SALVATION ARMY DRIVE NOW ON

Still Much to Do to Raise Required
Sum, But It's Coming

The Salvation Army's appeal for a fund to celebrate its Jubilee is one that deserves, and will assuredly elicit, a generous response. There was a time not many years ago when its methods came in for a good deal of criticism. To-day, one never hears these criticisms. They are echoes from the past, and even those who may not altogether agree with the methods of The Army are forced to recognize that it is doing most valuable work for the cause of religion and the social amelioration of the masses. It has always worked for the bottom dogs. Its greatest achievements have been amongst the poorest of the poor, and there it has invaded a field of labour which far too many other religious movements rarely reach. In the Church militant The Army has a foremost place. In fact, it often seems the only militant Christianity at present in evidence. In the sacrifices which it demands from its leaders, and the energy with which it pursues its aims, it approaches the fiery zeal and self-surrender of the early martyrs. We all recognize now that The Army has won a distinctive place and that its work should be maintained and encouraged. For what it did before the war, for what it has done since, and what it is now capable of doing for humanity as a whole, it deserves the most generous support of all classes and denominations.

The Salvation Army in Canada has determined to carry on a campaign to raise $1,000,000 this week, for the purpose of carrying on its charitable and after-the-war work. The Dominion has been divided and sub-divided and each of the sub-divisions has been apportioned an amount which the Army asks to be paid this week. Business men in particular have taken hold of the matter with great zeal.

Carleton county has been asked to raise $3,000. Business men and others of Woodstock agreed to raise $1,000, if Hartland would raise $500. The United Farmers of the county have agreed to canvass the rural districts for the other $1,500.

On Monday there was a meeting of a few of the business men of the town and organization was effected for a systematic canvass. Of this organization H. H. Hatfield is President. Rev. E. A. Trites and H. A. Sippelle were appointed solicitors for the town. They have been carrying on their work with very good success. H. H. Hatfield headed the list with a subscription of $50. Hatfield & Scott Co., Ltd., subscribed $50. The collectors hope to make the sum raised in Hartland $1,000 instead of $500, but there is still a considerable distance to travel to get the $500. Every person can give to a certain extent. Each should do what he can.

Naming the Streets

At the last meeting of the Town Council a committee was appointed to select official names for the various streets. This committee felt that this matter should be left with the people residing on the streets and they are willing to take suggestions and select the names favored by both. It is suggested that the road from Morgan's corner to Green Creek be one street, and that the western prolongation of Hillcrest Avenue and at Kewick's corner, from that point straight south to Allen Cummings be another name. (At present some buildings and C.P.R. stock yard are in the way but they eventually will be removed). A street running from Violetta's corner south to the Woodworking factory should be under one name; the street starting at Hatfield's corner and running to the base of the hill should have one name; while the street along the top of the hill from Greenwood cemetery directly across Hillcrest past Elgerman's to the junction of the main river road should have one name. What is now known as Depot street may have a name to cover the road from Taylor's corner to the foot of the hill. The names of Main and Maple streets will undoubtedly not be changed. The street running from MacIntosh's corner to the street in the rear should be officially named. At present it is known as Forester street. There is also an official street from Main street to the river next to the bridge and 20 years ago a street was laid out along the water front back of all the buildings.

The committee would like the co-operation of the residents living on their respective streets and are therefore asking the residents to make recommendations to Alds. Aiton-Morgan or Baker on or before June 3rd in regard to their choice of names of their street.

THIRTEEN HORSES BURNED TO DEATH

Cruel Fire at Forester Last Night
Causes Heavy Loss

This morning a report comes from Forester that the barn owned by Guy Welch was burned to the ground during the night. It contained 13 splendid work horses, three of which were bought for $1000 a few days ago. This is a tremendous loss.

At the time of going to press no particulars as to how the fire caught are available.

FIRST BASEBALL TOMORROW NIGHT

Tomorrow evening at 8.30 the baseball season opens for Hartland team when a team from Woodstock will undertake to clean up the green. This opening game will be decidedly interesting and the boys need a good patronage for they have already gone to considerable expense without a penny in the treasury. It's up to the town to encourage the lads. Let us all turn out!

