YARROW UNVISITED. From Stirling Castle we had seen The mazy Forth unravell'd.; Had trod the banks of Clyde and Tay,

And with the Tweed had travell'd: And when we came to Clovenford. Then said my " winsome Marrow," "Whate'er betide, we'll turn aside, And see the Braes of Yarrow."

"Let Yarrow Folk, frae Selkirk Town, Who have been buying, selling, Go back to Yarrow, 'tis their own : Each maiden to her Dwelling ! On Yarrow's banks let herons feed, Hares couch, and rabbits burrow ! But we will downwards with the Tweed, Nor turn aside to Yarrow. "There's Gala Water, Leader Haughs, Both lying right before us; And Dryborough, where with chiming Tweed

The lintwhites sing in chorus; There's pleasant Tiviotdale, a land Made blithe with plough and harrow : Why throw away a needful day To go in search of Yarrow? "What's Yarrow but a River bare,

That glides the dark hills under? There are a thousand such-elsewhere As worthy of your wonder." -Strange words they seem'd of slight and scorn ;

My true-love sigh'd for sorrow; And look'd me in the face, to think I thus could speak of Yarrow! "Oh! green," said I "are Yarrow's Holms And sweet is Yarrow flowing ! Fair hangs the apple frae the rock,

But we will leave it growing. O'er hilly path, and open Straith, We'll wander Scotland thorough ; But, though so near, we will not turn Into the Dale of Yarrow.

"Let beeves and home-bred kine partake The sweets of Burn-mill meadow; The swan in still St. Ma- 's Lake Float double, swan and snadow ! We will not see them; will not go To-day, nor yet to-morrow; & Enough if in our hearts we know

There's such a place as Yarrow. " Re Yarrow Stream unseen, unknown! It must, or we shall rue it :: " We have a vision of our own ;

Ah ! Why shoul! we undo it? The treasure I down to it times long past, We'll keep them, win-ome Marrow ! For when we're there, although 'tis fair, 'Twill be another Yarrow. "If Care with freezing years should come,

And wandering seem but folly,-Should we be loch to stir from home, And yet be melancholy; Should hie be dull, and spirits low 'T will soothe us in our sorrow,

That earth has something yet to show, The bonny floims of Yarrow."

SORROWS OF A DRUNKARD'S WIFE.

Go, feel what I have felt; Go, bear what I have borne : Sink 'neath the blow a father dealt, And the cold, proud world's scorn-Thus struggle on from year to year, Thy sole relief the scalding tear. Go, weep as I have wept,

O'er a lov'd father's fall; See every cherish'd promise swept, Youth's sweetness turn'd to gall ; Hope's faded flower strew'd all the way That led me up to woman's day. Go, kneel as I have knelt, Implore, beseech, and pray; Strive the besotted heart to melt, The downward course to stay: Be cast with better curse, aside, Thy prayers burlesqued, thy tears defied.

Go, stand where I have stood, And see the strong man now, With gnashing teeth, lips bathed in blood, And cold and livid brow ; Go, catch his wandering glance, and see

There mirror'd his soul's misery. Go, hear what I have heard. The sobs of sad despair. As memory feeling's fount find stirr'd,

And its revealings there Hath told him what he might have been, Had he the drunkard's fate foreseen. Go to the mother's side. And her crush'd spirit cheer;

Thine own deep anguish hide, Wipe from her cheek the tear, Mark her dimm'd eye, her furrow'd brow, The grey that streaks her dark hair now, Her toil-worn frame, her trembling limb, And trace the ruin back to him, Whose plighted faith in early youth Promised eternal love and truth; But who, forsworn, hath yielded up This promise in the deadly cup; And led her down from love and light, From all that made her pathway bright, And chain'd her there, 'mid want and strife The lowly thing-a drunkard's wife!

And stamp'd on childhood's brow so mild, That with'ring blight-a drunkard's child ! Go, hear, and see, and feel, and know, All that thy soul hath felt or known :

Then look upon the wine-cup's glow, See if its brightness can alone : Think of its flavour you will try;

If all proclaim'd-" 'This drink, and die! Tell me I hate the bow! !

Hate is a feeble word : I louthe, abhor-my very soul With strong disgust is stir'd, Whene'er I see, or hear, or tell Of the dark door that leads to hell!

