Obituary

Osar Hanson

Osar Hanson one of Charlotte county's older landmarks, passed to his rest on Thursday of last week at his home in Little Leprena, he had reached the ripe old age of 83 years and throughout his long life was very popular with those who knew him for his cheerful and genial disposition. He was for many years a leading mason in which society he always took an active interest, he leaves a wife and seven children.

Wm. McAvity

Wm. McAvity one of the well known firms of T. McAvity & Sons of St. John, died at his residence in that city on Friday evening of last week, he was born in 1846 and had been confined to his home for the past 7 years.

MARRIED

Trynor-Williamson.

A quiet wedding took place in the Charlotte Street United Baptist Church, St. John, on Wednesday evening Oct. 19, when Rev. M. J. Fletcher united in marriage Miss Myrtle Helen Williamson, only daughter of G. M. Williamson of Second Falls and Francis Allan Trynor of Presque Isle. They were unattended. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Norman McLeod of St. John. The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of navy blue chiffon broadcloth with hat to match. After the ceremony they left for Presque Isle where they will reside. Mr. Trynor is a position as Telegraph operator with the Bangor and Aroostook Railway.

A Ministerial Bargain

Some time ago a church was without a minister. The chairman of the supply committee wrote to the denominational headquarters describing the type of preacher the church needed and must have. The type described was an admirable combination of the Apostle Paul and a first class captain of industry. Was also to be a married man in the first flush of vigorous manhood. An unmarried preacher was apt to create a restless and abnormal activity on the part of the maidens of the parish whose matrimonial outlook was uncertain and obscure. The princely salary offered would have been tempting to an assistant bookkeeper in a retail business. The chairman closed his illuminating letter with these words: "We got our last minister at a bargain."

Members of the clerical profession have often had occasion to regret the utterly unbusiness like manner in which the temporal affairs of their churches have been conducted. Members who promptly pay their grocers every month and their servants every week will often pay their preachers at indefinite intervals. Men whose business training has been of the most rigorous and exact character will lend themselves to the recognition of church bazaars in which every sound and sensible principle of business administration is flagrantly violated. They will calmly contemplate the undignified spectacle of a refined and scholarly minister giving time and strength to the sordid pursuit of replenishing the church treasury. They will deny themselves no luxury and keep their minister in a state of semi-pauperism, depressing alike to his intellectual and spiritual development.

In the face of such facts it is scarcely strange that in one large Methodist conference forty-seven preachers have abandoned their pulpits in order to find, in other pursuits, a decent living for their families. These gentlemen will view with a grim smile of satisfaction, the fact that one church, at least, has frankly gone to the "margin counter" to pick out the cheapest preacher to be had for the money. One church gives promise of having reached a sound business basis. Whether the religious product will justify this commercial experiment will be a matter of future history.—Boston Transcript.

Police Wireless

London, Oct. 18.—A novel demonstration of an invention will take place shortly in a well known West London thoroughfare. If the inventor's claims are realized, the simple pressing of a button will call up a policeman or a taxicab within a few seconds. By his aid the householder who discovers a burglar ransacking his premises will be able to acquaint the constable on beat of the fact at once. In the same way, a bank cashier can call in the police by touching a button under the counter, should his suspicions be aroused.

This ingenious device, which consists of a little wireless apparatus, has been invented by Mr. C. E. Gebay, the well known electrician. Yesterday he explained that his latest invention "consists of an apparatus for noiselessly calling police, cabs, and other assistance by day and night without the blowing of the ear-splitting whistles now so generally used. The apparatus can be fixed to the front of any hotel, shop, or building at any desired height. By the pressing of a button a Herztzian wave signal is transmitted over an area with a radius of about 20 to 300 yards, reaching any vehicle fitted with a receiver. The waves pass through buildings and sound a bell or buzzer attached to the receiving apparatus placed on the taxicab, cab rank, or siren. The bell or buzzer is sounded once, twice, or three times according to the nature of the call required."

It is possible that the idea will be developed on the "peany-in-the-street" principle. Mr. Kelsey suggests that a policeman may carry in his helmet a small receiver which, when the connection is made by the Herztzian waves from a private house, will omit a buzzing noise indicating to the constable that his assistance is required.

Many Narrow Escape Deaths

George P. Morris, of Vancouver, B. C., who had a remarkable escape from death in the wreck early Saturday morning of a Canadian Pacific express and a stock train, adds many thrilling details of the story of the disaster published in the Times-Journal last Saturday. Mr. Morris, who was in the city yesterday, told that three trainmen and a large number of cattle were killed.

"It was an experience that I will never forget," said Mr. Morris. "I had barely reached the platform of the car when the two engines, one travelling at 50 miles an hour and the other 10 miles, collided. I was thrown against the mail car and rebounded again, falling from the steps to the side of the track."

Mr. Morris escaped unscathed and was one of the first to render first aid to the injured. He stated that fireman Percy Summers was instantly killed. Engineer McMillan, of No. 1, who was responsible for the accident, was severely scalded and died after having walked the entire length of the train, and Fireman William Summers died after having been taken to the hospital at North Bay.

"J. C. McFarlane, mail clerk of Ottawa and his two assistants, George Chittawarand G. Gallagar, of North Bay, who were working in the combination mail and express car escaped uninjured, but were so badly shocked that they were unable to continue the run to Fort William. How these three men escaped is a miracle, as the mail car telegraphed the engine, and was reduced to splinters. The locomotives were so badly damaged that they will be taken to the scrap pile in Montreal. Bygone man McManus and Express Messenger Lee sustained numerous bruises.

Mail Clerk J. Dore, who was on No. 97, the train following that which was wrecked, stated that he could not conceive how Mail Clerk McFarlane and his two assistants escaped. He said that Mr. McFarlane had been a mail clerk for twenty years and had been in practically every important passenger wreck that has occurred on the C. P. R. between Ottawa and Fort William.

