It is said that this abhorrence for spouting was installed into his nature through attending so many Council meetings, and thereby having to listen to the outbursts of the many budding manicipal orators who invariably find aldermanic honors thrust upon them. If this is the case there is one good result from these midnight gassings—they have made the City. Clerk a quiet man, and he is able to get through the duties of his office unobtrusively and with the accompanying despatch and accuracy.

The Clerk deviated from his usual course last evening, however, and his friends will be surprised to learn that for almost a whole hour he talked steadily to the members of the Council—and he spoke so fast that not one of the aldermen could get a word in edgeways. There was no row on, however, and the city Clerk was not, up on the carpet to explain any of his actions. It was a night of by-laws. There were thirty-six of them, and the rules and regulations of the meetings require that every one shall be read three times before it can be passed. They were for the purpose of authorizing the raising of money to pay for the various local improvements in the city. The total amount was $108,443.85, about $2,000 less than the most money raised in any one year for work of this kind. It was up to Mr. Merritt to get busy with his voice, and he did fewas a long talk, but the City Clerk is an adept on elocution. The w-White 'tragedy' at wonderland, the Chief of Police went over and made an investigation.

"I couldn't see anything very immoral about the pictures," said the Chief. "Of course I didn't read the particulars of the Thaw-White trial and perhaps for this reason, the pictures did not appeal to me in the way they apparently did to some. The man who is running the show, ran some of the views over to me, and I pointed out to him the ones to which objection had been taken, and told him that if they were continued he would be liable to a very heavy fine under the city by-law."

Although Chief Holmes' eagle eye did not catch any features that were immoral, he apparently deemed some of the pictures a little more spicy than the city by-laws allow of.

> Suddenly Turned Into A Seething Furnace

Pittsburg, April 26.—One of the most remarkable and spectacular fires seen in this vicinity, started Wednesday night in the William Zoeller Packing Co.'s plants, Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny, opposite this city. Early yesterday, when the fire was thought to be under control, a large fireproof warehouse, in which was stored 500,000 pounds of lard, suddenly burst into flames. All efforts to extinguish the fire in this department were futile and the firemen finally fastened the iron doors of the building, shutting in the burning lard. The interior of the building soon became a seething furnace. Spurting from crevices, doors and windows, streams of hot grease ran into a sort of trench hurriedly prepared in an

There was a panic among the spectators, but no one was injured. That no loss of life attended the fire is considered marvelous.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the fire had practically burned itself out. It was said that the loss would reach $300,000, partly covered by insurance.

The Government could not exercise any preference between colonies; all they could do was to furnish most of the reliable information possible and leave the intending emigrant to make his own selection. He did not believe in colonization by bodies. Persons thought the present a good opportunity for the colonies to obtain useful artizan colonists, especially in the building trade, and laid stress on the extreme value of child emigration on the lines followed by the late Dr. Barnardo, and welcomed any practical suggestion on the question of uniformity naturalization laws throughout the Empire.

Herbert Gladstone made an explanatory statement respecting the draft of the Imperial naturalization bill, which is before the conference, and spoke regarding the divorce law prevalling in the different colonies on this question. In view of the number of detailed considerations involved it was agreed that the discussion be adjourned.

> Presents Petition For Release From Prison Of A Young Chatham Lad

Mayor William Stone walked up to the Council meeting last evening with a carefully rolled and myster-ious looking document under his arm. When he finally opened it up, and spread it out on his desk, the reporters caught evidences of the work of a typewriter and wondered if the energetic Mayor had branch-ed out into the law business.

the energetic mayor had branch-ed out into the law business.

The Mayor, however, was not as-suming the role of a lawyer — al-though he was working out a plan to defeat the cause of justice. He was playing the part of the Good Samaritan, and at the conclusion of the Council meeting he made an ef-imprisonment. The Mayor did not try to contend that the boy was in-nocent, nor that he was being wrongfully punished. The consideration was the boy's parents. He was their only support, and this is the sole reason why the Mayor favored his release from prison.

