

GERMAN RAIDER BELIEVED TO BE SUNK

Commerce Marauder Destroyed by British Vessel According to Reports

Hun Raiders Now Mask Their Depredation Under the American Flag--Washington Now Takes Official Action

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jan. 22.—"La Prensa" publishes a despatch from Rio de Janeiro saying that, according to a cablegram received at Pernambuco, the British cruiser Glasgow has sunk a German commerce raider 130 miles off Para. No details are given.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, Jan. 21.—That there is more than one German commerce raider in the South Atlantic and that they are flying the American flag to deceive merchantmen is the report from Pernambuco.

The minister of marine has received a telegram from the captain of that port confirming a declaration made yesterday by the commander of the Brazilian steamer Maranhao that he had encountered two cargo vessels, accompanied by two auxiliary ships, believed to be Germans, all flying the American flag.

The Brazilian Government, in addition to sending out the coast defense ship Deodoro to guard the northern coast of Brazil, has decided to despatch a scout cruiser, which will cruise between Port Natal and Fernando Da Noronha Island and keep close watch on the coast in these waters. The vessels will leave for the north on Tuesday.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Inquiry has been made of Germany as to whether there were any Americans among the 103 neutral sailors brought in as prisoners of war on the German prize Yarrowdale, for having taken pay on armed merchantmen. The inquiry was made entirely on press reports and not on any official information, which has come to the state department.

Officials admit that the armed ships is at the root of the whole question. The views of the United States and Germany appear wildly divergent. Each case officials say, must be decided on its own merits, but out of all the difficulties that have recently arisen, it is believed, it may be possible to enunciate some general rule. It is said, however, that no definite program has yet been drawn up.

WILSON ADDRESSES SENATE ON THE FOREIGN QUESTION

Washington, Jan. 22.—President Wilson, in a personal address to the Senate to-day, laid down the question of whether the United States shall depart from its traditional policy of isolation and non-entangling alliances, and take part in a world league to preserve peace after the war.

HUNS ALREADY PLAN NEXT WAR

Alsace May Be Surrendered To France, But Germany Plans To Retake It.

BELGIUM Must Be Restored and Indemnified, It is Agreed.

London, Jan. 22.—(New York Times cable)—The Daily Express' Amsterdam correspondent telegraphs the following: A South American diplomat, who is leaving Berlin had luncheon last week with the imperial chancellor and Herr Zimmermann, the foreign minister. The possibility of peace was discussed and the neutral diplomat gives me the following account of what was said:

"I do not speak officially, of course, but I can say with utmost certainty that the chancellor and Herr Zimmermann agree with the Kaiser and Hindenburg, that they must re-annex Belgium and possibly grant her financial compensation. They have discovered that neither the Allies nor even America will accept less."

"As to Alsace, I found them strangely conciliatory. Formerly they would refuse to discuss such a purely German question. Now they say: 'We shall discuss the matter in a broad-minded spirit. If the Allies cannot or will not sacrifice enough to take Alsace by force, we may offer a bargain—for instance, the exchange of Alsace for French Indo-China.'"

"Such a move is evidently meant to be understood as generosity to France, while it really is directed against England, India and Japan. My impression is that, if Germany offers to surrender Alsace even at heavy price, it is merely with the intention of taking it back in the next war, while keeping Indo-China."

FOOD SHORTAGE IS ON INCREASE

Even Margarine Is Now Almost Unobtainable in Berlin

THEATRES Are Ill Heated, and Audiences Wear Fur Coats During Performances

London, Jan. 22.—The scarcity of food stuffs in Germany, especially in Berlin, is increasing, according to an Amsterdam despatch to Reuters, quoting Berlin newspapers. From December 22 to December 23, according to the despatch, the maximum supply per head was three pounds of potatoes and four pounds of kohlrahi. From December 24 to December 27 of seven ounces of flour were available, but for an entire week the consumer could only get three ounces of butter and no margarine.

The despatch says that people applying for popular feeding in Berlin increased last week to 22,000 and restaurant keepers informed their customers that they may bring potatoes to the eating houses where they will be cooked for them. Owing to the shortage of coal, theatres and restaurants are said to have been insufficiently heated in the last few days and many people who attended the theatres are reported to have sat through the performance in fur coats. The public swimming baths in Berlin have been closed from December 22.

Vorwaerts says that General Groener, head of the department of munitions told the auxiliary civil service committee on January 20 that the difficulties in railroad transportation, which had created a serious situation, would soon be overcome and that he hoped that the coal supply would soon be normal again. General Groener denied that lack of meat was due to transportation troubles, but attributed it to inadequate methods of distribution.

SOCIALISTS Urged to Sink All Differences in Effort to Win the War

Paris, Jan. 22.—Albert Thomas, minister of manufactures, speaking at the anniversary commemoration of the death of Jean Baptiste Sennez, Socialist mayor of St. Gervais, exhorted the Socialists to sink all their differences and merge their efforts toward winning the war.

"We have accepted this war for an idea, for a precious idea and this war will end when its object is reached. I hope before God it will not finish before." I also hope that this war will not finish before the nations crushed by Prussian militarism, have obtained the necessary reparations and guarantees. I hope it will not finish until the conditions of a lasting and substantial peace are realized.

"Whatever effort Germany may now make, neither her effort nor the sacrifices of her people can be equal to those of the allied nations, who are inspired by thoughts of peace and self preservation. In the words of Jaures: 'Victory is a certainty because it is a duty.'"

Suburbs Get Hydro Power

The result for which the ratepayers of Echo Place, Parkdale and Grand View have been striving for some time has at last been attained.—the electrification of these suburbs by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission. This morning, Second Deputy Reeve, James A. Seace was in communication with the commissioners at Toronto, over the telephone, and received the information that the commission authorized the township to purchase all the equipment now in the possession of the Western Counties Electric Company, in the township, with the exception of the meters and transformers. A special meeting of the township council has been called for tonight to discuss the question, when a resolution will be presented for their consideration, authorizing the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission to remodel and extend the present existing lines in the township of Brantford, formerly owned by the Western Counties Electric Company, all expenses involved in same to be borne by the township.

An offer was made to the Western Counties this morning for the equipment in question, a sum the amount of which was decided upon by the Ontario Commission, being offered. It is understood that the offer was accepted, and there are now so further difficulties so that within the very near future, Hydro Electric Power will be available for the suburbs and rural sections of Brantford Township.

Buffalo's hold-up record continues. Three men were held up last night at the point of revolvers and robbed on the street.

HUGE SWINDLE IS REVEALED

Italian Liquidated His Bank At Commencement of War

By Courier Leased Wire.

Paris, Jan. 22.—An alleged swindle estimated by different newspapers as amounting from 3,000,000 to 10,000,000 francs was disclosed yesterday in the arrest of Philippe Simeoni, of Italian origin, and Prince Henri de Broglie Revel. M. Simeoni was accused in 1912 of swindling the German Prince Friedrich Carl zu Hohenlohe-Oechringgen out of 500,000 francs. This case was settled out of court, but Simeoni was sentenced to six months imprisonment for fraudulent bankruptcy. Afterwards he founded the Comptoir Des Valeurs Industrielles, which was a stockbroking bank. Prince Henri de Broglie Revel, was placed at the head of the institution at its president, Simeoni taking the title of manager.

"At the outbreak of the war customers of the bank demanded their money. Simeoni pleaded the moratorium and put the bank into liquidation, provoking many complaints, one of which alone alleges a claim of 1,500,000 francs. The police report that not a sou remained in the bank when they searched it and that only a few hundred francs in notes were found in the possession of Simeoni at his home."

THE BYE-ELECTION

In Quebec Was Ordered By Laurier

Liberal Candidate Reports This Statement

Insists Laurier Does Not Approve of National Service

St. Rose, Que., Jan. 20.—"When Mr. Sevigny became minister of the Borden Cabinet I asked my friends to meet at St. Rose, in connection, not as Mr. Sevigny says, on my own initiative, but at the demand and following the desire of the venerable head of the Liberal Party, Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

In these words Lucien Cannon, Liberal candidate against Hon. Albert Sevigny, minister of inland revenue, in Dorchester County emphasized even more clearly than before that he was a candidate, because of the approval of the Liberal leader and of his supporters in the County. It was at the meeting at St. Rose on Saturday morning, held in the church, that this statement was made.

Mr. Sevigny's Trial After Mr. Cannon announced that it was Sir Wilfrid Laurier who had told him to call the convention, he proceeded:

"I am obliged to hold Mr. Sevigny's trial, to bring accusations against him, to use severe language, and it is with no malice. I am to-day the executioner and the victim is Mr. Sevigny. I would prefer not to do it, but circumstances force me." He then launched into his daily review of Mr. Sevigny's career.

"When the Government wanted to deliver Canada, tied hand and foot to England, and Laurier, the representative of our race, from speaking, Sevigny gave his vote that Laurier should not speak."

Mr. Cannon proceeded. "Here is a box of pastilles that I bought. Look at the stamp I had to buy to put on them. Mr. Sevigny says the taxes are small, but he does sign them for he has his private car. He does not have to put stamps on letters, and I don't know about his medicine."

"If Mr. Sevigny and his friends had administered affairs properly there would be no taxes in the country."

Laurier Against N. S. My attitude to national service is this," declared Mr. Cannon. "Laurier did not approve because he refused to join the commission, but as a good citizen advised the people to sign them. I signed my card, but I say that I am opposed to conscription, whether industrial or military. If this national service means what it did in England, I will do it with all possible means against it. It means one thing or another. If nothing, why spend money? If it means anything it is conscription and nothing else. Mr. Sevigny's friend, Rogers, said conscription was committal. All that keeps back these men, who are ready to deliver us, hand and foot, to England, is the fear in the country of conscription."

