Adam Beck Promises Further Reduction of $2 for the Queen City-Ald. Spittal Declares for the Flat Rate.

ALD WILLIAM SPITTAL, Who delares flat rate for power is only arrangement for London.

The announcement by Hon. Adam Beck that the hydro-electric commission would reduce the price of power $2 a horsepower to Toronto, making net charge $14.00, is not considfavorably by some public men in London. The cost is just half the price London has to pay, and emphasizes stifl more forcibly the disadvantages under which London labors, when factories are to be secured. This the second cut of recent date for Toronto, and there is considerable rgitation for a flat rate to all the municipalities in the power zone.

London Losing Industries. It would be an ideal condition, it is ciaimed, and would put all municipalities on an equal feeting when they go after industries. At the present time Toronto has the advantage per horsepower. For a firm ing 200 or more power, this item is a very important one. It is claimhat London is losing industries re-felly owing to this fact.

Mil J. Grant Henderson, commis sioner of industries, is persuaded that the difference in the cost of power i a seriors he dicap, and has stated that the flat rate is the ideal condition of things.

e Advertiser was informed that sev good industries have passed London during the past year because of the high power rates existing here as comwith other municipalities more fav ored in this regard.

> "I will support the Liberal party's policy of 'Abolish the Bar' in the Legislature and will vote for any resolution which Rowell may introduce to this effect unless Sir James Whitney introduces legislation going further toward the abolition of the liquor traffic, and in such event I reserve my freedom to vote for such a measure if I consider it in the interests of temperance so to do.

(Signed) WILLIAM SUTHERLAND. London, Oct. 16, 1912.

Mr. William Sutherland, who recently announced himself as an independent candidate to oppose George W. Neeley, Conservative, in the contest to fall the vacancy in the riding of East Middlesex caused by the death of Mr. Sutherland's brother Robert, today directed the foregoing statement to Mr. Newton Rowell, the Liberal leader.

Mr. Sutherland had before stated that he would support any out-and-out temperance resolution introduced into the Legislature, but in order to avoid any misunderstanding on the question directed the above statement to the leader of the Opposition over his own signature.

Mr. Sutherland is working ab-solutely in the interests of temperance, but, at the present time stands by Mr. Rowell's policy of 'Abolish the Bar" as against the Whitney scheme to stop treating.

One. [Special to The Advertiser.]

Owen Sound, Oct. 15.-After being out for 44 minutes the jury tonight brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of William Smith, who was charged with the murder of George Green. Mr. Justice Middleton at once discharged the prisoner. The case for the crown was conducted by R. L. White, of Pembroke, while the defence was in the hands of W. H. Wright, of Owen Sound.

On the evening of Thursday, Sept. 12. George Green, an old man, aged 65 vears, a Fenian Raid veteran, was found lying unconscious on the floor of the dining-room of his home on Eleventh street east. On his head was a contusion several inches in length. He was removed to the hospital, where death ensued on the Tuesday following, the old man not having regained

The Verdict. A coroner's jury opined that death had been the result of a blow on the head caused by falling, which in turn was caused by a blow on the chin delivered at the hands of some unknown Ross Was Chosen Grand person. Meantime the police arrested william Smith a young man, who had at one time boarded at the Greens'. and who was there on the afternoon when Green met his fatal injury. It was known that there had been an altercation between Smith and Green. The trial of Smith opened this morning in the assizes here.
Wife's Evidence.

Mrs. Green, widow of the deceased, who gave her evidence without any outward indication of feeling, said that Smith had come to her home on the afternoon of Sept. 12, and stayed there until the return of her husband, who had been out for a walk. As soon as he entered the house Green had ordered Smith out, but the latter refused saying he would go when he got ready However, he went out to the woodshed and was followed by the irate Green. who in a minute returned with his face all scratched and bloody, seeing which Mrs. Green went to call the police. She death of Gen. Sir Isaac Brock. After an was out about ten minutes before she address on "Patriotsm" by the princireturned, and when she did come back she was greeted with the sight of her husband lying unconscious on the floor of the dining-room.

Green, she said, had been in very feeble health, and at various times had taken weak fits, when he would fall headlong wherever he happened to be standing.

Several neighbors were called, but could add little to Mrs. Green's story. o one saw Smith or anyone else strike Green, and no one saw Green

STORY BREAKS DOWN

Evidence in Gibson Trial Found To Be Without Foundation.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Oct. 15 .- The remarkable story told by "Mrs. Rose Guerra" of dealings with Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer accused of the murder of Mrs. Rose Menzchik Szabe, has broken down spective witness against Gibson has admitted that her story was untrue and that she told it, she said, at the instigation of "a New Jersey lawyer," whose identity she has not made clear, to get information from the prosecution in the Gibson case. Her real name is Helen Laura Rockwell, and she never knew Gibson, the information given out by Mr.

