Roosevelt and Coal

All Eyes Now Turned Toward the U. S. Capital.

President Mitchell of the Miners Union Declines to Express an Opinion.

A Tare Trick—Some One Sends Peculiar Circulars to the Non-English Speaking Miners.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—It has been decided that Attorney General Knox shall attend the conference tomorrow between the president, the coal operators and Mr. Mitchell. He will be the only member of the cabinet who will be present.

While everyone connected with the administration is extremely reticent concerning the conference, there is a feeling of hope among those close to a settlement of the strike.

WILKESBARE, Pa., Oct. 2.—Mr. Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, accompanied by District Presidents Nichols, Duffy and Fahy, left here this evening for Washington.

Mr. Mitchell declined to express an opinion. All he would say was that he hoped for the best.

There has been placed in my hands indisputable evidence of an attempt on the part of the operators to create discord among our non-English speaking members through the circulation of pamphlets containing malicious and scurrilous attacks upon the officers of the organization.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 2.—Sentiment among the representatives of the coal operators here has undergone a change since yesterday regarding the action of President Roosevelt in assuming the role of an intermediary to settle the strike.

SH GARRISON ARRIVES. X, Sept. 28.—The Australian is afternoon with the 5th division regiment. The troops are and until Tuesday morning. Canadians are still occupied.

Bad Boys

St. John's Tan Yard Gang Not In It

With the Juvenile Assassins Who Make Paris the Centre of Murder.

There are bad boys in St. John. So there are in Paris. In each city their presence is largely the result of an ill-paid police force.

G. R. Sims, who is at present in Paris, gives the following picture of the awful state of lawlessness in the City of Light.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 2.—A crowd of strikers at Throop tonight were given a rather unpleasant surprise party. They attacked a train going to the Pinecrest colliery, which they supposed contained non-unionists.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—National President John Mitchell and District President Nichols, Duffy and Fahy passed through this city tonight en route to Washington.

BATH. Light Crops of Potatoes and Buckwheat—Much Bulling Operations—A Bridge Wanted.

BATH, Carleton Co., Oct. 1.—The wet weather at the present is very much hindering the farmers from finishing harvesting.

Building still continues. Rupert Hutchinson will begin the erection of his large warehouse near the railway track in the rear of the Free Baptist church.

Miss Dora Cox returned to the village this week accompanied by Miss Velma Jones, both of whom have been absent in Lewiston, Me., for two years.

Rev. G. A. Giberson and others will start tomorrow to attend the quarterly session of the Primitive Baptists at East Windsor and continue over Sunday, the 7th inst.

A large amount of game seems to have been taken from the upper section of the St. John River this fall.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 2.—C. Meaden, the oldest Oddfellow in the country, is dead. He was a member of the order for 68 years.

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Oct. 2.—The Anchor flour mill here was totally destroyed by fire today; loss $5,000.

King's Probate Court

The Chapman Festival Chorus—Blis of News.

HAMPTON. King's Co. Oct. 2.—Business in the probate court today was very light, and at the close of the sitting Judge Gilbert announced that he would adjourn the court to Friday, October 17th, instead of Thursday, the 16th, the latter being "Thanksgiving Day."

The will of the late Robert Hamilton of Sussex, farmer, was duly proved, and the executors named therein—High Alton of Sussex, farmer, and John Prescott, formerly owner of the land—were sworn in.

Mr. Allison died the will of the late Robert Harper, formerly owner of the land, with the registrar of wills, etc., Robert Morrison, together with the remuneration of the executors, Theodore Chalmer and Wilfred Harper, respectively.

N. M. Barnes of Linden Heights sold off his household effects, farm stock, and animals by auction today, preparing for the removal of his family to Boston.

Al. Lawrence of Passages Road has purchased from Dr. Doherty the horse Telmasque, formerly owned by James Pullen, but sold at auction on Wednesday at Sussex. It is understood that the price paid was $400, or $50 in advance of the auction price.

