MATTERS AFFECTING THE GAOL.

An editorial in the Dispatch of Oct. 26th is headed "Work for the Lawyer"; the Gaol Injunction Suit Goes Merrily On." In this article we are informed "the jail question has been advanced a step in a direction adverse to the town" An injunction to prevent the erection of a jail in the town of Woodstock has been granted. It is held by the judge that the town of Woodstock is not the shire town; that as the gaol was located at Upper Woodstock, the location cannot be changed without an order from the Governor in Council. Again it is held by the judge that the county has no authority to borrow money for the erection of a new gaol without special legislation. Or, as the Dispatch puts it "In a nutshell Upper Woodstock retains the gaol." The paper then goes on: "But further steps have been taken—the matter is to be carried before the equity court where argument will likely be held early in the winter. If the decision is against the action of the Council in starting a new gaol in town, an appeal will be made to a full bench of judges."

We would like to ask the Dispatch its authority for these statements. Has the gaol committee been empowered by the council to take the steps above indicated? The committee should have asked for advice from the County Council before incurring expenses unless it intends not to ask the county to pay the costs of rebutting the injunction; and even in this case the committee is going beyond its powers.

The Dispatch further states: "What ever may be the ultimate outcome of all this, there is one thing the county is bound to do, unless all those presentations of Grand Juries and medical men are to be ignored. A better gaol than the present one must be built, or extensive repairs must be put on the old one."

Right here we beg to remind the Dispatch that no grand jury or medical board has ever even suggested that a new gaol was necessary. But on the contrary a grand jury on which were medical men, and several other gentlemen, from the town of Woodstock recommended that repairs be put on the gaol. We agree with the Dispatch that the gaol needs repairs, and believe that except for the avaricious few, the necessary repairs would have been made ere this, and thus the recommendation of the grand jury would have been carried out.

"The County is perfectly within its rights to build or not to build anew," but the Council is acting in a fool-hardy manner when it appoints a committee to act contrary to law, as it did when it appointed a committee to build a new gaol. When it was suggested that a vote of the ratepayers be taken before erecting a new building one Councillor said: "his matter has been referred to the people once and they decided a new gaol was not necessary, and if referred to them again the decision would be the same." Further the gentleman says: "We now have the power to build the gaol, and let us build it before we again meet our constituents and they will have to pay for it." We think "the deliberations of the Council would have been more respected" in the gaol matter if they had not been influenced by such an unwise Councillor.

The Dispatch discourses on "Pride in Public Buildings." In this "buncombe" there is just about as much sincerity as there is in its regrets for the "trifle by way of fees" for the lawyers. In the latter particular we fancy at least one of the Dispatch people snickers in his sleeve, thinking that the readers of his journal will lose sight of the fact that he does not disdain to turn an honest "V" through channels other than journalism.

Hurrah For Early Closing.

We the undersigned merchants, and traders in the village of Hartland do hereby agree to close our respective places of business at 8 p. m., local time, every evening except Saturday, and to pull down our blinds, and lock our doors within 10 minutes after said time or give strong and sufficient reasons to the other merchants for not doing the same.

This will hold good for the coming winter season and until it is understood among each of the below signed merchants to the contrary: with the exception of two weeks at Christmas beginning Dec. 12 and ending Dec. 24, which is Saturday night. And as proof of our good faith, we hereby set our respective signatures: J. T. G. Carr, T. J. Hurley, The Misses Thornton, Richardson, Porter & Co., Shaw & Dibblee, C. Humphrey Taylor, Keith & Plummer, Miss A. M. Gray, Bertie McAdam.

An Epileptic Sufferer.

A Fenlon Farmer Tel's of His Remarkable Cure.

At Regular Intervals He Was Subject to Fits, and Doctors Told Him the Trouble Was Incurable—Now Free From the Malady.

From the Warder, Lindsay, Ont.

