EUROPE MUST INTERFERE NOW

French and Spanish Subjects Killed in Morocco

TANGIER, Aug. 1.—Dr. Morall, who arrived here last night on a German steamer which brought a number of Jews and refugees from Casablanca, is the bearer of a report to the French charge d'affaires here, showing that the slaughter of Europeans in Casablanca was the outcome of a policy of war preached by the Arabs for the extermination of Europeans.

IS BEING PREACHED BY ARAB CHIEFS AGAINST ALL EUROPEANS—SULTAN MUST BE BROUGHT TO THE MARK

On Monday a number of Arab chiefs of the Casablanca pointed out that the work was being done with the sanction of the Sultan, whereupon the chiefs replied that the Sultan was no longer their ruler, as he obeyed the Europeans. They began to incite natives against Europeans in the town. On Tuesday morning the natives began their attack by stoning a European, and when the man tried to flee he was surrounded and hacked to pieces. The signal for a general attack and as soon as the danger became known the French and Spanish residents rushed to their respective consulates for protection. During this fight at least eight were murdered.

UNION OF THE PROVINCES

Dr. Silas Alward's Opinions on Maritime Union—A Practical View.

In seconding the vote of thanks to Dr. Falconer at Tuesday's Canadian Club luncheon, Dr. Silas Alward spoke eloquently in support of maritime union, strongly approving the sentiment expressed by the distinguished president of Toronto University. He first referred to the wonderful change that had taken place since confederation of the provinces. At first we had no idea or just conception of the great country of the northwest. In 1869 when Hon. Joseph Howe was returning from the then Fort Garry he met Wm. McDougall crossing from Manitoba to the country of which he had been appointed governor, and Hon. Joseph Howe said to him, "You had better return, I wouldn't give a farm in the Cornwallis Valley for the whole of the northwest." Continuing Dr. Alward spoke of the great change since these vast provinces had been formed in that lone land. Now British Columbia and these provinces, twenty-eight representatives were sent to Ottawa. Under the census recently taken in Alberta and Saskatchewan there would be a grand total of thirty-four representatives, while the representation of the maritime provinces amounted to thirty-five, only one more than the representation from British Columbia and the Northwest.

THE HEROIC DOLL

BY NORA ARDENE.

Edna and Selma were having tea in the shade of the old apple tree. They sat on a bench, and the menu was laid out before them. Edna, the victor, the guest of honor, held a new wax doll elegantly gowned, and anon she would instruct the young lady as to the proper doll manners. Selma, the hostess, had a doll on a chair by her side, but it was far from new. The fact is, Arabella May had been left out doors all night in the spring by her fond, but rather forgetful, mother, and the hard rain that had fallen had washed all color from her face and loosened the glue that held her hair in place, so that she was totally bald, with a great hole in the back of her head, and with pallid lips and cheeks.

just like grandma wrinkles her forehead—and lights everything in a flash, and the wind stirred the trees and made the leaves sound just like whispering, while the long limbs bent down like they were alive and wanted to get Arabella May. The poor child was frightened out of her wits, but, though she tried to call me, she says she couldn't utter a word. "How the little girl must have suffered!" exclaimed Edna in a sympathetic voice. "To make it all the worse," continued the Little Mother, "the wind shook leaves down on Arabella May, and something (it may have been a rat) ran right over her face. Aren't you afraid of rats?" "Dreadfully," assented Edna. "Then the rain began. There that little child lay alone in the dark, and while the limbs were reaching down, as if to grab her and the thunder was booming."

Edna and Selma were having tea in the shade of the old apple tree. "You mean a shero, of course," corrected Edna. "Tell me all about it, just as she told it to you." "By us Edna meant to include her own doll. There are people who say dolls cannot talk unless they have a photograph attached, but little girls know better. They understand their dolls, just as we understand the goodness of their babies, that so the average man mean nothing. "Now sit still, Sweet Marie," continued Edna, as she carefully arranged her own bright doll by her side. "See what a shero Arabella May proved herself to be, and try if you can to be like her. Only be careful and don't get your paint washed off," she added as an afterthought. "Yes, the poor dear was so frightened when she awakened and found herself put doors and it was dark," began Selma. "But what could she do? There she had to be all alone while the thunder was rattling and lightning rolling up the sky—

Daily Fashion Hint for Times Readers.

