The London Slander Case.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Another crowd of curious spectators packed the court room to-day to listen to the closing evidence in the celebrated Leader-Smythe slander case. After the attorneys had summed up at length the court adjourned.

The Cattle-Plague Scare.

He is inclined to wait and ascertain whether more cases develop before ordering the slaughter of all Canadian cattle. Mr. Gardner declared that should the disease in England that was traceable to cattle imported from Canada spread he would not hesitate to issue an order prohibiting the landing of live stock.

Mr. Gladstone Writes to Mayor Knill.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Mr. Gladstone has written to Lord Mayor Kuill announcing his inability to attend the coming banquet and expressing his regrets. His decision not to attend the banquet, is due, he says, to the explicit advice of his physician, Sir Andrew Clarke, who has insisted for the last seven years that he should absent himself from all public banquets, and who will not permit an exception to be made on the present occasion. In concluding, Mr. Gladstone says: "I must congratulate you on the spirit and success with which you sustained, in the discussion preceding the election, the principle of religious freedom."

How Dodds Drubbed the Dahomeyans.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Col. Dodds, commanding the French forces operating against the Dahomeyans, has telegraphed details of the fighting that took place on Oct. 20 and 21. The Dahomeyans were repulsed with heavy loss, and after two days' hard fighting King Behanzin decided to come to terms. The French commander as a preliminary condition insisted upon the evacuation of the Dahomeyan lines along the River Koto. King Behanzin refused, and on Oct. 26 the French column attacked and carried the two lines of entrenchments between Akas and Kotopa. On Oct. 27 the French captured an important line along the Koto, the strongest fortified position they have yet taken. The total French loss throughout these battles was 10 killed and 73 wounded. Dodds advanced along the road to Kana, preparing for his final march to Abomey, the capital. Dodds concludes his dispatch by stating that the resistance of the Dahomeyans is becoming less vigorous, owing to the enormous losses they have sustained.

Appeal in Behalf of London's Unemployed.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—John Burns, Ben Tillet and nine labor members of the London County Council to-day waited upon the Right Hon. Henry Fowler, president of the Local Government Board, and urged that the local dock, gas, water and sanitary works be opened for the relief of the thousands of unemployed workmen. The deputation also urged that overtime should be abolished in the Government offices, and that the measures adopted be national in character for otherwise, London would be flooded with unemployed men who would flock to the city from all parts of the country. Mr. Fowler said he could not issue the circular asked for by the deputation, but he promised to consider the proposals advanced by the members, especially those that were national in their character.

Serious Rioting in Grenada.

MADRID, Nov. 3.—The populace of Grenada were greatly disappointed at Queen Regent Christian's refusal to visit the city with King Alfonso after great preparations had been made to receive them. The feeling of disappointment changed to one of anger, and to-day a large mob went about and destroyed the handsome triumphal arches that had been erected. They set fire to the Octroi offices and stood by while they burned. The mob then proceeded to the stand that had been erected for the use of the royal party during the unveiling of a statue of Columbus and completely destroyed it, together with a platform built for the public. The crowd them went for the leaders of the Conservative party and assailed them with stones, smashing the windows and doing other damage. While attacking the houses some one started cries of "Down with the Government," "Long live the Republic," etc. The cries were taken up by the mob, and for a time it looked as though a serious emeute would occur. The revolutionary cries attracted the attention of the Civic Guards and a body of them made a charge upon the mob, slashing right and left with their swords. A number of rioters were quite severely injured. The mob made no resistance and all who could do so made off at the top of their speed. Thirty of them, however, were captured. In consequence of the disturbance the mayor of Grenada has resigned. The Minister of War, Minister of Public Works and Minister of Justice, who had arranged to go to Grenada to assist at the unveiling of the monument, have decided to postpone their journey as they fear a hostile demonstration. A third of the Grenada municipal authorities are Republicans. The absence of the Queen Regent is due to her desire to spare King Alfonso fatigue after his recent illness.

The civil governor of Madrid has resigned in consequence of recent rioting in the Prado, growing out of the authorities' prohibition of an open air concert. It is expected the mayor will also resign. The public is still highly excited because of the stoppage of the concert.

Lunacy in Ireland.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Irish statistics show an enormous increase of lunacy in Ireland. This is attributed partly to emigration, the robust leaving weak and infirm behind. In 1891 the proportion was 355 lunatics to every 100,000 of population, against 249 in 1880.

It is believed she will be able to cover the voyage from Cronstadt to Vladisvstock, 19,000 miles, without coaling.

Cream Has Made No Confession.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A correspondent has had an interview with Detective McIntyre in regard to the case of Neill Cream, who is to be executed next week for poisoning Matilda Clover. Detective McIntyre, it will be recollected, was chiefly instrumental in detecting Cream's guilt and in bringing him to justice. McIntyre declares that, as already stated, Cream has not made any confession, and that, on the contrary, he is morose and secretive, and puts no confidence in his solicitors. Being still hopeful of a reprieve he is not likely to confess himself a monster and thereby defeat all chance of a reprieve. All that Solicitor Waters can possibly have for sale to the newspapers or anybody else is such information as Cream may have given him when he was instructing Waters for his defense.

King Behanzin Killed.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—A dispatch from Porto Novo says that another king will succeed Behanzin, who was put to death for his crimes. Mail advices say that while the French gunboat Opale was returning from Kobe on Oct. 30 it was suddenly attacked near Donkoli by 600 Dahomeyans armed with quick-firing rifles. Three of the French on the gunboat were killed and a number were wounded. The Opale shelled all the villages along the river. The next day 200 sharpshoofers surprized Dunkoli. The Dahomeyans fled, leaving many dead behind them. Transports bearing invalid and wounded French were arriving at the coast daily. The hospitals at Porto Novo were crowded, and vessels in the roadstead had been chartered to accommodate the wounded.

A "Walking Advertisement."

PARIS, Nov. 4.—An interesting feature in regard to the way dressmakers here carry on their business was brought to light by a case just tried. The managers of the well-known Mme. Rodriquez, now bankrupt, sued Mlle. Malvina Bracht for 6,800 francs, the cost of elaborate toilets made for her by Mme. Rodriquez. Mlle. Malvina set up as a defense that the dresses were supplied gratis that she might advertise the maker by displaying them in public. Evidence was given by well-known actresses that Mme. Rodriquez had pestered them to have costumes made on similar terms. Several gentlemen gave evidence as to the figure Mlle. Malvina put in her fashionable plates. The court non-suited the plaintiff on the ground that Mlle. Malvina had only been a walking advertisement for Mme. Rodriquez

ACCIDENT TO THE SARMATIAN.

The Steamer Runs Ashore During a Snow Storm.

Several Tugs Sent to Her Assistance—The Passengers Saved—Other Vessels Delayed.

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—The Allan Line steamer Sarmatian, which left here this morning, went ashore at Varennes, twenty miles down the river, during a snow storm. It is not known whether she has received any injuries. Several tugs have been sent to her assistance. The Sarmatian was bound for Glasgow with a general cargo.

Other steamships, which are in the river, have had to anchor on account of the thick weather.

The steamer left her berth early this morning in charge of Pilot Alexis Gauthier. The weather was fairly clear, but she had not got very far before the fog rolled up from the southeast, and the weather became thick and heavy. The channel at that point is crooked and narrow and the current swift. It is almost impossible to anchor on account of the narrow channel.

The Sarmatian was heavily loaded with grain, apples, cheese and general merchandise, besides 510 head of cattle. How much of this will have to be unloaded is hard to say.

The passengers are in perfect safety.

The Schenectedy engine did the mile in 53 seconds and the Pennsylvania's No. 340, made in her own shops, made the mile in 47 seconds.

THE COMPANY TO BLAME.

The Over-Worked Signalman Went on Duty Under Protest.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The statement that Holmes, the signalman, had been refused leave of absence by the station master on the night preceding the accident and that he had fallen asleep and neglected the signals was confirmed to-day. Holmes himself, the signalman, says: "The station master was willing to relieve me, but I was unable to get a substitute. I went on my duty protesting that I was unfit to work and soon I fell asleep and forgot the goods train, but directly I had signaled 'All clear' to the express I remembered the goods train was on the same line. All I could do then was to wait for the crash."

No attempt will be made to raise the vessel. The bodies of the unfortunate crew will probably be washed ashore.

Aboriginal Remains in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 3.—While opening a new street near the city line to-day the workmen plowed up skulls and other relics of human anatomy, together with metal cooking utensils. The relics are without doubt the remains of Indians who lived in this vicinity before the coming of whitemen. It is thought these were the ancient Kah Kwahs or neutrals who have been extinct since about the year of 1680. They were a fierce, warlike and tall race, and had a settlement in this locality which ran up into Canada.

THE SITUATION IS ALARMING.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—Prof. McEachran says with regard to the possible scheduling of Canadian cattle arriving in England that if it is carried out it will be the result of an erroneous diagnosis on the affected animal arriving by the Mount Seaton which will be used as a pretext for including Canadian cattle with cattle arriving from the United States, thus compelling their immediate slaughter on arrival. There is much uneasiness in the Department of Agriculture to-day over the critical condition of affairs in England as regards the outlook for our cattle trade. A prominent official, asked this morning what he thought of the situation, said that it was alarming and critical. The department, he said, would take no responsibility, however, in advising shippers as to whether to hold their stock or let it go forward to England in the absence of any definite information as to what action the British Government intend taking in the matter. When asked what he would do if he were a cattle shipper, the official in question said that he would not be inclined on the information at hand, to ship to England just now. It was too great a responsibility, he said, however, to advise cattlemen either one way or the other. They must be guided by their own judgment.

Election on Tuesday!

The new Telephone Exchange just completed at Laporte, Ind., and known as the Strowger Automatic Telephone System, is now in successful operation. There are from 15,000 to 20,000 organized in 61 different unions or trades. The strike will completely paralyze New Orleans. All the street car drivers will strike. The mates, roustabouts and other steamboat hands will stop the steamboats, the newspapers will be left without printers, the drygoods and retail store without clerks, and the foundries and factories, almost without exception, without hands.