TODAY, the Smallman & Ingram Display of Paris Fashions

This Exposition of Fashions will emphasize our position as importers and principal distributors of authoritative styles from all parts of the world. For more than a third of a century we have worked constantly toward the goal we long since reached, LONDON'S RECOGNIZED STORE OF QUALITY. Of the superiority of our stocks there is no doubt other good stores We's recognize it by calling upon us constantly to supply grades and sizes missing from their lines. We buy only from the best manufacturers in this country, in Germany, France, Switzerland, England and elsewhere, always importing in quantities insuring bed-rock prices.

· Our buyers go abroad each season and this store has from the beginning, and is today, doing all that is possible for any single concern to do in improving qualities and bettering values by persistently demanding better grades in all lines of merchandise and demonstrating repeatedly that we can, and do, sell at lower prices than are asked for inferior grades elsewhere.

Open Evenings. THE RATE HEARING.

Many important features were discussed at the first hearing regarding freight rates. The Grand Trunk was the original Canadian Railway to base the rates on water routes, and other railways based their rates from those established by the ploneer road. The outstanding feature of the first day of the hearing on the matter of freight rates, according to one of the railway officials, was the establish-ment of the origin of rates. That is t was established that the first rates n Canada were based on water rates. The Grand Trunk, the original Canadian Railway, followed for the most part water routes. Other rallways based their rates on those established by the pioneer rail lines. There was no effort made on the part of those who are asking for lower rates to establish the fact that rates originally were too high. Of course there is the general contention that they are now too high, especially in Western Canada and ought to be reduced. In view of the well established fact that rates have been reduced from year to year

since 1886, the railways naturally ELECTROPLATING - NICKEL OUR contend that the rate ought to be increased if any change is made. Another feature of the hearing was the disposition on the part of the awyers representing the reductionists to shut out any discussion of through rates from the East to the West. In as much as a part of the contention has been that Western rates were too high as compared with Eastern rates and that the West congenity was being discriminated sequently was being discriminated against, the railway men and their attorneys were surprised at least by the representatives of the West. Na-PRIVATE AND TRUST MONEY TO turally, they argued, the reduction of the through rate from the East to the West was for the benefit of the West. Statistics compiled by the Canadian Pacific Traffic Department show that the rate on apples, for in-A. 'Page after page, column after col-umn of figures were presented," eald the railway official referred to. "Showing great reductions in rates but never a figure to indicate that rates ever been increased. In view of the fact that the cost of producing transportation has greatly increased, the constant decrease in the price of transportation has been lowered from year to year is really remarkable. The cost of material, the wages paid to employes, in fact, everything used by the railway has nearly doubled in the past twenty years. Taxes are constantly increasing, conditions are imposed upon the transportation companies that gravely affect the total cost of operation, narrowing the margin between the cost of production and the Vocal Department Alma College, St. price of the only product which the railroad has to sell—transportation."

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 16. THE CABINET DIFFICULTIES.

'Le Devoir publishes an Ottawa dispatch asserting that a group of Conservatives waited on Mr. Monk this without success. Mr. Bourassa follows it up by a signed article asserting that Mr. Monk will resign as soon as the Borden naval policy is announced. Mr. Bourassa professes to know that the Government will ask Parliament for an emergency contribution of $30,000,000. and has refused Mr. Monk's demand for a plebiscite on this particular vote, though promising it before a permanent policy is adopted.

Mr. Jules Tremblay, in La Justice, of Ottawa, writes that there is a division in the cabinet, Messrs. Monk, Nantel Pelletier and Doherty demanding a naval plebiscite, and opposing a direct contribution. Mr. Tremblay adds:

"In circles habitually well-informof Mr. Monk is a thing absolutely assured unless the Ministry accepts an appeal to the people. . . not probable that the crisis will show itself before the opening of the House, but it would have been reby-election if the Ministry had not decided to leave Mr. Morgan (the Conservative candidate) to his fate.

Making allowance for guess work in Government will not officially take part in the Richelieu contest. No minister. at present. To this pass the Borden been reduced! -a seats in Quebec on the naval issue!

There is reason for doubting that Mr. Monk will step out, unless he steps Into a fat position on the bench. He he will make any sacrifice for consistency's sake is not to be inferred from his recent conduct.

THE WAR AND THE STOCK EXCHANGES.

The flurry on the European stock exchanges is an illustration of the international character of modern finance which is linking business with sentiment in the war against war. A financial writer cables from I ondon to the New York Post:

"It hardly need be said that everything in the financial situation here is dominated by the Balkan episode and the financial weakness disclosed on continental stock exchanges. Wall Street should recognize the are naturally aggravated by the unfeeling at home. "The Paris Bourse is heavily closged with Russian industrials and new capital creations, and the war scare, coming along with a heavy break in copper shares, may yet ocments on that market. At Berlin. speculation has been less pronounced than at Paris; but the German money market and the Bourse are less able to stand a heavy strain. In fact, it may be said of nearly every European centre, that preservation of peace in the larger sense is imperative if financial catastrophes are to be avoided.

