FOURTH OF JULY SLAUGHTER GREATEST IN TWENTY YEARS

Seventy One Persons Killed and Two Thousand, Two Hundred and Seventy Six
Wounded in the Endeavour to Display Their Patriotism

NEW YORK, July 6.—A Chicago special to the Tribune says: Seventy-one dead, and 2,276 injured, are the figures in the Chicago Tribune's Fourth of July casualty list up to 11 p. m. last night. An analysis of the figures shows the following details:
Of the deaths, there were by fireworks and resulting fires 27; by cannon 8; by firearms 16; by gunpowder 6; by pistols 2; by runaways 4; by heart failure due to explosions of cannon crackers 2.
Those injured were:
By fireworks 1,109; by cannon 112; by firearms 196; by gunpowder 551; by torpedoes 40; by toy pistols 211; by bomb cases 17; by runaways 17.
The fire loss was $255,935.
This breaks all records for deaths since 1883. The number of deaths this year reported up to midnight last night is thirteen more than that at the same time last year. 1905 fifty-nine were dead at the same hour. The number of injured, however, is 1,183 less than in 1907, and is the smallest number since 1901, when 1813 persons were hurt. This is regarded as an indication that the agitation for a "safe Fourth" is having its effect.

LURED TO HOTEL AND HACKED WITH RAZOR

Well-Known Acrobat and Illusionist Guilty of Most Brutal Crime—Robbery
His Object.

PARIS, July 6.—A man named Nicholas Tchernadoff was arrested yesterday morning for the attempted murder of Amelie Talavigne on Thursday night.
Tchernadoff was fairly well known as an acrobat and illusionist. He introduced to the public the magic kettle, and has appeared in London. The story of his crime is like a Grand Guignol play. In fact there is a play called "The Pearls" not running which exactly resembles it.
Tchernadoff met his victim's acquaintance some day ago and invited her to the Moulin Rouge and then on the way he suddenly remembered that he was not in evening dress, and asked her to accompany him to his hotel and wait in his sitting room while he changed.

When they arrived there Tchernadoff rushed at Mrs. Talavigne, knocked her down, and began tearing off her jewels which are numerous and valuable.
She screamed for help, when the man slashed her throat with a razor inflicting a terrible wound. He then walked quickly out of the hotel, while the woman her white dress covered with blood, gave one last despairing shriek of "Murder" and fell senseless.
A policeman in the street asked him what the noise was. "I think there is a mad woman in that house," said Tchernadoff quietly and disappeared.
He went to St. Germain and yesterday morning was arrested in a cafe by two gendarmes, who had seen his portrait in the morning papers and recognized him.

By one of those examples of forgetfulness for which criminals are responsible, Tchernadoff had given Mrs. Talavigne his photograph and the reproduction of this picture in yesterday's papers led to his immediate arrest.
He had intended leaving for Havre in the morning and escaping by boat.
The jewels which were found on him were worth nearly $10,000.

SOCIALISTS NOMINATE THEIR CANDIDATES

Marlin Preston for President and Donald Munro for Vice President.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Candidates for president and vice-president of the United States were nominated and a platform adopted by the National Convention of the Socialist Labor Party here yesterday. The ticket is as follows:
For President—Marlin E. Preston, of Nevada.
For Vice-President—Donald Munro, of Virginia.

The nomination of Preston for president was unanimous and was received by delegates and audience with wild applause.
The platform is identical with the one adopted by the party four years ago and declares for the substitution of the co-operative commonwealth for the present state of plutocracy, industrial war and social disorder.

ILLICIT LOVE LEADS TO BRUTAL MURDER

Man Elopes With Another's Wife and Returning Kills Husband

MILAN, July 6.—Northern Italy has been the scene of two sensational love tragedies.
One of the leading figures in the beautiful young Countess Giovanna Benivoglio, of Bologna. The countess, who belongs to a very old and once powerful Bologna family, is barely 21 years of age. She was taken straight from a convent three years ago and married to a Marquis, who agent, named Lapaglia. The couple lived in a small flat at Bologna quite happily, but, as often happens in Italian society, they kept no servant, taking their meals at a popular restaurant. Their only child she had been put out to nurse with peasants in the mountains.
A young Venetian magistrate, named Paternoster, came to Bologna, was struck by the countess' beauty and laid siege to her heart with such success that he finally persuaded her to elope with him. The countess, making the pretence of a trip to Sicily for a prolonged stay with a relative, joined Paternoster in Rome, whence, after devising the dispatch of letters bearing the Naples and Palermo post-marks, in order to put Lapaglia off the scent, the runaway couple took train to Paris.
There they stayed a fortnight, and then, as their funds were giving out, they moved gradually down to Lugano.
Her penniless condition awakened penitence in the countess, and she telegraphed that she was ready to return home. She also appealed to a local lawyer friend to help her. The lawyer, who had been journeying day and night, spurring slowly through the mountains, and in the end, in quest of the runaway, signified his readiness to forgive.
Paternoster followed them and lay in wait. No sooner had he caught sight of the unfortunate and unrepentant husband Jaggi than he assailed him savagely, and then mortally wounded him with two shots from a revolver at the entrance to the station. Paternoster, who is 28 years of age, and had a promising career before him, has been arrested.

HUSBAND'S REVENGE.

The other case is that of the Marquis Corradi, who has been shot dead by the husband of a bewitching society woman named Fanny Zaccaria.

On rising one morning the husband caught his wife in an adjoining room in the act of writing a passionate love letter to the marquis. The wife threw the unfinished missive out of the window to prevent her husband from seeing it, but he rushed downstairs into the street and secured it. After reading it he went off with a loaded revolver to a neighboring hotel round the corner and killed the marquis in the hall. He then fled to the woods, but was caught early the next morning while creeping down to his home.
Yesterday there was a startling development of the case. Signora Fanny Zaccaria was held out to prison under a special warrant, charging her with being an accomplice in the murder of her husband. It is stated that there is further mystery underlying the affair which they cannot yet divulge.
A curious feature of the case is the fact that Mrs. Zaccaria was due to appear at the law courts at Lecce next week in connection with proceedings she had taken against a woman in whose company she had surprised her husband some time ago.
It is stated that when Signora Zaccaria confessed her infidelity to her husband, he presented her with a high revolver, decorated with mother of pearl, and told her to shoot herself. Muttering her resolution, she kissed her husband, closed her eyes, and, ejaculating "All is over," fired a shot through the ceiling.