Miss Emma Christie who spends the summers in her cottage at this place and who left here a few weeks ago was in a train accident on her way from the King's Daughters' Convention to Schreiber, Ont., where she is now located.

Britains Birth Rate On the Decline

London, Oct. 18.—The Bishop of Ripon, speaking at the Church Congress, dealt with the declining birth rate. He said that "the total number of births registered last year in England and Wales was 915,621, equal to 25.6 per cent. per 1,000; whereas in 1876 the births were equal to 36.3 per 1,000. This means that where four children were born in 1876 80, only three were born in 1908. Nor is the decline confined to the mother country. In thirty years the birth rate in Australia fell from 41.9 to 27.35. The phenomenon which, therefore, confronts us is an arrest of birth force in the English speaking portions of the Empire. If the diminution of the birth rate could be shown to prevail among the dominant nations, we might view the phenomenon with that apprehension, but the decline is not so marked among those classes in which England might justly welcome large families."

The climate of Alaska shows a wide variation, from 90 degrees Fahrenheit at Rampart, on the Yukon River, in July, with an average for the month of 63 degrees, to 69 degrees below zero at Fort Robert, near the Klondike gold fields, in January, with an average for the month of 40 degrees below zero. The coast towns are mild for that region, either Sitka or Kodiak reaching zero during 1869, while Baranc only reached 5 degrees below in January, with a daily mean for the month of 14.15.

Hon. Geo. F. Hill Died Last Night.

New Brunswick's Veteran Legislature Had a Notable Career in Politics.

(Special to St. J. Telegraph.)

St. Stephen, N. B., Oct. 21.—Hon. George F. Hill, ex-M. P. P., and at one time speaker of the local house, died at his home here this evening. Mr. Hill has been out of politics for some time, and led a quiet life during the last few years. He was in failing health for weeks, and his death was not unexpected. He is survived by three brothers, Arthur, Edgar and Henry E.

Deceased was the son of Hon. Geo. S. Hill, of the State of Maine, who came to New Brunswick in his infancy and settled in the New Brunswick assembly and legislative assembly for thirty-two years, and in the government of New Brunswick. His mother was descended from English Puritans, and was born at Stephen. He was educated at home and in the United States, and was admitted in 1854 and in the same year went into mercantile pursuits, retiring in 1882. He was official assessor for Charlotte county, 1869-1878, and a member of the legislature for twenty-five years, fifteen years in the legislature, and ten years in the legislative council. He was elected to the assembly in '86, defeated in 1886, and elected again in 1898, remaining in the legislature until appointed a member of the legislative council in 1892. He was president of the legislative council from 1887 until the dissolution of that branch in 1892. He was again returned to the legislature in 1894, and was re-elected at the general elections 1890 and 1903. He was speaker of the assembly, which office he resigned Aug. 31st, 1900.

Mr. Hill was a member of the Twelfth military without pay up to February, 1903. He was a Liberal in politics.

Should Conserve all Water Powers

Woodstock, N. B., Oct. 20.—This morning the Union of Municipalities meeting convened at 10 o'clock, President Reilly in the chair.

Should a government, federal or provincial, guarantee the payment of municipal bonds, or should the legality of the issue thereof be guaranteed was the question up for discussion, but was deferred until the afternoon session.

J. W. McCready, of Fredericton, introduced the following resolution:

"This convention desires to approve the principles of the resolutions adopted by the Union of Canadian Municipalities and the Commission on Conservation in Canada, to the effect that our provincial legislatures should carefully protect our natural water powers by withholding unconditional titles on water power, requiring development within a specified time, the public control of rates and also a rental, with power to raise at later periods, and the use of our water powers for the benefit of our people."

Able speeches were made on this resolution by J. W. McCready, Fredericton; Ald. Potts, St. John; Mayor Reilly, Moncton. The resolution then carried unanimously.

Coun. Siddall, Westmorland, introduced the following resolution:

"Resolved, that this convention recommend to the provincial government the raising of an act for the establishment of a detective bureau, with police powers for the province."

This was seconded by Mayor McCready of Newcastle, and carried unanimously. P. St. John Hibbs, secretary-treasurer of York county, gave an able address on Municipal Taxation and the Proper Administration of the Act Respecting Rates and Taxes. He explained the method in vogue. He thought it would be wise to teach school pupils the true principles of the law that exists, in order that a sentiment might be created to show the injustice of any method that makes the poor man pay the taxes that should be paid by his richer neighbor. He thought the assessors should be appointed for three years, one going out every year. It was a mistake to allow them only one year's service, because they cannot give their best services in one year, as favoritism creeps in in short term appointments. He advocated a standard assessment for municipalities, and pointed out some of the glaring inequalities, particularly in the property of the New Brunswick Land and Lumber Company, which only is valued at 29 per cent. on the value of the land, while the rest is valued on the value of the buildings.

Splendid Kings County Deposit

Record Representative Saw Fine Deposit of Ore, which Is Being Developed.

From time to time brief notices have been given in our columns and in St. John papers of a copper mine development that has been going on quietly in Kings County. We are glad to give herewith mine details of the same, so that those who may have recently seen the statement attributed to a Mr. Wilson of the Geological Survey, that there was no copper in New Brunswick rich enough to make it commercially valuable, can form more correct conclusions on the same.

A visit to this mine was made on Tuesday, the 11th, inst., which is reached most easily, via the Central Railway from Norton, thence to Scotch settlement, when a short walk of not over a mile will bring one to the scene of the mining operations. There the writer and Mr. Thos. Dick and brother, and other workmen, busily engaged in sinking and cross cutting, on one of the main leads, bringing to the surface ore that would do credit to any mine in the world, heavily charged with copper of Chalcopryrite variety, and giving the most positive evidence of both richness and quantity. Several other veins have been sunk upon, cross-cut and trenched, on the property evidences from all being of the most convincing nature.

