

GREATER HAMILTON'S MOST RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

THE FIGHTING IN TEHRAN.

154 Soldiers and 300 Nationalists Killed and Wounded in Two Days.

Cossacks Hold the City and Other Troops Outside.

Shah Told He Must Uphold the Constitution.

Paris, June 26.—A special despatch received from Teheran states that in the two days' fighting in that city 154 soldiers and 300 Nationalists were killed and wounded.

In an interview the Shah's private secretary stated that the Shah regretted the trouble, and blamed the populace, who threw bombs and fired upon the soldiers. He will take special measures to stop the plundering. A proclamation has been issued arranging for the elections to be held within three months and urging the people to choose capable deputies.

Meanwhile the Shah guarantees the safety of the property of all peaceful residents, even that of those persons now under arrest. But the Anjuman—the political clubs—are forbidden to meet.

The Cossacks continue to hold the city, but the other troops are encamped outside.

Quiet in Teheran.

St. Petersburg, June 26.—A Foreign Office communique based upon the report received by M. Partwig, Russian Minister to Persia, confirms the news that quiet has been re-established in Teheran. It states that the Cabinet remain in power, and that the Shah's position is believed to be greatly improved. The Russian and British representatives at Teheran have taken cognizance of the intrigues of Zill Ee Sultan, the uncle of the Shah, who has been warned to desist.

Although the official representations which have been made to the Shah deal exclusively with the matter of the safety of Europeans in Persia, both Russia and Great Britain have strongly hinted to him that he must uphold the constitution in order to save the throne. The Shah has vowed his determination to preserve the National Council.

The communique admits that M. Hartwig played a leading part in the negotiations between the parties of the National Council and the Shah, acting as intermediary. The Russian Minister has certified that the Council is innocent of intrigue against the Shah.

CAPTURE TOWN.

Two Hundred Mounted Men Attack Viesco in Mexico.

Laredo, Texas, June 26.—Two hundred mounted men to-day attacked and captured the town of Viesco, State of Coahuila, Mexico. Three persons were killed and several wounded in the fighting. Telegraph wires were cut and the railroad lines torn up and a bridge burned. Three train loads of troops left the city of Mexico to-night for the second time, and one train load of soldiers also is leaving Saltillo, the capital of the State. Reports received here are to the effect that the Government believes the attack was made by bandits. The Vice-President of the republic and the Secretary of War and Interior, it is said, deny that the trouble has any political significance. Some reports here say the outbreak is the starting of a revolution.

CHARLTON LADIES

Gave Fine Garden Party at W. D. Flatts.

Under the auspices of Charlton Avenue Methodist Church Ladies' Aid Society, Mr. W. D. Flatts' beautiful grounds on Queen street south were transformed into a veritable fairyland last night. The occasion was the annual garden party, to which the church people all look forward with so much pleasurable anticipation. The spacious grounds were lighted with Chinese lanterns of gorgeous hues, various colored electric lights and large globes, while the various booths, where the ladies, all in white, sold their delicious ice cream and cake, lemonade, candies and strawberries, were much patronized. Williams' orchestra supplied splendid music during the evening. The weather was ideal, the crowd a record and the proceeds about $120.

The Independent Labor Party held a regular meeting in the Labor Hall last night and the following resolution was passed: "While we believe it is necessary to again submit the Hydro Electric power proposition to the people, we stand prepared to render all assistance in our power, in the interests of the Hydro Electric power scheme, in securing a full and fair expression of the ratepayers, in the event of the submission. The meeting was then adjourned until the next regular meeting, 9th July.

DROWNED IN ST. LAWRENCE

Skiff Run Down and Cut in Two by Motor Boat.

Young Man and Young Woman Meet Death in Water.

Other Two Occupants Saved—Investigation to be Made.

Watertown, N. Y., June 28.—A special to the Standard from Clayton, N. Y., says: Edward Wells, aged 18, of Round Island, and Miss Lulu Carmen, of Albany, were drowned in the St. Lawrence about 11 o'clock last night, opposite the depot dock here. In company with Wm. Wells, a brother of one of the victims, and Miss Emma McGraw, aged 23, of Auburn, the young people had just left the dock in a skiff equipped with a half-horse power motor, for a ride on the river. They had scarcely gotten under way when they were run down by a fast motor boat, owned by George Miller, of Clayton, and occupied by himself and Geo. Boynton, of Watertown. The craft is said to have been going at a 20-mile clip, and struck the light craft squarely in the centre, cutting it in two as clean as with a cleaver, and hurling its occupants into the water. It is said that the skiff was equipped with the proper lights, but that the motor boat carried none. William Wells succeeded in keeping himself and Miss McGraw afloat until rescued by the motor boat, but his brother, Edward, and Miss Carmen went down before their rescue could be effected. Both of the young men hailed from Clayton, and the young women were employed at the Hotel Frontenac, Round Island.

The bodies of the victims were recovered at 12.30 this morning, in 40 feet of water. The coroner is investigating.

Hamilton Sports Enter Dominion Day Brantford Events.

Hamilton Cutters Have High Old Time at Brantford.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Brantford, Ont., June 26.—At the Police Court this morning William Bayliss, 46 Grand Street, was charged with keeping a nuisance on his premises in the form of a quantity of bees. The information was laid by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, a Scotch couple who lived next door. Both claimed to have been stung frequently and were getting tired of the busy bees' proclivities. The Magistrate ordered Bayliss to remove the cause of the trouble to the country. This he promised to do.

An interesting event took place at Mount Pleasant yesterday when the marriage took place of Rev. Hugh Wesley Dobson, Winnipeg, and Edith G. Thomas, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thomas.

The Sports Committee for the Dominion Day celebrations here has received a number of entries for the athletic events from Hamilton contestants. Over $200 has been secured for cash prizes beside a lot of other valuable offerings.

Ajax, the wrestler, at Mohawk Park, who offers $25 to the man who can compete with him for 15 minutes, lost his money last night to Jack Sullivan, a local union member, who put it all over him. Sullivan had difficulty in getting his money, but finally succeeded.

McDougall, the well-known cover point, who played for the Bankers hockey team, has been transferred to Toronto.

The police have established a dog pound at 27 Queen street, where stray dogs will be kept for 48 hours, and if not called for within that time will be destroyed.

"The Little Tycoon," a dramatic performance, put on at Recital Hall last night, was a fine success and will be repeated.

Oxford Street Methodist Church held a very successful garden party at the residence of J. M. D. Foulds last evening. The affair of St. Jude's Church was also a fine success.

Brantford, June 25.—The second annual picnic of the Brantford, Hamilton and Toronto Custom Cutters' Association was held at Mohawk Park here yesterday, and proved a most happy event for the sixty visitors present as guests of the local trade. A fine luncheon was served by Caterer Campbell at 1.30, after which the cutters adjourned to the oval for the sports programme. Hamilton and Brantford combined forces to beat Toronto at baseball, and the result was awful. The score stood 16-11 at the end of the fifth inning, and the Hogtowners threw up their hands. Gerald Mullens and Davidson were the battery for the winners, Mullens having some terrible slants for the Queen City scissor artists. Bob Inglis pitched for Toronto, pending the arrival of the ambulance. The umpire was Bob Stewart, of Guelph, and he was frequently mobbed.

The fat men's race of 75 yards, in which Alex. Watt, of Hamilton, had the yards' handicap, was won by Hugh Howie, Brantford, who was scratch man. The hop, stop and jump, the first prize for which was the Brantford Street Railway system, was not run off, owing to the contestants being all in at the time the event was scheduled. The tug-of-war proved a big feature, Hamilton being successful in two pulls against Toronto and Brantford. After a tasty supper the guests returned in the early evening, all speaking very highly of the hospitality afforded them.

BRYAN AND KERN.

Denver, Colo., June 25.—Thomas Taggart, chairman of the national Democratic committee, came to town to-day bringing along a vice-presidential boom, which he put forth with much enthusiasm.

"Bryan will be nominated on the first ballot, without a doubt, and his running mate will be John W. Kern, of Indiana." This was the greeting Mr. Taggart gave the newspapermen.

THE MAN IN OVERALLS

To the average school boy two months' holidays look never-ending.

SPECIAL TRIPS.

Special boats will leave both Hamilton and Toronto every Wednesday and Saturday nights at 8.15, on the Hamilton Steamboat Line. The Modjeska will take the 7.45 a. m. and 2.00 p. m. trips out of Hamilton to-morrow. Those going at 2 p. m. may have three and a half hours in Toronto, leaving there at 8.15 p. m., or may come back on the same boat, reaching here at 8.00 p. m. This is ideal weather for boat trips, the night sail up the lake at this season being especially fine.

FESTIVAL ON MOUNTAIN.

A strawberry festival was held at the home of Mrs. McVittie, Mountain Top, last evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Chalmers' Church. The lawn was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns and an excellent programme was given from the veranda. There was a large crowd present and everybody enjoyed themselves immensely.

Killed in Wreck

Bombay, India, June 26.—In a collision between an express and a freight train on the Bombay & Baroda Railway, near Baroda, to-day a number of persons were killed. It will be impossible to estimate the loss of life until the wreckage has been cleared away. Four passenger coaches and four mail cars of the express train and four cars of the freight train were burned.

TO RIGIDLY ENFORCE LAW.

States Unloads Unprofitables in Fruit Belt.

Dominion Immigration Authorities Will Stop It.

Annexation Application Before Board on Tuesday.

The Dominion Immigration Department will keep close watch at the border to prevent foreign labor entering the Niagara fruit belt during the berry picking season. It is said that some of the canning factories this year have been importing women and children, mostly foreigners, from the United States. About 150 of these are employed by one of the factories in the Niagara peninsula, and 75 were recently turned back at the boundary line. To-day Relief Officer McMenemy received the following telegram from W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, at Ottawa:

"Department has rejected a number of women and children coming in via Niagara Falls, ostensibly to pick berries, on the ground that any of them proving undesirable cannot be deported to the United States, they being for most part minors. Under the circumstances the Minister is anxious to know whether sufficient help can be obtained by fruit growers locally."

Mr. McMenemy wired that there was no need to import labor, and followed this up with a letter in which he explained that a number of Indians from the Grand reserve depended on the berry season for employment. Women and children, he said, also looked to this, and as the berry season is at its height during the summer holidays, there would be no scarcity of hands.

The United States authorities, it is said, are only too glad to get rid of many undesirable by shipping them over the border under the pretext that they are to work in the fruit district.

Mrs. Hania Cuna, the Roumanian woman, who with her husband and two small children, are to be deported, before leaving yesterday in charge of Inspector for Boston, of the Dominion Immigration Department, were sitting at the station at the thought of leaving her brother behind. The woman is in the last stages of consumption. Her brother was very anxious to accompany her, but has been unable to obtain work. He wants to earn enough to pay his passage back, and Relief Officer McMenemy would be pleased to hear from anyone who could give him work for a short time.

City Solicitor Waddell was notified to-day by William Bell, the solicitor for the township residents who are applying for annexation to the city, that the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board had fixed Tuesday next as the day for hearing the application. If Barton township seeks to impose conditions not satisfactory to the city, the Council will rescind the resolution it passed and the mountain people will not get city water.

John McClelland secured a permit to-day for a brick house on Pine street, between Locke and Pearl streets, to cost $1,800.

Mayor Stewart said to-day that in his opinion if the street railway only intended doing what it outlined last night it would be receiving more than the city would be justified in giving. If the programme mentioned last night represents what the company is to do he thinks that the city would be doing its part in just guaranteeing the bonds and allowing the percentage to remain as at present. The force of Colonel Gibson's argument, however, that it would be foolish for the company to run big cars on lines where the traffic did not justify it has impressed itself upon a number of the aldermen.

FRENCH BAPTISTS.

Resolve in Convention in Favor of Church Union.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, June 26.—The French Baptists of Canada, who have delegates here from all parts of Canada attending their annual conference, have, on motion of Rev. A. L. Therrien, of Montreal, decided, by Rev. G. F. MacFaul, of Ottawa, passed the following important resolution: "Seeing that the question of church union is the order of the day, be it resolved that we express our desire to see the different evangelical denominations drawn together and to unite wherever it is possible in order to realize the thought of the Master in this regard, providing that always this union does not imply the renouncing of evangelical principles or religious convictions based on the free principle of inquiry and on the teaching of the holy scripture."

