Korniloff's "Savages" Near Petrograd

UNCOUTH TROOPS OF DEPOSED COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF MARCHING ON RUSSIAN CAPITAL Crisis Gravest in Russia Since Revolution

Korniloff and Supporters Already Pass Luga on Way to Petrograd; His Troops Most Savage of Russian Army

By Courier Leased Wire.

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—According to reports from the Winter Palace where the government council was in session this afternoon a considerable force of supporters of General Korniloff already have passed Luga on the way to Petrograd. The government refuses to make a statement, but Foreign Minister Terestchenko informs the Associated press that he believes the Korniloff forces consist of only a few hundred men. The two and railway station at Luga are in Korniloff's hands.

By order of Premier Kerensky the railway track between Luga and Petrograd has been torn up in places gangs being engaged on the work all night. On the Petrograd side of Luga are forces which so far have stood firm for the government.

General Korniloff's main support appears to be the so-called Sikaya or "savage division" which was formerly stationed Pskoff and consisting of Georgians and other Caucasus tribesmen, who are personally devoted to Korniloff as a result of his lifelong interest in Asiatic affairs. With this force are Tekke Cavalrymen from the Trans-Caspian territory, whose wild appearance created a sensation when they accompanied General Korniloff to the Moscow conference.

According to the evening newspapers the "savage division" has occupied Vuirisa on the Windau-Ruibinsk railroad.

The government last night made repeated efforts to induce General Alexieff, former commander-in-chief of the Russian army to take command against Korniloff, but met with refusal. Members of the government state that there is no prospect whatever of Korniloff submitting. He has issued orders to his army to take possession of Petrograd and in a manifesto to the army he declares that the provisional government with Premier Kerensky at its head has shown itself incapable to cope with the situation, that has among its administrators "advocates of Russia's defeat, also German hirelings and that in this threatening hour when the fatherland is faced with ruin he considers it his duty to displace the government and assume full power."

Besiege Petrograd
Petrograd, Sept. 11.—Gen. Korniloff has ordered his troops to detain at the railroad station at Dno and to march on and besiege the city of Petrograd. Government infantry still is moving out of the capital to oppose Korniloff's forces.
General Denikin, commander of the Russian armies on the southwestern front, has telegraphed to Premier Kerensky that he intends to support Gen. Korniloff.

Hope for Solution
Petrograd, Sept. 10.—The conferences of the ministers are being continued in the hope of finding a solution of the situation which will prevent internal war. Simultaneously the council of workmen's and soldiers' deputies is in session. It is said that Bolsheviks intend declaring for the government and appealing to all the parties of the Left to rally against a counter-revolution. As the Ataman of the Cossacks, Karanloff, a member of the Duma, who came immediately to Petrograd upon news of the conspiracy, declared that the Cossacks had resolved to do everything to prevent a fratricidal turn in the war, which would ruin the revolution. Karanloff, with a deputation of Cossacks, will leave for the front and attempt negotiations with General Korniloff.

WEATHER BULLETIN
Toronto, Sept. 11.—The area of high pressure is now centred in the middle states and the cool wave becoming less pronounced. The weather is fine throughout the Dominion. Light frosts occurred during the night in many parts of Ontario and Quebec.
Forecast
Moderate to fresh westerly winds, fine to-day and on Wednesday, becoming warmer.

VAULTING AMBITION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—The crisis precipitated by the forced resignation of Gen. Korniloff as commander-in-chief of Russian armies is regarded here as possibly the most serious of many in that country's six months' existence as a democracy.

The open fashion in which the deposed commander demanded from Premier Kerensky a virtual dictatorship, and the adherence to his plans of former Premier Lvoff with his following of the Duma, and powerful members of the intellectual and military classes, indicate that the Korniloff forces feel sure they can succeed.

Unless the differences can be composed it is feared that Russia may sink deeper into political disorganization and fall a prey either to German conquerors or the threatened monarchial reaction.

LUST FOR POWER.

Without official despatches explaining in full the tangled situation, it is understood here that the chief point at issue is the organization of the army along strict disciplinary lines, including the death penalty for soldiers violating orders, advocated persistently by Gen. Korniloff. Although Premier Kerensky has declared himself for the Korniloff program, the provisional Government has exerted a check on the death sentence through Government reviewing commissioners at the front. Apparently Gen. Korniloff despaired of improving the situation by carrying out his frequent threats to resign, and finally became satisfied that his influence was sufficiently powerful to wrest the entire Government from the provisional Cabinet.

