HAGERSVILLE SWEEPED BY FIRE

Glace Bay Police Frustrate Attempt To Loot Warehouses

FIRE RAZES BUSINESS SECTION

Town of Hagersville Suffers Loss of $200,000 Early Today.

PROBE IS ORDERED

Inadequate Water Supply Proves Severe Handicap To Firemen.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, June 15.—Almost the entire business section of Hagersville was razed by fire which swept through the town early this morning, causing a loss of over $200,000. Handicapped by lack of modern equipment, the town brigade labored in vain to check the spread of the flames, which, originating in a Chinese laundry, quickly extended to the important buildings of the downtown section.

The alarm was sounded shortly before midnight, when Lee Fung's laundry was found ablaze. The local volunteer fire fighters were summoned with a single chemical engine and a bucket line was organized. The firemen found themselves unable to cope with the rapid spread of the flames and half an hour later an appeal was sent out over the district for reinforcements. The Hamilton department dispatched a pump with eleven men, headed by Chief James, and the Cayuga force also sent apparatus.

Water Supply Inadequate.
Lack of adequate water supply proved a severe handicap and, with pumps attached to wells, the firemen found themselves able only to prevent further spread of the flames. Hope was abandoned for a score of buildings in the heart of the town, by this time a raging inferno. Only a few were occupied at the time and there was no loss of life.

Buildings completely destroyed by the fire included: The plot works of David Leving's, two seed houses owned by D. N. Adams, the shoe repair shop, Le Fung's laundry, the furniture store of L. B. Gowans, W. J. Smith's hardware store, and the residence above the Regal theatre, the Masonic temple, the town feed barn operated by T. E. Margalit, John Ling's blacksmith shop, and feed barn owned by Alex Marshall and W. J. Smith.

Fire Being Probed.
The Masonic temple was built only last autumn and was the finest in the district. Loss to the town was total $160,000. Investigations were under way today into the cause of the fire and to date no cause has been ascertained beyond the fact that the flames originated in the laundry.

PARCHED FIELDS SAVED BY RAIN

Week-End Showers Are of Inestimable Value to District.

Middlesex crops benefited to the extent of thousands of dollars by the half-inch of rain that fell on parched fields Saturday afternoon and evening. J. F. Andrews of the department of agriculture states.

With the barometer falling steadily since last night, and the atmosphere intolerably close this afternoon, thunderstorms with additional welcome moisture are promised for tonight by the weather bureau.

Last night the barometer read 29.38. At 8 o'clock this morning it had fallen to 29.27, while at 2 o'clock this afternoon it read 29.18 and was still falling. The thermometer registered an even 85 degrees at 2 o'clock.

"I took a short trip into the country yesterday afternoon and I was surprised to see such a wonderful change in the crops," said Mr. Andrews. "The rain will stretch the timothy and alfalfa and will set the pastures going again."

"The hay crop will be light, there is no doubt about that. The moisture arrived too late to help the clover to any extent. The showers will fill out the wheat and will be of inestimable value to the oats, which were badly in need of moisture. Corn, potatoes, roots, in fact, every crop that grows, will be helped by the rain. We could stand more, however. The farmers would welcome a twenty-four-hour soaking, and I hope we get it, and get it soon," declared Mr. Andrews.

12,000 Hear Rotary Call

Cleveland Welcomes Members From All Parts of the World.

Associated Press Despatch.
Cleveland, Ohio, June 15.—Thousands of Rotarians are here for the 16th annual convention of Rotary International. Twenty-five of the thirty nations, where there are Rotary clubs are represented in what officials predicted will be the organization's largest convention.

Judging by the registration which continued today, more than 12,000 delegates will be on hand, officials predicted, when the convention gets under way tonight with a pageant entitled, "Rotary." The cast will number 500, all professionals. The spectacle depicts the development of the Rotarian ideal.

Business sessions begin Tuesday. Nineteen Blackfoot Indians from the Glacier National park reservation are guests of the International. They pitched their tents in the public square. Donald A. Adams, New Haven, Conn., and Paul S. King, Detroit, are candidates to succeed Everett W. Hill as president.

PERSIA QUILTS ARMS PARLEY

Decision Permitting Search of Ships Leads to Definite Break.

Associated Press Despatch.
Geneva, June 15.—Persia today withdrew from the arms conference because of the conference's decision that Persian ships in the Gulf of Persia should be searched if suspected of engaging in arms traffic.

General Habibullah, Persian delegate, said Persia withdrew from the conference because she felt a blow had been struck at her sovereignty. He said Persia had been treated unfairly, first, by the decision to include the Gulf of Persia in the zone where arms shipments would be forbidden and, second, by the insistence of the conference that native Persian vessels should be searched for contraband arms in the Gulf of Persia, which he said was practically Persian territorial waters.

MAN IS BADLY INJURED AS MOTOR CAR RUNS AWAY

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 14.—Edward Day, aged 40, had his legs fractured late Saturday night, when crushed in a small doorway by his motor car. Day was cranking his automobile in the runway which leads to the back of his home, not knowing it was in gear. As the engine started, the car shot forward, and before he could escape it pinned him in the doorway. People in the house heard his cries and exclaimed him.

Luther Burbank Scores Bryan's Evolution Views

SANTA CRUZ, CAL., June 14.—Luther Burbank, world famous plant scientist, tonight arrayed himself on the side of the evolutionists in the Tennessee controversy. And, incidentally, he declared that the skull of his friend, William Jennings Bryan, was nearer the Neanderthal type.

Burbank doesn't think much of the Tennessee law forbidding the teaching of evolution. He doesn't think much, either, of the forthcoming trial of Prof. J. T. Scopes of Dayton, Tenn., for violation of the law.

"As soon legislate against the law of gravity," Burbank said. Bryan, one of evolution's bitterest denouncers, came in for a mild attack from the noted horticulturist.

"Mr. Bryan is an honored personal friend of mine," the scientist declared, "yet this need not prevent the observation that the skull with which nature endowed him visibly approaches the Neanderthal type."

"The laws and the use of speculations and words are more according to the nature of this type than investigation and reflection." Continuing with his protest against the Tennessee law, Burbank said:

"Those who would legislate against the teaching of evolution should legislate also against gravity, electricity and the unreasonable velocity of light."

"Also they should introduce a clause to prohibit the use of the telescope, the microscope and the spectroscope or any other instrument of precision which may in the future be invented."

While holding that "religion is as natural to man and as important to each human being and to the welfare of society as breathing, Burbank believes the word of the Bible, taken literally, should not be accepted as indisputable controversy of the history of evolution."

GAS BLAST, FIRE WRECK 21 HOMES

Many Buffalo Families Are Made Homeless As Result of Explosion.

Associated Press Despatch.
Buffalo, N. Y., June 15.—Twenty-one families are homeless here today as the result of an explosion from a gas leak in the center of the city. The house in which the explosion occurred is so badly wrecked that the cause probably never will be known. The police say, although they are inclined to believe it was due to a gas leak. Damage is estimated at about $20,000.

The flames spread so rapidly that several persons narrowly escaped death or serious injury, but the police and firemen rescued the few who were slow in making their escape.

Railway Board Has Many-Sided Problem To Solve Here.

COUNCIL DIVIDED

Uncertain Whether To Dispense Justice or Medicine.

The street railway problem offers itself to the Ontario railway and municipal board at the court house on Wednesday.

On the long-delayed solution to the traction tangle rests the whole future of the London Street Railway Company and the life of electrical transportation in London.

Whether judgment will be the cold justice of legal technicians or the sympathetic medicine of a ministering body of physicians, is just the question that is occupying the minds of city councillors, street railway officials and scores of interested citizens.

There is in the council a body of men who would rather "dispense justice" than "dispense medicine."

On the other hand, a strong body of public ownership advocates have appeared to budge an inch from their consistent policy of enforcing to the letter of the law the famous street railway agreement as set forth in by-law 51.

Many-Sided Problem.
There are many angles to the railway tangle. With a 30-year agreement with the company now expired, the future of electrical transportation uncertain, but the immediate needs of patrons of the road quite evident, decisions in the granting or refusal of a new franchise will date from Wednesday morning.

It is a case of a new franchise for the road or else an order to the company to get off the streets, "bag and baggage."

That the company has been operating at a 10-cent rate of fare since the expiration of its franchise for such, is not denied.

That the five-cent rate is collectible, even legal, will be a point in the company's defense.

Case for Five-Cent Fare.
Citizens of London have since March 8, said five-cent fares without protest. It is declared by supporters of a new franchise. Whether the sympathy of the public and the months' precedent will be a strong argument in favor of the company's demand for more than three months' precedent will be a fine point in the hearing.

Whether there really is in existence, legally, any such agreement as a new franchise, the police say, operated for more than three months under different conditions to those in the agreement is another point of contention.

The company would point out that no further paving, however badly needed, can be undertaken until a definite new agreement is consummated so that they can obtain financial service.

Advocates of public ownership see in the possible result of the railway board hearing, a chance to buy the London street railway "at a reasonable price," or to order the company off the street and start out afresh.

Leading the Attack.
Ald. L. H. Douglas, one of the strongest advocates for the "legal rate" of fare or the purchase of the road, outlines today the following possible course for the council, assuming that the railway board on Wednesday decides in favor of the city:

That the company revert to the old rate of fare; declare by-law 916 and all its additions null and void; call for a new agreement with the company, starting out on entirely fresh ground, all of which three measures he declares highly improbable and impractical because of the inability of the company to fulfill obligations under the old agreement.

Ald. Douglas would favor a definite order to the company to "Get out, bag and baggage," to clear its rolling stock and tracks from the streets of London, and to consider any previous agreement at an end.

Loses Her Race Against Death

Detroit Immigration Officials Detain Toronto Woman While Husband Dies.

Associated Press Despatch.
Detroit, June 15.—A Toronto woman's race against death was defeated by hospital authorities yesterday when she died in the hospital. She had been detained by immigration officials for three hours for questioning. Mrs. Mabel Mott, who operates an apartment hotel in Toronto, died in Detroit when she was advised that her husband, a traveling salesman, was dying in the Receiving Hospital.

Arriving here at 2 p.m., she was detained by immigration authorities at the Michigan Central station, although she had no baggage. The immigration officials, who were advised by the hospital physicians that her husband was in the critical condition of her husband. When she was finally permitted to leave at 5 o'clock she found her husband had died forty minutes earlier.

Real Estate More Active

Better Market For Commercial Properties Here, Dealers Say.

Commercial real estate in London has made a rapid recovery from the low level of a year ago and is now leading the lists of several local realtors. Small businesses, particularly grocery stores, seem stable at present and the number in "For Sale" and "Lease" columns has shown a big decline in recent months.

As an instance of the new status of the small store, one realtor said this morning that he had been busy in finding a grocery business for a client seeking a lease. A week ago he had had a dozen stores on his list, but the business outlook has brought the withdrawal of all of these.

Realtors predict that general real estate is far more active this year than in 1924. One Dundas street firm has already passed its sales total for the entire month of June last year.

BUS TERMINAL IDEA APPROVED

Opinions Differ, However, As To the Best Location For It.

Unanimity as to the desirability of a bus terminal for London, but a diversity of opinion as to the best location for it, characterize the comment on the proposal that the city should provide a place, and if possible a building, which could be used as a union terminal station by all motor bus lines entering the city from outside points.

