HOUSE NEAR HIGHLAND WHERE PERFIT MONEY WAS MADE.

$20,000 in the two dollar notes, and they were sent away. "One day Poppino arrived at the stone house and told me that I was to accompany him to Chicago's house, where certain men from New York wished to see me. I was dismayed at this message, for I felt sure that my last hour had come. There was no doubt in my mind that I was to be murdered. Caterina and I had been alone for a week in the stone house, so unknown to any one I slipped one of Uncle Vincent's revolvers into my pocket. "At Cini's house I met Morello, Lupu and many others. They found fault with the way I had worked and insulted me, but though they burned much of the counterfeited money, some of it was kept, and I went back to the stone house to print more of the counterfeit bills. "With Cuni's confession and the knowledge that I could use him as a witness I at last had all the evidence necessary to convict Lupu and Morello with the counterfeiting of the Canadian and American money. There is much more that Cuni told me, but there is no space for it here. Some things I will

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS HAD PLEASANT VISIT

His Urbanity and That of the Princess Charmed Brantford Folk on Saturday—High Praise for a Progressive City—Features of Civic Reception.

H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught and his daughter, Princess Patricia, have come and gone, leaving behind nothing but pleasing local memories of their visit. It must be a wearisome task on such a tour to be often received at three places a day, with the attendant addresses, hand shaking and all the rest of it, but if so our Royal visitors did not show it. They were affability itself and manifested genuine interest. There was a little criticism that Brantford was only allotted a stay of three hours. With regard to this, it may be remarked that this custom of the Duke with reference to the smaller centres, constitutes one more evidence of his well known consideration. He is well aware of the great expense of an all-day visit with its attendant banquet and hence his thought in the matter.

At the Depot. The Royal party had a busy time of it earlier in the day, at Galt and Berlin, and their train, due here at 4:30 Saturday afternoon was several minutes late. Long before the hour named, the Grand Trunk depot was surrounded by an immense throng. The station platform was roped off, at either end and only those invited had access thereto. This prevented unnecessary jostling and also afforded many hundreds a clear view of the Duke and Princess when they alighted, and this would not otherwise have been the case. The depot had been handsomely decorated and the police kept excellent order.

Splendid Guard. There was a fine guard of honor drawn up of members of the Dufferin Rifles under command of Capt. Colquhoun. They totalled 118 in number, of well matched height and very fine they looked in their gleaming uniforms. Many questions of Capt. Stennin, Lieut. Sweet and Buckborough were also in attendance. In rear of them again were a number of boy scouts under leader McFarlane.

The Arrival. "Here they come," was the cry as a train whistle sounded in the distance and soon the train glided into the station amid cheers, while the special guard gave the royal salute of present arms, and the Duke and Princess, Band under the leadership of Bandmaster Johnson, played the National Anthem, while from throughout the city could be heard the sound of bells and sirens. Col. Farquhar, Military Secretary to His Royal Highness, and A. F. Sladen, C.M.G., Private Secretary, alighted, and Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., greeted them and gave an introduction to Mayor Spence. The Duke and Princess then alighted and Mr. Sladen introduced them to His Worship, Messrs. Cockshutt and Fisher, M.P.s., who enjoy a prior acquaintance, likewise shook hands. Also Mrs. Cockshutt, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Brewster and Mrs. Spence. The princess, and her lady-in-waiting, Hon. Miss Villiers, were both attired in black in memory of the late Duke of Argyll, husband of the Princess Louise, who died a few days ago. H. R. H., who displayed the conventional afternoon frock coat and a black tie in the same regard. The Princess was presented on behalf of the city by Mrs. Spence with a sheaf of American Beauty roses and by Bobbie Goodwin on behalf of the Boy Scouts with a bouquet. Both were cordially acknowledged.

An Inspection. The first proceeding of the Duke was to inspect the guard of honor. He was introduced by Capt. Graham, A.D.C. to Capt. Colquhoun and made a close scrutiny. The Duke is an old military man and has a keen eye for anything appertaining to dress, deportment and discipline. At the close he said: "Capt. Colquhoun, I want to congratulate you on the smart and neat appearance of your men. The next inspection of the city will be the national character. Our form of government is essentially democratic and under the operation of that form the erection, even in an unofficial way of a social standard, non-indigenous and exclusive, must have an unwelcome effect on our national life. "We are creating our own future in Canada. If democracy means anything, it means the privilege of acting for ourselves and our country as we deem best. Our social standards will be an evolution of our development otherwise, and any extraneous effort to establish such standards must prove false and ineffectual. We are not less loyal to the Empire in being more loyal to ourselves and our traditions, and it is in this spirit that Canadians will subscribe to the protest of Mr. Emmerson."

Named the Twins Duke and Connaught. STRATFORD, May 11.—The stork left twins with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jesson, McFarlane avenue, on Friday, the day the royal party visited the city. Mr. and Mrs. Jesson decided to name their small sons Duke and Connaught.

DANISH ROYAL PAIR VISITING IN ENGLAND

Political Significance is Attached to the Event.—King George's Toast.

MONTEAL, May 11.—The arrival in England on Saturday of the King and Queen of Denmark marks the commencement of the first royal state visit paid during the reign of King George, says a London cable to the Daily Mail. The Danish foreign minister accompanies his sovereign, and, despite emphatic official denials, important political negotiations, it is said, will be afoot this week respecting Iceland and the Danish West Indies. However that may be, the ostensible object of the visit, as officially announced, is the investing of the visiting sovereign with the insignia of the Order of the Garter. At the state banquet on Saturday night King George proposed the health of King Christian, and referred to "my dear mother's landing in England more than fifty years ago." King Christian, in replying, referred to the bonds of intimate family relationship and of the close commercial intercourse and traditional friendship which united Great Britain and Denmark. This evening King George will conduct his visitors to the Royal Covent Garden Opera House, where there will be a state gala performance. The scene is expected to be most brilliant. The royal box is to be decorated with orchids and carnations, and the audience is expected to be as brilliant as at the coronation opera gala, a marvellous display of diamonds is anticipated. On Wednesday their Majesties drive in state through the city to the Guildhall, in order that King Christian may be invested with the freedom of the city of London and be entertained to dinner. A state banquet and a state ball at Buckingham Palace—this ball being the first of the season—are also to be crowded into the few days of the state visit.

Auto Turned Over in Road

Mrs. J. W. Porter of This City Had Left Arm Broken. An automobile containing Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Porter, Wesley Porter and Dr. Faskin of Paris, figured in a nasty accident yesterday at Glenmorris, in which Mrs. Porter sustained a broken arm and a very severe shaking up, and Wesley Porter received a severe cut across the forehead. Mrs. Porter and Wesley Porter were brought to Brantford on the 2.20 car and their injuries attended to. The car was going at a moderate rate of speed near Glenmorris when something went wrong, presumably the steering gear, and the auto suddenly pitched sideways, turning turtle, and throwing the occupants out. The steering gear was afterwards found in a bent condition. Considering the nature of the accident, the occupants had a narrow escape from much more serious injury. Mrs. Porter is reported to be resting easily to-day, although considerably upset from shock. Mrs. Porter's left arm was broken between the shoulder and the left arm.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., May 11.—Dr. Roy Riddell, V.S., of the village of Norwich, was placed on trial here this morning in the judge's criminal court before acting Judge Wallace, on the charge of performing an illegal operation upon his wife. A plea of not guilty was entered by the accused and it was expected that the case will not be concluded before to-night or to-morrow. The principal witness heard this morning was Mrs. Riddell, wife of the prisoner, who gave evidence against her husband. Mr. T. C. Robinson of Toronto, is appearing for Riddell and R. N. Brantford Girl Married Indian Married Indian. [By Special Wire to The Courier] HAMILTON, May 11.—Robert Curley, an Indian doctor, well known throughout Western Ontario, was committed for trial on a bigamy charge here to-day. A Brantford woman swore he married her ten years ago. Emily Parsons, a pretty blonde, aged 19, said she was wedded recently to the doctor here. She told the magistrate that Curley informed her he had been married before, but that an Indian was permitted to marry twice.

DEMOCRACY HAS NO ROOM FOR ROYALTY

The Ottawa Citizen Expresses Itsself on Teck's Appointment as Governor-General.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] OTTAWA, Ont., May 11.—The Citizen to-day says editorially: The protest of Hon. Mr. Emmerson against the appointment of Prince Alexander of Teck as Governor-General of the Dominion, is symptomatic of the growth of democratic spirit in this country. Mr. Emmerson rightly takes no objection to the personality of the proposed governor, and is careful to pay due and deserved respect to the distinguished occupant of the position at the present time. Nevertheless, his view of the matter is one which must commend itself to many. This is a country where hereditary, or any titles must appear incongruous and utterly out of harmony with the aspirations of those who are working to build up a nation free from the meaningless and artificial distinctions implied by the bestowal of or assumption of nomenclature synonymous with the claims of an inherited superiority. "Canada cannot afford to lend itself to the cashing in of an anachronism so completely at variance with the national character. Our form of government is essentially democratic and under the operation of that form the erection, even in an unofficial way of a social standard, non-indigenous and exclusive, must have an unwelcome effect on our national life. "We are creating our own future in Canada. If democracy means anything, it means the privilege of acting for ourselves and our country as we deem best. FULL POWER TO ADJUDICATE FOR PEACE

South American and Huerta's Envoys Will Soon be at the Falls.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] VERA CRUZ, May 11.—Emilio Rabasa, Augustin Rodriguez, and Luis Elguero, the three peace commissioners appointed by President Huerta, to represent him at the Niagara Falls conference, who will sail late to-day for Havana en route to Keywest, are clothed with full powers, nominally at least, to sign any agreement or convention. The Mexican Senate in a resolution approving President Huerta's nominations of the three commissioners conferred "full power and ample authority" to judge, counsel, carry on business and sign any agreement or treaty whatever. Many prominent Mexicans, however, are not inclined to regard this broad authority as real. Others believe that Huerta has instructed the commissioners to place no insurmountable objects to an amicable adjustment of the difficulties with the United States, believing that the failure of the negotiations might result in pushing American intervention which would not unite factions, but force Huerta to fight alone. It is the general opinion here that Huerta entertains no fear of an advance of the American forces until after the South American diplomats have concluded their work. This theory is supported by reports brought by Americans arriving from Mexico City who say that General Maas is evidently only holding out posts for observation and that he is not concentrating or entrenching his force to resist an advance. The weather for the occasion could not have been better. The sky was almost cloudless, and there was just enough breeze to stiffen, aloft and ashore the thousands of flags which flew at halfmast. Silent thousands long before 8 o'clock began making their way toward lower Manhattan, where the procession was to begin. Briefly, still others lined the approaches to the Manhattan bridge, and finally a great throng gathered at the navy yard where eulogies were to be said. Many wore little bows of black, while others wore a band of black upon their sleeves.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] NEW YORK, May 11.—The dead from Vera Cruz were landed on American soil to-day and city, state and nation paid their tribute. Two hours before the city was astir, seventeen flag-draped coffins were removed from the boat deck of the armored cruiser Montana and placed on caissons on the plaza in Battery Park. Few witnessed this ceremony, for the sun was but half risen, but thousands later lined the streets to watch the slow procession which led to the navy yard. Perhaps not since the Dewey parade has there been such a spontaneous demonstration. That, however, was a noisy tribute to a returning victor; this a reverent one to the returning dead. CANADA GLUE WORKS GUTTED BY FLAMES

Disastrous Fire of Unknown Origin Broke Out Saturday Night—Seventy Men Are Thrown Out of Employment—$125,000 Loss.

