

TRUE BILL AGAINST GIUSEPPE GRECO

For Murder of Antonio Riesz.

Kirkpatrick Case Under Consideration.

Four Courts Going on at Once.

The Court House presented an unusually busy scene this morning, when there were four courts sitting at one time within one building—the High Court, sitting in the court room upstairs; the non-jury sittings in the County Council chambers; criminal court in Judge Snider's chambers, and the registration court. The advent of two High Court judges' sitting in the Court House is something unprecedented in the history of law circles in this city, and it has been keeping the lawyers on the hustle all morning trying to keep their eyes on both courts, so that they will not miss any of their cases as they come up.

It is expected that a bar dinner will be tendered to Chief Justice Mulock and Justice Riddell, it being Justice Mulock's first visit to this city, on the bench. The date has not been settled yet.

True Bill Presented.

The grand jury brought in a true bill this morning against Giuseppe Greco, charged with the murder of Antonio Riesz. His Lordship asked that the prisoner's counsel be notified and to have Giuseppe arraigned this afternoon, and it is expected that he will come up for trial on Wednesday morning. M. J. O'Reilly, K.C., is the counsel for Greco. If the charge of murder is proven against Giuseppe, his brother, Bruno, will be indicted as an accessory after the fact. It will depend largely on the length of the trial whether Bruno Greco would be indicted at this court as the grand jury wishes to get through its labors as soon as possible.

The grand jury was about half way through the evidence in the Kirkpatrick case at time of adjournment, and its decision as to whether a true bill will be entered against the prisoner or not will be received this afternoon. The action of Howell vs. Hamilton (Continued on page 5.)

POLITICAL NOTES.

Registration in Progress—Regan Had a Meeting.

Registration continued fairly brisk for the second day of the registration of manhood suffrage voters and the reports from the ten booths confirm the belief that the total registration will reach about 3,500. As an instance the registration at the Court House up till noon today totalled about 225. This is a fair indication of the registration all over the city, although it is heavier in Ward 3.

W. M. McLennan's splendid speech in No. 7 ward last Friday night has caused much favorable comment through the east. Mr. McLennan will speak again tomorrow night at the Liberal Ward Committee room, 545 Barton street east. All interested in the affairs of the province are invited to attend, no matter what political party they lean towards.

There were not many of the rank and file of the Conservatives of South West-worth present at the meeting held in the interests of the Conservative candidate, J. H. T. Regan, last evening at Cotter's Hotel. Benjamin Hunt occupied the chair, and introduced a number of speakers besides Mr. Regan, who tried to uphold the promises that were made by the Whitney Government. Among those who spoke were Ald. Farmer, Ald. Farrar and Wilson Crockett.

Mr. Regan occupied the better part of an hour trying to show how the Ross Government had failed to do this, that or the other thing, but he carefully avoided going into any of the work of the Whitney Government during its regime. He pleaded for election on the ground that the Whitney Government was an honest Government and had an honest leader, in whom there was no guile. He admitted that he had a worthy opponent in Dan Reed, the present M. P.

BELLEVILLE POWER.

Mayor Refused to Sign Application For Development Rights.

Belleville, Ont., May 19.—Mayor McFee last night refused to sign an application made by the Council to the Ottawa Government for the sole right to develop power on dams 3, 4 and 5 on the Trent Valley Canal. He said it would commit the city to an expenditure of $300,000. The city solicitor said that it would, but the Mayor refused to sign. Warm feeling was displayed, but the Mayor stubbornly held out against all the aldermen.

FOR BATTLEFIELDS.

School Contributions to be Gathered on Friday.

Mr. S. F. Lazier, K. C., President of the local Battlefields Association, met the principals of the city schools yesterday at the City Hall and discussed with them the arrangements for taking up the school children's battlefields subscriptions. Friday of this week was agreed upon as the time. The contributions will be taken in all the public schools and Collegiate Institute that day. Mr. James Johnson also agreed to have a concert prepared for presentation by the children some time in June, the proceeds to go to the same object.

SOUTH AFRICA VETERANS.

All officers, non-commissioned officers and men of Hamilton and vicinity, who saw service in South Africa, are requested to parade at the Drill Hall on Monday morning, the 26th inst., at 10.30 sharp, for the purpose of taking part in the unveiling of the monument erected to the memory of the late Queen Victoria, Deane—Sheld, with war medals.

Three Drowned

Watertown, N. Y., May 19.—Three men, one an American, and two Hungarians, were drowned in Black River at Dexter, six miles west of this city, last night. The victims were: Frank Ellis, aged 25, unmarried; Frank Povelish, aged 22, and Joe Mulach, aged 33. All the men were employees of the Dexter Sulphite, Pulp & Paper Co., and in company with John Povelish, started across the river in a small rowboat. The current at that point is very strong, and the overloaded craft capsized in midstream, throwing the occupants into the water. John Povelish clung to the up-turned boat and was rescued soon after. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

WOULD NOT STRIKE.

Montreal C. P. R. Men Will Stay at Their Work.

Tried to Get Them Out to Help Western Brakemen.

Montreal, May 19.—An effort was made today to get the men at work at the C. P. R. Angus shops to go on strike as a protest against the decision of the Arbitration Commission sitting at Winnipeg to take up only the claims of the western section of the company's employees. Representatives of the western labor organizations interested in the fight against a reduced schedule proposed by the company, have been at work, and it was stated today that a strong appeal was made to the men to strike for the purpose of strengthening their western allies. The Angus shops men, however, decided that while they were in entire sympathy with their western allies, it would be prejudicial to their interests to strike at present. In the first place, it would separate them from their interest in the company's pension scheme. In the second they would be violating the spirit and the letter of the Lemieux Act, and at the same time would be prejudicial to the cause before the arbitration commission. In consequence the men decided not to listen to the appeals to lay down their tools.

TO SEE RACES.

Six Boys Ran Away—Three Arrested Here.

Last night the local police were asked to look out for six small boys who ran away from their homes in Niagara Falls, Ontario, and were heading this way. Later they received a message that four boys had been put off a freight train at Stoney Creek. About 7 o'clock this morning Constable Harry Smith saw four boys on MacNab street near Morrick, and he took after them. He soon rounded them up, but one of them got away. The three he arrested said their names were James Stevens, Ernest England and Gordon Changer. The one who escaped is said to be a boy named Johnson. The three were locked up and are waiting in the cells now till the police at the Falls can take charge of them. When in the cells now till the police at the Falls can take charge of them. BUY JOBS.

Why Foreigners are Preferred to British Born Men.

Toronto, Ont., May 19.—One reason why foreigners are preferred on public and other works to English, Scotch or Irish, was given by Crown Attorney Corley, in the Police Court today. William Plewes, a foreman for Kelly & Company, contractors, was charged with fraud in having accepted from a number of Italians a dollar each to give them work and then having discharged them after they had worked a short time. Crown Attorney Corley said that all foreigners were in the habit of paying the foreman to obtain their jobs, and that it was a regularly recognized practice. Men of the British race would not do this, so that the foreigners secured the preference in work. The case was remanded to secure further evidence, Magistrate Kingsford remarking that it looked very crooked.

THROWN OUT.

Action Against Charles Booker Dismissed To-day.

Mr. George C. Thomson, of the firm of Kerr & Thomson, moved before Judge Snider this morning to dismiss the action against Charles Booker, brought by the Hamilton Amusement Company, for want of prosecution. His Honor dismissed the action after waiting a reasonable time for the lawyers on the other side to put in an appearance. The action was brought against Mr. Booker on the ground of alleged slanderous statements made at a meeting of the Board of Education, regarding the pictures shown at the defendant's place of business.

NATURAL GAS.

Big Strike at Inverkip—May be Piped to Woodstock.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Woodstock, May 19.—A great strike of natural gas has been made at Inverkip, and the whole countryside is in a state of excitement over it. Gas was struck at a depth of 460 feet a week ago by a Petrovia company, which is drilling and since the flow has been steadily growing stronger. The gas is coming out through a pipe and the pressure is strong enough to move a fifteen hundred pound weight. The gas was located in a strata where it is said gas was never found before. If the flow promises to be permanent the gas will promptly be piped through the village and to Woodstock which is only seven miles away.

FIGHT TO A FINISH.

Tory Caucus Decides to Block All Supply Business.

Government Will Not Yield and Long Struggle Expected.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, May 19.—A Conservative caucus held this morning resulted in a decision of the Opposition members to fall into line behind the Roblin-Rogers standard and join that no surrender, lodge. The slogan adopted was fight and no compromise. The only condition on which they will let the business of Parliament proceed is the complete capitulation of the Government to their election bill demands. If the Government attempts to get supply the Opposition will block the attempt by again bringing up the Ames number limit charges. The Government, of course, has no intention of capitulating to such a factious Opposition and present indications point to a long and bitter fight. A significant side light on the present situation is the arrival of D. D. Mann in the capital simultaneously with Premier Roblin and Hon. Robert Rogers. The influence of the Manitoba ministry is well known and Mr. Mann's visit with the attempt now being made to embarrass the Government and force a dissolution, failing the granting of certain desired concessions.

TO WRONG COURT.

Mary Vodyck Kept Judge and Lawyers Waiting.

William O'Connor was before Judge Snider this morning on a charge of assault and robbery. There was considerable delay, owing to the fact that the complainant, Mary Vodyck, could not be found, when the court was ready to proceed. Mr. F. K. Martin, acting Crown Attorney, then moved for an enlargement, for a week, but His Honor could not see how he could let the case go over, as the prisoner had elected to be tried to-day, and there was no alternative. Mr. J. L. Connell, who acted for the prisoner, said that his client did not properly understand what Judge Monk had said to him last Friday, when he was asked what he wished to do, and Mr. Connell wanted time to file an application to have the action tried before a jury. It had almost been decided to grant the enlargement, when Mary turned up, bright and smiling, and when asked where she had been all the time, she said she had been down at the Police Court, waiting for the case to come up. Mr. Martin stated that the complainant wished to go to her relatives in Berlin, Ontario, as soon as possible, and His Honor decided to try the case this afternoon at 2.30.

REGISTRATION IN BRANTFORD.

Brantford May Not Contract For Hydro-Power.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Brantford, May 19.—The Court of Registration opened yesterday for a four-day sitting, and by 9 o'clock last night 308 votes were registered. If the average is kept up the total will be greater than that of previous registrations in this city. In 1902, 1904 and 1905 the totals were 1,376, 1,504 and 1,342, respectively. It is expected that about 1,500 votes will be registered this week. The following were the figures yesterday: District 1, J. T. Hewitt, 118; District 2, A. Graham, 118; District 3, Judge Hardy, 102; District 4, W. G. Livingston, 68. The registrars were busy in the evening, but the registration is light to-day.

THE MAN IN OVERALLS.

REGISTER. DO IT NOW. If you don't register you can't vote. Hear McLennan to-morrow night. Yes, Whitney gave Gen. Booth $6,000 or was it $10,000?—help him send immigrants to Canada. Mr. Hendrie is still accepting three cents an hour for prison labor. The Mayor seems to be always in trouble, always in hot water, always plugging about something—try the cure. Is the trade school another hobby of Scott's? Advise your friends to get the Times and keep posted. I hope this warm spell won't kill the Christmas trees. Mr. McLennan has a plan on hand to lift the liquor licenses out of politics. Hear him to-morrow night. Sure, Whitney has agents in the old country drumming up immigrants for Ontario—not the Northwest, mind you. Now, dear sir, go and register. Only a day or two to do it. Do it to-night. Mr. Hendrie's precious Government spends about twice what Ross spent, and the debt has been increased from $1 a head to $3 a head. What do you think of a head?

FEAR SMALLPOX.

St. Catharines Board of Health Petitions Council.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) St. Catharines, May 19.—That St. Catharines is in danger of smallpox is shown by the fact that Chairman Carlisle, of the local Board of Health, has written to the City Council asking that steps be taken to prevent the epidemic. The communication was read at last night's meeting of the council, but no action was taken. A lengthy discussion took place over James street pavement, a number of prominent residents by petition opposing the laying of vitrified brick on that thoroughfare on the ground of expense.

JENNIE OLSEN.

Her Body Identified as One of the Victims of Mrs. Guinness.

Laporte, Ind., May 19.—The issuing of a certificate of death of Jennie Olsen and the turning over of the body by Coroner Mack to her relatives in Chicago puts the official stamp of identification upon one of the bodies found at the Guinness farm, regarding which there has been much controversy. Although identified by the brother and sister, many refused to believe that the girl was dead, as Mrs. Guinness had informed a number of persons that Jennie had gone to Los Angeles to attend school, and had arranged little incidents that would help to make this point strong. A letter was received saying that a girl answering her description had been seen in a convent near Los Angeles. This, however, was not substantiated.

Charlie Hurton Met With Severe Injury Yesterday.

The host of friends of Charlie Hurton, member of the Veteran Firemen and caretaker of the City Hall, will be grieved to learn of a severe accident that will put him on his back for some time. Charlie was cleaning the City Hall directory, just inside the main doors, when he fell from a ladder and in the fall to the hard floor sustained a compound fracture of his left arm. Both breaks are between the shoulder and the elbow. Charlie was taken to his room, on the top floor, where his injuries were attended to and he was resting easily this morning.

No one was seriously injured, so far as reported, during last night's disturbances, although many were slightly hurt.

VIOLET MARCY SHOT.

Hamilton Girl Has an Experience in Pennsylvania.

On another page of to-day's issue appears a story of a young woman who was shot in Greensville, Pa., by an admirer. The name given is Violet Marcy, and it is said she had three bullets extracted from her arm in Jamestown, which place she was removed. Mrs. Marcy gave her address when in Jamestown as Greensville, but Violet is a home brew. She lived on Barton street, this city, for some time, and the police raided the place and Violet went away. She left the city some time ago and has not been heard of until this despatch turned up, saying that she had been shot by an admirer because she insisted on leaving Greensville. After the bullets were taken from her arm she continued on her way to Buffalo, and it is likely on her calendar to visit Hamilton again.

New York, May 19.—Jennie Blunt, the young woman who yesterday was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary by Judge Dike in Brooklyn for shooting Charles M. Her life was saved by the prompt action of a physician who was hurriedly summoned.

MUST BE MONOPOLY OR DEAD FAILURE.

Poisons Him

New York, May 19.—Fleeing from plague-stricken Venezuela, Edwardo de Eras, a coffee planter and reputed multi-millionaire, came to his death in a fashionable New York hotel early to-day through taking what he believed to be a harmless tonic. His wife, who also took some of the medicine, is in a serious condition, and the remainder of the party is without a directing head. Whether they will now continue their journey to Europe, where they had planned to remain until the danger from the plague has passed, is yet to be determined. It is alleged that a drug clerk, who prepared the medicine for Mr. de Eras, made an error in compounding the drugs, using atropin, a deadly poison, instead of asperitin, which the prescription called for.

DYNAMITED CAR.

Rioting at Cleveland Over the Street Railway Strike.

Woman's Jaw Broken and Man's Head Cut.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 19.—Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning a Detroit avenue car was dynamited near 100th street. The trucks were badly damaged, but the single passenger and the crew were not injured. At 12.30 o'clock a small box which the police say contained deadly explosives was found on the tracks at Broadway and East 55th street. The box was discovered with a car less than 50 feet away. Rioting began near the Windmer barns in East Cleveland early this morning, when strikers cut six trolley wires. Linedmen for the Municipal Traction Co. turned out in force to repair the damage, but were driven back by a gang of 300 men. A brick was thrown at a Woodlawn car while it was passing eastward at East 104th street and Woodlawn avenue. David Benjamin and his wife, who were on the car, were both struck by the missile. Mrs. Benjamin's jaw was broken, while her husband's face was laid open by the brick.

Beck's Home Cold on the Proposition.

Special Meeting of City Council Called.