Her Sailing Not Interfered With by Canal Break.

The Steamship Dundurn, of the Inland Navigation Co.'s fleet, was, fortunately, west of the break in the Cornwall Canal and will continue to sail eastbound on the regular advertised schedule, leaving Hamilton on Tuesday at 10 a. m., and Toronto Tuesday at 5 p. m. Passengers will be landed at Prescott and taken from there to Montreal by rail. Splendid connections are made at this point as the steamer arrives at 2 p. m., and the Grand Trunk train leaves at 2.58 p. m., arriving at Montreal at 6 p. m.

Westbound the Dundurn will leave Prescott after the arrival of the Grand Trunk train which leaves Montreal at 7.28 p. m. Friday, and is due at Prescott at 11.01 p. m.

Passengers will thus be enabled to see the beautiful Thousand Islands and do a little extra time in Montreal, and the rates will be the same, $18 for the round trip, including meals and bath, while on the steamer. Intending tourists will do well to consult ticket agents before deciding on the route by which they will travel. Railway transportation between Montreal and Prescott will be issued by the purchase of the Dundurn.

CONVENTION AND PICNIC.

The Methodists of Hamilton and surrounding district, including Ingersoll, Brantford and other cities, are to hold a convention in this city, at Macabees' Hall on Wednesday next, July 1st. In the afternoon it is the intention to hold a picnic at the East End Incline Park, where games for men, women and children will be indulged in, and prizes distributed. From indications there will be a large turnout.

YOUNG LIFE CRUSHED OUT.

Arthur Near Run Over by His Own Wagon.

And Died in the Hospital Six Hours Later.

Wheel Had Come Off and Frightened the Horses.

A very sad accident happened last evening, about 6 o'clock, near the top of the east end incline in which Arthur Near, a young farmer, 26 years of age, residing on top of the mountain, south of the Barton reservoir, received serious injuries internally that he died at the City Hospital six hours later, an operation performed as soon as possible proving unavailing. Near was in the city yesterday with a load of market goods and had a large wagon. Going home he got a load of manure. With this load he was unable to go up the hill back of the reservoir, so went up the Wentworth street incline. He reached the top, and drove off and was just making the turn of the road running east, when the front wheel on the right side came off, the nut having worked loose, and the wagon dropped on that side. This frightened the horses and Near lost control of them with the result that they started a mad dash east on the mountain road. They went straight for a little distance, but Near had all he could do to keep his seat and was unable to guide them. When passing the end of the Summers theatre, the wagon struck a post and Near was thrown out. The wagon passed on and over Near, the heavy load in it crushing his abdomen and fracturing the pelvis in a terrible manner. A telephone message from Carter's Hotel took the police with the ambulance to the spot and the young man was picked up, conscious, but suffering terribly, and taken to the City Hospital. Dr. Laidlaw was called in and saw at once that Near's chances of recovery were very slim, and that an operation was a necessity to even give him this slight chance. The operation was performed, but proved to be of little help to the victim, and he passed away about half an hour after midnight, only regaining consciousness for a short time before his death. The body was removed to Green's undertaking parlors and prepared for burial, which will take place in the country, near the deceased's home, in the family plot. Near had been married six years and lived a widow, but no children.

The dead young man will be remembered as having discovered the dead body of Mr. Aikin, who was killed behind the reservoir in the east end by his horse going over the edge of the mountain.

SHE WAS GRITTY.

Woman Nearly Drowned But Attended the Excursion.

There came within an ace of being a fatality last night at the Turbinia wharf while the crowd that gathered for the Y.M.C.A. moonlight was waiting for the boat. A woman, who had become tired standing, went to the edge of the wharf to sit down, lost her balance and tumbled into the water. Mr. John Moodie, one of the directors of the company, and others who were standing near at the time, rescued the woman when she came to the surface with her hands held high above her head. She was little the worse for the ducking and after being fished out, thanked her rescuers, rushed home, donned a new costume and went to the moonlight.

GLANFORD WEDDING

Marriage of Beverly L. Hess and Miss Martin.

A very pretty ceremony took place in St. Paul's Church, Glanford, last evening, when the Rev. J. Fletcher, rector, joined in holy wedlock Miss Estella Martin, of North Glanford, and Beverly L. Hess, of Ryckmans' Corners. To the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Oliver A. Martin. She was beautifully gowned in pearly grey with lace to match. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, the ceremony taking place under an arch of white roses. Both bride and groom wore high collared and in that vicinity, as shown by the large number of guests.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hess left for their home in Barton, followed by the best wishes of their hosts of friends.

KPT HER TRUNK.

She Set Fire to Building—Got Off On Suspended Sentence.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, June 25.—Lena Goss, an English domestic, aged 19, could not get her trunk from William Payne, Albert street, where she boarded. Immediately she went up in the air, set fire to the building, poured it on a fire, and set fire to it. Some boys put it out. Detective Ryan incidentally arrested Lena and to-day she pleaded guilty to an arson charge. She was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Capt. McLaren has received his field officer's certificate from Stanley Barracks.

It is expected that final arrangements will be made on Monday for the trip of the local regiments to Quebec.

HODGINS' CHARGES.

Report of Their Failure Presented to the House.

Minority Report Asks for Further Investigation.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, June 26.—The report of the majority of the special committee appointed to investigate the charges made by Major Hodgins against the National Transcontinental Railway Commissioners and others, was presented and read in the House of Commons this morning. It is in keeping with the closing scenes in the investigation, as reported in these despatches when Major Hodgins withdrew his charges, and the case which the Conservative members had made their own in the hope of stirring up a scandal utterly collapsed. The closing paragraphs of the report are as follows:

"Your committee, therefore, decided that as the charges made by Major Hodgins had been withdrawn, the question as to whether the engineers on districts B and F were classifying according to the interpretation of specifications as laid down by the chief engineer was a technical one, which Major Hodgins did not wish to present to the committee, and that the Board of Arbitrators was the proper tribunal to determine whether or not there was an issue in this matter, and inasmuch as differences of opinion had been anticipated at the inception of the enterprise, and their disposition provided for by statute and agreement, which provided for the settlement of such differences by the arbitrators and decision of the chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company, and in case of their disagreement by a third engineer to be appointed by the Chief Justice of Canada, the inquiry could not profitably or in the public interest be continued, and the same was brought to a close."

"Your committee therefore find that Major Hodgins has not only failed to prove the charges as contained in the report of the committee, but in the latter interviews, but has specifically withdrawn the same and has unqualifiedly exonerated the commissioners and their engineers from any improper conduct or undue influence over officials under them, or of collusion with the contractors and that in question as to classification of the work, as provided by the tribunal previously provided therefor by the statutes.

The Conservative members of the committee have drawn up a minority report which has not yet been presented to the House. It takes the ground as outlined by them when the inquiry was closing, namely, that many charges of over-classification and excessive allowances by Transatlantic Railway Commissioners have been made, and that there are within scope of the committee's inquiry and should be investigated by the committee.

The Suffragettes

London, June 26.—Convinced that their recent tactics have failed to persuade Premier Asquith to accelerate the legislative machine in their favor, the suffragettes project another novel demonstration next Tuesday with a view to exerting further pressure.

While a deputation will seek an interview with the Prime Minister, it is the intention to surround the House of Commons with a cordon of suffragettes, which the leaders predict will number at least 100,000. It will be a peaceful gathering, however, and no attempt will be made to force an entry into the House.

MARGUERITE'S SECRET

"But you must not call me Mrs. Houston, my child. You must call me mother. I have no other daughter, and you have no other mother now. Besides, you are my daughter-in-law, you know. So you must call me mother. Say—will you not?"

"Oh, I cannot! I cannot, Mrs. Houston! You are my mother's friend, and I love you dearly; but I cannot give you her dear title. I had but one mother in this world—in all eternity, we can have but one; to call another person so, however near and dear, would be vain and false; excuse me, Mrs. Houston," said the girl, gravely.

"As you please, then, dear. You will get over these morbid feelings. Good night, God bless you," said Mrs. Houston, stooping and pressing a kiss upon the brow of her adopted daughter.

"When every one else was gone, the old doctor lingered near Margaret.

"Will you come now, my child?" he asked, gently.

"Prontly, dear doctor. Please go and leave me here a little while alone with her."

"If I do, will you come in before the dew begins to fall?"

"Yes, indeed I will."

The doctor walked away through the woods in the direction of the house. Let us also leave the orphan to her sacred grief, nor inquire whether she spent the next hour in weeping or in prayer. The doctor kept on to the house, and told his daughter Clara to prepare the best bed chamber for the accommodation of her friend Margaret.

And before the dew fell, true to her promise, Margaret came in.

Clara took charge of her. If ever there existed a perfectly sound mind in a perfectly sound body, that body and mind was Clara Hartley's. She was a queen of noble nature's crowning. She was a fine, tall, well-developed girl, with a fresh and ruddy complexion, hair as black as the black eagle's crest, and eyes as bright and strong as his glance when sailing toward the sun; with a cheerful smile, and a pleasant, elastic voice. She took charge of Margaret, and in her wise, strong, loving way, ministered to all her needs—knowing when to speak to her, and better still, when to be silent, and to wait upon her, and best of all, when to leave her alone. And Margaret was by her own desire very much left alone.

Every morning she stole from the house, and went down through the woods to sit on her mother's grave. For the first few days, the hours passed there were spent in inconsolable grief. Then after a week she would sit there quietly, tearlessly, in pensive thought.

In the second week of her stay, Mrs. Houston came and brought her clothing from the island, and with it a large packet of linen cut out and partly sewed. This was a set of skirts that Margaret and her mother had been making up for her father the very day that Mrs. Helmetstet had been struck with her death sickness.

"I thought that if she could be interested in any of her former occupations, her spirits might sooner rally," said Mrs. Houston to Clara. And afterward, in delivering the parcel to Margaret, she said:

"You know your father will be home soon, my dear, and will want these to take back to camp with him. Will you not try to finish them all in time?"

"Oh, yes; give them to me; how could I forget them. She was so anxious they should be done," said Margaret, with an eagerness strangely at variance with her earnest, mournful countenance.

In unrolling the packet, she came upon the skirt ruffles that she knew her mother had been hemming. There were the very last stitches she had set. There was the delicate needle just where she had stuck it when she left her sewing to go out into the garden that fatal morning. Margaret burst into tears and wept as if her heart would break, until she became exhausted. Then she reverently rolled up the ruffles, saying: "I cannot finish this ruffle. I would not draw out the needle for fingers put there, for the world. I will keep this unchanged in remembrance of her."

"And when will you be willing to come home?" said Mrs. Houston, with a smile.

"After my father comes and goes. I would rather stay here near her to meet him."

"And when he goes, will you come?"

"Yes."

After dinner Mrs. Houston left Plover's Point. Margaret remained, and each morning after breakfast, took her little work basket, and walked through the woods down beside the grave, and sat sewing there all day.

One day while she sat thus a gentle footstep approached, a soft hand was laid upon her shoulder, and a loving voice murmured her name.

Margaret looked up to see the mild old minister, Mr. Wellworth, standing near her.

"My child," he said, "why do you sit here day after day to give way to grief?"

"Oh, Mr. Wellworth, I do not sit here to give way to grief. I only sit here to be near her," pleaded Margaret.

"But, my child, do you know that you grieve as one without hope and without God in the world?"

Margaret did not answer; she had never in her life received any religious instruction and scarcely understood the meaning of the minister's words.

"Shall I tell you, Margaret, of Him who came down from Heaven to light up the darkness of the grave?"

Margaret raised her eyes in a mute, appealing glance to his face.

"Shall I speak of Him, Margaret? Of Him, of whom, when His friends had seen Him dead and buried out of their sight, the angel of the sepulchre said, 'He is not here, but risen?'"

"Still that spirit, speaking gaze."

"Oh, Him, who said 'I am the resurrection and the life?'"

"Oh, yes; tell me of Him! tell me something to relieve this dreadful sense of loss and death that is pressing all the life out of my heart," said Margaret, earnestly.