"London and New York are probably the soundest centres intrinsically. Your market's weak spot, however, is its dependency on European capital-which, under present conditions, will not easily be available; while our point of weakness is the depression in consols."

If this shock has been caused by a war of small states, and the mere apprehension lest some of the larger states may be dragged into it, what a catastrophe would follow actual war among the larger states, or even state of affairs confirms Mr. Nerman Angell's thesis in his remarkable book, "The Great Illusion," if any confirmation of his logic were needed. The young man has deserved this favor at the Government's hands. He was one of its best assets in Quebec when he went up and down the province calling for Laurier's defeat because Laurier was too Birtish for him. The simple habitants never realized what a yoke England had laid on them until they heard Mr. Lavergne's eloquent denunciations of the Laurier

It was scarcely proper for a wearer of the King's uniform to paint the mother country as such an ogre, but Captain Lavergne knew that all would be forgiven by the professional loyalists if he delivered the goods in Quebec. He met with a substantial measure of success, and claimed his reward. He was one of the Nationalist sign on the question of the navy, but the cabinet. His present request cannot be refused, particularly in view of the imminence of another battle over the navy question, for which Mr. Bourassa is preparing. It will suit the Government to have Captain Lavergne out of the country at this juncture. He will be under an obligation to behave himself when he returns.

Billie Burke Says:

"WE CAN KEEP YOUNG, AND I KNOW HOW."-By Billy Burke.

> THE FIRST WORD-The best of women are always young, for kind hearts never lose the sweetness and bloom of adolescence.

I always consider it a great compliment when someone speaks of my youthfulness. There is an irresistible glamor about Sometimes one is slow to realize it, but sooner or later we all come to acknowledge, in our inmost selves at least, that wise people are all replicas of Ponce de Leon, ever in quest of waters which have the magic properties of warding off old age. But there is youth and youth. Nobody particularly admires the youth that is callow, the youth that is unripe, unless It holds promise of better things. But the youth that wins you and me and all the world is the youth which is born of and not spoiled by experience, and it comes after maturity; it is youth which makes us as gods, knowing good and evil. Youth is not a matter of years nor lack of years, and, alas, it cannot be obtained through the media of scented soaps, face creams, gymnasiums, and beauty doctors—it is a thing of the soul.

Youth is not Peter Pan-the boy that never grows charming though he is; rather it is he who, having grown up, retains the freshness and wholesomeness of the boy. Youth is the characteristic of the man and woman who continue to think "long, long thoughts" of fragrant glorious boyhood and girl-

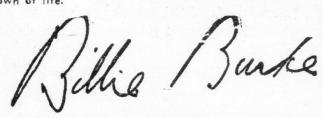

We can all keep young-blissfully, perennially young. Our faces may lose their fullness of outline, but nothing need ever destroy the freshness of our outlook on life nor the sweetness of our smile. And never until the verge of eternity is before us need the light die out of our eyes.

It is a fine art—this keeping young, and its not to be had save at great price. We must rid ourselves of petty grudges, small prejudices, little vices, borrowed worries, and untold woes. It means the ruthless and impartial slaughter of the little foxes that destroy the vineyard of our peace. It means confidence in our fellow men and fellow women. You and I will only be young while our souls are youngand our souls are young only when they are clean and charitable, trusting and sincere.

We all know some few enviable men and women, who, despite the passing years and the racking of labor, retain the freshness and spontaneity, the sweetness and fascination of youth. Their hearts are young. We find balm in their presence, joy in their smiles, inspiration in their touch. To that chosen company it is our duty and right to belong. There is no room in this world for the victims of self-pity, the grumblers,

GIANTS WIN AND EVEN UP SERIES FOR WORLD'S TITLE

JOE WOOD WAS DRIVEN FROM BOX Baseball Season Climax BY TERRIFIC BATTING ONSLAUGHT

Boston's Star Pitcher Swept Off His Feet in Opening Inning of Game By Giants' Heavy Bombardment Which Resulted in Six Runs.

BOTH TEAMS PLAYED A LOOSE GAME; SEVEN ERRORS AIDING IN RUN-MAKING

Tesresu Pitched Poor Ball, But Big Lead in First Inning Gave Him Confidence and Red Sox Could Only Score Four Runs Off Him.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 15.—Baseball's infinite possibilities for straying from the paths of rectitude and propriety never were more ably illustrated than in today's game in which the Giants, themselves almost unspeakably bad, except for a few minutes in the opening inning, completely overwhelmed the Red Sox, who were simply indecent, by a score of 11 to 4.

