Ward Three the Only Ward To Give G. A. Wenige a Lead.

BYLAWS CARRY

Three New Aldermen Returned Under New Eight-Man System.

John M. Moore, well-known architect nd former controller, was yesterday elected Mayor of London for 1926 by a najority of 1,531 over George A.

The citizens of London decided at the polls that three years was long enough for any man to occupy the mayor's chair, and turned a Wenige majority of 4,694 given last year into the defeat recorded above. The vote for the 155 subdivisions as compiled by the city clerk this morning gave Moore a total of 10,118 and Wenige 8,587. Ward 4 and Ward 1 rolled up large majorities for Moore, with Ward 2, the G. A. Wenige, mayor of London for mayor's own ward, giving Moore a com-fortable lead. Ward 3 stood by Wenige,

LEAGUE BODY DISAGREES ON AID IN AGGRESSION

Associated Press Despatch Geneva, Dec. 7.—The disarmament council of the League of Nations has falled to reach an agreement concerning the wisdom of having a study made of a plan to assure prompt military help to any nation which is the victim of aggression. Belgium and France had fought for this as a feature essential to the preparation of the proposed international disarmament conference. Subsequent to the adverse vote, Belgium today filed a strong reservation declaring a system of prompt assist ance more effective than disarmament The problem was referred to the main council of the league for settlement.

The Freshman is Lloyd's greatest hit, and it is a hilarious comedy, at time throwing the audience into hysterical laughter. This picture may be easily classed as a comedy drama instead of a straight comedy, for it has more than the usual quota of heart throbs and human interest.

The story is that of a freshman seek ing the laurels of popularity and athleticism, taking his tips of college life from catalogs and motion pictures. He is made the college joke, but later finds out his truth as to his college status, and later achieves his ideal. The college dance provides much laughter, the football game supplies the picture with the climax that is about the funniest and at the same time the most exciting thing ever screened.

The Dail Eireann was crowded for the important debate, many northern Nationalists having come here for the discussion which so intimately concerns them. The United States and various other consuls were seated in the galleries, as was also Mrs. Discroll, sister of the late Michael Collins. President Cosgrave's hope to have the bill pass its second reading today was frustrated by the obstructive tactics of Laborite Tom Johnson.

will not run far short of the vote secured by the late J. E. Marcile in the election of October 29. This by-election took on far greater significance than usually attaches to such an event. It was the first test of strength between Liberals and Conservatives since the general election. Mr. Meighen looked upon it as an opportunity to press for a seat in a situation where every seat

The Conservative leader entrusted the campaign to no hands but his own. For weeks he had planned the price he would offer for votes in Quebec: he had arrived at the size of his offer when he made his memorable "vote before war" speech at Hamilton on November 16; he repeated the offer from every platform from which he spoke in Quebec. Mr. Meighen went the limit,

Not only has Mr. Meighen failed in winning a seat in Quebec, but his overblown rhetoric has lost for him prestige in his own party. The Winnipeg Tribune (Conservative), referring to the method of Mr. Meighen's campaign in Bagot,

Mr. Meighen has not rolled the pork barrel into Bagot, but he has done something less defensible. He has gone there to trade with the electors, not in money.or in merchandise but in principles. He has extracted from the traditions of the Conservative party one of its most precious belongings, debased it, revamped it, and now offers it to the electors of Bagot as a gilded trinket to be bartered in exchange for votes."

Something Wrong

I just was reading of a chap who finished up a fastin' feat, him havin' gone for forty days without a single bite to eat. He is a scientist he says and starved himself to prove his point, that at the end he'd still be there and stuck together joint for joint. Why at the end his ribs would be clean stripped of all their streaks of fat, his clothes would fall from off his frame like dressin' up a baseball

He must have been determined though, for folks would come to him and say "Come on with us you scientist, and see what we have got today."