This location, strange to say was first discovered many years ago by Mr. Dick who visited the locality for purposes of examining another outcrop. He afterwards returned and in company with G. W. Ganong of St. Stephen, took up leases, and has at various times since then engaged on quietly developing the area.

To any one who has heard that a copper mine was being developed near Scotch settlement, and then going in to see it a revelation is certainly given them. A comfortable cabin has been erected near the pass road, and for a couple of acres more or less, a large amount of development work has been done, two main shafts sunk, and cross-cutting and trenching in abundance, from all of which ore in goodly quantity has been thrown out.

In the vicinity of the two timbered shafts, quite large bodies of high grade ore is piled up, and to any one who looks at it, and is capable of forming a judgement at all, it is simply beyond belief that any intelligent mining man, be he of the Geological Survey staff, or not, could honestly and conscientiously say New Brunswick has neither rich ore or quantity, as the developments there show directly to the contrary.

Mr. Dick, who is thoroughly well posted and intelligent miner, and one capable of giving proof of his knowledge having been engaged in mining of all classes in the West, in Colorado, Nevada and the Columbia region, is fully satisfied that an immense body of good paying ore is here, only requiring capital to make the full development necessary and not only is he of the belief that the mineral wealth here is not alone, but that in other parts of New Brunswick the same conditions exist. In Charlotte County ore districts well worthy of development, and from what he has heard and seen he has no hesitation in saying that the Jordan Mountain Copper mine is a valuable deposit, and has promised to visit it before he leaves Scotch Settlement, which he proposes doing early in November.

The visit to this Scotch Settlement mine was very pleasant and instructive to the writer, and the courtesy and kindness of Mr. Dick and associates will long be remembered. Kings County Record.

It is said that the Duke of Cornwall is firmly set for the Duke's next Governor-General, he and his family are now on the way to Capetown, Africa.

The C. P. R. has commenced work on their water supply from Chamcook lake to St. Andrews.

The I. C. R. Maritime express was badly derailed on Monday at Nauyasgan, no one was hurt however.

Dr. A. O. Earle one of St. John's best known and leading Lawyers died very suddenly Monday morning, he had been sick for some weeks but death was not expected.

Two Ontario children playing with matches while their mother was absent in the barn, started a fire in the woodbox and were burned to death before assistance reached them.

Dr. Crippen was convicted for the murder of his wife and will be hanged on Nov. 8. The date originally announced was the 15th but the Sheriff advanced it one week.

The U. S. Government are making rigid search for contraband goods in New York and many of the merchants are quaking in their boots afraid of the consequences, many being afraid their former clerks will betray them.

The Earl of Horrowly who is making a tour of the world accompanied by his wife and son is considering the establishment of another English colony in the north-west similar to the one started some time ago by the Duke of Sutherland.

The Jury in the case of Miss LeNeve who was tried as an accomplice of Dr. Crippen for the murder of his wife after consideration declared her "not guilty," little evidence was produced against her and the defence offered none.

It is likely a bye-law will be enacted in St. John to sell poultry by weight, instead of by the pair as now in practice, this is a move in the right direction and should be made general.

The General Superintendent prizes for the best station flower garden on the C. P. R. between the Atlantic and Pacific was awarded to Arthur Gove, station master at St. Andrews.

The Norwegian Stmr. Harold rescued seven men the crew of the four-masted lumber laden schooner Hollywood which was in a sinking condition in mid-ocean. Capt. Walls of Bath, Me., commander of the ill-fated vessel refused to leave her and most likely perished with her.

The Cruiser Niabe arrived at Halifax on Friday of last week and was given a rousing welcome by our friends the Halifaxians, the old familiar letters H. M. S. are changed on the vessel that marks Canada's first ship to H. M. C. S. S. the C. of course stands for Canada.

A London veterinary has said spiteful things about the cat, and thus he appears to be of the same mind with Masterlinck who in "The Blue Bird" has represented the cat as a most unlikable character, in diametrical contrast with the dog. The veterinary's dislike has, or affects to have, scientific foundation, for he declares that if post-mortem examinations were made of cats, nine-tenths of them would be found to be tuberculous, or would show that they had at some time been so.

Count Katsura, the Premier and Minister of Finance of Japan, speaking at a dinner of the Associated Clearing Houses Sunday evening, said that the only new feature in the next budget will be an appropriation for naval increase amounting to $40,000,000, payable in six years. This, the Finance Minister said, is needed for the purpose of maintaining peace. Count Katsura emphasized Japan's friendly relations with the Powers and her determination to maintain peace in the far East.

The big Hartford and New Haven Railway Co. is trying to purchase the Eastern Steamship Co.'s stock and have made an offer of 100 cents on the dollar for it, the offer has been refused but in all probability they will be successful in getting control, when they will practically control all the steamship lines from St. John to New York. Whether such a change will be of advantage to the patrons of the Eastern S. S. Co. in this part of the Country is very doubtful, as it will create another huge monopoly.

The Eastport Citizen of 1 week has a long and interesting account of a hunting cruise near Pocologan by Messrs the Hon. W. I. Cummings, Shoe Mfr., of South Berwick and Fred A. Holmes of Eastport under the auspices of George Scott and John Hunter. They succeeded in getting two good moose, one deer and a good fat bag of partridge, woodcock, etc., all of which they brought out of the woods. The account is very interesting and the results show the excellent opportunities for hunting enjoyment in this part of the province and situated almost at the farmer's back doors.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short, establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—It says better, but you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Quick and Permanent Relief from Rheumatism

It is not exposure to cold or wet that is the real cause of rheumatism—it is bad kidneys. So long as the kidneys are doing their work properly, filtering from the blood all the Uric Acid formed there from the waste products of the body, rheumatism cannot exist. It is only when the kidneys fail, and the blood becomes loaded with this Uric Acid, that the slightest exposure stiffens up the joints or muscles and causes agony.