Mayor Stewart, acting on the request of twelve aldermen, has been forced to call a special meeting of the City Council for noon to-morrow to consider the proposition to have the site of the Southern Home for Advanced Cases of Consumption, changed from the Copeland avenue property to the northeast corner of the hospital grounds. Residents and property owners on Wellington street are making a strong fight to have the location changed. The twelve aldermen who signed the request for the special meeting are Lewis, Anderson, Sweeney, Guy, Gardner, Farmer, Clark, A. J. Wright, Hennessey, Jutten, Howard and Cramer. Ald. Jutten and Farmer, at the last Council meeting voted against changing the site and Ald. Clark was absent. One storey of the building is up already, and the Mayor is quite confident that at the meeting to-morrow a majority of the Council will vote against changing the site. The nine aldermen who voted against the change before were Nicholson, Jutten, Dickson, H. G. Wright, Peregrine, Evans, Farrar, Farmer and Bailey.

FATED TO LOVE HER

"Well, certainly, it is a little hard to live in a state of bottled-up. However, when my heart is peculiarly overcast, and the grief that can not speak is whispering with peculiar loudness, I retire to my room, lock the door, and sing the following refrain:

"I don't like this place, I don't, I won't like this place, I won't, I can't bear this place, I can't, I shan't ever settle in this place, I shan't."

"That, repeated two or three times, is a wonderful relief. And when it fails I send for Spiffie, and make him run away with me. And Brierley Lodge, I pretend, is under his hoofs, being trampled to atoms. The first few yards beyond the dining room; the next few the dining room; and so till my wrath abates. Sometimes it isn't necessary to go beyond the first storey; sometimes the spiffification extends to the attic—the chimney-vents."

"I should have thought it would begin with the chimney-vents."

"No, I have no particular grudge against them. I've never sat in them, lamenting Farnley, and sulking. But don't look so concerned, Mr. Godfrey. I'm not tired yet of life. I only say all this because you listen, and because I'm a chatterbox and an egotist. Of course, though, I've left out the pleasant parts. Being 'yearning for sympathy' always do. And, when I consider the pleasant parts make the better half. However, before I left Farnley, they made up the whole, or nearly the whole; and I don't approve of the change."

"Such changes are not uncommon. The sooner that we can make up our minds to put happiness out of the question, and to plod on at our work, from day to day, without expecting it, the better for us."

"Mr. Godfrey, how dreadfully hydro-patrical—misanthropical, I mean! Do you mistake the world for Pharoah's brick-kiln? That was just the tone of voice in which one of the wretched set-a-thief-to-catch-a-thief superintendents might have said: 'Fulfill your tasks, your daily tasks, as when there was straw!'"

"Miss Gordon," said Charlie, biting his lips to repress a smile, "forgive me, but I really think you are a little too flippant."

"Indeed? Well, so I am; I won't quarrel with you on that score. Seriously, though, if I looked upon life as something people look upon it—as a great treadmill, where there is nothing but work, work, work, all day—I should wish I had never been born. But I don't look upon it so," she added, petulantly. "Life is bright and beautiful, abounding in sunshine, and flowers, and music; and we are free to enjoy them all as long and as heartily as possible. That's my firm belief. You shan't shake it. You'd be far happier if you'd make it your own."

"It is my own, to a degree; but I believe something else, as well."

"What, pray?"

"I believe, see—that life abounds no less in clouds than in sunshine, in thorns than in flowers, in waiting than in music; and more."

"Because things are so distorted, I didn't say, I am no such idiot as to say that no one is happy. I simply mean that no one ought to feel unhappy; that we are not created for unhappiness. I feel it; I feel joy to be my element; I feel sunshine to be my native air; I feel that there is in my nature no real sympathy with pain, or death, or misery. They are not congenial; they sit on my nerves like leaden weights. They are as you call it; I deny that, in the treadmill sense, work is intended. The work of birds is to sing; and of flowers to bloom; and of stars to shine; and of bees to gather honey."

"Miss Gordon, birds, and flowers, and stars, and bees, and all that, they are free—much more free, at least, than we are—from the curse of the fall."

Cissy was silent. A new idea had dawned upon her mind.

"It," pursued Charlie, seeing in her eyes a shade of unwelcome seriousness; "if we, who have fallen, find that the work of birds, which to rise, to regain our lost estate, is to struggle boldly and patiently toward it, through pain, sorrow, death, should we not train ourselves to look calmly on things, to accept them as inevitable—perhaps even to bless them, as our teachers, our deliverers, our truest friends?"

Still Cissy was silent; still her countenance retained that passive cast. And Charlie, regarding her—youth, bright, just entered on her course of life's discipline, and finding it, as, at first most, of our find it, so inexplicable, so hard—Charlie felt, as if his heart were something in a maze of Thomas a Kempisisms, fathers, schools, and I don't know what; and such considerations are not exactly the things for a dinner-party. We'll go to something else."

Whether they went to something else, or no, the conversation never flagged. It is to be hoped that the lady on Charlie's left hand, and the gentleman on Cissy's right hand, felt themselves content with their own respective partners. For not one word did that lady get from Charlie, or that gentleman from Cissy, throughout dinner. And at night, Cissy returned to Meddiscombe in better spirits than when he quitted it; he would have believed possible; while Cissy realized, more forcibly than ever before, the exceeding bad taste which Gabrielle had shown, in marrying James Godfrey.

All this time, James, in the intervals of his other occupations, was working hard at his great book; that "Philosophical Review" of which he had told Gabrielle; and which, a month or two before their return to England, he had begun. Gabrielle was deeply interested in watching its progress; it was, in fact, scarcely less in her thoughts than in his own. Often, after his sisters-in-law were gone, she would steal into his study, and sit quietly down, out of sight behind his chair, and here would spend hours; sometimes reading—more frequently working and thinking; listening to the sound of his pen, and weaving dreams of its future glory. When he had finished, she would lean over his shoulder, commenting on what he had done; and the thoughtfulness, the depth, of her comments, quite took James by surprise. Once or twice, even she gave him a hint. She never accused him, as The Featherstone might have done, of being too abstruse, or too "bookish" for her. What she could not at first understand, she asked him to explain, listening with childlike confidence as he did so. Some times, when he flagged, she recalled him to himself; in moments of discouragement, spurred him on; opened his manuscript, placed his chair, mended his pens, removed every excuse for idleness; and, as it were, forced him to his work. And she never enticed him from it, to drive or not walk with her; she never complained of loneliness, never hindered him in any way. In all things she was, as she prayed to be, a true helpmeet; forgetting herself.

"CHAPTE XXXVIII."

"It strikes me," said a certain avocation, looking at James with a sardonic smile; "it strikes me, Gordon, that I was enlightened, when I said that you were not the sort to turn into a domestic man. A more perfect model of domesticity than your present life, could scarcely be imagined. I saw you at Raynton had been spending a few days at Farnley, and was leaving it in a somewhat envious, an exceedingly bitter, and a generally exasperated state of mind. He felt that, before he started, he must relieve himself by a bit at James."

"And pray, in what respect is my life more domestic than yours," said James, a little nettled.

"Come! you needn't fire up, my dear fellow. A domestic life is a very comfortable thing. I don't suppose a lame cut in the kingdom would exchange its cushion for 'all the glories of the chase'."

"Probably not," said James, coolly.

"What do you deduce from that?"

"I've just told you, man—a domestic life is a very comfortable thing! And most magnanimous I feel myself, for owing it, and for leaving you—as I do—my blessing, in returning to my harder lot."

"Your harder lot!" repeated James; "now, I should say that, all things considered, you are far more of the gentlemanly domestic character than I am. You have a lot of children to see after, in addition to your wife."

"Nothing whatever to the point," said Raynton, composedly. "I might have fifty wives, and a hundred children, and yet remain as undomestic as though I had none. A man is not a domestic man because he happens to possess a domestic circle. It is when his personal comfort and happiness depend upon that circle; when he feels all out of sorts, if he is not surrounded by his own; when he can be contented with his own; when he has run to communicate a week or two, perhaps ask her advice; delights in her little cooing way such as women have the knack of; in fact, basks in them, as the tame cat basks in the sun, it is only then that he has a right to be called a domestic man."

"A pleasing picture!" said James, ironically.

"Yes; I agree with you, my dear fellow. A thoroughly pleasing picture. One that, if generally prevalent, would make this earth a second Eden. However, some of us, you see, are cursed with inconveniently extensive desires—desires that can not rest satisfied with what is pleasing alone; so these sweet pictures are not generally prevalent. And this earth is not a second Eden. And its cats occasionally go wild."

"And its grapes occasionally sour," James muttered, between his teeth. Raynton heard, but pretended not to hear, maintaining his sardonic equanimity. His hands were waiting at the door, and he listened to mount.

"Never mind, Gordon," said he, pausing ere he applied the spurs. "Ah, who can tell how hard it is to climb."

Et cetera. And not worth the pains after all, if report say true. You'd better do your own business. Accept my benedictions."

He was gone before James could reply. James, albeit intensely disgusted, remembered that "lookers-on see most of the game." He stood for some time in the doorway, lost in silent meditation; and re-entered the house, determined to watch himself, and to search out the truth.

He sat down to his writing. An hour elapsed—two hours; he was still alone, he began to long for Gabrielle, to wonder why she had not, as usual, come to sit behind his chair. Another half hour; the work flagged; he could not collect his thoughts. It was raining; if she were out, she would, ten to one, catch cold, and suppose that cough returned—Eh! found himself looking out of the window, in real anxiety, watching the wind-blows; Bah! this was being a domestic man, indeed!

He resumed his writing with fresh vigour; but ere long it flagged again. He wanted to consult Gabrielle about the last few pages—as to whether they should be retained, or struck out. Still rain—rain—rain. He started up; he must really go—and the door opened; in she came; dripping, breathless, laughing merrily—she had run all the way from the lodge! James' anxiety revived. "Was she very tired?" She must change her dress at once; and then rest. But when she had left the room, he felt conscious of some slight humiliation. What could be more domestic than this?

A few minutes more, and she was back in the study—all fresh, and bright, and sweet. He wished that he could have welcomed her without such foolish pleasure—could have asked her opinion on those pages, without such absurd eagerness; wished moreover, that he had not felt himself compelled to second her criticisms; in deference to them, striking out one half of what he had written, and materially altering the rest.

Then, again, when, after dinner, he joined her in the drawing-room, and she sprang to meet him, linking her arm in his and exclaiming how pleasant. It was to have him quit alone; then again, he wished that his heart had responded less warmly to that exclamation; that he had not, in his turn, felt so happy to have her alone.

Yes; Raynton was right, he feared. And every day, throughout the ensuing week, as he maintained his strict self-watch, served to confirm this fear. He saw every day more plainly, that his life—so far from being the grand, self-sufficient life which he had set out as an ideal—was now so intertwined with Gabrielle's, that the one was almost entirely dependent on the other for all but made its earthly possession valuable. Even his book, his chief business, ceased many of its progress to her; her incitements, her zealous and contagious interest. He was not sure whether a wife of this kind were not, in reality, more of a drawback than a wife of the Dora Copperfield kind!

But he would overshoot the mark a little further; just till that Friday, that anniversary, was gone by. In the interim—for the last time—he would give himself full swing; would be as affectionate as "domestic," as he chose.

The day dawned and set next morning.

DEPOT ROBBED.
Agent Who Had Resigned Held Up Night Operator.

Fort William, Ont., May 18.—Agent Forrester, of the Canadian-Northern Railway, at Atikokan, resigned on Friday night. Early on Saturday morning he returned to the station and told the night operator that he was going to take the cash out of the safe. His statement was backed up by two revolvers, and the operator could not object. About $800 was secured.

Then Forrester marched the operator over to his (Forrester's) boarding house and compelled him to help him pack up his belongings. This done, Forrester returned to the station and then made off northwards. The night operator was afraid to return to the station and walked 19 miles to the next station and gave the alarm.

Forrester, however, made a clean getaway, and has not yet been located.

STABBED BROTHER.
The Outcome of an Old Feud a Luther.

Orangeville, May 18.—As a result of bad blood that has existed for about three years between them, Walter Mounahan, of East Luther, was arraigned in court at Grand Valley on Saturday on the charge of wounding his oldest brother, Henry Mounahan. The wound was caused by the stab of a knife in the left breast, and had it not been for the fact, the crown contends, that the blade of the knife first came in contact with the man's watch, the wound might have been fatal. As it was the knife pierced his side, striking one of the ribs.

The ill-feeling between the two brothers is said to have existed for a number of years, but the cause it not definitely known. Differences are supposed to have first begun when the father, James Mounahan, divided his property of three or four hundred acres among four brothers. The quarrel, of which the stabbing of Henry Mounahan was the outcome, took place on Thursday evening last about 9 o'clock on the country road, and the injured man claims in his charge that he was stabbed by his brother, while the accused claimed in his evidence that he committed the act in self-defence, as he had understood that Henry had threatened to kill him.

The case was tried before Magistrates Tate, Richardson and McLelland, and was adjourned for a week. The injured man will recover.

London Times Warns Canada.
London, May 18.—Referring to President Roosevelt's speech on the natural resources of the United States, The Times says Canada may have to take heed lest the skilled exploiters of natural resources for their own ends seek new fields for their operations in the Dominion.

Poison-laden Blood.
Resulting from artificial winter life is purified by Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Few people breathe the enough fresh air in winter to purify the blood. As a result spring finds the blood laden with poisons, and there are headaches, pains in the limbs, and tired, worn-out feelings.

The liver and kidneys become sluggish and clogged and quit their normal work of filtering and purifying the blood. It is because of their direct and specific action on these organs that Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are so wonderfully effective as purifiers of the blood—and kidneys alone that the blood can be purified.

BY-LAWS VALIDATED.
Railway Board Issues Circular Letter to Municipalities on New Act.
Toronto, May 19.—The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board is sending to the clerks of all the municipalities of the Province a circular letter calling their attention to the Ontario Municipal Securities Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature. This measure permits the board to validate by-laws, in spite of technical irregularities, where the law has been substantially complied with. Formerly a special act was necessary. The board, however, points out that the provisions of the law must be observed as in the past. It indicates that the power given to it to certify debentures and place them beyond question in any court will tend to increase their value and advises that in all cases provision should be made for a sinking fund to redeem the securities, as this is preferable to repayment by instalments. At the same time the municipalities suffer no loss, because the treasury of Ontario will pay four per cent, on all such funds deposited with it.

A HOMEY FUNERAL.
Six Louis Casault Requests That Service Be Simple.
Quebec, May 18.—The last will and testament of Sir Louis Napoleon Casault, former Chief Justice of the Superior Court for the district of Quebec, who died this afternoon at the ripe old age of 86 years, is in keeping with Sir Louis' quiet life. He leaves his entire estate to his wife, Lady Casault (nee E. Jane Pangman), and then requests that the funeral service attending his burial be as simple as that of the humblest and poorest man, and that it consist of only a libation; that only the smallest bell be tolled; that his coffin be made of pine painted black; that the hearse be drawn by only one horse and be that furnished for the poorest man; and that only six candles be placed around the bier.

CABBIES' STRIKE WENT WRONG.
Questionable Whips of Rome Sorry They Tackled the Motor Issue.
Rome, May 18.—Two thousand Roman cabbies struck the other day because the Mayor allowed five motor cabs to ply for hire. The strike lasted three days, during which the profits of the five motor cabs were $253.

The strike is now over, but 400 Roman cabbies have lost their licenses. It seems that a large proportion of the cabbies were bad characters, who had done time for theft, stabbing or other offences and were under police surveillance. Legally they had no right to act as cabbies, but the municipality winked rather than throw them out of employment.

These men are now lamenting that they organized the strike, while the 1,600 righteous cabbies and the five motor cab drivers are rejoicing over the decrease in competition.

A FOUR HOURS' BATTLE.
British Lost Ten Killed in Fight With Mohmands.
Simla, May 18.—An outbreak of cholera has compelled the withdrawal of nearly all the white troops with Major-General Wilcock's first column into the cholera camp. The intense heat and the absence of running water, necessitating dependence on the muddy village water tanks, made the danger of cholera epidemic very serious.

On approaching Khapok Pass yesterday, the pickets of General Wilcock's force had a desperate four-hours' fight with the Mohmand tribesmen, during which the British suffered a loss of ten men killed and 24 wounded.

THE HAMILTON TIMES

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1908.

WEST HAMILTON.