The document under his arm was a petition to Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, and it was sign-ed by the Mayor and every alderman at the Board. The petition will be circulated through the city in the hope that other names will be added to those which already appear on

The petition is worded thus:
The Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, Ottawa, Can.:

Your petitioners, who are residents of the City of Chatham, in the County of Kent and Province of Ontario, desire to respectfully urge upon you the advisability of releasing upon ticket of leave, Arthur Leak, who about one month ago, was sentenced to serve six months in the Central Prison in Toronto, upon his conviction on a charge of theft, be-fore the Chief Magistrate of the City of Chatham. The prisoner, who is about 16 years of age, was convicted on a charge of stealing a sum of less than $5.00 from the house of Richard Pritchard, a resident of the City of Chatham. The said Arthur Leak was at the time of his convic-tion, working in a factory in this city, and his wages represented almost the entire support of his aged father and mother, who since the conviction and sentence of their son have been reduced to destitute circumstances by reason of their being deprived of his support, the result being that they are now mak ing application to the corporation of the City of Chatham for aid. Your petitioners are of the opinion that the prisoner has already been sufficiently punished, and be-lieve that if he were released on a ticket of leave and given another chance, there is a strong probability of him in the future living an honest and upright life.

And your petitioners will ever pray.
Dated at Chatham this 26th day of April, 1907.

Much of the time of the House of Commons has been taken up lately in discussing public works, particularly wharves. The matter of wharves is a question upon which Mr. Clements, M. P. of West Kent, has taken considerable interest. He has spent much time in looking into the management of works undertaken in his own and other ridings, and he has found that the people's interests have been sadly lost sight of by the Public Works Department in several instances. In the House the other day, when an Rush of business, eating too fast and too much, excesses of any kind, soon result in indigestion. Then when the digestive organs cannot concerning the unsatisfactory state of affairs which exists in reference to the Shrewsbury wharf. Hansard reports the discussion as follows, and it is well worthy of attention from the digestive organs cannot care for the food properly the coats of the blood vessels in the brain get little pourishment, become brittle, and finally yield to the fierce blood pressure. One is then said to have a "shock," to be paralyzed, or to die from aportlexy.

built. While I am not objecting to this wharf being built, if the department will take care of this wharf, and keep it and put it in repairs, as it was intended, the wharf will be a great benefit to that district. I want also to state that this wharf was built, that the contract was given and the piles were hauled out the very day the last elections were announced. There was a considerable vote there, to which I am sure my opponent was a considerable vote there, to which I am sure my opponent thought it would make some difference, and the pressure he brought to bear, caused that wharf to be built. I am not saying anything against the wharf being built, but I do say that there is not two feet and a half of water or three feet and a half of water or three feet either at that wharf.

"There is only one way in which ELIZABETH FARRELL that wharf can be made useful to the public, and that is by continuing the pier out further, so that you can get deep water. I also want to draw the attention of the Minister to the approach to the wharf. The Hon. Mr. Hyman, I think, a year ago, said that he had an estimate that it would cost $250. I do not think that $50 of actual money was spent there. There is a sandy bot-

The Ontario Government have an estimate for a splendid wharf at the public park there, where boats drawing 12 feet of water may land, and I suggest that this Government continue this pier out to a proper depth or that they dredge into it so that boats may come in there and land at the wharf which the Ontario Government are building. I think that the Ontario and Dominion Governments should ioin hands in making the Shrewsbury and Rondeau wharfs of som value to the people of that district. As far as the Shrewsbury wharf is concerned, you might as well build a box out in three feet of water and expect it to serve the needs of the people there.

The result is that the wash of the sea from Rond Eau has carried the sand out and made it absolutely useless to those in the district who desire to drive a team on the wharf.

"That approach should be remedied at once. fishery nearly four months earlier this year.

Between July and October last nearly 7,500 trout were thus caught and cooked at the Carlton. The figure will probably be double this year.

Mr. Jacques Kraemar, the manager of the hotel, told a newspaper manthat between 60 and 80 trout will be put into the tank and that 18 of the fish will be selected specimens, weighing up to six pounds apiece.

"Customers will again have the wrivilege of catching their own fish if they like," he said, "and they will have the satisfaction of knowing they could not fare better if they landed their trout on the bank of a Highland loch. The trout will come fresh from Scotland every day."

The splendid cedar mantelpiece was put up in commemoration of the marriage of Charles I., then Prince of Wales, with the Princess Henrietta Maria of France. The carved and wooden heads on either side of the mantelshelf represent the royal pair. One of the frescoes depicts King Henry IV., who breathed his last within these walls in 1413. This event occurred twenty-five years after the room was built and was doubtless the first really important incident in its history, for celebrated, indeed sacred, as the chamber has since become, at its construction it was only intended as the withdrawing room for the guests of Abbot Littlington.