A PICTURESQUE ARRANGEMENT OF THE AUTO VEIL.

Various novelties in auto veils have made their appearance throughout the summer, and with each new veil comes a novel way of arrangement. It all depends upon the occasion and the length of the drive which way is best to arrange this serviceable, but very attractive accessory. For a long drive the head is carefully enveloped in a veil which entirely covers the head as well as the face, as a protection against the dust and dirt of the road, but for city wear or the short country drive, when one goes shopping or visiting, a light colored veil, white, pale blue or pink, with dots of black or brown is very smart and attractive worn over a small modish hat. This necessarily need not be a motor

Selma turned away the face of Arabella May. "She is so modest," she explained. "Well, when the storm was at its worst a poor little drowning bird was beaten from the tree and whirled down right against Arabella May. The child was frightened, of course, but with wonderful presence of mind, she understood that unless something was done the poor little bird would perish. It was then she did her heroic act. The little dear, with utter unselfishness, rolled over on her side in such a way that her body sheltered the bird and saved its life. There the poor baby lay all night, with the rain soaking into her and loosening the top of her head, but she never failed in her duty for one moment. This morning we found the bird under her body, almost dry and warm."

Ready to die for the right, And so you will live Ever and ever so long. Sweet, sweet, sweet Is service, and very high; And all things that are Are surprisingly fair; But most beautiful, most complete, Are they who for others die. The world does not know, And the voice of man has not told The deeds that cause earth to glow, And the hidden thoughts that are gold. God knows, though we may not know. "Do you hear that, Sweet Marie? I knew the bird would not forget," cried Edna. "Oh, you dear, dear Arabella May!" exclaimed Selma, as she caught her doll in her arms and kissed its white lips and cheeks.

"Why, Arabella May, you old dear!" cried Edna, matching up the dilapidated doll and kissing it fondly. "You are the most beautiful creature I ever saw. Why Selma, she was never so handsome as now. She ought to have a medal for her noble deed." "I think of writing on it to see if something can't be done," said Selma. "I would by all means. Why, that story ought to be made into a grammar." (Edna meant drama, but she is not the only person in the world who is sometimes unable to say just what she means.) "And what about the little bird that Arabella May saved?" "We turned it loose, but it was a most ungrateful thing," responded Selma. "It never said so much as thank you, and has never been back since. It might at least have returned and asked how Arabella May was getting along. The poor child suffered dreadfully, and it was a long time before we knew whether she would live with that great hole in her head." "But just then from the boughs of the apple tree above them rang a clear note as shrill as beauty. The little girls had no difficulty in understanding it. It was the little bird that Arabella May had saved, and now it was singing its thanks. Perhaps, if you had been there you would not have known it, but the little girl understood. It said: Give, give, give, Either your life or a song; Be brave in the night,

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it swells and shuts out the hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, deafness will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by Dr. J. Three teams waiting to cross the ferry had to go around the bridge. Charles Doyeman and his helpers were given an early call to build a plank walk over the sunken floats so as to enable passengers to get aboard the boat. A pump was in use last evening for draining the floats. Mrs. Hedley F. Staples, of Fredericton, accompanied by her family, left yesterday for Sackatoon, where she will join her husband.

HE WILL GO TO NEW YORK

Engineer Hunter Has Been Offered a Position in Gotham

At the regular monthly meeting of the water and sewerage board last evening, considerable time was spent in a private discussion of a report prepared by Mr. McIntyre, chartered accountant, on Messrs. Money's and McArthur & McVe's contracts. A resolution was drawn up to be presented to the council, but its purport was not made known. Engineer Hunter sent in a communication asking the board to fix a time when he could leave the service of the city to accept a position in New York. The matter was referred to Engineer Barbour. It was decided to repair the caretaker's house at Little River reservoir at a cost of $1,200. A number of other matters reported on by the director were disposed of. The meeting was lengthy, adjournment not being made until after 11:20 o'clock. Engineer Hunter sent in a communication to the effect that he had received a notice from the New York Civil Service Commission stating that he was successful in passing the examination for the position of assistant engineer in charge of sections on the New York water supply. He wished that the board should name a time after which he would be at liberty to leave the employment of the city at short notice. It was decided to communicate with Engineer Barbour. Mr. Hunter, in referring to his communication, said the board could fix a time, say, about the first of next January, as the only requirement for the new position was that he be available at say four days' notice after the time he notifies