GOULD CHALLENGES THE ENGLISH CHAMFION

LONDON, July 6.—At the close of the contests between Cecil Fairste and E. Johnson, on Saturday, for the court tennis championship, Fairste was challenged by Jay Gould, the amateur champion. He expressed his willingness to a match and it is expected the details of the contest will soon be arranged. The conditions proposed by Gould were a series of home matches in New York and London next season for the open championship of the world.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT PORT AU PRINCE

Fort Hundred Buildings Burned
Yesterday

Court House and Prison Destroyed—
French Marines Aided in Fighting the Flames.

PORT AU PRINCE, July 6.—A serious fire broke out here about two o'clock yesterday in the vicinity of the Palace and Senate Building. The flames spread quickly there being a high wind, and soon reached alarming proportions. Four hundred buildings were burned, including the court house and the prison. Sparks were carried to other quarters before the building took fire. Sparks were carried to the arsenal which also was destroyed with stores of powder and ammunition. The burning of the buildings was accompanied by many explosions. The firemen were aided by fighting the flames and a force from the French cruiser Chasseloup-Laubat.

POSED AS PRINCE IN MAN'S ATTIRE

Austrian Woman Lunatic Had Strange Fancy.

Borrowed Money on Notes With Royal Signature—Man Dressed as Woman for Years.

VIENNA, July 3.—The Austrian lunacy commissioners have recently had to deal with two remarkable cases, one being that of Karl Giffinger, a man who believed himself to be a woman, and the other of Margareta Erb, who posed as a man. Giffinger was a harmless fellow who wore women's clothes and had been on a farm as a dairymaid.
The story of Margareta Erb is much more romantic. She certainly showed much method in her madness, firmly impressed with the idea that she was Prince Egon Louis, a legitimate son of King Louis of Bavaria, she went about in male clothing, with close cropped hair and incessantly smoking cigars.
Her features were pronouncedly masculine and she found no difficulty in twice becoming engaged to be married. Her second fiancée, a goldsmith's daughter, still believes that she is a man of high birth. That her story impressed a great many people is shown by the fact that she was able to borrow various large sums of money on promissory notes signed "Egon Ludwig of Bavaria" from persons whom she promised to repay tenfold as soon as she would receive a fortune of $3,000,000 which, she said, was being illegally withheld from her for reasons of State.
Her last feat was to draw up a will in which she left large amounts of money to her fiancée and others who had befriended her. But now the lunacy commissioners have cut short her adventurous career as well as the infamous masquerade of Karl Giffinger. Both are to be sent to the same asylum.

SEVERAL CASES HEARD IN THE POLICE COURT

Dominion Day Not a Proper Time for Hugging—Insane Woman in the Court.

In the police court this morning Edward York was fined eight dollars and two months with hard labor for being drunk. York is an old man who ran away from the Municipal Home. Phoebe Dukeshire was charged with escaping from the Municipal Home. The magistrate said she should be sent back and should not be allowed to escape. Phoebe said if she went to the Home again she would have to be put in a grave. The woman is supposed to be insane and her actions at the Home are such that those in charge say she is not a fit subject, and will not take her back.
Two drunks were fined the usual amount.
Sadie Nairn, who was arrested last night on a warrant for abusive language, was remanded to jail because of the absence of the complainant. The warrant for the arrest was issued in May.
In the case against Beckman for assaulting George Gillespie, Arthur Hoyt gave evidence that Beckman assaulted Gillespie. Beckman was fined $20. On imposing the fine the magistrate said that the assault happened on Dominion Day and from what he learned the King Square was a disgrace to the city on account of the large number of drunks. Persons were supposed to have a holiday and enjoy themselves but not get drunk, and one man was so pleased to meet a friend that he hugged and kissed him. The proper authorities should know about fights in bar rooms and the saloon keeper can be prosecuted if he allows a drunken man in the bar.
The case of Wm. Caples selling to an interdict will be taken up tomorrow.

STEAMER LADY SYBILL ON THE GASPE ROUTE

Suitable Boat Has Been Secured to Replace the Lady Eileen—The Latter
Has Been Abandoned.

DALHOUSIE, N. B., July 6.—The steamer Lady Eileen will be replaced on the Campbellton-Dalhousie-Gaspé route by the S. S. Lady Sybill of Halifax. Complete arrangements have been made between the owners and the Dominion Government and the new boat is expected here tomorrow in charge of Captain Charles Powell of Dalhousie. The S. S. Lady Sybill is one hundred and thirty feet long. She has forty-six double staterooms, a nice ladies' cabin, saloon and two dining saloons. She is fitted with electric lights and modern improvements. She will carry about five hundred tons of freight. Altogether she will be a very suitable steamer for the route.
Latest news from Port Daniel is that the underwriters have abandoned the Lady Eileen.

WHOSE DUTY IS IT?

For two months an old crate and empty barrel have been standing on North Market street, opposite Messrs. O'Neil Bros. stall. Last week a barrel full of decomposed water or pickle has been on the sidewalk. I have spoken to the clerk of the market, but it is there yet. If there is no one whose duty it is to look after such things, the common council should appoint an officer.

TODAY'S CIRCUS PARADE MADE A FINE IMPRESSION

Thousands Gathered on the Streets During the Forenoon to Watch the Procession—Busy Hours at the Shamrock Grounds

The general verdict this morning was that Cole Bros. circus parade was a fine one. By nine o'clock crowds had gathered along the route announced to be taken and when the parade started, shortly before ten o'clock, the streets were lined with hundreds of expectant men, women and children. The circus arrived Sunday night, and at a very early hour this morning the army of workmen were busy engaged in erecting the tents on the Shamrock grounds. By nine o'clock everything was in readiness and shortly after half-past nine the procession left the show grounds. The parade was almost a mile long. It included three bands of music, a fire and drum corps, jubilee singers, bag pipes, and the inevitable steam calliope. The wagons and floats, followed along Main street, to Mill to Pond to City Road to Brunswick, to Union to Charlotte, to King to Cook, to Mill to Main and thence to the show grounds where a free exhibition of several features of the circus was given.

TRAITOR ARRESTED TO ENSURE SAFETY

Man Who Betrayed Camorra
Lodged in Prison

Fought Nine Hours—Finally He Compromised
With Captors, Who, However,
Break Their Pledge.

