LLOYD GEORGE GOVERNMENT RESIGNS

ARREST CITY DENTIST ON CHARGE OF PERJURY AT M'MULLEN TRIAL FOR ROBBING BANK AT WYOMING

Provincial Police Escort Dr. J. A. Milne to Sarnia, Where He Was Allowed Bail of $2,000—Said To Have Declared Bandit Was Under Treatment at Office When Depredation Was Committed.

Special to London Advertiser.

Sarnia, Oct. 19.—James Allen Milne, residing at 1260 King street, London, and practicing as a dentist on Dundas street, is charged with perjury at Sarnia on June 15 last during the trial of Edward McMullen, the notorious Wyoming bank bandit, according to a statement by Crown Attorney F. W. Wilson this morning.

Milne was arrested in London by Provincial Constable Leslie Atkins and brought to Sarnia yesterday afternoon for bail application.

This was granted by Magistrate Henry Gorman in the amount of $2,000, and Milne will be brought up for preliminary hearing in the city police court here on Tuesday next.

The Wyoming bank robbery case, which followed the arrest of the four men, three of whom were convicted subsequently in the Lambton court, has produced one sensation after another, and the arrest of Milne indicates that at least one other interesting development remains after the disclosure of the actual robbers to jail at Kingston.

Not Considering Action.

Crown Attorney Wilson stated this morning that the crown was not considering any action against Dr. Milne's partner, Dr. Smythe, who although he gave evidence in the trial of McMullen, made no statements which are alleged by the crown to be perjurious.

Dr. Milne was the cornerstone of the defence alibi in the original trial of McMullen, which the bandit escaped from the time being through a jury disagreement. The summary of his testimony was to the effect that on Oct. 20, 1921, between the hours of 2:30 and 3:30, which covered the actual time and date of the robbery of the Bank of Toronto at Wyoming, McMullen was sitting in the dental chair in the Dundas street clinic of Dr. Milne, having an aching tooth extracted. Dr. Milne positively asserted that he could identify McMullen in the box as the man on whom he operated at that particular time.

Produces Chart.

He produced before the judge and jury a record chart, showing dental treatment for McMullen on July 30, Aug. 5 and Oct. 20, 1921, and the hour of appointment was fixed by the time of an appointment with a lady recorded on another chart, declaring that this lady, who had prior appointment that afternoon, offered to wait while McMullen's painful molar was extracted. Witness described the location of the tooth, but no examination of McMullen's mouth was made before the jury at that time.

If McMullen, between 2:30 and 3:30 on the afternoon of Oct. 20, 1921, was sitting in Dr. Milne's dental chair under anesthesia, how could he have robbed the bank at Wyoming at 3 o'clock on the same afternoon, J. M. McEvoy asked. One of the twelve jurors who were trying the case at least credited the evidence brought out to show that McMullen was not at Wyoming, and the accused obtained the benefit of a jury disagreement.

At the re-trial of McMullen at the September assizes he was found guilty of the bank robbery and sentenced by Mr. Justice Lennox to four years penal servitude at Kingston Penitentiary.

DECLARE COAL NOW PLENTIFUL

Local G. T. R. Officials State Thirty Cars Pass Through City Daily.

Railroads Begin to Build Up Reserve Supply in District.

Between 25 and 30 cars of anthracite coal pass through the city daily, but the majority of these large shipments are consigned to various centers in the United States, Grand Trunk officials in the city stated Thursday morning. Those who are in a position to take stock of the great part of the coal arriving in London declare, however, that the city is receiving its share of "black diamonds," and the amount is increasing considerably every week.

A large percentage of coal mined in Pennsylvania and destined for cities in Michigan and adjacent states is routed to Buffalo, through Ontario to Detroit and other border points.

At the present time railroad officials estimate that 5 and 6 carloads, or from 300 to 420 tons of coal, most of which reaches local dealers, are shipped to London daily.

No shortage of engine coal is being experienced by any of the railroads, it is said. When the peak of the coal shortage was reached some months ago, the Canadian roads were compelled to withdraw a few passenger trains from the service, as in most cases the reserve supplies had been consumed and the prospects for receiving large shipments to warrant running all trains was not very bright.

Thursday morning, however, that there was plenty of engine coal to be had, and that a reserve supply was again being started in the local yards.

It was pointed out, however, that it will be many months before the situation again reaches the normal stage, as large industrial concerns and railroads in the country are receiving a goodly part of the coal output of the American mines today.

DISORDER REIGNS IN VLADIVOSTOK

Tokio, Oct. 19.—Lawlessness reigns in Vladivostok as the result of the approach of a victorious red army. Official dispatches say. The French consulate was attacked yesterday, and foreigners have appealed to their governments for protection.

The United States consul has engaged as a refuge for United States citizens a building flying the United States flag and guarded by the guns of a United States cruiser.

NAB 20 SAID TO BE COMMUNISTS

St. Joseph, Mich., Oct. 19.—Twenty alleged communists, arrested Aug. 22, when federal and state authorities raided the convention of the Communist Party of America in the sand hills 20 miles south of here yesterday, waived extradition, and were bound over to the circuit court for trial Nov. 27.

Twelve of the twenty gave new bonds in the sum of $10,000 each, and the other eight went back to jail.

DAWSON GLAD TO HAVE PROBE OF JAIL AFFAIRS

Governor Has No Fear of Investigation Mooted by County Residents.

DATA BEING COLLECTED

Request To Be Sent To Raney When Evidence Is Completed.

Officials at the county jail will welcome an investigation if anyone has any charges to make against them or against the management of that institution, Governor Byron Dawson declared this morning.

Yesterday the governor refused to discuss the matter at all, stating that under section 29 of the jail regulations, jail officials were unable to say anything for publication regarding matters pertaining to the jail.

For a week or more now, county residents, who claim they will ask for an investigation of charges which have been made to them, have been gathering data on the matter with a view to bringing the matter to the attention of Crown Attorney J. C. Elliott.

As soon as this data and a request for a probe is brought before the crown attorney, he will forward notice to Attorney-General W. E. Raney's office and to the department of the inspector of prisons and charities, W. W. Dunlop, he said.

County councillors who have been approached regarding the matter say that there is every reason to believe that an investigation will be asked for at the earliest possible moment.

Talk of an investigation first came to the surface last week when Night Turnkey John Burdon and Mrs. Fred East, matron, handed in their resignations and declared they were unable to hold office under the existing conditions.

Since then a number of prominent county ratepayers have received complaints of the manner in which the jail was managed, and state they are certain they have received sufficient charges which, when laid before the crown, will warrant a probe.

With Oceania the Dominion does business to the extent of $20,000,000 a year, while with Mexico and the countries of South America bordering on the Pacific her trade is valued at $14,000,000 a year. In the aggregate this trade is valued at $82,000,000.

The whole subject of Trans-Pacific trade will be gone into by the Pan-Pacific commercial conference, which will open at Honolulu on Oct. 25.

C. T. O'Hara, deputy minister of trade and commerce, will represent Canada.

CLAIMS RULING DOES NOT REOPEN STILLMAN CASE

Counsel for Defendant Declares Justice Tompkins' Decision "Devoid of Practical Effect."

New York, Oct. 19.—The ruling handed down by Supreme Court Justice Tompkins on Tuesday that Supreme Court Justice Morschauser had gone beyond his jurisdiction in passing on the referee's report in the Stillman case, was considered yesterday by John F. Brennan, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, in the light of a personal opinion and "devoid of practical effect."

He asserted that it did not reopen the case or in any way alter the decision already given.

"The ruling by Justice Tompkins," he said, "seems merely to register his opinion and to be devoid of practical effect."

Justice Morschauser said he had not seen the statement of Justice Tompkins and had no comment to make.

FIRE GUTS CLUBHOUSE 70 MILES FROM MONTREAL

Montreal, Oct. 19.—Beaconsfield, a summer resort about 70 miles from Montreal, was the scene of a spectacular conflagration last night when the Shamrock Club house and a number of barns were totally destroyed with damage set at $25,000. At one time the high wind so fanned the flames that it was feared about ten o'clock that the whole district along the lake shore would be destroyed. The fire, the origin of which is unknown, was under control by midnight.

CHARGE UNION HEAD TOOK CASH

U. S. Rail Organization Claim Former President Misappropriated $200,000.

Treasurer Asserts $50,000 Sent to Strengthen Canadian Branches.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 19.—A check for $50,000 was sent to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada by Allen E. Barker, former international president of the maintenance-of-way men's organization, for fighting the One Big Union movement, according to testimony yesterday by the union in its suit to recover $200,000 Mr. Barker is said to have misappropriated.

George Seal, former grand secretary-treasurer, testified to the $50,000 check, stating it was his understanding the money was to be used to strengthen existing unions in the Dominion and combat the propaganda for a union of all organizations which would have disrupted the brotherhood.

Other witnesses gave testimony to support the union's charges that funds designed for organization and other work were used by Mr. Barker in real estate ventures. Thirty pieces of property in Detroit were purchased by the former president, it was alleged.

During 1919 and 1920 witnesses for the union testified, Mr. Barker received for "special organization work" checks totalling $192,000. These checks, the union contends, were deposited to his personal account.

The testimony brought out that when Mr. Barker was removed from office more than a year ago, the union had a membership of 400,000, and the income from dues was $3,200,000 annually. The president's salary was $14,000, and fourteen grand vice-presidents $8,000 each.

QUITS OFFICE AS TORY MEMBERS RING DEATH KNEEL OF COALITION BY FLOCKING BACK TO PARTY FOLD

Conservative Element in the House Votes to Desert Unionist Administration.

CONFUSION PREVAILS IN BRITISH POLITICAL ARENA

Premier May Form New Party To Win Back Power.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The Lloyd George coalition received its death blow at the hands of the Conservative party when the Conservative members of the House of Commons and government ministers at their meeting in the Carlton Club today voted 156 to 87 to appeal to the country as the Conservative party. This creates a situation of the greatest political confusion and uncertainty the country has known for many years.

The next move certain to be made will be the resignation of Austen Chamberlain and his associates, Lord Balfour and Lord Birkenhead, from the cabinet. It is expected Premier Lloyd George will then present his resignation to the king and advise his majesty to summon a Conservative leader to form a government. This course would be taken because the Conservatives have the largest number of members in the House of Commons.

The Conservative leader expected to be picked for the task is either Andrew Bonar Law or the Earl of Derby. The life of the new Conservative ministry will probably be very brief, according to present forecasts, and a general election is expected to follow its formation.

The party lines upon which the election will be fought present a profound puzzle. One suggestion is that Mr. Lloyd George may form a center party, in which he could count upon Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead, and perhaps Lord Balfour.

This new party, it is suggested, would probably command the support of a goodly proportion of the Conservative who stood by the coalition and also of the coalition Liberals. This formation might put the Labor party in the position of the chief opposition party.

The possibility that Mr. Lloyd George will return to the leadership of the Liberals is not to be overlooked either.

Health May Prevail.

Mr. Bonar Law's friends question whether his health will permit him to take office, even for a short time. Lord Derby seems the most probable alternative selection for prime minister, although it is suggested that Lord Curzon, who gained greatly in prestige by his work in the recent Near East negotiations, and is believed to have been a luke-warm coalitionist, may be summoned to form a new government.

The vote of the Conservatives at the Carlton Club was taken on a motion by Col. Pretyman, Unionist member for the Chelmsford division of Essex, which read: Resolved, that

SOLDIERS ESCAPE BOMB EXPLOSION

Two Children Injured in Cork As Nationalists Make Attack on Troops.

Cork, Oct. 19.—Two bombs were thrown at a party of national soldiers in Washington last night. None of the soldiers were hurt, but two little children were injured.

The arrest of H. O'Mahoney, a Cork Republican, led today to discovery of an important Republican base here. In a house on Grand Parade was found evidence that the building was used not only as headquarters for Republican publicity, but also as center of the Cork No. 1 Flanna ("military organization named after the ancient Irish Fenian bodies).

Free state troops, under an intelligence officer, seized a large amount of literature, field dressings, first aid outfits and provisions. It is thought the raid will prove a further blow against the Republican campaign, particularly its propaganda department.

WOUND FOUR IN BELFAST.

Belfast, Oct. 19.—A bomb thrown into a frequented street last night exploded, wounding four persons. Many others narrowly escaped injury. The object of the bomb throwers was not apparent. No arrests were made.

British Premier Outlasts All Statesmen of World War

LLOYD GEORGE outlasted all the statesmen who guided the great nations through the world war. In the turmoil that followed the conflict, he kept his seat at the steering wheel when all around him were losing theirs.

The three men with whom he sat at Paris as the "big four" of the peace conference, long ago were toppled over. Premier Orlando of Italy was the first to go. His cabinet resigned in June, 1919.

The following January, Clemenceau, the French tiger, was cast aside. Two months later the Senate of the United States refused for a second time to ratify the peace treaty Woodrow Wilson had brought home from Versailles, and not long afterwards his party was beaten at the polls.

After all the other three had been put aside in their countries, Lloyd George became probably the most outstanding figure among all the men of the world who were engaged in public affairs. The rise of Lloyd George was an adventure, in politics filled with much romance.

He was born in Manchester, England, January 17, 1863. His father, a Unitarian schoolmaster, died when David was an infant and the child was adopted by an uncle, Richard Lloyd, a Welsh shoemaker and lay preacher.

MUST CHOOSE PLACE OF CONFINEMENT

Sidney Sears Given Option of Asylum or Ontario Reformatory.

Sidney Sears, in whose possession a bottle containing liquid, which an analysis showed contained a solution of morphine, was given the option of signing a consent to be confined in the Ontario Hospital at London for a period not longer than one year, or having Magistrate A. H. M. Gray don sign a commitment sending him to the Ontario Reformatory for the same period of time.

"I thought you told me that bottle contained water," remarked the court.

"Well, I have to go by the analysis," replied the magistrate. Then he gave Sears the option of going to the asylum or the reformatory.

"I could send you to the reformatory, but I feel sorry for you, and I am trying to give you a chance," Sears was told.

"Yes, I know your worship, but it's a pretty hard matter to decide," the prisoner replied as he sat down, and another case was called.