Mr. Robert McGee, of the 9th concession of Fenlon, Victoria county, says in speaking of his cure from this terrible malady:—"I am 35 years of age and live on the old homestead where I was born and have lived always since, and where my own little family were born. This part of Fenlon is known as McGee's Settlement, there are so many of that name living in the vicinity. Never in my life did I know what a day's sickness was until March, 1895, when without any known cause and without any warning I was stricken down with an epileptic fit. It came on in the night, causing great consternation in the household, as my wife, who never saw anything of the kind before, thought it was my end; as for myself I neither felt nor knew anything that was going on about me. After coming out of the convulsion, which they tell me usually lasted from fifteen to thirty minutes, I would fall into a heavy sleep from which I would awake with a dull, heavy feeling, and all the muscles of my body would be sore. This would pass away and in a day or two after the attack I would be able to attend to my farm work, but strange to say every four months after as regular as a clock I would be seized with a fit, which always came on in the night. Various doctors and specialists were consulted and I took several different medicines, but without effecting a cure. Several doctors said the disease was incurable. I read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the newspapers and was advised by friends who had experienced cures from other seemingly incurable ailments, to try them. In November 1896 I commenced and kept on taking them regularly for a year. The dreaded period passed and passed again and again without a repetition of my trouble, and I felt that I was at last released from this terrible malady. I am now in the best of health and attribute my cure to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In conversation with Mrs. McGee she said that her husband's trouble was the cause of most seriously affecting her nerves and general health, as she was always living in dread, and could never enjoy a night's rest. The slightest noise would startle her, and if it had not been for the kindness of a neighbor who always came and stayed at the house over night, she believes she would have broken down altogether. She also is thankful for the great change that has been wrought, and is only too glad to let others with similar afflictions know that there is a remedy for this terrible disease.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. If your dealer does not keep them they will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont

Railway Facts and Figures.

The railway system in the United States employs 36,000 locomotives, 26,000 passenger cars and 9,000 mail and baggage cars. These figures seem large till the number of freight cars is stated, which 1,250,000. A passenger train consisting of locomotive, tender, baggage and six passenger cars, with their contents, is estimated to weigh about 184 tons. Freight trains sometimes reach a weight of 550 tons. An ordinary passenger car costs from $4,000 to $5,000, and a sleeping car anywhere from $10,000 to $20,000. The system, with its gigantic equipment, is practically the growth of a single generation.

The Companion's New Calendar.

The calendars given by THE COMPANION in former years to all subscribers have been remarkable for their delicacy of design and richness of coloring. But the Calendar for 1899 far surpasses any of those. The publishers have endeavored to make it the finest calendar of the century, and readers of THE COMPANION will not be disappointed in it. Those who subscribe now will receive not only the gift of the Calendar, but also all the issues of November and December, from the time of subscription free. The new volume will be the best THE COMPANION has ever published. Among the contributions already engaged are "The Little Demons of War," by Hon. John D. Long; "Opportunities for Young Explorers," Sir Clements Markham; "The Boy with a Voice," David Bispham; "The Wonders of Somnambulism," Dr. William A. Hammond; "Police Spies in Russia," Poultney Bigelow; and "Where Living is Cheapest," Hon. Carroll D. Wright. Fine illustrated announcement and sample copies will be sent to any one addressing

ORNITHOLOGY.

A Paper Read by M. A. Oulton at the Teachers' Institute, Hartland, 1893.

The subject to which I wish to invite your attention for a brief time is "Bird Study" in the schools of New Brunswick. As the boys and girls of our fair province reach the school age they are in part severed from parental care and thus ushered off to the city, village or country school as the case may be. They are then made acquainted with the school exercises which forerun the more difficult exercises of the high or grammar school, then to meet and encounter the difficult problems of the college curriculum. These exercises as a rule seem a dark cloud to many of the "little tots" and the problem which confronts the supervising teacher is how can this cloud be brightened or substituted for a ray of joyful light.

I believe that much can be done in this line by slightly going beyond the three educational R's and by careful observation lead the pupils under our care to observe intelligently those things seen on the way to and from the school room in the form of feathered beings as they sit on their beloved perches pouring out their melodious notes to the enjoyment of the passers by.

WHEN TO BEGIN TO STUDY.