King Henry, with the uneasy conscience of a usurper and a superstitious belief in a prophecy that fore-told his death at Jerusalem, decided upon a crusade to the Holy Land. The crusade, which the King deemed ample atonement for his sins, was, however, too long deferred. Preparatory to leaving on his journey to Jerusalem, while praying before the shrine of St. Edward the Confessor in the abbey, he was stricken with a mortal sickness, and, in the words of the old chronicle, "they for his comfort bore him into the abbot's place and laid him down before the fire in this chamber."

Jamaica's Green Turtles.

An official of Jamaica in a report on turtle fishing, which is the chief industry of the Cayman islands, says that green turtles display an extraordinary sense of locality. It has happened more than once that turtles marked with the initials of their captors have escaped from their crawls in Grand Cayman and within three months have been recaptured at the fishing ground, a distance of over 300 miles. The last instance of this was when a crawl was cut down and 200 turtles escaped. Within three months thirty of them were caught by different fishing boats off the Nicaraguan coast.

House Votes Against Enforcement of Act by Government

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth Refuses to Consider the Suggestion-Cannot Enforce Its Own Laws-Mr. W. F. Maclean Exposes the Absurdity-Bitter Pill for Western Liberal

Ottawa, April 24.—The House yes-terday went squarely on record by a party vote as opposing the enforce-ment of the Railway Act by the Fed-ment of the Kallway Act by the Federal Government.

It was Hon. Mr. Aylesworth who, Monday stripped, the provinces of all control over railway corporations, and who, yesterday protested that the Federal Government should not be required to control these same corporations.

It was a bitter pill for the months of the same corporations.

It was a bitter pill for the western Liberal members, who have been flooded with letters and telegrams from the constituents, driven at most to revolution by their mistreatment at the hands of the railway companies. These members, however, were compelled to acquiesce in the decision that Federal laws cannot be executed by the Federal Government.

It is significant that no Ontario Liberal, representing a constituency crossed by the G. T. R., voted for this amendment, although if carried it would have devolved upon the Government the duty of obtaining two cents a mile railway fare for their constituents.

The matter came up yesterday morning upon Mr. Aylesworth's bill to constituents. It was a bitter pill for the western

The matter came up yesterday morning upon Mr. Aylesworth's bill to amend the Railway Act. Its real purpose is to permit the employment of Mr. Shepley and other counsel before the Railway Commission in its investigation into the schedule of tolls filed by the express and telephone companies under the legislation of less assign.

last session.

Mr. Aylesworth's Excuse.

W. F. Maclean (South York), having given notice of his intention to move an amendment requiring the Minister of Justice to enforce the provisions of the Railway Act, and of their own charters against the railway companies, Mr. Aylesworth pointed out that it was unreasonable to expect this Government to enforce the Federal law as Federal laws were enforced by the United States Government. In the United States were Federal courts. by the United States were Federal courts.
These could not exist in Canada without changing our constitution. We had gotten through 40 years of existence with the present B. N. A. Act. If it was so unsatisfactory to certain let them propose an ad-

Referring to the case in point, Mr. Aylesworth said that, supposing that as one of the witnesses a company put in their manager, it was necessary that he should be cross-examined, and such cross-examination to be effective abould not be the ordinary freworks. such cross-examination to be elective should not be the ordinary fireworks of the Police Court, but should be conducted by some one instructed in technical knowledge and in a posi-tion to bring out of a hostile witness facts which otherwise might not be

After commenting upon this re-After commenting upon this remarkable mis-statement, as the British North America Act explicitly provides for the creation of Federal courts and the enforcement of Federal laws by the Dominion Government, Mr. Maclean (South York) said that it was idle for the Minister of Justice to humbug the country by claiming that our Federal statutes couldn't be enforced without an act of the Imperial Parliament.

"It is a curious situation," continued Mr. Maclean, "that the Customs Act is vigorously enforced by this Government. Evidently collecting the revenue is considered more important than protecting public rights."

Dr. Sproule feared that the bill was a step towards turning the Railway Commission into a court so that suitors couldn't be heard without going to the expense of employing counsel.

Mr. Bergeron suggested that the Solicitor-General was idle. Why not direct him to appear before the Railway Commission.

RARE INDIAN DELICACY.

Baked Dog a Toothsome Morsel at Feasts of Honor.

Feasts of Honor.

