Charles Morris, a Swede off one of the American block boats, then offered to wrestle McDonald, Graeco Roman style. LEE CHU ARRESTED AND RELEASED IN DOUBLE QUICK FASHION

Special to The Standard. Halifax, N. S., June 17.—Lee Chu, the Chinaman who came here from Montreal, and has figured so largely in court proceedings in liberty once more, and his whereabouts are known to very few. The police are searching in vain for him. Chu, it will be remembered, was taken back to Montreal on a warrant charging perjury but he got away and returned to Halifax announcing he was going to make a short stay. Then came a second warrant from Montreal charging subornation of perjury but before he got away from Chu was arrested charged with assaulting young Lee, another Chinaman, and upon the evidence of the complainant was committed for trial. For a few weeks, he has been in jail under this commitment and the fickle public had almost forgotten his case. But Chu came back into the limelight again this morning. He was arraigned before Judge Wallace to elect on the assault charge and choose summary trial pleading not guilty.

Then the prosecution said there was no evidence to offer and the judge discharged the Chinaman, but as Chu was leaving the prisoners' box, Officer Marry Wright arrested him on a capias and hurried him down into the street and away to a place where the capias matter could be adjusted. Detective McCorkill, of the Canadian Detective Agency, was on hand and endeavored to have the Mon real warrant enforced. But this warrant was directed to the police officers of the city and there was none such present to make service of it. In the meantime Chu was hurried into a wagon and driven north. It is understood he went to a law-dry where the capias matter was settled and then jumped into an automobile and was whizzed away out of sight. Things happened quickly between Chu's discharge and his disappearance and but few of the onlookers knew what was really doing until they could make inquiries.

BRITISH SOLDIER DIES IN NEW YORK

(New York Sun.) Ex-Bombardier William Smith, who withstood the rushes of Ghazis and Dacotia in India during the nine years that he served in the British Royal Artillery, died yesterday forenoon at his home, 128 Weehawken street, Jersey City, of injuries suffered on Friday last at an accident at the foot of the traffic elevator that hauls vehicles up Weehawken heights.

A Visitor. The stalwart artilleryman, whose towering figure and broad shoulders have become well known to the users of the elevator during the last five years, never had much to say about his fighting days in Burma and other parts of the East, but a young officer of the British army who had known Little's injuries and called to see the ex-artilleryman just before Little died, said yesterday afternoon that some of the ablest of strength in hand to hand fights are still traditions in the Royal Artillery. Little served in the regiment commanded by the young officer's father more than a quarter of a century ago.

About five minutes before Little died yesterday he regained consciousness for a few minutes and recognized the officers' faces by his side. He talked for a few minutes and then grew delirious again. "Good-by, sir," he said to the officer, "they're blowing in the reveille. Then as he grew delirious his mind ran back to the days of Capt. the Hon. St. John Addington, under whom Little also served.

"I'm in charge of this draft, sir," he said, trying to sit up in bed. "The boat's ready, and Captain Addington wants me on parade. I'm to report myself."

His exploits. Little went to India with the artillery when he was a stripling in his teens. On one occasion, it is recalled, in a Black Mountain expedition in India, the artilleryman was rushed by the Ghazis and in the rush the artillery mules that were feeding near by were stampeded down a hill. As the artilleryman drove the Ghazis back and upward tradition has it that Little "packed" a screw gun on his massive shoulders and carried it about 30 yards to the top of the hill. Also it is told of him that in one hand he had fought with a Dacotia he thrust both arms under the armpits of the Dacotia and then by reaching his hands behind the Dacotia's neck and pushing his adversary's head back and down until the neck was broken.

In New York 25 Years. The big artilleryman came to America twenty-five years ago. For the last five years he has been working at the foot of the traffic elevator. On Friday the elevator through a misunderstanding, started upward with a horse and carriage just as Little was stepping back on the starting platform from the elevator. He fell to the platform and the elevator and received the many wounds that caused his death.

Little was well known to residents along the Jersey side of the Hudson. He is survived by his wife and four children.

A WASTED DISCOURSE

Canadian Courier. The visit of Dr. Orr, Toronto, and his highly instructive addresses on Biblical literature have been regarded with some caution, both by the Higher Critics and their friends. The reverend visitor has been implored to be "explicit," lest the wayfarer, to say nothing of the newspaper reporter, should misrepresent his report on the early chapters of Genesis.

This desire for a decisive attitude recalls the contentment experienced by a worthy Hamilton pastor, years ago. He had been preaching at length by park with the laudable desire to show that the latest discoveries in science were quite in harmony with the salient points in Biblical history. He admitted, however, that the "day" of Creation did not mean what we moderns understand by the monosyllable.