The old man took the seat beside her, held her hand in his own, and for the first time opened to her vision the spiritual views of life, death and immortality—of man, Christ and God.

"Sorrow softens and never sears the heart of childhood and youth. Sorrow makes a very tender and impressionable heart of the orphan; its soil was in a good state for the reception of the good seed."

"To hear of God the Father, of Christ wished after she had departed her orphan girl should go home with Mr. Houston to wait your will and disposition, my father."

Mr. Helmetstet turned and looked up on his youthful daughter. He had scarcely looked at her since his return. Although he had met her with affection and kissed her with tenderness, so absorbed had he been in his bitter, remorseful grief, that he scarcely fixed his eyes upon her, or noticed that in his two years' absence she had grown from childhood into womanhood. But now, when without hesitating bashfulness, when with serious self-possession, she spoke of her betrothal, he turned and gazed upon her.

She was looking so grave and womanly in her deep mourning robe, her plainly banded hair and her thoughtful, earnest, fervent countenance, when youthfulness lightness seemed a tone of respect, and was a profounder depth of thought and feeling under that young face than her great sorrow alone could have produced—as though strange suffering and severe reflection, searching trial and terrible struggle, and the knowledge, experience and wisdom that they bring had prematurely come upon that young soul.

Her father contemplated her countenance with an increasing wonder and interest. His voice, in addressing her, unconsciously assumed a tone of respect, and when in rising to leave the spot he offered her his arm, the deferential courtesy of the gentleman blended in his manner with the tender affection of the father. And afterward, in the presence of others, he always called her, or spoke to her, as Miss Helmetstet, an example which all others were, of course, expected to follow.

The next day Mr. Helmetstet departed for the island. Margaret was anxious to accompany her father thither, but he declined her offer, expressing his desire and necessity to be alone. He went to the island, to the scene of his high-spirited, broken-hearted wife's long, half-ventured, half-entire confinement; he went to indulge in solitude his bitter, remorseful grief.

He remained there a fortnight, inhabiting the vacant rooms, wandering about amid the deserted scenes, once so full, so instinct, so alive with Marguerite De Lancia's bright, animating and inspiring presence—now only haunted by her memory. He seemed to derive a strange, morose satisfaction in thus torturing his own conscience-stricken soul.

Once, from Marguerite's favorite parlor, were heard the sounds of deep, convulsive weeping and sobbing; and old Hapibah, who was the listener upon this occasion, fearing discovery, hurried away in no less astonishment than consternation. And this was the only instance in the whole course of his existence upon which Mr. Helmetstet was ever suspected of such unbecoming.

At the end of a fortnight, having appointed an overseer to take charge of the island, Mr. Helmetstet returned to Plover's Point.

This was on a Saturday.

The next day, Sunday, his young daughter Margaret formally united with the Protestant Episcopal Church, over which Mr. Wellworth had charge, and received her first communion from his venerable hands.

And on Monday morning Mr. Helmetstet conveyed his daughter to Buzzard's Bluff, where he placed her in charge of her prospective mother-in-law. The same day, calling Margaret into an unoccupied parlor, he said to her:

"My dear, since you are to remain here under the guardianship of your future relatives, and as you are, though so youthful, a girl of unusual discretion, and an affianced bride, I wish to place your maintenance here upon the most liberal and independent footing. I have set apart the rents of Plover's Point, which is, indeed, your own property, to your support. The rents of the house, farm and fisheries amount, in all, to twelve hundred dollars a year. Enough for your incidental expenses, Margaret."

"Oh, amply, amply, my dear father."

"I have requested Dr. Hartley to pay this over to you quarterly. In addition to this, you will certainly need a maid of your own, my dear; and it will also be more convenient for you to have a messenger bring you your letters, as you will be times when you may wish to send a letter to the postoffice, or a note to some of your young friends or even an errand to the village shops, when you may not like to call upon the servants of the family. For these reasons, I have directed Mr. Houston, with your concurrence have hired Hildreth and Forrest to come over and remain here in your service."

"And they are willing to come, dear father?"

"What has that to do with it, my dear? But since you ask, I will inform you they are very anxious to be near you."

"I thank you earnestly, my dear father."

A WELL-KNOWN THIEF.

Pickpocket Arrested at Guelph is Prominent Across the Line.

Guelph, June 25.—Frank Jefferson, the pickpocket arrested by the Guelph police and giving his address as Toronto, has been identified by photographs by General Superintendent W. A. of the Canadian Detective Bureau, as Frank Smith, alias Frank Wilson, alias Big Smith, one of the most clever thieves who has ever operated in the United States. Mr. Welsh is sure of his man, from personal experience, from his appearance and the description given although he has not as yet been identified, but he is sure he can be learned, he has operated but little in Canada.

Smith, or Jefferson, has been seldom convicted, but he has worked with the cleverest gangs in the States. In October, 1906, he was arrested in Helena, Montana, for picking pockets and was accompanied by one of the worst crowds of thieves existing at that time. In 1903 he was arrested in Kansas City, and in 1905 at Wheeling, W. Va., where he was with a gang that included the big Ed Taylor, who was to be his companion in Guelph, who escaped by cleverly changing his disguise.

Year for Bribing Boy to Steal.

St. Thomas, June 25.—George Swadling, who has served two previous terms in the Central Prison, was today sentenced to one year in that institution by Police Magistrate Glenn, on a charge of having given a boy ten cents to steal a traveller's grip from the Wilcox House.

POURED OIL ON MEAT.

Women Fought Butchers in a Section of Brooklyn.

New York, June 25.—A band of determined women, armed with cans of kerosene oil, marched through the streets of the Brownsville section of Brooklyn yesterday, and walking boldly in upon the kosher beef sellers who had taken a stand against them in their fight for lower meat prices, dashed the destroying fluids over the meat in the stores.

One of the meat sellers, Isaac Snyder, of No. 1,783 Prospect place was roughly beaten when he resisted the women's actions. This brought on a free fight between friends of the butcher and persons who sympathized and soon a mob of two thousand persons filled the street in front of the place. Reserves were hurried to the scene, but it was only after ten minutes of wilding nightsticks that the street was cleared. Four women and one man were arrested. In the meantime every article of beef in Snyder's store and Ludwig Snyder's store, three doors away, at No. 1,789 Prospect place, had been ruined by oil. Snyder did not wait to be beaten.

In Brownsville there are more than five hundred kosher butcher shops. It is declared that nearly a hundred of these have been closed by the women's crusade. The remainder have yielded.

ANOTHER FOOL COMING.

Russian to Skim Niagara Whirlpool With a "Pneumatic Boat."

New York, June 25.—Vasily Rebiokoff, who has a "pneumatic boat" that he believes can navigate the most turbulent waters in the world, and who has been experimenting with it in roaring streams in Europe, arrived yesterday by the White Star line of boats in the boat, which will come on Saturday by the French liner La Lorraine, is 12 feet long, 3 feet beam and draws only three-quarters of an inch. It is propelled by a motor, and instead of going through the water skips over it. Mr. Rebiokoff says that while he was demonstrating what the boat could do in Germany somebody said he knew a bit of water that Rebiokoff would not venture in, and that was the whirlpool rapids at Niagara.

Rebiokoff straightway began to pack his things for America. His friend the Baron Borkovitch, an Austrian army officer, who, like Mr. Rebiokoff, is an expert aeronaut, met him at the pier.

Mr. Rebiokoff has invented a torpedo that he thought he could control by wireless. He was unwilling to talk about that subject. But he surely is going to try to skim the whirlpool.

THE GROOM FAILED.

Guests at Marriage Ceremony Were Disappointed.

Winnipeg, June 25.—A wedding feast at which the groom failed to appear was spread here last night, and his mysterious disappearance is still the topic of general conversation. The victim of the caper was Mrs. Woodley, a prepossessing young widow, who has been in charge of the luncheon room in Eaton's store. She was engaged to be married to a young C. P. R. clerk named A. Leitch. Friends had been rented and furnished, and the bride-elect had moved her chattels into it.

The guests gathered at the appointed hour, everybody interested being there but the groom. He had procured two passes from the C. P. R. to Vancouver, with the intention of taking a trip, but these have not been used. No explanation can be offered.

RELIEF FOR THE JEWS.

A Measure for Ameliorating Conditions in Russia Contemplated.

London, June 25.—At the Royal meeting between King Edward and the Czar, the Jewish Chronicle understands the information was conveyed that a measure for ameliorating the condition of the Jews in the Russian Empire had been for some time contemplated. "We believe," adds the Chronicle, "that Premier Stolypin is engaged upon the active consideration of such a measure, which will probably take the form of a considerable remission of present laws regarding the Jewish raid settlement."

IVY POISONING.

Keep Zinc Ointment on Hand at This Season.

"This is the season," said the physician, "when I do business with the small boy or the small girl, who is suffering from ivy poisoning. It is a fiendishly irritating, although seldom a serious ailment, but if people would follow a little common sense advice they could save many doctors' bills.

"Ivy poison is like a cold—it can't be cured in a day, but it will yield more or less to proper treatment, and that treatment may be given as well at home at almost no expense as by a physician. No doctor knows of any specific for ivy poison. Cases differ in severity, just like cases of anything else, and there are as many ways of doctoring it—if you listen to what your friends tell you—as there are of doctoring a cold. Some people claim to have found with hazel ointment. Most hazel I have seen have yielded to witch hazel about as much as they would have yielded to water. It is excellent, however, for allaying temporarily the awful, burning itch of a severe attack. What hindered asked the doctor.

"The one thing which will almost always do some good is zinc ointment, five cents worth of which obtained at any drug store will suffice for a long time. Rub it on the parts affected, and keep them well greased with it. It appears to have the effect of drying up the little water blisters, which are the external evidence of poisoning.

"This sounds like, and is an easy and simple thing to do. That is the trouble with it. It is so easy and cheap that most people will believe they can get quicker relief by buying a doctor's ointment. Like his merry little boy, a prescription to be filled at a drug store, yet out of 100 doctors who might be referred to a great majority would give either zinc ointment or a treatment of copper sulphate, which has exactly the same effect.

"In addition to this, it is advisable to keep the blood cool, refraining from exercise, which heats and induces perspiration, while the poison is in the system. I have seen a mild case of poisoning aggravated by heated blood until it became frightfully painful and actually serious, spreading into the parts of the body which had not been exposed to contact. One man, who came to me, had his ankles so swollen by blisters that he could not wear high shoes. They were twice their natural size, and encrusted thick with the irritating little pimples. I found he had been riding a bicycle a great deal, and instead of the poison passing away in a couple of weeks, it had grown very much worse.

"One more thing worth remembering is when one has the least suspicion he has been exposed to ivy, not to touch his face with his hands, until he has washed thoroughly. The skin around the eyes is very sensitive to poison, and it is not very pleasant to have both eyes shut up by this valueless and noxious weed."

A Hero's Death. Sir Colin Scott-Moncrieff writes to the "Times" a brief but moving account of the murder of his only son, a civil administrator in the Sudan. It appears that a certain landowner, Sheikh Abd-Kader Mohammed Inam, had proclaimed himself a prophet, collected a band of followers, and refused to treat with the Mammur, or native administrator of the district. He sent a message, however, to say that if Mr. Scott-Moncrieff and the Mammur would come and interview him unarmed and unattended he would state his grievances. Although his own brothers, who had been invited to attend, declined to do so, and endeavored to dissuade Mr. Scott-Moncrieff, he and the Mammur decided to trust the man, and leaving their escort a mile away, proceeded to the Sheikh's encampment. According to the statement of men subsequently taken prisoners, the Sheikh, on being asked to state his grievances, replied that he had none, but that what he was doing was for Allah. He and his followers then fell on the Mammur and Mr. Scott-Moncrieff, and shot them dead. Mr. Scott-Moncrieff, who was only twenty-four years of age, was a noble and distinguished man, and had conferred a noble distinction on an honored name.

Politician—You said in your last issue that I wasn't fit to sleep with the hogs. I want you to retract it. Editor—Very well. Jimmy, put in our next issue that Mr. Smith is fit to sleep with the hogs. —Cornell Widow.

MARKETS and FINANCE

TORONTO MARKETS.

Live Stock.