As the sun begins his journey northward causing the snowy bank to disappear beneath its vertical rays, many of the icy pools will be decked, shrouded, and surrounded by flower, foliage and feather, thus Nature may be said to be awaking from her wintery sleep and clothing the face of the earth with that verdure necessary for the maintenance of animal life; but what is the source of that soothing music which we hear coming from the much frequented grove, the lawn or the neighboring tree? The answer that is generally given to this question is "Why that's a bird singing—a spring bird." "No not a goose nor a duck, but a bird." But all persons do not rest satisfied with the above answer, and an intelligent father's question is "Janie, what bird is that? Now where is Janie to get her answer for this question? I believe the father looks to the school as the source for this answer, and if Janie is fairly intelligent and provided with school privileges, and the bird be a common songster, why should Janie not be able to give a correct answer to this question? Or why is the father not justified in looking to the school as a source of a correct answer from his daughter? I believe the father is justified in taking the stand that the source ought to be the school. Thus my friends we are as teachers expected to teach Bird-study in our school and as a matter of fact we are invited to do so by our obligations as seen in searching the Natural History, by Prof. Bailey, or Nature Lessons, by Prof. Brittain. Thus I would say that the time for us to begin Bird-study in school is as soon as Spring tells of the departing snow.

The teacher of the advanced department of a Graded, Superior or Grammar School will find ample scope for observing carefully, on his morning open air walks, and classifying accurately the common song birds of N. B., such as the sparrows, finches, crossbeaks, etc., and it is to this class to which I wish to draw special emphasis.

The question which confronts us now is how are we to teach these birds to pupils and are we to memorize what a prescribed book says on this matter? The reply to the latter question should be distinctly, no, not at all. To do so would be to use paper and ink as the teacher for lessons which none but Nature can accurately impart, and to rob Nature of the privilege of teaching our pupils many a useful lesson.

In the early spring as the floral and foliage buds burst forth thus surrounding us with flowers and leaves in abundance, nothing is more common than to see a group of scholars looking for flowers of various kinds, such as violets, trilliums, dandelions, anemones, etc., for to compose a nice bouquet, and as these flowers peep up their little heads just as the robin or the purple grackle skims by, they (the scholars) generally return with the news that they have seen a bird

Now, taking into account the fact that the pupils know a bird when they see it, it is high time for him (the teacher) to form a bird class, which will of course be the Natural Science class, and to begin work in this line vigorously. But how is the class work to be carried on and where? Each pupil is to watch carefully each song bird as he returns to the spot appointed to him by the "guiding Hand of the great Creator, who bids the swallow observe the time of her coming," and to be able to give a satisfactory description of each bird, with a few remarks on his habits and song.

MODE OF CONDUCTING A LESSON.

The pupils in groups of twos, threes and fours, will be the observers of the different birds, hence the teacher must give them some idea as to plan for observing and approaching birds. Pupils attired in gay-colored costumes will be held as enemies by the birds, and especially if the predominating color be red or scarlet; hence they should be attired in dull colored garments when out on a bird expedition.

Each pupil as he finds a bird, makes his analysis of the same along the following line: If the bird is found at relative rest, notice (a) the chief feature of its form, whether long or short, thick or slender; then (b) the general color of the plumage at a distance. After this is done, the observer will approach the bird for closer inspection. This may be done in most cases by moving gently, quietly and slowly in the direction of the bird, but in some cases the observer will by keeping perfectly still, attract the bird, which is filled with curiosity to him. Now, since the pupil and bird are in close quarters, the close quartered analysis may be carried on as follows: Secure as accurately as possible (a) the distance from head to tip of the tail, (b) the height its body stands above the perch and if its head is adorned with a top knot and the colour of same if present, (c) the color, length and shape of the beak (d) the colour of the head, noting the nature of the eye, whether it appears to stare as will be seen in the case of the wren or whether it is of an innocent nature as that of the slate-coloured junco, (e) the colour of neck, breast, back, wing and tail, noting carefully any brilliant streak or spot and if a terminal belt decks the tail as in the case of the formidable king-bird.

CONTRAST OF BIRD WITH MATE.