Disgraceful College Pranks.

Prigsley, a student from South Charleston, under a hydrant and held him there for five minutes until thoroughly soaked. Estimates show that the total horse-power used in Buffalo is 45,000. Starvation in Mexico.

ZATECAS, Mexico, Nov. 4.—The condition of the poorer classes of this city is extremely critical on account of the lack of food. The streets are filled with beggars of every age and description. The Government is doing good work in relieving the sufferiug, but there are several thousand famine-stricken people notwithstanding this aid, and they are actually starving. A number of free eating houses have been established, but the capacity of such places is limited, and instead of free distribution of corn being made among the famine-stricken people here, as is being done in other parts of Mexico, the grain is sold at a fixed price and as these in need are without money to buy they must do without. Many of the poorer people have fled to the mountains where they are living on the prickly pear, maguey plant and mesquit bean.

MIDDLESEX CHANCERY COURT.

The London Masonic Temple Mortgage Case in Progress.

Thos. H. Furdom et al. Sue the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company—Particulars of the Case—Judgment Reserved in the Chewing Gum Case.

SECOND DAY—FRIDAY.

When the Chancery Court resumed this morning Chancellor Boyd heard the argument in the case of Adams, Son & Co., against C. R. Somerville. He expressed it as his opinion that the label used by the defendant was not an infringement on the trade mark. He was inclined to think that registration in the United States was not sufficient to protect the firm in Canada. However, he reserved judgment for the purpose of looking up authorities.

THE MASONIC TEMPLE CASE.

The next case called was that of Mr. Thos. H. Purdom against the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company. Mr. Purdom claims that the present directors of the Masonic Temple Company undertook with out consulting the stockholders to tie the temple up for ten years by a mortgage. The law, he says, reqvired two-thirds of the stockholders in value to consent to this. He held $18,000, or nearly one-half of the value, and obtained an injunction restraining them until the hearing from proceeding further with their alleged illegal act. Mr. Purdom claims that there should be one director from each Masonic lodge on the board and not all the directors from one lodge. Since the sentiment was stirred up in connection with this matter one director had sold the greater part of his stock at par. He bought at 80 per cent.

A. O. Jeffery and N. W. Rowell, representing the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company, claimed that according to the bylaws the company had every right to make the mortgage in the way in which it was made.

Col. Lewis, when put in the witness box, said he held 200 shares fully paid up with Mr. Geo. Birrell in trust. As one of the plaintiffs he had not obtained the consent of the widows and orphans he represented in bringing this action. The manner in which the stock had been allotted had never met with his approval. He thought that the different lodges should have been allowed to hold more stock instead of individual stockholders.

Mr. Fraser—Do you know of any lodge which would have taken more stock?

Col. Lewis—I think my own lodge, Kilwinning, would have taken more if they could have got it.

Thomas Purdom said he held $12,580 paid-up stock—$1,200 in trust and a proxy of $4,000 on stock held by Col. Lewis and Geo. Birrell. He was in Toronto when he received a telegram stating that the mortgage of $33,000 on the temple had been registered. He at once telegraphed A. O. Jeffery, solicitor for the loan company, not to close the mortgage until two-thirds of the stockholders had given their consent. He received no answer, and when he returned to London he wrote to Mr. Jeffery stating that if the mortgage was closed he would take action to set it aside. The mortgage would not have been necessary had the unpaid stock been paid up. He thought that the mortgage was not in the interest of the stockholders. Stock amounting to $30,000 was subscribed on March 12 last. On that day Mr. Purdom endeavored several times to see the stock subscription book of the Masonic Temple Company, but was each time unsuccessful. He thought it was a midnight transaction made with midnight purposes. On April 29, the annual meeting was held and Mr. Purdom said he was voted out by bogus votes.

Mr. Rowell—Did you raise any objection at the meeting to these bogus votes?

Mr. Purdom admitted that he had not.

Mr. Rowell—Did you take any steps to call up the unpaid stock?

Mr. Purdom—I offered to buy it up. What more effectual step could I have taken than offer them the cash?

The case was going on at time of going to press.

Mr Gladstone still adheres to his life long habit of rising about 5:30 daily—an hour that most other great men of the period would consider unconscionably early for getting up. He and Mrs Gladstone attend church every morning.

LATEST OLD WORLD GOSSIP.

Sigurd Ibsen, the only son of Ibsen himself, has married Froken Bailot Bjnornsen. Sigurd lives on a very rich father.

The Bishop of Manchester says that church disestablishment would do no harm, but that disendowment would be very serious.

Seven years ago a Scotch woman established in London a "Home for the Dying," ten beds being prepared for dying people. The applications for admission became so numerous and pressing that steps have been taken to enlarge the institution very greatly.

Of fourteen torpedo boats ordered by the British Government four are to be 180 feet long, of a speed of 27 knots, or about 31 statute miles. The extreme speed obtained by a torpedo boat is credited to the Adler, built at Elbing, Germany, 27.4 knots. She is only 152 feet long.

Handkerchiefs, which used to be frowned upon by the British military authorities, have now been sanctioned, and a military handkerchief has been patented on which shall be printed all sorts of information concerning the use and construction of the rifle, the flag alphabet, bugle calls, and general rules for the soldier.

The subjects of Great Britain are the most tremendous patent medicine swallowers on the globe. During the past year the revenue derived from the three-halfpenny stamp upon patent medicines amounted to $1,200,000. Licenses for the sale of patent medicines have increased 1,340 in England and 111 in Scotland.

The people of Singapore are asking "who will free them from the tyranny of Chinese domestics?" In the Straits Settlements all the domestics are Chinese, and they are becoming fearfully high in their charges. So far no remedy has been suggested more practical than that "the Penang Debating Society should talk the matter over."

A Mr. Grundy said at the Manchester Diocesan Conference that church service should be "bright, beautiful and brief," and that churchgoing ought to be more social than it is. Prayer should be condensed and sermons should not exceed ten minutes at most. He could see no reason why string and brass bands should not take part in the services.

The new tax upon bicycles in France will be $2. As there are about 225,000 cyclists, the revenue will be about $450,000. Cycles used for business, such as those employed by street messengers, pay half duty. Those in the army and the Government service will be exempt. The cyclists, as a rule, do not object to the tax, for the reason that they expect some special legislation in return.

A GREAT UNIVERSITY.

A Discovery Made Within Its Walls.

The great Harvard University is to the United States what Oxford and Cambridge are to England, or the McGill University to Canada.

The medical faculty of Harvard stands high on this continent, and scores of the most eminent physicians in the United States have graduated from this renowned college.

The medical faculty of this famed university has given to Americans and Canadians, the most wonderful remedy for the cure of coughs, hoarseness, sore throat, croup and all affections arising from sudden colds, that the world has ever seen.

This precious preparation is known as Harvard Bronchial Syrup; and, during the past two or three years has achieved greater success in Canada than any other remedy now before the public.

We have seen the almost magical effects of Harvard Bronchial Syrup, and can affirm that it does the good work with a speed and certainty that amazes and pleases the sufferer.

A 25-cent bottle works wonders. It will instantly loosen the worse cough, clear the throat and restore the lost voice. It is pleasing to the taste, and especially valuable for the young, who dislike nauseating remedies.

A Good Principle to Go On.

"I'm sorry I can't let you have the two weeks you want," said Mr. Dimity to his bookkeeper, "but you may have one week."

"Very well," replied the philosophical young man, "half a loaf is better than no vacation."

Cook's Cotton Root COMPOUND.

Rev. Father Cassein, of Mount Forest, will succeed Father Maloney at Dundalk.

ELGIN.

Miss Lizzie Henderson, the victim of the shooting affray at St. Thomas on Oct. 15, is improving and the attending physicians are satisfied she will recover.

George, son of Jas. Stewart, St. Thomas, aged 12 years, took some liniment which his sister was using a day or two ago. It contained aconite, belladonna and laudanum. Prompt efforts on the part of a doctor restored him.

Conductor Moody, of the M. C. R., had a couple of fingers crushed while coupling cars Wednesday.

The 4-year-old son of Duncan McPhee, Dutton, received a severe scalding recently. Mrs. McPhee was in the act of taking a dipper of boiling water from a pot when the child accidentally ran against her, spilling the water over its neck and breast.

A Mechanics' Institute for Dutton is among the probabilities.

The greatest religious awakening that has ever visited the village of Thamesville, is now being conducted by Rev. J. E. Moore in the Methodist Church. The services have been in progress eight weeks. The church is nightly crowded to the doors and standing room is very often at a premium. Up to the present time about 75 persons have been seeking and the interest is unabated.

PERTH.

The attempt to form a musical society in Stratford has been abandoned.

The Chancery Fall Sittings opened at Stratford Tuesday before Hon. Mr. Justice Meredith. Mr. Idington applied to have the case of Coulter vs. Alma placed on the docket. Mr. Macpherson opposed the motion. The case was allowed to be entered on the docket, but the trial postponed to allow both parties to amend the pleadings, and the action will probably be referred to the drainage referee. Sandford vs. Sandford was the only case on the docket, and was an action by Mrs. Agnes Sandford against her husband, Michael Sandford, to eject him from the property on which he resides and which he deeded to plaintiff some years ago. Plaintiff claims that she could not live with her husband, on account of his cruel treatment. She says that he would not permit her to go to church, tore the bonnet off her head, threatened to kill her and treated her in a very rough manner. At the close of the plaintiff's examination his Lordship strongly advised the parties to settle. After a lengthy conference the parties arraigned their difficulties and consent minutes were filed. This closed the business of the court.

WATERLOO.

While digging behind the Berlin High School the other day the workmen came on to no less that fifteen well-preserved skeletons, all of which are no doubt the remains of Indians. The depth at which they were buried is not more than a foot and a half.