Building Notes

There is great activity in the building line in the town. The residence of C. S. Baker is being greatly improved, about $1500 being expended.

H. H. Hatfield has commenced the improvements on his premises which will work a great change in the appearance of the property.

East Coldstream

Scarlet fever is raging in this district.

Ernest Shaw has purchased a driving mare with a mark of 2.18 1-4.

Robert Irving has purchased a pure bred mare from Hugh Boyd.

We are glad to see Holly Hatfield around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bryant was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sewell. Our teacher is down with scarlet fever.

Mrs. Robert Meen is spending the week-end with her son William of Hartland.

Ralph Hatfield has gone to Hartland to spend the summer.

Late Locals

H. H. Hatfield left yesterday for a business trip to Boston and New York.

Miss Helen Raymond intends leaving on Saturday for a brief visit to Boston.

Mrs. David Leakey, of Bannock, recently underwent an operation at Dr. Prescott's Hospital. She is making a good recovery.

Hearts of Humanity--tender, appealing, thrilling. Lovely music, eight reels, 75c, rush seats only. Play starts at 7.30.

Mrs. Chester Wallace, of Maguadavic Station, has been discharged from Dr. Prescott's Hospital after a surgical operation.

The result of "clean-up days" is noticeable, but there is still much to be done to make the town have the neat appearance it should have.

Men have gone 63 days without food but they can't last more than 10 days without sleep. To sleep in comfort buy an Ostermoor mattress at Carr's.

Although The Heart of Humanity has been released several seasons, the showing here on Monday night will be an absolutely new print that has never been exhibited before.

R. W. Maxwell, director of the Vocational Training School at Woodstock and A. H. Hoyt, of the Department of Agriculture, were in Hartland on Monday on duties connected with their work.

For the first time in six years the militia will go into camp at Sussex on June 22. The call is for the full strength of the province which of course includes the Carleton Light Infantry and Brighton Engineers.

EXAMINATION OF NEWMAN CLARK

Alleged Slayer of Phoebe Bell Will Take Place Last Week of May

The preliminary examination of Newman Clark, charged with the murder of Phoebe Bell at Grand Falls on March 25, will take place at Grand Falls the last week in May. The case of Peter Dubois, whom Clark named as one of his "kidnappers" when he escaped from the hospital at Grand Falls after the murder, will be taken up at the same time.

Clark is in Victoria County jail, at Andover, still suffering with badly frostbitten feet, while Dubois is out on bail. The date for the preliminary examination was arranged by Attorney-General Byrne, and Hon. W. P. Jones, K. C., of Woodstock, who is appearing for Clark.

Clever Centerville Lady

The following refers to Miss Vera daughter of Dr. Frank A. Brown of Centerville:

At the close of the session in the Faculty of Arts at McGill University, Miss Vera L. Brown, seasonal lecturer in history, will leave for England to continue her work on a thesis covering a branch of colonial history, which was interrupted by the war and which will complete the course required for the granting of the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Bryn Mawr University.

Miss Brown graduated from McGill with the degree of B.A. in the spring of 1912. The following year she received her M.A. from McGill and in the autumn of 1913 proceeded to Bryn Mawr, and at the close of a year's work she was awarded the European travelling fellowship in history but was unable to make use of it on account of the outbreak of war. In 1914-15 she completed the requirements for the Ph.D. degree.

Appleby-Jenson

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Geo. Jenson on Thursday evening May 13 when her youngest daughter, Sara Sewell, was united in marriage with Francis Ernest Appleby of Woodstock.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Spencer Crisp in the presence of near relatives. Later dainty refreshments were served.

The bride was becomingly attired in brown satin and georgette and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations and maiden-hair fern. The groom is a returned soldier who went over seas with the 65 Battery of Woodstock.

Mr. and Mrs. Appleby will make their home in Hartland.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their great kindness to us during the illness and death of our loved father and husband.
Mrs. Fred Ginson and family.

It is expected that the new ferry will be in operation within a week. The public is notified that the shortest road to Hartland is by way of the ferry a mile below the town. The approaches will be put in first-class condition. Prominent signboards will be put in prominent places to guide the traveller from the west side.