On Tuesday last the receipts of live stock at the city market were 21 cars, composed of 867 cattle, 1,061 hogs, 924 sheep and 136 calves. We give these figures as on Tuesday, on the basis of the actual, we could not get the complete returns for that day.

There were a few good grade-fed cattle, but the bulk were growers or shorthorned and finished on grass.

There was a fair trade, but the grade-fed cattle sold at lower quotations, while the well-fed animals were firm at unchanged prices. Too many dealers are really unable to fit to kill are being marketed.

Exporters—Not many exporters were offered, and the highest quotation given was $6.40 for steers. Export bulls sold at $4.75 to $5.25 per cwt.

Butchers—A few prime picked butchers' stock sold at $5.00 to $5.50, and two Polled Angus cattle were bought by Alexander Leveson at $5.00 per cwt. Loads of good to choice cattle sold at $5.00 to $5.50; medium, $4.50 to $5.00; common to medium, $4.00 to $4.50; good cows, $4.00 to $4.50; medium cows, $3.50 to $4.00; poor cows, $3 to $3.50.

Milkers and springers—Receipts were equal to the demand, and the market was easy at prices ranging from $20 to $25 each with one extra quality cow at $30.

Veal calves—The market for veal calves of good quality was firm. Prices ranged from $1.50 to $2.00, and a few extra quality sold at $2.50 per cwt.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts were liberal, nearly 1,700. Prices were easier all around: ewes, $4 to $4.50; 100 to $25; 50 to $25; 70 to $25 per lb., or $3 to $3.50.

Hogs—Receipts of 2,000 hogs were reported by the railways. Prices ranged at $6.50 for fed and watered, and $6.00 for light. Drovers report $6.25 as being a common price at country points, and as high as $6.50 was sold at one point.

THE HAMILTON TIMES

FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1908.

CLOSE TO AGREEMENT.

To the average citizen who has been keeping tab on the street-railway negotiations, the insistence of City Solicitor Waddell and some of the aldermen upon inserting in the proposed by-law a clause requiring the reconstruction of the street railway to be done "under the direction of the City Engineer," and which insistence is at present blocking progress, looks very much like placing an unreasonable obstacle in the way of a settlement.

ed, and blames them for "denouncing the Liberals as" imbeciles, helpless and incompetent when they yield anything to further the business of the country." Says the Witness: The only logical deduction from this letter criticism is that it has been an imbecility on the part of the Government to allow this brutal obstruction to go on, and that to show strength it ought to have at once introduced a closure bill, and if that was obstructed by unparliamentary tactics, to have appealed to the country for the primary right of carrying on Parliament at all.

FOR FULL BINS.

The reports from the great grain-growing West are most encouraging and from all quarters there are expectations of a large crop. In Manitoba the acreage increase is not very great, the wheat area being 2,650,840 acres, 61,987 more than last year, and that in oats being 1,216,632, or 3,036 more, the total in all grain crops being 4,935,075, an increase of 102,260. The crop is reported to be excellent and the outlook bright.

THE STAFF OF LIFE.

According to a local contemporary, a local baker has announced that the trade in this city has discovered a plan by which the new act regulating the sale of bread, and which comes into force on July 1, can be evaded, and that, hereafter, only "fancy" bread, which will be sold in loaves of 16 or 20 ounces each, will be purchasable in Hamilton.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Good faith, Mr. Mayor, ought to mark the course of the Chief Magistrate of a city like Hamilton.

But what does the Mayor care what the people think of his course in this power matter if his efforts land a fat job in his lap?

The reasonable requirements of parliamentary debate and the interests of the country do not appeal to the Ottawa obstructionists. But when their own selfish comfort is menaced by the hot weather, what a squealing they make!

An excellent time to provide against the pinch of the "rainy day" of slack times is when the temptation of flush times assails you to "blow in" the surplus that would form the nucleus of a tidy bank account. Better the reserve in the savings bank than the place in the line of seekers for tickets for bread or charity work.

The Street Railway Company can get along without making any extensions or spending any large sum of money on the road, and by such a policy can see prospects of dividends at an early date. But the citizens need the extensions and improvements, and they will not acquit of treason to their interests any alderman who seeks to prevent getting them on fair terms.

From this time forth the Commons will not enjoy its Wednesday recess, but three sittings a day will be held. This is rendered necessary by the long-continued obstruction of the Opposition. The obstructionists complain bitterly of the discomfort of long sittings in the hot weather. Perhaps a month or two of experience in continuous sessions would suffice to bring them to their senses.

The arrangement by which the city leases for a term of years a portion of its dock to the Mutual Steamboat Company has at last been completed, notwithstanding many obstacles placed by the Mayor in the way of the deal. It appears to be an excellent one for the city. When the old sheds have been removed and the new ones built it will prove a good investment for the corporation and a benefit to the shipping of the port.

Mr. Rider, of the C. B. & Q. Railway, says the telephone is already introduced, to the displacement of the telegraph, on 6,000 miles of railway on this continent. One of the most serious objections to the telephone is its sensitiveness to lightning. Science is, however, gradually succeeding in overcoming these dis-

SOCIAL EVENINGS.

Strawberries and Music at First and Wesley Churches.

At First Methodist Church last evening a strawberry festival, under the auspices of the Athletic Club, drew a large crowd. A short musical programme was disposed of and then refreshments were served by the members of the Athletic Club. Miss Adeline Smith and Miss Rosemary contributed two beautiful solos and Miss H. Nichols played a violin solo in excellent style. Mr. Martin Cleworth gave a reading. The boys of the club are to be congratulated upon the success of their entertainment, and they are able to congratulate themselves over the financial success of it as well.

Considering the counter attractions, there was a good attendance at the strawberry festival at Wesley Church last evening. An excellent programme was given, which was thoroughly appreciated by all and was as follows: Piano duet, Misses Hamm and Marshall; piano solo, Miss Bessie Pass; recitation, Miss Slater; song, Mr. Geo. J. Clark; piano solo, Miss Bessie Pass; song, Miss Annie Sutherland; violin solo, Miss Florence Clark; recitation, Miss Slater.

Keeps Away From Wires.

(Toronto Globe.)

Three deaths in a day from contact with electric currents should impress the warning against touching or approaching any wire.

"Let That Wire Alone."

(Toronto Telegram.)

"If you see a wire let it alone." These words represent one "frill" that might well be added to the subjects taught in the Public Schools of Toronto.

A Witticism.

(Toronto Star.)

A Hamilton man has been sent to penitentiary for five years for shooting at street car conductors. The only projectile the law permits one to launch at a street car is the javelin of one's wit, and that not to hurt.

Anglican Socialists.

(Montreal Gazette.)

The Pan-Anglican Conference speaking at times appears to run largely to Socialism. One orator advocated the abolishing of wage-earning, and the public maintenance of child-bearing mothers, and no one seems to have rebuked him, though what the family would be like with the mothers all in state institutions no one can say. Socialism must be near the time of a great triumph, or a great collapse.

Training a Newspaper Man.

(Newspaperman.)

Said the editor to the new reporter: "You must learn never to state a thing as a fact until it has been proved a fact. You are apt to get us into libel suits. Do not say, 'The cashier stole the funds,' say, 'The cashier who is alleged to have stolen the funds.' That's all. Oh, get something about the First Ward social, to-night."

And this is the report turned in by the young man, who headed the editor's warning: "It is rumored that a card party was given last evening to a number of reputed ladies of the First Ward. Mrs. Smith, gossip says, was the hostess, and the festivities are reported to have continued until 11.30 in the evening. The alleged hostess is believed to be the wife of John Smith, the so-called "high-priced grocer."

Canada Is Awake.

(New York Sun.)

In its attitude toward Canada the United States is unexcusably indifferent to its own interests. In the contemplation of the economic greatness of their own land the people of this country lose sight of what is going on elsewhere. With short-sighted complacency they look at the array of figures representing the products of American fields and farms and give little or no heed to the fact that the grain crops of the Canadian Northwest have increased from about 30,000,000 bushels in 1891 to 250,000,000 bushels at the present time, with a certainty of quadrupling that output within a few years. New railway lines are being run through the grain country, opening new areas of settlement. New outlets are being made by which Canadian crops and Canadian beef and cattle can be sent to market through Canadian territory. The Hudson Bay route and the Georgian Bay Canal are now something more than mere dreams. It is probable that decisions will soon be made whether the Welland Canal shall be deepened to a draught of twenty-five feet or a new canal built around Niagara Falls. Canada is awake and is growing right lustily.

BURNED TO DEATH.

New York, June 26.—Dederick D. Grinstead, 50 years old, was burned to death early to-day in his warehouse on East 110th street. He was a member of the firm of Grinstead Bros., proprietors of a chain of a dozen grocery stores in Harlem. Fire broke out in the Grinstead warehouse shortly after midnight.

PENSION FOR AMERICAN.

London, June 26.—The list of pensions granted by the Government in the past year for services to science and literature includes $1,250 yearly to Professor Edwin Linkster, director of the Natural History Museum, and $250 yearly to Paul Fountain, an American traveler and writer, the latter "in consideration of his contributions to literature and his strained circumstances."

Besides the routine business the University Board of Governors yesterday appointed Mr. A. G. Huntman lecturer in biology and Mr. P. W. Muller lecturer in German.

north, yesterday, in his 15th year. A service was held at the house last night at 8.30 o'clock. Rev. C. H. Anderson, of Burlington, officiating. The remains were shipped via the C. T. R. to Onondaga at 7.53 this morning for interment.

The funeral of Mrs. Martha Corbin took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her father, Mr. John Chapman, 292 King street east, to Hamilton Cemetery. Rev. R. J. Treleven conducted the services at the house and grave.

The funeral of Miss Mary Gillesby took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her mother, Mrs. Arthur O'Hair, Wellington street south. Rev. E. J. Etherington, rector of St. Thomas' Church, officiated at the services at the house and grave. The pall-bearers were: Thomas W. Lester, R. T. Steele, James A. Chisler, R. R. Mor, D. B. Pratt and Thomas Burns. A numerous circle of relatives and friends were present.

STRANDED IN NEW YORK.

Toronto Boy, Without Work and Without Money.

New York, June 25.—Meyer Fine, a youth of Toronto, Canada, received a letter several months ago from his aunt, Mrs. Sarah Weinberg, requesting him to come to New York and promising him a good position. He came three weeks ago but cannot find his aunt. He doesn't know her address, except that she lives in the vicinity of Moore street, Brooklyn. There are several families of the name of Weinberg in the immediate neighborhood, but none know the boy's aunt, whose husband is a speaker of English. The boy located a distant relative, Mrs. Jacobson, of No. 9 Stanley street, Brooklyn, from whom he received food and shelter.

He has remained with her for a few days, but as she is poor she cannot afford to keep him any longer. Fine is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fine, 270 Wellington street west, Toronto. He has tried hard to get employment but without success, and has no money to return home.

Mr. R. A. Rolph was elected Chairman of the Toronto Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Heat on Wednesday caused six deaths in New York. J. J. Vink, of Cranbrook, was drowned in Kootenay River while fishing.

PROPER CENSURE.

Some of the Tory organs have been quoting from the Montreal Witness in the effort to make it appear that it approved of the policy of obstruction by which the Opposition has so seriously retarded Parliamentary business. The Montreal Witness is, perhaps, the best authority on the subject, and it describes the policy as "highwayman tactics," and scathingly denounces as "added hypocrisy" the organs' attempt to lay at the door of the Government the "unconscionable delays which persistent and premeditated obstruction has caus-

LOSES BOTH HANDS.

Unfortunate Accident to Young Man Belonging to Galt.

Galt, June 26.—Mr. Harry Foster, son of Mr. Peter Foster, Bond street, met with a serious accident yesterday at the Art Metal Works, as a result of which he will lose both hands. The young fellow was operating a corrugating machine, when in some manner his hands were drawn in between the rollers, and before the machine could be stopped he had suffered terrible injuries. Both hands were drawn in as far as the palms. Dr. Wardlaw was summoned and took charge of the case. He says that the left hand is entirely gone, as far as the palm, while there is some slight chance of saving the thumb and part of one finger on the right hand. Mr. Foster has been particularly unfortunate with machinery. June one year ago his left hand was drawn into a machine at the same works, and all fingers amputated. He is a popular young fellow, about twenty years of age, his many friends regret extremely this latest misfortune.

