CHILI AND PERU.

Lima, Peru, July 14.—The Peruvian Congress, in secret session, approved the protocol between Chili and Peru by a vote of 115 against 27.

A GERMAN PROTEST.

London, July 14.—At a meeting of the German Colonial Association, held at Dantzig, a resolution was adopted to protest against the violation of the German rights by Great Britain in the Anglo-French West African convention just concluded.

SAMOA.

Berlin, July 14.—The Vossische Zeitung commenting on the annexation of Hawaii, says: America has practically no right in Samoa, and Germany's voice must rank before America's in the future fate of that island. Germany will, therefore, take care that her interests are protected in the final settlement.

ORANGE RIOT.

Dublin, July 14.—The celebrations in connection with the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne were marked with a renewal of Orange conflicts. At Belfast the police and military suppressed several attempts at disorders. Many were injured. Similar disturbances took place in Donegal.

SPAIN ENCOURAGED.

London, July 14.—The Times, commenting editorially on the war situation this morning, says it thinks the outbreak of disease among the American troops may decide Spain to continue the war, but it dissuades her from "such rashness which will result in more onerous terms of peace later as it is quite illusory for Spain to hope for real help from Germany."

OVER THE VALL.

London, July 14.—Fretion is threatening between the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, owing to the latter's veto upon the Transvaal proposal to build a railway, competing with certain Free State lines.

Cape Town, July 14.—Owing to Sir Alfred Milner's firm attitude the Transvaal have agreed to suspend their threatened warlike action against the Orange Free State, and to accept a summons upon the chief, Buto, to attend the civil court. He has agreed to stand his trial.

GERMANY AND PORTUGAL.

London, July 14.—The new German envoy to Lisbon is showing much activity in visiting the prime minister and other Portuguese officials, and this, coming as it does, is interpreted in Berlin to Lisbon, inspires the belief in English political circles that Germany is making a front against the Transvaal, shown by Portugal to England, or is endeavoring to obtain an equivalent, including the Transvaal, in favor of Germany of the October affair.

PENNY POSTAGE.

London, July 14.—Everywhere today, in the press and among the public men, Canada is heartily congratulated on her successful stand against the British officialdom in the matter of imperial penny postage. No secret is made of the fact that the whole scheme would have failed had not Mr. Mulock strongly supported Mr. Chamberlain in the conference, and actually threatened to withdraw unless the postoffice and treasury officials' instructions were abandoned. Canada, as a pioneer of the empire, is again on all lips.

CARLIST MOVEMENT IN PROGRESS.

Senor Sagasta, the premier, declares that the peace propositions attributed to President McKinley are inadmissible. El Epoca considers that a Carlist movement is undoubtedly in preparation, and urges upon the government a military occupation of the northern provinces of Spain.

CHINESE REBELS VICTORIOUS.

Canton, July 14.—Owing to the defeat of the imperial troops near Woo Chow, the militia has been transferred there, conveyed by gunboats. The prefect of Woo Chow says the imperial losses are 1,600 killed, and says that unless he is reinforced immediately he will be forced to surrender.

The rebels declare their intention to supply troops.

The rebels are in camp two or three miles west of Woo Chow. They expect to advance at once.

It is reported that the French minister has informed the government at Pekin that France may be forced to intervene by force of arms to prevent the menace of French commercial interests in these provinces.

DOMINICA COMES IN.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., July 14.—In the House of Assembly of Dominica, in the Leeward group of the British West Indies, a resolution was introduced in favor of accepting the offer of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, to extend imperial assistance to Dominica on condition of a change in the local constitution by which the island should become a crown colony. To this an amendment was proposed by the anti-crown colony party, declaring that the government was trying to deprive the inhabitants of their just rights and liberties, and proposing that the British Government be asked to barter Dominica to the United States, or some other nation. The resolution was adopted. The supporters of the amendment have lodged a protest, and popular excitement on the subject is intense.

MUNYON ON A SPANISH STEAMER.

Hong Kong, July 14.—Letters received here from Cavite under date of July 9, say that while the Spanish steamer Philippines was hiding in the river near the city, the crew mutinied and killed the officers. They then handed the steamer over to the insurgents, who armed the vessel and dispatched it to Subig for the purpose of making an attack on Grande Island. The letter confirms the story told by the Associated Press correspondent at Manila in regard to the action of the German warship Irene, and the steps taken by Admiral Dewey to prevent interference with the insurgents' advance, and that the Spanish prisoners, in spite of their protests, were handed over to the insurgents, with the captured arms and ammunition. The Germans, it appears, fraternized with the Spaniards, and German sailors are often seen in the Spanish trenches. Dysentery is reported to have broken out among the American troops.

ALLIED BY BLOOD.

The Anglo-American League Holds Its Inaugural Meeting.

London, July 14.—The inaugural meeting of the Anglo-American League was held last evening at Stafford House, under the presidency of the Duke of Sutherland, who was supported by Earl Gray, the Earl of Jersey, Baron Farrer, Baron Brassey, Baron Tennyson, Baron Monkswell, Sir John Lubbock, Rear-Admiral Lord Charles, Mr. James Bryce, Radical M.P. for Aberdeen, and author of "The American Commonwealth." Others present were the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Archbishop of York, Cardinal Vaughan and the Duke of Westminster.

The Duke of Sutherland, in opening the proceedings, said the league was quite apart from ordinary politics, its object being to express the feeling of cordiality which existed between the people of Great Britain and the United States—an effort which he believed would be appreciated and reciprocated in America.

On the motion of Lord Brassey, the following resolution was adopted: "Considering that the people of Great Britain and the United States are closely allied by blood, inherit the same principles of self-government, and recognize the same ideals of freedom and humanity in the guidance of their national policy, and are drawn together by strong common interests in many parts of the world, this meeting is of opinion that every effort should be made in the interests of civilization and peace to secure the most cordial and constant co-operation on the part of the two nations."

A representative executive council was then appointed.

CANADIAN SHOTS.

Making a Good Record at the Bisle Ranges.