The Kiowa, Comanche and Cheyenne tribes consider dog meat better eating than any other meat. Fortunate, indeed, is the Indian who receives the present of a big, fat dog. They eat dog because, like mule meat, it is sweet. The best part of the meat is not next to the bone, but that lying next to the skin is the most delicious, in the Indian's estimation; when it has been baked to a crisp. It is not an uncommon sight to see an Indian family driving along in a covered wagon with a freshly killed dog, the skin still on, placed in the rear end of the wagon, so that its bleeding head hangs down for the blood to drop on the ground as the wagon moves along.

Place of Honor.

When the Kiowas have a feast dog meat is given the first place as a special honor to the invited guests. When the guest happens to be a white man he dares not refuse the proffered delicacy if he desires to preserve his friendship with the red man. Many a paleface has thus been compelled to eat dog meat or lose his Indian friend's good-will, and, as a result, comes away with a longing to again taste the toothsome meat. Few white men in Oklahoma who have gaten dog meat will say that it is not good.

Almost any day it is common to see neatly dressed Kiowas riding into town in the finest equipages that money can buy. They are principally blanket Indians, wearing their long hair hanging in neat braids down their backs or plaited with bright-colored strips of muslin, gaudy blue, red and yellow intermingled with white. The squaws carry the Indian babe in cradles or "pontkas" strapped on their backs, and go about the streets apparently not the least hampered by their burdens.

The young bucks are fond of playing billiards, but seldom are seen in the

The young bucks are fond of playing billiards, but seldom are seen in the bowling alleys, presumably because billiards, to the average young Indian, require less exertion. At night not an Indian is seen on the streets or in the places of amusement. They return to the reservation before sundown.

The major said the Mad Mullah is not mad, the title being a gratuitous one from the ready pen of a Times' correspondent.

Much applause was given to the story of Col. Plunket's last stand with his 300 men against 10,000 Dervishes at Gumburn, where, after the last white man had fallen, the natives said a rampart of dead Dervishes four feet high lay around.

One highly amusing story was told. Water is scarce in Somaliland, and the expedition had to dig for its water. They telegraphed to the War Office: "Want pumps. Send four Parson's"—the Parson's pump being the best for that kind of work.

Fashion, which penetrates wherever women are to be found, is already known in Somaliland, being recognized by the various ways of dressing the hair.

Hard times befell the expedition, and Major Scott-Harden had to eat his camel. Camel is not likely to become a fashionable dish in western society, for the major tersely described it as tasting "like an old leather boot."

This was at Damat, a place which the lecturer said justifies its name. Soon afterwards a shower fell, which an artist depicted under the title of "A gift from heaven."

Mail Driver Held Up.

Peterboro, April 25.—Yesterday morning, about 12.30, James Reid, who drives the mail from the post-office to the C.P.R. station here, was held up by an unknown man, who demanded the mail bags.

Just as his assailant was reaching for his hip pocket Reid struck him over the head with the heavy lock of an empty mail bag, and the blood remaining on the canvas of the bag

Boy of 25 Schiedes.

Brockville, April 25.—The lifeless body of Ernest Perry, aged 13 years, was found hanging from a beam in a barn at Piteairn Tuesday.

The parents of the boy are dead, and he had been making his home with a family at Piteairn. It is alleged that he wanted to borrow a fishpole, and, on being refused, became downhearted. He took the pole, broke it in two and then went and hanged himself.

THE PIANOFORTE

A Direct Descendant of the Clavichord

The planoforte was directly evolved from the clavichord and the harpsichord. In 1711 Sciplone Maffei gave a detailed account of the first four instruments, which were built by Bartonesses. Cristofort, named by him planoform. and Harpsichord. lommeo Cristofori, named by him pianoforte, and exhibited in 1709.

Marius in France exhibited harpsichords, with hammer action, in 1716, and Schroter in Germany claimed to have invented the pianoforte between 1717 and 1721. Marius at first was generally credited with the invention, for it was not until 1738, when Cristofori's instruments had become famous, that the Italian advanced his claim, and it was in 1763 that he brought forward the proof of his contention.

SOME CURIOUS STRIKES.

Became Testotallers.

The recent strike of London musichall artists reminds one that there is scarcely a class of workers from actors to executioners from barristers to beer-drinkers, and from parsons to choir-boys, which has not at one time or another asserted its rights and avenged its wrongs in a similar way. It is not long since Spain was the scene of a combined strike of actors throughout its length and breadth, which arose as a sequel to the popular indignation at the election of an undesirable Archbishop of Valencia. The police of Madrid took the extreme step of closing the Zarzuela Theatre and arresting several of the actors from singing political songs directed against the Government and the unpopular prelate. In consequence of this indignity the whole theatrical world rose in arms; and a meeting of the Spanish Actors' Association was held, at which a universal strike and the closing of all the theatres in the country were proclaimed.

