Death of Mrs. Geo. O. Britton

Early on Tuesday morning the death occurred of Mrs. George O. Britton of Windsor. The deceased was a daughter of Ami Shaw and was in her 47th year. She was the mother of seven children, three of whom died in early young womanhood, having fallen victims of tuberculosis. The funeral will be held today from their residence, Rev. George Kincaid conducting the service. Great sympathy is extended to Mr. Britton who is the well known manager of the Farmers' Telephone Co.

Death has fearfully scourged his family, and this is not the first sad occasion on which the sympathy of the county has been outpoured for him. The sad instance touches the heart of every one of the many friends of the genial manager of the local telephone company. The recent deaths of his daughters has saddened many hearts. What seems sadder than all is that another daughter, Miss Hazel, is expected to return today from the Jordan Sanatorium, from which she has been dismissed as incurable.

YOUR KING AND COUNTRY WANT YOU

More men, more men—is Lord Kitchener's appeal to the Empire. Yes, that is it. Clean men, men of iron, firm, determined, hard as granite, filled with a patriotic desire to do something for their country. To that quality of manhood there is opportunity to do something large in a practical way. Canada stands well in the present crisis, the heroic deeds of the overseas contingents have stirred the Empire to its heart's core, and we are getting the glory of it. It is well, however, to look at the facts, the majority of those who so far have made Canada famous are English born, the spirit of loyalty came with them to Canada, and at the call of the Empire they volunteered without hesitation to face war's hardships for God and the King. Old soldiers some of them, carrying medals and scars who know what fighting is. Who had soul enough in them to offer to defend it against a militarism which would crush the world. It is true that Canada has not been found wanting, her roll of heroes grows, nobly they have stood the test. As in the South African war there has been a loyal response to the call to arms, but not in proportion to the population. We want more native blood in the heroic battalions at the front.

What have we done to show our regard for England, who has made Canada what it is, guarding our shores, preserving our peace and prosperity, ungrudgingly; all the compensation for which is, that we do not forget. And England is grateful. We must remember that to the navy we owe the fact that New Brunswick is not today suffering the fate of Belgium. It would not be pleasant for German shells to batter St. John, we must give to England the same unstinting loyalty she serves to us.

Let us not flatter ourselves that because the Empire is right, therefore we must win. We can only conquer with the vigorous manhood which leaps to defend it, thus it is the country wants you.

Here is your opportunity, Ruskin says: "Somehow I feel as if it were grander and worthier in a man, to have made his bread by sword play rather than any other play. I had rather that he had made it by thrusting than by batting, much rather than by betting, much rather that he should risk war horses than back race horses."

If that was Ruskin's thought in times of peace, what now? Face the issue, your King and country call you, you young men with no home ties, or with them stalwart, strong, full blooded, your place is in the ranks with those who are fighting for freedom country and home. The 55th wants you; New Brunswick wants you, to sustain her honor while this bugle summons the Dominion to arms.

Let deeds prove to be better than words. Enlist now. Put on the uniform, swell the number who will help to stem the tide of German aggression and prove to the world that Canada stands shoulder to shoulder with Australia, New Zealand and India in service and sacrifice.

If you are over twenty-one, years of age, be a man, wear khaki, if married ask your wife to let you go, if under twenty-one, get your parents' consent and report yourselves to Lt. Col. B. R. Armstrong, and to Capt. J. R. Miller at the armory, and let them see that you are anxious to be on the honor roll of those who want to save the Empire.

Donation at Plaster Rock

Rev. Archibald Hatfield and wife of Plaster Rock were recently remembered by their friends. One evening a number of them came flocking into his home to spend the evening, and before leaving deposited on the table money and groceries amounting to some $30. Just before good night was said a few words of scripture were read, and prayer offered by Rev. Earl H. Giberson and Bro. Cox, after which the friends joined in singing "God be with you till we meet again."

Rev. Earl Giberson of Bristol has been holding special services at Riley Brook which have been marked by success. He intends preaching there again on June 6.

May 29 was conference evening for the Primitive Baptist church at Plaster Rock. A large number of the members were present and reported progress in the Christian warfare. Sunday evening following the Lord's supper was observed, a large number willingly taking part in remembrance of their risen Lord.

Mrs. George Milbury

At Bath Wednesday morning, May 26, Mary Hacket, beloved wife of George Milbury, died in her 93rd year. She leaves to mourn an aged husband, two daughters, a son and one brother. Mrs. Milbury was the eldest daughter of the late Rev. Gideon Estabrooks and was one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Bath.

FIGHTING FAMILY AT CENTREVILLE

Mrs. Alice A. Sears of Centreville has received an interesting letter from her son, Driver Leonard Sears, who is with the Division Ammunition Column, 2nd Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery, on the firing line in Flanders.

Mrs. Sears has two sons at the front. Driver Stanley Sears being the other. They are both brothers of Corporal George Sears, who was stationed in Fredericton for three years with E. Company, R. C. R., and is now with that unit in Bermuda. The fourth son of Mrs. Sears is only 11 and he is already inquiring of his mother when he will be able to go to the front.

Extracts from the letter of Driver Leonard Sears, who is a member of a real fighting family, on May 5 follow.

"A few lines to let you know we are not among the casualties yet, though we have had some narrow escapes. Stanley had one of his horses shot, but so far we have managed to dodge the Jack Johnsons ourselves."

"I guess you have read in the papers what the Canadians have been doing, and I can assure you they do not exaggerate one bit. It was the hottest drive I ever made. The weather has been lovely for the past week or two. I will try to write again soon. Tell Dot (his sister) I will write to her as soon as possible. Love to the kiddies and all at home."

HILLCREST BOOMING

There has been a brisk movement in Hartland real estate the past few days, and several transfers of property are reported. The Hartland Cement Block Company are building a cement block residence for H. N. Dickinson on Hillcrest avenue. He recently purchased the lot adjoining the one on which he is building from F. A. Aiton. This gives him a double lot in one of the most desirable locations in this village. On lot No. 5 W. E. Thornton has started excavating and will begin the erection of a house at once. George McGoldrick has lumber on the ground and expects to build on lot No. 6.

Frank L. Dickinson is occupying the pretty cement block building recently built on lot No. 7. There is a prospect of several other buildings being erected on this street during the coming summer.