A communication from the Executive Council of this Province, and Lord Elgin's despatches accompanying it, will be found-on the first page of our paper this week.— The communication is a long document, but the importance of the subject, as well as the great ability with which it is treated, justifies its insertion; and indeed whether we regard that document, or the able and justifies its insertion; and indeed we regard that document, or the able and forcible despatch of His Excellency, one to the behavior of the most. The knows not which to admire most. I one party shows a profound knowledge the subject upon which he treats, and the other, convinced of the soundness of the sentiments advanced, readily endorses them and adds the weight of his own name and General and the present Administration the documents now before us fully justify whatever may have been said in that way. Canadians may justly feel proud of the present Government. Instead of the maw present Government. Instead of the maw-kish, noncommittal, mean-nothing despatch es something containing implied censure or this new country and its lithabitants, we have before us an open, manly espousal of their cause, and a courageous avowal of the truth, though it may not be very palatable to certain parties on the other side of lency, 'animated with the best dispositions towards England. The Canadian farmer is a suplicant at present to the Imperial Legislature, not for favor, but for justice ; and strong as is affection for the mother counriving as is affection for the mother country and her institutions, he [the farmer] cannot reconciled to his sense of right, that after being deprived of all protection for his produce, 'Sc. And again, having his mind the very natural consequences of refusing that "justice" for which the Canadian farmer is suplicant," the repeal of part | provisions were suffered to remain on the British statute book, which would seen and the promptings of duty and affection into opposition." Here is no blinking of the subject; the truth is told in John Bul's own way, just in the same unequivocal strain as that adopted by Lord Elgin's father-in-law, Lord Durham, in his me able report on Canadian affairs. And from perial Legislature, their eyes must be fully opened as to the inevitable consequences of refusing that "justice" for which we are

Principle of the state of the s

The repeal of the navigation laws is the hinge upon which the prosperity of Canada now turns. These laws require that ou productions shall be transported to England only in ressels built or owned by British subjects; this prevents competition and ares a monopoly of the carrying trade to British shipowners, and, in consequence, they charge more for freight than the ves-sels of other nations. Before the repeal of the Corn laws in England, the high duties upon foreign produce secured for us a profit from which we could afford to pay these higher rates of freight; but since 1846, the duty on foreign grain is removed, and as British ships charge twice as much for freight across the Atlantic as American vessels; our gram merchants lose just the difference of the freights, and in conseto the Canadian farmer for his grain. This is the gi-t of the matter, and what we need is to admit American and other vessels to transport our produce to England, so that, by the competition created, freights from Montreal will be as low as from New York. Our gran bayers can then afford to give a better price-to our farmers, and the tire carrying trade would be turned towards New York; while their "Drawback" law would, as it is doing already, bring the import trade by the same route; this, how-ever, would inevitably run the lower pro-vince. It, therefore we are expected to remain where all our affections and attachments would bind us—connected with the British empire—these navigation laws must be repealed. It seems, however, that the

PROSPECTS OF TRADE

The positive statement of the failure of the potato crop at home, given in ou Telegraphic report of the Niagara's news should it prove to have been well founded, must have an important baaring on our trade for the year. The immediate effect of the failure becoming known, has been a rise in the price at home of all descriptions of produce, which, if we may judge from the result of the same calculate in 1848, is like result of the same calamity in 1846, is likely to continue, and will have a corresponding effect on the markets of this continent. Indeed our Telegraph reports of last night, show that a rise has already taken place both in Montreal and New York. Ther are circumstances which render a high price more probable than even in that year. The fuller accounts by the Britannia, we are sorry to say, do not speak favourably of the English grain crops; there can be no doubt that the disturbed state of all parts of the Continent must have thrown a considerable breadth of land out of cultivation; and if the war which has been threatening so long, should break out, the supply which has should break out, the supply which has hitherto been available from that quarter, would be entirely withdrawn. It is certainly to be regretted that Canada has not been enabled to take full advanage of these circumstances, by the aboli tion of the Navigation Laws, and of the American Differential Duties, but it should Atlantic. "The people of Canada," says His Excel be taken into account that we have a precrence in the British market until March 1849, and that as the freights by the St. Lawrence are much lower this season than usual, Great Britain affords us the best market for our produce, for this year at least.

