gas Co. It is understood a dividend of 10 per cent. will be declared in February.

uncertainty seems to have existed as to their status under the act, the Military Service Council in conjunction with the deputy superintendent of Indian affairs has recommended that the time for compliance with the proclamation of the 13th of October by Indians be extended until the 1st of February, 1918.

The deputy superintendent of Indian affairs has arranged to notify all Indian agencies to this effect, and it is proposed to carry on the work of reporting for service or claiming exemption by such Indians who had failed through ignorance or otherwise to respond to the proclamation, through the various registrars under the act, and through the various Indian agencies according to the military districts.

LUX To give sweater coats a new lease of life

Now that sweater coats are getting more expensive, it is more than ever desirable that you wash yours with LUX. Of all things a sweater coat, which is seen so much, must be kept soft, fluffy, fleecy and "new" in appearance. You can keep yours that way and wash it again and again if you do this:

Four boiling water over LUX flakes—pure essence of soap—allowing 3 or 4 tablespoonfuls for every gallon of water you use. Whip into a creamy lather a few seconds is needed. Then put in the garment and stir it about. Let it soak until cool enough for your hands to squeeze the water out of the coat—the dirt just runs away! Rinse in two or three relays of tepid water, and hang to dry.

Very simple. Anyone can do it—just a few minutes' work and you get a result that the most expert French cleaner might well envy. LUX won't shrink woollens. Won't hurt any fabric or color that pure water can safely touch.

CLIP THIS AND PIN ON WIFE'S DRESSER

Wear women against cutting corners and says they lift. Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heel footwear they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests which merely makes the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lock-jaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of a drug called freezone applied directly upon a sore gives quick relief and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain. Ask the drug store man for a starter of an ointment of freezone, which costs very little and is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which, if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning with a teaspoonful of Limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexions, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of Limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and refreshes the skin on the outside, so hot water and Limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowels pour do. Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion and just try this for a week and notice results.

LARRY LAJOIE TELLS SECRETS OF BATTING

Former American League Hitting King Tells What Players Need to Star in Batting Averages—Batters Born, Not Made.

Napoleon Lajoie, one of the greatest batsmen of all time, was telling some of the boys at the National Association meeting in Louisville, about his methods of hitting.

Lajoie said that of course every good batter must start with an equipment consisting of a good keen pair of eyes, a natural stand at the plate and a free swing. In addition to the physical qualities he must have plenty of nerve and resourcefulness. Yet there are many batters with all of these important qualifications who do not succeed in becoming leaders in the art of putting the sphere out of reach of the fielders.

"The one thing which many batters neglect," said Lajoie, "is to make a close study of every opposing pitcher. It is worth a great deal to the man at the plate who is constantly trying to outguess his opponent in the box, to know what kind of a ball the pitcher is going to toss up. Pitchers gain the advantage by fooling the batter, or at least by keeping him in ignorance of the kind of delivery they are going to use in any particular case.

All Have Similar Move

"But I have found in my career that practically every pitcher makes some motion when intending to pitch a curve ball slightly different from the one he uses when he is going to pitch a fast one. Pitchers, of course, attempt to conceal their delivery, and they are pretty successful in doing so, unless the batter is right on his toes. But they all have some very slight motion, often purely unconscious which can be detected by close and careful observation. If a batter will put his mind on it, he can almost always detect some little shift of the elbow, or some insignificant twist of the fingers, which will signal to him the sort of ball that is about to be thrown.

Pitchers are smart, but each one has his little peculiarities of delivery. It takes time and strict attention to discover these things, but it can be done. If a batter will devote his time while sitting on the bench to a close study of the opposing pitcher's delivery, he will discover a lot of things to his benefit. Once in a while he will make a mistake, and he takes a chance of being hit by a fast ball when he is looking for a curve, but he will be right most of the time, and his knowledge, gained by close observation, will be of the greatest help to him."

Presses Harry Davis
Lajoie went on to say that Harry

Davis, captain of the Athletics for so many years when they were in their prime and in a class by themselves as a slugging outfit, was a pastmaster in the art of detecting the battery signals of the opposition.

Davis studied the opposing pitchers with great thoroughness, and he kept a record of the batters what was being served up, from his post on the coaching line. He taught Chief Bender and others of the team to do the same thing, and some of them became very proficient in solving the mysteries of the style of the battery defence.

