DR. REEVE'S ADDRESS AT CONVENTION OPENING

British Medical Association is Now in Full Swing—Official Welcome and Other Pleasantries—Dean Reeve's Masterful Inaugural.

In the face of a common foe all mankind is united.

That is the sentiment which President Reeve enunciated in his inaugural address at the meeting of the British Medical Association yesterday in the University Convocation Hall. Long before that, at 9 in the morning, the various sections were getting ready for business, and before 10 all but two were hearing or discussing papers.

But the great gathering was at 2 o'clock, when the new convocation hall, temporarily fitted and finely draped, was filled with hundreds of professional men from all parts of the world, and not a few ladies, their fellow-voyagers.
It is rarely one sees such beauty and refinement of feature in a gathering of ladies, and if education, and has such an elevating influence on the fair sex, humanity need no longer fear blue-stockings.

It was the man who, on this occasion, came out strong in costume. Everbody knew it was a warm day. The mayor, as was to be expected, punned on the heat in extending a warm welcome. But the robes and raiment worn by the doctors raised the temperature by several degrees. The colors were intense and lurid, and Solomon and Sheba together never achieved such an effect. Of course, it was beautiful, even magnificent, and harmonized well with the gaudy barbarity of the huge unimpressive building, wrapped with every hue of bunting, which waved in the cool air that drifted thru the open doors.

Toronto will begin to appreciate the fine convocation hall by-and-by, with its splendid accommodations, its excellent spectacular facilities. Nothing could be better than to have had his first public function in a building of this kind, and in a city where, as everyone civilized world is concerned.
As the names of delegates from foreign countries were called from all the societies, from colonial branches, and from special departments, they rose and were greeted by the new president.

Notables.
Sir Victor Horsley was easily first favorite in a list of appraisals. Sir Hector Clare Cameron, Glasgow, also had a hearty reception. Sir James Barlow and Dr. W. J. Mill, president of the American Medical Association, Dr. Jane Hathway, president of the British Medical Association, were delegated from Guelph, and were warmly welcomed. Prof. Ashcroft, Freiburg; Dr.
Lapicque, Dr. Maurice, Niou, Dr.
Nicole, Dr. Rama Rao (Madras), and Dr. Deshabai Rastogi, Baroda, F. R. S., Bombay, were also present. Other gentlemen who were called were Dr. Henry Barnes (Cardiff), Dr.
Roddick (Montreal), Dr. G. H.
(Swansea), Groves (Cardiff), James Hamilton (Glasgow), Helme (Manchester), J. A. Macdonald (Quebec), Morier (London), Stratton (Salisbury), Lynn Thomas (Cardiff), Tyson (Polestone), Norman Walker (Edinburgh), Williams (Llanelli), William Ewart (London), Boyd Joll (London), Gordon Down (London), Thomas Dalnelly (Dublin), C. J. Delahoy, F. J.
Smith (London), Asley V. Clark (Leicester), Logan (Edinburgh), Glaister (Glasgow), Sinclair White (Sheffield), Prof. Halliburton, King's College, Dr. Dow, St. Andrews (twice), Clifford Albutt, Denial, Allister, Rose Bradford (another brilliantly clad university man), Dr. George Whites (Bristol), Samuel Brown (Warwick), representing the M. H. O's; A. Macdonald, representing the psychologists; Dr. Ross, Richmond, Va., who was specially congratulated, representing the railway surgeons; Dr. McCarrill, Association of Military Surgeons; Lt.- Col. Rainford and Eldon Harvey, Bermuda; John Storer, Campbell, Halifax; Dr. Davis, New Zealand; Drummond Moray, South Australia.

The retiring president opened the proceedings punctually, and made a business-like little speech narrating the progress of the association. Rebuilding of the offices on the Strand has been decided upon, and he expected to see a handsome structure on the corner of Agar-street before long. The matter of a royal charter would no doubt be believed in this year. He thanked Drs. Guy Elliston, Smith Whittaker and Dawson Williams for their assistance, and with a compliment to Toronto called on Dr. Allan Reeve to succeed him. Certainly, he said, the honor of the chair he vacated would be preserved and its dignity increased by Dean Reeve.