Bisle Camp, July 14.—The weather was all against the shooting yesterday morning. In addition to the discomfort of rain, there was a shifting wind. On Tuesday some capital targets were made by the Canadians, notably Capt. Hutchison, in the Ind. Coops; Serg. Blair, in the Thorburn, and Pte. McVittie, in the Centaur competition. Up to the present Lieut. Smith's score in the Centaur competition is in the top of three ties. The other high scores among the Canadians are: McVittie, Blair, Hutchison and Armstrong. In the Thorburn, Blair and Simpson are well up. For the Golden Bull prize, Davidson, Hayhurst, Hutchison, Simpson, Swaine, Cooper, Broadhurst, Morris and Blair are among the leaders. For the 200 yards association cup, Robinson, Blair, McVittie, Ross and Hutchison made good figures, while for the 600 yards association cup, Ross and McVittie are in the lead. The leading Canadian scores in the various events were as follows: Ind. Coops, 600 yards, 7 shots—Capt. Hutchison, 43rd Battalion, 34. The Thorburn, 800 yards—Col. Serg. Blair, 10 shots, 57th Battalion, 47. Centaur, 500 yards, 7 shots—Pte. McVittie, 48th Battalion, 35.

The team will continue to fire in these or similar competitions, and on Friday they will compete in the first big event of the meeting for which they are eligible, viz., the Kolapore cup, which last year was won by the team representing the colony of Victoria, Australia. The weather continued disagreeable.

THE OCEAN HORROR.

Investigation of the Bourgogne Disaster—The Steamer Going at Full Speed in the Fog.

Halifax, N. S., July 14.—When the investigation into the Bourgogne disaster was resumed yesterday morning, Capt. Henderson, of the ship Cromartyshire, expressed the opinion that at the time of the collision the Bourgogne was running at about 15 knots. His quartermaster and fourth engineer told him she was running at 18 knots, or full speed, and the latter said she did not slow down in the fog. Assuming that the steamer passed 100 ft. at Randy Light at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Captain Henderson believes her speed must have exceeded 16 knots per hour to enable her to reach the spot where the collision occurred at 5 a.m. on Monday. The Cromatyshire's captain said the lifeboats and rafts, which reached his ship, held about all the people they could carry. Chief Officer Keime also of the Cromartyshire, gave substantially the same story as that told by the master. Kelman said the steamer was going at least three times as fast as the Cromartyshire.

Among the lost on the Bourgogne were seven clergymen on their way to Europe for short vacations. One was an Episcopalian. The others were Roman Catholics.

SUIT AGAINST THE COMPANY.

New York, July 14.—A number of the survivors of the La Bourgogne disaster have entered their claims for damages against the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, the owners of La Bourgogne. A test suit will be brought by Charles Liebra, chief of the Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, a few months ago Liebra's wife died, and having determined to have his two sons "Paul and Ernest" educated in Paris, he engaged passage for himself and sons on the ill-fated steamer. His sons were lost in the disaster, and his trunks and valuables also lost. The father then swam for upwards of half an hour in the ocean, but finally approached the raft containing some of the survivors. He says he had to struggle to hold on to the raft against the assault of those on it, including La Bourgogne's sailors. Liebra will sue for $5,000.

DEADLY CROSSING

Two Persons Killed and a Third Injured Near Toronto.

Toronto, July 14.—The Muskoka Express from the north last night struck a light wagon containing three people—Jacob Stong, of York township; Mrs. Peterborough, of Emmet, and Miss Melinda Jane Stong, his daughter. The accident took place near Downview, about five miles north of Toronto. There was a terrific crash, as the train was traveling at a great speed, and the wagon and occupants were thrown into the air and hurled about. Mr. Stong, 70 years of age, was instantly killed and horribly cut up. Mrs. Peterborough was also killed, and Miss Stong was brought to the Toronto hospital, suffering from a broken lower jaw, shoulder-blade and three ribs. She may recover, which would make the accident by becoming unmanageable, were only slightly hurt.

SHOE-WORKERS' STRIKE.

Montreal, July 14.—The lasters employed in the boot and shoe factory of T. Bell, Montreal, are out on strike. The men claim that they have been treated unfairly, being scarcely able to cover their expenses. They say the matter of increased pay has been repeatedly brought to the attention of the firm, but that their letters on the subject were ignored and never answered.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Emulsion. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back, and an inward specific, in the most substantial claim to public confidence.

Scott's Emulsion is not a "baby food," but is a most excellent food for babies who are not well nourished.

A part of a teaspoonful mixed in milk and given every three or four hours, will give the most happy results.

The cod-liver oil with the hypophosphites added, as in this palatable emulsion, not only to feeds the child, but also regulates its digestive functions.

DIED IN THE WOODS

Thirty or Forty Families Perish for Lack of Food

On the Northwest Shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Quebec, July 14.—A dispatch sent by Mr. Guay from the northwest shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence was received here yesterday to the effect that some 30 or 40 families of Indians belonging to the Moisie Seven Islands and Muigan had died in the woods last winter for want of provisions. A good deal of sickness from la grippe is also reported. The story in regard to the conflict between Mr. Menier, the owner of Anticosti, and a number of people at Fox Bay, appears to have been erroneous. According to the story told both by Mr. Cornett, the governor of the island, and by the provincial authorities here, the people in question were by no means poor, deserving and legitimate settlers, whom the owner was cruelly seeking to deport, but squatters from Newfoundland, said to have no rights upon Anticosti, and who were hunting and killing the wild animals which Mr. Menier had introduced and protected upon the island.

The people complained of appealed to Ottawa, and were referred to the provincial authorities. The latter looked upon the case, and the attorney-general, upon the representations made him, instructed Judge Chabouveau to send down a posse of provincial police to remove the offenders. There was an inclination at first to resist the officers of the law.

Soon, however, the accused relented, but they were ordered to leave in 24 hours. They begged and obtained leave from Mr. Cornett to remain until Sept. 10, when they promise to leave quietly, and in the meantime to conform to the rules established in the island by Mr. Menier.

ONTARIO'S HEALTH.

The Official Figures Show an Improvement During the Past Month.

The monthly report of the provincial board of health of Ontario was issued yesterday. Comparing the months of April, May and June, 1897 and 1898, the following figures are given:

Thousands of Testimonials Prove That Munyon's Remedies Cure. Here Are a Couple of Samples:

Mrs. E. J. Burt, 87 Gwynne avenue, city, says: "My daughter suffered for about four years from a severe form of dyspepsia, was obliged to use only certain kinds of food, and frequently experienced great distress after eating. Was hardly free from a condition of sour stomach at any time, and constantly tired out, not having ambition or energy. After using Munyon's Remedies for a short time, began to improve. She is now feeling better than at any time previous, and we believe the change has been brought about entirely by Munyon's treatment."