TO HOLD BENCH SHOW

At a largely attended meeting of the New Brunswick Kennel Club, held in the Dufferin hotel last night, committees were appointed to make arrangements for holding a bench show in September. Col. Blaine was elected honorary president with full privileges. In the absence of Dr. Hetherington, Heber Vroom took the chair. A great deal of business was transacted, and six new members elected, among them being Dr. W. W. White, W. Magee, and J. Humphrey Sheehan. It was decided to admit to the club both honorary and ordinary members, and to elect a number of ladies to the honorary class. The election of officers will take place at the next meeting. Farnell B. McCafferty, who has been an energetic and capable member of the Globe reporting staff, has resigned and will leave next week for Sackatoon to engage in newspaper work there. He has been active in the Young Men's Society of St. Joseph, was a member of the society ball team and generally popular.

PANORAMIC VIEW OF CONY ISLAND'S FIRE ZONE. NEW YORK, July 31.—Cony Island was fire swept for the third time in eight years at dawn on Sunday. George C. Tilyou's Steeplechase Park was laid in ruins, causing a loss of $1,000,000, on which there was not a penny of insurance. It will not be rebuilt. Twenty-seven buildings along the east side of the old Bowery, between Steeplechase Park and Henderson's Walk, were licked up like houses of paper, adding an approximate $500,000 on the loss sustained by Mr. Tilyou. Starting supposedly from a lighted cigarette thrown among refuse in the heart of Steeplechase Park, the flames leaped in all directions almost instantly. Before the fire had done its worst, the big amusement park, had caused a panic among the thousands of sleeping persons in the vicinity, and volunteer fire companies had been formed in Luna Park and Dreamland, which it was thought for an hour would be levelled by the flames. When the fire was discovered the wind was blowing strongly out of the west, but it quickly swung to the northwest. Under the strong wind fanning the flames the fire quickly jumped beyond the bounds of Steeplechase and began an advance toward the southeast. Adjoining the park, on the west side of Kensington walk, were the low, flimsy frame buildings that for years have been typical of Cony's Bowery. Of a mushroom growth, these structures fairly melted before the rush of flames; but before the fire reached them hundreds of persons who were housed in them had to be warned of their danger. In these buildings numberless heroic rescues, of which no formal record was taken, were made. Persons taunting and deriding the firemen, and others who were as indifferent to the injuries they received as to the applause that was showered on them. Women were half led and half carried to places of safety by men not noted for their gentility, but who, in the time of danger and excitement, were as considerate as the oldest firemen. Rescuers and would-be rescuers flocked about the place, eager to risk their lives and looking for persons to save. The Ferris Hotel, on the northwest corner of Kensington Walk and the Bowery, was the first structure outside of Steeplechase to burn. From there the flames jumped across the Bowery to Lent's Music Hall, and then on to Olsen's shooting gallery; on the southeast corner of the Bowery and Kensington Walk. On the northeast corner, the flames burned part of two small buildings occupied by Japanese ball games. From here the fire was confined entirely to the south side of the Bowery.

LOW BANK RESERVES AGAINST THE MARKET

Comment on the Financial Situation in New York and European Capitals.

(New York Evening Post.) Although the speculation has gained considerable headway, it is questionable whether it would be possible to inaugurate a broad stock market campaign with the bank reserves as low as they are. All attempts to get Europe to finance the speculation in this market have been futile, partly because the great foreign markets are too heavily engaged with their own commitments to extend outside assistance, and partly because the crusade started in London against the acceptance of our finance bills. At the British capital this discrimination has been urged for weeks, in the effort to prevent such general acceptance of our bills as might ultimately force the great banks of Europe to restrict advances to their own customers. While this movement against American bills has been partially successful, the rates offered by our borrowers have in some cases been so attractive as to force the European lenders to make moderate advances. Sir Felix Schuster, at the Union Bank of London meeting last Wednesday, in referring to these circumstances, declared that our indebtedness to Europe had reached such proportions as to make it difficult for us to attract very much gold in the autumn, even if our grain exports should be heavy. The failure of the Manchurian loan in London last week was another indication of the congestion of investment issues in the world's great markets, which will not be materially relieved until there is a sufficient release of capital through trade recession to bring bank reserves up to the normal level for this season. In this respect our position is stronger than that of most European markets, for, while there has been no broad absorption of bonds here, the increased inquiry for short-term notes reflects an investment demand that may extend to the longer term issues, if conditions are not further disturbed. It must be remembered, however, that the outflow of harvesting funds ordinarily sets in about the middle of August, and that the drain will impose unusual burdens this year, because of financing the heavy syndicate payments that have to be provided for within the next three months. Should Paris apply for gold in this market this week, when the August disbursements are in course of adjustment, the combined demand will afford the most interesting test that the money market has been subjected to since the half-yearly settlement was arranged. The banks have not yet fully recovered from the hardships of that financing, although the various demands were provided for without the disturbance that those in touch with the situation feared.