RUSSIAN CZAR CALLS UPON PEOPLE FOR GREATER SACRIFICE

Makes Stirring Appeal For Union of the Empire to the Winning of the War

London, Jan. 22.—An Imperial rescript has been addressed by Emperor Nicholas to the new Russian Premier, Prince Golotzine, calling upon him among other things to see that the government devote its first attention to the question of supplies for the armies of Russia and concentrate itself upon the development on a large scale of the measures recently taken in this connection.

"The natural resources of our country are unending. There is no danger of their becoming exhausted, as apparently is the case with our enemies. All the greater is the significance attached to the settlement of the question of supplies, which under present conditions is so important and complicated. Accordingly, I call upon the government, united in your person, to devote its attention first and foremost to the provisioning of my valiant armies, and behind the firing line, lessening those difficulties connected with supplies, inevitable in a world war. I count upon it that the joint labors of the whole government will be concentrated in the realization on a large scale and the development of the measures recently taken towards this end.

"The question of provisioning the armies and the civil population demands the combined action, not only of all the authorities at the front and in the rear, but also of all the different departments united under the control of the Council of Ministers.

Must Improve Transport "Another problem to which I attach supreme importance is the further improvement of transport, railway and waterway. The Council of Ministers should devise means to show the full utilization of the transport in order to be able, through the co-operation of all departments, to furnish our troops on the firing line and behind it with all that they require."

"In pointing out these pressing problems for your attention I express the hope that the activity of the Council of Ministers, under your Presidency, will meet the support of the Council of the Empire and the Duma, united in a unanimous, ardent desire to carry on the war to a victorious completion. All persons called upon to serve the state should act with good-will, uprightiness and identity towards the legislative institutions.

"In its coming activity in organizing the economic life of the country the government will find invaluable support in the Zemstvos, which by their works in time of peace and of war have proved that they piously maintain the shining traditions of my grandfather of imperishable memory, Emperor Alexander II.

BRIGADIER MAC DONALD OF TORONTO KILLED BY TRAIN

In Blinding Stormstorm, Locomotive Backed into Party Gathered to Say Farewell

Toronto, Jan. 22.—Colonel William Campbell Macdonald, brigadier of the 1st Brigade at the Exhibition Camp, was crushed to death last night beneath the wheels of an engine which backed into a crowd of people who gathered at the Union Station to witness the departure of an Army Service Corps draft for an eastern port. Four other spectators were injured, one of whom is not expected to recover, while a score of others were struck by the locomotive, but were fortunately buried clear of the tracks and escaped with a few bruises and minor hurts.

The accident is said to have been due to the severe gale and snowstorm which swept over the city during the day. Driven by a strong wind the snow swept across the railway tracks, completely covering the station platforms, gathered across the tracks, believing that they were standing on the platforms. While the engineer rang his bell as the locomotive approached, the cheers of the spectators were drowned out by the swirl of the wind prevented them from receiving any warning of the impending danger.

The casualty list is as follows:
Dead.
 Col. William Campbell Macdonald crushed beneath the engine, leg and thigh amputated.

Fatally Injured.
 Frank Lawarne, 87 Perth Avenue, trampled at Station "A" Postoffice, beneath the brake beams of the engine, and suffering from internal injuries. Removed to General Hospital, where no hope is held out for his recovery.

Injured.
 Isaac Broc, 1000 son of Hon. I. B. Lucas, Provincial Attorney-General, 273 Russell Hill Road, suffering from bad bruises and severe shock.

M. A. Jenkins, 1073a Bathurst street, suffering from a bad fracture of the left arm and a number of bad bruises.
Ben Cameron, 13 Tecumseh street, injured head and badly cut arm.

Arrests Follow
 Following the accident a hurried investigation was made by Acting Detective W. J. O'Connell, of No. 1 police division, which resulted in the engine crew being taken from the engine and placed under arrest on a charge of manslaughter. At midnight a third arrest was made, when the man alleged to have given the signal for the engine to run through the station, was taken into custody on a similar charge.

The arrests made are:
 John Ross, engineer, 216 Pearson avenue.
 Charles Farmer, Sarnia, Ont.
 Patrick W. Peakey, 1025 Bathurst street, railway signaller.

The tragedy marked the departure of the troop train from the station shortly after 9 o'clock. To facilitate handling the crowds the troop train was run over the freight tracks, as far beyond No. 6 passenger track. As the train pulled slowly from the station towards the east the crowds ran along in the snow, cheering and waving handkerchiefs. Col. Macdonald, accompanied by the staff of the 1st Division, stood in the centre of track No. 6, surrounded by a concourse of shouting people, when without any warning engine No. 215, running light, backed into the crowd. The colonel was struck by the pilot, and the impact of the blow made him stagger forward a couple of feet. Then he pitched headforward on the snow, directly in front of the oncoming engine, and disappeared beneath the heavy wheels.

Before Colonel Macdonald was struck, the locomotive ran down Frank Lawarne, who, unconscious of all danger, was waving a last farewell to his son. He likewise fell in front of the engine and was carried beneath the brake-beams.

In the meantime the engine was clearing its way through the crowds, scattering people to the right and left, and throwing them into a mass of struggling humanity on either side. Several received painful injuries, while many others had narrow escapes from instant death, rescuing hands pulling them from a narrow escape from a second too soon. Prominent among the rescuers was Patrol Sgt. McMenomy, of No. 1 Division, who leaped through the panic-stricken crowds and thrust his way along, pulling the people from danger. Constable Henshaw also did good work, and likewise has a number of rescues to his credit.

Crowd Panic-Stricken
 Carried along by the momentum of its own weight the engine ran fully 10 yards with the two men beneath the trucks, before it could be brought to a stop. In its wake it left a panic-stricken crowd who ran up and down the platform, shrieking and crying, while several of the injured lay unconscious on the snow. Several of the headquarters staff including Capt. William B. McPherson, attached to No. 1 division, who had a narrow escape from serious injury, restored order after considerable difficulty, and the injured were carried into a station waiting-room, where they received medical attention from Capt. G. S. Poulis, of the Exhibition camp, and Dr. Gordon Rice, who was hurriedly called. None, however, were found to be seriously enough hurt to warrant their removal to a hospital, although Simcoe, Jan. 22.—The Savoy billiard tables have been moved over to Robinson street to the store vacated by J. A. Calder last spring. The old hotel property opposite the court house has at present no occupants on the ground floor, the other floors are occupied as apartments.

There was a good showing of beef at the market on Saturday. In fact it looks as if a Saturday produce market could easily be developed here. The farmers' trade is greatest on Saturday, even though there has been considerable effort to get a Wednesday market under way. From the fact that the notes are all objected to the practice of vendors of meat selling from sleighs on the street corners, it is quite probable that there will be quite a display of meat at the market next Saturday.

Windham Township Fair
 The annual meeting of the Windham Tp. Agricultural Society was held on Saturday. The treasurer reported an encouraging report. The last Tuesday of September was set for the 1917 show, and the following officers were elected:

Hon.-Pres. Byron Pettit, Pres. N. C. Butler, 1st Vice-Pres. Stanley N. Boughner, 2nd Vice-Pres. H. M. Kellum, Sec.-Treas. Wm. McConnell, Directors, Geo. Haviland, Cecil Yeager, Wm. Robins, Jno. Silverthorn, Jno. McElhenny, Bruce Jull, Aaron Sarge, G. Boughner, Ed. Munn.

Charlotteville Boyant.
 There was joy at Walsh on Saturday when the Treasurer of the township fair announced that notwithstanding the heavy weather the fair was $100 in. Jno. Guiler and Sidney Pow, were again chosen as a well proven team as joint general managers. The district is too democratic for honorary officers and the slate for 1917 was fixed thus:

Pres. W. A. Dawson, 1st Vice-Pres. F. W. Jones, 2nd Vice-Pres., L. S. Stecney, Sec.-Treas. Melvin Rutherford, Directors, Benson Hall, A. M. Kewen, Abraham Nelson, Carl Wilson, Wesley Card, Edward Seram, Albert Everett, Chas. Guiler, W. C. Mitchell.

The fair will be held about Oct. 6th. Benson Hall was appointed delegate to the convention. The congregation of St. Paul's will meet to-night for the third time to confer in the matter of extending a call to a minister.

Some have predicted that the history of the village will be reported in Simcoe. Be this as it may, the rural fairs of the county continue as purely township agricultural fairs with keen competition for first place.

Norfolk is now in the grip of a winter of unusual depth of snow. During last week, logging teams had to stop work, because of the depth of snow on the roads and work in the woods is hampered from the same cause. Yesterday's snow, with additional snow, is responsible for reports of heavy or blocked roads everywhere. The L. E. and N. cars could not run. Towards evening the snow was encroaching in some cuts. The plow was put on and worked through the night, after passenger service ceased.

MAY BE 300 DEAD IN BIG EXPLOSION

Some Idea of the London Tragedy Is Given in the Press of That City

London, Jan. 22.—Throughout Sunday thousands of persons flocked to East London, hoping to satisfy their curiosity as to the effect of Friday's explosion in the munitions factory there. None of them, however, was able to obtain a near view of the scene owing to rigid police regulations and could only wander through the outlying streets, where most of the windows were shattered by the concussion.

The newspaper reporters, who were allowed to approach nearer the scene than the public, were formerly the site of the explosive store as a hole 100 yards across and 80 feet deep, with masses of earth, iron and all sorts of wreckage covering an area of about six acres around the hole. With the exception of the destruction was absolute.

