

STANLEY BALDWIN PREMIER OF BRITAIN

Four Londoners On Wrecked C. P. R. Liner—All Safe

BALDWIN ACCEPTS PREMIERSHIP OFFERED BY KING GEORGE TODAY

Sir Robert Home Will Take Over Duties of Chancellor of Exchequer.

BLOW TO CURZON

Foreign Secretary Victim of Circumstances Due to Rise of Labor.

Associated Press Despatch. London, May 22.—Stanley Baldwin is Great Britain's new prime minister. He accepted the premiership offered him this afternoon by King George.

The Central News says the leaders of the Conservative party selected Mr. Baldwin as premier, that he accepted, and that Sir Robert Home, former chancellor of the exchequer, has agreed to succeed Mr. Baldwin in that office.

Mr. Baldwin drove to Buckingham Palace immediately after lunch. At 11 o'clock, at the same time, with no one doubting that the King had summoned him to offer him the highest post in the government, it became known that Conservative leaders in conference had agreed upon Mr. Baldwin as their choice, and had selected Sir Robert Home to succeed him as chancellor of the exchequer—the position Sir Robert filled in the last years of the Lloyd George ministry. This arrangement to fill Mr. Baldwin's old position indicated an expectation that the personnel of the Bonar Law cabinet would remain almost intact.

Rose Quickly. Mr. Baldwin's period of political experience is one of the shortest among British statesmen who have attained this goal of their ambitions, as it is only within the last few years that he has been prominent in politics, and in the last few months became at all a commanding figure.

The solution of the premiership problem thus suddenly thrust upon the country is regarded as unquestionably a keen disappointment to Lord Curzon, who two days ago was regarded as the most likely to succeed Bonar Law in the office vacated by that statesman Sunday because of his ill-health. The foreign secretary, however, is pointed to as a member of circumstances, and not as being passed over because of any lack of ability or experience.

The sudden rise of the Labor party to the position of the official Opposition in the House of Commons has made a prime minister in the House of Lords almost an impossibility.

Lacks Representation. Labor is without a single representative in the upper chamber, and the premier in the House of Lords, the opposition party would be unable to meet him in debate or confront him with questions, and it is the strongest prerogative of the opposition. This would have created a situation unknown to parliamentary history in modern times.

At Labor party headquarters this morning a statement was issued saying all shades of thought in the Labor movement were agreed there would not be the slightest justification for appointing a member of the House of Lords as premier. Labor, it was pointed out, was practically unrepresented in the Lords, and if the aspirations of democracy, were chosen, said the statement, such action would be profoundly resented by the Labor party, and every political device to precipitate a dissolution of Parliament would be used.

An official announcement given out from Buckingham Palace this afternoon, said Mr. Baldwin has been received in audience by the king, who offered him the post of premier, and first lord of the treasury, vacated by Mr. Bonar Law, and that Mr. Baldwin accepted the offer.

Associated Press Despatch. Tientsin, May 22.—Latest advices from Tsoochang today confirmed the complete deadlock reported in negotiations conducted by the Peking government in an effort to obtain the release of the foreigners held by bandits in a Shantung mountain stronghold. Conditions under which several foreign captives were held at the summit of Paotoku Mountain were described as "terrible."

The only real peace offers put forth by the Tsuchun of Shantung Province were said to have been rejected by the bandits, with the laconic retort to "withdraw the troops to their original stations."

The Tsuchun offered to withdraw some distance from Paotoku simultaneously with the release of a third of the prisoners conditionally.

Associated Press Despatch. Port Arthur, Ont., May 22.—Confining his remarks to what he termed the reckless expenditures of the Drury administration and its apparent lack of business methods in dealing with the problems of development of the north country, G. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Ontario Conservatives, addressed a joint meeting of Liberals and Conservatives in Port Arthur last night.

Mr. Ferguson made a specific attack on the government's road policy in which he declared there was wastefulness on all sides and "leakages through which public funds flowed like water."

BRITAIN'S NEW PRIME MINISTER. Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer in the British cabinet, today accepted the position of prime minister offered to him by King George. Mr. Baldwin succeeds Bonar Law as premier, the latter being forced to resign his position, due to ill-health.

Put London On Sport Map With Big-Time Ball Team

Ald. Gordon Drake Has Scheme To Get Unlimited Publicity For City.

Ald. Gordon Drake wants to put London on the map and do the job right. This is how he outlines his new proposition—establish a City of London team (municipally controlled), and place it in the International League.

It would be the greatest advertisement stunt that we have ever even considered," he declares; "and the returns would be quite satisfactory. I feel confident 'Leo's' get in the money and put London on the map in style."

It is Ald. Drake's suggestion that the municipality undertake the project, and granting that there was no surplus after all expenses were accounted for, the city would benefit tremendously by its widespread publicity.

"We could have a commission, appointed by the city council, or even elected by the people, who would conduct the business properly," he says. "We would get good players, and we would be in a position to pay the money for good players."

Ald. Drake insists, however, that London would play the big-time circuit—at least in the International League—and he proposes, he stated this afternoon, to consult Mayor Wenige and other members of the council in his proposal.

He is evidently quite sincere in his belief that his scheme is practical. The city would have a ball and 100 per cent street railway service in sight for 1923, it believes the council to keep abreast of the times.

ANNOUNCE DEADLOCK IN BRIGAND PARLEY

Peking Government Reports Failure in Attempt To Relieve Captives.

Associated Press Despatch. Tientsin, May 22.—Latest advices from Tsoochang today confirmed the complete deadlock reported in negotiations conducted by the Peking government in an effort to obtain the release of the foreigners held by bandits in a Shantung mountain stronghold. Conditions under which several foreign captives were held at the summit of Paotoku Mountain were described as "terrible."

The only real peace offers put forth by the Tsuchun of Shantung Province were said to have been rejected by the bandits, with the laconic retort to "withdraw the troops to their original stations."

The Tsuchun offered to withdraw some distance from Paotoku simultaneously with the release of a third of the prisoners conditionally.

RAPS DRURY GOVERNMENT FOR RECKLESS SPENDING

Canadian Press Despatch. Port Arthur, Ont., May 22.—Confining his remarks to what he termed the reckless expenditures of the Drury administration and its apparent lack of business methods in dealing with the problems of development of the north country, G. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Ontario Conservatives, addressed a joint meeting of Liberals and Conservatives in Port Arthur last night.

Mr. Ferguson made a specific attack on the government's road policy in which he declared there was wastefulness on all sides and "leakages through which public funds flowed like water."

BELIEVE ROGERS, HUNTED SLAYER, IS IN NORTH BAY

General Williams Arrives To Start Hunt For the Desperado.

TO SEARCH HOMES

Situation Confused by Escape of Pickpocket From Burwash.

Canadian Press Despatch. North Bay, May 22.—While the provincial police are hunting down every rumor as to the whereabouts of Leo Rogers, the escaped desperado, and slayer of Constable Lefebvre, they are of the opinion that the fugitive is still in the district of North Bay, and that he is being shielded and fed by residents in this vicinity.

There is going to be a clean-up of the situation, and every suspected house thoroughly investigated. General Victor Williams, commissioner of provincial police, reached here this morning, and took personal charge.

A cordon of police officers will be thrown around the district, he intimated today, and in some sections house-to-house searches made and their occupants questioned.

The situation has been somewhat confused by the escape this morning from Burwash Industrial Farm of a Toronto man named Clarence Cook, sent up as a pickpocket. He made his escape shortly after breakfast, and is believed to be heading for this district. In appearance, it is said, he is not greatly unlike Rogers.

A provincial inspector left for Massey Bay this morning, it is presumed to investigate the report brought by two prospectors last night that they had seen a man answering Rogers' description running along the tracks of the Canadian National Railway at about mileage 28. Their description of the man tallied very closely with the one given of Rogers.

Other reports brought in during yesterday were investigated, but they all proved futile.

FARMERS ALARMED

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, May 22.—Farmers out on the Massey Bay were alarmed today at rumors which were flying around that Leo Rogers, the youthful bandit who escaped from police officers at North Bay, on his way to Prescott, along the C. P. R. tracks, Kenneth Hope, a farmer, who lives about six miles out the Metcalfe road, telephoned the Ottawa police twice during the morning, that he had seen Rogers.

Inspector Joliat went out with Detectives MacDonald, Fox and Dwyer, and they were on their way to Kars, Osgoode, and came back by way of the Prescott road. They saw a man who fitted the description of Rogers except that he was some ten years older.

WILL SEEK APPROVAL OF ADDITION TO TECH.

London Deputation To Interview Minister of Education Next Week.

Now that the city council has agreed to issue debentures to cover the cost of erecting a new six-room wing at the Technical School, the board of education will move to secure the approval of the department of education at Toronto.

H. B. Beal, principal of the school, stated this morning that the plans would be completed this week, and that a deputation would wait upon the minister of education on Friday next if an appointment is secured for that time.

Mr. Beal explained that securing the approval of the department is but a matter of form, and that no difficulties would be encountered. He informed the minister of education this morning of what had been accomplished, and asked for an appointment some time this week.

It is desired that an early start should be made as the new wing must be ready in September next. Tenders will be called for as soon as approval is secured from Toronto. The cost of the addition will be $70,000. It will contain six classrooms on three floors. The basement will be used for parking bicycles.

With the erection of the new classrooms a class in printing will be established. It is proposed that the whole ground floor of the new wing shall be devoted to the teaching of this trade.

The most up-to-date machinery will be purchased and competent instructors will be secured. The other classrooms will serve to solve the overcrowded condition of the school, it is expected.

GRIM WAR LOOMS ABOVE CITY PARK OVER AUTO RULES

Police Will Try To Close Victoria Park To Vehicular Traffic.

BUCHANAN SAYS "NO"

Instructs Caretaker To Open Park To Traffic If Police Close It.

War clouds that threaten the friendly relationship of the public utilities commission and the police department are looming above Victoria Park.

The sun was shining and flowers were smiling beneath budding trees this morning when without warning, Inspector of Police Lucas and a flying squadron suddenly entered the park and without ceremony, handed an ultimatum to E. E. Graham, parks superintendent.

"Starting tomorrow you put up the gates every day at noon and keep vehicular traffic from these driveways or there is going to be trouble," Mr. Lucas declared. "We have instructions to enforce a bylaw and so every one who is found driving in these parks in the afternoon and evening after today will face court proceedings."

Superintendent Defiant. The superintendent informed the inspector that his threats counted for nothing.

"The city council has no jurisdiction over this park and the gates will not be put up," he said decisively. "If the police send men here to put the gates in position tomorrow noon they will be taken down."

"We shall see," replied the inspector.

The matter was reported by Mr. Graham to E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities, and Mr. Buchanan instructed Mr. Graham to keep the park open.

"The city council has nothing to say in the matter," Mr. Buchanan asserted. "See that the gates are kept open, and if the police close them, open them again."

Mr. Buchanan reported the matter to Jared Vining, chairman of the commission, and Mr. Vining took the same attitude toward the threat of the police.

ST. MARYS BOY DROWNS GIRL GOES TO RESCUE

Charles Sutton, Four Years Old, Falls Off Log Into Water.

Canadian Press Despatch. Stratford, May 22.—Charles Sutton, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Sutton, Water street, St. Marys, was drowned this morning in the river there, when he and another boy of the same age were playing with a log at the edge of the river near the Park street bridge.

Miss Nettie Fairburn pulled him out, but life was extinct.

LOCKS AT SOO CLEAR

Associated Press Despatch. Sault Ste Marie, Mich., May 22.—Locking conditions at the Soo are becoming more settled and it is thought that serious delays are now past.

Gets Free Meal Ticket For Food Between Wars

Capt. Pat O'Hay, Adventurer, Complaining of Scarcity, Can Now Eat "Gratis" in 380 Restaurants of New York.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, May 22.—Captain Patrick Irving O'Hay, extraordinary adventurer and man of many organizations, who has survived many lean days in his 52 years, today lives an era of obesity, for the society of restaurateurs last night presented him with a gold card which will permit him to eat without cost in any one of the organization's 380 restaurants in New York City.

FOUR LONDONERS SAFE WHEN STEAMER SINKS; LANDED NEAR ST. JOHNS

Passengers of Liner Marvale Arrive at St. Shotts—Start On a Fourteen-Mile Hike To Capital of Newfoundland To Await Arrival of Another Vessel—Lack Adequate Means of Conveyance to Trepassy.

WILL CONTINUE JOURNEY ON MELITA

The following London and district people were aboard the Marvale: Mrs. T. Hayman, London; Mrs. J. W. Norton, London; Harold Thorne, London; Robert Andrew, London; Mrs. Emily Chamberlain, Master R. Chamberlain, Miss Louise Chamberlain, St. Thomas; Mrs. Dorothy Durance, Miss Edith Durance, Frank Durance, St. Thomas; Mrs. Ada Ellis, Miss Lily Ellis, R. E. Ellis, St. Thomas.

Associated Press Despatch. St. Johns, Nfld., May 22.—The 435 passengers and crew of the Canadian Pacific liner Marvale, rescued yesterday when the steamer sank near Cape Pine after striking a rock, started on a long hike today. In the damaged and will be sent to St. Johns with them. The steamship company was advised also from St. Johns that complete preparations have been made there for the accommodation of the Marvale's passengers until the Melita arrived.

This morning steamship officials were hopeful that the Marvale could be refloated.

Ontario Passengers

A list of Ontario people were on board the Marvale when the vessel left Montreal, follows: W. W. Bladen, Toronto; Mrs. R. Duncan and infant, Toronto; Mrs. A. J. Glazebrook, Miss D. Glazebrook, Toronto; Harry Harwood, Mrs. Harry Harwood, Windsor; Mrs. R. A. Cowie, Chatham; Mrs. E. J. Cockerton, Miss Gladys Cockerton, Hamilton; Stephen Gurbish, Hamilton; Mrs. Ada Elliot, Hamilton; Mrs. A. Fulton, Toronto; Miss Margaret M. Graham, Hamilton; Mrs. Mabel Lewis, Chatham; R. G. Pier-son, Windsor; W. F. Pate, Timmins; William Roxburgh, Timmins; John Shuttleworth, Windsor; Edwin Shuttleworth, Windsor; Arthur Williams, Hamilton; Charles Whittingham, Hamilton; Mrs. Jean Weir, Warton; Mr. Allen A. McQueen, St. Marys; George M. Percival, Toronto; M. Ross, Fort Erie; Miss A. Walker, Ottawa; R. Alexander, Kingston; H. Bloomfield, Toronto; J. A. Braz, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor; Miss Joan Taylor, Miss Ann Taylor, Master Michael Taylor, Master Donald Taylor, Miss Barbara Taylor, Master Gordon Taylor, Mrs. Agnes Thompson, Mrs. H. Thompson, Toronto.

STEAMER HITS ROCK. Special to The Advertiser.

St. Johns, Nfld., May 22.—Plunging through thick fog, which has prevailed on Newfoundland coasts for several days past, the C. P. O. S. Liner Marvale, from Montreal to Liverpool, came to sudden grief on Cape Freese rock at 4:30 Monday afternoon. Cape Freese rock is situated a mile and a half from Cape Pine, which is twenty miles west of Cape Race, and is part of the section of the Newfoundland coast known as the "Graveyard of the Atlantic," where many stateroom ships have found their last resting place.

Meagre particulars only are available regarding the wreck, occurring where the nearest telegraph office was fifteen miles distant, but from this it is learned that the steamer struck in fairly calm but foggy weather, immediately afterwards, slipped off. Examination proved the bottom badly holed, and the ship making water fast, and the crew, including the captain, were ordered to beach her, and ordered all boats out. The water, however, gained in the hold and in the engine room, and it was early seen that the Marvale was doomed.

All Passengers Safe.

By 5:30 o'clock after the ship struck, all the passengers and crew had taken to the boats, and shortly after the big liner took her final plunge, and is now resting in seven fathoms of water. The Marvale was being sailed by the captain, who was rescued before the vessel had sunk, but that all passengers were saved.

So far as can be learned there was no panic, and transfer of the passengers and crew to the boats was done in a matter of minutes. The passengers' effects were recovered in Turn to Page 2, Columns 4 and 5.

WILL CONTINUE TRIP.

It had been originally arranged to transfer the passengers to the Empress of Britain, one of the company's steamers, in the vicinity of the Marvale at the time she struck, but it was found she was underfoot, that most of the passengers were willing to continue the trip to England interrupted by the sinking of the Marvale. The Marvale arrived in Montreal last night.

BONAR LAW HAS GOOD NIGHT.

Associated Press Despatch. London, May 22.—Mr. Bonar Law had a very good night. His condition is unchanged. No further bulletins will be issued at present.

This statement was issued after the former prime minister's physicians had visited him this morning.

London Ladies Had Intended To Sail On Mont Laurier But Changed Plan

Mrs. Thomas Hayman, wife of the well-known member of the London contracting firm, John Hayman and Sons, and Mrs. J. W. Norton, her mother, who were passengers on the Canadian Pacific liner, "Marvale" when it struck Cape Freese, Rock transfered the passengers to the Empress of Britain, one of the company's steamers, in the vicinity of the Marvale at the time she struck, but it was found she was underfoot, that most of the passengers were willing to continue the trip to England interrupted by the sinking of the Marvale. The Marvale arrived in Montreal last night.

Mr. Hayman has been in suspense since until he received a cable from his wife at noon today from St. Shotts, where the lifeboats landed with the passengers, that they were safe. Mr. Hayman had made a reservation on the night of the Marvale's departure, but he was undecided pending further word this afternoon, whether he will make the trip. Mr. Hayman intended to visit her mother for an indefinite period and then to return home, while Mrs. Norton would leave for Ireland to spend a vacation with relatives there.

Late reports from St. Johns say that Harold Thorne and Robert Andrews were two other Londoners on the Marvale when she struck the reef, but neither H. McCallum, London C. P. R. agent, nor other ocean ticket agents in the city have a record of their reservation, and it is thought they bought their tickets in Toronto, Montreal, or perhaps another Canadian city. As far as can be learned, they have no relatives here.

Mr. McCallum received a wire afternoon today that the steamer Melita would call at St. Johns on Thursday and take the passengers of the sunken vessel on to Southampton.

BEHAVE ROGERS, HUNTED SLAYER, IS IN NORTH BAY

General Williams Arrives To Start Hunt For the Desperado.

TO SEARCH HOMES

Situation Confused by Escape of Pickpocket From Burwash.

Canadian Press Despatch. North Bay, May 22.—While the provincial police are hunting down every rumor as to the whereabouts of Leo Rogers, the escaped desperado, and slayer of Constable Lefebvre, they are of the opinion that the fugitive is still in the district of North Bay, and that he is being shielded and fed by residents in this vicinity.

There is going to be a clean-up of the situation, and every suspected house thoroughly investigated. General Victor Williams, commissioner of provincial police, reached here this morning, and took personal charge.

A cordon of police officers will be thrown around the district, he intimated today, and in some sections house-to-house searches made and their occupants questioned.

The situation has been somewhat confused by the escape this morning from Burwash Industrial Farm of a Toronto man named Clarence Cook, sent up as a pickpocket. He made his escape shortly after breakfast, and is believed to be heading for this district. In appearance, it is said, he is not greatly unlike Rogers.

A provincial inspector left for Massey Bay this morning, it is presumed to investigate the report brought by two prospectors last night that they had seen a man answering Rogers' description running along the tracks of the Canadian National Railway at about mileage 28. Their description of the man tallied very closely with the one given of Rogers.

Other reports brought in during yesterday were investigated, but they all proved futile.

FARMERS ALARMED

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, May 22.—Farmers out on the Massey Bay were alarmed today at rumors which were flying around that Leo Rogers, the youthful bandit who escaped from police officers at North Bay, on his way to Prescott, along the C. P. R. tracks, Kenneth Hope, a farmer, who lives about six miles out the Metcalfe road, telephoned the Ottawa police twice during the morning, that he had seen Rogers.

Inspector Joliat went out with Detectives MacDonald, Fox and Dwyer, and they were on their way to Kars, Osgoode, and came back by way of the Prescott road. They saw a man who fitted the description of Rogers except that he was some ten years older.

WILL SEEK APPROVAL OF ADDITION TO TECH.

London Deputation To Interview Minister of Education Next Week.

Now that the city council has agreed to issue debentures to cover the cost of erecting a new six-room wing at the Technical School, the board of education will move to secure the approval of the department of education at Toronto.

H. B. Beal, principal of the school, stated this morning that the plans would be completed this week, and that a deputation would wait upon the minister of education on Friday next if an appointment is secured for that time.

Mr. Beal explained that securing the approval of the department is but a matter of form, and that no difficulties would be encountered. He informed the minister of education this morning of what had been accomplished, and asked for an appointment some time this week.

It is desired that an early start should be made as the new wing must be ready in September next. Tenders will be called for as soon as approval is secured from Toronto. The cost of the addition will be $70,000. It will contain six classrooms on three floors. The basement will be used for parking bicycles.

With the erection of the new classrooms a class in printing will be established. It is proposed that the whole ground floor of the new wing shall be devoted to the teaching of this trade.

The most up-to-date machinery will be purchased and competent instructors will be secured. The other classrooms will serve to solve the overcrowded condition of the school, it is expected.

London Needs a Liberal

"Up From the Death Cell" The Story of a Man Who Won a Fight Against Big Odds

BY JOHN W. KANE,

Kane Manages Not To See a Dining-Room Riot, So He Need Not Testify.

SYNOPSIS

This is the true story of an adventurous youth, Curly Kane, once cowboy and Philippine campaigner. In a western state he kills two streetcar men while trying to hold them up, is betrayed by an older criminal, and escapes lynching by being hurried from jail in disguise. His first step toward regeneration is a confession. He is convicted of murder and sentenced to die on June 24, 1904, being given his choice of hanging or shooting. During 17 months in Murderers' Row in the penitentiary he hears the shots that legally end the life of another condemned. He wins a new trial, is sentenced to life imprisonment, and returns to the penitentiary as Convict No. 1666. He determines to redeem his life, wins advancement, and studies law.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

In reading of law I found myself greatly handicapped in some ways. While because of some generations behind me that had turned out a few lawyers, preachers, schemers and the like who had to exercise some thought in their activities I had a kind of natural aptitude for reasoning, still in the study of those commentaries I would find scores of Latin phrases that were to me about what a problem in differential calculus would be to an Igorote. Being determined to surmount the handicap in some way though, in order that I might learn thoroughly all the principles involved, I cast about to find a way out.

Perhaps my seeking for a way out of each immediate difficulty was due largely to that ever-present big job of seeking a way out of that walled city—which way would, I felt sure, come in due time. And my thought and effort seeking was soon rewarded.

There was a young-looking but gray-headed fellow in there who had a classical education; there was also a wreck of a man well past middle age who had been a practitioner in the courts of both the United States and England.

From the first man I soon learned both the meaning and correct pronunciation of those Latin terms; from the latter I learned their immediate connection and application, also I learned from him everything of which I was in doubt concerning court procedure, wherever that seemed to have special bearing upon my studies. And upon the whole everything went smoothly, not only as to returning the books and getting others when desired, but as to my study of them in general.

As might be understood, however, my system of studying was not so smooth-running as one could establish in different surroundings. There were matters to interrupt occasionally, not only during the actual between-meals hours, which were my own, but also such happenings as would tend to upset one altogether for a few days at a time. One of those events peculiar to a prison and brought closer to me because of my work as head waiter I shall here tell of.

Four Feasts A Year.

There in the prison we had four special days upon which an unusual meal was served. Those days were

New Year, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas. It was, as a result of a Fourth of July dinner, or rather a lack of it, that I came in touch with 34 fellow-prisoners, who had decided to kick up the kind of row that most persons call a mutiny.

Until long afterward I was unable to find out the why of it, but on the morning of the fourth the cook from the kitchen department underneath the dining-room called up to me to say that, so far as he knew, there would not be any extra menu that day. As might be expected, we brief-ly discussed the matter, and both of us made predictions which later events proved to be correct.

