RECONCILIATION OF GERMANY AND HER FOES IMPOSSIBLE

Cannot Destroy British Empire, Declares Hun General, But France Must Be Beaten Down and Prestige of German Flag on Seas Established.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Nov. 29.—The Rhenish and Westphalian Gazette, in an article on the principle of German peace, declares that the reconciliation of Germany and her western enemies is impossible, according to an Amsterdam despatch to Reuters. The paper declares that it believes Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg recognizes this and adds: "Our ultimate aim is to push through to the west and the ocean. Whatever offers resistance must be crushed."

Referring to the Balkans The Gazette says: "What the victor gets he holds." In respect to the lost German colonies, The Gazette is quoted as saying: "If we do not succeed in reconquering them the French provinces are worth twice our colonies and we will take our compensation out in France. Let us daily tell the French that every foot we conquer is ours. We need not waste words about Belgium, we need access to the channel and we need Antwerp. Whoever wants Belgium may fetch it from us."

The Gazette concludes that England is more assailable than Russia and that London can be destroyed easier than Moscow because, it says, Moscow costs blood and London torpedoes.

"We have no fantastic dreams," are the Gazette's final words, "of conquering the world. German barbarism is not yet ripe for mastering and governing a world empire. We neither can nor will destroy the British Empire, but the minimum necessary for German peace is the complete beating down of France in the west and the prestige of the German flag on all the seas."

An Amsterdam despatch to The Times refers to The Gazette's article as by far the most remarkable that has as yet appeared in regard to German peace terms. The despatch adds that The Gazette represents great industrial magnates who, as recent executive changes show, are making their influence increasingly felt.

Annexation is also advocated by Dr. Jaeger, a member of the Central party in the Reichstag, who, writing in The Dusseldorf General Anzeiger, insists that the German blood shed in Belgium since 1914 must not have been shed in vain.

Must Have Belgium "Belgium must be our guarantee," writes Dr. Jaeger, "for a good part of the war costs. We must retain permanently the Meuse line with Liege and Namur. Part of old Luxembourg which has become Belgian can perhaps be ceded to the Grand Duchy."

After saying that the "Wallons could be ejected from their homes," Dr. Jaeger pronounced in favor of allowing the Belgian dynasty to remain in the country must be brought politically, militarily and economically in closer relation to Germany.

"Thanks to our control system, housewives in Sydney and other cities pay about 25 cents a dozen for the best eggs. Can you imagine that for fresh eggs here? No, but there is no legitimate reason why it shouldn't be."

Pistol in Speculator's Hand "Your American egg barons would like to hit me with some of their storage goods for saying it, no doubt, but the reason eggs are not 25 cents here is that the speculators are holding a pistol to the consumer's head."

"At home we provide a reasonable profit for the producer, one for the wholesaler and one for the retailer, and yet sell many articles of food at half and less than half that you pay here."

The solution of your storage speculation problem seems to me simple. Legislation prohibiting the sale of cold storage products altogether is the solution.

"There is plenty of food of all kinds in the United States. The speculators have got dealers and consumers by the throat. They have raised the false cry of heavy exports on account of the war, and they have hoisted prices for the benefit of the few who are in a position that could not exist in New South Wales."

"In Australia we believe that a government, which cannot control prices for the benefit of its people is not living up to its obligations as a democracy."

"Can you imagine a two pound loaf of bread selling in the United States for seven cents? I think not. Yet that is what the Australian State bakeries do."

"Take a spoon of common thread. In Australia the household wife gets 3,000 yards for a nickel. The American housewife gets 1,000. This is all too more remarkable when you consider that all our cotton must be shipped from England or America, as we grow none."

"Of course, many of our dealers chafe under the fair price system, just as they would in the United States, but that doesn't stop the regulation. Here, it seems to me, they are permitted to cloud the issue."

WHY PRICES ARE HIGH

Speculators' Gun Aimed at Head of the Consumer.

A Contrast Made With System in Vogue in Australia.

Integers holding gun to the heads of the American people, your situation seems to demand drastic measures," said Patrick E. Quinn, Government Commissioner for New South Wales, who yesterday explained the Australian system of food control.

"The storing of eggs, butter, meat, poultry and like foods to boost prices is only less criminal than the destruction of food to keep the markets up, such as I have seen in San Francisco."

"I don't want to appear noisy about the affairs of a country whose guest I am, but when I see high prices in the United States where there is no regulation, and compare it with the reasonable prices and legitimate profits obtained in my home country of New South Wales, where food prices are controlled by the Government, it is a strong temptation to say: 'Go thou and do likewise.'"

"Every Monday morning the prevailing prices for staples are announced by the Government. If the announced price is 36 cents for butter, the housewife knows she will pay 36 cents and no more, without any warning. In the United States the housewife reads a quotation of 41 cents for butter, and prays all the way down town next morning that it won't have jumped a nickel a pound over night."

Good Shoes Need Protection From Wet, Like Good Clothes!