FRENCH RAIDS ON FOE LINES ARE SUCCESSFUL

German Positions in Champagne Front Were Penetrated Last Night

PRISONERS CAPTURED

Five Women Wounded in Dunkirk Hospital Bomb-By Huns.

Paris, Sept. 11.—French raiding parties last night penetrated the German lines in the region southeast of Vauxaillon and north of the Casque in the Champagne, the French War Department announced today. German supplies were destroyed and the French made a number of prisoners. German aviators during the night dropped bombs in the region of Dunkirk. Some of the missiles struck a hospital and wounded five women.

Text of the statement follows: "Enemy surprise attacks north of Jouy and northeast of Cerny were repulsed by our fire. We effected raids into the German lines in the region southeast of Vauxaillon and in the Champagne to the north of the Casque. We destroyed supplies and made prisoners.
"Our batteries took under fire enemy troops south of Justinecourt.
"On both banks of the Meuse (Verdun region) there was intermittent artillery firing.
"The night was calm on the rest of the front.
"Last night German aviators bombarded the region of Dunkirk. Bombs fell on a hospital where five women were wounded."

GUTCHKOFF TURNS Former Minister of War Joins Korniloff in His Revolution.

By Courier Leased Wire
Petrograd, Sept. 11.—Members of the provisional government today discussed as an alternative or complement to a directory, the formation of a permanent national assembly on the lines of the Moscow conference, which is to be summoned immediately.

Gutchkoff Turns
Petrograd, Sept. 11.—Alexander J. Gutchkoff, who formerly held the positions of president of the duma, chief of the munitions bureau and minister of war and navy and interim, has gone over to Gen. Korniloff. Gutchkoff had left Petrograd on Saturday for the Russian field headquarters.

PAINLEVE HAS UNDERTAKEN TO FORM MINISTRY

Minister of War in French Cabinet Accepts Premiership.

SUCCESS EXPECTED

Socialists Will Give Support and Be Represented in Cabinet.

By Courier Leased Wire
Paris, Sept. 11.—Paul Painleve, minister of war, who last night accepted the task of forming a new ministry, immediately began holding conferences with party representatives and the prevailing impression in political circles is that he will succeed in forming a cabinet. It is understood that the Socialist party leaders who refused to collaborate with Alexander Ribot, because, it is said, of his refusal to issue passports to French delegates to the Stockholm Peace Conference, are disposed to give that collaboration to M. Painleve. Delegates of the Socialist party were to meet with M. Painleve today, and it is considered possible that the Socialists will have several representatives in the cabinet.

Paris, Sept. 11.—The Italian Government is considering a series of measures which it is expected will limit the consumption of food stuffs and raw materials, according to a Havas dispatch from Rome. The measures which it is expected to put into effect in the near future, include the rationing of food classes as necessities, the monopoly of shoe production by the state, suppression after September 15, of private automobiles, except those used by officials and diplomats and other measures of a like nature.

Rival Factions Meet Near Luga Without Outbreak of Hostilities---Kerensky Takes Action to Defend Russ Capital

By Courier Leased Wire.

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—No report has yet been received of a collision between government troops and the forces of General Korniloff, which are coming toward Petrograd. It is officially stated that a part of the rival forces met near Luga and communicated with each other without hostilities breaking out. One of General Korniloff's detachments is said to be advancing from the Neva. Both sides are still organizing and appealing for support.

The Bourse Gazette says the cavalry which General Korniloff sent against the capital reached Dno, 120 miles from Petrograd. The military section of the Council of Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates at Petrograd had sent emissaries to explain the character of the movement to the officers of the Korniloff cavalry. The delegates delivered Premier Kerensky's order of the day and the advance of the cavalry stopped at Dno to await further instructions.

Premier Kerensky has sent instructions by wireless telegraphy to all railroad organizations requiring the officials to refuse to obey any order from General Korniloff. The premier has received a telegram from the commander of the Baltic fleet promising support.

GERMANS TO RISE

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—The committee of the 12th Russian army before leaving Riga left an appeal printed in German and addressed to the German soldiers pointing out that the latter was making war on the side of the autocracy and against a revolution of liberty and justice. The appeal said:

"A victory of Kaiser Wilhelm would mean the end of democracy and liberty. We are leaving Riga, but we know the revolutionary spirit will prove stronger than your cannon we know that in the end your conscience will see more clearly and that you will march on to victory and liberty side by side with the revolutionary army.