Major Melville Appreciates the Socks

One day recently Mrs. J. H. Gelding, of Peel, received the following letter from Major Melville in acknowledgement of some socks sent to him for his men:

"A few days ago I received for my men of the Carleton County contingent, a nice parcel of splendid socks, which the ladies of Stickney have so kindly sent to us. They were very much needed, and owing to their splendid quality being much better than any we have seen over here, they were very much appreciated. I wish you would convey to the ladies of Stickney the thanks of myself and of all the men from Carleton county for your thoughtfulness and kindness. Trusting that each member of the company from Carleton county will be able to thank you in person at the conclusion of the campaign. Socks are always welcome."

Seed-Growing in Canada

In 1913-14, according to information gathered and supplied by Mr. George H. Clark, the Dominion Seed Commissioner, Canada imported from France and Germany no less than 900,643 pounds of beet and mangel seed; from Holland and France 350,849 pounds of turnip seed and from France alone 32,966 pounds of carrot seed, Radish, cabbage, cauliflower, celery and parsnip seed were also imported in large quantities, mainly from France. While it is thought there was nearly sufficient of these seed on hand to meet the requirements for this year, these channels being closed, for 1916 there will plainly be as dearth.

The foregoing important facts are duly set down in Bulletin No. 22 of the Second Series of the Central Experimental Farm, of which M. O. Malte, Ph. D., Dominion Agrostologist, and W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, are the authors. "Canada," the Bulletin very emphatically says, "should make herself independent of foreign markets, and produce at home what now has to be bought abroad. Canadian farmers should not only try to meet the emergency demand for field root seed in the immediate future, but should also try to establish a permanent seed-growing industry which would make them independent of any other countries." There will assuredly not be a dissenting voice to this doctrine as a general principle and the Bulletin, which is being gratuitously distributed and can be had on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, tells in detail how this desirable state of affairs can be brought about.

Cases are given where successful effort has already been made, but the data regarding the matter, it would seem, is not quite as available as could be wished. What is definitely known is that quantities of seed are brought in from abroad, much of which it is believed could, with the requisite care, be produced in Canada and of a character equally as good and high.

General principles for successful seed-growing, of selection, etc., are laid down in the Bulletin, which also details methods that could profitably be adopted for planting, threshing and cleaning of many species of field roots. A list that is given of the best varieties of vegetables for stock seed is of good practical value. Farmers and gardeners are also reminded that as an inducement to the growing of field roots and garden seeds in Canada the Dominion is willing to aid seed-growers by cash subventions particulars of which can be obtained from the Seed Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. It should be added that as the purpose is to encourage the growing of selected seed, only bona fide growers of such seed are eligible to receive the subventions.

La Baie de Chaleur

Associated with the early history and discovery of Canada the name of Jacques Cartier will ever hold a commanding and unique position. It was he, who, nearly five hundred years ago, or to be exact July 10, 1534, sailed into this magnificent haven. An exceptionally hot day inspires the name, and it has borne that name even since, La Baie de Chaleur—the bay of heat. Ninety miles long and from fifteen to twenty miles wide, this arm of the Gulf of St. Lawrence divides the Gaspé Peninsula from the Province of New Brunswick and the depth is sufficient to ensure a safe passage for the largest ships afloat. As the bay narrows into the estuary of the Restigouche, the scenery becomes bolder and more majestic, presenting one of the most superb and fascinating panoramic views in America. The whole region is mountainous, and

"Will you please send me a box of Gin Pills? When I took for the first time, I was all crippled up with Rheumatism and my face was so badly swollen, that I could hardly see out of my eyes, but after taking about one of the pills, I felt some better, and after a few days, I had no more pain. I have recommended Gin Pills to some of my friends who are troubled in the same way. I never intend to be without them as I have tried so many other pills and none result."

Gin Pills

FOR THE KIDNEYS
You can readily tell if your kidneys or bladder is affected. You will have pains in the small of the back, groin or hips, your urine will be highly colored, brick dust or mucus deposits will show in the morning, your wrists or ankles may swell, all due to inactive kidneys which Gin Pills will soon put right.

Gin Pills are "Made in Canada". 50c a box, 6 for $2.00 at all dealers. Sold in U.S. under the name "Gin Pills". Trial sent free if you write National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

almost precipitous enough to be Alpine; but its grandeur is derived less from cliffs, chasms and peaks, than from far-reaching sweeps of outline and continually rising domes that mingle with the clouds. On the Gaspé side, precipitous cliffs of brick-red sandstone flank the shore, so lofty that they seem to cast their gloomy shadows half-way across the bay, and yawn with rifts and gullies, through which fretful torrents tumble into the sea. Behind them the mountains rise and fall in long undulations of nitrarine, and towering above them all is the famous peak of Tracadigache, flashing in the sunshine like a pale blue amethyst.

Around the shores of La Baie de Chaleur the land is settled for many miles and the picturesque hamlets and green pastures add to the beauty of the scene. The swell from the ocean breaks rhythmically upon smooth sandy beaches that tempt the bather.

There are many coves and harbours where the boating is, alluring and shorn of its risks. Sheltered at its mouth by the islands of Miscou and Shippegan, and restless as may be the sea beyond, the yatchman may guide his craft over the whitecaps when a stiff breeze is blowing, while there are often summer days when the bay is so placid that the small motor boat may safely venture into the open. The New Brunswick shore is followed by the line of the Intercolonial Railway from Campbellton to Bathurst and for a number of miles is in full view of the broad and beautiful expanses of water with the lofty and imposing mountains of Gaspé beyond.

Campbellton, Charlott, Bathurst, Dalhousie are all convenient centers with excellent accommodations for the summer visitor.

What is Marriage?

Marriage is the natural mating of a normal man and woman. And there must be a mental mating as well as a physical, if the relationship is to last and thus be worthy of the name of "marriage."

The marriage rite, or ceremony, is a proper formality whereby the world is notified of the relationship. But the ceremony does not constitute the marriage.

The ceremony is not vital, and the particular form it takes is of small importance.

The vital things are the mental, spiritual and physical qualities of the man and woman.

There can be no lasting love without a sincere and honest respect. Truth is the first requisite in marriage, and unless truthfulness be pre-

POULTRY

Ventilation a Frost Protection.

