

The Weekly Monitor. WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23, 1886.

The Local Government of Nova Scotia can certainly have no reason for being disappointed in the results of the late election. The questions placed before the people have been supported with unusually large majorities in many of the Counties, and in only one County have the Liberal-Conservatives elected their full ticket. The elections were run upon a straight party issue, and the governments have therefore taken upon themselves the responsibility of effecting a great constitutional change in the event of certain defeat not being granted by the Federal Government. This alone will show whether this can be accomplished or not.

In this County the Liberal-Conservatives have gained ground, as the majorities of the Liberal candidates in 1882 were Langley 79 and Munro 68. Now it has resulted in returning the former by the reduced majority and one of the Liberal-Conservative candidates, Mr. Andrews, by a majority of 5 over Mr. Munro.

Table with 3 columns: Name, Votes, and Party. Lists candidates like Melvyn, Langley, and Andrews with their respective vote counts.

Protests have been entered by the defeated candidates. Speeches were made after declaration by Hon. J. W. Langley, Atty. General, Mr. Andrews, Mr. Munro and Mr. Mills.

A German inventor is building at a cost of $125,000, a balloon five hundred feet in length, to be operated by steam. He is very sanguine of success and has been offered $100,000 for his patent.

The Mayor of Halifax writes: "I have on several occasions used Esoda's Frigorificum in my household, and believe it to be a very valuable remedy in building up and strengthening the system."

On June 18, an appalling malady has broken out among the British troops stationed at Assaua. One hundred and six men of the Dorset regiment have died within the last two months.

There could be no other fair than that of the proprietors of Hayward's Yellow Oil, who have long offered every cent expended for that remedy, if it fails to give satisfaction on fair trial.

Boston, June 18.—A grand festival and ball in aid of the Irish Protestant Fund came off last evening. It was an immense success. There were about five hundred persons in attendance. The profits will probably reach $10,000.

King's June 14.—King Ludwig, who was recently deported from the Bavarian throne, committed suicide at six o'clock yesterday evening. He had gone out for a promenade in the park of Berg castle, accompanied by Dr. Cohn, his physician.

It was a matter of six weeks before the Vancouver sufferers were called on Saturday by the mayor and well attended. As a result, those attending pledged themselves to give $2,000.

Several, or king's evil, an enlargement of the glands of the neck is termed, may be called a growing evil in more than one sense. Mrs. Henry Dobbs, of Berdmore, was cured of enlarged glands of the neck and also those of the internal and external use of Hayward's Yellow Oil.

It has cost many lives and a vast deal of treasure for the want of a good remedy for the disease known as the Yellow Fever. There are 782 kinds of flowers in the Arctic regions. But it is worth the expense. Just imagine the awful conditions of humanity if it were permitted to plod through the barrenness of the densely forested mountains that there are only 782 kinds of flowers north of the Arctic circle.

Bad Ten Dollars Bill.—A counterfeit merchant's Bank $10 bill is in circulation. The framework is photographed, but is printed on lace and black, instead of green tinted by the green lines on the white paper, is printed by hand all over pattern printed in dark color. The yellow tint of the lace is a sure sign of detecting the forgery.—Montreal Witness.

London, June 17.—Mr. Gladstone started this morning at 11 o'clock on his Scotch campaign. He was accompanied by Mrs. Gladstone. Thousands of people congregated at the railway station to witness his departure. The crowd was simply enormous. It seriously blocked and delayed the approach of the premier's carriage.

Mr. Nelson, a distinguished business man, makes the following comparison: A tall abstemious, 20 years old, who has the chance of living until he is 64. At 30 he has the chance of living until he is 68, and at 40 he has the chance of living until he is 84. A moderate drinker at 20 years old has the chance of living until he is 54; at 30 he has the chance of living until he is 64, and at 40 he has the chance of living until he is 74.

A neglected party of educators.—The city of Boston spent $1,500 last year in supplies for its manual training school, and over $135,000 in supplies for the high, grammar and primary schools. As a result of the neglect of the manual training school, the city is losing the benefit of the training of its young men.