The Liberals of West Hamilton are not doing much beating of drums and blowing of trumpets, but they are devoting their energies to work that counts for more in results. The Liberal candidate, Mr. W. H. Wardrope, is meeting with a hearty reception, and the workers from all parts of the riding report the prospects to be most gratifying. There are hundreds of voters who will be with the Liberals in this campaign who were not with them in the last. Many have had their eyes opened since Col. Hendrie's flamboyant appeal for support on the strength of a pledge against prison contract labor—a pledge ruthlessly broken, his election being immediately followed by the notorious Ellen Charlotte Taylor contract labor contract, the most disgraceful and most wasteful to the Province that was ever made, at three cents an hour, buildings, machinery, power, and cost of supervision thrown in free. The electors, once so deceived, are not ready to accept any more of his promises at par. His supineness in the matter of the Normal College steal has also disgusted many of his former supporters, who, not unnaturally, hold the view that a representative of Hamilton, instead of lying down and acquiescing in this wrong to the city to gratify Toronto—added cost to the Province—to make himself solid with Whitney, should have stood up like a man, and boldly fought the battle of his constituents. The people want a man who will represent them and be more than a ditto mark for Whitney. They know they will have such a man in Mr. Wardrope, and that he will be able and willing to stand up for the city.

The fight is warming up, and already the machine exhibits alarm. Let every Liberal get down to work and keep at it till the evening of June 8, and there is every reason to believe that West Hamilton will be redeemed.

MUST PROTECT THE ELECTOR.

There are not lacking indications that the Opposition at Ottawa is in a state of perturbation over the situation in which it has placed itself by its policy of stupid obstruction to the Dominion Elections bill. The course of the party indicates a singular lack of judgment and tact. No clearer evidence could have been asked that the objects to be attained by the bill were a correct and non-partisan voters' list, and the securing to every elector his right to have his vote protected, than the Premier's effort to clearly stipulate that where the voters' lists were not prepared by the municipal officials the redistributing and revision be left to the County Judges. That fact was abundantly recognized. Opposition champions in the House were unable to offer any reason why the suggestion should be regarded as other than satisfactory; Opposition organs freely expressed their belief that such an arrangement was eminently fair. It was not till the Tory caucus, when the thorough-going obstructionists, by pointing out that the supplies were nearly exhausted, induced the party to attempt to force the Government to abandon the bill, and to accept the partisanly-prepared lists, that any excuse was offered for finding fault with the proposal. Even such a staunchly Conservative organ as the Montreal Gazette joyfully accepted the proposal to leave the work to the judges as all that should be desired, here are its words:

"The breakdown is complete. Instead of by partisans of the Leach type, appointed from Ottawa, the adjustment of the Provincial lists to the federal constituencies will be made by judges, who are not subject to political pressure, and whose office and inclination will make them independent actors in the matter. That is all that may reasonably be required."

The Opposition lacks a guiding head. In a crisis like this, it stands divided. Unfortunately, the section which would concede something to reason and intelligence is small; that animated only by blind hatred, and looking only to obstruction, is large. If it could see any gain in demoralizing Parliamentary business, and subjecting the question to a test of brute endurance, it would gladly revel in brutality. Only the fact that it fears the result of such a course may restrain it.

Meanwhile, the Mail and Empire is doing its utmost to misrepresent the situation and falsify the motives and objects of the Government. Yesterday it declared that the bill provided that "the ballots shall no longer be secret"; and that in Manitoba, British Columbia, and unorganized districts "the list shall be prepared by persons appointed by the Dominion Government," and that where Provincial and Dominion constituencies differ, the redistributing shall be "by persons appointed by the Ottawa Government."

minion Ministers," is a cunning half-truth, intended to deceive, even the organ itself admitting in another portion of the paper that "the Government is willing that judges shall do this work, and if so the plan as revised will be satisfactory." Similarly, the proposal is that the judges do the redistributing. But the Mail adds to the falsehood by deliberately stating, editorially, that the object of the measure is "to transfer the authority to make the voters' lists in the districts and Provinces named from the judges to persons appointed by the Government on the advice of the candidate in each constituency." And that in the face of its own admission above quoted.

What the result of the Opposition's obstructionism will be probably depend upon what influence for evil Premier Roblin, and Hon. Robert Rogers, of Manitoba, who are at Ottawa to try to brace up the Opposition to fight for preserving their partisanly prepared lists, may have upon the Tory party. The Government is willing to make any concessions that will not impair the rights of the individual electors, but it is to be hoped that it will yield not one inch in a direction that will tend to place the votes of the citizens at the mercy of the party heeler, no matter how much Roblin and Rogers may dislike it.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

So much has been said by Opposition speakers and organs about civil service reform and the report of the Civil Service Commission that it may be worth while to glance at the manner in which these matters have been treated by the respective political parties. The Laurier Government thought it had reason to believe that the interests of the country would be served by a searching inquiry into the conditions prevailing in the departments. It appointed a Civil Service Commission with ample powers—one whose personnel has been favorably spoken of since its report by the Opposition press and politicians. The Commission's report was presented on March 24. The Minister of Marine, acting promptly upon some specific references, immediately dismissed or suspended a number of officials, and already, although only about six weeks has passed, the Laurier Government announces that a bill is approaching completion to give effect to the recommendations of the Commission by establishing a comprehensive system of civil service reform. This work has been accomplished in the midst of a busy session: one in which the Opposition is outdoing itself in obstructing business, and harrying the Ministers in every way known to it.

Now let us see how the Tories treated the question of civil service reform. They appointed a Civil Service Commission in 1891, and its report was presented during the session of 1892. But it was not until February 13, of the following year, that it introduced a bill presumably dealing with the matter of the recommendations. That did not indicate any great haste to introduce civil service reform. Nay, although the present Opposition is insistent that the bill now being prepared should follow exactly the recommendations of the Commission, the Tories of 1893 did not even propose to introduce an independent board of commissioners, nor did they propose to carry out the recommendations made in the report of their own commission.

But the plea of the Opposition now is that the bill of 1893 did not become law because the Liberal leader moved its rejection. The statement is false, as the records show. The facts were cited in the House the other night by Hon. Mr. Fisher. In the debate on the question, regarded as vital to such a measure—the late Mr. Casey pointed out what he considered as vital to such a measure—every condition of which was lacking in the bill then presented to the House: "The conduct of the Civil Service should not be on partisan lines, but appointments and promotions, and other proceedings should be dictated by a board appointed as judges are appointed and as the Civil Service Board in England are appointed, during good behaviour, and not responsible to any political minister of the day. I believe the service should be conducted on business principles, that appointments, promotions, and all other matters connected with the service should be carried on as in a bank or insurance company or any other institution of that kind."

The result of the debate was, not the defeat of the bill by an adverse vote, because the Liberals did not move to defeat it, but its withdrawal by the Government. The bill was in charge of Mr. Costigan, and Hansard thus reports the proceedings: "If the House will allow me, I will withdraw the motion for its second reading." Mr. Laurier—Certainly. Mr. Costigan—I can move the second reading another time when the amendments are prepared. Mr. Laurier—When you choose to do so. Mr. Costigan—I move that the bill be read a second time to-morrow. Mr. Charlton—Will to-morrow ever come? And sure enough, to-morrow never did come for the bill. It was allowed to die a natural death. It was very far from being a reasonable measure of civil service reform, and even such reform as it proposed was too much for the Tory Government.

Viewing the way in which the question of civil service reform has been treated by the two Governments, reasonable men will not find it hard to conclude that the subject is one of which we should hear little from Tory politicians.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Uncle Sam's foreign trade exhibits marked decline. In April last year, his imports were $129,554,075; in March this year the figures were $87,481,258.

Why, think you, did Whitney tell the Legislature that "whopper" about the insufficiency of the security taken for the first guarantee of C. N. R. bonds?

Now will the Citizens' League and the temperance men be so inconsiderate as to remind Mr. J. J. Scott of the left-handed compliments which he presented to them last year?

If Cleveland's municipal street railway victory for three-cent fares only means, in the ultimate, violations of agreements with the employees' refusal of decent pay, and onerous regulations such as private companies would not impose upon the men, there will be some revising of opinions as to its beneficial character.

It is a common practice for the Tories to try to deceive Liberals who are new comers from the old country by telling them that the Liberal party here is the same as the Tory party at home. Do not be deceived. The Tories here are, if anything, more Tory than are the Tories over there.

Those South Wentworth temperance men, who persist in desiring to learn why their votes should not be as good as those of other men, are hardly to be blamed. Not many people of spirit care to be told, as Whitney tells them, that three temperance men should, at the polls, equal only two liquor men. And that, too, after promising to do so much more for the temperance men than his predecessors!

No public apology from the machine to Mrs. Hoodless yet for the contemptible attempt to steal from her the credit for the good work which she did for technical education for girls under Mr. Ross' administration, to give it to Scott. It was a very dirty bit of work, and was not helped by the fact that the machine's "new blood" agents at the School Board went there pledged to oust it from the schools as a "fad."

Speaking of the Hydro-Electric scheme the power monopoly organ says "the government has devised certain machinery whereby the people will be able to get power at the lowest possible cost." This does not express the facts as they affect Hamilton. The Hydro power is not the cheapest possible, this city being offered power 10 per cent, cheaper, free from monopoly clause, and requiring us to assume no debt or risk.

When Adam Beck announced that "threat" to bulldoze Hamilton, we thought he was trying to play the aldermen. Events show that our suspicions were well founded. And were we not assured by the monopoly organ that Hamilton was not to be asked to sign a contract until the cost of the scheme was ascertained by the tenders for the line and proved to be so low as to ensure the price of power being lower than Mr. Beck said it would be?

The Guelph Herald gleefully boasts that in 1906 and 1907, two years, the T. & N. O. R. yielded over operating expenses, $440,535. It is not a bad showing, it is true, and, had Whitney had his way, we should not have had a dollar of it. He opposed the building of the road and opposed Ross' policy of northern development, which has resulted so beneficially. He was forced to continue that policy, and to it we owe Cobalt and the mineral and agricultural wealth now pouring money into the Provincial coffers.

In view of Hon. Mr. Beck's talk about delivering current from Niagara at a higher tension than 60,000 volts (even 120,000 volts being lightly talked of!) it is interesting to note that in the operation of the big Swiss plant at Bagnau, on the Aare, one of the most interesting in the world, it has been found that the greatest economy and ease and safety is found in transmission at a moderate voltage, thus avoiding much trouble with the transformers and great loss of power. The limit now used is 27,000 volts, and that only for long distance work.

Judging from the Railway Board's high municipalities to go into the sinking fund plan of issuing debentures, the money to be deposited with the Provincial Government to draw 4 per cent. interest, it would appear that Whitney is preparing to borrow from the municipalities money to run his Government at that rate. That is a straw showing the direction of the wind. The grass-hopper policy of squandering the revenue and capital assets of the Province cannot last long, but there is a bad look in this provision to begin running the Province into debt at such a rate of interest.

The senior local Tory organ says that Mr. Hossack "leaves the impression" that he enters politics only on the temperance question. It should read what Hossack has to say for himself. The temperance question is only one of the subjects in connection with which Whitney has proved to be a gross deceiver. Hossack explains that nearly four years ago he honestly believed that Whitney was to be trusted. Since then he has taken his measure. He has found him to be an ordinary mediocre, machine, spoils politician. His much-boasted honesty and principles wilted in the fierce heat of the first breath of the eager, graft-seeking, hungry politicians of his party.

William Ewart Gladstone, perhaps the greatest Premier Britain ever possessed, passed from this life on this date, 1808. He was born in 1809. Among Canadian Liberals, as well as in the old land, his name was and is still revered as a man and a statesman who was eminently fitted for his high mission, and who spent his life for the good of his fellow men.

If the measures Mr. MacKay now in-veighs against are as bad as he makes out they are, why did he remain silent when these measures were up for consideration and when he had a chance to block them "in the best interest of the country."—Kingston Standard.

Perhaps the Liberal leader was too easy. But then should we be severe upon him? He probably expected too much of Whitney and thought that, when the Premier came to the Legislature with an alleged statement of facts on his lips as the reason why certain legislation of "that last awful week" should be allowed to pass to protect the Province, the word of honor of the first Minister should be accepted. But it is not a little hard on Whitney that the standard should jeer at MacKay for trusting to the solemn pledge of the Premier?

The cheap school reader has come to stay. "If the text book barons are not prepared in future to give us books at a reasonable figure," says Hon. Mr. Whitney, "we will manufacture them ourselves."—Kingston Standard.

That is the way the organ seeks to overcome the statement of Whitney's School Book Commissioner, that when the end of the stock of old books now on the bargain counter is run off and new ones are issued they will, if of equal quality, cost as much or more. But nobody will be deceived by Whitney's blarney, or his organ's boasts. The publishing houses never fail to produce books at a far cheaper rate than the Government printers can hope to do. For Whitney to undertake the work would be to provide for more graft, more plundering of the people.

OUR EXCHANGES

Where Did He Get His Taste? (St. John Sun.)

George Fowler is appealing to the people of Ontario to fight for "clean politics." Well! Well! Well! Saul also!

A Nice Minister. (Toronto Star.)

"I know who my enemies are, and they can go to the devil and shake themselves." Thus does Dr. Payne serve notice on the world that he is a good hater. The Minister of Education is a man of few words, but those few crisp and nervous.

Trade Schools. (Brantford Expositor.)

Organized Labor, as the Expositor understands it, is decidedly opposed to trade schools, because they introduce a system of apprenticeship over which they have no control. There is a wide difference between schools of this class and the kind of technical education which the Expositor and others have advocated.

Restricting Immigration. (Toronto Star.)

The Department of Immigration at Ottawa has issued a notice to the effect that the demand for railway labor is filled for this season, and that the only classes of immigrants wanted in Canada at the present time are experienced farm laborers, farmers financially able to take homesteads or purchase lands, and female domestic servants. In all other cases there will be a strict enforcement of the rule that an immigrant over eighteen years of age must have $25 in cash at the time of landing, as well as a ticket for his destination.

From a Lifelong Detractor. (Ottawa Citizen.)

On all hands confidence is expressed that if he should be selected for the appointment of Lieutenant-Governor he will discharge the duties with dignity and credit. Col. Gibson has identified himself with all phases of public life in the Province in a manner which has now won him the esteem and respect of the people of Ontario, possibly in a larger degree than most of the public men of the Province. His appointment as Lieutenant-Governor would give unanimous satisfaction, and it will be a matter for congratulation if the hon. gentleman sees his way clear to accept the high office to which rumor has designated him as the best qualified and most acceptable appointee.

The Doukhobors Again. (Montreal Star, Tory.)

It is typical of the pitch to which we have carried partisan frenzy in this country that the shocking condition into which a number of unfortunate Doukhobors have fallen should be made a subject of party quarrel. If any should escape this wretched maelstrom, it is surely the insane and the victims of mania. To attempt to make a point against the present government because of the curious outbreak of semi-religious insanity among the Doukhobors who were brought to Canada a decade ago amidst the universal approval of the people, is about as long a shot as political "sniping" has ever attempted. It is as if a landlord should condemn an agent for renting his house to a family whose child caught the smallpox the following day.

A Power Contract, But No Power. (Toronto Globe.)

Premier Whitney makes it a campaign boast that the City Council of Toronto has signed a contract with the Government's Hydro-Electric Commission for a supply of electrical energy from Niagara Falls. "We have a contract!" is the Premier's stout declaration, as though that were a fulfillment of his pre-election pledge to make Niagara power "free as air." But a contract means nothing—except as a token of Toronto's good-will toward the Beck power policy, more cordial than anything said or done by Premier Whitney or the majority of his Cabinet. A contract is of no practical use so long as the Government has no electric power to deliver, and no transmission line to convey it to Toronto. At the end of its term of office, despite all the talk of Mr. Beck and all the noisy bluster of the Premier, all the Government has to show is a contract. "We have a contract" is Premier Whitney's defence.