Mr. William Binnie, 467 Adelaide street west, Toronto, a merchant who has been in business 28 years, and one of the best known business men in the city, says: "About six years ago I was laid up with an attack of lumbago, which left soreness and frequent pains in my hips. I used almost everything I could get hold of. Tried doctors and family recipes of different kinds, but did not get better. I used three small bottles of Munyon's Remedies, and the results have been entirely satisfactory. The soreness and pain have completely disappeared, and I do not experience any of the old trouble whatever."

"DOC" MURPHY JOHNSON.

The newly organized Canadian League was opened at St. Thomas yesterday, London receiving its first defeat after winning two exhibition games on Monday and Tuesday. A fair-sized crowd witnessed the game, and about 25 of London's faithful went over with buoyant spirits, but returned with downcast features. It was expected that as London had already taken two games from the Railroaders, they would keep up the good work, and clinch the first championship game. It was a surprise that London pitched in Tuesday's game, the expectation being that he would be reserved for the opening day. Johnson pitched a hard and speedy ball, but the Saints had no difficulty in pounding out his when runs were wanted. The only wonder is that St. Thomas did not make more runs.

Sam LaRoque, London's new second baseman, made his debut, and seems to have the necessary ginger. In the first inning he pounded out a nice one, ordinarily good for two bags, but he evidently was satisfied, and got third safely, sliding in in 4th league style, and scoring on a long run—one of the most brilliant plays of the game.

St. Thomas scored one in the second on Kuehne's single and a combination of three errors. Two more came in the fourth on Baker's home run, and three singles. The last run came in the fifth, on Martin's single and Tibbald's double. The Saints secured but three hits in the last four innings. The score:

NOTES.

Chatham will probably pick up Sutherland. LaRoque fills a "long felt want." He can coach.

Sutherland and McGinnis were released by St. Thomas yesterday.

St. Thomas has not released Reid, although notice to this effect has been published.

St. Thomas is playing Tibbald, the third baseman of the defunct Port Huron club, in center field.

Fay Smith was a spectator in the stand. He was in high spirits, and made more noise on the stand than he ever did in the game.

Reuning and LaRoque cut off several steals at second base. The former threw splendidly to the second bag, and once caught a runner at first base.

Joe Knight was also a spectator. Joe left the Wilkesbarre team on account of the reduction in salaries made by the officials of the club. He has no release, and cannot play ball any place under protection.

Chatham will probably pick up Sutherland. LaRoque fills a "long felt want." He can coach.

Sutherland and McGinnis were released by St. Thomas yesterday.

St. Thomas has not released Reid, although notice to this effect has been published.

St. Thomas is playing Tibbald, the third baseman of the defunct Port Huron club, in center field.

Fay Smith was a spectator in the stand. He was in high spirits, and made more noise on the stand than he ever did in the game.

Reuning and LaRoque cut off several steals at second base. The former threw splendidly to the second bag, and once caught a runner at first base.

Joe Knight was also a spectator. Joe left the Wilkesbarre team on account of the reduction in salaries made by the officials of the club. He has no release, and cannot play ball any place under protection.

ESTABLISHED BY JOHN CAMERON IN 1868.

Managing Director and Editor, John Cameron

London, Thursday, July 14, 1898.

The United States and Territorial Expansion.

Now, when there is so much discussion as to the territorial policy of our neighbors, it is interesting to note that while the great builders of the republic cherished moderate views, as to expansion and peaceful ideals, as to the methods of national growth, there have been those of high position and influence who have looked forward to a complete domination of this continent and adjacent islands. An illustration of this may be found in a timely article contributed by Mr. Frederick Bancroft to this month's North American Review, entitled "Seward's Ideas of Territorial Expansion." One is compelled to admit that the ideas are big enough, and that whatever other gifts Seward possessed he was not lacking in imagination. In fact, he seems to have been a regular jingo. He was, of course, before his time, and in some respects we may hope, before our age. As it concerns Canada as well as Cuba, it is worth while noting the views of a man who, according to the essayist, "was by far the best type of those who favored expansion in the last generation." Of him the late Charles A. Dana once remarked: "Seward's imagination was a trait that has rarely been noticed. It led him to the theoretical conclusion that the future capital of North America would be in the City of Mexico. I think that the purchase of Alaska was his greatest work in diplomacy; that was a practical expansion of his imagination." He does not seem, however, to have been "of imagination all compact." In many things he showed keen political sagacity, and that prudence, which in all the world of politics at least, is the indispensable ally of imagination. That he had a strong Monroe Doctrine of his own is seen from the statement that he made when he thought that the civil war might be warded off by getting up a foreign one. "I would demand explanations from Spain and France categorically, at once; I would seek explanations from Great Britain and Russia, and send agents into Canada, Mexico and Central America to raise a vigorous continental spirit of independence on this continent against European intervention, and if satisfactory explanations are not received from Spain and France, I would convene Congress and declare war against them." If he had had his way then, the course of the world's history would have been very different; but though it involved such a terrible struggle just people now think that it was better that the United States was destined and doomed to work out its own domestic problem before facing any question of further territorial expansion. As to the destiny of Canada, Seward had no doubts. He cried, "So I look off on Prince Rupert's Land and Canada and see there an ingenious, enterprising and ambitious people, occupied with bridging rivers and constructing canals, railroads and telegraphs to organize and preserve Great Britain's provinces north of the great lakes, the St. Lawrence, and around the shores of Hudson's Bay, and I am able to say, 'It is very well, you are building excellent States to be hereafter admitted into the American Union.'"

This man of great imagination, however, had one advantage. He was not in a hurry. By the eye of faith he saw the population of his country "roll its resistless waves to the icy barriers of the north, and to encounter Oriental civilization on the shores of the Pacific," and was content to urge the nation to qualify for this great mission.

History is ever repeating itself, but to us it sounds strange to be reminded that in 1823 John Quincy Adams declared that Porto Rico and Cuba were natural appendages to this continent, and that Cuba had become an object of transcendent importance to the interests of the union. In 1823 Senator Hall, "for a change," moved to substitute "Canada" for "Cuba" in the resolution. Today Cuba is the scene of bloody strife, and Canada has reason to be grateful for her peaceful prosperity.

Meeting of the Legislature.

