CHAPTER IV.

NOR LOVE, NOR RICHES STAND BETWEEN.

(Concluded.)

With a low cry, Hilda hid her face in her hands.

With a sudden movement of passion the weak woman turned to her.

'Spare your pity! She will not need it long. He is still searching for her, and before long he will find her—will find her and place her where you shall see!

'Home, friends, wealth, love, await her. For you, until you die, there can be no home, no name! Spare your pity for yourself for the day which will surely come when you shall see her, your sister, honored and beloved, mistress in her father's—your father's—house, while you are left outcast and nameless. Be what you will—rich, famous—the shadow which has followed and crushed me must follow and crush you!'

With a cry of despair, the girl shrank from the awful voice and stony eyes. Then suddenly she threw herself upon her knees, and, clutching the dying woman's skirts, looked the question her lips refused to ask.

With an effort, Mrs. Fane leaned forward.

'The man—your father—is Sir Talbot Woodleigh, and the daughter he seeks bears the name of Lillian Leigh—she—she—look, Hilda; the light—the light! It grows darker—darker! Look there—there; he is here! It is you, you—he seeks, not her! Talbot! she is here—your child—your child!'

And, half rising, with outstretched hands, she fell forward into her daughter's arms, at rest at last!

CHAPTER V.

'My Name is Lillian Leigh.'

TWO topics of conversation engrossed the attention of the Golden City. One was the loss of Dawson Slade's wager, occasioned not only by his failing to carry out his challenge, but by the sudden disappearance of Hilda Fane; the other was the disappearance of Dawson Slade himself. Both had suddenly vanished, leaving no trace behind them. Dawson Slade had paid his wager on the night it became due, had afterwards played heavily at baccarat, and as heavily lost, and the next morning, when a friend called to enquire for him at the hotel, it was discovered that he had left in the early dawn.

Hilda Fane's disappearance was still more mysterious. The manager of the theater had received a note from the celebrated actress on the morning following her triumph in the Roman play, informing him she was prevented from fulfilling her engagement and inclosing the money forfeited by her breach of contract. The disappointed manager, wild with excitement, had tracked her to the out-of-the-way cottage, to find her in deep mourning, preparing for the funeral of her mother.

Coldly and calmly she had met his subdued remonstrance, and imploring prayer for a fresh engagement, with a steadfast refusal, and when, four days afterward, he returned to press his suit, he found that the greatest "draw" it had ever been his fortune to know had silently departed, leaving no trace behind her.

So great was the excitement caused by her sudden flight that the intelligence of an attack upon the overland stage, resulting in the murder of the guard and half a dozen passengers, was allowed to pass almost unheeded. But it is only fair to add that the stage had been so often stopped and the guard and passengers more or less murdered that the incident had become wearisomely commonplace. People seemed to think that just as watches were made to go, stages were made to be stopped.

Be that as it may, we have but little more to do with San Francisco, and have but to glance at one more characteristic of the new world before we return to England once for all.

The sun was setting on the overland route, and throwing a crimson bloom on the waste, and lighting up the one glazed window of the station. It was a solitary hut which served as a shelter for the station keeper, whose duty it was to take charge of the horses changed by the up and down stages. A more melancholy existence can scarcely be imagined, not only melancholy, but dangerous, for the whole route was infested by bands of ruffians, the scouring of the silver mines, escaped convicts, and outcasts generally, whose furious attacks on the stages have become matter of history.

So still and calm was the waste, so deep an air of repose rested upon the solitary hut, that it might have been chosen as a type of innocence and peace but for the fact that within a hundred yards of the hut door lay two bodies, dead and stark, as they had been left by the gang who had attacked the coach, and that the rough door of the hut was perforated with bullet holes.

So deserted and desolate was the whole scene that a traveler would never have suspected that the hut contained any living thing, but, nevertheless, in the inner room of the rough wood cabin were two girls.

The room, if it deserved the title, had served the station keeper as a sleeping room, and on the straw pallet lay one of the girls, her face drawn and colorless, a bandage, stained with blood, drawn tightly round her shoulder. She lay half on the pallet and half on the arms of her companion, who bent over her a face almost as white as her own.

As they formed this motionless group, anyone entering the room would have been struck by a vague sense of their resemblance. Both wore plain, black, mourning dresses; both were apparently of the same height and age, and, still more noticeable, there was a decided likeness in the faces, and their expressions, though one lay drawing long breaths of pain and weakness, and the other bent over her with a calm presentment of strength and endurance.

Difficult though it would have been

'No, no,' said Hilda, gently; 'it would distress you.'

'No. I like to hear it. Tell me from the beginning.'

With a sigh, Hilda Fane obeyed.

'Yesterday, when he passed the last station—Five Forks, as it is called—we took up two passengers; one was a gentleman, the other yourself. Are you sure you wish me to go over it again?'

'Yes—yes—do not miss anything—tell me everything.'

'You were tired and ill—'

'And you gave up your place that I might be more easy and comfortable? Yes—go on.'

'You fainted once on the road, and then fell asleep; were asleep when, just before dawn, we heard a pistol shot and a heavy groan—oh, I cannot go on!'

'Yes—yes!'

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

It is a condition for disease to which do not give many names, but which few of them really suit. It is simply weakness—a break-down, as a matter of fact, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its cause (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same: the most prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weakness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is pure vitality—vigour—

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY

to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that an night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic—than by any other known combination. So sure is it as taken in accordance with the printed directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH.

and a new relation, imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, "used up," and valueless. This powerful medicinal is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste, and available for all constitutions and conditions in either sex, and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing restorative, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this widespread and numerous class of human ailments.

is sold by chemists throughout the world. Price in England, 2/6 and 4/6. Purchasers should see that the word THERAPION appears on British Government issue on white paper, and not red ground, and that every package bears the name of the Hon. Colonel Murray, and without which it is a forgery.

THERAPION may now also be obtained in Orange (Tasteless) form.

Proclamation!

By His Excellency Sir Ralph Champeys Williams, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael...

WHEREAS by Proclamation, bearing date the 17th day of May instant, notice was given of an Election under "The Saint John's Municipal Act, 1902," for a Mayor and Six Councillors...

I do, therefore, by these presents order and direct that the said Town of St. John's, for the purposes of this election, shall be divided into six divisions, the boundaries of each of which shall be as follows, viz:—

No. 1 Division:—All that part of the town east of the King's Bridge, thence following the centre of the King's Beach, King's Road, Rennie's Mill Road, to the northern limit of the town. And I do direct that in this division there shall be opened four booths.

No. 2 Division:—From the Western boundary of No. 1 division to the centre of Cliff's Cove, up Market House Hill, Cathedral Hill, Garrison Hill and Long Pond Road, to the Northern limit of the Town. And I do direct that in this division there shall be opened five booths.

No. 3 Division:—From the Western boundary of No. 2 division to the centre of Goodridge's Western Wharf, up the centre of William's Lane and Lime Street to LeMarchant Road; along LeMarchant Road, eastwardly, to Cookstown Road and Freshwater Road, to the Northern limit of the Town. And I do direct that in this division there shall be opened five booths.

No. 4 Division:—From the Western Boundary of No. 3 division to the Eastern boundary of Newman's waterside premises; thence up the centre of Springdale Street to LeMarchant Road; thence eastwardly along LeMarchant Road to Pennywell Road, and thence to the Northern limit of the Town. And I do direct that in this division there shall be opened five booths.

Frederick Moore, of St. John's, Merchant. 8. MULLALLY. J. J. Mullally, of St. John's, Master Cooper. 9. MYRICK. M. W. Myrick, of St. John's, Master Mechanic. 10. PENNY. W. T. Penny, of St. John's, Contractor. 11. RYAN. Charles W. Ryan, of St. John's, Mechanic. 12. SEARLE. W. R. Searle, of St. John's, Builder and Contractor.