Ventilating poultry houses is one of the most discouraging things with which the farmer has to contend. With a judicious use of curtains the most of the frost can usually be kept out, but during a severe winter it is almost impossible. The best authorities advise a combination of curtains and over them some kind of an absorbent straw bedding with a flue. To prevent frost on the wall and ceiling it is necessary to keep the walls warm and not in contact with the chilly air of the outer wall or at the same temperature as the outer air. The latter, of course, means a cold henhouse, but the thermometer around the house is the necessary number of windows and curtains to provide ventilation. It would be a good plan to put in a flue, but be sure to make it large enough so that it will take out enough air. Be sure and arrange it so you can control the outlet. A flue 14 x 14 or 18 x 18 inches will help in reducing the frost. If the flue in your dairy barn is too small, you will find it well to have at least one more. You can see by observing that less frost collects near the flue. It is better to have another one, instead of one flue too large.

Preserving Eggs at Home.

Many recipes for preserving eggs have been tried with more or less success, but best results are secured with two. Neither of these, however, is as good as cold storage. Their chief use lies in their application to home conditions. They are applicable where eggs are cheap in the spring but rise considerably in price in the fall. Eggs preserved by them can be used for all cooking purposes except boiling. In order to boil them without cracking the shells, a needle hole or two may be made in the shell to let the air escape. The quality is when put down, and especially so if they are not fertile.

The prime requisites for success in keeping eggs by these recipes are, first, strictly fresh or new laid eggs, and second, a cool place. The eggs may be laid in a stone jar or a wooden tub where no metal is exposed on the inside. After almost filling the receptacle with eggs, a solution is poured over until every egg is completely covered, preferably half an inch to an inch deep with the solution.

Waterglass or silicate of soda is one preservative that can be obtained of most druggists at 10 to 30 cents a pound. It is a colorless, heavy liquid which must be diluted with 10 parts of pure rain water. Eggs in this solution will keep perfectly for twelve months.

Another mixture of lime is made by using the following proportions of ingredients: To each pound of fresh, salt one line add a half pound of table salt and four quarts of boiling water. The lime is first slaked with a little of the water so it will break down in a crumbly mass before the balance of the water is added. Water is added in half cupfuls at a time, until the breaking down is complete; then the mixture is stirred until of the consistency of cream, when the balance of water and salt may be added. Stirring is continued until the salt is all dissolved. This process is done the evening before the solution is to be used. In the morning after the sediment has settled, the clear liquid is siphoned off and poured over the eggs.

If it is desired to sell eggs stored by either of these methods, a price of about 5 cents lower than the current market price can usually be secured.

Charcoal for the Chickens.

Charcoal is a health promoter for the fowls. If you will put some ears of corn in a hot oven and let them burn quite black and feed when the grain gets cold enough you will perhaps be astonished to see how greedily this poultry will partake of the charred corn. We do not mean that the fowls should have to depend on the charred grain for the meal, but an opportunity to eat what they wish from the cob.

OFFICERS' HIGH MORTALITY.

British Lost Number Equal to 15 Per Cent. of U.S. Quota.

It may be interesting to Americans, especially army officers, to note that in the ten days fighting about Neuve Chapelle 700 officers were killed. This represents 15.3 per cent of the total number of commissioned officers in the United States army. This fight was practically nothing more than a skirmish as compared with the great engagements in France at the beginning of the war.

The total casualties among the British officers are estimated at over 700 a month. It is estimated that if the United States were plunged into a war on a huge scale every single trained officer would have been killed at the end of eight months of fighting.

HINTS FOR THE HERD.

Careful vs. Careless Methods in Feeding and Marking.

Know what each cow produces over and above her keep, and promptly get rid of unprofitable ones. A 4,000 and 8,000 pound cow costs about the same to keep. One just pays for her keep, the other nets a profit of $50 to $60 per annum. Ascertain carefully, your best market, whether for whole milk or butter fat. Co-operate and reciprocate with your neighbors; nothing else pays quite so well as co-operation.

Use Only Pure Breed Bulls.

Keep and use only a pure bred bull. Upon this depends the up-keep and improvement of the herd. There is very little difference in the cost of raising calves of superior and inferior breeding, but there is a great difference in the profits obtainable from superior and inferior cattle. If necessary, go into debt for a good bull.

Feed Liberally.

Note that a balanced ration of 17 pounds gives as much butter fat as an unbalanced 21 pound ration, and that continuous silage is sometimes cheaper than pasture. A ton of alfalfa hay equals in food value 90 bushels of oats. Keep in mind that only 100 pounds of butter fat yearly per cow cost the producer on an average 35 cents per pound; and that 200 pounds yearly cost 12 cents per pound per pound. This does it pay royally to improve the herd.

Produce the Feed.

It pays better to market your hay and grain in the form of milk, butter fat, steers and hogs. Erect one or more silos, grow alfalfa, corn, sorghum, sweet clover, kafir corn and soy beans. Beet tops, siloed with corn, have made excellent silage. Rotate your crops. Use silage. Rotate your crops. Use silage. Rotate your crops. Use silage.

Use the Manure.

Remember that $100 worth of hay (clover) contains $85 worth of plant food; that when this is fed to the cow, three-fourths of the plant food is returned in the manure. $100 worth of cream contains but $10 worth of fertility while $100 worth of butter contains but ten cents worth of fertility. This makes it plain that feeding hay to the cow leaves nearly all its fertilizing constituents in the manure to be re-appropriated in the land, while had the turned to feed, this fertility would have been a total loss to the soil. Have been a total loss to the soil. Have been a total loss to the soil.

Remember that the dairy cow is a daily revenue producer and is the most valuable asset on the farm. She requires work, and is profitable in proportion to the attention she receives. She is a source of immediate income, and at the same time helps keep up the fertility of the soil. Also remember that the dairy cow is a mother; and that good care, kind and gentle usage, liberal feeding, and healthful environment are necessary if she is to give good profit from her motherhood. As you measure to the cow, so shall it be measured to you in return.

Be Considerate to the Cows.

During milking time use no profane language. Keep dogs and strangers out of the barn. Become acquainted with and know your cow. It pays. Under no circumstances permit a cow to be kicked or abused by the hired man—it never pays. It is mean and brutal as well. There always is some reason for a cow's being restless. Find the cause and remove it.