About 10 years ago M. E. Thornton, Hartland, went to Calgary with his family. During the time he has been west he has met with excellent success and is now colonization agent for C. P. R. lines west of Calgary which is a high and responsible position. Mr. Thornton's name will be found attached to much of the C. P. R. advertising now appearing in American publications.

LAND INSPECTOR GAINS 20 POUNDS

Every Joint And Muscle Ached
Before He Took Tanlac—Spry
as Boy Now

"Well, sir, you can believe it or not, but I have gained twenty pounds in the past 'six weeks,'" said R. D. Hales, Land Inspector, 312 Silver St., Sturgeon's Creek, Manitoba, in a conversation with a Tanlac representative a few days ago.

"For years and years before I commenced taking Tanlac I had been in bad health and hardly saw a day that was free from pain and suffering," continued Mr. Hales. "My stomach was all out of order and what I ate would sour and settle into a lump in my chest and burn like a ball of fire. I had lumbago of the worst sort and if I stooped over and tried to straighten up again, the pains were so severe I just seemed to be wrenching every muscle in my back. I had rheumatism all through my arms, legs and feet and every joint in my body ached. My feet would swell so that I could hardly get my shoes on and my legs pained me until it was all I could do to walk. My joints would stiffen and hurt so bad it was agony if I tried to bend my arms and legs. I was subject to awful headache spells, I lost weight and strength and, in fact, I was in misery all day long. I hardly knew what a night's rest was for I would lie wide awake for hours with every joint and muscle aching no matter what position I lay in.

"Several of my friends had recommended Tanlac to me so highly that I commenced taking it and I could just feel my troubles leaving me and the pains easing up. And now since I have taken four bottles of Tanlac my stomach is in fine condition and I can eat anything set before me without suffering the least bit afterwards. I haven't a trace of rheumatism in my body, my feet never swell up and my joints don't stiffen any more. The lumbago has disappeared entirely and I am so active that I feel as spry as a boy. The headaches have also left me and when I go to bed I sleep like a log till time to get up. My lost weight and strength have come back to me and I am feeling better in every way than I have in many years. All praise is due to Tanlac and as long as I live I can never say too much for such a remarkable medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Hartland by Estey & Curtis Co., and E. L. Field, Bloomfield, and by the leading druggist in every town.

FRASERS PLAN FOR EXTENSIVE DEVELOPMENTS

It is quite evident from recent developments that Fraser Companies Limited, lumber and pulp and paper operators, have in course of working out plans of development calculated to make the province of New Brunswick a big factor in Canadian pulp and paper production.

Plans have been announced involving a re-organization on the large scale of the Fraser companies, and having as their aim the establishment of a large new power plant at Tobique Narrows and the erection of a sulphite pulp and paper mill for the manufacture of newsprint.

In the meantime, in the prosecution of their plans, Fraser Companies have purchased the Dominion Pulp Mills, at Chatham (N.B.), the output of which will add 15,000 tons per annum of easy bleaching sulphite pulp to the present Fraser 35,000 ton output from their Edmundston mill, financing for which was completed just one year ago by the issue by Royal Securities Corporation of 2,000,000 of six per cent, first mortgage serial bonds.

It is understood that the purchase of the new addition of Fraser Companies plants was financed by the recent purchase by Royal Securities of the unissued balance of $450,000 of the same bond issue. All of the bonds have been sold.

Both in variety and quantity the present output of Fraser Companies is extensive enough to form a broad foundation for new developments. The company's ten saw mills in the eastern portion of Quebec province, and in New Brunswick, now produces yearly 100,000,000 feet of lumber, 135,000,000 shingles and 50,000,000 laths. In addition to this lumber output, the company already produces 35,000 tons of bleached sulphite pulp, to which must be added the new output of 15,000 tons easy bleaching sulphite pulp of the Dominion Pulp Mills, at Chatham.

It is expected that the recent developments will mark the beginning of an extensive expansion on the part of the Fraser Companies.