There is some talk of the Berlin street railway introducing the trolley system.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

The Ever-Popular Minstrels, "Under the Lion's Paw" and "Uncle Hiram."

ROBERT DOWNING AS THE GLADIATOR.

It was the best tribute to Robert Downing's ability that last night the audience at the Grand was even larger than that of the first appearance. Soumet's noble tragedy, "The Gladiator," was presented with all the thoroughness that superb acting, appropriate stage setting and historic realism could afford. Mr. Downing's magnificent presence was specially suited to the heroic role of the Gladiator, and his conception of the part stamped him as a true artist. He soared to the sublime in the arena scene, though it was cut short by the omission of the duel. Downing seemed to be suffering from a cold, as his voice was noticeably hoarse. He was called before the curtain and bowed his acknowlegements to the enthusiastic audience. Mr. George Macomber as Origen, the Christian priest, spoke his lines with rare pathos and feeling. Mr. Mosley's Flavian was a finished piece of acting. As the Pagan-priest Mr. Mark Price had little scope for the ability he possesses. Eugenie Blair was a sweet and lovely Neodamia, the perfection of womanly grace and the embodiment of everything true and noble. Miss Florence Erwin had a trying role as Faustina, and to her credit be it said she did it justice. The stage settings in the temple and arena scenes were much admired, as were the richness and accurracy of the costuming. The audience was a critical one—Robert Downing's plays appeal strongly to such—and showed an understanding and appreciation of the finer passages, that must have been encouraging to the actors. The great tragedian and his efficient company will be welcomed back.

PRIMROSE AND WEST MINSTRELS.

Primrose & West, with their brilliant company of minstrel merry-makers, will be at the Grand to-night. This will be the one minstrel event of the season. Primrose & West are the acknowledged world's leaders in this style of entertainment. Other minstrel organizations have arisen, fought out their brief life, and dropped exhausted and defeated by the wayside. But year after year Primrose & West have not only held their own, but have triumphantly advanced, capturing stronghold and citadel of public favor. To minstrelsy they have devoted their lives. Their art is their creed. Its furtherance is their ambition; its proud destiny the realized Mecca of their hopes and aspirations. They have advanced with it; they are bound up in it; they have devoted every energy. They have spared no expense in keeping this form of amusement in the very front rank of popular entertainment. Their entertainment is new throughout, and they claim to have the best minstrel organization ever put together in America. Their appearance here should prove one of the happiest events of the amusement year.

UNDER THE LION'S PAW.

This monster melodramatic spectacle will be produced at the Grand Opera House on Monday evening under the management of George Peck, with a strong cast, magnificent scenery, and introducing Col. E. D. Boone, the great lion tamer, and his charming wife, Milli Carlotta, together with their seven giant Nubian lions. All the paraphernalia used in this production is carried in the company's own private baggage car. The lions are exhibited in the third act, which takes place in a circus menagerie, and their performance is given in a massive steel cage, 14 feet high, 30 feet in diameter and weighing 6,000 pounds. The large African lion, "Commodore," is also in the last act. Their performance is a triumph of the trainer's skill. Seven huge, shaggy lions frolicking in their steel-encircled den like children, playing see-saw, leaping, riding bicycles, wrestling, forming pyramids, riding chariots, with all but human intelligence. Col. Boone is accompanied in the den by two enormous boar hounds, presented to him by Prince Bismarck.

"UNCLE HIRAM."

The commedian, Aaron H. Woodhull, is one of the cleverest artists in the profession in "making up." No one would recognize him in the old lumberman in "Uncle Hiram" as an athletic young man of 30. It is a distinct characterization of an eccentric old man, who makes you laugh one moment and cry the next. Mr. Woodhull's supporting company this season is the best he has ever had, and nearly a carload of scenery is carried for the production. "Uncle Hiram" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House Thanksgiving matinee and night.

JUDGING A HAIR-PULLING MATCH

Black Against Red, and the Justice Makes It a Draw.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Mary Gargan, aged 29, of 319 East Twenty-fifth street, appeared before Justice Kilbreth in the Yorkville Police Court and exhibited enough hair to stuff a sofa pillow. This, she explained to the court, was forcibly removed from her scalp on Thursday last by Mrs. Nellie Williams, who resides in an adjoining apartment.

Mrs. Williams immediately unfolded a bundle, and produced a great wad of fiery red hair, and showed the place on her head that was formerly covered by it. Then the women glowered at each other while the judge talked.

"When I issued this warrant," said his honor, "I was moved by this exhibition of hair (indicating Gargan's) to believe that an unusually aggravated assault had been committed. But it seems from this (indicating the auburn exhibit) that there may be two sides to the case.

"But she pulled mine first," said Mrs. Gargan.

"Yis, but me hair comes out the hardest," responded Mrs. Williams.

With difficulty concealing a smile, his honor said: "I bind both of you to the peace; don't let me hear of any more trouble."

Came to Canada TO BE CURED

418 Pall Mall Street, London, Sept. 15, 1892.

To the Histogenetic Medicine Association:

GENTLEMEN,—Permit me the pleasure of humbly adding one more leaf to the wreath you so richly deserve, and as an evidence of my heartfelt gratitude, I beg to state my condition before and after receiving your treatment. You have my permission to make this testimonial public, if so disposed. Trusting that a discerning public, who are afflicted as I was, will have the scales removed from their doubting eyes, and avail themselves of the benefit your treatment will assuredly bring to them.

Am a farmer aged 25 years, and a resident of Sand Beach, Michigan, U. S.; was taken ill about the 11th of November, 1891, with a cold from exposure, and about two weeks thereafter visited Dr. ——, a well-known medical practitioner of Sand Beach, who treated me for about three months, calling my disease Pneumonia, stating that both my lungs were diseased badly. I had chills for a long time, with bloody expectoration, sluggish liver and bad digestion, bowels costive and a bad cough, also sleeplessness. Receiving no benefit from the doctor's treatment, I then visited Dr. ——, of the same place, who examined and prescribed for me, and stated I had bronchitis, with consolidation of both lungs. The treatment benefited me only for a while. I then went to Detroit and visited a doctor, a lung specialist, who prescribed for me, and said my case was hopeless and advised me to go west to a warmer climate. I steadily lost flesh, dropping from 168 pounds to 136 pounds, and I became despondent, but thanks to the Great Architect of the Universe I heard of famed success of your plan of treatment, and decided to visit your London branch, arriving here on the 13th of last month; was carefully examined by the Association's physician, who gave me so much encouragement that, having patiently and carefully followed his directions, am now almost well: eat heartily, no cough, and gained rapidly in flesh—exactly four pounds in three weeks—and the happy result costing me only $12 for the Histogenetic Medicine used. Consultations free. Myself and family are placed under obligations to the Histogenetic Medicine Association never to be forgotten. Yours truly,

ISAAC LESTER, JUN.

CANADIAN CATTLE.

While it is reassuring to learn, from investigations made both at home and abroad, that there is no pleuro-pneumonia among Canadian cattle, and that in all probability cattle shipped from the Dominion may continue to be landed and distributed alive throughout Great Britain, there seems to be a growing impression that no great harm would come to Canada if our cattle were scheduled.

Canadians are allowed to land their cattle alive, yet last year they only exported to Britain 98,000 head, whereas the United States, which is a scheduled country, forced to kill its cattle at landing, sent in 440,000 head.

But it may be claimed that Canadian farmers profit because they are able to send "stockers," or lean cattle, to Britain, while the United States is compelled to fatten the cattle it exports, as they have to be killed on landing. As the ADVERTISER has before now pointed out this is a mistaken idea. It would be better for our farmers to fatten their own "stockers," and replenish the soil of their farms in the operation. It seems an absurdity for the agriculturists of Canada to be shipping hay and coarse grains to England, and at the same time sending lean cattle to the old country to be fed on their own exports. The farmer who does this impoverishes his soil and makes very little out of the transaction, for prices for cattle have been ruinously low for some time. Stockers only bring $25 a head, and fat cattle are sold at from $60 to $70. There is a fair margin to come and go there, when we consider the low price of fodder, to say nothing of the benefits accruing to the land from cattle feeding.

THE lively time at the half-yearly meeting of the Grand Trunk shareholders in London seems to have been caused by a comparative few. When the declaration of the poll on the motion to adopt the report of the board was made, it was found that 129,360 votes were given for the board and 60 against. The president therefore declared the board's motions all carried. The Midland Railway was omitted from the consolidation scheme to enable the holders of the Midland stock to lay their case for better terms before the Grand Trunk Board. The consolidation of the other subsidiary roads was agreed to.

BRITAIN, CANADA AND THE STATES.

Sir Thomas Henry Farrer, well-known to many Canadians from his connection with the British Board of Trade, and as an author of various books relating to commerce, was recently asked by the editor of the Forum to give his views as to the McKinley tariff and its effect on Great Britain. He has responded with a most readable article. At the start he concedes that any foreign critic of a measure of domestic legislation in a country not his own must occupy a delicate position, but his statements are so very fair and candid that the most violent partisan cannot take offense at them. Sir Thomas gently ridicules the notion that the Cobden Club, "which has difficulty in scraping together sufficient subscriptions to pay for the issue of its publications," is engaged in the expenditure of millions to bribe foreigners to buy English products and bring about free trade the world over. He scouts the view that "perfidious Albion is supposed to be intriguing for the ruin of foreign industries, when she is only doing her best to promote those industries by facilitating the exchange of their products and of her own." Of course, the men who make these charges in every election in the United States and in Canada know that they are untrue, but they hope to influence votes by the cry of "British gold" or "Yankee greenbacks," as the case may be, and they keep on retailing the same old canards.