LLOYD GEORGE ADMITS TAKING DRASTIC ACTION

Many Junior Members of the Unionist Cabinet Leave Their Posts.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The premier's resignation included that of the entire cabinet.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—When Mr. Lloyd George tendered his resignation to the King this morning, he advised His Majesty to summon Andrew Bonar Law, the Conservative leader, to form a new cabinet. Up until 6 o'clock this morning Mr. Bonar Law had not been to Buckingham Palace.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(Associated Press).—The government of Premier Lloyd George resigned this afternoon.

The announcement of the government's resignation was made by the Central News. Up to 4:23 o'clock this afternoon no official or other announcement of it had appeared, but it had been preceded by the semi-official announcement of the Press Association stating it had learned on high authority that the government would resign forthwith.

After a brief audience with King George this afternoon Mr. Lloyd George returned to Downing street, where he received a miners' delegation. According to Frank Hodge, who headed the delegation, Mr. Lloyd George said he could not consult them as prime minister since he had resigned. Members of the miners' delegation said Mr. Lloyd George had told them the King had accepted his resignation.

The resignation of Viscount Peel, secretary of state for India, was also announced.

Several of the Unionist junior members resigned from the cabinet immediately after the Unionist resignation. These included Stanley Baldwin, president of the board of trade; Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, minister of agriculture and fisheries; Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. S. Amery, parliamentary and financial secretary of the admiralty; Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame, minister of overseas trade; Sir John Barnard, under secretary of state for the home office, and Colonel Leslie Wilson, joint parliamentary secretary of the treasury, and chief Unionist whip.

Captain H. D. Kit, another of the Unionist whips, and Colonel Albert Buckley, assistant Unionist whip, also resigned.

PLACE AMENDED PEACE TREATY BEFORE LABOR

Fourth International Council Consider Move to Increase Size of Organization.

Geneva, Oct. 19.—The draft of the amended article 393 of the peace treaty was presented at the opening session of the fourth international labor conference here yesterday. It provides that the international labor office shall be composed of thirty-two members, instead of twenty-four, as in the original article, of whom sixteen, instead of twelve, shall represent the governments, eight the employers and eight the workers.

Of the sixteen government members six are to be appointed, one each by the governments of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Germany. The ten other members representing the governments will be elected by a majority of all the governmental delegates present at the conference; four of these ten will be from non-European states.

SAVE PASSENGERS FROM BURNING SHIP CONCORD

Providence, R. I., Oct. 19.—The Colonial Line steamer Concord, New York to Providence, was on fire early this morning off Watch Hill. The passengers were transferred to the freighter Mohegan and brought to Providence. The crew had the fire on the Concord under control, and the steamer is proceeding to this port under her own steam.

WILL VOTE ON NURSES' HOME AND CITY HALL

Ratepayers To Decide Question of Proposed Buildings On December 4.

CRITICIZE BYLAWS

Several Members of City Council Oppose Erection of Residence.

It will be incumbent upon the ratepayers of London at the next municipal election to voice opinion upon a proposed new city hall on the Spencer Block, and a new nurses' home, upon a site yet to be divulged to the public. The nurses' home, including the purchase of land needed will require an expenditure of $300,000, it is estimated. The city hall will cost approximately $250,000, it is believed.

Members of the city council in special session Wednesday night voted that bylaws to this effect, be submitted to the voters December 4.

In both instances, the bylaws failed to pass without discussion and not a little criticism. Alderman H. B. Ashplant, as a point of information inquired as to who had been responsible for the estimate of $300,000 for the proposed nurses' residence.

"While I am not opposed to the undertaking," he explained, "it seems like a big amount. I would like a little more information. It seems fairly easy for us to sit back and pass big chunks of money (and we have done lots of it), but I think we should have more information at our disposal."

Mayor Wilson explained that the property estimate had been furnished by Col. Gartschore, while the specifications had been submitted by competent architects. He added that the home was calculated to accommodate about 200 nurses.

"That will be about $1,500 a room," remarked Alderman John Ashton.

Scores Expenditure. Alderman Dr. Holmes then voiced a decided exception to any move toward the further addition to Victoria Hospital.

"This is not a public utility in the strict sense of the word," he declared. "Victoria Hospital has reached a state of practical perfection. I feel that the time has come to call a halt. I believe that there should be no further building at this institution. I am just a little dubious of this bylaw."

Alderman Dr. Leonard Douglass explained that while the present might not be considered by everyone as the opportune time for an expenditure of this nature, he was reluctant to allow the project to be defeated for all time.

"We have just had a big medical gathering in this city," he pointed out. "Judging from the compliments paid our hospital by these authorities from all parts of the country, I would say that London has reaped a big benefit. We have been advertised from coast to coast as one of the leading medical centers of the continent."

"As to the need for the home, I do not know. Those in charge should be in a position to know. But while there is a feeling of retrenchment in the air I believe that we should have further data respecting the estimated cost."

The proposed expenditure found a stout defender in Mayor Dr. Wilson, who held that during the past 20 years Victoria Hospital had been a big asset to London.

Favors Residence. "The city is rapidly developing into a university center, and Victoria Hospital is an integral part of the university, and it has reached a most perfect state. The accommodation for the nurses is most inadequate. They are sleeping in garrets and private rooms and in houses surrounding the hospital, and it is difficult for the matron to provide for them."

"Londoners view the hospital far different from what they did 20 years ago. Now it is a place where they may regain their health, they say, and not a 'good place to die'."

His worship forthwith issued an invitation to the councillors to visit the hospital in the immediate future, when they would agree, he felt confident, that he was right, and where they would have an opportunity to see first hand just what the physicians and nurses were doing for suffering humanity.

"I agree," he concluded, "that this is not an opportune time for a big expenditure, but I have never yet seen the time when a big bylaw was opportune. It is a good investment for any citizen when people can be restored to health and able to work again."

Ald. John Ashton also supported the bylaw, expressing the view that there was no place in the city where money was spent to such advantage as in the nurses' home.

The bylaw passed the final reading, and goes to the electors in December. At that time they will also be asked to once again express their view upon a new city hall.

CONSERVATIVES VOTE AGAINST UNION

This meeting of Conservative members of the House of Commons declares its opinion that the Conservative party, while willing to co-operate with the coalition Liberals, should fight the election as an independent party with its own leader and its own program.

Today's vote, it is forecast, will be proclaimed as a great victory by the "die hard" group of Conservatives in parliament, who, for several months past, have been advocating the withdrawal of the party from the coalition and its resumption of its normal party organization.

Expect Victory. Two events of yesterday are considered to have contributed largely to today's decision. One was the result of the Newport election, which in so far as it was any test, confirmed the belief of the "die hards" that the Conservatives, going into the election as a party, could sweep the country.

The second was the decision of the committee of the Unionist organization to hold an emergency meeting to consider the question of the party because of the feeling that today's caucus, composed solely of the coalition members of the party in the House of Commons with such of the members of the House of Lords as were cabinet members, had no right to assume to decide the future of the whole party.

If the Conservatives control the next Parliament they may be depended upon, it is considered to carry out the treaty made with Ireland by the Lloyd George government. That this would be done was stated by the Marquis of Salisbury in his speech last Monday.

Back to Party Lines. The general results of today's collapse of the coalition promises to be, after a period of upheaval, the length of which is difficult to predict, the reversion of Great Britain to the traditional system of government on strict party lines.

The Conservative vote means that the party will withdraw from the Lloyd George coalition party, and the leadership of Austen Chamberlain, Lord Balfour and Lord Esher, head from the cabinet are expected.

Announcement of the vote of the Conservatives was preceded by reports from the Carlton Club, where the meeting was held that Austen Chamberlain's statement had failed to satisfy the meeting and that Andrew Bonar Law had spoken in favor of maintaining the independence of the Conservative party.

Mr. Bonar Law's speech was said to have had a great influence upon the meeting. The great interest the meeting aroused among the general public was evinced by the assembly of a large crowd at the entrance of the club to watch the arrival of the members.

Hold Heated Scenes. There were some heated scenes inside the club, because although the Carlton is the headquarters of the Conservative party, only those Conservatives who had supported the coalition, together with the members of the House of Lords who are members of the cabinet, were invited to today's meeting.

Lord Chaplin, who is 81 years old, one of the oldest members of the party and the club, insisted on his right to attend. He had to be lifted from his motor car, and he mounted the steps with the aid of two canes. With several members of the House of Commons, not Coalitionists, however, going upstairs in the club house to the chamber where the meeting was being held. Two or three of those excluded protested belligerently.

Austen Chamberlain, the government leader of the house of commons, addressed the meeting first. Stanley Baldwin, president of the board of trade, who leads the Conservative members of the cabinet opposing Mr. Chamberlain, followed the latter.

After two or three lesser lights in the party had spoken, Andrew Bonar Law, who was the official party leader before he retired on account of poor health, took the floor. There had been much speculation as to whether he would participate in the debate, and his participation had been made that if he spoke he would try and reconcile the Coalitionists and the anti-Coalitionists, and prevent a party split.

Receives Ovation. Mr. Chamberlain received an ovation when he rose to address the meeting. He spoke strongly along the lines of his recent Birmingham speech, appealing for the unity of the party he supported along the lines of the party suggested by its leaders. Stanley Baldwin and Col. Prentiss opposed the coalition, a decision should be postponed until the meeting of the Unionist Association. Sir Henry Craik, Scotch Unionist, also spoke in support of the decision in support of the coalition.

One of those who attended the meeting said Mr. Chamberlain was given a patient hearing, but his position was plainly unpopular. Lord Balfour spoke in support of the government leader.

Mr. Bonar Law's plan for preventing the breaking up of the party is said to have made a profound impression. "Mr. Chamberlain says the best way to deal with the labor menace is to continue the coalition with the Liberals," he is quoted as saying. "I say the best way is to maintain the party absolutely independent, and you will defeat the labor menace in your party, just as the Liberals are split."

The meeting lasted two hours.

ROLLO EXPLAINS FAIR WAGE PLAN

Addresses Members of Trades and Labor Council Wednesday Night.

Provincial Minister Given Vote of Thanks by City Organization.

Sharp interchange of conflicting opinions between Hon. Walter Rollo, Ontario's minister of labor, and Delegate E. Ingles, a member of the London Trades and Labor Council, featured the discussion following the minister's speech at a regular session of that body Wednesday night.

The session ended amicably, however, when Delegate Ingles seconded Delegate G. E. Murphy's motion that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to the honorable minister of labor for his kindness and interest in speaking the trip to clear away at first hand the difficulties that London labor leaders had met. Thunderous applause showed that the motion was unanimously passed.

Responding to an invitation from the council a month ago, the minister of labor came to the city for the specific purpose of discussing with them informally the "fair wage" question, which had affected public construction undertakings.

Mr. Rollo explained that there was no act on the statutes of Ontario regarding the fair wage question. There was, however, he said, a resolution which depended for its strength and effect on the minister of labor, but that he had never at any time asked for support.

Scarcely had the Hon. Mr. Rollo taken his seat, when Delegate Ingles was on his feet. The Hon. Mr. Rollo said that this resolution, which he had passed, was an act of the council, and that he did not make any of the remarks he said I did.

"He didn't open his mouth. And I did not make any of the remarks he said I did. As long as any minister says he is willing to carry out the provisions of that resolution, that's all I want. That's all you need. You can talk all day long about the strength in the courts just how forceful that resolution is."

According to President McGuire of the Trades and Labor Council, the board of governors at Western University, when approached on the matter, were quite willing to have the government regulations, as regards the fair wage, included in the contracts.

"But they were not able to find out what those regulations really are," said Mr. McGuire, "and we were not able to tell them."

Delegate Ellis pointed out that on several jobs the contractors contained provision as to wages, and the notice was placed in a conspicuous place. Notwithstanding these precautions, the contractors disregarded the fair wage provisions and hired non-union men at a slashed rate of wages.

Delegate William Tite wanted Hon. Mr. Rollo to tell the meeting whether any union men had applied to him for a position only to be refused. But the chairman ruled the question out of order.

"An international trades unionist," said Mr. Rollo, "and in the position in which I am I have to listen to all kinds of grievances, and I have to give as good a deal as I can. As long as I work well I fear nothing, but if I fail in my work—well, I have a good job in a broom factory to which I can go at any time."

Found Dying From Bullet Wound After Arranging Secret Wedding

Quebec, Oct. 18.—That there was a romance in connection with the death of Stanley Perry, aged 22 years, who was found mortally wounded near his father's home early on Tuesday morning, and who died later in the day at the Jefferys Hospital, was brought out at the coroner's inquest yesterday.

According to the evidence of Celina Grososki, a Loretville girl, and that of her brother Delphis, she and Stanley Perry had secretly arranged to be married.

The girl had taken her brother into her confidence on Monday, and had sent him to see young Perry and arrange political ends. OPPOSES POLICE BOARD ELECTION

City Council Declines to Join With St. Thomas to Obtain Change.

Believes London Force Cannot Be Improved Very Much.

The London city council politely declines to join with the St. Thomas council in a fight for legislation to facilitate the election of the police commissioners by the general vote of the ratepayers each year.

When a communication to this effect was submitted at Wednesday's session of the local body, Ald. Dr. Holmes promptly moved that the letter be filed without further parley.

Questioned Objection.

Ald. Dr. Douglas questioned the objection, if any, there might be to the election of the police commission by the people.

Ald. H. J. Childs opposed procedure of this nature, and alluded to the United States, where judges and various other officials were elected by popular vote. He held that it would be impossible for the commissioners to dispense business with an unbiased mind, as they would have to go back to the ratepayers for reelection.

Ald. H. J. Childs contended that the question was worthy of some thought. He knew, he related, that City Clerk Doherty of St. Thomas, who sponsored the movement at the municipal convention, was also the city solicitor in his community, and being a level-headed person, would hardly likely be one to stake his reputation upon an ill-considered project.

Ald. Gordon Drake evinced a desire to hear what Mayor Wilson might have to say about the question. "He is a member of the commission," he said. "He would know what is going on. We don't know and the public don't know."

No Legitimate Criticism.

"The best answer is that the proof of the pudding is in the eating," replied the mayor. "Just look at our police force and department. I have heard no legitimate criticism of the police."

"No, leave them alone; they are all right," vouchsafed Ald. F. G. Watkinson.

"No, you can't get better," supplemented Ald. John Ashton.

"My only advice would be to change the mayor," cautioned Mayor Wilson.