All of the Athletic players always tried to steal the catcher's signals when they got down to second base. Several members of this great team owe a large part of their reputations as hitters to the foxy methods of obtaining the signs of the pitcher and catcher. Every batter knows very well what a relief it is to be sure of the kind of ball that is going to be thrown to him. If they are sure that a fast one is coming, it is easy to set one's self for a hard wallop. If it is a curve ball that is going to come to the plate, the batter is prepared to judge it properly and straighten it out.

Take Pains to Study

If every young batter would take the pains to study pitchers, as Lajoie has done all his life there would be a great improvement in hitting, and some players would stand very much higher in the averages than they do now.

Manager Mathewson of the Cincinnati team, listened to Lajoie's talk, and then said:

"Nape, you have the right dope, and it has always surprised me that more batters do not study pitchers closely. But you must remember that the pitcher himself can use a little camouflage, too. I developed the habit of throwing my left leg up and forward when making the delivery. I soon found that smart batters were getting wise to me and would be looking for the fade-away whenever they saw my leg come forward. So I would fool them by sometimes shedding a fast one through with that same motion of the leg, and how surprised they would look. I used to smile to myself sometimes at their discomfiture."

All of which goes to show that great ball players, whether batters or pitchers, use their brains continually in an effort to deceive and bewilder the enemy, and much of their success depends on this clever outguessing of their opponents.

SPORTING COMMENT

Geo. Kircher, who when it comes to being a baseball comedian, is to the minors what Nick Atrock and Germany Schaefer are to the majors, has a fine recipe for curing hitting slumps. While with the Nashville club in the southern association a few seasons ago, Kircher's batting average dwindled until a microscope was necessary to uncover it. He would pop up, foul out, strike out and every other way to extinguish himself, but to break out of his slump he seemed absolutely unable to do.

One day, after whiffing with the bases full, George told the boys on the bench that he was going to break his slump or his backbone, and that he'd cash in with a homer when he did.

"I'm not going to shave or take a bath until I do either," said George. His team-mates protested loudly as to the bathing part, and finally George agreed to eliminate that part of his agreement.

"Well, then, I'll not shave until I get a home run if it's a thousand years. I'll strain all my soup until I crack one for four sacks."

Kircher went along for three weeks without getting but few base hits and nothing which resembled a homer. He was gradually disappearing in the maze of underbrush on his map, and was completely invisible as he looked like a Russian Bolshevik leader.

George was hoping he would get his homer before the team got to Birmingham, for that was where Mrs. Kircher-to-be resided, and Kircher hated to go to see her in that condition. He was afraid the family purp wouldn't know him and take off a large slice of his trousers.

The Nashville club invaded Birmingham and Kircher was still homerless. He was desperate, and on the second day every time up he almost broke his back swinging. On his last trip to the plate, he took two vicious lunge, and on the third lunge he hit the ball on the end of his bat, and down it went on the first base line. It rolled along until it encountered a small hole in the fence and then disappeared outside. It was a home run.

It is needless to say that George was happy, and he didn't wait for the game to end, but beat it right to a convenient lawn mower before which the accumulation of weeks disappeared and George breathed free once more. He was cured, however, of making any more rash promises.

as they discovered he was sensitive about it.

One day during a game in a minor league city, Case got a base hit, and was unusually proud when he landed on first. The next batter followed with a single and Chuck set sail for second. He was digging up the turf and working steam in all cylinders, and was Dan Patching it in great shape.

Just then his cap flew off. With his naked pate to the wind, Chuck threw in his emergency, and plied his sand, choked his engine and came to a full stop. He then whirled around and beat it back towards first while the populace wondered at his astounding conduct. They thought Chuck had lost his mind.

But Case paid no attention to the yell of his mates and, instead, he drove up alongside his cap, picked it up, placed it upon his glistening curls, and then walked to the bench, as the outfielders had already played the ball to second for a forecourt.

Chuck had thrown a monkey wrench into the home team's rally and had cheated his teammate out of a base hit, but did he worry? Not a whit!

He had kept his sacred dome from the cruel gaze of an unsympathetic and jeering world and he was satisfied.

Gene Paulette, the Lebanon Frenchman who takes care of the first sack for the St. Louis Cardinals, is a genius when it comes to selling things. He could dispose of razor blades to a Cossack easier than the general run of biggies could sell ham sandwiches to a hungry mob.