Fire Saturday night wiped out temporarily at least, one of Brantford's busiest industries and caused to be thrown out of work seventy employees. About half past eight o'clock the night watchman at the Canada Glue Company's plant, situated between the canal and the river, just below Mohawk Lake, discovered a smart blaze in the downstairs part of the main building. He had been on his round of inspection a few minutes previous and had not noticed any sign of fire. Three employees were at the factory at the time, and they immediately put into commission the company's private hose line. The fire, however, soon got beyond control and it was seen early that the building was doomed. Not only that but what means which were effective in fighting the blaze, were put out of commission by the fire itself. The employees had to let the water out of the boilers which supplied the steam for the pumps, while the wires leading to the electrical pumps were cut, and these latter pumps were of no use in the emergency. All that remained after the fire got a good start was to stand back and let the building burn. No help could be rendered from the city.

Fortunately the stiff wind which was blowing, was in the right direction to prevent any of the outer buildings catching on fire, although for a time it was feared that the boiler house, the vat house, a long small building right near the main factory, and the storage house where a big quantity of gasoline is kept, would all become ignited, the heat being terrific. The sparks and the debris were carried by the wind, however, in the other direction, and the blaze thus confined itself to the one big building. The factory was a two story building of cement walls and interior wood construction. Downstairs was the main manufacturing process, while upstairs was used as a drying room. The origin of the fire is a complete mystery. Chief Lewis was appealed to, and sent four men down who assisted as well as they could. The Chief later went down, but soon saw that no effective means could be taken to prevent the loss. A city fire engine was the only way of fighting such a fire, as water would have been available both from the canal and from the river. The damage was estimated by the manager, Mr. Paul Kreisman, at $125,000. A very heavy stock was carried. Of the big building to-day there is standing only part of the four cement walls, and these are in danger of falling. Inside is a charred and twisted mass of iron and junk. All day Sunday, the fire kept smouldering away, and attracted to the scene were hundreds of people from all parts of the city. Of the seventy men thrown out of work, the majority are said to be foreigners. It is expected that the company will proceed with re-building immediately, although Manager Kreisman could not announce this definitely until a meeting of the board of directors had decided thereon. Mr. Lloyd Harris is the president of the company, and it is said that the factory business was in satisfactory shape, all things considered, and the company was making progress. The blaze proved a very spectacular one, and many in the city thought it was the Mohawk Institute building. The fire was visible for many miles around, and the fire department was besieged with enquiries up to a late hour. Insurance is carried to the extent of $1,600,000, the brokerage firms of J. S. Dowling and Company and K. W. Bunnell and Company both being interested.

Sunday Morning Blaze

The house of Louis Stander, situated at 20 Main street, and occupied by foreigners, had a hole burned through the roof on Sunday morning. One hose wagon from the central hall responded, and with the assistance of the inmates succeeded in extinguishing the blaze with a few pails of water. The loss will be slight.

JURY IS COMPLETE EARTHQUAKE DID ITS WORK COMPLETELY

Attorney Whitman Reiterates That Lieut. Becker Planned Assassination. [By Special Wire to The Courier] NEW YORK, May 11.—A jury to try Charles Becker, former lieutenant of police, charged with instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was again completed to-day. Frederick A. Strock, a bookkeeper, and Frederic C. Barrett, a consulting engineer, were the men chosen to-day to take the place of men who were excused on Saturday. It was just at noon when the twelfth juror was selected and District Attorney Whitman immediately began his opening presentation of the state's case to the jury. Mr. Whitman in his address, made no mention of the execution of the death sentence on the four gunmen, and in no way suggested that the prosecution had any new evidence to present. It is understood that whatever new evidence he does introduce will be held as a surprise. His speech on the whole was without bitterness and as chiefly a review of the events leading up to and following the murder. Particularly the prosecutor emphasized Becker's alleged motive for seeking Rosenthal's death, the fear that the gambler would expose him as a partner in his gambling establishment. "The state will show that this assassination was planned by the defendant to halt the arm of the law in the uncovering of criminal conditions in this city," said Mr. Whitman. KILLED THREE BOYS. OCILLA, Ga., May 11.—Charged with killing three other youths with a shot gun, Preston Williams, 16, is in jail here to-day. The victims were Elbert and Robert Gay, brothers, and Jesse Sumner, all members of prominent families. The three boys were killed yesterday as they drove away from the Williams home near here. Testimony given at a coroner's inquest to-day tended to show that the Williams youth resented remarks that the other youths made about a member of his family.

Thousands Are Now Homeless, and Over 150 Are Reported Dead in Sicily.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] CATANIA, May 11.—Army, navy and civilian authorities continued to-day their efforts to relieve the distress of the thousands of Sicilians deprived of their homes and property by the earthquake which destroyed a dozen villages and caused the death or injury of hundreds of persons during the night of May 8. Many of the peasants afflicted by the catastrophe are migrating from the district taking with them all they could recover of their personal effects and leading their farm animals with them. Others for the present refuse to move from the scene until they know the fate of their missing relatives. The injured found among the debris of the ruined houses have been carried to the nearest hospitals after treatment by the Red Cross surgeons. The village priests are untiring in their efforts to console the stricken people, many of whom form processions to neighboring shrines. The official returns of the dead give the number at about 150, but it is believed many more are still buried in the heaps of debris. The injured total many hundreds and from time to time the number is added to by the finding beneath the ruins of others who were unable to extricate themselves owing to fractured limbs.

DEATH OF NORDICA RECALLS PRETTY BRANTFORD ROMANCE

Famous Singer Received Offer of Marriage While Here. It Made Her Happy and She Sang Gloriously.

BATAVIA, Java, May 11.—Mme. Lillian Nordica, the singer, died here last night.

Mme. Nordica had been ill since the steamer Tasman, on which she was a passenger, went ashore on Bramble Bay, in the Gulf of Papua, December 28 last. Nervous prostration, due to her experience, was followed by pneumonia.

A Romance in Which Brantford Figured.

The regretted demise of the great singer calls to mind a pretty romance which was "staged" in Brantford.

Madame Nordica paid a visit to Brantford in the spring of 1909. She came here with her private Secretary and maid some two or three days before the recital, making the Kerby House her headquarters. The day before the concert, the writer received a telegram from the New York Times whose representative he is in Western Ontario, asking him to interview the prima donna and ask her for a confirmation of the rumor then current in New York that she was about to marry Mr. G. W. Young of New York. Madame Nordica and her secretary, when interviewed, positively denied the story.

On the night of the recital at the Grand Opera House, an urgent New York telegram was handed in at the box office of the theatre at 8.30. The messenger stated he had positive instructions to wait for an immediate answer. The writer reluctantly went back to the stage and presented the telegram to Madame Nordica, who was just leaving the hands of her maid to go on for her opening number. The prima donna was very much annoyed at the interruption, but opening the telegram, her whole demeanour instantly changed and she was "graciously personified." Blushing like a young girl, she dictated the following telegram to Mr. Young, from whom the rush wire had been received:

"Your telegram received just as I am going on for my opening number. You have made me supremely pleased and happy."

"DEBS."

"Debs" it might be explained was the pet name of the Prima Donna. Brantfordites who attended the recital here, will remember the charming manner in which Madame Nordica contrived to her usual custom, responded to encore after encore. She was in glorious voice and humor and that memorable evening and gave generously of her wonderful gifts. The prima donna never sang better than on the occasion of her Brantford appearance and that "rush" telegram had everything to do with it, as previous to that she had manifested a good deal of irritability and complaint of feeling anything like up to "concert pitch."

The following June Madame Nordica was married in London to Mr. Young, whose wedding gift to his celebrated bride was a million dollar summer home. Their married life, which had its fraction in Brantford, was a particularly happy one. The tour which has just ended so fatally, was to have been Madame Nordica's last. Her death removes possibly the greatest operatic singer of this continent.

Nuptial Notes

CARTER-BOTWRIGHT.

The marriage took place in this city on Saturday of Ethel May Botwright, to Lewis Marshall Carter both of this city. Rev. A. Sims of the Free Methodist church, Toronto, conducted the ceremony.

WILKINSON-SPURR.

A very pretty but quite wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon when Miss Emily Spurr was united in marriage to Mr. Asa Wilkinson, both of this city. Rev. Mathew Kelly of the Congregational Church, conducted the ceremony.

JEWKES-ASHDOWN.

At the parsonage of the Alexandra Presbyterian church on Saturday, May 9th, the Rev. Mr. McClintock united in marriage, Miss Lila May Ashdown, to Mr. Harry Jewkes both of this city. After the ceremony the bride and groom received a number of guests at their residence No. 6 Washington street, where a happy time was spent and an inviting lunch was served. The bride who was daintily gowned looked radiantly happy amid the friends who were heartily showering their congratulations and best wishes upon the recently wedded pair.

Monday Coincidence

Mrs. Winchester, the wife of a Worthing councillor, who died on Monday, was born on a Monday, christened on a Monday, and married on a Monday, and her maiden name was Munday.

SUNDAY IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES

Inspiring Services Throughout City—Helpful Sermons.

FIRST BAPTIST.

Mother's Day at the First Baptist church was fittingly observed yesterday. The pastor preached at both services and the attendance at all was excellent. In the afternoon the attendance in the Sunday school rose to the highest point in the history of the church when 526 were present. Two officers of the school, Mr. Fred Chadcraft the superintendent, and Mr. John Widdup, the assistant, presented a beautiful fresh rose to every present in loving memory of their mothers who were long and faithful members of the church. Mr. George L. Goodwin spoke on "Our Mothers" in a way that impressed old and young alike. His words will not soon be forgotten. The Primary Department under the leadership of Miss Annie Win-ter, Miss Hope Elliott and Miss Lot-tie Large took part in the exercises with a song and recitation which was much appreciated. The Sunday school was never so bright with promise as it is to-day.

In the morning the pastor spoke on "The Home Maker," from Isaiah 66: 13: "As one whom a mother comforteth, so will I comfort you." The supreme importance of home in the life of the nation was emphasized and some of the dangers that beset us to-day were also pointed out. In the evening the subject was "Saved by a Mother's love or for Mother's sake." The audience completely filled the church and a splendid service was enjoyed. The hymns were heartily sung and the music by the choir, by Miss Hutchinson and the Misses Phipps were all in keeping with the spirit of the day and greatly added to the service. During the offering Mr. Wright played "Home Sweet Home" with transcription by Flager, with beautiful effect. One mother was baptized at the close of the sermon, forming a fitting climax to the services of the day. Mother's Day 1914, will go down as one of the Red Letter days in the history of the church. Go to Church Sunday will be observed on Sunday, June 7th.

AT SYDENHAM STREET.

At Sydenham St. Methodist church yesterday, Mother's Day was fittingly observed. In the morning Rev. Mr. Holing of Colborne St. church, spoke entertainingly and instructively to the boys and girls of the Sabbath school. He took for his theme, Ten Light-Houses (Ten Commandments), taking the children on an imaginary voyage and drawing some very apt and impressive lessons. In the evening the pastor, Rev. A. I. Snyder, spoke especially to mothers. At the Sunday school in the afternoon, an open session was held. Mrs. James Isaac was the speaker for the occasion. Hazel Phillips gave an appropriate recitation, and the Misses Florence Gowman and Leone Taylor contributed a pleasing piano duet. The session was a pleasant one. At the brotherhood in the morning, Rev. Mr. Holing gave a forceful address to a good attendance of men.