ROME, July 6.—Another exciting episode was added yesterday to the history of the long and still uncertain official struggle against the supremacy of the Neapolitan Camorra.
Gennaro Abbatemaggio, whose betrayal of his fellow-accomplices in the murder of the Cuscolo couple at Naples enabled the government to track down forty-two members of the supreme death council, has been since then accorded his liberty. So sure was he that his friendship with Marshal Capone, Captain Fabroni and the leaders of the Anti-Camorra, campaign would guarantee his personal safety that he had settled down in a comfortable country villa at Camigliano, near Capua.

Three sets of magistrates who were intrusted, one after the other, with the prosecution of the Camorristas abandoned the ungrateful task through fear of assassination. Now a fresh magistrate, called Lopes, and a new procurator, General Lucchesipalli, have begun the whole judicial prosecution over again. Their first step was to obtain a warrant for the arrest of Abbatemaggio.
His capture was effected under dramatic circumstances. Carabinieri and detachments of mounted troops set out at dead of night from Caserta and Capua and surrounded Abbatemaggio's residence and summoned him to surrender. The famous ex-Camorrist barricaded his house and kept the troops at bay for nine hours, vowing they would never capture him alive. His only revolver was, fortunately, knocked from his grasp by his wife and worked on the window while he was preparing to blow out his brains. Finally, on the command of the carabinieri, agreeing to dismount the mounted men and allow Abbatemaggio to drive to Capua in his own carriage, the latter was dragged from the house amid sympathetic cheers from the population.
When the prisoner, accompanied by the commander of the carabinieri, got well along the road, the cavalry lying in wait suddenly swooped down and closed around the carriage. Abbatemaggio was dragged forth, bound in chains and hurried between a horse and the nearest railway station, and thence to Naples. There he has been lodged in the Palace of Justice, the authorities sharing the traitor's own sentiment that he would be most certainly murdered from his grasp by his wife and family.

WOMAN'S DEAD BODY IN SACK ON STREET

Divested of Most of Her Clothing Which Was Banded Up With Her.

LYONS, July 6.—Excitement has been created here by the discovery of a corpse of a woman in a sack. The affair is very mysterious. A couple of workmen were sometimes as they were starting for a day in the country when they noticed a large sack lying in the street. On examination they found the dead body of a woman doubled up in it, so off they hastened to the nearest police station. Careful inspection by several officials who hurried to the spot revealed the fact that there was no trace of clothing but that the poor woman's hair had been cropped quite close. The corpse was promptly identified as that of a married woman, 29 years of age, dwelling at Lyons, and soon a visit was paid to the house. The husband was asleep in bed, and when he was told of the tragedy he cried, "My wife dead? My wife murdered? Oh, that is impossible." He then gave very odd and precise answers to the questions put to him by the judicial authorities. He stated that he was employed at a boot manufactory, and that on his return from work at noon on the previous day he had missed his wife and had been busy until bedtime in searching for her.
Friends and acquaintances on their side report that the couple were very affectionate terms, so the husband has not been molested, and, indeed, is actively assisting the officials in their investigation. All that the wife did on the fatal morning had been ascertained. At half-past eleven o'clock she returned from the market, whether she had gone to buy provisions for the day, but after that hour nothing was seen of her. If she was murdered at home this must have been during the interval preceding her husband's return from work, but it appears more likely that she went out again, unnoticed by the neighbors.
It is thought that she may have been murdered by some of the Anarches who are active in that district, and that the criminals were carrying the corpse in the sack to throw it into the Rhone when the approach of the two early workmen led them to drop in the street and to run away.

SAVING AND TEACHING THE AMERICAN BUFFALO

Backed by the enthusiasm of private individuals the governments of the United States and Canada have taken up the question of preservation of the American buffalo, and strenuous efforts are being made to encourage this patriarch of the western plains to propagate and live in contentment in specially-protected enclosures.

Fifteen of the finest buffaloes in the herd of the New York Zoological Garden were recently shipped and dumped down into the Wichita game preserve, a great range containing twelve square miles of grazing grounds formerly inhabited by the buffalo in the state of Oklahoma. To fence this vast enclosure a United States Government appropriated a sum of $20,000.

PRACTICAL INTEREST.

Then during the last few months the Canadian Government has been busy transporting 35 of the buffaloes of the Fabre-Harding herd to Elk Island Park in Canada. The herd totals 628 animals, for which the Canadian Government set apart a sum of $10,000 to purchase and transport them.

The practical interest which the United States and Canada have evinced in the buffalo is no doubt largely due to the efforts of the American Bison Society. It has 700 members, including the leading naturalists, sportsmen, and public men of both the United States and Canada. Curiously enough the person who has given the most money to further its work is a woman.

The secretary of the society, is Mr. Ernest Harold Baynes, and no institution ever had a more zealous worker. He has discovered new uses to which the buffalo can be put; for instance, he can be broken to harness like any ordinary horse, while his wool is of commercial value.

NEW GOVT. IN PARAGUAY

Revolutionists Are Victorious There
Their Own President Takes Office—Fighting in the Streets

BUENOS AYRES, July 5.—Advices received here today state that the revolutionists have been victorious in Paraguay and a new government has been established. These advices have been conveyed by a dispatch received by the Minister of Foreign Affairs from the Argentine legation at Asuncion officially notifying the President that the revolutionary party had succeeded in overthrowing the Paraguayan government and that several of the Paraguayan ministers of state had taken refuge in the legation.

AMERICAN BISON.

The great majority of the buffalo population of the world are in a few large herds in the west, and the disease might easily sweep off the whole herd, bringing the animal dangerously near extinction.

Since these notes were written news has arrived that the society has introduced the American government to establish a national herd of pure blood American bison on the Flathead Indian reservation in Montana. The range is to have a total area of twenty square miles of good grazing ground, and the government has agreed to purchase the land for $100,000.

GIFT TO NATION.

By great energy and good management the bill was promptly passed and the impetus to the movement, for the buffalo came under the category of the natural resources of the nation.

CENSUS OF BUFFALOES.

When Mr. Baynes has discovered that the wool of the buffalo is of value, he is spring these animals shed their coats. It comes out in great handfuls and they could be sheared like sheep by the application of a little ingenuity. Mr. Baynes took a few handfuls of wool from War Whoop and Tomahawk

HELPING ST. JOHN.

