It was also quite in accordance with the recent practice of the old parliamentary hand carefully to abstain from giving any notice whatever of his intention to make a statement on the subject last Thursday. It is to be regretted that Duke Alfred did not surrender gracefully the whole of his British allowance, as he cannot now want any part of it, for the income of himself, and the duchess amounts to about £100,000 a year. The duke has been saving largely since his marriage and all his accumulations have gone into judicious but practically riskless securities.

The rooms are very large and handsome and the house, which is admirably arranged, was redecorated and refurnished not long ago when the sanitary arrangements and the water supply were thoroughly overhauled. Col. Vigge returned to Windsor Castle ten days ago from Florence where he had been dispatched by the Queen to inspect the villa. He has given directions for various alterations including the addition of electric bells and a lift which is to run to the first floor where the Queen's was apartments are. The Queen intends to stay in Florence between three and four weeks, after which she is most likely to proceed to Cobourg where she will be the guest of the duke and duchess at their palace. Eigh Constable Schram to Eatliff Burns. To the Editor of the Adventuers:

Is is not a great pity that a man like Bailiff Burns, who can beat any constable in this or any other county in making bureau fees (as he calls it), should try to hide his conviction behind bureau justice? It's a poor excuse for his hounds killing farmers' sheep. Now, as far as these so-called bureaus are concerned, I claim that story is played out, and that the county constabulary is just as respectable, and conducted in as satisfactory a manner as any paid police force in claim that story is played out, and that the county constabulary is just as respectable, and conducted in as satisfactory a manner as any paid police force in Canada, and that county constables of the county of Middlesca are under strict rules passed by the judges of this county, and that no constable is allowed to lay information without first reporting the case to the high constable and do the work under his directions, and that every case so tried before a county magistrate, and how disposed of, is registered in the constable's book in the high constable's office in the Court House, on the same principle as the city police biotter is kept; and when irregularities occur as to constables, the cases are reported to the chairman of the Sessions and there investigated by that court. Surely if this great tragedian Burns has any grievances against the constables he has his remedy in reporting the case to the proper authorities. If this man, who spouts Shakespeare so freely would attend to his Division Court duties, and let outside bailiff work and poor girls sewing machines alone, he might be thought a good deal more of. If the hands were hungry, who could blame them? Hoping I will hear no more about those so-called bureaus. I remain yours, H.R. Scuram, High Constable, Middlesex county.

A TERRIBLE INDICTMENT. A TERRIBLE INDICTMENT. Hamilton Times.
That ambitious politician, Dr. G. Sterling Ryerson, asks for Mowat's condemnation on the strength of the appointment of Mr. Patullo, registrar of Oxford county, who is, he alleges, a brother-in-law of Sir Oliver's son-in-law. His great indignation against this outrage is not lessened by the fact that the relationship did not exist until years after the appointment was made. Thomas S. Hobbs said that the addition of several hundred people to the population, through the establishment of the carshops here, would add very much to the assessable property of the city, whereas the taking away of the railway workmen here, as was contemplated, if the shops were concentrated elsewhere would reduce the value of every home and lot in the city.

Mr. John M. Cousins objected on principle to the granting of bonuses. If people were caught begging on the street they were rushed into the police station, but these everlasting railway corporations begging for bonuses were generally treated with, as far as he was concerned, too much consideration. He thought that if the Grand Trunk Company wanted to locate its car shops here the location would take place without the extension of a bonus. It think we have done more for the Grand Trunk than they have done for us. That's my opinion of it," was his parting shot.

Masuret observed that the question was not only what the city expected to get as a return from the bonus, but what it would lose if the car shops were removed. He was of Mr. Cousins' opinion—that bonuses in principle were wrong. But the loss to the city through the rejection of the bylaw would be such as to make him suppress his scruples against bonuses for the moment.

J. D. Clarke spoke approvingly of the bylaw as a defensive measure. The people of Sarnia and Point Edward, he was sure, would rejoice to hear that London had refused to take steps to have the shops consentrated here. It was simply a question of whether or not the retaining of the men now here and bringing many others here would be a profitable investment for the taxpayers. At the sum per $1,000 of assessment mentioned by Mr. Hyman—33 ents a year—it appears? So him an investment worthy of support by taxpayers in every walk of life.