The word had gone forth among the body of inmates that no regulation holiday dinner would be served, but most of them were in doubt—that is, until they arrived in the dining-room. There was no more grounds for doubt then; for before the long tables of more-or-less-hardened men we had placed nothing but tough boiled beef, thin dark-colored gravy, a cup of black coffee and bread.

My work during the time while the prisoners were eating consisted mostly in watching the supplies of bread, gravy, coffee, etc., to see that they were equally distributed among the waiters, each one of whom had a table seating 22 men to wait upon. Occasionally some waiter would come to me and say that a certain prisoner wanted me to walk down that way. Only low conversation between the dining-room employees was permitted, and none whatsoever between the diners except when they wanted something special, and then but a few words would be allowed. Strictly speaking the prisoners should have asked to see the guard, rather than me; but the guards generally being only too glad to sit in a chair and watch the men rather than to be having to walk around among them, a custom that had kind of grown up whereby I would hear complaints and adjust them, unless it happened to be something that I could not pass upon.

The Riot Starts.

On that particular day the gong had scarcely rung for the inmates to sit down and begin to eat, when an old-time convict, who was near one end of a table caught my eye and gave a slight gesture, indicating that he wanted me to step that way.

"What is it, Billy?" I inquired, almost in a whisper, looking down at his plate.

"See this stuff?" He indicated the gray already on his plate. "It's rotten—and there's a torn-up fly in it. A fine holiday dinner!"

I could feel in the atmosphere a something that spelled rebellion, and at heart I was in sympathy with it—though, of course, I would not sanction violence.

"I have nothing to do with the dinner, Billy," I murmured to him, "but I'll wash out your plate and have the boy get you another supply of gravy."

"Never mind—the he held on to the plate—I don't want any. It's all rotten—it all ought to be thrown out."

"Never mind the talk over there, Garlin," the guard diagonally across the room called out to Billy in a low, but firm tone. And that admonition seemed to be the signal for a general outbreak of mutterings, loud words and oaths.

Both guards jumped to their feet, and a third officer who was on duty inside during the meal hours walked in. The guards were not armed, because in such an emergency their arms would simply have been taken away from them.

"Keep quiet, you men! Sit down over there!" one of the guards began to call out to the rising crowd. He might just as well have addressed a drove of stampeded cattle.

Gravy-laden plates, cups, spoons, pieces of bread and chunks of that tough beef began to fly through the air in all directions. As yet, no knives and forks were permitted in the place, and the greatest injury that could have resulted was a bruise from some missile or a burn from coffee or gravy.

I Don't Want to See It.

I walked back to my corner and busied myself with some odd dishes in the sink. My time in prison had taught me that of all things a prisoner does not want to see such happenings and have to appear as a witness. The uproar kept getting louder behind me and I could hear the tinkle of window panes as cups went through them. Once I glanced over the corner of my eye and saw men at the tables dodging and getting down on the floor, and the most excitable of the three guards was close to those two main riot tables and getting more than his share of the bread and chunks of tough beef.

The noise lasted three minutes, which does not seem long, yet it is quite a time for such activities in a dining-room; and then one of the guards rang a gong, the usual signal for the men to go to their cells. All about 40 of the prisoners fell into line and went back to their cells, some of them dodging as they went. The crowd of rioters turned over a few tables, kicked out some window lights and then scattered and went to their cells.

All three guards had gone into the cellhouses to lock the main body of inmates in their cells, and the dining-room force and the rioters were for a brief time in the dining-room together.

I was still anxious for some excuse to keep from seeing the trouble and so side-step being a witness, and a defective water-tap proved to be the way out. The sink was already standing full of water ready to wash the dishes after the meal, and I, thinking of that loose-topped tap, turned it on full force, jerked off the top so that the water could not be turned off, and then I waited—for but a few seconds.

"Hey, hey! Hello, up there!" came the cook's voice up the shaft.

"What's wrong? You're flooding us out down here! Shut that water off!"

To the Main Lead.

I jumped to the top of the shaft, happy in the thought that I had found the way of absenting myself.

"I can't do it, Sandy!" I called back. "They've knocked the top of the tap off! Wait a second and I'll run out and turn off the main lead!"

With that I dashed out through one of the dining-room doors, and started down a stairway.

"Where are you going, Kane?" I heard the deputy warden's voice, and knew that he had rushed inside.

"I've got to turn the water off!" I bellowed back at him—"They've broken the tap, and the place is flooded!"

He did not answer me and I dashed on down the stairway and out to the yard, while he ran in the direction of the dining-room. I heard his voice high-pitched and angry after I had reached the court.

"Get to your cells, all of you!—go quickly, or I'll blow a hole through each one of you!" he spoke as if he had a fire-arm persuader in his hand, and no doubt did; but I did not see it—and as I turned off the main water lead with a large wrench that was kept for that purpose, I was congratulating myself that I had not seen anything worth telling.

The reader might wonder at so much activity on my part to evade what ordinarily might be said to be on the side of discipline and order. But of all places where it might truthfully be said that all things are not expedient even though lawful unto one, that place is a penitentiary. In prison it is only a fool of the first water who is anxious to testify against fellow-prisoners who have transgressed. If such a one be under a sentence that will permit of his being taken at once outside and watched over by the guard force, then he might afford to be a witness that helps to convict a transgressor; but if his position be such that only a promise of protection is forthcoming—to say nothing about the probability of his having conscientious scruples against bringing greater punishment upon a prisoner, such as I had—then he had better see nothing and know nothing.

Called Before Board.

Such was my situation when, on the following day after the unreasonable prisoners had been quieted down, I was called before the state board of control, which body had been summoned by the warden prior to his taking any action looking to inflicting punishment upon the rioters.

"I believe you have a kind of supervision of the dining-room, haven't you, Mr. Kane?" asked the chairman of the board.

"I am called the head waiter," was my answer.

"I presume you saw the rioting start?"

"I did—yet in a way I didn't." "Explain yourself."

"I was just preparing to wash out a plate that a prisoner had given me, along with the information that the gravy had a fly in it, and I heard the noise and talk break out behind me. Men who appeared not to be in and looking back at the noise-makers—some of them dodging things that were being thrown—and I was not in a position to see much of the boys' carrying on. And to bar me entirely from the show—if I may put it that way—a loose-topped water tap was jerked or thrown off during the early stages of the trouble, and because the sink was full already, it ran over and began to flood the kitchen below. I had to run out and down to the tap on the lead and turn it off there."

"Well, did you leave the dining-room ahead of the main line—those prisoners who responded to the gong signal?" he inquired next.

"No, I did not; but my thoughts and efforts were being directed toward that tap" (I stretched a point), "and I knew the water would be pouring down through the openings to the kitchen. Just about the time the end of the line was leaving the room, the cook began to call for help about the water."

The Librarian Grins.

"Would you recognize any of the rioters?"

"I think not, because, as I said before, other prisoners were between them and me, even when I glanced toward the place of disturbance. At the time I might have seen some of the excitement and my divided thoughts, I can't recall just now who any of them were."

"Did you wash that plate, Kane?" inquired another member of the board.

"No, I did not—the man decided he didn't want it washed," I answered truthfully. "Then I turned and walked back toward the sink, just as the mutterings and talk began among the prisoners."

I feared that they would ask whose plate it was, but they failed to do so.

"Then you are positive that you could not identify any of the mutineers?" asked the chairman.

"I am," was my answer.

"Mr. Kane," spoke up a third member of the board, "in the event you saw a prisoner or a number of prisoners inflict an injury upon an officer or any other person, you wouldn't hesitate about telling the board, would you?"

"Indeed, I would not," was my quick answer.

"I just wanted to know," replied the man who had asked the question.

"That will be all," said the chairman of the board. And a moment later I was getting back to my place inside, congratulating myself upon the outcome.

I had to pass through the library in order to get to the dining-room. There I met the librarian—the same man who had given me "When the Gates Lift Up Their Heads" at the time I was held for safekeeping—and he and I had a brief conversation.

"They didn't keep you long, Jack," he remarked.

"There was no use," I returned, knowing that some of the suspects were locked in their cells within the sound of my voice. "I hadn't seen anything—I was busy with that broken water tap and trying to keep Sandy, the cook, from drowning—and I made a mighty poor witness for the state."

"I'm in the Clear."

"What all did they ask?" inquired the librarian.

"Oh, they didn't ask but about four or five questions—after I told what I was doing," I answered. "They wanted to know if I could identify anyone, and I told them that I couldn't, so I wasn't the fellow they wanted."

"Say, Jack," the librarian lowered his voice. "You know how to play this game all right. Do you recall that about the first thing I ever said to you was, that luck is simply playing the game right?"

"I remember it well," I told him.

"Well, just keep up the luck," he advised. "I'm to leave here in a few days, and I want to try out my own philosophy in the outside world."

I started to move on. "Well, I believe it will work," said I. "And I'm surely glad to know you're close to the end of it."

"Thanks, old man," he replied. And as I was passing through the door leading to the dining-room, I heard two of the suspects speaking of what I had told the librarian concerning the hearing, and I knew that I was then in every way in the clear.

The Dungeon. Chapter 26 Wednesday.

(Copyright, 1923, in the United States and Canada, Great Britain and South America by the North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

KILLS MAN WHO WENT TO SERVE SUMMONS

John Holt of Menominee Stands Off Posse Until Shot To Death.

Special to The Advertiser. Menominee, May 22.—Ermiitt Butts, under-sheriff of Marinette County, was killed instantly yesterday when he went to summon John Holt, 63 years old, for examination as to his sanity. Holt appeared at the door of his shack and fired at Butts from a revolver. As the officer fell he got a rifle from the shack and put three more shots into Butts' body as it lay on the ground.

The firing created wild excitement in the neighborhood, and two policemen who hurried to the scene found Holt barricaded in his shack. When officers appeared he opened fire.

Members of Marinette fire department and an armed posse were rushed to the Holt cabin. The posse poured volley after volley into the building. Holt returned the fire for a time, but when he had ceased firing, and would not respond to repeated calls to surrender, several of the posse ventured toward the shack, and forcing the door, found Holt in a sitting posture dead with five bullet wounds in his body.

DELMER CHURCH HONORS VETERAN CHOR LEADER

Special to The Advertiser. Delmer, May 21.—The annual congregational meeting was held at the church here last Tuesday evening with an unusually large and enthusiastic attendance. The meeting was presided over by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Millson.

Reports were read from the general treasurer, the Sabbath School, the Ladies' Aid Society, the W.M.S., the Tuxis boys, the Mission Band, the League.

After the various reports had been received Mrs. Spencer Williamson sang an appropriate solo accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Holland.

W. H. Kipp gave a talk on pioneer days, and the early history of the church here, and reviewed the work done since the first church was built in 1858. Mr. Kipp, who has been choir-leader for 48 years, was presented with a Morris chair and gold-headed umbrella by the congregation in appreciation of his work in the church.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

Guaranteed to be the purest and best baking powder possible to produce. Because of the purity and high quality of the ingredients of Magic Baking Powder its leavening qualities are perfect and it is therefore economical.

E.W. GILLET COMPANY LIMITED
WINNIPEG TORONTO, CANADA. MONTREAL

INSTITUTE AT THORSDALE SELECTS 1923 OFFICERS

Special to The Advertiser. Thorndale, May 22.—The Woman's Institute conducted the May meeting in the league room of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Boyce, government delegate, addressed the meeting on the improvement of institutes, outlining several methods by which this could be accomplished. The officers are:

for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. G. B. Vining; vice-presidents, Mrs. Geo. Colbert and Mrs. Kay Ramsay; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. (Dr.) Morrison; assistants, Mrs. S. G. Davis and Mrs. Chester Hobbs; directors, Mrs. Bolton Fitzgerald, Mrs. A. E. Brown, Mrs. Wesley McCutcheon, Mrs. J. Ramsay, Mrs. Jas. Angus, Mrs. E. Vining; organizer, Mrs. Ramsay; auditors, Mrs. J. K. Fitzsimmons and Mrs. E. Vining.

SIX KILLED, 30 INJURED IN PORTUGUESE WRECK

Associated Press Despatch. Lisbon, Portugal, May 22.—Six persons were killed and 30 others injured, most of them seriously, in an accident to a descending train on the cogwheel railway on Mount Bom Jesus, near Braga, today. The majority of the victims were holiday makers from Oporto.

for the 21st

Dear Sister May 23/23
The Laura Secord
You sent Mother some a wonderful treat.
Don't forget some more on the 24th
 Lovingly
Mary
Laura Secord

Laura Secord CANDIES

That "Light, Nourishing Breakfast"

You mean to eat it every morning, but you get side-tracked to buckwheat cakes and sausage, and so you take to the day's task a sluggish liver and a heavy brain. A breakfast of Shredded Wheat Biscuit with milk puts you "on your toes," giving you that mental buoyancy and alertness that fits you for the day's work. Start the day right with Shredded Wheat and milk. Eat it for lunch with "half and half." Eat it for dinner with sliced bananas, berries or other fruits. All the meat of the whole wheat ready-cooked and ready-to-eat.

TRISCUIT is the Shredded Wheat cracker—a real whole wheat toast—eaten with butter, soft cheese or marmalades.

Shredded Wheat

A Canadian food for Canadians

Sugar-Crisp CORN FLAKES

Thin, sweet, flavory flakes of goodness which tempt your early morning palate and brighten the whole day. With cream or fruit—a delicious breakfast! 11c. a package.

At Your Grocer's

Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Limited
Head Office: Toronto Factory: Windsor

Deliciously Sweet and Crisp

MADE IN CANADA

LIMBS AND BODY ALL SWOLLEN

"Fruit-a-tives" Relieved Both Dropsy and Sick Kidneys

The Wonder of Fruit Medicine

Those who know they have Kidney Trouble—who suffer with pain in the back—who are up frequently at night—will welcome the news that "Fruit-a-tives," the wonderful medicine made from fruit juices and tonics, will positively relieve Kidney and Bladder Trouble—as proven by this letter.

"Our little girl had Kidney Trouble and Dropsy—her limbs and body were all swollen. We decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives.' In a short time the swelling went down. Now she is the healthiest one of the family."

W.M. WARREN, Port Robinson, Ont.

COULD HARDLY DO ANY WORK

But Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound This Woman Feels So Well

Keeseville, N.Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting fleshy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement."

MRS. SARAH BLAISE, Box 177, Keeseville, N.Y.

Doing the housework for the average American family is some task, and many women lose their health in so doing. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place. Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness. You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowley Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Adv't.

At the Movies Last Night

"Bellboy 13." The feature picture for the early part of this week at Allen's is a comedy starring Douglas McLean as "Bellboy 13." In this really comic comedy McLean fills several roles, but as the title indicates his starring role is in a large and fashionable hotel evidently not far from Hollywood. As a comedy should be, this one is full of fun and laughter from start to finish, and to those who appreciate a hearty laugh this picture will be very pleasing. The story turns on the fact of a wealthy uncle threatening to cut off his nephew, who up to that time had looked to him as his visible means of support. The cause of this upheaval in their relations is a charming young movie actress, who adds to the complications by siding with the uncle in an effort to inherit the money to turn to honest toil. He takes his uncle at his word and dons the uniform of a bellboy and starts on his duties in the hotel in which the young lady is a guest. The uncle arrives at the hotel and finds his nephew in his first job and forthwith orders the manager to fire him. His surprise the boy shows a union card and follows this up with a general strike throughout the hotel. In order to pacify the manager and his uncle the boy calls off the strike with the understanding that he be allowed to marry the actress, and the story ends as love stories should.

"The Woman of Bronze." The last time Clara Kimball Young showed in our town it was with a prima donna's reticence and temperment and a disposition to elevate her husband to the role of chief gentleman in waiting to her poeple dog. But this time the tables are turned. In "The Woman of Bronze" at Loew's the statuette Clara is forced into the role of ministering angel to a more unmanageable poeple dog, that of her husband's artistic temperament. She is likeable, and you are bound to sympathize when patience breaks down before the primitive, and she advances upon the troublesome cousin with a paper knife clenched wildly in her hand. It is difficult to pen just why "The Woman of Bronze" is so much less open to criticism than the average triangle movie. Perhaps because it ends abruptly, without any long-drawn-out reconciliation. Equally as likely because the case is headed by Clara K. Young, and includes Joe Bowers, Lloyd Whitlock and E. M. Young.

"Glangarry Schooldays." Extremely simple in theme, yet splendid in characterizations and exceedingly rich in that magnificent color of the great Canadian outdoors, "Glangarry Schooldays." Ernest Shipman's elaborate motion picture version of Ralph Connor's novel, made a real hit when it was shown for the first time in London at the Grand last night. The enthusiasm and the intense interest displayed by those who witnessed the premier showing of this Canadian-made production, presages the success of the future Made-in-Canada films if their quality does not deteriorate, and proves that the average Canadian movie fan is anxious to patronize pictures filmed in their own country. Through the kindness of the management of the Grand the newswires of the city witnessed this pleasing episode that was enacted in the Ottawa river district with many of the scenes right in the Senate Chamber of the Parliament Buildings themselves. "Glangarry Schooldays" sold itself in its entirety to the ladies, and their continuous applause showed their appreciation. The Advertiser leads lined up at 6:45, and headed by the G. W. V. A. band, accompanied the other newswires to the theatre. It was estimated that there were close to 300 boys in the balcony of the theatre. Among those who aided in making the picture the success that it was William Colvin as Senator Baird, Tom Finley (James Harrison) the farmer, Joyous of Margaret Baird (Pauline Garon), and Harlan Knight, who portrays the role of "Old Peter" Gorrach, the unkempt and villainous dogcatcher. A feature of the picture is the acting of "Wolf," a remarkable police dog, who cleverly carries a difficult role in many of the thrilling episodes in which the film abounds. An educational picture showing how enamelware utensils are made in the London plant of the McClary Manufacturing Company was an interesting as one could wish. The making of an enamelware teakettle from the time when the first section is stamped by a huge machine out of sheet steel until the spout was electrically welded was clearly depicted on the screen. The manner in which the various parts that make up a kettle were fashioned and bent and the painstaking processes of enameling and baking were delightful to watch. In all it was one of the best instructional features that has been shown in the city for some time. Eddie Jackson, a gifted Ontario tenor, pleased with several popular songs.

All the Theatres

ALLEN'S MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY—Douglas McLean in "Bellboy 13." THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—Rupert Hughes story of Hollywood, "Souls for Sale."

GRAND MONDAY, TUESDAY AND THURSDAY—Ralph Connor Canadian production, "Glangarry School Days." WEDNESDAY—Matinee and evening. Western University players present "Mr. Pim Passes By," by A. A. Milne, the author of "The Dover Road." FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—Saturday matinee—New York Winter Garden Revue, "The Spice of 1922."

LOEW'S MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY—Clara Kimball Young in "The Woman of Bronze." THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—"You Can't Fool Your Wife," with Leatrice Joy and Pauline Garon; vaudeville.

MAJESTIC GLADKE PLAYERS.

PATRIOLA MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY—Harry Carey in "Man to Man." THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—Wallace and Noah Beery in "Stormwept"; vaudeville.

A picture, the cast do not overlap their parts and the whole story leaves one with the impression that if it is not a common story, it is not impossible, and as a good book grips one, so does this picture "Man to Man." "Sweetie" is a juvenile comedy. "Sweetie" is a rare turn and to the credit of this tiny actress be it said that she can give her adlers pointers in the enacting of this picture. The vaudeville act, a musical harmony turn by the Servery sisters is a strong feature of the program, and these talented ladies offer such a turn as comes only from born entertainers. Reginald Derry in another New Leader Puncher story, "When Kane Gets Able" offers more pugilistic comic tragedy in a play that is undated, that has appeared before are well worth seeing. All in all, this theatre goes well to be sorry to miss.

Radio Programs

- WEDNESDAY, MAY 23. WGY—380 Metres—Schenectady, New York. 11:30 a.m.—Stock market quotations. 11:45 a.m.—Weather report. 11:55 a.m.—Time signals. 5:00 p.m.—Produce and stock market quotations; news bulletins; baseball results. Silent light. CFCA—400 Metres—Toronto Star. 12:00 noon—Weather forecasts; opening stock markets. 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.—Grain, produce and dairy markets; news items; music. 5:30 to 6:00 p.m.—Closing stock markets; late news. 8:00 to 9:00 p.m.—Concert program. WWJ—40 Metres—Detroit. 9:30 a.m.—"Tonight's Dinner" and a special talk by the woman's editor. 10:25 a.m.—Weather. 11:55 a.m.—Time. 12:05 p.m.—The Detroit News Orchestra. 3:30 p.m.—Weather. 3:40 p.m.—Markets. 5:00 p.m.—Markets and baseball scores. 8:30 p.m.—The Town Crier; the Detroit News Orchestra; Constance Mattes, soprano; Victor le Blanc, baritone; William H. Wetherbee, grand commander Knights Templar, speaker. WOC—484 Metres—Davenport, Iowa. 9:00 a.m.—Sacred chimes concert. 6:00 p.m.—Pipe organ recital, Erwin Swindell, organist. 6:30 p.m.—Baseball scores. 7:00 p.m.—Church service; Rev. W. M. Boaz, pastor First Presbyterian Church, East Moline, Ill., "The Fleeing Shadows." 8:00 p.m.—Musical program (two hours), P. S. C. Orchestra.

News From the Churches

MEMORIAL SERVICE. An impressive service was held in Hope Baptist Sunday School in Westminster on Sunday afternoon, in memory of the late Charles Mills, who was secretary of the mission since its organization. This mission is held under the supervision of the Egerton Street Baptist Church. The service also took the form of a dedication service, when a secretary's desk and chair, also a superintending table, were presented in memory of the late secretary by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mills of London. The dedication prayer was offered by Rev. J. N. Norton, who also was the speaker of the afternoon. A quartet was sung by four young men, friends of the late Charles Mills, Messrs. Arthur Coe, Jack Payne, Albert Oultran and Victor Tiffin.

Solos by Miss Madeline Mills were also enjoyed. Mr. C. North, superintendent of the mission, was in charge of the service. The mission was festively decorated in mauve and white.

GRADLE ROLL SERVICE. An interesting service took place at Robinson Memorial Church Sunday morning, when the little children from the Gradle Roll were regaled into the Sunday school. Jack Smith and Ernestine Ruttle were in charge of "Opening the Gates," and Master Robert Moore gave a short play, and many beginners were promoted to the primary department; also a large number of the primary children passed into the junior department. The diplomas were presented by Robert Raikes.

TALK OF BIG ADDITION FOR HOUSE OF REFUGE

Waterloo County Council Revises Proposition When Congestion Felt.

Special to The Advertiser. Kitchener, May 22.—The proposition of building an addition to the house of refuge, which was turned down by the county council about five years ago, has been revived, and representatives of the various municipalities of the county will visit the institution for the purpose of making an inspection and considering the plans for the proposed new building. At present the institution is suffering from greatly congested conditions to such an extent that the corridors have to be used for the accommodation of the inmates. The total segregation of the male and female inmates is also impossible because of the lack of space. The proposal is to enlarge the building by an addition 29 feet wide by 50 feet deep. In this plan provision is made for the utilization of the present building. It is estimated that the proposed addition can be erected for $36,000.

EXTINGUISH SMALL BLAZE AT 343 WILLIAM STREET

At 9:30 last night, fire, which originated in an overheated stove-pipe, caused about $100 damage at the home of A. Conway at 343 William street. The fire department made a quick response to the alarm and soon had the blaze under control. The walls of the kitchen were damaged most, as the flames had made their way into the laths before noticed.

