That a series of suspensions would ultimately follow was the grave declaration to the committee members, who were requested to act with extreme caution and entertain no drastic moves without close consideration of both sides of any question.

It is definitely known also that Mayor Wenige was busy early this morning, seeking certain information, presumably for use at threatened investigations. City authorities today suggested that the city councillors, in view of the several proposed investigations, notably the long-delayed probe of the fire department, would take advantage of section 248 of the consolidated municipal act.

This act makes provision for investigations of this nature in accordance with the public inquiries act, which gives the mayor and aldermen power to delegate a judge of the county court or district to preside. The hearings would then be of a public nature, the judge being vested with all the powers of a commission under the act. This procedure would,

SEVEN CLINICS NOW

A reduction of nearly 50 per cent in the rate of infant mortality for London has been noted since the menced its work here in January 1119. In that year the infant mor-tality rate was 132 per thousand which meant that out of ever thousand children born, 132 died be fore reaching the age of one year. By 1922 (the latest statistics com-piled) the rate had dropped to 65% er thousand, or less than one half f the figure for 1919. In the opinion of Miss Bertha Smith, supervising nurse of the Child Welfare Association, this fact is conclusive proof that there is need in London for an organization such as the Child Welfare Association,

"It is almost entirely a matter of finance," Miss Smith stated, "and to the annual campaign of the United Welfare Association must go much of the credit for providing the neces-sary funds for the work during the past four years. Previous to that we were dependent upon private sub-

You simply must come! There's a fine souvenir and a piece of birthday cake for you. Twenty pieces of cake will have five-cent pieces in them. You must be careful when you are eating, for who knows that you might be one of the lucky ones to get a "nickel"?

And there is going to be a guessing contest in which everyone may try. All you have to do is to guess long the big candle on the cake will burn; then enter your name in will burn; then enter your name in the big Birthday Book along with your guess. The candle will be lighted and timed on the last day, Saturday, March 15, but you may register your guess any day during the entire birthday party up to Saturday, March 15. dren's footwear a real enjoyment to every child.

The department is under the careful and exacting charge of Mrs. E. Atkinson, who has had long experience in fitting of children's shoes Her assistant is Miss Emily Torrens (During busy seasons it is necessary to more than double the staff.) No parent need feel that there is any doubt when intrusting the care of their children's feet to such able knowledge as that of Mrs. Atkinson and Miss Torrens. They do not "merely" sell shoes, but they study the child's foot and from their broad experience and knowledge determine the individual requirements of each child. The greatest degree of success of the "Children's Own Shoe Shop" is due to the attention and care of these two ladies.

It would, indeed, be improbable under such surroundings that the "ordinary" kind of shees would pass muster here. Mr. Hill's slogan of "Reliable Footwear" is sustained to the highest degree. Such leading makes as Huribut, Chums, Classic, Mocfoulors and Avenue are ever to Macfarlane and Avenue are ever to the front, and the thoughtful, careful parent is continually proving the lasting advantage of buying "good" shoes. Another feature that has conshoes. Another feature that has contributed to the ever-growing popularity of the "Children's Own Shoe Shop" is the selling of hosiery. It includes the timest of stockings for haby's feet to the requireings for baby's feet to the require ments of the sturdy school boy.

Space does not permit to tell all about the "Children's Own Shoe Shop," but Mr. Hill invites narent and child to come and birthday anniversary, to enjoy the party, meet their friends and ask questions regarding the best needs for the care of their children's feet

In an effort to get legislation along the line of unemployment insurance; equal pay for equal work for men and women; and the diverting to their families of wages earned by prisoners or inmates of insame asylums, the members of the London Women's Labor Party are forwarding three important resolutions to be held in Hamilton on Manch 22.

These resolutions drawn up some time ago by individual members were accepted by the Women's Party at their regular meeting last night in the Labor Temple, and will be sent on to Hamilton with several others which are still in the process of formation. Mrs. W. Burnard, vice-president, presided over the meeting in the absence of Mrs. George Eddie the president.