Search for Bodies.
 "For two days," says the Daily Mail's reporter, "soldiers have been digging in and turning over the wreckage in search of bodies. About a hundred have been recovered, but those who will not be found are the most impossible to remove, the thousands of tons of earth, stone, iron and wood under which they are buried. On the whole, however, one is struck by the number of people who escaped than by the number killed. Judging from the fact that most of the factories were nearly empty and from the known proportion of casualties in certain houses, it does not appear that the death toll will exceed 300."

"It would have been much greater had the explosion occurred later, when the people had gone to bed. For this reason, the number of people who escaped than by the number killed. Judging from the fact that most of the factories were nearly empty and from the known proportion of casualties in certain houses, it does not appear that the death toll will exceed 300."

The Stories.
 The papers print columns of individual stories, pathetic in content and the most common with all explosions, such as a rickety cottage escaping, even to its windows, while adjacent substantial buildings were razed; of people nearby being unhurt, and others at a distance were killed.

The destruction of the gas tank is described as having afforded an amazing spectacle. The tank did not explode, but its top lifted and a jet of illuminating gas were liberated, igniting, a column of flame rose to a height estimated at 200 feet, burned for a few seconds and then fell, when the suddenness of the switching off of an electric light. Several other gas tanks nearby are still intact.

The explosion was not only heard within a radius of many miles from the center of London, but in rural and suburban towns, but shook buildings and broke windows a long distance away.

In normal times a panic probably would have resulted in the streets, but in this case, with the great deal of difference in what way and upon what terms it is ended. The treaties and agreements which bring it to an end, and must embody terms which will create a peace that is worth guaranteeing and preserving, a peace that will win the approval of mankind.

"No covenant of co-operative peace does not include the peoples of the new world can suffice to keep the future safe against war and yet there is only one sort of peace that the peoples of America could join in guaranteeing."

"The terms of immediate peace agreed upon will determine whether it is a peace for which such a guarantee can be secured. The question upon which the whole future peace and policy of the world is this: "Is the present war a struggle for a just and secure peace or only for a new balance of power? If it be only a struggle for a new balance of power, who will guarantee, who can guarantee, the stable equilibrium of

 The international concert, which must thereafter hold the world at peace. In every discussion of the peace that must end this war, it is taken for granted that peace must be followed by some definite concert of power which will make it virtually impossible that any such catastrophe should overwhelm us.

"Every lover of mankind, every sane and thoughtful man, must take that for granted."
 "I have sought this opportunity to address you because I thought that I owe to you as the counsel associated with me, when it will be the termination of our international obligations, to disclose to you, without reserve, the thought and purpose that have been taking form in my mind as to the duty of our government in these days to come, when it will be necessary to lay a fresh and a new plan, the foundations of peace among the nations."

ACCEPTS CALL
 Rev. W. A. Carr, of Burlington, has accepted a call to the Riverdale Baptist church here. This is to fill a vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Rev. T. E. Richards, who accepted a pulpit at Ponthill, near Welland. Mr. Carr will likely assume his new pastorate in February.

NO ATTEND CONVENTION
 An invitation has been received by his Worship Mayor Bowly, to attend a conference to be held in Boston, on February 5th to the 10th, of the American Good Roads Congress, the National Good Roads Show, and the Fourteenth Annual Convention of the American Road Builders' Association. He is also asked to select three other delegates to represent the city, preferably from the works department.

TEMPERANCE DAY
 In a large number of local churches yesterday, temperance day was observed. St. Andrew's, Presbyterian, and the Congregational churches, were addressed in the morning and evening respectively by Mr. Bengough, representing the Dominion Alliance movement. He spoke at some length, emphasizing the need for vigilance on the part of supporters of the temperance cause, that would be launched by the liquor interests when the question again comes before the electors. His address was accompanied by appropriate sketches.

Obituary

T. THOMAS
 On Saturday night one of the oldest and best known residents of the city, Mr. Thomas Thomas, passed away at his home, 12 West St., after an illness extending over the past two weeks. Mr. Thomas was one of the oldest employees at Water-Engine Works, having commenced to work there at the age of 12 years.

The deceased was born in Cornwall, England, and came to Brantford in 1852. Since his arrival in the city, he had been a member of a devoted member of Zion Presbyterian Church, and was closely interested in all matters pertaining to that institution. One son, David C., of New York and one daughter, Isabel, at home, remain to mourn the loss of a kind father. The funeral will take place from the family residence, on Tuesday afternoon, at two o'clock to Greenwood cemetery.

News Notes

Two more Italians were murdered in the feud which has been active in Detroit for some time.
 The big car ferry, Ann Harbor No. 6, which left Detroit some time ago en route to Manitowish, passed Sarnia yesterday after a terrible battle with heavy ice conditions in Lake St. Clair.

The Trade and Commerce Department, Ottawa, is issuing to all Canadian importers a form of affidavit to be made out before shipment of restricted goods from United Kingdom can be made.

The Spectator Printing Co. has purchased for $100,000 a block of property at the corner of King William and St. Catharine streets, Hamilton, and has sold part of it to the Lowe Theater for $65,000.

McCaughlin and Wilson, who pleaded guilty to the charge of attempting to rob the Bank of Commerce at Manlybarris, Alta., two months ago of nearly $12,000, were sentenced to seven years each.

The Oxford Returned Soldiers' Association has received eight offers to adopt Bessie Norton, age six years, whose soldier-father is in England and who, by the sudden death of her mother, is left friendless.

Reports that numbers of foreign-born citizens are leaving Canada through fear of compulsory military service results in the Ottawa statement that no measure of conscription has yet been under consideration by the Government.

The Royal Commission appointed last year to consider the railway situation in Canada, will not be ready to present any report to Parliament until April. An interim report will be presented then, with a more complete report promised for next autumn.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Seven vacancies in the Senate were filled Saturday afternoon in council. The new senators are Charles E. Tanner, of N. S., Adam Crosby ex-M. P. of Dr. F. J. Bourque, of N. B., George Lyne-Staunton, of Hamilton.

Frederic Nicholson, of Toronto, H. W. Richardson, of Kingston, and the remaining vacancies filled shortly thereafter are in two in Quebec, one in Manitoba and one in British Columbia.

A Notable Figure
 Mr. Tanner has a long tenure in public life and was for 10 years leader of the Conservative party in the Senate. The remaining vacancies filled shortly thereafter are in two in Quebec, one in Manitoba and one in British Columbia. Mr. Tanner has a long acquaintance with the public and is a resident of Halifax, but he is a former member of the Nova Scotia legislature in 1894. He is a Roman Catholic. The other senator from Nova Scotia is Adam B. Crosby, at present Halifax, but he is a former member of the Nova Scotia legislature in 1894. He is a Roman Catholic. The other senator from Nova Scotia is Adam B. Crosby, at present Halifax, but he is a former member of the Nova Scotia legislature in 1894. He is a Roman Catholic.

The newly appointed senator New Brunswick is Dr. F. K. of Richibucto, who is widely respected in his native Canada. He has had considerable experience in public affairs. He is a member of the House of Commons in Memramook, N.B., in 1894. He has served two terms in the Nova Scotia legislature. He is a Roman Catholic.

Of the Ontario appointments, Mr. Nicholson, of Toronto, is of great and varied business experience, who for many years

Seven New Senators Named on Saturday

One Labor Man is Included For Latest Appointments; Four Ontario Members

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Seven out of 15 vacancies in the Senate were filled at Saturday afternoon's Cabinet council. The new senators are: Charles E. Tanner, of Pictou, N. S. Adam Crosby ex-M. P., of Halifax, Dr. F. J. Bourque, of Richibucto, N. B.

George Lynch-Staunton, K. C., of Hamilton. Frederic Nicholls, of Toronto. H. W. Richardson, of Kingston. Of the remaining vacancies to be filled shortly, three are in Ontario, two in Quebec, one in Manitoba and two in British Columbia.

A Notable Figure Mr. Tanner has had a long experience in public life and was for more than 10 years leader of the Liberal-Conservative party in the Nova Scotia legislature. His long and intimate acquaintance with public affairs and his well-known ability as a debater will render him an important addition to the Senate. Mr. Tanner is one of the leaders of the Nova Scotia bar and is a resident of Pictou where he was born in 1857. He was elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature in 1894. He is an Anglican.

The other senator from Nova Scotia is Adam B. Crosby, at present of Halifax, but he is a former resident of Cape Breton. It is understood that Mr. Crosby will resume in the early future his residence on the island from which he came to Halifax as a young man. He has had considerable experience in public life and was a member of the House of Commons for Halifax during one parliamentary term. He has a wide acquaintance with business and public questions. Mr. Crosby was born in Belfast, Ireland, in 1859. He is a Roman Catholic.

New Brunswick Man The newly appointed senator from New Brunswick is Dr. F. K. Bourque of Richibucto, who is widely known and respected in his native province and has had considerable experience in public affairs. He is a French-Canadian. Sen. Bourque was born in Memramouc, N.B., in 1854. He has served two terms in the New Brunswick Legislature. He is a Roman Catholic.

Of the Ontario appointments Senator Nicholls, of Toronto, is a man of great and varied business experience, who for many years has taken a deep interest in all public questions and who will bring to the Senate ability and experience which will make him a very useful member. Senator Nicholls was born in England in 1856 and is connected with a score or more of big business enterprises in Ontario. He is an Anglican.