Rev. Father Morrissey

Father Morrissey's No. 7 Tablets

promptly relieve and permanently cure rheumatism by putting the kidneys into perfect shape for their work. Once the strengthened, invigorated kidneys get the Uric Acid cleared out of the blood the rheumatic pains disappear. If they ever show symptoms of returning a few No. 7 Tablets will tone the kidneys up again and keep you free from the dreaded rheumatism.

Father Morrissey's No. 7 Tablets have proved their value in hundreds of cases where other remedies have failed entirely.

100 Perish in Italian Cyclone and Tidal Wave

Naples, Oct. 25.—The beautiful coast of the Bay of Naples and the Gulf of Salerno, and the Islands of Ischia and Procida have been devastated by a peculiar combination of the elements. The exact number of victims has not been learned but 100 persons are said to have been killed. The monetary loss is great.

The disaster appears to have come in the form of a cyclone having three centres, the first over the Island of Ischia, the second over the town of Torre Del Greco on the east coast of the Bay of Naples and the third sweeping the Gulf of Salerno.

Accompanying the cyclone were a cloud burst, a tidal wave and violent eruptions from Mount Vesuvius and from a crater suddenly opened on the long extinct Mount Epomeo on the island of Ischia.

Ischia and the adjacent islands suffered most. No foreigners are reported in the troubled zone, tourists having recently given that section a wide berth because of the cholera epidemic.

The coasts of the mainland which yesterday were beautiful with their groves of their orange, lemon and mandarin trees have been overrun with rivers of mud and ashes from Mount Vesuvius. Human bodies and the carcasses of dumb animals have been discovered in the molten stream. The high road from Sorrento to Amalfi at Salerno formed by terraces in the mountain cliffs and bordered with fruit trees and vines was unrecognizable today. At several points landslides have occurred.

At some points the lava from Mount Epomeo is twenty feet deep. When the cyclone was at its height enormous hail stones fell and huge rocks detached from the mountain peaks came tumbling down.

LOCALS

The addition to the town wharf is about all finished just a few finishing touches to be done.

FOUND—A small sum of money on Friday last week, owner can obtain same at the store of D. Bassen by paying for this advertisement.

The work of installing the new iron frame work for the pulp mill water gate is almost finished and Mr. Hurst of the Union Foundry, West St. John under whose supervision it has been done expects to finish next week.

The remains of Rev. F. M. Young arrived here by Thursday's train and were interred in the Cemetery.

The funeral ceremonies which were conducted at Parrsboro were of a very impressive nature being held in the church of which he was pastor at the time of his death, both the music and the K. of P. orders taking part, the deceased was very active in both orders being Grand Chaplain for N. S. at the time of his death.

The fine new residence erected this season by Dr. Wilson (Dentist) is now completed and the doctor has as comfortable quarters as one could wish, he has fitted up offices which for convenience both of his patients and also for his work that when his Laboratory fittings are all completed will furnish offices, waiting rooms, etc., equal to many of the offices in the larger cities, which should be appreciated by his patients, and the people of St. George and the surrounding districts, who need his professional services.

On October the 23d Mrs. Adams Kernighan of this place celebrated her fifty sixth birthday. The occasion was celebrated by the presence of her husband nine children, and eight grandchildren and her aunt Mrs. Lydia Trimble of Pennfield. The children are James, George and John, Mrs. Margaret Nodd, Mrs. George Taylor and Miss Helen of this place, and Mrs. Wm. Matthews, Annie and Ethel of Eastport. Mrs. Kernighan was the recipient of some very useful presents. We all join in wishing her many more happy birthdays.

CANADA'S INCREASING TRADE

(Charlotte Harbor, Fla.)

The total trade of Canada in the month of March 1910 was $692,211,221. This was more than five times the total of 1861, and showed an increase of more than $454,000,000 in the past fourteen years. These are striking figures and it would have not been surprising if the high water mark of last year had been followed by an ebb of the tide.

Such has not been the case, however. The first increase of the current year shows an increase over the like months of last year of nearly $56,000,000. This is indeed remarkable as well as gratifying.

ENCOURAGEMENT.

Harold Weaking—And after I've interviewed your mother must I ask your father for your hand?

Ethel Strongman—Yes, if you survive mother.—Chicago Daily News.

Married

At St. Andrews, Oct. 25th at 3 p. m., Miss Gladys F. Foster and Norman Foster of Niagara were united in marriage by Rev. J. W. Millidge of St. John.

Married in Yukon

Miss Winnifred Steeves and J. F. Steeves were married at 10 o'clock last evening at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. W. Elson Dunham officiated, and the witnesses were Mrs. Tremaine Best and Victor Steeves, brother to the groom.

After the ceremony, a wedding supper was held at the Regina hotel.

The bride-elect travelled from 5,000 to 6,000 miles to become the life partner of the man of her choice. Her home is near Moncton, New Brunswick, and she made the journey direct from that place to Dawson, landing here yesterday on the steamer Canadian. Accompanying her was Mr. Steeves' five year old son, Vaughan, who has been living in New Brunswick with relatives. Although the bride-elect had the same surname as the groom, the two are from entirely different families in their home province.

N. W. Brown B. A. of Fredericton gave a very instructive lecture on the Government Annuity system Saturday evening of last week in Court's Hall before quite a large gathering. He fully explained the two plans by which the government grant old age annuities, plan by which a larger annuity can be got for the amount of money invested but in which at death after 55 or 60 years of age all the money left goes to the Government, but this by a small extra payment can be averted and the annuity continued for 10, 15 or 20 years to the family or heirs.

This plan designated plan A is one particularly favorable for the consideration of younger people who have or are likely to have some one dependent on them.

The different Postmasters throughout the Dominion are required as a part of their duty to furnish the necessary literature and give all information in their power to those wishing to participate in the benefits of the system, which is one worthy of the best attention of the people generally.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

Montreal Stirred by Dark Tragedy

Special to the St. J. Telegraph
 Montreal, Oct. 24.—Sensational developments in the Westmount mystery occurred today, when the body of the girl, discovered in a vacant lot, was positively identified by the clothing as that of Cecile Michaud, a girl of thirteen years.

