

HOUSE AND HOME Conducted by Helene.

When the cold wind blows outside, or chilling rain beats down, do not in your solitude for your own comfort forget the welfare of your piano.

It is a sensitive to cold, damp or heat as the most confirmed invalid, and in thousands of homes to-day the domestic piano is treated with a lack of regard that betrays the spirit of the unfortunate tuner who has periodically to come and set as physician to it.

RELICS OF A GREAT COMPOSER.

Among life's largest ironies is the fact that often betrays the manuscript of a genius. Of no one is this truer than of Beethoven.

LADY RUSSELL OF KILLOWEN.

The visit of Lady Russell of Killowen, the widow of the late Lord Chief Justice of England, during her stay in Ireland, to Newry, the home in early years of her distinguished husband, will recall to recollection the touching circumstance that the tomb of Lord Russell is built of granite specially brought from the neighborhood of Newry.

REDMOND'S TALENTED DAUGHTER.

It appears that Miss Johanna Redmond, daughter of Mr. J. E. Redmond, M.P., is coming to the front as a writer of clever Irish plays.

MARION CRAWFORD'S RETREAT.

In order to secure absolute quiet to write his new book, a history of medieval Rome, Marion Crawford has deserted his beautiful villa at Sorrento, which has become too much of a shrine for American admirers, and has retired to Praja d'Alto, in the Calabrian wilderness.

WOMEN REPAIR TELEGRAPH WIRES.

A number of Danish women telegraphists struck work demanding higher salaries and treatment equal to the men.

"ALWAYS THE SHRINE."

The virgin reserve of a woman's heart is more sacred than any pride of self. It is the maiden instinct which makes the woman always the shrine, and never the pilgrim.

BRAVE IRISH WOMAN.

A Mrs. McNally, of Sligo, recently rescued seven children from an island in Sligo Bay, covered by the tide at high water and a quarter of a mile from land.

WOMEN AS PHOTOGRAPHERS.

It seems strange that so few women succeed as photographers, for women prefer to go to their own sex to be photographed rather than to an obviously "professional" man whose attentions remind them uncomfortably of a dentist.

ALL THAT HE HAD.

"Can you give bond?" asked the judge. "Have you got anything?" "Judge," replied the prisoner, "since you ask me, I'll tell you, I ain't got nuttin in the world 'cept the spring child, six acres o' no 'count land, a big family, a hope of a hereafter an' the ole war rheumatism."—Atlanta Constitution.

RATHER MIXED.

A revival meeting was in progress and Sister Jones was called upon for testimony. Being meek and humble, she said: "I do not feel as though I should stand here and give testimony. I have been a transgressor for a good many years, and have only recently seen the light. I believe that my place is in a dark corner, behind the door."

liver and obviating the effects of bile in the stomach; they restore man to cheerfulness and full vigor of action.

SISTERS OBTAIN PHARMACY DIPLOMAS.

Nineteen Sisters took the State Board of Pharmacy examination in Seattle, recently, and all passed satisfactory examinations. The Sisters were from the various Catholic hospitals of the State of Washington.

TIMELY HINTS.

If new curtains, calicoes, etc.—in fact most new materials—are put into water over night into a handful or two of salt, has been added it will be found that the salt brings the lime out; also very dirty curtains are much better done this way, as hot water first sets the dirt in.

If new boots and shoes are varnished on the soles every few weeks with the best copal varnish they will last twice as long and rarely want resoling. The first time they are done they should have two coats of varnish, as leather absorbs it very quickly.

Always put the salt in the boiling fat, and you will find the fish will not stick to the pan. Wash new stockings before wearing. Also sew a square of black velvet on the heel. This prevents the shoe from rubbing the stocking and will make them wear twice as long.

A mustard plaster mixed entirely with white of egg will neither scar nor blister. Any one suffering from rheumatism will find relief if he constantly keeps flour of sulphur in the foot of his stockings.

Useful at All Times.—In winter or in summer Farnes's Vegetable Pills will cope with and overcome any irregularities of the digestive organs, which change of diet, change of residence, or variation of temperature may bring about. They should be always kept at hand, and once they are beneficial action becomes known, no one will be without them. There is nothing nauseating in their structure, and the most delicate can use them confidently.