The pupil having now completed the analysis of his bird will notice whether the mate is not near by, and, if so, he will compare male and female in respect to (a) colour, (b) size, (c) song, and (d) habits, noting carefully the resemblance and also the disagreements of the same. No stronger example of contrast will be seen than in the case of the Canadian Bob-a-link. The pupil will next note carefully the surrounding scenery, then, having heard his song, he may come out of his place of concealment and allow the bird in turn to examine his admirer, but notice the uneasy nature he exhibits as if he were looking for a stray stone or the more dangerous "sling-shot," used as a means of sport by some boys. And in a brief time he is gone to seek a more sheltered spot, but this will only afford the privilege of learning his mode of flight whether straight forward, as seen in the case of the song-sparrow, or in undulations, as displayed by the wood-pecker; also whether any new colours appear as will be seen by noticing the departing flicker, together with the spread of the wings and the shape of the tail.

POISONOUS COSMETICS
Used to Hide Disease.

Women Who Use Them Run Terrible Risks.

Paine's Celery Compound Quickly Removes the Troubles and Diseases That Women Now Try to Hide.

It Gives New Health and Good Looks.

Kate Field, a prominent honored and American lady and writer of note, declares that after a most complete investigation she finds that $62,000,000 worth of poisonous cosmetics are sold annually in the United States. It is difficult to give with any degree of accuracy the amount of money spent yearly in Canada for cosmetics, but the figures must be large.

It is well understood that the people who purchase cosmetics use them with a view of deceiving those with whom they come in contact.

Cosmetics cover a multitude of sins and evils. They are employed to cover up facial blotches, eruptions and skin troubles, that a ways result from impure blood. They are also used as a covering for wrinkles and crow's feet brought on by fast living, late hours and imperfect digestion. Thousands of women from day to day cover up and disguise traces of disease and early decay, instead of wisely and boldly attacking the cause.

An old and well known druggist asserts that the introduction and popular use of Paine's Celery Compound has of late years greatly lessened the sale of all cosmetics. Wise and prudent women well know that Paine's Celery Compound, when used, goes directly to the root of the disease, quickly removing all poisons and impurities from the blood, giving the nervous system full tone and vigor, and giving that regular and perfect digestion that maintains health and physical strength.

By the use of nature's remedy all facial blotches, pimples and wrinkles are soon banished, the flesh is clean, the skin soft and clear and the eyes sparkle with brightness. This is the true work of Paine's Celery Compound, as thousands have declared who have tested the great medicine.

To users of cosmetics we say, cast aside at once the health destroying agents that you are now using and try what the wonderful Paine's Celery Compound can do for you. Cosmetics mean continued deception and increased misery; the use of Paine's Celery Compound guarantees a speedy banishment of your trouble, a return of new fresh health and good looks.

Meet and Discuss the School House Problem

A Committee Appointed.

A public meeting in Hartland is a synonym for lots of fun. Sometimes, too, the harmony is broken by harshly discordant notes. The meeting called to consider the question of building the new school house was very quiet, and not a soul was in ill humor. There was just enough opposition for the occasion to be lively.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in securing a chairman. The unassuming nature of our Hartland yeomanry is remarkable. Finally Dr. Estey was prevailed upon to take the chair, and Ed. Alexander recorded the proceedings.

George Grey moved that the new building be built on the old site. Allan Bradley seconded the motion, and it was carried 16 to 5. After the question was put and carried, those who voted against the motion wanted to state why they had done so. John Dickinson said the ground was swampy, a cellar could not be dug, and in many ways the site was undesirable. He believed the house and lot could be sold for enough to go a long way towards paying for a new one, and perhaps they could purchase a building ready built.

Allan Bradley said the Chief Superintendent located the present site, at which the chairman interpolated words to the effect that he erred in judgment.

Here the discussion was declared not in order—in other words, in disorder—but G. W. Boyer, not having had his say, moved the meeting be open for discussion of a location. He went on to state that personally he would prefer the present site be retained, but still he had a lookout for the general welfare of the community. In his extensive travels he had noticed that school buildings were generally placed on an eminence.