It is quite probable the members of the Hampton contingent of the festival chorus will keep up their practice during the winter, their good work in the concert of Monday and Tuesday was most favorably commented on at their close by Director Chapman, especially that of the alto, who were called "most perfect" in all the choruses.

BRUTAL ASSAULT UPON MR. LITTLEFIELD AT HER HOME, NEAR ELLSWORTH. ELLSWORTH, Me., Oct. 2.—While alone in her house at Penobscot, 35 miles from here, Mrs. Joseph D. Littlefield was brutally assaulted this noon and had not regained consciousness at midnight.

M. McDADE

Makes Telling Points Against the Tweedie-Pugsley Combine.

His Scorching Arraignment of D. G. Smith—Some Solid Facts for the Consideration of New Brunswick's Tax Payers.

CAMPBELLTON, Sept. 28.—Michael McDeade made many telling points against the Tweedie-Pugsley combination in his speech tonight. He quoted from the home organ of Mr. Tweedie—the Chatham Advance—which stated that "the St. John Daily Sun, the St. John Globe and Michael McDeade, has formed a triple alliance against the local government."

The article went on to say that he should take the election to his confidence and give the reasons for his present opposition to Mr. Tweedie—that "he might, for instance, explain why the reports of the debates, when he made them, cost so much more than they since he resigned."

The Advance is said to be owned by D. G. Smith, who was the official reporter of the house of assembly in 1888. Considering that the records of the country show him (Smith) to be a defaulter to the province in connection with his reporting contract, one would think that the matter of official reporting would be a rather delicate question for him to now touch.

The debates of 1888 contain this information: "Mr. Willms asked when the government expected the reports of the session of 1878."

"Hon. Mr. Fraser said D. G. Smith had been promising all along to furnish them. Mr. Smith had not done right in the matter. He should have fulfilled his contract for which he had been paid."

script appears to be willing to go. It thinks that the condition of things are as they were some 20 years ago, when Liberals and conservatives united for a change of government at Fredericton. (Applause.)

In his letter to the Globe he (McDeade) made no reflection upon any member of the local government. He thought it would have had better taste than to have done so. Now, he had been attacked and belittled by the party hacks, he felt that he might give some additional reasons why he could not see his way clear to support the present government. Many things had happened since Mr. Tweedie and Mr. Pugsley assumed the reins of power to lessen the public confidence. They had palliated the Horthesay forgery. (Applause.) They had passed legislation giving five per cent. to the attorney general for settling succession duties, when under Premier Blair, Premier Mitchell and Premier Emmerson only one and a half per cent. was charged for such work. (Applause.)

They had passed legislation during the absence of one of their colleagues, who had been promised to have the settlement of such duties in lieu of portfolio recognition. (Applause.) They had paid in one year to the attorney general of the province some $9,000—sum larger than that received by the premier of Canada. They had also paid the leader of the opposition government as much for travelling expenses as paid any other provincial secretary. (Applause.)

These were some of the reasons why he could not see his way clear longer to support the present government. He had the same feeling of distrust in the present leaders that many of the business men of the province had, and he was averse to find a feeling among the class that there was a danger that the laws of the land might be changed for the interest of the client of some able legal gentleman whose ability all recognized. (Applause.) He did not wish to reflect upon gentlemen like Messrs. Dunn, Parris, Hill and Lablache; but he had seen enough to know that they were not in the hands of such gentlemen as Messrs. Tweedie and Pugsley. There is one gentleman in the government—Mr. McKewen—who, he recognized, his power as his friends do, would have long ago taken a leading place in the government. Had he insisted upon his rights he might have had a real liberal government in power at Fredericton. He went into the government under Mr. Emmerson and his friends. Since Mr. Emmerson's retirement from provincial politics Mr. Tweedie seems never to have forgiven Mr. McKewen for the speech the latter made at Andover in 1888, when he declared that the present premier was honorable before his name by methods the most dishonorable. Neither does Mr. McKewen appear to have forgiven Mr. McKewen for his having reminded the legislature in 1890 what the St. John Globe said of him (Mr. Pugsley) when he was appointed to the office of solicitor general. This is what the Globe said on that occasion: "The question comes more strongly to the liberal mind when the administration is added to—we can scarcely say strengthened by the admission of a person of the speculative nature and uncertain conservative proclivities of Mr. Pugsley. It is possible that under the control of a strong leader like Mr. Blair, the peculiar elements of Mr. Pugsley's political composition may be so moulded and kneaded that one need not fear for the safety of the province, the safety of the provincial treasury or the security of liberal principles." (Applause.)