"Your strength is greater than ours, but your superiority is merely of physical and material force. Moral force is on our side. History will relate that the German proletariat marched against their Russian brothers forgetting the dictates of international solidarity."

INDIGNATION RUNNING HIGH IN ARGENTINE

Patriotic Society Demands Trial of Swedish Ministers as Criminal.

Populace Roused by Revelation of Sweden's Duplicity.

By Courier Leased Wire
Buenos Aires, Sept. 11.—News despatches to the effect that passports may be handed to the German and Swedish diplomatic representatives in Argentina, are declared by the foreign minister to be premature as the government is unable even to consider such a procedure until it receives official details respecting the Washington revelations.
The foreign minister announces that the steamers Oran and Guazo referred to one of the messages sent by Count Luxburg, through the Swedish legation to the German foreign office, arrived at the French ports in June, after Luxburg had sent his despatch.

An Argentine patriotic society has issued a statement urging that Count Luxburg must not be given his passports, but tried for a criminal offense of inciting the assassination of Argentine citizens. This action is impossible, however, as diplomatic representatives are immune from court summons. All documents relating to questions between Argentina and Germany have been published, the foreign minister declared, (Continued on page four)

London's Views

London, Sept. 11.—The Russian crisis overshadows all else in the news and editorial columns of the morning newspapers.

"Germany may enjoy the satisfaction of knowing," declares The Post, "that her sinister intrigues have produced a cataclysm in the revolution which in whatever its other results may consist, must, as we continue to believe, ultimately destroy and eradicate German predominance in Russia. Germany now perceives that her advance in the Riga district, which affords the German emperor no excessive gratification, has hastened another crisis in which, troubled as the prospect is at present, we can discern hope for Russia but none for Germany."

The Times says that the outlook is dark, and that it affects the war on every front, "for the allies begin to realize that even in the most favorable circumstance, the revival of the Russians military efficiency is bound to be remote."

The Times declares that Gen. Korniloff is not a traitor, and says that if his ultimatum to the Petrograd authorities on Saturday was tantamount to dictatorship, it was evidently because he felt there was no alternative left. The Times adds:

"Kerensky has failed to restore order and stability in the army, because he long had been in a false position. His provisional government has been at the beck and call of the soldiers' and workmen's delegates, whose pernicious influence almost brought Russia to ruin. Committees will never save Russia, but in a very short time they will wreck the revolution if they are not deprived of the power to interfere."

The Daily News: "Whatever is the outcome of the present collision, it can hardly fail to leave chaos more chaotic and more confusion more confounded. The chance that will rescue the unhappy country (Continued on page three)

Simcoe, Sept. 11.—(From our own correspondent).—Sergt. W. G. Bland leaves Simcoe to-morrow noon, to return to the front. He enlisted on October 27th, 1914, was home on a month's convalescent leave, paying his own transportation, when the illness of his wife and children secured him an extension of furlough. Ineligibles in Simcoe regret the necessity of this soldier's return to the front. He should be given a good send-off.

County Conscription Boards Being Constituted.
 Norfolk is to have two registration boards in connection with the administration of the Military Act. The county is divided along the same lines as for provincial elections, except that Simcoe goes to the south and North Walsingham to the north. His Honor Judge Botes has named himself for the board in No. 1, the south division and Mr. George J. McKee for No. 2.

No doubt the recommendations will be accepted. The Government will name another member for each board.

 At ten o'clock this morning, Rev. Father Nagle sang requiem high mass at St. Mary's, for the late Francis Murphy, who was killed recently in France.

James Walker's son came to grief with the family "Ford" somewhere south of town on Sunday evening. In attempting to go by some one he got too near the ditch and the momentum did the rest. The car came up to the "hospital" early yesterday morning on the rear wheels with what was left of the front end mounted on a dray platform. No one seriously hurt.
 Mr. C. Quarry is doing a wholesale business in cob corn for table use. Most of the shipments are consigned to Hamilton.

What the west side of the Campbell gardens were in June with the peonies at their best the area to westward is at present with far over a thousand varieties of gladioli. The writer enjoyed an hour yesterday morning watching the work of picking a few thousand spikes for the day's express orders.
 The Campbells were missed from the Toronto Exhibition last week. Two factors prevented their putting on a display there. The gladioli season is a few days late, and all available help is required at home. The pleasure of admiring such a superb display is enhanced by the readiness with which the Campbells call up the name of each variety. One is amazed too at the amount of detail in marking and keeping track of each kind of bulb in all the long list. Yesterday we saw sheaves and sheaves of spikes far superior to what is offered in Toronto this month at $1.25 a dozen. But we were doubtless in the premier gladiolus garden on the continent. And even Simcoians, with a few exceptions, fail to appreciate this fact.