Senator Richardson is also a man of wide business experience and he has been especially associated with the export trade in grain, in which he has engaged with great success on a large scale for many years. His experience and well-known ability will make him a most valued member of the Upper House.

A Noted Lawyer Senator George Lynch-Staunton, of Hamilton, is one of the leading members of the Ontario bar and throughout Ontario, where his ability as a public speaker is universally recognized. In his new field of usefulness his ability will be as conspicuous as it has been in his professional life. Senator Lynch-Staunton was born in Southampton, Ont., in 1853 and was called to the bar in 1882. He was chairman of the N. T. R. board of investigation 1912.

Senator Robertson is a prominent member of one of the great railway labor organizations, the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, and is held in high regard by all who know him for the ability which characterizes his activities in all questions arising between great railway corporations and their employees.

Recently his good offices were placed at the services of both parties in a serious dispute between the C. P. R. and a large number of its employees in the West. Both parties to the controversy assured the Government that Mr. Robertson's services in this dispute were exceedingly valuable and aided greatly in the settlement which was eventually reached.

Mr. Robertson's presence in the Senate is an evidence of the considerations which doubtless will be accorded to labor interests in making further appointments. Senator Robertson was born in the Maritime Provinces, and early in life entered the employ of the C.P.R. as telegrapher. He resigned from that company on being elected vice-president of his union. He is about 48 years of age.

Laymen and Church Union

The following are a few of the thousands of Presbyterian laymen who heartily approve of the Church Union movement, and permit their names to be attached to the following appeal to the people of Canada:

"We recognize that the basis of union permits and expects existing congregations to continue in every particular exactly as before.

"We regret any insinuation that the big city church (whose congregational life will be absolutely unaffected) is selfishly indifferent to a movement which we believe could meet the religious needs of the country and place the united church in a position to assume a national responsibility for the Canada that is to be.

"We believe conditions generally, but especially in the more sparsely settled districts, demand Union for the sake of efficiency and effective leadership, and to avoid unseemly rivalry, overlapping and waste."

Montreal—Lord Mount Stephen, First President Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. R. B. Angus, Director, Bank of Montreal. Sir Herbert Ames, M.P., Montreal. Hon. Chief Justice Archibald, Montreal. Hon. THE SITUATION.

In view of the undoubtedly troubled state of internal affairs in Russia, with pro-German elements still a force in the land, the edict just issued by the Czar is of all the greater significance. In the document he calls upon the new Premier to see that Russia's part in the struggle against the Teutons, is waged even more vigorously, and enjoins the authorities to see that still greater steps are taken in the matter of better supplies for troops and an improved service of transportation. He also dwells upon the need of "complete solidarity with our faithful Allies."

The British forces in Mesopotamia continue to advance and they have now acquired the whole of the Turkish trench system in the bend of the river Northeast of Kut-el-Amara.

The Russo-Rumanian forces now continue to hold the enemy very well indeed in Roumania. The claim is made from Berlin that Mackensen captured bridgehead and town of Nanesi, and inflicted severe losses on the Russians, also taking 556 prisoners. Speaking generally, however, the position of affairs in the Rumanian theatre of the struggle shows improvement from the standpoint of the Allies.

In Switzerland, there is still the apprehension among the people that their country may become invaded, and there are rumors also that Holland may become a victim.

Speaking at Birmingham, Mr. Arthur Chamberlain, Director-General of National Service, made it very clear that recourse will be had to compulsory national service if the appeal for voluntary service fails to evoke a sufficient response. He added that "the Government are very much in earnest about this matter."

ROWELL'S APOSTASY.

When Premier Hearst introduced an act in the Ontario Legislature which abolished the bars of the Province, Rowell as Liberal leader parted heartily congratulations over the measure. While said Rowell was on a trip to England there were two by-elections, one in Perth and the other in South West Toronto. In both, practically the sole issue was the abolition of the bar and liquor interests joined with the Liberal forces in an attempt to teach Hearst "a lesson" on this point. The combination was successful, but many felt that on the return of the Liberal leader he would put his foot down on any such alliance in the future.

Not so. In the North West Toronto by-election, which takes place to-day, there has been the same effort to defeat the Conservative standard bearer, (Hon. Mr. Macpherson) because the bars have been abolished, and Rowell has given the Liberal standard bearer his blessing and active support.

The Courier believes that this combination has shot its bolt and that a reaction has very properly set in. West Simcoe, where the same tactics were employed, gave distinct evidence of this and it will be a matter for very great surprise if tonight the returns in the Toronto contest fail to still further bring home the fact.

The dodge of shaking a fist at the bars with one hand and leaning with the other elbow on the liquor barrel for support, isn't going to permanently work out in this Province.

CANNON SPILLS THE BEANS.

There is a bye-election for the Dominion House in progress in Dorchester County, Quebec. Hon. A. Sevigny carried the seat in the last general election by 322 majority. After parliament assembled he was made speaker, but upon the recent death of Hon. Mr. Casgrain, he was taken into the cabinet with the result that he has to go back to his constituents. Here is another case in which the Liberals, after the usual custom, should have allowed an acclamation, but the Grit manipulators these days do not give a wrap for the decencies.

Lucien Cannon is their candidate and he is conducting a most violent and significant campaign. He alleges that Sevigny has proved a "traitor" because he has failed to live up to previous statements that Canada should not participate in Great Britain's wars, and such terms as "liar" are common in his references to his opponent. Here is a sample extract from one of his tirades:—

"National service is preliminary to conscription and with the chief of my party, I am against conscription. Do not forget one thing. There are men in the Borden cabinet who want to cut the head off the French-Canadian race. If Mr. Sevigny is elected, what will be the result? The government will believe that the Province of Quebec is in favor of conscription.

"I am not against participation in the war. I consider England is fighting a fair and just war. There are, however, considerations, national and Canadian. Are we to ruin our country from the point of view of men and wealth and everything else for England? I say no, without hesitation. If you elect Sevigny there will be no limits to the sacrifices that Canada will have to make."

In answer to the attacks made upon him Hon. Mr. Sevigny has apologized for Cannon's "vulgarity," and he has thus met the traitor charge:—

"Referring to his attitude in 1911 toward participation in the war of the Empire, as denounced by his opponent, Mr. Sevigny said that the present Prime Minister of Great Britain, the man thought most fit to guide Britain in these troublous times, was the same man who in 1899 had risen in the British House of Commons to denounce the South African War, and had refused to vote the money for the payment of the British soldiers who were fighting for the British flag. Surely, said Mr. Sevigny, as humble an individual as himself could not be blamed if in 1911 he had not, like all others, foreseen the doings of 1914-1915."

At each of the Liberal gatherings canvassers carry with them national service cards, and they are attempting to make the people believe that they mean conscription.

Cannon makes the boast everywhere that he has the support of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and of Sir Lomer Guoin, Premier of Quebec, in his campaign and there is naturally consternation among Laurier's English speaking supporters over what is being attempted.

The whole affair constitutes an eloquent illustration of just how dangerous a menace it would prove to Canada and the Empire in this crisis to have Laurier in power with a solid French-Canadian backing. The peril is one which the English speaking people of Canada will most assuredly see does not take place.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

People are referring to this as an "old fashioned winter." As to that it is the oldest ever yet experienced.

The Courier to-night will bulletin the result of the Toronto by-election.

It appears that Laurier ordered the Quebec bye-election. Why? Does he hope to deduce from the outcome the advisability or otherwise of forcing a general election?

"Sign the National Service cards" says Laurier for Ontario consumption. "Beware of the cards" says the candidate whom Laurier endorses in Dorchester, Quebec. "For they mean conscription." And in this incident you have the whole grit game.

Cannon, who is conducting an anti-British campaign in Dorchester County is now attempting via the Toronto Globe and other Liberal papers, to claim that he didn't say what he said. The trouble is that his remarks were intended for French-Canadian consumption only and he didn't expect that they would get into Ontario papers. He also knows that the constituents of the Riding will not see his denials.

News Notes of 215th Battalion

Lt.-Col. Campbell, of the General Staff, Toronto, was in the city to-day and conducted a general inspection of the 215th battalion.

The battalion attended church parade yesterday morning at Colborne St. church, the sermon being delivered by the Rev. W. E. Baker.

On Saturday night the concert given for the benefit of the men in the Conservatory of Music, in the early part of the week, was repeated for the men of the battalion and their friends, in the Y. M. C. A. and was, as on the previous occasion, an entire success.

A further list of twenty-three names of men of military age has been received by Lt.-Col. Snider, from the citizens' recruiting league of Paris. This completes the lists for the town, ninety-one names having been previously sent in.

The men of the battalion are indebted to the Adams Wagon Works, for the contribution of a load of hard wood for their use at the indoor range on Dalhousie St. This donation will be a material benefit to the men, enabling them to practice their musketry under comfortable conditions.

DON'T think because you have taken many remedies in vain that your case is hopeless. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many seemingly hopeless cases of scrofula, rheumatism, kidney complaint, dropsy and general debility. Take Hood's.

Jewelry Repairs

And Special Order Work

We repair and make to order in the best possible manner all kinds of jewelry. We are anxious that we should be your family jewelers—not only supplying your larger wants, but every want, large or small.

The smallest jewelry repair which you need, concerns us, just because it concerns you. If it is only a brooch, a pin or some trifling repair, or something you want made special to order, send it to us. You will find it done promptly, satisfactorily and reasonably, for we appreciate that you will judge us in all larger transactions by the manner in which we attend to your little repair jobs.

Obituary

The death occurred on Sunday of Helen Esther Wilson, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Willson, 36 Lyons Avenue. The bereaved parents will have the sympathy of many friends.