Of which all persons are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Given under my Hand at St. John's the 17th day of June, 1910. F. J. DOYLE, Returning Officer. sat, tues, thurs, sat, mon.

DIRECTIONS

For the Guidance of Electors in Voting. Each Elector on entering the room where the poll is being held, shall declare his name, surname, and addition. After so doing, he shall receive a ballot paper in the above form.

Each elector, if required by the Deputy Returning Officer, the Poll Clerk, one of the Candidates, or one of their agents shall, before receiving his ballot paper, take an oath of qualification. The voter is not to vote for more than six candidates as Councillors.

After receiving the ballot paper the voter shall go into one of the compartments and with a pencil, there provided, place a cross in the divisions containing the names of the six candidates for Councillors for whom he intends to vote thus—X.

The voter will then fold the ballot paper, so as to show a portion of the back only, with the initials of the Deputy Returning Officer and hand it so folded up to the Deputy Returning Officer, and the Deputy Returning Officer shall, without unfolding it, ascertain that it is the ballot paper which he furnished to the elector, and then immediately place it in the ballot box. The voter shall forthwith leave the Polling Station.

If a voter inadvertently spoils a ballot paper, he may return it to the Deputy Returning Officer, who will give him another.

If a voter votes for more candidates than he is entitled to vote for, or places any mark on the ballot paper by which he can afterwards be identified, his vote will be void and will not be counted.

If a voter takes a ballot or ballot paper out of the Polling Station, or fraudulently puts any other paper into the Ballot Box than the paper given him by the Deputy Returning Officer, he will be subject to punishment by a fine of five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for a time not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour.

F. J. DOYLE, Returning Officer.

Guy Celebration.

There is great preparations going on at Harbor Grace for the big celebration in August. There is a great deal more work over this than many imagine, but with every one ready and willing to take their part, many hands will make light work. The project for the building of the Hospital to commemorate the occasion, is backed up from all quarters and is sure to be realized. The Committee are keeping in touch with all their helpers and have a big gathering for Thursday next. The Coughlan Hall, the largest in the town where the Agricultural Exhibition was held, is engaged, and Mr. H. F. Shortis has been invited over to give his promised lecture on the old records of Conception Bay. Mr. Shortis gave a somewhat similar lecture in the T. A. Hall here last winter, and several hundred people could not find seats, this large hall being so crowded. We bespeak for Mr. Shortis a very successful and delightful people more than hearing some good story about their own acquaintances, and wherever Mr. Shortis gets his information he always has something new and authentic. Mr. James Vey goes with him to illustrate this lecture with many of his beautiful limelight views. He has scenes from Brigus to Baccalieu Island, and views that will do honor to the public buildings of many larger towns. Mr. Vey has prepared some special views of the sealishery taken last winter. They are the finest that ever appeared on this subject in Newfoundland or elsewhere. The audience is sure to be delighted with them. We had the pleasure of seeing some of them in preparation, and one set of views of the S. S. Iceland is especially fine and represents the old ship:— 1st.—As she was brought to a standstill, crushed in the ice; 2nd.—The crew preparing to leave her, and getting their bags out on the ice; 3rd.—The last view of the old steamer, she is now in flames, and this was the last of John Munn & Co's. old sealing fleet.

Englishman Murdered

In a Bowery Hotel at New York. New York, June 13.—A man whose name is given by the police as Frank Slickett, and is believed to have come here recently from Baltimore, was murdered to-day in a Bowery Hotel. A revolver bullet had entered his left temple, causing instant death, the coroner said. There was no trace of the revolver.

The victim of the murder was registered with another man at the hotel early to-day as "John Slickett and brother Frank." The supposed brother was not to be found when the body was discovered.

The murdered man was apparently an Englishman, about 23 years of age. McKinley Edition of 10 cent Music—Five thousand copies in stock to choose from. CHESLEY WOODS, Sole Agent for Nfld.—June 13/10.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I met a young person yesterday whom I had tried half an hour the evening before to get by telephone. "Where were you and your mother between seven and eight last night?" I demanded. "At home," she said. "No, let me see. Oh, yes, we went over to the Loomies to hear their new photograph, and had to stay an hour to hear all the records. Why?" "Well, I tried and tried and tried to get you by telephone. Marion and I were going to the theatre, but Marion was called on a case at the last minute, and I thought you'd like to go." "Like to go," she said, solemnly. "Ruth, you ought to be given a week in solitary confinement on bread and water for telling me that. Don't you know I haven't been to the theatre for months, and that I was bored to extinction last night, and that I hate phonographs anyway, and that I'll spend the rest of the day thinking if I'd only stayed at home instead of going over to hear that wretched thing I'd have had such a good time. Positively you are cruel."

just missed being able to bestow them upon me, insisted upon telling me about? Indeed I ought to have been especially thoughtful about that detail, for even now I am tormented with useless but persistent regrets over a beautiful bargain in a horse that would have been just that spirited but obedient, able-to-go-a-m-i-l-e-in-two-forty-and-yet-gentle-as-a-lamb mirage of a horse that I've been dreaming of and saving for many years.

"All but had a chance to pick him up for you, Miss Cameron. The man that owned him had to go away, and sell him at a sacrifice. If I'd been half an hour sooner I'd have cinched him for you."

"Of course I'm awfully grateful for my friend's kindness in thinking of me. But I do wish he hadn't told me about it, for I suppose the ghost of that lost opportunity will haunt me for life; and if I were to own a stable of Arabian mares it would be incomplete without that phantom horse."

Regrets are most unpleasant things to feel. It-might-have-beens are infuriating out of all proportion to their importance. The pleasures and opportunities we just missed are the most tantalizingly enjoyable things on earth—aren't they?

Well, then, if you assent to that, I'm going to consider that you have promised yourself never to inflict the knowledge of your lost opportunities upon your friends.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross. Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensive repugnant examinations. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as sacredly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. PIERCE'S GREAT FAMILY DOCTOR BOOK, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition—1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. Sent free, in plain wrapper to any address on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, or in cloth binding for 50 stamps.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Add a teaspoonful of soda to a gallon of water when rinsing lavender linens. Matches can be made waterproof by dipping them in very hot melted paraffin. A delicious dish is made of brown bread cut very thin and spread with caviare. A luxury in the shape of a hot water bag, is the one which comes provided with a silk cover. Try adding half a dozen raisins to a pot of coffee. The slight change in flavor is delicious. Some housekeepers prefer a piece of ordinary screening to all else for cleaning a flat iron.

When washing window panes or cupboard doors, use a little whiting on the flannel instead of soap. The chantecler has invaded the kitchen; the cookie cutters in the shape of roosters are available. Before putting away a plush garment it is well to clean it by sponging it over carefully with gasoline. Cluny lace is used as an edging on some of the dainty hand-embroidered covers for the lingerie pillow. Put a few drops of ammonia on a piece of bread and rub it over your gift frames; they will look like new. Window shades that seem faded may often be made to do good service for months to come. Reverse them. To remove a scar, make an ointment of 40 grains of boric acid and one ounce of lanolin; apply this daily. If after peeling onions, one peels a raw potato the odor of the onions will entirely disappear from the hands. If coal dust is piled on a piece of paper and then put in the stove it will burn without deadening the fire. For summer use no china is more altogether useful than white with green design; it looks cool on the hottest day. It is now quite the proper thing to have one's tablecloths scalloped and buttonholed instead of hemstitched as formerly. If iodine stains are upon wood, wet the wood with cornstarch and let stand a minute, then rub until the stains disappear. Use hot water for all things that grow under ground; such as potatoes, turnips, and cold water for those growing above ground. If you have not an apple corer at hand, use a clothes pin; by means this makeshift the coring can be done with surprising ease. Do not search linens; to give the garment the much desired stiffness iron it while it is damp and until it is perfectly dry. CHINA CUPS and Saucers, Plates, Dishes, etc., Glass Preserve Dishes, Tumblers, Wine Glasses, Decanters, Vases, etc. We are always fully stocked with the above lines. At LAR-AC'S, 345 and 347 Water Street, opposite Post Office.—Jan. 3/12.