Discussing the project with The Advertiser, Ald. Edwin Smith recalled the efforts put forth by the agricultural section of the chamber of commerce to have such a building provided either on or close to the market, which would also serve as a restaurant for farmers' wives. The latter proposal did not bear fruit because of lack of financial co-operation on the part of the county, he recalled, but he could see no reason why the bus terminal could not be gone on independently of the restaurant idea.

Market Is Crowded.
One of the proposals in connection with the restaurant was that the present comfort station on the market could be remodelled and enlarged to suitable proportions at comparatively small cost. While the location of this building would make it an ideal terminal for bus lines, Ald. Smith points out that the crowded condition of that section of the market would make the problem of parking the large buses a very serious one, and he does not think a site on the market would be feasible.

Harry, With a Past, Denies Bruins Have No "Tails"

Bears are popularly supposed to have no tails—that is, none to speak of. But the latest bear to take up his abode at Springsbank has a tale which seems worth telling. He is a bear with a past, although he is still of very tender years. Despite his past, he bears a very good name, being known as Harry Gignac, after his late owner, who until recently was president of the Brantford chamber of commerce, but now a resident of Windsor.

It seems that Harry (that is Harry the bear) first saw the light of day in the foothills of the Rockies and after his capture as a cub came into the possession of parties residing in Calgary, who immediately decided that he would make a fitting pet for the genial Brantford president. So they wrote asking him if he would like a bear cub. Being a business man and accustomed to doing things in a business way, he despatched a wire in reply with the laconic message, "Yes, ship him to Brantford."

Well, they shipped him, all right. Neatly crated, he arrived about a week later having traveled the whole distance by express. The resulting express charges made the recipient of the present gasp. They amounted in all to $18 C. O. D. But there was no help for it; the bear had been shipped as per instructions. Mr. Gignac accepted the situation and the bear and paid the whole shot. When the cub had grown a little larger he was presented to the Kiwanis club of Galt, which was duly alerted over his acquisition until the problem of keeping him cropped up. Then the suggestion was made that London having just lost a venerable bear might be glad to acquire Harry Gignac and so it was arranged. He is now installed in his new home.

ARRIVAL OF TROOPS AWAITED

Police At Glace Bay Frustrate Attempt To Rob Company Warehouses.

COAL POCKET AFIRE
Blaze Extinguished Before Any Considerable Damage Was Done.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Sydney, N.S., June 15.—While the people of this district awaited the arrival of troops an attempt early this morning to loot the warehouse of the British Empire Steel Corporation at Glace Bay was frustrated by the town police assisted by the special constables recruited from the ranks of the United Mine Workers of America.

An entrance had been effected and approximately thirty were engaged in the work of looting when the police appeared on the scene, according to Chief of Police George Costey. The raiders were ordered out and went without a show of resistance. The proceedings were watched by a large crowd drawn up along the street opposite the warehouse. The night's activities included the ransacking of three privately owned stores in the Caledonia district.

A small coal pocket, near No. 2 bank head, was on fire early this morning, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage had been done. The northern area a mob of upwards of one thousand raided Campbell Brothers' dry-goods store and cleaned it out.

An attempt to raid the warehouse of the Mutual Warehouse Company was frustrated by the police. The troop train from St. Johns, Que., is now reported to be due here early this afternoon.

DRENCHING SHOWERS SAVE CROPS FROM DESTRUCTION

Over Half-Inch of Rain Falls During Saturday and Sunday.

LASTS TEN HOURS

Millions of dollars were scattered over Western Ontario on Saturday night and Sunday morning by drenching showers which lasted for nearly ten hours, and during which more than a half an inch of rain fell. Damage suffered by crops during the drought of the past month was partly remedied even before the sun rose in a clear sky Sunday morning. Fields that had turned yellow in the terrific heat of recent days already began to grow green again. The drought lasted for over a month. Until damage had been inflicted upon the countryside, farmers were faced with almost total loss in the hay fields. Unripened wheat was shriveled, corn had to be replanted, oats were stunted, and all fruits suffered.

Although it rained for ten hours, it gave up at intervals, and this gave the rain time to sink into the ground. Starting at 4:30 on Saturday afternoon, the rain fell with varying intensity until after 2 o'clock on Sunday morning. All together 0.53 inches was registered.

WORST SINCE 1895. Toronto, June 14.—Twelve hours rain last night, general throughout Central Ontario, definitely broke the prolonged drought, accompanied by scorching heat which has wrought great damage to field and small fruit crops. To find a precedent for this great spring drought it is necessary to go back to 1895, when similar conditions prevailed through May and well into June. Withering field crops, devastated market gardens, and in many districts a ruined strawberry crop tell the tale.

RAIN IS LATE. Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, June 14.—Rain gave temporary relief to the farmers of Elgin county Saturday evening, but it is feared that it has arrived too late to help the timothy and clover crops. Alfalfa is a fairly good crop, and is being cut. The frost has had a tendency to even up the crops, making the progress of crops in Elgin as far advanced as in Essex and Kent counties.

WELCOME IN OXFORD. Special to The Advertiser. Woodstock, June 14.—The long

Man, 70, Jailed For Aiding Son

Associated Press Despatch. Detroit, June 13.—A sentence of one month in the county jail and a fine of $100 for John McFarlane, 70 years old, and deportation for his son, Matthew, 20, was the result of the aged father's attempt to smuggle the youth into the United States by way of the Canadian border.

spell of drought in Oxford county was broken last night by a heavy downpour of rain, which lasted for several hours and soaked deeply into the soil. The moisture has already had an effect on the grains and hay, and the sunshine of today has promoted growth to a greater extent than has been experienced for the past three weeks. The new hopes of a fair crop of hay, while the wheat, which is already in head, will be greatly lengthened before ripening.

WAS BADLY NEEDED. Ingersoll, June 14.—The dry spell, which was badly needed by the farmers of this district, was broken by a copious shower last night. According to reports it was fairly general and will prove of inestimable value. Reports from all the rural districts are that the crops were seriously affected by the lack of rain. The hay crop is said to be much lighter than usual, and there is much speculation as to possible recovery as a result of the rain.

RAIN IS WELCOMED. Chatham, June 14.—One of the longest droughts ever experienced in this section was brought to an end Saturday with a steady rain during the evening. Farmers declared today that the rain was invaluable, a continuation of drought for a few more days would have resulted in crop failures. Many farms in the district have been without rain since planting in the spring.

RECORD DROUGHT. Sarnia, June 14.—The long-overdue rain, so badly needed by the farmers of this county, came in plentifully Saturday afternoon and night. The downpour in this district is worth many thousands of dollars. Elderly farmers declare it was the most prolonged drought in their memory. The early berry crop in the Blackwell district is a practical loss even with this week-end's rain. Many farmers have had to resow beets. Wheat will be wonderfully benefited by the heavy week-end showers.

Richard Donaldson, Employee of a Local Firm, Hurt in Peculiar Accident.

NEW RADIO FOG SIGNAL DEVICE IS SUCCESSFUL

First System Installed at Entrance To Lake Huron.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, June 14.—The first radio fog signal system on the great lakes was successfully installed at the entrance to Lake Huron by the United States marine authorities Saturday. A lightship equipped with the new signal device was anchored at the mouth of the river, and early reports of the tests made indicate that the system is completely satisfactory.

The signal consists of a group of three dashes transmitted for six seconds, followed by a silent interval of the same length of time. This signal will be sent on a 1,000 meter wave length, and is to be operated continuously during thick or foggy weather, and in clear weather daily at 9 a.m. for half an hour and from 3 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Although the signal in Lake Huron is the first one to be installed on the great lakes, others are to be operated at other advantageous points on the lakes within a short time.

TELLS HER OPINION OF DIFFERENT KINDS

By HER MAJESTY, QUEEN MARIE OF ROMANIA. CHAPTER 3. My Ideal Man.

About men! Rather a vast subject and the question is from which side to tackle it—personally or in the abstract? I suppose the best will be, as it has to be done in so many words, to go ahead from my own point of view, talking of my own experience. But even then so many faces rise before me, beginning with my father's, that I hardly know how to begin.

My father was a sailor, and very good-looking into the bargain, with the most astonishing blue eyes I have ever seen—real sapphires set in a face bronzed by sun and wind. As he was constantly at sea, I saw little of him in my early childhood. He used to appear and disappear on our horizon something in the way of the Flying Dutchman. When he came back, he was a different man, imbued him with a certain mystery which was full of charm.

Later on, when his coming and going was less erratic, he lost some of his glamor, and he could be cross and selfish like any other man. He could, we then discovered, be even glum, impatient, and snarling. So the advantages in being like the Flying Dutchman—here, there, everywhere, and never too much of his kind—were not too much of any man. In general the "too much" is a mistake, and indications of any kind are not to be followed.

The old-fashioned wife cultivated her husband's selfishness like a precious and delicate plant, including her whole household to do the same, to the discomfort of everybody and certainly not to the improvement of the male creature to whom she was thus pandering.

I for one like a man to be a man. I would even like him to be a master, a creature to be looked up to, admired, even obeyed. Oh, yes, my dear friends, I am not a feminist, not if he is worth obeying. There is a delicious thrill in obeying something big and strong and kind—the ideal hero of a good old-fashioned English novel, the strong, silent, honorable man, the pioneer.

I have read books and books about him, and always I knew that would be the right thing. He gives me the right thrill. I feel him, so to say, in my flesh and blood, in my spirit. When I read of him he is entirely real to me. I want to be with him at his side, his follower, his companion, his co-worker, in fact his mate.

When I meet him in a film I recognize him, and again I feel that I ought to have met him, that life ought to have brought us together. I want to ride through the great wastes with him. I want him to tell me, swim rivers, climb lonely peaks, watch the setting sun. I want to share his tent, his fire, his food. I want to sit of an evening hand in hand with him and rest. I want to lean my head on his shoulder and hear his strong, faithful heart beat. But I never met my man of the great wastes, my pioneer. I have never tried to be a man's rival, but I must also confess that I have never loved the delicious old-fashioned thrill of being mastered and overruled by a man—except by my old uncle, the king. But that was a different kind of thing. It was the being terrorized by a schoolmaster, and was not agreeable in any sort of way. I have always felt that I must have a revolutionary through and through.

Doesn't Like Germans. I never cared for the German man's attitude toward women. He never admitted that she can be an equal. The Kaiser himself is supposed to have said that women were meant for kitchen, nursery and church. There is little chivalry in that way of disposing of women. The German man always wanted to be pandered to, considered as a thing apart that women must be proud to serve. When he was a splendid Siegfried riding through the forest on a snow-white steed with a magic sword in his hand, that attitude was bearable. But not at all when the lord and master allowed his "tummy" to ex-

Graves of Soldier-Dead Are Decorated As London Remembers Heroic Deeds

Members of I. O. D. E. War Veterans and Others Take Part in Ceremony.

AT MOUNT PLEASANT

Flowers and Flags Are Placed Where Crosses Stand On Guard.

Under the clear blue of a June sky, and surrounded by verdant lawns and leafy foliage, which symbolizes so well the peace and quietness in defence of which so many Canadian boys laid down their lives in the great war, hundreds of citizens gathered in Mount Pleasant cemetery on Sunday afternoon to participate with the C.E.F. Returned chapter, of the I.O.D.E. and the Great War Veterans' association, in the decoration of the graves of Canadian soldiers who rest there.

Sharply at 4 o'clock, the pipe band of the Canadian Fusiliers appeared at the entrance of the cemetery, leading the parade of ex-service men who had come to do honor to their fallen comrades, and the chanting of the pipes playing the plaintive melody, "Oft in the still night, ere slumber's chain hath bound me, fond memory brings the light of other days around me."