A month or two ago the Mail and Empire fiercely wanted to know why Mr. Hardy and Mr. Ross had the impudence to go on governing the Province, being, as our contemporary contended, in a minority. Now that the House has been called for the 3rd of August, our versatile contemporary does not seem to relish the medicine for which it clamored.

A Business Half-holiday.

A movement is on foot among the merchants of the city to close their stores every Wednesday afternoon during July and August.

The idea is good. Employees will appreciate and benefit by the half-holiday, and the merchants will lose nothing, if all agree to the step. Some large stores in this and other Canadian cities have taken the initiative, but it should be general to prevent undue advantage.

The public would not be inconvenienced. It would willingly adapt its purchases to meet the holiday, and would heartily commend the benevolence of the business men.

Yellow Fever at Santiago.

The most ominous news from Santiago is the outbreak of yellow fever among the United States troops in that part of Cuba. How much of the fearful fever there is, and the extent to which it will spread, time must reveal. When our neighbors light-heartedly went to war, with the expectation of capturing Cuba in a fortnight's campaign, they entered upon a task, the complete difficulty of which they did not adequately conceive. They will win in the end, of course, but the bill in lives, wounds, treasure, will be sad and staring before all is over. There used to be a saying that each generation must have its war. The Civil War was far enough off in the past to be half-forgotten. The new generation did not know what war meant. In the working out of the law of compensation, there is a credit as well as a debit. Meantime, the pound of flesh exacted by destiny seems likely not to be lacking to the extent of an ounce.

A Railway Center.

The return to London of Assistant Superintendent Williams and staff, of the C. P. R., emphasizes London's growing importance as a railway center. The railway companies realize it by more and more concentrating their interests in London. On personal, as well as business grounds, Mr. Williams will be welcomed back.

It is no mere boast to say that our transportation facilities are the best in Canada. There is no other city touched by four trunk lines, with their several branches. The L. and P. S. R. also makes London practically a lake port, and secures to it the benefit of that competition. It is expected the coal ferries will shortly ply between Ohio and Port Stanley all the year round, and London should be the chief coal distributing center of Western Ontario.

Disposal of Sewage.

In all inland districts of Great Britain, as The Advertiser recently pointed out, every populous center has had to face the question of the disposal of sewage, just as this London of the new world has had to act for the welfare of its inhabitants, and for the purpose of making the city a model place of residence. Generally speaking, English cities have endeavored to have the sewage placed upon farms, so that the whole, or a substantial portion of the expense of operating the system could be met by the financial returns. In many cities on the seaboard, however, they have not been so provident. They have declined to obey the law of nature, and have carried the valuable fertilizing material out into the salt water, where it is lost. Out in California, on this continent, the people of the progressive city of Los Angeles have taken an opposite view. Though their place of abode is on the seaboard, they have experimented with the disposal of their waste material, and have found, as the people of inland British cities discovered years ago, that sewage is a most valuable fertilizing agency. Los Angeles does not itself possess sewage farms, but it sells its sewage to farmers in the neighborhood. Four thousand acres are thus provided with the constituents that make for fertility, and the annual profit is about $4,500. As in this city, the lay of the land facilitates the disposal of the sewage. It is distributed by gravitation, and the extent of farm land irrigated is only limited by the amount of waste material at the disposal of the civic authorities, which, of course, is restricted by the size of the population. It is found there, as elsewhere, that exhausted grounds thus treated produce the most beautiful crops each recurring season. The California farmers having sewage irrigation contracts have no fear of droughts. The soil is a constant gainer, so much so that the usual rotation of crops can with impunity be departed from. If sewage disposal can be made to pay both in Great Britain and the United States, surely like results may be expected to follow sewage disposal on land here, through the means recommended by the sanitary engineer experts whose advice the London civic authorities accepted when they began the works that have been recently in progress.

How would Premier Joseph Martin sound?

Spain is still shedding her bravest blood to save her "honor." The sacrifice is worthy of a better altar.

Marriage licenses are also subjected to a war tax stamp in Canada's esteemed contemporary the United States.

Where there's smoke there's fire, but the Americans who faced Spanish rifles found out that where there's fire there isn't always smoke.

Some of the Eastern Ontario papers are talking up Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., for high governmental place. He would make a most popular and energetic Minister.

After the American civil war a good many of the war taxes were never taken off. Unless the Dingley bill can do better than it has done, history may repeat itself.

Canada's exports last year were worth $28 25 per head. United States exports were only $18 50 per head. Canadian imports were $28 25, per head; in United States, only $8.

Hamilton is making much ado about its new public baths. They should prove a great boon. The water there is much more wholesome taken externally than internally.

United States miners returned from the Klondike are grumbling because the Canadian Government imposed a ten per cent royalty on the gold they cleaned up. Why not appeal to the Senate at Ottawa?

Conservative papers charge Sir Wilfrid Laurier with being too partial to the Americans. When the latter see the preferential tariff crowding out American goods in favor of British they wonder where the partiality comes in.

The Hamilton Spectator is thundering every lawful day against corn-fed pork and blames the Government for striking off the corn duty. It strikes one that farmers know what is best for their hogs, but perhaps the Spectator wants to create a pigmy policy for the Dominion Opposition.

The United States gave Great Britain a lesson in colonizing over a century ago. Britain is now in a position to return the favor in a more peaceful way. The republic is going into colonial business herself, and she should profit by the modern example of the mother country, the greatest colonizing power the world ever saw.

Sir John G. Bourinot, in his capital sketch of Canadian constitutional history, published in the Canadian Magazine, says that official dinners had much to do with shaping legislation in Nova Scotia before confederation. The Governor used to win over obstinate members by dining them well. There is no doubt that the free lunch had a good deal of political influence here two years ago, as guests of the attic can testify. We fancy there will be a retort about pigs' feet and beer on a previous occasion, but we never admitted that was an official banquet.

A LOCAL PRODUCT.

[St. Thomas Times.]

The government never made a better selection of a public servant than when it chose its provincial instructor in road-making, and we feel proud that so able and effective an official was found in St. Thomas.

A BIG DIFFERENCE.

[Chicago Times-Herald.]

The United States navy doesn't use smokeless powder, but it uses smokeless ships; that's where it differs from Spain.

TALKING SENSE.

[Chicago Chronicle.]