Marlboro Street Ladies Aid Society

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Marlborough St. Methodist church was held on Wednesday afternoon when the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Anderson; First Vice-president, Mrs. W. Telford; second vice-president, Mrs. Green; third vice-president Mrs. Pettit; treasurer, Mrs. Symons; secretary, Mrs. Sovereign; executive, Mrs. Henrich, Mrs. Cowell, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Easterbrook; social committee, Mrs. Hausier, Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Dinsmore; collectors, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Housier, Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Easterbrook, Mrs. Felton, Mrs. Wright, Miss Bateman, Mrs. Sisson. During the six months that this society has been organized considerable work has been done they have at present on the roll 84 members and have raised the magnificent sum of $226.58.

Old Home Week

A number of designs for badges for the various Old Home Week committees have been received and will be considered at the next meeting of the executive.

Secretary F. S. Blain to-day received a lengthy communication from the secretary of the Trans-Continental Passenger Association in which rates were quoted for the week. He also stated that at the time of the year when the celebration is being held special excursion rates may be had which are good for a month. By taking advantage of these rates visitors from a distance will be enabled to spend a month in the city.

The Finance committee are busy this week completing their canvass of the city amongst the Manufacturers and merchants and hope to have the entire field covered by next meeting of the executive. The canvassers are meeting with splendid success, everyone seeming to enter into the spirit of the work with a hearty good will.

Two of the subcommittees of the Fraternal committee will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings, and the executive will in all probability meet on Friday night.

A new national park of 95 square miles in the railway belt of British Columbia, bordering on the Illinois-Columbia river, has been established by order in council.

WAS A PIONEER AT ALEXANDRA

The Funeral of Late Albert Chatterton Held at Toronto on Saturday.

Alexandra Presbyterian Church yesterday celebrated its anniversary, when Rev. A. H. McGillivray M.A., of Hamilton conducted both the morning and evening services in a very helpful and inspiring manner. Mr. Harold Jarvis, the well known baritone of Detroit, assisted with the music at both services, singing three solos at morning service and another three in the evening. At the latter service he sang with exceptional expression and feeling "Crossing the Bar," "Hold Thou My Hand" and "He Lifted Me." Mr. Jarvis fairly captivated the large congregation which filled the church to overflowing. Never was he heard to better advantage and a record crowd is promised to hear him at the anniversary entertainment to-night.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. McGillivray took his text from 1st. Corinthians, 3, 21-22: "Therefore let no man glory in them. For all things are yours. Whether Paul or Apollus or Cephas or the world or life, or death

At The Y. W. C. A.

The "I Will Trust Club" got a glimpse into the underside of Indian life when Miss Margaret Patterson of Toronto, gave them an eloquent address on Saturday. She spoke of her work as a medical missionary among the women and children of native people. She passed through the pangs of cholera which struck down thousands of natives and could tell of many remarkable experiences, and when the speaker grew reminiscent, she presented to her audience a realistic picture of the conditions which exist in the land of the Ganges. Her address was one of the best the club has listened to.

Mrs. Scarlet gave an admirable song which was much appreciated and concluded the meeting.

Scout Guards at Wedding

Boy Scouts of the district formed a guard of honor on Monday at the wedding of Miss Agatha Mary Leonard-Jaques, at Easley Church, near Richmond, to Lieut. Cecil Stuart Goldingham, R.M.L.I., H.M.S., London.

& CO'Y.

Things present, things to come, all are yours.

The minister went on to say in his sermon that a man's life is like a tree which becomes hardened by the weather and with each storm, take hold with a firmer grip of the soil. So it is with the life of men; every trial which comes upon them are all for the benefit of giving us a better hold on life and should all make better men out of us.

He also went on to point out that childhood is the battle ground for workshop of life. Sunday School teachers, day school teachers and parents are all factors in the bringing up of the young and with them lies the future of our nation. They are the ones who have the say as to whether the child will amount to anything or not and it is up to them to make them good men and women.

People speak of the "stumbling blocks" in life. In reality these stepping stones to the higher and better life. We all have obstacles to overcome, but once they are mastered successfully, we have accomplished a good act towards our betterment.

In closing, Rev. Mr. McGillivray pointed out that we should make our lives tributary, throwing out from them better influences and stronger examples of the higher manhood. "Throw out the bad influences and overcome evil with good" concluded the minister.

A MEMORABLE VISIT.

The visit of the Governor-General and his daughter is a thing of the past, but not so the good impression created. Homage of the sort is, of course, a recognition of the rank held, just as it is in the case of the President of a Republic. In addition, members of the British royal family, ever since the commencement of the Victorian era, have, by their own conduct and devotion to the many services devolving upon them, earned the unfeigned personal regard of the people of the Empire at large. They are most carefully trained in the matter of their high responsibilities, and the fact is from early youth impressed that a religious and clean domestic life constitutes the very foundations of the State. Moreover, their self-sacrificing earnestness on behalf of public duties is well known the world over.

John Bull's monarchical system, as it obtains at present, is likely to enjoy a continued existence. Under it those who owe allegiance to the Union Jack enjoy the greatest freedom in the world. The monarch for the time being does not begin to exercise the personal autocracy of the Czar of Russia, the Emperor of Germany, or even the President of the United States. The latter, for example, personally selects and recommends his Ministers to Congress; in the Old Land the Premier makes the selections and recommends to the King, or the Queen, as the case may be. Other like illustrations might be given of the manner in which occupants of the throne act on the advice of responsible Ministers, instead of suggesting to them. A like thing is true of the Governors-General of the Overseas Dominions in connection with their positions. The method followed by our neighbors suits them, and it is their own business. That followed by those of British allegiance is equally pleasing to themselves, and King George and H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught are shining examples of the excellence of the system, just as the late Queen Victoria and the late King Edward also proved themselves.

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW.

Toronto Saturday Night is a thoroughly independent paper, and very keen in its financial criticisms. This publication says in part regarding the Borden Government deal with the Canadian Northern Railway:

"The Federal Government seems to have solved the extremely delicate problems involved in the application of the Canadian Northern Railroad for further aid in the shape of a loan of $45,000,000 in a satisfactory manner. The wisdom or unwisdom involved in the original project of a third transcontinental railroad is not the point at issue. Once embarked upon, with the millions of many European bondholders involved, the Canadian Government was obliged to take measures which would insure the completion of the enterprise. Otherwise Canadian credit abroad would have received a blow from which it would not have recovered for half a century. The unthinking voter may look upon the loan as 'another bit of graft for Mackenzie & Mann.' Undoubtedly such a sentiment has been abroad, and has rendered difficult the Government's task of dealing with the larger issues involved. Again there are those who see in the predicament in which the builders of the railroad have become involved a favorable opportunity for taking possession of it and converting it outright into a Government property. Whatever the merits of public ownership, there is no doubt that this course would have been regarded as consignment by the European investor, and since Canada is dependent on European capital for its future development, the objections to such a policy must be patent to all. The course of past administrations led the foreign bondholder to regard the Canadian Northern Railroad as the favored child of the Canadian Government, and the present administration could not abandon it in a half-grown condition.

"In making provision for the completion of the road, however, the Government is thus substantially upholding Canada's credit abroad, which was more important than the interests of any individual or group of individuals. The Government seems to have imposed so many restrictions that by no twisting of the facts can the loan be regarded as 'another bit of graft for Mackenzie & Mann.' The advance of cash is clearly not a gift, but a well-secured loan. And following the policy of a wise banker, the Government intends to see to it that the borrowers expend the money for the purposes defined in the application."

Fond of Cramer.

The death has occurred at Cramer of Mr. Joseph Salmon, who during his long life of eighty-one years had not spent a whole week out of the town. Sir Edward Grey's Father-in-Law. The golden wedding of Major Shallock Fitzherbert Widdington, father-in-law of Sir Edward Grey, was celebrated on Monday.

Conservative Association of the South Riding of Brant

A meeting of the Conservatives of the South Riding of Brant will be held at Conservative headquarters, corner of Dalhousie and King Streets, in the City of Brantford, in the County of Brant, on Thursday, May 21st, 1914, at 8 p.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Provincial Legislature of the Province of Ontario.

All Conservatives invited. Only those will be entitled to vote who are duly elected delegates.

LOVERS.

When we see a youth and maiden through a flood of moonlight wading, as they vow a love eternal, how with them we sympathize! And we wish them countless blessings, with no end to their caressings, hoping they may ever travel under sunny, cloudless skies, Love is for the young and blooming, and they'll always find us booming wedding rings and orange blossoms, and the shower of shoes and rice, every youth should haste and marry, he should never halt or tarry, he should gather in a dais on the day he has the price. Oh, the whole world loves the lovers (as the blushing maid discovers) and the universe is hoping they may never know the dumps; but when patriarch and widdy get to acting gay and giddy, then the cold world merely sniggers and refers to them as chumps. Do you loving in your June time, in your mad and mellow moon time, ere the winter of existence brings the shadow and the cold; for there's naught on earth that's sadder than to see an ancient gadder totting round a shelf-vorn widow, courting like a ten-year-old.

WALT MASON.

AN UNSOLICITED TRIBUTE.
130 Northumberland Street,
Brantford, May 6th, 1914.
The Governors, Brantford General Hospital, City:

Gentlemen,—I notice by to-night's paper the report of your recent meeting, and some reference with regard to treatment of patients.

My wife was recently a patient in your institution and during her stay there, she received every possible care and attention both from the nurses, the resident physician, and the matron.

Every possible consideration and kindness that could be shown her by the staff generally was bestowed on her, and I simply wish to express to you my appreciation of the work which is being so nobly accomplished by Miss Carson and her staff.

Too often one is inclined to accept these things as a matter of course without showing their appreciation. This is unsolicited in any way, and may be made use of in any way you deem expedient.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN HODGE.

(It should be remembered that the present unsettled conditions at the hospital on account of building operations, and the congested state of the present quarters, make efficient service all the more meritorious.—Ed. Courier.)

Birthdays of Note MONDAY, MAY ELEVENTH

To-day the Hon. Charles Joseph Doherty, Minister of Justice, celebrates his fifty-ninth birthday. Born in Montreal, he has spent most of his life in that city, being successively a lawyer and a judge of the Supreme Court of Quebec.

He entered the House of Commons in 1908 and at once took his place as one of the leaders of the Conservative party. When he was sworn in as a member of the Privy Council in 1911 an amusing incident occurred. His new duties required his residence in Ottawa but not wishing to move his family from Montreal he determined to secure an apartment in Ottawa for himself. He went in the evening to a large apartment house and inquired for rooms. The janitor informed him that a suitable suite had just been vacated and Mr. Doherty might take immediate possession. He was shown into the rooms and was just on the point of saying that he would do, when a sound as of some one breathing heavily came from one of the chambers. On investigation, he found the Hon. Mr. Fielding asleep inside, he having been the previous occupant of the apartments. "Leave him alone," said Mr. Doherty to the janitor. "I suppose it's bad enough to have turned him out of office without driving him out of his home as well."

The death has occurred at Cramer of Mr. Joseph Salmon, who during his long life of eighty-one years had not spent a whole week out of the town. Sir Edward Grey's Father-in-Law. The golden wedding of Major Shallock Fitzherbert Widdington, father-in-law of Sir Edward Grey, was celebrated on Monday.

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS

a movement was visible; each stood like immovability.

Stopping here and there in his round he exchanged a few words of greeting and pleasure to the numerous old soldiers wearing medals. Among those so singled by Royal distinction were:

Corp. J. Frost, late 1st Northampton Regiment (Burma and S.A. Medals).

Pte. Geo. Rose, late 1st Middlesex Regiment (Duchess, S. A. Medal), (Punjab Campaign medal).

Pte. C. Clarke, late 1st West Kents, (Punjab Campaign medal).

Pte. Blanchard, late 1st E. Ken. Regiment (Punjab and S.A. decorations).