Imagine if they had fried eggs and slices of cured ham as well, the breed that from the kitchen stove sends cut a most invitin' smelland fried potatoes, pancakes too, and homemade bread two inches deep, and pumpkin pie and apple sauce, all gathered in a savory heap. Can you imagine how a man could sniff that place and turn away, and tell them he was starvin' now in some new scientific way?

Or if he was downtown at night and folks had coin within their jeans, and asked him to set in with them and scoop a hod of pork and beans. Or sit upon a stool and eat a plate of steamin' Irish stew, or have hot coffee with the crowd and crunch the sugared sinkers too.

I can't just get his point of view, be he a scientist or not, I'm most convinced as how that man he must be slightly off his dot.

It has been said that "anyone can have a pretty face, but it takes five generations to make a pretty hand." Whether this is true or not, we find, I a few days with Col. and Mrs. Colquthink fewer pretty hands than pretty faces.

I for one never fail to notice people's hands. They have as much expression as faces-often more intelligence! A hand can speak.

Personally I do not like either a face or a hand to be too artificially beautified. It takes from the charm. By THORNTON W. BURGESS. Yowler the Bob Cat was in a terrible temper as he left the place in the swamp where Paddy the Beaver and his family were at work on a new dam which would make a pond of that swamp. In the first place, Yowler didn't want a pond there. He much preferred the swamp as it was. Alvays he had found good hunting there ways he had found good hatting there.

But a pond would put an end to his hunting there. This in itself was enough to make him lose his temper, for his temper is very short, as you know. But to have Paddy the Beaver in at him and calmly go right with his work was too much. Yes, sir, t was too much. Yowler right then and there had such a fit of temper as nly a Bob Cat can have. When the Coil in the Cooking Element of Your Electric Range Burns Out -

WHEN an electric light bulb burns out you take it as a matter of course and replace it with a new one.

When the coil in the cooking element of your electric range burns out the consequences are more serious - and more expensive, depending upon the type of element it is.

If it is an open element the chances are the porcelain is badly cracked, broken and crumbled and will have to be replaced as well as the coil. And you will have to have an expert electrician come and do the job-more expense.

If it is a solid iron or porcelain element with the coils embedded inside and connected up in the usual way you will have to buy an entire new element and you will require an expert electrician to replace itmore trouble, delay and expense.

With McClary's Speediron Element you need no expert. The unit is simply lifted out and you can either replace the burnt out coil yourself or take it to your electrical dealer and have it done for a few cents while you wait. Then you just drop the unit back into place.

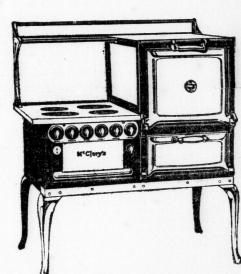

The heating coils of the Speediron Element, because of their perfect protection, are immune from the effects of dirt, grease, forks or other foreign substances which cause burnouts in the coils of open

How to Remove a McClary's SPEEDIRON Element

When a coil burns out and you want to remove the McClary's Speediron Element, you merely lift it up. It takes less time than it does to unscrew a bulb from the lamp socket and it takes less effort to put it back than it does to screw in a new bulb. There are no screws or nuts or wire connections to remove or loosen. In a few minutes you put in a new coil, drop the Element back in its place-that's all.

Come and See It

If you have an Electric Range now, you will want to see this new, splendid improvement, because you know all about Electric Range troubles now. If you are going to buy an Electric Range you should see the Speediron Element in McClary's Electric Range—the only trouble-proof Element on the market. The new Speediron Elements are now on the ear staggered the challenger at the bell.

Round fourteen — The champion swung right and left to Kansas' body and punished the challenger repeatedly. Kansas was on the defensive at last and seemed a bit weakened by the champion's attack on his body. Goodrich was punishing Kansas's body and was receiving little return at the bell.

Round fifteen—The champion started after the challenger as the final round started and scored hard rights and lefts to the body. Kansas fought back viciously hooking again and again to the fact. Kansas' blows seemed to lack the power they carried earlier. The fight ended with the men standing toe to toe and slugging for all their might.