The death took place this morning of Mr. James Ennis, 242 Marlboro street. Deceased, who was sixty-two years of age, was on a visit with his nephew, Mr. Herbert Robbins, Hamilton, when he was taken ill with pneumonia. He was an employe of the Cocksbutt Plow Works, and well liked by everyone. He leaves to mourn his great loss a sorrowing widow and one brother in Port Huron.

ALEX. WHITE. The death occurred at the Brant Sanitarium on Saturday night of Alex. White, aged thirty-two years. The funeral took place this afternoon, to Greenwood cemetery.

MISS ROBINSON The death occurred suddenly this morning at the Brantford General Hospital of Miss Lottie B. Robinson, aged twenty-eight years, the eldest daughter of Mr. John W. Robinson, 158 Oxford street. She was a graduate of the Mount Sinai Hospital, New York. In addition to her parents, two sisters, Wavie Mav, and Olive of Toronto, and one brother, Archibald, from Southern Alberta, survive the deceased. The funeral arrangements will be decided upon later.

A. Vaughn. Port Burwell, Jan. 19.—One of the most picturesque characters of the village passed away last Friday in the person of Azariah Vaughn, at the age of 78 years, and 26 days. The body was brought to Port Burwell and the funeral took place Monday from the home of his son, Hezekiah, to the Baptist cemetery. Service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Croly. Deceased was born at Port Robinson, Ont., but has been a resident of this district for half a century. He was a mason by trade, an expert ventriloquist and a confirmed practical joker and his name is coupled with most of the humorous anecdotes of local pioneer days. He was twice married, but both wives predeceased him. He had two daughters are living: Nelson, Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Gamble, of Walsingham. There are three sons and two daughters: Jim, of Port Burwell; St. Thomas; Hezekiah, of Port Burwell; Mrs. Walters, of Hamburg and Mrs. Weir of Brantford.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapiesin" Ends All Stomach Distress in Five Minutes.

Time! Time! Pape's Diapiesin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes. If your meals don't fit comfortably or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you in this drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapiesin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

Hockey

The Brantford Juniors go to Paris to-night for the third game of the series, with a two-game lead over their opponents. The selection of the team to take the ice for the playoffs is still in abeyance, but will be picked from those who have played in former games, with Bennett, McHutchion, Whitaker, and Davis as possible choices.

The practices during the past week, have been regularly held, but have been rather poorly attended, owing to the illness of some of the contenders for position. The boys are all confident of another victory to-night, and will have to exert themselves to the utmost, as the green and black of Paris, are determined on their own ice to retrieve their reputation, and stay in the running, and to do this they will have to win to-night. A special car has been chartered to convey the local enthusiasts to the game, and in view of the splendid showing made thus far, a good crowd is expected to take in the trip.

Three Soldiers Return Home

Three returned heroes arrived in the city on Sunday, and were accorded the usual civic reception by representatives of the Soldiers' Aid Commission. Privates E. Hollman, who resides at 1 Cocksbutt Lane, and J. Meadowcroft, 19 Alonzo St., arrived in the afternoon on the 4.30 radial car from Hamilton, and were conveyed to their homes in automobiles. Private H. Root, 103 Chestnut Avenue, came in on the 7.32 G.T.R. train and was also met and given a hearty welcome back to Brantford.

SUGAR CARDS IN FRANCE

All Confectioners' Shop Ordered Closed Two Days of Week

Paris, Jan. 21.—Introduction of sugar cards has been definitely decided on. Prefects of department have been instructed to put the new regulation into force without delay. In order to limit the consumption of sugar to a minimum, restrictions will be placed on the manufacture of syrups, liqueurs, jam, pastry, etc. The Official Gazette publishes an order closing confectioners' shops on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. On these days the serving of confectionery will be prohibited in restaurants and tea shops.

Forty Killed in Wreck

Amsterdam, via London, Jan. 22.—A Vienna despatch to The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger says that forty persons are reported killed in the wreck of a Trieste-Vienna train in Styria.

The train was struck by an enormous rock and another train which was the result of the wreckage, causing additional deaths.

NEW PRUSSIAN BONDS. By Courier Leased Wire. Amsterdam, via London, Jan. 22.—The Vorwarts (Berlin) says that new Prussian five per cent. exchange bonds will be issued at 99.4 for those who wish to exchange for them the four per cent. exchange bonds which fall due on May 1 to the amount of 200,000,000 marks.

FASHION FORECASTS

High Crowned Hats Will be in Favor, New Skirts to be Narrow, Paris Decrees

This is the time for an inventory on the fashions. It is well to look over the field of clothes and see what is worn out, make up our minds as to what is worth keeping, get a good idea of what is necessary to discard, and take a glimpse into the immediate future to see what France has sent us for 1917.

To begin with hats: No tilt is considered fashionable. There are women who refuse to adhere to the new law of military severity in a line that goes straight across the forehead and above the ears; they argue that their features and their general appearance are changed by following this new law of fashion. That, however, does not change the fact.

The correct pose of the hat, whether it is large or small, simple or ornate, is straight on the head. It covers the forehead. It merely discloses the eyebrows, but it does not cover any of the ears. If it is a turban it must not slide down in the back to the nape of the neck; it must not look as though it had been pulled on at the last moment after one had started down stairs.

White for ten centuries has been the headband itself. Its mission in fashion is soldier's cap. It must show white, nor sag, nor tilt. It must show whatever is possible of the hair at the line around the head must be kept at all costs.

So much for the pose which the French say is the main point in any hat, as it should be. Every woman quite capable of ruining the entire expression of her face by changing the pose of her hat for an eighth of an inch. America has had difficulty in grasping this fact. France has known it for ten centuries.

White for shape, the hats that have succeeded are the Russian turbans and the wide-brimmed sailors, with an edge that curves with the grace of a seagull's wings, and a soft, collapsible crown; also the elaborate hat of tulle which has a brim that dips slightly down in front in order that the eyes may look through it.

There is no evidence, coming or going, of hats that perch high on the head, that show any glimpse of hair on the forehead, or that call for any coiffure that is not sleek, slightly curled, if at all, and brought down low on the forehead.

The collapsible crown is almost a necessity. It is the artistic compromise between the round, low crown of 1914 and the high, stiff crown of 1915. A few of the young and daring set were able to carry off the pot hat of the Eton schoolboy and the more graceful version of it worn by the Robespierre, but the majority could not stand the height or the severity of this piece of millinery.

The material that will be kept for 1917 are panne velvet, silk beaver, embroidered tulle and pliable fur.

Emphasis on the Mediaeval. There is no chance that mediaevalism will disappear from the new gowns. Every evidence impresses one more deeply that mediaeval gowns will grow in fashion and even become more eccentric in their workmanship as spring advances. Straight lines from shoulder to heels are sought by most of the well-dressed women in the country.

The belt at the normal waistline is rarely seen, except between a white blouse and a tailored skirt. The belts that are put on outside blouses and one-piece frocks are sometimes placed at the normal line, but they are loose, ornamental, and do not attempt to hold in the material beneath.

The one-piece frock is still running a deadly rivalry against the coat and skirt. Fur coats, as well as long cloth coats with lavish fur trimming, are really responsible for the partly successful boycott of the tailored suit. Women who have taken up the top coat with so much eagerness that they are willing to throw aside any other garment that keeps them from wearing it. The thin, one-piece frock is, therefore, the fashion of the hour, but the sensible woman has one good coat suit in her wardrobe.

Another reason for the popularity of the one-piece frock is the insistence upon late afternoon certainty in a line that is made by the masses of people, and not by the few idle ones as heretofore.

A fashion that will not be discarded in 1917 is to match an evening wrap to the gown, or an economy hold one to only two evening wraps, they must harmonize with one's evening frocks, and, if possible, match two of them. As peacock blue, green, and three shades of blue are the colors most frequently chosen for evening wraps, it shows that evening gowns themselves display a partiality toward costume coloring.

The dahlia shades are rising in favor, and smart turbans are covered with large dahlias in their deeper shades. There will be a suit of a deep purple and an outside blouse of another shade of purple to contribute to the dahlia effect. This is true in afternoon clothes and it has gained followers in evening clothes. Certain smart women who come in to fashionable places look like dahlias in full bloom, as every part of their costume represents some one shade of this flower. It may be that the early part of 1917 will be a dahlia season. Such is the inference.

The newest French evening wraps have the entire upper part of fur and the lower part of brilliant brocade. Several of them look like portieres made of bright brocade. The sombre evening wrap and the black wrap have practically disappeared. There is, however, an immensely good new one which has its top of old ivory colored brocade velvet, to which a sweeping cape of black panne velvet is attached in wide, fluted pleats which, as they open at the top, disclose a lining of plain ivory velvet. This cape is extraordinarily full and it is slit at the sides, with immensely wide cuffs put into the slits which serve as sleeves.

Will We Change Our Skirts. Every cable brings from Paris the news that the skirts of 1917 will be narrow. All those in the watch tower here have proclaimed the coming of this enemy to full skirts since last September, but only in limited degrees of society was the news acted upon. The manufacturers had the material for full skirts, the average woman wanted full skirts, the whole sale houses turned them out by the thousands, and it was only left to the exclusive women and their dress-makers to cut down the width and lengthen the hem.

Even now there are skirts that are slightly gathered to the waistline, and these are coming from some of the best houses in Paris, but they are dropped over a lower skirt that is quite narrow. No matter what the fullness, every skirt clings to the figure, as it did in the end of the eighteenth century.