It was immediately remembered that two men, Albert Cheverier, a bartender, and Ladger Perrault, a saloon keeper, had a short time ago been committed for trial on a charge of abduction, and a still more serious charge against Cecile Michaud, and another girl of sixteen named Barnadette Dacemals.

Shortly after the Michaud girl disappeared in August, the father and a lawyer started an investigation with the result that they learned from Barnadette Dacemals that early in August the two men had met them and induced them to take an automobile ride, promising to bring them back in an hour. But Barnadette said that instead they were driven to a resort just outside the city and plied with drink while Cheverier induced the Michaud girl to stay. Barnadette then left and apparently Cheverier was left alone with Miss Michaud, who was never seen again. This led to the arrest of Cheverier and Perrault and they were committed for trial on the two charges. Now they are held for murder, and will probably be so charged at the coroner's inquest tomorrow.

The lower jawbone of the girl was discovered today with several teeth apparently knocked out. Two teeth were also missing from the upper front, while the father states that the child had a perfect set of teeth when he last saw her. He thinks that the child was drugged and abused and that probably the teeth were knocked out in a struggle to force a drug into her mouth.

The case has aroused great feeling throughout the city and every effort will be made to ferret it out.

All Made of Handkerchiefs

All accessories to the toilet table such as pincushions, powder puffs, dust bags, etc., can be made from one or two more handkerchiefs. Some times a dressing table cover is made by joining three of the squares by means of lace insertion and by putting lace all around the edge. These are always welcome gifts and have just the personal note about them that is appreciated.

A little work apron can be made from two large sized handkerchiefs, decorated borders being made to play an important part in the scheme. Two edges of one square are made to form the pointed front and the sides are obtained by hemming and slanting the material into shape. From another handkerchief the ruffles can be made, and if a plaid handkerchief has been used a spray of flowers can be embroidered. Ribbon forms the band and you have a smart little gift for the needlewoman.

Four handkerchiefs are easily folded to make a charming cushion over the baby. They are folded diagonally through the center, and strips of insertion join the edges, passing from one corner to the other. The method of construction is readily seen as soon as the handkerchiefs are folded. When this is accomplished, they of course form a square.

Entire blouses and dressing jackets are made from these useful squares. For the dressing sack sleeve the handkerchief should have a hole cut in it to allow the arm to pass through and a becoming effect is obtained if the hole is not quite in the center, making the front portion of the handkerchief hang shorter than the back.

An effiee petticoat flounce has been made from handkerchief squares and insertion, but this is a lot of work. Still if one starts thinking about it the list of these handkerchief possibilities is very varied.

Quebec, Oct. 23.—The N. T. R. commission and G. T. P. officials are here to select a terminal location. Mr. Wainwright says the company will build a large hotel here.

Locks are to be established on the St. Charles river to make it navigable. The caisson of the Quebec bridge has been floated, and will be placed in Lewis graving dock.

MRS. ANDERSON Tells How After Giving Up Hope, She Was Cured Of Dandruff

After reading this straightforward statement of Mrs. Elizabeth E. Anderson, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., go to J. Suttison Clark and get a large bottle of Parisian Sage for only 50 cents, and if it don't do for you, what it did for Mrs. Anderson, c. will give you your money back. Just read this letter, it's worth your while:

"I had given up hope of ever being cured of dandruff, when I purchased a bottle of Parisian Sage. It has entirely removed the dandruff, and has started growth of new hair, and all this after having been troubled for 15 years. I cheerfully recommend Parisian Sage."

Since the introduction of Parisian Sage into Canada, it has been in demand by thousands of up-to-date society women. Parisian Sage will turn harsh, lusterless, flaking hair into bright, luxuriant hair in a few days. It is a delightful and invigorating dressing, contains no dye or harmful ingredients and is not sticky or gray. The girl with the Auburn hair on every package.

"The Little Man With the Whiskers."

Y NAME is Ethel Cox. I'm not a boy—don't be too smart and say: "Of course, I know that—Ethel is a girl's name"—or I am not a girl, either.

What am I? Well, listen, and find out. Nearly a year ago a lady and gentleman had left their country home to winter in New York. One afternoon as the lady was sitting alone in her room word was brought to her that Miss Ethel Cox wanted to see her.

"Miss Ethel Cox?" said the lady, "is she waiting in the parlor?"

"No, ma'am," was the answer. "It was a telephone message. Miss Ethel Cox wants you to call on her at once."

When the boy went away the lady sat and thought. She did not know any person named Ethel Cox, and being of a jealous turn of mind, she concluded it was some female person of her husband's acquaintance who had had the temerity to telephone for him. When somewhat later her husband came in she said never a word about Miss Ethel Cox, although she was boiling over with remarks she bided her time until he was going to bed and had his boots off, then quite sweetly she told him of the lady who was wanting to see him immediately.

The gentleman protested that he knew no person named Ethel Cox, but despite his most eloquent disclaimers his wife went to her bed distant and skeptical.

Next morning came a letter from the country home telling the news that a heifer calf had been born the preceding day. The lady immediately hurried off home, for the cow was an especial favorite of hers and she wanted to see that it had been properly cared for. When she reached home she began to scold because she had not been told about the calf sooner—and her sister, who was an Englishwoman and who was caring for the house in the lady's absence, told her that she had sent her word by telephone and had been surprised that she had not arrived the day before. Then it all came out. The sister had telephoned about a heifer calf, and the operator, unaccustomed to the English accent, had mistaken "heifer calf" for "Ethel Cox."

When it all came out it was too good a joke against the lady to be suppressed, so the calf was named Ethel Cox, and when I tell you that that is my name you will know just what I am—neither a boy nor a girl, but just a heifer calf.