Why Canadians Should Insure in a Canadian Company

- BECAUSE—Experience covering a period of forty-six years has proven that the death rate of insured lives is about 15 per cent greater in the United States than in Canada.
- BECAUSE—A Canadian does not need to assist in paying for this extra heavy death rate in a foreign country.
- BECAUSE—A Canadian insuring in a foreign Company is sending his money out of Canada. If retained in Canada he and Canadians generally will benefit by its circulation and investment.
- BECAUSE—In The Policyholders' Mutual Life (of Canada) he can secure his insurance at lower rates and on easier terms than in any other Company.
- BECAUSE—The Policyholders' Mutual Life (of Canada) was organized for the express purpose of eliminating all objectionable features in Life Insurance.
- BECAUSE—In The Policyholders' Mutual Life (of Canada) the Policyholder votes and participates in the management on equal terms with the Stockholders.
- BECAUSE—By Its Act of Incorporation provision is made for the Policyholder voting at his own home or convenient to attend the general meetings.
- BECAUSE—By Its Act of Incorporation the dividend to its Stockholders is limited and all profits above this limited dividend belong to the Policyholder.
- BECAUSE—By Its Act of Incorporation no "Gold Bond" policies or anything of a like nature can be issued.
- BECAUSE—Its Policyholders participate in the annual distribution of profits after the third of the life of each policy.
- BECAUSE—The low rates and annual distribution of profits leave the money in the Policyholder's pockets or return it to him each year instead of its being retained for speculative purposes as has been charged against some Companies.
- BECAUSE—Premiums may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually as best suits the convenience of the insured.
- BECAUSE—In the Policyholders' Mutual Life (of Canada) he will be insured in a Canadian Company incorporated by special Act, especially safe-guarding his interests, thoroughly democratic in its principles and management, with every safe-guard and security to which the strongest Stock Company can lay claim or which government deposit reserve and inspection can secure.

Fortunately nobody was hurt, and the passengers steamed into Perth on a flat car. Several feet of the track was torn up, a wash out being the cause of the disaster. A wrecking crew was at once dispatched to the scene so the train was able to make its regular trip the following day.

Triplex Springs

Take the Jolts Out of Canada's Rough Roads

TO appreciate fully what an improvement Triplex Springs are, you must ride in the Overland and see what they do.

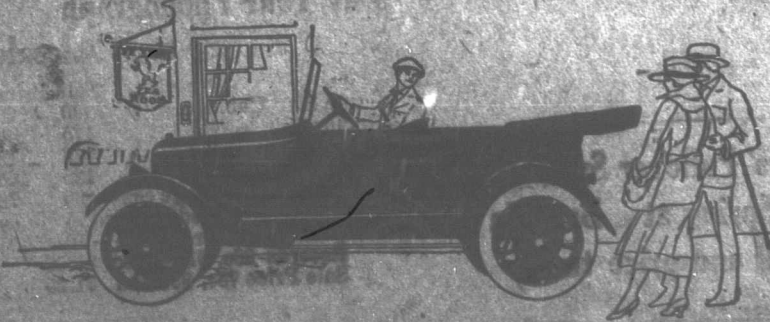

To light weight and economy of 100-inch wheelbase they add the steadiness and road flexibility of 130-inch Springbase.

It is a new sensation to ride in a light weight car with the comfort formerly confined to the heavy car of long wheelbase.

To be relieved from nerve-racking jolts and to go confidently ahead over rough roads at a good roads' speed.

The made-in-Canada Overland is a striking example of the new strides being made by Canadian industry.

HARTLAND, N. B., MAY 20, 1920

NEGLECTED

It is nearly eight weeks since Hartland bridge went down. During that time the only means of crossing the river has been by a canvass canoe or the rather hazardous use of a gasoline launch. Thus there is practically no means of crossing the river, and, as recorded in this paper a few weeks ago, the loss is felt in so many ways and to so large an extent that figures to represent it would be astounding. In Hartland the merchants report that business has fallen off 50 per cent. over the corresponding period of last year.

That vast and large section of the western side which depends upon Hartland bridge for the carrying on of business is paralyzed; and in respect to all the territory—north, south, east or west—vehicular traffic is under a worse handicap than it was forty years ago.

