CAPTAIN ASHORE

Mate Sails for Yarmouth, Where Customs Now Hold Vessel.

(Special To The Times) Yarmouth, N. S., Sept. 8.—Schooner Lucille B. has arrived at Meteghan and reports having been raided by pirates several miles off the coast of Massachusetts last week. At the time of the raid Captain Leblanc was ashore transacting business. About seven o'clock on Wednesday night three motor boats went along side and fifteen men with drawn revolvers boarded the schooner. The crew of the Lucille was warned by the raiders not to interfere while they were taking the cargo of liquor. In fact the crew was freed to assist in removing the cargo into the motor boats.

SEAS RAID LUCILLE B.

As soon as this was completed the raiders made off for land and the mate stayed for the Nova Scotia coast, leaving Captain Leblanc behind. When off St. Mary's Bay the Lucille B. was sighted from Meteghan and power boats went out and brought her to that port. The vessel is now in charge of customs officers and orders are being awaited from the U. S. coast which her captain, Arthur Moore, and Cook Harms were badly wounded.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by the New Brunswick Publishing Co., Ltd., J. D. McKenna, President.

THE EXHIBITION.

The Exhibition will close tonight. It has attracted great numbers of visitors to the city, and has been of much interest to the citizens themselves.

THE NEW IRELAND.

The result of the Irish elections has been received without excitement in Ireland. The Free State Government did not get a clear majority over the other parties, but as the Republicans carried only forty seats it means that one hundred and thirteen of the one hundred and fifty-three members of the new parliament are supporters of the Constitution.

The Government will of course have to face opposition from Labor, the Farmers and Independents, on matters of local policy and administration, but these parties support the Free State Constitution.

The St. John Board of Trade should have a large representation at the meeting of the Maritime Board in Halifax next Tuesday and Wednesday. It is announced that the speakers will include the Premiers of the three provinces, and Hon. Dr. Baxter and H. J. Logan, M. P.

When the city of St. John is offered something for nothing, and the something is what it needs—why look the other way?

THE OIL SHALES.

The day of the oil shales is bound to come, if the United States Bureau of Mines is right in the view that "despite government efforts in promoting the most efficient development of oil fields, it is becoming more and more evident that the country's oil production will probably never again catch up with the demand."

When the day comes that it is found commercially profitable to produce oil from shales, the Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will have in their shale deposits the basis of a great industry.

It is interesting to note that Holland can export brick to New York and compete with American and Canadian manufacturers. The New York Sun says: "Bringing bricks for the construction of American buildings from Holland is a practice which has been resumed after a lapse of many years."

The Times-Star confidently predicted some weeks ago that the civic committee to confer with the East St. John committee on the question of union would call the conference within a week.

September, thus far, has been most kind, as if conscious that the summer had not given us as much good weather as we could wish.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

Odd Fellow! -Guy-Waters has an odd case of absentmindedness.

Girl-Oh! -Guy-Yes, he's just back after a motor boat cruise, and the other night he sat down in the bath and baled it out until the whole floor was flooded.

Repeat? -Miss-Sarah, my husband complains that the oatmeal was soggy, the coffee cold, the eggs hard boiled and the toast burnt.

Cook-You have my sympathy, ma'am; it must be fierce to live with such a man.

Takes No Chances. -"Is he a careful business man?" "Indeed, yes. He never hires a private secretary, and his hair is the same shade as his wife's."

Explained. -Some editor wrote me about the American girl, who in disgust, said to her escort, "Oh, Percy, you English are so slow." And, falling to see the point, he replied, "Why, er, I don't grasp it," and she said, "Yes, that's just the trouble."

No Tears For Her. -Actor-My good woman, the last place I stayed the landlady wept when I left.

Landlady-Oh, did she? Well, I ain't going to. I want my money in advance.—London Answers.

Not Acquainted. -He-Do you remember Horatius at the bridge?

She-I don't recall ever meeting him. The bridge parties I attend are all women.—Boston Transcript.

A Silent Partner. -Two men who were "something in the city" were lunching at the club one day. "Oh," said one, "my partner formerly used always to oppose my views, but now he agrees with me in everything."

"How do you account for it?" asked the other.

"Don't know," said the first. "I'm not sure whether I convince him or only make him tired."—The Tatler (London).

TO THE PROTESTANTS OF N. B.

The fraternal societies of St. John are planning to hold a mammoth Orphanage Fair in the St. Andrew's Rink, early in October, in aid of the N. B. Protestant Home for Children.

It is well for all to realize that the care of these helpless children is as much a part of their individual duty to the Empire as it is of those who are called upon to sacrifice their time and means in order to carry on the work, and who in a Christian community, such as this, should not need to worry or make the constant appeals so necessary in order to carry on the limited amount of work being accomplished under present conditions, and which could be enlarged upon considerably, if those equally responsible voluntarily forward even a very small amount as their contribution to this end.

We are offering our services for a short time as your agents. If you will give us the proper support in any form, cash or goods, we will guarantee results just in proportion to your support.

If we fail or come short in our efforts the fault will lie solely with those to whom this appeal is directed, i.e. the Protestants of New Brunswick one and all.

Volunteer workers and correspondence solicited. Address: Orange Fair Committee, P. O. Box 12, St. John, N.B.

CABOTS AND CABOTS.

(New York Nation) When the editor of the Nation was in college, it came about that a certain undergraduate secret society chose to initiate into its mystic and brotherhood a member of the Cabot family.

Known for the public character of his rites and their power to take the sublimity out of any sophomoric, society took this particularly interesting candidate, placed him on what was then the most frequented corner in Boston, decorated him with a large pasteboard reading I AM A CABOT, and kept him there throughout the daylight hours.

The night Suburban will arrive at 9:05 p.m. but will run on Saturdays only in September and October. After September 16th the St. John-McAdam express going and returning will stop, when required, at Ketepec and Ononette, in addition to regular scheduled stops.

SCREEN STAR IS SEEN AND HEARD AT IMPERIAL

Marjery Wilson Talks to Patrons After They've Enjoyed Picture.

Naively admitting that she liked to talk about herself, Marjery Wilson, who plays the leading role in her own film story Intimation, now showing at the Imperial, was heard in a personal, chatty, and pleasing talk, by the patrons of the Imperial last evening, following the first presentation of the picture. Before she had been talking but a few minutes, she answered, what she says is the most of repeated questions addressed to her, by saying, "I am not married." The announcement met with so much applause from the members of the sterner sex in the audience, that Miss Wilson was forced to admit that there might be a few prospects for matrimonial honors among the audience.

The screen star proved a mighty little talker. "Intimation," she said, had been written by herself, directed by herself, staged, managed and financed by herself, and she played the leading part. She said a newspaper man in Boston had said to her if people didn't like the picture they certainly would know who to blame. But to judge from the applause which greeted the conclusion of Miss Wilson's talk, the people of St. John had no fault to find with either the picture or its authoress.

The story, she said, had a lesson for everyone, for much harm is done by the raising of an eyebrow, the misstrung of circumstances, and other indirect ways.

The scene of the picture she explained, was her own home village in Vermont. Whenever they grew tired of talking about the weather here now, they always fall back on "Intimation," Miss Wilson said that she was in love with New Brunswick, and believed that the people here did not appreciate it as they really should. In saying this she said, that she did not say it because she was expected to, but because she meant every word of it.

Expect Many at Yacht Club Service

The Royal Kennebecasis Yacht Club will hold its 26th annual church service tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Club grounds, Millidgeville. The service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. J. A. Morison, club chaplain, who will be assisted by Rev. R. F. McKim and Rev. Mr. Purdy. The service at St. Clement's church will be cancelled for tomorrow to give the congregation an opportunity to attend the yacht club service.

THE EMPRESS EUGENIE'S LACE.

(London Times) The sale yesterday at Christie's of the lace, furs, and fabrics, the property of the late Empress Eugenie, proved a little sensation, both as to attendance and as to prices. Crowds have viewed the property during the last few days, and the room was densely crowded throughout the day.

This is a worthy cause, and one which should not lack workers or solicitors in any section of the province. It is well for all to realize that the care of these helpless children is as much a part of their individual duty to the Empire as it is of those who are called upon to sacrifice their time and means in order to carry on the work, and who in a Christian community, such as this, should not need to worry or make the constant appeals so necessary in order to carry on the limited amount of work being accomplished under present conditions, and which could be enlarged upon considerably, if those equally responsible voluntarily forward even a very small amount as their contribution to this end.

Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People in Two Weeks Time

In many instances says City Physician persons have suffered for years without knowing what made them feel tired, listless and run-down when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood—how to tell.

If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied a multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skiny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases, it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your fagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what any one tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and one of the best blood builders in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron like line-tar of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which is recommended above is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, and does not injure teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser of Nuxated Iron, if it is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

Cover That Floor With Linoleum

Linoleum is the most sanitary of all floor coverings. For years it has been recognized as the easiest to keep clean and free from dust. Recent extensive experiments have proven that Linseed Oil (the base of all good linoleum) retains its properties for the destruction of germ life even after it has been manufactured into floor coverings.

We call particular attention to our very fine display of Printed and Plain Linoleums in Rugs and Piece Goods.

