WE have already drawn attention to the annual meeting of the Society of Arts held on the 25rd current, under the presidentship of M. Th. de Sansure, and are now able to furnish some further details.

Professor Soret, in delivering a most interesting report, passed in review the operations of the Industrial section, in reference to Commerce, laying great stress upon the competition that has taken place in the manufacture of chronometers. This competition was instituted with the object of testing the workmanship and precision of chronometers turned gut by Gene vese manufacturers, and none but those adopted for pocket use were admitted. They were deposited in charge of the authorities at the Observatory, and underwent the most searching ordeal possible to be applied to pocket instruments of this class. The jury specially retained to decide the difficult question as to whom to award the palm of excellency unanimously decided in favor of Messra. J. M. Bedollet & Co. This firm liaving carried of the sole prize by exhibiting a chronometer which fulfilled in the highest degree every condition required, crowned their first success by gaining honorable mention for two other obnomenters. The allusion to this triple honor was received with enthusiastic appleause, and Professor Humbert, President of the Fine Arts Section, closed the meeting with a happy and humorous dissertation upon subjects connected with this department. sept9 6i Spirits of Turpentine.

The Grand Trunk Railway.

The Grand Trunk Railway.

The Grand Trunk Railway has been thoroughly well abused in its day, frequently for cause, and just as frequently without cause. Peeple who have travalled by it have abused it for its forget.

without cause. Peeple who have travalled by it have abused it for its forget-fulness in "making connections." Shippers of freight have abused it for its alleged innumerable delays. Politicians have abused it because of its interference in affairs political. (By "abuse" here is meant the abuse which proceeds from voice or pen.) All things considered, it has had a very bad name, perhaps more than it deserved. The traveller who is has had a very bad name, perhaps more than it deserved. The traveller who is delayed a day or two between Halifax and Toronto through the Grand Trunk's not running up to list time table, does not stop to consider the manner in which the road was originally constructed; the robberies that were perpetrated in its building; the division of opinion on the subject of repairs in the Home Directory, or the other difficulties through which the road has had to struggle. He would, in fact, have to give a good hour or more to such considerations before he could really understand the whys and wherefores of the delay from which he suffers. He naturally regards the Grand Trunk as he would any other railroad, without reference to its past history, and the Grand Trunk falls accordingly in his estimation. And this is the case, also, with the merchant whose flour has been detained until the staple had fallen in value and the hoped for profit has vanished. It is only when such complainants the case the manner of the company was proved to the company to spend these two sums on the road for the purpose of making it more passable, and putting it in the better order. (Cheers.) He would therefore them by this line; and some appreciation of the efforts which would be requisite before the railway was put into that condition which was necessary for this country. (Cheers.) The Company had now under contract steel rails and some appreciation of the efforts which would be requisite before the railway was put into that condition the next two years. From the fact of Mr. Brydges being a Commissioner for the Intercolonial railway, he were to be used in the next two years. From the fact of Mr. Brydges being a Commissioner for the intercolonial railway, he were to be used in the next two years. From the fact of Mr. Brydges being a Commissioner for the Intercolonial railway, he was enabled to purchase steel rails at something like the same terms as they had been purchased for that road.

value and the hoped for profit has vanished. It is only when such complainants take up the newspapers, or the Annual Report of the Road, or attend a dinner given to Grand Trunk magnates, that they realize the true position of affairs and learn how much is being done to profit the Road in the returned home to England to give the proprietors of the Grand Trunk Railway an account of what he had seen. It concerned put the Road in thorough condition, how much is being sacrificed by English stockholders to benefit the trade of Ca-much is being sacrificed by English stockholders to benefit the trade of Canada and the States, and how determined the proprietors of the road are to make it everything it ought to be. Thus, only, a few days ago, in Toronto, the Grand Trunk managers were afforded an opportunity to explain what they are doing to aid the trade of Canada by means of their road. A special meeting of the Corn Exchange of that city was held and a lunch was given to Mr. Potter, the President of the Company, Mr. Brydges, the managing Director, and others connected with the enterprise. The Chairman of the meeting is thus reported on introducing Mr. Potter:—

The Chairman said there was present with them the president of a railway who desired to make the index of the Grand Trunk would not steel rails to take the place of the old iron ones. There had recently been laid 10,000 tons of steel rails, and during the whole winter only ten rails of the world occupany had now contracted for 32,000 tons of steel rails to take the place of the old iron ones. There had recently been laid 10,000 tons of steel rails, and during the whole winter only ten rails of the whole to had been broken, and 35,000 iron rails had been broken and 35,000 iron rails and been informed that for the present time, and for some time to come all dividends of the Grand Trunk. Railway Company had been waived in order to make the improvements necessary upon the road. (Cheers) He could not speak of the road as he would probably gives some interesting facts. (Cheers.)

speak of the road as he would like; but Mr. Potter, whose health he would propose, was present and would propose, was present and would propose, was present and would propose. (Cheers.)

Mr. Potter delivered an interesting reply, which we quote in full:—

Mr. Potter on rising to reply, said it had been with warm feelings that he had listened to the remarks of the chairman. He felt gratified with the reception that he had met with from all present, and he would convey to his friends at home, and to the proprietors of the Grand Trunk Railway, the sentiments that had been expressed here. He had been asked for some facts with regard to the Grand Trunk Railway, and he would have pleasure in making a few remarks as to its past history and its future prospects. (Cheers.)

Since that railway with satisfication to the company and to the people of Canada. He hoped that any man who did his duty would be rewarded by Mr. Brydges, and that he would dispense with those who were unfaitful. Again he would return thanks for the kindness evinced towards him. (Applause.)

Tilley and Hon. Dr. Tupper. There was some talk of a Dinner to the Doctor in Cumberland, also.

The Halifax Colonist says of the Halifax Chronicle:—"The miserable

It was a darksome windy night, And rain and sleet came teering down. When from the outskirts of the town. Joe Bogan came home "stiff and tight. A shocking hat smiled on his head, And several tears lay on his chesk; In vain he, mutt'ring, tried to speak, But speech from him long since had fied. His coat lay mildly on his back; His boots were towhides rudely made; The men who found him gently laid Him on a spike, then called a hack. They waltzed him up a flight of stairs, Then hastened to the Pharmacy, And there they purchased @sona-tea, And left him to his own affairs. The morning dawned, and with the "sun Joe Bogan tried in vain to rise; His wife prepared a sweet surprise,' And shot him with a wooden gun. She banged him on the head and nose, Until a stream of claret flowed: And with a broom his hair she mowed, And put a corn between his toes.

With grief poor Bogan that night died:
He drinks no more pale brandy cold,
Nor takes delight in whiskey old,
But in a shearse he took a ride. MORAL. Pray do not heed this warning late;
I ask thee, lend to it an ear:
Give drinking up, renounce thy beer,
Else on a bier will be thy fate.
TENNYSON,

NOTES. *He was drunk.