The ceremony was a most impressive one, and the members of the I.O.D.E. and the Great War Veterans' association, in the decoration of the graves of Canadian soldiers who rest there. The ceremony was a most impressive one, and the members of the I.O.D.E. and the Great War Veterans' association, in the decoration of the graves of Canadian soldiers who rest there.

Pays Thrilling Tribute. Hats were removed and heads bowed as Rev. (Major) Bruce Hunter, M.C., took his place at the foot of the cross. He addressed the assembly in a most impressive manner, and the members of the I.O.D.E. and the Great War Veterans' association, in the decoration of the graves of Canadian soldiers who rest there.

Flags Are Placed. Following the address, "The Flowers of the Forest" was played by the pipe band under Pipe-major Hamilton. It was followed by a roll of drums by the drum band of the Canadian Fusiliers. During this ceremony Canadian flags were placed on each of the graves in the plot, which, together with a number of handsome wreaths laid at the base of the cross of sacrifice, formed a visible tribute to fallen valor.

Then clear and sharp rose the notes of a bugle in the "Last Post," to be followed by the "Reveille." "Long Live the King," both sounded by Sergeant Horner. The service then closed with the singing of "Nearer, My God, to Thee" by the whole assemblage. The ceremony, impressive as it was and carried through with a simplicity and dignity entirely befitting such an occasion, was the best fitting tribute in honor of the Canadian soldier—a strong sense of duty, a right conception and use of discipline, and the spirit of devotion.

Live Wire Sets Tree Blazing

Special to The Advertiser. Strathroy, June 14.—A most unusual fire occurred here last evening. During the storm a large maple tree on the corner of Caradoc and Metcalfe streets caught fire and burned briskly for a few minutes. Apparently the tree was so dry from the recent heat spell that the trunk took fire from the transmission wires passing near it. No damage was done, as the flames were put out by the heavy shower which followed.

REAFFIRM FAITH IN OLD DOCTRINE Assembly at Toronto Supports Historic Confession and Catechism.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, June 14.—Practically all the Presbyterian pulpits in the city today were occupied by ministers from outside Toronto. The commissioners to the assembly held a communion service in New St. Andrew's church with Rev. Dr. Ephraim Scott, the moderator, presiding. It was a simple, but impressive service, Dr. Scott in its course making a few short remarks pointing out the importance of the ceremony in the life of the church. For generation after generation, he said, the followers of Christ had participated in the communion. "If all the gospel stories were lost, this simple ordinance carries on the story," he said. Rev. Stewart Parker, pastor of New St. Andrew's, and Rev. Dr. D. G. McQueen of Edmonton, assisted Dr. Scott.

The assembly met Saturday morning and adjourned until tomorrow morning. Three days will be required to complete the work of the assembly, which has still many important matters with which to deal. It had been expected that there would be a long discussion if not a controversy on the church doctrine, including the Westminster confession and the larger and shorter catechism.

They also discussed the advisability of a fortification paper, but it is thought that the advice of Dr. Scott will prevail and that the way the Presbyterian Record, a church will carry on in an enlarged monthly publication of which Dr. Scott has been editor for more than thirty years. Many of the commissioners have gone home, but a large number have remained to carry on the assembly.

And—One Trunk Out of Every Three Was a Langmuir-Hartmann

AN OBSERVER recently went into the baggage-rooms of the railroad stations in two of our larger cities. Over a dozen trade-marked brands of trunks were found. Out of every three he saw, one was a Langmuir-Hartmann Trunk.

The reason is the Trunk itself—it's distinctive appearance—the complete apparel care it furnishes, and the way it lives up to its reputation for standing the wear and tear of travel.

We carry a complete stock of Langmuir-Hartmann Steamer and Wardrobe Trunks. Priced from $25 to $90

Old Tree Saves Five Lives When Car Goes Over Cliff

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter. Port Stanley, June 14.—A tree growing in a gully west of Invererie heights saved this afternoon the lives of five motorists and prevented the machine in which they were riding from plunging to destruction at the base of the cliff, a distance of nearly 100 feet. The car, which is owned by J. G. Porte, of 646 Oxford street, London, was being driven by Mr. Porte's sister. They had stopped on the heights, intending to park there. Miss Porte was directed by F. Bosbury, the owner of the auto park, to put the machine at the west end of the enclosure, but Miss Porte, not being acquainted with the place, continued on past the trees which mark the brink of the precipice. The squeal of brakes and crunching of twisted metal, mingled with the screams of the terrified passengers, was heard as the car went over the edge of the embankment.

Directly below the spot where the car launched into space there grows an old and gnarled maple tree, scarred and twisted by tempests, but still strong and firmly rooted in the soil of the incline. Beneath it is a drop of some 65 feet.

The hurtling machine struck the tree. The impact was so terrific that the entire front of the car was smashed in like so much tinfoil. The auto lodged there, suspended head downward. Its occupants, however, escaped to safety.

DR. BOWLEY GREEN TO RESIGN CHURCH

Pastor of Talbot Street Baptist Decides To Accept Toronto Call.

The resignation of Dr. Bowley Green, pastor of Talbot Street church, will come as a surprise. He will occasionally visit his home in London. On October 1, he goes to Toronto as pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church, the pulpit of which was made vacant by the acceptance of a call to Rev. Marion Smith to Montreal.

The members of Emmanuel church, Toronto, brought considerable pressure to bear upon Dr. Green to take him to Toronto. It was the doctor's own impression that his work in Talbot street was not completed, and he told the Toronto people so. They were not to be denied, however, and their efforts were capped on Saturday, when a deputation of twenty from the church made the trip to London.

Outline Plans.
They spent most of the afternoon with the pastor, and at luncheon discussed plans they had for the coming year of their work, and outlined the field for service as they saw it. They were here to get a favorable reply to their invitation, and the outcome of the gathering was that they went away with the assurance that Dr. Green would become the pastor of their church.

Dr. Green came to Talbot street a little more than three years ago from First Baptist church, of Montreal, N.B. Previous to that he was in Portland, Maine, where he occupied a number of pulpits in the course of his ministry.

In Much Demand.
His pastorate in London has been noted for the evangelistic character of his sermons, and at several times he has conducted special services, at which excellent results were forthcoming. Dr. Green's services have been in demand for outside pulpits for special sermons and for evangelistic campaigns, and he has given himself to such work cheerfully and acceptably on all occasions. His demands became so numerous that the deacons found it necessary at the last business meeting to place a limit on the number of outside calls that he considered it well for him to accept.

A meeting of the members of the church will be called this week to consider the pastor's resignation, but the advertiser understands that Dr. Green has given the people of Emmanuel church to understand that he will go to them on the first of October.

WOMAN'S QUICK WIT SAVES CARS IN CRASH

Prevents Serious Accident at Corner of Wellington St. and Queen's Avenue.

An exhibition of presence of mind and control of an automobile on the part of a woman prevented what would in all probability have been a serious accident on the corner of Wellington street and Queen's avenue at about 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

The woman was driving east on Queen's avenue and the man coming south on Wellington street, when they met at the crossing. Both turned to avoid a collision, but their cars hit sideways. The effort made by the woman was such that her car climbed the curb and went down the sidewalk on Wellington street, beside the library. The other car also climbed the curb, but proceeded down Queen's avenue. Before it could be stopped it struck a steel boulevard rail, bent it, and broke a small shade tree on the corner.

SOCIAL SERVICE WORK IS BOOSTED

Rev. C. S. Miller, M.A., B.D., Speaks in First Congregational Church.

Rev. C. S. Miller, M.A., B.D., preaching in the First Congregational church yesterday, chose four texts on "One Thing." The first was the text used by Jesus, when speaking to the young man who came to Him seeking information regarding eternal life. With all this he lacked one thing—the spirit to see what was the greatest thing in life—not money, not morality, not property, not wealth, but "to love God and thy neighbor."

"What constitutes the lack of the thing today?" asked Mr. Miller. "And the thing needed is the power to catch the vision of the great and the willingness to pay the price to win this best."

Second Text.
The second text, "One thing I have desired," Here David shows that much as he longed to build the temple he was more concerned to live near to God—to be in communion with Him.

"Find out God's purpose and then you will live so that you will dwell near to Him."

"Holy desires are what should dominate our life."

The third text was spoken by the blind man, "Purged the vision of the curious idlers who piled him with questions, he said, 'One thing I know, that now I see.'"

"How different," said Mr. Miller, "our life would be, our influence, if instead of all these hair-splitting conferences, where we spend valuable time in discussing and arguing about creeds and doctrines, we would spend our time on finding out the great essentials of life, and all strive for that unity in the work of this new age in the spirit, which alone makes for success in the Christian life."

Knowledge, Then Activity.
After knowledge comes activity. "One thing I do," this last text was spoken by Paul, after passing through deep waters of doubt, persecution and trouble. Consecrate your life to a definite aim in the work of saving the children. Then no obstacle but can be overcome. This is the challenge that should be broadcast throughout the land. "This one thing I do."

In conclusion, Mr. Miller referred to the great work being carried on throughout Canada by the social service department, the work of saving the children. Consecrate your efforts to the saving of a boy or a girl, and you will know the joy of the spirit of love given in service, for the work of a boy or girl cannot be estimated in dollars or cents.

Both Mr. Bartlett and Mr. Farncombe qualified to go to Garden City, N. Y., where representatives of Canadian and American municipal clubs will play in the finals.

The London players are loud in their praise for the hospitality shown by the Humber Valley club. Mr. Connolly, president, takes a keen interest in the municipal courses in Canada and expects to bring several players to London in the near future for a game.

The Humber Valley club has a membership of two thousand, and a waiting list of about 600.

New Managing Secretary Will Outline Policy At Tuesday Meeting.

All retail merchants of the city have been invited by R. L. Dowler, president of the new Managing Secretary, to attend a meeting in the new headquarters of the organization at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. The invitation states that the directors are anxious to have as many of the merchants as possible make the acquaintance of the new Managing Secretary, W. H. The meeting is being called principally for the purpose of giving retailers an opportunity of making suggestions as to how they might be best served by the chamber. A possible result may be the reorganization of the retail section.

Topics of interest to merchants may also be brought up by some of those attending such as Wednesday closing, and also the proposal to initiate plans for a motor bus terminal.

CAPTAIN G. GALBRAITH HAS HAD ACTIVE CAREER

London Member of Canadian Bisley Team Veteran of Much Service.

Captain G. M. Galbraith, who left for England Saturday, as a member of this year's Bisley team, is a London boy who has had a remarkable career in soldiering since he first took up rifle shooting near the old Cove ranges in his early school days. He came to London as a crack shot naturally, for his father, Capt. Archie Galbraith, was a famous marksman and a member of the Seventh Fusiliers team for several years.

The son early displayed a keen interest in shooting. When the war started he enlisted in the 18th Battery on Nov. 14. He transferred to the Seventh Canadian Trench Rifles and proceeded to England in June, 1915. He received his commission in the new army as a second lieutenant and was assigned to the 19th Rifle Brigade. He was promoted to lieutenant in July, 1917.

The promotion to captain came in 1919 while he was with the British military mission to Russia. Capt. Galbraith was mentioned in despatches in the London Gazette in 1919 when with the Salonica forces under General Milne.

He served 22 months on the Macedonian front and was posted to the eastern Siberia. At present he is an officer in the Canadian Fusiliers.

REVENUE FROM BUSES AN UNCERTAIN QUANTITY

County Clerk Has Received
No Definite Information
As Yet.