ICED BLUE RIBBON TEA THE MOST DELICIOUS OF SUMMER DRINKS.

FUNNY SAYINGS.

Twitted by a playmate about being an adopted child, a Hartford girl retorted: "I don't care, my papa and mamma picked me out. You're had to take you just as you came."

ANOTHER JUST AS GOOD.

A customer dropped into a bookseller's the other day and asked for a copy of "The Lady of the Aroostook." The clerk seemed to be in some doubt about the title, but, after a moment's consultation with another salesman, he came forward and said blandly, "So sorry we haven't got 'The Lady of the Rooster,' but we can give you 'The Lady or the Tiger.'"—The Bookman.

TIME WAS MONEY.

A clergyman not long ago received the following notice regarding a marriage that was to take place at the parish house: "This is to give you notice that I and Miss Jimma Arabella Blearly are comin' to your church on Saturday afternoon nex' to undergo the operation of matrimony at your hands. Please be prompt, as the cab is hired by the hour."

The Friday Abstinence.

The MacDermot, the well known descendant of a famous Irish chief, writes as follows in the Tablet of London: "I have the permission of His Grace the Archbishop of Dublin to send you the enclosed letter for publication. It refers to a communication of mine which appeared in The Tablet of June 29, in which I suggested that Catholics should approach the Holy See, through their bishops, with the view of asking that the incidence of abstinence be changed from meat to alcohol. I have received a large number of communications from Catholic laymen, mostly and anxiously desirous of the change, believing that while the advantages of a disciplinary rule would be maintained, an inalienable moral and physical benefit would accrue to every Catholic household in the land. This is my most firm belief and opinion. Alcohol is a subject-matter which a large number of people are so vitally interested in that they will not only read the subject, but will be glad to see it published in a paper of this kind. I am, therefore, glad to see it published in a paper of this kind. I am, therefore, glad to see it published in a paper of this kind."

The great cause and reputation that it has already obtained prove that Luby's Perfect Hair Restorer gives hair its natural color, and from its balsamic properties, strengthens the growth, restores all dead hair, and leaves the scalp cool and healthy. Can be used on all kinds of hair.

"It's simply astonishing the way St. George's Baking Powder has taken hold of my customers. They say it makes lighter, tastier, finer-grained Biscuits, and Cakes than any other they ever used!"

ing the example set by Sister Jones, said: "I, too, have been a sinner for more than forty years, and I do not think it would be fitting for me to stand before this assembly as a model. I think my place is behind the door, in a dark corner, with Sister Jones."

FOR WHOM HE PRAYED.

A very nice and gentle minister accepted a call to a new church in a town where many of the members were Catholics, and sometimes raced their horses, and sometimes raced their horses. A few weeks later he was asked to invite the prayers of the congregation for Lucy Gray. Willingly and gladly he did so for three Sundays. On the fourth, one of the deacons told the minister he need not do it any more.

SACRED RIGHTS.

A true specimen of manly ohivralty who holds the rights of his lady love sacred was encountered the other day in a Boston kindergarten. The teacher discovered that a very small boy was chewing gum, and she bade him disgorge it. "I can't," he said. "You can't?" she answered in surprise. "Why, yes, you can, and you must." "No, I can't," he persisted, and kept the gum in his mouth. "Now, why can't you give me that gum, Johnny?" the teacher asked. "Because," said Johnny shortly, "it belongs to a little bird in Somerville."

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

When the letter appeared I had come back from our general meeting of the bishops held, as usual, at Maynooth, and I could not but regret that the letter had not appeared a week earlier, when it could have been considered carefully in the course of our deliberations. Personally, I am inclined to fall in with your view. Indeed I have more than once expressed myself in favor of an effort being made to have some change of the kind carried out, but not on quite so extensive a scale. However, it is not easy to say beforehand what view one might take after hearing the matter fully discussed at one of our meetings."

WITH THE POETS

THE OLD SWEETHEARTS.

The princes ride in the lists no more, The knights are gone and the tournaments dead; The red rose fades by the lady's door, The cavaliers on their steeds have fled; Ribbons fluttered on shoulders fair, Winds have wafted them fast and far; No one answers the dragon's dare, No one knows where the damozels are; But love is love, with its nameless thrill, And the old sweethearts are our sweethearts still!