The resolution concerning upon.

Many of the members of the Labor Party have felt keenly the results of unemployment in their own homes and are trying to have the government take the matter up, so as to insure against a repetition of their present circumstances.

The members also feel very strongly on the subject of the proper diversion of the earnings of prisoners and inmates of insame asylums. They desire to petition the government that these men be given suitable work to do and that the money derived from it, be paid to their dependents.

Last night's meeting was marked by a very fine attendance, many new members being added to the party, as is the case at practically eyery meeting. A visiting committee was appointed with Mrs. Wells of Horton street, as convener.

rsonally, I believe that travel is a panacea for almost any ill that afflicts us, and that if we spent more money on railroad and steamship tickets and less on doctor's and druggist's bills we would live twice as long and get ten times as much pleasure out of life.

I know from personal experience that when I get that tired feeling. and there is no pep left in me; when food tastes like sawdust, and beds ecome places of torment of sleeplessness; when the mildest remark that the maker's own handwriting. > And I also know from personal experience that there is no solace like travel for a great sorrow that eats at your heart like a worm on a rose. At home, where everything tortures you with remembrance, your mind goes round and round in a treadmill, and cannot get off the beaten track of anguish. But in foreign lands there is nothing to remind you of the past. Strange scenes enchant your eyes. New things fill your mind. Fresh adventures rouse your interest in life that you thought dead. And so time has scope for its beneficent work and the pain dulls and the wound heals.

So, Good Husband, buy your wife some pretty clothes, even over her rotests. They will interest her. Then take her as far away as you can Take her into the sunshine, into strange places, and give her, most of all ARRANGES RECITAL.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix-For three years I have loved a girl of my own age, eighteen. We are both working. I hear so much now of partnership arriages, with everything fifty-fifty. Would there be anything wrong our marrying on a fifty-fifty basis, with the understanding that there would be no children for several years, until both of us had had enough "fun' As for our home life, I think that she should be the boss of the house, while I, of course, would be boss of the family. In other words I like to be bossed by her, but would like to have some say-so about her adventures. What do you think of this?

partnership marriage in which the husband and wife go fifty-fifty doesn't mean an orgy of license, son. It means that a man and woman agree to share equally the responsibility and the labor of establishing a home, and to divide its pleasures and perquisites. It does not mean that a man and a woman get married so that they can have more "fun," and that they should be equally indulgent to each other's sidestepping.

It seems to me that you have got the wrong idea of marriage. Marriag Agriage is a settling down. It is the accepting of a great responsibility. It is the beginning of the serious business of life, and no man and woman have a right to enter into it until they have had their fling, until they have had enough of philandering, with they are ready to begin soberly and God-fearingly their life work.

When you are eighteen you are too young for this. You are still mad for pleasure Your feet ache to dance. You want to run with the gang and have all the fun that is going. And that is why boy and girl marriages are almost invariably a failure. The young have taken burdens upon themselves that are too heavy for their strength. They want to have the responsibilities of matrimony. The ving, and they are tied down are too young for this safe, too."

"Onlice of the wings, when Danny had ventured to sit, a while on one of the wings, was a sudden humming sound, and there darted in front of him an old there darted in front of him and there darted in front of hi fun that other boys and girls are having, and they are tied down with the responsibilities of matrimony. Inevitably they are discontented and un happy, and they fight until their romance is shattered and their home

So don't marry on a fifty-fifty basis, or any other basis, while you are eighteen, son. Wait until you are twenty-five. And don't marry even then seeking fun. There are lots of curious things about matrimony, but they are not amusing. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix-I am a very unhappy girl because I cannot decide between three men, each of whom love me and each of whom I love to a

The great Department Stores in Toronto, as in every other city in Canada and the United States, are the largest users of newspaper advertising. Through their daily announcements they bring into their stores tremendous throngs of buyers who watch and read newspaper advertising as regularly and carefully as they read the news of the day. With their advertising and good merchandise they have built the greatest retail establishments in the history of business.