"He had been preaching at length by park with the laudable desire to show that the latest discoveries in science were quite in harmony with the salient points in Biblical history. He admitted, however, that the "day" of Creation did not mean what we moderns understand by the monosyllable.

"Oh, Dr. B.—I am so thankful that I am not like you—I believe in the Bible."

What the well-known D. D. said is not recorded.

A FEVER REGISTER

A Washington Star. Prof. Frederick Starr the distinguished anthropologist, was discussing in Chicago the Roosevelt hunting trip.

"Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "will encounter very great dangers in the jungle. I don't mean the wild beasts; I mean the fevers. Mr. Roosevelt's is the temperament to resist these dangers, other."

"His is a heady, rushing temperament that keeps jungle fever off like—like—"

"I once boarded a four-wheeler in Picaadilly," said Professor Starr, "and I bade the driver drive to Claridge's."

"He drove at a snail's pace. Exasperated—for I was already late for lunch—I put my head out and shouted: 'Look here, cabby, we're not going to a funeral!'"

"The cabby looked at me, took out of his pipe and frowned. 'No,' he said, 'and we ain't goin' to no bloomin' fair neither.'"

SPECULATION: WHEN IT'S GAMBLING

New York, June 17—The report of the committee appointed by Governor Hughes to investigate speculation in securities and commodities and the organizations used in dealings therein has been made public. The New York Stock Exchange, the Cotton, the Mercantile, and the metal exchanges and the curb market were thoroughly investigated, and recommendations were made to the committee. The most drastic finding is that affecting the mercantile and metal exchanges, as follows:

"Under present conditions we are of the opinion that the Mercantile and Metal Exchanges do actual harm to producers and consumers and that their charters should be repealed."

Concerning speculation in general the committee declares that it may be wholly legitimate, pure gambling or something partaking of the qualities of both. The minimum margin is a necessary incident of productive operations; that it tends to steady prices; and that for the merchant or manufacturer the speculator performs a service which has the effect of insurance. "In law," says the report, "speculation becomes gambling when trading which it involves does not lead to the production of goods, but to the actual passing from hand to hand of the property that is dealt in. The rules of all the exchanges forbid gambling as defined by this opinion, but they make no entry a technical delivery of the property contracted for which the practical effect of much speculation in point of form legitimate is not greatly different from that of gambling."

The committee makes no short dealing, but declares the tendency of such selling to be steady prices. It is recommended that the minimum margin should be 20 per cent., and strong disapproval is expressed of branch brokerage offices which supply liquid resort to other improper means to induce speculation.

THE IDOL

I set my broken idol In a place where the light was dim, And I tried to forget each blemish, The changing of look and limb.

Then I gathered my tools unto me, And my task was long and sore, For I made my broken idol Look as it looked before.

Blue to the eyes that had clouded; Gold to the feet of clay; Strength to the mouth that had slackened; And I threw my tools away.

To where the sun shone on it I brought my idol forth; With the eyes of my heart I scanned it, And saw but its one-time worth.

I clasped it close to my body, And once I kissed my body, Then I took and buried it deeply, In a glad, remembered place.

I have no thought of sorrow, My workshop goes on a-way; It looked at the last as it first was, For . . . I threw my tools away. —Alex. J. Grant.

Mr. D. Stewart Campbell and wife, of Sackville, are at the Royal.

The Grand Lodge felt that peace and harmony now existed throughout the empire, and they expressed their dissatisfaction of the members of the House of Commons in England, from Ireland, Mr. Redmond and Mr. Healy and others for trying to raise again the religious cry throughout the empire.

The next day the bride and groom left for Strathcona to wish them bon voyage on a trip eastward where they are being entertained by Judge and Mrs. Landry. After that they will leave on the Empress steamship for an European tour. On their return to Edmonton they will occupy the former home of the bride's father.

LEBARON J. LEBLANC, OF DORCHESTER, IN A BOLD VALEDICTORY REVIEWS LIFE AT ST. JOSEPH'S AND STATES WHAT AIM OF TRUE GRADUATE IS

The following is the valedictory address delivered by LeBaron J. LeBlanc, of Dorchester, at St. Joseph's College:

LEBARON J. LEBLANC,
 Valedictorian of St. Joseph's College.