GENUINE LINOLEUM RUGS are showing in beautiful new designs and color effects. They have a soft, velvety finish which renders them even more desirable than carpets for some rooms. Linoleum Rugs will not tear or wrinkle. They lie flat on the floor without tacking—and they have wonderful wearing qualities.

Electricity Is a Servant Of The Home

Recent visits to our electrical booth at the Exhibition went to show many men and women that electricity is actually the most dependable servant of the home. Here are just four demonstrations of that fact:

The "Easy" Vacuum Washing Machine

It thoroughly and quickly cleanses without the need of back-breaking manual labor. It is efficient, handy, clean and easy to operate.

The "Hoover" Vacuum Suction Sweeper

"It beats—as it sweeps—as it suction cleans." All these three operations are effected in order to thoroughly and effectively clean rugs and carpets. A demonstration of the Hoover will convince you of its superiority.

The McClary Electric Range

Cooking by electricity is fast becoming the most popular way. McClary Ranges may be had in various sizes—one of them will give excellent cooking satisfaction. Think of the convenience of a stove that does away with carrying coal and ashes.

The "Emarnay" Sewing Machine

The rotary type of machine is ideal for home and dress making work. The owner of a "Rotary" can accomplish more in a given time than can be done with any other type of machine.

Demonstrations gladly given on request. Household Appliance Dept.—

Why Pay the Toll Exacted by a Worn-out Range?

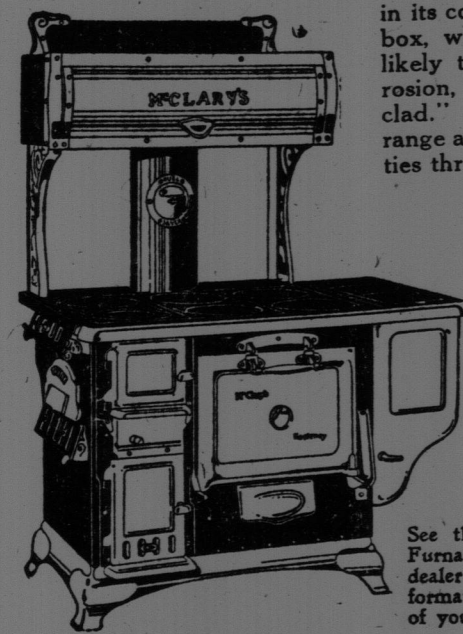

You are entitled to the best range that money can procure—one that bakes without spoiling food heats without using up excessive fuel. And turns baking day into a real pleasure. You can effect real savings and end kitchen range troubles by installing once and for all a high class McClary's range—the Kootenay, Canada's leading steel range that is reinforced to resist rust attacks at vital points, or, if you prefer, a cast iron range, the well-known Pandora.

McClary's Ovens—White Nickeled Inside

Here's the secret of the success that women all over Canada achieve in their bakings in these wonderful ranges. The ovens are constructed of Armo Iron. This metal is famous for its rust-resisting quality and is particularly valuable in an oven because it heats so quickly. In addition the interiors of McClary's ovens are nickeled. This increases the radiating quality of the metal and makes a quick-heating, washable oven that it is a delight to work with.

Kootenay STEEL RANGE

With Enamel-Clad Flues

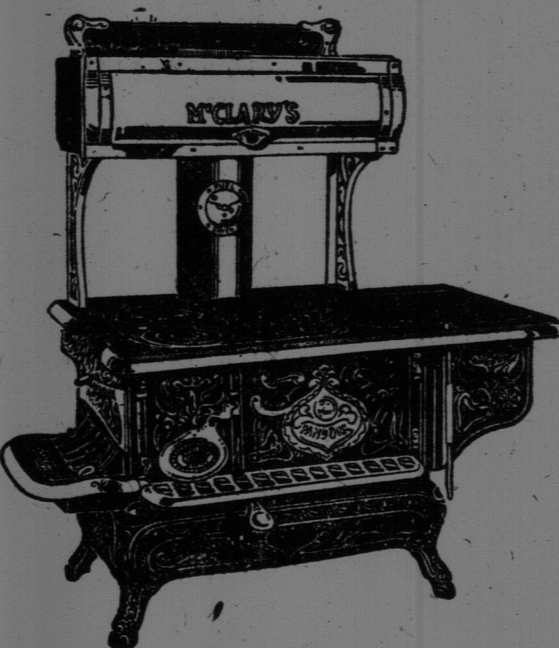

The distinctive features of this beautiful range is something that cannot be seen from the outside. The vital parts in its construction, the flues and smoke box, which in a steel range are most likely to be attacked by rust or corrosion, are protected by being "enamel-clad." This prolongs the life of the range and ensures reliable baking qualities through many years of service.

Supplied with high closet, with enamel back, large directly-heated water reservoir; nickeled base; drop oven door, with cool handle and tested thermometer; smooth nickel trimmings and porcelain enamel door panels.

Sunshine Furnace

burns soft coal. See the All-Cast Sunshine Furnace and ask McClary's dealer to give you full information about the heating of your home.

Pandora

Cast Iron Range

The popularity of the Pandora is due not only to its absolute reliability as a baker, but to the fuel economy which is brought about by its distinctive flue system. In the Pandora the fire travel is doubled which ensures against loss of heat up the chimney.

Beautifully carved body, trimmed with bright smooth nickel; large warming closet with porcelain-enamel back; large porcelain-enamel hot-water reservoir; knife sharpener; tested thermometer; foot release for oven door.

Effective, This Date—

Any Automobile Without 4-Wheel Brakes, is Obsolete!

Read every line of this ad!—It contains good advice and a timely warning for all buyers!

On July first, Rickenbacker announced 4-Wheel Brakes on new models.

We stated then that this would prove "the greatest improvement since the advent of the Self-Starter—13 years ago."

That announcement created a sensation that shook the industry to its very foundations.

Reason for 4-Wheel Brakes is, necessity for greater safety in traffic—not only on city streets, but on the country roads.

Invention, always following closely in the wake of necessity, has produced a perfect system of brakes on all four wheels.

Even rival engineers proclaim this Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brake "the most beautiful example of fine engineering that has ever graced a motor car—American or European."

Look at them. They tell their own story.

Already, two prominent makers have followed Rickenbacker leadership by announcing 4-Wheel Brakes! Others will follow.

Engineers in all other plants—(we repeat, "all other plants") are feverishly working to produce a workable 4-Wheel Brake system without infringing Rickenbacker design and certain European patents.

Rickenbacker showrooms are crowded all the time—so intense is the interest.

Factory swamped with orders.

Seems as if everyone wants a car with 4-Wheel Brakes and won't be happy till he gets it.

Meantime, those unfortunate salesmen of cars that do not have them are trying to explain why they "do not believe in 4-Wheel Brakes."

Here is a bit of information for all such.

We guarantee you that, within six months, every car, priced at $1,000 and up, will announce 4-Wheel Brakes—or go out of business.

Won't be "out" by that time perhaps, but will be "on the toboggan" and headed downward.

4-Wheel Brakes have been accepted as the greatest safety insurance ever built into a motor car.

Get that—"Built in."

This is a mighty important point.

It's something you should insist upon when considering a car—that the brakes are built in—not tagged onto an old model.

Axles, front and rear, must be specially designed to insure that brakes function properly.

How will you know?

Tell you: when you see a set of "external contracting" brakes—that should be your warning.

For in most cases this is evidence that the maker suddenly realized that buyers now insist on 4-Wheel Brakes—and hastily tried to put them on the cheapest way—without re-designing his axles.

Can't be done.

We tried it. Tried every type of brake; and all fell short of the degree of perfection which Rickenbacker policy demands.

Listen!—of 81 makes of foreign cars, that are equipped with 4-Wheel Brakes, not one has external contracting brakes—not one.

And, so far as we know, only one is hydraulically operated. Only one!

Ask any salesman of cars having "external contracting" brakes these questions:

"Does a mechanism that is exposed to dust, rain, sand and gumbo, and in winter to ice—make a good brake?"

While you may equalize the pressure—can you equalize the effect?

Can you compensate for the fact that one is wet, the other dry; that one has a "sand" contact, the other of greasy mud, or gumbo?

Rickenbacker was designing 4-Wheel Brakes years before others even heard the term.

The first Rickenbacker chassis ever "laid on the drawing board" had brakes on all four wheels.

Had before us, the results of a decade of European engineering. Began where they left off.

And as a result of our research, our resources and engineering skill, we succeeded in producing a better system of brakes than any of them.

We challenge the world on that assertion.

Stand a Rickenbacker beside any European car—the one with the best brakes—and compare.

You will be as proud of this American achievement as we are.

Rickenbacker engineers tried every type of brake, and concluded that the internal, expanding type was the only dependable kind.

Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brakes are fully enclosed and protected from rain, ice, and sand.

Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brakes are the only brakes that function perfectly at all times, in all seasons, on all kinds of roads and under every conceivable condition of driving.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that act precisely the same when turning as on a straight-away.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that hold just as well when climbing up—or down—a mountain.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that cannot lock front wheels.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that always exert a greater pressure on rear than on front—and cannot be changed to do otherwise.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that are fool proof—both as to driving and adjustment.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that have no universals or toggle joints or exposed parts.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that cannot freeze or become ice-coated in winter.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that automatically lubricate themselves.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that do not grab, grip, or screech when suddenly applied.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that add to, rather than detract from, the appearance of the car.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that will not become loose and rattle after long wear.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that can be adjusted perfectly by one man.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that a ten-year-old boy can adjust as well as a skilled mechanic.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that have exactly the same braking power going backward as forward.