CHIGNECTO POWER PLANT WAS FORMALLY OPENED YESTERDAY

Thomas A. Edison Sends His Congratulations to Chairman of Board of Trade Committee.

Amherst, N. S., July 31.—Today marked an important era in the industrial history of Amherst, the occasion being the formal opening of the power plant at Chignecto. A party of about 100 left Amherst by special train at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon and after a run of eight miles over the I. C. R., the party were taken over the road of the Maritime Coal Railway & Power Company to the mines, where one hour or two was spent in examining the important plant which in the future promises the development of cheap and practical power.

The change wrought at this point during the past year was simply marvellous. A fully equipped up-to-date mining plant is always interesting, but to this is added the only plant on the American continent, where electrical power is generated at the mouth of the mine for distribution. The power is supplied by a Robb compound vertical enclosed self-acting engine of 800 horse power, manufactured by the Robb Engineering Company of Amherst, directly connected to a Canadian Westinghouse alternating generator of 1,000 kilowatt capacity. This engine, which is the first of its kind built on this side of the Atlantic, is a new departure for Canadian users. It is of the English type, high speed, running at 300 revolutions a minute. The machine is also equipped with a pressure oil system carrying from ten to fifteen pounds oil pressure on all bearings continuously.

The plant is operated by four return tubular high pressure boilers built by the Hobbs. The coal is automatically fed by Jones' Underfeed Stokers, and the plant is arranged with an induced draft system. The power is six and a quarter miles from the transforming station at Amherst. The construction of the line for transmission has been somewhat of the superintendence of H. E. Timmerman. Owing to the 11,000 voltage of this line the construction work has been somewhat out of the ordinary in regard to high insulation on the pole line by which the power is transmitted.

The company have their own telephone line, which of itself is unique as it is built in the form of a two strand rope, in other words there is a quarter of an inch turn or 400 complete twists from Chignecto to Amherst.

The company have spared no pains in the matter of poles and safety appliances, through the country, and in crossing the Nappan river and Intercolonial railway, the transmission line is made up of three quarter inch steel cable placing the possibilities of a break beyond reach. The fuel used in the screenings or waste coal which previously was of little practical use, hardly paying for transportation. This, with the fact that the fuel is so near the plant, requiring no second handling, is the chief reason why the power can be supplied at such a low cost that it will be practical for all manufacturing purposes.

After thoroughly inspecting the plant and the mines the party returned to Amherst and visited the works of Rhodes Curry & Co., where the power had been installed, to check his honor, Lieut. Governor Fraser turned the switch which set the machinery in motion, presenting a practical illustration of the possibilities of this new source of power. The machines were set in motion and work turned out equal to that of the old power in use by this concern.

Among those present besides Governor Fraser were Premier Robinson, Surveyor General Sewesary, Hon. Wm. Pugsley, George Robertson, M. P., A. B. Copp, M. P., Prof. Andrews and others of the Maritime Provinces. Those from the upper provinces were Senator Mitchell, Wm. Iwing, H. R. Mitchell, Dr. Giles, Henry Dalby, former editor of the Montreal Star, and G. J. Adams, of Montreal; H. D. Smith, Hamilton; Edgar S. Read, Ottawa; Julian Smith, general superintendent of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company, Montreal, acting consulting engineer for the Power Company, also W. D. MacKenzie, chief engineer of the P. R.; H. J. Logan, M. P., Hon. W. T. Piper, M. P., C. A. Luby, president of the local board of trade, and many leading Amherst citizens.