To give but two examples, the choir-boys at St. John's, Chatham, walked in a body out of the church in the middle of the service one Christmas Day; and a church choir in Yorkshire struck because their singing was marred by the strident efforts of a well-meaning, but unmusical, member of the congregation.

Amazing Story of a Popular British Officer In South Africa.

It is officially announced that Lieut. General Sir Charles Knox has been appointed colonel of the Shropshire Light Infantry, in succession to the late Sir Henry de Bathe. This honor late Sir Henry de Bathe. This honor has been thoroughly well earned, for there is not a more capable soldier on the active list than popular "Charlie" Knox, as he is known throughout the service. He gained great kudos in South Africa for the manner in which he rounded up the Boers time and again, and on his return home Sir Evelyn Wood—one of the shrewdest judges of a soldier's abilities that ever lived—specially applied for him to be put in command of a division of the Second Army Corps, then stationed on Salisbury Plain. In this capacity he took a leading part in the great manocuvres that were held in capacity he took a leading part in the great manocuvres that were held in Berkshire and Wiltshire in the autumn of 1903, and would probatily have done better still had he not been unwittingly betrayed at the eleventh hour by one of the assistant umpires, himself a soldier of great experience. The umpire had been detailed to accompany Sir Charles Knox's division, which had made a night march and encamped in the neighborhood of Hungerford, intending to deliver a smashing blow at Gen. French's invading army early on the following morning. He was up betimes, and riding forward across the country, got into touch with his division much earlier than he had supposed to be the case.

"You have made a fine march, sir, to get here from Hungerford so quickly," he remarked to an officer in charge of an advance party. The officer, looked surprised, but said nothing. Church and States

Dr. Goldwin Smith, writing recent-ly in the Weekly Sun anent the prob-able disestablishment of the Church in England, said: "Disestablishment is going the round of the world. With is going the round of the control of It we may nope, will go unshackeled devotion to truth. In England, apparently, it is coming with a crash. Loosened as religious conviction has been, the immediate shock to national life will be great, as everyone who has lived in a rural parish knows. But the chain had to be broken. The position of the Church under the dominion et a State, represented by an unbelieving Parliament, was plainly untenable, and the wranglings about orthodoxy before secular courts of law, which were the consequences of the subjection, were scandalous. A split in the Church itself can hardly fail to follow, for the two parties, Protestant and Ritualist, have been tied to each other in most uneasy and unedifying combination only by the bond of law. Here is the final end of the Elizabethan compromise under which the Cathalia. Here is the final end of the Elizabethan compromise under which the Catholic and Protestant parties have been tugging the Church to and fro since it was framed, coming more than once to civil war. So passes away old England's peerage and Church together, leaving little of the venerable fabric save a crown, the wearer of which reigns, and does not govern.

Mr. Bergeron read from Le Nationaliste charging members of the Quebec Legislature with boodling, and dared the Premier (Mr. Gouin) to bring its editor to the Bar of the House. "It is common talk in the City of Quebec," said Mr. Bergeron, "that anything can be carried through the Legislature by the use of money."

Mr. Martin (Con., P. E. I.) protested against the discrimination against P. E. I., and moved an amendment granting also to Prince Edward an extra annual allowance of $100,000 a year for ten years. Mr. McLean (Con., P. E. I.) seconded the amendment, which was defeated.

Mr. Taylor (Leeds) called attention to the failure of Justice Magee to decide his cases. Mr. Aylesworth referred him to the Attorney-General of Ontario. Mr. Taylor then offered an amendment to a pending bill respecting Manitobs, providing that any judge who kept a case after submission for 90 days should have his salary stopped until the case was decided. Mr. Aylesworth opposed the amendment, and Mr. Taylor withdrew it.

The railway subsidies passed, involving at least from $3,500,000 to $7,000,000. The House went into supply and passed a large grist of estimates.

made the following statement last evening:

"With reference to the assertions made in the House of Commons Wednesday regarding the Petawawa Camp matter. I desire to say that the Ottawa people must not be allowed to get away from the issue.