—the only system whereby front-wheel brakes can be used independently of the rear.

—the only system where the rear wheel brakes can be used 100 per cent independently of the 4-Wheel system.

In a word, this Rickenbacker Six is the only car on the world-market that has three independent braking systems, all of which operate just as successfully backward as forward—and individually as well as collectively.

Other makers will soon follow Rickenbacker by featuring 4-Wheel Brakes.

But—that alone will not put their product on a par with Rickenbacker.

There are several other outstanding features that you can still find only in this product.

For, Rickenbacker has contributed more engineering refinements to the industry in three years than have been developed by all other makers combined in the past ten.

The Vibrationless Motor—due to the two fly-wheels, was a Rickenbacker invention.

The Carbonless Motor—accomplished by the Automatic "Air Cleaner."

The Easiest Steering Car—due to Rickenbacker application of ball bearings in steering spindles.

The Vibrationless Body—due to the "Double Depth" frame invented by Rickenbacker.

The Most Luxurious Riding Car—due to Rickenbacker "Cradle" spring suspension.

So, when others do trail along with 4-Wheel Brakes, they will still be far behind Rickenbacker, the leader.

Salesmen of these obsolete cars will try to discount or discredit 4-Wheel Brakes. (They may be honest at that—for few of them know what the maker's plans are or when he intends to bring out 4-Wheel Brakes.)

So to protect yourself, use this plan!

Tell the salesman you want a signed statement from the head of the concern, asserting positively that his car will not have 4-Wheel Brakes within the next six months!

Insist on a written statement—don't accept the word of a man who does not know.

We will guarantee you now that not one leading maker will sign such a statement. Not one!

And if one did—it would prove he is hopelessly behind the times. 4-Wheel Brakes are here.

At least two makers have admitted that their engineers "have not yet succeeded in developing a perfect working set of 4-Wheel Brakes."

Too bad—better get another engineer!

The world won't wait for a laggard.

The world goes forward—never backward.

Makers may protest and argue and cuss—but they can't turn back the hands of the clock.

Rickenbacker showed the way—others must follow whether they want to or not.

We repeat—"Effective this date—any automobile without 4-Wheel Brakes is obsolete."

Just as obsolete as a car without a self-starter. Remember—you stop in half the distance that you do with ordinary 2-Wheel Brakes.

Ideal time for a demonstration of this is a rainy day and a "slippery-wet" asphalt pavement.

Ten minutes at the wheel will be a revelation to you.

But don't delay. Demand is tremendous. Today—won't be a minute too soon.

U. S. PLAYS FORCEFUL PART TO AID DEVELOPMENT OF BRITISH EMPIRE

Helping to Exploit Canada's Resources and International Trade.

(F. C. Mears in Toronto Globe)
The United States of America is playing a forceful part in the development and expansion of Canada's commerce within the Empire, in addition to being, in the totality, Canada's largest customer. Strange as it may seem to the traditional Imperialists, the American Republic is a real factor in lifting this Dominion to a higher place in the Commonwealth of British Dominions.

There is borne out by figures and argument in an enlightening memorandum upon Canada's trade and industrial relations with the Empire which has been prepared for use at the Imperial Economic Conference.

"So far as Canada's development in the past has been stimulated by external trade, the stimulus has been due mainly to Empire buying, but also largely to United States buying," says the memorandum. "The effect of Empire buying has been chiefly to develop in Canada's huge development of farm lands, while the impetus to the development of Canada's forests, fisheries and minerals has been due much more to United States buying than any other factor. Thus Empire markets and United States markets are both immensely important, and furthermore, are complementary from the standpoint of meeting Canada's needs. Each is essential to Canadian development.

Stimulus of U. S. Purchasing.
"Their respective demands are focused largely on different classes of Canadian resources. In other words, Canada's proximity to the United States has given a strong impetus to the extension of Canada's development along lines not greatly affected by Empire needs, and the American market has in that manner been a powerful instrument for promoting the fuller utilization of those Empire resources that are situated within the Dominion."

Further, the memorandum, discussing the steps to be taken at the conference looking to this fuller utilization, says that it is evidently the intention of the Imperial Government to make certain definite proposals, but, as the nature of these is not indicated in the agenda, there can yet be no discussion of them. There is, though, good ground on which to move. "The machinery for close Imperial co-operation in the development of our natural resources is practically complete as regards Canada. Our several Federal departments concerned are well organized, and in a position to undertake any work which may be required. As a matter of fact, such inquiry as time has permitted indicates that the fuller utilization of those Empire resources by the Imperial Government, and the several Dominions have approached our services here with the view to co-operation."

Closer In Touch With U. S.
"It is interesting to observe that without formal arrangement, and the result of an apparently spontaneous desire to achieve concrete results, practically every branch of the Federal service dealing with the natural resources is in close touch with the cognate service in the United States. This practice appears to have developed as a result of the case with which the Canadian service is able to get in touch with the corresponding department south of the line. The same facility does not at present exist with reference to the Imperial service. The adoption of a policy of more direct relationship would undoubtedly tend to obtain greater co-operation than may be expected to result from formal conferences."

Finally, in summing up Canada's commercial position as it relates to the Empire, the memorandum points out: "Canada's commercial position is such that any specific proposal or programme of Empire co-operation for the fuller utilization of natural resources or for the development of Empire trade must involve a searching inquiry into the question of whether its effect would really be to strengthen the forces that make for the progress of Canadian, and thereby of Empire development. The Dominion's situation is radically different from that of those portions of the Empire whose commercial outlets are not only largely but almost solely within the Empire."

Including Einstein's?
"Pa," said Johnny, "what is the fourth dimension?"
"I can't be bothered with that just now, my son."
"Why? Is that a foolish question?"
"I guess the question is all right, but I must say I never heard an answer to it that struck me as very sensible."

FIGHT COMPETITION OF PRISON LABOR

(New York Tribune.)
Opposition to the campaign against prison-made garments now being conducted by the International Association of Garment Manufacturers has resulted in a rebuffing of the efforts of the association to bring the question sharply and clearly before wholesalers and retailers as well as the general public.

"We know that there is opposition to our plan to do away with the manufacture of garments in prisons under the existing contract system for sale to the general public," said A. F. Allison, secretary of the garment manufacturing association yesterday, and we are trying to drag this opposition out into the open daylight. Only this week we were informed that certain jobbers in New Orleans had received letters of complaint from retailers about our campaign against prison-made goods. Although the specific names of the jobbers and retailers in question were not mentioned, we have no quarrel with individuals and we have no desire or intention of dealing in personalities. Although a number of our manufacturers are directly injured by this prison competition, the majority are not, yet the whole association is committed to this fight.

"It is only natural, of course, and we realized it when we entered this campaign, that some jobbers and retailers would oppose it at first. We also knew that our motives and actions probably would be misunderstood by prison contractors and their friends. We welcome every criticism of our campaign and hope that the widest publicity will be given to any statements opposing us. We think it will take a lot of explaining to make clear and to justify the fact that prison-made goods are not properly identified when sold to the consumer. Our efforts to force identification have led to the greatest opposition to the plan. We think, however, that the opposition is keen to keep hidden facts, which, if generally known, probably would react unfavorably on prison contractors and those engaged in handling them. What we want most of all now, is to see that every merchant and every consumer is apprised of all the facts in connection with the fight.

The association admits that it has a selfish interest at stake in fighting prison-made goods. Under the contract labor system, prisoners engaged in the production of such garments are paid an extremely low wage, thus lowering the cost of manufacture to the contractor and enabling him to undersell those manufacturers who employ free labor at the prevailing wage rates in their communities. In addition to fighting against this system, the association is urging a general movement to co-ordinate and organize the productive possibilities in penal institutions, to supply goods for state use only and to give a better training to convicts to enable them to make a decent living when released from prison.

"We believe," said Mr. Allison, "that the present system is not only bad business from a general economic standpoint, but from the standpoint of the state and the prisoner as well. Let the prison contractor weep crocodile tears over our selfish efforts to take the poor convict away from his pet sewing machine. We are sure that the general public has a broad interest in this fight for the proper handling of the whole prison question is of vital importance to every citizen. We want the general

A quicker job - A better job

WHETHER you employ the paperhanger or whether you do the job yourself, you can now redecorate your rooms quicker, better and at less cost than formerly.
Staunton Semi-Trimmed Wallpaper simplifies the job throughout. Its advantages over the old-fashioned papers are obvious at a glance.
Semi-trimming eliminates all the old, troublesome and uncertain methods of trimming. No scissors, knife, or straightedge are required. You simply give the ends of the roll a rap on table or floor, and the selvage falls off, leaving the paper perfectly trimmed to a thousandth part of an inch. Think of the time and trouble saved—of the litter and mess you avoid—of how semi-trimmed wallpaper reduces the paperhanger's time and cost.
And above all, think of the perfect job that results. No white edges, no imperfect seams—just a beautiful design which looks like one piece on the wall.

PAYMASTER SLAIN DEFENDING MONEY

Bandits, After Killing Contracting Employee, Flee Without Cent.