High Price of Shoes, and Low Price of Rubbers and Overshoes, Spreading This Commonsense View

Many a man, and woman, too, who would never think of letting a good suit get damp, will thoughtlessly splash through slush and water with an expensive pair of shoes, caring little so long as the feet do not get too wet.

This treatment takes it out of shoes just as much as it would out of clothes, for none but the heaviest waterproofed leather, unsuitable for general wear, can stand repeated wetting and give more than half the service it should. In these days, with shoes costing two to five dollars a pair more than before the war, no one who is at all in sympathy with the Empire-wide movement for thrift will deliberately continue such waste.

Fortunately, indeed, rubber has not followed the upward trend of almost every other necessity of life, but in the raw state is even cheaper than before the war. So, though labor, fabrics and chemicals cost more, and a war tax is paid on crude rubber as well as on the other materials, rubbers and overshoes, except in a few cases, have not advanced in price. Thus a pair of rubbers, costing perhaps one-fifth as much as your shoes, will practically double their service and save you repair bills. At the same time they will be protecting you from colds by keeping your feet really dry and comfortable in any weather.

THE SITUATION.

The destruction of the two Zeppelins in the recent air raid on the Old Land has naturally caused much satisfaction throughout the Empire. At one period it seemed as if these devilish craft with their toll of women, children and non-combatants could come and go as they pleased. There was a good deal of criticism over the fact for it is a favorite habit of the general public to wonder why the authorities do not do this, that or the other thing off-hand. The immediate cutting down of the price of food, without regard to shortage of crops, or the taking of so many millions of producers for the firing line is another example.

The Zeppelins as an offensive weapon constituted an entirely new thing in war. Flying at a great height, and with marvellous speed, the business of "getting at" them was of course not a matter to be evolved in a few hours. It has taken months of careful experiment and resource to devise means of successfully coping with these marauders, but the thing has apparently now been accomplished. These devil machines are now not only forced to maintain such an altitude that their bombs cannot be dropped with any degree of accuracy, but the fact that seven of them have been destroyed during the present year, clearly demonstrates that their days of immunity are over.

It is announced that the Roumanian government and diplomatic authorities have left Bucharest and moved to Jassy near the Russian frontier. This is pretty good evidence that they consider that the fate of the Capital is just about sealed. Meanwhile the troops of King Ferdinand are said to be falling back in an orderly manner, with their lines still unperched by the enemy. The Serbs together with troops of the Allies continue to force back the foe on the Monastir line. Gains of several hundred yards have been recorded in Macedonia against the strongest kind of defence. German submarines still continue to be active. Nine steamers is the record of the last few hours, the craft destroyed including the Chemung, an American vessel. It is stated that she went down with the Stars and Stripes still flying the captain having refused to lower his colors. President Wilson no doubt will send for some more ink and paper.

COALITION TALK

Some people in Canada continue to urge that a Coalition Government is the proper solution for the Dominion at this time, instead of a still further extension of the life of parliament. They seem to forget that Sir Wilfred Laurier, as Liberal leader, not long ago absolutely refused an invitation to become a member even of a Parliamentary committee regarding the matter of ways and means. He made a flimsy excuse in so doing but everyone knows that Quebec was at the bottom of his decision. That province of which he is the boasted idol, and for the vast majority of whose residents his nod is supposed to be the law, has most distinctly failed to do its duty in this crisis and no one who knows the "Plumed Knight" believes for one moment that if he were a member of a Coalition Cabinet, he would go any further than Quebec desired. Without any doubt he would be a clog instead of an impetus. His record during the Boer war demonstrated how he hung back from sending troops until public opinion forced him to do so.

Then at the time Sir Robert Borden offered aid to the British Navy he openly sneered in the House at any threatened danger, and later had his servile majority in the Senate guillotine, the vote which the Commons had passed.

It is Quebec with him first, last and all the time and his presence in any Coalition Ministry would help to retard matters to the extent of what French Canadians felt or didn't feel, and we all know full well just what that would mean. If Laurier would identify himself unreservedly with what the nation as a whole is commencing to realize and feel, that would be a different matter, but now as always with him it is Quebec which has first to be considered.

THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Christmas is less than a month away, and everybody is going to do some shopping in connection with that gift period.

In this regard the advice cannot be too often repeated, that the doing of it should most emphatically not be delayed until the last moment.

As the Buffalo News points out, if the purchasing public but understood the tax that is imposed on the energies and vitality of the men, women and girls in our stores during the rush of the holiday season, we believe that all who are able to make purchases early, would exercise the ability.

The shopping early idea is a mutual benefit.

Who that has seen the stores at the height of the Christmas season, and left their gift selections to the last hours can have forgotten the massed throngs of shoppers, the almost inextinguishable confusion, the difficulty of making choice from jumbled stock, and the difficulty of enlisting the attention of the worn-out clerks.

It is such experiences as these that have converted Christmas into a period of misery instead of happiness for many.

The clerks subjected to this extraordinary pressure cannot render perfect service, and the shopper is often the reverse of a satisfied customer, which is a firm's best advertisement.