Yesterday a supporter of the government told The Observer that he believed that there would not only be no crossing on the bridge at Hartland this year nor on the bridge at Hartland next year. This, if true, will be indeed a severe blow to the new, progressive, and ambitious town. If the Department of Public Works was half as zealous for the welfare of this community and spent as much money as certain politicians did in the fall of 1917 there would have been means of crossing the river a month ago.

The government is treating us shabbily. If ever they had hope of "redeeming Carleton" they have hopelessly spilled the beans—and, too, when they had a gloriously good chance to win the people's confidence! The government ignores the utterances of The Observer—but in doing so they are ignoring the views of 90 per cent. of the people of this constituency. The Observer exists, not to lick the boots of politicians of any party, but to champion the rights of the people of Carleton and Victoria.

It is suggested that the people of Hartland and the surrounding country have a meeting and raise a fund to build a suspension bridge across the short distance between the west shore and the bridge. This meeting should be held without delay and the Minister of Public Works and his engineer should be asked to be present and state just how far they intend to go in not doing anything—to use an Irishman's expression. Hon. Mr. Veniot is possessed of a smooth tongue and much suavity of manner. Perhaps he will be able to put one over the people, but he has got to turn a smoother trick than any stunt he has yet pulled. If his Department can do nothing the people want to know it—and they will organize and do what the government will not do. A former government compelled them to do just this thing.

The only road from Hartland to Woodstock is in such wretched condition that any person owning a good car—and practically every person in this vicinity does—simply will not attempt to make the journey. And this is May 20! The same may be said of the road to Florenceville. The same may be said of the road to Rockland, and other important sections of the east.

Last year the government built a beautiful piece of permanent highway, running from Rockland and ending in a swamp, two miles east of Hartland. "It begins and ends nowhere." From Rockland to Windsor and Knowltonville lies one of the most important agricultural sections in the province. The farmers of that locality are offering the very finest of agricultural land that lies out doors, practically for what anyone will pay for it, all for the lack of roads to have their produce to market.

Addressing a meeting at Moncton on May 14 Hon. Mr. Veniot said: "As for changing the rule of the road in this province, it will not be done until similar action is taken in Nova Scotia. There is a law on the statute books now providing for a change through an order-in-council. There was strong opposition to the measure although a change is favored in the districts near Maine and Quebec, but it is felt that the province owes more to Nova Scotia than to the United States and Quebec." Nova Scotia is connected with New Brunswick by a neck of land about six miles wide, while the portion bordering on Maine and Quebec is over 400 miles in extent. It is safe to say that 100 cars come into the province from Maine and Quebec to one coming from Nova Scotia. Readers of The Observer will ponder Mr. Veniot's word with amazement.

In the government's favor it can be said that spring freshets have given the Department of Public Works a period of severe anxiety and much expense. Last season excellent work was done on some portions of road in Carleton. The west river road to Woodstock was made well-nigh perfect. And the government was doing well in renewing Hartland bridge, but the freshets intervened. Nevertheless it is entirely practicable to prepare temporary spans; and a small amount of money would suffice to make passable the road to Woodstock and to Stickney, there to connect with an existing good road to Perth and all towns along the way.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezons costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, callus, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezons" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stings burning, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

A Lesson in Time

By J. K. MARSHALL

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure News-Paper Syndicate.)

There was no more devoted and happy couple than the Wardens, who had been married a few short weeks; but today Helen was not happy. This was due to the fact that she had taken the time this morning to review the events of the past few weeks. She knew that Bruce loved her dearly, and in his good-heartedness would deny her nothing to make her happy. But now she was to acknowledge he had one serious fault, which was a menace to their future happiness. His belief that it was his sole right to supervise everything about the household clashed harshly with her free and independent ideas.

Helen had religiously refused to allow these thoughts to enter her mind until last evening, when they had entertained for the first time in their new home. She had looked forward with much pleasure to this event, and thought with a touch of pride how Mrs. Warren would compliment her on the haven of delight that she and Bruce had created for their home. But what a bitter disappointment it had been to her as she stood by and heard Bruce, in answer to the many pleasant exclamations from the guests, as they viewed the furnishings, assume the credit to himself, in a proprietary manner, with not one word of praise for herself. The realization of this trait in Bruce had spoiled her evening, and she was unable to be the gay, light-hearted girl they had always known.

