(From Tuesday's Daily.) Annual mobilization manoeuvres of the military forces stationed at Vancouver and Victoria—both regulars and militia—took place yesterday with every success achieved in what was aimed at.

Col. Grant very kindly accepted a Col. Grant representative interviewed yesterday afternoon on the conclusion of the evolutions; and he made it clear that the chief importance of the mobilization consisted in making the visiting companies familiar with the topography of the country surrounding Esquimalt and Victoria.

Between 700 and 800 men participated in the exercises—the Sixth Regiment, Duke of Connaught Rangers of Vancouver, under command of Major Boulter; Fifth Regiment, Victoria, under Col. Hall; Royal Engineers, under Lieut. G. E. Elliott, and the Royal Artillery, under Capt. McHugh.

On Sunday evening the Vancouver contingent arrived by train from Nanaimo, and camped at Langford Plains, preparatory to the evolutions of yesterday morning. Road Hill was manned by the regular forces, and the former were to assist the latter in repelling an imaginary attack on the part of the Royal Engineers. Col. Grant explains that he had hopes that he would have been able to arrange for the navy to participate in the exercises, but failing to do so, he had to content himself in arranging a much simpler programme.

Various scouting parties had been thrown out to detect the approach of the invaders—made up of a force of 50 men—Capt. Hart, Major G. D. C. O. R., with a small force being stationed at the head of the head road, joining a reserve at that point in command of Lieut. Col. Grant. The latter, with a contingent, held the Metchoshin road, Goldstream road and the railway were held by a detachment under Lieut. Dunn. Col. Grant and staff directed operations from a point in the vicinity of the Colwood hotel.

The attacking forces split up into various detachments and approached Road Hill from different directions, the defenders reporting to headquarters as soon as the former were discovered, and receiving orders to adjust their positions as the constantly changing conditions eventuated as the manoeuvres proceeded.

At 2:30 p.m. the affair was concluded—much valuable information having been gained by the officers in respect to the various points in case of an actual required the defence of Road Hill against an invading foe.

Deadlock Over Market Building

City Council Divided Respecting Lease to Victoria Terminal Company.

Judges Award For Carnegie Building Adopted and Work to be Hurdled.

(From Thursday's Daily.) A large number of important matters were considered by the City Council at its regular weekly meeting last evening, there being a full board present, and the session being continued to a late hour.

An invitation from the Vancouver City Council to attend the Dominion Day celebration was accepted by the Mayor, voting against the lease, and five aldermen approving of the grantings.

The semi-finals and finals for the Col. Gregory cup were pulled off last night before the regiment marched into town. No. 5 Company pulled the band, and they had to pull No. 4 Company, and pulled off in the final, and the former came off conquerors.

The garden fetes given by the Happy Circle of King's Daughters at Ferncliffe on Saturday, was a most unqualified success. But owing to high wind last night, the garden fetes were abandoned, and the public at large, that the time has arrived when the city of Victoria should appoint a competent person for the inspection of all wiring and for the enforcement of the bylaws relating to electrical work in this city.

Stephen Jones' application for a paved sidewalk, with granite curbing, in the vicinity of the Victoria Hotel, C. E. Fisher, secretary of the Victoria Union, has been referred to the city engineer for report.

Thomas A. Bryden's request for an extension of one month to make sewer connections owing to the delay in the repair of a house, was granted.

The water committee reported on the petition signed by William Redde, and 170 others, respecting the water supply to residents of Victoria West. He pointed out that only 108 of the 171 names appeared on their books, and dealt with the charges that the water supply was inadequate and the claim that the rates were excessive.

The Mysterious Thibet Visited

A Russian Subject Spends a Year in Country Studying Life of the People.

Will Publish a Book Revealing Secrets of Monasteries and Temple of Buddha.

(St. Petersburg, June 22)—In view of the recent unsuccessful attempt of Sven Hedin and Co. to penetrate into the heart of Thibet, interest in which has been added to by the recent departure from New York of Oscar Reischauer, an American, on the same mission, it has just become known that a Russian subject, G. Zoubkov, has recently resided quietly at Lhasa and visited the sacred monasteries of that mysterious country.