Middlesex county has received no word from the Ontario government as yet, just how much the county may expect in revenue from taxes levied by the government from a given bus line proprietors in the county.

"We know that we may get something, but have heard nothing definite," said County Clerk John Stuart.

According to W. D. Colby, Kent county engineer, the tax on bus lines, which was one-eighth cent per mile per passenger will be a straight two cents a mile. This would mean that the bus would have to carry sixteen passengers to break even on the rate. In other words, the new tax will be considerable of an increase and not appreciated by the bus men.

ST. CATHARINES MAN DIES OF MOTOR CAR INJURIES

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 15.—William Hodgkinson, aged 25, of St. Catharines, Ont., died in St. Mary's hospital this noon from injuries he received in an automobile accident a few hours earlier. Hodgkinson was riding in the automobile of a friend, J. F. Stearns, of La Salle, when the steering gear of the car broke, it overturned, pinning the St. Catharines man under the wreckage. He died soon after being removed to the hospital.

Who's Who In Council Of The United Church

SIR JAMES A. M. AIKINS, K.C., lieutenant-governor of Ontario, is by no means the least distinguished figure in the delegation from that province. Sir J.A.M. is the irreverent one who is called the "polished speaker" in a city which has boasted orators so cultivated as Sanford Evans. In addition, he has great abilities as a committee man, his long service on the joint church union committee has abundantly evidenced.

M. E. ARMSTRONG, M.D., of Ridgeway, is proof that the genus country doctor is not extinct down in the valley, to wit, the Annapolis valley. He is nicely learned in the lore of his profession and also in the Methodist analysis of that section of the vineyard first cultivated by the apostolic labors of William Black. Dr. Armstrong has a brother who is premier of Nova Scotia and another brother died in the Methodist ministry in Manitoba last year.

REV. JESSE H. ARNUP, D.D., possesses both his golden academic and his golden forensic speech, but they are not his only distinguishing marks. His removal from the pulpit pastorate to the office of assistant secretary of the conference has not in fifteen years cooled the affection of his brother ministers of Saskatchewan conference nor prevented their sending him to the general conferences between. Dr. Arnup was secretary first in Laymen's Missionary Movement work of 1909-10. In the Methodist campaign of 1913-20 he was again at the head of the Methodist forces.

CHARLES AUSTIN of Chatham, ex-mayor of his city and vigorous in public advocacy of social reform, is also one of the leading advocates of missions. He headed the Methodist national campaign's financial drive in his conference with conspicuous resource and steadiness. On the general board of missions he has found a permanent outlet for his enthusiasm as well as his energy, whose mind leaves his leaders when ever China or Japan is mentioned, for these lands mean to him mission stations as well as silk and pottery.

REV. GEORGE WESLEY BARKER, late of Welland avenue church, St. Catharines, and now of Toronto. His church affiliations would be inferred by the name. He has been in "full connection" with the Hamilton conference since 1898. His new pulpit is in College street, Toronto, a church where he has been minister since 1904. He is a confidant of the throne of Rev. Robert Cochrane, D.D., on the same thoroughfare. Mr. Barker has been a member of the general board of missions for a dozen years.

S. A. G. BARNES, B.A., an insurance broker of Edmonton, was a delegate to the Methodist national conference in 1902 when he was financial secretary of the national campaign in Alberta. He has been active in city affairs in Edmonton since coming west from Winnipeg after graduation at Wesley college.

REV. FRED E. BARRETT, B.A., president in 1924 of the Nova Scotia conference, is pastor at Windsor and chairman of that district. He was graduated from Mount Allison university in 1902 and was ordained to the ministry in the same year. He has been a member of the council for many years and is comparatively young, with less than thirty years of ministerial career behind him.

GEORGE BELL, who is on the list of lay members from British Columbia, is a former member of the council for many years and is comparatively young, with less than thirty years of ministerial career behind him.

ASSESSMENT INCREASE IN EFFECT NEXT YEAR

County Boost Not Applicable
Till 1926, Says
Clerk.

A number of county ratepayers are under the impression that the 25 per cent increase in assessment authorized by the county council at the June session goes into effect this year. County Clerk John Stuart states:

"This, of course, is not so," said Mr. Stuart in commenting on the matter today. "The increase brought in by the equalization committee and not on the ground that it does not go into effect till next year."

"The reduction of the county rate this year from 11.9 mills to 9.4 mills has been in effect for a number of years. The rate was struck on the old assessment and not on the new assessment which goes into effect next year."

"Had the rate been struck on the new assessment, the county rate would have been reduced to 8.2 mills, and instead of being the nine mills would only have been seven."

"Some people think that there will be no reduction in county taxes this year, thinking that they are being taxed on the new assessment. The taxes are reduced two mills and they will find this out when they come to pay their taxes."

"The county assessment this year is $38,295,000. Next year, with a 25 per cent increase going into effect on all property, the assessment will be $47,868,750."

G.W.V.A. PRESIDENT LAUDS SERMON AT METROPOLITAN

Harry Wray, president of the G. W. V. A., voiced the opinion that the sermon delivered by Rev. (Major) J. Bruce Hunter at the Metropolitan United church, at the decoration day service at Mount Pleasant cemetery yesterday afternoon was "one of the best sermons ever delivered on such an occasion."

Mr. Wray added that Mr. Hunter's sermon had been the subject of a favorable and enthusiastic comment by all the ex-service men who attended the service in co-operation with C. E. F. Chapter, I. O. D. E. at the cemetery next Sunday, when the Canadian Fusiliers' pipe band under Pipe Major Hamilton and the buglers and drummers under Sergeant Hodge will be on hand to assist with the solemn ceremonies.

BRITISH AND U. S. GUNBOATS PROCEED TO KIN KIANG TO PROTECT CITIZENS.

Associated Press Despatch.
Peking, June 15.—Messages received here today say 600 persons residing in the famous mission at Mount Kiang, overlooking Kiu Kiang are menaced.

The mission bodies have made representations to the consulates of the necessity of despatching war-craft of sufficient strength to land landing parties to guard the removal of the Kuling population through Kiu Kiang the gateway to Kin Ling. The missionary settlement depends upon Kiu Kiang for all supplies and communication.

British and U. S. destroyers despatched to Kiu Kiang have arrived, supplementing a Japanese gunboat which was already there.

The situation at Shanghai is unchanged. Forty-five British and Japanese vessels are tied here on account of the strike of Chinese seamen. Telegrams received from Hong Kong report that dock strikes have spread to that port.

Trans-Pacific liners arriving here are experiencing difficulty in loading.

BRIDGE DATA FOR COUNCIL

Fate of the Ridout Street
Structure in Balance
Tonight.

The fate of the Ridout street bridge, appointment of a new building inspector, and the purchase of a pumper truck for the city fire department offer some of the scorching bits of debate for the city council tonight. Ald. Thomas Clift will be the only absentee, it is understood.

The bridge question will not be finally settled tonight, but progress is expected from reports by City Engineer Vears in a recommendation of board of works aldermen. Data will be available from police headquarters, showing a check on the traffic over the bridge during the past week. With this will be the recommendations of the city engineer.

Ald. Edwin Smith today strongly advocated replacement of the Ridout bridge by a modern structure. The present bridge is two feet below the deck level of other bridges in the city, though it is built where the river is high. It has shifted 18 inches from its original position and in many ways is a menace to the public. Just how serious or immediate this menace is remains for the council to decide.

Appointment of T. C. McBride as city building inspector will again be recommended by No. 1 committee. The matter was referred to the housing committee to report. Mr. McBride was never in the employ of the commission, and therefore they can make no report on the calibre of his work on Pine Lawn houses. Former officials and members of the commission will be present tonight to discuss the matter with the council.

The pumper truck purchase question grows apace week by week. Bidders have already been submitted and it is now understood that purchase is not being delayed because of price. Under standardized specifications given out, one firm has a bid $2,000 under the others, and on that ground would usually be entitled to consideration.

Usefulness of various pumps is now under investigation, and limits of water mains have been reported on by E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utility commission, and this report may lead to further discussion of small capacity pumper trucks. The matter is far from settled just now.

UNSTEADY MOTORIST IS JAILED FOR WEEK

Six Constables Convince the Magistrate That Man
Was Drunk.

The mistake of offering a police sergeant on duty at the Ridout street bridge a drink on Saturday night cost a Londoner one week in jail. The motorist stopped in the middle of the bridge, boasted of the slow rate of speed he was making, and then the sergeant to "hop in and make merry."

The man was very unsteady. Sergeant last told the court this morning. He admitted he had been drinking, but protested at being brought to police station and searched.

Six constables, on duty at police station when the man was brought in, described his condition and convinced Magistrate Graydon that he had been driving a car while intoxicated.

OFFICIAL IS DECEIVED BUT JOKER LOSES OUT

"Isn't that a smart bit of asphalt pavement?" Such was the question put to a city official years ago by a resident of the East London district. Slightly out of touch with history of that particular stretch of public highway, the official admitted his pleasure at viewing the roadway.

"How, how, how?" came the East London worthy. "It isn't paved at all. It's just an old road with composition surface."

The East Londoner asserts that he has worked the same hoax on city officials three times. The present city engineer proved immune, and was able to present a fairly solid argument against the petition of the practical joker for having the road done over in oils.

CITY C. O. F. DEGREE TEAM IS PAID BIG HONOR

The past chief rangers' degree team of the Canadian order of Foresters will on Wednesday officiate at the Prince Edward hotel, Windsor. This is one of the largest classes of candidates on record in Ontario.

The high court of the order is sitting in Windsor this week, and officers have granted the request of border club men to put on an initiation ceremony. The choosing of the London team to officiate at the ceremony is regarded as a particular honor.

TWO GIRL SPEEDERS WILL BE SUMMONED

High Constable Wharton Hales
Young Women To Court.

As a rule it is young men who persist in speeding along the Pipe Line road and entice others to race. The matter was referred to the high constable this morning. "Then the girls would pass them again. This kept up for about a mile, and as the traffic was pretty heavy I was afraid they would get into trouble."

"Finally the girls passed the boys and almost knocked three youngsters from their bicycles. They weren't speeding, but they were certainly a danger to traffic. I got the number of their car and they will have to appear before the magistrate for a warning at least."

SLEEPING SICKNESS TAKES TWO IN WEEK

Mrs. Andrew Spalding, 684
Queen's Avenue, Is Second To Succumb.

The second death from sleeping sickness in London in one week occurred on Saturday when Mrs. Andrew Spalding, 684 Queen's Avenue, passed away at St. Joseph's hospital. She was 44 years of age.

Mrs. Spalding was born in Baltimore 44 years ago. She lived in London for ten years, and during that time she was associated with the missionary society and the mothers' club of the First Presbyterian church.

She was her husband's only son. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the W. Harris funeral home, 1000 Hwy. C. MacGregor will have charge of the service. Interment is to be made at Mount Pleasant cemetery.

LONDON DELEGATE GOES TO CONFERENCE OF U.C.T.

London will have the distinction of sending one of the two Ontario-Quebec delegates to the supreme council session of the United Commercial Travellers' Association, held in Columbus, Ohio, on June 23, 24 and 25. R. A. Parrish, of this city, who is grand secretary of the grand council of Ontario-Quebec, will represent the two provinces jointly with H. H. Hannan of Hamilton.

Already boasting the largest council in the world, the U.C.T. is held in high regard by the supreme council. Another mark of the status of the local council is the fact that it made the largest membership strides of any council on the continent last year.