Saturday afternoon's proceedings in the Commons were of particular interest to New Brunswick residents and to St. John people in particular. The discussion which took place relative to the constitution of wharves along the river, the despoiling of that section between the capital and Woodstock, and the future development of St. John harbor, showed most conclusively that the government is, on Hon. Wm. Pugsley's representations, adopting a very generous policy in regard to this province. It is announced that in addition to the present agreement whereby the cost of certain wharves is divided equally between the federal and provincial governments, the former will bear the whole expense of other and more important new work. The criticisms which have been heard as to the cost of dredging in St. John harbor were shown to be groundless, not on the statements made by Dr. Pugsley alone, but from Dr. Donald's explanation of the peculiarly difficult conditions which are encountered here. It is further intimated that in addition to the very large amount of money passed on Saturday the supplementary estimates will include other items of interest to St. John.

AGASSI'S OPTUM.

The announcement made on Friday that the Federal Government will introduce a bill to prohibit the manufacture and sale of opium in Canada, disconcerted to China where the movement is carrying on a great campaign against the drug. Since the movement has been announced rebellions have broken out, and in some provinces but open in others. Yuan Shi-Kai, the leader of the Empire, attributes these disturbances to the success of his efforts to suppress opium. He admits, however, that ultimate success is by no means certain, and that the Chinese nation will have to undergo a long and arduous struggle. Reports received at Peking some weeks ago indicate that the decrease in acreage devoted to the poppy industry has been very slight. These reports will be subject to correction there has not yet been time to estimate exact figures from all parts of the country. One result of the reports has been the dismissal of two viceroys in whose provinces the orders of the government have not been carried out. Yet a definite advance has been made and proof is brought to show that in numerous districts the actual consumption of opium has been curtailed. More has been accomplished than foreign nations expected, considering that it is only two years since the first edict was issued. A great many opium dens throughout the empire have been closed and the discontent created among the people by this movement is now generally favorable to the plan proposed for the treatment of those persons who may be classified as habitual offenders. Everyone is familiar with the policy which trusts little to the effects of punishment and depends chiefly on prevention. No doubt good influence and better living conditions can do much in the way of moral education but there is, in every country, a class of offenders to whom prison has no terrors, who serve on sentence and immediately upon their release, for another who refuse to work and whose business in life is to prey upon society. The idea of prevention is worthless in dealing with these, and persons who take any interest in the administration of the law are coming to the belief only when their natural tendencies have been overcome. Mr. Gladstone's Bill is to this end. Hereafter the questions go before juries in criminal trials will be, not merely whether the prisoner is guilty of the offence with which he is charged, but whether he is a habitual offender. It is shown that he has been convicted on three previous occasions, he will be put in a distinct class, and after the prison sentence is served he will still be detailed ed in some reform institution, until he may be released with safety to society. This imprisonment may be for life, if it may be very brief, it all depends upon the man himself.

CRIMSON CHERRIES.

Crimson cherries deck the trees, brightly swinging, lightly clinging. As they dance upon the breeze, and their luscious juices bringing, every epicure to please.

Farmer's lad and farmer's lass, Seek them, through the orchard range. Robins taste them as they pass, All their dainty sweetness knowing. Dropping fruit stones on the grass.

Crimson cherries, summer's crown, First and fairest of her treasures, Bearing all their branches down, Heaping up the waiting measure, While their richness gains renown.

Who would long for peach and pear, Wealth of grapes the hills ascending, While the cherries ripe and rare, Flung their graces to the morning, Crimson cherries everywhere.

TRUANTS.

A rouse take, for the heart that's light, When the clear days come and the hills are bright, When the wind calls, And no four walls Can stay the foot from straying, Then it's out and up and the way, And it's at night there's a score to pay, Why, where is the wight that's carrying.

Aye, it's will of the truant foot for us, And a "pony" for whatso his kindred bed, Just his eye lead, And his chest steed, A lover of dawn and gloaming, Then it's out and up and the way, And it's at night there's a score to pay, Why, where is the wight that's carrying.

Bliss, an' ye will, where it's weather-proof, But give the range of the sky for proof, Just the broad blue, And a broad shoe, A pack and a comrade, trusty! Then it's out and up and the way, Then it's at night there's a score to pay, Why, where is the wight that's carrying.

Mr. Squigley (reading)—I see that Professor Wilmaman, the prophet, has decided that the world will come to an end next Christmas Day.

Doctor (to wife of patient)—Be brave, madam. It is my painful duty to inform you that in twenty-four hours your husband will be no more.

The wife (overwhelmed with grief, but at the same time having regard to expense)—Good gracious! And you have prescribed medicine for five days at least!

Saunders, the village squire, was a very poor student at the school. One day the minister met him, and said: "Come now, Saunders, why is it you are never at the school?"

"Never at the school?" replied Saunders. "Ye're quite wrong there, sir; I spent the half of last week on the top o' it."

An author, paying his first visit to a married acquaintance, asked the name of a sprightly little girl whose winning ways had attracted his attention.

"We call her Ella," said the child's mother.

"That is a good name," remarked the author. "It has been made classic by Charles Lamb."

"Well, to tell the truth," explained the lady, "her name is Corneilia, but it's easier to call her Ella."

"I see," the caller rejoined. "It is the palatine extraction of a corn!"

DR. BELL RECEIVES NEWS OF SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT.

Now at Charlottetown—Noted Inventor Tells of Plans for Future Airships.

CHARLOTTETOWN, July 6.—Dr. Andrew Graham Bell while visiting here received with great delight and deep interest from Hammondport, N. Y., a message that on Saturday the aerodrome June Bug had captured the Scientific American trophy presented by the Aero Club of America for the flying machine heavier than air, which would fly a kilometer in a straight line. This was the first official test to be made in America. The aircraft was G. H. Curtis according to whose plans the machine was built. He flew a mile in one minute and 42 seconds had machine under perfect control and made a splendid landing. Dr. Bell is president of the aerial experimental association under whose direction the machine was built. The June Bug being third of the series. The fourth will be Bell's own aerodrome which he is constructing at Hammondport. In an interview he said that machines like the June Bug could be sold at a reasonable profit for $100. He will make a trial of his own aerodrome in a few weeks. Dr. Bell is proud of the fact that America has made such excellent showing in a trial as France heretofore has led the world in official trials, although Wright brothers of Dayton, Ohio, has made a secret and unofficial trip of 24 miles. Dr. Bell and party left today for Hammondport.