Stocks now are fresher and larger to choose from. Purchases can be made at greater leisure and the clerk will be freer to serve you.

Do your Christmas shopping early. It will prevent you from doing it surlily, later on.

Paris, Nov. 29.—Emil Verhaeren, the Belgian poet, was crushed to death last night at Rouen while endeavoring to board a train.

His poems and one of three dramas written by Verhaeren have been translated into English.

myself shaking a cordial hand and looking into a pair of blue eyes which I recognized.

We ranged ourselves in a semi-circle, facing Joffre. He stood in front of his flat topped desk, shifting his weight from one gaitered leg to the other. He was dressed in the uniform of an artillery officer—black jacket and red riding breeches, with wide black stripes. He wore no weapon, no medal. Only the three small silver stars on his coat sleeve denoted his rank. Was this, after all, the man I had seen so often at the cinema? He seemed the same, and yet not. Instead of a medium sized rather stout man, I saw a man tall and powerfully built. He was looking at the floor. He did not quite seem to know what was expected of him. His long sandy lashes drooping over his eyes the left somewhat more than the right, gave him an expression of great deliberation. His cheeks were not especially full, they were merely in keeping with that large head. Their color was good, but not remarkable. The face, with its strong, generous features, was clean, and showed certain signs of wear—not so much lines of wrinkles as inconspicuous dents and little places such as characteristic some of Rodin's sculpture. Unmistakably it was the face of a fighter, yet in a different sense, from that of Cassius. In that deliberation, Joffre seemed slow and meditative. His gaze as he talked, wandered across our faces, then fell thoughtfully to the floor, then rose again. Only occasionally did I catch a flash of the clear blue eyes.

He accompanied his words with a slight movement of his heavy shoulders, as if to give them additional weight. His voice was low, defective, matter-of-fact almost hesitating.

Interview Too Long. I will not repeat here what he said to us. The interview has already been cabled throughout America. I will remark only that it seems to me this interview, as finally authorized by those who had it arranged for us, did not quite reflect the mind of the French generalissimo. The interview was a bit too long, there was too much pre-amble, it was a shade too politic. Joffre was blunter than that, more point, without miming words, and when he had said what he meant he stopped and quietly looked us in the eyes.

I wish that such Americans as still think the Germans may win, if there be any such, might have seen that look. The measured confidence of Joffre is impressive. For him the victory of the Allies is as certain as his own mathematics. He does not know if it will be now or later, for Germany is still capable of vigorous resistance, but nothing can shake those well-pondered calculations of his. The movements of the planets are not more inevitable than the defeat of Germany—such at least, in the certitude which emanates from this deep, taciturn, powerful personality.

"We will finish the war with a bigger army than we had when we started," said Joffre. And instantly we all felt it would be so, for ex-aggeration seems foreign to this man's nature.

RECRUIT CAMPAIGN

Is Commencing to Look Well in all Three Counties.

Other Notes of Interest in Connection with the 215th.

Preparations for the coming recruiting campaign are progressing favorably in all the three counties from which it is expected to obtain recruits. The system of registration which has been adopted in both the city of Brantford and the County of Brant is working out fully as well as was anticipated, and already several lists of available men have been sent in from the county. It is expected that registration will have been completed by the end of the present month and that the work of soliciting enlistment may be proceeded with immediately.

RETURNED SOLDIERS

A list of invalided soldiers arriving at Quebec, contains the names of R. Charlton, Brantford, and H. Richardson, and A. Coombs of Simcoe, that institution, who was recently killed in action.

BUILDING PERMIT.

A permit was issued at the office of the city engineer this morning to Mr. Geo. D. Heyd, for the erection of a brick and frame garage to cost $1,000. The building will be constructed by the Schultz Bros. Company.

STORY HOUR.

Miss Middlemiss, has decided to relate the story of "Domino," a biography of a silver fox at the story hour at the public library to-morrow afternoon.

IN THE NICK OF TIME.

To the accident passerby must be accredited the praise of preventing what might have turned out to be a serious fire, in the rear of the Hartley Laundry Company building last night, shortly after eight o'clock. The gentleman in question was proceeding to the American Radiator Works, when he thought he saw a window, the flames having, however, secured a foothold in the roof. On the arrival of the firemen in the truck, one line of hose was used to direct the water at the conflagration under control. The damage was slight, which the firemen consider exceptionally lucky under the circumstances, owing to the isolation of the place in which the fire occurred.

Eat Lots of Good Candy

Eat candy, and lots of it! This is the advice given by Dr. Roberts, medical health officer of Hamilton. "It is an old theory which still holds many believers, that children should not be allowed to eat candy. Such a theory is all wrong. Children and adults should eat candy and lots of it. Of course, I refer to pure candy, not the cheap trash-bag stuff which is often dealt out to children. Nature demands a considerable amount of sugar, and pure candy, instead of being injurious or causing teeth-rot, as is often stated by parents, is a real health-producer."