CHARGES AGAINST COUNT

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Dec. 7.—Criticism of the actions of Count Ludwig Salm Hoogstreten on the tennis court during the play in the European matches this year has been approved by United States lawn tennis.

Several incidents marred the tie played between Ireland and Austria in the latter country. Ireland complained that technical violations of the rules were numerous, and that Count Ludwig has been most objectionable in his attitude. A European investigating committee agreed with the Irish team that the count's actions were "most objection able." and recommended that "competing nations should exercise the greatest care in the selection of their players, and that any player whose conduct on the courte is not decorous should not be courte is not decorous should not be courted in the courter is not decorous should not be courted in the courter is not decorous should not be courted in the courter is not decorous should not the c

Round three—Both took punishment in infighting, and then both missed swings. Kansas hammered home two hard left hooks in succession, and continued his success in breaking through the champlon's defence. Kansas missed a haymaking left hook at the end of the round.

Round four — They fought more cautiously in the fourth. Kansas was warned for back-handing the champion. Kansas continued to play for Jimmy's face, landing his left almost at will. Kansas was trying hard.

victously, and Referee Crowley had little breaking to do. Goodrich worked one, two, three, four hard body nunches and a hook to the head, all of which Kansas failed to block. Round nine—The champion scored hard rights to the head to start the ninth. The champion was opening up his offensive, but he could not put the challenger on the defensive. Goodrich landed left and right swings, but missed a haymaker. The veteran Kansas was apparently tiring after his fast pace-setting in the early rounds. Round ten — A left swing caught Goodrich in the ear and staggered him. Kansas followed this with a right to the body. The champion retaliated with stiff lefts to the body but missed frequently. The challenger was fighting gamely, and his left jab kept Goodrich's eye bleeding. Round eleven—They mixed it unwith Kansas getting the better of the long-distance exchanges. IN NEW YORK TRADING C. and

New York, Dec. I—Confliction price movements affected today's bond market which failed to maintain early levels. Tighter money conditions resulting from the drop in the excess reserve of the associated New York banks last week restricted buying to a few foreign government and domestic public utility issues, which had reached attractive price levels. Railroad liens failed to keep pace with the upward movement of the carrier stocks, a few issues being strong, but profit-taking checked the advance elsewhere. ctive practiled to keep pace filed to keep pace filed to keep pace for the carrier stocker of the carrier stocker of the carrier stocker of the carrier stocker of the carrier of the carr

MONTREAL. MONTREAL.

Montreal, Dec. 7.—There was a fair inquiry from foreign buyers for Manitoba grades of wheat in the Montreal grain market today, but as prices were unsatisfactory, no new business was done. There was also some demand for cash grain, and a moderate amount of business resulted in that market. The tone of the market for oats was very firm under a better demand for carlets. Chicago, Dec. 7.—The butter market today opened decidedly firmer, with trading far from active. Dealers were holding all grades firmly, and in some instances were able to obtain slight premiums. Buyers, however, were critical as to quality. Trading on the whole was quiet. The centralized market was steady. Fresh butter, 49c; centralized 46%c.

Grain Warkets

Winnipeg. Dec. 7.—Smashing all previous records, the wheat market was strong and exceptionally bullish today, and early in the session was 3%c to 6c above the previous close, December reaching a high of $1.67. May $1.68½ and July $1.65. There was considerable profit-taking on the buige, and prices fell away. closing 2c to 3%c up, with May, the active future at $1.66.

Trade volume was quite large during the first hour, but smaller later. The Lews from all quarters was of a bullish character, inducing active buying by public speculators. Export trade was light. The trade, however, looks for a broad demand from foreign centers shortly. The weather in the west is favorable for the crop movement now, The coarse grain markets all displayed a stronger tone, but the trade volume was not large. Some investment buying was in evidence. Rye and flax featured with closing gains of more than ac cash wheat suffered a setback today when with heavy offerings traders regains were a carlot proposition.

There are speeches so entirely un-expected that their effect is unappre-ciable until some little time after the