On Saturday the presentation of the King's colors and regimental colors were made to the King's Regiment at Victoria Park, where the militia are in camp. This is the first ceremony of its kind to be held in this Province.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION WILL OPEN TOMORROW

DENVER, Colo., July 6.—Expectation of definite action concerning some of the pending questions marked the opening of the day among the delegates to the Democratic National Convention whose first session will be here at noon tomorrow. The programs today included caucuses of many of the state delegations, some of them likely to have weighty significance, and the beginning of work by the National Committee upon the several contests which while not likely to affect final results, might involve expenditure of time sufficient to delay the work of the convention. Principal interest attached for the moment to the caucus of the New York State Delegation appointed for the purpose of the day among the delegates to the Democratic National Convention whose first session will be here at noon tomorrow. GIRL OF SIXTEEN TO PLAY JULIET

Jump From School to Stage to Personate Shakespeare's Greatest Heroine.

LONDON, July 6.—The youngest actress to play Juliet on a professional stage is Miss Leah Bateman-Hunter, a girl of 16, who is to appear in the title role which Miss Bateman (Mrs. Crowe) is giving at the Kingsway Theatre in aid of the Dental Hospital.

It is not given to every one to jump from school to the impersonation of Shakespeare's greatest heroine. Juliet, at 16, has been playing the role for 14 years, but only a few—among them Lady Martin (Helen Faucit)—have been in their teens when they acted Juliet.

Indeed, Juliet, usually marks the zenith of an actress' career, instead of its very beginning, as in the case of Miss Bateman-Hunter. Last autumn she was still at boarding school.

A reporter found her resting yesterday afternoon after a busy rehearsal. "I think it is everybody's dream to play Juliet before a London audience," she said. "I cannot believe that I am really going to do it."

Her principal idea is the absolute childishness of Juliet. She is not a woman—she is just a child grown up. She is a child all through. She never holds a lover at the time she is in love with him. She has all the inconsequence of a child.

Miss Bateman-Hunter has the blood of the theater in her. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Crowe, famous for two generations as an actress. Her father brought her to the theater to give living a chance. And like her grandmother, who started acting at 12 years, she showed her instinct for acting at an equally early age. She would recite things which she could not possibly understand, putting "right" tones and expressions on her phrases.

NEW YORK, July 6.—A demonstration which lasted twelve minutes greeted the presentation of the name of Josiah Wainwright as a candidate for Governor at the convention of the New York State Socialist party held here yesterday. No ballot was taken, his nomination being declared unanimous.

The board, at the morning session, decided to make an official test of the water pressure to be made on Friday morning at eleven o'clock. The tests asked for will be at Market square and at Centenary church.

Supporting the stations to be 1000 yards apart the train will first descend a slope and then run along a level stretch of line for about 600 yards, thus maintaining a speed of fifty miles an hour. It will cover that distance in 24 seconds. The rise in each station would then begin at a slightly slower speed gradually coming to a stop at the station.

The new Kearey system involves a capital expenditure of less than has that required for ordinary lines constructed underground while the working expenses will be greatly reduced, and the use of lifts obviated.

E. W. Chalmers Kearey, the inventor of the new railway, is quite a young man, but full of confidence in his wonderful invention. To a reporter he said:

"My invention is chiefly suitable for tubes, and for lines up to fifty miles in length, where high speed and a minimum of cost are essential."

On the Kearey system the cars are gripped top and bottom by a single line of wheels engaging the two rails, one vertically over the other, so that derailment is practically impossible.

Well Worth Seeing.

Is what the young men are saying about our new line of OX BLOOD OXFORDS and they are about right for a dandy, natty foot covering there is nothing to equal them. They are very durable, easily kept in nice condition, and are the newest thing to hand.

"Northern Lights" at Opera House Tonight.

The famous military four act comedy drama "Northern Lights" so successfully produced in New York and London will be the offering tonight of Joseph Selman and his excellent company.

Northern Lights has been one of the most talked of plays of the last decade. The scenery has been built after the sketches of military posts of Montana where the action of the drama takes place.

The vaudeville appeal has not been neglected by the management and between the acts some of the best specialties ever seen in our city will be introduced.

SECRET OF FLIGHT DISCOVERED BY SAVANT. Claims to Have Invented Machine Which Throws Others in Shade.

PARIS, July 6.—M. Marcel Deprez, a member of the French Institute, asserts he has solved definitely the problem of human flight. In an interview yesterday M. Deprez said he had discovered the secret of the flight of birds.

"I have not the slightest doubt," he added, "that in a very short period, in a very few years, it will, on any day in which there is sufficient wind, be quite a common thing to see thousands of human beings soaring about in mid-air, just as you now see thousands of people skating when there is ice on the lakes and rivers."

"Have you actually succeeded," he was asked, in making a heavier-than-air instrument that will support the weight of a human being and enable him to fly?"

"Yes," he answered, "I have not only made such a machine, but what is better still I have made it soar in mid-air with the weight of a human being."

"Have you flown with it yourself?" "No, that is a matter for much younger men than I—for men who, like Santos-Dumont, Delagrange and others, look on aviation as a sport. I am very shortly about to give a practical demonstration before a small committee of the French Institute, and then before press representatives."

"The question of equilibrium I have not yet solved," he said, "but I believe that some practical is required before the average person could safely soar. That is why we want the aid of sportsmen and aviators."

MAN FOUND STARVING IN HALIFAX PARK. HALIFAX, N. S., July 5.—"Worn almost to shadow after fasting for thirty-four days, Thomas Melkie, a sea-faring man, holding a mate's certificate, was found lying in a helpless condition on a pile of rags in an old park Saturday night. The man was too weak to walk and had to be removed to the hospital."

Melkie, who disappeared on May 29, from his boarding house, was given up as dead, it having been thought that while wandering about the wharves he fell into the harbor. Unable to secure work and too proud to beg, the man's story of his fasting is pathetic. With the exception of two pieces of bread and butter given him by a workman in the park on June 5, not a morsel of food passed within his lips, and for three days at a time he went without water.

The man had been without work several months and growing disheartened he wandered into the park, caring not what became of him. Since then he has spent his days in the thick woods and at night fell he wandered till daylight. Last week he became so weak he could not move out of his resting place.

A citizen while passing the deserted building glanced through a broken window and noticed a man he thought was dead.

Melkie, who is forty-eight years old, weighs 230 pounds. He was a big man, weighing 280 pounds, but is now reduced to half that weight.

READY TAILORED

No article of Men's Wear has shown a more decided improvement than the two-piece so-called Outing Suit.