BANK OF HAMILTON. A Sound Investment. Women of moderate means dependent on their capital for support, and unacquainted with the risks involved in many other forms of investment, would be well advised to keep the bulk of their money on deposit in a Savings Bank. All risk of loss is eliminated, and, while the Return may not be so large as that promised by many stocks and other investments, the return is sure and the capital is safe and kept intact. Bank of Hamilton interest is now paid every three months. Few investments can be readily sold except at a sacrifice, and the comfortable feeling of security that your money is safely on deposit in the Bank, earning reasonable interest, and immediately available, fully compensates for the larger profit promised by many other forms of investment. The Bank of Hamilton invites investment deposits of money and pays highest current interest every three months. Those contemplating this form of investment should consult the Manager personally at the most conveniently located Branch, as enumerated below. Total Assets, Over Thirty Million Dollars. HEAD OFFICE—CORNER KING AND JAMES STS. CITY BRANCHES: Corner Sherman Ave. and Barton St., Corner King and Wellington Sts., Corner James and Barton Sts., Corner York and Queen Sts.

B. Y. P. U. District Convention Held at Grimsby Last Evening.

The Baptist Young People of Hamilton District had their spring rally at Grimsby last night. About 200 went from this city, having three special cars on the H. G. & B. Mr. H. E. Stone, Vice-President, was chairman. Rev. L. H. Thomas, of Grimsby, welcomed the visitors, and Rev. G. B. Brown, of Beausville, conducted the devotional exercises. Reports were presented by the societies of Hamilton, Grimsby and Beausville, showing good practical work done along all lines of church activity. Mr. H. P. Stenbush, President of the Association, spoke on the coming International Convention, to be held in Cleveland, July 8 to 12, and urged upon all the churches the advisability of sending representatives.

PAN ANGLICAN CONGRESS. To the Editor of the Times: Sir—Now that the Bishop is on his way to the Pan-Anglican Congress, bearing with him the thank-offering of this diocese, permit me to make the following suggestions: We cannot all go to the Pan-Anglican Congress, but we can in a very real and true way bring the Congress home to ourselves.

I take it for granted that in every parish the clergy will comply with the suggestion of the Central Committee of the Congress and with the Bishop's farewell request, and hold special services of intercession for the Congress on Trinity Sunday, but cannot we also agree to have special services with Holy Communion on St. John Baptist's Day—the day of the great thank-offering and the day when in every church in the city of London the Holy Sacrament will be administered? Why not also in one or more of the leading churches in the cities and towns of Canada have daily services during the continuance of the Congress? The Rural Deans might arrange the matter with their brother clergymen.

I think we ought to do all in our power to make the Pan-Anglican Congress a success and a blessing to the Church and to ourselves. Sincerely yours, John Fletcher, rector of Barton and Glanville.

LABRADOR MISSION. Boxes For Dr. Grenfell to be Made Up Next Week.

Once more the time for packing the boxes for the Labrador coast hospitals has come. Dr. Grenfell wants more men's clothing, and underclothing for both sexes. He writes: "Bottle harbor and St. Anthony are calling out so loudly for clothing that I don't exactly know what to do to supply them." He also wants hospital supplies, such as house linen, dish towels, elastic bandages, and delicacies for the patients, such as jellies, soups, cocoa, malted milk; also wire gauze for hospital windows. He says: "I never saw such large, or felt such venomous, musical, mesquitos as we have here." One of the nurses asks most particularly for toys and other presents, as they hope to show the children some of the joys of Christmas, and to try and give them a clearer idea of all that it means.

The ladies of the mission in Hamilton earnestly solicit donations of clothing for men, women and children; books, toys, etc., to be sent to Mrs. Sadler, 139 MacNab street south, from May 21 to May 27. Mrs. Daniel Semande, aged 88, for many years a resident of Sandwich, fell downstairs in Detroit and died almost instantly. Murray Woods, a farmer from near Calgary, was committed at Toronto on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences.

been keeping the wires hot since yesterday morning, making arrangements for the visit of His Excellency here on the holiday to officiate at the unveiling. Yesterday the Mayor received a wire that the Governor-General would be unable to have luncheon here, as he was obliged to leave early, but that he expected to be in Hamilton on Friday, May 29, when he will go to the Stoney Creek battlefield at the affair to be given under the auspices of the Women's Wentworth Historical Society, and would be pleased then to remain here for luncheon.

Mr. Ballard, secretary of the committee, replied that arrangements had been completed and cards issued for the unveiling and luncheon on May 25. It had been understood from Col. Hanbury Williams that His Excellency would stay here as long as required on the holiday. The committee, however, promised to carry into effect his wishes. The Mayor sent another message to the same effect, and suggested that if the Governor-General could arrange to leave at 2 o'clock, instead of 1 o'clock, that the plans here would be arranged to suit.

An answer was received to-day, announcing that His Excellency consented to this. He will arrive at 10.25 via the C. P. R.

The city's application for an order compelling the T. H. & B. R. and C. P. R. to construct a bridge over Garth street, which has been heard by the Dominion Railway Commission at Toronto yesterday, was laid over, as the companies wanted a chance to negotiate with the city. The company is also trying to negotiate a settlement with the city over the damage done to the sewer passing under the tracks at Hunter and James streets.

The special committee on annexation which was to have made a recommendation to the Council to-day, favoring taking in the portion of Brantford on the mountain top east of the east end incline, failed to get a quorum. The Mayor will ask the Fire and Water Committee to make the recommendation to-morrow night. The city will know the Ontario Railway Board's finding in the matter before the case is issued, and if it is not satisfactory to the city the Council will rescind the recommendation in favor of annexation.

Notwithstanding the glowing reports spread by Hydro-Electric enthusiasts as for the power of the city, the municipalities are warning up to the Government's power scheme the indications are that when it comes to a show down, one or two of the more important municipalities to which the Commission is pinning its hope will refuse to sign the contract.

From the next to the last in London talk the Forest City will be one of these. The Power Committee there has been discussing the contract, and discovers that London will be liable for a million dollars, including the cost of its distributing plant. The members of the committee appear to be in an agreement that they will not be bound to be tied up, and some of them think London is being soaked for a larger proportion of the cost than it should have to pay.

At the London Council meeting last night Ald. Beattie wanted to know what effect would the withdrawal of Hamilton have on the scheme.

City Solicitor Meredith thought that the whole power scheme would fail. It depended upon the cycle of the municipalities standing together, and if one of the municipalities failed the whole scheme would fail.

If the case is laid and Hamilton stays out London does not feel like paying the increased share, for which it will be held responsible. It is pointed out that the only advantage the city would derive would be cheaper street and civic lighting, and the aldermen do not seem inclined to spend a million dollars for that.

"To make this contract at all possible," said Ald. Beattie, "we must shut out all competition."

"Oh, yes," declared Mr. Meredith. "It will be the duty of the Council to shut off all competition. The city could not afford to lose competition."

Ald. Beattie thought that there was too much estimate about the affair, and not enough facts.

CENTENARY IS FLOURISHING.

CLOSING MEETING OF THE BOARD LAST EVENING.

Substantial Addition Made to the Pastor's Salary—Mr. W. W. Robinson Resigns.

At the regular meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of Centenary Church, held last evening, the various boards and societies handed in their reports, which were very satisfactory, and showed the church to be in a very flourishing condition. A complimentary resolution was passed in reference to the pastor, Rev. R. Whiting, B. A., and a substantial addition was made to his salary. The following were elected stewards for the ensuing year: Messrs. H. A. Eger, T. H. Husband, S. F. Lazier, K. C. W. C. Martin, W. A. Robinson, Thomas W. Watkins, and Alfred Ward. Of these Mr. S. F. Lazier was elected recording steward, and a delegate to the annual district meeting. Mr. W. W. Robinson, who has been the pew steward of the church for twenty years, sent in his resignation, which was accepted with much regret, as he has been very successful in collecting the pew rents, there being no arrears at the present time.

Rev. R. Whiting received a very cordial invitation to return for a third year. A vote of appreciation of the services of the organist, Mr. W. H. Hewlett, was also unanimously passed. The Board was in hearty sympathy in regard to giving an invitation to the celebrated evangelist, Dr. Chapman, to visit this city in the near future.

LARGE ESTATE.

Two Millions Coming to the North-edge Family.

Hon. George William Northedge, formerly of Marinette, Wis., is now visiting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Bailey, 234 Gibson avenue, this city. Mr. Bailey is a cousin of Sir Geo. Wm. Northedge Bart., who is now accumulating evidence of the different branches of the Northedge family for the purpose of prosecuting to a successful issue the claim to estates of over two millions dollars, left to the numerous branches of the Northedge family, of whom Mrs. Bailey, Ben Jones and Mrs. H. Brooke, of Toronto, are part.

These estates are situated in the city of Montreal and in England. Certificates of births, deaths and marriages are required and Sir George has secured sufficient evidence to warrant him in being firmly of belief that the three sisters mentioned above are heirs to a very large portion of the estates.

The father of Sir George was born in Montreal and at the breaking out of the U. S. Rebellion of 1861, left for Rouss's Point and infant, where he recruited a regiment of infantry, The 5th N. Y. 1st brigade, 2nd division, 2nd army corps, was at the famous bloody angle at Gettysburg in July, 1863, being nearly annihilated. Col. Wm. Northedge commanded the regiment with great gallantry, and for his bravery in that battle the son, Sir George, also took part, serving in the cavalry branch of the service, receiving wounds which nearly killed him, his connection with all things earthly. Sir George leaves shortly for Toronto, where he will spend a few days on business before proceeding to England.

TAPLEYTOWN

On Friday afternoon the funeral of the late Mr. Wm. Watt, who was accidentally killed near here, took place from his late farm residence near Tweedside. It was largely attended by many sorrowing relatives and friends, who mourn the loss of a good friend. Rev. S. Sarkisian conducted the services at the house and grave. The family have the deep sympathy of their many friends in their sad bereavement. The pallbearers were Messrs. Jas. Ross, Andrew and Hamilton Jacobs, Geo. Stewart, Geo. Hildreth, and Duncan Jarvis.

The farmers have nearly finished their spring seeding.

TRUE BILL AGAINST GUISEPPE GRECO.

Street Railway has been settled out of court for a goodly sum, considerably in excess of $1,000.

Civil Cases On. The first action taken up by the Chief Justice this morning was that of Charles Bolton against the Hamilton Street Railway for $2,000 damages for personal injuries received. Bolton was the coachman for Miss Chowne, and on Oct. 9, 1907, the plaintiff was driving Miss Chowne, together with Miss Bull and Miss Macarrie, down James street, and he was driving the car against the plaintiff's carriage across the tracks at that point, where the party was overtaken by a car going north. It struck the carriage, towing the occupants out. Miss Chowne dying later. Bolton had his right leg broken, near the thigh. In the statement of claim put forth by the plaintiff he claimed that the defendants were guilty of negligence, in that the motor-man let the car proceed at a high rate of speed; that the brakes and standing arrangement on the car were useless, and that the motor-man had not been properly instructed in the running of the car.

The defendants denied all the allegations made by the plaintiff, and say that the company was not guilty of any negligence, and that by reasonable care and caution, Bolton would not have been injured.

Mr. A. M. Lewis appeared for Bolton, and Mr. S. F. Washington, K. C., was the counsel for the company.

The court adjourned with His Lordship's charge to the jury. The jury will bring in its verdict this afternoon.

Non-Jury Cases. The non-jury sitting, presided over by Justice Riddell, was held in the County Council chamber. Several cases were disposed of, the principal of these being Combes vs. City of Hamilton, which has been settled. His Lordship gave judgment for $1,000 in the case of Bohill vs. Bolton, an action for the specific performance of an agreement. H. D. Pettie for the plaintiff and L. F. Stephens for the defendant.

Judgment was given in the action of Reid vs. Kerwin for $100.00. It was brought by Mrs. Minnie Reid against John Kerwin as executor of the estate of Mrs. Matilda Baker, for $471, for vegetables supplied and work done by the plaintiff for the deceased. Before her death, Mrs. Baker promised to reimburse the plaintiff in her will, but it was found that she had given a proviso which gave Mrs. Reid $200 in her will, which was a widow, but nothing otherwise. Justice Riddell held that he was bound by a former decision, by which the estate was liable for the amount sued for. He directed that the costs be on his High Court side, and that Kerwin have his costs paid out of the estate, and if he was in no wise to blame. Mr. W. E. S. Knowles appeared for the plaintiff.

Yesterday's Proceedings. His Lordship in his charge to the Grand Jury stated that the jurors would have to consider one serious case against one not so serious. Dealing with the Greco case, the Crown would introduce a bill for the approval of the jurors. It was their duty not to enquire into the guilt or innocence of the accused, but simply whether a prima facie case had been made out. The evidence to be given by foreigners, with the aid of interpreters. His Lordship then briefly outlined the Greco case, and also that of Kirkpatrick. His Lordship, in speaking of the Kirkpatrick case, said that this affair was an unfortunate one. It was one of those boyish affairs in which no trouble was intended. In speaking of the case of Cummings' death His Lordship expressed the opinion that it might have been due to Kirkpatrick or to other causes. It would be a difficult thing to prove that Kirkpatrick had stabbed Cummings with intent to kill, and Kirkpatrick had not been working at the time, and had the knife in his hand. If he had not had the knife in his hand, the affair would not have ended seriously. "Is it not true," enquired His Lordship, "that the employers of boys should in some way, make provision for the danger that makes itself evident, where boys will congregate, and tease each other, while working?"

His Lordship had a few scathing remarks regarding the manner in which the county is fostering aged vagrants on the city. In looking over the list, he had found several men who were over 80 years of age, lying in the jail on a charge of vagrancy, while they might be looked after in a county house of refuge. He adjured the jurors not to present a formal bill in regard to the matter, but follow it up with something stronger. The County Council will meet to-morrow, and the matter ought to be brought before it for consideration. His Lordship believed that it was more from oversight than heartlessness on the part of the County Councilors that the building of a house of refuge in the county had not been gone on with.

He hoped that, if it was his pleasure satisfaction to the Grand Jury, at having learned that the county was proceeding with the building of the refuge. There are already in the jail one Armenian, one Russian, one Italian, one Scotch, four Irish, five English and sixteen Canadians.

In speaking of aliens, who come to this country, His Lordship said that strolling was very frequent among Italians, especially in the morning. He thought it was necessary to be enforced against the carrying of dangerous weapons, and that the aim of the law is to keep them long and strong enough to prohibit them from being judges, justly or unjustly, all brought to the attention of the jurors the fact that there are not enough turnkeys at the jail. If there were not enough men in charge at the jail, how could discipline be effectively enforced.

The jury then retired to take up the cases of the Greco brothers and William Kirkpatrick.

While the Grand Jury was out the first civil action ready, Rogers vs. Hamilton Street Railway, was taken up. The action was brought by Alfred Rogers for $5,000 damages against the Street Railway for personal injuries received while riding as a passenger on one of the cars on Nov. 12, 1907. The car ran into a freight train at the corner of Ferguson avenue and King street, throwing Mr. Rogers out, from which he sustained internal injuries. The plaintiff alleged that the accident was the result of carelessness on the part of the company's servants, and that the brakes and other appliances on the car were out of order.

The defendants admitted that they were responsible for the injuries, but stated that they had offered to make a reasonable settlement. They asked that the court fix the damages. The jury returned shortly with a verdict of $1,000 in favor of the plaintiff. S. F. Washington, K. C., for the plaintiff, and W. L. Ross, K. C., for the defendants. This was the only case taken up yesterday.

SHIPWRECKED CREW. Nassau, Bahamas Islands, May 19.—A small boat, containing several passengers and some of the crew of the Greek steamship Cyclades, came in here to-day. The Cyclades, from New Orleans for Genoa, foundered off Stylop May 13th. The crew and passengers took to the boats. The captain and 15 of the crew arrived here on Sunday.

WOMEN'S CAMPAIGN. Ottawa, Ont., May 19.—The women of Ottawa are preparing a modest campaign for suffrage. A meeting is to be held on Thursday at which Dr. A. A. Cameron, Baptist minister, will advocate their claims. The local council of women are trying to inaugurate the campaign but are not yet unanimous.