BIRNS-BURKE.

Pretty Wedding in St. Joseph's Church Wednesday.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at St. Joseph's Church on the morning of June 24th, when Margaret Dolers Burke, daughter of the late Mr. William and Mrs. Burke, and Mr. Roland Hardy Birns were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. J. P. Holdridge. The bride was prettily gowned in white point d'esprit over white silk and white picture hat, with ostrich plumes, and carried bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore white Brussels lace over white silk, and white picture hat, and carried sweet peas. The bride's going-away gown was of navy blue cloth, with being to match. After a short honeymoon trip to points east, Mr. and Mrs. Birns will take up their residence at 22 Lochearn street. The bride received many beautiful presents from her friends.

SCHOOL EXERCISES.

Entertainments Not General at Midsummer Now.

In most of the schools of the city to-day the distribution of diplomas was quite informal, the trustees giving out the coveted documents and making short speeches. Empire day and Christmas closing are now the days of the year at the schools for the public, the entertainment idea in connection with the midsummer closing having been abandoned. In a few of the schools, however, entertainments were held. Sophia Street school gave a cantata, entitled "A School Festival," in which Bertha Sears was the Queen and the others who took part were: Marie Jarrett, Edith Shepherd, Anna Mowat, Kathleen Gossay, Wilma Horn, Clement Honeysett, Jessie McNeill, Philip Goldman, Evelyn Jewell, John Toll, Ili Gracie, Sel. III, grade—Pearl Foster, Irene Hackbusch, Mera McCulloch, Alice Stevens. Mr. Foster, secretary of the Board of Education, occupied the chair. A very interesting programme was also presented at the Boys' Home.

CONFESSED TO MURDER.

Italian Manslayer, Arrested in Toronto Yesterday.

Toronto, June 26.—Arrested for murder while working on the new pavement on Mutual street yesterday afternoon, Vito Antonio Massio, an Italian laborer, ingeniously inquired of City Detectives Newton and Tipton if it was not for two murders he was wanted. "I thought I killed two of them," he said, in explanation afterwards, and remained unconvinced even after the detectives told him that the charge was only for the shooting of Vito Turinello. "There was a man I knocked down with a lump of lead. I'm sure he must be dead. I hit him on the forehead, and I'm sure I killed him," he said. "I know I killed Turinello," he continued. "He tried to kill me, so I killed him. If they want to hang me they can hang me, but I wouldn't let Turinello kill me." The crime for which Massio is arrested, and for which he admits his guilt, occurred in Newark, N. J., on the night of November 18th, 1906, and the information calling for his arrest has been with the Toronto police since December, 1906.

JULY ST. NICHOLAS. The most striking feature of the July St. Nicholas, which is a patriotic number, is "The Story of the Submarine," by William O. Stevens, an instructor in the Annapolis Naval Academy, supplemented by a sketch of "The Undersea Sailor and His Boat," by A. W. Rolker. They are both true and authoritative stories, with all the fascination of such a romance as "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," with many illustrations, both from drawings and photographs. How the inventive genius of the boy Robert Fulton gave Linceaster a rousing Fourth of July celebration in 1778 is a good story as well as an interesting bit of history. "A House That Was Saved by the Flag" is a new story of the San Francisco disaster; and there are several short stories of strongly patriotic flavor. Two of the serials are concluded in this July number: Agnes McClelland Daulton's pretty "The Gentle Interference of Bab," and Judge Curtis D. Wilbur's merry tales of "The Bear Family at Home," for the very little folk. TRADE DISPUTES DURING MAY. Increase of 39,000 in Number of Working Days Lost. Ottawa, June 25.—The number of trade disputes during May was not more than in the previous month, but there was an increase of approximately 122,005 working days lost by employees through this cause. Compared with May, 1906, there was an increase of in the number of disputes, but a decrease of 28,000 in the number of working days lost. Industrial accidents occurring to 224 individual work people in Canada during the month of May, 1908, was reported to the Department of Labor. Of these, 122 were fatal and 302 resulted in serious injuries. Natural Gas Near Edmonton. Edmonton, Alta., June 25.—A natural gas flow of remarkable volume has been struck at Moraville, 25 miles north of here. The flame is shooting from a slit and a half inch pipe twenty-five feet in the air. Keep your temper—you may need it. Make the most of yourself, but don't use a bicycle pump to do it. USES FOR SEAWEED. A Good Newspaper. An Industry Which Flourishes Best Abroad. The seaweed industry in the United States is not as extensive as it is abroad, says the World-To-day. It is practically restricted to Massachusetts, and is addressed to one species, the "Irish moss." The Irish moss, or carrageen, is found from North Carolina to Maine, as well as on the Pacific coast, being especially abundant north of Cape Cod, growing on rocks just below low-water mark. The fronds are from three to six inches long and usually purple, but when exposed to a bright light while growing, have a reddish-pink color. The crop is usually gathered between the months of May and September. A small part is gathered by hand, but most of it is torn from the rocks by means of rakes used from boats. The rakes are made especially for the purpose, have a fifteen-foot handle and a head twelve to fifteen inches wide, with twenty-four to twenty-eight teeth six inches long and an eighth of an inch apart. In the preparation and curing of Irish moss, fair weather and much sunshine are the principal requisites. When first brought ashore, the plants are washed in salt water, and then spread on the sandy beach to dry and bleach. After twenty-four hours in good weather, they are raked up and again washed, and again spread on the beach to dry. Three washings are usually sufficient for complete cleansing, curing and bleaching, but as many as seven are sometimes given. After the final washing, the plants are left in the sun, the entire process requiring about two weeks of good weather and sunshine. At the end of this period the plants fade and are white or straw-colored. Two more weeks are then required to sort and prepare the product for shipping. The moss is sent to market in barrels, holding about one hundred pounds, and the first crop is usually shipped in August. The product has a wide distribution in the United States and Canada, part going to druggists and grocers while the larger part is taken by brewers. A Good Newspaper tells the news as faithfully and truthfully as it can, without fear and without favor, and comments on it with the best intelligence it can command. A good newspaper shields no wrong that ought to be exposed and stops at no truth that ought to be uttered. A good newspaper does not lend itself to the making of strife between citizens, neither rages like a demagogue nor weeps like a charlatan. A good newspaper has ideals, believes in progress, and wins its way by courage, plain speaking and fair dealing. A good newspaper assembles each day as much of the good things that are done in the world as it can find and no more of the foul than it must of newness necessarily publish. A good newspaper has political opinions and may belong to a party, but it cannot be an organ and keep the tongue nor weeps like a charlatan. A good newspaper knows no boss, bows to no petty satrap of office and owes no allegiance but to that which it believes to be true. A good newspaper is run on business principles and should make money and prosper like any other business, but probably won't if that is its sole aim. A good newspaper takes a cheerful view of the world, is kind to human failings and helps men more by entertaining them than by ranting and scolding at them.—Scranton Tribune. Fruitful Invention. Pear-shaped balloons are the fashion in Belgium. The point is upward, the base of the balloon is spherical. It is claimed that balloons of this shape pierce the air vertically with far greater speed than the ordinary spherical balloon. Consequently, they are sturdier. Also the upper pointed end prevents the accumulation of moisture or snow on the surface, which frequently weighs a balloon down and destroys its power to rise. Some things go without saying, but a woman isn't one of them. The fellow who pats himself on the back has no difficulty in standing pat.

MAD DOG BIT PARIS BOY.

He Has Gone to New York For Expert Treatment.

Paris, Ont., June 25.—Mr. Fred Elmes left for New York with his ten-year-old son Ira this evening to have him treated at the Pasteur Institute. Ira was bitten by a dog last week. The dog was thought to be mad, and the head was sent to the Provincial Board of Health for examination. Dr. Amyott reports that there is little doubt the dog had rabies, and advising that the child be sent away at once. The dog had bitten several other dogs and a horse. Consequently the Mayor will issue a proclamation calling for all dogs to be muzzled or chained.

IS THIS MURDER?

Unknown Circus Employee Killed at Latchford.

Halleybury, June 25.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death of the unknown man found on the T. & N. O. tracks brought in the following sweeping verdict: "That the said man, unknown, was found dead on the track of the T. & N. O. Railway at mileage 87.1-2 on Tuesday morning, June 23, 1908. "That the said man, unknown, met his death by falling or being thrown off Cole Bros.' circus train. We strongly recommend that investigation be made by Provincial authorities, as evidence given by two employees of the circus gives good ground for suspicion that deceased was thrown off the train. "That evidence goes to show that an employee was ill-treated at Woodland Station on the T. & N. O. Railway by men in authority. "That employees who asked for wages at Halleybury were refused, and were afraid to go further, fearing that they also would be ill-used. "The above evidence warrants them recommending that Cole Bros.' circus be detained until further investigation into the causes of the aforesaid unknown man's death be made by proper authorities."

Murder is a Myth.

North Bay, Ont., June 25.—The sensational stories resulting from the inquest at Halleybury on the body of the man killed by the Cole Bros.' circus train, indicating murder, do not seem to be borne out by the facts. The circus management, interviewed to-day, state that all their men are accounted for, and that the dead man was not an employee. They also state that nothing was heard of any one being run over until their circus reached Halleybury, and to say that a man was clubbed and thrown off is rubbish.

WINNIPEG FIGHTS VICE.

Will Prosecute Owners of Improper Houses.

Winnipeg, June 25.—The most important step that will be taken in the near future towards the stamping out of the social evil will be the summoning to court of all property owners who have rented their premises to disorderly women. The climax of the campaign against the evil was reached to-day, when many representatives of the demimonde appeared in the police court and pleaded guilty. They were all given a short time to leave the city.

BANKERS COMMIT SUICIDE.

Supposed Millionaire Brothers at Munich Take Their Lives.

Munich, June 25.—Max and Theodore Klopfer, highly reputed partners composing the firm of Klopfer Brothers, bankers, committed suicide to-day, despairing of their inability to meet heavy obligations. They left documents indicating that their bank's difficulties were due to their inability to find substitution of $500,000 of loaned capital, which had been suddenly withdrawn, and also to unprofitable speculation in real estate. The Klopfers were supposed to be millionaires. They were of high social rank. Theodore had a valuable collection of pictures. The suicides depressed the German bourses owing to rumors that many important banks were involved in the Klopfer's losses.

DIED AT THE AGE OF 104.

Leeds County Woman Has Passed the Century Mark.

Brockville, June 25.—At the little country home of her son, near Bedford, Leeds County, news comes of the death of Mrs. Peter Brady, possibly the oldest resident of Ontario. Mrs. Brady's age is given as 104. She was a native of Ireland, but spent most of her life in this section. The old lady retained her mental faculties to the last, and was remarkably well preserved for one of her years.

FROM 100.00 UPWARDS. Gordon of Suffragettes to Surround British House of Commons. London, June 25.—The screaming section of the Suffragettes announced their intention on June 26 to surround the House of Commons with a cordon of men and women numbering upwards from a hundred thousand and saying: "Their declared object is to bring nearer home to Premier Asquith than the Hyde Park meeting the strength of the meeting for votes for women. They do not propose to force an entry into Parliament or to commit other deeds of violence."

A party of Suffragettes vainly tried to invade the Stock Exchange to-day. Some of them made speeches on the steps of the entrance.

CENTURY'S PROGRESS IN MAKING RIFLES.

Remarkable Work Done In Uncle Sam's Small Arms Plant In Springfield, Turns out 1,000 Guns a Day

Springfield, Mass., Saturday.—When there are rumors of war in the citizens of Springfield suddenly remember Uncle Sam's gun-making plant and begin to watch closely to see if any extra shifts of men have been put on. The old veterans talk about the work done during the civil war, and the young Spanish war veterans recall how they were "on to his job" in a like manner during the days of the late war.

That the Japanese have a great regard for its importance is evidenced by the recent visit of Major K. Tanaka, military attaché of the Japanese embassy in Washington, and Capt. H. Kondo, of Tokyo, Japan, both members of the imperial army of the Mikado.

They were courteously shown around by Commandant Phipps, for there is no secrecy in the manufacture of small arms, but he was eager to tell them just how completely the United States army was equipped. The Japanese probably would not have been so interested in the details of the Springfield plant had they not been refused them.