Sir Thomas, looking at the effect of the new duties imposed upon tin plates by the United States, supplies some returns which will interest us well as surprise some of our neighbors. He shows that, taking the last three years ending June 30, the exports of tin plates to the United States have run as follows:

1890.....$2,088,000
1891.....4,767,000
1892.....1,928,000

The tariff on the tin came into operation at the close of the fiscal year 1891, and the enormous export of tin plates during the year previous to the coming in force of the duty was no doubt caused by the apprehension of the increase. In the following year, however, the new duty was imposed, and yet the falling off was only such as could be accounted for by the accumulated imports of the previous year.

As to the effect of the new United States tariff on other English manufactures, Sir Thomas reminds us that the situation is complicated by other influences than the new tax list. The McKinley tariff was contemporaneous with the Baring failure, with the South American collapse, with the Chilian revolution, and with the Australian financial troubles, the various affects of which it is impossible to disentangle. Meanwhile, it is interesting to note that while there have been some fluctuations in the trade with the United States, the aggregate exports of the United Kingdom to all countries, notwithstanding the McKinley tariff and all other drawbacks, were in

£248,935,000	£263,530,060	£247,235,00 0

Sir Thomas holds that the most interesting aspect of this international trade question is that which concerns the future relations of the English-speaking races. He says he is an ardent well-wisher of the United States, not as a separate nationality, but as the biggest if not the oldest member of the Great British family. He is one of those who desire that the English-speaking races, and especially those who inhabit the British isles, the United States and British North America, shall be joined together—not by the formal bonds of law or treaty, but by every possible tie of common institutions, common feelings, and common interests, as well as by a common history. Therefore, it is that he, in common with many others, regrets the trade barriers that have been set up, and which injure the nations setting them up as well as the countries disposed to trade with them. Sir Thomas is a believer in the unassailable doctrine that free competition and free intercourse tends to bring out the special capacities of both parties to a trade, and he expresses the conviction that "though the natural advantages of the American continent may give its inhabitants larger prospects in certain industries, there will be others in which the inhabitants of the old country will not be behind." In this connection, Sir Thomas points out the evil effects of trade quarrels between Canada and the United States. This representative Englishman looks with disfavor upon any attempt of Canada to seek an exclusive trade relations with England and he points out that it has signally failed. "It found no favor even with Lord Salisbury's Government; and, at a recent meeting of the British Chambers of Commerce of the empire held in London under the presidency of Sir John Lubbock, a motion by Sir Charles Tupper in favor of such a policy was decisively rejected and a motion in favor of a non-protective policy was carried." To accept such a policy, Sir Thomas asserts, would be suicidal and fatal to Britain's commercial interests. "What is even more important," he adds, "it would be fatal to the future relations between Canada and the mother country and between both of them and the United States; for Canada is destined by nature and by geography to trade with the United States, and any legal obligation to the mother country which may have the effect of preventing her from so doing would be sure in time to be felt to be an intolerable grievance, and would embitter the relations of all three countries."

Sir Thomas strongly advocates the establishment of unrestricted trade between Canada, the United States and Great Britain. In conclusion he says:

"No nation stands alone. Those who have upheld the standard of free trade through its darkest hours as good not for England only, but for all countries, must rejoice at the possible converson to the true faith of that great country, which already practices within its own borders a system of free trade wider than the world has ever known elsewhere; which, as it has led the way of the nations in apostasy from the true faith, will no doubt also lead the way in a return to that faith; and which, by such a course, would not only solve the Canadian difficulty and unite by ties of growing commercial interest the whole English-speaking populations both of North America and of the United Kingdom, but would also set an example which the English-speaking communities of the other hemisphere and the foreign nations of Europe must sooner or later follow."

But for the enormous debt heaped up by the civil war and the big sum now annually spent on persons who participated in that conflict or their dependants, the McKinley tariff would not have been possible. As it is, we feel assured that the time is not far distant when the debt of the United States will be paid off, and the excuse for a high tax rate will be removed. Where will Canada be then, if she has not struck an economical and debt reducing gait?

THE Chicago Inter-Ocean, a strict Republican party journal, says: "The country would by no means go to ruin if Cleveland and Democracy should be voted into power in November." It begins to dawn upon some of the Republican journals that Cleveland is likely to succeed.

CANADIANS are now shipping hogs to compete with the world in the British markets. Once we were told that the Canadian could not hold his own in a free market because of "pauper" labor. It seems that he can even compete with the the pauper hogs of the effete old world civilizations.

THE waterworks committee of Toronto City Council has resolved that the city is no more responsible for damage to hoists through sand going through its water pipes than it is for delivering "wigglers" to householders by the same agency. The happiest consumer is he who takes what is sent to him and asks no questions.

Lord Tennyson's son Hallam, who has all his life been the companion of the poet, now succeeds to the peerage. He was born in 1852, and educated at Marlborough and Trinity College, Cambridge. He married in 1884 the daughter of Mr. Charles Boyle, and has two sons, the elder of whom was born in 1889.

HEDGING THOMAS.

Hon. T. M. Daly, the newly-appointed Minister of the Interior, asserts that he is prevented from saying anything regarding the Manitoba public school case because it has not been finally disposed of by the Cabinet. This rule does not bind all round, as Mr. Chapleau has discussed the matter again and again, and he is a member of the same Administration. It is probable that Mr. Daly would talk right out if he did not believe that the present is a good time to be all things to all men. Why should a Minister, or even an M. P., seeking re-election, not be asked to candidly give his views on a great public question, already pronounced upon by the highest court of the realm? In Great Britain any such hedging would result in the overwhelming defeat of the man guilty of it.

WORKINGMEN AND MILITARY DRILL.

[From the Toronto Week.]

The Education Committee of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council take exception, in the recent report, to the tendency to an excessive amount of military drill which is observable in the public schools of the city. The committee ask, not without force, "What are we sending our children to school for? Is it to make soldiers of them or to give them an education?" The reply will of course be that the military drill is a very healthful exercise, that it corrects faults in walk and carriage, gives erectness to the figure and grace to the movements, is a valuable aid to discipline by forming habits of prompt obedience to authority, etc. This is all very true, but it does not meet the objection. From the point of view of many of the best of citizens it would be better that their children should walk with stooping shoulders and awkward gait all their lives than that they should be trained up to regard the military life as the ideal life and the professional soldier as the ideal hero. The ideas of the age are changing in regard to such points, and the laboring classes, who have always to do the chief part of the fighting, and to bear in their persons and families the brunt of the hardship and suffering which war entails, are becoming wiser. They are coming to see that the war is oftener the result of the existence of the army than the army the outcome of a necessity for national defense. But does it by any means follow that all the physical and, if you please, moral benefits of the drill cannot be had without reference to the military idea? The objectionable thing is not the forming, or marching, or other movements, but the continual holding-up of military ideals to fire the young imaginations. No thoughtful person can doubt that the seeds of the military passion thus implanted in the school have very much to do with forming the national character and begetting actual war in the future. Unhappily there are some who deem an occasional war a necessity to the manhood of a nation, and their ideas seem to have taken hold of those who have the management of our city schools. We commend the subject to the thoughtful consideration of our readers.

LACK OF COURTESY.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]

Not one member of the Dominion Government, nor anyone to represent them, was present at the dedicatory ceremonies at Chicago, though a formal and cordial invitation had been sent. This invitation was not even respectfully declined, but simply ignored. The people of Canada rather pride themselves on the uniform courtesy and conformity to the amenities of life that characterize them, and it is humiliating that we are governed by a lot of men who have not the grace to treat a neighboring power with even ordinary courtesy. Is it any wonder that when these graceless boors go to Washington on official business that they are treated with the same scant courtesy and that they fail in their mission? And is the fact that men, who thus deliberately slight the American nation and treat their friendly overtures with contumely, are therefore unable to negotiate trade or other treaties with them, any indication that such treaties cannot be obtained? The Dominion Ministers deliberately shut the door in their own face and then abuse the Americans because they are shut out. If men with gentlemenly instinct and courteous demeanor, men who had a due regard for the amenities of life and withal, with statesmanlike views, had charge of our affairs, there would be no trouble in breaking down the trade barriers that hem us in on every side, or at any rate of removing some of the most galling restrictions.

"August Flower"

Dyspepsia. There is a gentleman at Malden-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says:

"I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, and Constipation we have ever used or known. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating. The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going to town, 'We are out of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two teaspoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed."

AROUND THE WORLD ON A WHEEL

The Globe-Circling Cyclist's Progress.

A Judge's Decision Makes All Racing in Illinois Illegal.

THE WHEEL.

'ROUND THE GLOBE.

Cyclist Frank G. Lentz, who started from New York on June 4 to go around the world on a bicycle, has arrived in San Francisco. Including side trips, he has covered 5,412 miles in 107 riding days. Lentz's diary shows that after leaving New York he ran up the Hudson to Albany and thence through the interior cities of the Empire State to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. He crossed Canada to Windsor and Detroit, pausing at one or two Dominion towns to see the sights and to be entertained by the hospitable wheelmen. From Detroit he went to Chicago by way of South Bend and Jackson, Mich. Milwaukee was the next important stopping place, and then Madison, Wis., and St. Paul. From Minnesota he made a bee-line to Aberdeen, S. D., and thence to Jamestown, N. D. Here the real hardships of the journey began, as the "bad lands" were before him. He followed the old emigrant trail and was often compelled to walk, guiding his bicycle. "There wasn't much to drink and very little to eat in that neighborhood," he says.

In Montana Lentz made a side trip to the Yellowstone Park and was caught in a snowstorm, but lay to under a rock until the clouds rolled by. The hen made his way over rough mountain roads to Helena and across the big ranges to Spokane Falls.

"The hardest part of the journey," said Lentz, "was through the sand desert between Wallala and the Dalles. That was tough. I had to walk 100 miles, and I did it in five days. I had a canteen of coffee and hard tack, but they were gone before I could find a settler to stock up from."