DEATH OF OAKVILLE RESIDENT. Mr. Harvey Le Barre, an esteemed resident of Oakville for the past nine years, died suddenly yesterday morning from heart failure. Mr. Le Barre was a ship carpenter by trade, a faithful worker, and kind father. He was 54 years of age, and leaves three sons and five daughters. One daughter, Mrs. Hayboe, wife of Mr. E. Hayboe, of the freight department of the H. G. & B. lives in this city. The interment will be at Oakville.

KILLED IN CALIFORNIA. Windsor, Ont., May 19.—A. R. Schlenburg, a former resident of Windsor, for several years in partnership with George Campbell in the lumber business, has been killed in California. While driving to his home ranch near San Diego his horse became frightened, and Mr. Schlenburg was thrown out, killing him almost instantly by fracturing his skull.

ANIMALS ALL AMBIDEXTROUS. Why Man Gives Preference to Right Hand Over the Left. Right handedness and right eyedness came with genus homo. Dr. George M. Gould has watched for them in squirrels that use their front paws to hold nuts, cats that strike at insects in the air or pay with wounded mice, and in many other animals, but he is certain no preference is given to the right side over the left.

But in the lowest human savages all over the world choice in greater expertness of one hand is clearly present. One cause for its development is in primitive military customs. In all tribes and countries since man used implements of offense and defense the left side, where the heart lies, has been protected by the shield, and the left hand was called the shield hand, while the right hand was called the spear hand.

Next to fighting came commerce. The fundamental condition of bartering was counting with the low numbers, one to ten. The fingers of the free or right hand were naturally first used, and all fingers to-day are called digits, as are the fingers themselves, while the basis of our numberings is the decimal or ten fingered system. Every drill and action of the soldier from ancient Greece to modern America is right sided in every detail. Firing from the right shoulder and sighting with the right eye brings the right eye into prominence.

It is significant that with the decline of militarism comes the suggestion of schools for ambidexterity and the establishment of a movement for promulgating the gospel of two handedness and its obvious advantages.—Chicago Tribune.

Jolly Her. "But," said she, pointing, "I don't see why it is you find poker so fascinating."

"Well, you see," replied her husband, "it's the queens in the deck, my dear. They remind me so much of you."—Philadelphia Press.

HEAVY LOSS AT SOO.

POWER PLANT, PAPER MILL AND STORE ROOM DAMAGED.

Two Lives Lost in Fire—Mr. Gray Jumps Into Tailrace—Mr. A. E. Walsh Probably Shocked by Live Wire While Fighting the Fire.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 18.—Another disastrous fire, affecting the tributary works of the Lake Superior Corporation, took place early this morning, causing a financial loss of at least $50,000, and causing the death of two employees of the Tagans Water & Light company, who were on duty at the plant when the fire started. The loss of the concern is fully covered by insurance, but this morning the officials of the company could make no statement of publication, as to what the loss would be, although practically the official statement places the damage at the amount stated.

Those who suffered death at the fire are Albert E. Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Walsh, Albert Street, and Eddie Gray, who resided with his parents on Huron street. These men are about twenty-four years of age and occupied positions of trust with the concern. Walsh was a dynamo tender and Gray his assistant.

The plants placed out of commission as a result of the fire are the Lake Superior Company's power plant, the paper mill department, the Sault Ste. Marie Pulp & Paper Company's store room.

It is believed the direct cause of the fire will never be known, as the only men who were in the room at the time are dead. According to the statement by those who knew the workings of the dynamo room, the fire might have started from a short circuit on a dynamo, but the officials will not make any statement.

It is supposed that trouble on the dynamo took place at 5 o'clock. The men in charge made every attempt to check the course of the fire, and in doing so Walsh climbed upon the machinery and came in contact with a live wire, ending his life. Gray, it is supposed, continued his work on the fire, or attempted to reach the stairs at the head of the northern tailrace, he plunged into the water, followed closely by those who had given him relief. He was never seen to rise above the surface, and to-day his body is being searched for in the tailrace.

The body of Walsh was found in the ruins near the pump at noon to-day, badly charred and almost beyond recognition.

At the time Gray jumped into the tailrace the water was running at full speed, the power not having been shut off, and as the water is swift, it is a question as to when the body will be discovered.

As a result of the fire the Soo will be placed at no small inconvenience during the next few days. The question of water was easily settled, as the company connected with the steam auxiliary plant and renewed the water service at 9 a. m.

The street railway service is out of commission, but will be operated from the Steel Company's auxiliary power plant. The Soo will be forced to put up with a limited light service until tomorrow night. The company is bringing in dynamos from the Michigan Soo in an endeavor to continue the lighting tomorrow night. The service will not be in operation within 34 hours at the earliest.

This morning the officials would make no statement as to the rebuilding of the works, but the impression is that activities could not be long delayed, and that as soon as the ruins cool down sufficiently a staff of men will be set at work preparing for the erection of the structure far in advance of the one destroyed. Up to the present time the walls of the building are intact, but the south tower and wall are in a tottering condition and may fall at any time.

Treated in Aberdeen Infirmary.

Mrs. James Alexander, of Pleasant Grove, Utah, U. S. A., writes: I had Asthma in its worst form, and had the best medical skill obtainable, and was treated also at the Royal Infirmary in the city of Aberdeen. But I obtained little relief. It was difficult to take my exercise without bringing on violent coughing. In 1888 I came to this country, but the Asthma still clung to me, and for the past thirty years I have scarcely ever been free from it. I read about Catarrhose. It was just what I needed all these years, and has given me better health than I have had since a girl. Catarrhose is a perfect cure. I have never had a single attack of Asthma since cured by Catarrhose.

A RUNAWAY AUTOMOBILE.

An Exciting Incident on the Kingston Road.

Toronto, May 19.—An automobile belonging to Mr. J. Curry, 95 St. George street, and which got beyond the control of the driver, Fred Ryckman, crashed into one of the poles of the Toronto & York Radial Railway with such force about 2.30 yesterday afternoon that the pole, although fourteen inches in diameter, was cut in two as if severed with a sharp axe. With Ryckman in the motor was Bernard Whitney, a repair man of the Dominion Automobile Company, who was directing a test run, when the steering gear suddenly got out of order, and it was impossible either to steer the car or slow down. They were some two miles from West Hill, and when the driver saw their lives were being endangered they jumped from the swiftly moving auto and were just in time to escape injury in the terrible collision which followed.

If They Don't Move.

The boy or girl who does not move and thereby stimulate the muscles and all the organs and all the machinery of the body does not grow healthy. What more healthful exercise can you find, let me ask, than that of spinning up and down on the wheel. Willis P. King, M. D., Surgeon Pacific Railroad System, President American Animal Therapy Association, Kansas City, Mo.

The Perfect Man. All virtues that are known to man, We find that he to-day possesses. He's builded on a lofty plan, He's made all sorts of great successes. A man that everybody knows Above suspicion he begins to teach. At least that is the way it goes. In every nominating speech. A man of lofty purpose and Self-sacrificing in extreme, A man who never turns his hand To any mean or doubtful scheme, Whose life is open all the years That he has lived within our reach. A modern saint—he now appears. In every nominating speech. A loving father, gentle, kind, A loyal and faithful friend, With noble purposes of mind, A man on whom we can depend. A man who spurs the best of god, With actions only does he preach. The perfect man is he, we're told. In every nominating speech.

GREAT ASSISTANCE. Lorna Round—Yes, a bit. I got out of the loop of the fire engine.

I cannot find my shaving mug. Somehow it's disappeared. I do not know where my razor is, My pipe is packed away somewhere, And this is my regret. There is no comfort in the house, For we're not settled yet. Somewhere about the house there are Clean shirts for me, but then, It now appears 'twill be a week Ere I see them again. And oh, it grieves me much to think That Nellie should forget Just where she packed my suit away— For we're not settled yet. Some day perhaps I'll get my own— My smoking jacket brown; My slippers, my tobacco jar, And I may sit me down In perfect peace once more to rest, With not a thought to fret; But it will be a month or more Before we're settled yet.

Disillusionizing. The beautiful maiden lifted her head for a moment from his stalwart breast. "Edgar," she whispered, "tell me, do I not hear the passionate throbbing of your heart?" The sensitive youth turned color and bit his lip. "No, beloved, not exactly," he faltered. "The truth is, since that smash-up in Aeroplaine, I have been forced to carry temporarily one of those 98-cent watches."—June Young's Magazine.

Fifty Years Hence. "We have no drinkers in these days." "No?" "Now my grandfathers was good for six orange phosphates."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Linguistic Consistency. "I suppose I really ought to wear glasses. My eyesight is very poor." "Your ear hearing is all right, though, isn't it?"—Chicago Tribune.

Very Sarcastic. "Lady," said Meandering Mike, "I don't blame that dog of yours or tryin' to bite me." "Why not?" "Because it shows its intelligence. De last time I came dis way I handed him a piece of pie you gave me."—Washington Star.

Dark and Dank. "Well, I d'know," doubtfully said Farmer Hornbeak, relative to the proposal of his nephew, a recent graduate from an agricultural college. "Mebbe does money in cultivatin' mushrooms, but where could we plant 'em? They require a damp, dark, dank place to grow in, don't they?" "Yes," was the reply. "And I'll tell you what, Uncle Ezra, we'll raise 'em in the parlor."—Puck.

Improving. Father—It's only fair to tell you that I'm pleased with your economy this term. Your requests for money were too frequent last term. Son—Yes, father—I thought so, too! so this term I've had every thing charged.

His Title. The shade became so intolerant that Satan had to rebuke him. "You swell round here as if you owned the place!" quoth the father of lies, severely. "Certainly," replied the shade. "Why not? My wife gave it to me before we had been married six months."

THE HORRID THING. Clarence—I told the minister he mustn't kiss you. Cordelia—And what did he say? Clarence—He thanked me and said under the circumstances he would only charge me half the usual fee.

AND THE FOUNTAIN BLEW UP.

Denver, Col.—When Dr. Sam Rothechild struck a match to light a cigar, in front of a public drinking fountain, there was a terrific explosion. Fragments of the fountain mangled his leg, almost stripped a woman of her clothes, and upset a bicyclist, whose machine was wrecked. Gas from a street main had leaked into the fountain and was pouring from a faucet when the doctor struck the match.

This is almost as remarkable as the experience of Mr. James Dingwall, of Williamstown, Ont. All his life, he had suffered from constipation, "and the only medicine I ever secured to do me any real good was 'Fruit-atives,'" he writes. "I am now over eighty years of age, and I strongly recommend 'Fruit-atives' for chronic Constipation."

"Fruit-atives" are fruit juices and tonics in the form of pleasant-tasting tablets. They cure Constipation, sweeten the stomach and regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels. 50c a box—6 for $2.50. At all dealers.

ATTACKS GIRL.

Mob Threatens Lynching After Assault.

Lyons, May 19.—Antonia Carlos, an Italian 30 years old, was arrested at 6 o'clock this evening, after a chase of over a mile, and landed in the Wayne County Jail by Sheriff Jerry Collins charged with attempted criminal assault upon Marion Ormsbee, a twelve-year-old girl, who with Virginia Martin, a younger girl, were picking flowers on the outskirts of the rural cemetery last evening about 5 o'clock. They passed Carlos near the cemetery. He sneaked up behind the bushes and jumped out at the girls, grabbing the Ormsbee girl up in his arms and biting her on both cheeks.

The girl's screams attracted Sylvanus N. Bailey, jun., who was working in the cemetery, came running up. Carlos had the girl in his arms, knocking her down. He jumped up, got away from Bailey and ran down back to the cemetery, crossing the Pigwampus Road and running up the Hoeroff Hill, pursued by Bailey. The latter met Walter Schaeffer and the two pursued the Italian, chasing him up over the hill, then back toward the Erie Canal.

Meanwhile noise of the assault reached the village, and four messages were sent to the police. Officer Harris hit the trail, and Sheriff Collins, with his son, started out. Carlos was chased to the Erie Canal, where he attempted to jump in, but Sheriff Collins saw him over the jump in. Schaeffer hit him over the head with a club, and Sheriff Collins took him to jail in a rig. There was a great uproar, half of the town being out. There were threats of lynching, but Sheriff Collins moved too fast. Carlos was thoroughly played out from his long chase. He is still and retains no say in anything. No one about here knows the man. The assaulted girl is prostrate.

SHOT BY ADMIRER.

Young Woman Starts Journey With Three Bullets in Arm.

Jamestown, May 19.—On the arrival of an Erie passenger train in this city at 11 o'clock this morning a handsome young woman, Miss Violet Marcey, of Granville, Pa., had a train and was met at the W. C. A. hospital, where physicians who examined her found that she had been shot and succeeded in removing three bullets from her left arm. The wounds were quite serious. Miss Marcey said that she was shot by Louis Thomas, a man of Greenville, after he left her home to take the train on a journey she had planned to Buffalo. Thomas, who had an attachment for Miss Marcey, objected to her going away. She thought her injuries were not serious and instead of returning home, continued on her way to the station and took the train as originally intended. The wounds became so painful by the time she reached Jamestown that she could stand it no longer, and he sought relief by applying to a local physician, who removed the bullets.

Miss Marcey then continued her trip to Buffalo, without making any legal information against her assailant. She is a very handsome young woman and showed most remarkable nerve in controlling herself under the circumstances.

HEALTH OF ONTARIO.

Scarlet Fever, Smallpox and Diphtheria Prevalent in April.

Toronto, May 19.—Scarlet fever, smallpox and diphtheria were more prevalent in April last than in the corresponding month of 1902. In all 118 cases of smallpox were scattered over 24 municipalities extending from Dundas County to Elgin County. Only one death was reported. Of scarlet fever there were 351 cases and 15 deaths, as compared with 225 cases and six deaths in 1902. There were 29 fatal cases of diphtheria out of 163 reported, as against 16 out of 185 in April, 1902. There were 87 cases of measles and one death, 27 cases of whooping cough and 10 deaths, 213 cases of tuberculosis and 197 deaths. The total number of estimated population was 2,235 in an estimated population of 2,125,000, or a death rate of 14.2 in 1,000.

Mrs. May Irving, formerly of Toronto, died at Cape Elizabeth, Maine.

Do You Have Rheumatism?

If so, try the following prescription, from a prominent physician: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce. Compound Seltone, one ounce. Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, five ounces. Mix, shake well, and take teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime. This mixture, the doctor says, assists the Kidneys to filter from the blood all uric acid and poisonous waste matter, which is not eliminated, settles in and around the joints and muscles, causing great agony. Your druggist can supply you with the ingredients at very little cost, and it can be mixed at home, being composed of purely vegetable and harmless extracts. We feel that a great many readers will be interested in this simple formula.

GUNNESS MONEY.

ESTIMATED THAT SHE SECURED $448,300 FROM HER VICTIMS.

The Murderess Had Told Several Persons Not to Come Unless They Had $5,000—What Became of the Money a Mystery.

Laporte, Ind., May 18.—Following is a tabulation of the money supposed to have been obtained by Mrs. Guinness from various victims: From Mads Sorcussen, her first husband, life insurance, $8,000; from Peter Guinness, second husband, life insurance, $4,000; from Charles Erdman, New Carlisle, Ind., $5,000; from Herman Konitzer, Chicago, $6,000; from fire in Guinness' store, Grand avenue and Elizabeth street, Chicago, insurance, $3,500; from fire in Guinness' house in Austin, Ill., insurance, $1,500; from Ole O. Budberg, Iola, Wis., $2,000; from John O. Moe, Elbow Lake, Minn., $1,500; from fire in Guinness' house in Austin, Ill., insurance, $1,500; from Andrew Helgelein, Aberdeen, S. D., $2,900; from George Berry, Tuscola, Ill., $1,500; from Henry Gerhart, Iola, Wis., $1,000, whose body was found in Mrs. Guinness' graveyard (estimated at $1,000 each), $4,000; from fifteen other men, who were in correspondence with Mrs. Guinness and mysteriously disappeared (estimated at $1,000 each), $15,000. This gives a grand total of $448,300.

It is considered that an estimate of $1,000 loss in the case of victims where the actual amount is not known is within the fact. Mrs. Guinness wrote many letters starting (flatly): "If you haven't $2,000 don't come to me. I have made careful inquiries in endeavoring to learn what Mrs. Guinness did with all this money. They are as much in the dark after their investigation as they were before. It is likely that the $750 that Mrs. Guinness kept in a safety deposit vault the day of the fire was all the money she then possessed.