VOTE TO DECIDE CITY HALL AND FEDERAL SQUARE ISSUE

Citizens Will Be Called Upon to Settle Two Questions on One Ballot.

For the benefit of the electors, who have twice already expressed the desire that a new city hall should be constructed, it is announced that December 4 next they will be asked to vote yes or no to the following question:

"Are you in favor of building a new city hall upon the present site (the Spencer block) and of using for that purpose the money already borrowed upon debentures for the erection of a city hall upon the federal square site, while the latter may be disposed of?"

Certain of the aldermen held that the sale of the square should not be included in the measure, but it was generally recognized that the people might sanction the construction and disapprove of the sale, which would mean that nothing could be done.

NEXT YEAR'S COUNCIL WILL DECIDE ON POLICE STATION

Aldermen Unanimous in Belief That New Quarters for Police Are Essential.

The city council of 1923 will vote to settle whether the police station will be incorporated in the new city hall. That is to say, should the citizens decide at the December election that a new city hall is necessary at this time.

Should the people vote down the proposed undertaking, it is problematical as to what may happen to the former suggestion.

While a communication was received by the city councilors Wednesday from Chief of Police Robert Birrell, dealing with the subject, it was voted, after but little discussion, to pass the question on until next year for judgment.

The councilors were all of the opinion, however, that new quarters should be found somewhere for the police department.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

In that day shall the Lord of hosts be for a spirit of judgment, and for strength to them that turn the battle to the gate.—Isaiah xxviii, 5, 6.

IT offends me to the soul to hear robust, prize-winning, paid fellow tear a passion to tatters, to very rags, to split the ears of the groundlings who, for the most part, are capable of nothing but inexpressible dumb show and noise.—Shakespeare.

THE BANK CLEARINGS for the week amounted to $2,577,508 in contrast to $2,919,931 for the corresponding week of last year.

REV. N. VERSEY, Miss Versey, Mrs. McCracken and W. McVicar are in attendance at the Church of Christ (Disciples) conference, now in session at West Lorne.

THE COMMITTEES in charge of the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign will hold a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night, when the latest reports will be read.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT will have a motor pump as speedily as possible. The city council has given final approval of an overdraft of $15,000 this year for that purpose.

ALDERMAN H. J. CHILDS, chairman of the city council, still acting mayor, while Mayor Wilson is in the city, it is said that Alderman Childs will continue in this capacity for a day or two yet.

RIDOUT CAR NO. 110, in charge of Mortimer E. Wilson and Conductor H. Banghart, collided with a truck driven by J. Bissell, 364 Ottaway avenue, near the corner of Horton and Richmond streets at 8 o'clock last night, badly damaging the front of the truck.

DRAKE BOULEVARD, quite an imposing name as the civic authorities point out, received its official recognition Wednesday night, when the members of the city council approved of the recommendation from the board of works. The street is not a reality yet, but will in 1923 extend from the breakwater in West London, between Oxford and Argyle streets.

"DON'T RISK CHANCES of making a political football out of the London Street Railway by allowing it to pass under the control of a commission, should it be ultimately purchased by the municipality," warns Ald. John Ashton. The latter appears quite convinced, however, that once the citizens, after popular vote, assumed control of the situation, they could operate the road successfully within a few years, with competent management. Ald. Ashton does not favor the inauguration of a commission similar to the London and Port Stanley Railroad Commission.

ASK ANGLICANS TO AID SUFFERERS

Bishop of Huron Urges People To Relieve Distress in Algoma Diocese.

Urging Anglicans to respond to the limit of their ability, Right Rev. David Williams, Bishop of Huron, has issued an appeal to be read in all churches of the diocese on Sunday, Oct. 29, for funds for the relief of the Diocese of Algoma, which suffered tremendously as a result of the recent fire in Northern Ontario.

The action of the bishop comes as a result of an appeal sent out by the Archbishop of Algoma for relief to alleviate the great calamity which overtook his diocese. Five churches, two parishes and one parish hall were totally destroyed.

"Your assistance is urged on the following grounds:

(1) Because the Diocese of Algoma is a missionary diocese.

(2) Because, as stated, the congregations concerned have lost all.

(3) Because the communities that suffered were new and pioneer communities, and therefore without any reserves of wealth.

(4) Because they are not only fellow-Christians, but fellow members of the Church of England, overwhelmed by an appalling disaster."

GIVES CAUSES OF BREAKS IN HYDRO POWER SERVICE

Department Gives Reason for Recent Failure of Electric Current in City.

Recent hydro interruptions, according to public utilities officials, have been due chiefly because of two things, one of them locally.

Wire trouble of some nature to the east of the city was responsible for a break recently, and while many complained bitterly to the local department, and asked for an explanation, none was forthcoming.

The local hydro chiefs state that this was not because they did not do their best, but because the difficulty might be, but because they had not been notified by the hydro authorities east of the city where the break occurred.

The local trouble is often occasioned when pole transformers blow out, following the increased load carried to meet the added demand for electric stoves and similar household apparatus.

COUNCIL YEARN FOR KNOWLEDGE

Wants Further Information On Financial Matters Before Casting Votes.

Pass Request for Debenture Sale From Board of Education.

Aldermen Henry B. Ashplant and Dr. O. I. Cunningham joined hands at the city council session Wednesday night in a fight for more information about financial questions at committee meetings before they are brought before the council as a body for final consideration.

The councilors were prompted in this endeavor when City Clerk Baker called attention to a request from the city treasurer for them to ratify the sale of city debentures already disposed of.

"We have a finance committee, and it is their business to look into an affair of this kind," Ald. Ashplant contended vigorously. "Personally, I do not know a thing about this, and yet I am being asked to vote upon it. I do not know if this matter was so urgent that it could not have been brought before No. 1 committee first."

Committee Work.

"We should have more information about a number of these matters. We should hear about them at our committee session and not have it sprung on us at a general session. A draft of request should be submitted first to the finance committee."

Ald. Dr. Holmes declared frankly that he could not grasp the proposition offhand, and queried Mayor Wilson, "what's the idea?"

Then followed an exhaustive debate with the mayor and several of the councilors participating, and Ald. Ashplant assuming the lead, as to just what they were being actually called upon to sanction.

During the discussion Ald. Cunningham took occasion to support Ald. Ashplant.

Cunningham Speaks.

"Our committee are not keeping proper watch upon the situation and with each other," he asserted. "We are responsible to the people, and we should have all this information in order that we may be able to reply to them intelligently."

Although certain members of the council were evidently under the impression that the request before them was for authority to borrow money on debentures yet unused, Mayor Wilson interjected the information that they had already been sold by the city treasurer at a favorable time for the community.

"Why, then, were we not told about this then," questioned Ald. Cunningham, obviously surprised. "For instance, a man came to me the other day about a certain question, and asked me what was the status of the same. I was compelled to tell him that I did not know anything about it. We should know all these things, in order that we may be able to talk intelligently with the electors. We vote on questions here that we are completely unable to explain to the people."

Ratify Sale.

After a lengthy high finance parley the council approved of the ratification of the sale.

Ald. Dr. Holmes questioned later what had become of his motion that an inter-departmental conference be arranged for the purpose of "speeding up" city council affairs.

No one offered any explanation, except Ald. Drake, who suggested that it "had been lost in the mail."

Ald. Ashplant failed to see the use for further federations, allowing that Mayor Wilson's civic commission served the purpose well.

While board of education requests for debenture issues met with success, it was only after unfavorable comment had been noted.

The bylaw permitting the issuance of $14,400 debentures to pay for land to be purchased at the corner of Oliver and Trafalgar streets, drew immediate opposition from Ald. Dr. Holmes, who moved that the issue be left in abeyance.

Statements Conflict.

"There appears to be conflicting statements as to whether the board of education really wants this site," he said, "and he should first know if the trustees intend to buy this land."

Ald. Cunningham reminded them, however, that the board had not notified the council to that effect, and the request should be granted in any event. The majority of the aldermen were of this opinion.

When the request for $17,000 as an additional debenture issue for the central collegiate institute was under consideration, Ald. Holmes again rose to question if window-sills had been included in the new structure. Everyone indulged in hearty laughter, but none offered comment.

The bylaw passed, as well as the proposal that the sum of $72,000 be transferred to the board of education, as the balance of the money on hand provided for the new Victoria school.

Authority was also given for the issuance of debentures for $8,000 for the South London high school (the old Victoria school). Ald. Douglas wanted to know if the trustees were satisfied with the site.

BEAUTY MARKS COUZENS-LANG NUPTIALS AT KITCHENER

MOTOR HONEYMOON TO CALIFORNIA.

KITCHENER, Oct. 19.—St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church was crowded to the doors here this morning by guests and spectators, when Miss Margaret Lang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. H. Lang, of this city, was wedded to Mr. Frank Couzens, son of Mayor and Mrs. James Couzens of Detroit.

The nuptials were unprecedented in this city for gorgeousness of gowns and decorations, the church being beautiful in the colors of white and yellow, mums, palms and ferns. It was a wedding of autumn tones, the bridemaids and the maid of honor being dressed in charming gowns of autumnal shades, and wearing brown velvet hats trimmed with gold ribbon bows and wearing golden slippers.

The ceremony was performed at a solemn nuptial mass by Rev. A. L. Zinger, C.R., S.T.L., pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. R. S. Dehler, C.R., as deacon, and Rev. S. H. Hinesperger as sub-deacon. Rev. Mrs. Van Antwerp, of Detroit, who baptized the groom, was present in the sanctuary.

The bride was given away by her father, and was preceded to the altar by four bridesmaids, Miss Dolly Krug of Kitchener, Helen O'Neill of Toronto, Rose Minkoff and Ferns, N. Y., and Eleanor Mack of Detroit. The maid of honor was Miss Madeleine Couzens of Detroit, sister of the groom. The flower girls were little Betty Lang of this city, niece of the bride, and little Betty Couzens, sister of the groom. The bride met at the altar by the groom, who was accompanied by Mr. Alfred May, of Detroit.

Following the ceremony at the church a buffet breakfast was held at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Couzens left by motor for Southern California, where they will spend a six weeks' honeymoon before returning to their new home, 2000 Boston Boulevard, Detroit.

REV. A. ABHYANKAR AT HAMILTON ROAD

Inspiring as well as interesting was the address given by Rev. A. Abhyankar at the thanksgiving meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church Tuesday afternoon.

Speaking of India, and from the text, "Go thou and do likewise," Mr. Abhyankar roused his hearers to a keen realization of the need of missionary endeavor in India, and pointed out the appalling conditions of idolatry and the great evil of child marriage so prevalent in India.

"When we consider that out of the three hundred million population of India," he said, "only four million are Christians, the result is apt to be discouraging, but in reality the influence of Christianity is so widespread that it cannot be measured."

Speaking from his own experience and knowledge of conditions in India, Mr. Abhyankar declared that India was not ready for home rule.

A pleasing addition to the program was a solo by Miss Jessie Russell, Miss Ethel Lewis presided at the organ.

The Bible reading was given by Mrs. Cree, while Mrs. Mallou occupied the chair.

AVERS COUNCIL VOTES BLINDLY

Ex-Ald. Wenige Denounces Method Pursued by City Fathers.

Declares Representatives Approve Bylaws Without Sufficient Information.

The majority of the members of the city council sit and vote upon questions of finance of which they know but little, says George Wenige, ex-alderman and majority candidate at the next city election.

The former councillor was speaker at Wednesday's special session of the city council, and seemed quite interested in the general debate among the aldermen upon the several debenture questions.

"Is it wonder," questions Mr. Wenige, "that when our civic affairs are being conducted in a slipshod manner when the majority of the councilors sit and vote upon questions of which they know little or no knowledge at their disposal."

"There is no question about it. It is true. Why, they even admitted it themselves last night at the council meeting when I was there. A proposition was submitted to them for approval involving the sale of debentures, and they did not know what it was about, and I doubt if they do now."

"Yet they sit there, and of the number there were only three of them with sufficient backbone to get up and ask what it was all about. Ald. Ashplant did get up and ask what was being requested, and he was subsequently supported in his quest for information by Ald. Cunningham and Holmes."

Ex-Ald. Wenige contends that it is time for a change of procedure, and questions whether Mayor Wilson and the majority of his associates know what they are doing one-half of the time.

Mayor Sits Silent.

"Even the mayor had to sit there for a while silent until he 'caught the drift,'" he relates, "before he could safely announce that the debentures in question had already been sold, and that they were not being asked to sanction another loan upon them."

At Wednesday's session, Ald. Ashplant and his supporters charged that there was many instances of noticeable lack of intelligent information forthcoming in time for committee meetings.

CLEAR TANGLE ON EAST SCHOOL SITE

Property Owner Asserts He Can Give Clear Title to Land.

The Oliver and Trafalgar street school sight tangle showed a change for the better Thursday morning, when one of the three owners of this property announced that his tract was not tied in any manner by alleged claims.

As school authorities reported Wednesday that all the land was temporarily untangled, this latest development would indicate that conditions are not quite as black as painted.

In the meanwhile negotiations are said to be in progress, and the city council has given final approval of a debenture issue of $14,400 for the desired land.

The Dakin street site, purchased for about $5,000, according to the school authorities, who evidently cannot give any clear-cut statement in this respect, was originally intended for a school site, but was ultimately abandoned.

The school trustees have announced that they will dispose of this property by bylaw.

DOUBTS COUNTY IS WILLING TO HELP

Mayor Wilson Thinks Middlesex County Merely Willing to Discuss City Hall Site.

Alderman John May has outlined a plan whereby the new city hall could be built on county land in the vicinity of the Middlesex court house and other buildings.

His proposal met with but scant sympathy at the council session Wednesday, despite the fact that the councillor explained that since he had made public his suggestion, about 50 businessmen had complimented him in that respect.

Mayor Wilson commented that he had heard different than Alderman May concerning the willingness of the county authorities to co-operate. "I understand that they are willing to talk it over," he related.

Ald. Ashplant, desiring information, questioned if the county authorities were willing to join the city in placing the contemplated structure on the federal square or other suitable spot.

"Don't make a joke about it," cautioned Ald. May, while his colleague stoutly denied the implication that he was in a frivolous mood.

Ald. May's proposal fell by the wayside for lack of sympathy.