Dr. Estey said despite the fact that the Chief Superintendent located school house sites, they often were changed for various reasons. Regarding our present site there was always a miasmatic atmosphere over the swamp at the back of the building, which could not be otherwise than unhealthy.

L. E. McFarland objected to the present location on account of the swamp. No man present would desire to dwell there. A modern house could not be built on that kind of ground. He suggested a lot belonging to G. R. Burt, next to J. F. Alcorn's residence. To this Allan Bradley wanted to know if any one could tell what Mr. Burt would charge for this lot. His experience with him (Burt) was that his land was very high. Mr. Bradley claimed that a cellar could be dug here as well as on the very next lot, where a dry one had existed for over 60 years.

J. F. G. Carr could see no reason for a change of location. He thought it must be tolerable healthy, as no serious illnesses are yet recorded as arising from it. He commended the location, and believed it all that could or need be desired.

Stephen McMullin said he thought little difficulty would arise to hinder the making of a cellar, as one time he started to dig a well on the next lot, and after going 22 feet and finding no water, gave it up.

A. F. Campbell thought a committee should be appointed to work with the trustees to ascertain what kind of a building was needed and to form an estimate of the cost; whereupon G. W. Boyer moved a committee of five be appointed to act with the trustees and to confer with the Chief Superintendent. The committee to report at a meeting to be held on Dec. 14.

George Gray moved that money be loaned for building to be paid in two or three years, rather than in twenty.

J. Barnett moved in amendment that the period be made five years.

J. T. G. Carr moved in amendment to the amendment that the money be loaned for a period not exceeding twenty years.

There was a lengthy discussion over the questions. Some held that a long term would serve to keep newcomers from settling in the village, being frightened off by the taxes, while others claimed immediate payment would instill a desire in people who already live here to give away their property and vamoose.

A. F. Campbell showed that if $2000 was hired and $100 of principle besides the interest were paid each year that little burden on ratepayers would be felt. $220 would be first year's extra taxation, and $106 the 20th year's.

These figures were based on a rate of 6 per cent. interest. The long term motion was carried 25 to three.

It is regrettable that only about 25 per cent. of the ratepayers attended the meeting. The ADVERTISER urges that a full representation attend the next meeting—on Dec. 14th.

HOME DRESSMAKING

How the Whole Family Can Dress Well at Small Cost.

No Need of Looking Shabby Even Though Times Are Hard—Easy to Make Old Gowns and Suits Look Like New When One Knows How.

It is astonishing how much can be made from seemingly useless garments by the women that know how. The old faded gown that is out of style can be readily dyed with Diamond Dyes to a fashionable color and then made over so that it will look quite as well as new. Suits for the boys can be made from old ones discarded by the father, and a bath in the wonder-working Diamond Dyes will make them look like new. Dresses and cloaks for the little girls can be made with but little trouble and scarcely any expense from the cast off garments of the older folks and when the color is changed with Diamond Dyes the made-overs will look as though they were fresh from the dressmaker.

Diamond Dyes are made especially for home use, and the plain directions on each package make it impossible for even the most inexperienced to have poor luck with these dyes. They color anything, from ribbons, feathers and scarfs to heavy coats, jackets and gowns, and make colors that are fast to sun and washing—colors even handsomer than those made by the professional dyer.

AND OTHER MATTERS

The prices of produce remain the same as last week.

The Band serenaded Col. Boyce on Monday evening.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stevens, Somerville, a son on Sunday.

A. B. Connell is named as a possible contestant for the Mayoralty of Woodstock.

H. D. Keswick of St. Leonards Station is visiting old associates in the village.

Asa Kennedy raised a turnip which weighed 20 pounds and others nearly as large.

Mrs. George Hayward of Rockland left on Thursday for a visit to her old home at Debec.

Beckwith Jones of Gordonsville is stopping in town. He intends loading a car load of beef cattle for St. John in a few days.

C. B. Hume of Revelstoke, B. C., who has been spending a couple of months with his parents at Florenceville, returned west on Tuesday.

Miss Martha Orchard of the Primary School is down with typhoid fever at the home of George Gray, where she has been boarding. Her mother is with her.