Provide Shade and Wind Protection

Provide ample wind protection. He shade, salt and clean water. He who obeys all of these commands will reap abundant profits, for he who sets apart the gross product of a succession of single good cows regularly for 50 years, and keeps the accumulations at 6 per cent interest will, at the age of 70, have to his credit not less than $30,000.00. Note well, that a thrifty steer may gain 500 pounds in a year which 500 pounds reduced to a dry food basis of weight amounts to but 60 or 70 pounds. A cow yielding 8,000 pounds of milk per annum will produce 960 pounds of dry food matter, milk solids. And not that the dairy cow has increased the total bank deposits of one of the western states three hundred per cent. in ten years. A business asset. Western Home Monthly.

"But I cured her of that without delay." "I wish you would tell me how," said Hall. "I started grieving with her," replied the other; "and I grieved harder than she did!"

Ingenious Jackets for Carrying Shells.

Our illustration shows men of the Royal Artillery wearing coats which are supplied for use in special emergencies, for carrying ammunition on the person directly to the guns in circumstances where it is impossible to get ammunition up to the firing-line otherwise, or for use when other methods are rendered impracticable. The jackets have deep pockets and supporting straps and handles. The weight of the British field artillery shells is 19 lbs. each. Modern field artillery ammunition is made in one piece, the cartridge and detonator and the shell being all enclosed and attached in a single copper case, exactly in appearance like the ordinary rifle bullet. Thus its portage, as shown, presents no difficulty.

HE WAITED UPON ROYALTY

KING OF SPAIN THE JOLLIEST OF ALL MONARCHS.

An Ex-Servant of the British Royal Household Talks of the Kaiser and Others.

When I was in the Royal service it was part of my duty to be in attendance in the apartments at Windsor Castle or Buckingham Palace set aside for the reception of foreign royalties who were visiting the British Court. In the performance of this duty I have attended almost every crowned head in Europe, says a writer in London Answers.

Perhaps the most kindly and courteous foreign monarch I ever waited on was the King of Italy, who last visited this country in 1905 as the guest of the late King.

The King of Italy is a very early riser, and the night he arrived at Windsor his Majesty asked me to have the fire lighted in the writing-room adjoining his bed-room by seven o'clock the following morning, and a cup of chocolate ready for him at the same hour. He told his aide-de-camp to apologize to me for giving me this trouble. Every morning he was at Windsor his Majesty rose at 6.30, and would read and write in his room until his breakfast was served at 9 a.m.

Consigned to the Basement.

The most bumptious King I ever attended was certainly the Kaiser. It was his habit to criticize the various objects of art about the rooms allotted to him, and point out to his attendants their defects, comparing them unfavorably with some of his own possessions.

The one work of art at Windsor Castle with which his Majesty had no fault to find was a head and shoulder bust of himself, which he had given to King Edward shortly after the latter's accession.

The Court happened to be at Windsor Castle the day it arrived, and when King Edward saw it he said, with a laugh, to the late Sir Arthur Ellis, who was standing by, that who was the Comptroller of the Royal Household.

"Well, Arthur, we must not forget to have this bust put in a prominent place when the Emperor comes here, but in the meantime let it be kept in the Armory."

The Armory was the name given to a room on the basement floor, where a number of indifferent pictures, busts, and valueless pieces of old armor were stored, to which the bust of the Kaiser was added.

A Matter of Tact.

A couple of years later the Kaiser came to Windsor. The night before he arrived the late King came down to Windsor to have a look round, and to see that all the necessary preparations for his guest had been properly made.

After he had made an inspection of the rooms with Sir Arthur Ellis, his Majesty suddenly stopped and asked:

"Where on earth is the bust of the Emperor?"

"In the Armory, I believe, sir," replied Sir Arthur.

"For mercy's sake get it brought up and put in the most conspicuous place you can, or you will have the Emperor clearing out of this to-morrow in a huff, and goodness knows what complications will follow!"

The Kaiser's bust was accordingly put in a most conspicuous place in the Blue Drawing Room, which was used then as the chief reception-room at Windsor. The King was delighted when he saw it, and declared that it was the best piece of work the artist who had made it had ever executed.

Alfonso's Mistake.

The King of Spain was one of the jolliest monarchs we ever had at

GILLETTE'S LYE EATS DIRT

The Tsar's breakfast used to consist of the strongest black coffee and a few pieces of dry toast. The coffee was always made for his Majesty by his own valet, who was, by the way, one of the most remarkable men I ever met. He spoke English, French, German, and Italian absolutely perfectly, and had travelled all over the world. He was very fond of going to the theatre, and went every night during his master's stay in London. He had written several plays himself which had been successfully produced in Russia.

Unwise Modes of Punishment.

Years ago, a little girl, wearing an old plaid shawl folded corner-wise over her shoulders and a Quaker bonnet with a green silk cape, left her home, one rainy Sunday morning, for Sunday-school.

Choking sobs and a tear-stained face marked her, as a very unhappy child. Her appearance at Sunday-school in this unusual rig had been chosen by her conscientious mother as the most effectual mode of punishment at her command for some, to her mind, grievous offence of her little daughter. Nellie was an extremely sensitive child, and her mother reasoned that her dread of ridicule would cause this wearing of her oldest clothes on Sunday to be a punishment which she would not soon forget. And herein her mother's judgment did not err; for years afterwards the memory of that day of torture to her sensitive spirit would always stand out in all its unjust proportions whenever she saw a child being compelled to undergo the same harsh mode of punishment.

It is not necessary to mortify a child to make it aware of a fault. A few judiciously chosen words, or if more stringent methods are deemed advisable, a withholding from it of some anticipated enjoyment, may often have the same salutary results without the attendant mortification of this harsher mode of punishment.

There is a certain dignity to which every young person is entitled, and which it is often very difficult for an over-sensitive boy or girl to acquire. One such instance as that cited in the opening sentence of this article may be the means of robbing such a boy or girl of a self-possession and ease of manner very desirable to one of a naturally self-conscious temperament.

In the instance just narrated, which is an actual occurrence, nothing was gained by the over-zealous mother's feeling towards herself in her heart of that little girl coupled with a certain self-abasement which in after years was sure to return in all its stinging force whenever memory rehearsed the scene.