After the guests had departed Bruce had asked her what was wrong; but her efforts at an explanation only aroused in him a feeling of resentment. Her gentle remonstrance at his persistently ignoring her, not only in the selection of the household furnishings, but their arrangement as well, had brought forth from him his declaration that he was master of his home.

She realized the futility of further discussion of this subject with Bruce, because she knew him to be too positive in his ideas. She thought over all this carefully, and made up her mind to change things. Yes, she would begin right now. She called her mother on the phone and asked her to go shopping with her.

Helen bought new silk covers for the round cushions, new curtains for the windows and a beautiful rich brown cover for the library table. She had wanted these things in the living room, when she was first married. Well, now she was going to have them. Mother had always selected these things at home. Other women planned the arrangement of their homes. So would she.

After they had tea, she left her mother and went home. Hurriedly slipping into her large blue gingham apron, she went to work. First, she took down the curtains in the living room. Mrs. O'Brien had cleaned the windows just two days ago, so she could now put up the new curtains. Then she opened her packages. "What a beautiful, rich golden brown," she thought, as she held the curtains up to admire them. "And how well they looked with the brown rug!" Soon the room took on a new, pretty effect. True, the curtains and other things that Bruce had bought were lovely, but they were not just what Helen had wanted; and then, she must show Bruce that she, too, could plan and furnish a room with excellent taste, and that it was her right.

Her work completed, she found it would be a little more than an hour before Bruce would be home. She would have plenty of time to dress and read awhile before starting to prepare dinner. She had just been in the sun parlor a few minutes, trying to become interested in a late novel, when Bruce arrived. She saw him coming up the walk, carrying a square white box under one arm and a long box in his other hand. "Flowers and candy," thought Helen. This had happened once before, when Bruce left the house in a bad humor after breakfast, because Helen had served bacon with their eggs, and Bruce did not eat pork "in any way, shape or form." Flowers and candy were his peace offering, which should cover any breach. Well, he must learn differently. She usually ran to the door to meet him, but today she pretended to be reading.

Bruce entered the house and, placing his packages on the table, he went to her quickly.

"Helen, dear," he began, "I want to talk to you. It is about last night."

Helen gazed at him in surprise. Why, what did it mean? This pleasant tone from Bruce. And he had never before said he was sorry. Perhaps she had been too hasty about buying the new things for the living room.

"Oh, Bruce, wait! I want to tell you about this afternoon. I—"

She was interrupted by Bruce. "I have been a selfish cad. I know how you must feel about my selecting everything for our home, and trying to supervise their arrangement. But I must tell you how I came to realize this. This morning going to town Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Travers got on at Homewood. They took the seat right back of me. At first I did not recognize their voices; then they mentioned your name." Bruce paused, made another effort, then went on. Mrs. Warren was then saying some nice things about you, when Mrs. Travers remarked: 'What a pity she allows her young husband to run everything. Why, when you asked her where she bought her pretty cushions and the reading lamp, she looked confusedly at her husband and he had to answer. I should hate to think that I would ever become a nonentity in my home. I wonder how such men would feel if their wives interfered in their business?' I, well, I was furious. I couldn't bear to hear any more, but when I got to the office and thought things over, I knew that Mrs. Travers spoke the truth. Oh, please don't cry, Helen." And Bruce dropped his head on his hands. "To think that I should ever give anyone cause to say those things and to pity the dearest girl in the world."

Helen dried her tears. She was hurt, and she knew what Mrs. Travers said was true, but how dared she speak that way and how humiliating for poor Bruce.

"Bruce, you have never given any one reason to pity me. Don't say that. And, even if Mrs. Travers did suspect, she doesn't belong here. As you know, Mrs. Warren is my dearest friend, and I have no doubt that if you had heard the rest of their conversation you would have heard Mrs. Warren telling her, kindly but firmly, that she knew us to be the happiest of couples, and that she just imagined those things. Mrs. Warren never speaks unkindly of anyone, nor lets a chance go by to say something nice about one when another in her presence makes disagreeable remarks."