After a few months Mr. Pugsley called himself a conservative, an independent and a liberal. Premier Tweedie, after having been a conservative all his life, doing what he could to defeat the liberal candidate in Northumberland in the last election, he now asks the Liberals of the province to save his government from destruction. His position and that of Mr. Pugsley is like that of the drowning infidel. As he was going down the last time the infidel cried out for help, that he was a believer in the Christian teaching. The man who might have rescued him shouted out: "It is the first time you were in a state of grace, and you may never be in such a state again, so I will let you go." (Laughter and applause.) So I believe it will be with Messrs. Tweedie and Pugsley. If they are liberals now they may not be in "a state of grace" later, and it was his honest belief that the liberals of the province will let them share the fate of the infidel. (Applause.)

In conclusion, Mr. McDeade paid a splendid tribute to Mr. Mott, than whom he said no more honorable man ever sat in the legislature of his native province. The government might now try to belittle Mr. Mott, but in his decision they had lost their stone right arm in the northern part of the province, and this magnificent audience is a living evidence that that gentleman has the hearts of the people of his country in his stand for honesty and justice in the administration of public affairs. (Loud applause.)

GEN. BOOTH'S VISIT.

There is considerable excitement at the Salvation Army headquarters owing to the event of General Booth's visit to the city of St. John, to which all members of this organization are eagerly looking forward. A most hearty and enthusiastic welcome will be given to their venerable chief, who, regardless of his advanced years, is undertaking a five months' tour of inspection, the greater portion of that period of time being occupied in private and public religious services in the larger cities of Canada and U. S. A.

The general indefatigably pursues his mission of propagating the gospel, pushing the claims of Calvary, and the efficacy of the blood to cleanse from sin; passionately entreating men and women to greater and more practical acts of self-denial in the alleviation of suffering humanity (whom we thank the Salvation Army have been among the God honored channels by which the spiritual and temporal help has fallen and needed have come). Previous to the general's arrival in Canada he will visit New York. The American forces are arranging a most striking reception.

DROWNED IN THE COLUMBIA. Miss Mary A. MacPherson, of Head of Millstream, Kings county, received word this week of the accidental drowning of her brother, John L. MacPherson, in the Columbia river, British Columbia.

Mr. MacPherson, who was formerly well known in St. John and Kings county, was a native of Scotland, and was residing at Millstream, and five sisters, Mrs. S. A. Finlay, of Barrville, Mrs. James McMillan of Waterville, Mass., Mrs. J. W. Hayes of St. John, and Miss Mary MacPherson and Mrs. Alexander McMillan of Millstream.

Mr. MacPherson was forty-two years of age and unmarried. He leaves two sons, James and Joseph R. MacPherson, in St. John and Kings county, and a daughter, Mrs. S. A. Finlay, of Barrville, Mass. Mrs. James McMillan of Waterville, Mass., Mrs. J. W. Hayes of St. John, and Miss Mary MacPherson and Mrs. Alexander McMillan of Millstream.

WEDDED AT PROVIDENCE, R. I. In Providence, R. I., on Sept. 30, John E. Dewar, of Douglasville, Queens county, N. B., was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth S. McGregor of Halifax, N. S. Miss Gurt Copeland was the bridesmaid, and Miss Bruce Dewar was the witness. Preparations for the wedding were made at the home of Mrs. H. A. Denas, 68 Chestnut street, and at 2:30 p. m. the bridal party was ready for the reception of Rev. John Pennington, 441 "F" street, where the nuptial knot was tied after which they returned to the Simpson House, where a sumptuous wedding supper was served. There amid showers of rice, old shoes and good wishes of the large crowd who gathered at the depot to see them off, Mr. and Mrs. Dewar left on the 6:15 train for their own Canadian home.