Pte. C. Young, of Delhi, listed as wounded in yesterday's dailies, was a member of the former 133rd. There were two Youngs, Charles and Clarence. "Various distinctions" should have read "various destinations" in the reference to the killed in the 133rd.

 together with statement of Receipts and Expenditures from the organization of the Association to date.
 Clause 2 of the report partly described the completed monument and reads:—
 "The monument is composed of a large centre panel in relief containing five figures, representing 'Man' discovering his power to transmit sound through space, with a figure over him representing 'Intelligence,' and three floating figures representing three messengers, 'Knowledge, Joy and Sorrow.' Under this panel is inscribed 'In the granite, 'To commemorate the invention of the telephone by Alexander Graham Bell in Brantford in 1876.' In the rear of the monument is a granite fountain, and the whole is bounded by a circle of granite."

In the course of a few weeks a final statement, duly audited, is to be presented and published.
 Mr. Andrews was appointed to act with Ald. P. H. Secord in procuring Lake Beach Pebbles for the crescent in front of the monument.
 The Secretary with Messrs. Kippax and C. H. Waterons were appointed a committee, with power to act, to complete the work on the grounds, or as much thereof as the funds available will allow; and to act as far as possible in co-operation with the Board of Works and the Parks Board.
 A committee was appointed to organize a citizen committee of management for the unveiling and dedication ceremonies, such a committee to include the members of the memorial board, the city council and the parks board, together with other citizens, members of the Association. The President and officers were appointed an Invitation Committee. The President was appointed to confer with the Mayor regarding the contemplated visit of the Governor-General.

THE FAT PATRIOT.
 I climb a mountain ten miles high
 If he is not delighted that he's in three times-a-day I do it; and when I've weighted myself, I sigh, "I lose no heft, beshrew it!" I noped to make myself so thin, much exercise assisting the corporal, would let me in-when I attempt enlisting. I ply the dumbbells and the clubs, and live on frugal ration, with other patriots who wish to save the nation.
 I see the thin man going by, and envy him his figure; "A shapely gent like that," I sigh, "can sweat the foe with vigor. He isn't loaded down with fat, and he can climb a Gea slit, and leave him dead or squirm-to glory.

CRIPPLED SOLDIERS' DANCE; NEW CURE IS ADOPTED

Novel Methods of Treatment at Hart House, Toronto, Attracting International Interest - Work Has Been so Successful That it Will be Carried Into Other Hospitals of Commission

Toronto, Sept. 11.—The man who associates with the stilling air of disinfectant bottles and pills finds Hart House, the centre of the Military Hospitals Commission's work of functional re-education for disabled soldiers in Toronto, a revelation which upsets all his notions of curative measures.

The place is filled with activity, hope and fellowship, and the apathy of men fast growing used to the notion of being crippled melts like April's charge, and the miracle working methods which they are employing to restore men to their normal condition.

Fantastic as the idea may appear the crippled soldiers are dancing, playing volley ball, and other active gym games under instruction, as part of their treatment, and great results are being realized.

Mental Attitude Vital
The men detailed to Hart House for treatment are those who through injuries have lost control of certain nerves or muscles. They may be unable to control a hand, a foot, or leg, or a bullet in the brain may have destroyed a motor area. Still other cases are those where injury or shock has affected some mental process, such as memory, concentration or association.

All the conditions following these injuries have their psychological as well as physical aspect, and a man's mental attitude toward his condition is shown to be vital.
"I can't" must be eradicated to start with," explained one of the instructors, "and to foster a self-reliance we play games in which a whole class of men with various disabilities are engaged. This induces in the men the excitement of the moment to perform the natural action, which if more time were allowed for thought, they would believe beyond their powers."
The games afford the boys a great deal of enjoyment and the period allotted to them is all too short. The boys' dancing classes, they demanded funny figures they cut, when a refractory muscle causes them to do the unexpected, are regarded as only another occasion for laughter.

They play more like "white boys" than invalids, in spite of the fact that they may be dragging a foot after them. The foot in a few weeks' time will in all probability be giving perfect service again.

The dancing is Swedish, not the society brand, but still demanding grace. The music is the choice of the returned men, and many of the selections come from the musical shows which ran on Broadway while they were wired in the trenches of Flanders.