SUNSET ON THE BLUFF.

Silence; and then from afar A light sharp cry from a wandering crow, And a locust's whir in the bush near by; Never a wave to mar The glassy calm of the water below Nor a cloud to whiten the blue of the sky.

A NIGHT THOUGHT.

Now a million manstons are Each in sight of Heaven a star, Bright with fire and candlelight In the world's else murky night In a million little beds Golden heads are sleepy heads; Feathers, mothers, leaning look, Men and women lean above, Silent in a trance of love: Sin nor selfishness may come Straying in this hallion.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS.

They are the most important secretory organs. Into and through the kidneys flow the waste fluids of the body, containing poisonous matter taken out of the system. If the kidneys do not act properly this matter is retained, the whole system becomes disordered and the following symptoms will follow: Pain in the small of the back and loins, frightful dreams, specks floating before the eyes, puffiness under the eyes, and swelling of the feet and ankles or any urinary trouble. When any of these symptoms manifest themselves you can quickly rid yourself of them by the use of the best of all medicines for the kidneys, DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS. Mr. John L. Doyle, Sutton West, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with a pain in my back for some time, but after using two boxes of DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS I was entirely cured and can speak highly in their favor." The Claims of Ireland. While British politicians are calmly settling the programme for next session of Parliament, they are making a grievous miscalculation by ignoring the disturbing element of Ireland. We predict that next year, unless a large amount of attention is given to Irish affairs, the time occupied by English affairs will be surprisingly small. The Irish question differs from all other matters that come before Parliament, inasmuch as it is not a question of local or class interest, but of a nation. The people of this country are to-day the living witnesses of one of the most melancholy phenomena in the world—a nation being bled to death.

In a certain sense it is pardonable that there should be a good deal of impatience in British circles as regards the Irish question. Like the poor, it is always with us; and, to employ another Scriptural allusion, it is a case of the sins of the fathers descending to succeeding generations. Possibly, after this lapse of time, an ordinary nation situated as Ireland has been, would have been absorbed into the conquering race. But Ireland is not an ordinary nation. The Irish have the vitality and the racial freemasonry that are distinctive characteristics of the Jews; and, like them, they have a historic memory. And what does that memory teach the Irish Celt? It tells him that a neighboring people, by strength of numbers, arms, and artifice, not only conquered and subdued his country, but practically appropriated every acre of land in it, leaving the original proprietors barely tolerated earth slaves. It proclaims to him that his religion was proscribed, and that his countrymen were sold by the English as slaves to the plantations. He reads, further, of the unconquerable greed of the conqueror in destroying, by Act of Parliament, the Irish shipping and textile industries, so that not only the land, but commerce itself, was taken away from the unhappy, subdued country. Finally, it teaches him that his Parliament was destroyed by English Ministers through the basest fraud and corruption. The Irishman can point to the depopulation of his island under English rule to the extent of one-half since the fraudulent Union was contrived. In his own country there was no career for the young Irishman. He became a soldier of fortune in France, Spain, Austria, and Germany; he emigrated by the million to the United States; he settled in large numbers in England and her colonies. And, to-day the process of depopulation proceeds apace. Since 1896, no fewer than 154,055 Irish people have left their country. Of these 35,244 bade good-bye to the green shores only last year. And these are the pick of the country—young men and women between the ages of fifteen and thirty-five, gone with their fresh blood and intelligence to enrich other States. Under British rule Ireland is rapidly approaching a stage when there will be none left, except old persons, paupers, and the consumptives, who have increased so enormously under the evil conditions of house holding, which have been the result of the past policy of the alien land monopolists.

Under these circumstances the Irish members would be little less than patriotic, if they did not adopt all means in their power to force the British Parliament, which has deprived them of self-government, at any rate to rule the country in a way which will make for its prosperity, and not for its death. The Irish members of Parliament have remained singularly quiet for a number of years. The usual result has followed. Little has been done in the Commons for Ireland; and that little has been rendered still less by the action of the privileged House of Lords. The British Parliament has practically told the Irish people that, unless there be effective demonstrations in the House of Commons, and in Ireland, scant consideration will be paid to their grievances. And no this autumn and winter, the Irish members are going on a crusade among their people to point out the need of salvation from the ruin which is threatening them.