"No bad faith can be shown on our part. We were ready to do everything that was asked at any time by the Department of Militia, but insisted that the rights of the licensees and the rights of the Ontario Government in the timber dues should be adjusted and settled before any least was granted. The Department of Militia decided to refuse this proposition of ours.

ed. The Department of Militia decided to refuse this proposition of ours, and, without notice to us of their refusal, assumed to take over or confiscate the lands in question, which are, or were, at any rate, the property of the province.

No Doubt About It.

No Doubt About It.

"In answer to a question in the House of Commons on the 3rd of April, Sir Frederick Borden stated the position of the department in these words:

"The Government has not taken the interest of the lumber licensees, and they have, therefore, no claim to compensation. The Ontario Government is not, by the British North America Act, entitled to compensation, and it is not intended to pay that Government any compensation.

"There is no doubt, therefore, as to what his intentions were, and neither Mr. Aylesworth nor Mr. Fielding can get over this.

Well Enough Now, But—

Mr. Aylesworth nor Mr. Fielding can get over this.

Well Enough Now, But—

"A man in Mr. Fielding's place might be engaged in better business than making charges of bad faith, for which he must know he has no foundation. It is all very well for Mr. Aylesworth to say now that they are willing to pay the licensees' claims, and it is all very well for Mr. Fielding to say now, as reported by The Gobe. 'If, however, the Government of Ontario thought that they had been badly treated by the Government, they were willing that the procedure should be settled by the Attorney-General of Ontario and the Minister of Justice with regard to deciding the method by which, if the right to compensation existed, that compensation should be settled.'

"These statements by two Ministers cover our whole case. If the Department of Militia had seen fit to use this language, no difficulty could have occurred; but, instead of that, the Minister of Militia took our property without warning, declared that we were not entitled to compensation, and that he would not give us com-

CHURCH HISTORY

Elder R. C. Russell last evening at the Saints church introduced his subject by a short history of universal kingdoms that existed before Christ's birth, showing the fulfillment of the prophetic dreams of Nebuchadnezzar and David, both of which showed that the Roman kingdom—Pagan in worship—ruled when Christ was born and was the great factor in killing Him and entirely overthrowing His church—the Saints—Dan. 7, 19-25. If You Are In Doubt

About what store is doing the Woman's Wear Trade of Chatham just visit our crowded Show Room any afternoon this week. We've got the natty garments stylish women love to wear at the prices prudent women love to pay.

Beauty in Waists

We cannot say too emphatically or too frequently that our big Waist stock is away out of the ordinary run. Ladies who appreciate the exquisite is stylc and workmanship are buying waists here and send their friends along in generous numbers.

New Waists in Persian Lawns, Batiste, French Organdies, beautifully trimmed with fine French val laces, insertions and hand done French Embroidery Eyelet Embroidery and Shadow Embroidery, low and high neck, long and 34 sleeves, prices range from $2.00 to $5.00.

Special Value, Waists at $1

Two styles, open back and front, long and 3/4 sleeves, embroidery fronts, hemstitched pleating of body part, all sizes, $1.00.

Our Supremacy in Stylish Voiles

If ever a store put its best foot forward and lifted values head and shoulders above the common, it was this store, when we gathered together this season's collection of Voiles.

We foresaw the popularity and scarcity and ordered lavishly. Voiles are the correct materials for your gowns. We have them in all shades and all weights, from the delicate chiffon to the Etamine weave and blacks as well as all the colors. prices per yard 50c, 75c, $1 and $1.25.

Women's Suits at $25.00

We have sold more high-class Suits this season than any other store in Chatham. Our Suits are so well tailored that it takes them out of the ordinary ready mades and places them in the class with swell tailored made to order Suits.

AS A SPECIAL OFFER THIS WEEK

we offer a grand collection of the finest Suits (one of a kind) in different sizes, beautifully tailored, silk lined coats, correct in every detail that Dame Fashion demands-Eton and Coat styles, balance of week $25.

Sunburst Skirts

Specially manufactured for us are these Skirts in Sunburst and Side Pleated Skirts. We haven't advertised them before as we could scarcely supply the demand. The Skirts are made in Voiles, Panamas and Sicillian Cloths, ranging in price from $6.75 to $10.

Fawn Covert Coats

There's a real aristocratic atmosphere about the twenty odd styles of Covert Coats designed and made especially for us. Not a copper more to pay than for the commonplace kinds to be had elsewhere, of course it may be to our interest to say don't buy till you've seen these garments, but when you've seen them and tried' them on, you'll agree that it was quite as much in your own interest, easy prices too-from $5 to $15.

Warm weather promised, don't delay making your collections while stocks are best.