STYLE HEADQUARTERS Men! Get Clothes—Ready for the 24th! Just Arrived! New Scotch Tweed and Homespun Suits Specially Featured at $32.50 Imported Blue and Brown Worsted Suits; 2 Trousers, $36.50 New Battleship Gray and Tan Gabardines $20 $25 These are the world-renowned English worsteds from the mills of Sir Titus Salt, Saltaire, England. Beautiful plain blue and brown in fine herringbone weave, smartly tailored in newest single and double breasted models for men and young men. Wonderful values—splendid suits for all dress-up occasions. A Lot of Fine Shirts for the 24th $2.50 Collar to match shirts with soft or starched collars; beautiful new colorings in stylish and exclusive designs; expertly made—fit—finish; you'll say they're extra fine values. Fine Silk Hose $1.00 Famous Holeyproof pure silk with specially reinforced heels and toes; brown, gray and black colors; all sizes. Royal Luster Hose 50c Fine lustrous hose, carefully fashioned for perfect fit, triple toes and heels; gray, brown, and black colors. Special value. Boys' 2 Bloomer Suits $9.85 New ones have just arrived to add to the splendid choice in this special value group. Norfolk, yoke-backs, panel and pleated effects; smart new tweeds and homespun in new shades and mixtures. Good workmanship—wonderful values! (Baseball Glove With Each Suit) Our Feature Hat, the "Burley" $5.00 Hats made especially for us to our own specifications. We've added to the smartness of the stylish new shapes and colors, the added value quantity purchasing makes possible. You'll agree the quality is exceptional at this price. Others $2 to $3 King Tut Ties $1.50 Another shipment of this popular new neckwear just received. Strikingly beautiful designs of Egyptian origin, shown in rich colorful silks. See them! Athletic Union Suits $1.35 Fine woven madras, sleeveless, loose-fitting, well made and comfortable, finished with elastic insert in back; sizes 34 to 46. Other Athletic Suits 30c. to $4 DOWLER'S (R. H. & J. Dowler, Ltd.) LONDON ST. THOMAS WINDSOR SARNIA

Face Disfigured With Large Pimples Cuticura Healed "For some time my face was affected with pimples and skin eruptions, which by times would be very irritating. The pimples were very hard and large, and turned bluish when rubbed or picked, which caused disfigurement. "I was treated but it did not prove satisfactory. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Earl Cooke, Box 374, Napanee, Ontario. Cuticura Soap daily, with Cuticura Ointment occasionally, prevents pimples or other eruptions. They are a pleasure to use, as is Cuticura Talcum for perfuming the skin. Sample Each Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura, Limited, 246 St. Paul St., W. Montreal." Sold every-where. Sample, 10c. Cuticura Soap shaves without lather.

MRS. RAE OF LISTOWEL CELEBRATES 90TH BIRTHDAY Special to The Advertiser. Listowel, May 22.—Mrs. J. R. Rae of this town was the recipient of the felicitations of her many friends on the occasion of her 90th birthday last Saturday. She is one of the most prominent of Listowel citizens and despite her advanced years is still possessed of all her faculties. Those of her children still living are: Mrs. Guston of Inverkip, Mrs. Wm. Pepper of Stratford, Mrs. Thos. Johnstone of Elma, Alex. of Elma, William in town, Miss Bella of Elma, and Miss Jane at home.

Get this The Mail & Empire April circulation 103,743 —Second morning paper April circulation 94,768

SAYS IT'S WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

Mrs. Matthews Pays High Tribute to Tanlac for Ending Stomach Trouble.

"I am so thankful for the wonderful benefits I have received from the Tanlac treatment, I just want to tell everybody in Toronto about it," declared Mrs. Ellen Matthews, 104 Eastern avenue, Toronto, Ontario. "I suffered so terribly with stomach trouble and a run-down condition that I feared nervous collapse. My appetite almost deserted me, and even the little I did manage to eat disagreed with me, and I bloated with gas till my heart palpitated, and I was dreadfully short of breath. I couldn't get a good night's sleep, and was so worn out that I couldn't even do my errands to the store. "I heard so much praise of Tanlac I finally bought a bottle, and it was worth its weight in gold. Six bottles have made me perfectly well, without a sign of the old troubles I had suffered with for seven years, and my weight has been increased, too. I consider it a duty to recommend Tanlac." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37,000,000 bottles sold.—Adv't.

ROBERT'S SYRUP OF THE EXTRACT OF COD LIVER & LARD. GET RID OF THAT COUGH BEFORE IT BECOMES SOMETHING WORSE. IT IS A SYRUP THAT HAS GAINED AN ENVIABLE REPUTATION THROUGH ITS SUCCESS IN TREATING COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS. BREAKS UP COUGHS

The Mail & Empire April circulation 103,743 —Second morning paper April circulation 94,768

The Mail and Empire is Canada's leading morning newspaper Published for fifty years at King and Bay Sts., Toronto forget those little HEALTH worries—by remembering ENO'S FRUIT SALT. A glass of water sparkling with a "dash" of ENO's "Fruit Salt"—taken first thing every morning on rising—dispels all those minor ailments which undermine the foundation of Health. Digestive and liver troubles—disorders of the blood—rheumatic conditions—will no longer rob you of optimism and vitality if you drink ENO regularly. Don't worry about your health—let the morning glass of ENO assist you to make your peace with Nature in Nature's own way. For over half-a-century the surest road to HEALTH—Your druggist sells ENO. L. C. ENO LTD., LONDON, S.E. ENGLAND. Sole Agents for N. America: HAROLD F. FITCHER Co., Ltd., TORONTO. GOOD HEALTH

The Advertiser was established in 1863 and is published four times daily by The London Advertiser Company, Limited.

EDITORIAL PAGE of the ADVERTISER

The Advertiser's subscription rates are: London, 15 cents weekly; By mail: In Canada, $5.00 yearly; United States, $8.00 yearly.

London Advertiser

TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1923.

Mr. Hay's Campaign Is Clean.

Mr. Wellington Hay, leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, is putting up a clean, decisive campaign. His speeches show the clear thinking of a successful business man who urges the application of sound business principles to the difficult work of provincial administration.

He is not abusive in his manner, and yet he is not given to mincing matters. He is plain and open on his attitude toward the O. T. A.; he is outspoken as an advocate of hydro as a publicly-owned enterprise, although he is not seeking to make this an election issue.

Mr. Hay's position is such that he can fairly and with good reason appeal to many who were Liberals, yet supporters of Mr. Drury. Mr. Drury, since his famous meeting with Mr. Morrison, has ceased to appeal on broad, inclusive lines for support. In so doing he repudiated an ideal which he had tenaciously adhered to, and that general support which Mr. Drury had enlisted will naturally revert to Mr. Hay.

This campaign is giving the Liberals over a wide area an opportunity to hear Mr. Hay and to meet him. They find him a sincere advocate of the best there is in Liberalism: a man pleasant to meet and anxious to deal fairly with all the problems of the people.

As far as Mr. Hay is concerned, the fight is going to be on clean lines of general policy. Today he is forcing the issue by his plain talk, and every day sees him more and more the logical leader and champion of the Liberal cause in Ontario.

Remove These Danger Spots.

Five children dead in an outside well near Drummondville, Que., is so awful a warning as to the danger of these things as to make every parent stop, think, investigate and safeguard.

The five children got on top of the well, the cover of which tipped and slid them all into the death trap. A person who has ever had the experience of trying to effect a rescue from a well knows that the chances are all against success right from the start. It is nothing like jumping into an open body of water to go after a drowning person, in which case a swimmer has a chance to bring into action all his powers of physical exertion and whatever knowledge he may possess of life-saving work.

It may seem a harsh thing to try and apply this Quebec home's tragedy as an object lesson and a warning, but the chances are that is exactly what these bereaved Quebec parents would sanction.

There are rain barrels—lots of them—in which a child could be drowned. There are cisterns and hard water wells with indifferent coverings—traps into which children could quite readily fall. The tragic part of the whole thing is that it requires no great amount of effort or work to make these places safe, and in no way would it interfere with their effectiveness as cisterns or wells.

Sir Adam Beck and Politics.

Sir Adam Beck's remarks to the Canadian Club in Brantford were taken to mean, in the first place, that he would be a political candidate in the coming contest. A further explanation by Sir Adam tends to tone this down and to make his statement capable of other interpretation.

It is to be hoped that Sir Adam's second statement is correct, because he can secure more support for his public ownership ideas if he himself stays out of the political arena.

The entrance of Sir Adam into provincial politics on this score would create a hydro party, for which there is no need or room in this province. It would serve to complicate a situation that is so complicated now that it can hardly be understood even by a fairly careful student of Ontario affairs. His entrance into politics on this score would be taken to mean that he could not trust a Conservative administration, if the province were to have one, nor could he trust a Liberal or a U. F. O. administration to deal fairly with the matter. Such an attitude can do only one thing, viz., hinder the support which public ownership advocates in any of these parties are ready to extend to hydro development.

The Advertiser realizes the zeal and jealousy with which Sir Adam views the hydro enterprises, and can understand that a man in his position might feel at times as though they were not thoroughly understood by others. In that view the hydro chief is making a mistake. The province is committed to the publicly-owned operation and development of its water powers, so that the benefits of these may be placed at the disposal of the people as cheaply as possible. That point does not enter into the present contest at all, because there is no party out to try and destroy these things. There are vague references made at times to great interests who are ready to come in and break the whole thing to pieces, but so far no one making these allegations has been able to name the villain and bring him out into the open.

There is a readiness on the part of people in general to give full credit to Sir Adam, and to back him in his projects, as long as they are within reason and within the financial possibilities of the province. We do not believe that the interests of public ownership, or of hydro in particular, would be further advanced by Sir Adam Beck running for office in this election, and taking a seat as a representative of hydro. There is no good reason whatever for trying to make hydro an issue in the present contest. It is here, and it is an established fact.

Beware of the Short-Cuts.

There is not a new feature in the case of young Duncan, a clerk in a Detroit banking house, who is short $2,000, which he is alleged to have taken to make a stock market speculation. Had the thing gone right, as he expected it would, he could have replaced the $2,000, had a comfortable sum for himself, and nothing would have been heard of it.

Duncan had just been married at 22 years of age; probably he needed the money. He looked for a way to get it fast and all at once. Others had made money out of stock speculation—for speculation is a nicer word than gambling—so why couldn't he?

He wanted to accomplish at one stroke what others pay for by months and years of hard, honest work. So he decided on a risky, dishonest short-cut. And, like nearly every other short-cut, this one had a ditch into which the young man fell.

It is a fact that there are some eloquent sermons in these sordid and sorrowful police court cases.

The Fight Against Tuberculosis.

The work being carried on at the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, perhaps better known locally as the "Byron" Sanatorium, is shown in the report that of 1,300 patients discharged from there since the opening, as having the disease checked, only 100 have been sent back for further treatment.

Sir Adam Beck, when addressing the Rotarians who dined there on Monday, went through some of the figures showing the growth and development of the place. He pointed out what is undoubtedly a wise course when he said they wanted to go on and develop, not with the idea of greatly enlarging the number of beds—already the largest in the province—but to do the work more thoroughly, and to keep in advance of other places in the methods employed.

Few people have stopped to think that tuberculosis, in one form or another, took a larger toll of human life during the war than the war itself took from the ranks of the Canadian army.

Figures for the city of London give a death rate for London of 63 per 100,000 against an average of 83 for the Dominion; and the credit for at least part of this must go to the educational work directed from Byron.

It is a kindly, humane, and a sensible work, wherein the men and women who have so cheerfully given of their time and means have demonstrated their sense of community responsibility in a very tangible form.

France Forces Britain's Hand.

Is there another contest on in Europe to build armaments? The conference at Washington, attended by the powers of the world, certainly was in spirit and outward performance a meeting of nations with the idea of seriously curtailing the building of naval equipment and war material.

Today France has such a superiority of aircraft, built since the Washington conference, that Lord Birkenhead led a debate on it in the British House of Lords, using the phrase by way of comparison, "a disproportion so alarming that no government could allow it to continue."

Lord Salisbury, on behalf of the government, gave assurance that Britain was going to start a building program.

France has forced Britain to the point where she has to start in on a large expenditure of money.

France has not paid Britain anything in principal or interest on the vast sums which she owes from the world war.

Britain has made definite arrangements to pay her colossal debt to United States, and much of that debt was incurred because Britain pledged her credit to United States for war supplies that France might continue to live.

In return for Britain's generosity to France, Britain is now forced to enter a mad competition in the building of aircraft because France has departed from the spirit of the Washington conference.

Meanwhile, Britain shoulders the double burden and carries on. She's a great old land, but almost too honorable for the 1923 type of French diplomacy.

Note and Comment.

A Pontiac man shot the woman with whom he kept company because she did not love him enough, after which he turned the gun on himself. These coward shooters adhere to the old rule of "ladies first."

Honorable, Colonel, Lieutenant-Governor are some of the titles that Mr. Harry Cockshut of Brantford has had conferred upon him, and now Toronto University is going to make him a Doctor. It will be no wonder if he's a bit round-shouldered by the time he gets through his term at Government House.

Residents on a Stratford street are divided on what to use for paving: One end wants asphalt, the other Tarvia. Why not, like Solomon, decide to cut the baby in two, put asphalt on one end and Tarvia on the other? All would be happy, and the whole city could have a splendid object lesson on the relative wearing qualities of the two paving materials.

J. M. Denholm, publisher of the Blenheim News-Tribune, announces that he is leaving, with his wife and son, on June 23, remarking that he made the trip 23 years ago, working his way on a cattle boat. No cattle boat this time, as the Blenheim publisher is going on the first trip of the White Star Doric. May the waves be nice and moderate and the meals excellent.

Canadians have a peculiar and a sympathetic interest in the illness which is forcing Premier Bonar Law out of political life in Britain. The first and only Canadian-born citizen to become premier of the Mother Country, it is only natural that the Dominion should extend its undivided sympathy and hope for the most favorable reports of Bonar Law's fight for his accustomed good health.

"The London Advertiser, calling attention to the use of the term 'dirty skunk' to a politician in the legislature, says that the one word 'skunkily' was quite sufficient. Pleonastically and tautologically, 'The Tiser is right as usual, but why libel the pretty little animal?'—St. Catharines Standard. "Pleonastically and tautologically!" Say, sonny, that's worse than anything a dainty little skunk ever did.

SOLVING THE DOMESTIC PROBLEM

(From the Manchester Guardian). Judging by recently-cabled news, a good many people in America have been bitten by some near relative of the mediaeval tarantula, an accident which has resulted in a large number of non-stop dancing competition into activity. One Miss Elsie Hetlock of Philadelphia exhibitions has evidently stirred a more benign delirium. But the disgust which has been expressed at these delirium has been bitten by it, with the astonishing result that she has established a world's record by washing up dishes for thirty-one hours. At least, the result is claimed as a world's record, and if there are any maidens who are burning to surpass it there are doubtless many housewives all over the world who will be glad to assist by providing the raw material. In Philadelphia the dish-washing was done at an hotel, which seems rather a pity, for hotels can usually manage to get themselves adequately looked after without drawing on individual devotion of this kind. It is the humble housewife who deserves to be rewarded by the discovery of an ambitious paragon like Miss Hetlock. Of course, a family of average size could hardly hope, even though they stayed at table continuously, to keep a determined record-breaker going all day and all night with dirty dishes, but perhaps whole suburbs might club together to give an ambitious girl her chance. On the regional arrangement already mentioned there would be no lack of material for the tests; we might have one suburb backing its chosen champions against another's. And, for the time being, that old trouble, the "domestic servant problem," would have solved itself.

Rarebits by Rex

Some Cheap Advice. If in this world you wish to win, And rise above the common chump, Take off your coat and pitch right in— Don't wait, lay hold, hang on the hump. Don't wait until the iron's hot, But make it hot by muscle, Don't wait for wealth your father's got— Take off your coat and hustle.

A financial paper says a token of prosperity is the increased circulation of money. The increase was probably the result of some chaps pawning their overcoats.

An editor was one day confronted by a gentleman who exclaimed: "In your paper you report that I am dead!" "You may rely," said the editor, "on the truth of everything you read in our journal." But his visitor was not comforted by this assurance, and asked that a contradiction be published in the next issue. To this the editor firmly declined to assent; but, being pressed to make some amends, he finally offered to insert the gentleman's name in the following day's list of births.

At Church. She thought not of her neighbor's dress, When in the church she calmly sat; Her neighbor's dress the pew back hides, And so she thinks of her neighbor's hat.

Lady Baden-Powell says the girl of today needs balance. After watching them do the fox trot we should say they were fairly well equipped with that quality.

Tut's tomb revealed some meat 2,500 years old, which doesn't seem so old to cafe eaters.

Oh, was some power the giftle gie us To see our creditors before they see us.

The Earl of Sutton is reported to have given six pints of his blood for a sick friend. Now, that the friend is well, he's going about telling everybody he's got blue blood in his veins.

If we were a millionaire we would gather about half a dozen staunch friends and their families, buy a South Sea isle and a thousand good books and live under a banyan tree. There, where the mud turtles wobble on the beach, and little fish wriggle on the sand, we would spend our last days. And every evening, when the radio told us of the squabbles, wars and arguments of society, we would cuddle under a mattress of soft straw with the comforting reflection that we were the only people in the world who had found real happiness.

Bay, Page Mr. Edison! They've invented noiseless motors; They've invented crumbless pie; They've invented a peculiar kind of coop.

That prevents a hen from cackling, So I often wonder why They don't invent a noiseless spoon for soup.

They've invented floating golf balls That when hit into a creek Bab up again like little submarines. But the thing that makes me wonder Is why scientists don't seek To invent a special knife to balance beams.

The only thing that becomes less tired the longer it works is an automobile wheel.

Politicians used to send out free seeds this time of year. The practice was discontinued because they do not seem to raise enough votes.

"Johnny go and shut the shutters!" Johnny heard his mother mutter. "Shutter's shut," did Johnny mutter. "I can't shutter any shutter."

Judging by the popularity of Labor candidates in British by-elections, the people have decided that when they made Mr. Law premier they pulled a boner.

The Guide Post—By Henry van Dyke

TOO MANY LAWS. Wee unto you lawyers, for ye load men with burdens grievous to be borne.—Luke 11:46. Christ found fault with the scribes and Pharisees for making too many laws—for regulating life too much. This is one of the dangers of a democracy—the propensity to make too many laws on too many subjects. Doubtless some of these laws are wise and needful. Probably most of them are well meant. They have a good heart, as the saying goes. It is in the head they are lacking. And so in practice many of them produce either no effect at all, or the contrary of what was intended. Not even the Puritan Fathers in their strictest days went as far in sumptuary legislation as some of our modern regulators would have us go. Of old, men are rebuked by the Divine Master for asking continually: "What shall we eat, and what shall we drink, and wherewithal shall we be clothed?" Nowadays it seems to be no reproach to be asking continually: "What food and drink and raiment shall we permit our neighbors to use?" (Copyright, 1923, by The Republic Syndicate)

Your Health

WHAT YOU AND I CAN LEARN FROM LORD CARNARVON'S DEATH.

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Lord Carnarvon's death was a shock to everybody. He was in the very center of the limelight. The most indifferent could not resist the glamour of his startling discoveries in Egypt. Everybody talked about King "Tut" and the splendors of his tomb.

Then came the news of Carnarvon's illness due to the insect bite, his attack of pneumonia, his brave fight and the final surrender to death. Added to this were the rumors of secret poisons in the tomb, the anger of the gods and the whisperings of the mystics.

To me there is not the slightest mystery about the death of this archeologist. He was the victim of loss of sleep, of excitement, of the heat and stress of the climate, of bad air and, finally, of infection carried to him by someone afflicted with a cold in the nose or chest.

Carnarvon's resistance was lowered by all the things I have mentioned. There came the bite and the natural illness incident to poisoning by a venomous insect, but materially aggravated by the physical depression of the man.

You see how the way was prepared for the successful attack of the pneumonia germs. Some careless friend or visitor sneezed or coughed them into the air within breathing distance of Lord Carnarvon. He became infected when his fighting powers were already exhausted.

Man's strength is limited. His energies are far from inexhaustible. If he taxes himself too heavily he must pay the penalty imposed by outraged Nature.

Carnarvon died because he did not heed the natural causes of physical distress. Pneumonia is a terrible disease. It lurks in every corner. It is ready to pounce upon you if you are off your guard.

Dispensation is a common factor in preparing the way for pneumonia. I do not mean drunkenness or carousing. I mean neglect of the body, needless waste of energy, deliberate abuse of the natural laws. You cannot burn the candles at both ends and expect to last.

Any one of us would have strained every nerve to open that tomb and to solve the mystery of more than thirty centuries. But we must be warned by Carnarvon's plight. We must respect the frailties of the flesh or we will meet his fate.

Abundant sleep at regular hours. Good food at regular hours. Exercise at regular hours. Reasonable regulation of your regular work. Regular inspection and repair of your body.

These are the rules of right living.

The Ten Books I Have Most Enjoyed

By WILLIAM BEEBE. Naturalist, explorer, author of "Jungle Peaces"; curator of ornithology, New York Zoological Society, since 1899, and director of the society's British Guiana station. Mr. Beebe recently sailed to the Galapagos Islands in the Pacific to study 500-year-old tortoises.

"Origin of Species" (Darwin). "Voyage of the Beagle" (Darwin). With these ten books, ten years on a desert island would be as one day. Tomorrow: Robert Cortes Holliday. (Copyright, 1923, U. S. and Great Britain; by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

CAMPAIGN NETS $307. Special to The Advertiser. Stratford, May 21.—The Salvation Army tag day netted $307 for the self-denial fund, it is announced.

PLUNKETT GOES HOME. Special to The Advertiser. Galt, May 21.—Al Plunkett, of the Dumbells, stricken with pleurisy, while playing here has sufficiently recovered to permit his removal to his home in Toronto, but he will be unable to join the company for a week or more.

Always Uniform in Quality Delicious "SALADA" TEA HAS THE LARGEST SALE OF ANY PACKET TEA IN NORTH AMERICA.

Builders and Contractors increase business by Long Distance

"95% of our lumber business is done by Long Distance." "Bought all the material for a $75,000 building by Long Distance—it is the best and cheapest way." "Closed two orders for road-making material by Long Distance, one for $40,000, one for $72,000." "Use Long Distance to get latest prices on materials before making estimates on contracts." "In our Roofing Supply catalogue, we give directions for ordering by Long Distance." "We are large users of Long Distance in buying and selling second-hand materials." "Use Long Distance at every opportunity to keep in touch with prospects for brick."

May we tell you how Long Distance is being used to increase Sales in your business? C. H. BEARD, Manager.

GOOD YEAR ALL-WEATHER TREAD

An advertisement for Goodyear tires. It features a large illustration of a Goodyear tire with the tread pattern clearly visible. Text includes: "The Goodyear Selected Dealer Sign guides you to the greatest tire values" and "Goodyear means Good Wear".

USE TEAR BOMBS ON ASSASSIN OF CONSTABLES

JERSEY CITY MAN KILLS TWO AND WOUNDS TWO TRYING TO ARREST HIM

Police Forced To Use Gas Bombs To Effect Capture of Frank Sayes, Suspected of Hold-Up in Which $9,000 Was Stolen.

WOMAN COMPANION TAKEN IN BATTLE

Associated Press Despatch. Jersey City, N. J., May 22.—Two police were shot to death and two seriously wounded today when they attempted to arrest Frank J. Sayes, alias Miller, as a suspect in a hold-up in which $9,000 was stolen from the Public Service Corporation.

Killed Outright. Detective-Sergeant John Black and Patrolman Clarence Ware were killed outright. Lieut. Harry Otis of West New York and Detective James Walton were wounded. The shooting took place at No. 19 Manhattan avenue, this city.

After the shooting Sayes and a woman known to the police as May Miller, a dance hall girl, were driven from the two-story frame building where Sayes lived by gas bombs, and placed under arrest.

Matters of Long Standing Are Cleared Up at Monday's Council Session.

In the opinion of Mayor Weniger and members of his council last night's gathering was the most important for many years past.

Russia Plans Reply to British Ultimatum. Official Circles Believe Note Will Be of Conciliatory Nature.

Special Cable to The Advertiser. Moscow, May 22.—Russia is preparing a reply to the British ten-day ultimatum, to be delivered tomorrow, which is believed to be conciliatory.