From the Dalles the wheelman made his way to Portland, riding much of the distance on the railroad ties. At the Oregon metropolis, as at most other places en route, the cyclists vied with each other in making him welcome and comfortable. On Oct. 3, after a four days' rest, Lentz started southward through the Williamette Valley to Eugene and Roseburg. The roughest riding experienced was in crossing the Siskiyou Range on the old California stage road. The remainder of the journey through Sisson, Redding and Stockton to Oakland was made without special incident.

Did I find myself in any danger?" said the young cyclist in reply to a question. "Not often. One time near Fallon, on the Yellowstone River, the ferryboat had been wrecked, but there was a skiff on the other bank. I tried to swim across to it, intending to go back for my wheel. The current was too strong, however, and it carried me down the stream for a mile. I caught an overhanging branch and managed to get ashore, but it was a close call. I went up the river then and got on my clothes. I knew there was a ranch on the other side of the stream, so I fired my revolver as a signal to the cowboys. In half an hour or so a bunch of them came down and ferried me across.

"Four or five time I was caught on trestles by freight and passenger trains, but I always managed to get my wheel out on a stringer in time. I met lots of Indians on the way, but none of them molested me."

Lentz will leave for Japan this week. From Japan the young traveler will go to Shanghai, and from there overland by way of Yunnan to Calcutta. This, with his stay in India, will consume four winter months. During the spring he will traverse Persia and Turkey, taking in the fine roads of Europe during the following summer. He expects to reach New York in the autumn of 1893. So far his health has been good and his weight has only decreased four pounds. He is much tanned by exposure.

SPOKES.

A. A. Zimmermann, the champion bicyclist, was tendered a reception by the citizens of Freehold, N. J., on Monday night. He was presented with a gold-headed cane by the local 'cycle club.

ATHLETICS.

The splendid new ten-story building of the Chicago Athletic Association, on which the finishing touches were being put, caught fire Monday morning, and is now in ruins. The loss on the building is estimated at $100,000. The gymnastic apparatus was elaborate, every branch of muscular exercise being provided for. An official of the association asserted that the fire was the result of incendiarism. Next to the Athletic Association building on the south was the immense cyclorama of the Chicago fire. The panorama cost $250,000, and, as tons of water were thrown upon it, the damage will be great. Manager Barr did not think that $80,000 would cover the loss.

BASEBALL.

Patsie Donovan, "our Patsie" of the Pittsburg baseball team of the National League, returned home to this city Friday after achieving a most glorious record for the season. There is no change in the personal make-up of the genial ball tosser. He is the same good-natured, stylish young big fellow, just as unassuming as ever. Patsie's record for the past season has been a most glorious one for the well-known Lawrencian. He has the distinction of being the only batter in the league who made over 100 hits during the season. He was the bright particular star of the Pittsburg team and since he joined them his work has been of the record breaking order. He has signed to play next season in the field for the Pittsburgs again. The winter coming he will make Lawrence his stamping grounds.—[Sunday Press, Lawrence, Mass.

The Southern League of Baseball Clubs held its annual meeting at Atlanta and decided to increase the league to twelve clubs. Charters were granted to Nashville, Charleston, Savannah and Atlanta. The members are: Atlanta, Chattanooga, Memphis, New Orleans, Mobile, Montgomery, Birmingham and Macon, with the four new cities above named. A salary limit of $1,000 was fixed. It was decided to open the season on April 10. Charles C. Hart, of Atlanta, was elected president and Samuel Altmayer, of Macon, vice-president.

The strongest batting team, according to this season's records, would be: Kinslow, catcher; Stratton, pitcher; Brothers, first base; Childs, second base; Nash, third base; Dahlen, shortstop; Hamilton, left field; Delehanty, center field; Donovan, right field. The best fielding nine would be: Cross, catcher; Young, pitcher; Connor, first base; Bierbaur, second base; Reilly, third base; Smith, shortstop; Elmer Smith, left field; Griffin, center field; Radford, right field.

THE TURF.

ALL RACING IN ILLINOIS IS ILLEGAL.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—By a decision rendered by Judge Collins, the Garfield Park Club got a fatal blow, and the language of the decision would seem to sound the death knell of all horse racing in the State of Illinois. The law of 1887 relating to pool-selling races, with a proviso that it shall be legal to hold the same within regular race track inclosures, is declared to be unconstitutional. The decision dealt with the whole problem of racing between horses on all tracks and was not confined to the inclosure of the complainant, so that the Garfield Park sports who were present gained some solace from the statement of attorneys that every race track in Illinois could be closed under the decision. The sweeping decision, of course, affects fashionable Washington Park Club, and its great World's Fair meeting cannot be held unless the Legislature this winter affords relief by a new law. The decision also affects Corrigan's Hawthorne track and the East St. Louis and Madison courses, all of which are now running.

TOO FAST.

The American Trotting Association is already figuring on measures to prevent the occurrence of such games as that played by Columbia W. C. Jones last week. Jones has collected $32,000 from owners as entrance fees, and not a cent is in sight. Jones claims to have spent all the money on the track. Thus the Grand Papids, Mich., Richmond, Ind., and Des Moines, Ia., experience come in succession in one season.

QUOITING.

The Forest City Quoiting Club has decided to offer $40 in prizes at their Thanksgiving Day tournament. Consolation prizes will be awarded in addition.

FOOTBALL.

For Prohibition.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 3.—At a prohibition convention held at Amherst it was unanimously decided to approach the Legislature of Nova Scotia this session for an act completely suppressing the liquor traffic. It was stated that leading lawyers of the Dominion were of the opinion that the sale of liquor could be prohibited by the Provincial Legislature.

Several Indians Burned to Death.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 3.—"Wild Goose Bill," who has just arrived in the city from Okanogon county, brings news of the burning of several Indians near Alma. They had come across from the reservation and got drunk and the United States marshal drove them back. They went to an abandoned cabin and held an orgie until 2 in the morning. About that hour settlers observed a bright light, and investigation showed that the cabin had caught fire and burned with Indians who were in a drunken stupor.

Mr. Quick's Affections Alienated by a Widow.

The Syren Sued by the Neglected Wife.

Damaging Documentary Evidence Produced—Plaintiff Secures a Verdict Amounting in All to $4,500.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 3.—At the Brant Assizes yesterday a trial was begun which packed the court house with a deeply-interested audience. Mrs. Sarah Jane Quick, a resident of Woodstock, and wife of Joseph Quick, formerly foreman in Karn's organ factory, sued Mrs. Agnes Church, widow of the late Alanson Church, of Brantford, lumberman and retired farmer, for $5,000 damages, alleging that defendant alienated from plaintiff the affections of a hitherto devoted husband, charging her with having taken him away, and with allowing him to go and consort with her.

Plaintiff was represented by Mr. J. C. Fullerton, Q.C., Toronto, and defendant by D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., of Toronto.

Mrs. Quick is of slender build and rather delicate. Mrs. Church is of robust frame and determined disposition. Mrs. Quick entered the box and related her married experience of 25 years, which she said had been pleasant, barring an interval of a year when her husband becoming charmed with a Mrs. Skinner, of Grand Rapids, a deed of separation had been arranged, but he had returned and been forgiven. Later, however, their happy home was a second time the scene of discord, all because, as she said, "that woman" (pointing to Mrs. Church), had by her persuasive and winning ways stolen her bread-winner from her, and that he was now in Green Bay, Wisconsin, acting as manager of a hotel, of which Mrs. Church is proprietor. Once the witness spoke of her as a "lady," but immediately corrected herself and pointed to her as "that woman." After her husband's first escapade he came back and they lived together for sixteen years, chiefly in Goderich, Clinton and latterly in Woodstock. Her husband was foreman in the Karn works, and had a salary of $1,200 per annum. She saw a great change in her husband's demeanor towards her four years ago. He would stay out all night. She found out that he was visiting at Blandford, where defendant stayed. Afterwards when he went to Green Bay, Wis., she followed and found him with Mrs. Church. She had a letter which defendant offered her $50 for. She found it in her husband's pocket while he was asleep. It reads:

"Aug. 13.

My Own Darling,—I did not mean calling upon you in the street. I got home all right that night, but I feel very lonesome when my darling leaves me. I hope you will do just what is right. I would like to have you all to myself, but that day is away, away off. I do not know what is the matter, I think that much about you. Darling, take better care of yourself. I want you to answer this to-night and let me know if you can come out to-morrow. I will be at Patterson's. Tell me if you are coming, or it walking or driving. I will meet you near the barn, and try to make it late. You had better drive; it makes you late. Go to bed early and take a sound sleep. I will look for a letter to-night.

From yours,

Mary X. X."

Mr. McCarthy, Q.C., for the defense, subjected Mrs. Quick to a most searching examination, but she did not get very much mixed. She said: "I may have been peevish and fretful, but I wasn't so bad that Joe should have gone and left me."

Mrs. Church when put in the box denied the whole story, and said Quick had only visited her house near Woodstock when requested by her husband to mend furniture or fix the piano or organ. After her husband's death she went to Green Bay, and purchasd a hotel. While on the street in Green Bay she met Quick, who asked her if she would give him a job. She said she would. The promise was fulfilled and Quick was now her manager. No improper relation ever existed between them. She was 42 years of age, and had had twelve children. Confronted with the letter found by Mrs. Quick, she denied having written it or knowing anything of it. Mr. Fullerton urged her to sit down and copy it off, but she refused, and Mr. Justice Street said he didn't know how he could make her do it. She positively refused, saying, "I don't think it is necessary." She also said she could not write further than to sign her name. She seemed self-possessed and rather inclined to interrupt counsel in the statement of the case. At one time the judge told her to remain silent or leave the court.

Mr. Fullerton made a stirring address, reviewing the evidence, dwelling upon the salient points of the witnesses for the plaintiff. He made a special point of the meetings of the defendant with Quick at various points and defendant's statements that they were accidents. He made a strong point of the absence of Quick. He accused Mrs. Church of deliberately getting Quick examined by the commission instead of bring him here personally.

THE VERDICT.