The frontiers of Thibet, which were closed to European travelers after the late invasion of Russia, have now been expelled from Lhasa in 1904, have not been hermetically sealed against a certain class of European travelers, namely the Buddhist students of the Balkal region. The tourists are a talented class, and the Russian subject, G. Zoubkov, who has been in Lhasa for some time, has been able to obtain a permit to visit the sacred monasteries and temples, including the Temple of Buddha, in the centre of the city of Lhasa, is about 140 feet square. It is three stories high, and has three gilded Chinese roofs. It shelters the gigantic bronze statue of Buddha, which has a hammered gold face and three golden eyes. The statue is flanked by two smaller statues of the goddess of women, to which are placed three golden Chinese roofs. The temple and its council. The residence of the Dalai Lama is about a mile away from Lhasa, on Mount Bodai.

M. Zoubkov also minutely described various monasteries and temples, including three gilded Chinese roofs. The monks are mainly engaged in learned pursuits. At one of these, Brabun, nearly 4,000 boys, young to old, study all power-civil and spiritual—has nominally been in the hands of the Dalai Lama, but China maintains a Manchu resident and an army. In order to avoid strife in selecting a Dalai Lama, the electors in council places three strips of paper, with the names of three boys, in an urn, and the Manchu resident removes one with a small staff. The new Dalai Lama's education is entrusted to a college of learned men until his twentieth birthday. Since the Manchu is in the hands of a recent appointee by the Emperor of China. The present Dalai Lama is 24 years of age. The Dalai Lama Council, in whose hands the actual power is, embraces four so-called "gods" appointed by the Emperor of China. The administration is in the hands of a class of aristocracy, and the actual power is in the hands of a universal. Among the common penalties are dropping, tongue, and hand, and the Thibetian army of 4,000 men is poorly disciplined, and is armed with bows and old-fashioned guns.

The Emperor William Lauds His Army and its Generals.

Berlin, June 22.—The papers now print two speeches which Emperor William delivered at Doberitz (near Berlin), on the occasion of the unveiling of a monument to Frederick the Great. The speech was delivered to the officers in the barracks. He lauded the army as a national institution. The generals, being the educators, are regarded with respect and confidence by soldiers and citizens. It was a magnificent school for the education of the youth. In a national sense the army must have not only service, but also a high moral and strategy, but pride and joy in the service. Then, the Emperor added, "my army will ever remain the instrument that I need to support my policy, when necessary." His Majesty concluded with a quotation from Frederick the Great's remark: "Where the pen alone no longer suffices, it must be supplemented by the keen edge of a sword."

BARCELONA WORKERS STRIKE. London, June 22.—According to a special despatch from Barcelona, a strike for an advance in wages, involving 30,000 men, has been declared. The trades affected are shoemakers, cutlers, hatters, and shoemakers.

Read what Miss L. Hanson, Water-ville, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago I was afflicted with a nervous breakdown. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured." CANADIAN BANKS.

A correspondent of the Montreal Star publishes a very striking letter to that paper on the relations between the Canadian business public and the Canadian banks. The Canadian banks have an average active circulation of $55,412,000, which is a free loan on the part of the public to the banks. They have also deposits amounting to $348,487,000 against which they are not required by government to hold any reserve. They are, therefore, corporations placed by law in a peculiarly favorable position, having $400,000,000 of money to operate with in addition to their capital. This correspondent goes on to show that a large amount of this money is not used in Canada, but in the United States and other foreign countries.

DONT SHOOT.

A British member of parliament is credited with the story that last summer when on a visit to the United States, he asked the President, Roosevelt, whether the United States would do if the British Empire adopted imperial preference. The President's reply was: "Oh, we would simply say, 'Whether this will come down.'"

KNOW THYSELF.

There is no country in the world, nor are there any people capable of articulating an expression of opinion in the United States and the people who live there, executed with generous rage the act of parliament to divert their funds outside the country, and so to maintain an unduly high commercial discount rate inside it.

THE BARR COLONY.

The Barr Colony, which was a nine days' wonder in Canada, and was received with the good-humored toleration always extended in this country to the eccentricities of tenderfeet, has become the subject of much discussion in Great Britain. Into this discussion Mr. W. T. Preston has plunged, justifying the statement that he possesses none of that fear supposed to be present in angels and absent from mortals.

without adventitious promises, which can only result in failure and disappointment. The better will be for on Great North American colony." The Liverpool Daily Post says that "the Barr colony, it is to be feared, is not at the end of its misfortunes." The members of the late Barr colony were at the end of their misfortunes when they got rid of the Rev. Mr. Barr, and threw themselves as individuals upon the resources, not to speak of the hospitality, of the Dominion of Canada.