In Welcome.
Dr. Starr then spoke.
"When the British Medical Association had reached the age of sixty-six years he said it seemed good that some national blood should be introduced into its internal economy, and our esteemed friend, Dr. Roddick, was elected to the high office of president.
The effect was so startling that amid but nine years after, the Land of the Maple is selected as the place of meeting and the president of the association there has been elected one whom all Canadians respect and admire and one whom to know is to love—our own Dr. Reeve. I have the honor, sir, to present to you the badge of office—the emblem bearing the arms of the City of Toronto and of the University. Inside the locket I have taken the liberty of placing the first photograph, taken from things as they are, of your very own child—Convocation Hall.

Mayor Coatsworth neatly presented the city's respects to the visitors and Mr. L. H. Cameron, F. R. C. S., invoked the blessing of God on the meeting.
The Mayor then spoke.

"It is good for us my brothers, you are here to-day," he quoted, "Dr. McPhedran for the Canadian Medical, and Dr. Bingham, for the Ontario Medical Associations, spoke in welcome." Surgeon-General, Grassie, in handsome silver-decked uniform, moved that Sir Victor Horsley be a vice-president for his services. Dr. J. A. Macdonald, of Toronto, having seconded the motion, it was carried with applause. The minutes of the last meeting were read.
Resolutions of thanks to Dr. Franklin Roddick, Montreal, Dr. G. H. (Swansea), Groves (Cardiff), James Hamilton (Glasgow), Helme (Manchester), J. A. Macdonald (Quebec), Morier (London), Stratton (Salisbury), Lynn Thomas (Cardiff), Tyson (Polestone), Norman Walker (Edinburgh), Williams (Llanelli), William

Populace Flee to Cities Insurgents Press Close

General Gomez, Candidate for the Presidency of Cuba, at Head of Rebels, and His Arrest Has Been Ordered.

Havana, Aug. 21.—The western railroad officials say that all was absolutely quiet to-day along the line; there was no disturbance of traffic and no incident worth mentioning except the cutting of the telegraph line in the vicinity of San Juan de Martinez, which was immediately repaired.

The inhabitants of the Province of Pinar del Rio are in a state of alarm, and are commencing to flee to the towns.
Where they do not flock to the towns they are taking their horses and cattle into the houses in order to prevent them from being stolen. It is feared that the city of Pinar del Rio will be occupied by the insurgents to-night.

The troop trains which arrived here from the west to-day only transferred 100 men and horses to the western railroad, and these were forwarded to the City of Pinar del Rio. The balance of the trainload, eleven cars, were dropped at various points in Santa Clara, Matanzas and Havana provinces.

The Cuban government has been positively informed that Gen. Joz Miguel Gomez, who was a candidate for the presidency, has left Yaguajay, Province of Santa Clara, accompanied by a band of insurgents. The authorities of Santa Clara Province have been ordered to arrest Gen. Gomez. His secretary, Juan Mencia, was arrested at Guanabacoa last night. The latter had long been under the surveillance of the police.

Several armed men were arrested on the roads leaving this city last night and this morning. Many people are coming to Havana, fearing to remain in the country. The authorities are endeavoring to prevail upon young men to volunteer here for service in the rural guard.

Secretary O'Farrell to-day denied that he had resigned and expressed the belief that the government would easily surmount its difficulties.

C.P.R. TO CARRY MAILS
12000 MILES IN MONTH

Montreal, Aug. 21.—An important arrangement for the rapid delivery of British, China and Japan mails has just been made by the Imperial postal authorities with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, whereby the mails will be handled by this one company for a distance of over 12,000 miles.

A special fast mail train, consisting of the necessary mail and baggage car accommodation, and from two to four sleeping cars and a dining-car for passengers will be run across Canada from Quebec to Vancouver in 48 hours.
This train will make only a few stops at the chief stations en route. Similar arrangements will be made for mails and thru passengers. The first westbound service will be as follows:
Leave Liverpool R.M. SS.
Empress of Ireland on Aug. 24.
Reach Quebec on arrival of steamship Aug. 31; arrive in Vancouver Sept. 4; leave Vancouver R.M. SS. Empress of China Sept. 4; arrive Hongkong Sept. 11.
This is less than one month and the mails will be delivered to Great Britain to China, and vice versa.