Petticoats are dead, unless they are of chiffon, crepe de chine, or jersey silk. The question which will soon confront every woman is whether she wishes to change the silhouette of her skirt or go on wearing it until it is ready to be discarded. One cheerful feature of the return to the slim silhouette is that a full skirt can be cut into a narrow one with ease.

There is a rumor that France and America in combination will present ribbon as a substitute for embroidery. It is possible that America is the father in this thought. The manufacturers in this country have ardently wished for definite fashions from Paris that would feature miles of ribbon used in any way possible to cover the surface of clothes. The demand for ribbon has been worked up in Paris to some extent through American exporters who represented factories that could turn out ribbon in this country, but so far all attempts have failed to produce a real call for this kind of ornamentation.

France is the land of embroidery. Her women know how to do it, and they ask little for doing it. As long as Paris keeps embroidery in fashion, she will be able to supply thousands of needle workers with the means of procuring food and coal. She will not, however, be able to indulge in such good management if she throws embroidery out of fashion and substitutes ribbon.

America is not the land of embroidery, and she does not possess skilled workers. Wherever it is done, the work is expensive. Therefore, our dress-makers and shopkeepers do not want embroidery to stay in style, and our mills would like ribbon to be used by the mile, instead of the yard.

The Americans say that this latter will be done when the spring is ushered in, and it is true that Paris has designed quite marvelous ribbons copied from antique designs, usually with garlands of roses printed on colored silk. There are also gold stripes at the edges of colored ribbon, with roses printed on the gold.

Another minor fashion which has come into being and which calls for embroidery is the ornamental glove. A few women have been foolish enough to wear hand-painted ones recently at afternoon affairs, but there will always be women foolish enough to do anything. The glove which is embroidered in a simple way will be at the height of style, because America has learned how to do it with the machine instead of by hand.

Already seven teams have entered the batting tournament at the automatic baseball game, and the first contest will be batted to-night, the opposing teams being the Gould, Shapley and Muir vs. The Verity Flow Co.

ADDRESSED TEACHERS

The Rev. R. A. Hiltz, of Toronto, preached yesterday morning in St. Jude's church, and in the afternoon at half past two addressed the teachers of the Sunday school, and later talked to the pupils themselves. His messages were inspiring and helpful, and were listened to with deep interest throughout.

BACK IN THE TRENCHES

Lt. F. MacDonald of the 4th battalion is back in the trenches after being wounded in October last, according to word received by his father in this city. Lt. MacDonald spent some time convalescing in England and Scotland, and has now returned to duty, as have also a number of the 4th battalion officers who were wounded at the same time.

IS COMING HOME

Mr. G. A. MacDonald this morning received word that his son Lt. W. R. MacDonald sailed from Liverpool for Canada on the steamer Northland on Jan. 13. Lt. MacDonald went overseas as a cyclist and was later transferred to the 4th battalion, with which unit he remained until last October, when, after being severely burned by gasoline he was invalided to a London hospital and is now on his way home.

FIRST BAPTIST

The services yesterday were conducted by the pastor. The morning subject was "Vital Elements in a Saving Faith." The inspiration and authority of the sacred scriptures, the deity of Christ, the atonement of Christ, and the surrendered life were each in turn emphasized as essential. In the afternoon, more than 300 were present, despite the storm. Mr. C. Cook was in charge in the absence of the superintendent Mr. J. F. Schultz through illness. In the evening a splendid audience gathered, and an excellent service was enjoyed. "The best things in Life" was the subject, text, Isaiah 55, 6-7. The music was excellent at all the services. Mr. Pickering sang "Awake, Awake" in the morning, and Mr. J. A. Harrod sang "Open the gates of the temple" in the evening. The choir rendered effective anthems at both services.

WIRE NEEDED

The work on the rewiring of the alarm system of the city was again suspended to-day, being halted through a lack of copper wire. It was expected that a further supply would be received later in the day, enough at least to allow the men to proceed with the work. Only a small portion of the north ward remains to be completed, and if the requisite supply of wire is received the work will probably be completed by the latter end of the week.

OLD GOSPEL AT IMMANUEL CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Spencer Continues Most Successful Revival Services There

Dr. Spencer and Rev. Alexander had a great day in their special meetings yesterday. Cold and snow did not keep people away. The Doctor was in good form and delivered a powerful sermon on the Sacredness of the Individual Life, the Family, the State and the Church.

The men's meeting brought nearly 100 men. Mr. A. E. Martin contributed a solo. Mr. Cecil Discher officiated at the organ, the male choir sang in chorus splendidly. Dr. Spencer's message on Grace, Grit and Gumption was full of stirring ideas, and whooping and cheering young men at the close professed his desire to accept salvation.

The church was nearly filled to the doors at night. A man, scriptural and every kind of message on the Return of Christ was given. The teaching of the Bible on this subject was the only authority. It formed a large and important place in God's Word. His return would be a fact; it was going to be a personal return; nevertheless no one knew the hour or day, and it was useless to develop a theory. This great event would bring victory over death. Man's dogmatism and curiosity were to be avoided on this subject, the Bible would speak for itself. It would be a day of retribution for some. A day of resurrection and transformation to others. It was foolish for men to say God was too kind to punish sin. God was just. God was equal in all His attributes. He did not have a big heart of love, and a small heart of justice. When the congregation sang Isaac Watts' "I am not ashamed to Own My Lord," another three young men in answer to the invitation walked from away back in the Church, up the aisle and publicly confessed their determination to live for God. It was a noble sight. It needed the Evangelist shaking their hands the people sang their melody to Tipperary tune.

"It's a good thing to be a Christian, it's the best thing I know." The meetings that have been of the deepest interest both to Church and Sunday School will close on Wednesday, when Dr. Spencer will leave to conduct a mission at Springfield, Miss McCombe and Mr. Davis sang splendidly. "Lead Me Gently Home."

DEAN BRADY

Announces a Large Revenue For St. Basil's Church In St. Basil's Church yesterday Very Rev. Dean Brady read the financial statement for 1916. It showed the largest revenue ever secured in the history of the Parish, the total receipts having exceeded $12,000. Out of this sum $5,700 has been wiped off the debt of the building fund. An envelope system introduced last year has been largely responsible for the enhanced revenue. It is hoped during the coming year to wipe out all indebtedness, including $2,000 on the new cemetery.

A DOLLAR SAVED IS A DOLLAR EARNED. This old saying will be amply verified on Dollar Day at Brantford's Great New Store, as hundreds of worthy money saving opportunities will be found. Undesirable goods will be marked by their absence, as everything offered will be worthy, and worth more than the price asked. E. B. Crompton and Co., Limited.

Lajoie is One of the Big Men of Baseball

New Toronto Manager Compared With Anson and Wagner—Never Yet on a Champion Club

Considering his lengthy and brilliant career on the diamond, it seems regrettable that little more than casual notice was given by the press generally to the passing from major league baseball of Larry Lajoie. Of course he really was through last fall, but the notice of his departure could not be definite until this week when he signed to manage Toronto, and thus linked his fortunes from now on, with the minors. As a general thing, only slight notice of Lajoie's action was taken. That's the way it goes with the ball player. He's lauded while he's star, but soon forgotten when age—in the baseball sense of that word—creeps on him. Larry had been in major league ball continuously for 21 seasons. Only two men in the history of the game, Cap Anson and Hans Wagner, have equalled his record of batting better than .300 in 16 seasons. He is one of 34 men of all baseball time that have passed the .400 mark, hitting .422 in the American League, in 1901, and thereby setting a record for this organization that still stands. Four times Lajoie was champion batsman of the American League. He never held the title in the National because he had to battle fellows like Burkett and Delahanty and

EXPLANATION OF KITCHENER AFFAIR

New Postmaster General Rescinded Order As It Was Illegal

REGULATIONS

Of the Postal Union Were Contravened By It.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—An explanation of the Post-office Department's action in rescinding recently a previous order that all letters wrongly addressed to "Berlin, Ont." instead of "Kitchener," should be sent to the Dead Letter Office, is forthcoming as a result of certain observations in some of the Liberal newspapers in connection with the matter.

The order was rescinded because after it had been passed by the late Hon. Mr. Casgrain it was represented to Hon. P. E. Blondin, the new Postmaster-General, that it was illegal. It was pointed out that it contravened the regulations of the postal union and the treaty rights of the United States as well as the domestic law of Canada. The Post-office Department, in fact, received a letter from the Washington authorities asking for an explanation as to why many letters written in the United States and on which the old address of Berlin was wrongly inscribed had been sent to the Dead Letter Office instead of being forwarded.

The new Postmaster-General, in view of these facts, rescinded the order and Kitchener is now being treated as any other Canadian post-office would be treated in like circumstances.

BRITAIN TO LEASE GREEK MARINE

Removal of Royalist Troops To Restricted Zone is Being Carried Out

Athens, Jan. 22.—The period of 15 days, during which the transfer of Greek forces to the Peloponnese must take place, began Saturday. The conditions imposed by the allies are so complete that any question of attack upon Gen. Sarrail's army is unrealizable. Only 3,000 troops will be permitted in the north isthmus of Corinth. Every gun, even machine guns, will be removed. If the Government continues to comply with the transfer of the troops with good will the slackening of the blockade and the return of the allied Ministers to their Legations may be expected in a week's time.