BUNNY ERMINE. "Bunny Ermine" is the name given the new white rabbit fur which is so frequently combined with chiffon and silk in the new winter styles. This is usually white, but it sometimes dyed in delicate tones of pink, gray and blue.

London Civic Auditors Quit Job Because of Ill-Health

LONDON needs two city auditors, as the city council Wednesday accepted the resignations of Andrew Dale and A. Sereaton. Both are leaving because of ill-health. Mayor Wilson announced that their physicians have directed a relaxation from duty.

While their resignations date from Sept. 30, they are still on duty, and are willing to remain until new men become fairly conversant with the task.

LIONS TO HELP FIRE SUFFERERS

Local Den Will Stage Sunday Night Concert at Early Date.

The London Lions' Club will stage a Sunday night concert in a local theatre in the near future, the proceeds of which will be used to aid the fire sufferers.

The club's enthusiastic luncheon meeting held in the Tecumseh House Thursday noon all the members were unanimous in the opinion that the London den should do its bit to alleviate the hardships now being suffered by those who lost their homes, their belongings, and, in some cases, those dearest to them when the ravaged the north country a few weeks ago.

Hold Ladies' Night.

Feeling that the lionesses in the London jungle have been more or less neglected during the past three or four months, it was decided to hold a ladies' night on Thursday, Oct. 26. The celebration will take the form of a masquerade, and a committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

Dr. H. S. Wismer, the speaker for the day, gave an interesting talk on the latest advances in the X-ray field, pointing out the various uses to which the X-ray is put today that were unknown five or six years ago.

"X-ray science has made remarkable strides in the last six years," he said, "and the medical profession are realizing more and more the value of this device in diagnosing diseases."

Gives Short History.

Giving a short history of the science of X-ray, Dr. Wismer stated that in 1857 a man by the name of Roentgen was experimenting with this field by passing electric currents through glass bulbs filled with air. Several other scientists began experimenting also and produced different colors in the bulbs.

A German was the first to discover X-ray photography, he said, and that the discovery was made by a mere accident. The scientist in question had placed a book with a heavy key for a book mark on top of a photographic plate, and while they were in these positions was experimenting with Crookes tube. The same plate was used to take a picture, and upon development showed a plain silhouette of the key.

Chas. E. Naphtali, field director of the International Association of Lions Clubs, briefly addressed the gathering, and urged the members to encourage inter-city visiting. He pointed out that it would be possible for the local organization to foster clubs in St. Thomas, Woodstock and other nearby places if the right spirit was employed in the movement.

The school trustees have announced that they will dispose of this property by bylaw.

WARNS VOTERS TO GET NAMES ON LIST

City Clerk Asks Citizens to Rectify Omissions by November 1.

Municipal electors who desire to note before the proper authorities any errors or omissions in the civic voters' list have until Nov. 1 to file their case. City Clerk Sam Baker announced Thursday that the list was being positively the last chance, he warns. "In other years I was able to give certificates almost up to the day previous to the election," he pointed out, "but I am prevented from such course this year, as the statutes have been amended in this respect. The citizens had better not wait longer than specified time or they will lose their ballot this year."

The city clerk reports that since the new lists have been posted, there have been numerous inquiries at the city hall from people who wish to assure themselves that their names are included. This indicates the undoubted interest in municipal affairs, he reasons, and augurs well for a substantial vote at the next contest, all other things being well.

BUILD 3 MILES CITY PAVEMENT

Authorities Complete Splendid Program of Improvements During Past Year.

Mileage Below 1921 Record, in Keeping With Economy Policy.

Including what work is still scheduled for the remainder of the season, the city engineer's department will have completed about three miles of pavement since January, 1922.

This is five miles less than what was undertaken in 1921, an instance of the effort made to economize as reasonably as possible.

In addition to pavement enterprises, the following work was completed, according to City Engineer H. A. Brazier: 3 1/2 miles of sidewalk, 8 1/2 miles of curbs and gutters, and about 1 1/2 miles of sanitary sewer connections, including work necessary for the completion of the West London and Pine Lawn sewer systems.

The two chief accomplishments of the year, in the opinion of the city engineer, was the Dundas street extension, which is rapidly nearing completion, and the Hamilton road pavement, east to St. Julien street.

"Now that the work is practically concluded, it is safe to say that the city is well equipped on these thoroughfares for traffic."

Work commenced Thursday morning on the track allowance of the Hamilton road portion, and will be completed in one course.

The city engineer's department, the Street Railway Company will be billed

'AIDA' DELIGHTS GRAND PATRONS

De Feo Opera Company Scores Distinct Triumph Opening Night.

Russian Prima Dona Has Leading Role in "Madame Butterfly."

London by no means excelled itself nor did justice to the charm of the De Feo Opera Company in the size of the audience which attended Wednesday night's opening performance, "Aida," at the Grand Opera House.

With the company heralded from the most authoritative sources as of a particularly high order, it was to have been expected that at least the house would be filled.

Tet, from the success which attended the rendering of "Aida" and the enthusiastic reception afforded it by those who were in attendance, it may be taken for granted that for the remaining three days of the company's stay here doubters or those skeptical of grand opera so near home will be reduced to a minimum.

In the strangely glamorous setting of the court of the Pharaoh's, heavy with the warm exotic atmosphere of Egypt, blossomed and died the tragic romance of Aida, a slave girl, though of royal blood, whose love meant ruin and death to the gallant general of Pharaoh's forces who won and returned it.

One could ask for no more thrilling or dramatic interpretation of the role of "Aida" than that presented by Madame Edyth de Lys, a soprano whose voice is of amazing range and power.

So full of emotional intensity was Madame de Lys that one wondered at the superb control of her voice, the anguish of despair which welled out at times, the deep-throated sobbing of utter abandonment to woe, which was an even more potent expression of grief.

Scores Triumph.
Vividly she brought before her audience the Ethiopian princess, bound with the subjection of a slave girl, and torn between love of her father, a foe of Pharaoh, and love of her suitor, her father's persecutor. Madame de Lys scored a distinct triumph, both with her voice and her superbly emotional acting.

Although her role called for less dramatic and forceful interpretation, Ada Paggis, as Amneris, the daughter of the king of Egypt, proved herself a mistress of her art. Her voice, a mezzo-soprano, has the charm of velvet tones, and yet has a strength and flexibility more than usually effective. One looks forward with interest to her interpretation of other roles which call for less restraint. From the commencement the highest anticipations of the tenor role in "Aida," were fulfilled by Carlos Milhau, as Radames, the general in love with Aida. A golden voice, of ringing quality, proved a medium for the expression of profound emotion, and Radames thrilled with the tremendous effort of his struggle between love and duty. "Celeste Aida," welcomed with so much eagerness by the audience, was rendered with a glorious abandonment and earnestness, magnificent and utterly satisfying.

Equal the Principals.
J. Dalle Molle, as the King of Egypt; Lorenzo Bozano, Ramfis, the High Priest, and Alfredo Gandolfi, as Amonasro, equal the principals in the superbness of style and rendering. Indeed, in every case the performance leaves nothing to be desired.

Were it the case that the skeptical were waiting to see the results of the first performance, all doubt should henceforth be removed to the ability of the company. The De Feo Opera Company came to London described by the press and theatre-goers of other cities in the most superlative terms, and in the opinion of those who witnessed it, "Aida" was a sufficient guarantee that the company would leave London having gained a similar distinction.

Thursday night, "Madame Butterfly," with Bertha Frid in the leading role, will be presented. Miss Frid is a Russian prima donna, who fled the horrors of the Bolshevik regime and found a warm refuge in the theatre of the South American public. She sang with great success at the Theatre Colon in Buenos Aires.

D. F. THOMSON, RESIDENT OF ST. THOMAS, PASSES

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 18.—Daniel F. Thomson, aged 74, passed away Tuesday evening at his home, 15 Jackson street, after a brief illness. Mr. Thomson was born at North Yarmouth and lived practically all his life there until two years ago, when he moved to the city. He served as reeve and county councillor for a number of years. Mrs. Thomson, who was formerly Miss Catherine Campbell, predeceased him three years ago. The deceased was a member of Knox Presbyterian Church.

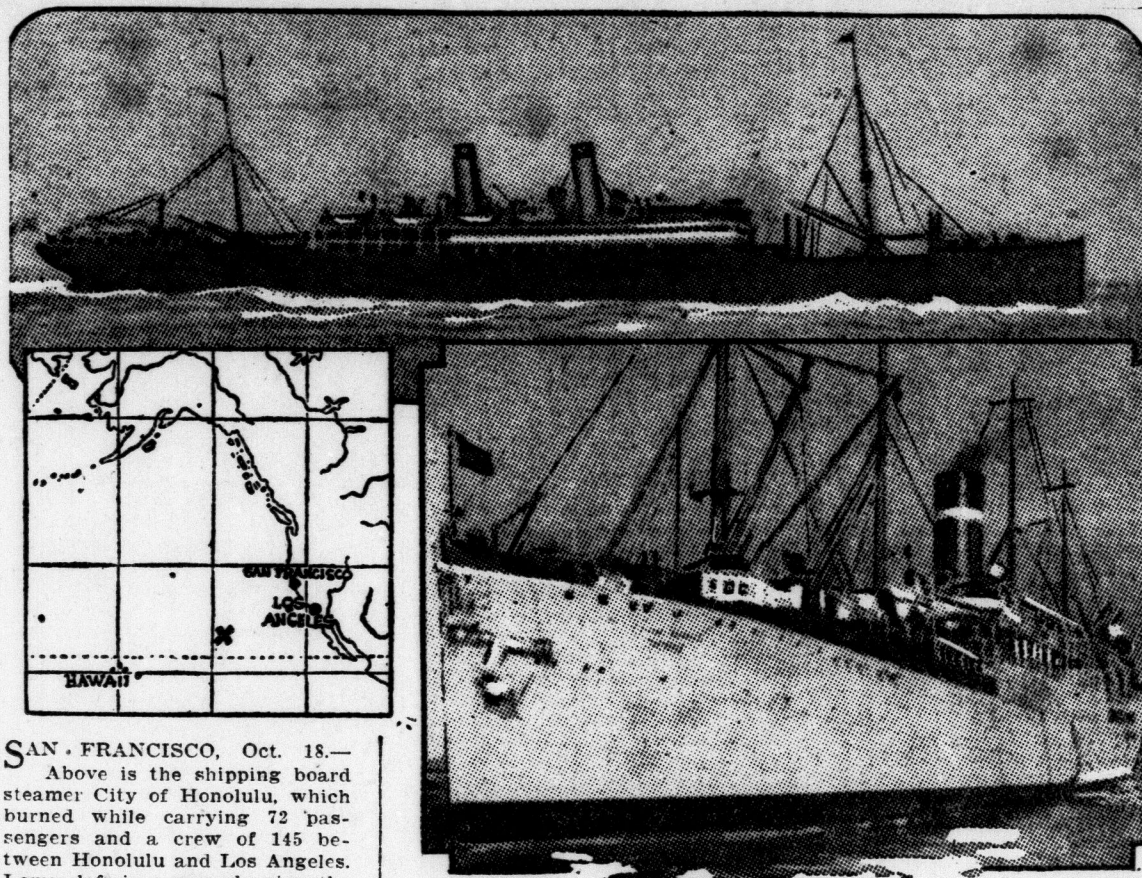

He leaves to mourn his death, one daughter, Miss Eva, at home, and three sisters: Mrs. Edgar Byron, Dorking, Ont.; Mrs. William Black, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Peter Sinclair, Holland, Man. and two brothers, Dr. J. F. Thomson, Garrett, Indiana, and Edward Thomson, Winnipeg.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence to St. Thomas Cemetery.

Burned Liner Honolulu and Rescue Ship

DENY REDUCTION IN COAL PRICES

Members of Brantford Committee State Cost Will Be $21.

Declare Fuel in Other Cities Is of Inferior Grade.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 18.—Rumors to the effect that the price of the Welsh coal recently bought by the city will be reduced from the present figure of $21, were absolutely denied by members of the fuel committee this morning. It was pointed out that the Welsh coal obtained by the city was the best grade of anthracite obtainable, and that it could not be sold at a lower price. Other cities and towns are selling Welsh coal at a slightly lower price than Brantford, but the committee maintains that the coal of the other cities, which is selling at a lower price, is an inferior grade to the Brantford coal.

Tests have been made of the local coal since its arrival, and it lives up to all expectations, according to members of the committee. There has been some talk to the effect that the coal is mixed with "slack," but this is also unfounded, as there is no slack in the coal whatever, and the constant handling of the coal during its shipment has pulverized a small portion of the coal.

Several people in the city have tried the coal, and are profuse in their praise for it. They say that it is much better than any of the Pennsylvania anthracite that has ever been brought to the city. Even the pulverized portion has been tested, and is found to be of the best grade obtainable.

Mrs. Lottie Clouse, 27 Stewart street, charged with the theft of documents from Martin W. McEwen, was committed for trial by Magistrate John R. Blake in police court this morning. Bail was fixed at $1,000, in two sureties of $500 each. Mr. McEwen in his evidence stated that he had visited Mrs. Clouse, with the object of surrendering a discharge of mortgage on her property on receipt of a check for $50. He gave the papers to Mrs. Clouse, who did not give him any check, and any receipt for them, and refused to return them. He then laid the charge, and the documents were handed in at the police court yesterday after a search warrant was authorized.

A. M. Harley appeared for the defendant, and W. M. Charlton, K.C., for the prosecution.

Approximately 100 members of the Schubert choir attended the first rehearsal of that organization last night.

The meeting, which was held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, was under the direction of A. D. Jordan, London, brother of H. K. Jordan of this city. Rehearsals will be held every Tuesday until the date set for the concert, some time in February.

JAIL HAMILTON MOTHER FOR OPERATING STILL

HAMILTON, Oct. 18.—A week ago revenue officers and police raided the premises of Mike Jonas in east Flamboro and found a still. Mike asked to be permitted to go into the house to get some things, but vanished. It was thought this ended the matter unless Mike could be found, but it was discovered that the property was in his wife's name and that under the act she was liable. She was accordingly summoned and found guilty. A fine of $200 was imposed by Magistrate Vance. Mrs. Jonas hadn't the money and went to jail for six months. She is the mother of a 16-months-old baby.

TAILORED EFFECTS.
The separate blouse and skirt are receiving much consideration at the hands of the fall designer. It is expected these neglected garments will be reinstated in midday's wardrobe, particularly the decidedly tailored models.