Arrangements are also under way for a meeting to be held in Paris in the near future, in which Mayor Patterson and several of the prominent citizens will participate. Lt. Col. Morris will be the guest of honor for the purpose of discussing the situation there and to arrive at some suitable means of augmenting the supply of recruits from that section.

With the approach of colder weather, the men are appreciating the convenience of being able to take their pants down to the ankles, with the added privilege of shower baths after. Supplies of "gym" suits and shoes have also been added to the stores of the canteen and will be available to the men who desire to purchase them, to add to their gymnasium equipment.

Col. Morris said he thought there were still enough unmarried men between twenty and forty years of age in Norfolk and Hamilton to provide each a company. He preferred single to married men, but was opposed to recruiting youths. The married men's families, he thought, are too big a burden.

Judge Bolea, chairman of the Recruiting League, observed that his organization had done training in wards, recruiting or stimulating sentiment since the 133rd battalion left the country.

H. P. Donly wanted out and out campaign and the government run it by a commission of non-partisans till after the war. He admitted he was some politician and quoted from articles in the Reflector to prove that he should have conscription. He said the government was afraid of a civil war in Quebec, but thought he knew how Quebec could be won without conscription.

Like Sir Wilfrid, however, he did not divulge the secret.

Mayor Williamson spoke briefly as did also Dr. Mearns, both agreeing as to the absolute necessity for increased efforts. Every one of the deputation was agreed the clergy the proper atmosphere for recruiting and the evident leaning upon the church was much more pronounced here than one year ago, or that it was even last autumn.

A committee was formed to draw up a constitution and the new organization will be known as the Clerical Patriotic Association of the County of Norfolk.

E. Gunton, on condition that he pay the cost of the confirmation services at 11 o'clock.

There will be a class of about 25. Capt. Rupert Simpson of the Imperial Army Service Corps arrived home quietly to-day on leave of absence, after a year and a half service in France. He came on the Corsican, leaving England on the 17th inst.

Prof. and Mrs. Jackson have learned of the death of their son-in-law, Lt. Chas. Arthur Bell, of the 58th Batt., C. E. F., killed in action Oct. 8th, at Courcellette, France. For some time, Lt. Bell was reported missing.

The Unique Shoe Company has already become a regular shipper of manufactured goods.

From letters received from members of the 133rd by their families at home, we learn that the 133rd has been broken up, and with new officers placed in their units. The information to hand is meagre, but creates no surprise.

Getting a Sent of Cycle Thieves After a tedious preliminary, the urchin, Cronk, was given a hearing before Squires James Earl and T. E. Nelles yesterday forenoon. The charge of stealing a bicycle, which the owner, R. E. Gunton, said he bought for seven dollars a year ago, and which might be worth five dollars when taken. The wheel was sold, again stolen by Cronk, and seized a second time, and the bench, in kindness to the youth, and consideration for the school children, who have been missing, the wheel was returned to the owner, R. E. Gunton, on condition that he pay the cost of the confirmation services at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Bennett.

The death occurred this morning of an old and respected resident of the city in the person of Mrs. George Bennett, wife of the city building inspector, and a woman of the highest type of Christian character. To mourn her sad loss, she leaves a sorrowing husband, one sister, Mrs. Jane Lee of Oregon, and two brothers, John and James Bray, of Washington Territory. The deceased was for 45 years a resident of this city, and was a firm adherent of St. Jude's church during that time. ## R. SNOW AGAIN BREAKS JAIL

Desperado Who Escaped From Local Jail Now Flees From Guelph.

Robert Snow, alias William Smith who created such a furore in this city some time ago by making good his escape from the county jail, after assaulting Governor Brown, escaped yesterday afternoon at 4.30 from the prison farm at Guelph, where he has been since his trial here.

The prisoner stole one of the horses belonging to the institution, together with a buggy, and by this means eluded the authorities. The information concerning his departure was immediately wired to Chief Sleuni who was warned to maintain a sharp lookout for the fugitive. Up to the present time nothing has been learned as to his whereabouts and no theory has been formed in local police circles as to what direction he would probably take.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN NATIONAL COAL CO. CASE

Judgment was reserved in the case of Stone vs. Stander, in the Supreme Court this morning. The plaintiff, a firm of coal dealers in Pennsylvania, have taken action to have set aside the conveyance of the property of Louis Stander to his wife, claimed to have been made as a means of avoiding payment of debts of the National Coal Company. The prosecution submitted evidence to show that Stander had represented himself to the Stone company as a large property owner in this city. The defence held that there was no fraudulent intent in the conveyance, which was made, in fact, before Stander entered the National Coal Company. As the debt of the Stone company had also been contracted prior to Stander's entry, he could be held in no way liable for payment. At the time when Stander was in correspondence with the Stone Company, he had severed connection with the National Coal Company, and was contemplating entering business by himself.

A question concerning the date of the conveyance of the property was raised by the prosecution. The conveyance was said to have been made on Feb. 1, 1915, but had not been registered until March 6, of the same year, whereas Stander had become a partner in the National on Feb. 27.