Our Outing Suits are perfectly correct for business wear as well. They are made from a variety of light wool fabrics chiefly in Greys and Browns. The coats are partly lined and the trousers cut moderately full from the hip down and are finished at the bottom either with or without a two inch turn up.

The prices are $8 and $10 to $15. Those at $8 and $10 were $12 and $15 and were reduced because some of the sizes are sold out.

Outing Trousers, $2.50 to $4.50; White Duck Trousers, $1.25 for $1.50 quality.

Summer Vests—$1.50 and under in price, now $1.00; all others at 25 per cent. discount.

HOUSE WALLS ADORNED WITH HUMAN SKULLS

Terrible Trust of Sorceress Raided by the Police

ROME, July 5.—In a modest house hidden in a maze of alleys in a suburb of the city of Perugia strange ceremonies, it is reported, take place, and mysterious rites are celebrated. The house was frequented by women of the suburb, and now and again by some daimel who had been rescued in love, or some wife who was jealous of her husband. The police heard of the rumors of the proceedings, but had not until now succeeded in probing the mystery.

Yesterday a chauffeur, who was accompanied by a groom carrying under his arm a bundle of papers, stopped his automobile opposite the mysterious house, the doors of which were closed. The car had, apparently, broken down. The chauffeur and the groom, who were actually police agents in disguise, left their machine and knocked at the door to ask for a pair of pillars. The door was opened by a woman, who, suspecting nothing, was going in search of the desired implement, when the two men hid her back, entered the house and shut the door in her face.

Strangers and terrible was the aspect of the interior. The walls were hung with mysterious symbols, human skulls and crossed bones, bottles, large and small; swords of strange shapes, heads of dogs, cats and other animals, and, in fact, all the traditional implements of magical witchcraft.

A thorough search was made and several books were found containing a quantity of "various inventions to the evil one. The sorceress, a woman 30 years of age, who possesses vast property, purchased with the money she had wheedled from her credulous clients, was arrested and carried away in the motor car. Her trial will give rise to some interesting revelations with regard to the dark doings of witchcraft in Perugia.

INFLUENCE OF GENERAL BOTHA IN TRANSVAAL

(London Daily Mail.)

On Monday, June 15, the sittings of the Transvaal Parliament were resumed at Pretoria.

Despite the view held in some quarters that owing to the effort to secure the federation of the British South African colonies the local parliament will only be called upon to perform essential duties, yet it is expected the session will be one of exceptional interest. According to the signs of the times it will be marked by a more vigorous attitude on the part of the Opposition.

During the eighteen months in which the Transvaal has been a self-governing Progressive leaders have been content to act upon the defensive. They have been stigmatised as reactionaries, and the Transvaal has been called "Defend my works," but they have not acted up to the duties that are a first duty of an Opposition is to oppose.

FAIR PLAY.

The peculiar conditions which prevail in the Transvaal justified the policy. An exhibition of factious opposition and obstruction to the triumphant Dutch would have driven moderate Britishers into the ranks of the English or the Nationalists. English ideas of fair play demanded that the new rulers should be given time in which to transform promises into deeds. Instant political warfare against the Government is no exception to the rule. Perhaps the Transvaal made its old mistake of expecting too much of the Government. It was unduly optimistic in expecting that political change would get rid of depression. Naturally, there is now reaction.

After the war it was unduly optimistic in expecting that political change would get rid of depression. Naturally, there is now reaction.

BOER CAUSE WEAKENING.

But the Boer ministry is weakening. No government is so popular as the day it is put into power, and the Transvaal Government is no exception to the rule. Perhaps the Transvaal made its old mistake of expecting too much of the Government. It was unduly optimistic in expecting that political change would get rid of depression. Naturally, there is now reaction.

After the war it was unduly optimistic in expecting that political change would get rid of depression. Naturally, there is now reaction.

WHITE LABOR IDEAL.

A few serious mistakes, a few open mistakes of racial prejudice, and the old cry of Krugerism would spring up. It would not take much to make Pretoria an anti-Boer feeling as it was the days of the retrocession more than two decades ago. Even if the Ministry were to favor the Boer, it is not proved—they would find it very dangerous policy to carry out. It is probable, then, that the new session will witness the beginning of the revival of Progressivism as a political force. If the Opposition could only adopt a good white labor policy it would strengthen their position.

BOERS SLIPPING AWAY.

But, despite this error, the Opposition ranks are closing up. General Botha, who controls the back-veiled Boers so easily, will gradually slip away from the town and its autocratic ways. The division will not always be between Briton and Boer. Today it is becoming more and more Town against Country and in a united South Africa, it would be Interior versus Coast. And as battle cries change and parties alter, the back-veiled may be sufficient to keep a ministry in power.

If the Opposition play their hand well, they may unite the rest of the country against the back-veiled. The Progressives must be a real political party, not merely an echo of the Chamber of Mines. If the idea is abroad that it is a case of the Hand trying to dominate the Head, the Progressives will never win. The party must be a broad one and thoroughly representative of the true progressive people of the country. The opening session may produce some surprises.

Well led, the Opposition may further weaken the Ministerial defences. General Botha may need all his tact to keep the two wings of his army in touch.

TWENTIETH CENTURY EDUCATION

There are tremendous and very widely discussions going on all around us concerning the methods and ends of education. Educators do not agree upon many of the foundation principles which would govern the country's education. These and a dozen other considerations are urged by the debaters on both sides.

And they are, in a way, right—yet the fact remains that the main object of education is to help a man to lead an upright and independent life and to get on in the world. Independence would not seem to be so very hard to secure if we should go about it in the right way.

Indeed, there are those among us we shall find our children rushing into the trade schools in shoals.

And it does not take all of a child's time to master a trade in one, two, three years. He can be learning the elementary branches at the same time, but if he has to leave school for good at 14 or 15, as most boys do have to, he will, if he has studied a trade, have an outlet for earning his living, and it cannot be too often said, or too emphatically, that the boy or girl who can earn and maintain himself by a skilled labor has the first essential to good citizenship.

Living does not mean simply breathing. To truly live, one must be well fed, well sheltered, well clothed. The man who is dependent upon others for his food, his shelter or his clothing, is only a parasite, not a man. He must have the power to get these things for himself, and then does not practice it, he should be deported or jailed or chloroformed or something worse.

HOW TO LIVE.

If he simply knows how to feed, shelter and clothe himself, he can do the same for others, and thus he will already possess the foundation for a trade by which he can earn a living. But we have no right to find much fault with our young people for not knowing how to do these things when we have educated them ourselves, and yet have not taught them the vital importance of obtaining these things for themselves.