It takes a long time to age, while it won't take whisky long to age you.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

OBSERVATIONS

Some years ago I was one of a throng who watched Lincoln Beachey loop-the-loop and skin the crest of Niagara Falls in his aeroplane. A few short weeks ago his body was dug out of the mud on the shore of the Pacific. And yet aeroplaning possesses an almost irresistible attraction for some people—but not for me. If I wanted to pull down the front blinds and go to the everlasting Final Game, I would apprentice myself to an aviator. Personally, I have no desire to sit on the everlasting bleachers and eat eternal peanuts. Some way or other, flying has never had an attraction, and I have fought it off with success. If I wanted to give up writing this series of articles, so that the job could never be offered to me again, I would read up on the flying machine and become a bird man. I am going to wait until this new invention to make flying machines absolutely unapproachable, is perfected, before I meet with the birds. I wouldn't want to go up in a grateful, curving diplane and come down in a straight line. I wouldn't want to go up a bright, cheerful young man and come down in two townships. I wouldn't want to go up in a cloud of glory and come down in a shower. I wouldn't want a farmer's wife to pick me up down by the crossroads and carry me home in her apron. When I dissolve partnership with myself I want a notice in the business column, not an obit. Who would write this series of articles "As Seen Through a Knot Hole"? This is the burning question. That makes me pause and think: Who would mold public opinion? Inside of thirty-six hours public opinion in Carleton County would be at a standstill. This country is still young and we must take any risks. So, in order not to disappoint a great legion of admiring readers I will keep away from all heavier-than-airs and continue molding public opinion.

Just now the Conservative press are waging relentless war upon the Senate, the members of which, august body are denounced as "barbarians upon the hull of the ship of state." Some years ago the shoe was on the other foot. But after all, I fear the Senate is incorrigible. It will continue to have a haven of rest to which the politician will look forward with expectations as old age steals upon him. No government, merely human, could be expected to dry up a fountain of patronage so refreshing and useful. The Senate is not likely to be abolished, and all the methods suggested for its reform defeat themselves. An elective Senate would be likely to overpower the House or at least to badly derange our present parliamentary system. Every suggestion having for its object the making of the Senate more representative is after all a suggestion to make the Senate more powerful. Life tenure is objected to by some, but it means real independence. Possibly senators should be allowed to retire like judges after serving a certain number of years. The Senate is ridiculed as needless if it always agrees with the House of Commons, and denounced as dangerous if it throws out a bill which the House has passed. Would not the difficulty be met by limiting the Senate to a suspensive veto merely? Bills passed by the House and thrown out by the Senate might, as the succeeding session of Parliament, receive the royal assent if repassed by the House, without being again submitted to the Senate.

I have watched the Editor skillfully side-stepping a deputation of ladies on the question of woman suffrage. Now, I can't understand why a man—a full-grown male person—would object to woman suffrage—if the woman really wants it. I am of the opinion that woman is entitled to just about anything her heart desires. If she wants to vote, for mercy's sake give her the ballot. If she wants to run for office the spectators should stand back and give her plenty of elbow room, and if necessary to her success in contests of this character let her costume be such as to interfere as little as possible with her progress. We are for women first and other things afterward. So is half the population numerically and seven-fifths of it intrinsically. In other words, she is the whole blooming works, plus. If she is happy the rest of us guys ought to be tickled to death. Therefore I say franchise her if it will please her, if it will make her smile, if it will give us common male mortals a glimpse into heaven through her sweetly curved lips; in the name of all that is good and holy, franchise her. Give her the ballot if it will improve her already lovely disposition. Give it to her, and give it to quick. This world is too common, place and life too dull and short to deny woman anything that might possibly enhance her to her many God-given graces.

There is nothing at this moment of such general interest as the high cost of living. Fortunately or unfortunately, we must all eat. Food, therefore, becomes a subject to which thought must be given by the entire community. Laudable efforts are being made by Housewives' Leagues and organizations to lighten the situation by bringing food to the consumer without the considerable outlay associated with the middleman. In Toronto the league has had several sales, in which they had the support of the citizens, as manifested by the great numbers who flocked to give them patronage. This is all commendable, and has direct bearing upon the situation, but there are large and remote conditions that cannot be greatly modified by local sales and endeavors, however successful. Food takes us directly to the farm. Almost all foodstuffs come from the land. As long as the supply is plentiful there is no complaint. The trouble is that Canada's population is increasing, while farming industries and interests are not keeping pace with the increase. Mixed farming is not sufficiently general. In the west cultivation is confined for the most part to wheat. The use of the city takes the boy and the girl away from New Brunswick farms, and the older people, aspiring to nothing more than a competence, which may enable them to retire and end their days in a nearby town. The recognition of the farm and its products as the life of the land, and that these must keep with the country's growth, is the only general panacea for the stringency and high prices of today. Good roads and conveniences in the way of electric light and other city assets would do a great deal to make women contented on the farm, and their influence would tend to keep the boys and girls satisfied and happy on the land. Women's Institute have already done a great deal to improve conditions and make life in the country livable and more attractive. Persuading the authorities in their localities to do everything possible in the way of local improvements, to cover the country with good roads, to make the school-houses centres from which should go out schemes of many descriptions for making the neighborhood not only materially prosperous but picturesque and beautiful. To take away from our farming landscape the reproach of sameness of a very grey quality, is all work where women may serve make the farm life attractive, expand its functions until they correspond with the expansion in population and the cry of the high cost of living will soon be forgotten.

The Editor has handed me a letter from "Vox Populi," protesting against spooning in public places. Personally, I think spooning is one of the finest things this picturesque St. John Valley has to offer, and have advised him not to print the letter. Also I should require that "Vox" first show us that he is qualified to designate just how much spooning is enough. Personally I have always pictured "Vox Populi" far from love's ideals, a meddling old cudger with bushy red whiskers, who wears wristlets in the winter time.

Every spring we are reminded that the taking on of a new-hat is an important, not to say a momentous, thing, and requires a heretofore courage. Especially the 1915 spring styles engender some sort of a subtle consciousness of shrinkage until one's head feels like a mustard seed under George Dionne's grey sombrero.

Recruiting at Woodstock

Woodstock, May, 27.—The public meeting held in the theatre this evening should help a lot toward getting recruits for the 55th Battalion. It was a most enthusiastic gathering and the principal object was to impress upon all that the time had arrived in the affairs of the Dominion and the Empire when our people cannot afford to ignore this plea for help, particularly as the commanding officer of the 55th is a native of this county.