One thing appears perfectly certain, that we shall be able to obtain a good price for any quantity of produce we may have to spare. As to the quantity it is somewhat difficult to decide, but we are well satisfied from all accounts that notwithstanding the disastrous ravages of the rust in the Spring Wheat of the back Townships, we shall have in the Upper Province a fair average

If this be so, we may well congratulate ourselves on the prospects of our trade during the coming season, for our resources are now large, while our liabilities incurred are not great. The Spring importations of the year were exceedingly small, and fo e Fall, though larger in propertion, they will be much less important in amount than those of former years. We are informed that the stocks of goods

SETTLEMENT OF THE PUBLIC LANDS. It is a strange paradox in economy that our public lands, which ough to be a source of public wealth, have to almost the pre-sent time, been a public burthen. The strongest condemnation of a system of management which has converted the means of public wealth into a perpetual public cost, is the bare mention of the fact. sometimes observed by practical economists, "I would not take as a gift a horse for which I have no employment, as he would soon eat up his own value." would soon eat up his own value. Lord Eigin rightly judges, that though " the people of Canada are animated with the best disposition towards England," still, if these cruel navigation laws are "suffered to remain on the British statute book, the material interests of the colonists and the promptings of daily and affection will come into opposition."

This result thus anticipated by His Excellency we would deeply lament, but however strong and sincere the attachment of the people of Canada to Great Britain, it were alike unreasonable and absurd to expect that they would consent to their own ruin, in order to carried the supposition of the supposition of the colonist in the time allowed. There is, however, a possible remedy for Upper Canada; should the "Reciprocity Bhi" before the American Congress be finally passed, our productions would find a ready market in that country, and the energy market in that country, and the energy market in that country, and the energy market in that country and the energy market in the United States must pay down the whole amount of the purchase money, the whole amount of the purchase money, and the whole amount of the purchase money, the whole amount of the purchase money, and the manufacture of the market in the United States and the course the other cur will be saved, and all the inhabitants will appear before the Transcript Office to thank the editor for having preserved them, or the whole amount of the purchase money. before he can exercise his industry, except as a squatter, on any portion of the land.—

City Hall, Montreal August 16, 1848.

The above is the copy of a proclamation which has been stuck up extensively about No. 10) we have come to the conclusion with Policeman No. 10) we have come to the conclusion are but was "Gubee's." The reasons which have led to this conclusion are but potent. It is well known—there can be no doubt of it at all—that "Gubee" and O'Connor have entered into an alliance to attack this city source the inhabitants are source. Connor have entered into an alliance to attack this city, seize the inhabitants, shave their heads, and make them kneel down and worship the stripes and stars which Gubee the king, and O'Connor his minister, will set over them. But the inhabitants who walk on two legs are not the only occupants of the city. We say it to the credit of the dogs that they are and always have been must loyal and enthusiastic supporters of the roast beef of Old England, ever ready to amssemble at the cry of "fresh meat," and willing to lay down their tails sooner than consent to be whipped and kicked by Gubee and O'Connor. Now the idea of buying the dogs off is out of the dags of the roast beef of Old England, ever ready to amssemble at the cry of "fresh meat," and willing to lay down their tails sooner than consent to be whipped and kicked by Gubee and O'Connor. Now the idea of buying the dogs off is out of the dags of the recover seen, than in the reception of the Britannia's new than in the reception of the Britann has been the iriend of a dog—that a dogs life? with him is no life at all, and that it hurs before it was published in New York, and more than an hour before the Britannia be pitched into the St. Lawrence at once, than trust to his mercy or the pickings of his pantry for existence. Such being the lase, it is evidet that, in case of danger, the logs would be staunch; and there is not a errier or a bull in the city, or a dog with smooth hair or rough hair, or a curly tailed smooth hair or rough hair, or a curly tailed dog or a straight tailed dog that would not lift his voice against the man with the pea green jacket and his confederate in mischief, if they should try to come hither.

Now, such being the case, are the dogs to be got rid of? With them in it, the city can never be entirely defenceless; for if Rome was saved by a lot of uneducated arbhing access surely Mostreal man trust. gabling geese, surely Montreal may trust something to the canines in the way of as-sistance. There can be no doubt that the knowledge of this fact has induced Gubee first to bite a dog and then to let him loose on society. The notion that the mad-dog is Gubee himself, we discard: Gubee is too knowing to go mad, that is, unless something could be made by it; but he could be another dog, and that dog could bite more respectable dogs, and so the mischief

The chroniclers of those times relate many terrible calamities which befel the nations of Christendom during that year and which, of couse, were all attributed t the influence of the comet. The Pope Ur-ban IV. was frightened into an alarming disorder, which confined bim to his apartering of a flame agitated by the wind. The tail was slender in shape, and at first of a red colour, but afterwards it faded into a pale and livid hue. The rays clustered very thickly round the head of the comet. This brilliant phenomenon was first seen in the sign Libra, and disappeared in that of the Northern Fish.