Before Gene took up hotel clerking as a means of earning a livelihood during the winter, he tried out a number of jobs, among which was that of travelling salesman for a shoe manufacturing company. Gene went all through Dixie with his wares, carrying a trunkful of samples consisting of about 150 different makes, the shoe of a kind.

While he was on one of his tours, the factory suffered a disastrous fire, and when Paulette came home off his trip, the mates to all the shoes had been carrying had been destroyed. Now samples were necessary, so Gene took his trunkful of old ones and dumped them into a box.

In a couple of days, a Jew from down south came into the factory on a hunt for job lots at a bargain and Gene showed him the box of samples which he had recently discarded. The Jew looked them over and then quoted a ridiculously low price.

One day after losing the first game of a double-header, Helms appeared in the third base coaching line during the second game, he being a favorite with the bleacher woles.

He seemed to her the cleverest, kindest, most lovable of superior creatures. Further than that, the mystery of his manliness thrilled her. In his eyes there lurked a strange, shy promise of adventure.

She called it "wickedness" in her innocence and was sweetly troubled. "What shall I do if he tries to kiss me?" she thought in a most delicious panic.

As the day passed and he made no move to do so a faint chagrin made itself felt, which she refused to recognize.

As if moved by a common impulse they kept their conversational shallows floating in the safe shallows. Reminiscences of childhood afforded them much humorous matter. Ralph did most of the talking.

"Once when I was a kid," he said "they dug up the street in front of our house for a drain, and ran into an Indian burial ground. My chum and I played ninny-pins on the side walk with the skulls, and the constable arrested us. What fuss there was!"

"I should say so!" said Kitty, simulating a vicious indignation. "Little savages!"

"Why?" said Ralph, teasingly. "Old bones are all right. Don't you like their nice, earthy smell?"

"Horrible!" said Kitty.

"Did you ever see 'Hamlet'?" asked Ralph. He apostrophized a teacup in his extended hand. "Alas, poor Yorick! I knew him well. He-ratio! He was a fellow of infinite jest!"

Ralph acted out the speech for her with improvisations.

Kitty was obliged to sit down suddenly, and to hold her sides. Kitty was one of those shy, admiring, easily shocked, and easily moved to laughter girls that inspire a man to the highest flights of audacious wit.

"Speaking of bones," Ralph went on; "when I was a student at McGill, my roommate and I saved up enough to buy a whole skeleton all properly articulated. It was a peach! We kept it in the closet hanging from a clothes-hook."

"Mercy!" said Kitty with a delicious shudder.

"The landlady had a daughter who had a heat and the two of them used to make us fellows tired with their goings-on. They'd stand for half an hour at the foot of the stairs saying good night. Yes, it sounds like a cow drawing its foot out of a boggy place!"

"Aren't you awful!" said Kitty, blushing.

"We decided that something must be done," Ralph went on. "I got some phosphorus paint, and we painted the skeleton all over, and fastened a long line to the hook in his skull that was used to hang him up by."

"And that night, when the pair of them came out in the hall downstairs, and turned down the light, we crept out on the upper landing and leaned over the rail and let Mr. Bones go walking slowly, step by step, down the stairs. He was, a lovely blue color; every bone stood out!"

"You might have killed them with fright!" said Kitty.

"No such luck!" said Ralph. "They didn't hear him coming until he was half-way down. Then I rattled him a little. Geeshophat! You never heard such an awful screech in your life!"

"Both of them! They made for the front door and rattled it like mad, and couldn't get it open. I laughed so hard the string slipped out of my hand and Mr. Bones went down the rest of the stairs, sitting up just like a person—rattle, clatter, smash! Oh, my! Oh, my!"

"I don't think it was funny at all!" said Kitty. But she laughed, and her eyes confessed her admiration of his dreadful boldness.

"Next day we moved," said Ralph solemnly.

CHAPTER XVIII

The Triangle

On the following day, the fifth of Ralph's stay in Milburn Gulch, he was strong enough to walk about more freely.

Jim Sholto took him up the trail to show him the excavations. Jim was secretly hoping that in Ralph he would find a workman to take the place of one of the absent boys.

Being past the period of heart troubles himself, the danger of introducing a strange and not uncommonly young man into his family Eden had not suggested itself to him.