These great merchants in Toronto have studied Toronto newspapers closely and carefully year after year, and they know, from actual experience and many experiments, the pulling power of each paper and its relative value in the complete list. For only through such knowledge and its use can they quickly move out continuously incoming merchandise and avoid the congestion and loss that otherwise most certainly must result.

It is not surprising, then, that in 1923 they used more advertising space in The Daily Star and The Star Weekly than they used in any other Toronto newspaper. In fact, The Toronto Star (Daily and Weekly) published nearly 40 per cent. of the department store advertising carried by all Toronto newspapers during 1923.

This proves that not only do The Daily Star and The Star Weekly, by virtue of having the largest daily and Sunday newspaper circulations in Canada, give the widest possible distribution to their advertising announcements, but that the readers of The Star have learned to depend on it for both news and shopping guidance—a fact which is outstandingly proved by the lead of The Daily Star in practically every class of advertising which deals with articles intended for milady and her domain. And The Star not only makes its appeals to the women of Toronto and its Shopping District but is preferred by the public as a whole. It is the one paper that the householder feels he cannot do without.

Why should all local merchants and national advertisers throughout the Dominion and the United States not choose Toronto newspapers in the same manner as the big Department Store advertisers? Most of them do, and the ranks of Star advertisers are growing.

Along the highway to business success is strewn the failures of hundreds of manufacturing establishments and shops whose guiding minds would not learn by the tried experience of the greatest leaders. Wise men gladly benefit by the judgment of others as well as by the intelligent exercise of their own.

THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1924.

Time for a Change.

The first 1924 installment of that ever-growing library, "House of Commons Debates." has arrived, and will take its place alongside those of previous years. The first number is very much like the first number of other years in that members of both political parties once more fight the election of 1921 and the by-elections that have taken place since the last session of the House.

Hon. Mr. Meighen and Hon. Mr. Macdonald enact once more the arguments placed before the electors of Halifax and Kent in the east.

It may be necessary for the poli ticians to work a lot of this feeling off before they get down to business. At best, though, it is a miserable waste of time.

Canada is in a position now where it needs serious, constructive thought applied to every item that comes before the Commons. When that is adjournment.

The Limits of a City.

A London merchant showed The Advertiser a letter from a man in a town some distance from here, in which application was made for a position of some sort in this city The reason given was "we think we'd like to try the city for a while. My boy is through school, and thinks there would be a chance to get into some office in London."

There is no intention to scold this man, because this is a free land, and London is an excellent place in which to live. And the boy, too, has a right to work in an office here or any place else if he cares to, if there is an opening for him.

We know these things, and we recognize and admit them, but are we doing anything to make it possible to have emphasis placed where it should be placed to drive home the fact that agricultural production is at the basis of our city prosperity, and that until the people on the land have money left over after paying their expenses, we, in the cities, are that we desire?

We have made much of the success of big businessmen, but the success of some of these individuals has been made possible, if we go back far production of this new wealth the actual producer has not had his full views he stated that he attended to the furnace.

Not a Fair Comparison.

The Ottawa Journal, speaking of national debt says:

"Mr. King made the governor-general say that the government would 'continue its campaign of economy.' Seeing that the national debt has been heightened by $100,000,000 since Mr. King took office, one wonders whether this is a joke or a threat.

Well, you can.

If you wake up feeling lazy and sluggish and sleepy there's a reason for it, and the reason is that your system is lazy and tired and sluggish. Probably you lead a sedentary life, have to sit a good deal during the day, don't get enough open air and physical exercise. Week-end walks or Saturday golf are not enough. Consequently your internal system becomes inactive. Liver and kidneys don't perform their natural functions actively enough. As a result they let impurities

PLAY TO TIE IN WEST.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Regina, March 5.—A rearrange ment of dates has been made for the remaining senior O. H. A. final games and the semi-finals in the junior series. Stratford will play the return fixture with Tigers in the senior series at Hamilton Monday night, while in the junior series, Kitchener goes to Hamilton Friday, with the return game at Kitchener Monday.