ORDER ABBE DELORME APPEAR IN MONTREAL. Action of Provincial Cabinet Believed To Mean New Trial.

Canadian Press Despatch. Quebec, May 22.—Rev. Adelard Delorme, who has been interested in Beaufort since a Montreal jury found him incompetent to stand his trial on a charge of murdering his half-brother Raouf, was today ordered to Montreal following a meeting of the provincial cabinet, at which his case was considered.

TURKS BLOW UP BRIDGE. Associated Press Despatch. Athens, May 22.—Turkish troops are reported to have blown up the bridge over the Maritza River connecting Adrianople and Karagatch. The news caused consternation here.

Will London Send Her Athletes To Dominion Meet In Montreal?

DOUG. WESTMAN. BILL WANLESS. GEORGE WRIGHT. RUSS ARDELL. KEN HUNTER.

ON TO MONTREAL—SEND THESE LADS TO BOOST LONDON. A splendid showing in the "Wosses" meet last Saturday. The L. A. A. A. is approaching various public bodies, and The Advertiser is extending this opportunity to the public in general.

LOOK FOR U. S. ACTION OVER CHINESE BANDITS. Cabinet Members Urge Paying Ransom To Gain Prisoners' Release.

Special to The Advertiser. Washington, May 22.—Direct action by the American government and possibly other powers in the crisis with the Shantung bandits in China was expected here today.

JESSE CARSON TRIES TO OBTAIN FREEDOM. Clara Phillips Blames Friend For Being Recaptured.

Associated Press Despatch. Tegucigalpa, Honduras, May 22.—Jesse C. Carson, under detention here with Clara Phillips, the California "hammer murderer," and her sister, Mrs. Etta May Jackson, attempted to escape while being taken to police headquarters with the two women today for questioning by the minister of justice.

HURT WHEN CAR HITS POST ON HAMILTON HIGHWAY. Hamilton, May 22.—Andrew Rankin, Markland street, this city, and Sherlock Sels, McDonald street, Toronto, were injured early this morning on the Toronto-Hamilton highway at Burlington, when their car hit a post and was overturned.

POINT EDWARD ELEVATOR. The statement from Mayor Cook of Sarnia that Charles R. Hunt, president of the Hunt Milling Company, has been appointed head of a $2,000,000 flour concern, which proposes erecting a huge grain elevator at Point Edward, was not entirely substantiated by Mr. Hunt, when spoken to by The Advertiser today.

STRATFORD MAN RECEIVES 5-YEAR TERM FOR BIGAMY. Stratford, Ont., May 22.—Two earth tremors were felt in Helena at 1:15 a.m. They were about one minute apart, the second shaking even more heavily constructed buildings. The shocks gave the impression of a rolling from west to east.

THE GUMPS—THE STRANGE OLD MAN. A cartoon strip featuring a character named 'The Gumps' who is being observed by others. The dialogue includes: 'THERE GOES THAT STRANGE OLD MAN AGAIN—FOR THE LAST TWO WEEKS I'VE SEEN HIM EVERYWHERE I GO—THIS IS THE THIRD TIME I'VE SEEN HIM TODAY—I WONDER WHO HE CAN BE—AND HE ALWAYS LOOKS AT ME SO...'

ASKS LENIENCY FOR MAN CHARGED WITH STEALING

Frank J. Purdom, Who Misappropriated Employer's Funds, Remanded. $422.65 INVOLVED.

J. M. Donahue Tells of High Character Given Accused by His Employer.

Frank J. Purdom, an employee of the Hoover Vacuum Company, charged with misappropriating funds belonging to his employers, was remanded in police court for a week this morning.

Purdom, who pleaded guilty and elected summary trial, appeared to feel his position very keenly. J. M. Donahue, speaking on his behalf, stated that the prisoner was a married man with two little children, the younger less than three years old.

Purdom was paid a commission on his sales. He did not receive a salary, and he had pleaded guilty to converting this money, $422.65, to his own use for the sake of his wife and family, and believing he could soon be able to pay it all back.

His employer, said Mr. Donahue, had given him a fine character, the best he had ever heard any employer give to a man in this position, and in view of the extremely unfortunate position of the boy and together with the character given him, he asked for leniency in dealing with him.

The crown attorney spoke of the increasing commonness of this kind of thing, the good record of the prisoner and of the respect that had engendered in the men for whom he had worked. Nevertheless, he said, "any man working for fair wages who lives outside his income and who takes other people's money on which to do it, is not acting honestly."

The court remanded Purdom a week so that the young man's record might be gone into further.

Joseph Leonard, a drayman, appearing today charged with using abusive language toward Ezra Marshitsky. In his own defense, Leonard entered into a long statement, chiefly consisting of promises to lead an entirely new kind of life if given the opportunity; in fact, he promised to leave the city.

Magistrate Graydon allowed Leonard to go on suspended sentence on the clear understanding that this was to be the last time.

Frederic Owen, charged with reckless driving on Mount Pleasant avenue, was fined $5 and costs.

MEDALISTS' CONCERT TO BE SEASON'S TREAT. London Press Club To Present Meritorious Program Next Monday Evening.

The medalists' concert to be given under the auspices of the London Press Club at the Masonic Temple on Monday evening promises to be one of the most outstanding treats ever offered to London's music-lovers. The program has been arranged after careful study of the inclinations of the musical people of this city, and the Press Club feel confident that Monday's concert will satisfy the most fastidious. The artists participating are all of high class, and the fact that London's medalists in the recent provincial test at Toronto are to take part gives an idea of the quality of the whole program.

Pennsylvania Students Burn Professors In Effigy

Youths Stage Second Riot in One Week—Destroy Priceless Treasures in Wild Charge Through Museum.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 22.—More than 2,000 students of the University of Pennsylvania staged a second riot within a week last night after a sophomore-freshman rave feast. The riot began with the cremation in effigy of four unpopular professors, a snake dance followed, and the leader of the line charged towards the commercial museum where an exposition is being held.

BUT LITTLE TIME LEFT TO GET ON VOTERS' LIST

City Clerk Urges All Electors To Make Sure They Are Qualified.

While a number of rate payers in the annexed district responded yesterday to the warning, from City Clerk Baker to enter formal appeals for change or addition to the provincial voters' list, there is but little time left in which the people of the city proper may enter their claims.

TRY TO FORM REPUBLIC IN RHINELAND DISTRICT

By HIRAM K. MODERWELL. Special Wireless to London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright. Cologne, May 22.—An attempt to proclaim a Rhineland republic was reported today at Treves. Communications with the city were practically cut off.

SHEAHAN, ST. CATHARINES, REFUSES CANDIDATURE

St. Catharines, May 22.—"I am sorry that I cannot stand as a candidate because I feel that the only salvation for this community is hydro radicals, especially after what Sir Henry Thornton told us last week," said Dr. Fred Sheahan this morning, in announcing that he had given definite refusal to a Liberal deputation that waited upon him last night and urged his candidacy for the riding of St. Catharines.

GUNMEN TRY TO ROB TORONTO STOREKEEPER

Henry Briggs, Bloor Street, Scares Off Bandits by Yelling.

To Toronto, May 22.—Two gunmen armed with automatics attempted to hold up Henry Briggs in his store at 444 Bloor street west at 10 o'clock last night. Despite the fact that they threatened to kill him, they ran away when he yelled for help, and Harry Cohen, 448 Bloor street west, hearing Mr. Briggs' call for help, ran out and gave chase to the gunmen. They turned on him and shot at him as he raced after them.

IMMIGRANT ENDS LIFE, CUTS THROAT ON TRAIN

Tragedy Occurs at Smith's Falls Station—Man Was Being Deported.

Canadian Press Despatch. Smith's Falls, Ont., May 22.—Alfred Price, aged 48, committed suicide by slashing his throat with a razor on the C. P. R. train while it was standing in the Smith's Falls station yesterday.

DEFER TRIAL IN DEATH OF KITCHENER INFANT

Mr. and Mrs. O. Hallman Are Charged With Manslaughter and Remanded.

Kitchener, May 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hallman, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of their six-months-old daughter, Irene, when they left alone for eight hours on Sunday, May 6, while they went fishing, appeared in police court here today for preliminary hearing.

WANT GREENLAW TO RUN IN ST. CATHARINES CONTEST

St. Catharines, Ont., May 22.—Following the favorable receipt of Frank Greenlaw's name for the trades and labor council last night, another L. L. P. convention is being called for next Saturday, when another effort will be made to stir up some enthusiasm and to induce Mr. Greenlaw to again run as Labor candidate.

REPORT EARTH SHOCKS.

Helena, Mont., May 22.—Two earth tremors were felt in Helena at 1:15 a.m. They were about one minute apart, the second shaking even more heavily constructed buildings. The shocks gave the impression of a rolling from west to east.

JUNIOR LEADERS AT "Y" CLOSE THEIR SESSION

Celebrate Occasion With Banquet and Course of Exercises.

Successfully terminating a year's study in Y. M. C. A. leadership training, eleven boys of the London "Y," constituting the Junior Leaders' Corps, celebrated the occasion with an elaborate banquet and course of exercises in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The boys have passed the examinations set by the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association in Toronto, and are now fit to supervise the training of smaller boys. The members of the class during their training periods have made themselves extremely useful by taking charge of boys' classes and their work has brought forth much praise from the "Y" officials.

Edward Jenkins, general secretary; Lloyd Houlding, boys' secretary; and Gordon Butler, assistant physical director, all spoke at the banquet in commendation of the splendid spirit of co-operation between the boys and their teachers.

WARN TRAVELERS TO AVOID SHANTUNG BANDIT AREA

Special Cable to The Advertiser. Peking, May 22.—Foreigners who travel through the Shantung bandit area are taking their lives in their hands, according to a warning issued today by the legations of the powers.

Even the soldiers guarding the railway lines are distressed because of their constant contact with emissaries of the outlaws. Train schedules have been changed, and trains are traversing the Shantung-Tsin Tsin route only by daylight. Meanwhile, the American and other captives remain on the mountain top, where they are held for ransom.

WANT GREENLAW TO RUN IN ST. CATHARINES CONTEST. St. Catharines, Ont., May 22.—Following the favorable receipt of Frank Greenlaw's name for the trades and labor council last night, another L. L. P. convention is being called for next Saturday, when another effort will be made to stir up some enthusiasm and to induce Mr. Greenlaw to again run as Labor candidate.

REPORT EARTH SHOCKS. Helena, Mont., May 22.—Two earth tremors were felt in Helena at 1:15 a.m. They were about one minute apart, the second shaking even more heavily constructed buildings. The shocks gave the impression of a rolling from west to east.

CREW OF SUNKEN DENNER LEAVES SOO FOR CHICAGO. Associated Press Despatch. Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 22.—Captain John C. Burke, with his crew of rescued seamen of the steamer Denner, left the Soo late yesterday for Chicago. Some of the men were in their underclothes, they not having had time to get any clothes when the Saturn pushed her bow into the Denner's side.

PLAN HUNT FOR DIAMONDS IN BRITISH GUIANA INTERIOR. Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, N.S., May 22.—William Stewart and M. E. Murray are here from Toronto for the purpose of organizing a diamond hunting expedition up the Esquibo River to the interior of British Guiana, where, according to Mr. Stewart, who spent three years in that country, there are finding diamonds of untold value. Their plans, as outlined, provide for taking a 30-foot motorboat with them.

STOCKS DECLINE AS RALLY ENDS

Traders Hopeful That Downward Swing Is at Last Ended.

By STUART P. WEST. Special to the Advertiser. Wall Street, New York, May 22.—A further decline in the market followed by a swift rally, were the outstanding characteristics of the stock market today.

Few outside the body of buyers and speculators remain to be seen, but the logical reaction remains to be seen, but in all events the contention that the market had been measuring in logical manner the check to business activity was simply pretence.

At today's low price they were back to where they stood last November, and a little above the average of last summer, when the market was at its lowest ebb.

The stocks which showed the best support while the early selling was at its height were California Petroleum, American Can, Anaconda, Copper, and American Locomotive.

Wall Street Features. Gasoline advanced a cent to 14 1/2 cents a gallon in the wholesale price of gasoline advanced today by refining in the middle west.

Clark's Childs—Old-line standard dividend-paying rail should be purchased. Harris Winthrop—Favor the constructive side of standard stocks.

London. May 22.—The market for grain was irregularly lower. Breadstuffs were generally lower.

Canadian National Railway earnings statement for April 1923 shows gross at $4,812,088.

Government Loans. The following is the list of bonds and securities reported by Aemilius Jovis & Co., Ltd.

Dividends Declared. Directors of the Pacific Oil Company on Monday declared a dividend of $1 a share.

Exchange Rates. Montreal, May 21.—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today: Demand, $4.7250; cables, $4.7275.

How the Stocks Closed Today

New York Toronto Montreal

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Atlantic Sugar, British Empire Steel, Canada Bread, etc.

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Abitibi Power, Abitibi Paper, Abitibi Sugar, etc.

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Abitibi P. 6 1/2, Abitibi P. 7, Abitibi P. 8, etc.

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Abitibi P. 9, Abitibi P. 10, Abitibi P. 11, etc.

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Abitibi P. 12, Abitibi P. 13, Abitibi P. 14, etc.

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Abitibi P. 15, Abitibi P. 16, Abitibi P. 17, etc.

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Abitibi P. 18, Abitibi P. 19, Abitibi P. 20, etc.

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Abitibi P. 21, Abitibi P. 22, Abitibi P. 23, etc.

Table with columns for Stock, Bid, Ask, and Price. Includes entries for Abitibi P. 24, Abitibi P. 25, Abitibi P. 26, etc.

WEAKNESS AT NEW YORK STARTS SEIZING ABOVE

Good Support Develops and Prevents Drastic Reaction.

Reported for the Advertiser by Johnston & Ward. Montreal, May 22.—Weakness in Wall Street in the early period of today's session was the signal for the starting of a selling movement on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

The local market this morning presented a fine display of green vegetables, flowers, etc., and it is devoutly hoped by all concerned that spring weather has arrived at last.

Standard Mining Exchange. Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, May 22.—There was unusual activity in the local stock market this morning.

Wheat acreage is less than in previous years. Special to the Advertiser. Toronto, May 22.—The acreage of bread wheat and durum in the Northwest is probably less than last year.

Butter and Eggs. Montreal, May 21.—Prices were down 10c per pound in butter. There was a decline of 10c per dozen in the price of eggs.

Hops. New York, May 21.—Hops quiet; Pacific coast, 1922, $14 to $17; 1921, $12 to $14.

Beans. Montreal, May 21.—Beans, immediate and prompt shipment, $7.25 per cwt. at shipping points.

Flour. Montreal, May 21.—The demand for retail flour is quiet. Flour, Man. spring wheat, $6.80; strong bakers, $6.80; winter patents, choice, $6.12.

Cheese. Montreal, May 21.—Cheese firm; receipts 27,539 pounds; State whole milk, $1.25; fancy, $1.25; 1 1/2% milk, average run, 22c; state whole milk, winter, held fancy, 28c to 29c.

Everything the Farmer Trades In

Grain Markets Grain Markets WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, May 21.—With foreign traders observing a holiday, trading was quiet on the local wheat market today, although price advances were recorded.

The coarse grain markets were dull, and there was little change in the situation. Coarse grains were fractionally easier, but other grains ranged higher in price.

Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.13 1/2; No. 2, $1.11 1/2; No. 3, $1.09 1/2; No. 4, $1.07 1/2; No. 5, $1.05 1/2; No. 6, $1.03 1/2; No. 7, $1.01 1/2; No. 8, $0.99 1/2; No. 9, $0.97 1/2; No. 10, $0.95 1/2.

Barley—No. 1, $1.00; No. 2, $0.98; No. 3, $0.96; No. 4, $0.94; No. 5, $0.92; No. 6, $0.90; No. 7, $0.88; No. 8, $0.86; No. 9, $0.84; No. 10, $0.82.

Oats—No. 1, $0.80; No. 2, $0.78; No. 3, $0.76; No. 4, $0.74; No. 5, $0.72; No. 6, $0.70; No. 7, $0.68; No. 8, $0.66; No. 9, $0.64; No. 10, $0.62.

Provisions. Chicago, May 21.—Buying on the part of the market was slow, and prices were generally lower.

Seeds. Chicago, May 21.—Timothy, $5.25 to $5.35 per cwt. Cloverseed—$12 to $13 per cwt.

Potatoes. Montreal, May 21.—A good trade in the potato market. Per bag, $1.20.

Cotton. New York, May 21.—Cotton futures closed steady. Closing bids: 22c; May, 21 1/2c; July, 21 1/2c; Sept., 21 1/2c.

Freighters Killed in Giant Snowslide. Denver, Col., May 21.—A giant snowslide sweeping down the mountain side at a terrific rate of speed, struck the west end of a tunnel on the Denver and Salt Lake Railroad.

Freighter Oxonian Gets to St. Johns for Repairs. Canadian Press Despatch. St. Johns, Nfld., May 21.—The White Star freighter Oxonian, with tarpaulins around her damaged bows, has arrived in port for repairs.

MINING NEWS

The shaft at the Continental mines, Kirkland Lake, is now down 150 feet, where a station is being cut. This work has been done with hand steel.

It is reported, but confirmation cannot be secured at the moment from company officials, that Kirkland Lake Property has had a development underground of considerable importance.

It has been decided by the Dominion Reduction Company not to re-treat tailings from Peterson Lake this summer. The Peterson Lake and Dominion Reduction Company entered into an agreement to treat them on a co-operative basis.

Hollinger interests have a mining engineer engaged in making an examination of a gold property in the Wapitani Lake district, where some spectacular gold discoveries have been made from time to time. It is understood one of the properties being examined is the Gold Nugget.

Ontario's third largest gold company (in par capitalization) has been incorporated under the name of Skead Consolidated Gold Mines, Limited, with a capital of $10,000,000 in 31 shares. The incorporators are: H. M. Gilpin, broker; W. H. Wilson, D. E. Gilpin and Henry O'Byrne, miner. Presumably this incorporation has some connection with Skead gold mines.

Machinery for the addition to the mill at the Lake Shore mine is now coming in. Practically all machinery necessary to increase the tonnage to 200 tons a day has now been ordered. Work preparatory to construction has started. The enlarging of the shaft house is progressing, the cement foundations being set. The sinking of the shaft from the 600-foot level to 800 is over half-way down.

Cross-cutting southeast from the shaft on the third level, 330 feet, of the Kirkland Gateway has located a new vein 30 feet from the shaft. As the discovery had just been made, the full width of the vein had not been determined, but Manager Robert Jowsey informs your representative that assay results from it are exceptionally good. The annual meeting of the shareholders of Kirkland Gateway will be held on Monday next at Swastika.

The Fenning Development Company is installing a small mining plant and will continue the 100-foot shaft to deeper levels. The vein has a width of about six feet, in which traces of telluride associated with chalcopyrite occur. On the McKelvie-Longworth property aggressive work is being carried on, and plans are being made to be held on Monday next at Swastika.

Those feelings of faintness, those dizzy spells, the all-gone sinking sensations which come on from time to time, indicate a weakened condition of the heart, and a disordered state of the nerves.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have no equal as a remedy to strengthen the heart, invigorate the nerves, and build up the run-down system.

Mrs. C. Vanhorn, Eckville, Alta., writes: "About a year ago I had heart trouble. My husband didn't leave me alone, and often had to stay up at night with me. I would just feel faint and my heart would seem to stop beating. I would just faint away, and it would sometimes be an hour before they could bring me back to life. Someone told me about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got three boxes; I took them and felt much better, so continued all winter, and now I never feel any such faintness. I surely do appreciate the good they have done for me."

Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

Advertisement for Victory Bonds, featuring the text 'We Serve Western Ontario With Safe Investments' and 'Victory Bonds'.

Advertisement for JONES, EASTON McCALLUM CO., featuring the text 'We Serve Western Ontario With Safe Investments'.

Advertisement for Bonds, featuring the text 'BONDS of an Essential Industry To Yield 7%'.

Advertisement for Canadian Paperboard Company, Limited, featuring the text 'Canadian Paperboard Company, Limited' and 'Price: 100 and accrued interest to yield 7%'.

Advertisement for Canadian Debentures Corporation Limited, featuring the text 'Canadian Debentures Corporation Limited' and 'Established 1910'.

Preparations are being hurried by Manager Thurston for a start on actual mining within two weeks on Lorraine Consolidated, according to the Northern Miner of Cobalt. Extra mining equipment and building supplies have been purchased and are now being moved down. One shaft is down 240 feet, and another 800 feet away is down about 80 feet. Ventilation connection can be easily made, and then the main shaft will be sunk to 250 feet, where the ore horizon is expected to be found. Quick results from the work are anticipated. Between 20 and 30 men will be put on at first, with the number increasing as results warrant. Lorraine Consolidated lies in the east of an adjoining Mining Corporation workings.

Peterson Lake Mining Company reports that during April Mining Corporation hoisted and shipped to its mill 2,900 tons of ore from the Peterson Lake mine. Something like 80 tons a day is now being mined and shipped. This ore is coming from the 400-foot level, and is largely made up of reserves put in sight by the Peterson Lake Company when it was operating a few years ago. Mining Corporation is also carrying on development work on known veins and exploring for new ones. All this work is on the Peterson Superior property. Operations are being carried on under a lease entered into last year. Peterson Lake receives a royalty on ore mined.

The shaft on the Castle-Trethewey mine has a depth of 275 feet, and with a station being cut at the 250-foot level. Cross-cutting at the 450-foot level having cut good ore, and having been shown as downward continuation as most important. The question of erecting a mill will be determined by next few months. Development of additional ore would quickly cause the management to consider the possibility of disposing of the Castle to the adjoining Miller Lake-O'Brien, which property is equipped with a mill. It is estimated that in those close touch with the Castle-Trethewey that close to a million ounces of silver occurs in the present ore in sight.

The big shoot of high-grade ore in the Keeley Silver mines is not being touched at present, as the company finds it possible to easily maintain the current rate of production without drawing down the reserves. There are numerous shoots of high-grade ore on the Keeley, but the one referred to is that having a width of between four and five feet, and extending for close to 10 feet in length, composed of ore of 400 and 500 ounces to the ton. In the meantime the mill on the Keeley is being increased to double its former capacity, while additional sinking is also under way preparatory to increasing the output of the mine.

Ontario Seeding Delayed by Recent Rainy Weather. Toronto, May 21.—Seeding and other field work has been more or less delayed by the rainy weather of the past week, but pastures have been benefited greatly, says the report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Excellent Chorus. The chorists caught what he wanted done and were highly successful in putting the idea into action, a rare tribute to them as well as to their leader.

COMMODITY NEWS. CLOTHING. Detroit, May 21.—The recent cold weather here has resulted in cleaning out the stocks of men's suits and topcoats. The Mahley Company, one of the largest retailers, announced today that this season had been the best in many years for topcoats and suits, but that advance sales of summer goods had suffered a severe setback.

Philadelphia, May 21.—The continued cold weather has lessened the demand for heavy clothing, but is acute for many of the factories were well booked ahead.

BUILDING MATERIALS. St. Louis, May 21.—While costs of building materials are very high in this section today, decreases are expected if they get sharply curtailed. Demand for yellow pine, consumption of which is ahead of supply in this territory.

DRYGOODS. Fort Worth, May 21.—Drygoods distribution throughout the Southwest showed a decided gain in the last month and a still higher gain over the corresponding period of 1922. Collections are remarkably good today.

COAL. St. Louis, May 21.—Carterville coal, a high-grade low sulphurous Illinois product, which is largely used by industrial plants in this section, has advanced in price 25 cents a ton to $7.75.

Chevenne, Wyo., May 21.—The Mammoth Oil Company well recently brought in in the Teapot Dome field, is producing at the estimated rate of 10,000 barrels a day, and is the largest well with one exception in the history of the field.