The Study of Nature.

We draw the attention of our readers to a notice which appears in this issue under the names of Messrs. Garrick and Bray. Its object is to invite to a meeting in the rooms of the Methodist College Institute all those ladies and gentlemen interested in the formation of a Natural History Society of Newfoundland. We commend the action of the promoters to all well-wishers of the Island. We have in our midst an Historical Society in Newfoundland which is doing good work, but we have no Natural History Society, and this is more than passing strange, for it is on the fish, animal and vegetable life that our main industries rest. Our fishermen, hunters, and lumbermen are keen observers of nature, and yet there is no collection of Natural History observations of what our people are noticing in their daily tasks. There is abundance of opportunity for a Society to collect and encourage such observations.

Train Notes.

The Bruce express left at 6 p.m. yesterday taking out D. F. Burns, Dr. J. F. Donnelly, Mr. McCowan, M. F. O'Toole, Mr. Bowdler, Mr. Bowman and 5 second class.

The local arrived at 10.30 last night bringing J. Angel, Mr. Giovanni, Mrs. W. J. Herder, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. King, Mr. Vez, Mrs. Abbott and man and 50 second class.

One doesn't always know
Where to commence
To correct a diet,
But one thing to stop is coffee.

Brigade Football.

C. C. C. Victorious by 3 Goals to 2. The postponed match of the Brigade Division was played at St. George's field before the largest audience which gathered there since the season opened. The teams lined up as follows:

C. L. B.—Kenrick, Barnes, L. Stick, Rendell, Stevenson, Bishop, Winter, Hayward, Hunt, Bartlett and O'Brien.
C. C. C.—R. Walsh, Hynes, Meenan, Walsh, Hart, G. Byrne, Sullivan, Rodgers, Caul, B. Hart and Murphy.

Winning the toss the Cadets kicked from the western goal with a stiff breeze of westerly wind, which moderated somewhat when the game was about 20 minutes old. Opening play was signalled by the Cadets making a rush on C. L. B. territory but were repulsed the Church Lads getting the ball to centre field. Here Byrne tried a long shot and placed the leather in the net and drawing "first blood" for the Cadets after 5 minutes play. The wind helped to keep the ball down dangerously near the C.L.B. goal. Kendrick deftly saved a couple of difficult shots, and several corners conceded Cadets were badly placed and borne no fruit. The Church Lads several times rushed up against the wind and visited Walsh, who saved well. Just here Gerald Byrne was knocked out and Cadets had to play 10 men for the rest of the game. Hands were given against both sides, and Hynes taking a shot from centre field it rebounded from the cross bar, dropped near Kendrick, who missed it and the ball rolled into the net. Score No. 2 for the Cadets amidst thunderous applause. The C. L. B. now put on steam, the leather was taken up on the right wing and Bartlett shot, beating Walsh and scoring the first goal for C.L.B. amid great applause. Half time sounding the teams crossed—C.C.C. 2; C.L.B. 1.

With but a few minutes' breathing space the teams were again hard at work and for fully 5 minutes play was confined to midfield. In this half the Cadets with 10 men played a far better game against the wind than with the whole team and the breeze in their favor in the first half. The Church Lads repeatedly bombarded the Cadet goal but the ball shot too high and soared over the goal each time. Walsh was kept busy and saved very well. The C. L. B. secured several fruitless corners and the Cadets a couple of times visited C.L.B. territory but without result. Fast play all over the field now transpired and the C.L.B. again secured several corners, but nothing came of them. Eventually the ball was sent right opposite goal and was quickly placed in the net, striking a C. C. C. man as it shot in. This gave the C. L. B. the equalizer and their stock went up. Both sides put out their best efforts now to secure the winning goal and the Cadets played a fast game, repeatedly visiting their opponents' goal. Suddenly Sullivan got a run up the left wing and sent a beauty across and into the net, scoring the third goal for the boys in red and blue. The game now waxed fast and furious, but after a short time the final solo sounded with Cadets 3 goals, Church Lads 2. Mr. W. J. Higgins refereed. Linesmen—Thomas and W. Clare. The gate receipts amounted to $65.50, the most for the season.

PRINCESS DIES SUDDENLY.

Special to Evening Telegram.
KARLSRUHE, June 21.—Princess Feodora of Schleswig, Holstein, the youngest sister of Empress Augusta Victoria, died suddenly to-day from heart failure. She was born July 3rd, 1874.

To-Day's Sports.

To-day's two principal events are the C. E. L. C. L. B. Sports, and the 30 mile walking match around Windsor Lake.

The first will contain features of much interest to the public, and the latter is always popular, and of course will attract the usual concourse. The contestants will be—Messrs. G. Downs, J. Steele, W. Duff, J. Duff, C. Renouf, W. Lerner and W. Tucker, and possibly others may enter to-day. This is the fifth event of the kind. The winners for the past four years with the time of each we append:—

1906—Morris	3 36 27
1907—Hayward	3 31 04
1908—Pynn	3 26 26

TILT COVE MINE.—There are now about 300 men and boys working at the Tilt Cove copper mine and up to date this season two cargoes of ore have been shipped to Swansea. There is ore enough to keep the mine running for several years to come.

SUSPECTS BROUGHT IN.—Detective Byrne and Const. O'Neill are engaged on the case of the attack on Bridie Baker. This forenoon seven or eight colored men were brought to the station and the little one will confront them to try and identify her assailant.

Last evening as Mr. J. Chaffey was cycling down Parade Street while the crowd came from the match, a little lad named Charlie Miller, aged 5, ran out on the street after a football. Mr. Chaffey tried to avoid him but the lad ran straight in front of the wheel, which struck him. The rider was thrown off and for a time it was thought the little chap was seriously hurt, but such was not the case and he escaped with a few slight bruises.

Cable News.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, June 21.—It has practically been arranged that the Coronation of George the Fifth will take place about the middle of May, 1911. Immediately after this ceremony the Duke of Connaught will proceed to Canada to assume the office of Governor-General.

LONDON, June 21.—Sydney Charles Buxton, President of the Board of Trade, opened the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce to-day. Incidentally the British Cabinet member gave a dig to Theodore Roosevelt, recently the guest of the city and nation. Referring to the differences in national fiscal systems, Mr. Buxton concluded his comment on this subject with the remark, "But not being an ex-President of the United States, I am not going to tell you how to run your shows." The speaker promised on behalf of the British Government every possible assistance to the delegates, realizing, as he said, that such conference helped to counteract the influences of certain classes of politicians and journalists who respectively foam at the mouth and splutter ink in endeavor to embitter international relations.

NOTICE.—The postponed meeting of the St. John's Typographical Union will be held in the British Hall on Thursday, June 23rd. W. SKANES, Secretary.—ad.11

NEW COPPER PROPERTY.—At S. W. Arm, Green Bay, last fall a new discovery of copper ore was made by Mr. Jackman of Tilt Cove, and now 24 men are at work there prospecting. Samples taken out show the ore to be rich and it is thought there is a big deposit of it there.