Strong on Syncopation
These tuneful ditties percolated even to the front lines and when it was put up to the boys to choose records for the gramophone used for their training classes, they demanded Irving Berlin's best, and many a back tending to curvature has been restored to its normal straightness by the rickety music of a ragtime music which wouldn't let a fellow stop.

Scientific Theories Underlying
Casual as it may seem, the dancing is all carefully planned to meet the needs of the group engaged in it, by the returned men, and the difficulties of every man under his care, and the particular movements which must be persisted in to restore him to his normal state. Patient consent can be noted in the increased ease with which they perform steps which were at first all but beyond them.

This house which has been worked out under the direction of Dr. Ed. A. Bott, with such success as to attract international interest, will be carried into other Military Hospitals of the Commission as soon as proper provisions can be made.

WEAK, AILING BABY.

No food agreed, and fast Wasting Away. But Soon Cured by Dr. Cassell's Tablets

Mrs. Jarvis, Box 286, Penetang P. O., Ont., says: "When only five months old my baby fell ill, and in spite of medical treatment wasted away till he seemed just skin and bone. I tried special foods, but none of them would stay on his stomach, and we never thought we should rear him. But one day I read about Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and got some for my baby, and I am thankful I did, for they quite cured him. He is a bonny boy now."

THE SITUATION.
 The crisis in Russia is now of a double-headed variety—disloyalty of troops with regard to opposing the foe, and internal troubles of such a marked nature that civil war may result. Gen. Korniloff, commander-in-chief, having made the demand that all civil as well as military power be conferred upon him, Premier Kerensky promptly ordered him to resign, which the general has refused to do. If Korniloff had the army at his back there would be no doubt as to the outcome, but there does not appear to be any reason for believing that he has, or that the army generally speaking, is in any shape to do any backing up, except in the worst sense. The view has been expressed that the supporters of the ex-Czar are at the bottom of much of the present national trouble, but it is far more likely that the outcome is the result of German intrigue and German money. The recent disclosures with reference to Sweden, demonstrate that any nation they can get hold of they bring dishonor, which indeed is their main stock in trade.
 On the Italian front, Cadorna's men continue to maintain their pressure in excellent style, and it is said that in addition to German reinforcements, Turks have now also appeared on the Isonzo in a desperate attempt to stem the tide. Austrian claims of ground recovered, are officially denied.

THE PARTIZAN CRY
 Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in his nominations to the board of selection under the Military Service Act, has been careful to select only men of the most eminent fitness, who are not active partisans, for the work. A sample of his nominations is that of Sir John Gibson as one of the two men from Ontario. The government, on the other hand, seems to have made its nominations on the basis of partizanship as usual.—Expositor.

The above comment is eminently characteristic of the organ.
 The idea of depicting Sir John Gibson as a non-partizan, is one of the richest things that even our amusing cotem has ever perpetrated. It is true that Sir John presided at a Win-the-War meeting, in Hamilton, addressed by Dr. Clark, M.P. It is also true that when the doctor told some plain truths about Laurier's failure to measure up to the status of a true statesman in this crisis, Sir John very promptly sprang to the rescue of his chief.

Sir Wilfrid's nominees are all Liberals, which is natural enough. Borden's nominees are all Conservatives, which is equally to be expected, yet the Expositor prates of large-mindedness in the one case and partizanship in the other.
 This cry of partizanship in connection with the war has been frequently hurled by the Expositor against the administration.
 In what respect?

The Courier hates to put such matters on a political basis, and they should not be so rated, but as a matter of fact there has been any partizanship shown locally in the matter of munition contracts, selection of officers and men, naming of conscription boards, and so on.
 There has been absolutely none and that which is true of Brantford and Brant County is equally true of other portions.
 And then in the matter of the entire Dominion, what partizanship was there about the matter of Borden to Laurier of a United Government, on a fifty-fifty basis?

Any answer, or is the organ too busily engaged in weeping over the fact that the loyal Austrians and Germans are not to have a vote in the approaching general contest?