We should accept the truth that there can be no strong or wholesome colonial empire which is not founded and administered on the solid rock of commercial and industrial liberty.

SOUND LOGIC.

[Branford Expositor.]

It is inevitable, under our present system, that appointments to office shall be made from among friends of the party in power. Ministers as a rule will not, and certainly they should not, recommend political opponents for public positions.

Fable—An open-faced lie with a moral attachment.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is safe, reliable and effective because of the stimulating action which it exerts over the nerves and vital powers of the body, adding tone to the one and inciting to renewed and increased vigor the slumbering vitality of the physical structure, and through this healthful stimulation and increased action the cause of the PAIN is driven away and a natural condition restored. It is thus that the READY RELIEF is so admirably adapted for the CURE OF PAIN and without the risk of injury which is sure to result from the use of many of the so-called pain remedies of the day.

It is highly important that every family keep a supply of

LIGHT AND SHADE

THE FLOWERS WE NEVER SEE.

[David Dickson, in the Scottish American.]

I long to see the bonnie flowers
That here we never see—
Our simple hamely bonnie flowers
That bloom across the sea.

I long to tread my heather hills
And breathe the scented air,
And put the bonnie heather bells
That bloom so sweetly there.

I miss the graceful primrose pure
That grows in shady dells,
I miss each Scottish hamely flower—
I miss the dear bluebells.

Oh! hoo I lo'e the bonnie broom
Wi' its tassels in the glen;
The whinny knowes, wi' yellow bloom,
I lang to see again.

The daisy sweet I'd like to see—
Our Burns' bonnie gem;
The buttercups, doon in yon lea,
Wad cheer my heart again.

Oh! for a glimpse of yon dear flowers
That here we dinna see,
Doon in yon glens an' shady bowers,
At hame, across the sea.

"Why?" "They don't propose to have any trouble over the pension question."

"What is the specification?" "He was detected in the act of registering a letter to Cadiz containing a lump of hard coal."

With five German warships facing Admiral Dewey's fleet at Manila and the intentions of the German Kaiser still a matter of some doubt, the leading article presented in the Cosmopolitan for July will be read with interest. The 46 portraits and poses of the Emperor William which illustrate the article are in themselves an extraordinary exhibit. They might be described as "The evolution of an emperor shown by 46 human documents." Undoubtedly so large a number of portraits were never before gathered together of any royal or imperial personage.

Prof. Charles W. Shields contributes to the August Century a sketch of Dr. Elisha Kane, and gives an account of the Arctic monument named for Fenimore by the explorer. Dr. Kane was one of the first to visit the crater of the volcano of Taal, on the island of Luzon, the largest of the Philippines. Prof. Shields describes the perilous experience of the explorer, which included an assault by the superstitious natives.

The boat touched the beach, and its owner stood there wondering and displeased. Marco made some excuse and paid him liberally. Then he went to the piazza and got into the diligence that was about starting for Albano. He was quite alone. At this season people were coming to the sea, not going away.

They drove off through the wood by which he had come the night before. The driver, finding that his passenger did not wish to talk, dropped the curtain between them and soiled himself with a cigar.

Marco was saying the rosary, and since he had no beads he said them on his ten fingers. At the Our Father he clasped his hands. He was praying for Vittorio.

At Albano he took the railway to Valmontone, and from there he went home on foot across the vines and fields by which he and Vittorio had passed two days before.

When he reached the old road, Rosa stood at the villa gate watching for him. She uttered a cry, and came to meet him.

"Papa! why didn't you come home yesterday? I waited all day, and I wouldn't go back at night, but stayed here."

Then, seeing his face, she added: "What is the matter?"

"I'm not very well. I think I may have a touch of the fever," he said, and leaned on her shoulder.

Silently she supported him across the road, and in at the gate. When they reached the crumbling jannu he staggered and fell against it.

"Don't cry!" he said faintly. "Go and get me some wine. It's nothing. And he thought: 'I can do nothing, because she must not know.'"

CHAPTER XXIV.

To those of her friends who wondered that she should remain in Rome so late, the Countess Belvedere explained that she was waiting to see some friends from the east who could not possibly stop to visit her out of town. Her dear Gabriella had been for a long time in India, where her husband, the Marquis de Massy, had a French Government appointment. Now the marquis was sent to London, as an attaché to the French embassy, and Gabriella was obliged to go across the world from east to west almost as rapidly as the sun did.

The countess was very circumstantial in her account, and even told the whole story to persons who never asked her anything. There is nothing like the frankness and clearness of people who have a great deal of mischief to conceal. They are always prepared. It is only honest people who can afford to refuse to give reasons to everybody for their conduct.

To her father, who did not recollect to have ever heard of this suddenly-beloved friend since the days when she was his daughter's schoolmate, and when her favorite mother reason was given, Gabriella had a large collection of Indian shawls, and the countess hoped to persuade her to sell one at a bargain; and she had heaps of Indian embroideries, and had been especially commissioned to bring to her friend a gold-colored crepe shawl, heavy with embroidery, of which the countess supposed to make a tunic which should be richer than cloth of gold. With all these things she had in prospect, one could bear Rome in August.

These travelers from the Orient arrived the afternoon of the day on which Vittorio went to Paris. They were too much fatigued to leave their hotel that evening; but the next day Gabriella was to spend with her mother, and the marquis would come to dinner. In the evening they were to pursue their journey.

The Countess Belvedere had a bottle of chloral on her toilet-table. She very seldom took it, for her youth and health rendered it unnecessary as yet. She took some after her interview with Marco, having first had a hot bath, or rather having had a hot bath given her almost forcibly by her maid, for Marco's treatment had thrown her into such a fury that she was near breaking all the mirrors and windows in the palace. That that beast, as she called him, had received any provocation, or had an excuse, she did not for an instant own.

The hot bath and the chloral were not without their effect, and, before Marco had reached Albano she was sound asleep, soothed by her faithful Lucia, who sat by her repeating that she was not in the least to blame for what had happened, and that she need not be in the least anxious about the future. Bruno would be found, there were scouts out in search of him, and if, by ill-luck, he and Marco should meet, why, he would at least tell no tales.

With all these soothing cares, the Countess Belvedere slept like an infant, and when she awoke refreshed. While Marco was passing through the poisonous "maochia" to Porto d'Anzio, and Bruno was crawling away from the reapers in the Agro Falestinese, Madame Adelaide was at her morning toilet. A rose-colored muslin, a faint touch of rouge to her cheeks, and a life into her pallid face; and when her friend arrived just after midday, she was apparently quite herself.