Ex-Mayor John Campbell understood that the membership of the Board of Trade, with the exception of himself, was unanimously in favor of the bylaw. He thought that the principle of bonusing was wrong. He had arrived at this conclusion after viewing the result which had attended the granting of a large number of bonuses by the city. The experience in every instance had proved disadvantageous. He did not anticipate any different result in the present instance. He believed that a railway corporation could only be bound in so far as its interests were concerned by any regulations that might be imposed. The Grand Trunk had never indicated that it would accept the bonus, and he thought that the city had humiliated itself in running after the railway corporation.

Sir John Carling was sorry that Mr. Cogent Reasons Why the G. T. R.

The Grand Trunk bonus bylaw was given an aimost unqualified indorsation—only two citizens, Messers. J. M. Cousins and ex-Mayor John Campbell voted against a strongly lavorable resolution—at a meeting held in the Board of Trade chamber last evening. All the speakers, with the two exceptions indicated, concurred in the opinion that a great loss would result to the city through a rejection of the bylaw.

President Bland, who occupied the chair, said that the object which the Board of Trade had in view in calling the meeting was to secure an opinion upon the question of granting $100,000 as a bonus to the Grand Trunk, provided the car shops of the western system were concentrated here, which might aid in obtaining a favorable yot at the coming election.

It was upon the following motion, moved by ex-Mayor James Cowan, seconded by Mr. C. S. Hyman, M.P., that the discussion took place:

"That we, the Board of Trade and rate-payers duly qualified to vote on the G. T. R. bonus bylaw, fully approve of its provisions as submitted, and we hereby pledge ourselves to use every legitimate means to turther its passage, believing that the permanent location of the carshops in the city will prove advantageous to every ratepayer:

BASE COINAGE

A standard coin is one of which the value in exchange depends solely upon the value of the material contained in it. The stamp serves as a mere indication and guarantee of the quality of fine metal; and as no one but an assayer or analytical chemist can decide upon the fineness of a coin the importance of this stamp or impress is obvious.

VASELINE, which is the Pure Gold (for medicinal and other special purposes) of the hydrocarbons of Petroleum, is put up by the Manufacturers in convenient packages of different sizes, each one bearing the words

"VASELINE Prepared by the CHESEBROUGH MFG. Co., CONS'D."

This inscription stands to the general Public in the same relation as the device upon the standard

It is a guarantee of the fineness and purity of the material contained in the package, and as such is a protection to the public against imposition by dishonest dealers who attempt to sell spurious articles under the name of VASELINE.

Most of these imitations being not only worthless, but in some cases positively dangerous, it is to the interest of the public to accept none but the original packages put up by us

THE LONDON ADVERTISER, with its more ing and evening editions, covers the ground With one exception, at is THE ONLY EARLY MORNING DAILY IN ONTARIO, outside of To-

-Only those communications to which the writers are willing to have their names appended in print will be published in these columns.

-Some candidates for public office just ache for strife, so that they can personally profit by it.

-Letters signed by bogus names are just as objectionable to an honestly-conducted journal as are anonymous tirades that cowards dare not sign their names to. The ADVERTISER will have none of them,

-This is the season for making good cesolutions. If some men would resolve, and adhere to the resolution, to tell nothing but the truth about those who disagree with them, they would lose their stock-intrade of "argument."

-The Dominion Government during the last fiscal year collected $1,354,555 59 more than was needed to pay its current indebtedness. This, according to the Toronto Empire, is something to rejoice over. These taxes would have been of much greater service to the people if they had that to London's unexceptional position as never been taken out of their pockets.

-Our esteemed contemporary, the Brantford Expositor, gave its readers a Christmas box and an agreeable surprise in the shape of a new dress of type. The Expositor is one of the brightest evening dailies in the Province, and it is a sturdy advocate of popular rights at all times. Its enterprising proprietor well deserves the support of the people of Brantford.