That is what the Government does with foreign-made rifles. This is not the first time the Japanese have been pleased to visit the plant, so excellent' army at Springfield, and three or four years ago they came in numbers. The first set had a special request to study up the subject of gun making.

The second had a special interest in the barrel. A third set was investigating the magazine. And so on. When the whole series had come and gone, of course, the Japanese had thoroughly studied the whole gun. Whatever the unknown results of these visits were, one of the bestowing results is that the Japanese bought quantities of American black walnut for green stocks.

Although there is little danger from spies at the Springfield armory, permits to visit the armory are not issued to foreigners, and they are allowed to enter only at the invitation of the commandant. The law requires also that every employee shall be a citizen of the United States.

1,800 Men at Work. What the Japanese saw in their visit to the armory and the water shops, as the supplementary shops located on Mill River are called, was about 1,800 men away from the beautiful results. If it had been times of war they would have found three shifts of men working, turning out more than 2,000 arms a day. Not until they actually entered the shops would they get an intimation that they had arrived at Uncle Sam's chief gun-making plant for a more peaceful, less warlike scene could not be imagined.

The main shops of the United States armory are located on a hill in the heart of the city. The grounds are more like a park than anything else, for they comprise twenty-five acres, which stretch away into the beautiful woods. The buildings are of a grand, imposing style, and the main shops of the United States armory are located on a hill in the heart of the city.

The next radical change was to the rifle magazine, and the civil war market came into being. With this civil war market a destructive fire could be delivered, on a pinch, at 1,000 yards, but 800 yards was considered the greatest distance at which it could do damage.

The next step in gun making was the breech loader. The only trouble with the breech loading idea was that it did not get on with the old gun, and the old charge. After it was given a self-priming expanding metallic cartridge it began to demonstrate its worth. The Government got busy converting the old muskets into breech loaders and turned out numbers of this repeater or magazine rifle. They continued to use them as the best arm until 1892, when the Krag-Jorgensen became the regular army rifle.

Meanwhile the bayonet was undergoing all sorts of changes. At first it had a hollow handle which slipped over the muzzle of the gun when bayonets were fixed. It was inconvenient, however, because the gun could not be fired without taking off the bayonet. A new charge was made after firing without stopping to put the bayonet on. Later the trowel shaped bayonet was tried as an experiment, so that it could be used for trenches. But this was given up because of the Krag-Jorgensen, which required 800 grains of powder, and the bayonet was discarded.

When fighting troops equipped with longer bayonets. Fifteen years ago army men believed that the long range rifle would put an end to close encounters between opposing armies and the bayonet would fall into disuse. But the Russo-Japanese war soon brought back the bayonet, for events around Port Arthur proved that troops could not advance in face of the long range rifle, and that as a consequence advance upon fortified positions must be made at night. All these advances at night would be accompanied by hand to hand encounters, when the knife bayonet would be a necessity.

In the museum of the armory one of the most interesting features are several marked guns. Soldiers say that they grow as familiar with their rifles as a cavalryman with his horse, and that they can pick their own out of a pile of others. Nevertheless, although it is expressly forbidden by army regulations, the men did it during the civil war. One of these guns has the name "Kate" formed by pins driven into the butt. Another is elaborately carved. Here are the details on another: "J. S. McConnell, company A, Fifteenth Kentucky Infantry, Frairieville, Stone River, Chickamauga, Sherman's Campaign to Atlanta."

In this museum also is the original Blanchard stock lathe, invented by Thomas Blanchard, an invention which revolutionized an important branch of the regular army's art. This turning machine for making irregular forms is ranked in value with the inventions of Robert Fulton and Eli Whitney.

While the war scare has not disturbed the even tenor of the life at the armory, for the very reason that already the regular army is nearly entirely equipped with the new rifle, the full quota of men is employed, and every one thousand rifles are coming out of this great war mill. In fact, the United States armory at Springfield is already firing for six days a week, and if it really came it would be necessary to hitch up only a notch or two and put on a little more speed.

"This is the first occasion I have had since I was married," remarked the smiling person as he was about to embark on the steamer. "Why, you go abroad every summer," expostulated his friend. "Yes, but I have always taken my wife along before," replied the married man.

First Doctor—Was your operation successful? Second Doctor—Yes, I've already collected my bill. First Doctor—But the patient! Second Doctor—Oh! the patient! He died!

Range of 5,000 Yards. The gun has a range of five thousand yards. It can be sighted up to two thousand yards. At a distance of fifty-three feet it will send a bullet through three feet boards. It has a muzzle velocity of 3,000 feet per second, and the powder charge of the rifle barrel is increased from 37.4 grains of the Krag to 43.2, though the bullets for both rifles weigh the same.

The new gun is more dangerous to the opposing force than the one just now going out of use, for the increased speed of the bullet causes it to travel in a flatter trajectory, the rise above the ground at the highest point being only 20.67 feet in the new Springfield, to 25.8 feet in the Krag. This makes the space covered by the bullet at a height below that of a man much greater.

The new gun embodies in itself all the good features of the guns which have preceded it. It has been put to the severest tests, and has proved itself to be the best arm yet made for hard service. It has been placed in water so that the parts might become rusty, and has been filled with sand, but a little cleaning up put it in good shape once more.

ing being that the barrel will not become heated as quickly. Moreover, in rapid fire work with the Krag the radiation of heat from the barrel disturbs the air waves that it is practically impossible to get a clear sight of the object aimed at. When the range of the civil war musket of eight hundred yards is compared with the range of this new rifle, it is seen that the accuracy made in gunnaming may be realized to some extent.

With this rifle will be used the new pointed bullet, which is a sensation in the ammunition line. This has an unusually long trajectory and is much lighter than the old bullet.

Let there be any imperfections, every gun made in the Springfield armory is fired five times. A charge one and a half times the usual one is used in order to develop possible strains. A range of 800 to 900 feet in size has been built especially for this testing and expert marksmen are constantly employed at this work.

When a toter tries a rifle he has to take into consideration several things. First, that all guns shoot better in warm weather than in cold, owing to the effect of heat on the explosive force of powder. A temperature of 70 degrees increases the initial velocity of a discharged bullet, while lower temperatures decrease it. He must remember, secondly, that the style and condition of his cartridge enter into the result. Lastly, he must remember that he may sight a thirty-second of an inch higher in the day than the better who tries the next day, perhaps, and this accuracy is perceptible distance with the rifle of the present length and range is enough to cause it to fall short or to overshoot.

First Record of Guns. The changes in gun making which the Springfield armory has seen and taken part in are almost laughable. Although it was established in 1791, the first record of guns made in Springfield was in 1794. The first recorded model was a French flintlock, smooth bore musket, known as the Charville—and it was the finest gun known at that time, for the United States even actually imported days made only the most up to date thing in firearms. It was a funny old contrivance, with a barrel about three feet long and a bayonet as big as a sword. It wasn't as fierce as it looked, however, for beyond eighty yards there was no dependence on the bayonet. Yards it probably could not have hit the proverbial barn door. Nevertheless, this model was used for forty years.

In 1805, however, so many improvements had been made on it that the gunnery at Springfield was actually visited by an English commission, led by some thing about gun making. In 1842 the Government accepted a model of the percussion gun type and made decided improvements along that line.

The next radical change was to the rifle magazine, and the civil war market came into being. With this civil war market a destructive fire could be delivered, on a pinch, at 1,000 yards, but 800 yards was considered the greatest distance at which it could do damage.

Another is elaborately carved. Here are the details on another: "J. S. McConnell, company A, Fifteenth Kentucky Infantry, Frairieville, Stone River, Chickamauga, Sherman's Campaign to Atlanta."

In this museum also is the original Blanchard stock lathe, invented by Thomas Blanchard, an invention which revolutionized an important branch of the regular army's art. This turning machine for making irregular forms is ranked in value with the inventions of Robert Fulton and Eli Whitney.

While the war scare has not disturbed the even tenor of the life at the armory, for the very reason that already the regular army is nearly entirely equipped with the new rifle, the full quota of men is employed, and every one thousand rifles are coming out of this great war mill. In fact, the United States armory at Springfield is already firing for six days a week, and if it really came it would be necessary to hitch up only a notch or two and put on a little more speed.

"This is the first occasion I have had since I was married," remarked the smiling person as he was about to embark on the steamer. "Why, you go abroad every summer," expostulated his friend. "Yes, but I have always taken my wife along before," replied the married man.

First Doctor—Was your operation successful? Second Doctor—Yes, I've already collected my bill. First Doctor—But the patient! Second Doctor—Oh! the patient! He died!

Range of 5,000 Yards. The gun has a range of five thousand yards. It can be sighted up to two thousand yards. At a distance of fifty-three feet it will send a bullet through three feet boards. It has a muzzle velocity of 3,000 feet per second, and the powder charge of the rifle barrel is increased from 37.4 grains of the Krag to 43.2, though the bullets for both rifles weigh the same.

The new gun embodies in itself all the good features of the guns which have preceded it. It has been put to the severest tests, and has proved itself to be the best arm yet made for hard service. It has been placed in water so that the parts might become rusty, and has been filled with sand, but a little cleaning up put it in good shape once more.

The new gun is more dangerous to the opposing force than the one just now going out of use, for the increased speed of the bullet causes it to travel in a flatter trajectory, the rise above the ground at the highest point being only 20.67 feet in the new Springfield, to 25.8 feet in the Krag. This makes the space covered by the bullet at a height below that of a man much greater.

SHAM FIGHT WAS A DRAW.

BRIGADIER GENERAL COTTON UNSTINTED IN HIS PRAISE.

Fourth Field Battery, of This City, Left Camp This Morning—Others Leave To-morrow.

Niagara Camp, June 26.—The great battle at Welland Canal yesterday, between the forces which have been in camp here, resulted in a draw.

Chief Empire Brigadier-General Cotton gave unstinted praise to all the men and officers as a whole, with a little salt of criticism for some sections.

The general idea of the campaign was that the Blues, or defenders, were holding positions before the Welland Canal upon which the invaders were advancing with a great superior force.

Colonel Cruikshank could hold his main position until 1 o'clock, when reinforcements would be received from Grimsby, he would take the honors of the campaign.

The troops left camp about 1 o'clock, and all of them stood the long marches excellently. The southern column, under the direct command of Colonel Mason, pitched camp at the camp pits at the junction of the Four Mile Creek road and the Mountain road.

Foragers showed expert knowledge, and with the help of African veterans and officers the bivouac soon settled down for sleep round their fires, under a starlight sky the previous night.

Regulations made beforehand, said that neither force must lessen the three-quarters of a mile between the vanguards till 4, and on the tick all the men were on the move. Col. Wallace, in charge of the northern division, was away to the right of the main line.

Under the guidance of Captain C. H. Mitchell, chief intelligence officer of the red force, Major Graham, with two companies of the 34th, pushed out on a connecting link between the two columns over very rough and broken country.

The blue shirts in single file struck into the same road that Laura Secord went when she went to apprise the tiny force at Beaver dams that the Americans would descend upon them.

Quite unimpeded, they struck the main line of the Grand Trunk, and, keeping under good cover, pushed forward. At last, behind the brass guns rose up two of the enemy's cavalry, and though put out of action, signalled back "the enemy in small force."

They brushed aside and so were the little force under the bridge near to a small wood, which was to form the second gun position of the reds. Then they paused until rapid firing on both flanks apprised them that they were not too forward to the west.

A Duel of Artillery. At the junction of 3 o'clock west. At the junction of Col. Mason passed his staff and when the two guns of the 7th Battery came up there was a pretty artillery duel.

One of the "blue" guns of the 7th was screened near a wheat field about 1,700 yards to the west. Before the defenders were aware of the arrival of the "red" guns the latter had fired three shells from each battery at a range of 1,700 and 1,800 yards.

The key of the whole position was the wooded knoll known as Napoleon's Nose. On this Colonel Cruikshank, who knows every inch of the Niagara peninsula, had posted a gun and most of the 44th. The "Reds" feinted in strength at the left flank and made a weak attack on the main position, in which the eight companies of the 35th were captured.