Bishop Declares Anglican Church Has No Black List, Trusts People

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 18.—The question of whether the church was going to have the support of the young people in observing the Lord's Day was squarely put before 300 delegates of the Dominion Anglican young people's convention today by Bishop Clark of Niagara. His lordship stated that the Church of England has no black list of things which are prohibited on Sunday, but trusts the people. In a standing vote as to whether the A. Y. P. A. would assist in Sunday observance the reply was unanimously in favor.

The bishop stated that when amusements are wholesome, safeguarded with purity, modesty and expediency, the church is satisfied. All lawful things are not expedient. The bishop went on record as being strictly against dances and rallies for the purpose of raising money for church purposes, either on the church premises or in any other building. He has nothing against dancing, but the churches should be careful that they do not offend members of the church who have a tender conscience so that the church may lose much more than it gains.

The matter was left in the hands of the resolutions committee and the committee will bring in the resolution tomorrow morning.

DENIES DANGER OF INDIAN REVOLUTION

Hon. Sir Sivaswamy Aiyer Claims Seriousness of Situation Exaggerated.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—Reports received here as to the seriousness of the situation in India are inclined to be exaggerated, although it is quite true that there is a great deal of dissatisfaction and discontent in certain parts of the country, said Hon. Sir Sivaswamy Aiyer, Indian statesman and diplomat, who arrived here yesterday.

"Despite the discontent and ill feeling, the result of fancied and in many cases real wrongs, against Great Britain there is not the slightest danger of a general uprising," continued Mr. Aiyer, "as the balance of authority in this regard is in the hands of loyal and intellectual men, who are determined that such a thing shall not come to pass, preferring to achieve their ends through the more peaceful and satisfactory channels of negotiations."

COMMANDERS VESSELS TO TAKE AWAY "WHITES"

VLADIVOSTOK, Oct. 18.—In view of the defeat of the army representing the Vladivostok anti-Soviet government, Admiral Stark, in command here, has commandeered all steamers to take away the last of the "whites" when the Japanese evacuation is completed.

The "Red" army from the far eastern republic of Siberia is advancing from Nizhinsk, which it captured recently. General Dietrich, the "white" commander, fled toward Manchuria, but was cut off and turned toward Korea.

NEW YORK VILLAGE IS PARTLY DESTROYED

GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y., Oct. 18.—With a 60-mile-an-hour gale fanning the flames, fire tonight destroyed part of the business section of Broadalbin, a village eight miles east of this city. Ten buildings were wiped out with a loss of upwards of $100,000. The village was without fire protection, and had it not been for the work of the firemen from Gloverville, Johnston, Amsterdam and Mayfield, the entire village would have been destroyed.

APPOINT SARNIA LAWYER LAMBTON MAGISTRATE

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—The attorney-general's department today announced the appointment of Charles S. Woodrow, a barrister of Sarnia, Ont., to be police magistrate in the county of Lambton. Mr. Woodrow will have co-ordinate jurisdiction with Magistrate Gorman, and his appointment is not a form of supersession, but is merely in order that Magistrate Gorman, who is advancing in years, may have assistance.

The position carries with it a salary of $1,500 per annum, and incumbent may continue his private practice.

SOMETHING EVERY GIRL SHOULD KNOW

How To Properly Care For Baby Brother or Sister.

Every girl leaving school ought to know about bathing the baby, the value of fresh air and sunshine, the need of sleep and quiet, and the kind of clothes that a baby should wear at different seasons of the year.

With all the other things a girl is expected to learn in school, the maternal and child welfare department of the Provincial Board of Health of Ontario, would add this further big package to her already substantial load of knowledge.

That is why the said department is so strongly advocating "Little Mothers' League," such as have been talked about more or less in London for several years past, and more just recently.

Literature sent out by the provincial board of health states the object of the league is to enable girls who are compelled to care for their younger brothers and sisters, to do so more intelligently, with the least possible risk to themselves and to their charges. Not a word is said in the impressive, looking document about the girls who haven't small brothers and sisters to tend, but may be called upon in an emergency, most any day, to do important things for other people's baby brothers or sisters.

Poor Chance for Baby.

The big problem which it is hoped to help vanquish by the Little Mothers' League is the tremendous number of deaths of babies that constantly occur.

A baby who comes into the world less than a week old, or a week old in an old man of ninety, so the department has discovered. It has also figured out that a baby coming into the world has less chance to live a year than a man of eighty.

In October, 1919, there were 6,000 deaths under one year of age.

Sixty per cent, or 60 in one hundred, of these deaths would be prevented if the babies could receive proper care and be properly fed.

The Provincial Board of Health is so anxious to save the lives of babies and give them a chance to grow up strong and healthy, that it is endeavoring to enlist the co-operation of the girls of Ontario. And that is why Little Mothers' League, which have proved very popular in such a city as Winnipeg, under the name of Mothers' Clubs, are recommended for London, for every place, in fact, city or rural, where baby lives are lost for lack of proper care.

Unbroken Family Circle Joins In Celebrating Golden Wedding

An unbroken family circle, including three sons and two daughters, gathered around Mr. and Mrs. George Thomson of Theford on Saturday, Oct. 14, when they celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. The occasion was unique in another respect. The house was the one in which Mrs. Thomson's parents observed their golden wedding some twenty years ago.

At 6 o'clock the guests sat down to a bountiful dinner, after which a happy evening was spent in games, speeches and music, brought to a close with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

To mark the occasion in honor of their father and mother the family presented a handsome baptismal suit, suitably inscribed, to Knox Church, Theford.

In addition to the sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thomson guests were present from Detroit, Toronto, Theford and other parts. Mr. and Mrs. Thomson were the recipients of many handsome gifts and messages of congratulation from absent friends.

PLANNING FOR NEW, REARRANGING OLD

Y. W. C. A. Board Devising Means of Better Serving Girls' Clubs.

Plans for a Y. W. C. A. administration and club building such as it is proposed to erect in London, to meet the pressing need, were exhibited at the monthly meeting of the board, held Wednesday afternoon at "Lenmore," the King street residence. Mrs. E. E. Reid, convenor of the building committee, in showing plans of the splendidly equipped "Y" building at Niagara Falls, drew special attention to such features as the gymnasium with gallery, the swimming pool, with which lockers and drying rooms are connected, the numerous club rooms, the private sitting rooms in which girls may receive their friends, the cafeteria and tea room, the large auditorium, such a hall as is needed for various women's organizations in London.

Associated with Mrs. Reid on the building committee, which is making inquiries with regard to plans of buildings in various cities, and the cost of erection and maintenance, are Mesdames Frank White, W. W. Bruce, Donald McLean and E. B. Smith.

In the meantime, rearranging was decided upon of "Lenmore," to afford the best possible facilities for club, social and educational activities of girls, in connection with the Y. W. C. A.

In order to leave practically the whole first floor free for such purposes, and to make the board room, now used as a sitting room available, the office of the industrial extension secretary, Mrs. Crawford, is to be moved to the second floor, and the room on the first thus released converted into a reception room.

To meet the expenses involved, a musical will be held, the details left to a committee composed of Mesdames Gordon Philip, W. W. Bruce and Graham.

Were Self-Sustaining.

Particularly encouraging reports were presented for the month of September, from all departments, both buildings establishing records for being self supporting and showing small balances in their accounts.

Twenty-eight were directed to the Y. W. C. A., fourteen to hotels and ten visited.

Announcement was made of the Halloween party for the Federation of Girls' Clubs on the evening of October 26, the board planning to assist with refreshments.

Mrs. Donald McLean presided in the absence of Mrs. C. B. King.

E. Reid.

Fashion's Forecast

A feature of the evening was the fact that each costume was "homemade," and some original and very effective costumes were worn. A novelty orchestra provided an excellent program of music during the evening. The arrangements were in charge of the executive including: MacKenzie Ebbson, Helen Garbutt, Phyllis Shamless, Florence McDonagh and Miss Dennis.

Mrs. W. L. Armitage, president, Miss Hilda Keene and Miss Helen D'Avignon, have been appointed officiating delegates to represent the London Girls' Work Board at the Girls' Work Section of the Ontario Religious Education Council, meeting in Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto, on October 23, 24, 25, 26 and 27 next week, with general sessions in Massey Hall.

The convention opens with a demonstration of girls' work, Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Massey Hall, Miss Margaret Slattery, orator, authoress, girls' leader, to speak at 9 o'clock on "The Fate of Dreamers." Tuesday afternoon she speaks on "The End of the Road," and in the evening on "Tragedies and Triumphs of the Bible."

Group conferences are to be a prominent feature.

A contest on the tenderfoot work was held between the Forget-Me-Not and Daffodil patrols, the result being a tie. A program consisting of the following numbers was greatly enjoyed: a solo by Miss D. Mills; readings by Misses I. Cooke and L. Dobson; piano duet by Misses M. Styles and L. Dobson; instrumentalists by Misses M. Styles and Bonnie Banks, and dances by Miss Bonnie Banks. A buffet supper was served, which brought the happy evening to a close.

A Practical Play Garment.

Every mother finds a keen interest in keeping her young hopeful looking pretty and as clean as they'll stay. So as she has probably found by her own experience that rompers are the best choice of apparel especially for play, this one has been designed with that thought in mind. They cost little to make, in fact 50¢ would cover the cost of material, counting on gingham at 20¢ per yard and chambray at the same price.

The pattern No. 1558 comes in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1½ yards 36 or 40 inch material for long sleeve garment. Price 15¢, stamps or coin (coin preferred).

MAIL BOX

URGES BOXITES TO GIVE.

Dear Cynthia,—At last I have a few minutes to spare to write to the Mail-Box. I suppose you will think I am an awful person. Spookendyke, but I did thank you quite a while ago, at least I ought to say I asked Cynthia to put a few words of thanks in the Mail-Box, as was so terribly busy. But maybe the letter didn't go through the press, so now I will thank you myself and send 35¢ for the flags to the Mail-Box fund. If we could all write letters like Calamity Ann's we would have a cheery Mail-Box. I certainly do enjoy her letters. I think your idea of a cook book just fine, but we couldn't give Cynthia the extra work. We would have to look after that part ourselves. Calamity Ann, I have seen once or twice in the Mail-Box where some of the readers were saying that they hoped the Boxites who were asking for help were deserving. I don't know what that is, but it is a nice thing to say. So long as we give with a willing hand and a good heart, why should we worry over the other part of it. Besides, when one asks for help, one generally needs it badly. Those in the Mail-Box are really deserving. I think myself that Worried Mother No. 2's case is a very sad one, so Boxites, help her if you can, and the others, too. I don't know the personally who are asking for help, but I feel sure they need it. When we all give as much help as Cynthia has given, I guess we can have a say then. I saw in yesterday's paper where one of the Boxites was offering a coat, size 38, and one for a girl of 16. Well, reader, April Smiles wants one badly for herself and one for her auntie. She is an orphan and lives with a stepmother, and she is alone too. That size would suit them, I think, so if no one else has asked for them, I believe they would be very thankful for them. Why didn't some of the Boxites take Cynthia for a trip? She needs a change. Never mind, Cynthia, mother and I will take you to Worsley in a day or two, so you and the Boxites can get ready, and we will see you all with a cup of tea and an enjoyable trip. It seems to me I could write all night to the Mail-Box, but I must draw to a close, and those who really can help the Boxites, as I think you do so, as a full stomach doesn't know what an empty one needs. Good-bye for now, Cynthia and Boxites. Best of wishes to all. Find inclosed the promised money and a few stamps, as I think you have used some when Boxites asked for my address.

A REAL LANCASHIRE LASS.

Boxites, before I answer Lancashire Lass' letter, I must tell you that a lovely basket of grapes that I received from A Real Lancashire Lass last week. Everyone enjoyed them, all the members of the editorial staff included, so I must thank you for them, too. Thank you, too, for a lovely letter, and I am sure I quite agree with you, I am sure one would ask for help unless it was really needed, and even then it is hard to ask it sometimes. As I stated before, we would soon find out if the cases were not deserving ones, as someone said: "You can't fool all of the people all of the time." I think in your travels you must have gone to Ireland and kissed the Blarney Stone. What do you think, Boxites?

WANTS OLD SONGS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a new-comer to your pleasant cozy corner, and do hope you will let me send you a few minutes. I looked for the rules at the head of your page, but did not see them. So I am following them as I think they go. Have you or any of your Boxites the words and music of these pieces: "Take Back Your Gold," "She's Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage," "I'm Wearing My Heart Away For You," "The Little Girl That Played Upon My Knee?" If you have these pieces I would be very pleased to have them as soon as possible, as I wish to sing them at a concert very soon. I am afraid I am asking quite too much of you, as I am a stranger. I am inclosing 10 cents for S. C. H. fund. I will send my name and address for perhaps some of the Boxites have these pieces of music.

A BONNY JEAN.

Your name has been placed on file, and if anyone has these songs they may send them on to you. The rules have not been appearing lately, but you have not broken any of them, Bonny Jean. Many thanks for remembering our hospital fund on your first visit.

A DANISH RELISH.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please let me come in to your cozy corner for a little help. Seeing in The Advertiser where Ravenlock is offering some comic recitation, kindly let me have her address. I never miss reading your interesting page. I fancy you must be a lovely, patient girl to answer so many letters. Someone was asking for a recipe for ripe cucumber. Here is a good one: Danish Relish—Take large half ripe cucumber, peel, cut in half, scrape out seeds, rub salt on both sides, leave standing 24 hours, drain and dry, have cider vinegar boiling with brown sugar to taste, tie allspice in cloth, leave in vinegar until cucumber is done, boil five minutes, stirring (not

ADDRESSES, PATTERNS, COAT.

Dear Miss Grey,—I wrote before, but did not see my letter in print. I don't know whether you got it or not. Please send me Esme's address as I would like to get the brown coat, also if you have any crochet patterns, send me a few. Also Motherless and Fatherless Girls' addresses and Bunkies. As before, SNOWBALL.

I do not remember hearing from you before, Snowball. I am mailing you the addresses you asked for, including Esme's, but I think you are too late to receive the coat she offered. One I know has already been given away, and there have been so many requests for them, that I think you have very little chance. Am sending you a few crochet patterns which I hope you will like.