A petition to the County Council regarding the gaol is in circulation, and that the public may know the exact tenor of the same we publish it on the last page.

Sawyer's mill shut down for the season on Thursday, after an almost continuous run of nearly seven months, cutting upward of 6,000,000 feet of lumber.

A letter from "Jim of the North," Bloomfield correspondence, and other interesting matter, together with the continuation of M. A. Oulton's paper on Ornithology, is unavoidably crowded out of this issue.

Rev. C. T. Phillips will occupy the pulpit of the Free Baptist church here tomorrow evening. Next week it is proposed beginning a series of evangelistic services in that church, when Mr. Phillips will assist the pastor.

J. E. Parsons shipped a carload of hogs to Montreal on Monday. This is the last shipment of the season. He will make the last shipment of sheep and lambs the last of next week.

Passengers who are compelled to wait for trains at Florenceville station are vociferous in protesting against the condition of the fire of the chimney, which is in such a condition that the waiting rooms are constantly full of smoke and coal dust, and therefore almost uninhabitable.

Barrie Dayton, of East Somerville, Mass., died on Sunday. His remains were brought to St. Mary's for interment. He was the son of the late Horace Dayton, who at one time kept a store here. Barrie is well remembered by the boys and others here. He was in his 18th year.

James Watts, for nearly 40 years assistant editor of the Sentinel, has withdrawn from that journal. Local journalism thereby loses one of its most honored members, one who has served long and well. The Press voices a report that Mr. Watts will fall heir to the Woodstock postmastership.

What was one of the worst pieces of roads in the county, was that on the river road between Pokiok and Deep Creek. Commissioner Tompkins has lately laid out considerable work on it and the result is quite apparent to one who has occasion to pass over it. It was formerly in a very unsafe state, and even yet much money should be expended on it.

Wentworth Dow of Lower Brighton had a narrow escape from death or serious injury on Saturday. He works on the section, and with the crew was running a handcar along at a good rate of speed. A long iron bar that was in the car slipped forward and gill poked against a sleeper, with the result that the car was ditched and Dow was thrown thirty feet forward. He was not, however, seriously injured. The others escaped with little injury.

Nicholas Trafton, the well known lumberman of Aroostook County, Me., was in the city this week. He says the lumber cut on the Upper St. John will be larger than ever this season. Many of the lumbermen are already in the woods and have a large number of men employed. In one camp that he visited recently he found 27 Indians at work, and was informed that 20 more had been hired.—Gazette.

In the churches tomorrow there will be services as follows: Free Baptist—prayer meeting at 10.30 p. m.; Union Sunday school at 2.30; preaching at 7 p. m. by Rev. C. T. Phillips, in exchange with the pastor. Baptist—preaching by pastor at 11 a. m.; Sunday school at 2.30 p. m. Reformed Baptist—prayer service at 10.30; Sunday school at 2.30; preaching at 7.30. Primitive Baptist—prayer meeting at 10.30.

Taylor pays CASH for oats.

Everybody who has seen the picture "The Thin Red Line," the great battle picture of the century, given with new and renewed subscriptions to the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal, predicted an extraordinary success for it, but we do not believe anybody could have dreamed of such an enormous demand springing up for it within a few days. No doubt "The Thin Red Line" will have the distinction of bringing a quicker success, and creating a greater demand than any premium picture of modern times.

An accident occurred to the down express, in charge of Cond. Dow, on Thursday, whereby it was delayed over two hours. The eccentric equalizing rod broke, about two miles this side of Aroostook Junction. It was engine 511, in charge of Geo. D. Sinclair. Over an hour and an half of time was lost in making sufficient repairs for the train to get under way, and as the engine necessarily ran only one side, much time was lost in starting off of dead centres, etc. Coming along near Peel a cow was struck and killed.

Rev. Mr. Bayley and bride arrived in town yesterday. They will reside at the Commercial Hotel.

Liberal Meeting at Bath.