Other U. C. T. officers in London are: George W. F. Price, chairman of the grand executive committee; W. E. Thorpe, past grand councillor; and Harry E. Hooper, grand chairman of publicity and legislation.

REMITTANCE OF STAMPS AGAINST FEDERAL LAW

It is against postoffice regulations to remit stamps instead of money, according to an advice received from the postal department at Ottawa today.

The reason is that postmaster salaries are indirectly based on the amount of revenue received from the sale of stamps. If his sales go down, his salary slumps. There is also a law to the government in fees charged for money orders and postal notes.

One postal official explained this morning that if a large number of people from outside points sent stamps to local firms in payment for goods, the stamps would be used to send mail out of London. The result would be that the postal staff would be doing the work of the local postoffice staff. The books would show a large amount of labor and a decrease in revenue.

Believed To Have Been Alien Smuggler.

Associated Press Despatch.
Newport, Vt., June 14.—Eugene Lamotte, of Montreal, was shot by United States immigration patrolmen tonight at Westfield, near the Canadian border, and died in a hospital here a few hours later.

Timothy M. Baker, of Montreal, and six Chinese, whom the authorities say the men were smuggling across the border, were lodged in jail here. United States immigration patrolmen Rounds and Hadlock said Lamotte's machine passed them on the Montreal highway at Westfield, and instead of stopping, they came on, put on speed. They fired six shots at the machine, both declared they saw the machine stop. The machine suddenly swerved and came to a stop, and investigation showed Lamotte had been shot. He was rushed to the hospital, but died soon after being admitted.

No Radio For London Jail

Prisoners There For Punishment, Stuart Points Out.

Middlesex county officials are not in favor of jail prisoners listening in on radio concerts and would not countenance any efforts to have a radio set installed for the benefit of the prisoners, such as suggested for the prisoners in the Welland jail by a Welland grand jury.

"The county jail is not a place of entertainment," stated County Clerk Stuart. "The prisoners are placed there as a punishment."

"A radio set might be all right in a long term prison, but in a jail where the bulk of the prisoners are serving but a 10-day sentence, I don't think they should have the radio. It would be a waste of money."

Governor Byron Dawson, expressed similar sentiments, declaring that a radio had no place in a jail.

FOREST DANGER IS STILL GREAT

Demands As Much Interest As Church Union, Horne Tells Rotarians.

"Two million acres of Canada's forests will continue to be destroyed each year," declared Dr. D. Howe, professor of forestry, University of Toronto, speaking before the Rotary club last night. "Until Canadians begin to take as much interest in forestry as they do in church union, the tariff, and as to who will be next premier of Canada."

"The total of forest fires in the Dominion is $50,000 per day," continued Dr. Howe, "and yet in spite of that loss only the farms, and the forests as wealth producers, are considered."

"Eighty per cent of the forests in Canada, or 350,000,000 acres, belong to the crown. Of this total, 100,000,000 acres are in Ontario and outside the district of Patricia, which in itself embraces 150,000,000 acres."

"The government sells cutting rights in the forests to companies who pay a bonus for such privilege. In addition the companies pay a royalty on each 1,000 feet of lumber cut, while the operators pay an annual ground rent amounting to one cent per acre. The government thus makes a profit of $12,000,000 each year. In 1922 the forest industry contributed the great sum of $400,000,000 to the welfare of the Dominion."

"The forestry industry presents two problems: the first, the protection of the forests, and second, the management of the vast productive powers of the forests throughout all time to come. The chief agency of destruction is, of course, fire, but adequate fire protection will never be secured until it becomes as criminal to neglect a man to light the torch in the forests as it is for the man who endangers life and property in the towns and cities of the country."

The Result of Drifting.

Troops from London, Toronto and other cities have been rushed to the scene of the rioting that has been going on for several days at Sydney mines and other centres where the British Empire Steel Corporation stores and property has been burned or looted.

Duty of this kind is not generally entered upon with much zest by a soldier; he cannot bring himself to regard it in the same light as being called upon to protect his land against invasion. He is apt to look upon this present disturbance as one where affairs between employer and employee had got out of hand, and becomes his duty to see that property is not wrecked or human life endangered. That is the reason why troops were called from London. The Advertiser has referred several times to the situation in the east, and the happenings of the last few days are the culmination of a policy of drifting. There are certain portions of the despatches telling of the events that show the presence of a feeling that is deplorable. In the wrecking of the company's stores, not only the women and even the children. That means that in the minds of the children of that district there has been planted a feeling of definite hatred against those who operate the coal mines. A labor dispute, a strike or a lockout that concerns adults on both sides, is bad enough, but one that grows and spreads until it has engendered feelings of hatred in the mind of the next generation is infinitely worse. It means that when they come to the age when they shall go to the mines they will have been schooled to hate the men for whom they work and despise the system under which they operate. In a very real sense it is projecting the present controversy far into the future.

The tragic part of the circumstance is that affairs should have been allowed to take their own course over a rough, but well-known path that leads always from bad to worse to worst. There have been conferences and hard words, threats and counter-threats, and yet there has never been a strong, determined effort to straighten out conditions. As in every other strike, it was known from the very first day that eventually there would have to be a settlement that would be acceptable to both sides, yet there has not appeared a well-defined movement from those who should give leadership in such matters to say in a very plain way, "Gentlemen, this way of doing business for both sides is dangerous. It is bad business for both sides and for Nova Scotia and the whole dominion."

The onus for such leadership rests primarily with the government of Nova Scotia, and it should count on the active, eager support of the labor department at Ottawa. The province receives a royalty on the coal mines because it is a provincial property. It will be more difficult to take action now because coroners' juries are busy deliberating on the reasons why men are dead, and police courts are engaged trying to tell definitely why others are hurt, and why property has been looted and stores burned. When distrust has taken on the form of hatred, and where violence has come in to elbow common sense out of the picture, negotiations looking for a settlement are more difficult. This fact does not present a reason why a do-nothing policy should be followed. Far from it—it presents far more urgent causes why action that is overdue and long deferred to the point of being tragic, should be taken.

The militia cannot settle the strike; it was not sent there for that purpose, and it is not its function. The government of Nova Scotia promised a full and fearless investigation of the situation, and it should proceed with it, regardless of whether either side to the controversy is willing or unwilling to have it undertaken. The government has very wide powers in dealing with such matters, and it should not hesitate to use them. The situation is so bad that action can no longer be delayed.

When the Crisis Comes.

Tom Lee, Memphis, Tenn., boatman. That's all the designation he had up to a few days ago, when the word "hero" was added to list.

Tom, a negro, was out on the Mississippi river in a motorboat, under orders from "the boss," when he saw a small steamer rolling in a way he didn't like. He was an experienced riverman, and knew exactly how to get around in a fairly swift current. Presently the steamer gave another roll and Tom's comment was "Sure she's ridin' curious. She's rollin' too much to one side to suit me. I'll keep an eye on her." It was almost dusk and a heavy mist settled on the river, and to Tom that meant danger.

When the motorboat was a half-mile from the steamer the latter rolled crazily, went over on its side and began to sink. Tom Lee put on all the power he had, got to the side of the boat where the passengers were being swept down stream, and started to pick them up. With rare intuition he seemed to select first the ones who could no longer take care of themselves, and as soon as his boat was full he made for the shore, lifted out those who had collapsed, and then set out in the gathering darkness for more until he was certain there was not another one to be found. This one man, lone-handed, saved the lives of thirty-two people.

Of course Tom Lee found himself famous. The big chance had come his way and he had faced it with all the skill years of river work had given him. So there were funds and subscriptions started and today they are growing. Tom could have almost anything he cared to ask for, and, fearing that the storm of enthusiasm might saddle him with something he didn't want, he told his boosters, "Why, I reckon I'd like a house." Next day he went back to work on the river, and all he had to say was "That boat was sinkin' and I just happened by."

It is these sudden, unexpected crises that come and thrust opportunities in the face of men, and it is then that quick decisions and brave actions throw the weights in the balance to prove or disclaim the presence of real manhood. Tom Lee, unknown colored boatman on the Mississippi, proved himself to be 100 per cent man.

Will Ottawa Never Learn?

The Ottawa Journal does not take kindly to the suggestion of The Advertiser that that city should be so tickled to have a great enterprise like the dominion parliament in its midst that it should cease trying to prod it into paying more taxes to the city treasurer.

The Journal puts a charge of rock salt into its old muzzle-loader, opens the west window of the sanctum and shoots in the general direction of London like this:

"Well, we can certainly imagine parliament, or a glue factory, or anything or anybody else wanting to be housed for going to or staying in London. In truth, we've often wondered how the city fathers there collect taxes from anybody. But Ottawa is different. This is a real city, with privileges and advantages that people should be willing to pay for, and which most of them gladly shell out for. Our only real trouble is that M.P.'s who come from our 'Main streets' and 'Gopher Prairies' like London and its prototypes are so used to kicking against paying for the kind of lives they lead in such places that they can't get accustomed to paying for something better here."

Blame it, that's the trouble with trying to present a great economic fact to some people. They won't come over and sit on your back porch some evening and try and grasp the great truth, but they gather up a soap-box and make for the corner to show the crowd how they are being persecuted.

Now, we never said Ottawa wasn't a nice place, because it is—if you don't have to stay too long. The Journal claims that the people who gather there from the long-grass towns should be willing to shell out for the high state of culture that has been developed there, and that's where the trouble come in. Whether the Journal knows it or not, they do shell out to an astonishing degree when they are living in Ottawa—they keep on shelling out our money for one thing or another to such an extent that we get hoarse yelling out "Quit." And they do it as individuals, too, and depart to alarming distances from the simple life of those who elect them. You never see any of the members carrying a lunch in a shoe-box to the parliament buildings—they never make a meal from a can of salmon and a barley loaf on the corner of the kitchen table. Not a bit of it; they have departed from the mob. They must dine in the parliamentary restaurant, where, under the shade of palm trees, and with silver to the right of them, silver to the left of them, and monogrammed dishes in front of them, they eat and chat far longer than it takes them at home to milk five brindle cows or put on the kitchen fly-door.

Truth is, Ottawa spoils them, gets their money away from them, trains 'em in ways that are lifelutin', and when they are broke the session ends, and if they didn't ride free on the session Ottawa might be called upon to ship them back home. By the time they escape the rest of us haven't got a half a chance at them. The best we can do is to squeeze out a five-spot for the fall fair prize list and about the same amount of shekels when we name a member of parliament as honorary president of the local baseball team.

And all that money is spent in Ottawa. Then there's the civil service, a jim-dandy meal ticket for Ottawa, and the mint, too, where people stand around and scramble for all the loose money that falls from the wheelbarrows when they are carting it around town.

For the life of us we can't see why the Ottawa Journal keeps up this agitation, asking the rest of us to run along and get the corn and bran mash to feed the goose that lays the golden egg for that city. Why, say, if it wasn't for the parliament buildings people would be asking, "Where is Ottawa?" And some person would probably say, "I'm not sure, but I think it's across the river from Hull."

Life and Death.

Tragic and strange was the death of Sir William Petersen, British shipowner, with whom the government was seeking to make a contract for more favorable rates on ocean shipping from Canada to British ports.

Sir William was in every sense an English gentleman, honorable in his dealings, and persistent in the carrying out of plans to which he set his hand. His only son fell with the British troops at Ypres.