What are you laughing about? Does the idea of a calf writing a story strike you as funny? You must be very foolish.

CURIOUS TREATMENT FOR A REAL MOTHER, experienced, then, for I've heard my master say that any donkey could write better stuff than a critic, and if he thinks that a donkey who waxes half his time wagging his ears and making heathenish noises has more intellect than a man, why shouldn't a calf have more intellect than either, or both? I don't do a thing all day but chew my cud and think. I think fearfully. From what my master says a critic never does, and my master ought to know, for he says they are always trying to sit on him.

I wonder what kind of an animal a critic is! It must be big or else my master, who is quite a tall gentleman, wouldn't mind his sitting on him.

Before my horns grew, when I was quite a silly little thing, I used to fancy that a critic was a big dog who had puppies—like our Snoozer—for she sits on all the other dogs the moment they go near the barn where her puppies are—but since I have grown older and listened more carefully to the conversation of cultivated people, I have learnt that a critic is something much bigger and crosser than our Snoozer. A foolish thing like Snoozer couldn't say things that my mistress would mind and cry over; if she had even tried to, my mistress would just have whipped her and had her chained up in the barn for her impudence. Still, finding out that Snoozer was not a critic didn't help me to learn who a critic was.

I asked Beauty one day—Beauty is a cow who also belongs to my mistress, and who has the foolishness to pretend that she is my real mother. As I believed her! First of all she is a very silly cow and has no ideas whatever; and second of all, if she was really my mother she would give me her nice rich milk when I'm thirsty, instead of kicking at me, and saving it all for Patrick—who is a man, not a calf, and who can't possibly want milk—while I want it so badly that I have to steal it from a friendly neighbor's cow, whenever she is tethered near enough.

As I said, I asked Beauty who a critic was—for he had always lived in high families, and it is considered so unfashionable for married people to like one another—but that after awhile he found them pleasant people and the comfortable and the oats good and plentiful, so he decided to put up with them.

When he told me this I decided I could also afford to put up with their want of manners, and indeed I suppose that it would be hard to better oneself in a small country town, for the time I ran away to the house over the hill I found the barn so draughty and dirty, and the hay so inferior to my own, that I was glad when Patrick came for me and took me home.

But pardon me for digressing. As I was saying, my master and mistress came over as usual and sat down by the brook; after giving me a little attention they began to talk, and straightly enough their conversation chimed in with my own thoughts.

"Don't be so cast down, darling," said my mistress, "they'll understand you and acknowledge you some time. I wouldn't be worried by any thing a critic said."

"No!" said my master. "And yet you cried like any thing this morning after you heard a critic's remarks—and your eyes are red yet."

"Well, I can't help being a little disappointed. I know that one day you will be appreciated, and the world will see you with my eyes, and every time your work comes before the public I say to myself: 'Perhaps this is the time!' When I find that we have yet a little longer to wait, it pains me, and being only a woman, I cry—not because we have to wait, but because not a critic understands what you have been aiming at, and appreciates the endeavor, even if the achievement was a failure."

"That's where it hurts," said my master, gravely. "I labor for months to put the best that is in me into my work, and when it comes before the public, this that has taken me so long to produce is dismissed with a few curt, unthinking remarks, and except for the harvest of abuse I have reaped, I have gained nothing by my long years of earnest, honest, work—noting, but a dastardly attack like that which made you weep this morning. 'It is said that the unfortunate public is about to have another picture inflicted upon it from the incompetent brush of Mr. — and so on.' Ah, wife, I am so nearer the goal than I was ten years ago."

"Nonsense—you are nearer—much nearer. The fact that you are of sufficient importance to be abused in advance ought to tell you that; and then, critic was: her answer was just what I might have expected."

"My dear Ethel," she said, "I don't know, or care any thing about a critic. I have all I can do to attend to my own business. If I wasted my days wondering about a critic I shouldn't have time to eat grass, then I should fall off in my milk, and biff—Crisfield would be poking me in the ribs to see how fat I was, and driving me off to make beef of me just as he did to Dean's Sadie, who was the belle of Westchester County in her day. Don't bother your head about a critic, my child; gambol round and get strong until you go into the milk business yourself, and then stick to it, my dear, stick to it."

I strolled contemptuously away from her, but the indignant reflections I might have indulged in were cut short, for at that moment I saw my master and mistress coming out of the garden gate toward me.

I like my people very much. They are always very kind to me. My mistress used to feed me with her own hands when I was small, and take me up and down the yard with a rope, and give me dainty bits of grass—and take me out on the lawn sunny days, when Patrick—who I should have told you is my groom—used to want to keep me cooped up in the stable.

My master is a very nice person, too, but I don't see so much of him. He's a To be Continued.)

Making the Sea Safer
(St. Paul Dispatch)

It could not seem necessary to demonstrate the value of the wireless telegraph system to merchant ships, after the many instances on record of the saving of life and property by its means. It would no more seem necessary to resort to a demonstration to secure the general use of the apparatus, but it is the fact that a large percentage of the merchantmen leaving American ports—statisticians counting on other ports—are lacking in equipment with the wireless system. Congress has passed a bill making the equipment necessary upon all vessels of a minimum of fifty persons or more, and it is in the line of expediency that every seagoing boat equipped with steam power sufficient to run the dynamo necessary to the wireless system should be compelled to add this modern necessity to its outfit. Every equipped vessel is a relaying station for the general service, part of the system which keeps the surface of the ocean in touch with the land and the wireless apparatus should be held as necessary as life preservers. The new law is particularly mild, especially as it gives until July 1 of next year in which to install the apparatus.