A band concert took place in front of the theatre prior to the meeting. Mayor Sutton presided and opened the meeting in a brief address. The speakers were F. C. Squires, principal of the High School; Robt. Newton, director of Agricultural Colleges, and Rev. Dr. MacDonald, a former pastor of a local church; chaplain of the 26th Battalion. Col. F. H. J. Dibblee and W. H. A. Hamilton, recruiting officer for this district, occupied seats on the platform.

Fred C. Squires dealt from a historical standpoint showing that militarism cannot possibly triumph over the Allied soldiers, bound together by love, loyalty and friendship. Introducing Robert Newton, Mayor Sutton said that he had responded to the call of the Empire, giving up his responsible position as director of the agricultural schools.

Mr. Newton, in the course of an able speech, gave two reasons why recruiting was not as good as it should be. First, we do not realize that this is our war, or second, we do not realize the seriousness of the situation.

After a selection by the band, little Miss Rowena Ketchum, in costume, recited Tommy Atkins.

Rev. Dr. MacDonald delivered a rousing speech on "Why we are going to win out in this war." A vote of thanks to Dr. MacDonald was moved by A. D. Holyoke, seconded by E. W. Jarvis, and carried unanimously.

Before concluding the meeting by the National Anthem, the following young men stepped on the platform, signed the service roll in charge of Lieut. W. H. A. Hamilton, and were sworn in by Magistrate A. D. Holyoke: James Lynott and John Danks, both of Woodstock; Earl W. Corey and Claire Corey, of Centreville; Geo. Murphy, of West Glassville; Edward Barrett, of Tracey Mills; J. A. Chandler, of St. John, and James Gough, of Sisson Ridge.

NEW PRICES ON BUTTER PAPER

The vegetable parchment used in making butter wrappers is a German product and none has been imported since the outbreak of the war. The old stock is now gone, what little that remains being held at a high premium. One Montreal importer has written us as follows: "In regard to vegetable parchment we are sorry that the best we can offer you is American stock at—per ream. This is very much in excess of what you last paid, in fact it is 100% increase, but as we are unable to get a supply from Germany there is no standard in value of parchment today. It is just how much one can get, not how much one can pay."

All the available stock is that made in the United States. It is a good article but costs more than the European make and on it we have to pay a duty of 32%. In view of this all published prices are hereby cancelled and we quote the following new prices:

Wraps for pound prints, printed "Dairy Butter," and with name and address of the maker—

1000	for	$2.65
500	for	1.65
250	for	1.05
100	for	.55

The price includes postage, which will be deducted on orders delivered directly from The Observer office.

The law compels the use of printed butter wraps and recommends that the name and address also should appear on the wrap. Written wrappers do not comply with the law at all.

We can send printed butter wraps having only the words "Choice Dairy Butter" at the rate of 25 cents per 100.

The Oliver Riding Cultivator stands in a class by itself, by reason of the fact that it is built right, with larger range of adjustments so it can be adapted to do good work under all conditions in the potato field. Oliver quality has a name the world over.

In Arrostook County alone sixty-five per cent. of the Potato Cultivators used are Oliver's.

The feature of the Oliver Cultivator that appeals to all farmers who have used it or have seen it at work is the excellent work that this implement does. By an ingenious arrangement the gangs are held parallel, and therefore always cut a uniform distance apart, no matter how far they may be shifted to the right or to the left. On the Oliver Cultivator neither of the gangs leaves an uncultivated strip between the shovels, nor does one gang cut a narrower width than the other when the cultivator is shifted to the side.

If some of the fond papas and mammas of Hartland would visit the picture shows some Saturday night they would be disillusioned regarding the halos around the heads of their beloved boys of the ages of 15 years and over. Their actions would do discredit to a cage of wild animals at a menagerie, and those who would enjoy the pictures are disgusted with the hideous noises emitted from some half dozen young men who occupy a row near the front of the hall every play night. In any other town they would be put out by a police officer.

She afterwards put it into book form from which she derived both fame and wealth. Popular Prices.

A Hartland Man At the Front Again!

Some three years ago the undersigned sold his store and intended to abandon the General Merchandise Business and devote his time entirely to Western Real Estate and Insurance. Owing to the Great European War, however, money has tightened up so that real estate is not in the demand it was. I have therefore decided to again enter and will be found in the Forefront of Battle, entrenched in the Taylor Brick Block, corner of Main and Station streets.

This is perhaps the most strategical position (commercially speaking), as more people pass this point than any other in the village.

Whilst doing a General Mercantile Business we will specialize in

Flour, Feed, Provisions, Heavy and Shelf Groceries, House Furniture, Clothing, Dry Goods and some other lines in constant demand, leaving out some lines of less importance.

Shall be glad to welcome our old customers and as many new ones as may be good enough to favor us with their patronage.

Yours for Good Goods at Fair Prices.

JOHN T. G. CARR

P. S.—I shall still attend to the Insurance Business and represent some of the oldest and strongest companies doing business in Canada.

ed to fully report at this session. This is the 40th anniversary of the Primitive Baptist Conference. An anniversary service will be held on Sunday evening at 7:30, presided over by the Rev'ds. G. E. Orser and C. H. Orser, charter members of the Primitive Baptist Conference. All visitors welcome. Per Order of Committee, C. H. Orser.

Big Picnic Dominion Day

A monster picnic is in preparation by the band to take place on Dominion Day. The boys have leased a large portion of Burt's flat for the summer, and in consequence of their enterprise the grounds will be available for ball games, picnics and other outdoor amusements during the season. Those who remember the band's picnic last year still have pleasant memories of the boys' ability to entertain, although that event was somewhat spoiled by the rain. If the weather man is good this year's event will be a "hummer."

The Call For Men

The 55th Battalion needs men. The 6th Mounted Rifles need some to take the places of those who have joined the infantry. The appeal comes to the young men of New Brunswick. From Kitchener comes the call for more men. The last word of Gen. Hughes at St. John on Monday was for more men. The crisis in the affairs of the British Empire has not passed. It will not pass till Germany is crushed. A triumphant Germany would mean an enslaved Canada, subject to rulers who view with complacency every crime in the calendar so long as it is committed by Germans for Germany. There is no disposition to question the motives of any man who does not enlist, but it would certainly occasion remark if the ranks are not filled when so many young men who are fit are to be seen evening strolling about the streets of our cities and towns. Let no man deceive himself by arguing that the struggle will soon be over. It can only be brought to a successful termination by confronting the enemy with overwhelming forces. That is the task in which New Brunswick is asked to share, and which for her own safety as well as her own honor she must share. The king's bugle calls. Who answers?