Scenes of last Sunday were repeated to-day at the farm of Mrs. Guinness. Thousands visited the place and viewed the skeletons of the seven unidentified dead. One look was enough for most of the curious. Hundreds brought their luncheons along for the day was ideal. At noon, family groups dotted the orchard and the large front lawn. Souvenirs of all kinds were sold on the grounds, the people buying freely. Refreshments also were peddled.

KILLED BY CAR.

Child Dashes In Front of Car and Is Crushed to Death.

Buffalo, May 19.—While playing in front of the St. Charles Church school in West Seneca yesterday, Lizzie Marodise, 5 years old, dashed in front of a street car and was ground to death. The little girl's body was frightfully cut and bruised and death was instantaneous. She lived at No. 118 Lebanon street. The street car was in charge of Conductor Thomas Chambers. The little girl was a pupil at the school and had just been dismissed. She ran singing into the street and half a dozen other little tots were at her heels. Witnesses say that she paid no heed to the car which was approaching rapidly.

Deputy Medical Examiner Howland was called. He turned the body over to an undertaker.

A THOUSAND VOLTS.

A Lineman at Lindsay Receives a Severe Shock.

Lindsay, May 18.—Alfred Alger, aged 19, an employee of the Lindsay Light, Heat and Power Company, at work at the top of a 35-foot pole this morning, received a shock of 1,000 volts from a transformer at his left side. He was pitched headlong to the ground, the severity of the fall, however, being broken by wires. He was apparently dead when the body reached the earth, and but for the prompt work of his foreman, John McGillivray, he would, it is thought, never have regained consciousness. Mr. McGillivray, with the knowledge of the cause, like experienced workmen restored respiration. Alger will live, and already feels better. His left hand is badly burned and his muscles are affected.

BALDWIN AIRSHIP FLEW.

A Slight Accident Put an Abrupt Stop to Flight.

Hammondsport, N. Y., May 18.—The aerodrome Whitewing made a short flight here to-day, carrying its designer, F. W. Baldwin, to a height of about ten feet. The pressure of the air upon the edge of the lower aeroplane caused it to foul the propeller, and the aerodrome was therefore brought down to the ground after having traversed a distance of 93 yards. The damage, it is said, would be easily repaired.

The new steering gear attached to the front wheel worked satisfactorily, so that there was no difficulty in keeping the machine on the race track while running on the ground. The race track has been widened by plowing up a portion of adjoining field and smoothing it with a roller.

New Publications.

The June number of Scribner's Magazine begins with H. L. Loew's "Chronicle of Friendships" which is almost the first example of artist memories in American letters. Another artist who can write is Sidney M. Chase, who describes the life of a Maine fishing village in the summer time. John C. Van Dyke describes "The High Alps" from the point of view of an aesthetic observer. Arthur Pugh concludes his South American papers with a vivid account of "Brazil—Where the Coffee Comes From."

CORNER STONE TRULY LAID.

Dundas Presbyterians Building a New School.

Report of Public School Is Highly Satisfactory.

New High School Will be Gone On With Soon.

Dundas, May 19.—The May meeting of the Board of Education was held on Monday evening. There were present Chairman Steele and Trustees Nelson, Smith, Douglas, Tyson, Davidson, Reid, McPherson, Thompson and Fisher.

The High School report showed 98 pupils on the roll for April; average attendance, 93, an increase over last year of three. Fees collected for current month, $64. The apparatus for the science room, books for library and drawing models were reported as having been received. Mr. McKimmon, the new first assistant high school teacher, reported for duty on April 5.

The Public School report for April showed 506 pupils on the registers, and an average attendance of 447, being seven over April of last year and the largest in the history of the school. In the kindergarten Miss Scott has charge of 131 little tots, the largest kindergarten, no doubt, under the management of one person in the Province of Ontario.

The banners awarded for best attendance went to the rooms of Principal Moore and Miss Sevanson. The principal stated that these banners were as keenly contested for as they were when introduced six years ago.

Chairman Smith, of the Property Committee, reported that of the work the committee had been instructed to carry out, the door had been placed in the east wall of the kindergarten, an electric fire alarm system had been installed connecting all rooms and halls of the building, and the ceiling of the furnace room had been covered with asbestos, which latter work was not deemed satisfactory by the committee. The committee was authorized to make the work satisfactory and to enlarge the furnace room to secure greater efficiency in heating.

The Internal Management Committee reported that the drawing models had been procured through a local dealer for $50—$5 less than the quotation received elsewhere.

Inspector Smith's report of the Public School's condition stated that the attendance to be very large, some of the rooms much overcrowded. The most improved methods of teaching were in vogue, and discipline of the highest order was maintained. The report was received with much satisfaction and was referred to the Internal Management Committee.

Miss Anna Watson, appointed examiner at the coming entrance examinations, and a communication informed the board that Miss Cronin had been appointed an examiner by the Separate School Board.

From the department in Toronto came a report that the High School grant for this year was $704.84, $3 less than last year.

From the Town Council came officially the welcome announcement that $16,000 would be provided for a new high school building. A committee consisting of Trustees Reid, Steele, Nelson, Douglas, Sullivan, Smith and Minty was appointed to carry out the work, and was given permission to select any position on the present school grounds for the building.

Chairman Steele gave an interesting summary of the proceedings of the Educational Association recently held in Toronto, and in reply to a question by Trustee Sullivan, at the last meeting of the board, read an opinion from Town Solicitor Gwyn, that the separate school ratepayers, as such, had no interest in the $4,000 of the present high school, and the High School's interest in the present buildings, to the public school.

A suggestion from Chairman Steele that the pupils, parents and friends of the schools have an excursion during the season to the Experimental Farm in Guelph seemed to meet with the favor, and Trustees Reid, Thompson, Fisher and Tyson were appointed a committee to see what arrangements could be made for the same.

The Internal Management Committee was authorized to arrange for the Dundas teachers' trip to England.

A portrait of Mayor Moss was presented to the board, to be added to the list of ex-chairmen.

A number of accounts were passed, and the board adjourned.

Laid Corner-stone. At 7 o'clock on Monday evening the corner-stone of the new Presbyterian Sunday school building was laid by Mrs. John Laing, widow of the late Rev. John Laing, D. D., who was minister of Knox Church for over 28 years. The Rev. S. H. Gray, the present pastor, presided, and assisted Mrs. Laing. The service was opened by the singing of a psalm selection, prayer by the Rev. S. H. Gray, and scripture reading by the Rev. T. J. Mansell, of the Methodist Church. Hon. Thomas Bain gave an address on the history of Presbyterianism in Dundas and the surrounding country, referring particularly to the first church built near the York road, east of King street, for all who desired to hold services there. He recalled the services held at Crooks' Hollow, West Flamboro and Ancaster. Then in 1837 steps were taken to build the stone church now occupied by the Salvation Army. Then he rapidly sketched the circumstances leading up to the erection of Knox Church, and the present Sunday school building. Mr. Bain also referred to the ministers who had been associated with the congregation up to the present, and closed with congratulatory remarks upon the auspicious occasion so hopeful of success for the future.

Mr. Gray placed in the cavity of the corner-stone the three local and other newspapers, the Canada Presbyterian, the Presbyterian Record, the Missionary Tidings, the Sunday School Quarterly, and a photograph membership of the session and Board of Management, the Knox Church report, the list of subscribers with amounts subscribed, and the historical sketch of the church and Sunday school.

Mr. Wm. Lawson, chairman of the Board of Managers, who constitute the building committee, presented Mrs. Laing with a silver trowel, suitably engraved.

graved, and she applied the mortar, while Mr. Gray pronounced the words of declaration usual on such occasions. Then the audience joined in singing the well known doxology, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. J. T. Smith. There was a large attendance of the congregation and members of other congregations in the town, and every thing was conducted in an orderly and appropriate manner.

FIRST CHURCH RECORD YEAR.

MISSIONARY CONTRIBUTIONS DOUBLED IN TWO YEARS.

Membership Shows a Net Increase of 41, and All Funds in First Class Condition.

First Methodist Church had its last quarterly meeting of the Conference year last evening. The pastor, Rev. R. J. Treleven, presided, and there was a good attendance of the members. The report showed the year just closed to be the best in the church's history from a financial and numerical standpoint, while the pastor's report on spiritual affairs was equally gratifying. For the first time on record the envelope contributions and quarterly collections exceeded the amount required for the pastor's salary, a balance of $22.14 being carried over.

Dr. Day Smith, Church Treasurer, submitted a report showing the total receipts to have been $7,924.66, while the total expenditure amounted to $8,083.15. Although there was a balance of $140.49 due the Treasurer, the sum of $1,919.42 was paid on account of church debt and interest, reducing the total debt on the church property to $9,000. Over $700 was also paid for church improvements. Every congregational fund was found to be ahead of the previous year. Especially in missionary giving was the good work shown. During the previous year a special missionary effort was made, and $1,504 was raised. It was hardly thought this would be equaled this year, but it was exceeded by $145, the total being $1,649, in addition to $742 raised by the Women's Missionary Society, an increase of $2, bringing the church's total missionary contributions up to $2,391—double those of two years ago. The educational contribution was increased from $151 to $187.25, and the superannuation contribution was larger than ever before.

The total membership of the church is 785, after making every allowance, a net increase of 41 for the year. Mr. Thomas S. Morris was elected representative to the District meeting, and Mr. Cal. Davis was elected Recording Steward.

The Board unanimously approved of the duplex envelope system—a two-compartment envelope with one compartment for church purposes and one for missions. It was also unanimously decided to engage a deaconess for the church.

Mr. Treleven was invited to remain for a fourth year as pastor, and a resolution was passed on the minutes expressing the fullest appreciation of his services.

NORTH ENDERS ARE AGGRESSIVE.

PURPOSE BUILDING A HALL IN NEAR FUTURE.

Want Street Railway Trouble Settled and Extensions Built—Other Improvements Needed.

The North End Improvement Society intends taking steps at once to build a new hall for itself. The organization is in a flourishing condition now, and the members think the time has arrived when the society should have a permanent headquarters. It is expected that a number of prominent citizens interested in the city's welfare will aid in the movement. The matter will be discussed at the next meeting on Monday, June 15. The new hall will likely be 20x40.

At a largely attended meeting held last night at Mr. Gus Ant's residence, with President Edward Porter in the chair, satisfaction was expressed at the progress being made between the city and the street railway towards a settlement of their difficulties. The north-enders are anxious to see the extensions made.

The members think the north end should be more brilliantly illuminated. There are many dark spots down there now, and the society proposes asking the Board of Works to install several new lights.

The society is rather disappointed at not receiving an invitation from the Parks Board to accompany it on its tour of inspection in the north end, as there are many things the officers wanted the Parks Commissioners to see.

Communications were received from the city regarding the re-vesting and extending of the sewers, explaining that the matter was being attended to now.

Satisfaction was expressed at the Board of Education's action in making an eight-room addition to the Pictou street school, and hope was expressed that something would soon be done to the Hughson street school.

There is a big pond at the foot of Catharine street, which the society would like to see filled in, as it is in very bad shape just now.

"For goodness' sake," for the sake of the satisfaction you get from using it, buy "Salada" Tea. It pays to pay for quality.

With the above cast, the Summers Stock Company presented Sage Richard, son's clever farce, "The Wrong Man," at the Savoy Theatre last night, and the performance being the first of a special summer engagement. The performance was put on in a most satisfactory manner, the people being capable and the special scenery all that the piece demanded. There was a large audience present, the ground floor being filled, and judging by the applause the people thoroughly enjoyed the sparkling comedy. Mr. Summers, an old favorite with Hamilton audiences, was given a warm reception.

"The Wrong Man" is a story of a modern Ananias, whose love of excitement and adventure leads to many laughable complications. He is supposed to be captured in a gambling den. After securing his liberty he hears of a colonel by the same name, returning from Cuba in charge of his regiment, and who is to be made the hero of a big reception at a seaside resort. The adventurer decides to impersonate him. From a newspaper picture he gets an idea of the uniform worn by the real colonel and then presents himself at the summer resort. The complications that arise from this situation are extremely laughable for the real colonel presents himself shortly after. The artistic lying of the adventurer in explaining things away furnishes the fun.

Between the acts illustrated songs were sung by Louis Atwell and Doris Canfield, a clever little singing comedienne, sang. The same bill will be presented every night this week.

Next week the English melodrama, "The Silver King," will be the bill.

Clever Amateurs. They have something besides the Mendelssohn Chorus in Toronto—another organization that can do more than sing. This is the Toronto Rowing Club's Minstrels, and this year's performances have put them on a plane that rivals such celebrated professionals as Geo. Mr. Read has the last performance of the Toronto Rowing Club's Minstrels were so pleased with the whole ensemble of effects that they personally congratulated C. J. Read, the club's musical director, and were astonished when told that none of the artists were professionals, except the interloper.

Mr. Read has a chorus of 60 voices singing in four part harmony with the beauty of tone, precision and unanimity that rivals any of the best Canadian Choral Societies, who do nothing else. Besides the choruses and songs, and buck wing dances, the club will present a sketch entitled "Shipwrecked," with W. LaFlamme and Ad. Stratheed, in the title roles.

"Brewster's Millions" To-morrow. Frederic Thompson's big production of "Brewster's Millions," the breezy and delightful comedy which has enjoyed such a remarkable career of prosperity since its first production last season, will be presented here at the Grand on Wednesday night by The Colan & Harris Comedians. This comedy, adapted from George Barr McCutcheon's famous story of the same title, by Winchell Smith and Byron Ogley, is now being presented by two companies in America, two in England and one in Europe. The story is a satire on frenzied finance. It is full of originality, life and action and contains no dull moments. Marvelous and unusual stage effects are promulgated. Frederic Thompson, the wizard of the melodious effects, whose Luna Park at Coney Island is the wonder of the world, has invented some scenic surprises for this production that has made all other producers sit up and take notice. In the third act there is a remarkable effect of a yacht in a storm at sea, wherein the illusion is so perfect that a spectator feels he is witnessing the reality. The scenic investitures of this act is particularly beautiful.

Miss Roselle Knott Coming. Roselle Knott is to appear here on Saturday afternoon and evening in "Alice-Sit-By-the-Fire," by J. M. Barrie, author of "Peter Pan," "The Little Minister," etc. Miss Knott belongs to a class of women who elevate the stage, not by tact but by hard work, and who keep their private life entirely distinct from their professional careers. Among others who come to mind at this moment, as belonging to the same class as Miss Knott, are Maude Adams, Annie Russell and Viola Allen.

A Football Play. A play which has scored a tremendous success in every city in which it has been presented is that of "Strongheart," a play of college life by William C. De Mille, in which Ralph Stuart interprets the role and which will be seen here at the Grand Opera House, for matinee, and night, on Monday next.

"Strongheart" is said to be "full of fun and football," the scenes being laid at Columbia University, New York. The second act of the play shows the training quarters of the football eleven between the halves of a big game, which is probably one of the most novel settings ever seen on the stage, and as for its being realistic.

A GOOD MEETING. Blackheath Women's Institute at Mrs. S. McAdam's.

The annual meeting of the Blackheath branch of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. S. McAdam on May 13, twenty-five ladies being present in spite of the threatening weather.

The election of officers was held, with the following result: President, Mrs. Gibson; Vice-President, Miss Hanson; Directors, Mesdames Galloway and Trimble and Misses Simeon, Moore, Gowland and Patterson; Secretary-Treasurer, N. R. Blaine; Press Correspondent, Miss Isabel Hannah; Auditors, Mesdames Huty and Martindale.

The Secretary gave a report of last year's progress, which was encouraging. The Institute has 44 enrolled members, with the average attendance of 27. The financial condition is also good.

The minutes of last meeting being read and adopted, and other necessary business being attended to, the programme was opened by singing by the members. The first number was a good piano solo, followed by a paper on "Plans for a Farm Home," by Miss A. McAdam, who recommended a square, two-story building as being best adapted to meet the requirements of her plan, which is made to secure comfort, convenience and health.