SIX CHOIRS UNITE IN RENDERING OF MASSES FESTIVAL

London Artists Show Ability at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

J. P. MORRIS DIRECTS Rev. Dr. MacGregor Urges More Punctual Attendance at Sunday Services.

By A. MINOR. The only point deserving adverse criticism in connection with the choir festival held last night in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of the London Organists' Club, was the failure of the citizens of London to support the worthy enterprise on behalf of better church music.

The order of service was an admirable example of program building for a church occasion, the numbers being chosen with fine regard for the musical merit in each case, and with a view to obtaining unity throughout. The short address of Rev. Dr. D. C. MacGregor, minister of St. Andrew's Church, who presided, fitted most sympathetically into the plan of the musicians.

Six choirs were represented in the festival chorus, Askin Street Methodist, Adelaide Baptist, Dundas Center Methodist, Knollwood Park Presbyterian, St. James' Anglican, and St. Andrew's Presbyterian.

Excellent Chorus. The chorists caught what he wanted done and were highly successful in putting the idea into action, a rare tribute to them as well as to their leader.

COMMODITY NEWS. CLOTHING. Detroit, May 21.—The recent cold weather here has resulted in cleaning out the stocks of men's suits and topcoats. The Mahley Company, one of the largest retailers, announced today that this season had been the best in many years for topcoats and suits, but that advance sales of summer goods had suffered a severe setback.

Philadelphia, May 21.—The continued cold weather has lessened the demand for heavy clothing, but is acute for many of the factories were well booked ahead.

BUILDING MATERIALS. St. Louis, May 21.—While costs of building materials are very high in this section today, decreases are expected if they get sharply curtailed. Demand for yellow pine, consumption of which is ahead of supply in this territory.

DRYGOODS. Fort Worth, May 21.—Drygoods distribution throughout the Southwest showed a decided gain in the last month and a still higher gain over the corresponding period of 1922. Collections are remarkably good today.

COAL. St. Louis, May 21.—Carterville coal, a high-grade low sulphurous Illinois product, which is largely used by industrial plants in this section, has advanced in price 25 cents a ton to $7.75.

Chevenne, Wyo., May 21.—The Mammoth Oil Company well recently brought in in the Teapot Dome field, is producing at the estimated rate of 10,000 barrels a day, and is the largest well with one exception in the history of the field.

LAUDS RELIGIONS OUTSIDE OF UNION

Rev. W. J. McNamara Praises Anglicans and Baptists for Pronounced Stand.

OPPOSES COERCION Mrs. T. MacMillan Advises Presbyterian Women's League To Preserve Ideals.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Reaffirming the stand taken by the three prominent opponents of organic union, who addressed a mass meeting of anti-unionists in the Masonic Temple a few weeks ago, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan and Rev. W. J. McNamara, both of Toronto, who spoke at last night's meeting of the local branch of the Women's Presbyterian League in the Central Collegiate auditorium, entered their chief point of contention regarding the proposed organic union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists, on the early statement of unionists that the proposed plan would not be desirable unless it were entered into in a spirit of complete unanimity on the part of all three denominations.

Asserts Byron Sanatorium Largest of Kind In Canada

Mr. Adam Beck Explains Functions and Progress of Institution To Two Hundred Rotarians Following Inspection of Building.

Two hundred Rotarians, guests of Sir Adam Beck, invaded Queen Alexandra Sanatorium at Byron at noon Monday to have lunch and make a thorough inspection of London's great institution.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

Each member was charged one dollar as a contribution toward the patients' fund, but the dinner was provided gratis. Dean Sherwood Fox gave a short talk after luncheon and introduced Sir Adam Beck. The latter outlined the evolution and development of Byron Sanatorium since its inception and dwelt on many phases of its curative activities.

The cost per patient was the lowest in Canada.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

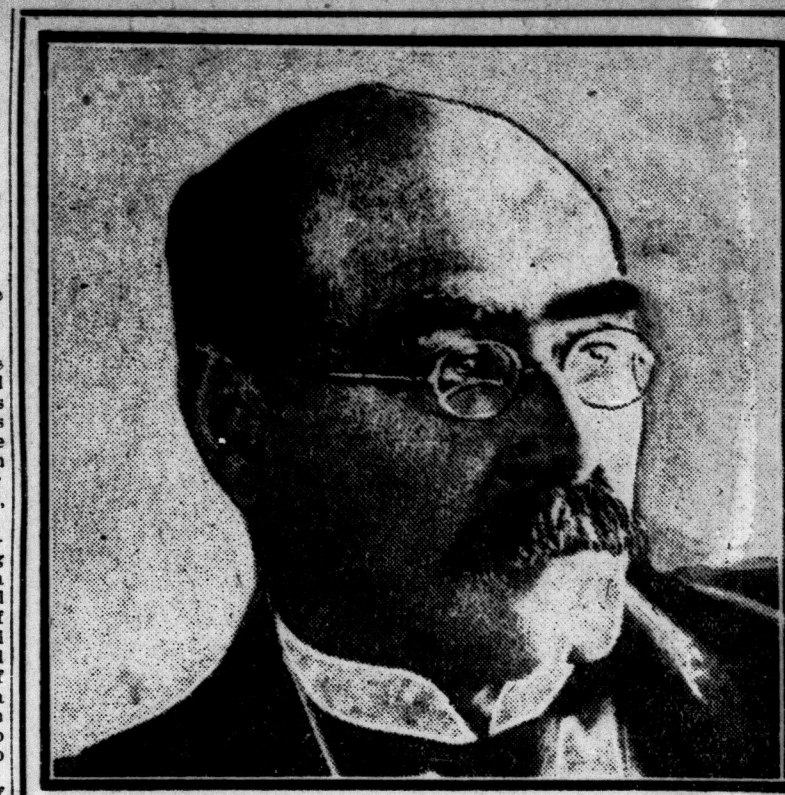

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

Operates Farm. The institution operates a large farm, which showed a substantial surplus last year. It furnishes its inmates with eggs, milk, vegetables and meats grown right on the premises. Every man employed from the highest to the humblest, Sir Adam said, knew his responsibilities, and did his work satisfactorily.

The thin red line has stood for generations as a symbol of military heroism.

A story no less thrilling and courageous than that of the original thin red line is that of the Irish Guards.

Rudyard Kipling's newest work,

Advertisement for 'THE IRISH GUARDS' by Rudyard Kipling, featuring a large title and descriptive text.

will appear exclusively in The Advertiser

Beginning Saturday, May 26th

The installments will appear on successive Saturdays.

"The Irish Guards stood the test without flaw." That line from Kipling's first article sums up the tale of heroism.

Since the days when he won fame with "Soldiers Three," Kipling has written no work more characteristically in his vein than the chronicle of the Irish Guards' part in the Great War.

It will appear exclusively in The Advertiser.

It Starts May 26th

Advertisement for Canadian Pacific SAILINGS, listing various routes and dates.

Advertisement for Vancouver dinners, featuring the text 'Only 3 Dinners to Vancouver Via the Trans-CANADA'.

Advertisement for Canadian Pacific travel, featuring the text 'CARRYING Compartment Observation Car, Standard Sleepers and Dining Car'.

Advertisement for Canadian Pacific travel, featuring the text 'Winnipeg Calgary Vancouver' and 'Second Morning Third Morning Fourth Morning'.

Advertisement for Canadian Pacific travel, featuring the text 'Impossible For You to Get More Tire Value—Needless to Get Less'.

Advertisement for Dunlop tires, featuring the text 'DUNLOP TIRES' and 'Matchless as a Non-Skid'.

Advertisement for Dunlop tires, featuring the text 'Supreme in Mileage'.

SHOP TALK

Postman Has Heavy Sack Carrying Cynthia Grey's Letters.

The real opening of the War Memorial Children's Hospital for Western Ontario, which took place last Saturday afternoon, had a very personal interest for hundreds of readers of The Advertiser, scattered throughout the length and breadth of Canada, and far afield across the line. They have helped to build that hospital, dedicated to the healing of children, and as a memorial to their own kindred who laid down their lives in the great war.

Until the brass name-plate wears out, the Cynthia Grey cot will stand as testimony to little deeds of love, service and sacrifice innumerable on behalf of the hospital, perplexed with the problem of making ends meet, and adequately providing for their families.

With their letters to the Mail-Box, in which they pour out their joys and their sorrows and offer their helpful hints, they have been in the habit of inclosing their "mites" to help along the good cause, from two-cent stamps to crisp dollar bills.

Between fifty and seventy-five dollars, and the necessary thousand for the cot will be complete, and then the brass tag will be made and placed. Only completely paid-up rooms, cots and cribs are thus designated, and that is why Boxites were disappointed yesterday at not finding a picture of the occupied cot in connection with the story of "moving day."

Since the Cynthia Grey cot fund was started some years ago, the most ingenious ways have been thought up by the members of the circle for raising money. The famous "stocking-foot pattern" was pressed into service, through the suggestion that every request for it might be accompanied by a "mite." Out of this grew exchange of mitt, romper, crochet and lace patterns, of seeds and bulbs which has developed into wholesale proportions. An autograph quilt and the Cynthia Grey cook-book, compiled by "Calamity Ann," from tested recipes, supplied by the Boxites, have been among the more spectacular features.

What will be the mutual interest, the connecting link to bind the Boxites together when the fund is completed? No need to worry about that. For years before a War Memorial Children's Hospital was even a dream, and long before the dark days of the war itself, the Cynthia Grey family circle was firmly established. The Cynthia Grey Mail-Box has been the living-room fireplace of The Advertiser. The boys and girls have brought to its hospitable glow the stories of their school days and holidays, their triumphs in examinations and in sports. The lovers have sought guidance for their difficulties, brides-to-be advice about the green box or trousseau.

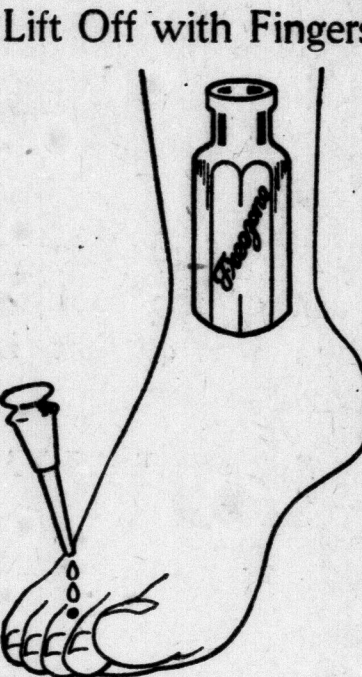

Lonely soldiers wrote to the box in wartime, and before and since, "lonelies" have always been assured the most inviting seat. Young mothers and young fathers drop in to tell the latest doings and saying of their hopefuls, and the genuine, old-fashioned grandmothers and grandfathers have their chimney corners.

Between five hundred and six hundred members are regularly enrolled in Cynthia Grey's family circle, and some of these have "visited regularly" ever since the first fire was built. Some drop out of sight for a time, but they have a way of coming back, and always someone new is knocking at the door, and pleading, "Please may I come in?" The postman has a heavy sack when he carries letters for Cynthia Grey.

If Your Skin is Rash, use Zam-Buk

Mr. R. H. Barker, Glencair, Ont., writes:—"My skin broke into an itchy rash which spread so badly over my face that I was soon too disfigured to go about. Within a week Zam-Buk caused the eruptions to die away. It soothed and purified my skin so thoroughly that one could scarcely credit how bad it had been."

CORNS
Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods, rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood.

This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Ferro-Peptine and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Ferro-Peptine aims through its regenerative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every part of your body.

You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh.

Ferro-Peptine is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Your druggist has it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

CAUTION: While Ferro-Peptine has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and other nervous troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

For sale at Strain's Drug Store, Standard Drug, Limited, at London, St. Thomas, Woodstock, and all other leading druggists.—ADVT.

MCCORMICK SITE CHOSEN FOR CITY HALL THIS YEAR

City Council, In Stormy Session, Passes Motion For Immediate Action, By Vote of 8 To 4.

ASKS FOR PAY LISTS Will Inquire Cost of Research Bureau Probes of Police and Fire Departments.

After the longest and most spectacular city council session since the season opened, Mayor Wenige and seven stalwart aldermen last night ruled that a city hall be built on the McCormick site in 1923.

But the end is not in sight, and the board of works, after a stormy passage, voted in the affirmative, consistent with his blockade tactics of the evening, in order that he could move for a reconsideration of the entire question at the next regular session.

Last night's gathering was pugna-tious right from the appearance of a board of education deputation early in the game until twelve bells, when Ald. William A. Wilson engaged in a pushing match with John Colbert as the latter was struggling into his hat and coat.

Not for many months has a member of the council appealed to the council against a ruling from the chair, but this happened at least twice during the evening, as near as could be ascertained during the melee, and in both instances his worship was sustained, despite the vigorous protests of those who were banded together to defeat the construction of a city hall on the McCormick property.

Moves Time Extension.

Many years have slipped away since the new city hall question was first broached in city council sessions, but no meeting of the past ever equaled last night's for a consistent exhibition of spirited opposition and persistent filibustering and blockade tactics.

At spasmodic intervals, Ald. Drake bounded up and down in a vain attempt to move an extension of time, but was blocked at each maneuver when a member of the opposition would beat him on the throw, until Ald. Frank McKay edged into an opportune opening with the emphatic claim that the discussion had been out of order for 20 minutes.

The battle opened when Ald. Burdick moved, and Ald. Hayden seconded, that a special committee be appointed to call for competitive plans for a new city hall on the McCormick site.

Ald. Douglass, leading the obstructionists, held that this was out of order without a two-thirds vote of the council. After a violent discussion the mayor ruled the discussion in order, and advised Ald. Wilson that he had once stated to them that if they got permission from the legislature to sell the federal square he would vote for a hall on the McCormick site.

Appeal Chair Ruling.

Then followed the first appeal against the ruling from the chair, and the city hall opponents assembled as follows: Ald. Judd, Douglass, Ald. Colbert, and Ald. John Greer and Ald. John May, who wants the hall on the county site. The mayor was sustained, Ald. Ernest Shaw just needed, voting for the consideration of the issue.

During his remarks, Ald. Burdick drew upon himself the wrath of Ald. Wilson, who denied strenuously that he had said he would vote for a hall on the McCormick property.

Ald. Judd followed the directions of the city council, remarking, "It looks as though he has failed again." Both he and Ald. Douglass demanded some assurance that the City of London bill had passed as stated by the sitting member.

Just how long the bill would have continued will never be known, as Ald. Drake projected the issue into a larger field by moving that they build in 1923, the year now ended, while Ald. Judd moved in amendment with Ald. Douglass seconding, that they lay the question over until further information was had from Toronto with a copy of the City of London bill, in order that they might know definitely just what they could do with the federal square without a vote of the people.

Ald. Judd and followers suffered defeat, but not until they had interrupted a contested point of order, in the midst of the vote taking, insisting that there had not been sufficient time for discussion. Once again the issue was discussed out of order, and once again he was sustained by seven members of the council, who refused to listen to any argument but a fall in 1923.

Douglass Plans Stall.

"It is unwise for the aldermen to commit themselves upon a serious question like this at 11:30 p.m.," Ald. Douglass maintained "without knowing from the treasurer whether we have the money at our disposal."

"All of you have had information more than once this year," Mayor Wenige retorted. "We expect to get from the sale," challenged Ald. Judd.

"The hall will cost more than we have money," declared Ald. Greer. "The Drake motion was passed in 1922," Ald. Douglass voting in the affirmative. "I vote yes in order that I may re-open it at the next meeting," explained the chairman of the board of works triumphantly.

"That will stall that," Ald. Wilson declared against the wall with the back of his hands contesting stubbornly every inch of the ground. The Burdick motion to appoint a committee was passed only after another hand-to-hand contest with sharp-edged impediments strewn in their path.

Then followed another battle as to the personnel of this committee, and an obvious conflict was expended by Ald. May and Douglass to get their colleagues on this committee.

After a running-fight across "no-man's land" Mayor Wenige won the toss after Ald. Drake leaped into the breach with the proposal that his worship appoint his own committee. This he did, selecting six councillors who have placed themselves on record for a fall in 1923 as follows: Ald. Drake, Burdick, Hayden, Colbert, Shaw and Ward. The mayor and Ald. Frank McKay comprise the remainder of his nation.

The last shot in this campaign was fired when Ald. Wilson went down to defeat with the same vote that they ask the city solicitor's opinion.

Requests Pay Roster.

The pay list squabble was wedged in between the big-time acts of the evening performance, when Ald. Colbert, seconded by Ald. McKay, moved that the council ask the public utility commission for a copy of their commission, 1922 roster.

Ald. Wilson refused to vote upon the question, again insisting that it was up to the mayor to get it himself. Ald. McKay didn't want to see municipal ownership receive a horrid black eye. Ald. Watt held a like opinion.

At this juncture Ald. Greer lunged at Mayor Wenige. "I don't think that you have any right to dictate to the public utility," he declared warmly. "And I don't countenance your absurd attitude by refusing to sign their pay checks, thereby losing the city money. It was ridiculous. Let them run their own department. I didn't vote for any such action."

"I'm absolutely responsible for these checks whether I sign them or not," retorted Mayor Wenige. "And you as one told me to get them."

"That's out of order," he continued, "but I want to reply, when Ald. Colbert's first broach was made, I was out of order and that all complaints should go to the commission, and I'll say now that it will become my duty to get up here and criticize the police force when he doesn't know what he is talking about."

"I must call this all out of order," protested Mayor Wenige during the growing storm, as Ald. Colbert and others were on their feet and their followers cheered from the sidelines. As the wrangle continued and the interchange of repartees verged on the personal, Ald. Greer questioned Ald. Colbert "Have you no respect for the chair?"

"Mind your own business," directed Ald. Colbert, as Ald. W. Greer arose to add his protest to the speaker's remarks. Disgusted and

Heard Last Night At City Council

"Order, order! We must have order!"

"If you want to run this meeting, take the chair."

"I've seen a lot of mayors, but none like you."

"I came from a town where they respected law and order."

"Sit down."

"Mind your own business."

"You've all been out of order for 20 minutes."

"Gentlemen, please, this council is still in session."

"I said no such thing. I demand you retract that statement."

"I take that as an insult."

"An alderman should have the sand to express himself here, not talking on that statement."

"You don't know what you're talking about."

"You're a Bolshevik."

"Go and sit down."

"What are we voting on?"

"Blame Dr. Stevenson. We have to blame somebody."

"Your attitude was ridiculous."

"I don't care whether we have a city hall or not."

"This is too big a question to be settled at midnight."

"I don't propose to vote again tonight. I'm through."

"Let's, cut out this small-town politics."

"Have you no respect for the chair?"

"I seconded that motion. How do you like that?"

"Well that stalls that."

"Everybody's out of order"—and no person got hurt.

SWIMMING LESSONS FOR BOYS OF LONDON

Y. M. C. A. Opening Usual Free Classes for Boys From 10 to 18 Years.

Under the direction and instruction of the physical directors of the Y. M. C. A. a swimming campaign is to be conducted in which every boy in London between the ages of 10 and 18 years will be given an opportunity to learn to swim.

SPECIAL BARGAINS FOR THE HOLIDAY AT OUR Gigantic Overstock Shoe Sale

You can always get the newest styles at specially low prices at The People's Shoe. We do not believe in "tacking on" a little extra just because the style is new, and selling big. The prices are cut on all styles, whether it's the latest novelty or an every-day staple pattern.

WOMEN'S PATENT COLT FANCY OXFORDS.

Wing tip, Cuban heels, Sale price $4.77

WALKING OXFORDS

and Straps, brown and black, new toes, fancy tip. Sale price $2.68

LONDON'S LARGEST SHOWING OF WHITE FOOTWEAR

For Sport and Dress wear, featuring all the latest styles. All going at Gigantic Overstock Sale Prices. $4.97 TO $7.50

Finer Grades of Newest Low Shoes

At greatly below the regular prices. Newest of Dress Shoes, black and brown satins, gray suede, patent leathers, plain overlay and cut out patterns. Cuban, Louis and military heels. Sale price $4.97 TO $7.50

MEN'S BROWN CALF OXFORDS.

French lasts, Goodyear welts, rubber heels, all sizes $3.47, $4.47 AND $4.95

SPECIAL CLEARING

of Boys', Misses' and Children's Footwear for the holiday. Prices $1.87, $2.47, $2.97 AND $3.19

RUNNING AND TENNIS SHOES—For Men, Women and Children, in all the wanted colors, all going at Gigantic Overstock Sale Prices.

THE PEOPLES SHOE STORE

131 DUNDAS ST. 12 MARKET SQUARE

Wednesday Morning At 5 o'Clock TOMORROW

Is the Date Set for the Big RED BIRD BICYCLE DRAWING

HERE ARE THE CONDITIONS.

- 1.—Open to any boy or girl 16 years or under.
- 2.—Must be an attendant in one of the city schools.
- 3.—Must be a resident of London.
- 4.—Must bring the ticket with them on day of drawing. Tickets not transferable.
- 5.—The drawing will take place at our store at 5 a.m. sharp, May 23, 1923.
- 6.—Tickets good whether you own a bicycle or not
- 7.—Holder of the lucky number must be present at drawing or another drawing will take place.

Be there 5 o'clock sharp with your coupon. Wouldn't you look glum if you were snoozing in bed and your number was called? Just losing a $50 Red Bird, that's all!

Bicycle & Motor Sales Co.

425 Wellington Street. Phone 3182
SEE G. A. WENIGE, THE MAN WHO MADE WALKING EXPENSIVE.

"COWAN'S" Departmental Hardware Store

If it is Hardware give us a call on the phone or drop in. We have Hardware for all purposes. Below is a List of Holiday Specials.

SPECIALS

Step Ladders, all sizes ... $1.85 up
Tinners' Snips ...
Hammers ... 49c pair
Hose Reels ... 65c each
Lawn Seats ... $2.00 each
Lawn Sees ... $2.50 each

COWAN'S PURE WHITE ENAMEL

Guaranteed pure white, put up specially for us.
Pints, 80c; Quarts, $1.58; 1/2 Gal., $3.08; Gal., $5.98.

Baseball Goods

Agents for "Reeb" Sporting Goods, Baseballs, Bats, Masks, Gloves, Mitts, Scorers' Pads, Etc.

SPECIALS

Tires, Fabric ... $10.50
Tires, Cord ... $15.00
O'Gardar Polish, .25c, 50c bottles
Char Dust and Polish Mops ... 65c & 95c each Window Screens ... 50c up
Screen Wire all widths, 18-inch to 48-inch ... 22c yard up

GARDEN SUPPLIES OF QUALITY

Rakes ... 65c up
Spades ... $1.50 up
Shovels ... $1.50 up
Hoes ... 65c up
Garden Barrows ... $6.50 up
Garden Trowels ... 25c each
Garden Seeds—Flower and Vegetable, 10c package, Lawn Seed, 50c lb.

PAINT UP AND CLEAN UP

A coat of two of Sherwin-Williams Paint brightens and renews the interior and exterior of the home. Special paints for inside use, outside use, porch floor, inside floor, varnish, stains, etc.

LAWN MOWERS

Garden Sprayers ... 75c up

PREPARE FOR FLY TIME

Screen Doors, all standard sizes in stock ... $2.50, $3.75, $5.00
Combination All-Season Door, $8.50.

CLEAN-UP HELPS AROUND THE HOME

Bon Ami ... 15c
Old Dutch Cleanser ... 15c
Santiflush ... 15c
Gillette's Lye ... 15c
Wallpaper Cleaner ... 25c
Brooms ... $1.00

REFRIGERATORS

Agents for Taylor Forbes' made-in-Canada Mowers. Every Mower fully guaranteed. $8.50 up

SPECIAL ATTENTION TO MAIL ORDERS.

Open Wednesday Evening till 10 o'Clock.

Cowan Hardware, Ltd.

125-127 DUNDAS STREET. PHONES 3461-3462

AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE

TUESDAY AND THURSDAY

By special arrangement with McClarys, their feature educational film illustrating the interesting process of making enameled ware household utensils, will be shown as an addition to the regular program.