ONE CANDIDATE.

Mr. S. S. Taylor, of Nelson, is the first candidate to be duly nominated to contest a constituency in the Liberal party in British Columbia. In accepting the nomination at the hands of the Liberal party, Mr. Taylor made a speech. The most important thing, he said, in defining his position as a Liberal candidate, was that "while not bound to follow Dominion politics, there was no question but that the prestige of the Liberal party in Dominion affairs would be of the greatest assistance to the party here."

THE BUSINESS MAN IN POLITICS.

The business man in politics is a greater rarity than he would be. Professional men, with the exception of doctors, whose profession is terribly exacting, are, as a rule, keen business men. They are farmers, so are working men. But, as a general thing, the business man is not in politics. He is not in politics more business men do not take an interest in politics. The fact that they do not is not in the least surprising, particularly in Canada and the United States.

CONSERVATIVE MEETING.

and good, is a very largely upon political questions. It is not so prevalent in the United States as in this country. It is a new movement of political action, and is not to be confused with the old-fashioned politics of the United States.

MONGOLIAN IMMIGRATION.

We are told by the Victoria Times that the Conservatives of British Columbia do not admit the legislation of the Laurier government to restrict Mongolian immigration. In the first place, it may be said that we have yet to learn that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has passed any legislation to restrict Mongolian immigration. He has, however, passed a bill to increase the head-tax upon Chinese. But though all Chinese are not Mongolians, Mongolians are Chinese.

A TEST COMING.

Every article is agreed that the era of soaring prices, stock exchange speculation, and industrial consolidations is for a time. By simply printing slips of paper, enormous amounts were added to the capital upon which the business of the country had to pay dividends. Some of this capital was represented by real value in the form of land, buildings, and other tangible property.

Fish Scientists and Their Finds

Notes by Prof. Jordan on the Discovery in Nanaimo Harbor.

In Due Season Museum Will Be Forwarded Rare Specimens.

A Colonist reporter yesterday afternoon called upon Mr. Frank Kernebeck, assistant curator in the provincial museum, in respect to the statement appearing in the Colonist yesterday morning from his Nanaimo correspondent, to the effect that no effort had been made to secure for the museum of these rare specimens of prawns. The latter will be required to be carefully examined by scientists before their preservation in piscatorial world can be placed, and when that has been done the museum will be forwarded specimens, properly ticketed. Mr. Kernebeck also takes exception to the statement that "hush" of the rare specimens were thrown overboard. He thinks the suggested spectacle of the discarding by scientists of rare specimens of fish is entirely untrue. Mr. Kernebeck handed the Colonist reporter the following notes made by Prof. Jordan, of the work of the Albatross in Nanaimo harbor:

The Albatross has dredged in Nanaimo bay at a depth of about 200 fathoms, and more. It has dredged the halibut bank opposite St. Mary's mission in 12 to 30 fathoms and in the straits of Georgia, between a depth of 200 fathoms, or more than a quarter of a mile. The life was scanty in all these localities. On the halibut banks was found a complete mass of sponges, with prawns in their cavities. The halibut banks were also covered with sponges, and new specimens of fishes were found, one on the halibut bank, the other in deep water. Neither the sponges nor the prawns of value as food. The following species of fishes have been taken about Nanaimo bay by the Albatross:

The question of the formation of a Shippers' Association was debated at length, and much progress made toward the point aimed at. It was decided to appoint a special committee to gather further information and report at another meeting to be held at a later date.

The boat "Patriot" and a narrow escape from being blown out of the water and all hands on board sunk by a stray shell from the mortar at the "Patriot," which failed to explode, and came bounding over the waves directly toward the "Patriot." Commenting on the conclusion of the strike at the collieries of Vancouver Island, the Northern Oregonian says an editorial dealing with the subject: The striking coal miners on Vancouver Island have petitioned the owners of the mines for permission to return to work. The decision of the owners has not been announced, but the request of the men will probably be granted.