All old people suffer from attacks of sudden exhaustion, weak heart action and prostration. Mrs. Martin's condition as described in her letter below gives some idea of the extraordinary reconstructive power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Such cures as this have placed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food where it stands today as the most popular and most effective nerve restorative that money will buy.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes:—"Before I began using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor in a faint. I could not even sweep the floor without fainting and my nervous system seemed to be entirely exhausted.

"The use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has built up my system wonderfully so that I can do my housework and washing without any trouble and I want others to know about it." ## The Darker Aspects of American Life.

As the character of the 20th Century will probably depend so much more closely than those which precede it on the temper and actions of the rulers and citizens of the American Republic, I need no apology for discussing these subjects in this new year. The mind is incapable of viewing dispassionately at one time all the conflicting influences at work. It is easy to paint the American community with its sharp contrasts of brightest light and intensest shadow, but give them all, harmonize these, and in London itself do good and evil, wisdom and folly flourish more luxuriantly on the same soil awaiting the great harvest. The soil is rich and the fruits are very rich and very rank.

It is not a very difficult matter to classify this people—native and foreign-born—Americans proper, Irish, Germans, Italians, etc.—into farmers, miners, factory workers and shopkeepers. Into New Englanders, Southerners, dwellers in the Middle West. Into white, negro, Indian and Chinese. The lines of division are sharp and real and still true to Columbia's proud boast—E Pluribus Unum—there is a subtle unity of thought pervading the whole community. This is no mere rhetoric. A lecturer last year spoke on the higher culture within a couple of weeks to audiences in Maine, Texas and Washington Territory, thousands of miles apart without needing to modify his presentation of the subject. An impartial Northern publicist has recently returned from the South after visiting the scenes of the most brutal lynchings. He said it was well impossible to picture those heathen, church-going citizens with their cultured wives and daughters participating in such travesties of justice. Their regard for law and order and their business ability and industry in normal times were in no way below the average of the North. In the East—Philadelphia, New York, Boston and the large industrial towns nothing has impressed me more than the decorum and orderly conduct of the newly arrived aliens—Italians, Poles, and Russians. We British cannot begin to conceive their feelings—we are born like the old-time American into a heritage of rights and liberties—we feel no thrill as we step on to the American soil. To the Armenian, life here is a new existence.

There is little wonder, then, if amid the most divergent interests and racial antagonism around this common national sentiment gather many common, social and ethical conceptions—many inarticulate groupings after better things.

What are the manifestations of this upward movement? How can it be reconciled with some of the most pathetic facts of American life—divorce, homicide, lawlessness of high and low vice and inordinate love of pleasure? In three years thirty-one thousand men and women have been killed in murders and homicides, an increase in twenty-two years over fourfold. This increase cannot be attributed to any particular section of the country, it is not an imported crime, emigrants acquire their disrespect for the law after their arrival, native born Americans have a share in these horrors. "Vice and drunkenness and gambling flourish under the protection of the police."

In Philadelphia every man in the force must be able to "deliver" so many votes to the machine or be dismissed, to do this he must "stand in" with publicans and keepers of gambling halls and brothels in many wards of the city.

One marriage in eight in one of the more thoroughly American States of the middle west ends in the divorce court. Shall we blame the men or the women? It reads almost like comedy—this registration of young marriageable men in Indiana—their virtues, vices and incomes for the benefit of school-mistresses, "lady" stenographers and farmers' daughters. On the other hand one soon learns to discern the class of women who shun the duties of home and family and fill the shops and theatres to drown their ennui and waste morning, noon and night at cards. This "leisured class" is larger here than anywhere else in the civilized world.

Some unbiased observers believe there is a growing tendency on the athletic field for young men to break laws provided they escape the umpire's eye. A criminal in Boston jail, condemned by a Federal Court for fraud, has been elected by 22,000 votes to the City Council. The way in which "graft" prevails in the political, financial and commercial world is too well known to all in England. Startling exposures of this could easily be produced from the most recent history of all the forty-five States, from Alaska, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Do not these facts and many more which would fill volumes prove decadence and moral obliquity? I hold no particular brief for the Republic, nor have I ever been wont to defend or palliate deliberate crime and viciousness. The problem involved is immense and many factors still defy analysis. The effect of the economic revolution of the last fifty years have been more marked here than in Europe. The severest test you can put the moral nature to is a complete break up of environments—witness the effect of Indian and Eastern life on many English men and women. The great bulk of the people of this country, both native-born and emigrants, lack the wholesome restraining influences of "home" surroundings—relatives, neighbours and church. The heaven of goodness in the newer communities had not had time to work. The difficulties, the good Samaritans—lay and cleric—have to face are enormous. Again large masses of the people have been lifted through the opportunities of an expanding country into social planes they have had neither the education, nor instinct to fill with complete safety. The disastrous effects are only too patent, and in the immediate future, with a full wave of prosperity, may be more marked still. And yet as one moves about among all classes, and ages, and creeds the conviction is very strong that these records of crime and folly do this people as a whole, an injustice, much as statistics of pauperism and drink cast an undesired slur on the majority of sober, hardworking people in England.

Municipal Reform.

WINDSOR LAKE AGAIN.

Dear Sir.—If any easy-going citizen of St. John's who is in the habit of growling at the miserable results achieved at the price of high taxation wishes to rouse his sluggish blood into an active circulation, let him send a portion—even a very small portion—of his time in investigating the methods of our Municipal Councillors. He will first of all be dumb with amazement, then he will find his tongue and talk, then perhaps he will persuade some friend to investigate on his own account. He in his turn will be amazed and get talking and convert another inert citizen to activity, and so in the course of a little time a healthy public spirit will be aroused which must do notable things for the town. When I lightly undertook to investigate one small phase of our municipal government I had no notion that a flood of information on all sorts of subjects would rush in upon me. I am now only waking up to an appreciation of the wretched state of our municipal government. Take the question of Windsor Lake. The story I told a week or so ago of the folly of our Councillors in spending, or proposing to spend, large sums of money to face a danger to the public health which was possibly only imaginary and was certainly not imminent, while small sums were be-grudged to cure evils which daily and hourly threaten the health and lives of ourselves and our families, was startling enough. But I did not then know the whole truth, and probably I have not learned the whole truth yet. What information I possess, however, I hasten to communicate to the public. It will be remembered that a sum of $20,000 was allocated to purchase the lands of the farmers living on the shores of Windsor Lake, so as to preserve the water supply of the city from all possibility of pollution. This was, of course, a monstrous sum to spend on such a purpose while we left the putrifying sewers and surface drains of the town uncleansed. But it now appears that even this huge sum is utterly inadequate to meet the end proposed. Arbitrations have been in progress to acquire some of this land, and I hear on very good authority that one farm alone has been assessed at the sum of $10,000. This leaves only $10,000 to purchase all the remaining land round the lake, and, at this scale of remuneration, anyone may judge how far $10,000 will go. Now it is quite apparent even to the Municipal Council, I should assume, that unless the whole of this land is taken possession of the dreaded danger of pollution cannot be overcome. What, then, is the Council going to do? Will it go on arbitrating on all the land, until a bill of tremendous proportions is run up, or will it quietly allow the whole matter to drop? It seems to me that this is a question which the voters of the town must decide for themselves, and decide very promptly. Are we content that we shall be saddled with a load of debt for the mere purpose of preserving the city from a danger which does not threaten us now, and very likely will not threaten us for many years to come? Do we prefer that this expenditure shall be made upon the purchase of land at Windsor Lake or upon the cleaning and improving of our drains? If we must risk something, is it not better to risk the pollution of the Pond rather than incur the certain dangers which arise from plague-infected drains? The acquisition of land at the Pond can surely wait. Nobody will be rash enough to say that the cleansing of our putrid drains can wait. We have not money for everything, then let us be careful to spend our revenue only upon those purposes which are immediate and pressing. This is what we should have been doing all along. It is to the everlasting discredit of this Council that it should have willingly suffered the abominations of our drainage system and proposed to fritter money and resources upon such a visionary project as this Windsor Lake business. And even in their folly these Councillors have shown that there are lower depths than are apparent at a glance. If they were determined that this project should go through, why did they not get reliable estimates of the cost and make provision to meet it? Why did they begin the work only to find themselves stopped at the outset. For I assume that this work of arbitration is stopped. If it is not, let the public at once demand from the candidates who are now seeking their suffrages a pledge that no money shall be spent upon the acquisition of land at Windsor Lake until proper drains have been laid in the city and adequate means adopted to keep them pure and wholesome. In time to come, perhaps, we may be in a position to enclose these lands, but in the meantime let us face the present danger and first CLEAN THE TOWN.