Tuesday 14th inst. was the date announced by posters for a great Liberal conclave at Bath. It was announced on the program that an organization meeting would be held in the afternoon and a regular Liberal meeting in the evening, but some of our favorite newspapers had advertised differently, stating that Johnville was to have the night's meeting. This mistake with a misunderstanding on the part of C. J. Milligan and H. H. McCain, M. P. P. concerning the afternoon meeting almost sufficed to abort the primary object of the Liberals of Kent Front. However, although the afternoon meeting failed to assemble, the evening meeting was fairly well attended, and organization was accomplished and a number of excellent speeches were made in defence of and to the benefit of the Liberals at large.

Chas. E. Gallagher was appointed to the chair and after Mr. Milligan had given his instructions as to what was the requisite for the proceedings of organization. A nominating committee of three including Samuel Barker, Jas. Squires and C. Tompkins were selected and after a short deliberation the following permanent officers were chosen: C. E. Gallagher, chairman, Dr. Commins, Sec'y, C. Tompkins John Kinney, J. C. Squires, Dr. Atkinson, C. E. McLean, committee.

H. H. McCain was present and made a very neat address. He apologized for not being present in the afternoon, but he thought the Woodstock people from whom he got his information were responsible. He also claimed that he did not feel disappointed himself because he was always meeting with disappointments and had learned to take them stoically. He was glad that the Liberals were in power, provincially and federally. He thought that the Liberal leaders of the present day were not only strictly honest but incorruptible. He admitted that Mr. Ha'le was a strong man and a good man, but that the next federal election he will be out of politics. He eulogized Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his cabinet, but thought that provincial legislation could be better carried out by the present form of government, i. e., a coalition government. He also eulogized Emmerson and exonerated him from the fault of causing the present hard times. Emmerson could not control the rust of the potatoes, wheat and oats. Neither could he afford to buy these nor command the United States to open her markets to our lumber.

Chas. Appleby of the Woodstock Dispatch, was the next speaker called

Patrick O'Neill of Holmesville, was called upon for a speech and responded with a very clever argument in favor of the present government. He believes that St. John as a winter port has been a great boon for New Brunswick, and especially so for Carleton County. He also complained that certain Conservative promises, especially one which promised to cloud the sky along the St. John river with the smoke of every kind of factory, were never executed; but since the present Liberal regime factories have been established which have greatly benefited the farmers here, but were never dreamed of by the conservative government.

Dr. Commins was also called upon for a speech but cleverly got out of the scrape.

C. J. Milligan was next on the platform and he spoke excellently, and was given a rousing reception. He prophesied victory for the Liberals in the next election, and altogether proved himself a clever orator and a very keen debater.

[Our Bath correspondent furnished a very full account of the Liberal meeting at that place, but as it came to hand late in the week much of it is necessarily cut out, including Mr. Milligan's speech, which was, however, substantially the same as that delivered elsewhere.—Ed. ADVERTISER.]

A Cheque Story.

There is a good cheque story in the Westminster Budget. It is of a Presbyterian minister who had, to his intense surprise and delight, received an unwonted check from a charitable donor. "This check is to order and must be indorsed," explained the paying cashier at the Highland Bank. "Eh?" "Indorsed—across the back." "Oh, ay!" And with the pen and all his soul the minister wrote: "I heartily indorse this cheque."

Dr. A. W. Chase Tells a Friend That Eighty Out of Every Hundred of Humidity are Affected by Kidney and Liver Troubles.

Dr. Chase in his wisdom foresaw the need there would be for so grand a medicine as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and so universally have they become known and used that go where you will round the globe, you'll be able to buy them.

They are a pleasant medicine, effective, quick to act, mild to use, but powerful in healing. For Constipation, Biliousness, Stomach Disorders, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Urinary Troubles, Rheumatism, Skin Eruptions, Pimples, Impure Blood, they are specific.

None genuine but those having the signature and head-cut of Dr. A. W. Chase. Beware of counterfeits.

THOS. MILLER, Esq.,

MERCHANT, LUCKNOW, ONT.

Cured of Serious Stomach Troubles, Here is What He Says:

I was troubled for twenty years with acute stomach trouble and constipation, and had tried almost everything I could hear of, but got no relief. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended to me. The first dose I took gave me relief. I found them to be the thing I had been looking for. They have cured me.