SKIFF WITH MAN'S CLOTHES DIPPED UP BY STR. PIGTON ACCUSES THE MAGISTRATE AS "GROSSLY UNFAIR"

Probable Suicide or Accidental Drowning Off Bowmanville—Description of Articles.

Magistrate Kingsford yesterday committed Edmund Bridant and Mrs. Miller for trial on the charge of having caused the death of Mrs. Bridant.
Before court opened, R. S. Neville, counsel for Bridant, presented a document to the magistrate, asking that all the evidence already taken be struck out, because the magistrate had been "grossly unfair, prejudiced and tyrannical," had "grossly violated" the prisoner's rights by seizing a large number of papers, and by depriving him of the functions of the crown attorney and acting as advisory counsel for the prosecution, and had unwar-rantedly compelled the deliverance of certain papers procured from the warden at the Central Prison. A stay of proceedings was asked.

Magistrate Kingsford said he would refer the matter to the attorney-general.

Warden Gilmore, called for the defence, identified certain letters as belonging to one, Charles Driscoll, a prisoner now in prison. These letters, said to be full of endearing terms, were alleged to have been written by the late Mrs. Agnes Bridant to the convict, Driscoll. By putting these into evidence, Mr. Neville sought to discredit the dearest statement, relied upon by the crown.

Letters written by deceased to Brid-ant were disclosed for the purpose of showing that he and his wife had been on good terms. The last letter from her to him was written as late as June 3, 1906.

Mrs. Adeline Doe was called and stated that she had roomed above the Bridants for some time and had never heard any discord between man and wife.

Peter Brunet, proprietor of the "Bank" barber shop, Colborne-street, Bridant's employer, testified that he had always found the accused a good and trustworthy employe. The Bridants were apparently happy together.

HON. MR. BRODEUR'S SPEECH
DISSOLVES QUEBEC DREAM

Politicians Considering Effect of Announcement of No Increase of Federal Subsidy.

Montreal, Aug. 21.—(Special).—People of all political parties were rubbing their eyes to-day over the almost stupefying effect of Hon. L. P.
Brodeur's speech at St. Hilaire, the occasion having been evidently chosen by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to inform the people of this province thru his minister of marine that the increased subsidy policy of Hon. Mr. Gouin had few friends at Ottawa. Those who attended the meeting are of the opinion that Mr. Girard, M.L.A. for the County of Rouville, knew pretty well what was going to happen when he gave his federal colleague so free an opportunity to hand out Sir Wilfrid Laurier's disappointing message to the Province of Quebec.

There can be little doubt now that the several interviews which took place recently at Quebec between the prime minister of the province and the leader of the federal cabinet were fraught with the most serious consequences to the Liberal party. That Hon. Lomer Gouin as good as gave notice that the moment of the party was over had arrived, and that the utterances of Hon. L. P. Brodeur at St. Hilaire constitute the Ottawa government's emphatic answer to the Quebec situation.

One thing is sure—that little accident which befell the finance minister down in Quebec, and Shelburne the other day constituted a very good excuse that nothing can be done towards getting a conference together before the November session, and consequently no legislation can be introduced in the matter during the coming meeting of parliament.

Here is what the minister of finance and fisheries said in reply to some observations by the local member for Rouville. Speaking to those of his friends of the Liberal party who are agitating for better terms, the minister asked them to be aware of what he might follow. Many of the fathers of confederation, his chief author even,
would have preferred a legislative union to provincial autonomy. This opinion the speaker declared is by no means dead in this country, and let us fear lest the demand for the province do not awaken it. Let us fear that an amendment to the constitution to readjust the federal subsidy might constitute a precedent or justification in this country of English law in favor of those who would like nothing better than to ask for other amendment to the constitution, with transformation of the federal system into one of legislative union. All short-sightedness must be avoided. The assaults which will be directed against provincial autonomy during the next 25 or 40 years are greatly to be feared. Let us, therefore, dread concluded Hon. Mr. Brodeur, all that may have a tendency to weaken this right so dearly acquired.

LIGHTNING KILLS WOMAN.
Ottawa, Aug. 21.—Miss Laura Mohr, aged 22, daughter of Thomas Mohr of Bradley Township, was killed by lightning yesterday. With her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harold Mohr, she was down by the Ottawa River, washing under a tree, when the storm came up. Lightning struck the tree, and glancing struck Miss Mohr, causing instant death. Mrs. Mohr was severely shocked.