While the "Blues" were held at these two points, the 23rd and 24th, under Colonel Henderson, had moved out of bivouac at 6 o'clock and made a big detour to the north. Colonel Cruikshank, his men posted in easily defensible positions, held tenaciously to his second line of defence.

Colonel Henderson, with his two regiments, crept round his right flank to break down the bridges on the Welland Canal and seize the locks.

There is some discrepancy in the statements of even the officers at this critical point, but the "Blues" are earnest in the assertion that they brushed aside the slight opposition of a half squadron of the Mississauga Horse and were within 1,500 yards with 500 men and a detachment of Body Guards when unexpectedly the "cease fire" was sounded.

Brigadier-General Cotton explained his curtailment of the battle at the conference of officers, saying that the York Rangers cheered and went at the enemy in spite of an impossible position and orders. What is good in real fighting is frowned upon in mimic warfare and the gallant Yorks were rapped over the knuckles. All the men returned to Niagara footsore and weary, but in excellent condition.

Following the discovery of ball cartridge in the hands of some men a search by special order was made before hostilities commenced, and some score more of the real things were found. The town and camp were full of visitors last night for the grand military tattoo.

To-day the 4th Field Battery, No. 12 Field Ambulance 1st Hussars, B Company of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, two squadrons of the Body Guards and the 23rd and 31st Regiments will entrain or embark for home. The other corps will follow on Saturday. The pleasant and most instructive camp in the memory of Niagara is drawing to a close.

MORDEN-BURNETT.

Popular Young Hamilton Man Married in Toronto.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. May, 18 Simpson avenue, Toronto, yesterday when Mrs. May's sister, Miss Maud Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Burnett, of Galt, was married to Mr. Clifford Morden, of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. N. Baker, and in the unavoidable absence of the bride's father through illness, she was given away by Mr. May. She wore cream eolienne and large white hat with plumes, and carried a bouquet of white roses, which, with a sunburst of pearls, was the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaid, Miss Jean Tilley, who was dressed in bisque eolienne, and hat to match received a pearl brooch from the groom, and Mr. Stanley Thompson, the groomsmen, a whole pearl tie pin. After the wedding breakfast the bride changed her dress for a suit of Copenhagen blue and went off with the bridegroom by boat for Niagara Falls, Philadelphia and Atlantic City for the honeymoon.

Mountain Theatre. Painters and decorators are busily engaged beautifying the interior of Summers' Mountain Theatre for the opening next Monday evening, June 29th, when George H. Summers and an excellent company, including Mr. Orestis T. Burke and Miss Frances Barrow, will present a splendid comedy-drama "An American Drummer." Special scenery and light effects will be used, and a most excellent performance is promised. This resort ought to prove more popular than ever this year on account of the improved street car system, whereby the belt line cars land the people directly at the foot of the incline. There will be a special matinee on Wednesday, last of July, and the same prices will prevail.

Suing a Comedian. Jackson, Mich., June 25.—Parbage Ada has married Charles Gotfredson because his name suggested possibilities, in a German comedian act in vaudeville. Ada is a vaudeville act and Charles is a freight handler, and when he failed to make good in the German act which Ada tried to teach him, she applied to the court for a divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty.

Ada, it is alleged, with wifely patience put Charles through the stunts at her happy little home in this city, and then tried the act on his mother-in-law. Charles failed to secure the approval of the lady; in fact, Ada alleges it was about the poorest Dutch comedian business she ever saw. Then she ceased to love him.

Charles has several thousand dollars laid by, and Ada asks for a piece of the money and freedom.

WEDDING OFF.

Nuptials Interrupted After All Arrangements Are Made.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 25.—The wedding of Miss Mary Ascher, of Vinewood avenue, and Earl Jensen, of Salt Lake City, which was to have been solemnized yesterday afternoon, has been indefinitely postponed "because of heat prostration suffered by the bride." In the announcement as to the cause of the delay in the marriage ceremony, no mention is made of the fact that the groom was not in Ann Arbor on the appointed day. Yet, to-night, Earl Jensen admitted that he had not reached this city at the hour set for the wedding. All arrangements for the wedding had been perfected. Even Mr. Hall, of Cousin & Hall, florists, had gone to the house with flowers and greenery for the decorations, when, after being held at the door for some time, he was informed that his services would not be needed. Miss Ascher had planned an elaborate

A FINE SCHOOL.

St. John Presbyterian Ready For the Re-opening.

For the past two months St. John Presbyterian Sunday School has been in the hands of the builders and painters. About twenty feet more has been added to the main building, and the whole interior has been rearranged and beautified. Some thirty class rooms are now available and the floor of the auditorium has been covered with cork linoleum. Dark blinds have been placed upon all the windows and an electric lantern constructed so that illustrations of the lessons may be thrown upon the canvas, which is arranged upon spring rollers. To complete the bright and commodious infant class room a handsome organ was donated by a friend so that the building is well equipped and the general appearance very fine. The whole arrangement reflects great credit upon Mr. J. H. Horning, the superintendent, who has denoted much time and attention to the work, as well as to his building committee. The builder was Mr. S. Kelley, and the painter, Mr. J. W. Poynton. On Sunday Rev. W. J. Martin, Brantford, will conduct the reopening services. In the morning he will speak to parents in the afternoon to the scholars, and in the evening to the young people. CANADIANS RELIGIOUS. London, June 25.—At the Intercolonial Missionary Conference, in discussion, a pessimistic paper on the state of religion in New Zealand, Mr. Villiers of Ontario, said that in his town of 20,000 people only 145, according to the religious census, did not belong to some religious denomination. Rev. F. J. Day, superintendent of the immigration department, strongly resented the action of certain persons in the old land in endeavoring to make the Dominion a repository for all the raciality in the mother country. He hinted at the possibility of Canada's adopting stronger restrictive measures.

WAS A HERO.

Brakeman Saves Special Train and Loses His Own Life.

Paris, Ill., June 26.—Mangled beneath the wheels of the Knickerbocker special yesterday, Lawrence Friend, aged 23 years, a brakeman, gave his life in preventing the fast Big Four passenger train from crashing into a row of freight cars, head-on, and the loss of scores of lives that might have followed the collision. Friend was working on a freight train, which was blocking the line, when the passenger came along at forty miles an hour. The brakeman ran to a switch and turned it just in time to throw the passenger train on a side track, but not quickly enough to avoid being struck down and crushed by the Knickerbocker engine. Some men are so convinced they are going to wake up some morning and find themselves famous that they can't sleep.

BETTER LET HIM STAY.

Englishman Who Shows a Decided Preference for Canada.

Montreal, June 25.—An Englishman named Roe jumped from a train near Mattawa to-day while the train was going forty miles an hour. He was being brought east for the purpose of being deported, but preferred to remain. He was uninjured when captured. "You lazy tramp," said the industrialist citizen, "why are you not a son of toil?" "Because, boss," yawned Languid Lake, as he blew a puff of smoke at a wandering grasshopper, "it is so much easier to be a sun of soil."—Chicago News.

WHAT IS GOING ON TO-DAY IN THE WORLD OF SPORT.

SAINTS WON FROM TIGERS.

Hamilton Team Was Not on Edge Yesterday.

Irene A. Won Running Race at Listowel—Scores in the Big Leagues—Maxey Has Joined Niagara Falls Team.

The flag on the grand stand at the Britannia ball yard should have been at half mast yesterday afternoon for the fans were in mourning—deep mourning. The Hamilton team was defeated by St. Thomas, by a score of 10 to 4. This defeat coming on the heels of the loss to Niagara Falls, the tall enders, the previous day was too much for the fans, who were in sackcloth and ashes. There was not a very large crowd present, and it was a silent crowd, as crowds at the local games go. They took their medicine without a whimper. The game was not of the kind to arouse much enthusiasm, being listless. While the visitors played a perfect game and the Tigers made only two errors, the game dragged and the spectators watched it with about the same feeling as they would view the grave scene in "Hamlet." The Tigers showed the effects of the 22 innings played on the previous afternoon, and they moved about as fast as some Hamilton policemen responding to a riot call. Capt. Curtis did not play in form yesterday, making two errors and not a single hit. Ward, the sharp little short stop, delivered the goods again, making two hits and having five put outs to his credit. Ward was the hardest working man on the team. O'Mara, the new catcher, also showed up well. He made three hits, one being a double. These two were working all the time. The Tigers got three of their four runs in the fourth. Fraser drew a pass and O'Mara made a two bagger, bringing Fraser in. Glenon struck out and Curtis tried to catch Wyndorf's high ball. Nichols and Brennan made a three bagger, bringing O'Mara and Ward home. O'Mara scored the run in the seventh. The score:

FALLS BEAT LONDON. London, June 26.—Herbert Giannelli, some southpaw and also some pitcher, was turned loose on the Beavers yesterday afternoon, and in a pitching duel with our own Cy Parkins, heaved the Yankees to victory by a score of 10 to 0, and it was just about the hardest game for the Beavers to lose that has stumbled in their way this summer.

Not that Giannelli did not pitch a magnificent game, pulling himself out of a lot of bad holes by nothing else but mound cunning, and also going into the box after an extra inning game at Hamilton the day before and a night spent on the train as the result of the wreck of a tag in Toronto on which he was taking a pleasure ride, which was some hurling. However, Mr. Parkins did some tall pitching, and he pitched a three-hit game that should have brought home the money in the easiest sort of fashion, sewed up tighter than a soccer football. Score:

EASTERN LEAGUE SCORES. At Jersey City—The Skeeters, always a hoodoo for the Maple Leafs, had little difficulty in defeating Toronto yesterday. The visitors presented a battered-up line-up, widely taking third owing to Cockman's injury in Newark, while Merles played second, Caffyn going to left and Gettman to centre, while Manager Kelly held down first base.

Southpaw Nezer pitched good ball for the Leafs, but the locals lunched him in the seventh, five runs resulting, and this was the beginning of the end. Score:

BUFFALO BIRDS IN LONG RACE.

Buffalo, June 26.—In the annual 500-mile old-bird race of the Buffalo District the birds were liberated at Somerset, Ky., with conditions very favorable at home. This race is always considered the test of all birds entered, and fanciers hope to accomplish it in one day, although time allowance is two days.

COMMENT AND GOSSIP

Capt. Curtis should send himself to "the horse gate" for a day or fine himself $5 for his errors yesterday.

Neither Colin or Celt, the mainstays of James R. Keene's big stable this year, will start to-morrow in the $25,000 Ontario Island Jockey Club stake at Sheepshead Bay. Both are seriously ailing.

The doctors' and "inners" ball teams will clash at Britannia Park on Monday, admission being by invitation. Dr. Carr, who has gained considerable baseball experience lately, will captain the physicians' team.

Alfred Shrubbs will attempt to break the world's five-mile record in his race against relays of the fastest professional runners in the east at the first championship athletic meet of the Protective Association at Ulmer Park, Brooklyn, to-morrow.

A Calgary despatch says that the Alberta Provincial Government is willing to make a grant of $200 towards the expenses of Art Burn to the Olympic games in England, on condition that he is one of the starters in the Marathon race.

In my opinion, writes Guy Nickalls, the Diamond Sculls winner in the London Morning Post, the decadence, degeneration, deterioration, or whatever you may choose to call it, exists, and is due to the soft early upbringing and over-organization of games at school, to the entreaties given by parents to their sons to avoid such exercise, and the lack of fighting qualities; at Elton to over-much racing and consequent over-coaching and to the easier methods under which long rows are conducted, and at the universities to the counter attractions of golf and somewhat less exacting forms of amusement, but the same type runs through all, namely, the monstrously pampered, petted and insufficiently licked schoolboy.

Governor Sanders of Louisiana, has signed the anti-betting bill, and it goes into effect in thirty days.

The Brighton Beach Stakes have not been declared off, and there is no change in that respect beyond that announced a week ago.

Montreal Gazette: A good story is going the rounds which involves those two masters of transportation, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and Mr. C. M. Hays. Those who know of the friendly rivalry between the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific will appreciate the humor of it.

It was after the race at Elmwood on Saturday in which Silk Horse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's own purchase, was beaten, finishing outside of the money.

That's a pretty good horse you bought," said Mr. Hays. "Yes," replied Sir Thomas, with a sigh, "he runs like a Grand Trunk train."