Yours truly,

Protect the Children.

Raw milk is unquestionably the greatest spreader of the "Great White Plague". The Royal Commission on Tuberculosis in London, England, last year definitely decided that consumption could be transmitted through cows milk. Authorities state that of all cows which supply milk to the Canadian people, over 20 per cent. have tuberculosis; now when this state exists in a country where they have rigid Government inspection and where infected animals are promptly destroyed, what must be the state of things here in Newfoundland where we have NO inspection.

The only safe way, especially with children, is to use a thoroughly sterilized canned milk such as "JERSEY (CREAM)" Brand, this article is put up under modern scientific conditions, and has been pronounced by the Canadian Government food experts as being "Highest in Food Value and Most Uniform."

All mothers should read carefully the article printed elsewhere in this paper on the question of Pure Milk, it is entitled "Your Milkman's Finger Tips are Dangerously Full of Bacteria." We feel that the time has arrived when we, in St. John's, should have a rigid Government inspection of all animals supplying milk to the city as well as of the cans, etc., in which the milk is delivered.

SYNOD PROCEEDINGS.

Thursday Afternoon, June 21.

The first on the order paper was the resolution of Mr. W. R. Stirling, in reference to the C. E. T. S. He said he was not a member of the C. E. T. S., but was a member of the I. O. G. T., and he introduced the resolution, not at the desire of any officer or member of the C. E. T. S., but of his own volition. The I. O. G. T. had worked shoulder to shoulder with the C. E. T. S., and he thought it a pity that the Synod should rise without putting on record an appreciation of the work of the C. E. T. S., a work he considered unparalleled by that of any Society in this island. But for its work the Temperance legislation of 1910 would never have appeared on the Statute Book.

Hon. John Harvey seconded the resolution. It would be a disaster if the effects of the C. E. T. S. were not appreciated by the Synod. He spoke of the Act of 1910, and referred especially to that section relating to the hours of sale and the law with regard to the C. O. D. system.

Rev. A. G. Bayly asked a question in reference to the wording of the resolution which he was supporting.

Rev. F. Smart wished to say that anyone who ascribed to the Synod a lack of sympathy with the work of the Temperance Society, was wrong. The Synod did not show any lack of sympathy.

Rev. Canon White stated that, as President of the Cathedral Branch, he would like to say a few words with regard to the work. He wished to point out that the good work done by that Society was a re-creation of the Temperance sentiment which had existed 25 years ago, when the Society had 31 branches and 2,178 members. It had now four branches and 700 members. But since local option is now in force nearly all over the island, it may be that it has been felt that the necessity for special organizations to combat intemperance no longer existed. Still, he thought we had a lot of leeway to make up. At the same time he did not wish to detract in any way from the work accomplished by the C. E. T. S. He had watched the growth of that Society in St. John's with the greatest interest. The best work done in the past two years was that done by individual members—men who had experienced temptation, and were working like Trojans to recruit others—men of the rank and file—mechanics, labourers, etc., who were nobly working in the cause of temperance. Apart from the work it had accomplished in the way of legislation, the Society deserves our hearty support for good work done in reclaiming the fallen. He referred especially to Rev. Mr. Bell's good work.

Canon Dunfield wished to point out that he had seen, two, local option campaigns in St. John's, but that of 1909 had awakened far greater interest than that of 1885. He wished that the report of the Temperance Committee, which, owing to a technicality, had not been received, could have been placed on the records of the Synod.

Hon. R. Watson supported the resolution. He showed what work had been done by the Society, especially with regard to the fees of the Clerk of the Peace derived from Liquor Licenses which were now computed, and also with regard to the legislation of 1910, every clause of which had emanated from the Society, with the exception of that relating to the Cash on Delivery System, which came from the Methodist Temperance Committee. It speaks well for temperance sentiment in this community that the Bill had passed the House of Assembly without division.

Mr. H. Y. Mott, though not a Local Optionist, had always been a Temperance worker, and considered that the Church was under an eternal obligation to the C. E. T. S. in St. John's. He spoke of the work done years ago in H. Grace, and considered that the present growth of temperance sentiment was largely due to seed sown in the past.

Rev. J. Brinton explained that all he was sorry for was that the good work done by the C. E. T. S. in St. John's had not been done by the Church as a whole. He had much pleasure in supporting the motion.

Rev. F. Smart moved a resolution amending that of Mr. Stirling's, but on the latter's agreeing to add words to his resolution to apply it only to the C. E. T. S. in St. John's, he withdrew his amendment.

Rev. F. W. Colley was sorry that there was an impression abroad that the Synod had acted with harshness with regard to the reception of the Temperance Report, which had not been received owing to a technicality. He felt that the Synod did not desire to throw cold water on the good work done by the Temperance Society.

Mr. W. W. Blackall was of the opinion that the reason there are fewer branches of the C. E. T. S. in Newfoundland is that Local Option has spread its wings over the country. He felt that if Local Option were also adopted in St. John's there would be no further effort to keep up the C. E. T. S., or to preach sermons on temperance, so that when our people go away to other countries they would not be well instructed, and yield to temptation. He heartily supported Mr. Stirling's resolution. He was sorry that the report of the Temperance Committee had not been accepted, as it was a good one.

Rev. Canon Noel spoke of Local Option in Harbor Grace. During the Christmas season of 1908 he had not seen or heard of a single drunken man in H. Grace, but that last Christmas was some 40 men got intoxicated on the C. O. D. system, and he was glad that the Legislature had now put a stop to this.

Mr. Warwick Smith explained that, though the formal and official title of the Society in St. John's is "The Cathedral Branch of the C. E. T. S.," it was to all intents and purposes the St. John's Branch. The three adult branches of St. Thomas, St. Mary's, and the Cathedral Parishes had amalgamated some years ago, in order to strengthen the bonds of Temperance workers, and had retained the name Cathedral Branch. Many of its officers and members belonged to the other parishes, and the clergy of those parishes were ex-officio members of its General Committee.

Mr. E. Doyle and Mr. E. H. Davey spoke on points of order.

The resolution was then put and carried unanimously. It reads as follows:—"That this Synod desires to record its high appreciation of the valuable services rendered to the cause of Temperance by the Cathedral Branch of the Church of England Temperance Society during the past biennial period, and expresses the hope that it will continue to carry on its good work."

Rev. G. H. Bolt introduced a discussion on the Bishop's reference to the newspaper press, and moved the following resolutions:—"WHEREAS His Lordship the Bishop in his address at the opening of this session of the Synod, has drawn attention to the importance of providing wholesome literature for our people;

AND WHEREAS the local news papers provide a large part of the reading matter of our people; AND WHEREAS the tone of our public newspapers, especially at such a time as a general election, leaves much to be desired;

AND WHEREAS it is a remedy for improving the tone of the public press lies in the creation of a healthy public opinion;

RESOLVED that this Synod urge all Church people in the Diocese to endeavour by all legitimate means within their power to create a demand for such a high standard of literature as shall result in our local journals providing reading matter of such a nature as shall be elevating and instructive."