Do you Suffer from Headache?

Mr. Frank Rideout did until he began to use Imperial Headache Powders. See below.

HARTLAND, Sept. 7, 1898.

GENTLEMEN:

I have been a martyr to sick headache all my life. I have used many so-called remedies with little or no effect. "Imperial Headache Powders" gave me immediate and permanent relief, with no depressent effects following.

(Signed) FRANK RIDEOUT.

Has your Horse a Cough?

Is he out of condition generally? Give him a tablespoonful of Imperial Condition Powders night and morning. It will benefit him greatly. Milch Cows, Fattening Cattle, Sheep, Pigs, Poultry all thrive wonderfully on Imperial Condition Powders. Best made. Ask your merchant for it.

Sole Agents for New Brunswick,

ESTEY & CURTIS.

Are your Lungs worth 25 cents?

Then why do you cough all day? Imperial Cough Cure will relieve you the first day. It will stop that cough in a few days more.

We know all about it, because we make it, and we know just what is in it. It is not a cure all; it's just a Cough cure, and a good one at that. It's made to cure. That is why we sell so much of it. We recommend Imperial Cough Cure, and we believe in it so much that we say.

"Your money back if You want it."

After you use it once you will believe in it too. It will cost you 25 cents to try it. Are your lungs worth 25 cents?

ESTEY & CURTIS.

TO THE WARDEN AND COUNCILLORS OF THE Municipality of Carleton County.

GENTLEMEN:

WHEREAS, at a Special Meeting of the County Council, which was held at the Court House, in the County of Carleton, in the month of August last, a Resolution was passed by said Council to build a Gaol in the Town of Woodstock, which Gaol, we believe, is not necessary at the present time, and which Resolution, if carried out, will place a heavy burden on us, the Ratepayers of said County.

Therefore, we, the Ratepayers of said County petition your Honorable Body to rescind the Order passed at the said Special Meeting to build a Gaol in said Town, and also that you do not proceed any further with the erection of said Gaol until consent is given by a majority vote of the Ratepayers of said County.

And in duty bound your petitioners will ever pray, etc., etc.

The Lady or the Turkey

I.

It was Thanksgiving morning in Alexandria. It was Thanksgiving morning in Anacostia and Bladensburg too. But that is neither here nor there. It is in Alexandria Mrs. Bobsom was a lady. If anyone dared to say she wasn't, she would knock him down with a flatiron.

Mrs. Bobsom was a contractor. He contracted debts and things.

'Jake,' said Mrs. Bobsom, 'this is Thanksgiving day, and we must observe it properly.' 'So we must,' said Mr. Bobsom meekly. 'You must go down and get a turkey.' 'So I must.'

'And, see here, I won't eat a Thanksgiving dinner in an apron like this. You must stop at the store and buy a new one for me.'

II.

On one side of the street was a market; on the other a notion store.

'How much for the cheapest turkey?' Mr. Bobsom asked.

'Seventy cents,' answered the dealer.

Mr. Bobsom had 60.

'I will call again,' he said.

He crossed the street.

'How much for the cheapest apron?'

'Seventy cents.'

Mr. Bobsom walked away thinking thoughts.

'I could probably higgie either of them down to 60 cents,' he reflected.

But which? Ah, there was his dilemma

III.

Mr. Bobsom walked the street in a deep brown study and wet blue socks, for it was raining as usual in Alexandria.

'If I go home with the turkey, Mrs. B. will raise a rumpus because I didn't buy the apron, and if I go home with the apron she will raise a rumpus because I didn't buy the turkey,' he cogitated.

He took out the 60 cents. He counted them. They were 60. They looked like 60. They felt like 60. So did he.

'Without a turkey there will be no Thanksgiving dinner,' he finally said and started resolutely for the market.

Then he stopped.

'Without an apron there will be no Thanksgiving dinner,' and he set out determinedly for the notion store.

Between the two he stopped, held by conflicting opinions.

It was a terrible moment for Bobson,

IV.

As we go to press Bobson is still standing in the middle of the street, unable to decide which shall be dressed for dinner, the lady or the turkey.—Washington Post.