KENT'S ST. CONVENTION. The Sunday school workers of Kent county assembled for their annual convention on Monday and Tuesday in the Presbyterian church. The 300 pastors, namely, Revs. D. Fraser, H. Meek and H. R. Baker, were encouraged by the presence of Revs. J. Wheeler of Harcourt, A. E. Lepage and J. Gardner of Buctouche. Mr. Wheeler was secretary of convention. The field secretary was present in all the sessions. The workers at the second day was one of much blessing to all. Robert Beers was chosen president and Miss Florence Gale secretary.

A GENEROUS FRIEND. (Newcastle Advocate). On last Sunday at Douglastown Father Dixon, when making his usual announcement, informed the congregation that the Rev. S. Adams, prior to his departure to New York, donated a thousand dollars towards the purchase of a bell station of the cross and erection of a fence around the church building. Miss M. Quisley, who was on a visit to Bathurst, was handed a cheque for the amount by Mr. Adams. Mr. Adams' generosity, oft repeated, is appreciated by his native Douglastown.

HOME FROM AFRICA. Lieutenant Walker Bell, son of C. W. Bell, who went to South Africa with the first contingent of Mounted Rifles, and afterwards was given a commission in the mounted rifles, was reported shot shortly before peace was declared, arrived home yesterday via Montreal. Lieutenant Bell had fought with the mounted rifles in the Sudan and paid a visit to England, where he was given a pleasant time. He is anxious to get a commission with the mounted rifles, and is being studied on the west coast of Africa, and will take a course at the R. S. I. this winter. Lieut. Bell looks in fine health.

QUACO SLEEPS BY THE SEA.

A Quiet and Charming Town on Brunswick's Rugged Shore.

Here Old Men, Houses and Furniture in a Village Founded by Exiles in 1795—Quaco's Business is Dying, but 'Tis Crowned with Nature's Glories.

(Kansas City Star.)

Charming, restful, quaint old town of Quaco. "The Naples of America," its people call it. Its gently sloping beach a perfect picture of a young island nearly a mile broad when the tide is out. Beyond this wide, mouthed harbor the sparkling waters of the Bay of Fundy, with its distant, towering schooners creeping slowly along, bowing solemnly to the broad swell rolling in from the Atlantic. Farther yet beyond, the Basin of Minas, looking like a vast, shallow bay, with its long, narrow, sandy beach, and between the strip of green meadow and the higher packlands the single broad street of the town sweeping in a semi-circle two miles long, following the perfect curve of the beach.

Upon each side of this one long street, and facing it, with wide lawns and gardens in front, are the homes of the true colonial type, many of them built more than a century ago, with their dormer windows, and porches decorated with overhanging window eaves and the tiny squares and oblongs of wood beneath that one sees in any very old frame houses of New England.

There are things inside these houses that would put an antiquarian in raptures. Wide-mouthed old fireplaces with hand made andirons and tongs of wonderful shape, a good hundred years old; rush bottomed chairs, blue Dutch table ware and mirrors, chests of drawers with huge brass handles, long handled brass warming pans that were in use in New Jersey long before the Revolutionary war and that were brought from there in 1796 by the founders of the town, and are yet in use. There are pictures upon the walls that hung in New Jersey farm houses when Washington was a boy, and other things of priceless value because of their rarity and the memories of times long past that cling to them.

Quaco is a sailor's town, not of the roystering shiftless, sea-roving sailor of today, but a town of retired ship builders and ship owners and sea captains and makes whose seagoing days were long since over. In the last few years many of the houses are planted a ship's mast, full rigged, "with crossrees, shrouds and ropes, some of them being these towering masts live old captains who have sailed all the seas of the world. In the burying ground with its high iron fence beside the old Baptist meeting house are marble and granite monuments topped with huge anchors and inscriptions telling that here beneath the stone some old sea rover has come to his last anchorage.