Canon Dunfield seconded the resolution. He stated that there was a great demand for good literature. This subject had been dealt with by the Lambeth Conference and Pan Anglican Congress. He felt sure Editors of the local press would be delighted if they were sure of our moral support.

Mr. H. Y. Mott agreed with the resolution. He thought the Editors were not altogether responsible for the tone of the papers. They were anxious to improve the tone of journalism, and would be thankful for the support of the Synod; but we must not look for results right away.

Rev. A. G. Bayly also supported the resolution. Immediately after prayers the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Bill to amend the constitution and rules.

Hon. R. Watson asked leave to add a section to the Bill under discussion. It was not until last evening that he realized that the Secretary-Treasurer of the Synod is not ex-officio, a member of the Executive Committee. This he thought ought not to be so. It would be awkward if a chance vote had the effect of putting him off the Executive. He moved that section 3 be amended by adding these words: "That the Secretary-Treasurer shall be a member of the Executive Committee ex-officio."

The Rev. F. Smart seconded the motion. He was glad to have the opportunity of doing so, because from years' experience on that Committee had convinced him that the present holder of the office is one who is admirably fitted for the position, and who has given an immense amount of time and work to the service of the Executive and the Church.

Mr. H. W. LeMessurier supported the motion. He believed that the Executive would be in a very awkward position without the Secretary-Treasurer. Rev. A. G. Bayly supported the motion. Agreed.

The House adjourned at 7.45. His Lordship, having heard of the sudden death of Mr. W. B. Payne, Lay-Delegate for Burn Mission, announced that, as a consequence, the Synod was adjourned until 7.30 on to-morrow evening. The Synod adjourned at 7.50 p.m.

Mr. Payne was on his way to attend the Synod at half past seven, and

Sudden Death of Mr. W. B. Payne,

CASHIER SAVINGS BANK.

The city was shocked last evening when the news spread around that Mr. W. B. Payne, Governor of the Savings Bank, had died suddenly on the street. He had left his house at 7.40 last evening at Monkstown Road and was passing along Queen's Road, near St. Patrick's Hall, with Rev. Canon Noel and Rev. Mr. Tulk, going to the Synod meeting, when he was suddenly stricken with a spasm of the heart and fell to the ground. He was taken to the residence of Mr. W. Clouston close by and Drs. Macpherson and Stafford were shortly on the scene. They could do no good as the vital spark had fled. His friends on hearing the sad news hastened to the place and were overwhelmed with grief to find that one whom they loved so dearly had been suddenly called away. The Masonic Club rooms, of which he was a prominent member, were closed for the night and the Synod meeting was abandoned. Deceased, who was a man of a genial temperament and lovable disposition, was born in Jersey 61 years ago and when quite a young man came out to Burn to join his uncle, Mr. Falles, in business, who conducted the Jersey branch there. A few years after he came to St. John's and took a situation in the office of Mare & Son, and when the Bett's Cove Mine was opened went there and secured a position as boss of the miners. In the eighties he returned to Burn and started business for himself, but owing to bad fisheries and more perhaps that he possessed a warm and generous heart for the poor, he failed in a few years. He entered politics as a candidate with Dr. Tait for Burn in the Whiteaway 89 election and represented the district for two terms. When the Union Bank broke he was appointed Registrar of the notes of the institution by the Government, and three years afterwards was made Deputy Minister Marine and Fisheries. In January of 1898, before the late Government went out of office, Mr. Payne was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mr. L. O'B. Furlong, Cashier and Governor of the Savings Bank, a position which he was occupying at the time of his death. Deceased was a great favorite in Masonic circles owing to his social qualities. He was affiliated with Avon Lodge and was one of the most popular members of the Masonic Club. At the last annual meeting he was elected President, the whole body delighting to do him honor and attest to his worth as a warm-hearted friend and associate. The melancholy duty of breaking the news to his family last evening devolved upon Rev. Canon Noel and Rev. Mr. Tulk. Their grief was heartrending. The Telegram extends to them its deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

Present to Mr. Bishop.

The employees of Messrs. Bishop, Sons & Co., Ltd., met last evening at the office and presented Mr. Ralph Bishop with a handsome clock on the occasion of his wedding, which takes place at Heart's Content to-morrow.

Mr. Alex. Robertson in his usual graceful manner conveyed to Mr. Bishop the good wishes of the employees of the firm and expressed the hope that he and his bride would have a long and happy wedded life. Mr. Bishop, who is one of the directors of the firm and is very popular amongst the hands, made a suitable reply and thanked them for the very beautiful gift. He will be married to Miss Stentford of Heart's Content at the Cable Town to-morrow evening.

OVERTAKEN BY NAUSEA.

You don't know whether its going to stay down, or come up. You feel like thirty cents and look even worse. If one thing is quicker than another, it's "Nerviline." Ten drops in sweetened water gives relief to the stomach at once. Almost like magic is the change you experience. The cause of the nausea is removed, every symptom of vomiting and indigestion is cured in ten minutes. When Nerviline is so trustworthy, so economical, so sure to cure all the minor ills of the family, don't you think it would be wise to keep a large 50c. bottle on hand, ready for an emergency? Nerviline is a family panacea for all pain, internal or external—good in the inside and unequalled for inward ailments; try it.

John Hewitt went to break the sad news to the bereaved family.

Had Eczema In Both Legs

Remarkable cure of Chronic Eczema by use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

You could scarcely imagine a more severe test of this ointment than the cure of Mrs. Clark recorded here. For twenty years she suffered all the tortures of this terrible disease and tried in vain the prescriptions of doctors and the cures commonly recommended. Mr. Fred W. Clark, Petworth, Ont., writes:—"My mother had Eczema in both legs for about 20 years and suffered from the dreadful itching, stinging sensations which can never be described. She doctored and tried everything for it but got no relief until she used Dr. Chase's Ointment which was recommended to her by a friend. She found that this brought relief and by continuing its use has been cured of Eczema. I do not think any one could have this horrible disease any worse than she did and can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a thorough cure for Eczema."

An Enemy to the King.

The Chicago Stock Company reproduced this fine play at the T. A. Theatre last night. A fairly large audience attended, and judging from the frequent applause it was quite evident that all were pleased with the performance. To-night "Nell Gwyn of Old Drury" will be staged. Miss Ada Rehan made a great success of this piece in New York a few years ago and brought it to the front as the most popular play of the season. It is the story of the "Lure of the Mask" and is rich in comedy. The career of Nell Gwyn is full of stirring life incidents of pathos and comedy, well balanced and cannot fail to enlist the sympathy of the audience. From being a poor street girl selling oranges, Nell, with her winning ways, ingratiated herself into the affections of Charles the Second and soon became the principal actress in the King's Theatre.

The Aim of Modern Medicine.

To prevent disease, to keep people well, to teach them the laws of health and how to obey them—this is the aim and task of modern medicine. Reducing this to its personal application, it means, that you should discharge small ailments before they grow big.

In the liver, kidney, stomach and bowels, we find the instrumentalities that principally maintain life. They are prone to minor interference, that can be easily corrected by taking a weekly dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. When they grow sluggish or to aid them in keeping active, do not wait until you have to keep brain and eye clear by the occasional use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Keep dark lines from under the eyes, the skin clear and smooth and flexible—all this you may do and more by the use of the most useful blood purifying and liver and kidney energizing pills, Dr. Hamilton's. That's the name of the best family medicine ever made. For stomach disorders, indigestion, biliousness and constipation, you are sure of cure by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

YOUR MILKMAN'S FINGER TIPS ARE DANGEROUSLY FULL OF BACTERIA.