CANADIAN CASUALTIES

3B Courier Leased Wire

THE FRANCHISE BILL.
 The proposed Dominion Franchise Act has been received in Quebec with all kinds of heated comment.
 That was to be expected for the province in question is again the present government, or any other government which contemplates Canada doing her full share in this time of crisis.
 In the other provinces some Liberal papers of the extremely partizan sort have also ventured upon some caustic criticism, but speaking generally the fact seems to be recognized that an unusual menace calls for unusual treatment.
 The Hamilton Herald (Independent) in referring to the matter points out that criticism of the bill is such as would be reasonable enough if the conditions were framed to meet normal conditions and to construct permanent machinery for the taking of the vote in future Dominion elections. But it is not that sort of measure. It is a makeshift measure, designed to deal with the abnormal conditions developed by the war. In time of peace it would be intolerably unjust to deprive, by legislative enactment, any class of citizens of the electoral franchise which they had already acquired and exercised. Even in war time there is a certain degree of injustice in disfranchising naturalized citizens of enemy origin who have given a cause for doubting their loyalty. But, with the country at war, should men who are not only disloyal British subjects but who regard themselves as still owing allegiance to a monarch with whom Canada is at war, be allowed to share in the government of this country and use their political power to hamper our government in its efforts to prosecute the war with the vigor which is desirable? It is a time of national danger, and measures which would not be justifiable in time of peace may well be defensible now, even if, in depriving friends of the enemy of their power to do mischief, injury be incidentally done to some loyal citizens of enemy origin.
 It should be considered too, that compensation is provided for those citizens who are to be arbitrarily disfranchised. All such are to be exempted from military service. If they are not allowed to vote, neither will they be liable to conscription. This is absolutely just. And it is expedient too. A citizen who is disfranchised because his loyalty is under suspicion could not safely be trusted to bear arms in defence of his adopted country and sovereign.
 Some of those who were looking for the complete enfranchisement of women in the approaching Federal election have also expressed disapproval over the clause referring to that matter but not all of them. For instance Mrs. L. A. Hamilton (Toronto) President of the National Equal Franchise League, and vice-President of the Women's Citizens' Association has frankly expressed the opinion that the bill is "quite satisfactory in view of the conscription issue and the question of the foreign woman." When interviewed she said: "In war time we should all be willing to make sacrifices, and we women should be willing to sacrifice the test of ser democracy to the greater. We want the freedom of the world most. The greater will include the less. We should keep before our eyes the fact that the war is not yet won."
 That is well said and should be earnestly pondered by those affected.

INDIGNATION
 adding that nothing had been held in reserve and that there is not now any verbal, with Germany, limiting in anyway the freedom of Argentina's shipping. Further doubt concerning Argentina's faith and truthfulness after this declaration must be considered a national offense, the foreign minister declared. He added that the best proof of the inexactness of Count Luxburg's May 19th despatch was that eight Argentine steamers cleared for the war zone during June.
Dutch Views.
 Amsterdam, Sept. 11.—The Dutch newspapers give prominence to the exposures regarding the action of the Swedish legation in Buenos Aires. The Handelsblad says the Swedish Government has committed an act forbidden by international law and must await the consequences.
 The revelations harmonize with all that has been hitherto known regarding the methods of German representatives abroad, says the Nieuwe Van Den Dag, though it is extraordinarily cynical and impudent for a representative to advise that ships of a country with which he maintains friendly relations should be sunk without trace being left of them, which means in fact that all on board should perish.
 The Telegraaf says:
 "The first question that arises is: Will it mean war for Sweden, and adds that the Entente inclination to hold the Swedish people as a whole responsible, will be satisfied with the punishment of the guilty individuals. The Swedish people, it says, have adequate means for making their resentment felt by throwing out the present government. The Telegraaf concludes by saying that the disclosures indicate that there could hardly be a more unsuitable place for a peace conference than Stockholm.

Obituary

Mrs. Howell. The funeral of the late Mrs. Nelson Howell took place yesterday afternoon from her residence, 36 William street, to Greenwood cemetery. Impressive services at the house and grave were conducted by the Rev. W. J. Thompson, pastor of the Congregational church at the house and yard of Montreal, a nephew, and Mr. and Mrs. C. McD. Hay of Toronto, were at the services. There was a large number of floral tributes, and many friends of the deceased were present.

F. H. WALSH. Death called an old and respected resident of the city yesterday afternoon in the passing of F. H. Walsh, for the past thirty years a leading merchant of the city. The late Mr. Walsh was sixty-eight years of age and was well known in the city. In early life he was an engineer and had the distinction of driving the first train over the old Brantford, Waterford and Lake Erie Railroad. The deceased is survived by two sons, Percy of this city and Lieut. Harris of Camp Borden, who has been overseas, and one brother William, also of this city. The late Mr. Walsh was a member of Doric Lodge and his funeral, which will be held on Wednesday afternoon from his late residence, 169 Sydenham street, will be under Masonic auspices.