Bruce lifted his head. "Well, from now on things will be different. If I have been brought to my senses. If I had only listened to you when you talked of those things, instead of being so sure I was right, in my own way. I wonder that you didn't—"

"I did, this afternoon," Helen interrupted, leading him out to the living room. "And, oh!" and her face lit up. "Why, Bruce, Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Travers came into Gables' just as I was buying these new curtain and cushion covers."

"Thank heaven for that!" muttered Bruce. "They are a great improvement to the room, Helen, and from now on, you—"

"No, not just me, Bruce dear—us," Helen said, softly, as she slipped into his arms.

"I hope I have learned my lesson in time," murmured Bruce, as he bent his head down to kiss "the dearest girl and wife in all the world."

COMING CHANGES IN JAPAN

Many Symptoms That Revolution, Probably Peaceful, Is Due in Land of Chrysanthemum.

In the kingdom of the Chrysanthemum there are symptoms which cause observers to pause. All over the country small groups are forming—not of labor men—but of intellectuals—of students with a fair admixture of the middle and even of the upper classes. There is something coming in Japan—a great change—as man yet quite knows when it will come or whether it will go—some call it revolution others restoration. Another symptom is the attitude of the Japanese woman. The Japanese woman is thinking and acting; did she not start the rice riots one year ago? Religious movements have been started within the last 50 years with Japanese women—women of the people—at their head. These movements have millions of adherents. Then outside of Kyoto what is that growing conglomeration of buildings? Actually a city of refuge to which Japanese of all classes are coming, selling their possessions and coming—extraordinary as it may sound—as to a sanctuary in prevision of the times to come. In the midst of the city is a strange-looking structure built in readiness for the emperor. Much may happen in Japan, but there is nothing to show that ties 30 centuries old—between sovereign and people—will snap. The bonds are religious, far more than political, and the revolution or restoration to come is economic, not constitutional—Christian Science Monitor.

His Misapprehension.

"Hi! Whur at I at?" feebly demanded Mr. Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark.

"What's been coming off around yur, anyhow?"

"You drove onto the railroad crossing just in time to be struck by the flyer," replied the physician. "The engine demolished your wagon, and—"

"Aw, that's it? Must have sorter knocked me plumb out of my head for a spell, for I shore thought my 14 children had mobbed me for something or nuther they didn't like."—Kansas City Star.

The Psychology of It.

"How do you like your new neighbors?"

"All right. The first thing they did was to borrow our lawn-mower."

"Have they returned it?"

"Not yet, and I hope they'll keep it. Then they'll be careful not to use it early in the morning or at any hour when it would attract my attention unduly."—Boston Transcript.

If you would avoid constant repainting—if you would have the paint that has maximum covering-capacity, investigate the cause of the high reputation attained by B-H. Your investigation will result in a trial of this brand—and that trial will make you a confirmed adherent of this paint that goes so far and that lasts so long. ONE WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Of Interest to Childless Women.

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered for a long time from a female weakness, inflammation, and a terrible backache caused by that condition. One day one of your booklets was left at my door, and like mine had been made well, so I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Sanative Wash, and it helped me wonderfully, that any mother could want. I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who has female troubles."—Mrs. Joseph La Bella, 778 Shaw Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes, once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong, and this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

St. John Exhibition

The St. John Exhibition Association is again going to hold a show and has fixed its dates at September 4 to 11 inclusive. This will be the first exhibition to be held in St. John since 1914 as the exhibition plant has, for the last five years, been employed for military purposes. The Militia department have just handed back the plant and have also paid over a substantial amount to offset the damage done by their occupation, so that the association is in a position to expend more money than is usually the case and therefore expects to make this year's show a distinct success in every way.

FIND MANY USES FOR PEAT

Warren Industry Gives Promise of Great Development in the Years to Come.

The output of peat in the United States last year far exceeded that of any preceding year and the general increase, which was stimulated by the war, was shared by practically all branches of the industry. Though extensively used as fuel in Europe and widely known in the United States as a potential source of heat and power, peat has been unable to compete with coal and many peat operators have directed their attention to the utilization of peat in agriculture with gratifying results.

