Millgrove

The Anniversary Tea Meeting of the Millgrove Methodist Church will be held Monday evening, February 18th. The following talent will take part in the program. The Ladies' Quartette, Mesdames Smith, Begg, Darling and May, of Hamilton. Miss Aleta Smith, of Glanford, Elocutionist. Mr. Stanley Shuart, Hamilton, Baritone. Messrs. Roland and Kenneth Cummins, Millgrove. The Millgrove Orchestra. Rev. Dr. Peever of Wesley Church, Hamilton, and others. Tea served from 6 to 8. Admission 50c.

Carlisle

Mr. Wm Lemessieur of Rochester has been visiting his mother here the past few days.

The Young Peoples League had a fine meeting last Tuesday evening. The program was in the hands of Mrs. Gaddy's class, who ably handled it. A paper was given by Miss Annie Zimmerman, and a violin solo by Mr. McCutcheon, both being greatly enjoyed. The Young Men's class also put on the second "Gloom-chaser." A contest was then engaged in and the meeting closed with games.

Because of the abundance of snow in this district, sleighing is at its best at the present time.

On account of the bad weather last Sunday, no service was held in the evening.

School has been closed for several days in the past week on account of weather conditions and poor roads.

The young Peoples' League will hold their usual meeting February 19th. A good program will be given and a large turnout is expected.

A Wonderful Convenience

Getting out of a warm bed, to go downstairs and answer a telephone has its drawbacks. An extension telephone alongside the bed saves many a man or woman that unpleasant necessity.

Extension telephones cost only $1.24 a month! The charge for installing is only $1.00! They are a wonderful convenience.

Save your "better half" many fatiguing steps. Business and professional men find them indispensable in homes and offices. Let us talk it over!

Every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance Station

"The Land of Promise"

The above Musical Play, to be presented in the Memorial Hall on Wednesday evening, February 27th, should not be missed by any one within reach. It is sure to please with its bright, tuneful musical numbers. A few lines from the drama follow:

"If I go back home to-night and find my yard full of tin cans again, I'll—, I'll—." "Has he proposed at last?" "This is the worst blow that has fallen me in twenty years." "If the Professor doesn't pop pretty soon that necklace will be a yard long." "I thought you were a man. Men are always brave." "The men of yesterday often stand back and say it can't be done, it can't be done, and youth comes along and doesn't know it can't be done and goes ahead and does it." "You can talk until you are black in the face and you wouldn't budge me an inch." Admission 35c and 25c.

Reminiscences of a Millgrove Resident

In the sixty years I've lived here,
Or sixty one we'll say,
I never saw old Millgrove
Look better than today.

Oaks, Elms, and Maples
All frosted up complete,
I tell you what they make a gorgeous sight
Arching o'er our street.

When I was twelve, no school for me,
I had to learn to plow,
I scarcely learned to read and spell,
But things are different now.
Our village school, how neat it is,
How clean its well kept ground,
Where at recess or during noon,
Both health and youth abound.

And there's the church across the way
Where we were taught The Word,
And told how we must live and die,
If we would see the Lord.

I'm proud to state, (I wonder now
Should I have mentioned this before?)

We still have with us, yet today,
The old time country store.

Where after summer's heat and sun,
We men would air our views,
Or else discuss the local,
Or perhaps the foreign news.

The birds that twitter in our ears,
Sweet music from afar;
Hark! is that their singing that I hear?
Gosh! No! it's Walt Crooker's car.

Our village hall, its been the same,
For over fifty years,
But as to being safe today,
I have my doubts and fears.

Our Mr. Biggs, he ordered
All main roads to be paved;
They're a mighty handy thing you bet,
For the Millgrove Fruit Brigade.

Then at Black's Corners, there's a pump,
All neatly fenced around,
Where with little effort you can bring
The cooling draught from out the ground.

I may be wrong, but I surmise
This is the reason why,
The good folks all 'round about,
Went out and voted dry.