New York, Sept. 6.—With friends in easy calling distance and with little fear of attack in the broad daylight, a construction company paymaster walked into the arms of two hold-up men in Astoria, Queens, and died protecting the payroll.

As the sound of fight, ending with the report of two shots from an automatic pistol, brought workmen from a row of unfinished houses on the run, the two robbers fled to their automobile at the curb and raced away toward Flushing, empty handed. Investigation showed they did not get a nickel.

The paymaster was George Miller, 35 years old, who lived with his wife and two children at 65 Carver street, Astoria. He was a boss laborer for the Stratford Lumber and Coal Company of 297 Madison Avenue, Manhattan, whose men are engaged in constructing a number of houses in Forest Hills and Astoria.

The men in Astoria were working on a row of fifteen houses at Van Alst Avenue and McCullum Place. There were twenty-four lathers there to be paid by Miller, and he had paid five when the robbers attacked him in an unfinished room on the ground floor of one of the houses.

John Miller, 17 years old, a son of the slain man, was at work in one of the houses when his father was shot. He was employed as a carpenter's helper. He had not been paid yet when the shooting occurred. Miller had the money in individual envelopes which had been made up at the company's Manhattan offices. The money had been drawn from a bank Thursday afternoon and Miller started out with about $1,400 for the men on both jobs.

His Work Party Done.
Earlier he had gone to Forest Hills and paid off the workmen there without trouble. He then proceeded to Astoria. He paid four men in one house and found a fifth, Daniel Cotter, at work on the second floor of another. As he gave Cotter his envelope, a sedan automobile drew up at the curb. Two men alighted and came toward the house, but received scant notice. Miller came down the stairway, ab-struggle and the pistol sounded twice. As Miller crumpled to the floor, Cotter could be heard at the head of the stairs, coming to find out what was the trouble. The robbers, apparently fearing that there was more than one, made no effort to get the envelopes from Miller's pocket, but ran to their automobile. They had left its engine running and were away with a roar. When Cotter and others reached the street, they were half a block away.

If your boy or girl could speak now with the wisdom of later years, they would ask, above all else, for education, training for business,—a real start in life.

Every parent knows that the boy who has training is selected for a good position; and the girl who has the right start can make a place for herself in the world, and always be sure of independence and happiness.

You want your children to be equipped for the battle of life, as others are.

ARMISTICE DAY ANNOUNCEMENT BY VETERANS

The Provincial Great War Veterans' Association have completed arrangements for the sale of poppies on Armistice Day in districts outside of the city. The Red Cross Branch of Campbellton is looking after Restigouche County, Women's Catholic League of Bathurst, will cover Gloucester County, while the Montserrat Branch of the G. W. V. A. will have charge of Westmorland, Kent and part of Albert. Northumberland County is divided between the Chatham and Newcastle branches of the association. The Woodstock branch of the G. W. V. A. will have control of Carleton, Victoria and Madawaska. Fredericton branch will have a portion of York County, Sumbury and Queens counties and the MacAdam Junction Branch will look after the territory near the junction. Charlotte county will be in the hands of three branches—St. Stephen, St. Andrews and St. George.

The Red Cross branches and Women's Institutes are co-operating with the veterans. The orders for the poppies by these bodies have been received by the provincial official and forwarded to the Dominion Command. The following warning has been issued by the Dominion G. W. V. A. and friends of the ex-service men are urged to purchase poppies on November 11, from bodies handling the vet craft in the ke of poppy.

"It has been brought to the attention of the Dominion G. W. V. A. that commercial agencies are circulating branches of the G. W. V. A. and other organizations offering to supply cloth poppies for distribution on Armistice Day in memory of fallen comrades.

"There is only one source of manufacture from which poppies can be secured that will give full effect to the purposes for which Poppy Day was instituted, and that is the Veteran Shops. The Dominion Command of the G. W. V. A. has the sole authority for distribution of Veteran Poppies.

"It may be well to remind ex-service men and women and the public generally of the three great objects attained by the distribution of poppy replicas on Armistice Day.

"The wearing of the poppy, emblematic of Flanders Fields, provides an appropriate means of demonstrating that the great sacrifice of Canadian manhood and womanhood during the Great War is not readily forgotten.

"Provides a means or re-establishment for seriously disabled men whose disabilities prevent them in engaging in work other than poppy manufacture.

- 2. Equipment. Chevrolet is a fully equipped car. Every needed comfort, convenience, and appointment you could want comes as standard equipment.

The large proportion of material in the high end point gasolines now sold the automobile trade which cannot be vaporized or broken into a mist is largely responsible for:

- First—Difficulty in starting.
- Second—Carbonizing on spark plugs, valves and cylinders.
- Third—Detonation or knocking.
- Fourth—Dilution of lubricating oil.

All of these troubles are greatly aggravated in cool weather and account in a large measure for the lessened use of the passenger car during the winter season.

6 MONTHS IN CRL FOR CHICKEN THIEF
Court Gives Maximum Sentence, and Suggests Effort to Get it Lengthened.

Fast Bridgewater, Sept. 7.—Judge King of the district court imposed the maximum sentence, six months, on John Dulezky, who admitted he had been stealing hens.

The court suggested to officials of the Plymouth County Poultry Association that as a means of stopping further thefts application ought to be made to the Legislature to increase the maximum sentence.

Miss Anna Hill of West street, the victim, heard noises near her hen coop and saw a buggy being driven away with the hens. P. S. Russell, chief of police, traced the buggy to Dulezky's yard, where he found the hens.

Camden, N. J., Sept. 7.—With a fox terrier watching at his side, John Foutouny, 27, of 1,628 Swain street, Philadelphia, was found shot dead in a small craft on Limban Creek by several men on their way home from a hunting trip. The men, attracted by the barking of the dog, notified the police.

Investigation showed Foutouny had spent the day with Samuel Bekele of Blenheim, Camden County. They went hunting together, but Bekele left early for his home. It is the opinion of one Pratt that the man was accidentally shot by another hunter whose identity is not known.

Alfred Walsh, 28, Philadelphia, was accidentally shot in the back by a hunter at Runnemede, Camden county. His condition is not serious.

SPENT NINE YEARS HELPING PRISONERS

Miss A. Caroline Macdonald
Prominent in Social Service in Japan.

(Toronto Star.)
No word has been received as yet from Miss A. Caroline Macdonald of London, Ontario, a sister of the late Dr. Jas. A. Macdonald, former editor of the Globe.

Miss Macdonald has been engaged in social service work, particularly among the prisons of Tokyo, during the past nine years. After a brilliantly successful academic career, she obtained her degree in arts at the University of Toronto in 1901. Later during a leave of absence from her work with the Y. W. C. A. in Japan, she took post-graduate work at the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, for a year.

Miss Macdonald first went to Japan in 1904 to become general secretary for the Y. W. C. A. of Japan. After ten years of singularly successful effort, she became one of the best known missionaries throughout the land. Then occurred an incident which changed the entire course of her life work.

emerged, quiet and steady to face the future. He was sentenced to life imprisonment, later commuted to 20 years.

The change in the man's morale so impressed the prison officials that they requested Macdonald to see what she could do to help over thirty men who were awaiting execution in the same prison. In this manner began the prison work which developed to such proportions as to necessitate the resignation of Miss Macdonald from her position with the Y. W. C. A. Incidentally she is the only lady who is an elder in a Presbyterian church in Japan.

The work has now developed to such an extent as to include connections with many other prisons, schools, families of prisoners, and the women's movement in general. Miss Macdonald has ably dealt with the conditions in two pamphlets entitled "The Woman Movement in Japan" and "The Individual in the Social Problem."

During her last visit to Canada in 1919-1920, Miss Macdonald addressed the Kivanians at a luncheon, in which she outlined Japanese prison conditions, and the need for reform. Since her first trip to Japan in 1914 she has returned to Canada about five times. Her social service work has been centered in Tokyo for the past nine years. The settlement is comfortably housed in quarters just opposite the British Embassy. As these are located on a high prominence in the centre of the city, hopes are entertained for her safety.

TINY PAPER TOLD STORY OF '77 FIRE

Copies of Daily Telegraph of the Day After Come to Light.

TWO HEARD OF
Frederick E. Driscoll and Miss Isabel G. Rainnie Have Them.

The Times' reference to a copy of the Daily Telegraph of Friday, June 22, 1877, two days after the big fire had destroyed a large portion of the city, has brought to light a valued copy of the issue of Thursday, June 21, the day following the fire. It is owned by Frederick E. Driscoll, electrician.

In the conflagration the entire plant of the Telegraph, along with other newspaper plants, was wiped out and for some time the paper was printed in the office of G. W. Day, whose place survived the flames. The issue of June 21 is a two page one, four columns wide and about fifteen inches long. The entire issue is given up to an account of the fire and a list of some of the sufferers by it.

Following are some extracts from this issue:

"The fire was first discovered in a building owned by Mr. Fairweather on the south of York Point slip, next to McLaughlan's boiler shop and to the latter building the flames had spread before the firemen had reached the scene. The engines arrived and did their best to stop the flames, but all their efforts were in vain. Nothing could be done.