Pte. Hulm, late Army Service corps, (S.A. King and Queen decorations).

Pte. L. Foyle, late Sergeant (Duke of Edinburgh's), Wiltshire Regiment, (S.A. King and Queen decorations).

Pte. Keighly, late corporal 1st Cheshire Regiment (S.A. King and Queen decorations).

Pte. A. Whelsh, late Royal West Kent Regiment (S. A. King and Queen decorations).

Pte. T. Wild, late 3rd Duke of Wellingtons, (S. A. 1899 Queen's medal).

Many other ex-service men were in the parade and the Duke quickly conveyed by his appreciative manner in looking at them his knowledge of the fact.

Address and Reply.

The way was then taken into the station building where Mayor Spence read the civic address of welcome as already published.

His Royal Highness read the following reply:

Your Worship, Ladies and Gentlemen:—

"I must thank you very heartily, on behalf of my daughter and myself for your address of welcome."

You, Mr. Mayor, referred to the fact that the last time I was in your city was during the illness of the Duchess. I will remember the feeling allusions made to me on that occasion and I am thankful to be able to inform you that the Duchess' health has greatly improved during the last six months and I hope that she will shortly be completely restored, thanks in a great measure to the fine air of our Canadian home.

The fact that nearly forty-five years ago I paid a visit to what was then the small town of Brantford, enables me to realize the vast amount of energy and effort that must have been expended in order to transform what was little more than a village, into your present flourishing and important city.

I know too, that you are not content with mere development, but that you pride yourself particularly on the high quality of your products. This to my mind is a most important consideration and one that is too often lost sight of.

Brantford is celebrated for its schools, and Brantford is right for I feel certain that one of the most important fields for activity in Canada is in the domain of sound education. In a rapidly growing community like that of the Dominion, the question of the rising generation should never be out of our thoughts.

Ladies and Gentlemen, while thanking you once more for your reception I must express to you the great pleasure it is to me to be amongst you to-day and to be able to have this opportunity of seeing your City, where present industry and past triumphs are so happily blended."

A number were introduced and received with a hearty handshake and kind words. This over, automobiles were entered.

First auto—The Duke, Princess, Capt. Graham, Mayor Spence.

Second auto—Mrs. Katherine Villiers, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cockshutt, Col. Farquhar.

Third auto—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fisher, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. Brewster, A. F. Sladen.

Fourth auto—W. S. Brewster, M.P.P., Judge Hardy, J. H. Westbrook, M. P.P., Reg. Scarfe.

Fifth—Ald. Hollinrake; Ald. Calbeck, Ald. Broadbent, John Muir, W. K. Turnbull.

Sixth—Ald. Pitcher, Ald. Charlton, A. K. Bunnell, T. H. Preston, F. D. Schultz.

Seventh—Col. Howard, Col. Ashton H. Cockshutt, Col. Muir, Major Smith Eighth—Col. Ward, Ald. Ham, Ald. Ryerson, Geo. Moore.

Ninth—Ald. Sigman, Ald. Wood, Ald. Quinnlan, Ald. English.

Tenth—J. M. O'Donnohue, Ald. Bragg, Ald. Sutch, Ald. Woolams, F. J. Reville.

Eleventh—H. F. Leonard, Wm. Lahey, T. M. Ion, Ald. Robinson.

Twelfth—W. Milmine, W. Lahey, R. H. Reville, Major Jones.

The way, amid dense throngs and many decorations, was down Market Street and was just on the point of turning in at the lower end of Colborne, past the memorial to Brantford's South African heroes. Thence across Lorne Bridge (named after the late Duke of Argyll) to Agricultural Park, where the baseball game was in progress. The driveway was circled and the party halted for a few minutes before proceeding to the Bell Homestead on Tutela Heights. En route next to the Farringdon Church, the children of the Laycock Home were assembled under decorated pines. They waved miniature union jacks and cheered and sang the "Maple Leaf" as the machines passed.

At Bell Homestead. At this point the party were received by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cockshutt and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gould, both gentlemen, as members of the Parks Board and little Marsden Gould presented the Princess with a purple and white bouquet of wild flowers for which he was sweetly thanked. The visitors took great interest in the place as the home of one of the most famous of world inventions and signed the register.

At Mohawk. For the next point the way was along Tutela Heights to His Majesty's Royal Chapel of the Mohawks. The pupils were assembled outside the gate and there was a large crowd on hand of residents of the neighborhood. Major Ashton received, and exhibited the Queen Anne plate and Bible. In the latter Princess Patricia affixed her signature. The Duke did not do so, as he has twice before signed. It may be of interest to know that the volume now contains these distinguished signatures:—

Royalty—"Albert Edward" (late King) Sept. 14th, 1860; "Arthur" (Duke of Connaught) Oct. 1st, 1869; "George" (now King) Oct. 14, 1901; "Victoria May" (now Queen) Oct. 14, 1901; "Arthur" Feb. 15th, 1913; "Patricia" May 9th, 1914.

Others—"John Young" Governor-General, Oct. 1st, 1869; "Dufferin" (Earl) Governor General, Aug. 25, 1874; "John A. Macdonald", Premier, not dated; "J. Beverly Robertson", Lieut. Governor of Ontario, Oct. 10, 1883, "Landsdowne" (Earl) Governor General, Aug. 10, 1885; "Stanley of Preston" (Lord) Jan. 14, 1893; "Minto" (Earl) Governor General, May 14, 1903; "Grey" (Earl) Governor-General, May 25th, 1905.

From the Mohawk a course was taken through the factory district over the Market Street bridge, along Colborne street and up Brant Avenue to the Golf Club. The procession passed through the grounds of the School for the Blind, where all the pupils were marshalled outside, and waved flags and cheered. By this time most of the participants realized that dust sent back from an auto in which Royalty is seated, and then passed on by other autos is just the same old dusty dust. Tennyson's Miller's Daughter would have taken most of the participants for her dad.

At Links. The club house had been most tastefully decorated with bunting and flags. White Marguerites, pink carnations, and maiden hair fern were in abundance and the balcony was banked with ferns, palms and marguerites. From the centre there was suspended a portrait of the late Queen Victoria.

draped with the Union Jack. Mr. Fitzroy (President) welcomed the Royal visitors and introduced them to Mrs. Yates, Lady President, Mr. N. D. Neill, Captain and a number of others. Master Rushton Yates presented the Princess with a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley and great appreciation was expressed. Most dainty refreshments were served and after a pleasant social time the visitors returned to the station. Here another large crowd was in waiting. More handshakes, and the train was again boarded. The guard of honor once more rendered the royal salute as the band played God Save the King. Standing with the Princess on the platform as the train steamed out, the Duke returned the salute and continuously bowed his acknowledgements. Before departure he said to Mayor Spence: "We have sincerely appreciated the kindness with which you have received us. The visit throughout has been most pleasant to myself and my daughter."

Mayor Spence did the honors throughout in a thoroughly capable manner, and Mr. Cockshutt, M.P., who came up from Ottawa a day earlier than usual, in order to give what assistance he could, expressed himself as delighted.

Before leaving, the Duke handed Mayor Spence a signed portrait of the Princess.

Mrs. Harry Cockshutt kindly loaned the exquisite china used by the royal party at the tea given at the golf links.

The Duke was quite interested in inspecting the meritorious medal worn by Chief Stenin, and given to him by King George.

Col. Muir, whose house is near the golf links, greeted the Royal party with a royal salute fired from beneath the flag pole in front of his residence as they passed by.

Princess Patricia particularly admired the beautiful views obtained both from the Bell Homestead and the Golf Club house windows and verandas. There are very few more artistic vistas in Ontario than these.

It was the intention at the golf links to entertain the royal party in a large marquee erected on the links near the first teeing ground, but the heavy wind in the afternoon blew the tent down, and the reception therefore took place in the club house.

The Royal party had dinner served in their dining car immediately after leaving Brantford. They spent the night in their special train, which was switched off the main line of the G. T. R. near Winona, proceeding onto Niagara Falls yesterday.

Miss Gilkison, who was among the guests on Saturday at the reception at the station, had the honor of dancing with the Duke of Connaught's brother, the late lamented King Edward, at the dance given to him in Hamilton in 1860, when he was Prince of Wales.

On arrival at the Falls on Sunday the Royal visitors made a trip round the gorge. In the afternoon they went to the U. S. side and the party mingling unknown among the crowd of tourists viewing the scenic beauties.

Major Leonard, City Clerk, is to be heartily congratulated on the successful manner in which all details of the reception were carried out. The visit entailed much thought and care, and the smoothness with which all arrangements were consummated reflects great credit on the city clerk.

The delay at the depot enabled a view of the throngs assembled and also of the crop of top hats. They were on hand, or more correctly speaking, on head, in every kind of shape, style and condition. Four were distinctly noticed, which it would be safe to wager were worn by Noah, Shem, Ham and Japheth, when they came out of the ark and at that had been handed down by some remote ancestors.

During the motor trip, Mayor Spence pointed out that the machine used by the Royal party, had been made in the Brantford Keeton factory. The Duke said he must heartily congratulate a local firm upon turning out such a vehicle. Among the points of interest pointed out, he especially admired the Collegiate Institute, telling his Worship that it was one of the finest buildings of the kind he had seen in all his travels.

His Royal Highness was quite interested in a silver medal shown to him by Mr. E. L. Gould, chairman of the Parks Board. The medal, which is a large one, was sent by King Edward to all the mayors of cities and towns visited by him as Prince of Wales in 1860. The medal was presented to Mayor Spence by Thomas Botham, Mayor of Brantford on that memorable occasion when he left the medal to Mr. Gould. The Duke stated on Saturday that there were very few of these medals known to be in existence, and they were becoming very valuable.

The royal party charmed everyone by their affability. At the station when the guard of honor was being inspected by the Duke, the Princess talked in a most unaffected manner to the Mayor and Mesdames Cockshutt, Fisher, Spence and Brewster. On departure of the Royal train at 7 o'clock after saying the official farewells in the station waiting room, the Duke walking down the carpeted way from the depot door to his car, saw three gentlemen among the crowd whom he had been introduced to previously at the station on his arrival. Stopping for a half minute he shook hands with all three and bade them a most courteously "good bye." Needless to say, these final farewells of the Duke and the charming manner in which they were said, will remain a pleasant memory with the trio. It was such a graceful and unexpected compliment.

Shall Wholesale Murder Continue in Mexico?

A THRILLING STORY OF REVOLUTION AND WAR

By FREDERICK STARR, of the University of Chicago

MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES: Tells not only what is known of the earliest inhabitants of the country, but it also gives a careful, most absorbing account of the course of government, and the conditions and modes of life of the people since the invasion and conquest of the Spaniards. It traces the development of railroads, commerce and progress, and the vital part which foreign capitalists and adventurers have played. It portrays the cruel rule of the Spanish viceroys, the terrors of slavery and peonage, and the oppression of the working people. It describes the winning of freedom in Mexico, the Texan revolution, the war with the United States, the French invasion, the empire of Maximilian, the rise of Diaz and the development of the peculiar complicated conditions that have resulted in the present situation.

It is in the revelation of Mexico's intolerable political and economic conditions that the book possesses one of its chief values. The story of the evils which exist in Mexico has never been adequately told. All previous attempts have been suppressed by powerful influences. Now, however, in this volume is given a complete description of the conditions which exist—a description which will arouse a nation and compel reformation.

To be fully informed on this very vital question one must read this book. Over 400 large octavo pages. Fine super paper. Over 100 great photographs, maps and portraits. Artistically bound in fine book cloth. $3.50 EDITION

The Story Hour subjects as chosen are on Tuesday "The Second Voyage of Simbad the Sailor" from the Arabian Nights, and on Thursday, "Piccola," a story by Norah Smith. Both stories will be given by Miss Middlemiss.

