Mrs. Martin's Story of the Crime Told in Conti-"It's Money I'm After and I'm I'd rathersee him go to mill, Going to Have It." Kingston, Aug. 2.—Marshall Twitchell, charged with the recent burglary at Mrs. Martin's house, was brought before the Police Magistrate, this morning. Mrs. Martin testified that on the night of the burglary she was awakened suddenly, as if by something that had fallen. She then heard the servant call, "Mrs. Martin," in a, muffled voice. Jurping out of bed, she went out into the hall and asked Mrs. Horsey, who was sleeping in an adjoining room, if she heard anyone calling. She replied that she had not. Witness then called down the speaking tube, asking if anything was the matter, and receiving no reply she lit a lamp, went down stairs and examined the front door and found it locked. Then she passed into the front and through to the dining from, where she noticed that the shutters were wide open. She refastened them, and being frightened thereby glanced around before starting upstairs.

She had ascended two steps when she locked. Ido not like such soulless prayers;

She had ascended two steps where are looked towards the door leading to the basement.

Instantly a masked face appeared through a No angel's wing them upward bears; small space in the doorway. She then screamed and started upstairs. Turning around she saw the masked man upon one step of the stairs. She screamed again, when he approached, and drawing a revolver said: "Keep irritating, griping compounds taken as wint to be a proached, and drawing a revolver said: "Keep irritating, griping compounds taken as wint to be a proached."

"The way these people do is to get young girls to come and learn the business. They make them work six weeks for nothing, or, maybe, $2 a week for their work, and they pack just as many of them as they can get licto one room, along with the children and the cooking and all the rest. That way they make a little money for themselves at the expense of the girls, but it don't do them much good, for pretty quick the manu-facturer grinds down the price another peg, and the more they grind the girls the more the manufacturer grinds them, until nobody is making more than a bare living. The people that take the work out into the country to do are pretty near a; bad as the tenement house people for prices, but, of course, they're cleaner. If t wasn't for them prices would be a goo deal higher in the city. New York is the worst city in the country for sewing women, In Philadelphia, even, they pay them a good deal better. It's all on account of this tenement house work, and it'll never be any better till they pass laws making it illegal for more than one machine to be put in an ordinary

Terrible Explosion in an Express Car on the Grand Trunk Road.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—Last night when the train for Quebec on the Grand Trunk Rail-way had passed 5. Lamberts, atter going through the Victoria bridge, an explosion took place in the express car by which the car completely wrecked, and the express matter destroyed. Wild rumors are adioat that it was an attempt to blow up the Victoria bridge and was delayed too leng.

The train was on its way to Quebec, Portland and Halifax, and consisted of seven passenger coaches, a Pullman caf, a sleeper, a smoking car and the bagange and express, car, the latter being next to the tender. The train was completely filled with passengers, among whom were General Middleton and Mr. Stephenson, General Superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railroad. When the explosion was heard a general panic was about to ensue, when Brakeman Jones rushed through the train to the burning car and deaxerously uncoupling it with the tender and engine, sent them dashing up the road, where the driver, who valiatily held his post amid the most intense heat, ran them upon a siding at the end of the track. No cause is assigned for the accident, although everything in the car was of a very combustible nature, among the goods being fireworks for the Halifax carnival.