WM. DUNHAM. William Grey Dunham died Saturday at his residence, 208 Market street, Brantford. Mr. Dunham was born on November 24th, 1855 at Salem, Ont., being the eldest son of the late William Thomas and Emily Jane Dunham. He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and five daughters, Bertha, now Mrs. Alfred Livingston and Florence, the youngest daughter. The family was not wholly unprepared for the end, as the deceased had suffered ill-health for some time. As a young man, Mr. Dunham pioneered in the west, travelling all of the Western provinces and many of the Western States, before the days of the railroad. There he met and married his beloved wife, who together with the family, has resided in our city for a period of years. The children were born and educated in the City of Chicago.

Mr. Dunham was the Canadian manager for McCord and Company, well known as Railway Supply manufacturers, connected with the firm of Pratt and Letchworth. As a boy, this man, along with a host of young Canadians of his day, crossed the international boundary line into the United States, full of life and energy, which carried him on to early recognition among railway men, in which circle he had many good friends, who will extend to the family sincere sympathies.

Mr. Dunham was a Royal Arch Mason, an Odd Fellow, and a member of other fraternal societies. He enjoyed to a remarkable extent the good will and respect of the men with whom he was associated in business. John B. and Charles A., brothers of the deceased, came on from the West to attend the funeral. The family wish to make grateful acknowledgement of the kindness and loving thoughtfulness of a large circle of friends who have done so much in these last days to bring cheer in the hour of greatest trial. Beautiful floral tributes were as follows:

Pillow, the family; pillow, foreman and office staff, of Pratt and Letchworth; column, Pratt and Letchworth; wreath, John and Charles Dunham; wreath, Mrs. Jos. Filley and family; anchor, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn; spray Mr. and Mrs. Swart, Mr. and Mrs. Wedge, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Crandell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Menzies, Mrs. Pinkham and Pearl, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Simons, Miss Maudie Martin, Mrs. E. G. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Grienner and family, Gordon Sage, Mr. and Mrs. Bloxham and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Welsh, Mr. Wm. Ripley, Mr. and Mrs. Livingston, Mrs. and Miss Patterson, I.O.O.F. Harmony Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Grienner, A. F. and A. M., Brant Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. L. Plant, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson and Helen, associates and friends at work, Morrill Dunn, Chicago, A. C. McCord, Chicago, D. W. McCord, Chicago, McCord and Co., Chicago, W. J. Schiacks, Chicago. The funeral service was opened by the Rev. Llewellyn Bryson, and later was taken in charge by the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, who conducted the impressive last rites of a departed brother.

Laid at Rest

The funeral of the late Mrs. William Watt took place yesterday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Woodside officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. McClintock, and many sorrowing relatives and friends were present. The pall bearers were T. Watt, Geo. Watt, George J. Watt, Charles Watt, Harvey Watt, and J. Harold (Paris). Among the many beautiful floral tributes was one from the Harold-Sanderson Works, Paris.

INFANT RISPIN. The funeral took place on Sunday of Perley James, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Rispin, Echo Place, who died on Saturday afternoon, the service being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Wallis, Elm Ave.

SCHOOL AGE. In Toronto the school inspectors have been forced to warn the principals and teachers that children must not be taken on the rolls until they are five years of age. A member of the local board of Education this morning stated that the five year rule had always been closely adhered to in Brantford, and that no such warning was necessary in this city. The trouble in Toronto was that the children had been admitted to the kindergarten classes at the age of four years and gradually began to work up into the higher grades. The kindergarten classes in Brantford have been eliminated, and the "kindergarten primary" what was formerly the second step in promotion, is now the first.

COAL FIRMS ARE SUMMONED BY COUNCIL ON COAL QUESTION

Dealers Alleged to Have Charged Exorbitant Prices Must Appear and Give Information - Council Resumes Regular Sessions

That in the opinion of this council it is declared that excessive prices are being demanded within the limits of this municipality for coal, and that the City Solicitor is hereby instructed by notice in writing under his hand to require F. H. Walsh and Mary Stander (trading under the firm name of the Standard Coal Company) persons dealing within this municipality in the said necessary life to make and render unto the council within a period of 10 days from the service of such notice, a written return under oath of affirmation, showing in detail (a) the amount of such necessary life held by such persons for sale or disposition within such municipality at any indicated time or times, including any preceding the making of these regulations, (b) the time when any or all such necessary life was acquired, produced, or brought within or into such municipality (c) the cost of such necessary life, including all charges of an overhead or other nature affecting such cost, (d) the price at which such necessary life is held for sale or at which any sales of part of the same or a similar necessary life have been made by such persons within this municipality since the first day of January, 1915.