YANKEE SOLDIERS IN MONTREAL.
Montreal, Aug. 21.—(Special).—Montreal was peacefully invaded by a small army of New England military men. The 5th Massachusetts volunteer militia reached Windsor Station at 12.05 p. m., where they were received by Col. Pelletier, and a staff of officers, who represented Col. Bughian, D. O. C., and the city regiments. The regiment, mustering 750 officers and men, marched to Borochester, east of the city, to the St. James street, and thence to the Craig-street drill hall, where the regiment will be quartered while staying in the city.

HEAT STOPS WORK.
Montreal, Aug. 21.—(Special).—For the first time in the history of the went on strike to-day. The heat was so intense, they are working all night to make up for the loss of time.

implicated in the death of his sister-in-law, Elizabeth Wells, was arraigned

He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried at the sessions in December next.
An application for bail was granted in Haileybury, Aug. 21.—The business portion of the town of Haileybury was practically wiped out by a fire of incendiary origin at an early hour this morning. The fire started in the Mc-Cabe Building in the centre of the business district. The loss is estimated at $150,000. Over twenty business places and ten residences were gutted.

fraught with the most serious consequences to the Liberal party. That
Hon. Lomer Gouin as good as gave
notice that the moment of the party was over had arrived, and that
the utterances of Hon. L. P. Brodeur
at St. Hilaire constitute the Ottawa
government's emphatic answer to the Quebec situation.

One thing is sure—that little accident which befell the finance minister
down in Quebec, and Shelburne the
excuse that nothing can be done towards getting a conference together
before the November session, and consequently no legislation can be introduced in the matter during the coming meeting of parliament.

Here is what the minister of finance
and fisheries said in reply to some observations by the local member for
friends of the Liberal party who are
agitating for better terms, the minister asked them to be aware of what he might follow. Many of the fathers of confederation, his chief author even,
would have preferred a legislative
opinion the speaker declared is by no
us fear lest the demand for the province do not awaken it. Let us fear
that an amendment to the constitution
constitute a precedent or justification
in this country of English law in fa-
transformation of the federal system into one of legislative union. All short-sightedness must be avoided. The
assaults which will be directed
the next 25 or 40 years are greatly to
be feared. Let us, therefore, dread
right so dearly acquired.

England, says Mr. Beecroft, is the native home of the new farmers' friend.

Plowing was naturally the first department of farm labor to invite the employment of the agricultural motor.

Four years ago it was tested against horse and steam power and two and three-quarter acres of very heavy clay soil were selected.

It was a condition that the furrows were to be nine inches wide and six inches deep.

When the results were tabulated it was found that "steam cost highest, being slightly over $4 per acre.

Horses were next at 40 cents an acre less, and last was gasoline, costing but slightly over half that of horses, and not half so much as steam."

Mowing was the next line of experiment, and in the trials "the English machine cut 15 3-4 acres in 2-2 hours, putting a swath six feet in width.

The work required but $ 1-2 gallons of gasoline, which, at American prices, would mean but 6 cents an acre for fuel.

In one test it drew three mowing machines, each cutting a swath six feet wide, and worked steadily for two days and one night, acetylene lights being used for the night work.

In drawing two or three mowing machines by means of a continuous pole connection, the three machines pull with remarkable regularity, taking the corners without missing or overlapping and cutting clear swaths in the stretches."

Pulling two self-binders the agricultural motor can cut and bind, "in 10 hours, 19 acres of heavy wheat, using in the work 18 gallons of gasoline.

In one case with a couple of similar self-binders, it cut 15 acres of oats in four hours, traveling, during the entire time at 6 miles per hour.

With one of these motors a Belgian farmer harvested 100 acres of wheat in two days and one night, the motor never stopping except to take on fuel and oil for the binders.

In another test, oats were cut at an expense of 24 cents per acre for gasoline and oil, figures which show work done at less than half the cost of doing it where horses are used."

With slight adaptation the motor becomes a stationary engine, "driving the largest size of threshing machine with ease equal to that of the steam engine and at half the expense, cutting the straw into chaff, breaking stones and performing all the duties accomplished by the traction engine more cheaply and with greater speed.