Then there is another queer notion which we have somehow formed, and have seemed to take for granted that the arts of feeding, sheltering and clothing need to be understood only by one sex, and to provide the money, and then the women are to cook, keep the house clean and in order, and make and mend the clothes.

But, all the same, these primitive, elementary sciences should be known by men and women alike, and we do not know how to prepare plain, common food for yourself, nor how to keep your surroundings decently clean and orderly, nor how to do simple, plain sewing, enough to cover yourself from the cold and keep yourself warm, is not really fitted to live. In fact, you do not know how to live.

All mothers have observed how intelligent little boys are in knitting and sewing—until they get out into the horrible, barbarous world, and then they are just as they are for practicing almost any domestic virtue. But, if the mothers are really serious, they should see to it that the first principles of sewing into the minds and hearts of their boys, as well as of their girls, before the blighting frosts of public opinion have time to alight upon them.

GROUND PRINCIPLES.

There is no sense in the helplessness of most men before a missing button or a sudden rent. It is all well enough for them if it is convenient; but men are often placed so that they must do such things for themselves or go without. Then the garment—perfectly good, perhaps, except for a few missing buttons—is ten to one in the course of a year is enormous.

Then simple, plain cooking is the easiest thing in the world and every boy and girl should be taught to boil or bake a potato, to prepare eggs in various ways—to mix bread or biscuits, to roll chops or steak—such simple garden plays, has shown us the ground principles in the science of living—and the person who does not understand them is dependent in so far upon somebody else.

Sweeping, dusting, scrubbing are easy. If one has only ordinary strength. No woman or man should fail to know how, and when and where they are needed, it is the essential of the necessary knowledge to live.

All of these branches should be taught in our schools. The children of from 3 to 12 can be made to understand and practice them—even to love them.

But, since our homes are so often not what they should be, let our children learn somewhere else, let it be something that a feeling of independence comes with the essential knowledge of the essential demands of life. Miss Emily Huntington, who invented merry little kitchen garden plays, has shown us how efficiently such things can be taught in schools, and they may well take the place of some of the meaningless exercises which now occupy the time in the ordinary kindergarten and primary school.

WINNIPEG HOTEL MAN CRITICISED

TORONTO, July 5.—There was a good deal of comment at Winnipeg over the action of the C. P. R. Hotel Royal Alexandra management in decorating the hotel profusely with the United States flags on the fourth of July and not decorating at all on Dominion Day. The manager said he was an American and was after American dollars. The United States manufacturer at Winnipeg also refused their employees a holiday on the first and shut down for the fourth.

BISHOP POTTER BETTER

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., July 5.—With such succeeding hour hope brightens for the recovery of Bishop C. Potter, who is seriously ill from a complication of stomach and liver troubles, his physicians tonight believe that his improved condition warrants a decided hope for a favorable outcome of the case. While the bishop's improvement is slow, it is apparently constant, and with returning strength it is believed the patient has a good chance of combating his malady.

The bishop made gains last night and showed further improvement today.

AMUSEMENTS.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

The management of the favorite picture theatre have spared no expense in thoroughly renovating the interior and it is now one of the most comfortable places of amusement in the lower provinces. One of the most important features at the Princess is the latest power cinematograph. This machine throws a perfect flickerless picture that can be watched without the least injury to the eyes, and makes the witnessing of the Princess pictures more favorable than ever before. The programme of pictures for today are comprised of the latest films from head-quarters, and are shown for the first time in this city.

One lengthy film that is most instructive to old and young, is that showing the six ships by one of the world's greatest inventors, Mr. Farman. The picture, which was a most difficult one to produce, is very clear and shows the great inventor in many daring feats as he and others manoeuvre along the planes and in the air. Two of these frail crafts of the air can be seen as they are taken from the sheds, then skinned with lightning speed they skim the earth and then soar high in the air, while thousands of awestricken spectators watch the difficult, daring manoeuvres with interest. This picture should not be missed by any person.

The Student's Predicament is a picture that shows a youthful student gets into a lot of trouble on account of having too many lady friends. It is on this account that his course at good university which is wasted in this way in the course of a year is enormous.

MAGNETIC MOVING DAY AT NICKEL.

Householders will cast longing eyes at the Nickel's leading picture for today and Tuesday, for it deals with an ideal condition yet confined to the realm of fiction—namely, the removal of household effects on moving day by a magnetic process, entirely without the aid of human hands. There are really such things as vacuum cleaning processes and electric labor-savers of all kinds, but this new stunt of science will astound everybody. The other pictures are A Drama in Tyrol, something rich, refined and gorgeously scenic, with genuine Tyrolean settings; and a scene of the most interesting photo-tour in Astrakhan, one of the most famous farthest domains. This picture is highly educational. Miss Isabel Foley, whose magnificent voice has created such favorable comment in musical circles, has a lovely new number for the commencement of the week, entitled "Day By Day," a sailor sweetheart ballad, and Mr. Cairns will be heard in a fine number, "Your Lips, Your Eyes, Your Golden Hair," a song that displays his fine baritone to best advantage. On Saturday night the Nickel's Grand-Novel fight bulletins, telling the whole story of the bout by rounds, was a strong and appreciated feature.

NIAGARA FALLS AT HAPPY HALF HOUR.

Today's pictures at the Happy Half Hour consist of brand new pictures. Niagara Falls in Winter was taken last February and it is safe to say that a more magnificent picture has never been seen here, showing as it does, the beautiful figures and fields of ice caused by the spray from the falls freezing. Indeed it is more like a scene in Fairyland. The Doctor's Forgiveness is a charming dramatic picture full of pathos, and the beautiful view of Ireland Meet Me There, illustrated by many beautiful views of Ireland, and Harry LeRoy has a very catchy number in Meet Me Sweet Kathleen in Honey-suckle Time. Saturday evening the reports of the full fight were read to the men in the large smoking room, and pictures of both Gens and Nelson were thrown on the curtain. When the result of the fight was announced, and pictures of both Gens and Nelson were shown on the curtain together.

NEW PICTURES AT THE UNIQUE.