New Sidewalk Started
A new concrete sidewalk was started this morning on the west side of Charlotte street between Dalhousie and Wellington streets and Nelson and Sheridan. This walk will take the place of the old tar walks which have been there for many years.

Schools May Have Baseball
There is a lot of talk just now of a baseball league among the schools, and the outlook seems favorable to a healthy organization. The matter will be considered during the coming week, and it is probable that a young league will spring into existence.

ES: Tells not only what is going on, but it also gives a careful, intelligent, and the conditions and the progress, and the vital part of the story. It portrays the life of slavery and peonage, and the winning of freedom in the United States, the French Revolution, and the development of the present situation. The political and economic convulsions. The story of the evils of the world. All previous attempts at reform. Now, however, in this volume you will find a description of the present situation.

CANON TUCKER AT GRACE CHURCH

He Delivered a Very Impressive Sermon to Large Congregation on Sunday.

Special services consistent with Missionary Sunday were held in Grace church yesterday when appropriate hymns and anthems were rendered. The Rev. Canon Tucker of London, gave an eloquent sermon especially for the occasion, and he threw fresh light upon a subject of general interest, very highly regarded. His text was excellently chosen and was from the second chapter of Mark "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature therein."

During his discourse he said: "It was the special reason why he was with them. Some people had cast doubt upon the value of missionary work, regardless of the fact that it was reiterated no fewer than five times in the New Testament 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.'" It was the Master's command, and He had put particular emphasis on that phrase. There was also the duty of every loyal churchman to preach God's word. Loyalty to the Catholic cause ought to make all the more ready to spread the gospel to those that needed it. Then there was gratitude. We enjoyed every privilege of civilization, and should be grateful for this. We enjoyed the Word of the Bible, should we not be grateful enough to carry the gospel to the heathen. Service was the only thing worth while. Everyone should go into service. The missionary was the world's greatest teacher. He took with him the cult of civilization and gradually brought savages from their wild state to the light of modern civilization. We did great service. Was this a work to which we should subscribe or was it work in which we should say we did not believe. We, who live in the fairest land under the sun, is not it our bounden duty to do something for these poor savages before they pass beyond our reach. Growing reminiscence, the speaker, carried his hearers away with a beautiful description of a Western logging camp where 5,000 white men were at one time living for several years without seeing a clergyman. A young cleric had done a wonderful work among the natives, and he first regarded him as an object of curiosity. It was a great lesson. In China, India and Japan there were 800,000,000 souls without Christianity. Was it not a sin that such a state of things should exist. The Montegolian question was one of the most important of the day. In Central Africa, thousands of natives were living in their original state, clothed as we say in the atmosphere, 2,000 years after the creation of Christianity. Noble men had sacrificed in the task of giving the gospel to the masses, and many more had died in their attempts. Only forty years had elapsed since Livingstone and Stanley gave their lives to the work and yet Theodore Roosevelt during his tour through darkest Africa had attended a church service attended by 4,000 natives conducted by black men of the most dignified and earnest as any white man could have taken it. It must have been a great and wonderful sight.

Could any man who knew the facts stand up and say he did not believe in missionary work. He did not think so. Grace church had always taken a prominent place among the contributors to the good cause and he was confident that they would not fail to accomplish that which they had nobly done in the past. It was a cause worthy of the most generous support.

Baseball Champions
Victoria school have won the senior series of baseball games which have been played during the last two months. In the junior section, all games will be played off this week and the champions will be made known.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and nobody can tell. Brush It Through Hair.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantage of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally, and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Agent T. Geo. Bowles.

TRIBUTE PAID TO THE DEPARTED
Funeral of the Late Mrs. Hall on Friday Last Was Impressive.

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. H. Hall took place from the late residence, 138 William street, on Friday afternoon, and was largely attended by sympathizing friends and relatives. The pall bearers were Messrs. H. Howie, Sr., Geo. Adams, C. J. Parker, Dr. Stanley, J. Ruddy and T. F. Simpson. Interment took place at Greenwood cemetery. Very impressive were the services conducted by Rev. C. W. Rose, who paid the following tribute to the deceased:

For over thirty years Mrs. Hall was a member of Park Baptist church of this city. Her religion was always a matter of her deepest nature. She was a lover of God's word. During her long and trying illness she found its promises precious. Her experience of extreme weariness as the result of her continued physical distress made especially precious the words of Jesus, "Come unto Me all ye that are weary, and I will give you rest." "In My Father's house are many mansions, if it were not so I would have told you, I go to prepare a place for you." Hers was an unobtrusive goodness which did not advertise itself or cry aloud in the streets. Her home was her throne, and there her influence for good was strong and constant. Her love and devotion to husband and sons will forever remain in their memory and be a power for good. She is now, after three years of increasing weariness and weakness, at last released from the limitations of time and at home in the Father's house.

For her comfort every effort possible was made. It was God's will that she be received into glory. "The Lord gave and the Lord hath received, blessed be the name of the Lord." For her there has come something better than life, the gain Paul spoke of in his letter, Phil. 1: 21-23, where he says "To die is gain" to depart and be with Christ is far better. Death is gain for those who met Christ earlier in the experience of regeneration, for those who having received the new life, live it daily

Flower Thieves Busy

Flower thieves were at work Saturday night at a late hour on Brant Avenue. A number of tulip beds in the neighborhood of the Collegiate Institute grounds suffered heavily from the ravages of the property destroyers. Now that the tulips are at their best some persons have evidenced his delight in destroying the beauty of a place by breaking down the plants and taking some of the flowers. This is a practice which breaks out every year, and the police department should take some means of putting a stop to it.

City News Items

THE PROBS

TORONTO, May 11—A marked cool wave now covers the western provinces and the upper lake region, while a disturbance is situated in the Missouri valley. Fair weather prevails generally except that a few scattered showers have occurred from Ontario to the Maritime provinces.

FORECASTS.

Fresh to strong northwest and east winds, cloudy and cool, showers chiefly to-night and on Tuesday.

No Game To-day.

Wet grounds prevented the Red Sox and the Toronto Beavers from playing, the first game of the series, at Agricultural Park this afternoon.

Lay Corner Stone.

The corner stone of the new Elm Avenue Methodist church, Echo Place, will be laid next Saturday afternoon by Rev. C. L. McIrvine, President of the Hamilton conference.

Was Making Sure.

Mr. H. Doughty of Vancouver, telegraphed an application to the city clerk this morning for the position of general manager of the street railway. He was evidently of the opinion that his application would be too late if sent by mail.

An At Home.

On Thursday evening last a pleasant time was spent at the residence of Mr and Mrs J. W. Robinson, 158 Oxford street. An invitation had been given to the Oxford Street Methodist Church choir, and a number of friends to participate in a social manner. The event proving to be of a most interesting nature. The program of entertainment was composed of a most interesting character. Music, recitations, addresses and games of various forms contributed to the enjoyment of all present.

Baptist Conference.

A conference of the Baptist Ministers of Brant and Oxford counties was held to-day at the Park Baptist church, where two sessions were held. The company welcomed two visitors, the Rev. J. J. Ross of Hamilton and Dr. W. L. Norton of Toronto, interesting papers were given by Rev. W. E. Bowyer and Rev. Ross on the Lord's reign. Other matters of general import to the pastors were dealt with and the conference was brought to a close in prayer.

Quite With the Police.

Considering the holiday spirit which pervaded on Saturday with the visit of the Duke of Connaught and the Princess, the court list this morning was very light, consisting of four drunkenness and a disturbance case. Thos. Cunningham was ordered to get out of town within forty-eight hours. He had been threatening the life of his wife and daughter and they were afraid of him, and asked that he be kept from them. The magistrate lending a sympathetic ear to the story of complainant made the order.

A WORKER WITH BOYS.

MONTREAL, May 11—Sir William Alexander Smith, the founder and Secretary of the boys brigade, is dead, says a London cable to The Daily Mail. Born at Thurso, Scotland, on October 27, 1854, he founded the boys brigade in 1883 and visited Canada as the guest of the Earl of Aberdeen, then Governor-general, in 1905, following this up with a visit to the boys brigade of the United States in 1907.

NORDICA'S BODY.

BATAVIA, Java, May 11—The body of Madame Lillian Nordica, the operatic singer, who died here from pneumonia last night is to be sent to the United States. It will leave here on May 16 enclosed in a Chinese casket.

LAST SAD RITES

Funeral of the Late Dr. Secord Took Place This Afternoon.

To-day there was borne to his last rest all that was mortal of the late Dr. Levi Secord. The great sympathy felt on every hand for the bereaved was everywhere evidenced. Flowers sent from all quarters were clustered to gether, beautiful and magnificent, in the death chamber, and the scene therein was truly impressive. Before a large representative gathering, Ven. Archdeacon Mackenzie conducted the last services in a manner befitting the occasion, and he paid tribute to the noble dead. When the reverent gentleman had concluded, the Masonic order took over the last obsequies and conducted them both at the late residence and graveside in Greenwood cemetery.

The city council and other local public bodies were present, while the executive of the Ancient Order of Foresters attended from Toronto. Among them were many of the highest officials of the order, including W. R. West, N. Williams, A. C. Wilson, T. P. Wood, R. Howey, A. Martin and H. McPhail of Toronto.

The Masonic orders represented included the Doric lodge and the Grand Chapter of this city, besides which, outside of the city, lodges were represented. The medical fraternity of Brantford attended the ceremonies in a body.

The pall bearers for the occasion were J. C. Spence, M. Wilbee, C. B. Heyd, D. J. Waterous, Thomas Logan and S. J. Howell of Hamilton.

Among the many floral tributes were the following from sympathizing public bodies: Brant Medical Society, Mayor and council, Brant General Hospital, nurses and staff of the hospital, Ancient Order of Foresters, District 21 of Winnipeg, A.O.F., Court Success, Court Endeavor, Doric lodge of Freemasons, Chapter and Preceptory, Brant Press and Brant lodge, A. F. & A. M. Tokens of condolence received from private parties were innumerable.

This does the community show its deep regard for a worthy member who has passed beyond.

Telegram from Winnipeg.

The following telegram received by Mr. J. A. Hornung, District Chief, Ranger for the Ancient Order of Foresters, shows in an impressive manner the high esteem in which the late Dr. Levi Secord, High Medical Examiner, of the A.O.F., was held by the members throughout the Dominion:

J. A. Hornung, D.C.R. No. 21, Brantford: District No. 21 deeply regrets to hear of the death of our highly esteemed High Court Medical Examiner, Dr. L. Secord. Please convey our heartfelt sympathy to family and have suitable wreath placed on bier of our late brother as a mark of sympathy from the officers and members of the district. Letter in mail enclosing $15. Malcolms Mills, T. F. Howard, Sec.-Treas. D.C.R.

Wilson's Address. It was just 10:50 when the procession reached the navy yard. President Wilson, Secretary Daniels, Governor Gwynn and the others the president's stand stood bare-headed while the coffins were taken from the caissons and placed in front of the stand.

The president had prepared no formal address. He said in part: "I know that the feelings which characterize all who stand about me are not feelings that can be expressed in eloquence or oratory. For my part, I have a mixture of feeling. The feeling that is uppermost is one of profound grief that these lads should have had to go to their death. But yet, I feel a profound pride and envy that they should have been permitted to do their duty so nobly. Their duty is not an uncommon thing. Men are performing it in the ordinary walks of life and they are making sacrifices, but what gives them peculiar distinction is that they did not give their lives for themselves, but gave their lives for us because we as a nation called upon them.