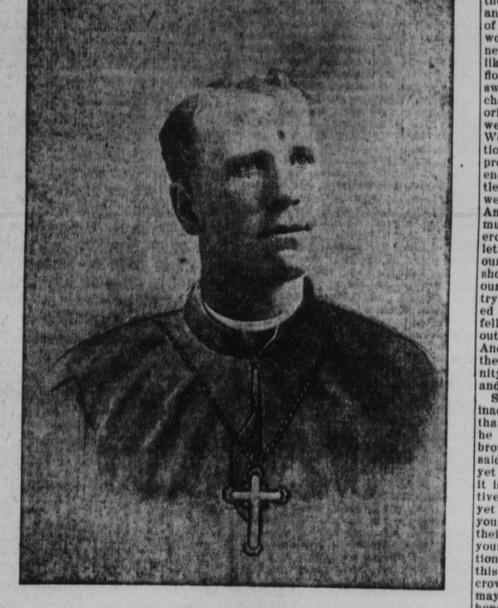

look on existence, not as the thread-mill of monotonous sensation, but to consider himself as laying the foundations of a future life, and as being an important factor in the upbuilding of his country.

REV. ALB. VANIER, C. S. C.,
 Professor of Science.

The object or goal held in view by the college graduate should be above all worldly motives. Man's position before man may be measured by gold and silver, but his real worth is proportioned to his courage and perseverance. "How long we live, not years but actions tell." Fame is good only inasmuch as it gives power to do good. Graduates of an institution, such as this, bear a particularly heavy burden of moral obligation. To us much has been given; we enter life with privileges denied to many. The world therefore has a right to expect from us a full measure of our service to society and to the state. For the class of 1909 this day has a strange, and significance. Now we must leave the scenes of school life; that hitherto have bound us as one, ties of love and friendship, sealed and strengthened by years of close fellowship and intercourse. Those days and years of study seemed long, yet we cannot part without saying one last, long farewell to these our er the graduate in arts as a man thoroughly equipped for practical life. They consider him an educated man, and in this, perhaps, their supposition is somewhat justifiable. To condemn a man, however, because he is found deficient in the practical experience of the world, displays but ignorance of the end and object of a college course. The mind of a college man has been trained to think. It has undergone a severe discipline which renders it versatile and acute of perceptrain from the oft repeated professions of love and esteem. You have been a guide to us throughout our college course. You have met with patience our many shortcomings and incoherencies in theory. We have witnessed the success of St. Joseph's under your able direction, and only trust that God will spare you to lead her on to still greater prosperity and nobler ends. Reverend Professors—Through your labors and sacrifices we are brought to our present stand in life. The burdens and trials of college days have been lightened for us by the zealous care and interest you have taken in all that contributed toward our formation. In you we see models upon which we may well mould our future lives. You have often, perhaps, found us wanting in many duties, but we hope if such be the case, we attribute it to the all too hasty judgment of youth. The only appeal, then, is to await the calm decrees of future years which will tell the story of our struggle with the world. Then, when the battle is over, and time will have uttered its solemn verdict, may you be proud to claim us as the finished product of your earnest endeavor. As often as our minds revert to St. Joseph's and we hear the melodious chiming of memory's bells pealing through the mists of years, telling of the many sweet and tender recollections of our college friends, we shall think of you, the men among men who first taught us the higher principles of Christian education.

New York, N. Y., June 17.—The suddenness and violence of the break in prices in the stock market today came as a surprise, in spite of the frequent expressions of distrust lately of the high level of prices and of the extent to which borrowed money was being used to carry stocks on margin.

Up to date 1215 dogs have received indirectly from the hands of the mayor's clerk, the emblem of respectability, which certifies that their owners have paid the dog tax required by civic by-law. Within the past few days there has been a noticeable falling off in the number of dog licenses issued daily. The total number is much in excess of that usually recorded at this time of the year.

On Wedding Tour. Mr. Hector Landry, LL. B., barrister, of Edmonton, Alberta, and bride, arrived in Dorchester on Tuesday evening by the C. P. R. express and are the guests of Mr. Justice Landry, father of the groom. The Cornet Band serenaded the happy couple during the evening, playing a number of selections. Bandmaster Y. C. Cosman received a substantial cheque from Mr. Landry, who made a very graceful speech, addressing his words especially to the bandmen. Mr. Landry has many friends in St. John.

Good Concert in St. Phillips. A programme meritoriously rendered by the talent of St. Phillips' church last night was applauded by one of the largest crowds that ever assembled inside its doors. The society which comprises the three provinces, held its meeting last year at Halifax. It is very likely that St. John will have the honor next summer. Dr. Geo. G. Melvin, of this city, has been its secretary for three years, while Dr. P. C. Murphy, of Tignish, P. E. I., is the president this year, and Dr. S. C. Murray, of Albert, N. B., the vice-president.

CHINESE WALKING DELEGATE ALWAYS ON HAND TO ASSIST HIS COUNTRYMEN UNDER ARREST

Mr. P. E. Miller, United States immigration agent at this port, returned yesterday at noon from St. Johnsbury, Vermont, where he was a witness against three Chinese charged with illegally entering the United States by way of the New Brunswick border.