Six runs scored in the first inning, almost before the Bostons got into the Six runs scored in the first inning, almost before the Bostons got into the park, cinched the game for McGraw and his people and made it possible for them to win "on the bit," in spite of Jeff Tesreau's very poor performance and some indifferent fielding. This junior inning was the only time in the entire day when either club played anything resembling the game as accepted in politic society.

Maybe the Giants figured that they were entitled to shamble through the rest of the afternoon in a "go as you please" fashion, having once assumed so commanding a lead. Certainly they had nothing to worry over even in the cight periods succeeding the first. They made enough runs to beat all that eight periods succeeding the first. They made enough runs to beat all that be called such, than when the first round was completed, be called such, than when the first round was completed.

It seemed to be the popular idea before the game started that with Joe Wood on the firing line Boston would need only about four men in the line-up. Joseph had won two previous games partly through his own good pitching and partly through sensational support, and he was expected to be even better than usual in the presence of 30,000 or more of his warm and vociferous admirers. The fallacy that Woody is something more than human was exploded very suddenly and very completely before the game was three minutes old, thing happened.

Nine Long Indicase. very suddenly and very completely before the game was three minutes old,

It probably would have been better for the Red Sox had their opponents been allowed to take the ball in their hands and hit it. Certainly they couldn't have been any more successful than they were against the "Smoky Boy." Nane Giants batted in the premier inning, seven of them hit safely and one sacrificed, while the odd batsman who did neither of these things ran all the way to second base while a companion was being cut down between stations. To season this hitting there were two stolen bases or rather a double steal, while another player dashed home from third without even drawing a throw. It was the double theft in the front of the inning that seemed to throw

The first two men up singled and Wood, never figuring on any one's daring to take liberties on the bases with him, went into a wind up that would have done credit to the best contortionist in vaudeville. By the time he let the ball so the runners were practically on the bases to which they were flying and Cody wouldn't be the bases to which they were flying and wouldn't have been able to get either of them out even if he had had a gun to shoot the ball from. ton still would have had a chance for the

This bit of burglary accomplished, New York resumed its hitting, vigorously banging everything that Wood handed up with great ferver. Even Jeff Tesreau, who ought to hit 6.78 off any kind of a hurler, got a scratch single that drove in a run.

Unless there is a law in Massachusetts forbidding the removal of pitchers who are being massacred, Stahl will have a hard time explaining why he left Joe in until every Giant who really wanted to get a hit had gone to the plate and flattened the horsehide. If Joe had been lifted after three of the runs, for instance, Bosnot to get the side retired in the first inning before darkness set in, Charlie Hall was asked to finish the work that Wood had so horribly begun. The Mexitan was in his normal form, good and bad by turns, mostly bad. Like Tesreau, he had the lopsided score to thank that he wasn't taken out, for the Giants had no trouble at all in hitting him, and every now and then picked up a tally or two.

Red Sox Got Pienty On.

Boston had men on the bases in every inning, two of them contemporaneously in most of the rounds, but stupid baserunning and a lack of team work between the men inhabiting the canvases and the batters kept the score down.

So shake was Rie Jeff that on separate

World's Championship Will Be Decided When Red Sox and Giants Meet This Afternoon---Bedient and Mathewson Are Likely Selections With Wood and Marquard Second

[Canadian Press.] Boston. Oct. 16.—The climax of a season of baseball came today in the eighth game of the world championship series between the New York Giants and the Johnson's circuit somewhere between the South Michigan and border organizations in efficiency in the eyes of persons who have only world's series games by which to judge.

Better Were it St. Louis.

Personally the writer would feel a lot nappler were the St. Louis Browns instead of the Red Sox scheduled to meet the Giants in tomorrow's decisive battle of the imbroglio. It's a tough thing to say about any club that the Browns would make an acceptable substitute, but in this instance it is deserved.

St. Louis, with Hamilton pitching, for instance, would stand a chance tomorrow. Unless the champions take something stimulating to heat the intellect between now and the next game! Of course, the Giants, who haven't had anything to worry about in the last two games, and the world champions and the consequent honors and a major share of the players' profits, which are the greatest in base-ball history, were at stake.

Giants Predict Victory.

The Giants, having won two games in succession and tled the series when the Red Sox needed but a single victory to secure the title, predicted freely that they would be champions of the world after today's game. The Red Sox were lin a fighting mood, but planned more secure the title, predicted freely that they would be champions of the world after today's game. The Red Sox were in a fighting mood, but planned more carefully than in any previous games their side of the crucial battle. Hugh Bedient, the Red Sox recruit of Hugh Bedient, the Red Sox Feetal only a season's standing in the major leagues, who bested New York with the old master, Christy Mathewson pitching, last Saturday, was groomed to take up the mound work for the Red Sox. Mathewson, it was expected by the New Yorksteeners was all the asked by Mc. York supporters, would be asked by Mc-Graw to assume again the same position for New York, making another pitchers' duel, such as that of Saturday, a prospect. After Saturday's game Mathewson declared that he was done for as a world series pitcher. "I can never win a world series pitcher. I can hever with a work a verses game again. My arm is lame, and I am tired all through. I threw the old arm out twice today, and I am afraid it will fail me," he declared. But he warmed up during yesterday's game, and all indications were that the veteran of many haseball campaigns would work for the Giants.