Grand Theatre : Tuesday and Thursday

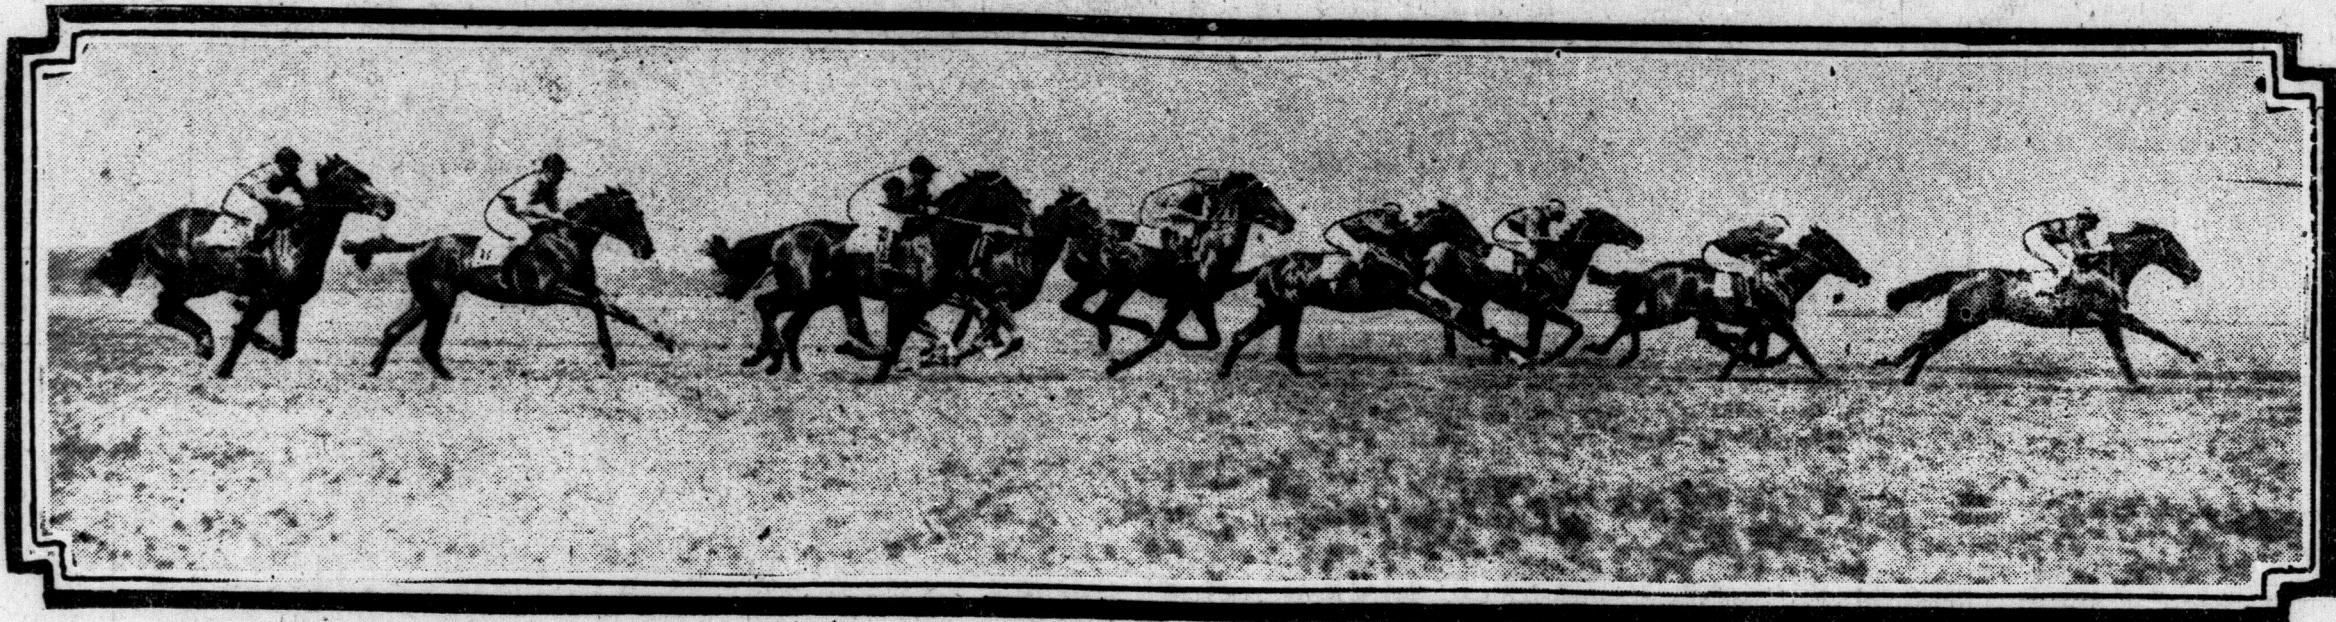

2 IN 1 Shoe Polishes

More and Better Shines to the Box

The ADVERTISER'S PICTORIAL PAGE

Dainty Winifred Shannon, a new beauty for the Follies.

Little Cis F. leading the field in the May stakes, Newmarket, England. She was never headed.

Mme. Georgette Leblanc, former wife of Maurice Maeterlinck.

Jesse Sweetser, U. S. amateur golf champion, bunkered in the English amateur title tournament at Deal. He lost.

Lord Northesk arriving to marry Jessica Brown, a Buffalo girl.

A weird wedding dress exhibited in London.

Glencannon's new lord, formerly Hon. Christopher Tennant, who has succeeded to his father's peerage. He is a nephew of Mrs. Asquith.

Francis Ouimet, driving at Deal.

British invalids leave on a pilgrimage to Lourdes.

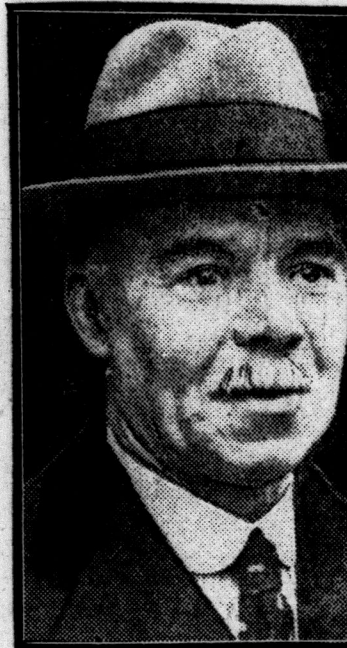

Joe Smith, captain of Bolton Wanderers, laying a wreath on the cenotaph after his team won the English Cup.

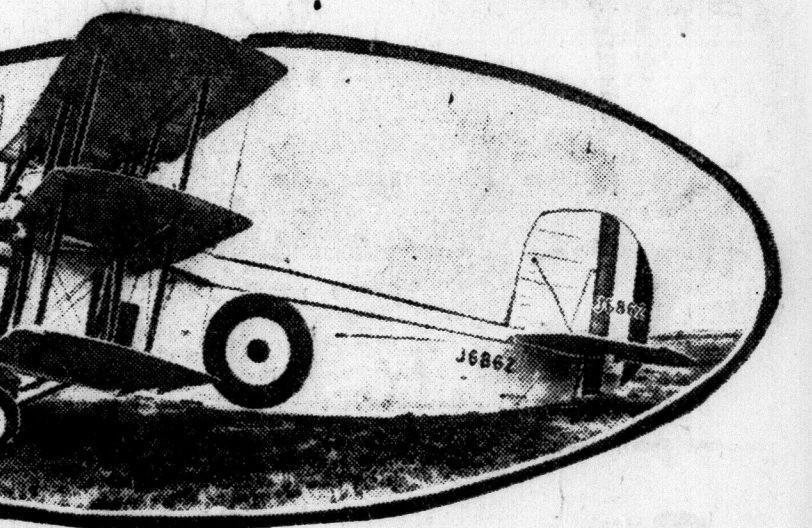

Princess Astrid of Sweden, third daughter of Prince Karl, in her confirmation robes.

Carmel Myers, noted film beauty, and her husband, have decided to separate.

It has at last been decided that F. Lee, a Laborite, won Northeast Derbyshire by fifteen votes in the general election.

The first official photograph of Britain's "hush-hush" triplane, a powerful bombing machine.

The snow leopard of Central Asia, a handsome member of the cat family, just added to the Washington Zoo.

Blind men of St. Dunstan's in a walking race, guided by E. C. Horton, the well-known English walker.

The champion piemaker of the northwest states is Dr. J. E. Gilbert, practising physician of Seattle.

Field Marshal Sir William Robertson, proud godfather to his granddaughter, the child of Lieut. and Mrs. L. Lockett-Agnew.

New York's "Sleepy Hollow"
HUSTLING, bustling New York hurries to and from its toil, ignorant of its own little "Sleepy Hollow," which is tucked away in one little unknown corner of Greenwich Village, and is known as "Minetta Place."

A Magazine Page For Everyone

They Must Tell the Truth

EIGHT Vienna newspapers have been convicted for printing advertisements as reading matter without designating them with the required symbol. The newspapers were fined and the proceeds from the advertising declared forfeited to the government.

"THE STRANGER" A Gripping Story of Love Triumphant Over the Plots of a Master Criminal

BY JOHN GOODWIN

Philip At Last Learns the True Identity of His Mysterious Friend, Goodenough.

Philip stared up dazedly at the face that looked down into his. "Goodenough" gasped Philip feebly: "you!"

Then everything spun around, there was a buzzing in his ears and his senses left him.

CHAPTER XXVI. The Stranger Intervenes. Philip came to himself slowly. With the dim return of consciousness and the sense of tragedy past everything seemed so unreal that he wondered vaguely if he were dead and had passed into another world.

But it was a hard material floor that he sat upon in a dimly lit room, and a material wall against which his back rested. Then came remembrance and instantly his hand shot to his breast pocket, that had bulged with the mass of papers he had stowed there.

They were gone! Philip sprang across and gripped him by the arm. "What are you doing?" cried Philip fiercely. "Give me those!"

Goodenough handed them to him with a curt bow. "I have finished them," he said. "My congratulations, Mottifont. A strange development indeed and an unforeseen one. Your conduct of the case is masterly—masterly! With this in hand there is the soundest hope that you will establish your wife's innocence and free her."

Philip went over the papers swiftly to insure that none were missing, but found them all there, and he glared at Goodenough in anger and suspicion. "I don't know what you are driving at," he said. "What does it all mean? You took those papers from me—"

"I will apologize, if that is what you want," replied Goodenough, with an air of one who soothes a fractious child. "You were in no condition to offer them to me, you know. I took the briefs and read them; it saves time and explanation. Those papers, Mottifont, concern me even more than they concern you."

"In heaven's name, Goodenough," cried Philip, "tell me who you are and what you are doing here! What does it all mean? Your very identity is a mystery to me and always has been. Who are you?"

"Your landlord, I believe," replied the stranger. Philip stared around him at the bare room and the closed door. "You are wondering where you are," said Goodenough. "You became unconscious—"

"It is indeed," said Philip hotly. "What brings you here at such a time and for whom are you acting in this black business? And how comes it that most private papers are your concern? Why is—"

He stopped short. Goodenough was looking at him with a faintly sardonic smile of amusement almost of affection. "Philip reddened to the ears. "Goodenough," he said. "I beg your pardon. I am hardly myself or I should not have forgotten so soon that but for you I should have been a dead man unless, I am sure, you saved my life and at the risk of your own. I thought, when you got hold of me, that we were both done for. And how comes it that rather than appearance, at the moment," said Goodenough, coolly.

"It is absurd to speak of thanks in such a case, isn't it? I owe you my life, and beyond that, a debt greater than I can repay," said Philip, and he held out his hand. Goodenough looked at it for a moment.

"I wonder," he said under his breath, "whether you would like to learn?" Suddenly stretching out his long arm he took Philip's hand in a tight grip. As they looked each other in the eyes a swift touch of sympathy, as between two strong men, seemed to flicker and pass.

"And now," said Goodenough, "I will carry you at once in medias res—right into the thick of it. How well old Horace puts these things. You got my warning, before I said it? Yes, it was I who sent it."

"And it was you," said Philip, almost accusingly, "who sent me that twenty thousand pounds."

Goodenough bowed. "I had that honor. It was, you've yours."

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

By J. P. Alley
KUNL BOB AX ME EF I THINKS IT GWINE DO HIM ENNY GOOD T' GO T' CHUCH NEX SUNDAY—WELL, IT NEV' HAV'!

Philip drew a sharp breath as he stared into Goodenough's face. "Who are you?" he cried; "enough of this mystery! You do not leave this room till you have told me!"

"The time has come for you to hear it. I will tell you what I would tell no one else living—honest man. I am Lord Talibois of Knyght."

Philip's first conviction was that he had to do with a madman. Surely Goodenough was insane? And yet, as he looked into the speaker's eyes, a dreadful tremor of doubt ran through him.

"I do not offer you proofs," said his companion quietly; "you are sharp enough to recognize the truth when you hear it. My birth name is William Talibois, later known to the police as Jim Carey. And as Sergeant Mesurier of the foreign legion I am believed to have fallen in France. Legally dead as I am, the law does not hunt me down, since it does not believe in the yet. I stand before you in the flesh. I am Joan's father."

Philip's face went deathly white. He recoiled from the man in sheer horror. CHAPTER XXVII. The Riddle Answered. "I believe you," at last muttered Philip. "Now, I see very clearly, and I have no choice but to believe you."

The man remained silent. There was a pause. "And I have only this to say," continued Philip hoarsely; "it is not to be supposed that you can feel shame. One can't wonder how providence allows such human devious as you to exist. It makes me sick to think I am in the same room with you!"

A spasm contracted the older man's features. He bowed his head. "All that," he said gently, "is perfectly true. I offer no defense, the grave it can be no worse than I have endured here. If I have sinned, I have suffered to the uttermost frontiers of suffering. It is very just."

"You!" cried Philip fiercely. "What does it matter what you endure? I am thinking of the suffering and misery you have brought upon others!"

"And that also," murmured Goodenough. "Of whom," continued Philip, his voice pitiless as steel, his eyes fixed on the other's face in loathing, "your daughter is the victim and the sacrifice. Joan's only fault is that she must own you for a father. You, who left her without even a name! You, who dishonored her mother and threw the child adrift to bear the burden!"

(To be continued.) (Copyright, 1923, by King Features Syndicate.)

THE ETERNAL QUESTION

by Felice Davis
A Day With the Angels and Back to Earth.

Laura—It was good of you to come with me today. Henry—It's just the opportunity I've been looking for to spend a spring day in the country with you.

Laura—Yes, and you'll enjoy being with my Sunday School children—they're such sweet little dears. Henry—I love little girls and boys. I'll be frank with you, Laura—I'm looking forward to having a happy family of my own some day.

Laura—I can't understand people who don't love children—the little darlings! Henry—I'm glad the rector didn't come with you. Laura—I invited both the rector and the Sunday School superintendent, but at the last minute they were both taken suddenly ill.

Henry—Well, I can't say I'm sorry. I'll have you all to myself after we start the children playing—here we are now. Laura—Come, children, pile your packages under this tree. Run along now and show what little ladies and gentlemen you are.

Henry—You're out in the country now and you can play just as you like. Laura—It's wonderful here with the shady willows, the running brook, the little lake, and the children. Henry—By jove! It's like heaven being out in the beautiful country with you all alone!

Laura—Isn't it heavenly—and all the dear little children playing around like the angels they are? Henry—You are always thinking of the children. It's time you were thinking of yourself—your future. Laura—My future? Why, I can't imagine my future without the laughing voices of the children. Henry—That's it exactly! Think how much happier you'd be if they were your own children. Laura—My own children? Henry—Yes, dear. You know I wish you and want you to be my wife. Laura—Oh! This is all so very sudden—

Laura—Yes, my wife! You can't say "no!" Laura—Oh—Oh—It's time to call the children home!

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

BOXER GROWS SULKY. By THORNTON W. BURGESS. A sulky person is a bore. Nothing less and nothing more. —Old Mother Nature.

Boxer, the young Bear who, with his twin sister Woolf-Woolf had been sent out to make places for themselves in the Great World, had discovered the real reason why he had been turned out of their old home by Mother Bear. There were new babies there. Yes, sir, there were new babies there. Boxer's nose was out of joint, as the saying is, because of being pleased, he was jealous.

Now, jealousy is the meanest feeling that can take possession of anybody. It leads to anger, to sulkingness, to envy and to other bad feelings. At first Boxer was simply very angry. What might have happened to those helpless babies under the old windfall had Boxer got in there before the return of Mother Bear no one knows. But he didn't get in there. Mother Bear returned just in the nick of time, and she gave Boxer one of the greatest frights in his whole life. In that fright he forgot anger and everything else.

But after he had fully recovered from that fright, and had found that Mother Bear was not after him, he began to grow angry again. It was jealous anger. He felt that he and Woolf-Woolf had been very badly treated in being sent out in the Great World to make their own way. They hadn't, you know. They were big enough to take care of themselves, and it was high time for them to be doing it. But Boxer just wouldn't think of it in this way. He blamed those helpless babies under the old windfall. Yes, sir, he put all the blame on them.

"It's all their fault," he kept muttering to himself, as he prowled about in the Green Forest, always taking care never to go very near the old windfall. "It is all their fault. That was my home and Woolf-Woolf's, and they have no business there. If ever I catch them I'll make them sorry. I'll teach them a lesson. Yes, sir, that's what I'll do. I'll teach them a lesson. I guess they'll never drive anybody else out of a home. There must be two of them. I'm sure I heard two cry. I don't see them. But the discovery that there were new babies, and that Mother Bear had not thought for anyone but them, made all the difference in the world. And so Boxer sulked and sulked and sulked, and was as bad tempered as a young Bear could be. Dossens and Dossens, that was the name of that old windfall. But he didn't do it. Every time he was so tempted he remembered that ugly growl of Mother Bear's and how dreadful her teeth had looked. He would shiver at the thought and wander off in another direction. (Copyright, 1923, by T. W. Burgess.) The next story: "Boxer Sees His New Relations."

Cynthia Grey

A Rattle—That's All. Dear Miss Grey—I received my badge today, and was so delighted with it that I just had to sit right down and write a letter to tell you. December Bride was surely wise to think of such a nice thing for the Mail-Box, and your idea of a shield is just lovely, Miss Grey. Isn't it nice to have the birds singing? There is a robin singing just the sweetest song you ever heard outside my window as I am writing this letter. Do Aunt Nannie's lilies stay in the ground all winter, or do you plant them every year? TRUE BRETTON.

Suppose you ask Aunt Nannie when you write about the seeds, True Bretton. Many of the Boxites have been asking me how to plant them and so on, but I am just as ignorant as the rest of you about them—and I do just as curious. Aunt Nannie's description of them sounded perfectly lovely, didn't it? But I shall be able to have a look at them when the photos of the gardens begin to come in. Indeed, it is nice to hear a robin. True Bretton, and right now it is hard for me to imagine anything about the song of a robin when all I can hear is the rattle of a typewriter.

Now, About Painting. Where are some of our artistic friends among the Boxites? A Drumboxite writes to ask if anyone can enlighten her on "French Pen Painting," or could let her see a sample of it. I am afraid Cynthia Grey is too firmly tied down to such mundane affairs as postage stamps and addresses to be of much assistance. I can be in a case like this, but I am sure someone will help us. I am sending you the lily seeds, Drumboxite, and I would be more than pleased to have you send me some of the seeds. We have plenty of morning glory.

"The Bride's Trousseau." Have any of the Boxites a copy of "The Bride's Trousseau"? Several requests have been made to supply it. With June in the offing, I expect I shall be having a great many prospective brides writing to ask me what are the trousseau necessities, so readers, if you have any regard for Cynthia Grey and her peace of mind you will send me the list.

Stranger neglected to inclose her address, so I cannot forward the seeds she asked for.

the more sulky he became. He felt that he was a very much abused young Bear. He thought only of himself. He didn't give a thought to Woolf-Woolf. By this time he had almost forgotten her.

Probably had he not discovered she had been there were new babies in the old home he would by this time have been a contented and well satisfied young Bear. He didn't need Mother Bear any longer. He had no use for that old home. He probably would very soon have left Mother Bear had she not driven him away when she did. But the discovery that there were new babies, and that Mother Bear had not thought for anyone but them, made all the difference in the world.

And so Boxer sulked and sulked and sulked, and was as bad tempered as a young Bear could be. Dossens and Dossens, that was the name of that old windfall. But he didn't do it. Every time he was so tempted he remembered that ugly growl of Mother Bear's and how dreadful her teeth had looked. He would shiver at the thought and wander off in another direction. (Copyright, 1923, by T. W. Burgess.) The next story: "Boxer Sees His New Relations."

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

SALVATION BY CALAMITY. By MARTHA McCULLOUGH-WILLIAMS. "I think," Mrs. Clare said, decisively, "something should be done about it."

"So do I, but who'd better do it?" Miss Lane, of uncertain age and temper, countered, acidly. "Constable Mines will—"

"How do you know?"—from Mrs. Clare. "I asked him—"

"I'm not so sure of that," Miss Lane said, sniffing again. "You have to pay poll tax here you can vote, and who's going to do that, with millions so expanding and expensive?"

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

"I can't abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated. "Who are you talking of, that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

"I can't abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated. "Who are you talking of, that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

"I can't abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated. "Who are you talking of, that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

"I can't abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated. "Who are you talking of, that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

"I can't abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated. "Who are you talking of, that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

"I can't abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated. "Who are you talking of, that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

"I can't abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated. "Who are you talking of, that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

"I can't abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated. "Who are you talking of, that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged. "I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—"

Used After Shaving Keeps Skin Soft and Smooth. Many men suffer from irritation of the skin as a result of shaving. With some it assumes a form of eczema and becomes most annoying and unsightly. By applying a little of Dr. Chase's Ointment after shaving the irritation is overcome and Barber's Itch and Eczema are prevented or relieved.

SURPRISE SOAP A PURE HARD SOAP. Examine the Seams. After cleansing any garment or material with SURPRISE examine the Seams. You will find that SURPRISE has done its work thoroughly; and the article is truly clean.

Teachers' Guild Elects Miss Tolhurst President

Annual Meeting Given Over To Addresses From Old Country Teachers.

Miss Marjorie Tolhurst was elected president of the Women Teachers' Guild at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Alexandra School. She succeeds Miss F. Lawrence, who has just completed a most successful year as first officer of the guild. Other officers elected, as they were suggested on the slate of the nominating committee, are: Honorary President, Mrs. H. B. Gahan; honorary vice-presidents, Miss Jessie Simpson and Miss Cannell; vice-presidents, Miss Gertrude Bapty and Miss Eva Darch; secretary, Miss Dorothy Wardrop; assistant secretary, Miss Agnes Vrooman; treasurer, Miss Nina North, Miss Bessie McCann, convener of the nominating committee, submitted the slate to the members.

During the year the club has received $591.17, and now has a balance of $167.82, according to the report of Miss Vola MacDonald, the treasurer. With the exception of brief speeches from the chair, given by the retiring president, Miss Lawrence, and the incoming executive head, Miss Tolhurst, the meeting was devoted to the hearing of addresses from the old country teachers. Miss Daisy Guitton and Miss Grace Clark, who have been on the public school staff here during the past year.

Will See Indians.

The women teachers of London are loath to let them return to their native land without giving them an opportunity to see something of the Indians, the true Canadian natives, and so are arranging a trip to Muncy and a visit to the Mount Elgin Institute there.

Miss Clark, of Galashiels, Scotland, who was the first speaker of the afternoon, pointed out in a most interesting manner the differences which exist between the systems of education in Scotland and that which prevails in Canada. "I like teaching here better than at home," she said. "It seems to me that school here is a pleasanter place for little people. There are pleasanter subjects taught. Where you spend much of your time in teaching drawing and music and such subjects, we spend our time in drilling the little ones in the rudiments of the three R's."