The hearing of the case was completed, but judgment was reserved.

THE CANADIANS

Are on a Quiet Part of the Somme Just Now.

London, Nov. 28.—The Canadians at the front are in a quiet part of the line just now, the chief assaults being from snipers and trench mortars. The weather is bitterly cold. The Canadian trenches are in some places not thirty yards from the enemy. A chaplain who returned this morning says their location is very welcome after the Somme. He tells of how one day he was dressing the wounds of an officer on the Somme when a shell came and killed the officers and orderly close by, but the chaplain himself was unharmed. However, when he moved with the division to the new location he received a slight shell wound in the back of the hand.

CANON HEDLEY'S BAPTISM OF FIRE

Interesting Letter From Former Rector of Port Arthur.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Canon Hedley, to a friend in Port Arthur, dated France, November 3rd.

I am beginning to feel absorbed in my present occupation. I was always keen in a patriotic way, but I just began to feel as if I have a part in it. I went in on Halloween with the battalion for the first time. This line is quiet compared with what they have had in the north and south, but to me it seemed lively enough in its way. We started after sundown and walked some miles by road before we entered a communication trench. It was an exquisite night, with a young moon in the west. We tramped a mile or so. I was with the leading company and dropped off my impediments at battalion headquarters, and went on to the right front. Weather and the Boche had demoralized the trenches at the front, and it was a case of climbing over cave-ins and going up to your knees in mud. Star shells from the enemy lit us up beat-titly at frequent intervals. Then a trench mortar would send over a mine-thrower—a "sausage" in the parlance. Fortunately we could see its course more or less sufficiently to get around a traverse, perhaps. The explosion is tremendous (as my experience goes), and in two days it has bashed in our parapet, demolishing our front trench and almost obliterated another. "Pineapples" are a smaller form, and rifle grenades got one of our runners, a boy of 18, that first night. I buried him to-day. After half an hour in C company's trench, which has had almost all the casualties so far (about 20), I found the company headquarters with a couple of very nice chaps who had just been posting their men, and had just been going over the situation down in a 30 foot dug-out, also a couple of English artillery officers who are these were going out with his guide and ordered to drop me at battalion still at work with us here. One of headquarters where my stuff was. His guide lost his way in the maze of trenches, and after a couple of miles we met one of our runners who set him straight and took me home where at 1.30 I found the officer commanding and adjutant sitting down to supper, and as it was twelve hours since our last meal, I was quite ready, and when I turned in at 2.15 I was nearly all in

Next day I went with the O. C. and M.O. all around the front and supporting trenches and had quite an interesting time watching the shells coming over and bursting. One feels the strain after a while of being on the qui vive, and when we inched at 5.30 in our comfortable dugout I was glad to get into slippers and have a quiet time. That second night they kept at us, and about 2 a.m. we had to send a platoon from two support trenches to C company. They lost twelve men in thirty-six hours—three fatal. I am to bury another in the morning, and will then go back in and probably take up my sleeping quarters in with the M.O. at the advanced dressing station so as to be on hand when casualties come in. It will be some time before I know my way around, but I feel fairly fit and it will give me a better chance with the men while they are in the front line. We have six days there, then six in support, six more in front, and then six out in reserve in base. Captain Ridgeway, another church of England chaplain, and I will be out here most Sundays for services, while the other is in where services are almost impossible. "Ralph Connor" and Father Tompkins complete our brigade chaplain staff. Just as I was starting this letter we heard our aircraft guns going and ran out to see the sights. The Germans were putting shells up as a couple of our men—very vivid of the mark. They went on apparently unconcerned with their observations. Further south it seemed to be a fight with a couple of German machines, and before long there were twenty in sight, and several of them, apparently German, putting off for home. This is a long screed, written on my knee by a blazing open hearth in a little stone house of battalion ambulance base, and the inside is for our officers who are "out" while the battalion is "in." All except myself are new-comers. Fourteen new officers came to us a couple of hours before we started last Tuesday and marched off at once to the towns in occupied territories in France, the following number of persons have been transported back there.

"Up to August 1, 1916, 1,993 persons who were either incapable of working or had proved especially severe."

"From the beginning of October until the middle of November 6,671 persons, mostly women, whose work was no longer required."

"The competent military authorities have received an order to transport back up to the end of the year all persons with the exception of those who wish to stay in their new residences. Since it is most probable that the French Government will assert that these measures were taken in consequence of its protest and the intervention of neutral governments."