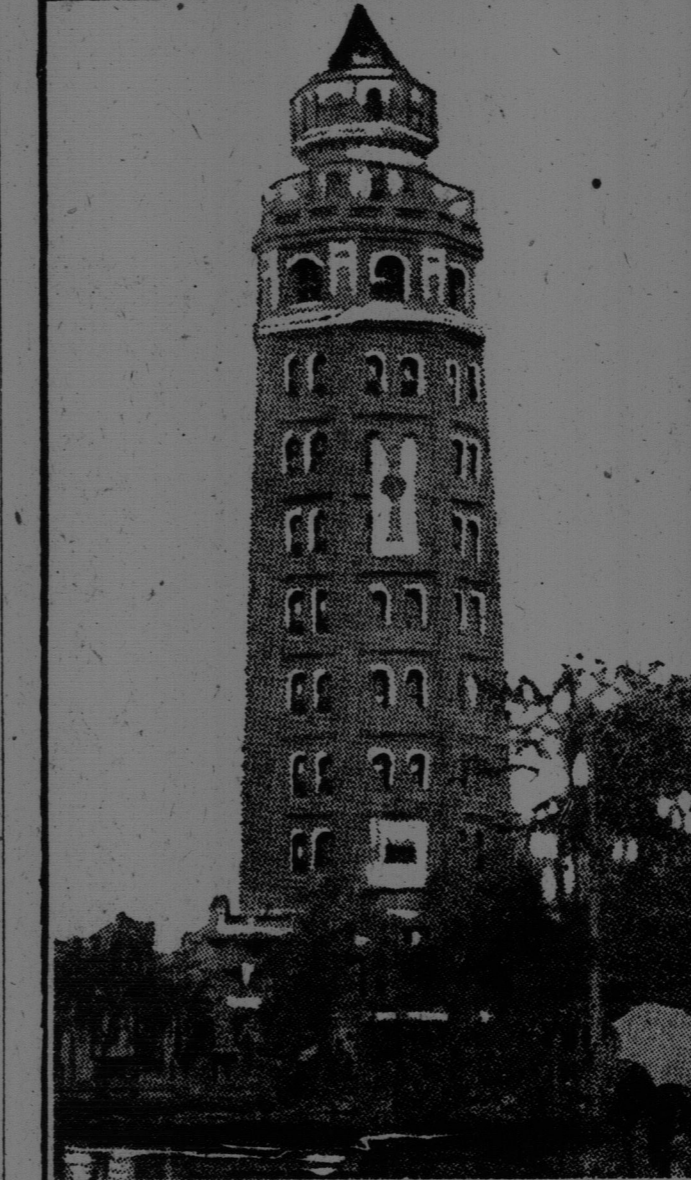

"When it was seen that the fire would inevitably sweep along either Dock or Mill streets, aid came from Portland in the shape of the town engine and firemen. They got to work right steadily, but the tinder boxes on the buildings were too much for the gallant workers, and almost in despair they saw the flames advance upon them with rapidity that appalled the stoutest hearts. The Carlton engine came in the ferry boat and lent its aid in the fire.

After giving an account of the progress of the flames it gives the following account of buildings destroyed and lives lost:

The following persons are reported to have lost their lives in the fire: Benjamin Williams, German street; Harold Gilbert, near Victoria Hotel; William McNeill, of James Adams and Co.'s establishment; Garrett Cotter, of James S. May's establishment. Two men whose names are unknown are reported run over and killed.

"Among the buildings destroyed are: Post Office, Bank of New Brunswick; City Building, Customs House, Maritime Bank Building, Bank of Nova Scotia building, Academy of Music, in which was housed the Knights of Pythias; Victoria Hotel, Old Fellows Hall; No. 1 Engine House; Orange Hall, King street; Temperance Lyceum, King street east; Dramatic Lyceum, Victoria school; Temple of Honor, Wiggins building; Barnes hotel, Royal Hotel, St. John Hotel, Acadia Hotel, Brunswick House, Bay View Hotel, International Hotel and Wiggins Orphan Asylum.

TOWER REPORTED FALLEN

This is Asakusa Tower, one of the features at Asakusa Park. Tokyo's famous amusement park, said to have collapsed with a huge loss of life in the earthquake. Big crowds are always at this place.

STORY OF PORT AND CITY THAT SUFFERED IN JAPANESE DISASTER

Yokohama Outlets to Sea for Tokio — Picturesque and Busting

Yokohama is the chief seaport of Japan, serving as an outlet to the sea for Tokio, which is located about eighteen miles northward. Yokohama is on the west shore of the Island of Honshu and, roughly, may be divided into three parts: Kwan-Nai, Kwan-Gwai and Minami-Yamati.

Kwan-Nai, facing the harbor, is the location of the business houses, the prefecture, Post Office, hotels and the official buildings of the municipality. It is a medley of Japanese and Occidental architecture. The western part of the city is known as Kwan-Gwai, and is the native part, typically Japanese, with shrines, native theatres, homes and business shops.

Minami-Yamati is the home of the foreign residents, and is on the bluff overlooking the city proper. Another bluff, not quite so high, is located to the northwest of the city, and is called Noge-yama. There are the homes of the more wealthy of the Japanese, each house surrounded, as are the homes of the foreigners, by large gardens. These homes are, for the most part, of frame construction, however.

The city itself is one of the most picturesque parts of a picturesque land. Adjoining the city is the fishing village where, in 1853, Commodore Perry, the first white person to visit Japan, landed, and in Yokohama are many quaint reminders of a Japanese age that has passed. There are the celebrated public gardens and the Buddhist Temple of Fudo. There also are the Yokohama race course and the cricket grounds. Another place of interest to the visitor is the famous Hundred Steps Tea House.

In the centre of the Japanese silk trade the city is well laid out, due perhaps, to the fact that virtually all of the city was of comparatively recent construction. The streets are well constructed, and municipal improvements are many, due to the fact that land occupied by foreigners is on lease from the Imperial Government, which devotes 20 per cent. of the yearly rentals to municipal expenses.

Yokohama Harbor, which is really a part of Tokio Bay, is ample, although somewhat exposed. In 1868 fire, and earthquakes in 1870 wrought much destruction. In 1886 an epidemic of cholera claimed 2,200 persons. Since that time, although earthquakes have been many, Yokohama's steady progress had been uninterrupted.

SENTIMENT HOPEFUL

Sentiment during the past week has, in the main, been decidedly hopeful as to the immediate future of Canadian industry, according to the summary of the markets furnished by the Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News in its latest issue. The summer lull is on the wane, and business is in sight. In the absence of important developments in the European situation, interest has turned to the home outlook. On this horizon there is a noted improvement in several important trades. Public buying is apparently again on the upgrade, although slowly. It would perhaps be misleading to say that autumn buying has thus soon given promise of a speedy resumption, and executives while emphasizing the fact that a stronger demand is apparent in many lines, make it very clear that caution is still uppermost in the minds of buyers, who are still restricting their purchases to present necessities. In many instances it has been evidenced that the downward trend of price has been checked, at least for the time being. Steel quotations, for instance, are expected to rule at or near present levels for some time to come. There have been no changes this week in quotations, and sales are reported as being good in all lines. Foundry iron sales are slow, only a few foundries being really active, and those on special orders. The Steel Company of Canada, with two furnaces in operation at Hamilton, state that iron shipments, mainly on contracts, are much in excess of new orders.

WHERE DO THEY DIE?

The statement has been made many times that no white man ever has seen the body of an elephant killed by natural causes, either in Africa or India, and where they go when they feel the summons is one of the secrets hidden from the most persistent student of natural history. writes The Ohio State Journal.

One of the stories on that subject is that there is a secret graveyard in the mountains in the interior of Africa, entrance to which man has not discovered, to which the elephants variedly journey to find their tomb, and shortly after they have been told of the millions of value in ivory there if venturesome man could but find the elephant sleeping grounds.

MUCH HERE THAT UPPER PROVINCES COULD PURCHASE

Broadening Out of Idea of Representative in Selling Campaign.

Are the Maritime Provinces to remain content with their present status in the Dominion or have they the faith in themselves to organize a selling campaign and sell themselves and their opportunities and possibilities to the young men of these provinces and to the rest of Canada?

This is a question which is agitating the minds of many who have faith in the Maritime Provinces, who believe they have the goods to offer and also believe that if the proposition is put before the other parts of the Dominion in the proper light these provinces by the sea will assume their rightful place in the federation.

Some time ago a suggestion was made that a travelling representative be appointed by the city of St. John to visit the manufacturers and shippers of the central and western parts of the Dominion and place before them the advantage of using St. John as a port of export and import for the goods they were sending overseas and bringing into the country from other lands.

This suggestion has now been widened out to include a campaign by the Maritime Provinces, with particular reference to the ports of St. John and Halifax but it is capable of much further broadening out to take in every industry of the three provinces.

MOTORS And Their Care

Practical Suggestions for Insuring the Longevity of the Car.

To Align Wire Wheels. When truing wire wheels, always true the diameter first...

Bent Rims Mean Trouble. Tires are sometimes blown from the wheels because of bent rims.

The Inflation. Never underinflate and never overinflate the tires. If they are too soft, they will heat up...

A Beauty Hint. A garage with large windows which permit the strong rays of the sun to come in and strike the car...

Care of Rims. A light coating of graphite and shellac rubbed over the rim every time a tire is changed will make the process of changing much easier.

Causes of Leaky Tubes. Leaky inner tubes come from a number of causes. It may be that the valve plunger is worn or sticky...