"We have gone down to Mexico to serve mankind if we can find the way. We don't want to fight the Mexicans, we want to serve them.

"A war of aggression is not a thing in which it is proud to be, but a war of service is a war in which it is a proud thing to die."

The president referred then to the cosmopolitan personnel of the victims: "I listened to the list," he added with a profound feeling, "because they were not Irishman or German or Hebrews when they went to Vera Cruz. They were Americans and no matter where their people came from they did the things that were American.

"War is only a sort of dramatic representation, a symbol of a thousand forms of duty. I never was in battle

RED SOX LOST THIRD GAME OF FIRST SERIES

It Was a Thriller and a Heart-breaker—Brantford Outhit Hamilton Again But Visitors Had the Lucky Breaks

The Red Sox lost another of those hard luck games Saturday afternoon when the Hamilton Athletics took the third and final game of the first series by the score of 6 to 2. Connell and Doc Yates did the pitching, and the latter got the breaks of the game. Connell pitched steady ball for the Sox, but luck was against him. Poor base running was the real cause of the defeat. A lucky home run in the seventh by Dolan practically put the game on ice. A high wind blowing from the west carried the ball over the right field fence, and two runs counted. Dolan has the honor of making the first home run of the season.

The fielding of the Red Sox was air-tight up to the last inning when Honeck booted a couple of hard grounders. The Red Sox outhit the Athletics by 12 hits to 8, but Doc Yates kept the local hits well scattered, and coupled with some poor base running and Empire Bedford's rank work, managed to keep the score down.

Empire Bedford, previous to Saturday's game, had done good work, but Saturday his work was very bad. In the sixth, with Deneau on first, and Honeck to bat, the manager started for home with Yates delivery. Honeck swung at the ball just as Deneau slid. Fisher, in attempting to get Deneau pushed Honeck forward, and Empire Bedford called Rubie out claiming that Honeck interfered. A holler went up from the Brantford team, but Bedford was firm. To do justice to Rubie, he scored, and Honeck did not interfere.

Rubie sent in two pinch hitters in game, and although both men hit, no runs were forthcoming.

The Game Hamilton started things going in the first, getting to Connell for one hit and two walks, and one run. After Gilhooley flew out to Sandusky, at centre, Connell passed Dudley and Sheekard, and White poled a hit to left scoring Sheekard. A minute later White was caught stealing second on a lovely peg from Matty Lamond. Biddy Burns went out to start the game for Brantford, but Rickart

With Amateurs Two exciting games of ball took place at Tutela Park on Saturday afternoon between the Junior Stars and a team picked from Stan Lee's Wesley's Sunday School class. The former won both games, 9 to 6 and 7 to 5. The second game only went 5 innings. Joe Workman pitched both games for the Stars and did good work. Errors accounted for most of Wesley's runs. G. Howley pitched the first game for the Wesleys, and was hit hard and often. Bill Weller undertook to pitch the second game, he having nothing but a mit and a sunny smile, being easy picking. Stan Lee umpired. Batteries: First game, Stars, Workman and Williams; Wesleys, Howley and Sedgeworth. Second game: Stars, Workman and LaCros; Wesleys, Weller and F. Howley. The Stars play the Eagles next Saturday.

Notes of the Game

Sandusky went hitless. And still some fans say they can't hit. Twelve hits to eight and yet we lost. Chase will pitch against Toronto today. Ivers' drive to left, scored Deneau from second. Rickart made his best showing yet at third base. Roth will play second base today against Toronto. Connaught's stay at the ball park was a brief one. Pinch hitters Taylor and LeCroix both made good. There was a paid admission of 1668 in attendance. The Duke didn't pay. Honeck batted in a run and made his second hit just as the Duke entered the park. Deneau found Yates' pitching to his liking. The Chief had three healthy wallpaps. Connell really pitched fine ball, although he was wild and nervous at the start. Jack White, the Hamilton, left fielder, has lost none of his cunning with the hickory. The official scorer refused to give Wagner an error in the ninth on a comparatively easy chance. The Hamilton bunch have been lucky in getting so many runs off so few hits. That can't last long. Brantford players say "Doc Yates didn't have a thing. Those are the kind of pitchers which generally get the best of us." Shortstop Unick in tagging Honeck out at second deliberately struck the latter with the ball. Unick has a short life to live in this league. There were really three errors in the ninth, Honeck having two and Wagner one. Mixed in with a base on balls and a hit, they meant three runs. Honeck's two errors were the result of hasty attempts to make double plays which goes to show that a player must wait to get the ball before he throws it. Although Hamilton Athletics have won two out of three here, local fans fail to see where they are a good team. In fact the Athletics have a very mediocre outfit. Gero was caught flat-footed off first in the ninth. And yet Deneau in the morning had warned the players to take no chances when the team was several runs to the bad. Dolan the home run hitter will scarcely get a hit all season. His effort Saturday was a fluke, aided and abetted by the high wind. The fluke counted against the Sox just the same. Empire Bedford took a lot of back talk from the players which leads to the supposition that he will scarcely be able to weather the storm for the season. A real umpire doesn't let players talk much. Rubie Deneau really stole home alright and Fisher hasn't tagged him yet. It is difficult to see how he could be called out because of Honeck's interference, the latter struck at the ball and had no time to get out of the way. In two innings the Red Sox failed to complete a sacrifice hit, and in each instance it cost a run. With a man on first, Wagner struck out on bad balls, attempting to bunt, and Rickart popped one, which held Biddy Barrows to the bag. Hits followed each of these failures to bunt properly and with runners on second the runs would have resulted. Joe Kelly has been fielding sensationally for the Pirates, and is often referred to by Pittsburghers as the "find of the year." The Duke of Connaught visited Beachburg, Woodstock, Stratford and New Hamburg, laying the cornerstone of a new school at Stratford.

Arrival Of New Man For Sox Means Fight

Infielder Roth Has Reported—Will Play Second Base This Afternoon. Roth, a new infielder arrived in the city on Saturday night from Detroit, and will parade in a Red Sox uniform to-day. He is an experienced man, having played Class B ball for some years. This year he was with South Bend, Ind. Manager Deneau figures that he was lucky to get Roth as it has been understood that the infield has not shaped up as well as expected. Roth's arrival means that there will be an all-round fight between Rickart, Wagner and Belt for job. When Johnny Nelson arrives June 1, there will be another set to it. It was at first thought this spring that Nelson would not do, but the new ones secured this year for the red hot corner have shown nothing over Nelson. Roth will be played at second base to-day, and he will help to steady Honeck, a whole lot if that had happened to need any of that stuff. The new infielder is a good sized chap, who looks as if he could hit that old pill.

KNOTTY LEE HAS 20 MEN

Toronto Team Arrived Here Saturday Night From London. Knotty Lee blew into town on Saturday night. Therefore, it rained some on Sunday and looked like rain all the rest of the day. The Toronto baseball squad were fresh from victory in London and were elated. Knotty is carrying twenty men, which looks like a lot of excess baggage for this league. He has what appears to be a fine team, which included such players as Trout, Shaeffer, Kirley, Isaacs and George Ort. Buster Burrill is playing centre and is hitting the ball hard this year. He is his old self again. Toronto plays here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, after which engagement Brantford goes to Hamilton to open up. (Additional Sporting News Page 10) B. B. TICKETS FREE! Skirts Grow Shorter for Summer Days

By Madge Marvel

SKIRTS must be four inches from the floor. They may be, and sometimes twice as short without being conspicuous. There is frequently six or seven inches of space between shoe sole and skirt hem. Skirts are also fuller. Some have a decided flare about the feet. Others have the fulness at the hips, and the hem very little wider than we have been wearing. The slit is forgotten. Already it marks the skirt as hopelessly old-fashioned. If it exists at all it is a very decided opening in the back of the skirt with plenty of lace draping filling the opening.

When the skirt is very bouffant at the hips then it is apt to be narrow at the foot. When there is no sign of the bustle or hip drapery, there is the flare at the hem. Some of the newest skirts have the fulness of gathers at the waist, and there is a two-inch heading left as a finish, and below the material flows freely outward. Frequently, where there is a comparatively narrow underskirt, there will be a fairly full tunic with a deep flounce edge of lace or tulle, which gives a strange effect of extreme width.

The tunic grows longer day by day. When it began to start on its downward way there was certainly that the time would come when it came the skirt itself, and that that skirt would be full.

Bustle Little Used.

The bustle causes scarcely a passing interest when it is worn, for it has been apparent on many of the gowns since the mid-winter. Some authorities ignore it. It is one of these. It is, too, has no use for it, though he makes much of it.

This brevity and fulness of skirt and the charming independence in the wearing of the bustle in any one of its hundred variations, has been accepted as the final decree after the spring openings with all their sumptuous showing of gowns in most gorgeous settings, and will probably last through the summer. Also ruffles have come into their own. They are used on nearly all materials, and will continue to make them worth the season advances. I think there will be a tremendous liking for silk ruffles of white and similar to the favor as a contrasting shade on the summer frocks. Also there is indication that silk and lace will ruffle the organza. On a stunning imported model of black and white striped voile there were five scant bias black silk ruffles used at intervals of the skirt from the top of the hem to the hip line.

An apricot organdy with a shadowy blossom patterning in it was ruffled with rose and gold-shot taffeta in the same manner.

Some of the dancing skirts in tulle and chiffon are made as full as the old-fashioned lamp shade, and show the glimmer of the petticoat beneath. This is the nearest approach that I have seen in real life of the much-talked-of panellet which was worn at the openings by the mannequins or on the stage.

"Petites" Below Gowns.

Some way petticoats seem hardly to be in the scheme of things, nor is there anything about them to appeal to the average eye.

However, petticoats were never so much in evidence, and they are purposely worn hanging below the gown in a way to make the uninitiated fear for the firmness of fastening on the outer skirt. And naturally when they are intended to be so generally seen they are elaborate enough to make them worth while being exhibited.

They are of the most delightful materials and colors. Crepe de chine and taffeta have the first choice, although the taffeta one with net or chiffon flounce is equally popular. There is also a silk jersey lace which is entirely new and most attractive.

Next to the short skirt the cape is the most pronounced garment of the year. Fashion makers say that it has returned to stay for the season at large, and that next winter we shall see perfect rage of capes in various materials and lengths.

I think this is so, for I have seen some most elaborate fur capes made in preparation for return to favor when the summer shall have fled.

TOYS

DIDN'T she read the other day in the public prints that every girl should have a hundred proposals before making that momentous final decision? If one must receive one hundred proposals, one must look over each proposal very carefully, for there is no rule that you have to take the hundredth man. You have the privilege of running back over the list and taking any one in the hundred if he asks you again.

Of course this may be rather rough on the nice young chaps who belong to your hundred (and MAYBE to some one else's) and who may have to stand around like so many images on a toy counter while a fastidious customer picks them over.

And of course the right one MAY not ask you again—they have a way of dissolving, these toys have, and vanishing into thin air.

What the Normal Woman Wants

By WINIFRED BLACK

Winifred Black

more common sense to turn away from the mirror and go out in the kitchen and make a layer cake for tea; or in the living room and embroider a coat for baby sister; or down town and work for a living—than to stand in front of a looking-glass and weep because her eyes are not in the least like violets and her hair hasn't even the least resemblance to spun gold?

Of course, the average woman—and I suppose when you say normal woman you mean the average woman—wants a mate and a home and children, just as she wants a dinner and a fire to sit by and a bed to sleep in and comfortable clothes to wear and flowers to look at and books to read and friends to love.