WAS DISAPPOINTED.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a few lines to the Mail-Box. I have written three letters, and not one has been in print. I am getting rather disappointed. In the last one I told you all about the dolls I had to dress for the children's hospital and how many. I also explained it all, so you see why I am disappointed. I had a letter from Carrot Top, and it was a lovely letter. I am waiting for another one. Carrot Top, where are you? So Parrot thinks I am in England. I did intend going, but I could not manage it. Parrot, I will write you a letter. Will you send me her address, Miss Grey? I have lost it. I will send you some money towards the coat, but I want to make sure you get this letter first. No. 1.

HAZEL EYES NO. 1.

I cannot understand where your three letters have gone to, Hazel Eyes. One might understand a letter going astray, either through the mail or on its way from Cynthia's desk to the printers, but hardly can credit three of them. Won't you tell us again about your dolls? Why doesn't Carrot Top come to the Mail-Box, and we will see if we can't cheer her up a little. I am mailing you Parrot's address as requested. I am sure you were disappointed, Hazel Eyes, on not being able to go to England.

RECEIVED COAT.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I send you ten cents for S. C. H. fund. I thank Esme for the nice coat she gave me. Yours truly, APRIL SMILE.

So you were the fortunate one who received the coat offered by Esme, April Smile? There will be a number of boxites disappointed, I know, but of course there was only one coat. Your letter has been forwarded.

The FLAMING JEWEL

by ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

The sickly greenish hue changed in the crimson ray of blood appeared in the tragic history of the Flaming Jewel, that priceless gem first stolen from the royal casket of the DUCHESSE OF ESTHONIA by the great international thief, QUINTANA, and then stolen from Quintana by MIKE CLINCH. Clinch brought the Flaming Jewel to his camp in the Adirondacks, where he hoarded it for the education of his beautiful stepdaughter, EVE STRAYER. Quintana appeared to recover the jewel. Also bent on recovering the jewel is JAMES DARRACH, going under the name of EAL SMITH, who intended to restore it to the crown.

Eve escapes from the savage clutches of Quintana with a packet which she thought contained the jewel, but which contained only two bars of chocolate. This packet is stolen from her by two of Clinch's men, who went over to Quintana. One of them, CARL LEVERETT, murders the other.

MIKE KLOON, for the false packet. Hardly had he released the jewel from his grasp when a hand was placed on his shoulder.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER II.

A COWARD dies many times before Old Man Death really gets him. The swimming minutes passed; his kind ceased to live for a space. Then, as though the swirling waters of the fast dark whirlpool, a dull roar of turning consciousness filled his being. Somebody was shaking him, shouting at him. Suddenly instant resumed its function, and he struggled madly to get away from the edge of the sink-hole—fought his way blindly through tangled undergrowth toward the hard edge. No human power could have locked the frantic creature thrashing toward solid ground.

But there Quintana held him in his firm grip.

"Fool! Mule! Crazy fellow! What do you do, eh? For what you make this rabbit, eh? You expect Quintana? Yes? Alors?"

Leverett, in a state of collapse, sagged back against an oak tree. Quintana's nervous grasp fell from his arms as they swung, dangling.

"What you do by that pond-hole, eh? Come and touch you, and one word, I think I have stab you. Such an ass!"

Quintana's gaze as long as he deemed it necessary. Then he started toward his rifle. Quintana blocked his way.

"Where my packet?"

"Ah! I told you? Jake had it in his pocket. It is down in these sink-holes."

"You think I'm lying?" blustered Leverett, trying to move around Quintana's extended arm. The arm swung and clutched him by the collar of his flannel shirt.

"Wait, my friend," said Quintana in a soft voice. "You shall explain to me some things before you go."

"Explain what?"

Quintana shook him into speechlessness.

"Listen, my friend," he continued with a terrifying smile. "I must ask you what it was, that gun-shot which I heard while I wait at Drown's Valley. Eh? Who fire a gun?"

The water was a-shakin' all over it, but Jake had went down plum out o' sight. I want no use. I cut a sapling an' I poked down. I was sick an' scared like, so when you come up over the moss, not makin' no noise, an' grabbed me—I guess you'd jump, too."

Quintana's dark, tense face was expressionless when Leverett ventured to look at him. Like most larvae he realized the advantage of looking his victim straight in the eyes. This he managed to accomplish, sustaining the cold

JACK knew it would be useless to ask this gruff man to let him pass, so he started to run away. Jack was a pretty fast runner, and steadily gained in the chase. Suddenly the man yelled: "If you don't stop I'll call my helpers!"

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets After Meals Insure a Sweet Stomach From All Dyspeptic Distress.

You have probably been through the experience when your stomach went sour and filled with gas and nothing at hand to give relief. And after two or three days you got over it. It took that time for the stomach to right itself naturally. But why go through such misery? If you chew one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating you can have pie and cheese, doughnuts, baked beans, steak and fried onions, sausage and so on for your three meals a day and not have a sour stomach with gas, belching, fullness, pressure and the misery that comes from an acid stomach due to indigestion. The reason is that these tablets supply the stomach with an alkaline effect that neutralizes the acid, hence the stomach becomes calm and sweet. If you fear you are a chronic dyspeptic and afraid to eat get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drugist and get back into your eating stride.—ADVT.

Paris Delves Into Past For Evening Gowns

THE night will be glad for its thousand eyes this winter when the picturesque evening gowns Paris is sending over are revealed in all their glory.

The loveliest styles of former days have all been revived, and one need consider only becomingness when selecting.

Instead of the all-black costume, so favored last year, we are in for a season of gay colors and daring combinations. Straight lines have given way to draperies and graceful points.

One of the most beautiful of evening wraps is shown above. It is of heavy silver brocade heavily patterned with beads.

From Czechoslovakia comes the unique bodice and fan, formed from a silken scarf. This is a style Paris is favoring at the present time, and it promises to become one of the most popular fads of the season.

Trans-Atlantic radio transmission is common. But commercially, and for governmental purposes, the messages are sent on long wave lengths under extremely high power.

Amateurs, however, are not permitted to send messages on wave lengths longer than 200 meters, except under special license, which makes the problem of crossing the ocean much more difficult. However, this feat will be accomplished and perfected so that amateur transmission across the ocean will be made with ease.

Early Tests.

Preliminary tests in the United States and Canada will be conducted from Oct. 25 to Nov. 3, to choose the amateur qualified to send their signals across the ocean. The tests will be made from 9:30 until midnight, when at set periods a group of stations in each district will signal its call letters.

The purpose will be to attain the greatest possible distance for each amateur radio station. Those amateurs who receive cards showing that their messages were caught at stations more than 1,200 miles away, will be qualified to participate in the trans-Atlantic tests.

The main tests will cover a period of 20 days. From 7 at night to 1 o'clock the next morning, during the first ten days, American and Canadian amateurs will transmit. From 8 at night until 2 the next morning, for the next ten days, they will listen in for signals from England, France and Holland.

Officials of the A. R. R. L. expect a record will be set in the transmission and reception of trans-Atlantic messages by amateurs, on this third series of tests.

Here Are Secrets of Cake Baking

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEY.

Everyone likes good cake, and many are the inquiries as to method of making such cake. The method of putting together the ingredients is important, but the baking is almost as much so, if the result is to be perfect.

The remark was made to me not long ago that cake at the present time costs much less than in the days of our grandmothers, even though the price of food materials is greatly increased.

But when a really fine cake is made today the same good materials go into it—eggs, butter, sugar and flour. So many cooks make a cake which is quickly put together, and calls for less material, but they frost it and put it in layers with filling and the final cost is quite as much as a cake calling for more material in itself.

Much experimental work has been and is being done to prove the best method of putting together the ingredients in a cake. If it is to be eaten immediately, a cake may be "stirred up" very quickly, but for keeping quality, fine texture and good flavor a more careful mixing is necessary.

Rules for Mixing.

A few rules to follow are important. Always have all the materials ready on the table before beginning work. Have the oven in good condition. Have pans carefully buttered or greased.

Butter should be melted over hot water and allowed to stand until the sediment has formed. Use oil for greasing pan. It is best applied to the pan with a soft piece of paper or brush.

If the cake is to be baked in a pan not over three inches deep, it is well to flour it after greasing. Be careful every bit of flour which does not cling to the butter is shaken out. For a loaf cake, the best results are obtained when the pan is lined with paper.

Now Mix Your Cake.

Having pans ready and oven at your control, proceed to mix the cake. If it is a butter cake, cream the butter and sugar together until creamy. If eggs are not separated, beat well and add to butter and sugar. If the yolks and whites are beaten separately add the well-beaten yolks to the creamed butter and sugar, reserving the whites to be beaten stiffly and added at the last, after flour is in.

The cake gets a more thorough beating if the milk and flour are added in this order.

Other bits of entertainment will be provided by naval men.

ENGINES DROWN RADIO.

A special study of radio, especially in the direction of devising some plan by which the noise of airplane engines will not drown out radio reception. This has been one of the main difficulties in the operation of wireless on airplanes.

BELIEVE COUPLE KILLED IN BARN

Alleged Affidavits Bring Out
Different Phase in Dual Slaying.

Police Say Investigations of Building Have Revealed Important Clues.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Oct. 18.—Affidavits have been obtained from two men whose identity the authorities refuse to divulge, county prosecutors said tonight, which set forth that the double murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills did not occur in the Somerset county orchard where the bodies were found, but in a barn on the southern outskirts of New Brunswick.

Investigation which followed the filing of the affidavits, the authorities said, led to the discovery by the police of two handkerchiefs, one a man's and the other a woman's, held to be important clues in the case. They were not found on the Phillips farm, as was reported at that time, but in the barn which stands on the opposite side of New Brunswick. Two dark brown combs also are said to have been found on the dirt floor of the barn. These combs, Charlotte Mills is reported to have identified as having belonged to her mother. The statement which the authorities alleged they have obtained from the two men, professed to declare that they were driving from Red-bank, N.J., about 12 o'clock on the night of Sept. 14. Two miles out from New Brunswick, they said, they passed the barn, a deserted structure plastered with advertising posters, which stands close to the highway.

Report Hearing Screams.
From this barn the men are reported to have said they heard screams issuing, pleas for mercy, and then one long shriek—"Murder!"—the police say. The men drove through New Brunswick without reporting the occurrence, and an hour later were on Easton avenue when they were passed by a sedan going toward the Phillips farm. In the machine, they said, was a woman wearing a gray coat, and a man.

The affidavit is said to state further that the men were on Easton avenue, near the park, which adjoins the Phillips farm, for nearly half an hour, and that they saw the sedan returning at a high rate of speed. It turned from Easton avenue near the park and disappeared.

That the examination of Mrs. Hall, the widow of the rector, in the prosecutor's office, when she was closely scrutinized by a woman whose identity has not been fully revealed, was even more eerie and mystifying than at first reported, became known in connection with the announcement of the obtaining of the affidavit. This woman, the prosecutors now say, was but a decoy. Sitting directly across the room, she was supposed to absorb all of the attention of Mrs. Hall, while the rector's widow was being closely examined by the two men who are now said to have made the affidavit. The authorities have declined to make public the result of this elaborate plan for examining Mrs. Hall.

Publish Letters.
A second series of the letters said to have been written by Mrs. Eleanor Mills, wife of the church sexton, and choir leader to the Rev. Edward Wheeler-Hall, was made public today by the authorities as they continued their efforts to solve the mystery of the slaying of the couple September 14.

Unaddressed and unsigned, the letters are filled with terms of endearment. In them the minister is often referred to as "sweet, adorable babykins." They speak of "a love nest" of a woman's dreams of true love, and describe the moods of a woman loved and loving without the conventions. Excerpts follow:

"Dearest, dearest boy:
"Wasn't I happy to find a sweet note, for I didn't expect you would risk leaving one for me yesterday? Such delicious ecstasies.
"Oh, you sweet, adorable babykins of mine."
"The note I left yesterday was crumpled, but I had to hide it in small orange purse as I met him."
"How glad I am school resumes tomorrow, and I can be alone to write. I need my dream times, my hours alone and other people irritate and disturb me."

"My Love Is Deep."
"My love is deep, calm, quiet today. I am in a mood to listen to music."

Farmers Seek His Political "Scalp"

HON. T. A. CRRERAR.

EDMONTON, Oct. 18.—Asserting that Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressive party in the federal house, is negotiating an alliance with the Liberals, thereby seeking to destroy the identity of the Progressive party, the Stony Plains district local of the United Farmers of Alberta has passed a resolution demanding his resignation.

The resolution further states that Mr. Crerar refused to lead the Progressives as an opposition party in the House of Commons; that he is associated with a grain company, and that he was not in favor of the formation of the wheat board.

URGES FULL NAVAL POWER FOR BRITAIN

Admiral Beatty, At University of Leeds, Favors Standard of Washington Conference.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Admiral Beatty who received the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the University of Leeds today, in acknowledging the bestowal of the honor, said that Great Britain should fully maintain the standard of naval power laid down by the Washington conference.

The world recognized that the government's acceptance of the Washington standard was unimpeachable evidence of the British Empire's desire for peace, he said. The standards of strength adopted at the Washington conference were those which offered the brightest prospects for peace. It was an unfortunate factor of the present civilization, Earl Beatty continued, that fastidiousness proper means of self-defence did not make for peace, and Great Britain could not afford to relax altogether the precautions necessary to maintain her national and imperial interests. "With our burden of debt," said Earl Beatty, "we are unable to afford to do more than maintain the minimum necessary to assure our security. That minimum was laid down by the Washington conference, and we are not going to fall below it."

BREAKS SPEED RECORD IN ONE-KILOMETER FLIGHT

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Oct. 18.—Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the United States army air service, today set a new official world's speed record when he flew over a one-kilometer course at Selfridge Field at an average speed of 224.05 miles an hour in four heats. The test was timed by representatives of the Federation Aeronotique Internationale, thus making the record official.

General Mitchell drove the army Curtiss plane, which last week won the Pulitzer trophy and in which Lieut. R. J. Maughan later drove unofficially at a speed of 248.5 miles an hour.

The former world's record recognized by the federation was made in France last year by Sadi Lecoq, who piloted his machine at an average speed of 205 miles an hour.

DEFENDS STAND ON WHEAT BOARD

Hon. Thomas A. Low Declares
Government's Action Justified.