-The postoffice service of the United States has assumed enormous proportions since the 2-cent letter rate was put in force. Last year there were 447,591 miles of mail routes and 67,119 postoffices. The revenues of the department were $70,930,475. There were carried $3,800,000,000 letters. The world's amual mail comprises $8,000,000,-0 letters and 5 000 000,000 papers.

-Alfred Boultbee, ex-M. P., the newlyappointed customs inspector for Western Ontario, is 63 years of age. Mr. Vankough net and other officials recently superannuated at great expense to the taxpayers were under 60 years of age-some of them less than 50. But Mr. Boultbee tried to defeat the late Alexander Mackenzie, after the veteran leader had been shamefully gerrymandered, and for the odium thus shouldered he demanded and has finally obtained office.

-It will interest the many friends of temperance reform to knew, on the authority of Miss Frances Willard, that the United Kingdom Alliance and the British Women's Temperance Association of England have taken up the suggestion made by the World's and National W. C. T. U. for a general observance in the interest of temperance reform, on March 20, 1894, the 90th birthday of Gen. Neal Dow, the tather of the prohibitory law. The demonstration in honor of the veteran will thus be international.

-Our thirsty contemporary professes great fear least when the country adopts prohibition there will not be sufficient accommodation for man and beast. Some men live in constant fear of the death they will never die. There is no need for anyone being alarmed about hotel accommodation in the event of a prohibitory law passing. In the State of Maine, where prohibition has been the rule for many years, territory, has choked up the irrigating there are to be found as good hotels as exist anywhere in the world. The sale of intoxicating, liquor is no more a necessary adjunct to hotel accommodation than is the simultaneously over all the country where

BOARD OF TRADE SOLID. The London Board of Trade last night voted almost unanimously in favor of the Grand Trunk bonus bylaw. Ex-Mayor Campbell, and Mr. James M. Cousine, visitor, voted against a pronounced motion of indersation, but all the others present supported it. With a strong support from the workingmen and almost unanimous indorsation by the heavy taxpayers, the Grand Trunk bonus bylaw should pass. The others can be voted down with safety. This bylaw will not wait.

LONDON'S PROGRESS.

As far back as 1851 the population of London was only 6,736. But a place situated in so advantageous a position could not be expected to stand still. And, despite drawbacks of an artificial character, it has made steady progress in each successive decade. We do not have the figures for 1861 by us, but we know that in the twenty years following 1851 the population of London increased to 15,826. This increase of 9,090 in so small a population was really exceedingly good progress, achieved under a low tariff on imports, which built up London as a farm lands. It is easier to quarantine o trade center. We have already pointed out that the increase from 1871 to 1881the decade immediately prior to the putting in force of the high tax policy-was 10,440, whereas in the last ten years the increase was but 5.711.

Our city contemporary says the increase in the period from 1871 to 1881 was due to exceptional circumstances-various new industries being started, whereas in the past ten years some oil refiners removed from East London to Petrolea, and the city was struck with a "financial cyclone." There is some truth in this statement. The "financial cyclone," though, was the direct result of the northwest end of the "N. P. boom, and to it and the authors of it must the troubles of the last ten years largely be laid. Our contemporary dwells on the drawbacks of the last ten years and the helps of the previous decade, in order to make the best possible case for the class law which it espouses. It should have been fair enough to acknowledge that there was a world-wide trade depression in the decade of 1871-81, and that but for that depression, which we in Canada could do nothing to remove, the progress of the city would have been much greater.

We have just as much faith in the city o London as anyone. The people of London will bear us out in the assertion that we have done fully as much to keep the position and brilliant prospects of London before the world as the "protectionist" organ. Fair-minded citizens, at least, do not hold with that upholder of class legislation that the more money the people pay in taxation the richer they are likely to become. They know as well as we do a business center, and not to the speculative eraze brought on by the "N. P.," or that unfair system of raising the revenue itself, does this city owe its present position and prospects. It has, we conscientiously affirm, been hurt rather than helped by the drain of the "N.P." imposition. But the city's past record, in spite of artificial drawbacks, has been such as to warrant the prophecy that it has a prosperous future before it. London manufacturers and London merchants are too independent to ask for any special privileges, or to argue that they are infants requiring more than the same tair play as their neighbors.