London, Oct. 23.—Stoke Fleming, a little village near Dartmouth, has the honor of providing the Prince of Wales with an 18c. tea every Sunday afternoon. There is a famous lunch shop in this village, where tea, with clotted cream, raspberry jam and rich cakes are served, and the young prince from Dartmouth college having discovered it, now resorts to it every week. Most of them gorge on jam and cakes, but the Prince of Wales takes the wiser course and has a "her tea" of bread and butter and cream and one slice of cake. Then while his comrades are busy chalking up their accounts to be paid at some time in the future, the young prince settles his bill and goes home. So quiet and modest is the future King of England that one of the navvies at the shop had served him several Sundays before she discovered that she was the Prince of Wales. When she found it out she lapsed from a sensible, rosy cheeked Devonshire lass into a nervous blundering serving maid who was afraid to carry the prince's tea tray to him lest she drop it in her confusion. She has overcome her shyness now, for she fronts this unassuming lad far less tremble to serve than his riotous schoolboys.

Police on the Oracles Track
Berlin, Oct. 22.—Some 2,000 prophets are shaking in their shoes. Their ranks, it is believed, have swelled to this number, and so far are they from being without honor in their native town, that their clients sometimes have to wait for hours before they are admitted into the latter sanctuary where the cards reveal their secrets. But now their golden stars are past, for the police are in their tracks. To get a test case they raided the temple of one of these modern Pythiesses in the north of Berlin. Two ladies were escorted with the reader of oracles, three others sat patiently waiting their turn in the ante-room. They were not members of the classes to which ignorance and superstition are supposed to be peculiar, but had come from the fashionable quarters of West End in carriage and motor cars. A printed card on the wall informed the visitors that they could have their destiny revealed out of their return by payment of an extra fee of 25 cents. Greatly to their consternation the clients of the prophets were obliged themselves to make revelation of their names and addresses. Nor were they comforted by the intimation that in all probability they would be required to appear in open court and help to demonstrate at once the imposture of the fortune-teller and the folly of their own credulity.

British Dirigible Crossed Channel
Brighton, Eng., Oct. 25.—The British military dirigible "Morning Post," crossed the English channel from France successfully today and passed over Brighton at 2.15 o'clock en route for Aldershot. The dirigible left Moisson at 10.15 o'clock this morning for Aldershot. At 1.20 it passed over the semaphore at St. Valéry en Caux and disappeared above the English Channel conveyed by an English destroyer. The "Morning Post" was constructed in France and presented to the British Army by the London Morning Post.

Cruiser Niobe to Winter at Halifax
Ottawa, Oct. 26.—The Canadian cruiser Niobe is expected to remain at Halifax and the vicinity of that port most of the winter. The seven young Canadians who have been in training as cadets aboard the cruiser Canada have been transferred to the Niobe and advanced to the midshipmen.

The plans of the Bristol cruiser from which the new Canadian cruiser will be built are expected to reach Canada or England.—St. John Globe.

There was a sequel to the Crippen murder case Tuesday, when the High Court inflicted a fine of $1,000 upon Assistant Editor Ferris for contempt of court in permitting the publication in a London paper of a story that Dr. Crippen had purchased hyoscin and had confessed to the murder of his wife. The Court ordered that Ferris be imprisoned unless the fine is paid.

Boston Globe: According to the latest estimate the total crop of the United States this year will be 285,000,000 bush. That will be considerably short of a bumper yield, but nevertheless we shall be able to spare a few pounds of terrene for France where the crop this year has been a failure.

The convention of a railway station into a garage is curious. This, states African Engineering, has occurred at a South African town, from which, owing to the progress of the motor car, trains have ceased to run, and the station there has with inclusive been given over to the housing of self-propelled vehicles. The booking and other offices and the waiting rooms are now used as workshops and storerooms.

Delicious Doughnuts
Good doughnuts are good food. Made from the right flour they are not only a delicious treat but the combination of right flour with fat is distinctly nourishing. You see I put special emphasis on right flour. For it is very important. It means the difference between light, flaky, crumbly doughnuts that melt in your mouth and are easy to digest, and tough, rubbery greasy wads of dough, heavy, soggy, indigestible. Try making doughnuts from

"Royal Household" Flour
Notice how rich, soft, and flaky they are. And the reason is that "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" being richer in high quality gluten than ordinary flour resists the absorption of too much fat in cooking. It doesn't get rubbery, makes a lighter dough, absorbs just enough of the fat for nourishment, but not enough for indigestion. The absolute uniformity of "Royal Household" enables you to get the same splendid results every time both in Bread and Pastry.

Try "Royal Household". Find out for yourself. All grocers sell it or can get it on short notice.

Assault Case at Grand Harbor

Grand Manan, Oct. 22.—On the evening of Oct. 21, Governor Captil, of Woodwards Cove, Grand Manan, committed assault on Egar Cook of Grand Harbor, rendering him unconscious and inflicting several wounds about his head as well as causing internal injuries. Captil was arrested by Constable Kiscuden, who brought him before Justice of the Peace Murray Lambert on the 22nd inst. The witnesses present were John Cronk, Harold Foster and L. C. Guphill. The court was adjourned at 6 p. m. until 10 a. m. Oct. 27, until which time Guphill was remanded to the parish goal or produce satisfactory bail to the amount of $400. On the 23rd inst. Guphill broke out of the lock up and it is believed is now in Maine.

Geographical Influences

(Vancouver, Province)

We may say what we choose, but despite the large number of Canadians which the Northwest contains, there is to-day more community of feeling between us and Winnipeg and Minneapolis than there is between Winnipeg and Montreal, or Winnipeg and Toronto. When people in Winnipeg desire to take a short holiday and pay a visit to another city they do not unless they have some definite object in view, go to the cities of Eastern Canada.

They go to St. Paul, or even as far as Chicago. In the winter months the curling clubs and other associations for amusement go south of the boundary line to meet competitors; they do not go to the east. The long, tedious and repelling journey around the North shore of Lake Superior prevents that.