Declares King Administration is Protecting General Interests.

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—Addressing the Dominion Millers' Association at their annual banquet tonight, Hon. Thomas A. Low, federal minister without portfolio, defended the government's action in indorsing the wheat board, a measure opposed by the millers as a whole. He maintained that the government would not be justified in obtaining the complete satisfaction of one group at the price of causing unrest and discontent in the western provinces. The action of the government was really beneficial to the millers, for it was decidedly to the advantage of the members of Canada's greatest industry that the large group of men producing their raw material should be contented.

The good faith of the government in its desire to guarantee the millers protection also was evidenced by the fact that the minister of trade and commerce, himself a miller, was interested in this legislation, and further by the fact that the flour and milling interests were exempted from certain clauses which might have been prejudicial.

The milling industry, he said, was one of Canada's foremost industries. Outside of one and a half million dollars in securities held in the United States, and one and a half million held in Great Britain, the industry was absolutely Canadian-owned. Her flour and milled products carried Canadian export trade into over 40 different countries. The flour exports of Canada rank first in a list of over 400 specific Canadian products.

The export trade in flour and mill products has shown a steady growth from $2,000,000 in 1887 to the present volume of $58,000,000 approximately in the last fiscal year. The Canadian mills are capable of producing over 134,000 barrels of flour every 24 hours. Yet with this splendid development Canada is milling on the average only about 70,000,000 bushels of wheat. With the steady opening of greater transportation facilities and the growth of foreign markets, there is no reason why the remarkable growth in the export of Canadian flour in the last 20 years should not be extended and the volume of export doubled in the next decade.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial diseases are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. It gives relief in a few minutes. It dissolves the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas, or pain. Bismuth Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. —Advt.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that no one can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. —Advt.

The Kaiser's Memoirs

By WILHELM VON HOHENZOLLERN, (Former Emperor of Germany)

CHAPTER X. The Outbreak of War.

AFTER the arrival of the news of the assassination of my friend, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, I gave up going to Kiel for the regatta week and went back home, since I intended to go to Vienna for his funeral. But I was asked from there to give up this plan. Later I heard that one of the reasons for this was consideration for my personal safety; to this I naturally would have paid no attention.

Greatly worried on account of the turn which matters might now take, I decided to give up my intended journey to Norway, and remain at home. The Imperial chancellor and the foreign office held a view conference to which I was invited to undertake the journey, as they considered that it would have a quieting effect on all Europe. For a long time I argued against going away from my country at a time when the future was so unsettled, but Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann told me in plain and concise terms, that if I were now to give up my travel plans, which were already widely known, this would make the situation appear more serious than it had been up to that moment and possibly lead to the outbreak of war, for which I might be held responsible; that the whole world was merely waiting to be put out of suspense by the news that I, in spite of the situation, had quietly gone on my trip.

Thereupon I consulted the chief of the general staff, when he also proved to be calm and unworried regarding the state of affairs, and himself asked for a summer leave of absence to go to Carlsbad. I decided, though with a heavy heart, upon my departure.

The much-discussed so-called Potsdam crown council of July 5 in reality never took place. It is an invention of malevolent persons. Naturally, before my departure, I received, as was my custom, some of the ministers individually, in order to hear from them reports concerning their department. Neither was there any council of ministers, and there was no talk about war preparations at a single one of the conferences.

My fleet was cruising in the Norwegian fjords, as usual, while I was on my summer vacation trip. During my stay at Balholm I received only meagre news from the foreign office, and was obliged to rely principally on the Norwegian newspapers, from which I got the impression that the situation was growing worse. I graphed repeatedly to the chancellor and the foreign office, and considered it advisable to return home, but was asked each time not to interrupt my journey.

When I learned that the English fleet had not dispersed after the review at Spithead, but had remained concentrated, I telegraphed again to Berlin that I considered my return necessary. My opinion was not shared there.

But, when, after that, I learned from the Norwegian newspapers—not from Berlin—about the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia, and, immediately thereafter, about the Serbian note to Austria, I started without further ado upon my return journey and commanded the fleet to repair to Wilhelmshaven. Upon my departure I learned from a Norwegian source that the said that a part of the English fleet had left secretly for Norway in order to capture me (though peace still reigned!). It is significant that Sir Edward Goschen, the English ambassador, was informed on July 26 at the foreign office that my return journey, undertaken on my own initiative, was to be regretted, since agitating rumors might be caused by it.

CLAIMS TAX LEVIES ARE OVERLAPPING

J. R. Shaw Addresses Border Section of Manufacturers At Windsor.

WINDSOR, Oct. 18.—Declaring that there are 5,500 different bodies in Canada at present empowered to levy taxes, John R. Shaw, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, speaking at the annual meeting of the manufacturers' section of the Border Chamber of Commerce in the Prince Edward Hotel last night, urged that the authority of various bodies be more clearly defined to prevent overlapping, which at present often occurs, he claimed.

Mr. Shaw called attention to the fact that the manufacturers were being called on to bear the biggest burden of taxation, because they were the ones who "squeaked the least." He said the government knew the manufacturers could not pay the heavy taxes and stay in business, and so were forced to make the ultimate consumers bear the burden.

"At present," he declared, "the citizens do not realize that part of the price they pay for manufactured articles goes to pay taxes, but some day they will find it out, and they will also find out that they can buy the same goods for lower prices from Great Britain and other countries."

Mr. Shaw also launched an attack against the Drury government for appointing a man with avowed labor principles to the Ontario workmen's compensation board. He said he was told that Premier Drury had admitted the appointment was unsuitable, but had been made necessary through the political exigencies. Mr. Shaw said such an appointment was against the basic principles of the workmen's compensation act, which made it necessary for men of the highest judicial ability to sit on the board.

The very clauses in the act which had proved impractical were the ones to which the Manufacturers' Association had objected, when the bill was first submitted, Mr. Shaw maintained. The chief flaw in the act, he Says War Was Not Foreseen.

Upon my arrival at Potsdam I found the chancellor and the foreign office in conflict with the chief of the general staff, since General von Moltke was of the opinion that war was sure to break out, whereas the other two stuck firmly to their view that things would not get to such a bad pass, that there would be some way of avoiding war, provided I did not order mobilization. This dispute kept up steadily. Not until General von Moltke announced that the Russians had set fire to their frontier posts, torn up the frontier railway tracks and posted red mobilization notices, did a fight break upon the diplomats in the Wilhelmstrasse and that of their powers of resistance. They had not wished to believe in the war.

This shows plainly how little we had expected—much less, prepared—war in July, 1914. When, in the spring of 1914, Czar Nicholas II. was questioned by his court marshal as to his spring and summer plans, he replied: "The rest of the year will be a quiet one, as we shall have peace." (This fact, it is said, was reported to Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann: I heard nothing about it then and learned about it for the first time in November, 1918.) This was the same czar who gave me, on two separate occasions—at Bjorko and Baltisch-Port—entirely without being pressed by me and in a way that surprised me, his word of honor as a sovereign, to which he added weight by a clasp of the hand and an embrace, that he would never draw his sword against the German emperor—least of all as an ally of England—in case a war should break out in Europe, owing to his gratitude to the German emperor for his attitude in the Russo-Japanese war, in which England alone had involved Russia, adding that he hated England, since he had done him and Russia a great wrong by inciting Japan against them.

At the very time that the czar was announcing his summer war program I was busy at Corfu excavating antiquities; then I went to Wiesbaden, and, finally, to Norway. A monarch who wishes war and prepares it in such a way that he can suddenly fall upon his neighbors—a task requiring long secret mobilization preparations and concentration of troops—does not spend months outside his own country and does not allow his chief of the general staff to go to Carlsbad on leave of absence. My enemies, then, who were planning their preparations for an attack.

Our entire diplomatic machine failed. The menace of war was not seen because the foreign office was so hypnotized with its idea of "sur-tout pas d'histoires" (above all, no stories!), its belief in peace and any cost, that it had completely eliminated statesmanship from its calculations, and, therefore, did not rightly estimate the importance of the signs of war.

Herein also is proof of Germany's peaceful inclinations. The above-mentioned standpoint of the foreign office brought it to a certain extent into conflict with the general staff and the admiralty staff, who uttered warnings, as was their duty, and wished to make preparations for defence. This conflict in views showed its effect for a long time; the army could not forget that, by the fault of the foreign office, it had been taken by surprise, and the diplomats were piqued because, in spite of their stratagems, war had ensued, after all.

RESIDENTS OF COLONIES ARE EXEMPT FROM TAX

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—According to Wilfrid T. Fry, income tax specialist of London England, all British subjects resident in the colonies or abroad who derive income from which British income tax has been deducted have a claim for repayment of the whole or part of such tax. Mr. Fry stated that he had come to Canada to impress this fact upon the merchants and others here. "By the British finance act," he declared, "all British subjects resident in the colonies or abroad are granted the right of reclaiming British income, although they were a resident in the United Kingdom."

PLANS TO BRING OUT 10,000,000

Sir John Willison Explains Gigantic National Land Settlement Scheme.

Would Induce Settlers To Take Up Land in Western Canada.

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—(By Canadian Press).—Sir John Willison, president of the Western Canada Colonization Association, unfolded details of the prodigious national land settlement scheme, which the association hopes to inaugurate in the near future, to a large and representative meeting of Toronto businessmen, held here this evening. All classes of the business and professional sections of the community were in attendance, including members of the legal, medical, commercial and clerical fraternity.

The scheme in view, whereby ten million persons would be brought to Canada, settled on land in close proximity to the railways, and under which, within 22 years at the most, they would become proprietary farmers, would be a tremendous asset to the country, for, he stated, it would mean the building up of the province, lightening the provincial and national burdens and the early redemption of Dominion obligations.

All parts of the country had been consulted before the plans were brought to fruition; even the Motherland, he said, had shown its practical interest by a donation to assist the flotation of the organization, while the Dominion government had promised an annual grant of $100,000. In addition, the various provinces, including Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, had been approached, and had unstintingly promised co-operation. The assistance of the railways had been sought and obtained, he added, and what was now needed was the support of every individual who placed national prosperity before everything else.

After explaining how twenty million acres of land in all parts of Canada and situated within from five to twelve miles of a railroad were owned but unoccupied, the president asserted that it was the intention of this amount the association had in view. To do this the lands would be listed by the association, the immigrant would be directed to a suitable location and within ten years or less, if circumstances permitted, the vendor would receive a fair and reasonable price for his property. Under this plan the purchaser, he was sure, would be satisfied with the transaction, while, above everything else, the great and pressing problem of restoring prosperity and lightening taxation would be in the course of solution.

Sir John Willison announced that

Delorme Unconcerned Over Possible Loss of His Fortune.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—Father Adelme Delorme is debonair and utterly unconcerned about the legal battle which hinges his retention or loss of administration of his fortune, according to Dr. Brochu, superintendent of the Beauport Asylum, where the abbe is confined, who was interviewed over the long-distance telephone.

Apparently Delorme's counsel is not considering the expedient suggested to him in Quebec to submit a certificate to the lieutenant-governor from Dr. Brochu to show that Delorme is not insane and thus secure his release. When questioned this morning over the long-distance telephone, Dr. Brochu declared that no request had been made to him by the abbe's counsel to that effect.

Howard Everett, who has had experience in the settlement of one million acres in Western Canada, has been appointed general manager of the association.

AGREE ON SEVERAL POINTS IN EMBARGO

British Minister of Agriculture Holds Discussion With Canadian Representatives.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—Another meeting to discuss the necessary legislation providing for the removal of the embargo against Canadian store cattle was held in the colonial office today.

The conclusions of the committee of experts appointed to consider a number of technical points involved were laid before the meeting and considered, and in a large measure, it is announced, an agreement was reached.

The British minister of agriculture, Sir A. Griffith Boswell, presided in the absence through illness of the colonial secretary, Winston Churchill. Representatives of the Canadian department of agriculture were present as well as Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Ernest Lapointe and F. C. Larkin.

Representatives of the Scottish board of agriculture were also present.

Hundreds of Over-Plump Women Flock To Frisco's New Anti-Fat Restaurant

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Oct. 18.—At last—an anti-fat restaurant! Hundreds of women troubled with the popular over-plumpness of the age will delight in the opening of the Sanford Special Diet Cafe tomorrow at Lane Hospital, Clay and Webster streets.

There, the buxom debutante with a shade too much avoirdupois for the perfect wearing of the season's long draped lines, may lunch with the calm assurance that she is not adding one ounce to her weight.

And the matron who today eschewed the cosy chats and shaded lights of the luncheon places to content herself with a lettuce leaf munched in solitude, or the sad consumption of an uninviting bran biscuit, may enjoy the social hour of the luncheon table once more.

The successful man whose convex waistline keeps him hopping about a handball court while his luckier fellows are relaxing in the genial atmosphere of the club tables—may eat and grow thin in a place where only thinning foods will be offered for his delectation.

For the Sanford Special Diet Cafe removes temptation from those less hardy, souls who weaken at the sight of mayonnaise and whipped cream. Mayonnaise and whipped cream are there, it's true, but of a different kind, although quite the same to the taste.

REPORT CONFERENCE ON NATURAL RESOURCES

EDMONTON, Oct. 18.—Before seeking a final settlement with the Dominion authorities on the natural resources question, Premier Greenfield of Alberta will confer with Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan and Premier Bracken of Manitoba, it was said here today.

It is understood that a conference will be held in Ottawa about the end of this month. The return of Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, who is now in Europe, is being awaited, it is understood, before Premier Mackenzie King takes up the question again, the discussion of financial compensations probably entering into the negotiations at the next stage.

GARRISON A. A. TO REORGANIZE TUESDAY FOR BIG WINTER SEASON

PLAN TO BUILD UP BODY AS ATHLETIC FACTOR

Plan Big Season of Indoor Ball, Basketball, Hockey and Boxing—May Broaden Out.

Tuesday night in the armories the reorganization of the Garrison Athletic Association will take place, and according to plans this organization is to be the backbone of all amateur sports in the city. The association is to be reorganized on a basis of becoming one of the biggest factors in sport in London.

Ottawa has given the lead in this direction, and there the Garrison A. A. is the backbone of all amateur sports, and especially the winter sports. General King, C.M.G., D.S.O., D.O.C., M.C., No. 1, is an enthusiastic sportsman and a strong supporter of Garrison athletics and will be found giving the movement, no matter how ambitious, may be, every facility in as far as he can.