Peterboro will play the first game in the intermediate finals at Niagara from the first of home-and-home games for the Western Canada Hockey League championship.

Toronto, March 5.—Present indications are that the semi-finals for the Allan Cup, emblematic of the senior amateur hockey championship of Canada, will be played here March 19 and 22, with the finals here or in Ottawa on March 25 and 27.

In the junior series the team surviving the elimination matches in Ontario and Quebec will likely play against the winners of the Thunder Bay League at the head of the lakes March 22 and 24. This would permit the first of home-and-home games for the Western Canada Hockey League championship. Toronto, March 5.-A rearrange Washington, March 5.—Crops, animals raised and livestock products of American farmers were valued at $12,204,000,000 last year, the department of agriculture announced today in a preliminary estimate. This was $960,000,000 more than in 1922. The total includes $9,953,000,000 for crops, and $6,111,000,000 for animal products, less an allowance of $3,860,000,000, the estimated value of crops fed to livestock.

WALLACEBURG VETERANS PLAN FOR CELEBRATION

Special to The Advertiser. Wallaceburg, March 4.—The Wallaceburg G. W. V. A. met on Monday evening and a fair number of members were present. In the absence of the president and vice-president, Treasurer J. P. Glendinning occupied the chair. Two new applications for membership were read and accepted, mg for unionists and anti-unionists and a third was referred to the mem-was forecast as a grave danger by bership. The treasurer's financial report showed the branch to be in good financial standing, in spite of other prolonged committee session heavy expenditure during the past month for relief, loans and general expenses for entertainments staged. Not only did the premier foresee Secretary H. Shirley reported on his visit to the Federal Appeal Board

CAUSED BY EARTHQUAKE

Associated Press Despatch.
San Jose, Costa Rica, March 6.—
The estimated loss in government buildings and churches from the earthquakes which have been in progress for two days is about $15,000,-000. The private losses are very heavy, but have not been estimated. Four hundred and eleven earth shocks occurred in twelve hours and the tremors continued in a milder form. There are many appeals for help coming from the west, but thus far very few casualties have been reported as the first shock gave the people time to find places of safety.

WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, March 5. — The wheat market today was showing further signs of strength, with an excellent demand coming out early from exporters and consuming interests. The trade volume was fairly large, and hedging sales by country elevators were easily absorbed. Later on, when the buying power diminished, the market became quiet, but showed a firm undertone, and prices held very steady at yesterday's close. Seaboard advices reported a much better undertone to the cables, and that some export business had been worked, largely Manitobas. The feeling is also growing that the bulk of Canadias wheat at lower lake ports has been placed, and that the United Kingdom needs further importations. rm prices. Nothing outstanding was of-fered. Chicago, March 6.—Corn took an upward swing in price today during the early dealings, and imparted more or less firmness to other grains. Pit offerings of corn were scarce. After opening at 1/2c off to a shade advance, the corn market scored moderate general gains.

Wheat was influenced by the oorn strength, and by expectations that a tariff rise would soon be announced. The opening, which ranged from 1/2c to 1/2c off to 1/2c higher, was followed by a slight sag and then by a new rally.

Oats lacked aggressive support. Starting unchanged to 1/2c higher, the market receded somewhat.

TIE VOTE AFTER BATTLE LEAVES McCALLUM OUT

Warm Words Mark Meeting of Committee As Suspension Is Discussed.

MAYOR LEAVES HALL

Decide That Councillors Should Fight Increase In Fire Insurance Rates.

Last year's investigation of the fire department was tame in comparison with yesterday's special session of the finance committee of the city council when a majority of the mem-bers refused absolutely to reinstate Relief Inspector J. W. McCallum, uspended at the first of this week by

The mayor's abrupt departure in the midst of the proceedings, as a protest to Ald. Douglass' ruling that the question should be discussed then and not a week hence, plunged the gathering into uncertainty and general uproar. Chairman Douglass and his supporters, Ald. Drake and Ald. Walsh, emerged nearly two hours later on the losing end of the string. The inspector remains suspended pending the regular session of the committee Wednesday, part when Both Ald. Douglass and Ald. Drake nsisted that the department should be kept in operation until an in-estigation should be held, and that vestigation should be field, and that the inspector be asked to officiate as before, although he would remain of-ficially suspended. Ald. Smith would not support this, and made it quite clear that he would vote to keep the inspector in the city's service when the opportune time presented itself.