In the course of the crusade, the Irish members are making a point of pointing out the need of salvation from the ruin which is threatening them. They are making a point of pointing out the need of salvation from the ruin which is threatening them. They are making a point of pointing out the need of salvation from the ruin which is threatening them.

Successful Mission at Bancroft. A most successful mission was preached by Father Holland, C.S.S.R., of St. Ann's Church, in Bancroft, Ont., during the week ending Sept. 15th. Two instructions and two sermons were given each day, and a large cross, made at a few hours' notice from two cedar poles, was blessed last Saturday at the church door, covered with flowers and carried in procession by twenty stalwart men at the end of a procession of more than two hundred people to the cemetery, where it was erected, and stands a monument to perpetuate the memory of a grand event. This was the first religious procession ever seen in Bancroft. After the closing exercise on Sunday, the same missionary drove fifteen miles to Maynooth, where he will spend a week in similar work. The first train to run as far as Maynooth on the Ontario Central Railway was greeted by the population with joy and thanksgiving last Tuesday. This will be a real boon to Maynooth as the road to Bancroft is rough and there is considerable traffic between the two places. The railroad is being laid the rest of the distance to Whitney and should soon be giving a railroad connection between Picton and the Parry Sound branch of the G.T.R. at Whitney. Father J. J. McInerney, pastor of both Bancroft and Maynooth.

The Pope and Athletics. From "Roma." It is announced that next year there will be another great athletic gathering in the Vatican itself, organized by the Italian Federation of Catholic Athletic Clubs. Some of the very, very old conservatives of the Eternal City were almost scandalized a couple of years ago when Pius X not only assisted at a series of gymnastic exercises executed in the Court of St. Damasus by a little host of young men from many parts of Italy, but actually delivered an address warmly encouraging athletic sports. Such a thing had never been done before—and that is always a good reason for a section of the old Romans to insist that it should not be done now. But the Holy Father showed himself to be a warm advocate of open air sports because they tend to give health not only to the body, but to the mind. The late Cardinal Cavagnis also took the greatest interest in this gathering and Cardinal Respighi, the Holy Father's vicar general, offered prizes for different events. Since then a very remarkable development of athletics has been observed in many of the Catholic colleges of Italy, and it may be taken for granted that the next meeting at the Vatican will be even more important than the last.

Franciscan General in the City. The Father General of the Franciscans, Rev. Denis Schuller, is presently in the city. He is making a visit to all the institutions of his order. At the general chapter of the order, held in the Eternal City, May 30, 1903, Father Denis was elected Minister-General of the whole Order of Friars Minor. Since his election he has visited Belgium, Holland, Spain, Germany, Austria, Croatia and Great Britain. Father Denis, who is the one hundred and fifth successor of St. Francis, is a member of the Papal Court. Under his jurisdiction there are 16,977 friars of the First Order, 8129 of whom are priests. The houses in Canada are four in number, with 50,000 tertiaries. The rev. father is a man of imposing stature and combining in his countenance energy and powerful intellect as well as intense simplicity. He is but fifty-three years of age.

Unifying Marriage Law of Church. (Continued from Page 1.) X. Parish priests who violate the rules thus far laid down are to be punished by their Ordinaries according to the nature and gravity of their transgression. Moreover, if they assist at the marriage of anybody in violation of the rules laid down in it and in No. V, they are not to appropriate the stole-fishes but must remit them to the parish priest of the contracting parties. XI. 1) The above laws are binding on all persons baptized in the Catholic Church and on those who have been converted to it either from heresy or schism (even when either the latter or the former have fallen away afterwards from the Church) whenever they contract sponsalia (betrothals) or marriage with one another. 2) The same laws are binding also on the same Catholics as above, if they contract sponsalia (betrothals) or marriage with non-Catholics, baptized or unbaptized, even after a dispensation has been obtained from the impediment which religious or disparitate cultus, unless the Holy See decree otherwise for some particular place or region. 3) Non-Catholics, whether baptized or unbaptized, who contract themselves, are nowhere bound to observe the Catholic form of sponsalia or marriage. The present decree is to be held as legitimately published and promulgated by its transmission to the Ordinaries, and its provisions begin to have the force of law from the solemn feast of the Resurrection of Our Lord Jesus Christ, next year, 1908. Meanwhile, let all the Ordinaries of places see that this decree be made public as soon as possible, and explained in the different parochial churches of their dioceses in order that it may be known by all. These presents are to have force by the special order of our Most Holy Father Pope Pius X., all things to the contrary, even those worthy of special mention, to the contrary notwithstanding. Given at Rome, on the 2nd day of August, in the year 1907. VINCENT CARDINAL BISHOP OF PALERMO.