Anniversary of June Snow Storm of 1816

Speaking of the weather—and who is not interested in that subject?—today is the anniversary of the great June snow storm of 1816—the year that had no summer. Canada, the Maritime Provinces, Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts and parts of New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut were covered by a mantle of snow several inches deep. In parts of Canada and Vermont the snow fell to a depth of nearly a foot.

Nor was that June fourth blizzard the last of that memorable year. On the seventeenth another snow storm came, and it is reported that several people were frozen to death.

Only brought little relief from the cold. On the fourth of July ice a quarter of an inch thick formed in New England, Canada, and some sections of New York and Pennsylvania. August was even worse. In many places that month ice reached a thickness of half an inch. The first two weeks of September brought something resembling summer weather, but it did not last long. The last two weeks of September and all of October were wintry and cold, but the year was brought to a close by remarkably mild December weather.

That the earth or the sun were cooling off were the favorite explanations to account for that summerless year. This theory was all the more firmly held because the phenomenon seemed to be general and extended to Europe as well as America. Snow fell near London in August and in France all the crops except potatoes, were destroyed by the cold. In America the crops were also very scant, and a famine was escaped by only a narrow margin.

The Supreme Test of a Healing Agent

Pooriasis or Chronic Eczema Defied All Treatment Until Dr. Chase's Ointment Was Used.

After suffering with the terrible itching of Pooriasis for five years, and being told by physicians that she could not be cured, Mrs. Massey turned to Dr. Chase's Ointment and was entirely cured.

You will find this letter interesting, and will not wonder that the writer is enthusiastic in praising this ointment.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Connell, writes: "For five years I suffered with what three doctors called pooriasis. They could not help me, and one of them told me if anyone offered to guarantee a cure for $50.00 to keep my money, as I could not be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head, and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this ointment enough."

Can you imagine a more severe test for Dr. Chase's Ointment? This should convince you that as a cure for eczema and all forms of itching skin disease Dr. Chase's Ointment stands supreme. Put it to the test, write to a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

MRS. MASSEY.

Amherst Man's Exciting Experience

Mrs. Chubbuck, Amherst, N. S., has a letter from her son, Robert, written from "a place in France," under date of April 28th. He had been through the thick of the big fight before Ypres. "The Canadians were a mile in advance of the French troops during the fight. When the shells started coming over our heads, towards the automobiles, we decided that the convoy would be ordered to move. Sure enough, on returning all the trucks were gone except the one in charge of myself and a friend, and we had to make two trips with the Belgian wounded and one with various things which had been left. It sure was dandy and exciting running up and down the road that was being shelled. Got off without a scratch."

Good Wishes for The Victoria Observer

The advance issue of the Victoria Observer, which is a new weekly paper to be published at Perth, N. B., has made its appearance. The regular publication will begin in something like three weeks. For a time the paper will be printed in Hartland but later will be established in a printing office of its own in Perth. The originator and owner of the paper will be Fred H. Stevens of Hartland, who has so ably conducted The Observer in that town for some years past. Mr. Stevens is a born newspaper man, and can be trusted to make matters in the journalistic line hum in Perth and vicinity when he gets to going there—Fort Fairfield Review.

NEW PRICES ON BUTTER PAPER

The vegetable parchment used in making butter wrappers is a German product and none has been imported since the outbreak of the war. The old stock is now gone, what little that remains being held at a high premium. One Montreal importer has written us as follows: "In regard to vegetable parchment we are sorry that the best we can offer you is American stock at—per ream. This is very much in excess of what you last paid, in fact it is 100% increase, but as we are unable to get a supply from Germany there is no standard in value of parchment today. It is just how much one can get, not how much one can pay."

All the available stock is that made in the United States. It is a good article but costs more than the European make and on it we have to pay a duty of 32%.

In view of this all published prices are hereby cancelled and we quote the following new prices:

Wraps for pound prints, printed "Dairy Butter," and with name and address of the maker—

1000 for	$2.65
500 for	1.65
250 for	1.05
100 for	.55

The price includes postage, which will be deducted on orders delivered directly from The Observer office.

The law compels the use of printed butter wraps and recommends that the name and address also should appear on the wrap. Written wrappers do not comply with the law at all.

We can send printed butter wraps having only the words "Choice Dairy Butter" at the rate of 25 cents per 100. Send all orders to—

How to Paint for Less Money

We'll tell you how in three words—use less gallons. That's the thing to go by in Paint—not the price per gallon, but the number of gallons required plus the length of time it will wear and look well.

"100% Pure" Paint costs about half as much, counting the surface it covers, and wears two or three times as long as ordinary paint.

You pay by the gallon—both for the paint and for putting it on. The Paint that is cheapest for you is the paint that spreads easiest and covers the most surface.

MARTIN-SENOUR "100% PURE" PAINT

"MADE IN CANADA"

has a covering capacity of 900 square feet of surface per gallon one coat, as against 500 square feet covered by hand-mixed Lead and Oil—or 600 square feet covered by low priced prepared paint.

And as further proof—if you will send us the dimensions of your home, we will tell you the number of gallons of "100% Pure" Paint required to cover it thoroughly. No charge for this service.

J. C. H. ARTLEY, Sec. Treasurer,

H. F. GADSBY'S OTTAWA LETTER

Ottawa, June 4—The wise boys are guessing that there must have been warm language between Sir Rodmond Roblin and Hon. Robert Rogers when they met on neutral ground in Toronto a few days ago.

Sir Rodmond has been the Honorable Bob's benefactor from the beginning of his political life and naturally the Honorable Bob doesn't see why he couldn't have gone on being a benefactor by hanging on a little longer in Manitoba. Once a benefactor, always a benefactor—that is Bob's motto, and he believes that benefactors should live up to it even at some slight disadvantage to themselves. At all events it was a particularly bad time for Sir Rodmond to spill the beans.

Sir Rodmond had been under good advice from the Honorable Bob and others for months past but none of his advisers expected him to do what he did. Their advice to Sir Rodmond was that he should resign and let his colleagues form a new cabinet with a new premier and thus avoid handing the Government over to the Liberals. Sir Rodmond's colleagues thought very well of that plan, and the Honorable Bob, hot foot from Ottawa, pressed it on him from time to time, but Sir Rodmond figured that it would make him the goat and raised objections.