Inspectors T. P. Haynes and Brosnahan, of St. John, Inspector H. C. Gillis, of Calais, and Station Agent Jackman, of Vanceboro, also testified at the hearing, which took place before a Government commission with jurisdiction in cases of suspected Chinese.

One Was Convicted. One of the Chinese who were captured on the C. P. R. after shipping from the Union Depot here, was convicted and is to be deported after the expiration of ten days which is allowed for appeal. The other two were remanded on account of the illness of their counsel.

A Mysterious Chinaman. An interesting figure connected with the hearing of these Chinese and in fact with the hearing of all of those detained at the holding place in Richmond, Vt., is a man of their own race, who comes from New York to act on behalf of the prisoners.

This Chinaman is a mystery to the United States Government. Why he assumes an interest in all of his countrymen who are being put on trial for this form of evasion of the law, is not certainly known. It is thought, however, that he represents a Chinese secret society which takes these matters up in the hope of increasing the number of their race in the United States, or else out of pure benevolence.

This walking delegate is never refused admission to the Chinese under detention. He employs counsel for their defence and carries out all the necessary arrangements.

LANCASTER DELEGATES ELECTED

The supporters of the local Government in the Parish of Lancaster met last evening in Fairville Hall and elected delegates to the convention to be held at the York Theatre on June 22, for the purpose of choosing a candidate to represent the Government party in the coming by-election in the County of St. John. No speeches were made at the meeting but it was very enthusiastic.

The chairman was Robert Catherwood. David Raynes acted as secretary.

The delegates elected were Dr. J. H. Gray, Harry Kelly, A. A. Clark, David Raynes, John Britney, William Golding, William Stymest, Robert Catherwood, J. V. Lawlor, J. Bettison, John Irvine, Patrick McMurray.

Substitutes. Substitutes were also elected. They were as follows: Councillor Fox, F. Linton, J. Gallagher, William Ruddock.

AN ATTEMPT AT BLUFF, SAYS MR. CROCKETT

Asked by a Standard reporter last night in reference to the statement of Mr. B. A. MacNab, of Montreal, Mr. J. H. Crockett said: "No, there is nothing further to say at present, as to the threat of Mr. MacNab of the Montreal Star. He has not yet accepted my challenge to proceed with his threatened criminal action. The telegram in yesterday's St. John Times, although dated Fredericton, was really from MacNab himself at Montreal, accompanied with instructions to the editor, who is also the St. John correspondent of the Montreal Star, not to allow it to appear as coming from him. It was an attempt at bluff, and nearly a copy of other telegrams on the same subject which he has been sending out from his Montreal office to some public men in this province for the last four or five weeks. This telegram was deceptively dated Fredericton in the Times office. I renew my challenge to MacNab."

CITY HALL READY FOR W. AND S. DEPT.

The contractor completed the renovation and alteration of the uppermost story of the City Building yesterday and that that work soon be ready for occupation by the office staff of the Water and Sewerage Department which is expected to move into its new quarters next week. The transfer of the office from the old Water and Sewerage Building brings about the concentration of all civic departments under one roof. This concentration will make it more convenient for the citizens to reach heads of departments.

There is some question as to what the city will do with the old Water and Sewerage building. Mayor Bullock at a recent meeting of the School Board proposed that the office of the school trustees be removed from its present location on Union street to the Water and Sewerage Building. The members of the School Board, however, did not take kindly to the suggestion, saying that the building mentioned by His Worship was too much out of the way.

MAY HAVE THIS STOCK PUT ON THE BOURSE

Mr. R. D. Isaacs left yesterday for Disraeli, Quebec, where he is interested in the projects of amalgamated asbestos. Mr. Isaacs said that representatives of a French and German syndicate were now at the mine with a view to putting the stock upon the Bourse.

The March-out of the 3rd N. B. Regt., Canadian Artillery last evening, was one of the most successful held by the regiment in recent years. The artillerymen made a fine appearance and marched well. The music of the regimental band was a feature of the march out. It was regrettable that the regiment did not as usual include King street east in their route covered, as a large number of people gathered along that thoroughfare expecting that the artillery would march along it.

The Routes. The regiment assembled at Reed's Point, the city, Carleton and North End batteries marching to that point from their armories. Lt. Col. J. B. Baxter was in command of the

WORMS

When children get cross and peevish, with poor appetite, we are inclined to think of everything else but worms. But worms are more than likely the cause of the trouble. Nyal's Worm Syrup has been killing and eliminating worms from children for a good many years. It is perfectly safe, and it is a wise precaution to give the child a course with Nyal's Worm Syrup where there is only a suspicion as to the presence of worms. It works well on grown-ups who are still troubled that way. 25 CENTS BOTTLE. Sold By