By Courier Leased Wire.
Chicago, Nov. 29.—Plainer fare will mark the menus of the diet squad of the Chicago health department during the remainder of the attempt to demonstrate how to live well at reasonable prices, second time. Dr. Roberterson, health commissioner, expressed the hope that in the final week the cost of feeding twelve dieters might be cut to about 25 cents a day per person. The cost for the first week was 33 2-3 cents, exclusive of allowances for fuel, light, heat, service and other overhead expenses. Only two dozen eggs were used in the first week, these costing 40 and 44 cents a dozen. Thirty-five quarts of milk, at 9 cents were used, chiefly for cooking. Economies were made, it was pointed out, by purchasing in large amounts, thus saving fractional weights and "split

OPTICAL ILLUSION GERMAN HUNS

Huns Imagined They Behind British Line

Captain Norman Thwaites, of the Fourth Dragoon Guards in the British army, now in the United States on leave, describes in a recent visit to a prisoners of war camp in England his story, published in the New York World, is as follows:— I talked with the senior officer whose rank entitles him to rule the camp under the British command. He had been taken near Ypres during the terrible five days of the "contemptible little army," completed by one-third, faced the flow of the German army urged on by Calais by the War Lord himself. The culminating attack by a division of German divisions was made against one cavalry brigade, which lost 90 per cent. of its total in five days. I was greatly interested when a Prussian officer informed me that he had been separated from his comrades and had run into a trench of British cavalrymen. I was eager for a piece of information. "How was it," I asked, "that Germans did not get through to-day? The British were retreating slowly and stubbornly, and a vigorous pursuit would have made us save qui pet. of it. We thought we were scuppered, sure."

"Well, I'll tell you," he said. "When the British occupied the prepared trenches outside the town advanced in force, but the Dragoon Guards held us up long time. They had a good field of fire and we could not make headway. They spotted the game. Then when we did manage to get some of the French trenches on the right of the cavalrymen we had your enormous reserves and had wait for our supports to come up. I was amazed. "Reserves!" I claimed. "Why, we had no reserves. We had not even any supports. Several passed before any considerable number of troops were able to assist us."

Statement of the Prussian commander was of rather weird interest. After the pretty but who fictitious story of the angels which originated in a poetic conception of Arthur Machen, there was from mouth to mouth the story of the heroes of Agincourt who arose from the ancient battlefields where their bones had lain these years, and in their thousands, they faced the invaders of France Flanders. Niagara Falls Woman Tells of Hun Frightfulness Before the War.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 29.—Addressing a mass meeting of women in the City Hall yesterday afternoon, Hon. Capt. Mrs. Parsons told of her travels through Germany years ago, she had attended a gathering at Potsdam in honor of Emperor Frederick, and the dominant note of the speakers was that the day would come when the German navy would have swept the seas clear of British "pirates," and hatred for Britons was clearly manifested there.

"I took the matter as a huge joke in my innocence," said Mrs. Parsons. She said a book had been found recently which was issued to German officers eighteen months before the war telling how to commit atrocities such as crucifixion so as to strike terror into their opponents. "I spoke to a returned soldier who saw a comrade crucified," said Mrs. Parsons, "and he said it took the poor fellow three days to die."

STERILIZE HUNS AFTER THE WAR

In Reprisal for Their Infecting Prisoners With Disease Germs.

Speaking of the German atrocities in infecting prisoners with tuberculosis, the Canadian Journal of Medicine and Surgery says in its current issue:

The Germans are short-sighted in their blows, and forget that this disease will inevitably react on the masses of people throughout the world as a cowardly blow below the belt, and also, that there will surely be an infection of a certain number of their own men who have to control these camps. There are a few "show" camps to which the United States Embassy has gained access, but the largest number of prisoners by far are in distant camps to which all entrance by neutral agents is prohibited. Here is where such deeds are perpetrated.

There should be an unerring calculation of damage thus done the allied races, and for every officer or private infected with tuberculosis, or for every woman and child killed by air raids, there should be no many German officers, privates, women and children sterilized after the war is victoriously ended for us.

Check Tuberculosis. Not only that, but France must seal up the fatal bomb sent back at her and take out its death-dealing burden, by checking this infection together in a tremendous effort to form sunny homes for these sad men, to isolate them as happily as possible and arrest the disease, without their passing it on to future generations.

The King, years ago, instituted prizes for the birth of twins or triplets, and that plan has been set on foot in France, where the birth-rate was low before the war. There might, indeed, be a tax placed throughout France on the childless, whether married couples or single wage-earners. And it will be cheerfully paid. Many a single woman has cried out bitterly, in the solitude of her room, in these sad days: "Oh, that I could bear a son, to give him to my country! and these thousands of women, even though supporting aged parents or helpless, invalid sisters, will eagerly strain their slender resources still further to meet this dire deed. Surely nothing but the curse of Almighty God could be sufficient punishment for a nation, with the black heart of Germany, who could commit such deeds and glory in them!"