Miss Hassie Patterson gave a fine selection of instrumental music, and the roll was held, each member responding with a favorite recite.

In "Current Events" Miss Petch gave a comprehensive review of the important occurrences of the last month.

Miss Whitelaw gave another instrumental selection, and Miss Gibson a reading, which was a portrayal of some of the national characteristics of the Scotch. Miss Ella Gowland played a brilliant solo, which was heartily applauded.

The Mesdames McAdam, who are soon to leave, were presented with a short address, in which, while regretting the loss to neighborhood and Institute, the members all joined in wishing them God-speed in their new home.

Mrs. John Huty provided a pleasant feature by bringing with her two copies of evelot and solid embroidery, the work of Mrs. Huty, sent, a lady of over 85, this pair being the eighth worked by her the past winter. The programme was closed by singing the usual hymn, and Mrs. McAdam, assisted by Miss Gladys McAdam and Miss Blair, served a luncheon of coffee, cheese sandwich and tempting array.

The next meeting, at which the Provincial delegate will be present, will be held at the home of Mrs. John Blair, Blackheath, on June 27, at 2.30. Mrs. Blair extends a cordial invitation to all to come.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH MOVEMENT PROGRESSING.

Hope to be Able to Realize Immediately Upon the Presbyterian Union's Donation.

J. B. Graham was in the chair last evening at a general meeting of the Southeast Presbyterian Church promoters at the Victoria curling rink. Rev. J. Roy VanVoyek opened the meeting with prayer. There were not many present, but all there were earnest workers. J. B. Turner, secretary, read the minutes of last meeting.

Mr. Turner announced that subscriptions since the last meeting totalled about $4,300, bringing the total to $6,075. This amount, while not all in hand, is in gilt-edged promises. There have been 75 subscribers to the fund.

Mr. William Lees, jun., said, as the matter stands, $8,000 will have to be raised before the subscriptions are binding. The Presbyterian Union has agreed to subscribe $800 a year for five years on condition that it be used as interest on the mortgage. Mr. Lees wanted to know if the union would allow them to use the money at once. If the union would do this, $2,500 could be added to the money on hand. This would leave $800 or thereabouts to gather together in the next few days. "We'll get it if we have to beg, borrow or steal," said Mr. Lees.

Mr. John Knox, on behalf of the Presbyterian Church Extension Union, said he did not see how the union would make trouble if the money was discounted to get it at once and use it as a sinking fund instead of interest on the sinking fund. Discounting the union's subscription, raising $800 and adding it to what is already on hand, will give the new congregation $9,175 to start work with.

Mr. A. M. Cunningham wanted to know if arrangements could be made whereby the new congregation would be represented at the adjourned meeting of the Presbytery at Chippewa.

Mr. Lees again brought his idea up. He said if the money was discounted to get it at once and use it as a sinking fund instead of interest on the sinking fund, the whole idea would fall to the ground until another year had passed.

Mr. Cunningham moved, seconded by Mr. McKenzie, that a committee be appointed to wait on the Presbytery at Chippewa on Thursday next to apply for a sanction for the movement. This motion was carried.

Mr. Lees moved that the name of the new church be Saint Giles. This was carried.

Messrs. A. M. Cunningham, J. B. Graham and A. M. McKenzie were appointed a committee to represent the new church before the Presbytery.

A motion to get plans from architects was handed over to the Executive Committee.

All present signed the petition to the Presbytery and the meeting was adjourned for two weeks.

COMPANY MUST PAY City Not Responsible For Protecting Railway Crossing.

The Board of Dominion Railway Commissioners met at Toronto yesterday and considered a large number of cases, among them two from Hamilton—the question of who should bear the cost of protecting traffic at Barton street and Ferguson avenue, where the G. T. R. has laid a second track across the line of the street railway, and the smoke nuisance.

In connection with a previous order made by the board for an additional G. T. R. track to be laid at the diamond crossing at Ferguson avenue and Barton street, involving the G. T. R. running across two tracks of the Hamilton Street Railway, the latter, through Mr. W. W. Osborne, asked to have the city of Hamilton made partially responsible for the protection of the public at the crossing in question.

The Street Railway Company claimed to be the senior company, with reference to the G. T. R. company's additional track. The board decided not to change the order of March, which was to the effect that the Street Railway Company should pay for the protection at the crossing. The board accepted Hamilton's plea that that city had not received sufficient notice of the Street Railway Company's intention to try to involve the city in the cost of protection.

The question of soft coal smoke used by shunting engines being a nuisance to various cities came up in an application by the city of Hamilton for an order prohibiting the G. T. R. T. H. & B. and C. P. R. companies from using soft coal on such locomotives. The matter stands over, when several actions of a similar nature will be tried together.

PAREISIS GERM.

Doctor Discovers It and Says Disease Is Curable.

Dr. O'Brien Has Cured Patients and Is Curing Others.

Massillon, Ohio, May 19.—In the laboratory of the Massion State Hospital Dr. John D. O'Brien to-day reiterated a statement by him before the American-Medico Psychological Association's Convention at Cincinnati that he had discovered the germ of paresis, and that the disease is curable. He summed up the results of his experiments in these two declarations: That paresis is undoubtedly a germ disease, and that the germ has been discovered; that while in the experimental stage, sufficient tests have been made to show that paresis is curable and that he has specific cases to point to as definite results.

Dr. O'Brien does not believe it would be proper to make public the names of these patients whom he claims the treatment has cured, but he gives the specific case of a newspaper man of Washington, D. C., who was treated for paresis and again is at work, a cured man; a civil engineer of prominence in Nashville, Tenn., who is cured and at work; besides a number of people in Ohio, who were brought to the hospital with severe forms of the disease, and cured. Others who are now at the hospital still under treatment are showing marked progress toward recovery.

Dr. O'Brien has at hand, in addition to his own statements, and reports from hospitals in regard to the successful treatment of paresis, patients' photographs, which show the historical form of attack when brought to the Massion State Hospital, and the work when discharged from the hospital as cured.

"I know," said Dr. O'Brien, "that it is a bold statement to make that the germ of paresis has been discovered. People may doubt it. Many scoffed when the germ theory of diptheria and tuberculosis was disclosed. We are showing the results of our experiments made in stating without qualification, that paresis is a germ disease. We also feel that from the work done we have found the bacillus. We have cured patients, are helping many now and expect to go forward with the work." Dr. O'Brien had confined his work to living subjects; no pathological investigation has been done on post mortem subjects. He now has germs in "cultures." One of the favorite forms of cultures used is bouillon. He says that, like a farmer, he is seeking to find the best culture in which to grow bacilli from serum extracted from patients and to that end is doing considerable experimenting. Since Dr. O'Brien read his paper at Cincinnati he has received many letters from doctors urging him to receive patients for treatment for paresis. Dr. O'Brien was graduated from the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, in 1903. He had passed four and a half years at Massion Hospital and laboratory work.

OLIVER ON MANITOBA.

Premier Roblin Directs the Opposition's Course.

Mr. Armstrong Defies the Government to Dissolve.

Registration Clerks in Manitoba Appointed by the Government.

Ottawa, May 18.—The curtain was again raised to-day on the spectacle of the Opposition dancing to the piping of Messrs. Roblin and Rogers, and it was a spectacle not without its ludicrous side. Hon. Robert Rogers signalled his appearance upon the scene by landing out a carefully prepared "interview" to the Conservative press, the opening sentence of which was "Let the fight proceed." And Premier Roblin, after keeping the leader of the Opposition waiting for him at his hotel, found his way to the Speaker's gallery, where he held a levee of Conservative members, whom he appeared to be coaching in the intricacies of the Manitoba election act, and carried on a conversation by signal with the Opposition front benches below. Apart from his humorous phase, the situation was little changed to-day. The Government are now waiting on the next move of the Opposition, and that may be revealed at to-morrow's caucus of the Conservatives. The debate was renewed by Mr. Galliber, who made a strong argumentative speech in favor of the bill, and he was followed by Mr. Armstrong, who spoke about obstructing until Christmas, and exposed the hand of the Opposition from benches below. Then came Hon. Frank Oliver, and a more trenchant speech has not been delivered in the course of the debate. The Minister of the Interior always speaks plainly, and there were no frills about the arguments in which he attacked the arguments of the Opposition. In one or two vigorous phrases sentences he went right to the root of the whole question, when he pointed out that the lists in Manitoba were prepared by officials not appointed by the judges, as the Opposition have sought to suggest, but by the Roblin Government. He also made it clear beyond any doubt that the time for revision was quite inadequate, and that there had been cases of delay in the delay to the detriment of the Liberal electors. His handling of the Rudneski episode in the North Winnipeg Provincial election made the Opposition fairly quiver, and when he showed that all the Conservative criticism and objections were really directed against the very officials they professed to admire, the Liberals cheered loud and long. Mr. Miller will continue the debate to-morrow.

Hon. Mr. Oliver introduced and had read a first time a bill providing for an entirely elective council for the Yukon Territory and for an audit of the public accounts of the Yukon by the Auditor-General. The Halifax Irregularities. Replying to Mr. Borden, Hon. Frank Oliver said the result of the investigation into the alleged irregularities at Halifax had resulted in a great deal of conflicting evidence. The conclusion arrived at by the investigator was that, although the charges against Mr. Bernstein had not been fully substantiated, it was a question whether the amount of suspicion engendered against Mr. Bernstein had not done away with his usefulness. With regard to Dr. Dickey several inquiries had been made, the result of which he was not in a position to place before the House.

Algonia Steel Works. Mr. Borden asked whether, in view of the fact that the Algonia Steel Company had asked operations for want of orders, the Government were in a position to place orders for Transcontinental rails. Hon. Mr. Graham said the possibility of orders would depend on the necessary cash. (Laughter.) The matter was under the consideration of the Transcontinental Commission.

Work of the Mint. Hon. Mr. Fielding informed Mr. Armstrong that $313,338 worth of silver coins had been coined in the amount of $25,000 worth had been sent to the Receiver-General. The amounts of silver coins would be regulated according to the demand.

Mr. Galliber Resumes Debate. The debate on the Dominion elections act was resumed by Mr. Galliber, who held that, although the Federal Government had in 1898 delegated a power to the Province of Manitoba in connection with the preparation of the Federal lists, they had not divested themselves of the right, under certain conditions, to take back the power to Manitoba in the bill. (To the objection of the Opposition that the Government were taking away a right from Manitoba, he replied that there was no inherent right in that or any other Province to prepare Federal lists for the Federal elections. All the bill proposed was to take away the power delegated to the Province in 1898, as that it was unfair to the Conservatives, he thought the Prime Minister's offer effectively disposed of that.

Mr. Borden—What was that offer? Mr. Galliber said the proposition submitted by the Prime Minister was that every official, including the revising Judges, connected with the preparation of the Federal lists, should be absolutely beyond the control of politics and surely no fairer way for both parties could be suggested than that. Dealing with the situation in British Columbia, he suggested that in that Province a new and complete list should be made up at least every two years.

Mr. Armstrong. Mr. Armstrong could hardly find words strong enough to express his praise of the Manitoba election act as it is to-day, and his condemnation of any attempt on the part of the Dominion Government to interfere with it. He could not find the speeches of Sir Wilfrid Laurier or other members of the Government side any arguments to support the bill they were now trying to force on Manitoba. The Opposition had been called obstructive.

ated in strong words, and in the same breath claimed that he and his colleagues were patriots, and were showing this by their stand on the bill. The Government, he said, had made a threat of dissolution. "Let it come," he said in a loud tone; "we will welcome dissolution at any time, and we should have dissolution, and let the Government go into the dry dock of public opinion."

The Government side laughed at this, which seemed to rather disconcert the speaker. Mr. Armstrong, a little later, was called to order by Mr. Speaker for wandering away from the subject under discussion and dragging out a number of scandals. In closing he declared it to be the duty of the Opposition to see that the snow flies rather than allow the bill to pass in its present shape.

Hon. Frank Oliver. Hon. Frank Oliver followed. At the outset he argued that the chief factor for trouble in the Manitoba Act was the revision, although there were other things which undoubtedly needed remedy. Indisputable evidence had been given, for instance, of names being placed on the registration list without personal attendance and without affidavit. It had also been shown that the time between the registration and revision was too short. In many districts to allow of those making protest against certain names going on to have their evidence ready when the Courts of Revision sat, and also that these courts did not sit long enough to do justice. This was a case in which it could fairly be claimed that even if the law was satisfactory, its administration was not. Down to this point Mr. Oliver had been reading his remarks.

Mr. Staples asked for the Speaker's ruling as to whether the hon. gentleman should be allowed to read a speech, and the speaker, under the rules, was obliged to decide that he could not. Hon. Frank Oliver turned the action of Mr. Staples, which was approved by the Opposition generally, judging from their manifestations, to good account. It was undoubtedly from the attitude of the Opposition, he said, that his remarks had been direct and to the point. He would admit that they were written, but the way in which the Opposition acted in regard to this reading of them was a fair indication of the manner in which they proposed to carry on the debate. But the point of order would not be taken. The House of hearing his remarks. The desire of the Opposition was quite apparent: it was simply to waste the time of the House and the time and money of the country, and their action in regard to his remarks, both as far as possible, would help them to do that. He and the responsibility was upon them. He went carefully over the Manitoba act, pointing out as other speakers, on the Government side had done, the manner in which it was used by the Roblin Government to the detriment of Liberals and to the advantage of their own party friends.

Appointment of Registration Clerks. There was some crossfiring at this point as to who appointed registrars in Manitoba. Mr. Borden was understood first to say that the judges did it, a statement which Mr. Oliver challenged. The impression that Mr. Roche and others on the Opposition side had conveyed, he said, was that they were appointed in that manner.

Here Mr. Roche interrupted to say that he had made no such statement, and both he and Mr. Borden, respectively, then said that they were appointed on the recommendation of the judges. Mr. Oliver retorted that the registration clerks were partisan appointed by the Government in Manitoba, and that the judges had nothing to do with their appointment nor with the dates for the revision, quoting, amid Liberal cheers, the Manitoba statutes in support of his contentions. To partisans appointed by the Government, the judges were left the choice as to whether or not the registration should be insisted upon or not, and in that case what was this lauded provision but a provision to get Tories on the lists and leave Grits off?

Mr. Roche wanted to know if the best way of finding out whether the registration clerks were partisans or not would not be to call the Manitoba judges and ask them.

Hon. Frank Oliver pointed out that for the first time during the debate the Opposition admitted that the clerks were not appointed by the judges, although a strong effort had been made to leave that impression. The judges were bound to abide by the statute. This point he emphasized several times, and the applause of the Government side, and to the evident discomfiture of the Opposition.

Rudneski's Affidavits. Referring to the affidavit read by Mr. Boie, Mr. Oliver said the Opposition had branded Rudneski as a renegade, a fugitive from justice, and a perjurer, but that was the man who was employed by the Conservative party machine. It was a strange coincidence that on the same day that 450 naturalizations were put through by Rudneski the record showed that there were 790 naturalizations in Winnipeg, and it was also a coincidence that the leading citizen of Winnipeg, ex-Mayor, was defeated in what was regarded as a safe Liberal seat by a majority approximately the same as the number of naturalizations said to have been put through improperly by Rudneski. The statements of the Opposition were not good enough. The Government of Manitoba were there to administer justice, and he hoped perjury was not so common that it had to be winked at. Either the affidavits were true or the Government of Manitoba were not administering the law. If Rudneski and Walton were perjurers it was up to the Manitoba Government to lay them by the heels and see that they were punished to the full extent of the law. If that was the only answer they could make to Rudneski's affidavits either Rudneski or Walton should be in jail, or the Rudneski affidavit was true. Mr. Staples seemed to know too much about the cheque said to have been paid to Rudneski, and he suggested that the cheque could only have been got by the Conservative party machine from Rudneski on the strength of a promise of protection. (Liberal cheers.)

Turning to the general question, Mr. Oliver said that, as the Opposition declared, the administration of the lists in Manitoba was fair, there should be no objection to placing them in the hands of the Federal Government for Federal elections. All the criticism and objections made by the Opposition had been against their own law in Manitoba. They had threatened dissolution and obstruction of supplies in order to prevent the application of their own law by the Federal Parliament. He was not surprised that the Opposition now refused to take their own medicine. (Liberal cheers.)