ON your milkman's hands,—unless he uses the care of a surgeon about to perform an operation,—there are millions of germs. When you remember that thousands of these infinitesimals can cluster with ease on the point of a needle, you can imagine what a milkman's hands look like under a microscope. Suppose when your milkman picks up an empty bottle to fill it at the dairy, he happens to grasp it in such a way that his finger touches the inside! Suppose when he is putting in the paper cap his hand rubs the under side! The only consolation one has is that the great majority of germs about us are not the germs of malignant disease. But some day—! Why—think of it,—in 1908 the Medical Health Officer of the city of Montreal seized and condemned 32 lids of milk cans and 68 cans themselves as being in a foul and unsanitary condition. How many of these germ-laden containers do you suppose are doing duty in St. John's undiscovered—distributing bacteria and spreading disease?

Jersey Cream, Reindeer Milk.

JERSEY CREAM is free from disease germs. The user of it runs none of the risk of the raw milk user; tubercular or typhoid infected milk has no terrors for him.

Jersey Cream is simply a rich, pure, whole milk with two-thirds of the water evaporated. No sugar—no preservatives—are added; the sterilization makes it keep. And nothing is taken from it but hot water; not one single unit of food value is lost.

Indeed, the Dominion Government food experts place the nutritive value of Jersey Cream above all other evaporated milks. They analyze it as having butter-fat at 8.05 p.c.

In Jersey Cream you get the whole milk just as it came from the cow, then sterilized and hermetically sealed so that it reaches you as pure and wholesome as it was the day it was milked from the animal. If you add the right proportion of water to Jersey Cream you obtain a rich milk on which the cream will rise naturally. It is because Jersey Cream is thus a "whole milk" that you get a richness from its use in milk dishes that you never get with any raw milk. And being unsweetened, you can use it for cooking. But it is to the cleanliness of Jersey Cream and Reindeer Milk that we want to draw your attention. Jersey Cream and Reindeer Milk are clean because we make a business of cleanliness; from the moment the milk leaves the cow until you open the can in your home, we guard it against contamination.

When a farmer begins to sell milk to us, he has to conform to our "Dairy Rules," and to obey our inspectors. We insist upon sanitary cow stables, correct rations for the cows; we enforce hygienic milking methods, prompt and thorough aerating and cooling of the milk, and we make the farmer drive his milk to us well covered to prevent contamination from dust and heating—and in a spring wagon. And then, even after all this, every drop of milk a farmer supplies us has to pass our expert testers for quality and flavor. Every can in every batch is rigidly inspected—and what's more, the rule against milk with even the slightest taint is rigidly enforced. That's how we maintain our usually high standard.

Finally, when milk reaches our plant—where more than half the time of each employee is spent in keeping every piece of apparatus and utensils scrupulously clean the first thing that is done is to put the entire contents of each can through a sterilizing process. You are beginning to realize, aren't you, what Jersey Cream and Reindeer Milk can mean in your home?

Remember to be sure to ask for JERSEY CREAM and REINDEER MILK by name—JERSEY CREAM and REINDEER MILK.

REINDEER MILK owes its richness, purity and fine flavor to the high quality of the milk used, and to the careful attention given to details at every stage of the process of preparation. Absolutely nothing but the best granulated sugar is added to the full rich milk of the best dairy district of Canada.

The Herald Holocaust.

A Terrible Catastrophe—The Herald Building Collapses Through the Water Tank Going Through the Building—Flames Burst Out in all Directions—Heart Rending Scenes Follow—Forty Persons Meet Death by Fire, Suffocation, and Being Pinned Down by Debris—The Worst Disaster That has Ever Occurred in this City—The Firemen Worthy of Praise—Awful Scenes at the Morgue—Day and Night Hundreds of People Wait Near the Ruins in Order to see Their Dead—The Work of Years Gone up in Smoke—The Herald's Managers Not Discouraged—The Paper Still Issued.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

One of the worst scenes ever witnessed in this city occurred on Monday morning, June 13th, when without a minute's warning the large one hundred and fifty ton tank, containing thirty thousand gallons of water, crashed through the Herald Building, carrying death and havoc in its wake. It came with a swiftness that simply bewildered the 335 persons working in the different departments of the largest printing establishment in Canada, and was terrible in its destruction of human lives. To add to the horror of the situation fire broke out from the furnaces of the stereotype department, and in a moment the building was a mass of flames.

Within three minutes after the alarm the fire-fighters were carrying girls and men down the ladders. Every minute seemed an hour as the girls and women stood at the back and front windows waiting to be rescued.

Indescribable scenes followed. The walls and floors falling carrying human lives with them, the roar of the flames around them, twenty-five streams pouring tons of water into the burning building, the firemen regardless of their own lives rescuing some of those buried beneath the debris, made a scene the like of which has never been witnessed in this city before.

Some were killed outright. Others were probably drowned in the floods of water let loose by the broken tank, which filled the basement with four feet of water. Yet others suffered the most terrible death of all, and, after being pinned in anguish by broken timbers and beams, died by the flames.

Who these were, and how they died, was for the most part of the day a mystery which was hidden under an immense pile of rubbish, burned and broken and twisted into a chaos of entangled material, part of which is deep in water and the rest lying in smoking heaps.

The only present method of disclosing an approximate list of those who lost their lives was by finding out who were the living, and every effort was made to do this. In some cases, as with members of the Typographical Union, this is a fairly simple matter. But the sad feature of the disaster is that it has hurried to death a number of quite young girls, who were employed in the bindery, on the top floor. And in the complete wreck of this part of the building it is stated that the books with the records of the various girls employed have been either burned or lost in the wreckage, so that the task of finding who have died will depend upon the clerical work with which the list of the living can be secured.

In all the 25 years of fire fighting within the experience of Lieutenant Cavanagh, of No. 4 fire station, he probably never shed tears until today, when he missed seeing a man's life. The lieutenant says he was working in the rear of the building, where the fire was hottest, when he saw a man struggling under a pile of debris. The firemen, seeing his danger, threw a life line. The man was about to grasp it when part of a wall fell, burying him from sight. All the firemen and spectators who witnessed the awful spectacle turned away their heads. When they looked again there was no sign of life where the struggling man had been seen.

Great Work of the Firemen.
The roofs were dotted with the red helmeted men, guiding the streams on the flames, for five minutes, or less after the fire broke out the rear of the building was a furnace.

The hope of saving the unfortunates who lay under the weight of debris was given up for a time. To enter the building was futile.

All effort was concentrated on quenching the flames that were spreading to all parts of the building. Firemen stationed in every window almost at the front drove back the tumultuous flames from that part of the structure. But at the rear, where the injured lay, there was white hot heat and dripping dirty water. I was the centre of things, and except indirectly, and at the greatest risk I could not be reached.

Chief Tremblay stated that 25 firemen were employed fighting the flames, and on the rescue work. They represented 15 stations. Over 100 policemen held back the crowds, and about 30 doctors and as many ambulance assistants tended to the wounded, and were ready for emergencies.

A Marvellous Escape.

One of the marvellous escapes was that of an employee named Wilfred Vidal. He was engaged on the third floor when the crash came, and was precipitated with the immense tank to the basement. Instead of being instantly killed in the wreck, some of the broken beams formed a sort of arch over him, and he lay there, with a broken leg and a badly cut head; for some time, held by the wreckage, above the water which was several feet deep, and under the mass of ruins above. He was discovered by his dreadful predicament by Fireman E. C. Lamonte, who waded into his assistance. It was found that the man was so hemmed in with iron bars that it was necessary to saw them apart in order to get him out. Through several feet of water, and at imminent risk of being killed by falling walls several firemen waded in, in order to work to saw the iron away in order to rescue him.