FACING WINTER. Prepare for winter, gentle reader, put by the hoe and rake and seed, the tool with which you mow the clover may rust a while, it's a season's over. In storage put your trusty swatter, until the days again grow hotter. The goosebone seems as one are saying that winter won't be long delaying, and they insist when it's a corner, 'twill be an old-time ring-balled hummer. The signs all indicate a season prolonged and cold beyond all reason. The moss upon the trees is thicker; the wood-

SIDE TALKS

"Blessings on him who first invented sleep. It covers a man all over, thoughts and all, like a cloak. It is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold and cold for the hot. It makes the shepherd equal to the monarch and the fool to the wise."—Cervantes. Is there after all, any sensation in the world more delicious than lying down on a comfortable bed in just the right state of weariness, with a long uninterrupted night of sleep before one? An epicure signifies one who is a connoisseur in the luxuries of the table. I think we should have another word for the connoisseur in the luxuries of sleep. Sleep is a blessing under any condition, it is a luxury, an exquisite sensation, under the right ones. One Must Not Be Too Tired. To enjoy it to the full, you must be tired, but not too tired. We all know what it is to be so weary that it is impossible to get our achings bones comfortably placed. In the second place, one must be physically and not merely mentally weary. To go to bed with a brain so tired that it cannot relax, and a body not tired enough to drag the brain into sleep, is often to go to torture. Just as hunger is the finest

OUR DAILY PATTERN SERVICE

Valuable Suggestions for the Handy Homemaker—Order Any Pattern Through the Courier.

LADIES' DRESSING SACQUE. By Anabel Worthington. In this illustration is shown a garment that is indispensable in the wardrobe of every woman. It is needed when one awakens for the rest period after work when dull care needs driving away and to slip on when dressing for a call more or less formal. Keeping pace with Fashion's fancies, the designer planned to make the collar the "star feature" of this dainty model. Notice that it is cut in a becoming length, quite full, and drawn in on an elastic at the waistline. The sleeves just turn the elbow, finishing with a turn-back point cuff, but a full length sleeve may be chosen and finished with a hand cuff. Lace or edging to outline the collar and sleeve cuff gives a dainty feminine touch and ribbon to fasten the garment at the neck and waistline will add to its distinctness. Challis, albatross, wool batiste, cashmere and flowered silk are among the favored materials for something very effective. Cotton crepe will develop effectively, too, with dainty trimming touches. It is a pleasure to make such a garment and it requires no skill to do so. The dressing sacque pattern, No. 8046, cuts in sizes 36 to 42 bust. To make in size 36 requires 2 1/2 yards 38 inch goods with 3/4 yard contrasting goods and 3 yards handkerchiefs. To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

Oh, that I could bear a son, to give him to my country! and these thousands of women, even though supporting aged parents or helpless, invalid sisters, will eagerly strain their slender resources still further to meet this dire deed. Surely nothing but the curse of Almighty God could be sufficient punishment for a nation, with the black heart of Germany, who could commit such deeds and glory in them!"

Further Levy Made by Huns. Paris, Nov. 29.—The German authorities have issued a decree imposing a further payment of 10,000,000 francs a month on Belgium, according to a Havas despatch from Havre. This is additional to the existing levy of 480,000,000 francs. The despatch says that the provincial councils have been convoked for December 2 in order to approve the new imposition.

MORE BELGIANS DEPORTED. London, Nov. 29.—Deportations of Belgians between seventeen and fifty-five years of age began in the Liege district on Monday, according to an Amsterdam despatch to The Morning Post. The despatch said that the town itself has not yet been drawn upon.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, had breath, has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping and you have a well, playful child again. You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a 60-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

LABOR SERVICE Bill in Germany

Berlin, via London, Nov. 28.—The German law, evidently speaking with authority, announces that the government and Reichstag leaders have reached an agreement on the "home army" question, and that the labor service bill to be introduced tomorrow will be practically a new measure. The bill will remain a blanket one as far as establishing the principle of universal service is concerned, but it will prescribe that general regulations under which the law may be applied, may be issued only with the consent of a special Reichstag committee. Provisions for workmen's committees and courts of arbitration to protect the rights of laborers are also included in the new bill. The changes are considered a long step in the direction of parliamentary control.

RATHER DIE THAN SUFFER DEFEAT

Stirring Address Made by British M. P. in France. Rather Die Than Suffer Defeat. By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Nov. 29.—Speaking before the Paris Harvard Club on Saturday evening, Sir Henry Norman, M.P., representing England before the French Inventive Bureau, said in the presence of United States Ambassador Sharp: "We don't expect America will join in the fight, but we do expect she will understand our feelings; will understand that we have lost two friends out of every three; that we lose 100,000 of our young men in a few hours fighting; that our sons are hourly facing death; that we dare not open a telegram without fearing the worst, but that we feel we must fight this out, if we do not, our children must. We would rather die than suffer defeat." His climax was exceedingly dramatic and the applause that followed, from the nearly 100 Harvard graduates present was thunderous.

GAS SHORTAGE FELT IN ITALY

High Cost of Coal There May Result in Cutting Off Supply. Rome, Nov. 29.—The high price and scarcity of coal threatens to close up the gas companies in Italian cities. This is especially true in Turin, where two companies have declared that they will be unable to furnish gas after a few weeks unless England sends coal, according to an agreement which they say was made before the renewal of the German submarine campaign. The gas companies throughout the country also declare that they are being forced into bankruptcy by being compelled to fill contracts made with municipalities before the war. One solution offered is the use of electricity, which is relatively cheap for cooking and heating. As a move in this direction, William Marconi, the inventor, has just accepted the task of reorganizing the Roman municipal electric plant.