DEAR me, Reader, how very serious you are about the "normal" and the "abnormal" woman. You aren't a woman—that's easy to see. Women don't talk so much about the longing for a "mate and a home."

They may feel it—some of them undoubtedly do; but it's considered rather bad form to say too much about it. There are a great many things which the "normal" woman wishes she had and can't get.

Beauty, for instance. It's silly, I suppose, but I don't believe there's a woman in the world who doesn't wish she was beautiful. Does that wishing make her so, and ought she to sit down and cry her eyes red, if she isn't pretty?

Or doesn't she show a good deal of common sense to turn away from the mirror and go out in the kitchen and make a layer cake for tea; or in the living room and embroider a coat for baby sister; or down town and work for a living—than to stand in front of a looking-glass and weep because her eyes are not in the least like violets and her hair hasn't even the least resemblance to spun gold?

Of course, the average woman—and I suppose when you say normal woman you mean the average woman—wants a mate and a home and children, just as she wants a dinner and a fire to sit by and a bed to sleep in and comfortable clothes to wear and flowers to look at and books to read and friends to love.

Why not? These things are the great pleasures, the great joys, the great opportunities of life—why shouldn't she want them? And why should it be a credit to her to long for them and a discredit to her to care?

Does the normal woman crave for love? What a silly question. Does she crave for light, for fresh air, for sunshine—for the chance to breathe and to live? Of course she does, unless she's feeble-minded—and then, my friend, she wouldn't be quite "normal," would she?

So you think the woman who has no "longing" for a mate and a home is a "freak," do you?

She isn't half as much of a freak as the woman who is so crazy to get a mate and a home that she'll marry the first man who asks her and thank him for the chance to get into any old kind of what he chooses to call a "home."

Wake up, brother Jehoshaphat—no, I mean Methuselah. Comb the knots out of your beard and brush the cobwebs out of your eyes. Your kind of a world has whirled by—while you were asleep in the hayloft.

They thought the woman who married loved you when she married you—and maybe she didn't. The women of your generation had to marry whether they wanted to or not—there was nothing else for them to do. Perhaps your son's wife married him because she couldn't live another day without him—and perhaps she married him to spite the girl who was trying to get him. She knew she probably would have to marry somebody, for marriage was still the easiest way for a woman to get a living.

Your grandson, when he marries, will marry a woman who loves him—or at least a woman who thinks she loves him. Women don't marry "for a home" or "for a man" these days. At least, not the women worth marrying.

Chips With the Bark On

Fashions change, and to be fashionable requires change.

The lie is none the less a lie because no one believes it.

If women were only as old as they think they look they would be younger than they are.

The same tale does not sound the same to the sceptical and the credulous. It is a wise talker who gauges his words to suit his hearer.

"Women are much alike," remarked the talkative philosopher. "If their dresses fit they can't wear them, and if the garments don't fit they won't wear them."

A man never believes that his conscience would agree with another's habits or disposition.

No one knows that it pays to be honest so well as the convicted thief.

Time spent waiting for a train that has already gone is irretrievably lost.

The room at the top is not always so desirable after it is reached as it seemed to be from the ground.

The man who would be satisfied with one term of office rarely gets it for that one term. Or if he does his mind changes.

When we all become mind readers we will not receive such wedding, Christmas and birthday presents as have long been in vogue.

"Money talks all right," remarked the talkative philosopher, "but it never said anything to me except 'tag.'"

How Sea Phrases Originated

PRACTICALLY every recognized language has been called upon at some time to help in building up the vocabulary of the sea.

"Davy Jones," for instance, might be taken to refer to some dead and gone Welshman, but the name is derived from quite another source. One should speak of "Duffy Jones's locker," for that was the original, "Duffy" being the West Indian name for a spirit or ghost, and "Jonah" referring to the prophet.

Another expression gradually corrupted out of its original form is the "dog watch." It was originally the "dog watch," because it lasts only two hours, and was intended to ensure that the same men shall not be on duty every day during the same hours.

The "jury mast" has nothing in common with the "twelve good man and true," except its derivation from the same French word, "jour," meaning "one day." The jury mast is erected temporarily "for a day," just as the jury, in its legal sense, meant a tribunal summoned for a short time. "Port" is a comparatively new expression. In the old days they used to refer to "larboard" and "starboard." "Starboard" has nothing in common with the twinkling stars of the heavens; it is derived from the Anglo-Saxon, "steor-board" or "steer-side." In Viking times the galleys were steered by an oar, which the helmsman held with his right hand. "Larboard" was probably a corruption of "lower-board," the larboard side being inferior to the other.

The word "admiral" is Arabic, springing from "amir al bashi," or "lord of the sea." "Captain" comes from the Latin "caput," but "mate" is Icelandic, and means "companion" or "equal." "Coxswain" had a curious origin. The "coxswain" was a man who pulled the last oar in the captain's boat, which was described as the "cockboat." This, in turn, was a corruption of a small, round boat found on the rivers Esk and Wye, and known as a "coracle." Coxswain is therefore a Welsh name.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Long, Uncut Finger Nails Agents of Many Ills.

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

ALL the perfumes of Arabia and the incense from Cathay cannot sweeten manicured nails that have one lone microscope microbe on them.

The finer nails ever so soft and polished, the hands ever so fine and pretty, these are no protection against pimples, blackheads, open pores, boils of the barber's itch.

Typhoid Mary, Tuberculous Tommy and Fore Throat Sarah are the names of a few kitchen maids, barbers, milkmen, cooks, breadmakers, hairdressers, beauty doctors and eye-glass fitters, who often have beautifully manicured hands, yet carry lurking disease germs beneath their varnished and tinted nails.

There are marvellously moulded hands, lovely to look upon, that are more venomous to the handkerchief, linen, faces and flesh they touch than is the bite of the deadly cobra.

There are claws and paws and flippers and flaps which when they touch bits of wet cloth, pieces of unbaked dough, the dishes and utensils, become the sources of physical contagions, which seem mysterious and remote when they appear.

Unhappily I mix the metaphors to prove that the prettiest, most covered hand is often the talon of a poisonous bird of ill omen.

The late Israelit rabbi, Dr. A. S. Telchik, traced the saying "who is next to godliness," to the sayings of Philo of Alexandria, in the Talmud. The latter said: "The doctrine of religion are resolved into carefulness, carefulness into vigorosity, vigorosity into cleanliness, abstinence into cleanliness, cleanliness into godliness."

How to Trim Nails.

Undoubtedly, then, there are some barbers, cooks or maids who are not godly. Or despite the shining glory of their finger tips, their nails are only at best clean to the eye. Actually, when tested for the bacteria of toxæmia, caruncles, itches, eczemas, erythemas and worms, their finger nails turn out to be harbinger of unpleasant consequences.

There is no better sign of efficiency, capacity, morality, and honesty than the adoption of the surgeon's habit of washing and also disinfecting the hands and finger nails before meals, before touching the eye, the cheek, the chin, the lips or a flesh of a stranger or of your own.

The second mother of man, habit, is either a true mother, or a Cinderella-like stepmother. If a child is raised up in the way, it shall go as to disinfecting its hands and nails with soap water, peroxide, or boric acid half a dozen times of more daily, when it grows up, it will depart from this good mother, habit.

If, however, like the boys of the Queen of Sheba, who Solomon distinguished from the girls merely by asking all the youngsters to wash—the boys, of course, washed only below the elbows—children are untaught about the dangers of a scratch from the clean nail, which is germ infested, the grown-ups of the next generation will be as destructive to health as the rest of us today.

Perhaps no more pernicious and death-dealing assassin stalks through civilized life and ultra-cultured castes of present society than the long, uncut finger nails.

Where Germs Gather.

The tapering, untrimmed, Li Hung Chang type of finger nail, so popular with imitators and unthinking social climbers, is a bit of barbaric splendour, a par with eating chop suey, Yokami and the use of eastern chop sticks.

Far better wear soldier's and poisoned dirks, to carry snuff boxes, or become a professional wrecker of the coats of St. John's than to follow the cancer-causing, tuberculosis-spreading and diphtheria-inducing custom of uncut finger nails.

Hygienically and logically the finger or toe nails should not abut upon the flesh. The margins or advancing edges of the nails should not project beyond the ends of the fingers. Indeed, there should be one-eighth of an inch of finger flesh visible beyond the nail. When you tap, tap, tap upon the

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

My Dear Miss Laurie:—My parents are kind, and as I have no other mother to go to for advice, I am writing you.

There is a young man who has been calling on me quite frequently for the past few months. I like him very much, and he is a good company and of good habits. The only objection I have is that the nights he calls on me he will stay until 12 o'clock or half-past, and I think that he should go home about 10 o'clock. Can you advise me how to tell him to go home earlier, as I do not want to offend him or lose his friendship?

QUAKER GIRL.

O h you poor little "Quaker Girl" you, whatever will you do with the "stayer."

You must do something with him, there's no doubt about that; you can't have him set all the neighbors to gossiping by staying so late.

Where do you live, in a boarding house? Can't you arrange to have some of the other people in the house come into the sitting room at 10 o'clock or half-past, and act as if they thought you "staying" friend was just getting ready to go?

Or there's the telephone. Can't you arrange to have some one ring you up at 10 o'clock and have a little talk with you, where he can hear it, and say something that will make him realize that nobody thinks you can possibly have company at such an hour?

And there's the good old-fashioned yawn—what's the matter with that? Begin yawning at 10 o'clock, and when he jokes you about it, tell him you were up very early and are very tired, and that you simply can't get along at all without just so much sleep.

If he doesn't take any of these hints have a nice plain talk with him, and tell him the plain simple truth—that you cannot allow him to stay so long as 12 o'clock. If he takes offense at that, then you are well rid of him. But he won't. He's just dead in love with you, that's all, and can't bear to tear himself away, so you must do your best to get rid of him in some other way.

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest, letters will be answered personally and enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirschberg, care this office.

One Effective Remedy.

"He says that he is compelled by his muse to write poetry."

"Why doesn't he get an injunction?"

An Advantage.

"She never blushes except when she wants to."

"How much nicer it would be if she could blush every time she wanted to."

Good for Kindling.

"Did his speech set the audience on fire?"

"No, it was too dry."

No Longer Secrets.

"She says that she never has any secrets."

"That's right. She tells them."

Symptoms.

"Well, they have been married ten days or two years. He hasn't got any fruitfully."

Answers to Health Questions

Q. M. S.—Can a red birthmark in the check be made invisible or removed?

A. Yes. Go to the X-ray department of the nearest hospital and have them look at it.

Q. W.—Recently my eyes began to burn, and I grew dizzy. My heart is not O. K.

This comes from half a dozen causes, such as a multitude of trouble in the behind the ear, weak blood, high blood pressure, disorders of the semi-circular canals of the ear, and hyperacidity of the stomach.

READER—What will remove moles?

There are several different kinds of moles. A stick of caustic will remove some. An "ice cream" of carbolic acid will remove others. The X-ray or radium will destroy others. The knife is a simple, safe and sure way to take out moles.

The electric needle, acids, concentrated light and the selenium are also used.

Moles should always be removed, because one or more percent of them become, in later years, cancers.

F. L. G.—What is best if you are doing for the people. Thank goodness some one takes the public into his medical confidence and sets us free from quacks.

What does standing in rubber boots cause, a cold in the hip? Do you have rheumatism or sciatica?

Thank you, father, for the often, are decidedly unpleasant. They remove the elasticity and adaptability of the skin, muscles and blood channels. It is much the same as scurvy, and causing your throat with fur. This causes one to have a "cold" in the hip.