OBITUARY.

MR. P. J. RYAN.

The death occurred suddenly on Tuesday of Mr. Patrick J. Ryan, 23 Ryde street. He had been away for some months to the mountains seeking to recuperate from the tuberculous affection from which he had been suffering for a long time and apparently had improved somewhat, so his sudden demise on Tuesday came as a great shock to his friends.

MRS. JAMES DONNELLY.

The death occurred on the 9th inst. of Hannah Fitzgerald, wife of James Donnelly, and sister of Messrs. Matthew and Edward R. of Cleveland, Ont., and John Fitzgerald, of this city, and mother of Mr. Joseph Hugh Donnelly and Mrs. Alexander More.

DEATH OF JOSEPH L. PALMER.

The death took place unexpectedly at Notre Dame Hospital early Sunday morning of Mr. Joseph L. Palmer, second son of Mr. J. L. Palmer, deputy postmaster. Mr. Palmer had been suffering from malaria fever and the immediate cause of his death was heart failure. The funeral took place on Wednesday morning to the Church of Notre Dame des Lourdes. Mr. Palmer, who was 36 years old, had been employed as clerk in the Customs House for the past sixteen months. He leaves a widow and one child.

Presentation to Dr. B. A. Conroy.

On Monday evening last, the officers and members of St. Gabriel's Young Men's Society assembled in their hall at Point St. Charles for a two-fold object, that of welcoming home the Rev. Canon O'Meara from his recent trip abroad, and also of tendering to Dr. B. A. Conroy, a dinner, as well as to present him with a handsome cabinet of cutlery on the occasion of his marriage to Miss Laprade, which took place on Wednesday morning at St. Gabriel's.

Besides the Young Men's Society, there were present Rev. Canon O'Meara, Rev. Father Singleton and Rev. Father Michael O'Brien, formerly one of St. Gabriel's Young Men.

After ample justice had been done to the good things, vice-president Conroy spoke, complimenting the Doctor on the services rendered the Society during his term of office. He offered him the congratulations and best wishes of the Young Men's Society, and asked that the same be conveyed to the bride-elect. He then called upon Rev. Canon O'Meara to make the presentation.

Rev. Canon O'Meara said it afforded him great pleasure to be with the young men on such an occasion. He thanked them for including him in the honors of the evening, and in a few well chosen words made the presentation to Doctor Conroy. Doctor Conroy very feelingly replied, thanking the members for the very suitable gift.

A pleasant evening was brought to a close with songs and recitations by the members.

HYMENEAL.

Mr. Thomas Hays and Miss Margaret Fitzgerald, of Cork, Ireland, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on Tuesday, September 17th, 1907, in St. Ann's Church, Montreal. The bride, who was given away by Mr. Frank Clarke, looked charming in an imported gown of blue cloth with white hat and feather boa. The breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clarke, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion, a significant feature being the picture of Our Lady of Good Counsel, ornamented with lights and flowers. After the health of the bride and groom had been drunk, that of Very Rev. Father O'Gorman, of Hythe, Rev. Father Hays, of Manchester, brother of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clarke was proposed, after which, amid a host of good wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Hays left for New York and Toronto. Cork papers please copy.

Fire Scare at St. Ann's Convent.

The sisters of St. Ann's Convent, Lachine, were much frightened by what for the time appeared to be a fire in the institution. They summoned the local as well as part of the Montreal fire brigade. The order is the same which owns the convent at St. Germaine, where fifteen pupils and teachers perished in a holocaust two years ago. The Lachine convent is the order's headquarters and one of its largest in the province. Tuesday afternoon somebody threw sweepers down a chimney in one of the rooms up stairs with the result that in a short time the entire building practically was filled with smoke. Its path being obstructed by the rubbish, worked its way into the rooms through which the chimney passed, and thence to the other apartments, until the odor of burning furniture distinguished everywhere. The presence of the smoke, and the difficulty experienced in ascertaining its source at first, threw the community into a great state of excitement. No damage was caused by the fire, the inflated rubbish inside the chimney not having been allowed to burn long enough for this, but several of the rooms were drenched.