ANOTHER ENEMY OF THE FARMER The Canada thistle has proved a pest to the farmers of this country, but this weed is as nothing compared with the Russian thistle. A Dakota Congressman who has introduced a bill into the United State House of Representatives for an appropria tion of $1,000,000 to be expended in the extirpation of this Russian thistle, describes the exotic as the most pernicious member of the vegetable kingdom.

The Russian thistle was carried to North Dakota by some Muscovite immigrants in the seed of grains and plants which they imported. It has spread over both Dakotas, in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin. Whenever a brisk autumn wind blows from the northwest or west its seed is wafted across vast belts of territory on the down growth which it produces. It seatters everywhere, and is a universal nuisance and pest. The lescriptions of the plant are almost sensational. From the main stalks new offshoots project in all directions, and from those offshoots, as they ripen, further stems extend, like the cactus growths, until a single thistle is as big as a sod cabin. It is a more destructive pest of agriculture than all other plants and all insects combined. It covers the ground, shading the young crops and absorbing with superior suctiona force the moisture and all the sources of nutrition in the soil. Men and animals are compelled to wear sheet iron bootlegs in passing through the thistle fields in order to protect themselves from its pricks, which are not only painful but as poisonous as the sting of a wasp. In Siberia the thistle has driven farmers entirely away from many hundred square miles of fertile canals and has made the highways impass able for man or beast. The Dakota statesman says that two years' work, prosecuted effect its subjugation. It is argued that heroic remedies are needed, and that the legislation asked for in Congress is on the lines followed in the pleuro-pneumonia act of 1884, which appropriated a large sum of money to be expended for the purpose of extirpating a destructive cattle disease. If the Government can be made to pay for the extirpation of a cattle disease, why not pay to extirpate an infection of the soil?

These alarming reports from the Western States are of great interest to Canadians. Our Northwest Territories lie side by side with the States now alleged to be attacked by this pestilent and unwelcome visitor. It would be a bad day for the Northwest Territories, or for Ontario, if the Russian thistle were to find a permanent longment on their soil. It is in the bitter recolled tion of many how much harm was done by an attack of grasshoppers of the Red River settlers. plague only lasted for a year. The Russian thistle comes to stay, unless it is rooted out at vast expense. It will be the duty of the authorities, as well as of every farmer throughout Western Canada, to keep a watchful eye along the borders, and pre vent the spread of the thistle upon our destroy diseased cattle than to keep off the seeds of this destructive plant once they get into a neighborhood.

"Had I used printer's ink I would not have had to suspend," says a Brooklyn business man who has just failed. It you have a good thing to sell you must let the people know it. That is one of the great secrets of success in this rusting age. The people have not time to hunt you up. You must do the hunting or get left.

PROHIBITION IN IOWA.

PROHIBITION IN IOWA.

(Canada Presbyterian.)

The Globe has done capital work by sending its commissioners to lowato see how the law has worked. In some places it has worked fairly well, in others it has not worked at all, but it has failed no worse than a license law would have failed, no worse than a law against gambling would have failed, and perhaps not quite so signally as the seventh commandment has have failed, and perhaps not quite so signally as the seventh commandment has failed. The one thing made undoubtedly clear by the Globe writers is that the enforcement of the law depends mainly on the amount of moral force behind it. The vital question is this: Is there enough of moral power in Ontario to secure the reasonable working of a prohibitory law. The best way to find out is to try. Call the law an experiment if you will, it is an experiment well worth trying. All reforms are more or less an experiment. You never can be sure how anything new will work until you try. There is no hope for a people that will six satisfied and still and look at the havoc the drink habit is making even in the best of satisfied and still and look at the have the drink habit is making even in the best of communities. The duty of the hour is to roll up such a majority on Monday next as will convince everybody that the freemen of this Province want something more done to stem the tide of sorrow and suffering that has for years been sweeping over this fair land. When the people say something more must be done, something more will be done. If that something is not prohibition it may be a near approach to prohibition, and so long as it is a good thing bition it may be a near approach to prohibition, and so long as it is a good thing good men will not quarrel about names. Roll up the majority on Monday, and when the bells ring at 5 to close the poll may they ring the death-knell of the liquor traffic in Ontario.