In this situation, apply and salicylates are best. The thing to do is to remove the boots as quickly as you can, wash them as well as possible, and massage the feet and legs with alcohol and vinegar three times a day to keep them fit to protect you.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By EDGAR RICE
BURROUGHS

Copyright 1913 by W. G. Chapman.

CHAPTER IV.

The Countess Explains.

"YOUR Paris is more dangerous than my savage jungles, Paul," concluded Tarzan,
after narrating his adventures to his friend the morning following his encounter with the apaches and police in the Rue Maile. "Why did they lure me there? Were they hungry?"
"I do not feigned a horrified shudder,
but he laughed at the quaint suggestion."
"Well," said he, "among other things it has taught you what I have been unable to impress upon you, that the Rue Maile is a good place to avoid after dark."

"On the contrary," replied Tarzan, with a smile, "it has convinced me that it is the one worth while street in all Paris. Never again shall I miss an opportunity to traverse it, for it has given me the first real entertainment
I have had since I left Africa."
"It may give you more than you will relish even without other visit," said D'Arnot. "You are not through with the police yet, remember. I know the Paris police well enough to assure you that they will not soon forget what you did to them. Sooner or later they will get you, my dear Tarzan, and then they will lock the wild man of the woods up behind iron bars. How will you like that?"

"They will never lock Tarzan of the Apes behind iron bars," replied he grimly. "There was something in the man's voice as he said it that caused D'Arnot to look up sharply at his friend. What he saw in the set jaw and the cold, gray eyes made the young Frenchman very apprehensive for this great child, who could recognize no law mightier than his own mighty physical prowess. He saw that something must be done to save Tarzan with the police before another encounter was possible.

"You have much to learn, Tarzan," he said gravely. "The law of man must be respected whether you relish it or no. Nothing but trouble can come to you and your friends should you persist in defying the police. I can explain it to them once for you, and that I shall do this very day, but hereafter you must obey the law. If its representatives say, 'Come! you must come; if they say, 'Go! you must go. Now we shall go to my great friend in the department and fix up this matter of the Rue Maile. Come!"

Together they entered the office of the police official a half hour later. He was very cordial. He remembered Tarzan from the visit the two had made him several months prior in the matter of the finger prints. Having heard Tarzan's story, he assured him that no harm would come to him from the police as a result of his night's adventure.

On their return to D'Arnot's apartments the lieutenant found a letter awaiting him from an English friend, William Cecil Clayton, Lord Grey-stone. The two had maintained a correspondence since the birth of their friendship on that ill fated expedition in search of Jane Porter after her theft by Terkoz, the bull ape, from whom she had been rescued by Tarzan.

"They are to be married in London in about two months," said D'Arnot as he completed his perusal of the letter. Tarzan did not need to be told who was meant by "they." He made no reply, but he was very quiet and thoughtful during the balance of the day.

That evening they attended the opera. Tarzan's mind was still occupied by his gloomy thoughts. He paid little or no attention to what was transpiring upon the stage. Instead, he saw only the lovely vision of a beautiful American girl and heard naught but a sad, sweet voice acknowledging that his love was returned. And she was to marry another!

He shook himself to be rid of his unwelcome thoughts, and at the same instant he felt eyes upon him. With the instinct that was his by virtue of training he looked up squarely into the eyes that were looking at him to find that they were shining from the smiling face of Olga, Comtesse de Conde.
As Tarzan returned her bow he was positive that there was an invitation in her look, almost a plea.

The next intimation found him beside her in her box.
"I have so much wished to see you,"
she was saying. "It has troubled me not a little to think that after the service you rendered to both my husband and myself no adequate explanation was ever made you of what must have seemed ingratitude on our part in not taking the necessary steps to prevent a repetition of the attacks upon us by those two men."

"You wrong me," replied Tarzan.
"My thoughts of you have been only the most pleasant. You must not feel that any explanation is due me. Have they annoyed you further?"
"They never cease," she replied sadly. "I do not know another who so deserves an explanation as you. You must permit me to do so. It may be of service to you, for I know Nikolaus Rokoff quite well enough to be possitive that you have not seen the last of him. He will find some means to be revenge upon you. I cannot tell you here, but tomorrow I shall be at home to M. Tarzan at 5."

"It will be an eternity until tomorrow at 5," he said as he bade her good night.
From a corner of the theater Rokoff and Paulvitch saw M. Tarzan in the box of the Comtesse de Conde, and both men smiled.

At 4:30 the following afternoon a swarthy, bearded man rang the bell at the servants' entrance of the palace of the Comte de Conde. The footman who opened the door raised his eyebrows in recognition as he saw who stood without. A low conversation passed between the two.

At first the footman demurred from some proposition that he heard on the part of the visitor, but an instant later something passed from the hand of the caller to the hand of the servant. Then the latter turned and led the visitor by a roundabout way to a little curtained alcove off the apartment in which the countess was wont to serve tea of an afternoon.

A half-hour later Tarzan was ushered into the room, and presently his hostess entered, smiling, and with outstretched hands.
For a few moments they spoke of the opera, of the topics that were then occupying the attention of Paris, of the pleasure of renewing their brief acquaintance which had had its inception under such odd circumstances, and this brought them to the subject that was uppermost in the minds of both.

"You must have wondered," said the countess finally, "what the object of Rokoff's persecution could be. It is very simple. The count is intrusted with many of the vital secrets of the ministry of war. He often has in his possession papers that foreign powers would give a fortune to possess—secrets of state that their agents would commit murder and worse than murder to learn.

"There is such a matter now in his possession that would make the fame and fortune of any Russian who could divulge it to his government. Rokoff and Paulvitch are Russian spies. They will stop at nothing to procure this information. The affair on the lines—I mean the matter of the card game—was for the purpose of blackmailing the knowledge they seek from my husband.

"Had he been convicted of cheating at cards his career would have been blighted. He would have had to leave the war department. He would have been socially ostracized. They intended to hold this club over him—the price of an avowal on their part that the count was but the victim of the plot of enemies who wished to besmirch him.

"I should like to see you a very poor judge, madame," Tarzan replied.
"If you had been guilty of murder,
I should say that the victim should be grateful to have met so sweet a fate."

"Oh, dear, no," she expostulated. "It is not so terrible as that. But first let me tell you the reason the count has not prosecuted these men; then, if I can hold my tongue, I shall tell you the real reason that I dare not. The first is that Nikolaus Rokoff is my brother.
We are Russians, Nikolaus has been a bad man since I can remember.
He was cashiered from the Russian army, in which he held a captaincy.
There was a terrible scandal for a time, but after awhile it was partially forgotten and my father obtained a position for him in the secret service."

"There have been many terrible crimes laid at Nikolaus' door, but he has always managed to escape punishment. Of late he has accomplished it by trumped up evidence convicting his victims of treason against the czar, and the Russian police, who are always only too ready to fasten guilt of this nature upon any and all, have accepted his version and exonerated

him."

"Have not his attempted crimes against you and your husband forfeited whatever rights the bonds of kinship might have accorded him?" asked Tarzan. "The fact that you saw his sister has not deterred him from seeking to besmirch your honor. You owe him no loyalty, madame."

"Ah, but there is that other reason.
If I owe him no loyalty, though he be my brother, I cannot so easily disavow the fact that you saw his sister has not deterred him from seeking to besmirch your honor. You owe him no loyalty, madame."

"I might as well tell you all," she resumed after a pause, "for I see that it is in my heart to tell you sooner or later. I was educated in a convent.
While there I met a man whom I supposed to be a gentleman. I knew little or nothing about men, and less about love. I got it into my foolish head that I loved this man, and at his urgent request I ran away with him.
We were to have been married."

"I was with him just three hours—
all in the daytime and in public places
—railroad stations and upon a train.
When we reached our destination, two officers stepped up to my escort as we descended from the train and placed him under arrest. They took me also, but when I had told my story, they did not detain me, other than to send me back to the convent under the care of a matron. It seemed that the man who had wooed me was no gentleman at all, but a deserter from the army as well as a fugitive from civil justice. He had a police record in nearly every country in Europe.

"The matter was hushed up by the authorities of the convent. Not even my parents knew of it. But Nikolaus met the man afterward and learned the whole story. Now he threatens to tell the count if I do not do just as he wishes me to."

the right to enter the first round proper for the Courier trophy competition. There was a good attendance. The Duffs won the toss and decided to play to wards the dyke. From the centre kick the home forwards by clever footwork made tracks for Tutela's goal, but their attack proved fruitless. After some mid-field play, the Duffs were the first to break away, and after hearing Bowden scored for the Duffs, beating Cassell's with a swift drive. For the remainder of the first half play was fairly even, the Duffs having slightly the better of the game. During an attack by Tutela, Harbour met with an accident, which unfortunately the referee did not see, and while being attended to by two of his clubmates, the visitors scored the equalizing goal. Half time, Duffs 1, Tutela 1.

Wanderers, Still Without Victory, Are Unlucky. Play commenced shortly after 6 p.m., with the Wanderers facing wind and sun. The game had only been in play about a minute when the Rosess scored with a long dropping shot which beat Goalkeeper Madden, who was operating in place of the regular goalkeeper, through the sun shining in his eyes. Play was very ragged at the start, and the Sons were playing the one-back game, owing to not playing a full team. The game then turned in favor of the Wanderers, who did not press home their advantage. Nothing occurred until the last kick of the first half, when the ball went off Charlick through his own goal. Thus the Wanderers crossed over two goals to the lead.

Scots United Beat Holmedale Tigers. The Scots United met the Holmedale Tigers in a league game on Saturday, the game being a pretty fair one, the Tigers having had every opportunity on the Scots, playing on their own grounds. The Tigers having been expected to win, got a surprise, the Scots beating them by 2-0. The goal scorers for the Scots were W. Richardson and C. Marshall. It is of great credit to the Scots in gaining the two points, the majority of the players not having their football boots on. Cook and Taylor played a great defence game, and are equal to anything in the Brantford and Paris League. Morrow and Scott played a great game at half back, Morrow working hard, both with feeding his forwards and helping the defence when necessary. The forwards played a great combination game. The left wing, Morrison and Richardson, played a great game, and once they get into each other's style in playing, there is nothing in this league that will touch them. Linn played a splendid game at centre forward, it being through him that the second goal was scored. Marshall and Vipond played good combination on the right wing for players that never worked together before. Although the Scots played a great game, their combination and head work being a treat to watch, the Tigers seemed to be somewhat disorganized. With the Scots running about in such a bewildering fashion, they lost their grip on the game, but it may be said that they were not at full strength or the result might have been otherwise. Final, Scots United 2, Holmedale Wanderers 0.

Both teams played good football, while each defence played well, both sets of forwards were very erratic in front of goal. Final, Tutela 2, Dufferin 1. Tutela are now in the first round proper of the Courier Cup, and they look equal to going much further.

I. Howell received a nice pass from A. Maich, and scored the fifth goal for Cocksutt's, thus the ex-champions were winners by 5-2.

COOSE FOR WOODSTOCK. WOODSTOCK, May 11.—Manager Bradley of the Woodstock semi-pro team was in the city on Saturday and gave the local squad a workout on Victoria Park. Bradley is authority for the statement that Chubby Coose, recently released by the Brantford Canadian League team, will play ball with Woodstock this year and will pitch for the local aggregation. Coose is expected in the city to-day. Bradley has also secured a shortstop called McLeod from Hamilton. He also is expected to-day. The locals are now almost complete and ready for the opening of the Western Ontario baseball season.

Sic Him, Towser. The Red Sox have a dog for a mascot. Yesterday he went into centre field for a bone and found—Gabby Ivers.

Mr. Murphy—Our desk is no place to leave a package of silk hosiery. There is an air of suppressed excitement around the ball park. Salaries started to run yesterday.