Worth Remembering. When a car is run slowly—in "high"—the rear wheels will cling to the road better.

The Old Reliable

Quality maintained for 40 years.

Inefficiency From Loose Gaskets. A loose gasket will suck air on the intake stroke of the engine, thus destroying the mixture which the combustion chamber has made...

Oil drained from the crankcase. Never oil a break lining.

Proper lubrication of steering mechanism is essential. Never turn the steering wheel while the car is standing still.

Because most spark plugs lose their efficiency after a few thousand miles of service, the very best plugs should be used and should always be kept clean.

All tubes should be carefully inspected before being inserted in a casing. The tubes may be full of weak spots, and will readily blow out when inflated.

One gallon of motor oil lubricates 1,000,000 square feet of cylinder area in an automobile before it is completely burned.

Chalk used in tires serves as a lubricant, and prevents the tube from chafing as it bends back and forth while in use.

Motorists are liable to arrest if they permit the license plates of their cars to become obscured by dirt or grease, or hidden by either a tire rack, trunk or bumper.

in operation by Sept. 20; that the distribution system in the central part of the city was very nearly completed; and that they were having some delay in street light shipments and cedar poles.

West Side Line Located.

In connection with the West Side distribution system, the engineer recommended that the line be placed on the original location, in the highway, as the best method to pursue.

The engineer was given authority to negotiate with the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission for the purchase of two steel towers to carry the line across the highway bridge and to call for tenders for the foundation for the towers.

The recommendation of the engineer that the following tenders for line material be accepted, subject to authority matters.

R. A. McAvity, chairman, presided and Commissioners J. N. Flood, F. S. A. McMullin and Mayor Fisher were present.

ization of the expenditure by the Common Council, was adopted: Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., $5,121.75; H. M. Hopper, $29.36; Canadian Porcelain Co., $1,442; Irving Smith, $271.78; Canadian Westinghouse Co., $4,535.80; Northern Electric Co., Ltd., $1,391.33; E. Leonard & Son, Ltd., $35.5; a total of $13,686.59.

The report of the committee appointed to deal with the matter of extras in connection with the steel superstructure at the sub-station was presented by J. N. Flood. They recommended that the bill of the St. John Iron Works of $4,725.56, be paid, as they found it was correct, the actual weight of the steel being more than the commission was billed for and they felt the contractor was entitled to the extra price of thirty cents per hundred pounds, as it was two months from the time the bill was submitted until the tender was accepted and the expenditure authorized.

A report from the engineer of the commission to Mayor Fisher in connection with the accident in Water street, in which one of the Power Company wires had fallen through it, was claimed, on the part of the city distribution system, announced the wire which had fallen was a dead one and there had not been any 23 services interrupted.

Fern Oakley, Former Ziegfeld Girl, Has No Regrets at Breaking Follies Law and Not Marrying a Millionaire—Has Forsaken the Stage For the Screen.

(Toronto Star)
Fern Oakley, the Ziegfeld Follies beauty, who astounded the theatrical profession when she "married for love" some five months ago, informed the Star that "love in a cottage" does not always mean that the last lump of the winter coal is being carefully hoarded in the kitchen refrigerator. Or, as she emphatically said: "They told me I was the only girl in the Follies who didn't marry a millionaire, but I was the only one who got an all-diamond wedding ring." And she twiddled a slender finger with the precious circlet at her husband, John Wilton Crosby.

and charming to the mere man from the Star.
Yes, It Was Love.
"Did you really marry Mr. Crosby because you loved him?" It seems such an out-of-the-way thing to do," said the reporter.
"Well, I did, anyway, so there! And I certainly love him! Don't I?" She nodded to her husband, who gravely nodded assent.
"He had a sort of theatrical book-keeping office. So I started to work for him."
"Oh, yes," interjected Mr. Crosby, "she started to work in pictures first and later I merely took her out and put her to work for me."
"It must have been quite a sacrifice to give up a millionaire," commented the Star.
"Well, it had its compensations," she replied. "Mr. Crosby gave me a

SALLY CHAMBERS.

Charleston, W. Va.—Sally Chambers, 28-year-old widow of a miner killed two years ago, is going back into McDowell County to avenge his death. With her she will take, not a gun, but knowledge newly acquired and the spirit of the Constitution of America. Ed Chambers, Mingo County deputy sheriff, was shot down while with Sid Hatfield, as he stood unarmed on the steps of the Welch court house. His girl-wife was behind him. He died in her arms.
At that time she knew little, as books go. But she realized that her one hope of vengeance lay in her acquisition of knowledge. She studied hard. And she learned much. "Now," Sally Chambers says grimly, "I'm going back and I intend to carry the Constitution with me. If the miners and operators of the coal regions will abide by the provisions of the Federal Constitution the trouble will end. There will be no more bloodshed, no more threats of death and intimidation."

"I shall devote my life to reinstating law and order to my native hills and I intend to accomplish that aim by appealing to the civilized sections of America."

big touring car for a wedding present and we really enjoy this "love in a cottage," or rather "love in a flat" proposition. Don't we, John?"
Mrs. Crosby said that one of her greatest delights was cooking. She vowed that the dishes she concocted were fit for a Persian prince.
"What dish is your specialty?" asked the reporter.
"Mr. Crosby is in a sound position to give you this information."
"Yes, indeed," he said, "she boils water beautifully." And he solemnly raised his right hand to testify.

The Temperamental Agnes.
But the ex-Follies beauty was not at all disturbed, and began to talk of some of her amusing experiences.
Agnes Ayres found considerable cause to rebuke her once. Mrs. Crosby was playing the role of a nurse in a picture in which Agnes Ayres was starring. It was her duty to administer an anesthetic to Agnes at a stated time, but for almost half an hour she had been standing at the bedside. Suddenly the oil dropped from her hands and flowed over the face of Miss Ayres. Agnes was almost nasty about it.
"What did she say?" asked the Star.
"Oh, she got temperamental and said that I had spoiled her make-up and of course she said a lot of other things. Later on, however, she forgave me."
"It felt really wonderful another time, when I was all dolled up in the sweetest evening clothes and had to parade before Bebe Daniels," she went on. She rolled her eyes heavenward to suitably express her appreciation of the moment.
Friend Hubby's Comment.
"She was merely showing Bebe how clothes should be worn," offered Mr. Crosby.
"It is really necessary to know what you think of Rodolph Valentino," stated the reporter.
"I don't like him. Oh, I was really disappointed. He sat next to me one night at the Follies show and I didn't like him at all."
"He wore a little moustache!" she said. "But I think Gloria Swanson truly wonderful, she is always the first to say stop work."
Then she started to talk about the life of a Follies girl. It was most exciting. Plenty of opportunity for fun, but one couldn't really go to the parties

I was the most profitable action I have ever taken, I heartily assure you, for through its results: an relief of most of my sufferings. I have taken six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains in other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' period I worked on munitions for two years and in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing pelvic inflammation from which I have suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctors for several years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicine."

"Just what do you drink?" asked the reporter.
"Largely depends upon what she drank the night before," ventured her husband.
"It doesn't," and she stamped her dainty foot. "I drink milk."
Forsook the Follies.
Fern Oakley has forsaken the Follies and the footlights and from now on will devote all her talent to the silver screen. One of the first steps of her husband was to take her from the members of the remaining Indian tribes, says an Associated Press despatch from that city.

MODERN INDIAN TO PROVE SAVAGE WAYS ARE GONE

Pow-Wow in Chicago Will Show Progress Made by Redmen.
A campaign to eliminate any existing belief that the primitive methods of the American Indian are still employed will be started at a pow wow to be held in Chicago September 24-30, which will bring together the leading members of the remaining Indian tribes, says an Associated Press despatch from that city.

"It is for the purpose of showing the people of the country that the American Indian, who always has been looked upon as a scalp hunting tribe, is only a kind, intelligent and educated man enjoying life in his own simple way, that the pow wow is planned," according to Miss Catherine Cook, Indian worker establishing closer relations between the Indians and the Department of the Interior.

"From many Indian reservations of the country will come the Indian braves and squaws, not in their native attire, but in the habiliments of civilized people. They will formulate plans whereby they can have better representation and better conditions. These tribal leaders seek a relationship with the Interior Department which will not keep them inconspicuous because of their inability to deal directly with the department. They desire a method of procedure which will be one of co-ordination."
Indian activities, at present widespread, will be coalesced, if the plans of the convention are realized. Several Indian teams of lacrosse players will start East before the pow wow, playing an elimination series en route. The two teams surviving the series will clash in Chicago for final honors.

One of the forest preserves adjacent to Chicago will be named during the convention. An Indian village will make its appearance therein during the convention. Indian music, displays and other exhibitions of Indian lore will be held during the week.

She was very beautiful and called in answer to an advertisement for a typewriter.
"Where were you employed last?" asked the head of the firm.
"In a doll factory," replied the applicant.
"And what were your duties there?" was the next question.
"Making eyes," she replied with a smile.
"Very well. You are engaged," she was informed, "but please don't demonstrate your capabilities when my wife is around."

MUST PRESERVE
SELF GOVERNMENT

Canadian Bar Association
President on Uniform Legislation.