The jury brought in a verdict of $2,500 for the alienation of the husband's affection and $2,000 for failure to support—$4,500 is all.

SULLIVAN, THE SHOOTER.

Miss Henderson's Assailant Committed for Trial.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 3.—This morning John D. Sullivan, who shot Miss Elizabeth Henderson at her residence on Center street east on Oct. 15, was charged at the police court with shooting with intent. County Crown Attorney Donohue prosecuted, and Mr. H. McConnel appeared for the accused. The deposition of Miss Henderson as to the shooting was read, after which several witnesses were examined.

John Slough, who drives a bread wagon, saw the prisoner a few minutes before the shooting. Sullivan was in the kitchen, partly dressed, and was putting on his boots.

Mrs. Alice Cutler, a next door neighbor to Miss Henderson, heard the noise of the shooting and saw Sullivan going up-stairs. He was partly dressed at the time.

It will be remembered that Sullivan, when arrested, was in bed with his drawers and stockings on, and claimed to know nothing of the shooting.

Mrs. Annie Burtsell gave evidence as to Miss Henderson's statement when she ran into the Burtsell residence after the shooting.

Chief Fewings and Constable Palmerston searched prisoner; found keys which opened his trunk, at the bottom of which they found a five-chambered revolver and a box of cartridges to fit it. One chamber of the revolver was loaded. A cartridge which filled the revolver was found on Sullivan when he was searched.

Sullivan was committed for trial.

POLICE STATION REPAIRS

Will Be Made—The Board of Works Accept Tenders—Contractor Baldwin and the City Engineer Disagree—A Suit Against the City Threatened.

The Board of Works of the City Council met last evening. There were present Ald. Garratt, Bartlett, Shaw, O'Meara, Jones, the street commissioner, city engineer and Secretary Bell. Ald. Garratt, in the absence of Chairman Connor, was voted to the chair.

The communication of A. Hagger regarding erection of a fence by R. Hall on public street was laid over again.

The application of R. Ironside for increase of salary from $12 to $15 per week, granted to him to Oct. 1, to be made permanent was read and it was decided to recommended the council to grant the application.

The communication of E. H. Hayne, et al., regarding a private drain on St. James street from Talbot to George was laid over.

The engineer submitted plans of the proposed alteration to the jail and was instructed to prepare specifications and call for tenders for the work, the old work to be taken out by the prisoners.

The engineer stated that Contractor Elliott for Victoria Bridge breakwater had not completed the work until eleven days after time in specifications, and was liable to a fine of $25 per day, and asked instructions. The committee decided to recommend the council not to impose the penalty, as Mr. Elliott had completed the work in a very satisfactory manner and was stopped by bad weather frequently.

Tenders for varnishing, painting and kalsomining the police station were submitted as follows: Wasp & Pearson, $235; Geo. Howe, $260; H. & C. Colerick, $187; A. T. Corp, $195; James Lucas, $162. Jas. Lucas' tender will be recommended to the council for acceptance.

Geo. Roughley's tender for a new roof for the same at $45 was accepted.

Mr. Flock on behalf of the Guelich Company asked that the final payment be made them for artificial walk on Dundas street between Waterloo and Ridout streets which the engineer refused to certify on the grounds that the work was not finished in a workmanlike manner. Mr. Flock stated that he was instructed to take necessary steps to collect the same by suit. The matter was referred to the engineer and city solicitor to see if the city has power to keep back the money.

Mr. Fitzgerald for Mr. M. Baldwin stated that there was a difficulty between the engineer and Mr. Baldwin as to the measurements of cedar blocks supplied the city for repairs to street railway tracks. Mr. Fitzgerald stated the ways in which each party kept the measurement—Mr. Baldwin by counting the number of loads delivered and the engineer by counting the number of blocks, both averaging a number of square yards. Mr. Baldwin's measurement totaled 1,072 square yards and the engineer's 223. The price was 40 cent per square yard. The matter was laid over and the committee adjourned.

Part of Ontario's Exhibit To Be Forwarded in a Few Days.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—A special train will leave Hamilton by the G. T. R. at the end of next week, bearing the choice fruits and vegetables that Ontario will exhibit at the World's Fair next year—about 300 half barrels of fruit and a couple of carloads of vegetables. The exhibit will be placed in cold storage in Chicago to be kept in good condition till the fair opens. In the course of a few weeks the grains and minerals will be forwarded. The honey and dairy products will not be sent over till spring, while the stock to be exhibited will not be shipped till next autumn. The selection of birds has been intrusted to Mr. J. H. Fleming, of Toronto. The birds will be stuffed and used in an archway, which will form the approach to the Ontario department of the Agricultural Building.

THE CASE CLOSED.

Evidence in the Mercier-Pacaud Trial All in—The Judge Reserves His Decision Till To-Day.

THE MERCIER-PACAUD TRIAL CLOSED.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.—There was a large gathering at the criminal court this morning to witness the final phase of the celebrated trial. Several witnesses were examined and then Mr. Fitzpatrick announced that evidence for the defense was finished. Mr. Greenshield addressed the jury on behalf of the Crown, and was followed by Mr. Lemieux and Mr. Fitzpatrick for defense, Mr. Dunbar closing for the Crown.

His Honor Judge Wurtele said that although he could give his decision he thought it more prudent in a case of this importance to consult authorities, and he would give his decision to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

TIDINGS FROM TORONTO.

Shrinkage of to Per Cent. in the Values of Property—The Windmill Line.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—The Court of Revision is making big reductions in land values in the first ward to-day, the property owners putting in a mass of evidence to show that values have shrunk all the way from 15 to 40 per cent.

At a conference with the city officials in the mayor's office this morning, Mr. Wragg, of the Grand Trunk, stated that that railway would oppose any further extension of the Windmill Line unless it secured a slice of the extension.

Mr. N. G. Bigelow is slightly better to-night, but his condition is still very precarious.

A well-dressed woman giving the name of Mrs. Stone bought a dose of carbolic acid at a drug store in Parkdale to-day and then went to the Windsor Hotel, Mimico, where she was stopping, and locked herself in a room, where she was found dead an hour or two later with an empty bottle by her side.

NO WONDER HE DIED.

A Hoosier Drank Two Quarts of Whisky to Neutralize a Cat-Bite.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., Nov 3.—John Lachiner was bitten by a cat yesterday while at work in a distillery. He feared hydrophobia and immersed his arm in a tub of spirits. He then drank a quart of whisky. He became pale and trembled after this and then drank another quart. He then went home, retired to his room and died in an hour without speaking a word.

Strangled Her Husband.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 3.—James Fitzsimmens, deputy warden of the New Westminster, B.C., penitentiary, has arrived with a prisoner named Mrs. Brown, whom he left at the Kingston Penitentiary. She was sentenced at Nanaimo, B.C., for the murder of her husband by strangling him during a drunken brawl. She was arrested on a charge of murder, but was tried for manslaughter and committed to the penitentiary for five years. The main cause of her crime is said to be jealousy.

[Reported by Drummond & Goldingham.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Cotton oil steady. The quick assets are $7,113,339, an increase of $1,185,000.

A Liverpool cable says spot cotton is firm and futures are declining. Manchester yarns are hardening. Receipts at the ports, 42,000 bales.

Southern markets are firm and prospects are good for a further advance.

Cotton advices from the entire river district are very gloomy over the frost damage and rain, which exceed all expectations.

Gerlach, one of the largest brokers in Philadelphia, has failed. The failure is not considered of much importance.

The friends of sugar say the reaction was a catch to stop orders.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Wheat steady, but there is no snap to it.

Manitoban Wheat.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4.—Reliable statistics of wheat deliveries and shipments up to Oct. 31 show that there have been 6,800,000 bushels either shipped out of the country or now in store west of Winnipeg. The amount in store is placed at 20,000,000 and the amount shipped out at 48,000,000, making the deliveries from farmers 68,000,000. The amount exported last year was about 15,000,000 bushels. Wheat is being moved at the rate of 200 cars per day, or 1,000,000 per week. The car supply on the whole is equal to deliveries, and the traffic is kept moving remarkably well, considering the rush. One feature of the export trade this year is the very large quantity of flour being shipped out by Manitoba mills.

Thompson—Gifford.

The marriage of Mr. Wm. J. Thompson, of the G. T. R. freight department, this city, to Miss Barbara Gifford, late of Scotland, was celebrated on Wednesday at the home of the former, 386 Central avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chas. Smith. A Pleasant Gathering.

Another of those social gatherings that tend to promote such good feeling among members of a church was held last evening in St. James' Church Sunday school, South London, under the auspices of the Young Men's Association, assisted by the Mission Band and King's Daughters. The attendance was large. Mr. E. Nugent, the chairman, in a few words explained the objects of the society, welcomed the visitors and introduced a programme of a varied character in which Messrs. Howlet, Heslip, Softley, and E. B. Hessel took part. A chorus by some association members was a pleasing feature, Miss Softley acting as accompanist. Rev. Canon Davis delivered an earnest address on the importance of young people's work in the church. During an interval in the programme refreshments were served. After singing "God be With You Till We Meet Again" the benediction by the pastor terminated a pleasant gathering.

Woodmen in Session.

At a regular meeting last night of Forest Camp, No. 1, Woodmen of the World, delegates from the Camps in Lucan and Hyde Park were present to take part in a discussion as to the future of the order in Ontario. It was unanimously resolved that the welfare of the order demanded that incorporation be secured at the earliest possible moment, and the necessary action was taken to provide for an early meeting of delegates from all the Ontario camps to discuss the situation, and if necessary to form a head camp. Consul Commander W. G. McMillan presided, and Sovereigns Hodgins, Lucan, Elson and Fuller, Hyde Park, and members of Forest camp took part in the discussion. The delegates elected to attend the coming meeting of representatives are Sovereigns Luscombe, McMillan and Wrigley, with Sovereigns Fitzgerald and Doe as alternates. Refreshments were provided at the close of the meeting and a social time was enjoyed with the visiting sovereigns. The Supreme Camp officers have the matter of incorporation under discussion and will be heard from in a few days. The order has prospered during the current year, notwithstanding the disabilities put upon it by the Ontario Act affecting the working of beneficial societies.