The two ladies breakfasted alone, and, after half an hour's chat, retired to their rooms for a nap, both of them having drunk wine enough to make lying down quite as easy as sitting up. The countess, who was still a little romantic, did not smoke, and her friend, who was past romance, enjoyed her cigarettes in private.

At 5 o'clock they went out for a drive, going up Monte Mario for the air, and at 7 they came back. The marquis had not yet come. He was to bring with him, to make a fourth at the table, a distinguished non-signore from the Vatican, who was given of this opportunity of seeing people just from the east who could give him the latest news, with all those particulars and corrections which one cannot hope to have from the journals, nor from less well-informed correspondents and travelers.

"And now let us go into the garden till they come," the visitor said. "I recollect that it used to be charming here."

The countess had not invited her guest into the garden, and had tried to lead her thoughts elsewhere, but she assented readily to the proposal, and gayly led the way out through the broad glass doors that stood wide open, and across the black and white paved terrace, where she had sat and watched Vittorio was watching her through the laurels.

They walked about among the flowers, talking gossip.

The garden was looking a little neglected that day. Two days' inattention at such a season tells. Nothing had been watered, and the opening flowers of today had pushed yesterday's flowers aside. The grass under the camellias was strewn with blossoms that were still fresh, though fallen. They had no stems, but the petals were bright. The colors were varied; some were white, others red, others mixed red and white. A pink carpet was spread under the oleanders, and the rose-trees stood in a rosy morning cloud of plied-up petals.

"What a profusion of flowers!" exclaimed the visitor. "You must have a good gardener."

"Excellent!" was the reply. They walked on. Here and there, near the walls, a green lemon or a wild mandarin had dropped on the path.

"There is quite a little forest of oranges," said the visitor, pointing across the garden and turning her steps in that direction.

"The camellias are rather fine," said the countess hastily. "Don't you want one to put in your hair?"

The lady returned: "If you will give me a white one," she said. "That farther tree is white. But where is the gardener, dear? You will hurt your fingers."

"Not at all. I like to gather flowers." The countess pulled a low branch toward her, breaking out breaking one of the beautiful white flowers with which it was thickly set, when suddenly she cried out, and let the branch swing back.

"There was a bee in it, and I believe that it has stung me," she said, her face very red, as she pressed her finger in her handkerchief. And she hurried away, leaving the camellia ungathered. She had seen a dark red stain on one of its waxy petals.

She followed toward the oranges unconsciously, her face still red, her finger still held in her handkerchief, finally, they found out that the bee had not stung her after all.

"But what is the matter, my dear?" the visitor said, for the countess, finding herself beside the oranges, stopped abruptly, her color fading.

"Oh, nothing! But, really, I had such a start. I am afraid of bees."

The other, who thought her friend affected and uninteresting, tipped around the orange-trees with an exclamation of pleasure.

"Passion-flowers! There is nothing that I like so much as another toward her with her slender gem-laden fingers, and to look into their mournful faces to see which was the faintest."

The countess, after hesitating one instant, pressed her lips together tightly and followed, standing at a little distance.

EXPERIENCED.

Miss Sumner—Do you think your brother is suffering much in the army? Miss Palsade—Oh, no. He camped out with us all last summer.

EXCITEMENT.

Miss Gotham (in railway train)—Yes, I reside in New York, and I really don't exist anywhere else.

Talkative stranger—Why not? Miss Gotham—Oh, I couldn't live without excitement.

Stranger—Excitement is all you want, just as you come to New York. I have been in Pontianova, where I live. We have a natural gas. Beats pavement explosions all hollow.

The grand and beautiful Bible story of Abraham intercepted on the point of slaying his cherished son has a deep significance which every mother should take to heart. Too many mothers of the present day bind their children upon the altar of neglect and misunderstanding, all unmindful that beneficent providence forbids the sacrifice.

Women who expect to be mothers do not care for their own health as they ought, and thus the health and lifelong welfare of the prospective little one is sacrificed. All women should know and use the health-supporting power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in every delicate condition of the organs pertaining to maternity.

This special organism is directly strengthened and reinforced by this wonderful "scripture." It renders the ordeal of motherhood entirely safe and comparatively easy; it gives constitution, energy and vigor to both mother and child; it absolutely cures every form of female weakness and disease. It is the only medicine in existence devised for this particular purpose by an educated, skilled physician of thirty years experience in this special field of practice. A full account of its marvelous properties is given in one chapter of Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," a paper-bound copy of which will be sent on receipt of thirty-one one-cent stamps to pay the cost of express and postage.

For fifty stamps, Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. Every woman should read this book.

W. R. Malcom, of Enabel, Clay County, Arkansas, writes: "Since I last wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us. My wife took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription all during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to mention."

THE RAILWAYS

Endeavoring to Stop the Rate War—Victory for Port Huron and Detroit Railway Promoters.

Mr. E. J. Downey, C. P. R. agent at Port Huron, has been promoted to the charge of the agency at Chatham.

At Osgoode Hall, the master in ordinary accepted the tender of Mr. George M. Neelon for the purchase of the St. Catharines and Niagara Central Railway. The bid was for $55,000.

Mr. William Keating, who for several years has been city passenger and ticket agent of the Grand Trunk Railway in Toronto, has accepted the position of passenger agent in Toronto for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Port Huron and Detroit railway promoters have carried their point against the St. Clair Plate people. The Edison Street war department has ordered that the construction of the railway across the northwest corner of Lake St. Clair must proceed. The railway people must put in a drawbridge with 125 feet clear on each side of the pivot pier, and must pay all costs of inspections and other incidentals.

An accident occurred on the Grand Trunk Railway at Thamesville Tuesday, resulting in the wreck of eight cars, besides injuring a conductor. Wrightman, of Windsor. The train broke in two near Thamesville, and the rear end ran into the front section. Conductors were thrown over the side and received injuries that rendered him unconscious. Traffic was blocked for several hours.

Representatives of several American railway lines were in Washington on Wednesday, and had a conference with the interstate commerce commission, upon the subject of the western rate war. This contest has been going on for some time between the western American lines on one side and the Canadian Pacific on the other side. The war has reached a ruinous state for all parties concerned, and embarks rates between the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, but the lines west of Chicago are most largely affected. The representatives of the American lines did not file any petition with the commission, but explained to the commission the situation. The Canadian Pacific Company, by its general passenger traffic manager, D. McNeill, and attorney, A. C. Nichol, also attended the conference.