The question is now generally asked, where deep week and account to the want of repeated and account to the want of repeated and account to the want of repeated of every puppy, within it. The question is now generally asked—whose dog was that which was seen running about as described in the above advertisement, and after a very long and painful enquiry (aided by a great many consultations with Policeman No. 10) we have come to the conclusion that it was "Gubee's." The reasons which have led to this conclusion.

HEMP FOR CANADA .- A lot of 20 tons prime dew-rotted hemp was shipped yester-day from this city by way of the Illinois river, canal and lakes to Quebec, Lower Canada. Several lots have heretofore gone to Toronto and other points in the British provinces. We also noticed about 100 keg of lard-going on board a steamer for Pitts-burg, and de-tined for the New York market. The old channels of trade are nearly lost sight of, in the many new and more profitable ones, springing up daily.—St. Louis Republican, Aug. 23.

STOLEN Goods .- Some suspicious cir cumstances coming to the knowledge of the Magistrates, search for stolen articles was made, on Thursday last, at the house of one David Avey, who has but lately arrived. A large quantity of nails, a square, a basket and a handsaw were found, all claimed by Mr. Williams, as his property. It is sup-posed that other setticles found on Avey's remises want owners. Some tools were discovered a few days since in the possession of Avev, by Mr. Iliggins, their owner, when asked by Mr. Higgins, where the re-mainder were, Avey promptly replied he would go for them—he has not, however, yet returned.—Dundas Warder.

THE PENITENTIARY.—The kitchenkeeper | subjected to the same indignity or suffering on account; and therefore that Barney's championship should call forth n ther response than the bold and fearless ridicule of the Press of Canada. And we believe there is not one Press in Canada, Whig, Tory or Radcal, that will refuse to lay it on thick, thick, so that it will render all other fortifications superfluous against such invasions.

We are disposed, however, to doubt the reality of Barney's invading propensities. The supposition contains too much of the extravagant to be easily swallowed. We are not acquainted with he man, but from the very fact of his being able to address a meeting and wield an influence over portion of his fellow-men, we may safely preme his ability to perceive that whatever antipathy he may have against the dominion of the British Lion, he can have neither right nor clain to the bona fide property of the people of Canada. The soil of Canada does not belong to the British Lion. It, and all that it contains, belong to the people who have purchased and paid for them by their own industry. And though that spirit of disaffection towards British supremacy, which is confined to a very small fraction of those who have lately been driven from the emoluments of office, should become general, the people will never stoop to be plundered of their honestly earned wealth by a horde of lawless, lazy vagabonds. If ever Canada is to be annexed to the United States, it must be by an amicable treaty, not through the agency of Barney Develin: and we think Barney is wise enough to know this. But even though we thought otherwise, we would not by any means encourage his ignorant vanishity by sacrificing the lives of our innocent colonists in waging war with him. We think much wiser method would be to send the Hon morning last, Edward Galligan, laborer, R. B. Sullivan to talk rationally with the State Government of New York, and endeavor to procure a situation for Barney at Utica, where a large establishment of such characters is regularly kept up.

GILES rersus HUNT.

We have no desire of interfering in the business transactions of other people, and we do so to be vindicatd. Without enquiring whether the decision of the Magistrates, given last week, in favor of Giles, against Vere John Hunt, is or is not in accordance with law, we regard it as rains convert into a muddy stream to flood the country. The District Surveyor, and Smith, many years ago, seemed willing to expose the fact that the Begislature are both food and fortunate in making laws to curtail the fond and fortunate in making laws to curtail the iberty of the servant, and to prevent or punish combinations among workmen; while they seem equally willing to neglect legislation against the tyrannies and monopolies of masters. And it is probable that the new Act to regulate differences between Servant and Master is of this description, viz. four clauses for the benefit of the master, and one for the benefit of the servant. We have not examined the Act, and as the facts of the case have already been forwarded IF The Provincial Parliament is further pro- to the proper Authorities, we will not take the trouble of examining it at present; but for the satisfaction of our readers, and the safety of we are much gratified in being informed that the number of Shareholders are increasing, which, the hope of getting the wages then due.