Anglo-Saxon principles of local self-government should be sedulously preserved, but the disadvantages of such a system must be recognized, and means be taken to minimize discord between the provincial laws if the people are not to continue to suffer moral and material loss and damage, declared Sir James Aikins, K. C., Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and president of the Canadian Bar Association, in addressing the Conference of Commissioners on Uniform Legislation last Thursday morning in the Mount Royal Hotel in Montreal. The president was supported by a group of eminent jurists from all over Canada.

"The conference has done excellent work, not well-known because not advertised or published," Sir James said. "But it is enough that the best thought and effort should be put forth to produce models of good laws in the various provinces, and then fall to press them before legislatures for enactment, leaving them abortive productions? Governments must be pressed. All of us do not lie awake at nights studying out what are the real ills people bear, what the disadvantages under which people work, and what are the causes of those ills and disadvantages. They can only be avoided by the combined action of those who suffer and are willing to assist. There must be public opinion behind all reform. Burke said—'Where there is abuse there ought to be clamour, for it is better to have our slumber broken by the fire bell than to perish amidst the flames in our bed.'"

"You commissioners know the benefits arising from that Anglo-Saxon principle of local government communities legislating for themselves concerning property and civil rights and administering the laws they make within their own territory, a right which should be faithfully preserved. You also know the disadvantages. You know that to the extent of their rights they are foreign states to the adjoining communities or provinces, each jealous of its own autonomy, each desiring the deleterious effect upon the people of contiguous territories with whom they have dealings and, reciprocally, upon themselves. The people of the several provincial governments do not consider the moral and material loss and damage they suffer by reason of discord between local and provincial laws, relating to commerce and the like.

Economic Loss.
"Much of that could be avoided by the passage of uniform provincial laws, and in that way preserving provincial jurisdiction and the economic loss from the uncertainty, inconvenience and expense of litigation in different provinces. For people will not continue to suffer uncertainty, inconvenience and economic loss from divergent laws, but to prevent such, will urge federal legislation, regardless of provincial enactments. The lawyers of Canada, desiring to co-ordinate through the Canadian Bar Association and this Conference of Commissioners, to avoid or mitigate local and damage by having the local jurisdictions or provinces adopt uniform legislation on subjects common to all, and at the same time to preserve and centralization.

"The work of the Commissioners has a two-fold purpose: (a) to secure uniformity of the written or statute laws of the provinces governing the same subjects; (b) to obviate conflicting decisions of courts in different provinces on the same questions."
"In forming the model uniform acts we should have ever in our thoughts what will be best for the people at large. Efforts to make modification of the model uniform acts or opposition to them may be expected wherever they affect large monetary interests or dividend paying corporations, for those seek their own advantage too often in disregard of the public welfare. But that of the spirit of some governments should not deter the Commissioners of the Conference from pro-

SPORT NEWS GLEANED FROM WORLD'S CENTRES

FIRPO TRAINING ON RAW MEAT

The Argentine "Wild Man" Bathes in Ice Water and Sleeps on Floor.

Atlantic City, Sept. 8.—A little more speed, a little more power in the punches and a little more mercy on the sparring partners was noticeable in the first of Luis Angel Firpo's heavy workouts for his battle with Jack Dempsey September 14. The Argentine, still in a jovial mood, stepped seven rounds with his helpers and sent them all to the dressing room with chimes in their ears.

his face into a countless number of straight lefts. Koebele Gets Lacing. Frank Koebele, the light-heavyweight, suffered most at the fists of Firpo. In the second half of their session the Argentine caught the Brooklyn youngster in the ribs with a right and Frank doubled up like a pocket knife. Firpo desisted for a moment or two and Koebele was able to resume with vigor. Natalio Pera took an unusually heavy mauling and was hanging on when time was called. The road work yesterday morning was all on the boardwalk, as a heavy rain on Monday left the dirt roads muddy. Firpo was out about two hours and then before breakfast, spent an hour on defensive work inside his cottage. A number of Firpo's Buenos Aires friends and admirers were at the training camp. There are now more than a score of Argentines here. Meyer Saul, Edison Hotel owner, and May Badier are planning a banquet for Firpo and his friends the latter part of this week.

Firpo believes that his queer ring style will be more valuable to him against Jack Dempsey than all the American pugilistic tricks he could learn. Keeps Them Guessing. The South American's sparring partners are authority for the statement that one can never tell what the Angel is going to do next. "He doesn't box well and he seems awkward," they say, "yet he keeps a fellow guessing. Sometimes it looks like his right is getting ready to swing and then the left shoots out, and vice versa." Jeff Clarke, the Joplin Ghost, bobbed around for one round and pushed the shiftiest veterans of the game, says Firpo is the "fooliest man" he ever stepped around with. "Jes' can't tell what dat man is goin' to do," said Jeff after taking a lacing in his sparring round with the challenger for the world's title. "And yo' can't beat him to a punch. He meets yo' left and he meets yo' right and he punches yo' head till yo' can't see nothing but fists. "I boxed Dempsey and I boxed all de good 'uns, but dis old boy an de hardest hittin' one I ever seed. He sho' gona give Massa Dempsey a terrible battle."

Bats Raw Meat. If P. T. Barnum were living he would employ Angel Firpo, put him in a tent, write a sign on the front: "The Argentine wild man—eats raw meat, bathes in ice water, washes with common soap and sleeps on a bed of rocks" and tell the truth. The South American pugilist bathes in ice water and the scientists who have examined him say it is not compared with the blood that runs in his veins. When the Angel makes his morning ablutions he uses the commonest common American soap. Between meals he goes into the kitchen, passes the time of day with Albertino, the chef, and takes a piece of uncooked sirloin to chew upon. And when the time for retiring comes and the trainers, the interpreters and the sparring partners hop into their little white beds Luis Angel goes to his room, takes the mattress off the downy couch, throws it on the floor and lies down to rest. When morning comes and it is time to get up Luis Angel usually may be found curled up in a corner on the floor. "Beds," says he, "are uncomfortable."

"Mont" Gerow was fined $50 by the judges of the horse races at Presque Isle yesterday because in their opinion he was not driving to win. The 218 mixed class was won by The Ultimate, three out of five heats. The 211 mixed class went to Socharose, three out of five heats, best time 2:09 1/4. A named race was won by Northern Belle, three out of four heats, best time 2:14 1/4.

FINALS OF TWO I LEAGUE TODAY
Saints and Fredericton, at 2.30; Second at 5 if Needed.

The championship of the Two-I League will be definitely settled today when St. Peter's and Fredericton meet at St. Peter's Park. The first game will be at 2.30 o'clock and if a second one is necessary it will be started at 5 o'clock. At the present time Fredericton have four wins to their credit and St. Peter's three. In order to win the championship St. Peter's must win both games.
As a result of Fredericton's refusal yesterday to stand by their original agreement to play the two final games—[it necessary on St. Peter's Park, a deadlock resulted and it was not until last evening that arrangements were completed for the play-off. Fredericton agreed to play one game on the local park, but in event of losing demanded that the final game be played in Fredericton. This did not meet with the approval of the local management and for a time it looked as if the series would terminate unsatisfactorily, but matters were straightened out during the evening.
The games should prove interesting as both teams will put forth every effort to win and thus clinch the title of the Two-I League and then be in line to play-off with St. Stephen for the championship of the province.

ROYALS WON.

A Negro City of 150,000 In the Heart of New York

(Christian Science Monitor) Of all the foreign populations in New York City—Irish, Italian, German, Jew—no nationality has so compactly localized a group as that of the Negro community, extending from Eighth Avenue to the Harlem River and from One Hundred and Thirtieth to One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Streets. Here are shops, theatres, churches, newspaper offices, beauty parlors, all in the hands of Negroes. Walk down One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street from Washington Heights to the Harlem River, and almost all the people you will meet are Negroes. And you will observe that there are divisions and classes within this active, compact community. It is just like one of the shabby Negro quarters in the southern states where all the inhabitants have almost a common status. This is an organized, self-supporting group with strong individual characteristics. There are well-dressed men and women and there are many in working clothes. An aristocratic looking baby carriage is crumpled along. A dainty blue robe and dainty white clothing wrap the baby inside. And a block further on comes a sturdy youngster in tatters. There are rich and poor, alms and boulevards, illiterate and educated in this city of 150,000 in the heart of New York. And there are many different types, many diverse beliefs and cultures, forced together by the common bond of color. So while the black city is unified in being not white, it is much less homogeneous in other respects. The Immigrants More Radical. Africans and West Indians jostle the American-born Negro at every turn. There are really few of the traditional southern plantation Negroes in this community. One hears the Spanish accent of the West Indian more often than the "old Virginia" dialect. And one hears often the crisp, staccato speech of the typical New Yorker, if there is such a person. The alien Negro is more sophisticated, as a rule. Often he is an intellectual and a radical. The home product is less aggressive, on the whole, is 100 per cent. American, and inclined, when aspiring to choose the ideal of Booker T. Washington and seek race equality through industrial progress. In their shops and offices, their homes and schools and churches, these thousands of black folk represent thousands of individual reactions, of personal problems, bound together in the one great problem of race. There is an air of self-assertion, not unpleasantly displayed, among the people on the street. It is their street, their community, and they go about with a sense of pride and responsibility that is often lacking when Negroes live among larger masses of whites. One meets the shuffling idler, as in every city street, but the alert worker is there too. A stalwart turbaned mammy shuffles by, and after her comes a lithe, narrow-hipped and many Negro characteristics, her skin hardly more than a dusky olive, with the rich rose showing through. Six weekly newspapers of considerable influence and stability are published in the Negro Harlem community, and are distributed to a fair-sized public among colored readers throughout the United States. The editors are alert, intelligent men with a keen appreciation of the restless stirrings, the social and political ideals that kindle their neighbors. Churches and Sunday schools are active and hold a large place in the community. The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are managed by all-colored staffs. The "Colored Library."