Managers Face Problem.

With so much depending upon the result of today's game, neither manager sult of today's game, neither manager was willing to put all his hopes on one man, and McGraw kept in reserve Marquard, who has pitched New York to two victories in the series, while Stahl had Joe Wood work out, in the belief that should occasion require, Wood could go into the box and better his performance of yesterday, when New York forced him o the bench under a fusillade of hits.

The rival managers were not expected make any changes in their batting order today, the probable line-up of each

Although the series has been one of great interest locally, Boston fans were slow in coming to the grounds today.

Apparently they were almost surfeited slow in coming to the grounds today. Apparently they were almost surfeited with baseball, having had five games out of the present series of eight played in this city. Boston had two games more than New York because of a tie, which had to be played off here, and as a result of Manager Stahl winning the toss-off coin to determine where the deciding match should be played. Only a very few persons were at the bleacher gate of Fenway Park awaiting admission at the opening hour, but club officials said they expected a good-sized eleventh-hour they expected a good-sized eleventh-hour crowd.

Players Feeling Strain.

The nervous and physical strain on the players of both teams has been intense, particularly so with the series drawn out to the eighth game of the series. The tension among them before they went in to today's game was great, and was increased with the realization that the slightest error or lapse of judgment might decide the series for the other team. The teams were still considered everly matched, dspite New York's two consecutive victories by the most decisive scores of the series. Players Feeling Strain.

Manager McGraw was reticent as ever.
"We have won two straight games; we will make it three and the championship today." New York was favored in the betting at odds generally of 10 to 8. The fact that Mathewson was to pitch, together with New York's two victories and the Red Sox reversal of form, made the odds switch to New York for the first time since the series started, Some evenmoney bets were made yesterday, but up to that time New Yorkers sought a short end when looking for wagers.

One of these occasions was during New York's large first inning, which, of course, didn't

what happened:
Devore opened with a slow bounder that Wagner tried to play with one hand and lost. Doyle hit the first ball pitched cleanly to centre field, sending Josh to second. Then came the double steal, made posible by Wood's calm disregard of the runners' presence on the bases. Snodgrass flogged a liner to right centre, and Hooper, in trying desperately to catch the ball, let it get past, and both Devore and Doyle scored, while "Snod" made second before Speaker could get the pill back. Murray sacrificed, which made one out.

what happened:

Misjudged Fly Costly.

Merkle hit a very high fly which Lewis nidjudged in the wind, and allowed to every now and then picked up a tany or two.

Even with that six-run lead staring them in the face, the Red Sox might have had a chance if they had used a little intelligence in their attack. They got nine hits and five bases on balls off Tesreau, received the benefit of two wild pitches and were assisted by erratic playing, particularly by Capt. Doyle, who could neither catch, throw nor stop the ball, but whose hitting was a thing of beauty to witness.

Red Sox Got Pienty On.

Boston had men on the bases in every cher made second.

Right at allowed to fall safe, Snodgrass trotting home and Merkle making second on the throw to head the centre fielder off. Herzog slapped a bounder to Wood and took second while Merkle was being run down between bases. Meyers hit a beauty to left, scoring Herzog. The Indian dashed to third, just beating Hooper's throw, when Fletcher singled to right. Tesreau bounded one at Wood, who deflected the ball toward Gardner. Larry tried hard for a play at first base, but was too late, and Meyers scored the fifth run, while Fletcher made second.

cher made second. Tesreau started for second to draw throw and Cady cut one loose the full distance. Yerkes saw that there was absolutely no chance of getting Fletcher ping. Then Carlos settled down and go the side out. Larry Gardner got Poston's first run to start the second inning, lamming the ball clear over the low centre field fence, and making the circuit unmolested. That was all for four innings, though there were red legs constantly on the paths, only to have some piece of idiocy, such as Hall's tionals in the inter-league series for

Shows Skill Temporarily. Hall really pitched some good ball in the third and fifth, and got out of holes. After one man was down in the sixth, however, he slipped up, handing Devore a base on balls and allowing Doyle to hit him around with a homer into the crowd in right centre. Some fan who was anxious to assist Boston batted the sphere back into the field of play on this occasion, but, of course, the umpire permitted Doyle for a couple of counters in the seventh. Speaker's single, Lewis' double an infield out and Doyle's error being the means thereof. Doyle's must of a pop fly, Hall's safety, his third of the game, and a long drive to right by Hooper gave birth to the fourth and final Boston run in the eighth fourth and final Boston run in the eighth. The Giants, who seem to be rather a noggish lot when given a chance to grab some lunch, scored No. 11 in the ninth on a base on balls to Herzog and Speaker's poor throw to third, trying to get "Buck" at that base after Wilson had singled.