All Greek ship owners have been informed that the British Government intends to charter all suitable Greek steamers, leaving a sufficient number to ply to countries for necessities. Some newspapers are quick to lament the seizure of Greece's commercial fleet, and differ of opinion as to the wisdom of the contract as published, but that which is understood to be correct reveals the terms as advantageous. England will pay 30c a ton per month, the tonnage calculated on the weight of the cargo loaded. They are insured by the British Government from £30 to £40 per ton, the rate varying with the age of the steamer. The vessels will be chartered for the duration of the war and six months after, and make such voyages as the Government deems to accept the agreement the ships will be commandeered at the rate of 7s per ton. In case of acceptance even should war break out between Greece and the allies the contract will continue, and unaltered profits paid the owners through the Ship Owners' Association of London. The Piræus ship owners showed no dislike to the bargain.

DAYLIGHT SAVING A FAILURE.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Amsterdam, via London, Jan. 22.—According to the Vossische Zeitung, a copy of which has been received here, the committee of the Prussian diet, after considerable discussion voted that the daylight saving hours had proved a failure and rejected a proposal for the operation of the plan in 1917. The committee's report, however, recommended leaving the final decision to the Imperial government.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The second annual high tea of the Women's Institute, held on Thursday evening at Grand View school, was a great success, giving much encouragement to the ladies of that district in behalf of the great work being carried on by them.

Considering the stormy nature of the evening, a large number turned out, the guests being seated around the tables which were tastefully decorated and arranged to represent the letters I. T. I. The many good things which graced the festive board were very plainly the good results attained by the ladies in this one department of their activity. After all had settled down to enjoy to the fullest the good program provided, Miss E. Tattersall, the toast-mistress, reading upon all to sing the opening ode.

The first toast, "Our King," proposed by Mr. Denton and responded to by Mr. E. Schertzberg, resulted in everyone joining heartily in singing God Save the King. The following number, a reading by Miss U. Willis, entitled "The Night Riders," being descriptive of the life, habits, pleasures and hardships of the Northwest Mounted Police. Miss Willis proved herself an eloquentist of great worth.

"Our Country," proposed by Mr. D. Wood, responded to by Mrs. (Rev.) J. Chapman, brought forth one of Mr. Wood's usually interesting and highly instructive orations. Her dwelling on the richness and grandeur of Canada and the British Empire, Mrs. Chapman's response was equally enjoyed.

Mrs. Savage was next called upon to give a vocal solo, which she rendered in a very talented manner, after which Miss R. Fyle proceeded to take the guests on a trip through the Selkirk. Judging from the looks of everyone present, they all took the trip, so realistic was the description. The piano solo, which followed, "Old Black Joe in Variations" by Mrs. J. Laing, was one of the great musical events of the evening, perfect fingering and harmony showing her to be rarely gifted.

"Grand View and Terrace Hill Institute," was the next toast on the list, being proposed by Mr. Wm. Egan, who said that the Women's Institutes from the time of their inception and first organization at Stoney Creek up to the present time, furnishing figures to show the rapid growth of this worthy institution. The response by Mrs. A. McWebb, president of that branch further showed the usefulness, objects and aims of the Institute, and the grand results being attained.

Mrs. Kinney next proposed "Our Guests," thanking all for their help to the ladies, and expressing the hope that the institute would still continue with renewed vigor in the forward movement, reciting a humorous sketch to show the determination and improvement made in one of the grandest of our institutions, the Women's Institutes. Mrs. Kinney expressed his sympathy for the cause of woman suffrage.

In the concluding toast, "Our Men," Miss R. Fyle paid high tribute to the grand soldiers and sailors now fighting in the cause of the Empire. The response, led by Mrs. Savage and Mrs. J. Laing, being the singing of the Women's Institute National Anthem. "God save our splendid Men."

Mr. W. Harris then thought it would not be right to allow the gathering to disperse without showing appreciation for the very enjoyable evening spent, and expressed the hope to see the Institute and Improvement Society in a joint meeting in the near future. He asked all gentlemen present to join in a hearty toast, after which the ladies thanked him for his kind help of the day. The gathering then broke up at an early hour to the strains of "Auld Lang Syne."

Entertainment at Ohsweken

An entertainment worthy of special notice was given in the Parish Hall, Ohsweken, Thursday night under the auspices of St. Peter's Sunday School. Most of the Program was given by children from the Mahawk Institute, Brantford, whose clever acting and musical ability greatly delighted the audience. The promoters of the entertainment were especially fortunate in securing Mr. Douglas Oliver, the well known violinist, from Onondaga, who accompanied by Mrs. Roderick Hill, pianist, gave several selections which were greatly appreciated. Recitations by Miss Clara McMillan, of Onondaga, and children from the local Sunday school were well received.

"UNITY ESSENTIAL IN THE CHURCH"

Rev. J. B. Fotheringham Delivered First Sermon at Grace Church

The Rev. J. B. Fotheringham occupied the pulpit at Grace Church for the first time since his induction yesterday morning, when in a powerful address, enlivened by the strong personality and character of the speaker, he made striking appeal for unity and co-operation within the parish.

The Rev. Mr. Fotheringham took as his text the words found in the Prophets, "To serve Him with one shoulder," and proceeded to explain the manner in which the slaves of olden days were wont to carry yokes upon their shoulders, all interlocked together and serving their master as it were with one common shoulder. Such a vision was that seen by the prophet of the coming of the Lord, when the heathen should be converted and all should be as of one mind and spirit, united in bringing about the work of His holy kingdom. The speaker continued to point out the essentially in every organization of the extra step so that all might take their positions and put their shoulders to bear the strain. In this way, and this way alone, gigantic tasks might be undertaken and impossible feats achieved. The cause of the disorder and misery in the world to-day was the disregard of the primal and essential truth that all must bear equally in the load. So long as the moral law placed by God equally over all were obeyed by all, then perfection reigned in the state, but when these laws were broken, when some shoulders slipped out from beneath the wheel, then came disorder and the beginning of misery. God had laid equal loads upon all, and upon the bearing of their dependent the welfare of a family, the prosperity of a community, the peace of a nation. If any slipped out from beneath the load, it meant a burden for someone else; the misery of the present war came from the act of one nation in usurping a position not its own and compelling others to bear unfair burdens. Peace within the home, the speaker pointed out, came from the recognition of the place and position of each individual member, and of the performance of the duties of each member. So it was with the church and state, that the gospel of a common shoulder must be understood to true unity, this gospel was essential, for in any great forward movement to be undertaken, there must be a coming together of all shoulders.

The Church of Christ was shown by the speaker to be an organization, a society, wherein all had a place, the church had a history in the past, it had a ministry and sacraments here on earth, but greater even than this, it had a working continuity, the power of exemplifying the Divine Will among men. Were it not for this, the church were but a huge machinery built to no end, a vast monument for appearance only. In order that the church should have a working continuity, it was necessary that none should stand aside, lost in either admiration or engrossed in fault finding; the man or woman who refused to place a shoulder beneath the common burden had a power fatal to the state, to the community, but above all, to the church. A perfect church was never to be expected in this world, and perfection could only be achieved to that degree to which there existed a perfect working spirit of harmony among the members.

The great problem in Canada to-day, was that of the unequal burden, for some were bearing very heavy loads, were joining in the march to the common view, while others would not respond to the call for national service or volunteers. At such a time as this it was that all were able to discern clearly those who followed the doctrine of the common shoulder and those who distended it. Only when all were united could it come success, and in the church, when all were in perfect accord and understanding would be achieved to some measure the condition of being one in Christ Jesus the Lord.

The Rev. Mr. Fotheringham spoke also at the evening service. Large congregations were in attendance at both services, despite the inclement weather.

Why One Man Gave to the Patriotic Fund

You Should Give to the Fund During The Coming Campaign in Brantford

The task of raising the Canadian Patriotic Fund is not all serious work. It is illumined here and there by flashes of humor, and everywhere there crop out touches of human nature that add zest to the work.

Take the case of a Quebec county councillor. His council had been asked to contribute a certain sum yearly, and an officer of the Fund called on him to secure his endorsement of the proposal. He listened to an explanation of the details, and then started to estimate what the new taxation would imply to him. Then he said: "All right, I'll vote for the grant. I find that it will cost me eight dollars,—but I'd rather pay even twenty dollars than go to the war!"

The campaign for the Patriotic Fund in this city, will take place on February 6, 7, and 8 next, when an objective of $150,000 is aimed at. You can help; give and win.

LIFE CHANGES MY MIND.
"Do I contradict myself," said Walt Whitman, when he was accused of inconsistent statements; "then I contradict myself."

I want to contradict myself to-day.

I said once on a time that a funeral service was a barbarous thing, an unnecessary strain, an intrusion of forms and conventionalities on the privacy of grief, a ghoulish, morbid sort of ceremony that ought to be done away with.

I could see no reason for its existence except the crystallizations of custom, and I said I would never willingly have a funeral service held over me. A brief commitment service and cremation were my ideal of the happiest way of dealing with the unfortunate residue the spirit leaves behind it.

They Actually Have a Value
Gradually I have come to understand that funeral services, like many other apparently futile customs, actually have a value.

They are a screen between the bereaved and a full realization of loss.

Suppose there were no funerals at all. Suppose that a few hours after death the body were removed with a brief private ceremony. Think of the appalling emptiness, the blankness that would ensue.

There has been all the confusion, the excitement, the strain of sickness. It is all over at once. There has been so much to do—and now there is nothing!

This Is What Justifies Funerals
Funerals are to give people something to do for a day or two.

Because of funerals, there are arrangements to make, there are notices to write, relatives to notify. Flowers come and one must look at them and know whom they are from.

The one who is bereaved may resent all this. He wishes to relax into an apathy of grief and feels that these formalities are the last straw. In reality "something to do" whether he wants to or not is saving him from himself.