While they were away, Kitty worked about the cabin in a spasmodic way widely differing from her usual deft serenity. She would come to a stand staring before her mistily, a little smile wreathing the corners of her lips; rousing herself with a start.

She would fly about for awhile as if her life depended on getting done, only to fall into another dream. Absently picking things up, she dropped them in fresh places, and presently started hunting for them again.

Snatches of impromptu song well up from her heart, higher and higher until her voice trembled and broke. She continually ran to the mirror, by turns anxious, critical, scornful, blushing, reassured by what she saw there.

Every three minutes she went to the door and looked up the trail to see if he were coming back.

On one of these journeys she heard her name softly called behind her. Whirling about she beheld approaching by the trail from the river a graceful figure clad in buckskin skirt and blue flannel, her beautiful dark face composed and smiling, her black hair braided and wound about her up-held head.

In short, it was her friend and preserver, holding out her hands, and smiling at Kitty wistfully and deprecatingly, just as she had seen her last.

Kitty shrieked with pleasure, and flinging her arms about her friend, dragged her into the cabin and forced her into a chair.

"Annie! Annie! Annie!" she cried, dropping on her knees beside her. "How sweet of you to come! I wanted to see you so badly! You must stay a week!"

Nahnya shook her head, smiling. "I just brought the dugout back," she said in her soft full voice that made a pleasant harmony with Kitty's excited accents. "And I brought fresh meat—mountain goat."

"Did you get your own boat all right?" Kitty demanded to know.

"It was only a little broke," said Nahnya. "I fix it easy."

"How could you bring two boats up against the current?" asked Kitty.

"I only bring yours," Nahnya answered. "Mine is down the river on this side where I can get it."

"How will you get it?"

"I will walk along the shore," said Nahnya. "It is not hard walking."

"Now I've got you, I'm not going to let you go in a hurry!" cried Kitty, clinging to her.

"But you're all busy here," objected Nahnya. "The men—"

"My brothers have gone outside," said Kitty. "There is only my father and—a stranger!"

"A stranger?" said Nahnya.

Kitty was not going to blurt out her secret. Her friend's mind must be prepared by delicate stages for its reception. "We have a white man stopping with us," she said very off-hand.

Nahnya was not blind to the self-conscious air and the blush. Her arm tightened affectionately about Kitty.

"Why did you run away from us like you did?" asked Kitty hastily, to create a diversion.

Nahnya shrugged. "I was afraid they'd thank me and make a fuss," she said uneasily. "I feel like a fool then."

"You silly dear!" cried Kitty, embracing her afresh.

There was a new demonstrativeness in Kitty, a breathless ardor that in itself was enough to tell the other woman something had happened since their parting.

"So you have a visitor," she said teasingly. "I think he is young, yes?"

Kitty tucked in an end of Nahnya's braid that was escaping. "Fairly young," she said.

"You are not so much lonely now I think," murmured Nahnya.

Kitty jumped up. "You must be hungry!" she cried. "I'm forgetting my duties!"

"Not an hour ago I ate," said Nahnya. "I am not hungry."

Kitty developed a great flow of small talk, about the weather, about her brothers, about everything except what was in both their minds, Nahnya let her run on.

Under her friend's quiet, kind smile Kitty broke down at last, and running to her, dropped beside her again and hid her hot face on the dark girl's shoulder.

"Oh, Annie!" she breathed on a trembling, rising inflection.

"Tell me," whispered Nahnya.

"Oh, Annie! It's so strange! I can't. I didn't want to tell you anything. I wanted you to see him and—and to guess! I have lost myself completely!"

"I am turned inside out! It came so suddenly. I never guessed anything like this! Oh, Annie! He is so strong, so kind, so mysterious, so clever, so dangerous! I am terrified of him. I am wretched when he is out of my sight for a minute!"

Nahnya's face became grave. "Has he said anything?" she whispered.

"Not yet."

"Oh, Kitty dear!" murmured Nahnya. "Be careful! Men—"

"He's true!" said Kitty hotly.

"That I can see in his eyes!"

"You know who he is?" asked Nahnya anxiously. "Where he come from?" All about him?"

"No!" faltered Kitty. "He's honest!" she cried. "My instinct tells me so. He's good to me. He's careful of me. He doesn't make love to me! Oh, Annie!" she went on tremulously.