As the evidence taken at Ottawa in regard to his proposed contract is reviewed, one comes across a passage that, in the light of the tragic development of the last few days, seems almost prophetic. Answering a question as to whether he was prepared personally to guarantee the carrying out of his contract with the government, he replied:

"Yes and what is more, I will guarantee the performance of the contract, and my heir and executors if I disappear in the meantime."

How Ownership Comes.

The New York Sun says United States owns the North Pole because Peary discovered it.

And by the same reasoning we suppose Chicago owns the great lakes because that city discovered how to steal the water from them.

Is He Rich?

And now he's got a million bones, but no heart gladdens at his call, I can't help wonderin' oftentimes if really he is rich at all.

One chap just starting out in life, he set his mark far down the road, he reckoned how his back was strong so he could lift a heavy load. He wanted to be rich and great, to have possessions for himself, it seemed to him the greatest thing was piling up great stacks of wealth.

"I'll have a hundred thousand then, and when I get that heap laid by, I'll be a man around the town and look the wealthy in the eye. For folks will doff their cap to me when I own mortgages galore, and gates will open unto me that have been padlocked heretofore."

He bought and sold and made his gain, he worked far into hours at night, and obstacles within his path he knocked them higher than a kite. When he was forty years of age he had his hundred thousand bones, he held his gilt-edged bonds as well and papers on ten people's homes.

"Twice then he said: 'I want some more, for what's a hundred thousand now, and though he had a healthy roll, enough to choke a brindle cow, the germ has seized upon his soul, he felt the challenge and the dare, to keep on rakin' in the coin till he'd be called a millionaire."

So faster came the pace for him, more pressure he put on his brain, a-pilin' up more holdings still against a day when it might rain.

When he struck out in early years he never closed a mortgage down, he sold a few low out for debt, and made him go and quit the town, but years of grabin' changed it all, he'd sign to sell them with a rap, and say as how a chap that failed was nothin' but a useless brat.

When he had reached to fifty-five he felt the blast of trumpets blare, he had gathered to himself enough to be a millionaire.

But what's he got—no friends, no child, no folks to welcome where he goes, no one to sit and chat with him, no kindly ear to hear his woes. And doze curse the ground he treads, for he has put the screws on them, and he has turned a deafened ear to scores and of poor wayfarin' men. No heart to quicken at his sight, no eye to glisten at his call, I can't help wonderin' oftentimes if really he is rich at all.—ARK.

SAVE THE YOUNG FOLKS.
 (Winnipeg Tribune.)

SURELY it is time for aggressive action against those who for pay are debauching the minds of our Canadian youth. At least responsible public authority can purge the newstands, the bookshelves, the stage and the screen of some of the rottenness and disease they are spreading, and give the church and the school and the decent home some chance of shaping the character of boys and girls.

WHEN EXAM. TIME CAME.
 (From the Topeka Capital.)

HONESTY is increasing in American schools and colleges, according to Carl Salsar, head of the Emporia Teachers' college extension department.

Several days ago an Emporia freshman, who had loafed through most of the semester, was confronted with final examinations.

In compliance with the instructor's request that he write at the bottom of his paper a statement to the effect that he had received no help in answering the questions, the freshman wrote the following:

"I have neither asked for nor received help, but God knows I need it."

HENS DID THEIR STUNT.
 (From the Shelburne Economist.)

WHEN asked if he could identify some chickens which he had lost, and which Howard Marten and Allan Watt, of Guelph, who are in jail at Milton, were charged with stealing, J. McDougall, a farmer, living near Acton, told County Constable Chapman that they were "quiet" hens and that they always greeted his horse when he returned home from town by jumping on the shafts of the buggy.

McDougall took the constable in his buggy to where the chickens were and immediately they saw the horse they performed their "stunt" by jumping all over the shafts of the buggy. The identification was complete.

CAILLAUX URGES PUBLIC SACRIFICE

Declares Hour of Economic and Financial Penance Has Struck For France.

Associated Press Despatch.
 Beauvais, France, June 14.—M. Caillaux, minister of finance, in the first Sunday open-air speech he has made since he assumed the task of the renovation of French finance, declared to several thousand voters and taxpayers today that "if France wants to be helped, she must first help herself."

The minister spoke earnestly and without apology, saying: "The hour of great economic and financial penance has struck for France. French citizens in every walk of life must realize that the day of financial and economic sacrifice and discipline has come."

"However complicated France's financial situation may be, I feel assured that it is still time—but there is not a minute to lose—to save our financial ship, which is beginning to settle. It is a heavy task. We must restore the financial situation, which has become dangerous through immensity and multiplicity by reason of the long lapse of time of sacrifice."

"I must ask for a spirit of sacrifice from all the taxpayers, and solicit everyone's help, not only the rich, but also the middle classes and the workmen. The naked truth must be told to the country, which for ten years has been kept in ignorance of the realities. It is an ungrateful task but must be approached."

St. Ignace Held Six Hours By Fog

Steamer From Cleveland Reaches Pt. Stanley at 12:30.

Special to The Advertiser.

Port Stanley, June 14.—Owing to the dense fog that settled over Port Stanley this morning, the passenger steamer City of St. Ignace did not arrive in the harbor until 12:30, although she was a mile from shore at 8 a.m.

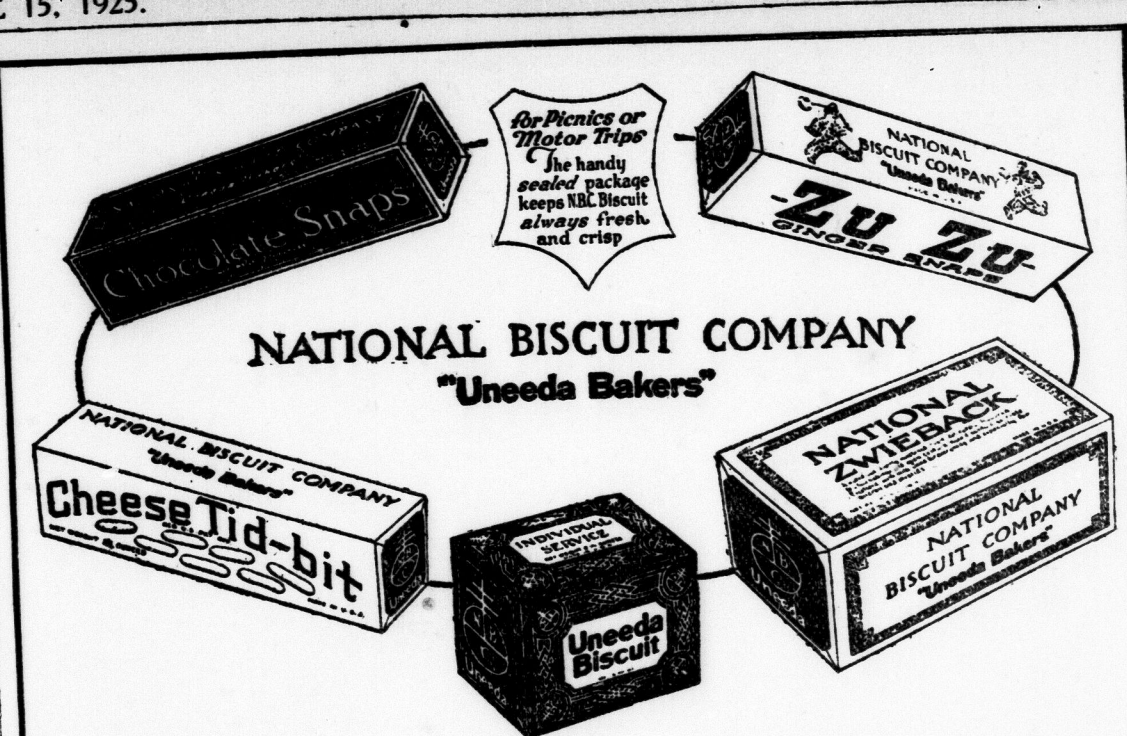

The fog was so thick that Captain Hamilton thought it unwise to attempt a landing. The steamer went as far east as Port Burwell before picking up the light-house.

The steamer brought 64 passengers and eight cars, as well as a load of freight. She cleared again for Cleveland at 1:45 p.m.

Montreal, June 15.—Volume of trading on the Montreal stock exchange was extremely light this morning, but a general decline in prices was noted. The decline of any size being by Asbestos Corporation preferred, which reacted the 2½ points to 107. The common was unchanged at 74.

Of the 100 shares of the session was the estimate of a new record high by Shawinigan, at 55½, up ¾. National Bank preferred fluctuated between 107 and 132, closing at the latter price for a share. The common was unchanged at 53½, within a small fraction of the record high. Textile stocks continued to decline, with the exception of the common of the Shawinigan, which was unchanged at 75½, ex-dividend. The common of the Shawinigan, which was unchanged at 75½, Canadian Pacific common was bid 117 at the close, with 120 asked.

The announcement of Detroit's record amount of stock sold, which was 100,000 shares, was a notable feature, with slightly over 500 shares being sold at half at 35½, having gained a point to 36 on Saturday.

Former British Premier Says Versailles Pact Only Slightly Violated.

Associated Press Despatch
London, June 14.—Lloyd George, speaking to the Primitive Methodist society today at Scarborough, stated that the treaty of Versailles was sterile and emphasized that it was all the more reason why it should be interpreted with tolerance and liberality. Continuing, he said: "We ought to have cleared out in January, but the French found the Germans had no conscience, and they carried out. It is a little odd that a would-be conqueror should plead for a small concession in the British way. It is vital that we should show Germany an example by carrying out our part of the treaty."

Dyer Holds Tecs in Opening Game After They Get Long Lead.

By W. H. WHATLEY.

Special to The Advertiser.

Saginaw June 14.—Andy Miller, error, double and Calbert's homer prove Fields' undoing to start.

London took the first game 10-4, but lost the last inning in the first inning three bases on balls and an infield out gave London two runs. In the second inning London doubled, Cogan and Baker doubled for two runs. Another came in the fifth on a pass, a double to right center by

Cogan and a right sacrifice fly by Manager Baker.

Stimpson opened the sixth with a single to center. Cogan and Brower followed with hits for one run. San-duquist's bunt stayed fair when Usat waited for it to roll foul and Stimpson was loaded. Kerman cleaned him with a double over first base.

Klein and Cogan fled out, but baker hit safely. Cogan and Kerman. Then Dyer, a left-handed cookie, went to the mound and fanned

Vermilyea for the final out.

Dyer never seemed to trouble the best of the way, never permitting a hit and fanning four men.

Meantime, the Aces hadn't been able to do anything with Cogan.

With his ten-run lead in the sixth,

he eased up, and three hits produced four runs in the seventh. Cogan had two more, and then in the ninth three more singles put over the final ace tally.

Southpaw Poison.

"Lefty" Jacobs, a stocky portly man from Bloomington of the Three-E league, was poison to the Tecs in the second game. He faced the Tecs in innings in which the lead-off batter doubled, but in neither case did he permit a run. The only London run came as the result of a hit by Cogan and Brower, a poor throw to first by Jacobs and an infield out in the fourth. After Jacobs had run home with men on second and third and two out, Allen batted for Klein and drew a pass, again filling the sacks.

But Jacobs got out of the hole when he speared Fields' hot drive through the box and tossed him out to close the inning.

Fields pitched a fine brand of ball

after the first inning, but the damage had been done.

Carlin was safe on Baker's bobbie and high throw in the first. Foster tried to sacrifice, but forced him.

On the hit-and-run, Nunamaker sent a long double to the right field fence.