THEN AND NOW

Hon. A. G. MacKay's Second Letter to the People of Ontario.

Thirty-three years of Liberal rule: Certain isolated cases of election irregularities proven against certain Liberal workers; advantage taken of both by the Whitney Opposition to make a strong appeal to the electors, backed up by assurance that if given office and better opportunity, consequent thereon, of making a full investigation, startling disclosures would be made and frauds unearthed. Mr. Whitney taken at his word by the people, and on the 25th January, 1905, a decisive mandate given him to proceed and make his disclosures. Three and one-half years elapse; three and one-half years' occupancy of the Treasury benches; three and one-half years' access to the vaults, books, papers, and everything in the departments, and no irregularities, no misdeeds, no wrong-doing disclosed. Absolute and complete failure to implement his promises, or, rather, threats, along these lines must be the unbiased judgment of all independent and intelligent electors. The legislative, and the administrative, the financial record of Liberal Governments still stands unimpaired, and worthy of the great Liberal leaders who led the way in placing Ontario, from an educational, municipal, legislative, agricultural and financial standpoint, clearly in the lead of all the Provinces of the Dominion. Again, a strong appeal made prior to January 25, 1905, to all good men, all Christian men, to support Hon. Mr. Whitney; promises of a fair, honest and reasonably non-partisan administration of public affairs, immediately followed on accession to office by wholesale dismissal of officials, the introduction for the first time in Ontario of the iniquitous spoils system, the complete surrender, particularly illustrated in connection with liquor license administration in the city of Toronto, to the baser element of the party; the dismissal and forced resignation of honest officials in order that that element might the more easily attain its will; the loading of the legislative and voting dice throughout the Province on the same question, a direct, autocratic and distinct refusal in this respect to treat the people.

Again, on the question of assisting or bonusing railways, a pre-emption pledge against the same, so far as Old Ontario is concerned, followed in the closing hours of the last session by a complete misrepresentation on the floor of the House of the scope of the first C. N. R. mortgage (taken not by the old, but by the present Government in July, 1906), in order that, relying upon such misrepresentation, and the assurance that it was necessary to better the position of the Province, authority might be, and was, obtained to have a further guarantee executed and a subsequent mortgage taken.

Again, the appointment of an absolutely inexperienced Minister of Education, a point-blank refusal to grant the request of the Opposition that a practical school teacher, trustee or inspector, in touch with rural conditions and the requirements of rural schools, should be appointed Deputy Minister; instead, the appointment of an inexperienced man to this important position; the natural result following: the passing of legislation and regulations not based upon reason or grounded in common sense, but autocratic, despotic and tyrannical.

Such are a few points of contrast between the land of promise and the land of fulfillment.

HIS DEFENCE.

Private Moir Committed For Trial For Murder

London, Ont., May 18.—Private W. A. Moir, charged with the murder on Good Friday night of Color-Sergeant Lloyd, appeared before Police Magistrate Love at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and was formally committed for trial. The evidence presented on Friday was merely a repetition of that given before the Coroner's jury, no new facts being elicited. Action by the Police Magistrate was deferred, however, until the stenographic report could be transcribed for the court. Moir is to be tried at the Assizes in September next. It is supposed, from questions asked at the preliminary hearing, that a plea of "accidental shooting" may be presented by the defence, who may endeavor to show that Sergeant Lloyd, in attempting to take the rifle out of Moir's hands, caused the discharge of the weapon.

Yorkton, May 18.—The Doukhorbors fanatics were taken from the Agricultural Hall about 1 o'clock this morning and conveyed to a small house on the outskirts of the town, where they will be domiciled pending other arrangements which the Doukhorbors may make for the unfortunate and irresponsible people. They still eat nothing but apples and peanuts, and after they were moved took a wagon load of shells from the building.

HIT THREE TIMES.

But Kalamazoo Man New In Critical Condition. Kalamazoo, Mich., May 18.—Struck three times by lightning in as many years is the record of David Bucklelo, owner of a confectionery store in this city. To-day Mr. Bucklelo lies in an unconscious condition at his home with chances against his recovery. Shortly after 11 o'clock last night, while he was sitting at his desk and a dozen people were in his store to escape the rain, Mr. Bucklelo was knocked from his chair by a bolt of lightning, which struck the ground outside, and then entered the store. No other person in the store felt the shock.

A year ago, while Mr. Bucklelo was walking home, he was struck by lightning and for two months hovered between life and death. Two years ago he had part of his clothing stripped from him by lightning. During the time he was confined after the second stroke Mr. Bucklelo suffered terrible agony. The electrical storm last night was the most severe that has visited Kalamazoo this year. A chimney and the front gable of the E. F. Ide home was torn away and three people in the house slightly shocked. Lightning struck two barns belonging to Charles Moon. One of the barns burned, entailing a loss of $3,000. Three horses, a dog and a cat burned to death in the barn. Lightning struck a barn on the point of Rev. Mr. Martin's farm, and the city, and set it on fire. The barn was destroyed, the loss being $3,500. A calf on the Martin farm was killed by lightning.

LIQUOR ON RAILWAY WORK. Its Detection Keeps Constables Busy All the Time. Winnipeg, May 18.—As the result of the strenuous efforts of Commissioner Quibell and his assistants to keep the illicit sale of liquor in check along the route of the National Transcontinental, numerous convictions have been secured, and considerable liquor confiscated and destroyed. Within the past few days Charles Archibault, whiskey peddler, was found guilty and assessed $60 and costs; Stephen Vedus was fined $50 and costs for a similar offence; George Prince was fined $5 and costs for interfering with an officer on duty.

Frank Nelson, keeper of a disorderly house, was fined $20 and costs and bound over to keep the peace for a year on a charge of interfering with and threatening to shoot an officer who attempted to search his house. William George Prince and William Brennan, charged with unlawfully having liquor in their possession, were discharged. As an illustration of the strenuous work to keep down the traffic in liquor along 250 miles of line, it may be stated that during the absence of the constable for a few days, some unscrupulous individual brought a large supply of liquor to one of the camps, with the result that the entire force of eighty employees went off on a grand, hilarious drunk; pandemonium reigned supreme, and for two days not a man did a stroke of work.

Prince to Come on Indomitable. London, May 18.—The Standard announces that the Indomitable, Captain Kinghall, will convey the Prince of Wales to Canada. The statements, however, that she will endeavor to make an Atlantic record are somewhat discounted by the fact that she was escorted by four warships of ordinary speed.

UNDESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS. Suggested That They Be Sent to Some Undeveloped Country.

London, May 18.—Replying to a question by Lord Winterston, who suggested that the Secretary for the Colonies should advise charitable agencies to emigrate their undesirable to some undeveloped country outside the empire, Colonel Seely pointed out that the Canadian Government had already taken steps on the subject. Mr. Arnold Lupton asked if it were the intention to enable the colonies to take all the best people in the country and leave us the refuse? (Laughter.)

A SUSPECT IDENTIFIED. G. T. R. Agent at St. Lambert Says McCarthy Robbed Him.

Montréal, May 18.—Mr. Stevens, the G. T. R. agent at St. Lambert, who was held up a week ago by three robbers, has identified McCarthy as one of the men who held him up. McCarthy was captured with two others, at Côteau Junction on Saturday morning. In court this morning the suspects were remanded for eight days in order to allow the detectives to gather more evidence in the case.

Winnipeg's Population. Winnipeg, May 18.—Figures gathered by the Assessment Commissioner place Winnipeg's population at 118,000. This estimate is always very accurate. Last year's population was 111,000.

Chemist Creates Plants.

Artificial plants, as well as artificial seaweed developed from artificial cells, have been developed by Prof. Leduc of the College of Medicine, of Nantes, France.

The germination can be regulated by the professor, however, according to the temperature he utilizes. He can prolong it over several days if he so wishes.

Leduc's artificial plants would defy many botanists in distinguishing from certain water plants and other representatives of the vegetable kingdom, although they are not living, ut are artificial bodies formed in the chemical laboratory.

It is startling to observe how from an artificial seed a small plant or shoot springs up and develops with apparently the same forms of stems, leaves, buds and blossoms as the actual living plant, and all within a few hours' time.

Marcelous as are the results that he has attained, Dr. Leduc has little of the sympathy of other scientific men in his work. While the transmutation of metals and the creation of artificial life was a dream of the alchemist of old, the modern scientist has a strong feeling against converting one element into another or of putting life into inert matter.

To Cure Ivy Poisoning.

It is impossible to prevent the trouble from running its course after the pustules have broken, but it is easy to do so if you act as soon as the itching begins. I have kept ten cents' worth of extract of griseledia in the house for years and have found it most efficient. It is a brown liquid that should be rubbed on the itching places every five minutes until the itching ceases. For people who are very sensitive to poisoning this is a godsend.

But I heard of a much simpler remedy last year when I was visiting a nurse.

My friend, who had to clear an immense quantity of poison ivy from a piece of woods. He had forty Italians at work digging it up. None of them knew what the plant was and only one man was affected, and he was immediately sent to wash his hands and face with hot water. He had no further trouble. Further experience has convinced my friend that very few people are subject to poisoning in this way, and that the hot water cure is the simplest and best.

SHIMONESE WORKED WELL.

Henric Horos Made a Good Show ing This Morning.

Boyle Plater Stable Boy Makes Best Time.

Trials For the Great Race Next Saturday.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Toronto, May 19.—The work of the Platers this morning give both the Henric and Boyle stables a chance to win the Guinea.

The Boyle Platers did the best work of the spring, Table Bay going the Plate distance in 2:16.25, while his stable companions went the mile and a quarter in 2:17. The Plater from the Valley Farm string also furnished a surprised Shimonese and Archie Whyte, the latter showing much improvement, went a mile and a quarter in 2:17, Shimonese winning. The work was well rated, and was a surprise, as these horses have not been asked to go farther than three-quarters at any time.

The Plater Sauce o' Gold was also worked this morning, going a mile in 1:49.25, trailing off badly at the end. Goudstein rode this one. Sauce o' Gold has plenty of early speed, but cannot carry it. The next lot of Platers were from the Seagram string. This lot were all worked a mile and an eighth, the work being well done. Half a Crown, who finished second last year, proved to be the best of the lot. China Shop, Great Roman and Xenocrates were the first to go out. They went the mile in 1:49, which was only useful work. In the next set were the three best, Seismic, Half a Crown and Dog of War. They were sent a mile and an eighth. The mile was done in 1:49, with Seismic setting the pace, but Half a Crown overtook him, and finished in front at the mile and an eighth in 2:02.35.

Inferno was sent a mile in 1:48, the first half being done in 52 seconds, and Puresala went a mile in 1:46, going on the mile and an eighth in 2:03.25. Throckmorton went the same journey in 2:04.45, the first mile in 1:48. Lyndhurst worked with him. Bathrick went a mile in 1:47. The Powers Brothers put over another of their mysterious trials to-day. They worked the horse, Never Quiet, before 4 o'clock, and although they did not give out the time, it is said that the horse worked being by Piaroon in the morning in 1:48. The best mile of the morning was done by Uncle Toby, from the Dymond stable. He went the circuit of the track in 1:44.35. The two-year-olds were only galloped, while Annie Maid worked the last seven furlongs with Uncle Toby.

Charles Gilbert and Glimmer went five furlongs in 1:06. Dunham went three-eighths in 38 seconds. Martin Doyle, one of the Toronto Cup candidates, worked three-quarters in 1:18 this morning. Clell Turner went a half in 52 seconds.

Terry Shore was sent a half in 51.25 seconds, while the Toronto and Ella went five furlongs in 1:05.15. Ella B. worked a half in 53 seconds. Reid worked a mile in 1:48. Seville, from the same stable, going the three-quarters in 1:29. The horse Gold Note was sent a mile in 1:47.25. Woodline worked the distance in 1:50 seconds. Crest-fallen worked a half in 53 seconds.

Affinity worked three-quarters in 1:19. The two-year-olds Plymfore and Sweet Wish were breezed three-eighths in 40 seconds. The mare Out of Step worked a mile in 1:49. The two-year-olds from the Orpen string were only galloped. Kelvin and Eleanor Fay were worked a mile in 1:47.5. Kelvin winning. Main Chance worked with Sir Galahad, covering a mile in 1:49, going on the mile and an eighth in 2:06. The horse St. Claire went three-quarters in 1:20 alone. Orpen, from the same stable, went a half in 54 seconds. The two-year-olds were only schooled at the barrier. Temeraire went a nice three-quarters this morning in 1:18.5. Braggadocio worked a furlong in 1:18. Spencer Reif went a mile in 1:52. Merry George worked three-quarters in 1:20. Inspector Purvis and Col. Faverdale worked three-quarters in 1:18. Cocksure went a handy half mile in 55 sec.

Aldershot, May 19.—Under the most favorable conditions of weather and grounds, the opening games of the Inter-County Baseball League series were played at Aldershot and Waterdown on Saturday. The visiting teams, Burlington and Carlisle respectively, won in well-contested games. The scores were as follows: Burlington 9, Aldershot 7. Carlisle 4, Waterdown 2.

On Saturday next Aldershot plays at Carlisle, and Waterdown at Burlington. The Tigers will leave for Niagara Falls on the 8:50 train on the T. H. & E. R. to-morrow morning, the arrangement for a special train having been cancelled by the promoters. A club rate will be given those who desire to accompany the boys.

Three candidates for the Mulqueen Cup, all of Toronto, started from the City Hall at 10:40 here this morning to run to the Queen City. They were W. Mende, T. J. McLaughy and Wm. Thomas. They will try to break the record of 7 hours, 39 minutes made by Claude Pearce some time ago. Prof. Barton started the boys on their long journey, and arranged for a guide to accompany them to Burlington, to see that they get in the right road.

Diek Robinson has decided not to accept the offer made by the officers of the A. U. to train the United States runners who will go to England to compete in the Marathon race.

Oakville, Ont., May 19.—McAughley was the first of the runners in the Hamilton to Toronto Grand to pass here. He arrived at 1:15 and left at 1:25 in good condition and running strong. Thomas arrived at 1:25 and left at 1:35, accompanied by Lou Marsh on a bicycle. They left Mead at Burlington, both men are in good condition and apparently running strong.

"Yes, my father raises hogs," said the Chicago hess. "Judging from you I should never have suspected it," exclaimed the foreign nobelman gallantly.

Chairman Van Allen Returns at an Opportune Time.

Chairman Van Allen, of the Beach Commissioners, visited the Beach yesterday afternoon, and was greatly surprised at the damage done by the recent storm and high water. He at once arranged to have stones put along the bay shore, from the canal to the southern end of the "broad" walk, to protect the walk. He says the board will carry out the plan of piling along the bay shore as soon as possible, as this will be the only way the beach can be saved from further damage by the high water.

Mr. Van Allen is not at all pleased with the delay in completing the water-works system, and he read aloud that penalty clause in the contract, which hopes to see the system in operation within two weeks.

Mr. Van Allen is as brown as a berry, and says he enjoyed the breezes of the Mediterranean greatly. He was away nearly four months.

Six of Them Up This Morning—George Smith Has to Pay for Policeman's Trousers.

George Smith, 309 Hughson street north, is an ingrate. Constable Burch says so, and he ought to know, because he arrested him last night for being drunk and disorderly. Burch found Smith lying in a doorway on Stuart street west. He woke him up, and told him to go home. Smith refused, and the constable started to run him for the coop for being drunk. When about half way to the nearest call box, Smith tripped Burch up, and Burch, in falling, tore his clothes. This morning the delinquent was fined $10, the cost of the trousers to come out of this fine.

William Martin, 96 Ray street north, was arrested this morning on a charge of non-support. He pleaded not guilty, and was remanded till to-morrow. The charge is brought under the vagrancy act and Martin is liable to imprisonment.

Six small boys wanted to see Fred Paige's ball team wallop the Giants around the lot on Saturday afternoon. They didn't have the price, and climbed on the fence. This morning they appeared in court as a result of blue invitations. The case and another, it is likely that it will be settled before it comes up again.