Among the more novel uses of the agricultural motor are the cultivation of vineyards and the planting of potatoes and other tubers and roots.

In forest lands it has pulled heavy logs thru underbrush, and, belted to a circular saw, cut the season's firewood. It is employed in churning butter and chopping roots, and on the road the agricultural motor has made continuous trips of 300 miles at an average speed of 6 miles an hour.

Apart from all these various operations and its economy of fuel, the motor limits the outside assistance required to a minimum well as expediting the accomplishing of the work.

To all appearance the agricultural motor will solve the labor problem now so difficult, and which, with the rapid extension in the cultivated area, will certainly increase in gravity and urgency.

Here, too, the matter of cheap alcohol becomes of considerable importance. In European countries, Mr. Beecroft says, alcohol is most generally used on account of its cheapness, and the prohibitive cost of gasoline, the latter costing 50 cents, whereas the former costs only 10 cents.

Alcohol for motor purposes can be made equally well from corn, potatoes, beets and in short any vegetable growth in which starch and sugar are present in large quantities.

In no country in the world are agricultural motors and cheap fuel offered a more favorable field than that which can be found in Canada, and farmers everywhere throughout the Dominion should keep themselves in touch with the latest developments and demand from the government the necessary facilities for taking full advantage of them.

MUST STRIVE.

The radial railways would do well not to carry out the idea of abolishing excursion and commutation tickets.

It may be that the attempt to force the two-cent rate by litigation was an appeal for that rate in all cases.

But it is not wise to be too logical. At all events, the railway board must strive to protect the people from the loss which the abolition of the reduced rates would impose upon them.

The above soup-water paragraph appeared yesterday where one might expect it—in the columns of The Mail. It is exactly such an article as an organ of the electric ring would print.

There is no indication of any sympathy with public rights. The railway board will please "strive" as requested.

IS TARIFF REFORM DEAD?

As between Col. Denison, who looks with confidence for the success of Mr. Chamberlain's tariff reform campaign, and the editor of The Winnipeg Free Press, who reports the movement to be virtually dead and Mr. Chamberlain to be numbered among the "has-beens," what is there to be said?

This much to begin with, that whatever may be thought of Col. Denison's prophecy, it belongs to the region of the future, whereas Mr. DeLoe's conclusion relates to the present moment, and can be tested by actual facts and circumstances.

If tariff reform is dead, actually, or virtually, Col. Denison's forecast is without foundation: if it is yet alive, it remains a matter of speculation.

When Mr. Chamberlain launched his tariff reform campaign three years ago, the free trade system of Britain, to

MY FRIEND FROM CANNINGTON HAS A TALK WITH SIR HENRY

Our Friend From Cannington this morning gives the readers of The Toronto World the Cannington idea of White, Broker J. G. Beatty and Acting-Premier J. G. Foy. He was impressed with Toronto's Wall-street and the acting-premier fairly awed him.

Down in the Wall-street of Toronto Tuesday morning to meet some of the lanky financiers of the city, the very aristocratic temperament had shrunk from the order of the day, and, squatting in one of Colonel Sir Henry Pellatt's easy chairs, in his handsomely furnished office, I found the colonel not a bad fellow, the possessing a philosophy of life the very opposite of my own.

He has the vision of a big brown bear in his heavy handclasp, strength and initiation behind the blue eyes—rather prominent in token of his talking powers—and the slight moustache covers full lips of quick decision. The face was so young for a millionaire that I wondered some of the times what he might be doing.

It is his frankness that is most admirable, perhaps. He says things—the things that he thinks—and says them in straight, blunt language, with a dash of cunning that makes them vivid. But he is not just the same old thing up and down materialist, with a love for horses, a disregard for literature—these Shakespeare down-and-out words, the metal-cut captain of industry that stands as the ideal of modern life.

"You are a very wealthy man, Colonel," I said, "a millionaire for a few years, I believe."

"I will be obliged to count it," he said, "the smiling assent."

"Don't you think that is too much money for you for one man?" I asked.

"Trillions, no; a million dollars is nothing to me," he replied, "I gave that away almost in charity."

And he mentioned spending about thirty thousand dollars in the purchase of an operating-room in Grace Hospital that was the best of its kind in America.