It was the first home run of the season by a Saginaw player on the lot.

Galt Supporter Registers Kick

Sporting editor, Advertiser.

Sir.—How do you figure that Preston should be shown at the top of the Inter-County league standing in preference to Galt?

Galt headed the league from the start, having at one time a percentage of 1000—a percentage never held by Preston, as they lost their first game to St. Thomas. Although Preston has pulled up even, they have not passed Galt.

Why not be fair? If you feel that you like to manipulate the standing, you might put it upside down and thereby bring London heading the league.

Dear Sir.—Unfair as it may seem to you, such things just naturally will happen now and then—just as wisdom teeth, all unheralded, will cause a lot of misery but no actual harm, and just as a freckle on a happier's nose may make her life colorless but will never in the wide world diminish her ability to assimilate any and all sizes of chocolates, jam rickeys or lemon sodas, as the case may be.

Your loyalty to your team is commendable and it certainly wouldn't hurt the good old game if more fans took the same attitude. But remember, the Galt and Preston teams are real outfits and there is no heart-burning in this town because they are on top of the heap. They both deserve it.

The last one about turning it upside down and putting the Orients at the top doesn't sound so good. However, they might be higher up right now if it's based on good la-crossed sticks around here.

you're down this way and we'll talk it over. SPORTS EDITOR.

stars for the locals, the former crack-the latter connected for a hard-driven

DISTURBANCES CAR IS SMASHED

To Beat Train and Is Hurt On Crossing in St. Thomas.

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, June 13. — Trying to beat a train on the London & Port Stanley railroad Saturday evening, Richard Harris, Steele street, city, his car and nearly his life. The freight train was backing across the Talbot street crossing with brakeman Jones riding the rear end, when the car drove onto the tracks. The train hit it squarely.

Two minutes later another motorist was stopped for driving recklessly across the tracks. The second car almost collided with a north-bound passenger train. Two actions will follow as a result.

On Friday, in a special afternoon session, the city council passed a bylaw providing for the issuing of 5 per cent debentures to the amount of $85,672.26 to cover the city's share of provincial highway cost during 1922, 1923 and 1924.

Gilbert E. Jackson of the extension department of the University of Toronto, is to speak at the Monday noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis club on the subject of "Britain's Return to the Gold Standard."

The proposed bylaw has been returned to the city council amended to quite an extent, but the general trend of the changes in traffic ordinances have been preserved. The department of highways have found some particularly valuable suggestions in the new bylaw and are incorporating them in the new Ontario traffic act. The bylaw is now ready for enforcement.

The permanent appointment of F. B. McCleary as local manager of the Bell Telephone Company has been confirmed. Mr. McCleary succeeds D. M. Stirling, who was relieved of his duties through illness.

Mrs. T. T. George of London will be in the city Monday afternoon to organize a county branch of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

The Mendelssohn Glee club, under the direction of George C. Carlie, assisted the choir of the Metropolitan United Church, London, at their services Sunday evening.

Not Worrying.
When questioned about the transportation of freight by aeroplanes in the United States, superintendent H. W. Matthews of the C. N. R. Wabash, did not seem to be in the least alarmed. He views the trucks and motor vehicles a greater menace to the railroad business than the aeroplanes.

Dr. J. W. MacLennan of Oskaloosa, Ohio, is a visitor in the district. He is a native of Fitchburg, and claims that the crops in Western Ontario are way ahead of those in Michigan, Illinois and Ohio.

The 35 speedometers located by High Constable John Hopkins in a vacant house on the 10th concession last week, belong to the Pere Marquette railroad, having been stolen from a freight car in this city a year ago. The car was consigned from the Dodge Brothers' plant at Windsor.

DOUBT PAINLEVE'S ABILITY TO GUARD

Paris Political Quarters Express Opinion of Premier's Protection Promises.

By JOHN GUNTHER.

Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News.

Paris, June 14.—Although Premier Painleve stated Friday when visiting the French position at Ouergha that France will protect all her peaceful tribes in Morocco, various political quarters here doubt whether the premier will be able to fulfill that promise.

Nobody is openly talking about evacuation of the protectorate, but in many parliamentary circles deputies ask themselves whether, after all, Morocco is worth the heavy sacrifices in human life and money which a prolonged fight with Abd-el-Krim would require.

It isn't the number of casualties so much that worries the French, however, as the financial situation. The budget for 1924 shows a deficit of $150,000,000, and the finance minister does not know from what source to obtain funds necessary to cover present expenditures. The financial burden of a Moroccan campaign renders the situation of the treasury still more difficult, and M. Caillaux undoubtedly will find it difficult to obtain from the Socialist chamber of deputies new taxes to cover these expenses.

On the other hand, owing to the insufficient number of troops at present in Morocco, it is likely that the campaign will have to last many months, with the result that by the end of the year the budget, instead of being balanced, will show an enormous gap with no resources to fill it.

PAINLEVE GOES TO SPAIN.

Associated Press Despatch.

Rabat, June 14.—M. Painleve, the French premier, who has been visiting the zone of hostilities in French Morocco, left Rabat this afternoon on his way back to Paris.

"I will make a full report of my visit to Morocco to parliament Tuesday afternoon," M. Painleve informed the correspondents previous to boarding the aeroplane for Malaga, where he will sleep tonight.

The premier expressed satisfaction with the morale and health of the troops, but explained that the Moroccan war was being conducted along altogether different lines from those set for European warfare.

"Modern instruments must be adapted to this style of guerrilla warfare," he remarked. "There is no continuous front here, and the methods obtaining throughout the defensive and offensive activities on the western front from 1914 to 1918 must be altered. Tanks are likely to play an important part in future operations, and they are just beginning to arrive here. We are trusting to the new type of 75's and the guns of the mountain type and high artillery of 80 millimetres. In a few days our soldiers will know how to handle these new weapons."

Daring Boy Swims For Rescue As Two Chums Drift Out In Lake

Special to The Advertiser.

Thedford, June 14.—The daring of a young boy probably saved the lives of his two companions last Friday afternoon, when he swam ashore to summon rescue for his chums who were helplessly being blown out into Lake Huron in a small rowboat.

The lads, all between 12 and 14 years of age, were attending the annual school picnic of the township of Bosanquet and the village of Thedford at Lake Valley Grove. They got into the boat and soon found themselves drifting outward. When at a considerable distance one of them, realizing the danger, jumped overboard, swam ashore and gave the alarm.

Rescue parties set out at once but it was two hours before they were able to get the frightened boys back on dry land.

Plans for the Spanish landing in Alhucemas Bay, which it was supposed to begin tomorrow, have undergone changes. The changes are due to delays in the organization of the troops ordered to participate in the operations; second, announced conferences by General Primo de Rivera, head of the Spanish military directorate, and M. Painleve, the French premier and Marshal Lyautey, the French resident general in Morocco, which might bring about a further modification in the plans; and third, the important conference in Madrid next week between official representatives of France and Spain with regard to Morocco.

The scope of the conference in Madrid will cover the question of patrolling the coast of Morocco, in which Spain desires France to join her, considering that otherwise it will be impossible for Spain to counteract contraband arms running by vessels which constantly are providing Abd-el-Krim, the rebel leader, with arms and munitions. It is regarded generally as impracticable, even should decisions be reached during the conversations between the delegates in Madrid, that a landing at Alhucemas Bay cannot take place until after June 20.

SCHOOL HONORS SOLDIER DEAD

Mothers Place Memorial Wreath On Rough Stone Monument.

Decorations Day was not forgotten by the mothers of Simcoe street school. Yesterday at 4:15 o'clock a solemn little service took place in the schoolyard, while the mothers' club placed a wreath on the soldiers' monument standing there and bearing the names of the soldier-dead in the recent war.

Rev. George T. Watts conducted the ceremony, which had been arranged by the mothers' club of the school. He was assisted by the Rev. H. B. Storey. The wreath itself was placed by the Misses Mary and Lillian Geary, whose father's name appears in shining letters on the rough stone. That father used to attend the Simcoe street school as a boy. Other floral tributes, sometimes by a single flower, were placed by individuals, relatives and friends of the dead.

BRITAIN MUCH INTERESTED OVER USE OF "ROYAL" HERE

Associated Press Despatch.

London, June 7.—Much interest has been aroused here by the proposed amendment to the criminal code before the Canadian House of Commons regarding the unauthorized use of the word "Royal." Such use here is jealously watched by the "Society of Royal Warrant Holders," who take care that only holders of the royal warrant declare themselves purveyors to the king. Even the expression, "By Special Permission" is not permitted.

CHINA STRIKING AT GT. BRITAIN

Note of Protest To British Declared Evidence of Bolshevik Influence.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 14.—A Reuters despatch from Peking says that foreigners generally regard the note sent by the Chinese government to the British legation Saturday, protesting against the killing or wounding of Chinese at Hankow, as the greatest sign of weakness the government has yet shown. The note is declared to indicate the yielding by the government to the Bolshevik vernacular press and student extremists, who are demanding that China deal with Great Britain alone.

The despatch adds that General Feng Yu-hsiang, "whose Bolshevik leanings are well known," in an interview published in the vernacular paper Ching Pao, declared that in case of hostilities against Great Britain he would be the first in the field. He added that China need not fear Great Britain, which had a big navy but only a small army.

STOP FOREIGN PAPERS.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 14.—A Shanghai despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that numerous disquieting reports are reaching Shanghai alleging widespread anti-foreign risings throughout the country, even at small places. There has been a determined effort to prevent the publication of foreign newspapers in Shanghai, and all Chinese employees of these papers have ceased to work. Foreign staffs and volunteers up to the present have been able to get out the editions.

RAIN IN MANITOBA ADDS TO DANGER

Whole Township Is Inundated, Causing 500 Persons To Move.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, June 14.—Heavy rains during Friday night, it is feared, will increase the flood danger in South-western Manitoba, where the whole township of Medika is inundated, causing 500 persons to vacate their homes, when the Whitemouth and Birch rivers overflowed their banks, following several days of rain in the week. The water was receding Friday, but it is now feared it will again rise, causing additional damage to farm property. Eighty-three Russian families are being cared for by neighbors in nearby localities that are not inundated, and the provincial government is supplying food for the livestock of the settlers.
The flood waters have reached a depth of from three to four feet, and with no boats in the district, the settlers are constructing rafts. When they vacated their homes the people had to wade through three feet of water, carrying children on their shoulders and carry the old and infirm to dry land.

FIRST UNITED CHURCH SERVICES ARE HELD

Three Great Churches Become
One in Reality With First Union Services.

STIRRING ADDRESSES

Twenty-One Congregations in London Hear Appropriate Messages.

In almost 3,000 churches throughout Canada congregations who met one week ago as Methodists, Congregationalists or Presbyterians, yesterday gathered as members of the United Church of Canada.

Powerful messages, delivered by inspired preachers, and listened to by unusually large congregations, featured the inaugural service in London's 21 United churches.

The grand opportunities and the great responsibilities facing the United church in the dominion and beyond were emphasized in terms calculated to inspire the members of the church to renewed zeal and determination, now that church union is an accomplished fact, to achieve even greater things than at first hoped for on behalf of the United church.

St. Andrew's and First.
The supreme test of the United Church of Canada, declared Rev. D. C. MacGregor, D.D., speaking in the First Presbyterian United church last night, marking union services for the day between St. Andrew's and First churches and First church will be its contribution to the development of individual character and to the bringing of the kingdom of God into the world.