IS WRITING HIS AUTOBIOGRAPHY

Charles Mair, Veteran Canadian Author, is Visiting Victoria.

(Victoria Colonist.) "We do not want it to be narrow in character. We want it on the contrary, to be broad in its view and its interest, at the same time reflecting the noble history and traditions of this great country." In these words Charles Mair, well-known Canadian writer, summed up the characteristics of the Canadian literature that should be hoped for, in an interview with a Colonist reporter. He was pleased to say that such a literature was developing in this country. Mr. Mair, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Cann, of Calgary, is on a few weeks' visit to Victoria. He is in his eighty-fifth year, is apart from the little touch of asthma, in excellent health and shows little evidence of the eventful life which he has lived. As a pathfinder, soldier and poet his name is known all over the Dominion. In the field of literature Mr. Mair's name is possibly best known by his dramatic work "Tecumseh," in which

So genuinely good is its reputation in our Home Provinces here in the East, folks who like good Tea are wont to say: "We use RED ROSE TEA."

The fine quality of RED ROSE COFFEE will please particular people.

he weaves through the medium of shorter poems, and as a member of the Royal Society of Canada he contributed to its records a valuable work on "The American Bison," a subject with which Mr. Mair was familiar due to the fact that he spent so many years on the Canadian prairies. At present he is writing his autobiography, which should indeed be a very interesting work, covering the development period of Canada's history. Associated directly with the country's history in its making, he has a valuable fund of information to give. His connection with the Canadian Northwest dates back to the beginning of things in the way of settlement. As a result of his reports on the country the first flood of immigration went to that section of the Dominion. He was on the ground when the first Red rebellion took place and was, in fact, a prisoner with Scott, who was put to death by the rebels. Mr. Mair made his escape and for many years served his country on the prairies before he was called upon in the second Red rebellion to again serve under arms. Mr. Mair has kept in close touch with the development of Canadian literature. The earlier school of writers was contemporaneous with him when he was actually engaged in writing, and while of late years he has not been very active in writing himself, he has kept in touch with the various writers and their work. ing with a Colonist reporter yesterday, he expressed his satisfaction that Canadian writers were attaining to high standards. Mr. Mair is one of the two original members still living of the "Canada First" movement which was organized in Toronto in 1868. The other member now living is Col. George Denton of Toronto. This organization, which followed closely on confederation, had for its object the sinking of provincialism in the newly-created Dominion and the replacing of it by a broad spirit of Canadianism. There has recently been some allusions to the organization and Mr. Mair is dealing at some length with it and its objects in his autobiography. Some phases of the early days after the confederation of Canada were influenced in no small measure by the pressure that the "Canada First" organization was able to bring to bear. Mr. Mair believes that this body alone prevented the recall of the expedition of what was afterwards Lord Wolseley and his force in the days of the first Red rebellion.

New Pastor of St. Andrew's Church and His Wife

REV. J. S. BONNELL

MRS. J. S. BONNELL

Rev. J. S. Bonnell, newly inducted pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, is a native of Charlottetown, P. E. I. He received his education in the public schools there, going later to Prince of Wales College and then to Dalhousie University, Halifax, where in 1919 he secured the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He pursued his divinity studies at Pine Hill Theological College, Halifax, leaving there in the spring of 1922, having taken high honors and receiving a high honors diploma. For two years previous he had been in charge of the Presbyterian church at Cavendish, P. E. I., and on leaving Pine Hill he received a call there, which he accepted. He held the pastorate there until coming to St. John this week.

Gasped in War. Rev. Mr. Bonnell enlisted as a gunner in the 8th Siege Battery from Prince Edward Island, under the command of Major Peake of Charlottetown, in 1916. At Armentieres he was severely gassed. This was the first occasion on which use of mustard gas was common, although it had been used at Ypres three days before, and word has not reached the troops at Armentieres. He was invalided home in the spring of 1918. He returned home with the rank of acting sergeant-major. He had been recommended for a commission, but was not able to take it because he could not get back into "A" class because of the effect of the gas. He was married on June 28 of this year to Miss Bessie Louise Carruthers of Charlottetown, a daughter of Dr. Carruthers. She was educated at Prince of Wales and Macdonald College, St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., and for two years previous to her marriage was supervisor of Women's Institutes for Prince Edward Island.

Rev. Mr. Bonnell and his wife come to St. John under auspicious circumstances and have been heartily welcomed to the city.

CROWDED-OVER BY FOREIGN CAR

Driver in Blagdon Fatal Accident Testifies at Inquest.

The inquest into the accident which resulted in the death of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bangs and their son, Esmonde, last Monday night near Blagdon, was begun last night before Coroner Dr. A. A. Lewin, Welsford. Three witnesses, R. C. McLean, M. W. Parke and Harrison Driscoll, were examined and the enquiry postponed until next Tuesday evening. Mr. McLean testified that the party were proceeding to their homes in Fredericton and when nearing the Blagdon bridge saw a large foreign car coming toward them. This car was crowding the road and he pulled over to the right side of the road. As the car passed he, feeling that he was too far over to the right for safety, turned quickly to the left and before he or anyone else realized it the result of the accident was through the rail of the bridge and into the gulley below. M. W. Parke and Harrison Driscoll told of the work of rescue and removal of the bodies of the dead. Mr. Parke arrived on the scene a short time after the accident and helped to lift the car off the injured party and in conveying them to the house where they were cared for. He also telephoned to the city for the ambulance. Later, on the direction of the coroner, he helped remove the bodies of those who were killed.

BUT MOTHER WAS THE ONLY REMEDY

Have you ever tried to pacify a strange five-week-old baby through three long hours of wailing? Yes? Well, read this and you will realize what Miss Jean White who is in charge of the nursery at the exhibition had to contend with yesterday. No? Then, read it anyway and thank your stars for being able to answer in the negative.

It was a most innocent, peaceful, law-abiding little bundle of humanity that was placed in Miss White's care early in the afternoon. It lay in its tiny cot slumbering serenely until its fond parents passed through the doorway to enjoy the sights of the big show. It remained so for as long as five minutes—sufficiently long to allow Father and Mother to mingle with the crowds and then—Zero hour was 3:15, and the assault opened on schedule time. That child did not spend five long weeks on earth without learning something. It certainly knew what its lungs and vocal chords were intended for and it proceeded to display its proficiency—aye, and the strength with which both were endowed.

Miss White immediately diagnosed the ailment as an acute case of hunger and commenced to administer the prescribed remedies. But even the product of one of the best milk herds in the show was no inducement to this snuggly creature and the preferred food continued its clear cut and decisive protestations against the tender care that was being lavished upon it—aye, and sometimes lacking somewhere. Rocking was just as ineffectual; crooning was useless and protracted pacing of the floor with the tiny creature wrought no beneficial results. That child had a definite object in view and there was no denying it. The minutes dragged along into weary and worrysome hours and the sole was sustained. The nurses were about ready to resign the attempt to stem the flood of howling when there appeared the only effective remedy.

Mother had arrived. She took her little offspring in her arms. A few unintelligible words into the clin ear and slowly the brakes went on. The howl reduced itself to a cry and the cry to a spasmodic whinge and, finally, the tear-filled eyes brightened and peace and quiet reigned once more.

But it was a strenuous time while it lasted. Rev. W. B. Armstrong has returned from Windsor, N. S., where he spent the summer. Earlier in the season he met with an accident when he was knocked down by an automobile at Rothery and his foot was run over. He is still suffering from the effects of the accident, but is able to be up and about. During his stay in Windsor he found the residents were greatly regretting the removal of King's College from the town. Mr. Armstrong is himself a graduate of King's and a loyal son of his Alma Mater, who is sorry that King's should remove from Windsor and to some extent sink its identity in the larger university at Halifax. Mr. Armstrong is a graduate of the class of 1863, of which there are now only three survivors. The other two are Judge Townsend of Wolfville and Rev. Dr. Bullock of Windsor. The three former classmates met in Wolfville this summer and had great pleasure in recalling their college days.

REMEMBER WHEN—

Zera Semon opened an engagement at the Mechanics' Institute on Thursday, October 11, 1894. There was considerable talk and publicity regarding the advisability of opening a new and up-to-date hotel in St. John during October, 1894. Harry Russell, abductor of Sadie Crawford from her home in Musquash, was taken to Dorchester to serve a term of imprisonment on Monday, October 22, 1894. Eddie Connolly only took one minute and three-quarters to demonstrate his superiority over Pete Manning of Boston in the Mechanics' Institute on Monday, October 22, 1894.

FROM BOSTON. The Eastern Steamship liner, Governor Dingley was expected to arrive from Boston via Eastport and Lubec a little before 12 o'clock today. She has 150 passengers and a fair-sized general cargo.