Many of the houses are hung upon the parlor walls paintings of full rigged ships at sea and the owner will tell you that the ship he commanded in such a year, or if a woman is the owner she will tell you that it is the ship that went down with her husband and sons aboard in some far away sea wars and years ago, leaving her a widow and childless and that people, who "went down to the sea in ships" can tell you many a tale of long waiting for news of loved ones, and when at last it came it was the story of a wrecked ship and a lost crew.

FOUNDED BY EXILES IN 1795. The town of Quaco was founded in 1795. In that year the men of property in New Jersey and other of the thirteen American colonies who had sided with King George in his fight against the Revolutionists were banished and their property confiscated. These "Loyalists" were allowed to take with them such of their goods as they wished to take to Canada, where most of them went. A band of them from Orange county, New Jersey, sailed up along the New England coast and into the Bay of Fundy, striking the shore on the lookout for a favorable place to land and live in peace under the British flag, for love of which they had sacrificed much. They came to this beautiful bay with its crescent shaped beach and gently sloping meadow and there they anchored. The Indians called it Quaco. The country, now the Canadian province of New Brunswick, was then Acadia. They built their log houses, each took his piece of land for a farm and as soon as they were settled they got a grant to the land from King George. That original grant is yet on file in the town. Written upon thick parchment it begins:

"George III, by the grace of God Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith," and so forth. This colony of exiles soon became prosperous and built the big old houses that yet stand. Living as they did upon the seashore, it was natural that they should take to seafaring. This led to ship building, and there was a time, though many years ago, when more ships were built upon Quaco beach than in any other port in the world. These ships were of the sturdy kind, like the men who built them; big, square rigged, made of the toughest spruce and tamarack of the forests behind the town. At one time, in the '90s, there were twenty-six of these great ships building at one time upon the beach, and not one of them was less than 1,000 tons burden. It took a fortune to build one. They cost upon an average of $20,000 apiece. The ship Newman Hall, built here in 1815, was of 1,750 tons and cost $17,000. Some of these were lost upon the first voyage. But others they sailed for years. Many of these old wooden ships are still afloat. And they earned money. One ship that cost $110,000 when she sailed out of the bay carried a cargo of lumber to Liverpool and a second cargo of cotton from New Orleans to England and another to Calcutta, and these three cargoes alone paid every dollar of her cost. These were the good times and those were the days in which the fortunes of the town were made. Upon that wealth the retired ship builders and captains and live. The ships were manned by the brothers and sons and friends of the men who built them. Often one man of a large family would own a home and build the ships and the other members of it would sail them as captains, getting their crews at the city of St. John, thirty miles away. There was the Vaughan family, for instance, of seven brothers. Simon stayed in Quaco and built ships, and the brothers, David, Thomas, Benjamin, William, Henry and Silas, was each captain of one. The last of the Vaughan brothers was buried in the old cemetery at Quaco four months ago, at the age of 90 years.

WOODSTOCK.

Partridge Roosting on Town's Telephone Poles.

Never Did So Until They Heard of Establishment of a Tourist Association.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 28.—Hunting parties are generally meeting with excellent success. Game appears to be plentiful and on the increase. For instance, a party of four police-men was calmly taking a view of the town from a telegraph pole on Queen street. They are quite frequently met with on the country roads.

AMHERST, Sept. 28.—Receiving and sending messages for over a quarter of a century Jacob Jodrey received his last message early Sunday morning as he passed over to the great majority after a lingering illness of many months. Perhaps no man in the majority of the Intercolonial was better known or more highly esteemed than Mr. Jodrey. An employe in the Western Union Telegraph Company's office at Sackville, he came here over 26 years ago to fill the dual position of C. B. Jodrey, agent and manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, both of which offices he filled in a praiseworthy and painstaking manner. Popular alike with the officials and patrons of the Intercolonial, he had a wide range of acquaintances, many of whom will regret to hear of his death. He was married to Mrs. C. A. Lowe of Sydney. Mrs. Jodrey and several children survive him.