How We Hate It and How It Saves Us!
After the funeral there are notes to write, letters of condolence to answer, and thanks for flowers.

Another intrusion—how one resents it! And how it saves one, carries one along a bit further toward the period when time will have healed the wound just that bare trifle which makes the ache within the power of human endurance!

When one is young, one scornfully points out the uselessness of so many of the formalities and conversions of life. But as one grows a bit older one begins to be a bit less sure.

Do you ever wonder what life will change your mind about next?

CONFESION
I ate too much roast turkey, upon Thanksgiving day, and now my works are lanky, the gears are out of play. I swallowed Christmas chickens, and Christmas pies and cakes, and like the well known dickens, my stomach bucks and aches. I swallowed New Year candy, all day, in my abode, until my legs grew bandy beneath the grievous load. All winter I've been eating, with this excuse or that, and now I'm sadly bleating because I am so fat. Within me there's a riot, my works are out-

THE OWL'S IDEA
Spiderkin, the Giant spider, in order to weave a cobweb parasol for a giantess, had eaten fairy milk and honey to make him grow, and he had grown and grown and grown, until one of his legs cast a shadow like a tree. All very well, but when the parasol was done, Spiderkin wanted to shrink to his normal size again and he didn't know how.

"What shall I do," he said to the owl. "What shall I do? I'm so big I'm in the way! When I speak I have to whisper, for my voice is like a clap of thunder. I cover so much space that I'm not welcome anywhere. And because I'm so big the fairies ask me to do all sorts of queer things. Yesterday the elves used me for a stage coach and rode around on my back. And the day before I had to spread myself across a lake and they used me for a bridge. The cobweb shop where my cousin, Jask Spider, weaves his parasols for fairies, I can't get in. The truth of it is that I'll just have to live in a cave and turn hermit."

"See here," said the owl, "instead of worrying so much about your bigness, why don't you put it to some use? The bigger you are the more web you can spin. That's why you made yourself big in the first place, isn't it—I mean so you could

NEWS OF THE STAGE

INTERESTING ITEMS FOR ALL FOLLOWERS OF THE DRAMA, SPOKEN AND SCREENED

THE REX
Crowded to the doors within a few moments of the time of their opening, the Rex theatre on Saturday evening won for itself the favor of a large number of patrons in its initial performance. The theatre has been entirely renovated, both interior and exterior, and furnished in the most thorough style, leaving nothing to be desired in the way of comfort for its patrons, and great credit is accruing to Manager Monte for his success in providing for local theatre-goers another first-class high-grade picture house. The principal on Saturday evening was the noted motion picture star William Farnum, in a powerful five-reel psychological drama, "The Man From Bitter Roots." Other pictures shown were of comedy scientific nature, and all were received with much appreciation. For this week the first instalment of the great new series, "The Secret Kingdom" is promised as a leading attraction.

"FAIR AND WARMER"
Selwyn and Company have placed "Fair and Warmer" the Avery Hays wood play, which comes to the Grand Opera House on Saturday afternoon and evening, Jan. 27th under their direction, on tour at the end of the farce's year-run at the Eltinge Theatre in New York. Its promise to an enormous demand for it from all parts of the country.

"Fair and Warmer" had the extraordinary distinction of having been advertised by its audiences alone, for the entire Broadway run. But these audiences did not merely advertise it in New York. They carried the good news back home that "Fair and Warmer" could lead the forlornest hope against melancholy that was ever distilled by mortal, and could still carry the day for laughter.

An additional reason for the great clamor for "Fair and Warmer" was that Avery Hays' "Seven Days and Nobody's Wife" has been seen everywhere, and riotously appreciated, and that Selwyn and Company had established their reputations for picking winners with "Within the Law," "Under Cover," "Seven" etc. The combination was one to pin faith to.

"Fair and Warmer" is simon-pure farce, in which the author takes the kind of material he knows best how to handle, and puts it through all its paces.

Two admirable young people, one a too-perfect husband, and one a domestic and sweetly innocent young wife, find that their respective marriage partners have been leading lives more gay than creditable, while the domestic members of the family stayed meekly at home. To retaliate, the upright pair decide on some wickedness of their own. Having no practice in lesser crime, they greatly overdo it, and find that, instead of revenging themselves, they have merely let themselves in for infinitely more than their original troubles.

At the Grand
That loyalty will crop out, even when concerned in the playing of a part in a motion picture production, is well exemplified in the following story of an occurrence during the filming of one of the great battle scenes in the massive military spectacle, "Self Defence," which is to be presented for a special engagement at the Grand Opera House, under the auspices of the 216th Battalion, Jan. 22, 24, 25, 26.

A certain little red-headed officer who was just as fiery of nature as his hirsute adornment indicated was cast to play the part of a German officer, who, in the course of the events as laid out by the director, was to lead his German forces in an ignominious retreat. After said retreat had been successfully accomplished, and a great number of the "Huns" had been dusted, the little officer was reminded by one of the interested officers, an onlooker, of his actions. "I say," he geatly chided, "you're a fine officer. Why you will have to work twice as hard to get their attention back.

"When I start on the production of a comedy, I try to keep everybody in the cast keyed up to the very highest pitch. It is the surest way of keeping your attention to the top notch. If your people are allowed to loaf around the studio and get 'stale' then they do not dive into the scene as they ought to but have to sort of get warmed up all over again, like the track athlete who has sat around on the grass all afternoon waiting for his event to be run off. By the time he is called upon, all his ginger is gone.

"That is why I try to keep everybody and everything in the studio moving all the time so that no extra time will be lost in injecting pep into the players when the time comes for them to act. As a matter of fact, I always try to have only those people that I am sure of using in my first scenes report at the studio early in the morning. It possible I work out the approximate time that I will take to stage scenes and from that, determine at what hour the first scene is to be staged.

"Does it tire me to try to put ginger into a whole studio? Not on your life! You know how a bear stores up energy and gets fat in the winter? Well, that's me, but every day is winter for me. That is, I have stored up so much energy during my comparatively brief career that now I have enough to spare for the whole studio—as you may have guessed from my size."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

ARBUCKLE AND COMEDY
"Fatty" Arbuckle, "the funniest fat man on the screen," has long since abandoned the first name Roscoe with which he was endowed by his parents.

"Fatty" Arbuckle ranks to-day uniquely in the field of comic productions and possesses the added facility of directing the pictures in which he stars. Arbuckle is the joy of the fat man's world, but of every joke that he does not the ones he turns on his tormentors.

The tremendous popularity of Arbuckle is based on the world-old human trait of finding humor in excessive grotesqueness. Statistics are lacking which definitely determine the point of obesity which is intrinsically humorous in itself—the point at which everybody considers a man to be fat enough to be funny whether he wants to be or not. But it is certain that ampieeness of girth is one of the most unfailing sources of laughter to man.

"Fatty" Arbuckle has capitalized his huge size so successfully that he stands to-day acknowledged to be worth his weight in laughs and is admittedly the "fat" comedian of the screen. The secret of Arbuckle's great popularity is the fact that he makes his audience laugh at him as well as with him, never fearing to be made the victim of a joke himself, instead of insisting upon always being the one who plays the tricks upon others.

The fact that Arbuckle directs his own pictures is important because he will set tasks for himself to do that no other director would have the moral courage to ask him to perform.

"One of the most important factors in screen comedy is speed," declared the rotund one. "By that I do not refer to speed in the slang sense of the word, as applied to vulgarity, but to speed of plot and action. Keep things jumping and your audience will be with you every moment. Let the action lag and

Max Harden Believes, However, That There is Hope for Agreement

Amsterdam, via London, Jan. 22
Maximilian Harden, commenting in "The Zukunft" (Berlin) on the entente note to President Wilson, says:
"An understanding seems possible on the general principles of the note: Freedom, justice, civilization, peace—that is what all who return from the trenches are willing to develop, as well as the reduction of militarism.

"Rude words do not ring long. A greater obstacle is the territorial question, and our enemies rightly consider their claims small as compared with those of the people who want to eat up Belgium, Northern France, Belford, Poland, Courland, Serbia, Roumania, even Venetia and Egypt.

Alsace the Trouble
"The great difficulty will be Alsace, but I have reason to believe that the peace possibilities will be smashed on the walls of Strasbourg.

"Nine-tenths of the French nation do not wish to challenge Germany's revengefulness and would be satisfied with a bean geste on Germany's part. It is a pity that the heads of the central powers failed to say on what reasonable terms they were ready to end the war, and arrange to live at peace with the rest of humanity. Now we see impossible terms stated and the people gnashing their teeth. Remember this: The great Frederick also signed a peace treaty which at the time was considered unsatisfactory, but which his grandson regarded as a work of courageous wisdom."

CHILD'S COAT

By Anabel Worthington

Age has nothing to do with it when it comes to "coat styles." The designers see no reason why the children's models should not denote the semi-fitted or loose contour that is so well liked by their elders. Even the large novelty collar is a necessary, adaptable, however, for the little lady of fashion.

You see one of the best looking coats of the season when you look at this picture of a small girl's model. It has the required ripple fullness, unbelted to show the straight line effect. It will be following the style to enrich the collar with fur banding, or it may be made of velvet or plush.

The full finish or a cuff will be correct for the sleeves and the buttons may be covered with material or velvet or plush if it is used in trimming. Both cloth Kersey and the like are suitable for a practical garment—also corduroy. For dress-up, velvet will be smart, although velvet and broadcloth make a number of the models displayed. At half the cost of 2 to 8 yards. To make in size 6 requires a bought one you can make this from the 2 1/2 yards 36 inch material.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.