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE RECORD

the birds were liberated at Somerset, Ky., with conditions very favorable at home. This race is always considered the test of all birds entered, and fanciers hope to accomplish it in one day, although time allowance is two days.

The annual 400-mile race of Buffalo District birds was flown from Somerset, Ky. Rain and bad weather compelled the liberator to hold the birds five days and with adverse winds to fly against no bird homed until the second day, with only four birds in the district within the time limit.

William Gerlach's bird, No. 25556, won the race by a big margin. The following is the speed per minute: Wm. Gerlach, 5.9285; N. Schneider, 5.8524; E. M. Fritz, 4.7125; E. M. Fritz, 4.2153.

COMMENT AND GOSSIP

London ball club has offered $25 to any couple who will get married in front of the grand stand on July 1. That shows what "great riches" means in the world.

English papers are laughing at their American contents for calling Coley an Indian. "E's a Brummagem chap," know, and we at 'ome know 'im as a capital stayer."—Toronto Telegram.

The London W. F. A. team to play at Dundas on Saturday will be chosen from the following men: Hymmen, Puncner, Draining, Richardson, Fielder, Coughlan, M. Garrat, G. Garratt, Hollins, Dunkerley, Aikenhead. The team is in good condition and should give a good account of itself. Dundas and London are now tied for district honors and the game will decide the championship.

Aix-la-Chapelle, June 26.—George Hackenschmidt, the ex-champion wrestler, whose death has been reported, is alive and apparently well. He has completely recovered from the effects of an operation to his knee, which he underwent recently. Hackenschmidt was seen this evening at the Kaiser Hotel. His condition, he said, was excellent.

From London Advertiser: "As a long distance critic, the Hamilton Spec's juvenile dope on the deficit of the event, anything in the dough factory. He offers criticism of events which transpire in London, Ontario, London, England, and the Transvaal, with an abandon that, to say the least, is amusing. And like Sherlock Holmes, he is always deducting something that no one else would ever dream of figuring out."

"As for putting Capt. Bird in his place, if I remember rightly the London man was on top of the heap all the way, and finished in that position."

To date the Grimely Independent has not had a crack at the Spectator's sporting editor. Livingston must sleep at the switch.

Down in Ottawa they are already talking Rugby football. King Clancy's men last money last year, but expect to wipe out the deficit this fall and add a little to the treasury, for they are counting on the best team they ever had. Billy Richards, former centre half and captain of McGill, will turn out with Ottawa, as will Eddie McDonald, the crack quarter of the Intercollegiate two years ago. Conroy is the only one missing from last season's team.

In reference to the "shrinkage" of profits caused by the new betting regulation in New York State, it is pointed out that in France, track owners under the law receive only 5 per cent. interest on their investment, the government taking charge of the receipts and distributing the surplus for a myriad of objects, from the purchase of thoroughbred stock to breed to the farmers' own horses to the payment of poor taxes in poverty-stricken argosies.

In England, too, the dividends paid are small, the surplus going to swell the money given the winners. A similar movement seems likely to follow the enforcement of the English anti-betting law, always provided that some speculation is allowable under the court's interpretation.

In fighting the law as it stands, the Jockey Club and the associations are actually in the field for the placing of the sport on a real sporting plane—a recreation for all without injury to any. A long stride was made toward this end when the poolroom information was cut out, and still another when the ring was made open. That further restriction of betting will follow seems assured.

What Olympic Games Mean to Greeks.

"The prizes? Ah—the shoemaker deftly caught his falling spectacles—"the prizes? Of a value commensurate. A branch of wild olive from the trees of old Olympia; or, it may be—a wreath from the classic grove by the ancient sacred temple for true athletes be the prize sought. But, in deference to the spirit of modern life, there will be for each victor a magnificent diploma, a design of noble conception and supreme execution. The artists of all the world have been appealed to and the reward made of such stature as to tempt the highest. Supplementary to the wreath and diploma will be a medal of pure silver and chaste workmanship, such a memento as a man will be proud to hand to his posterity, although in itself not of extraordinary value—a thousand drachmas in gold will be its cost. And then a bust of "Victory" by the hand of our foremost sculptor, and—but indeed I cannot say—there are so many. But greatest of all, of course, will be the appreciation of one's fellow-citizens—the gratitude of one's country."

Do You Agree With This, "Rich"?

A hit in the pinch is worth two of the other kind. The man who always runs 'em out will make good in any game he tackles. A home run is a fine thing, but the diminutive bunt in a tight place is not to be despised. The sacrifice has won more games than the home run, and the 10-cent head lost fewer than the 10-cent arm. The man who never makes an error or a mistake never makes a play that is really worth while. Speed without control hasn't a show to win against control without speed. But speed with control has the field sewed up. Luck is always a winning factor—until it runs into pluck. Then the stuff is off. The motto of the coach lines is this: "Open your eyes and keep on your toes." To outguess the other fellow makes your game easy and success a pipe. You've got to hit the dirt to get there in a pinch. The man who stretches a single into an extra base is of more value than the man who hits for three bases and stops at second. All you've got to do is stop and figure there never was a knocker yet who could do as well as you are doing, although you are booting 'em all over the yard. And so figure from this what his opinion is worth. The game is never lost until it's over; and it's never over until the last man is out.

About To-morrow's Big Game.

The big lacrosse game between the Burlington and Hamilton teams did not come off at the cricket grounds last night, and quite a number of enthusiasts, who had expected to see a good practice game, were disappointed. The Burlington team plays a city league game with the Y. M. C. A. to-night, and did not feel like playing two nights in succession. However, the Hamilton team had a splendid practice and created a good impression among the large galaxy of enthusiasts present. Cory Hess was between the flags, and showed that he had lost none of his old-time sharpness, and the manner in which he stopped the close range shots was one of the features of the practice. He will be a big help to the team in the big game to-morrow. Wyndorf was also on the job, and proved to be all that has been said of him, but the management received notice from the C. L. A. authorities yesterday to the effect that Wyndorf could not play on Saturday, as he had already played this season with Hamilton, which barred him from playing with any other team. As he is a good man, the news came as a disappointment to the local management, but there is plenty of material on hand, and the defence will be strong for the great struggle with the champions.

When the referee question first came up, the locals said that they would stand for anybody but Harry Gillespie, and asked the C. L. A. to send some man other than him. But word was received this morning to the effect that Gillespie has been appointed as referee and Toronto, June 26.—The Zingari cricket team, which Mr. J. W. Woods is taking to Philadelphia for two weeks' cricket, is composed of the following: Harry Lowmber, Stuart Saunders, H. G. Davidson, Percy Henderson, Douglas Woods, W. Fleury, Hesterley Jones, Gordon Southern, Norman Seagram, H. G. Woolley, W. S. Greening, Walter Wright, Arthur Beemer, Hope Gibson.

CRICKET REVIVAL. Cricket east and west is again to be come re-united in one harmonious whole, next week's meeting being expected to bring about the happy conclusion. It is the desire of the present officers of the association to have the Ottawa and Montreal clubs well represented, says the Ottawa Citizen. They propose selecting the Canadian eleven for the annual match against Philadelphia from the Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto players, and to have the International in Ottawa or Montreal one year and at Toronto the next. "We are favorable to the organization, or, rather, the re-organization, of the Canadian association," said an officer of the Ottawa club to the Citizen. "The Ottawa club contends that it has not been fairly treated in several matters in recent years, but we are prepared to arbitrate, so to speak, and look for an early peace conference."

HIGHFIELD P. AND P. WON. A cricket match was played yesterday afternoon at the cricket grounds, between Highfield School past and present, and the Hamilton Club. The Hamilton team were the first to bat and knocked out 85 runs in their innings. Dunn, K. Martin, and G. Southern, got into double figures, the latter being not out for 33 runs, he got by good sound cricket. Mr. Southern will leave to-day for Philadelphia to play for the Club.

IRENE A. WON. Hamilton Runner First at Listowel Meeting. Listowel, June 26.—A clear sky, fairly warm weather, fast track, and extra good racing, was the order of things here yesterday when the circuit races were continued. The attendance was the largest of the meeting to date. All sign point to another big attendance to-morrow, when the races will be concluded. Two pacing classes, the 215 and the free-for-all, and also the five-eighths of a mile running race, were decided to-day and in each case the favorite was bowled over. Much was expected of the racing today, and more was realized. The 215 class, the first on the card, went five heats before Anna V. Brino, the game little mare, owned by John Gentles, of Kincardine, was returned the winner, and the free-for-all class also went five heats, including a dead heat. In the latter the good pacer John McEwen, 2:08 1/2, landed the long end of the purse and a lot of money for his supporters. The running race was also a split heat affair, and went to the outsider. In the early letting Irene A. the 3-year-old filly, owned by P. J. Galvin, of Hamilton, sold at $2 in $20 pools. 215 pace, purse $400—Anna V. Brino, b. m.; J. Gentles, Kincardine, 5 5 1 1 1. J. D. The following is a list of the names of the Olympic clay bird shooting team, which sails for London, England, by the Empress of Ireland by way of Quebec this afternoon: George Beatty, of Hamilton; Miles Fletcher, Hamilton; D. McCracken, Highgate; H. W. Ewing, Montreal; A. W. Westover, Sutton Junction, Quebec; George T. Vivian, Toronto, and F. A. Parker, captain of the team.

SHORT ENDS.

Little Paragraphs of Sport From Far and Near. Toronto, June 26.—Entries for the Dominion Day show are now closed, with very satisfactory results. The popular breeds, viz., fox-terriers, bull terriers, Irish terriers, Bostonians and Airedales, cocker spaniels and collies, are exceptionally numerous and everything points to a most successful show.

Ottawa, June 26.—The Ottawa Association football team will probably make a tour of Western Ontario towards the latter part of next month or in the first and second weeks of August. The Ottawa boys propose visiting Toronto, Hamilton, Berlin, Brantford, and Paris, if games can be arranged, and would also like to pay a visit to Winnipeg and other western points.

The cruising races scheduled in the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club programme for to-morrow, June 27th, will be sailed to Oakville. The start will be from the City Club House, west to east, and the finish opposite to and within 200 feet of the east pier at Oakville. The times will be taken from the pier end. The time gun will be fired at 2.

The following gentlemen have consented to act as judges at the International Bench Show of Dogs, to be held in connection with the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, Mr. J. L. Winchell, Fairhaven, Vt., mastiffs and bloodhounds; Dr. Irving R. Johnston, Buffalo, N. Y., great danes and dachshunds; Mr. John Black, Harrisburg, Pa., English and Gordon setters; Mr. Henry Watson, Toronto, Ont., Irish wolf hounds; Tyler Morse, New York, N. Y., English and French bull dogs; Dr. Henry Jarrett, Chestnut Hill, Pa., sporting spaniels, foxhounds, beagles and old English sheep dogs; Mr. Geo. S. Thomas, Hamilton, Mass., all other classes and miscellaneous specials.

Sorted Up Again

LAST WEEK we received fourteen cases of new shoes, which put our stock again in fine shape. You are almost certain to find just what you want in the shoe line in this store—and at a reasonable price.

MERRY WIDOW—This is a new golden brown kid Pump with champagne soles and brown kid bow. They are the very latest in any other store.

SOROSIS SHOES—We try to keep a full range of sizes in Sorosis Shoes, but the demand for Sorosis is greater than we can supply. We are sole city agents for them.

HAGAR SHOES—Hagar has enlarged his factory to the full extent of his building lot, but still finds it impossible to supply the increasing demand for Hagar's Shoes. He has therefore decided to quit making children's shoes and devote the whole of his factory to women's and men's fine shoes. Hagar Shoes are always ahead of all other Canadian made shoes in STYLE, FINISH, FIT AND QUALITY, and every pair is UNION-MADE. We are the city agents for Hagar SHOES.

BABY SHOES—To illustrate the popularity of this "family shoe store" in Baby Shoes alone we have received this year already, three shipments, amounting to $1,850. Even the babies like to trade in this store—because baby likes a pretty shoe. Our stock of shoes for the grown-up children is also very complete.

SHOE TREES—You certainly should have one or more pairs of Shoe Trees—prices 50c and 75c. Silk Laces 10, 15, 20c. Sorosis 20c, the best of all silk laces.