FUNERAL OF DR. SEARS. Boston Globe, Tuesday: The funeral of Dr. Henry T. Sears will take place this morning at 10 o'clock at the chapel, 48 Lagrange street. Burial will be at Brookline. Dr. Sears, who died of apoplexy while at dinner at Hotel Nottingham Friday evening, was born in St. John, N. B., sixty-two years ago. He formerly practiced in New York, and was once prominently connected with Bellevue Hospital. For the last four years he resided at 475 Massachusetts avenue and had practiced somewhat in this city, though he travelled a great deal.

THE ILLS OF WOMEN.

A Reliable and Safe Cure for Womanly Ills is Found in Ferrozone A Remedy That Always Gives Satisfaction and Never Disappoints.

It troubled with painful irregularities, dizziness, faintness, excitability, nervousness, remember there is a remedy that if regularly and persistently used will cure all these ills. Its name is Ferrozone. It is used by thousands of women who have experienced its great strengthening powers, and they would not be without it for ten times its price. Ferrozone is primarily a blood maker. It drives all impurities from the circulation, makes strong and capable of supplying nourishment to the body. It quiets the nerves, banishes excitability and headache. By taking Ferrozone regularly you can keep free from those great backaches, and monthly sickness will pass off regularly and without pain or distress. Being prepared in tablet form, Ferrozone is the most convenient and simple to use, and no uncertainty as to the proper quantity or dose can ever arise. A Montreal hospital nurse who has used Ferrozone herself, and has seen also the benefit that other suffering women have derived from it, writes: "I have nursed and treated all forms of female disorders, and from my personal experience, must say that Ferrozone is a remedy about which all womankind should know. It is reliable and sure, and will give prompt relief in all cases. As a builder of muscle and tissue, I know nothing so good to build up a weak appetite, and consider it the best medicine for the blood and nerves. I have no hesitancy in endorsing Ferrozone." "Don't continue to exist in a state of misery and weakness any longer. Ferrozone will make you strong and well just as it has done for thousands before you. All druggists recommend and sell Ferrozone, at 50c a box, or 3 boxes for $1.25. Get a box today from your druggist, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Sold and recommended by A. Have You Escaped Itching Piles?

If so, You are One of the Few Fortunate Ones; If Not, You Can Be Cured by Using Dr. Chase's Ointment

Piles or hemorrhoids are among the most common as well as the most torturing ailments that afflict humanity. The best remedy for this disease is Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is a simple, safe, and effective cure for this loathsome disease. If you ask your doctor, your druggist, or your friends what to use for piles, they will give you the name of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Mr. A. Oliver, farmer, Deseronto, Ont., states: "I had itching piles in the worst form, and can now testify that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a sure and positive cure for this dreadful ailment. I tried several other remedies, but could obtain no benefit from them, but am now cured, and have no doubt that the credit for the cure is entirely due to Dr. Chase's Ointment." Dr. Chase's Ointment, 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

COLUMBUS'S REVENGE.

Columbus, having done his little egg trick, looked around for vengeance. "Of course," sneered a guest, "it's easy for an explorer like you to manipulate the lay of the land." Stung by the insinuation, Christopher soon got revenge by calling on him for an after-dinner speech.

ALCOHOL AND DRUG USERS.

Victims of the above habits will be interested in the discovery of a harmless antidote which quickly and permanently removes all desire for liquor and drugs. This medicine has been publicly endorsed before Congress of Bishops and by Father Mathew's Anniversaries, also by Clergy men from their pulpits and by temperance societies of all denominations. Interested persons can obtain full particulars from Mr. Dixon, 83 Wilton St., Toronto, Canada.

TO RECOGNIZE PURITY.

Adulteration has grown to such a vast extent, that it is almost impossible for a woman now-a-days to detect the false from the true; but a chemical analysis will always detect adulteration. Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst for the Dominion Government, after a number of analyses, reports that "Sunlight Soap is a pure and well-made soap." Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Brand—next wash-day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he. 210