Indoor baseball will probably occupy the first meeting, but plans are under way to take in every branch of sport, and this may include boxing, to a certain extent, the London amateur Boxing and Wrestling Association, which is formed next Wednesday.

night at a meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A.

The military units will strongly support any move to promote more sports, and it is possible also that civilian organizations will be invited under the wing of the Garrison A. A. as it has been suggested that those interested in sport but not belonging to the militia be invited to join the executive and give the activities of the organization a broader scope.

Indoor baseball, basketball, hockey and boxing and wrestling are a few of the sports with which the Garrison A. A. will be identified this coming winter season, and with a few years of good organization big things may be expected from this quarter.

It coincides also with a Dominion-wide campaign to stress the value of athletics as well as militia training, and which aims at Dominion-wide competitions, conducted under militia auspices.

FOX BAR SURVEY
FOX BAR is the only subdivision in London having guaranteed improvements. The natural beauty of this property is unsurpassed and the restrictions are such as will make this a perfect home section for all time, and the personal element of the neighborhood will also be carefully guarded.

It is bounded by two main paved thoroughfares, Windsor avenue and Tecumseh avenue, with frequent car service within a stone's throw. FOX BAR with its ideal natural qualities, its many improvements and home site advantages, can't avoid being the logical center for the great suburban community development now in daily progress.

Col. Garthorne's profits are very small, but he is satisfied with his money investment of 5 per cent.

CANADA AND U.S. REACH DECISION ON NEW TREATY

Revenue Cutters Expected To Replace Present Type of Ships.

CABINET DISCUSSES IT

Dominion Government Officials Favor Smaller Boats For Revenue Protection.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Preliminary exchanges relative to the new Great Lakes armament treaty between the United States and Canada are understood to have resulted in a virtual agreement to dispense entirely with naval vessels on the lakes, and to replace those now in commission there with revenue cutters.

Such a rectification of the border armaments is said to have been looked upon favorably by representatives of both governments as in harmony with the spirit of the Washington armaments conference, and with the policy under which the boundary between the United States and Canada is left unguarded by land fortifications.

Whether special arrangements will be made to permit the use of special naval ships purely for practice purposes at the Great Lakes naval training station has not been revealed, although it is known that the subject has received the active attention of the negotiators.

Under the present treaty, in force since 1817, Canada and the United States each is permitted to have four naval vessels on the border lakes—one on Lake Ontario, two on the upper St. Lawrence and one on Lake Champlain. It is indicated that a limit, yet to be established, will be placed upon the number and armament of the revenue cutters which it is proposed to intrust with future lake police work.

It also has been practically decided to confine the new treaty to the one subject of Canada and the United States governmental representation on the lakes, leaving for separate treatment such questions as fisheries, waterways and smuggling. It is the expectation that the negotiations, which are progressing on the basis of a Canadian draft, will be completed in time to permit submission of the new treaty to the Senate at the next session of Congress. Canadian representatives are expected in Washington to perfect the document and attach formal signatures, the British government, according to the Dominion authorities, to sign as of their own right.

CABINET DISCUSSES PACT.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—(By Canadian Press).—Canada's action in the matter of a treaty with the United States concerning Great Lakes disarmament was under discussion by cabinet council this afternoon. It is understood. No announcement is yet available here as to what proposals were put forward at the conference. The subject was discussed by the cabinet, but so far as can be learned, the Canadian view was that the present naval vessels on the Great Lakes might well be replaced by launches and cutters used for revenue protection.

Forward Five Bales of Clothing and Check for $53.

Special to London Advertiser. TILBURY, Oct. 18.—A week's effort on the part of the local Red Cross Society resulted in a splendid shipment of clothing to Northern Ontario. About 25 tables participated in the drive, and one lady spent her spare hours in fashioning the scraps of flannel into booties for the infants.

The local I. O. O. E. chapter, by means of a progressive card party, for which the local Athletic Club donated their hall on Monday evening, were also enabled to send a check of $53 through their order, to be expended for the benefit of the sufferers. About 25 tables participated in the card party, and as many other purchased tags. The event was a social success.

The fire department sent engine company Number One outside the city limits this afternoon to put out a fire on the roof of the residence of William Kyle, who owns a farm on the River road, Raleigh township. Three chemical extinguishers were used to put out the flames, which were believed to have started from sparks from the chimney.

Two trucks of the fire department responded to an alarm from box forty-two late this afternoon and proceeded to the Milner carriage factory, where a wall in the blacksmith shop had caught fire. One line of hose was sufficient to combat the flames.

Thorndale Women's Institute Work To Endow Cot in Children's Hospital.

THORNDALE, Oct. 18.—The Thorndale Women's Institute are endeavoring to raise $500 for the Children's War Memorial Hospital, London, in order that West Nissouri Township may have a cot. Women have been appointed in the different wards of the township to take charge of the collecting, and all residents of West Nissouri will be interviewed.

The Thorndale branch of the Women's Institute, under the presidency of Mrs. Bolton Fitzgerald, has accomplished very creditable work. In August, 1921, the work of improving the five township cemeteries was undertaken, and due largely to the tactful and energetic leadership of Mrs. Fitzgerald, the co-operation of the plot-holders and trustees of the various cemeteries was received, which resulted in the accomplishment of the needed improvements.

Financial aid has also been rendered each year to the public library, and every effort is made to apply the institute motto, "For Home and Country."

Splendid programs are rendered at each meeting, a committee of four members being in charge. The topic card from November to May is as follows:

November 2—Topic: "Making the Commonplace Life Interesting." Roll-call answered by "Ideas for Inexpensive Christmas Gifts." Conveners: Mrs. Jos. Mossip, Mrs. H. Jones, Mrs. James Ramsay, Mrs. F. A. Jones, Hostess: Mrs. Williamson.

December 7—Concession reports. Roll-call answered by resolutions for the New Year. Hostesses: Mrs. W. Wright and Mrs. C. Guest. Conveners: Mrs. C. Hobbs, Mrs. R. Lee, Mrs. C. McFadden, Mrs. Smuck.

January 4: Talk on "Banking and Law." S. G. Davis. Conveners: Mrs. J. K. Fitzsimons, Mrs. R. P. Blythe, Mrs. D. Weston, Mrs. S. G. Davis, Hostess: Mrs. Wesley McCutcheon.

February 1: At home in Harding's Hall.

March 1: Address, Miss G. Blackburn of London. Roll-call answered by "Economy Wrinkles." Conveners: Mrs. George Van Horne, Mrs. B. Logan, Mrs. M. Morrison and Miss E. Irwin. Hostess: Mrs. Stoney.

April 5: A musical. Conveners: Mrs. R. Stevenson, Mrs. W. E. McCutcheon, Miss B. Scott and Miss L. Henderson. Hostess: Mrs. W. McMartin.

May 3: Annual meeting. Summer lectures. Conveners: Mrs. R. Woods, Mrs. F. Wilson, Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. H. Bonnell. Hostess: Mrs. W. C. Gee.

The officers and executive of the present year are as follows: President, Mrs. Bolton Fitzgerald; vice-president, Mrs. Joseph Mossip; secretary-treasurer, Miss J. Reja Gee; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. James H. Wheaton; board of directors, Mrs. Wesley McCutcheon, Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. G. B. Vining, Mrs. F. Stoney, Miss V. M. Sinker, Miss L. Myra Harding; organist, Mrs. K. Ramsay.

Another meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at which it is expected, some important matters will come up for consideration. It is understood that Canada's negotiations for a treaty with the United States, limiting naval armaments on the great lakes were not discussed this afternoon, but there are indications that they will be taken up either tomorrow or in the near future. The arrangement of the matter having been left to Canada. It devolves upon the government to select a minister to conduct negotiations on behalf of the Dominion.

CAPTURED TRIO
REFUSE TO TALK
ON JAIL ESCAPE

Herbert Wilson and Pals Are Taken Without a Struggle.

TO OPEN INVESTIGATION

California Police Officials Will Try To Solve Mystery.

BULLETIN.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—The first apparent result of the recapture early today of the three bandits who broke out of Los Angeles county jail yesterday was the sending of one of them—Adam Blaszk, alias Ward—a convicted murderer—to San Quentin Penitentiary to serve a life sentence for strangling Mrs. Nancy M. Wheeler in a robbery. The other two, Herbert Wilson, leader in the break for freedom, former evangelist, alleged mail robber and convicted murderer, and Guido Spignola, alias "the Mouse," accused of robbing the Los Angeles office of the Standard Oil Company of $33,000, were guarded carefully in the county jail, from which they were absent just one day.

Special to London Advertiser.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 18.—Smashing open the rear door of the home of Tom Garwood, well known to the authorities, Detective-Sergeants Katzenberger and Stelzriede and Capt. Hotz of the sheriff's office, captured Herbert Wilson, convicted murderer, Adam Ward, convicted murderer, and Guido Spignola, alleged "master bandit," a few minutes after dawn today. The three were taken in custody just 24 hours after they had staged one of the most sensational jail breaks in the history of California, in which they beat one jailer until he fell unconscious, and outwitted two others who were in the jail at the time.

The capture of the three desperadoes was effected without a struggle after the officers had lurked in the shadows of the place all night. But the reason for this was simple. Wilson had seen the officers for more than an hour before they broke in. He saw that he and his pals were outnumbered, and realized that it would be suicide to put up a fight. When Stelzriede, Katzenberger and Hotz broke into the house the notorious bandit and all-around crook, Wilson, came towards them smiling, his hands in the air. "We are willing to go along," he said. "There will be no bloodshed and no shooting."

Officers Surprised.
The officers marveled at this, as they had been promised by Wilson, in a message sent to the sheriff, that his escape, that he would "shoot" with any officers that might corner them.

As soon as the prisoners had been returned to county jail, an investigation into facts surrounding their escape was started by the sheriff and the district attorney's office. The three men were questioned, and while they willingly told all about their experiences after they had gained their freedom, they refused to make any statements concerning their escape.

When questioned along this line Wilson said: "Why tell all about how I succeeded in the jail break and get many others into trouble? Will I gain anything by that?" Ward and "the Mouse" would do just as Wilson tells them, the officers are convinced, as they look upon the man as their leader. Wilson's first question as he was taken into the sheriff's office before being taken to the county jail, was directed to deputy sheriff Patton. "Mr. Patton," he said, "how is Mr. Purrier?" He was assured the deputy whom he rendered unconscious yesterday just prior to leaving the jail with his two companions was "all right."

Wilson discussed the escape freely, but not in detail. He said he had awakened shortly before 5 o'clock this morning and had awakened his companions. They were then preparing to leave the city early. While dressing, Wilson walked to the window and looked out. He said he saw at least half a score of men lurking in the shadows near the house. He watched closely until daylight, and then after viewing all the men, decided it would be foolish to engage in a gun battle, as the odds against him and his two companions were too great. The three men reached the Garwood home about 9 o'clock last night, and went at once to bed. They slept in different bedrooms. It was not until late last night that the sheriff decided to go to the Garwood home with a number of deputies and police officers.

Sheriff Trager said that he learned that when Wilson had planned to break jail several weeks ago, he had planned to go to the home of Garwood. Last night, while searching, they found the automobile that was stolen by the three men, abandoned near the Garwood home. The officers decided they would surround the house and wait until daylight before attempting to capture them.

When the prisoners arrived at the sheriff's office and when Wilson was asked to pose for a newspaper photographer he readily consented, after a reporter had loaned him a collar and necktie.

So far the man has carefully evaded answering any questions concerning the manner in which the guns were smuggled into the jail to him and his companions.

Prisoner Satisfied.
Spignola, "the Mouse" and Ward are content to allow Wilson to do all the talking. That they regard him as their leader is evidenced by their actions in refusing to talk. Just once Ward ventured a remark, but was silenced when "the Mouse" directed an angry glance in his direction and said, "Let Wilson do the talking."

The three prisoners expressed themselves as satisfied that they had not seriously injured anyone in their escape. They told officers that they had planned not to injure anyone and to submit to capture rather than add murder to their already long list of crimes.

KITCHENER SERVES WRIT ON ALDERMAN

Suit Brought by Corporation
To Secure Strip of Property.

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, Oct. 18.—Alderman Hartung of the city council has been served with a writ in connection with a suit which is being brought by the corporation to secure title to the ten-foot strip bordering the new city hall site.

It is alleged by the city that the strip belongs to the Bowman property and was transferred to the corporation known as the Boehmer block, following the purchase by the city of the Bowman hotel. It is charged that Ald. Hartung had a third interest in the Boehmer property when the transfer was made of the ten-foot strip.

The litigation involves a mooted point which has been fought out in the city council during the summer and fall, and was brought about by the opposition of Alderman Hagedorn, who claimed that the city hall was being so placed on the site as to create a business street in front of the ten-foot strip, claimed by the Boehmer property. Ald. Hartung emphatically denies that he has any interest in the Boehmer property, and states that the transfer of the ten-foot strip to the Boehmer property by E. E. Bowman was made before he sold his hotel to the city. He also claims that the deed of the transfer was not registered, however, until after the vote of the people was taken at New Year's authorizing the purchase of the hotel. Just when the action will be heard is not determined. E. E. Bowman and W. H. Rosenbush have also been served with writs in the case.

George Dreisinger of Elmira was fined $1,000 in police court here this morning, when found guilty of a charge of carrying liquor on the highway, contrary to the Ontario liquor carriage act. His lawyer pleaded for leniency on the ground that Dreisinger was a young married man with two small children, but the magistrate Weir stated that he could see no other course open but to impose a heavy fine, as he could see no excuse for the defendant in taking a chance at transporting liquor, contrary to law.

COURT BEATS MAN WHO STRUCK WIFE

WILKESBARE, Pa., Oct. 18.—A man charged with wife-beating had both eyes blackened today by the magistrate, who ended the incident by imposing a $10 fine.

The magistrate, Ald. Edward Burke of Pittston, had heard only part of the wife's testimony, when he shouted:

"I am going to see how he likes it," and jumping over his desk, ordered Anthony Azakas, the defendant, to stand up. As Azakas did so the magistrate hit him a sharp blow over the left eye. The defendant fell, but was ordered up again and received another judicial wallop over the other eye, which once more sent him to the floor.

Azakas promised never to strike his wife again.