Of course, you can buy cheaper teas, but "SALADA" is undoubtedly the most economical and what appears to be 'cheap' in price will prove to be extravagant in use. The fresh young leaves of "Salada" will yield you generous value for your money.

A Message From Lloyd George

The Right Hon. David Lloyd George, speaking on "The Lesson of Sacrifice," said:--

"We have been living in a sheltered valley for generations. We have been too comfortable and too indulgent, many perhaps too selfish. But the stern hand of fate has scourged us to an elevation where we can see the everlasting things that matter for a Nation, the great peaks we had forgotten--of Honour, Duty, Patriotism, and clad in glittering white, the towering pinnacle of Sacrifice, pointing like a rugged finger to Heaven."

Each time he makes a trip he must report to the police going and coming. Travel is discouraged by imposition of difficulties."

SECRET EYES OF KAISER KEPT WATCH OVER ALL

Hun Spy System Reaches Point of High Perfection in the German Empire, where All Are Under Espionage.

New York, Nov. 29.—The traveller who succeeds in entering Germany in war time must expect to endure all kinds of annoyance, as he is constantly under observation, and is subjected to repeated examinations to prevent him acquiring and carrying away anything which might be useful to the Empire's enemies, says Herbert Bayard Swump, New York World observer in Germany.

The traveller is obliged to report upon arrival at the nearest police station and have his passport vised when he is given permission to remain for a stated period. Each time he makes a trip he must report himself to the police going and coming. Travel is discouraged by imposition of difficulties.

Miles of Red Tape

Eleven separate operations are required to obtain a passport to visit the country, and ten days must elapse between the initial application and actual boarding of a train. These are the days of endless red tape, revisits to numerous departments, answering a multiplicity of questions on the application sheets. Even after reaching the point of actual departure passports must be shown to the numerous inspectors at the stations and on the trains. The hotels are filled with spies in the guise of guests and employes, and the stranger in Germany is never out of sight of Government agents, and the clothing and property of guests in the hotel rooms is thoroughly searched despite fancied protection of locks.

Secret Eyes Spy On All

Espionage is not confined to Americans in Germany, but embraces even Austrians, Bulgarians and Turks, all must come under the secret eyes and ears of the Kaiser. German spies who travel on all transatlantic liners running from Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Holland to America and back again, and it is their task to find out all they can about their fellow-travellers which may interest the German secret police chiefs.

Walter Cross of Hamilton, on his official visit, who gave an excellent address on Oddfellowship. The invitation which was extended to Burlington, which was to confer the Royal Purple degree, was reported by the D. D. G. P. to be in excellent form, when a big night is expected. After light refreshments, the evening was brought to a close.

TURKS BREAK PROMISE TO U.S.

Rescind Agreement to Allow Americans to Depart From Turkey via Jaffa.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Word that the Turkish Government has rescinded its previous agreement to allow several hundred Americans to leave the Turkish Empire via Jaffa reached the State Department yesterday from Ambassador Eikins at Constantinople. The Ambassador was informed that the Americans cannot be permitted to depart because of military necessity, and that the official who made the previous agreement spoke without authority.

Diplomacy seems to have been exhausted in the situation, and it is not known what action may be taken in an effort to bring Turkey to terms. The practical internment of the Americans is a source of anxiety to their friends and indignation to the Government. It is said to be an unprecedented situation which will require most delicate handling. The exact number of persons affected cannot be learned, owing to the fact that direct communication with shore is not permitted. Many are said to be naturalized Syrians and Armenians, though a number of

The Steamer Genoglie was held up at Amoy on November 21 by the Chinese authorities as she was about to sail for Mesopotamia with a number of Chinese laborers. Germans in Amoy objected to the departure of a vessel on the ground that it was a breach of Chinese neutrality. The contracts with the laborers were also questioned and it was asserted that the ship's voyage violated the treaty with England.

Alexandra Church Bazaar

One of the most successful events of its kind ever held in the church was the bazaar conducted in Alexandra Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. From the time the doors were opened to the public in the afternoon until they closed at night, there was a continuous stream of visitors who gave generously of their support to the undertaking.

The schoolroom was appropriately decorated with patriotic emblems, which were distinctly in keeping with the occasion. There were, in all six booths, the attendants at every one of which, were busily engaged all times. The various booths and the names of the ladies in charge, follows, in each case the lady first mentioned being the convener and the others, her assistants: Aprons and plain sewing—Miss Cameron, Mrs. N. Jex and Mrs. C. Gress.

ATTACHE RECALLED

Berlin, Nov. 27.—Via London Nov. 28.—Lieutenant Colonel Joseph E. Kuhn, military attaché to the American embassy has received orders of recall and will leave at an early date for New York. No successor has yet been named. No reasons for Lieutenant Colonel Kuhn's recall are given, but it is noted that the activity of the American attaché since January has been confined to studying the war at Berlin. It is considered probable that there will be little change in the situation in Alsace and Germany without attaches at Washington.