Remenyi—"The Greatest Living Violinist."

The appearance of Mr. Edouard Remenyi in concert last evening was one of the most exceptional treats that could have been offered to even the most critical audience. Remenyi is heralded as the greatest living violin virtuoso, and the claim will be readily conceded, as it would be hypercriticism to compare him with any violinist who has visited this country, so thoroughly unique and typical in his playing. Possessing a marvelous command of the merely technical possibilities of the instrument, he is able to find expressions for all varieties of emotion that the composition and his mood may demand. Mr. Remenyi's interpretation of well-known melodies reveals unimagined beauties in the composition, so thoroughly is it clothed with his individuality.—[St. Paul, Minn., Piyneer Press, April 13, 1892. Danesbury House.

"Oh, no; that would never do," Miss St. George remonstrated; "that would not be cordial. May he not have a glass of wine to-day?" she added, appealing to Mrs. Danesbury.

"If he likes," was the reply. Mr. Danesbury had never been so particular as his wife about the children's beverage being positively restricted to water. Probably he had not thought about it so much and deeply.

"There, Arthur," said Miss St. George, "your papa gives you leave."

"No," answered Arthur, passing the wine back toward Miss St. George. And filling a wine-glass with water, he wished his sister many happy returns of the day. The children followed his example, but drank their good wishes in wine.

"Now, Isabel," said Miss St. George, "thank every one. There's your wine."

Isabel raised the wine to her lips, but before she could taste it, Arthur had risen from his seat, opposite to her, and was leaning across the table with a flushed face and kindling eye, speaking vehemently.

"Isabel! You know!"

His startling energy aroused Mr. Danesbury in astonishment. Isabel instantly put down the glass, blushed painfully and likewise pushed it toward Miss St. George.

"You ought to be ashamed, Isabel," continued Arthur. "If I had not spoken, you were going to drink it. You have forgotten mamma."

Isabel burst into tears. "It was Miss St. George told me," she sobbed; "I did not want to drink it."

"You have a very particular prejudice against drinking wine, Arthur," said Mr. Danesbury, smiling.

"Papa, I promised her that I never would. And Isabel knows all about it, that I never mean to, and she said she never would, Miss St. George knew it."

"Promised whom?" said Mr. Danesbury.

"My dear mamma. It was the last word she said to me before she left me that night; and I promised her, and she is looking down from heaven at me now."

He laid his head on the table, overcome by the remembrance of his mother, and sobbed aloud. It seemed that Mr. Danesbury was likewise overcome, for he hastily rose, and quitted the room for some minutes.

"Do not attempt to give the children wine again," he said to Miss St. George. She bowed her head; but she would very much have liked, just then, to give Arthur a wholesome whipping instead.

They soon heard why Mrs. Philip Danesbury had not arrived to dinner. She had received news from Yorkshire that her mother was alarmingly ill, and she had been busy making preparations to start thither on the morrow morning. She ran up at night to say good-bye. Miss St. George, lamenting outwardly, was in a state of inward rapture, fervently hoping that the visit might last six months.

Six months it did last. For Mrs. Philip Danesbury found her mother, Mrs. Heber, in a precarious state, and thought it necessary to remain. It was summer when she went, it was winter when she came back; and the very first news to greet her on her return was that Eliza St. George was to be Mr. Danesbury's second wife.

Mrs. Philip sat down like one paralyzed. "If I did not say it!" she uttered. "I wish he had chosen anybody else, for I don't like the woman; and the children can never like her. What can possess him?"

She wrapped herself up the next morning and set off in the snow to see Mr. Danesbury. Not going to the house, but seeing him at the works. He was in his private room.

"John," she said, when greetings had passed, and she warmed her hands over the hot blaze of the fire, "you are going to marry again, I hear."

"I believe so, Maria."

"What did I tell you? "That, if you did not take care, she would play her cards to win. And she has done it!"

"It was well for me to marry again. Not that I cared about it," he emphatically added, "for I have not yet forgotten Isabel. But the house wanted a mistress, and the children a mother. Miss St. George is amiable, she seems a good manager, and I do believe," he added, with a comical look, that her whole heart is wrapped up in me and the children. You should see how fond she has grown of William."

"Ah!" ejaculated Mrs. Philip Danesbury.

"What does that interjection mean?" laughed John Danesbury.

"Why, it means that I do not take in what you say, John. I believe you are as completely done as ever man was. I do not believe in her amiability, for I think it is all put on; and I do not believe in love for the children, no, not even for William, for I think it is put on. I cannot speak as to what it may be for you."

"Maria, you were always prejudiced against Miss St. George. You were, before you saw her."

"Admitted. Because her coming down here in the way she did, looked to me a suspicious proceeding. Now, I am sure it was one. But when I came to see and know Miss St. George my prejudice did not lessen. I wish you had chosen anyone else, for the children's sake. At the time I went away, I was beginning to hope and think there was another your choice would have fallen upon."

He looked at her inquiringly.

"Miss Roper."

"Ah, she is a nice girl," said John Danesbury, with animation. "She would have been rather young for me, Maria."

"She is six-or-seven-and-twenty. And I am quite sure she would have made a loving mother to your children. I am astonished at your want of taste, John, in preferring Miss St. George to her."

"Now, don't call my taste in question, if you please, Maria," said he good-humoredly. "I admire Miss Roper more than I do Miss St. George, and I do not particularly care for either. I can never care for a woman as I cared for Isabel."

"You will persuade me next, you are out of your senses," was the retort of Maria. "If you prefer Miss Roper, why do you marry Miss St. George?"

"To tell the truth," he answered, in a low tone, "I was, in a manner, drawn into the marriage. But of course this must not go beyond you."

"Drawn into it! I do not understand you."

"It seems the neighborhood got talking about my attention to Miss St. George. Which appears to me very strange, as I declare that I never paid her any particular attention. I certainly used to drive them out in the open carriage most evenings, herself and the two children, and she sat in the front seat with me; I could not put her in the back, you know, a relation of Isabe; and I used to give her my arm to church, and there my attention ended."

"And who says the neighborhood made remarks?" interrupted Mrs. Philip Danesbury.

"Listen. One day Mrs. Serle arrived here in a desperate bustle. She sought an interview with me, and said Eliza had written to her that she was miserable; that after what the neighborhood had been pleased to say, she should never hold her head up in happiness, and that of course she must leave Danesbury House, and they might as well tear her limb from limb as from me and the children."

"What did you say to all this rhapsody!"

"Gave the neighborhood a blessing, or something equivalent to it — though no rumors had reached my ears, and told Mrs. Serle that it was a mistake to suppose that I had paid any particular attentions, I had paid none whatever. Mrs. Serle assured me things had been said, and asked what I could do in the dilemma; hinting that for a reproach to have been cast to Isabel's cousin——"

"About 40 times removed," contemptuously interrupted Mrs. Philip Danesbury.

Mr. Danesbury smiled, as he continued. "That for a reproach to have been cast on Isabel's cousin would have proved a bitter grief to her, had she been in life. Then I began to think that as I had almost determined to marry again, I might as well take Miss St. George as anybody and settle the neighborhood that way. So without giving myself time for consideration—I acknowledge that—I told Mrs. Serle that the matter had better be ended in that manner."

"And they snapped at it!"

"They accepted it," said John Danesbury.

"It was a well planned trap!" vehemently spoke Mrs. Philip. "Mrs. Serle's coming down and saying what she did, was a planned trap to draw you on, planned between them and Miss St. George. I wish I was so sure of heaven! She has played out her game."

Mr. Danesbury stood, his tall form drawn to its full height. He began pushing with his foot some starting bits of coal into the fire between the bars of the grate.

"John!" said Marie.

"Well?"

"Do not carry it out. Let her bring an action for breach of promise. She is just the one to do it."

"But, indeed, I mean to carry it out. You must not think I repent, Maria. I believe in Miss St. George's amiability, if you do not, and I think she will make me a suitable wife."

Twice Their Natural Size.

For twelve years, Mr. Edward Evans, formerly employed by Davey & Moore, glass manufacturers, London, Eng., suffered from the worst form of rheumatism. He was treated at infirmaries, but was always discharged as incurable. His legs and hands were swollen to twice their natural size. He could not walk; the pain drove him almost frantic, and he felt as if hot irons were passing through his bones. The first application of St. Jacobs Oil relieved him, and continuing its use the swelling left his limbs; in a week he could walk, all pain had vanished and he went to work.

He Quit the Doctor.

Gentlemen,—I was troubled with dyspepsia for about four years and tried several remedies, but found them of little use. I noticed an advertisement of Burdock Blood Bitters, so I quit the doctor, and started to use B. B. B., and soon found that there was nothing to equal it. It took just three bottles to effect a perfect cure in my case, and I can highly recommend this excellent remedy to all.

We commenced to use Pure Gold Baking Powder. The dyspepsia is gone, the children are happy, even the baby is always laughing, and I am myself once more."

NEW YORK TO CHICAGO ON FOOT.

C. W. Welch Makes the Trip in Eighteen Days and Eight Hours.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 3.—C. W. Welch, who left New York Oct. 13 to walk to Chicago, arrived here at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. He says that with the exception of a few stretches on the turnpikes he walked the whole distance on the ties of the New York Central and the Lake Shore railroads,

The actual time consumed in the walk was eighteen days and eight hours, and this is one day and six hours better than his scheduled time.

"I covered an average of 50 miles a day," said he, "and met with no mishaps until I reached Elkhart, Ind. There I was assaulted by a tramp and lost a few little articles in the struggle. I encountered all kinds of weather, hot and cold, rainy and dry."

Welch is a native of New York city and has distinguished himself as a pedestrian and runner.