Mr. Logan was most attentive to the party, adding greatly to its enjoyment by the interest taken. The following telegram will be of more than local interest:

"Orange (N. J.), July 23, '07. 'H. J. Logan, M. P., Chairman Board of Trade Committee: 'Permit me to congratulate your board and Senator Mitchell on the inauguration of the first plant on the American continent for the generation of electricity at the mouth of a coal mine and the distribution of the same to New Brunswick. It is a bold attempt and I never thought it would succeed. I am glad to hear that your father was born over 100 years ago. (Signed) 'THOMAS A. EDISON.'

A REAL BOOM IN TORONTO

Nearly $20,000,000 in New Buildings—Many New Factories, Some of Them by American Firms.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.) That a record industrial year is ahead of Toronto is the statement of Ed. J. Freyseng, the newly-elected chairman of the Toronto district of the Manufacturers' Association.

The addition of many new industries to the already growing list of Toronto's factories and the enlargement of many of the present concerns, are among his predictions. In fact, matters have passed the stage of surmise and are now of the nature of fact with absolute certainty that in both respects the most hopeful expectations will be fulfilled.

"The prospects are splendid," said Mr. Freyseng to The Mail and Empire. "The expansion is very heavy and going to continue so. Toronto has now passed the 30,000 stage and from now on there will be no holding back."

"This growth is not inflated," continued the chairman. "It is sure and steady now that the banks have taken a firm hold on industrial matters. The action of the banks is steadying things."

Continuing, Mr. Freyseng stated that a very large number of new industries, particularly American firms were coming in to Toronto this year. In most cases the negotiations have been practically closed, but for obvious reasons the names of the firms are being withheld for the present.

In looking after the securing of these industries the Manufacturers' Association are working hand in hand with Commissioner of Industries Thompson.

These new firms are to be located for the most part in the east, particularly in the Riverdale section and in the west near the King street subway. Several large concerns are also intending to settle around the Canada Foundry.

The American firms who are located here are for the most part to be branches of some of the larger industries in the United States side now shipping into Canada.

ARE EXTENDING.

A majority of the present Toronto manufacturers are extending or intending to extend their works this year, according to Mr. Freyseng.

Among the firms who have commenced operations on the building of extensions to their plants are the Cobban Manufacturing Co., the Gourlay, Winter and Leeming Co., Frankel Bros., Toronto Plate Glass Co., and others. The J. P. Scott Co. have completed their new works.

It is hinted that the A. E. Kemp Co. intend to practically double their plant during the summer.

The Freyseng Cork Co. are to erect a four-story addition to their plant.

WILL MAKE A RECORD. "I have no doubt that the year's operations will constitute a record," he said. "From present indications at least 18 or 20 millions should be expended in Toronto this year in new buildings of an industrial character."

TRAINING SHIP ON GREAT LAKES

U. S. Government Wants to Place One on Lake Ontario Now.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 31.—(Special)—The United States government has made another application for a training ship on the Great Lakes. Some time ago an application was made and granted for a United States cruiser to be stationed at the mouth of a canal to be utilized as a training ship on Lake Erie. This time the application is made for one on Lake Ontario.

While the United States has formally processed the application to the Dominion government it is really from the state of New York and is made on behalf of the naval militia with headquarters at Rochester. It is understood that the application will be granted. There are no guns on these old cruisers which are to be used as training ships. Whatever guns are required for the naval officers and cadets will be kept ashore.

The training of the application is regarded as a neighborly act and in no way interferes with the arrangements as to cruisers on the great lakes which exists between both countries.

THE IRISH FEUD GROWING KEENER

Important Developments Expected After the Session of Parliament Ends.

A recent cable from Dublin gives the following statement of the new political conditions in Ireland.

"The members of the Sinn Fein, or 'Ourselves Alone,' Society are jubilant over the conversion of Sir Thomas Henry Grant Lennox, the whip of the Irish party in the House of Commons, who has deserted the Nationalists and joined the Sinn Fein. They assert that a bigger surprise is coming in the form of the address to the Sinn Fein of a large number of members of parliament who have hitherto been supporters of John Redmond and who, most of them, are financially independent.