The result seems to be that whereas your very small children appear exceedingly bright and seem to be ahead of our Scotch children, this is not the case with the larger boys and girls. At the age of fourteen, our Scotch pupils seem to be at least equal to our pupils of the same age."

FUR REMODELING

At Summer Prices.

Fur Storage

Now Open, Absolute Security.

ROSS, Limited

Phone 1319.

We specialize in Choice Flowers for Graduation

WEST'S Flower Shop

249 DUNDAS STREET.

PLAN LUNCHEONS FOR DELEGATES.

The ladies of St. Paul's Cathedral, under the convener of Mrs. M. Farlane, will cater for two luncheons, which will be tendered the delegates attending the Women's Auxiliary meeting in Cronyn Hall next week. Luncheon will be served to the delegates on both Wednesday and Thursday at the Masonic Temple.

"Wear-Ever"

Aluminum Utensils

are made from thick, hard sheet aluminum. Light, beautiful and durable.

Northern Aluminum Co. Ltd., Toronto

Replace utensils that wear out with utensils that "Wear-Ever"

Nine-Tenths of Wisdom Is Being Wise In Time

—Roosevelt.

The laborious work of attending to the Household Washing can easily be put on our broad shoulders. We have several plans to fit your pocket-book. Why not start now and be wise in time.

SOME WAY AND SOME HOW

The Parisian Laundry

Laundresses, Dry Cleaners, Dyers and Rug Cleaners.

Established 1873-1923. Phone 558, 559.

We hand-wash Curtains in Lux Suds.

STOCKINGS ARE SHEER AND HATS PEEK-A-BOO

Fashion Decrees But Scant Covering For Milady's Head and Feet.

By AILEEN LAMONT. Copyright.

New York, May 21.—A heel, an infinitesimal amount of dye and $12— that describes accurately a pair of the hose now basking in fashion's smile. Stockings today cannot be too thin, although the limbs they cover, but do not conceal, may still be criticized in that respect.

Paris set this style, and it was Mistinguette, the girl with the "Widest legs in France," who taught Paris to like it. She wears stockings so thin that bets have been made as to whether she wore any at all. Asked to settle the wagers she said: "Feet without shoes—yes, and souls without trepidation, but legs without stockings—never."

Wearers of these same hose on Fifth avenue may conceal their trepidation, but they do not conceal their legs.

An artful pair of stockings may hold traffic on the avenue, but what holds up the stockings is the corset. For hose nowadays are too thin to roll. But corsets of today are not even a reminiscence of the steel and whalebone era. In three years they caught whales to make corsets. Now a woman has to be a male to be induced to wear one of the old style.

The newest examples of the corsetier's art are made exactly on the lines of the bodice of a modern evening gown. Of satin, they are fastened trimly around the bust, but have not a sign of a bone or steel. The smallest of elastic gussets of nylon freese movement are inserted at the bottom of the skirt from which hang the supporters which hold the stockings unwrinkled.

The new theater hats, like the stockings, are so designed that it is almost impossible to tell whether a hat is being worn or not. They are a guessing town. Of satin, they are made with the turban concealing hair braid or chignon of the exact shade of the wearer's hair. That is, if the wearer's hair is brown, the hat is brown, with the hair showing through. The trimming may be either a closely wound scarf of Egyptian or Paisley design, or of metal brocade put on in such a way as to give the impression of a bandeau about the hair. In some cases the trimming is in the form of a jeweled coronet.

The whole effect is such as to give the impression that no hat is being worn, but that only a bandeau or coronet is bound about the head. It is, of course, unnecessary to take such a hat off in a theatre, as it prevails of her less obstruction to the view of those behind it than the flowing island coiffures worn by some who affect bobbed hair.

A military vogue, just passed on to this country by London, provides a charming background for a piquant face. A huge wide black straw, with a fluffy white brim, trimmed in the last few months, she concluded, "The feeling over there is that the teachers' salaries should be decreased and that part of the freedom which they now enjoy should be taken away. This is due to the increased necessity for a stringent economy in the old land."

BRESCIA HALL GIRLS PICNIC AT LAKESIDE

Philip Pocock Arranges Happy Event In Honor of Graduates.

Thirty-two girls, students of Brescia Hall, including the seven graduates, enjoyed a jolly picnic at Port Stanley yesterday afternoon, which had been arranged by Mr. Philip Pocock, of the board of governors, who chartered a special car. Among the guests of honor were His Lordship Bishop Fallon, also Father O'Gorman of Ottawa, who preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening. A number of former students of the college, who are in town for convocation week, were also present at the picnic, including Miss Irene Page, Windsor; Miss Ina Corrigan, Kingston; Miss Margaret McColl, Simcoe, and Miss Marie Gahan of Woodstock.

ELECT MRS. M'IVOR LOBO W. I. PRESIDENT

Annual Meeting Is Held At The Home of Mrs. E. T. Caverhill.

On May 17 the annual meeting of the Lobo Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. E. T. Caverhill, with 40 present. The election of officers for the year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Wm. McIvor; first vice-president, Mrs. Chas. V. Tuckey; second vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Hodgson; secretary-treasurer, Miss Ruby McVicar; first assistant secretary-treasurer, Miss Lizzie Selts; second assistant secretary-treasurer, Miss Laura Edwards; district director, Mrs. A. Ferguson; directors, Mrs. A. Ferguson, Mrs. P. G. McIntyre and Mrs. E. T. Caverhill; representatives to district annual convention, Mrs. Wm. McIvor, Mrs. Chas. V. Tuckey, Mrs. Jas. Edwards, Mrs. A. Ferguson, Mrs. P. G. McIntyre. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered our retiring president, Mrs. E. T. Caverhill. Roll call was answered by "our favorite summer dessert." Question drawer was taken by Mrs. A. Ferguson. Community singing followed. The summer meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. T. Caverhill, on May 23.

A guest contest was an amusing feature of the afternoon, and the winner was Mrs. P. G. McIntyre. Mrs. Carlyle Caverhill favored with an instrumental.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. McCaw, Lobo, on June 20, at 2:30 p.m. Roll call will be answered by "recipe for salad."

A flower contest will be an interesting feature.

Byron Institute Elects Officers

Mrs. College Becomes President For 1923.

The annual meeting of the Byron Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Allen McLean Thursday, May 17. Mrs. McEwen was in the chair. The officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. College; first vice-president, Miss Wickerson; second vice-president, Mrs. Griffith; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Griffith; directors, Mrs. Sanderson, Mrs. Smith and Miss Duncan; district director, Mrs. Crowe; district representatives, Mrs. College, Mrs. Griffith, Miss Wickerson and Mrs. Crowe. After the election Mrs. Boyes, lecturer from the department, gave a very interesting and inspiring address on "Open Secrets," and later gave many helpful suggestions for program planning. Solo's by Mrs. Calver and Mrs. Smith were also very much enjoyed. Mrs. College will be the hostess for the next meeting, June 19.

MRS. ERNEST BROWN SMITH, who arrives in the city today after spending the winter months abroad. The Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., is entertaining at the tea hour in her honor this afternoon at Cronyn Hall. Mrs. Smith was for many years regent of the Municipal Chapter, and the members of the order throughout the city are anxious to be the first to extend to her a "Welcome Home!"

Social and Personal

Mrs. Niven is entertaining at a small luncheon on Wednesday. Mr. Gurth Jencks of St. Catharines will spend the 24th of May in London.

Miss Croft of this city has been spending a few days at "The Pines," Chatham.

Mrs. Eric Reid and her mother, Mrs. G. W. MacDonald, are visiting in Niagara Falls.

Mr. Arthur L. Johnson was in Toronto last week, attending the races at the Woodbine.

Mrs. H. W. Auden arrives home this morning, after spending the past few months in England.

Miss Reta Campbell, Princess avenue, was the hostess last week of a bridge of four tables.

Mrs. F. R. Eccles is going to Toronto today accompanied by her guest, Mrs. Reynolds of St. Thomas.

Miss Lydia Sheritt and Miss Edith Sparling, both of China, are guests with Mrs. C. E. German, Colborne street.

Mrs. Thomas Gillan, Sheldon Apartments, returned home Sunday after spending three weeks in Walkerville.

Misses Ethel and Jo Campbell of Detroit were week-end visitors with their aunt, Mrs. William Smith, Princess avenue.

Among the passengers who arrived at Quebec on S. S. Melita Saturday evening were Mrs. Hall and Master J. Hall of London.

Mr. Arthur Aceline of Toronto is expected in this week and will be a guest with Mr. Allen Towe, Princess avenue.

Mrs. (Dr.) Plagemeier, of Detroit, is spending several days in London with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Greer, York street.

The many friends of Miss Edna Dale, Princess avenue, will be pleased to learn that she is recovering after an attack of appendicitis.

Mrs. William Mann, Princess avenue, was the hostess of a small children's party given in honor of her son, Master John Mann.

Miss Macbeth, Ridout street, entertained at the tea hour yesterday in honor of Mrs. Walter Kingmill of Toronto, who is a guest in the city.

Miss Farielch Hungerford of Glen Mawr, Schomberg, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hungerford, for the holiday.

Mrs. (Dr.) Harold G. McLean of Windsor returned home, after a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Cole, 237 Piccadilly street.

Mrs. MacDonald of England, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Eric Reid, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given on Friday, G. McIntyre and Mrs. E. T. Caverhill, where they will be the guests of the latter's sister, Miss Christine Mackenzie.

Mrs. William H. Speers of Bronte and Mrs. J. McMillan of Campbellville were week-end visitors in town, spending a week conducting confirmation services in the diocese of the late Bishop Charles David of Michipicoten.

Mrs. Douglas Ewen and Miss Maud Baxter of Detroit are visiting Mrs. G. L. Pearson, Central avenue, having come to London to welcome home Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jeffery and Miss Marion Baxter, who have just returned from abroad.

Mr. George Madge, who was badly injured last September, and Miss Mary Madge, who is also in poor health, left for Alberta and Western points, where they will spend the summer months.

GRAY'S, LIMITED

STORE HOURS: 9 A.M. TO 6 P.M.

THIS STORE CLOSED ALL DAY THURSDAY, MAY 24 (VICTORIA DAY).

FLAGS! FLAGS!

Decorate For the 24th May

Flags (cotton)—Union Jacks, Canadian and Stars and Stripes. At, each

5c, 10c, 15c, 20c, 25c

Flags (silk)—Special at, each

5c, 10c, 25c

Main Floor.

Queen's Birthday

New Voile Dresses

WEDNESDAY SPECIALS

PRICED VERY LOW.

DRESSES of Figured Navy Voile, fresh, dainty models with side panels, lace collar and cuffs, sizes up to 46. Priced $7.95, $8.95

Third Floor.

Sport Coats

FOR YOUR HOLIDAY OUTING

FLANNEL SPORT COATS, braid trimmed, Tuxedo collar; colors of henna, oopen, red, cream and navy, sizes up to 44. Special at $6.95

Third Floor.

Extra Size Gingham Dresses

Gingham Dresses, slenderizing style, with long panels, organdy trimming, three-quarter sleeves, all colors, sizes up to 49; pretty dresses at low prices $4.50 to $5.95

Third Floor.

House Dress Apron Specials

House Dress Aprons of blue chambray, slipover style, tie sash, regular $1.25. Wednesday sale price, each 89c

Third Floor.

LADIES' STEPINS

Of fine white or flesh mull, lace trimmed, elastic at waist. Wednesday special 89c

Third Floor.

CORSET COVERS

Of fine cambric embroidery, sizes 34 to 44. Wednesday special 65c

Third Floor.

WEDNESDAY QUICK-SALE PRICE.

Dress Ginghams

27-inch width, mill ends 1 to 5 yards lengths, regular 25c and 30c. Wednesday to clear at, a yard 15c

Main Floor.

WEDNESDAY SNAP PRICES.

WHITE COTTON ENDS, 36-inch width. At, a yard 15c

CIRCULAR PILLOW COTTON, short ends, 50c to 69c qualities. Priced, per end —1/4 yard, 4c; 3/8 yard, 6c; 1/2 yard, 8c; 3/4 yard 10c

Main Floor.

WASH FABRIC SALE

SILKETTE TISSUE, light, soft, cool, with the natural silk shimmer. This new weave will meet many summer needs for summer frocks, children's dresses for negligees, etc.; colors of rose, pink, mauve, green and light blue, with small white figures and pin spots; 39-inch width. On sale Wednesday at special price, a yard 50c

Wash Goods Department, Second Floor.

WEDNESDAY'S OPPORTUNE SALE.

Curtain Madras

Cream ground with bar and peacock figures in blue or gold, 48-inch width; also block patterns with overchecks of blue and rose, finished with pretty lace edge; 36-inch width; values up to $1.50. Wednesday morning sale price, a yard 89c

Curtain Department, Second Floor.

ON SALE WEDNESDAY.

Drapery Special

An opportunity to buy at a price much below the regular marking. VELOUR MADRAS, soft and silky-looking, handsome designs, in rich colorings of blue and tan or tan and gold; 45-inch width; regular $3.00. Wednesday special $2.00

at, a yard $2.00

Drapery Department, Second Floor.

GRAY'S, LIMITED

140 DUNDAS ST. PHONES 115-116

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

PRYING.

We all have family troubles—family secrets. Usually they are little personal matters that we would rather because they are so little and so very personal.

It is almost impossible for us to keep them from the children. They seem to soak them up through their skins. We may not have uttered a word about it in their presence. We may have been models of discretion all day, and yet at sunset we all know that they know.

We betrayed the secret in a dozen different ways. Our eyes kept straying. The tones of our voices changed. We did not open a certain door. We whispered once. We omitted doing tell their secrets to outsiders. This belongs to us. Just us!"

Loyalty is essential if there is to be a family feeling, and the sooner the children get the idea the better. Teach them that when people question them about family concerns that they are to answer politely, just—nothing at all! Silence is the child's wall of defense. Silence and flight! That is what they do when they are greatly interested in a neighbor down street.

"If only she could get the right of it!"

She stopped Patsy on his way for the morning milk. His mother, watching from the window, saw and hoped that Patsy would remember her cautions. He did.

When he trudged up the steps with the milk, his mother asked: "What was the lady saying to you?"

"She told me how did I do, and I told her how did she do herself. Then she told me did her see something coming into our house this morning."

This Leaves the Arms Free From Hairy Growths.

(Toilet Talks.)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless, and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered detalone and water, spread on hairy surface, and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get detalone—Advit.

and I told her nothing at all, and came on home with the milk. Was I a good boy?"

"Fine boy! None better! Just tell her nothing at all, and you'll be right."

But wasn't it mean to ask him? Copyright, 1923, by Bell Syndicate, Inc.

D'Alaird

Blouses Lingerie
Skirts Kiddies' Frocks
Summer Dresses

Hand-made Voile Blouses

$2.98, $6.50 Up

Immense Variety
All sizes 34 to 48
On Sale Now

212 1/2 Dundas St.

CHICAGO STREET CAR MEN DEMAND WAGE INCREASE

Special to The Advertiser. Chicago, May 22.—Traction officials have decided to notify the leaders of the street car men, who are beginning June 1, that their demands cannot be granted as city and state authorities have given no encouragement to a plea by the street car lines that the fare be raised from 7 cents to 8 cents. It is claimed that some of the union men are strongly opposed to the strike threatened for June 1 if the wage demand is not granted. Advances in wages of seventeen of the building trades are expected June 1.

PUPILS TO GIVE CONCERT. The pupils of the Wortley Road School are preparing for a concert, which they are presenting at the school on Friday evening of this week.

MRS. ARTHUR LINNELL. worthy matron of the Forest City Chapter, O. E. S., whose members journeyed to Sarnia yesterday to escort the "Traveling Star" to that city.

Londoners Arrive Home After Adventurous Trip

Montlaurier Limp Back To Glasgow Port After Two Days On Her Way.

Yesterday and today bring home to London several prominent citizens who have been spending the winter months in the island. And they all come with a story of an adventurous voyage. Arriving yesterday was Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jeffery, Miss Marion Baxter and Miss Myra Hennigar, who eventually crossed on the S. S. Melita. Today brings Mrs. H. W. Auden, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith of this city, and Dr. and Mrs. James Coyne and Miss Margaret Coyne of St. Thomas, who crossed on the Montlaurier and set sail in that ship over two weeks ago.

MISS MARION BAXTER.

But neither the Melita nor the Montlaurier were the original ship of the London party. All expected to come to Canada aboard the Montlaurier and set sail in that ship over two weeks ago.

Miss Marion Baxter of the public library staff, who has just completed a most delightful four-months' trip on the Mediterranean in company with Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jeffery, tells all about the delay.

TOWNSHIP CHILDREN PRESENT FINE PROGRAM

Little Performers, Dressed As Rag Dolls, Are Feature of Entertainment.

A program of exceptional merit was recently given by the children of S. S. 22, London township, in Young's Hall, Crumlin, before an audience that filled the hall to the doors, some being unable to gain admission.

A program of exceptional merit was recently given by the children of S. S. 22, London township, in Young's Hall, Crumlin, before an audience that filled the hall to the doors, some being unable to gain admission.

Deserving of special mention among the thirty bright pupils who took part were Johanna Neilson, Harry Neilson, Teddy Vining, Margery Rouillon, Helen Stuart, Allan Mustell, Emily Wakeling, Isabel Watt, Archie Stuart and James Patterson.

Other clever numbers were a dialogue by senior pupils, entitled "Unexpected Company," a mock wedding and beautiful fairy drill.

The teachers, the Misses Verma and Laura Stanfield, are to be congratulated on the excellence of the performance given by their pupils.

The second part of the program, and one equally enjoyed, was an illustrated lecture by N. F. Willmot of London, on a trip from London to Muskoka, showing many beautiful views of Niagara Falls, Toronto, and the many island homes that dot the lakes in the Muskoka district.

The party made the return trip through Italy and the south of France, from there taking ship to England.

A visit to the Cairo Museum, considered the most wonderful museum of Egyptology in the world, was one of the most interesting events of the whole trip, according to Miss Baxter.

The party made the return trip through Italy and the south of France, from there taking ship to England.

WARM RAINS NEEDED TO ASSIST WEST CROP

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, May 22.—Given a warm light rain over the entire west, followed by warm weather, and plenty of sunshine between now and June 1, and the west will have its crop away to an excellent start, and any time that has been lost will be rapidly made up," says the May crop report of the Manitoba Free Press, published here this morning.

Attend Summer School in London

School teachers, extramural, regular and special students have the opportunity to spend six weeks at the Western University Summer School beginning July 2nd.

This Will Ward Off And Break Up Colds

Just a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin removes the congestion. THE two ailments that people generally regard as of the least importance are in reality the cause of most serious illness and of the greatest proportion of deaths. They are constipation and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it.

YOUNG PIANIST SCORES IN BRILLIANT RECITAL

Miss Iva May Smith Heard in Pretentious Program at Cronyn Hall.

Again last night music lovers of London were privileged to hear Miss Iva May Smith, the youthful artist pupil of Mrs. McHardy-Smith, in a brilliant program of piano numbers.

The recital, which was held in Cronyn Hall under the patronage of Miss Grace Blackburn, Mrs. R. E. Davis, Mrs. William M. Garshore, Mrs. A. D. Jordan, Mrs. Sherwood Fox, Mrs. Gordon Hunt, Mrs. C. H. Ivey, Mrs. C. R. Somerville and Mrs. A. T. Little, attracted a large audience.

The young pianist, who first appeared here in public recital at the age of 14, is now but 18 years of age, yet has so developed as a musician that she might be taken for a much more experienced artist.

Her brilliant tone, depth of expression and interpretation of the great composers, gave her a place by herself, and bespeak excellent training.

Perhaps the most pretentious number of the whole program was Chopin's "Concerto in E Minor" (Romance and Rondo) played in a masterly fashion. Other numbers were the Beethoven's "Rondo in G," the Chopin "Ballade in A Flat Minor," Twelfth Hungarian Rhapsodie, Paganini's "Evening Whispers" (Mendelssohn-Liszt), a French number by Ravel, and the "Etude de Concert" (Sternberg).

Orchestral parts were played on a second piano by Mrs. McHardy-Smith. The artist of the evening was assisted by Miss Ruth Betzner, contralto, who was heard in an interesting program, which included such numbers as "Pale Moon" (Logan), "Shanewis" (Caldman), "The Enchantress" (Lattin), "A Hindu Chant" (Sternberg), all charmingly and artistically sung.

CLUB NEWS

ARTS '25 PICNIC AT PORT.

The members of Arts '25, Western University, brought the year to a delightful close yesterday afternoon, when they picnicked together at Port Stanley.

MUNICIPAL CHAPTER, I.O.D.E.

The regular May meeting of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., will be held at Cronyn Hall this afternoon. It is planned that the meeting will take the form of a "welcome home" to Mrs. E. B. Smith, past president. A message has been forwarded to her, and although her present plans will not permit her to arrive in the city until the early evening, it is expected that the urgent invitation of the Municipal Chapter will make her change those plans so that she will be present at this afternoon's meeting.

The chief business to be discussed today will be a proposed campaign in the city for funds for the Institute of the Blind. There are said to be fourteen persons in London who are being cared for by this institute. H. G. Jackson will be present at today's meeting to explain the work of the institute.

WEDDINGS

PATERSON-McCLINTOCK.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McClintock of Brownsville, Ontario, on Wednesday, May 16th, at 12:30 o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Bertha Victoria, was united in marriage to Mr. John Howard Paterson of Field, B.C., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paterson of Keyser's Corner, Rev. Hiel Wood of Springfield, Ont., officiating. The bride entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her father and the young couple took their places under an arch of willows and roses to the strains of "Lohengrin's Wedding March" played by the bride's sister, Miss May McClintock.

The bride was attired in a suit of navy portet (twice) with hat of taupe silk trimmed with lace and French flowers, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. During the signing of the register, Mr. Ross McClintock, brother of the bride, sang "The Rosary."

After the marriage ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the dining-room, the tables being very artistically decorated for the occasion. Only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the parties were present.

The bride and bridegroom were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. Among the gifts were several checks, a cabinet, silverware from Massey-Harris Co., Limited, Toronto, with whom the bride had been associated for the past four years.

The groom's gift to the bride was a Victory bond, to the pianist a gold brooch, and to Mr. Ross McClintock gold cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. Paterson left on No. 45 from Springfield for Detroit, where they will spend a few days, leaving about May 23rd for Field, B.C., where they will make their home.

CHALK-BARTER.

An interesting book picnic will be held at St. Mark's Church, Pottersburg, when Ivey Adelaide Barter, R. N., superintendent of nurses at the Ontario Hospital, was married to St. Chalk, M. D., of this city. Rev. A. L. Beverley performed the ceremony. Dr. Chalk is a popular graduate of Western University, and is lecturing at the Medical School.

The bride wore a graceful gown of gray canton crepe, beaded in blue, with a begonia hat to match, and a corsage of Ophelia roses, lilies-of-the-valley and forget-me-nots.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Dr. W. J. Robinson's residence at the Ontario Hospital, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. John Cathcart and Mrs. George H. Stevenson receiving with the young couple. The guests included the nurses of the staff.

SHAMROCKS SCORE WIN ON WAY TO EDMONTON

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, May 22.—The Shamrocks of London, Ont., holders of the Canadian girls' basketball championship, defeated the Eaton's quintet in an exhibition game here last night 17 to 9.

The easterners are en route to Edmonton, where they will play in the Dominion finals.

Advertisement for McLAREN'S INVINCIBLE OLIVES. Includes image of a woman holding a bottle and text: 'Only the Perfect Olives go into the "Invincible" Bottle. The fastidious care exercised in selecting the olives, and the perfection of hygienic cleanliness observed in preparing and packing, accounts for the superiority of "McLAREN'S" "INVINCIBLE" Olives.'