The Best Baseball Story I Ever Heard

By Ed Walsh

Greatest Spitball Pitcher in the World.

I've gotten many a laugh over some stunt on or off the diamond, but it remained for "Rube" Peters, one of our recruit pitchers, to put over the best one I ever heard. Most of the White Sox are still laughing over the incident, and Jimmy Callahan says he intends to use it in his monologue this winter.

During our first trip to Boston last spring, George Cohan was putting on a revival of "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway." He sent Manager Callahan tickets for two boxes at the opening performance. Callahan reminded us that in view of the courtesy we should give Cohan the glad hand on his entrance.

Interested in an argument that came up, we lost our cue, and the applause that met Cohan was weak.

Callahan was as sore as if he had lost an extra inning game because of a "punk" decision by the umpire, and he is the hardest loser in the world. When we returned to the hotel, Callahan paid his respects to us in anything but complimentary words.

In New York, Peters, who travels under the name of "Rube." and who, by the way, was making his first visit to the big city, asked one of the newspapermen with us if there was a show on for the total night. It seems that Mr. Brady had sent Callahan tickets for a couple of boxes for one of his performances.

"Sure there's a show for us," answered the scribe. "Callahan has all the tickets — "Bought and Paid For'—I understand it's a great show."

"Well, I'm durned glad they're paid for," said Peters. "We won't get a call-down this time if we don't boost."

game also showed some weak spots, but be held this evening, and it is expected when the team takes the field in Petrolea next Saturday it will be the strongest that has represented this city for a long time.

Last Saturday's from the school. Another practice will be held this evening, and it is expected that the attendance will be the largest of the season, although it will be hard to break the record set last Thursday, when 63 men were out in uniform.

The football players held another largely-attended practice last night at Tecumseh Park, and two complete teams were put through a very strenuous half and a half drill by Captain Borland and Manager Stevens. Borland was not in uniform, but he was on the field and watched the play very closely, and was appearance. Martin and Brereton are uniform, but he was on the field and watched the play very closely, and was able to detect some slight errors in the working of the team. Last Saturday's game also showed some weak spots, but be held this evening, and it is expected that the team was able to detect the field in Petrolea.

Montreal, Oct. 16.—The Montreal football team will leave tomorrow night for their game in Toronto on Saturday with the Argonauts. Captain Green has not announced the lineup for the game yet, but it is thought that there will be sev-eral changes in the forward division. No alteration in the halves is anticipated.

There has been some talk of putting Cralg on the wing line, although he is a half, because of his speed and clever tackling ability. The men will hold a final signal practice tomorrow morning.

The Silent Barrier

Spencer, who had salved his conscience by endeavoring to read a technical letter on mining affairs, would be less than human if he did not lift his eyes then. It is odd how the sense of hearing, when left to its unfettered play by the absence of the disturbing influence of the subtler emotions. He was quite sure that Miss Jaques was startled, even annoyed, by the appearance of some person whom she did not expect to meet, and he surveyed the new arrival critically, perhaps with the new arrival critically, perhaps with the new arrival critically, perhaps with latent hostility.

He saw a corpulent, well-dressed man standing at the foot of the stairs and looking around the spacious room. Obviously, he had not come from the restaurant. He carried his hat, gloves and stick in his left hand. With his right hand, accessed his chin and his glance. standing at the foot of the stairs and looking around the spacious room. Obviously, he had not come from the restaurant. He carried his hat, gloves and stick in his left hand. With his right hand he caressed his chin, and his glance wandered slowly over the little knots of people in the foyer. Beyond the fact that a large diamond sparkled on one of his plump fingers and that his olive-tined face was curiously opposed to the whiteness of the uniffed hand, he differed in no escame across a chan who rushed un in his plump fingers and that his olive-tined face was curiously opposed to the whiteness of the uplifted hand, he differed in no eshad the physique and bearing of a man athletic in his youth, but now over-in-dulgent. An astute tailor had managed conceal the too rounded curves of the fourth decade by fashioning his garments skillfully. His coat fitted like a skin across his shoulders, but hung loosely in front. The braid of a colored waistcoat was a marvel of suggestion in indicating a waist, and the same adept craftsmanship carried the eye in faultless lines to his verni boots. Judged by his profile, he was not ill-looking. His features were regular, the mouth and chin strong, the forehead slightly rounded, and the nost Taken altogether, he had the style of polished man of the world, and Spencel smiled at the sudden fancy that seized

EUROPEAN AGREEMENT

Chancelleries Pleased at the Peace Treaty of Italy and Turkey.