In the meantime Father Marlin, chaplain of the fire department, was notified, and at once decided to go to render religious consolation to the prisoner. He donned the regulation long rubber boots and rubber coat and waded through to where he could reach the injured man, who seemed to be in imminent danger of death, and save him absolution and the consolation of religion. Towards 1 o'clock the firemen managed to cut through his imprisonment, and he was pulled through, and carried through the cheering crowd to the ambulance. Although he had been pinned down for nearly three hours with a broken leg and a frightful cut on his forehead, he showed remarkable pluck, and insisted upon sitting up in the ambulance as it drove off. It is expected that he will recover.

Some Awful Scenes.

"It was the most terrible thing I ever saw in my life," said Miss Miller, at Miller's dining room, immediately in the rear of the Herald building, only a few feet away across the lane. "We heard the terrific crash when the building fell, and then there came the cries and groans of men and a terrible shrieking of women and girls. We could hear them shrieking for someone to come and help them, and the cries gradually dropping off to moans. Then the fire came on, and after a few minutes there was not a sound from them. It nearly drove the people here mad to hear and see it, and know that nothing could be done, as they were crushed and burnt to death. We saw one little girl in short skirts standing near the end of the building after the first crash, and could hear her crying. 'Oh, for mother's sake do come and save me.' A moment later the floor crashed down, and she went with it."

Another man the employees in Miller's restaurant saw save two girls and heard him shout, "There's another in there, and I'm going after her." He went, and then the rest of the building went down, taking him with it as well as the girl he went to save.

One girl at the rear of the building had a narrow escape. When the floor fell she was carried down with it and pinned down. She, however, kept her self-command until the firemen arrived. They succeeded in pulling her out, when it was found that she was only caught by her clothes, and she was pulled out with nothing but a few cuts, although all her lower garments were left behind her in the rescue.

As to the cause of the disaster, it was due to the sudden collapse of the big water tank perched above the building for the express purpose of furnishing protection from fire. Its weight evidently proved too much for the building, and it broke its supports, carrying everything in the rear with it on its mad rush to the ground. The appearance of the building after the disaster was remarkable. The rear portion seemed to have been razed off, floors being smashed through, and even dividing walls cut down as though by a knife, and the whole rear portion of the building dropped in a heap of ruins, in which human bodies, bricks, beams, steel work and machinery of all kinds were mingled in a chaotic mess.

A few weeks ago the building authorities reported the tank and its supports perfectly safe.

The Injured and Dead.

At the present time twenty-five are injured, and about forty of the missing. Ten bodies have been recovered and sent to the morgue. Some of those found are:—

1. Miss Laura Amesse, forewoman of the bindery,—Dorion street; buried on Wednesday.
2. Frank Consett, printer, 721 DeLorimier avenue.
3. Pierre Quintal, 48 years, printer, 1831 St. Dennis street.
4. Unidentified body of girl, arms, legs and head missing.
5. Man burnt to crisp, unidentified, mottled metal from stereotype pot solidified in his body.

Your correspondent visited the editorial department on the morning of the disaster and left some copy of work assigned by the Sporting Editor and the Managing Director of the paper. At my request the artist of the Herald, Mr. J. B. Fitzmaurice, had made a fine drawing of a heading for my letters to your paper, and on the fatal morning a cut of it was being prepared. When things will be straightened out the cut will be sent to the People's Paper.

The work of clearing the debris goes on. Hundreds through Victoria Square and watch the work. Below fifty firemen, under the immediate supervision of Chief Tremblay and District Chief Mann work they are tearing the ruins bit by bit. It is slow, tedious work and the finding is ghastly reward. Five storeys above the light of day streams in an interrupted. In front stray timber project in threatening way, occasionally a brick is dislodged and falls low, but the work goes on heedless.

The Typographical Union of Montreal receives a sad blow in the loss of its president and twelve other members. They are among the missing and no hope is entertained of seeing them again alive. The members of Union 176 have called an emergency meeting for six o'clock on Tuesday evening at the Witness Office, at which they will consider what action they will take in connection with the fate of their comrades.

Sad scenes are enacted at the morgue. As the wagon drives up with the bodies taken from the ruins hundreds visit the place to see if they could recognize the features almost burned to a crisp. At the ruins people walk up and down through the night waiting for missing ones. It will be fully ten days before all the bodies are recovered.

A very sad case, indeed, is that of little Malsie Miller, who is about to celebrate her 13th birthday, and she is anxiously waiting for her father to come home. But she waits in vain, for her father lies cold in death, and his remains are still buried in the ruins.

Mr. Duncan Miller, one of those killed in the disaster, was a compositor, working on tariffs at the Herald. He had been employed at the Herald for some years, and only recently had been re-elected president of the Typographical Union, 176. He resided on Simard avenue, and leaves a widow and three children. He was an active and respected member of Fairmount Presbyterian Church.

The loss is a heavy one to the Directors of the Herald. After years of hard work the machinery, plant and furniture of five different departments are all destroyed. Notwithstanding the insurance of nearly $200,000 the Herald Company will lose $100,000 if not more.

The President of the Company Speaks

"The one overpowering sentiment," said Mr. Brerley, "is profound grief at the disaster which has overcome us with the loss of the lives of so many of our faithful employees. We cannot find words to express our sympathy with the bereaved ones. The question of financial loss and kindred matters of that sort has sunk into insignificance in the face of such a catastrophe, which has assumed greater proportions to-night than during the day we had feared.

"So far as the management is concerned, the one mitigating circumstance to us is that during the past five years we had done everything humanly possible to safeguard the people in our building by expert architects, who reported that it would be perfectly safe, and it was erected under expert advice, and it was built on top of the building, with supports from a very strong central wall to the eastern wall, adjoining the bank building. It had been regularly inspected, and only two weeks ago was repainted and looked over.

"All other precautions against fire had been taken. We were connected by automatic alarm with the Burglary and Guarantee Company, and the building was fitted with water curtains, fire extinguishers, etc., while this tank was, of course, part of the fire extinguishing system. We had fire escapes in the rear, and considered that these, together with access to the Imperial Bank building by the roof and the two stairways was sufficient. Of course, in this instance the tank wall was knocked out by the back, cutting off the fire escapes."

Mr. Brerley stated that already the Herald Company had asked three expert engineers, including Messrs. Ross and Holgate, to make a careful examination of the wreck to try and determine the cause of the disaster, as to which they were completely in the dark.

Previous Fires of the Herald.

The first fire in which the Herald figured in the remembrance of those actively engaged in newspaper work to-day took place in a building now occupied by the National Trust Company, 151 St. James street, when Mr. James Stewart was manager, and Mr. C. R. Cornell was superintendent.

The second fire occurred on the corner of Victoria Square and St. James Street, when the paper was under the ownership of Hon. Peter Mitchell and Mr. W. H. Whyte was business manager. There was only a pile of debris to mark the spot the morning after the fire, which occurred the evening of August 26, 1887.

The next business premises of the Herald was in the old Zion Congregational Church, corner of Lafour and Beaver Hall Hill. This building had been the scene of excitement during the Cavaziti riots and afterwards a theatre under the management of Billy Lytle.

In November, 1892, the Herald again suffered by fire to the extent of many thousands, but the worst came in 1896 when the home of the paper was again razed to the ground by fire. A move was made to the building on Craig street for many years occupied by Kenneth Campbell, opposite St. Francis Xavier street. Here again they suffered in 1899 and about five years ago moved to the building which was destroyed yesterday.

The Herald was published the afternoon of the fire, and will continue to be published from the Gazette building. The Star, Witness and other papers offered assistance to Mr. Brerley, and he has received many letters of regret from all over Canada for the unfortunate accident.