Advertisement for Pepsodent toothpaste. Includes image of three women and text: 'At All Ages—Prettier Teeth Safer, whiter, cleaner teeth. Dainty people—millions of them—get them in this way. This is part of a world-wide crusade for safer, whiter teeth. Dentists of some 50 nations aid it. It has brought its benefits to millions. It is something you and yours should know. We urge again this ten-day test to show you what it means.'

Advertisement for Palmolive soap. Includes image of a woman and text: 'Yes—Only 10c for this reason. The popularity of Palmolive makes possible the popular price. The scientific blending of mild, soothing palm and olive oils, has produced a lotion-like cosmetic cleanser which millions of women use. Thus the Palmolive factories are kept working day and night producing the world's favorite toilet soap.'

THE WORLD OF SPORT

Advertiser Opens "On To Montreal Fund" To Send Local Stars To Dominion Intercollegiate Meet—Showing of "Wossa" Champs Justifies London Being Represented.

SEND LOCAL CHAMPS TO MONTREAL SATURDAY?

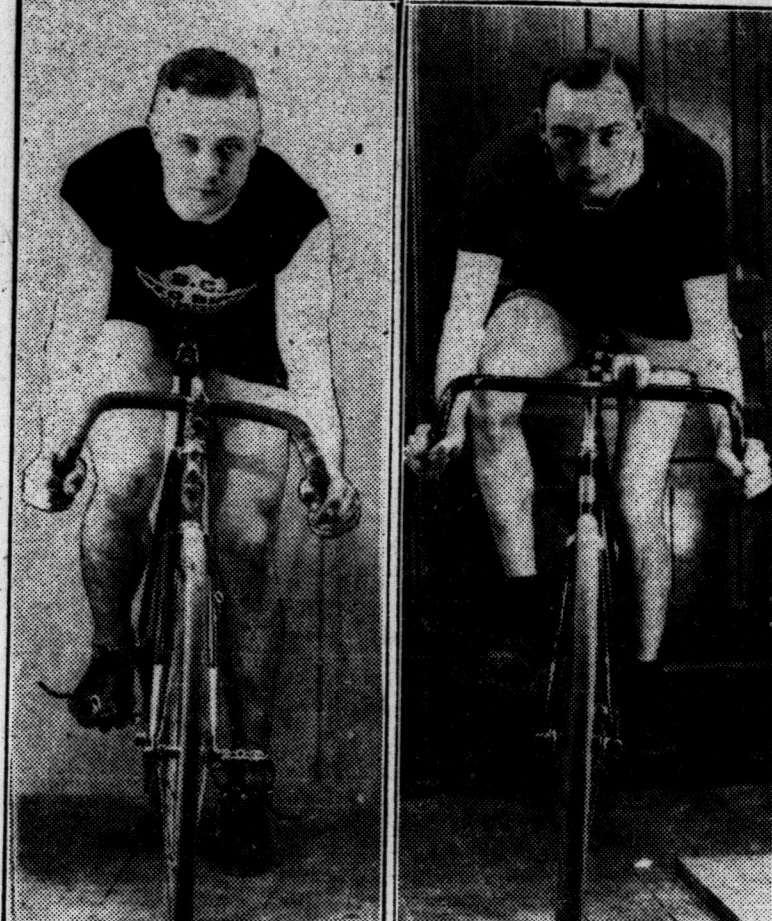

A big effort has been launched to raise a sum approximating $200 to send five members of the Central Collegiate Senior "Wossa" champs to Montreal Saturday, where the first Dominion intercollegiate meet is being staged at McGill Stadium.

HUMANES MAKE IT SECOND ON HAMS

Hixenbaugh Only Allowed Hump's Men Three Hits.

Table showing baseball statistics for Hixenbaugh's performance, including runs, hits, and errors.

Special to The Advertiser. Bay City, May 21.—Bay City made it two straight from Hamilton here Monday, 3-0, Hixenbaugh allowing three hits.

BILL COLES Ten-mile Canadian Champ. The 25-mile race and juvenile 5-mile race to be staged by the Friendship Cycling Club will be one of the features of a big holiday bill to be staged in London.

PINCH HITTERS AND TYGERS WIN

Pilette Allows Only Four Hits In Eight Frames.

Associated Press Despatch. Detroit, May 21.—A battery of pinch hitters took victory from the grasp of Philadelphia and gave Detroit a 4-2 victory today.

Tecs Overtaken By Aces 10th After Leading Way

Coogan Good Until the Sixth, Then Weakened With Errors Thrown In—Horne Hit Hard, Winters and Schwartje Stem Tide.

Special to The Advertiser. Saginaw, May 21.—London had a three-run race on Saginaw, losing into the ninth inning today and led the Aces, assumed a one-run lead in the tenth and eighth, let the Aces tie and then lost out in the eleventh, 5 to 7.

BASEBALL SUMMARY M-O LEAGUE. Saginaw vs London, Hamilton vs Muskegon, Kalamazoo vs Flint, etc.

GIANTS SUFFER FIRST INJURIES

Scott's Hand Broken, But the Giants Are Still the Strongest.

By JOHN B. FOSTER. Copyright. New York, May 21.—The New York Nationals have been the first of the clubs since the season started, to feel the stern hand of fate in the matter of an injured player.

YANKEES JOYRIDE THROUGH AMERICAN

Connie Mack's Athletics Are Coming Strong, Too.

Special to The Advertiser. New York, May 21.—Those unforgettable Yankees and the surprising Athletics have taken unto themselves the role of putting in what few remaining days there has been in the youthful baseball season.

DON PEDRO BEHAN LOSES TO PIRATES

Old Mint Vet Only Touched For Ten Hits At Philly.

Associated Press Despatch. Philadelphia, May 21.—Pittsburgh took the opening game of the series from Philadelphia today, 5 to 3. Lee hit two home runs.

M'CLARYS' NINE TRIM SCOTT-M'HALES 10-1

Munro's Triple and McCormick's Double Put Shoemen's Lone Run In.

McClarys Trimmed Scott-M'Hailes 10 to 1 in the Manufacturers' League last night.

Special to The Advertiser. Owen Sound, May 20.—The men's Scotch doubles bowling tournament, which has been in progress at the M. C. A. bowling alleys for the last two months came to a close yesterday, when George McBride and George Thompson defeated Wm. Hardy and W. Cheer in the final game 3-0 to 10-7.

Walter Johnson Comes With Team

Clark Griffith Assures Whole Menagerie Wednesday.

President Clark Griffith of the Washington American League club assured the entire personnel of the team will be here for Wednesday's exhibition game with the Tecumseh, including Walter Johnson and Nick Altrock.

PETROLEA HIGH SCHOOL TO HOLD TENNIS TOURNAMENT. Petrolea, May 20.—One of the special features of the program on May 23 at the local high school commencement exercises will be a tennis tournament.

ELMWOODS TO ENTERTAIN ON HOLIDAY AFTERNOON. May 24 the Elmwood Bowling Club will stage a grand opening for the season.

WALLACEBURG BOWLING CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS. Wallaceburg, May 20.—At the annual meeting of the Wallaceburg Bowling Club the following officers were elected.

USE TIGER LEAK PROOF WOVEN CORD TIRES. Guaranteed for one year. Prices and particulars forwarded to you by request. Tiger Tire & Rubber Co., Ltd. 314/2 Dundas St., London, Ontario.

SID BARBARIAN WINS ON POINTS IN DETROIT. Detroit, Mich., May 21.—Sid Barbarian of Detroit, lightweight, defeated Bobby Ward of Minneapolis here tonight in a fast ten-round bout that was full of action.

ALVIN, M'LAD - YOUR SCHOOL REPORT FOR LAST MONTH VEVEES ME GREATLY! IT IS WITH DEEP PAIN I NOTE YOUR SHOWING IN ARITHMETIC - A MARKING OF THIRTY, MY WORD! - MIND YOU, WHEN A MERE LAD AT PRIMARY SCHOOL IS ASTOUNDING THE FACULTY WITH HIS SOLUTION OF TRIGONOMETRICAL PROBLEMS THAT EVEN BAFFLED PROFESSORS OF ADVANCED MATHEMATICS!

Old mother nature put a distinctive flavor and aroma into Virginia leaf. T&B blending and processing bring it out for the smoker. 15-25 Packages 40-Week-end tin also in 1/2 lb. Home Tins. Smoke. THE TOBACCO MADE IN THREE FORMS PLUG - CUT COARSE - CUT EXTRA FINE 21X

Rowat's Teas
Used in Homes Where Quality Rules.
From 70c to $2.00 Pound.
T.A. Rowat & Co.
26 Dundas St. Phone 3051-3052.

DIAMONDS
A Diamond for an engagement ring. Beautiful Blue White Diamonds set in Platinum, white, green and yellow gold.
Rings from $25 to $1,250.
C. H. Ward & Co.
Diamond Merchants, Jewelers and Opticians.
285 Richmond St. Phone 1084.

The London Loan Company of Canada
MORTGAGES AND REAL ESTATE AGREEMENTS PURCHASED

STORED, REPAIRED
FURS
AND REMODELED.
Beltz & Co.
PHONE 817.

A Pleasure to Wear 'Em
It is no hardship to wear our glasses. Properly fitted, correctly designed, expertly made—they fill every visioned need with comfort and satisfaction. What more can you ask?

Carlyle TREBILCOCK OPTICIAN
233 DUNDAS STREET. Tel. 2351.

WELFARE TEAMS PLAN POST-DRIVE CANVASS
Captains Arrange To Make Further Collection To Attain Objective.

The united welfare fund initiated its final clean up campaign last night, when at a meeting of the team leaders in the Chamber of Commerce rooms arrangements were made for the final canvass of those people who through some oversight had been missed in the first round.
George Reid, chairman of the fund, president, and explained to the leaders of the teams the need of the second campaign. There was only a small amount outstanding, he said, and he believed that this amount could quite well be harvested for the benefit of all those societies for whom the fund has been raised.
There was an echo of the chairman's enthusiasm in the air of willingness and cheerful acceptance that marked all captains of teams, and the meeting closed with every prospect of achieving the goal which is the collection in London of the amount set as the objective in the great drive of a few weeks ago.

Obituaries

GEORGE A. ELLIS.
Fighting gamely to the end, George A. Ellis of Aylmer finally succumbed in Victoria Hospital yesterday morning to the poisonous gases he inhaled when upholding the cause of liberty and justice on the battlefields of France with the Canadian Expeditionary Force during the great war.
Mr. Ellis, who was 38 years old at the time of his death, was extremely popular in this district, and his geniality and frankness were well known to those who called him friend. He enlisted with the old 1st Battalion in St. Thomas and shortly after that went overseas. Like many other brave sons of Canada he was "gassed" in France, and he had never fully recovered from the effects of those treacherous fumes.
On returning from overseas he entered the customs service and had been stationed at Aylmer until his condition necessitated his going to the hospital for treatment.
Mr. Ellis was a prominent Mason, and was also a member of the London Customs Association. He was an earnest worker, and was well thought of by all the officials in this district. He leaves a wife and seven children in Aylmer.
Mr. Ellis was a son of the celebrated George Ellis, photographer of Aylmer and Lucan, who is credited with being one of the inventors of the dry plate, a photographic accessory that is in universal use.
The body was forwarded yesterday afternoon from A. L. Oatman's Funeral Home to Aylmer, where burial will take place.

MRS. E. DUNCAN.
Brigid, May 21.—The funeral of Mrs. Errol Duncan, of Broderick St., was held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Bruce, 8th concession, Moore Township. Mrs. Duncan had been seriously ill at her home for several weeks. She leaves her husband and one daughter, her parents, and two brothers, Dr. Kenneth Bruce of Stratford, and Allen at home.
Previous to her marriage Mrs. Duncan was one of the most popular young ladies of this district, having taught in several of the local schools, and was also president of the Women's Institute and a choir member of Moore Line Presbyterian Church. Interment was made in Petrolia Cemetery.

JOHN WYLLIE.
Wroxeter, May 21.—John Wyllie passed away at his home at Gorrie Saturday. He was in his 57th year, and the eldest son of the late James Wyllie of Turnberry township. He is survived by his widow and three children. The funeral was held to the Wroxeter Cemetery this afternoon.

ADAM PRESTON.
Galt, May 21.—Adam Preston, 77, a native and lifelong resident of Galt, was found dead in bed at his home, 18 Queen street west, this morning, after having suffered a stroke during the night. For 40 years deceased was an employee of the MacGregor-Gourlay Co., having been superintendent for many years. A widow, four sons and one daughter survive.

ALEXANDER GARDINER.
Brussels, May 21.—Mr. and Mrs.

Clearing Wednesday
From 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.
FOR 1 HOUR ONLY

High-Class Suits
at from 1/4 to 1/2 Price

These final offerings to clear are the greatest bargains ever shown in our store. Every garment an exclusive high-class model of the best fabric known to the trade, and faultlessly designed and tailored by expert skilled workers.

10 Suits, Regular Price
From $53.00 to $120.00
Clearing at $24.95

The Fabrics are Poiret Twill and Tricotine in the very latest three-piece and two-piece styles in navy, black, sand, tan and beige. Lined with silk and crepe silk. Finished with tuckings, embroidery, braiding, etc.

Clearing 32 Three and Two-Piece Suits

Regular $45.00 to $57.50
for $15.95

This exceptional offering includes the very latest Jacquette wrap over side fastened styles, straight lined and banded bottoms exemplifying the newest Russian effect, in small, medium and large sizes.

The Fabrics are all high class Poiret Twills, plain and embroidered Tricotines and Serges. These garments are highly finished with artistic headings, embroidery and braid; also tucked and corded models are among the lot.

13 New Spring Coats

Regular $35.00 to $59.00
Will Be Offered to Clear at $23.95 to $39.95

This collection comprises loose blouse, cape and roomy straight wrap models with mandarin and cape style sleeves.

Highly hand embroidered as well as more modestly trimmed styles are in this lot. New inlaid shirred collars are also shown.

ROSS' LIMITED
MANUFACTURERS
Phone 1319 196 Dundas Street.

Always Ready For the Unexpected Guest
That's the way you'll be when you learn of the goodness of Parnell's Quality Cakes

Boxed carefully in cardboard containers.
Five Flavors To Choose From 20c Each

At your grocer, from our driver, or by phoning us.

PARNELL BAKING CO.
PHONE 929

Sport Apparel For the Holiday

No wonder the sports mode is a success. It is endowed with color and originality. It achieves unusual effects in lines, and it is universally becoming. It seems to us that our stocks never were so replete with beautiful sports apparel, from the colored hosiery to matching hat—from knitted frock to severe knickers. For the game or sidelines; sportsmanlike or picturesque. Simple, but exceedingly smart.

Black Pattern Hats, 1-3 Off Wednesday

Here is an opportunity to procure at a very moderate price an out-of-the-ordinary hat for the holiday. These are real picture pattern Hats, and when you consider a reduction of one-third of the price, they are irresistible. Hats bearing the labels of foremost designers, fashioned of beautiful materials.

Small, medium and large styles, in all black with French flowers, Rhinestone ornaments, wide satin-back moire ribbon and elaborate black feather mounts. Wednesday, one-third off regular prices. Sale prices, $10.00 to $16.00.

Suits of 1923 Design and Originality

These charming little Suits date themselves as "Spring, 1923," in many acceptable ways. Their straight boyish or tied jackets; their wrap-around or draped skirts; their general smartness of cut; delightfully feminine; quite opposed to the strict severity of last season's modes. Delightfully individual, fastening in novel ways. Some with blouse tops, others to be worn with blouses of your choosing.

Sport Suits for the Holiday.

New Suits in Homespun, Flannel and Tweed; unlined suits. Colors tan, blue, orchid, white. Prices..... $23.75 to $33.50

Suit of Homespun, box coat with patch pockets, belt across front, tying at side, flare sleeve with cuff, skirt with slit pockets. Colors tan, orchid and blue. Price..... $23.75

Tweed Suit, tailored collar, slip pockets, pleats extending from shoulder, back and front to belt; two-button closing; tailored skirt with pockets. Tan only. Price..... $26.50

White Flannel Suits, coat with tailored collar, yoke in back, pin tucks from yoke, belted. Prices: $30.00 and $32.50

Anderson's Gingham, 40c

Another shipment of lovely fine quality Gingham, all branded on selvage. This famous Scotch zephyr is easily the favorite of the world over for its good, sterling quality, reliable make and the new and pretty checks, plaids and plain colors to match that are shown. Upwards of 40 different patterns and all the wanted colors in plain chambray to make up combination dresses—brown, tan, yellow, sky, leaf-green, pink, rose, teal, leaf-green, ox blood, etc. Out-of-town customers will avoid disappointment by describing color and check wanted in first letter, as many will be quickly sold out. You are protected by our guarantee of money refunded if not satisfied with goods. William Anderson's fine Gingham, 32-inch..... 40c

CREPE SATIN BEAUTE

Just arrived, one of the season's most popular and exquisite dress fabrics shown. With a very brilliant shimmering and shimmering effect. Apart from being a very handsome material, it is also very serviceable. Texture of a very fine wool and silk woven to a soft finish and touch, with a crepe effect. Simply a creation of beauty. Note the beautiful range of new colors—golden brown, tobacco, sapphire, copen, navy, navy, pearl gray, coral, peacock, fresta (pink), henna, honeydew, sand, old rose, ivory and black. The price we consider very moderate. Suitable for dresses, summer suits, combination dresses, skirts, etc.; 43 inches wide..... $3.50 yard

Store Closes at 5:30 Tomorrow

Do your holiday shopping before that hour and discourage the day and night working. Give the store employees a chance to enjoy the first summer holiday in the country air. This store will close at 5:30 tomorrow.

Girls' Coats for Summer

Girls' Rain Capes of rubberized paraimatta, with hood. Prices..... $2.50 and $3.75
Girls' Reefer Coats of navy cheviot serge, full lined..... $4.95
Sizes 6 to 12..... $5.95
Girls' Coat of Polo Coating, full length, belted, patch pockets. Colors fawn and lovat. Prices..... $10.95, $11.50 to $15.00
Second Floor.

Alltime Knitted Krepe $3.00 Yard

A knitted silk fabric as modish for spring as for autumn, as appropriate for winter as summer. Adaptable to all the style requirements of the four seasons. Has been accepted as the new fabric sensation of the hour. Suitable for waists, blouses, skirts, dresses and combination dresses. Colors shown—cocoa brown, nigger, toast, cork, harvest gold, black, white, navy, gray, mid gray, old rose venetian rose, sapphire, bluebell, copenhagen, sax blue, mignonette (green) and orchid; 36 inches wide..... $3.00 per yard

FLANNEL DRESSES

Billie Burke Flannel Dresses for motor-ing, outing, etc. handy to slip into. One-piece models trimmed with braid or contrasting material.
Billie Burke Flannel Dress with knickers for misses; colors brown and blue; the ideal suit for sport or camp wear. Price..... $15.50

Woman's Dress of Flannel, V front, pleat at side, string girdle; sand trimmed with brown, or brown with sand trimming. Price..... $10.95

Flannel Dress shown in henna with sand trimmings; vest, front and pockets of sand, trimmed with henna braid, collar and girdle faced with sand. Price..... $10.50

Flannel Dress shown with pleated skirt and jacquet blouse. Blouse shows stitching or braid trimming. Colors henna, brown, gray and sand..... $14.95

Special Tomorrow
Course dinner with "Roast Young Turkey"..... 65c
Restaurant—Fourth floor.

A Pre-Holiday Feature for Men and Young Men
Tomorrow Only—High-Grade Spring and Summer Two-Pant Suits, Specially Priced at $35

SACK SUITS, SPORT SUITS, SINGLE AND DOUBLE BREASTED.
Rich, imported Wool Tweeds, Serges, Worsted, beautifully tailored garments. Models for men and young men of all types. Herringbones, pencil stripes, heathers, two tones, grays, browns, tans. Young men's sport models, yoke and panel backs, patch pockets, Norfolks, smart but conservative models for men. All with two pairs of Trousers. These are super-values in men's and young men's Suits. See window display and be here early tomorrow. Sizes 34 to 46. Specially priced Wednesday, only..... $35.00

Men's Athletic Underwear
Special, 36 to 46. Very special..... 69c

Men's Balbriggan Combinations.
Short sleeves, ankle length. Very special value..... 98c

Boys' Athletic Combinations, 69c
Sizes 24 to 34. Special..... 69c

"Aratex" Collars
Wool, Tate and Art semi-soft Collars..... 35c, 3 for $1.00
"Pell," the new Arrow Collar for summer..... 25c

MAY RECORDS
"His Master's Voice," Hear Them on a Victor—Third Floor.

A New Blue Serge Suit for the 24th!
WITH EXTRA TROUSERS
$30, $35, $40, $45

An immense showing of Men's and Young Men's Blue Serge Suits, imported wool fabrics, thoroughly guaranteed; expertly tailored. See these tomorrow. All sizes, regulars and stouts.

Men's Silk Lisle Socks, 35c, 3 Pairs for $1

Splendid wearing, reinforced heel and toe; black, navy, gray, brown, white; 3/4 to 11..... 35c, 3 for $1.00

Forsyth Athletic Underwear

Irish balloon cloth, per suit..... $2.50
Fine "Cellweave," per suit..... $1.75
Silk top, per suit..... $3.75

SPECIAL All-Wool Cream Flannel Trousers, $7.85
Striped Flannel Trousers, well tailored, beautiful quality, all sizes. Special..... $7.85

Broadcloth Shirts
In white, blue, mauve and sand; soft collars to match..... $4.45

A New Tie Tomorrow?
New imported neckwear, knitted stripes and plaids. Splendid values..... $1.45

SPECIAL COURSE DINNER For Busy Men Restaurant.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM LIMITED

Alexander Gardiner, of Walton, five miles south of Brussels, old and well-known resident, went West a few weeks ago to visit relatives and friends. Mr. Gardiner took ill and was removed to the hospital at Gleichen, Alberta, where he died.
He was 80 years of age. The deceased was an active member of the Presbyterian Church, and had been a successful farmer before his retirement. The remains are being brought home for interment. Mrs. Gardiner accompanying the casket.

MRS. T. MAHAFFY.
Mitchell, May 21.—This morning Mrs. Thomas Mahaffy died at her home in Hibbert. She was born in Usborne township, but had been a resident of Hibbert since her marriage, 40 years ago. In religion she was a Presbyterian, and her age was 61 years. Besides her husband she leaves four sons and one daughter, Herbert and Wilbur at home, Frederick in Saskatoon, Alexander of Toronto, and Mrs. Robert Hoggarth of Hibbert.

ALICE LARSH.
Chatham, May 21.—The sad death took place yesterday afternoon of Alice Larsh, wife of Wm. E. Larsh, of Prairie Siding, after an illness of about six weeks. Hope was extended for her complete recovery until a few days ago.
Besides her husband and parents, she is survived by three sisters and five brothers. The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning from the residence of her father-in-law, Wm. E. Larsh, River Road, Tibbury, to St. Peter's Church at 9:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

GEO. E. LOGAN FUNERAL HOME.
371, 373 DUNDAS ST. PHONE 1985.

J. FERGUSON'S SONS
178-176 KING STREET.
Funeral Directors and Embalmers. Handsome Motor Car or Hearse Equipment.
Day or Night Service.
PHONE: 543. Residence 2056W.

Quality Vulcanizing Only.

ART WILKES
London Tire Repair Dept.
484 WELLINGTON STREET.
Opposite McClary

GORDON L. FERGUSON FUNERAL SERVICE.
Private Funeral Apartments
300 William St.
Personal attendance, Lady assistant
Phone 854J. Day and Night.

WHEN YOU Buy a Wray's Diamond
You know you have the best.
1-3 Off Present Prices.
TRY STORE WITH THE STOCK.
Our fittings are expert $1.50 to $10.00. We have Trusses to fit all needs. ANDERSON & WELLES, 268 Dundas St.
Cut shows one of our many lines.
N. J. GRIFFITH FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER.
104 Dundas Street, London.
Residence on premises. Phone 429.