Paris, Oct. 16. — The conclusion of peace between Italy and Turkey removes much of the uneasiness felt in Europe as to the consequences of the Balkan war. The German foreign secretary, referring to this at Berlin today, said that it would facilitate the localizing of the war-a matter upon which the powers had had ample time to arrive at an agreemeent. Elation is general on the chancelleries of Europe tonight on the success of their efforts. Pressure has been applied at Constantinople by all the great powers with the exception of Italy, for it was realized that the end of the conflict would greatly improve the chances of localizing war in the Balkans. It eliminated been enormously strengthened against the Balkan coalition. It is also felt. however, that Bulgaria has gone too far to retreat, and that the fortunes of Servia and Greece are so bound up in hers that the quarrel must be fought out.

France is sounding the powers relative to calling an international con-ference to settle the Balkan difficulty, and in a general way to solidify the peace of Europe by forestalling any possibility of European complications.

Progressive Chief in Chicago Tells of "Business" Relations Will Probably Be Appointed to the Highest Judicial Position in the Province.

AT PRESENT ABROAD FOR GOVERNMENT

Mr. Chas. K. Ritchie Will Be Offered the Vacancy.

Toronto, Oct. 16. - The Mail and Empire says: Sir William Meredith. chief justice of the common pleas division of the high court, is to succeed justice of Ontario, according to welldefined rumors in court circles. While no authoritative statement has been made, it is considered altogether probable that Sir William will be elevated to the highest judicial office in the Province. His appointment would meet with general approval, the consensus of opinion being that no more worthy successor to the late chief justice of Ontario could be found.

Sir William is now abroad conducting an extensive investigation into the operation of workmen's compensation acts in Great Britain and European countries in order to secure information to assist him in drawing up the port will be in the hands of the Onthe Legisloture meets.

Th elevation of Sir William Meredith to the post of chief justice of Ontario and thereby to that of president of the supreme court of judicature, will leave a vacancy to be filled. "The Only Cure for Piles"

Writes Mr. Taylor in Telling His Experience With Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. M. Taylor.

Because Dr. Chase's Ointment brings almost immediate relief from the dreadful itching, burning, stinging sensations of piles, it is well worth the attention of everyone suffering from this annoying disease.

In most cases, even after years of standing, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes thorough and lasting cure of itching, bleeding and protruding piles.
Mr. Maxwell Taylor, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes: "To all sufferers from iles in any form I would recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only cure. Over a year ago while in Boston I became afflicted with a dreadful itching. I went to a doctor, who gave me some ointment, which made me no better. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and by the use of two boxes I was entirely curd. You may publish this statement order that other sufferers may profit by my experience."

Dr. Chase's Ointment can better prove its value by the relief it affords than by all the words we could use

FEMINITY FINDS GORGEOUS DISPLAY

Fashion Convention at Smallman and Ingram's Store Most Attractive Event.

MANY PARISIAN GOWNS Filmy Laces, Furs, Opera Cloaks, Show to Advantage Beneath Soft

Lights. Feminine London is gathering today in large numbers at the big fashion convention being held in the spacious store of Messrs. Smallman & Ingram Up in the Richmond street wing of the fourth floor one finds the display which in its beauty and artistic loveliness easily surpasses anything here tofore shown in this city. Evening gowns, including Parisian and other old world importations, be sides adaptations from the creations of renowned French modistes, opera the dark continent hang on the walls cloaks, furs, filmy laces, and accessories of all descriptions, are shown, their charms being made all the more apparent beneath the soft radiance shed by artificial lights.

An Oriental Note. Orientalism is the keynote of all the imported modes. The visitor sees it in lace designs, in dress trimmings, and in the fabrics themselves. Scarcely gown or a cloak but has a touch the Orient concealed somewhere in its folds. One beautiful opera cloak is o white broadcloth, with bandings black velvet, and wide reveres of silk tapestry.
A dainty French gown noted this morning was of white silk marquisette, with pearl trimmings, and silk embroidery of pink rosebuds. Another, which introduced the new feature of accordeon pleating, had apricot charning when draped over yellow satin; crystal trimmings and ball fringe are also a feature of other gowns. An exquisite dress length of fine lace, with a wide floral border, is woven in a two-tone effect of champagne and

Big Pillow Muffs. In the furs, the big pillow muffs hold the day. White fox, ermine, mink and marabout sets are shown, and one white coat of rabbit fur looks exceedingly "comfy." Several chic dress hats are shown in velour, and silk beaver, with trimmings of white ostrich and Flat venise, punched venise, lace. Chantilly, Macrame and shadow are but a few of the laces which the display includes.

The decorations of the quarters set apart for the exhibit deserve a word of special mention. Here the Oriental note is also dwelt upon, the entire wall space being covered with velvet wall rugs of the most pleasing Persian the foreigners, and it has ben proved design. WIARTON MEETING

Rev. Dr. Daniels' Lecture Proved a Treat to Large Audience. [Special to The Advertiser.]