There were also conferences between Mr. Caldwell and Mr. McNeill, and the latter like an understanding has been adopted.

A very pretty wedding took place on Thursday at New Hamburg, when Miss Nettie Mermer, third daughter of Senator Mermer, was united in marriage to William H. Seyler, a member of the firm of import brokers, Toronto. The ceremony took place at the family residence.

The other day a cow belonging to Archibald McKinnon, St. Thomas, attacked Mrs. E. Rollings, knocked her down, and would have gored her but for Mr. E. Davey, miller at Adcock & Barnard's mill, who ran to her assistance. Mr. Davey himself was knocked down by the animal.

Alfred Rubbra, who for many years has been a member of the Toronto World staff, has been asked to assume the management of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. On Saturday the members of the World staff presented their departing colleague with a handsome gold locket.

Thomas Smith, 19 years old, disappeared from his home, St. Thomas, on July 4. He has not been heard of since. When last seen he wore a smuff-colored coat, light pants, light gray cap, shaker flannel shirt, and a pair of striped socks. He is about six feet tall, very slim, and has dark eyes.

An interesting event took place at the residence of Mr. Charles Grant, Jun., Ridgeway, on Monday afternoon, July 11. Mr. John Smith, of the firm of Messrs. Haganan & Jule, of Stratford, Ontario, presented a class and himself, the children surrounding him. Twenty-six years ago Mr. Smith was a student of Mr. Grant's Sunday school class.

Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cramps and Colic Come on Without a Moment's Warning.

Keep on Hand Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and Be Prepared to Check Them at Once.

There is no disease overtakes one so quickly and with so little warning as Colic or Diarrhea. You are at once seized with cramps and prostrated with Diarrhea or Dysentery.

You retire at night feeling in the best of health, and in the morning you may be seized with cramps and prostrated with Diarrhea or Dysentery.

Everybody should be prepared for such an emergency as this with a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. You cannot tell when you yourself or some member of your household may need its timely assistance.

Mrs. George West, Huntsville, Ont., speaking of this great remedy, says: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in my family for years, and can highly recommend it for Summer Complaint, Diarrhea, Cramps, etc."

That is the universal note of praise that comes from thousands of Canadian homes where Dr. Fowler's Strawberry is always kept and recognized as a remedy that can be relied on to promptly check and cure Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cholera, Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Cramps, Colic and Summer Complaint. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere at 35c a bottle.

He will also visit the military camp at Aldershot, where 25,000 men are encamped.

—An Ingersoll dispatch says: Chas. L. Papst, the man charged with obtaining $50 from W. D. Trott, photographer, under false pretences, appeared before the magistrate to answer the charge. He pleaded guilty, and paid back the $50. He claimed to have been sandbagged in London and the money taken from him after he had received it from Mr. Trott, after which he had sent Mr. Trott his promissory note for the amount, which Mr. Trott refused to accept and returned same to him. He hoped the magistrate would take these circumstances into consideration in dealing with the case, and tendered the $50 to Mr. Trott, the chief's expenses to Kincardine and return, and the magistrate's cost. The magistrate convicted him, but taking into consideration the restitution of the money, and this having been his first offense, he discharged him.

THE 7TH VETERANS

Will Celebrate at Wonderland on July 27th—Committees Elected to Arrange Matters.

On July 27, the Seventh Veteran Association will celebrate at Wonderland. It was so decided at a meeting held at the city hall last night, where great enthusiasm reigned. Major A. M. Smith acted as chairman, and A. G. Chisholm as secretary. The veterans will "fall in" at the drill shed at 10 a.m. in the morning, and headed by a bugle band, will march to Dundas and Richmond streets, where they will board the cars for Wonderland. The bill-of-fare will be a feature, and the delicacies will be dished up as at Clark's Crossing. Committees were appointed to arrange matters, as follows:

Amusements—Major Beattie, M.P.; Ptes. Wanless, Mills, Parkinson, Martin and Somerville.

Bill-of-fare—Quartermaster Smythe, Quartermaster-Sergeant Jury, Surgeon Niven, Captain Butler and Pte. Hodges.

Finance—Col. Garthshore, Lieut. Pope, Lieut. Bapty and Sergt. "Bob" Ironside.

An invitation was extended to the non-commissioned officers and men of Wolseley Barracks.

BETTER WATERING

No. 1 Committee Recommends the Purchase of Two More Watering Carts.

Changes in the Market Accommodation Tenders Called for the Butchers' Shed.

Ald. Taylor presided at the meeting of No. 3 committee of the city council last night, for the first time since his illness. The other members present were Ald. Stevely, Wilkey, Gerry, Jolly and Hunt, Chief Roe and Secretary Bell.

The city engineer advised the immediate purchase of two new watering carts, as the sections cannot be done in a proper manner with the present service. Complaints were made daily, in language strong and vigorous, and the department received all the blame because the work was not properly done. Had the council not added the extra streets after the tenders for watering were accepted, the department could, perhaps, have managed. But as it was now it was unfair to the taxpayer and also the contractor and the department—although the latter did not matter so much, as it was blamed for everything, three quarters of the time anyway.

Ald. Stevely moved to recommend that the new "Vertical Spray" cart, which has been used by the department for the past week, be purchased. It is a one-horse cart, manufactured by Wm. Heaman, and would cost $175.

The complaints about ambulance fees were referred to the chairman and Ald. Hunt. It was stated that before the advent of the new ambulance the hospital trust paid Liverman Sage $1 for each trip of the old ambulance.

Several suggestions were made by Market Clerk Wilson and discussed. The market bylaw will be changed to accord with the removal of the butter and egg women from the veranda of Covent Garden Market to the interior of the market.

On motion of Ald. Hunt the matter of furnishing space for the use of the market clerk was left to the chairman and Ald. Stevely.

The Market Bazar will in future be called "the market for the sale of butter, eggs, etc."

The question of allotting space to the fruit dealers on the market was left to Clerk Wilson.

Plans for a shed to protect the butchers were submitted by Engineer Graydon and approved of by the committee. Tenders for the construction will be called. There will be two roofs, each 26 feet wide, extending from the arcade to the market bazar, and the building is looked upon as a good investment. The terms for space in it will be $20 a year. A rental which 40 of the butchers have already paid.