"The practical is the test in religion, and so it is that the United church must stimulate in activity the practical life of its members. It is not interested in creeds, but they are interested in the Monday, Tuesday and week-day demonstration in the office, in the factory, and in the market-place. The church must bear witness to the created universe if it is ever to reach the world. Man did not understand love until God incarnated it in Christ, and thus the outside man is looking for the incarnation of what we have been talking about. We must take the things that we believe and express them in daily conduct."

"There have been enough sermons and sufficient truth expressed to save the world many times over, but there has not been enough demonstration of what we believe. What we need today is a revival of downright honesty in every department of life and the application of the principles Christ taught in the sermon on the mount. If we are to save society from corruption and decay, then Christians must get into vital touch with the fundamental problems of today. We are not social, economic or political reformers. We are religious. The economist, the statesman and the social reformer all have splendid schemes to solve the problems facing the world, but because the spirit of hate, suspicion and strife broods in men's selfish hearts those plans cannot be made to work out. We all give God first place in our creeds and in our prayers, but we should also give Him first place in our lives."

Moral Conduct Counts.
"Nations are not judged by their culture, wealth or power, but by their moral conduct. It may be said that as a conception God is all right, but that He doesn't mean much in the business or social life of the individual. But this is a moral universe, and these things which are not moral, the man or the nation which is not moral, will be judged. The United church is filled with the dynamic spirit of Christ," concluded Dr. MacGregor, "then it will be as useless as an engine without a spark, or a steam locomotive without a pound of steam. We are on the eve of a great day, and the beginning of great things. There are greater opportunities before the United church than ever before in Canada."

Metropolitan United.
"Today marks a new chapter," asserted Rev. (Major) J. Bruce Hunter, E.D., speaking in the Metropolitan United church, formerly the First Methodist church, yesterday morning. "We have launched on a new venture; we have closed one chapter; we have turned over the page and begun to write anew. We have begun to write with the pen of hope and with the ink of possibility."

"The United church of Canada constitutes a challenge to deeper, broader, and more earnest endeavor. The setting of the advance is the forgetting of the things that are behind, in so far as the emphasis is concerned, taking only the experiences of the past as the basis for the future."

"One of the greatest calamities of today is commercial and material satisfaction, but there is something worse, and that is spiritual conceit. We should be in a state of unrest, discontent, dissatisfaction and revolt until we are satisfied with the revealing and revealing word of Christ in the world."

"The United church is a challenge to the spirit of adventure," concluded Mr. Hunter, "Back to Christ is no challenge for courage or progress because Christ is not behind. He is out in front leading as the great pioneer and the great leader of the world. Christ is crossing new seas and blazing new trails, winning the world for God. Christ is beckoning, calling, challenging us to new heights of achievement. We are a Christian experience and endeavor. Christ is not a melancholy man, but a stalwart character, with His head thrown back and His eyes set on the goal, determined to go forward in spite of all obstacles until all the people of the world shall worship Him. Up to Christ we look back to Christ, for He is leading on to victory."

KNOX UNITED.
A unitarian apostle, from an anti-union community, preached at Knox United church yesterday. He was Rev. John Matheson, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Stratford, which voted against union.

Rev. Mr. Matheson preached at the morning service, assisting in the inauguration of the United church of Canada by the Knox congregation. He also preached at the evening service.

Fire Destroys Old Landmark

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, June 14.—One of the old landmarks of the vicinity, an old log cabin on the Shakespeare highway, about two miles from the city, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin some time Saturday morning.

For years the cabin had been unoccupied. The structure is now nothing more than a heap of ashes.

not the effeminate, the weak, the mere ornate, or only secular art in beauty. He saw strength and vigor and inspiration.
"Artists have painted Christ with a weak face," declared the preacher. "His face has been interpreted as nothing weak in Christ's stolen. Where have the greatest Christians secured their inspiration and their strength? From Christ's teachings." The harshness of the opponents of church union was deprecated.

Power of church architecture still holds, the speaker contended. The influence which Victor Hugo declared waned after the influx of the printed word is still a mighty instrument for the interpretation of the beautiful and the Christlike. A type of architecture, without the need of spires, combining usefulness with beauty, was forecast by the speaker, who spoke strongly for advancement in interior decoration.

STRATHROY.

Special to The Advertiser.

Strathroy, June 14.—The first service at Methodist United church of Canada here held, this morning, was most impressive. Rev. Isaac Couch conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Mr. Treadwell and Rev. John Moore. The latter is a retired Presbyterian minister and a former elder of St. Andrew's church here. A list of 63 names of Presbyterians who have signed their intention of joining the United church was read by Rev. Moore. Special music was rendered by the choir.

Dobson, D.D., principal of Alma college, and Rev. S. McVittie, principal of Mount Elgin institute. At Central the change was marked with an exchange of choir with Ridout, United church in the evening. In the morning Rev. G. Ellery Read delivered the baccalaureate sermon to Alma graduates. Special services and music were featured at Grace church.

Royle, preached briefly at each service and administered the sacrament of the Lord's supper.

WOODSTOCK.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, June 14.—In commemoration of the consummation of the United Church of Canada, a communion service was held in the Chalmers church this morning, with an unusually large congregation in attendance. The feature of the service was the attendance of 62 members who had transferred from the Presbyterian church, which has stayed out of the union. Rev. Hugh Robertson, of Winnipeg, was the preacher. Special services, marking the beginning of the United church were also held in the three Methodist churches of the city.

POSSE GIVES UP HUNT FOR BANDITS

Abandon Search For Two Armed Burglars in Northern Part of Huron.

Special to The Advertiser.

Goderich, June 14.—This morning High Constable Whitesides and Provincial Officer Fellow returned to Goderich after a futile attempt to locate the armed bandits who have been burglarizing many stores and gas stations in the north part of Huron county. The bandits, having abandoned the coach stolen from Dr. Hamby of Wingham, were surrounded by police, but the Amherst swam where it was thought that a capture was sure on the night of June 12, but the desperadoes, thought to be Jerry Jones, a parole man from Kingston penitentiary, and a mulatto colleague, eluded capture, having stolen clothing from a farmer in the district.

During the night the car, a 1924 model, owned by Dr. McLeod, who is visiting at Lochalsh, was taken, and it is thought that the large coach responsible. In answer to a summons to this neighborhood the Goderich office, being unable to get the car, made a search of the district, but no clue was found.

During the night another car in the town of Wingham was moved a distance of two blocks from its parking place. It is surmised that the car, being unable to get the car running, abandoned it and later made off with the Lochalsh car. The posse of searchers has been called off for the present. It is believed that the bandits fled in the direction of Lucknow, but no definite trace can be found. Some think the men will try to get back into the bush where the Indian feeds perfectly at home, as he knows every nook and corner of the stretch, which is seven miles long and from two to three miles wide.

HOPES SOAR HIGH FOR WEST'S CROPS

Good, Excellent, Ideal Describe Conditions Over Nearly Whole Area.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, June 13.—Crop conditions in the west are generally reported as good, excellent and ideal, says the second crop report issued this year by the Manitoba Free Press.

The report on conditions in the three prairie provinces is based on reports received by wire, within the last 24 hours, from 325 correspondents.

"There is abundance of moisture; only four points, all in Alberta, want more rain," says the report. "A few places in Manitoba and Saskatchewan have had too much rain, and some percentage of the crop has been lost from the floods. It will mean very slight lessening of the acreage in all grains."

"There has been very little permanent damage from the severe frost early in May, and only a few reports of re-seeding from this cause are necessary."

"The only drawback to the crop is the presence of cutworms, reported at 24 points in the three provinces. Damage from this source is generally reported light."

The only surprise in the report is the clear indication that instead of an increase in flax acreage there will probably be a considerable decrease. A marked increase is indicated in the amount of sweet clover and corn seeded.

The report concludes: "Taken as a whole, the report is the most outstandingly satisfactory one for the middle of June for a number of years."

YOUNG FOLK OF TODAY WERE NEVER EXCELLED

Rev. E. G. Read Declares
That Charges of Frivolity
Are Libel.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, June 14.—Rev. G. Ellery Read, B.D., of Sherbrooke, Quebec, a leading preacher of the Congregational church, now part of the United Church of Canada, gave the charge to the graduating class of Alma college, in an impressive baccalaureate service at Central United church on Sunday morning.

The text of the address was chosen from the 12th chapter of St. Luke: "For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required; and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask more."

"The parable is applied to the investments of human life," said Rev. Read. "One of the first reflections from this law lies in the fact that the powers and interests of all ages. A broader outlook is essential to the best development of human life. Life is a great adventure, which we must accomplish. We have a wonderful creation in ourselves. Some people love to dwell on our depraved society, but the might better look at our normal life and see in them the good which they lose sight of."

To the graduating class, he said: "I am addressing you who have been privileged to receive the endowments of life, both at home and in your association with the Alma"

To-day I saw

Remember the shapeless flannel gown one once wore for swimming? And the trim, slim garment that went into last season's vacation trunk?

"The Emancipation of the Bathing Suit" will make an important chapter heading, when someone writes the history of dress. New suits on the Second Floor are fascinating examples of the 1925 model. As athletic as ever—and heaps more decorative!

You'll find the plain blue jersey of last year gay with a pattern of roses—the reds and greens and purples blossoming with embroidery.

Strictly for beach appearance (though one could swim in it!) is a charming one of taffeta, with touches of red for trimming, and a score or more of frills at piquant intervals.

Next are the bathing caps—highly ornamental or sternly practical, according to your process in the surf.

If you mean to measure your season in hearts, see the one with a ruffling of daisies. Or if you prefer silver trophies and "First Prize" ribbons, look at the one of heavy rubber, with a chin strap, and "a place for your ears."

Sheriff Compiles History of Lambton Municipalities

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, June 14.—Lack of knowledge as to the origin of names of towns and villages in the county has been filled by the publication of a booklet issued under the direction of the Lambton county council. The compilation of this booklet has been in charge of Sheriff Albert J. Johnston, and in his introductory the compiler places the credit for the original idea and its execution to Mr. McWatt. The new booklet comprises 55 pages, and it is well illustrated. Every possible source of information as to the origin of the names of the various municipalities, past and present, has apparently been tapped, and the fruit of all the research work is a very comprehensive and worth-while chronicle that may be preserved for the enlightenment of future generations.

KOMOKA SWAMP FIRE

IS CHECKED BY RAIN

Only Loss of Any Consequence Was To Bush of Farmer.

Special to The Advertiser.

Komoka, June 14.—The rain of Saturday night practically extinguished the fire which has been smouldering in the swamp near here for the past three weeks. The fire started in some old stumps and then burned under the surface of the swamp. It was carried in a southerly direction, and the wind of the past few days fanned the fire into an open blaze. About 15 acres of swamp land was affected.

The only loss of any consequence was to the bush on the farm of Alfred Campbell and he estimates his loss at about $200.

At no time was the fire considered dangerous, and people from the surrounding district did not feel it necessary to take any steps to extinguish the fire. Villagers went out only because of curiosity.

GRAND FALLS POWER

Permission Granted New Brunswick For Hydro Project On St. John River.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Moncton, June 14.—New Brunswick may now proceed with the development of hydro power at Grand Falls on the St. John river, considered the most potential power site in the maritime provinces. An order of permission was given by the international joint commission here on Saturday conditional on the supplying of two thousand horsepower for use in Maine and indemnity for property damage caused by the development.

Fifty thousand horsepower is the initial development contemplated by the New Brunswick government, through the New Brunswick electric power commission, involving an expenditure of some millions of dollars.