"I still said, 'outside of those few large amounts, I don't create any of the things that I do not like.'"

"Very well; but even with that, do you not think that several million dollars would be pennies to you?" I asked.

"I simply stay here and do nothing, while others are regulating themselves with cocktails or going to the club."

"I simply stay here and do nothing, while others are regulating themselves with cocktails or going to the club."

"Eight hundred dollars a year as a clerk."

"That wasn't bad, I would presume, also, that you had some pull."

"I never helped me. I got into those things by accident."

"But a young man coming to Toronto here, without $500 a year, and without any pull, is simply a dead end."

"What chance would he have of making himself, for instance—if I drop the subject—without some pull?"

"You have found your level," he said.

"It is literature. You could not do any thing else. Most of the things that I do, sometimes, but very often it is too late. The man who does so young is the success."

"You are not a Socialist, then, I presume? You do not believe that all men should be equal with the same right of opportunity?"

"I believe that every man can find his own way."

"If a friend of Rudyard Kipling hadn't picked him up in London," I said, "I think that he would have gone to the great beyond."

"That is changing," put in Mr. Foy with emphasis, "and it will change."

"Not as fast as you think, Mr. Foy," I said, "but it will change."

"We haven't got a great deal of that here yet, and the wealthy class in this country spend here freely."

"With regard to socialism he did not think it would get much of a grip on Canada or ever create a third party."

Billie Glynn.

all intents and purposes, occupied a position comparable only to that held by the Deacons.

marked in one of his recent addresses, it would have been more prudent for a speaker to question the truth of the Christian religion than to suggest that free trade, as a national policy, was unsound.

The time is short enough easily to recall the ridicule poured on his proposals by astute business men, traders, who had as little difficulty in declaring tariff reform to be stillborn as they have now in pronouncing its life to have been virtually departed.

Perhaps the one verdict is as incorrect as the other certainly proved itself to be.

An agitation such as that for tariff reform, directed against a system so deeply rooted as free trade was, demands a period of patient and strenuous effort before it can be carried to a successful issue.

Yet, within three years from the initiation of his apparently hopeless enterprise, Mr. Chamberlain has become the dominant force in the Conservative party, has got the reform as the main plank of its official platform, has captured party organizations, and has behind him not far short of half the electors of Great Britain.

A cause cannot be virtually dead which has accomplished these things, and which is supported by a great majority of the chambers of commerce and representative business men of the empire.

That reform was not the main issue at the late British general election, and could not be. It was one of various questions before the electors, several of which, ranked before it in immediate interest and importance.

Nor did it occupy within the Conservative party itself the position it does to-day. English education, Chinese labor, the misdeeds of the Balfour government, played a far more decisive part in the contest than tariff reform. But has Mr. Chamberlain lost ground since that election? Not at all.

Not only in the house of commons, nor in the country itself, so far as can be seen. It will be time enough to write the epitaph on tariff reform when the verdict of the country is given at a general election, where it is, if not the only, at least the leading issue.

UNWISDOM IN DRESS.

Our visitors from across the seas to the British Medical Association are prepared to take issue with Rudyard Kipling and Our Lady of the Snows.

They are quite unprepared for the hot weather, and in this respect, Canada is a poor-opening surprise to them.

Atop of the torrid temperature comes the mandate that the proper garb for evening functions is full dress.

The line is less lightly drawn for afternoon garden parties, where either top-hats or fannel-suits will be in good form.

While there are some who will delude themselves to show themselves in uniform, still there is no doubting that the majority of the visiting doctors, expecting frost but meeting terrific heat, would be better pleased if more latitude were allowed them in the matter of dress.

While the British doctor is used to travelling with garb fitted for every occasion, still had the local committee taken into account the excessively warm weather, and stipulated a code of dress in keeping with the human desire to do as little fussing as possible, they would have shown a sympathetic consideration for their guests that would have added to their personal

The New Raincoats.

A RAINCOAT is a never-can-tell-when-you'll-need-it garment: if it's always ready you're safe. You'll need one during the coming season particularly, and if you want best value you'll come here for it.

We buy real, honest cravenette cloths and make them up in our own workrooms; because at any price you decide on we can sell you a far better garment of our own make than is procurable elsewhere.