Before I settled here for life,
I travelled far and wide,
And found Millgrove was the only spot,
Where Love, Health and Peace
abide.

M. P. J.

In view of this, more consideration will be paid by the Department to the year's standing of a pupil. Those who stand up well all year should experience no anxiety for the June Exams, while for those who fall down during the year, no hope can be promised.

Little Things That Make Life Worth While

Paper given by Mrs. O. M. Horning at Women's Institute Meeting

Only one life to live. We all want to do our best with it. We all want to make the most of it. Seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks, months and years are time's representatives. In like manner life begins with the little things that gradually broaden out to make or mar it. It is not alone the great deeds of Lloyd George that has made him famous, but the thousand and one kindnesses, the little un-noticed deeds of a life-time that has made him England's great man. What are the little things of life that are most worth while? When we realize that life is really made up of little things, just where to begin is rather perplexing. It may be that time itself is one of the first of little things worth while. Let us take care that the minutes that make up the day are used in such a way that at eventide there will be no regrets for opportunities wasted. We all smile at the old phrase "a stitch in time saves nine" yet who amongst us have not experienced the actual truth of the statement. Then there is the encouraging smile. No matter how hard the task that makes life worth while to those who felt ready to give up, and the word of cheer that can so readily accompany it. The small boy wants his top adjusted, the little girl would like a ribbon for her dolly's hat—I haven't time. Take care, the little people of today are the successful people of the years to come. The little help that is worth to them, is the best that we can give. Grandma is not as young as we are, the days a bit long, she feels irritable, don't forget the little courtesies that are worth while. The needle threaded, the glasses found, and the showing of the new gown will be repaid by the sparkle in the eyes of the octogenarian. The little sympathetic act or word wasn't ready to encourage the minister when needed to make it worth while, when eratic temper flashed out, was the soft answer that turneth away wrath given or was it one of the little things worth while. Then there is the remembering of kindnesses. At the time when help or favor comes to us our hearts are very warm and grateful, "We will never forget their kindness" we say. But do we never forget it. We remember injuries done to us. We all know hard it is to forget a wrong that another has inflicted on us. Sometimes we say, with martyr-like air, "I forgive him, but I can never forget the injury." Slight, cutting words and unkindnesses, how well we remember these. Shall we not train ourselves rather to forget the hurts we receive and to remember with faithful gratitude every smallest kindness done to us. The little things that keep up the standard of health is one we often forget.

There has come to my mind legend,

A thing I had half forgot,
Whether I read it, or dreamed it,
Oh well; it matters not;
It is said at heaven at twilight,

A great bell softly rings,
And man may harken and listen,
To the wonderful music it brings,
When the angels go forth on their errands,

To help with the little things,

A little faith the size of a mustard seed can remove the mountains of worry that comes to all our lives. It is one of the little things worth while.

Why Ford Predominates

Ford Resources

The Ford is the product of a self-made institution which, over a period of years, has provided dependable transportation for all peoples.

Recognizing the value of Ford transportation, these peoples have purchased Ford products in such volume that the sale of Ford cars and trucks equals the sales of all other makes combined.

As a result, the resources of Ford of Canada are now over $20,000,000. These resources mean ability to buy the best material at a minimum price.

They mean the ability to organize each process of production, from the purchase of materials to the completion of the finished car, on such a basis that every non-essential operation is eliminated.

The economies thus accomplished are reflected in Ford prices which, always consistently low, are now the lowest in history.

This is what Ford resources mean to you.

Save Shelling Peas.

Save shelling peas by using the following method: Wash, and put the unshelled peas in a stewpan. Boil ten or fifteen minutes; stir thoroughly with a fork, then pour them into a colander, saving the water. Pick out the empty pods, put the peas in the strained water, and return all to the fire. Season as usual. You will have saved the sweetness from the pods and much valuable time.