Wiarton, Oct. 16 .- Last evening Dr. Daniels, of the First Methodist Church, Owen Sound, gave a lecture entitled 'Uncrowned Kings," in the Methodist Church here. The church was packed with an interested audience, who were delighted with the lecture, which gave an account of a number of the world's great dealers. A vote of thanks was moved by Rev. J. M. Nicol, and seconded by Rev. H. Piercy. The choir gave two anthems, and Miss Flossie Jones a solo. The ladies of the church served tea from 6 to 8 o'clock, to one of the largest crowds ever served at their harvest home tea.

WEST IS FARING WELL

Further Reduction, Just Now, Would Injure Canadian Credit-Reply to Western Agitation.

Ottawa, Oct. 15 .- The average western man takes it for granted that because the Canadian Pacific Railway is a highly prosperous undertaking, it has become such by charging exorbitant rates on western produce. Hence he is now demanding that there shall be a general revision of rates by the railway board; in particular, that those in the Canadian West shall be reduced to the level of those in the Western States, where population is very much greater, notwithstanding that the American railways are at this mement pressing the inter-state commerce commission for leave to increase their rates in order to keep up with the enhanced cost of opera-

This want of logic in his position appears in a clearer light when he tells ug in the next breath that new serve the constantly growing needs of the west; as if the foreign investor, from whom we get all our money North Battleford, Sask., are visiting was a stupid person who liked to witness the forcing down of rates by popular clamor, indeed is encouraged thereby to open up more freely for 'anadian enterprises.

Canadian roads, curse the Canadian Pacific, are suffering just as acutely as the American ones from the increase in the cost of operation arising from highe wages to employees and the higher price of materials. The Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific are as yet only in course of constructien, and will need all the capital they can procure from England or France for many a day to come. The Dominiot. Government section of the Grand Trunk Pacific is costing four or five times more than the original Government guaranteed for the section between Winnipeg and Rupert are selling considerably be-low par. Meantime, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, have guaranteed bonds of the face value of about $80,000,000 for local lines, and he railway promoter is as busy as h can be throughout Eastern Canada. The Need of Capital. On top of this the west is straining very nerve to attract additional foreign capital to its lands and townsites as well as to local manufactures: for the prevailing inflation has reach ed the stage when no one cares to buy, because he has not the money to buy with, and equities are being aten up by interest and taxes. uming, therefore, that the west could make out a good case for rate reduction, the question is whether this is an opportune time to reduce. Has Encouraged Settlers.

To encourage the rapid settlement f the West, on which its own prosperity hinged, it adopted from the first the policy of granting the lowest rates t could possibly afford to grain, cattle and other commodities originating there, that they might be sold to the best advantage. The rates on merchandise entering the West are not so important to the farmer, the value of what he ships out being many times greater than the cost of what he brings in: even in that case the tolls have always been reason-

This is merely the application on a conspicuous scale of the principle of to sell, but before any sales had been national credit preserved at home and charging what the traffic will bear, when in reality it is but a form of the graduated taxation so popular in the west and brought to perfection burdens on the rich. Such freight as higher rate than wheat for the same lower - priced commodity, may be carried to its distant market at a rate that leaves the grower a profit. Clearly, if it were charged the same rate as merchandise, a carload would eat its head off long before it reached Liverpool from the Canadian harvest field.

The C. P. R.'s Earnings. The Canadian Pacific pays 10 per cent per annum to its shareholders, but of this only 7 per cent comes out of earnings, the remaining 3 per cent being interest derived from investments and from deferred payments for land sales. Who would wish to return to the gloomy would wish to return to the gloomy period when Canada was represented in London by a bankrupt Grand Trunk? Where is the Western farmer who is not netting more from his labor and capital, saying nothing of the increase in the value of his land, which the railway is the chief instrumentality in bringing about? about? Since 1885 the company has spent milthe benefits of which are shared to a considerable extent by the farmer, and in reducing rates, local and through, certainly for his benefit as much as for its own. Its outlays in promoting immigration have reached enormous proportions. tion have reached enormous proportions, and here again the settler has been a gainer. There is no sense in comparing its rates with those in force between New York and Philadelphia, Montreal and Toronto, or Chicago and Buffalo, but they compare favorably with those in Minnesota and the Dakotas, and are very much lower than the rates that prevailed in older states when they were of the same age and in the same stage of development as the Canadian West.

The truth is the Western argument is largely based on the exaggerations and misconceptions of the stump. Here is even so staid a body as the Winnipeg board of trade declaring in an official circular that there has been no reduction in rates from Winnipeg since the time, nearly 30 years ago, when Mr. Van Horne said that rates would naturally fall as the volume of traffic increased.