Finally he became real peeved and said "Just for that you'll get off." He resigned, as it were, in a body, taking his colleagues with him. It was the nearest thing in the way of a double cross since Samson sacrificed himself to destroy the Philistines. Ever since this signal act of revenge Sir Rodmond has been able to take a philosophical view of Manitoba politics. His interviews with Liberal newspaper reporters are full of human kindness toward Premier Norris whom he wishes long life and prosperous statesmanship. In fact it almost appears as if he would rather have Premier Norris on the job than his own friends who might malign him if they remained in office and he didn't. Absence, as the poet aptly puts it, makes the hammer stronger.

Everything Sir Rodmond has said since he resigned sounds like a benediction to public life but it would not surprise anybody if he would swing into the bigger game at Ottawa, instead of enjoying the comfortable sunset to which he is entitled. His being a Manitoba discard would be no real argument against him because the present administration at Ottawa has a lenient feeling toward discards. It wasn't so long ago, for example, that Sir Richard McBride was being broached for a cabinet position at Ottawa, and doubtless Sir Richard would have landed if it hadn't been for his adventures with Attorney General Bowser, and the two submarines. Sir Richard's work with the two submarines was careless, if it wasn't coarse, and spoiled his chances. Finesse is what the situation demands—finesse that will defy the best efforts of the Public Accounts Committee. Anybody, as short on finesse as Sir Richard McBride, could never get along at Ottawa.

Sir Rodmond Roblin, on the contrary, has shown great deftness in getting out of his troubles. He has not only got out himself but he has left his friends holding the bags and has displayed qualities which prove that he has nothing to learn even from the Honorable Robert Rogers. Indeed there are those who say that the Honorable Bob learned his trade from Sir Rodmond, and that the master can still teach the public a trick or two. Be that as it may, the Honorable Bob hasn't the same reputation as a Frankenstein with Sir Rodmond, as he has with other people who don't know him so well. If he is a Frankenstein then Sir Rodmond created him and familiarity breeds contempt. It is being recalled that, when the Honorable Bob, in the reciprocity of 1911, was made responsible and delivered the goods from Winnipeg to the Rockies, Sir Rodmond was jealous and had to be made a knight as an offset to Bob's getting the big job at Ottawa.

The feeling which actuates both Sir Rodmond and the Honorable Bob is that ingratitude is sharper than a serpent's tooth and consequently each is very much ashamed of the other. Sir Rodmond naturally remembers that he made Bob the right hand man of his real estate government and that Bob rose with the real estate while he, Sir Rodmond, remained to decline and fall with it. Bob was a very lucky man to be a member of a real estate government when real estate was booming. He shared in the era of expansion, helped to keep it expanded, in fact, by his personal and official influence which went on soaring even after the town lots had fallen behind. Bob soared sky high and came out of the clouds with a silver lining which is going to be a great comfort to his old age.

Sir Rodmond remembers all that and naturally puts it down to himself, forgetting the element of luck and Bob's own merits as a foresighted, forehanded man, who knew what was going to happen next and was generally on the spot when a shower of blessing was scheduled to bust in Winnipeg or any of the other town lot centres of activity. Sir Rodmond, knowing how the game was played naturally feels that one real estate operator makes as good a minister of Public Works as another. What he fails to take into account is the Honorable Bob's personal charm. He has made a great hit with the back benches, not as an orator, for he talks like a scrambled egg, but as a hale fellow and a splendid promiser. He never sends a member of Parliament even a Grit one, empty away. If kind words never die, Bob is going to live a long life. Sir Rodmond could never fill that part of the job. He is too irritable.

Meanwhile the Honorable Bob looks wistfully at the Canadian High Commission in London. As a wicked partner his ability is impugned, as Minister of Elections he is a distinct failure, as upholder of tottering governments he showed signs of strain—if it wasn't for leaving Major General Sam. Hughes a free field he might be tempted to move on.

Death of Mrs. James Robinson

At midday on May 20, Margaret, widow of the late James Robinson of East Glassville, passed away peacefully. She and her husband were early settlers in East Glassville having come out from Ireland about sixty-five years ago, the former from the town of Ballycastle, County Donegal, and the latter from the neighboring County, Fermanagh. Mrs. Robinson has been living with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsay Robinson, East Glassville, not from the side of the old log house where she resided for many years. Up till Friday the 14th inst., she was in the enjoyment of good health having all her faculties well preserved for one who in a short time would have attained the ripe old age of eighty-four years. She had a very retentive memory and could recall the names of some of the places and people she had known in the Old Country. Her great delight was to meet and converse with anyone who could refer to the place she came from. For Mrs. Robinson the end came simply. Medical skill was called upon but the fiat was that her days were numbered. So she has passed away trusting in the God of her fathers and in her Saviour. Six daughters and two sons mourn her demise: Mrs. Ritchie Rosborough of Prince William, Mrs. Carleton Dingee East Glassville, Mrs. George Perkins, Smyrna Mills, Mrs. Edward Spence Glassville, Mrs. Handford Astle, Oakfield, Me., Mrs. Henry Dibble, Levant, Me. John Lindsay Robinson, East Glassville, James Alfred Robinson, Grafton. There are numerous grandchildren, also a number of great-grandchildren. In addition to the above Mrs. Robinson leaves two brothers: Hugh Mowbray, Saltcoats, Sask., and Colonel Thomas Mowbray, Halifax, and one sister, Mrs. J. Weeks who resides in Wisconsin.

A brief service was conducted at Mr. Robinson's home by Rev. James Colhoun. A long retinue of vehicles indicative of the esteem in which the late Mrs. Robinson was held passed along to Glassville graveyard where the remains were laid to rest beside those of her husband who predeceased her about fifteen years ago.

At the service held in the Presbyterian church after the interment Rev. James Colhoun pastor spoke from the words contained in the Epistle to the Philippians, Chapter I, verse 21. "To me to live is Christ and to die is gain" and said that thus it was for her who had passed away, and thus would it be for everyone who trusted fully in Christ, the Savior.

Mr. and Ralph Lloyd of Presque Isle and Mr. and Mrs. Crockett of Caribou were in town by auto Tuesday and visited at the home Mr. Lloyd's uncle George Cinson.