Father Campbell in the Provinces.

The last issue of the Casket, Antigonish, Nova Scotia, says that the Rev. Arch. Campbell, S.J., lectured in the Celtic Hall on the evening of Friday last, taking as his subject, scenes in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland with special reference to spots made interesting by historical incidents. The learned missionary gave his explanations of the scenes depicted by the stereopticon more in the manner of a talk than a lecture, and was attentively listened to by one of the largest audiences ever seen in Celtic Hall, the good descendants of the Gael throughout the county having given their patronage to the extent of being largely in the majority. Rev. D. O. Gillis, gave a most eloquent address pertinent to the subject matter of the lecture in moving a vote of thanks which was seconded by Judge McGillivray in a few well chosen remarks. The gathering was presided over by Mayor MacDonald of Antigonish who made some very appropriate remarks in introducing Father Campbell. "Will ye no come back again" expresses the sentiment of all in leaving the hall.

Mr. Gerald Murray Pronounces Vows at Redemptorist Novitiate.

Last Sunday morning at the Redemptorist novitiate, Maisonneuve, the ecclesiastics pronounced their preparatory vows, amongst whom was Mr. Gerald Murray, son of Mr. G. Murray. At this imposing ceremony, at which the relatives and many friends assisted, there were present several Jesuit fathers, former teachers of Mr. Murray at Loyola College, at which place he made a brilliant course and took his degree of B.A. with distinction. Best wishes follow the young ecclesiastic into the life work he has chosen.

His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi.

Disapproves of Sunday Games for Gate Receipts.

His Grace some time ago forbid all Sunday sports where entrance fees were charged, and has again voiced a strong disapproval; but says: "I do not forbid an innocent game of ball or lacrosse at college or among boys at home or elsewhere on Sunday afternoons, but this is far different from professional teams or clubs making their games the feature of the Sabbath day, charging entrance fees and causing scandal by betting and other acts quite unbecoming to our methods and morals in this Canada of ours. I certainly spoke against this and I still adhere to my former opinion."

Archbishop William's Funeral.

The funeral of Archbishop Williams was one of the most imposing in the history of Boston. Honored by the Cardinal Archbishop of Baltimore, his intimate friend for nearly half a century; by hosts of prelates and priests; by the commonwealth of Massachusetts and the city of Boston, where he was born, the body of the archbishop was placed in the crypt beneath the high altar of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, which stands as a monument to his labors. The solemn ceremony of transferring the body from the huge catafalque, upon which the casket had rested since Monday, to its place of repose beneath the great white altar, followed a pontifical Mass of requiem. The Mass was celebrated by Cardinal Gibbons. The deceased priest's condolator, and now his successor, Most Rev. William H. O'Connell, D.D., delivered an eloquent eulogy.

Although admission was by ticket, the vast Cathedral was crowded to the doors long before the beginning of the service, and thousands stood in the streets. Among the visiting dignitaries were Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia, Archbishop Farley of New York, and Archbishop Moyle of Cincinnati.

During the exercises the city bells and fire alarms were tolled. The city hall was closed between 10.30 and 12 o'clock, and the flag on the building was lowered to half staff. Governor Guild and the executive council arrived at the Cathedral just as the procession of choir boys, altar boys and priests reached the door. The procession was halted while the governor was escorted to his seat. Mayor Fitzgerald and the city council and aldermen were a few minutes earlier. Senator Lodge also attended the services.

The death of Archbishop Williams meant the elevation of Coadjutor Archbishop O'Connell to that office. Archbishop O'Connell is a man of exceptional ability, is vigorous, has great energy of body and mind, and has shown power in every direction. He was born in Lowell, Mass., December 8, 1859, and was educated in the schools there. Later he was graduated from Boston College and entered the North American College at Rome in 1881. Four years later he was ordained and in 1895 was made rector of the American College.