Our fall showing is ready—hundreds of brand new stylish raincoats to select from.

For $8.00—Oxford gray cravenette; tailored in several of the new fall styles; sizes 34 to 44.—This is a first-rate garment and should prove a great seller.

For $10.00—Oxford gray and olive, with colored over-panels; square pockets—self collar—vent at back; shoulders lined with Italian cloth. This is a winner—we've made it a study—we're bettering it each year. Very dressy.

For $16.50—Priestley's cravenette cloths in olive and dark and steel gray shades. Sleeves and shoulders lined with satin; vent at back. Very high-class garment, in newest cut.

Your mere man may survive the necessity that causes him to dress so circumspect in oppressive weather. Women, however, are more sensitive; and the rushing worry to prepare for elaborate functions is not conducive to retaining health or temper, or keeping wrinkles from brows. The local committee of doctors have had a splendid opportunity of applying wisdom to the matter of dress, but they have let it slip by. And their guests will be able to tell their friends at home how, in the most formal garb, they met Our Lady of the Roasts.

A POPULAR VICTORY.

Ottawa Journal, The Metropolitan Railway, which provides an electric tram service in the suburbs of Toronto, has been obliged under the Railway Act passed by the legislature last session to reduce its rates to two cents per mile.

It is illustrative of the temper of many of the large corporations that it made no attempt to comply with the law until an action for damages for its failure to do so was brought by a private individual.

The Railway Act providing that two cents a mile be the maximum toll was passed by the legislature in March last. It was provided that it should come into force on July 1, 1905. It came into force on that date. The company had four months in which to prepare for the change, but with an indifference to the law until an action for damages for its failure to do so was brought by a private individual.

THE USE OF "AMERICAN."

Ed. World: Your correspondent, A.B. M., is no doubt right in his criticism of my application of the name "American" to the people of the United States.

But there is no help for it. Custom has irrevocably fixed the usage.

Not that the question of a national name is unimportant. In regard to the Home Rule question, we feel the lack of a common name for the people of the United Kingdom. The distinction of names "British" and "Irish" carries with it a division of the sentiment of allegiance.

I was taken to task by a fervid Scotchman for saying "English" instead of "British." I could only reply that no offence had been intended, but that these matters were regulated by custom, but that I wished to be correct.

Laws of Marriage.

In Virginia a man cannot legally marry his deceased wife's sister. The law is the inheritance of the common law of England, and has never been repealed.

Whites and Indians are forbidden to marry in some of the Pacific coast states. In many white men and women have married.

Latvians are not allowed to marry, but the ceremony is valid if it takes place during a new Jersey law states specifically that the deaf and dumb are not subject to the law, and therefore may marry. Most of the other states make the same provision.

Connecticut forbids any woman who is an illegitimate or feeble-minded to marry.

The legal age of marriage differs in various states. In the majority the marriage of males under 14 years or of females under 12 years is voidable. In Ohio the age is

KUNTZ Regal Lager Is Healthful

Germans are a nation of beer-drinkers. Germany is famous for its great thinkers—great scientists—great writers—great poets—great dramatists—great musicians—great composers—great artists—great soldiers—and great statesmen.

BUT—Germans drink in moderation, and are good judges of Lager beer.

In Canada, their favorite drink is KUNTZ "REGAL" LAGER—and they invariably insist upon having this brand on account of its health-giving qualities.

Mayor Steps Extortions.

There have been a number of exciting scenes here on account of the increase in the price of meat. Finally, the troops were called upon to restore order. As a result of the raising of the price of meat, the mayor established meat depots in various parts of the city. The prices of all articles of food have gone up, but the action of the mayor is likely to prevent any further extortion.

American prospectors who had gone down on a small vein of cobalt, sudden last Wednesday ran into a wide vein of nickleite ore at the 55-foot level, which showed values of about $100 to the ton. This was followed on Friday last by their striking the silver, of which the Bank of Commerce here have some very fine samples on exhibition.

Bulgaria.

London, Aug. 21.—A report was circulated here to-day, that as a result of the strained relations between Greece and Bulgaria, the Greek minister at Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, had been recalled.

Enquiries made at the Greek legation here disclosed that he had not been advised of the minister's recall, and that they did