One of the best picture programmes ever put on in St. John will be shown at the Unique today. The pictures are three in number and the leading film, which is called The New Maid, is over 1000 feet in length. A wealthy lady advertises for a maid and a young lady who is a criminal, answers the ad. She takes her accomplice in her trunk and they plan to rob the house. The man of the house is very much

CONVICT MARRIED IN PRISON HANDCUFFS

His Bride of Nineteen Then Bids Him Farewell for Ten Years

PARIS, July 5.—The extraordinary scene of a wedding where the bridegroom was married in handcuffs, was witnessed at St. Martin, de la Re, yesterday.

Theophile Fray, aged 24, had recently been caught in a daring burglary, and sentenced to ten years' hard labor. His fiancée, Alexandrine Sadeau, aged 19, was heartbroken at the news and declared that nothing would induce her to give up her betrothed.

She accordingly petitioned the authorities to allow the marriage to take place at once. Her request was conducted by four detectives to the mairie, where his bride and her friends were awaiting him.

After the ceremony he bade her farewell for ten years, and was taken back to his cell, while the bride returned to her parents' home.

JOHN BUNYAN SENT TO JAIL FOR 14 YEARS

TORONTO, July 5.—John Bunyan of Galt was sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment for seditious cruelty in killing two horses in a hotel stable here. The instrument used was a broom handle.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

DENVER, Colo., July 5.—The convention through has been pouring into the city by every train today. It has been a boisterous Sunday, with bands escorting arriving delegations through the streets with steadily swelling crowds in the hotel lobbies and with leaders and delegates holding private conferences on candidates and measures. Most of the leaders and more than half of the delegates are here, and the tide of humanity which comes to look on and cheer is now in full movement toward the city. The chief event of the day has been the movement of the "allies" to vivify the opposition to Bryan to something like a definite and formidable movement.

BRIEF DESPATCHES

TORONTO, July 5.—In the senior bar-crossed march at Rosedale Saturday the Toronto beat the Tecumseh thirteen to three.

TORONTO, July 5.—Bad ten dollar bills of the Standard Bank are extensively circulated in Toronto and other Ontario cities.

LONDON, July 5.—The United States athletes, who are to take part in the Olympic games, arrived here today, looking very fit. They had a fair measure from New York and took systematic exercise during the voyage.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—Franklin Ciss was taken to City Hall late tonight by detectives as a suspect in the murder of Dr. William H. Villars, who died on June 23, after drinking a bottle of poisoned ale which had been sent to him from a local express office.

Easily the Leaders in the Directory Names

Are Fond of Telephones, Too—The Browns are Second—Murphys are Well to the Front.

In the St. John directory recently issued there are, according to the publisher, 15,229 names. Of this number no less than 2,427 are accounted for by fifty surnames. That which is found most frequently in the city is, of course, Smith. Brown is a poor second, while Jones, which according to popular belief should be one of the three leaders is away down in fourteenth place. The Wilsons have come into prominence, and are trading on the heels of the Browns family, while in turn pursued by the Murphys. The list of the most common names as given in the directory is as follows:

ODDFELLOWS LEFT FOR HOME THIS MORNING

The visiting Oddfellows from Lynn, Maiden and Worcester and Portland, left for home on the Governor Cobb this morning after having thoroughly enjoyed their brief stay in St. John. On the way to this city they joined in the fourth of July parade at Eastport. Today it was arranged that they should inspect the machine factories at that place. This morning a number of members from lodges in this city gathered at the boat to bid farewell to the visitors.

THE NEW PASTOR OF CENTENARY CHURCH

Dr. Flanders Made a Most Favorable Impression

He Seems to be a Decidedly Energetic Minister, Jovial and Earnest, and Already Likes St. John.

Dr. Charles Ruston Flanders, Centenary's new pastor, occupied the pulpit of his church for the first time yesterday, preaching in a most acceptable manner to large congregations. Dr. Flanders is a stranger to New Brunswick, never having previously visited this province, but though here only since Wednesday, he and his family are delighted with the kindly reception they have received and look forward to a most happy residence in St. John.

Dr. Flanders, who is of Canadian parentage, was born in the Eastern Townships fifty-five years ago, and was educated at Victoria and Queens Universities. He was ordained at Niagara, Ont., in 1881 and since then has held pastorates at Magog, Stanstead (three times) and Montreal

DR. C. R. FLANDERS.

(twice). Fifteen years ago he became principal of Stanstead College, which position he has since filled. Dr. and Mrs. Flanders have six children, their two sons being at present in Winnipeg, one John A. Flanders on the staff of the Eastern Townships Bank, the other, Sydney, in the law office of J. M. Atkins; and their four daughters at present in St. John.

Dr. Flanders made a distinctly favorable impression at yesterday's services. He speaks not only without manuscript but without notes, and is very fluent. His delivery is rapid, and his English excellent. While Dr. Flanders does not attempt bursts of oratory he possesses strong dramatic power, and an individuality of expression which adds to the impressiveness of his discourse. As a preacher he has the faculty of sticking to his text. Every word used, every idea developed, is applied directly to the subject under consideration; the thread of thought is unbroken, and the end is reached by sequence of natural logic. Yesterday's sermons were evangelistic rather than doctrinal, and Dr. Flanders displayed a most marked ability—a quality perhaps cultivated through his college work—of placing before his hearers vivid pictures of the subjects described in his text, which made those subjects living realities rather than mere facts. In speaking Dr. Flanders moves from one side to the other of his pulpit, not nervously, but in giving attention to all sides of the church. His accent is Upper Canadian English, and his voice is clear, penetrating, emphatic and pleasing.

Personally Dr. Flanders is one who will make friends. He is a good conversationalist and can not only interest himself and him in turn. He is witty, bright, and bubbling over with whole-hearted good nature; a lover of outdoor life, fond of music, flowers, and already completely captivated by the architectural harmony of Centenary Church building.

On Tuesday evening the congregation will tender a reception in the schoolroom to Dr. Flanders and his family.

BOARD OF TRADE WILL DISCUSS THE STREETS

Meeting Tomorrow to Consider Action Towards Appointment of Qualified Man.

A meeting of the board of trade has been arranged for three o'clock tomorrow. It has been called for the purpose of discussing the condition of the city streets. The board has for a long time been endeavoring to persuade the common council that if the repair and maintenance of the streets were placed in the charge of a thoroughly competent man, who would devote intelligent attention to the work, much better results would be obtained without any increased expenditure. The council has not so far been deeply impressed by the arguments of the board, and the aldermen have even ignored the letters which have been sent.

Tomorrow's meeting of business men has been called for the purpose of considering what shall next be done and what action the merchants feel like taking to secure the appointment of a competent man.