The proposed plumbing bylaw was not discussed.

Ald. Wilkey asked about the appointment of a weigh scale clerk, and Chairman Taylor said the council had decided that Mr. Dean would continue as the clerk under the new bylaw.

Ald. Stevely, the chairman and the city auditor constitute a committee to consider a method of keeping check on the fees received by the weigh scale clerk.

The Ocean Accident Guarantee Insurance policies on the firemen were renewed.

Ald. Stevely wanted payment to be made to the Canada Rubber Company for the hose recently accepted on a six-year guarantee, but Chief Roe has not yet tested all of it to see if it will stand the 400-pound guarantee, and payment was deferred.

OUR SEWAGE SYSTEM

Engineer Horetzky Makes a Suggestion.

More Profitable to Put the Money in 80 or 40 Acres of Good Porous Soil—It Would Do the Purifying.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In my letter of yesterday regarding the area of polarite filters required for the London sewage, I omitted to state that "Intermittent" filtration is absolutely necessary. That is to say, these filters cannot run continuously; they require rest and aeration at regular intervals, so that, to insure good work, the filtration area should be at least one-fourth greater—better one-third.

From 2,500 to 3,000 square yards of filters would, therefore, be necessary, so as to allow at least a fourth of the filtering area rest during from 24 to 36 hours. Assuming 3,000 yards to be necessary to treat 1,000,000 gallons of sewage with the required intermission (I am convinced that less would not give good results), the first cost would be from $25,000 to $30,000, instead of $20,000, as I wrote yesterday.

Now, would it not be more profitable and satisfactory to insure money to put the city's money into 30 or 40 acres of good, porous soil, properly situated as regards drainage, than to bury $20,000 or $30,000 in the manner I have just explained? The land would then do all the work of purification, and the additional cost of tanks, chemicals, etc., besides "disposal of the sludge," would be entirely obviated. Yours,

C. G. HORETZKY.

C. P. R. CHANGES

Asst. Supt. W. T. Williams and His Staff to Make London Their Headquarters.

The enormous increase in the volume of trade on the Canadian Pacific Railroad has rendered many changes necessary. Orders have been issued by which W. T. Williams, formerly of London, and latterly of Farnham, Que., will again take up his headquarters in this city, together with his staff. The latter will include eight or ten clerks, of which Mr. Thomas Norman, well-known and popular with a host of Londoners, is chief clerk. There will also be a chief train dispatcher and three operators. Messrs. Smith, Killingsworth and Duff, of Toronto, will be the operators. Assistant Superintendent Williams will be succeeded at Farnham, Que., by Mr. A. Price, who for some time has occupied the position of chief dispatcher. The changes are to date from Aug. 1. The majority of the men who will come to London have families. For six years the division headquarters were located here, and removed east two years ago. Experience has proved that London must be the headquarters of the division between Toronto and Windsor.

VERY SUCCESSFUL

Was the Garden Party and Concert at the Mount Hope Grounds—Excellent Programme.

The annual garden party in connection with the Mount Hope Orphanage yesterday afternoon and evening was very successful. The afternoon was given up to the unalloyed enjoyment of the little ones. Sports of all kinds were organized for their benefit, and they were keenly contested, cash prizes being offered. The harpers were in attendance, and played throughout the day at short intervals. The refreshment booths, of which there were plenty, were well patronized, being presided over by charming young ladies. A dainty and abundant supper was served between the hours of 5:30 and 7:30. In the evening an excellent vocal and instrumental programme was rendered in a finished manner, as follows: Instrumental duet (violin and piano) Mr. and Miss Packham.

Song..... "The Yeoman's Wedding" Mr. W. Miller.

Song..... (Selected) Miss L. Pendergast.

Song..... "Let Me Kiss the Tears Away" Mr. John Birmingham.

Song..... "Just for the Sake of his Daughter" Mr. John O'Neill.

Song..... "The Waiting Heart" Miss Morand.

Instrumental..... (Piano) Miss S. McKittrick.

Song..... (Selected) Miss M. McDonald.

Song..... (Selected) Miss M. McDonald.

Medley of popular airs..... "O Restless Sea" Mr. M. McKittrick.

Song..... (Selected) Mr. M. McKittrick.

Song..... "The Charge" Mr. J. Leach.

Song..... "The Banks of the Wabash" Mr. W. O'Hagan.

Song..... "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" Mr. W. O'Hagan.

The older folks also came out in large numbers in the evening and greatly enjoyed the fine entertainment provided. The proceeds of the evening totaled a neat sum, which goes to the St. Vincent de Paul Society for charitable purposes. The committee in charge, including volunteer ladies and gentlemen, worked with a will, and deserve much credit. All present were loud in their praise of the excellent management of the affair.

TRAMPS WHO SHOOT

Wounded Three of the Crew Who Put Them Off a "Soo" Train.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 14.—A sanguinary shooting affray occurred on the eastbound "Soo" line accommodation Tuesday afternoon at Dafter, about eight miles from here, in which three tramps were wounded.

Two tramps who had been put off the train at Kinross got on again and were ejected. At Dafter, the next station, one of them turned on the crew with a revolver, shooting Arthur Clarke, a brakeman, through the hip; Thomas Melby, a brakeman, through the shoulder, and Frank Fuller, an express messenger, through the arm. The desperadoes then went to the engine, and at the point of a revolver, compelled the fireman to uncouple the engine, which they boarded, and they then forced the engineer to take them four miles from Dafter, when they alighted and made good their escape. A posse is after them. The wounds of Clarke and Melby are dangerous, and they will have a close call from death.

LIFE RETURNED

To a Suffering Dyspeptic, When He Used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Always Have This Result—They Positively Cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness and all Kindred Stomach Complaints.

Without exception, the dyspeptic is the most miserable being in existence. He can't enjoy his meals. There are no dainty, enjoyable lunches, after the theater, for him. No outings, no pleasant excursions with jolly friends.

He must more or less nurse his misery, while his friends are enjoying themselves, making the most of life.

Recently there was a young man in this position. He suffered greatly from Dyspepsia. He got no joy out of life.

One day he read about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He bought a box—cost fifty cents. He used the Tablets as directed, one after each meal.

Result—Dodd's Dyspeps