The civic campaign opened with vigor in No. 6 ward last night, when a bumper meeting was held in Trebilcock's Hall. All the candidates for aldermanic honors and the aspirants to the mayoralty were on hand and delivered addresses. A notable feature of most of the speakers' remarks was a refusal to promise anything outside of "the best interests of the citizens." The present electric lights in the city are not what they are supposed to be, and he would advocate the construction of a plant for the city, even should nothing else be concerned.

HOW . IT WORKS IN HAMILTON.

Men and women are often influenced by the truthful testimony of those who have thoroughly tested a remedy. Many a brief letter of testimony has done more effective work than could be accemplished by columns of ordinary talk in the newspapers. Those who testify in favor of Harvard bronchial syrap do the work for the benefit of suffering humanity, and with a firm belief that all must be benefited who use the great cough remedy.

Mr. S. Kemp, of 133 Hughson street, Hamilton, Ont., testifies as follows: "I take pleasure in recommending Harvard bronchial syrup, having used the same in my family on different occasions with the very best results each time. I consider it a sure cure for coughs and colds."

We have no hesitation in recommending Harvard bronchial syrup to the old and young, rich and poor; it has no equal in this or any other land. Men and women are often influenced by Liberal Tariff Platform.

In these, and in many other ways, it has efined.

The Government themselves admit the failure of their fiscal policy, and now pro-fess their willingness to make some changes, but they say that such changes must be based only on the principle of protection.

must be based only on the principle of protection. We denounce the principle of protection as radically unsound and unjust to the masses of the people, and we declare our conviction that any tariff changes based on that principle must fail to afford any substantial relief from the burdens under which the country labors.

This issue we unhesitatingly accept and upon it we await with the fullest condence the verdict of the electors of Canada.

SATISFIED.

We are satisfied with the volume of business done during Xmas week. It was much larger than any previous year. A good, first-class house always advances, is progressive, and does not think of retrograding or standing still. Again we say we are satisfied. How is it with you? Those of you who did not call upon us, how did you fare? If not very well, then come to us and we will remedy matters.

To-day our big show window We, the Liberal party of Canada, in convention assembled declarer

That the customs tariff of the Dominion should be based, not as it now is, upon the protective principle, but upon the requirements of the public service.

That the existing tariff, founded upon an unsound principle and used as it has been by the Government as a corrupting agency, wherewith to keep themselves in office, has developed monopolies, trusts and combinations: is dressed with choice lines of Dress Goods. Surely there are wherewith to keep themselves in office, has developed monopolies, trasts and combinations:

It has decreased the value of farm and other landed property;

It has oppressed the masses to the enrichment of the few;

It has caused great loss of population;

It has caused great loss of population;

It has caused great loss of population;

It has discriminated against Great

Britain.

In these, and in many other ways, it has consistened great public and private injury, all of which evils must continue to grow in intensity so long as the present tariff system remains in force.

That the highest interests of Canada delayed the price of Hopsacking. We have looked over our stock, and That the highest interests of Canada demand a removal of this obstacle to our country's progress, by the adoption of a sound fiscal policy, which, while not doing injustice to any class, will promote domestic and foreign trade and instent the return of prosperity to our people.

That to that end, the tariff should be reduced to the needs of housest, coonomical and efficient government.

That it should be so adjusted as to make free, or to bear as lightly as possible upon the necessaries of life and should be so arranged as to promote free trade with the whole world, more particularly Great Britain and the United States.

We believe that the results of the protective system have grievously disappointed thousands of persons who honeastly supported it, and that the country in the light of experience is now prepared to declare for a sound fiscal policy.

The issue between the two political parties on this great question is now clearly defined.