The average loss by fire in the United States and Canada in the month of November, during the past ten years, 1875-84, has been about $1,100,000. In these ten years, however, there has been an aggregate loss of $11,000,000. It is estimated that during the month of November, 1886, the total loss by fire in the United States and Canada was $7,000,000, a considerable increase over the average, but a decrease over the loss of the month of November, 1885, which was $8,000,000.

It is now stated that among the deacons adopted by the Roman Catholic Episcopate, which closed at Quebec on the 15th inst., a certain deacon reserved one of electoral bribery. The effect of this will be that Catholic making confession, and either accepting bribes cannot obtain absolution except from the Bishop of their diocese to whom the power is reserved, with the hope of obtaining general electoral purity. We give the statement as outlined in an exchange, and we are glad to notice any movement in the churches tending to restrict and lessen the bribery and corruption of late so widely prevalent. We should be glad to find the Protestant churches and ministry also taking decided action to check one of the greatest public evils of the time.—St. John's Herald.

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA FIRE.

Vancouver, B. C., June 16.—The following is a brief report of the origin and progress of the Vancouver holocaust: All day Sunday there had been a steady wind from the north-west, and a fire starting from the Canadian Pacific railway cars were fanned to such an extent as to fill the terminal town of Vancouver with smoke. Nobody, however, had an idea of danger. Soon after one o'clock several persons began to consider the situation threatening, but the smoke was so dense that they found it impossible to direct their steps to the exact location of the source. Soon a stable near the Colonial hotel was seen to be on fire. The alarm was given, but no attention for some time.

The wind by this had increased to a gale and fanned the flames. One of the first buildings to go was MacCarthy's drug store, followed by the office of the Vancouver News. The flames shot across the street with astonishing rapidity and almost before the people could realize it, the whole of the western portion of the city was in a blaze. The excitement was intense. Vancouver was filled with death rattle. The streets were filled with people, and the fire engines were unable to get near the burning buildings.

In some cases there was only just time to place them on improvised rafts, which were hastily put together and sent down the river. The flames, which had been burning for some time, were now spreading rapidly. The fire engines were unable to get near the burning buildings. The fire spread to the Canadian Pacific company. Others, again, made for False Creek. It was found especially necessary to compel the firemen to relinquish their effects to save time.

Falling timbers and stumps on each side of the road, glowing with fire, proved a serious menace to the fugitives as they fled. During the confusion which was everywhere, many of the fire engines were unable to get near the burning buildings. The fire spread to the Canadian Pacific company. Others, again, made for False Creek. It was found especially necessary to compel the firemen to relinquish their effects to save time.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Boston, June 18th. Here we are again with our "crazy quilt." My clippings this week show that the ancient Puritan spirit is not yet extinct in the "Hub." The bias relating to the strict observance of the Sabbath have never yet been repealed, and an effort is now being made to enforce them to the letter. It seems that barbers were selected as the first victims, but the Sunday closing ordinance bears hard also on the dress-making classes. The ladies and provision stores are to be obliged to trade until 10 a. m., and not later, under penalty, while certain drug stores will remain open all the Sabbath. Police have no power to arrest offenders, but they are required to notify those violating the ordinance and then apply to the court judge for warrants. The blind goddess seems to be arranging her minions to a phenomenal activity. The Boston Herald of Monday reports that on the day before last, the West street station, stored with the general that had been seized and brought to the elevated ground covered by the fire-room during a flourishing business. A new note, a paper a day or two later related that a certain man, imprisoned in the station over night in a cell where he was especially necessary to compel the firemen to relinquish their effects to save time.

Dr. Cunningham's Improved Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Glycerine, with the HYPOPHOSPHITES of LIME and SODA, is UNQUESTIONEDLY THE FINEST remedy for any who choose to avail themselves of this kind of medicine. It is equal for the frigid to melt outside and give the couple a reception with a shower of rice, and the neighboring grocers keep parcels ready packed for the occasion. The bottles are generally protected by their vells, the druggists are less fortunate and yesterday one of them received several grains in his eyes. After a vain attempt to clear and he will now have to pass in the ward of a hospital what would have been his business. It is a pity that this is not by any means the first serious accident caused in this way.—Fall Mill Gazette.