A LINGUISTIC THIEF.

The Master of Ten Languages Charged With Burglary.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Joseph Wierski, a youth of 18, was arraigned before Justice Cowing, in General Sessions, Tuesday, on a charge of burglary. On Oct. 21 he broke into a room at the lodging house, 11 Chatham Square, and stole valuables from the occupant worth $102 75. "I am guilty of the charge," said Wierski, in an ingenuous tone, "but it is my first burglary. I am a kleptomaniac and I steal because I can't help it. This mania has me body and soul. It will never leave me, I'm afraid. I have been a thief since I was able to walk." Wierski's frankness amazed the court, who elicited the fact that he was the master of ten languages. Wierski said he was born in Dantzig, Germany, and attended the Heidelberg University. He confessed to having stolen from that institution and was expelled on account of his propensity to covet everything he saw. Lawyer Berringle, who represented the young burglar, said that he was a prodigy, who would make his mark in the world if he were properly taken care of. He declared that he would give the prisoner employment in his office, but Judge Cowing sent him to the Elmira Reformatory.

Fell Dead on the Platform.

SOUTH NORFOLK, Conn., Nov. 3.—Henry D. Lees, a prominent prohibitionist, while addressing a meeting yesterday dropped dead from heart disease. His last words were: "Brethren, let us dwell together in harmony and peace." He was a well-known Grand Army man and was 66 years old.

Burned Up His Playmate.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 3.—William Jepson, the 3-year-old son of John Jepson, has been fatally burned by a playmate, Henry Crook. The two boys had been left alone in a house in Covel street, and the Crook boy scratched matches on the Jepson boy's clothing, setting them on fire.

A Chicago Eskimo.

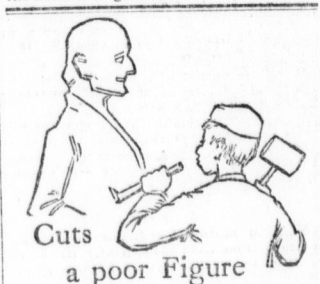

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Mrs Simon Manak, an Eskimo, has presented her husband with a fourteen-pound daughter. The affair took place in the Eskimo camp at the World's Fair grounds at Chicago. It is the first child born on the grounds of the Columbian Exposition.

Free Trip to Bermuda.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 3.—An officer on H. M. S. Blake sent a man to Meyers' provision store yesterday to pay a bill. The man paid the bill about 3 o'clock. James Haley, who manages Meyers' business, thinking the officer was not going to pay, went to the Blake, and while he was on board looking for the officer the Blake moved from the wharf and was soon speeding down the harbor. It was too rough to launch a boat, and so Haley was taken to Bermuda.

Their Pastor a Woman.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 3.—Rev. Mary T. Whitney, who has accepted the unanimous call of the Second Unitarian Society of West Somerville, and will enter upon the duties of her office at once, is the wife of Rev. Herbert Whitney, pastor of the First Unitarian Church at Athol, to whom she was married in Utica, N. Y., in 1873. She is a very popular public speaker. Only a few days ago she made an address at Portland, Me., at the annual meeting of the Sunday School Society, and she spoke with much force before the convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union recently. Her lessons and teachings are from the practical side of life, and she makes the greatest questions of morals applicable to the interests of daily life. She has a commanding presence and a voice, clear, resonant and penetrating, that can be plainly heard in the most distant parts of the halls of largest size.

Cuts a poor Figure

—the woman who doesn't use Pearline. She has much to do, and little to do it with. Her looks prove that washing is hard work; her work shows that washing makes wear and tear. Pearline saves the hardest part of all washing and cleaning. Pearline does away with the Rub, Rub, Rub. What it does, is safe; what it doesn't do, is harm. 286

HELD FAST BY THE RAILS.

Terrible Fate of a Methodist Minister's Wife at Painted Post, N. Y.

CORNING, N. Y., Nov. 3.—This afternoon the Rev. C. Bradbury, a retired Methodist preacher, was crossing the Erie Railroad tracks at Painted Post, in company with his wife when in some manner one of Mrs. Bradbury's feet was caught between the outer and guard rails.

While her husband was assisting in extracting her express train No. 24 came thundering along and struck them both. Mrs. Bradbury was instantly killed and her body was terribly mangled. Mr. Bradbury was badly injured, and the shock and injuries combined may cause his death. Both husband and wife were over 70 years of age.

A bottle of Angostura Bitters to flavor your lemonade or any other cold drink will keep you free from Dyspepsia, Colic Diarrhea and all diseases originating from the digestive organs. Be sure to get the genuine Angostura, manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

For severe cold on the lungs use the following excellent remedy: A teacupful of strained honey, one-half teacupful of olive oil and the juice of one lemon. Cook all together and take one teaspoonful every two hours.

Untold Misery—What a Well-Known Commercial Traveler Suffered, and How He Was Cured.—Gentlemen,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time traveling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of dyspepsia. (Signed.) T. S. Honors for a London Artist.

Alex. Fleming, Chatham, who was a pupil of Mr. John P. Hunt, of this city, has been informed by the superintendent of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, that his application for admission into that well-known institution as a student has been approved by the faculty. Young Fleming, who is only 16 years of age, secured several prizes as a professional artist at the recent Western Fair and other Ontario exhibitions.

Sara Lord Bailey's Recital.

Sara Lord Bailey, Boston's favorite elocutionist, gave a recital of a very high order before a fair audience in Victoria Hall last evening. She is an artist of whom Boston is justly proud. Her rendering of the "Chariot Race," from "Ben Hur," was admirable. In "Life for Life" and "Experience of a Genius," she won golden opinions. If fact, all her numbers, including "The Boston Vender's Call," "Judgment Day," "Royal Bumper Degree" and "Creeds of the Bells" were rendered in a way that delighted her hearers. Should Sara Lord Bailey return to London no doubt a large audience will greet her.

C. O. F. Notes.

Court Welcome, No. 323, Canadian Order of Foresters, located at Strathallan, held a public meeting on Nov. 1, when Edward Towe, of this city, the head of the order, installed the officers, assisted by F. Chalmers, D.D.H.C.R., of Oxford district, acting as high marshal, E. Garthing, D.H.C.R., acting as H. V. C. R., and A. McPherson as high secretary. After the public installation refreshments were served, and were followed by speeches by the above-named officers. The high chief ranger then asked those who were willing to join Court Welcome, and eight young men made application. The visiting officers were well pleased with the progress the court was making, and promised to make it another visit.

Several of the members of the order here met at the residence of Robert Elliott, high auditor of the order, on Wednesday night, and spent a social hour with him.

J. H. E. Jones, D.D.H.C.R., of East Middlesex district, and a number of other officials, paid Court Crumlin an official visit last night and installed its officers.

Wedding Reception.

The large and elegant home of Mr. I. M. Mayell, 500 Dufferin avenue, was last night the scene of a very pleasant occurrence, the occasion being the return of his son, Mr. A. W. Mayell, from Shelbina, Mo., whither he went a week ago to claim as his bride one of its fairest daughters, Miss E. Peters. About 50 young people, intimate friends of the family, were present to receive and wish the happy couple a welcome home, and, as is the custom on such occasions, to extend congratulations and wishes for their present and future happiness. The early hours of the evening having been beguiled in a most pleasant manner, the large company was requested to retire to tables arranged with the rich delicacies of the season, these being freely partaken of. A few appropriate remarks from Rev. J. C. Antliff concluded the happy occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Mayell will shortly take up their residence in one of ex-Mayor Taylor's new houses on Adelaide street, just north of Princess avenue.

Another Big Convention.

Preparations for the reception and entertainment for the delegates of the Twelfth International Christian Endeavor Convention at Montreal are already being carried forward on an extensive scale. While at the time of the carnivals, there have been in the city between 12,000 and 15,000 strangers for whom accomodation needed to be provided, the fact that double this number is expected next July makes the problem of their entertainment a far greater one than any Montreal has hitherto been called upon to solve. The hotel committee of the convention is fully alive to the needs of the case and no effort is being spared to secure ample accomodation of a superior kind for all who may attend. During the past fortnight about 20,000 personally directed letters have been delivered throughout the city, calling upon householders to open their doors to the coming hosts. Already the response to this call has been as representative and general as time would allow. A house to house canvas is now being entered upon to place the merits of the case before many who could not otherwise be reached. It is believed that by the 1st of December the committee will know where it may billet at least half the expected number of visitors. The French Catholic and English Protestant newspapers of Montreal have vied with one another in favorably reviewing the work of the society and calling upon all good citizens, irrespective of differences in race, language and religion, for the honor of their beautiful city, to unite in extend hospitality to the delegates. In Montreal as in this city and Minneapolis, the homes of the citizens will welcome the Christian Endeavorers with open doors.

WHY NOT?
You have corns, warts, bunions, moles or cancers? Why are they not cured? You ask a reasonable question. It demands a candid answer. You have it here: You bought a corn cure. You thought you had Barkwell's, but it was not the genuine; you got a counterfeit. It was no more use than water. We missed the sale of what you wanted. So far, it is your money gone; our money is gone too. You get another and think it is the genuine. You have made a mistake and we are in disgrace. More of your money's gone: more of our money is gone. Your corns are no better; our reputation no better. You make up your mind they cannot be cured. We have lost a customer. You have got hold of the wrong end of the fact. You have got hold of the wrong bottle. Both our moneys are gone. Not only our moneys are gone but our opinions of one another are wrong. We don't know you by sight or name. You don't know us. We think "how dull you are to get an imitation when you might as well get Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure." And you think "what fools the manufacturers of that corn cure are to cheat so." Let's get acquainted with one another. Let's get acquainted with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. The manufacturer is not the unhandsome name you call him by. And you can't help it. Come on. Nobody deals more handsomely. Nobody ever loses a cent by getting Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure, but they always lose a corn. We never had any trouble except by these infernal counterfeiters. Neither do you with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. v