Feeling became heated at intervals. When Mayor Wenige moved an adjournment, Ald. Douglass, recalling similar action by the mayor Monday night, refused to put the motion, and ruled him out of order. The mayor promptly left the meeting

Ald. Frank McKay clashed with Ald. Drake when the latter charged broadcast that some people were trying to get a job for Rev. T. D. Mc-Cullough, secretary of the Social Service Council. Ald. McKay demanded the names of the "three or four" referred to by Ald. Drake.

Later in the proceedings the chairman threatened to eject Ald. Drake, who blandly and confidently announced that he could not be put out. When better feelings were subsequently restored. Ald. Drake equently restored. Ald. Drake olunteered to go if the chairman hought fit, but the chairman was lso ready to "kiss and make up."

Ald. Anderson voiced the emphatic comment at one juncture that it "was most unfortunate and disastrous" that an employee of the city for 25 years should be meeting such a finish—suspension—and the committee unable to deal fairly with the arges for another week because ere were no charges available.

Ald. Douglass, as chairman, was nally authorized to make provision next. Ald. Anderson thought that this was "up to the mayor," while Ald. Douglass related that he had also been "doling out relief."

Introduce Question.

The question was formally intro-uced by Ald. Douglass, who asked the committee not to arrive at any snap decision. The question was too serious. And it might lead to further complications, he warned. He made it quite clear that he was going to give an impartial opinion and "hew close to the line" while the "chips might fall where they may."

When the chairman moved an immediate consideration, Mayor Wenige promptly moved an adjournment. "You just told us not to make any snap decision and now you want us this tonight," he chalenged Ald. Douglass.

"I don't think that the city is going to suffer for a day or two," the mayor continued. "I'm in touch with the situation and the various relief organizations will co-operate as they have been doing all winter."

"I move that Inspector McCallum be placed back," Ald. Drake asserted. "You're all out of order," admon-ished Mayor Wenige.

Chairman Douglass reported that he had consulted with the city solicitor, who had stated that the mayor should make a report at the next regular meeting if the inspector had been reinstated in the meanwhile He could not say as to who should have the right to reinstate him, however, and the mayor questioned the value of his report after reinstatement of such a nature.

Mayor Leaves.

"I'm going to asked to be excused" the mayor announced suddenly, as the debate waxed warmer, "I haven't time to monkey this way all night."
"There is still a quorum of the committee after you are gone," warned Ald. Douglass. "I have no time to argue," the mayor retorted. 'You're taking the wrong attitude,' the chairman flung at the mayor as he departed.

The battle continued without the mayor, Ald. Douglass quelling the hubbub with the final pronounce-ment that they were in order to consider the question, but the members nad no charges to consider. "I don't know what we are dealing with," insisted Ald. Anderson. "It is ny opinion that we are justified in lacing him back," argued Ald. Doug-"But we don't know why the sus-pension was ordered," objected Ald.

In fact, I more than half suspect that quite a lot of hostesses who aren't Irish at all will seize this oppor tunity to have a picturesque party. If you don't really want to have one, DON'T look at the decorations which are displayed in the Gift Shop on the Fourth Floor. They are dangerously attractive!

Here is a tempting array of favors and baskets-a shallow basket of shamrocks, a tablecloth and napkins of white crepe paper with green and gold designs in shamrocks and harps, green candles, lollipops in frilly green skirts, nut baskets and place cards which are varied, inexpensive and unmistakably Irish.

You will like to have your place cards carried by a debonair youth who is wearing a plug hat and overalls (a new style note for the Men's Shop!), unless you'd rather give it to the winsome little colleen with curls and a jaunty cap.