Britain has Huge Supply of Radium

Sir Wm Ramsay's important discovery London, Oct. 18.—Official announcement will be made to-morrow that the first 500 milligrammes of radium have been pronounced in England from Cornish pitch blende. A continuous supply of British radium is thus assured for the future. When it is remembered that the total quantity of radium in existence at the present moment is only a few grammes, the importance of this statement to the medical and scientific world will immediately be understood. For the last eighteen months work has been proceeding quietly at the Fenwick section of the St. Ives consolidated mines in Cornwall, where pitch blende is being produced regularly in considerable quantities. From the pitch blende ore fair quantities of uranium oxide and other uranium products are daily being manufactured and the extraction and purification of radium bromide is now being worked out by continuous process.

Sir William Ramsay, one of the foremost scientists of the age, conducted the experiments, and the result of his researches is the discovery of a process by which radium can be extracted from uranium in a period of under three months, as against the two years occupied under the system at present in use in Austria, where the bulk of wheat radium exists in the world hitherto has been obtained.

Sir William, after exhaustive researches, has also been able to produce from the Cornish pitch blende the rarer element of polonium, a fact which in itself is startling and bound to create a stir in the medical councils of the world.

For the present, however, it is hopeless to expect any reduction of the present prohibitive price of radium, which is something like $100,000 per gramme.

Young Man Kicked in Mouth by a Horse

Chatlam World: A serious accident occurred to Robert Glenn, of Big Brook, Coal Branch, Kent Co. His father, Andrew Glenn, was in the act of chasing a colt into where his mother was, and Robert was standing beside his father, when the mare turned suddenly and, running after the colt, kicking as she went. The colt of her shoe entered the mouth of Mr. Glenn, jr., and broke the roof of his mouth. Dr. Garvin of Harcourt, was summoned, and had the young man taken to Moncton Hospital. A silver plate was put into the roof of his mouth to keep the broken parts together, and food is administered artificially. At last accounts he was doing well. The injured man is about 24 years of age.

RESIGNATION.

A Philadelphia Methodist minister, who does not live so very far from Broad and Lombard streets, tells an anecdote about prayer concerning a very original Norristown preacher.

"This preacher in the course of a very long prayer one Sunday night," says the Philadelphia preacher, "recounted the many misfortunes and evils that had befallen him in the course of his long life. Then sighing heavily, he prayed: 'Thou hath tried me with affliction with bereavement, and with sorrow of many kinds. If thou art obliged to try me again, Lord, try me with the burden of wealth.'—Philadelphia Times.

Padding of Census Returns

(Portland, Me., Press)

The padding of census returns in cities west of the Mississippi appears to have been done by the wholesale. In Tacoma, Wash., the figures were padded to the extent of over 33,000, the population, as reported, leaping from less than 40,000 in 1900 to about 83,000 an enumeration grossly improbable on its face. Other far western cities are under suspicion—Seattle, Portland, and even Minneapolis.

In these and in some Southern cities the efforts of newspapers and boards of trade to make a boom feature of population returns have raised a presumption against them that the census returns are unwarranted by the facts. Another motive of padding is the fact that the enumerators are paid according to the number of persons counted. In the East the rate is two and a half cents a name. On the Pacific coast it is three cents. In the census bureau, however, the general opinion is that the reason behind the padding of such cities as Tacoma, Alameda and Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore., Minneapolis, Minn., Boise, Idaho and Fort Smith, Ark., was simply to rival, creating a desire on the part of citizens to see their city take a large population rank than its neighbors. This sort of rivalry is believed to be entirely responsible for the padding that has been discovered in the State of Washington. Whatever the motive the persons responsible for this whole sale inflation of census returns should be made to pay the penalty of their crime. Not only does it turn a costly work of the government into a farce, but it prevents a correct basis for the apportionment of Representatives.

Blue Stockings

(Boston Advertiser)

Whence the term "Blue Stockings"? In her studies of some celebrities classified as "Famous Blue Stockings," Litch Wheeler says that a Benjamin Stillingfleet, the poet, philosopher and statesman, suggested it by wearing blue hose at morning intellectual assemblies, while men of fashion felt themselves obliged to wear silk. Originally applied to Stillingfleet, "blue stocking" presently became descriptive of intellectual and unconventional women, the only sense in which it is used to-day.

Those 18th century English women—Mrs. Thrale, who fed Dr Johnson for the benefit of her salon; Mrs. Montagu, alike esteemed as a hostess and essayist; Hannah More, who captivated her circle with platitudinous comments in prose, and other "Famous Blue Stockings" the author recalls were not advanced women. "They did not demand the ballot, or hunt the proclaimer of man's divinely ordained superiority. They were at least ostensibly content with woman's social and mental rating in their time. 'The world fashionable and intellectual,'" says Wheeler, "flocked to their assemblies; no dangerous opinions frightened it away, no wild and deplorable theories. Inevitably the wit and learning of the Blue Stockings began to impress, without alarming, their guests. Insensibly men began to realize that charm was not incompatible with developed quickness of parts, with wide reading, with happy allusion; that knowledge need not be accompanied by pedantry and that success in novel-writing might add no more than a delicate zest to the writer's vivacity."

We know that some of the Blue Stockings were excellent housekeepers. Dr. Johnson celebrates more than one. His conduct in his last years almost justifies belief that he prized Mrs. Thaler's dinners above her society, and he has put on record his opinion that Elizabeth Carter, who declined to write a life of Epictetus on the ground that she had a dozen shirts to make, could bake a pudding as well as she translated Latin, and hem a handkerchief as well as compose a poem. As to Mrs. Montagu, who was credited by the great Samuel with diffusing more knowledge in her conversation than any other woman he ever knew, it is not ill-natured to suppose that she would have been considered less brilliant had she been less rich, or her cook less of a corollon bleu. Who reads her now? Fanny Burney's "Diary" survives as a veracious portrayal of Queen Charlotte's commonplace court. Vain as she was, and often ill-natured, she had a knack of bringing out the social color of her time.

Miss Wheeler has written an entertaining book.