Peat fertilizer was first marketed in commercial quantities in 1908, and stock-food peat in 1912, and though there is still some prejudice against its use the agricultural branch of the industry has been successful and the quantity of fertilizer and stock-food peat annually produced is increasing. Large quantities of these products were made last year, but the most striking development was the production of more peat in the New England States than has been manufactured in the entire United States in all preceding years. Almost equally striking was the widespread interest manifested in peat resources which had been generally regarded as of doubtful value.

Large quantities of peat or sphagnum moss were produced and utilized for stable litter, packing material, and surgical dressing, and several hundred thousand acres of peat soils were used for the growth of crops. The peat litter was produced by the owners of small bogs for their own use, but the packing material was sold to florists for $25 a ton. According to J. W. Holston, of the Red Cross more than half a million peat pads were prepared in this country for that organization. Most of the moss was gathered by volunteers from bogs in Washington, Oregon and Maine, and the pads were used in military hospitals at home and abroad.

TOWNS NOT FATED TO LIVE

Communities East and West, Founded in High Hopes, Are Now Practically Things Forgotten.

Western papers tell their readers that the town of Emerson, Okla., is shortly to be a thing forgotten. It was mapped out as a town site shortly after the territory was opened for settlement, and the promoters had dreams of a metropolis. In 1907 the plan was abandoned, and now the district court has been asked to vacate the land for town site purposes, when what might have been a town will become farm land.

The story of Emerson suggests what came near happening to a Connecticut town in the beginnings of the colony. These interested in it showed rare sense in their choice of a site, and in their dreams planned not for a town but for a city. Hampden and Cromwell were to be among its citizens; the cream of England, so its promoters hoped, were to become its citizens. Fate ordered otherwise, and the early days of this dream town are remembered now largely through Lion Gardiner's account of his struggle to hold the site against the attacks of the Indians.

Other states, notably the mining commonwealths of the West can duplicate the story from Oklahoma, but few can equal the romance of the Connecticut settlement.

Village Proud of War Record.
The little Norfolk village of Old Buckingham is proud of its war record. Its total male population between the ages of eighteen and fifty in 1914 was 264. Of that number no fewer than 170 served with the forces and 89 have given their lives for their country.

In their honor a memorial cross has been erected on the village green, an exact reproduction of the "cross of sacrifice" designed by Sir Reginald Bloomfield, R. A., for all British military cemeteries abroad. The total height from the ground line to the top of the cross is 24 feet 6 inches. It is built of stone and the names of those men of the village who fell in the war are inscribed in gilt on the drum below the base of the cross.

The sacrifice of Old Buckingham is typical of every British village.

Long-Lived Superstition.
We wonder whether the Turkish prisoner who foretold the end of the war by means of the shoulder blade of a sheep had ever read "Giraldus Cambrensis' Itinerary Through Wales," made in the year 1188.

If so, he would have read in Chapter XI that these people (the Flemings of Pembrokeshire), from the inspection of the right shoulders of rams which have been stripped of their flesh, and not roasted but boiled, can discover future events, or those which have passed and remained long unknown.

A footnote tells us that "this curious superstition is still preserved in a debased form among the descendants of the Flemish population of this district, where the young women practice a sort of divination with the blade bone of a shoulder of mutton to discover who will be their sweetheart." "It is still more curious that William de Rubrugus, in the thirteenth century, found the same superstition existing among the Tartars." Now, in the twentieth century, we find it among the Turks. —London Chronicle.

Wash Day and Backache

WASH day is the least welcome day of the week in most homes, though sweeping day is not much better. Both days are most trying on the back.

The strain of washing, ironing and sweeping frequently deranges the kidneys. The system is poisoned and backaches, rheumatism, pains in the limbs result.

Kidney action must be aroused—the liver awakened to action and the bowels regulated by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This favorite prescription of the well-known Receipt Book author will not fail you in the hour of need.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

The Uplift

A senator, apropos of the huge quantity of army meat which it was proposed should be sold to the packers for less than half the price paid them by the government, said:

"Why sell this meat to the packers? Would it not be better to sell it to consumers direct and thus aid in reducing the cost of living?"

The senator added bitterly: "The high cost of living! We heard a lot about the uplift movement to be expected as the result of the war, but we didn't expect the uplift to be concentrated on prices."