"Politicians outside of the United Irish League declare that the greatest fear of the league is that the United States will discover that the cry of Irish unity is false and refuse to subscribe further to the Irish movement, or recognizing that the parliamentary campaign has proved a failure, should transfer their financial support to the Sinn Fein.

"These politicians complain that the American delegates who were in Ireland recently investigating the expenditure of the funds donated by the United States were not in the country long enough to learn anything. They were taken in hand by the league leaders and got only such information as suited the league.

"The declaration made by these delegates on their return to the United States, that the Irish people were united and that the best possible use was being made of the money contributed by America, was, the politicians say, erroneous. They declare that the feeling between the two Nationalist camps is becoming keener and that important developments may be expected when the session of parliament ends and members return to their constituencies."

William Howe, of Fredericton, died very suddenly in his home last Tuesday. Mr. Howe, who was 70 years of age, had a dinner when he retired to his room to rest awhile. A little later he was found dead in bed. The coroner was summoned and gave his opinion that death had resulted from heart failure. Deceased was 83 years old.

In spite of the disagreeable weather last evening the Carlton Cornet Band turned out and played a choice programme on their stand in Market square. About 600 people were present.

BRITT TOO MUCH FOR NELSON

Got Decision Over the Dane After 20 Fierce Rounds--Battier Favorite in Betting.

San Francisco, July 31--Battling Nelson, the Dane, went to defeat before Jimmy Britt of California, in the 20th round of a hard fought battle tonight. Britt was seen the decision in the 20th, Nelson going to his corner vomiting.

There was called at 10:04 p. m. Round 1--Britt sent Nelson to the ring back with a terrific right to the jaw and Nelson almost went to his knees. He was up quickly in fighting position and Britt smashed right and left hand to the face and then hooked hard left to the body. Nelson closed in, smiling at his seconds. Britt cleverly protected himself from the Dane's onslaught. Britt had the advantage of the round.

In the fourth Britt landed two lefts to face and right to batter's ear. But Britt made a wonderful rally and put left and right to Nelson's face. As the going showed Britt sank his left twice to the Dane's stomach, making the latter wince.

Socoma Girl Had It Easy. Cleveland, July 31--The contest between two stars Socoma Girl and Hubbard in the 21st trotting event contested for today, promising a scattering of records, for the second day of the grand circuit met the large crowd that has witnessed the famous trotting on the famous Cleveland oval track since the famous Socoma Girl was lame and had to be withdrawn. As a result Socoma Girl, although she was not the winner, she was a hollow victory, there being no other starters that could force her to her usual speed, much less a better record. She was beaten by Hubbard, who won the race in 2:09 1/2.

Hubbard was the only favorite of the day to lose. Alice Polster, the second choice, won the first race of the day, the 1 1/2 mile. She turned the trick in straight heats, winning easily, securing money for her owner, a victory which could do no better than second each day.

The time for Alice Polster, the 2 1/2 mile race, today with Ardelle, the champion race that was the Chamber of Commerce race in 1906. The mare won handsily, never being forced to her feet. Schievetti, driver for David Shaw, of Cleveland, scored his second victory of the day when he won the 2 1/2 mile race with Lillian R. Emory, being driven by the veteran driver and Allen Jay second in the second heat. This race was featured by the reappearance of John Smith, the veteran reisman on the grand circuit, he driving Billy, which finished third.

The track was in excellent condition for the race. There will be five straight heats, the stake race for three-year-old trotters being the feature.

The three best colored jockeys in America, J. Lee, D. Austin and L. Williams are riding at Fort Erie. The competition is keener there and Lee is not riding as many winners as he did at Latonia. Lyons and John Wesley Murphy are two other colored boys at Fort Erie who ride well.

Sheridan Clark, formerly secretary at New Orleans, insists that there will be a meeting at Norfolk, Va., opening August 22, to run indefinitely. As the meeting is expected to be supported by the patronage attracted by the James-Down Exposition it will have to be an exception to all experience if it is a success.

Black Arrow, Col. W. Hall Walker's famous four-year-old, died at Epsom a week ago. Though he was a tremendously able horse he won few of the races that he should. His attention to the starting barrier was such that he usually wheeled and ran the other way when the others started on their journey. One of his good performances was to give three rounds and a three lengths beating the Derby winner Spearpoint.