The city council last night resumed their regular sessions after adjournment of more than two months during the summer, and the business transacted was of a routine nature. The agenda for the evening included a report on the coal question, which was presented by Ald. MacBride. The council discussed the matter and decided to call a meeting of the coal dealers to be held on the 15th inst. to discuss the coal question. The council also discussed the matter of the waterworks system, and decided to call a meeting of the waterworks committee to be held on the 15th inst. to discuss the matter.

By-Laws

The by-law to issue debentures to improve and extend the waterworks system, received its second reading. Ald. English introduced a by-law to provide for the construction of concrete curbs, sanitary sewers, storm sewers and other local improvements in various sections of the city. The by-law received its three readings and was duly passed.

Street Lights

Ald. English called the attention of the fire and light committee to the absence of street lights on Dundas street between West and High streets.

Gas Question

Ald. Harp inquired as to the progress of the gas committee, and the city's prospects for the winter. Mayor Bowly replied that the city was being badly treated by the gas company.

Military Service Act, 1917 Explanatory Announcement by the Minister of Justice

THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT has received the assent of the Governor-General and is now part of the law of the land. It will be enforced accordingly, and the patriotism and good sense of the people can be relied upon to support it. Resistance to its enforcement, however, by word or act must and will be repressed as resistance to any other law in force must be.

Reinforcements under the Military Service Act immediately required

It is the intention of the Government immediately to exercise the power which the Act confers and to call out men for military service in order to provide reinforcements for the Canadian Forces. This is necessary since the military authorities report that the reserves available or in sight for reinforcement will shortly be exhausted unless this step be taken.

First call limited to men between 20 and 34 who were unmarried or widowers without children on July 6, 1917

The present call will be limited to men not in the schedule of exemptions who were unmarried or widowers without children on July 6, 1917, are at least twenty years of age, and were born on or since 1st January, 1883. Of this Class all those will be entitled to conditional exemption whose services in their present occupations, agricultural, industrial or other, are essential in the national interest, and whose business or domestic responsibilities are such that serious hardship would ensue if their services be required. Conscientious scruples based upon a prohibition of combatant service by the articles of faith of the religious denomination to which men belong will also be respected. The men first required to serve will consequently be those who can be called upon with the least disturbance of the economic and social life of the country.

Civil Tribunals to deal with exemptions

Questions of exemption will be determined, not by the military authorities or by the Government, but by civil tribunals composed of representative men who are familiar with local conditions in the communities in which they serve, who will generally have personal knowledge of the economic and family reasons which those whose names come before them have had for not volunteering their services and who will be able sympathetically to estimate the weight and importance of such reasons. Provincial Appellate Tribunals constituted from the existing judiciary of the respective provinces will be provided to correct mistakes made by local Tribunals, and a Central Appellate Tribunal for the whole of Canada, selected from among the present Judges of the Supreme Court of Canada, will be constituted in order that identical principles may be applied throughout the country. In this way every man may rest assured of the fair and full consideration of his circumstances and the national requirements both civil and military.

Proclamation will announce the day

A proclamation will issue calling out the bachelors and widowers referred to and fixing a day on or before which every man must report for service to the military authorities unless he has before that day made an application for exemption.

How to apply for exemption

Applications for exemption may be made by written notice on forms which will be available at every post office, and will be transmitted free of postage. They will not, however, be required to be made in this way, but may be presented by the applicants in person to the exemption tribunals. The cases of those who have given written notice in advance will take precedence, and appearance in person will therefore be likely to involve considerably more inconvenience and delay to the men concerned, so that it is recommended that advantage be generally taken of the facilities for written application.

Exemption Tribunals in all parts of Canada

The local exemption tribunals will be constituted with the least delay possible, consistent with the selection of representative individuals to compose them, and the instruction of the members in their duties. There will be more than one thousand of such tribunals throughout Canada, each consisting of two members, one of whom will be nominated by a Joint Committee of Parliament, and the other by one of the Judges of the existing Courts. Every effort will be made by the wide distribution of tribunals, and by provision where necessary for their sitting in more than one place, to minimize the inconvenience to which men will be put in obtaining the disposition of their cases.

A Registrar will be appointed in each Province, who will be named in the proclamation and to whom enquiries may be addressed. Each Provincial Registrar will transmit to the appropriate tribunal the applications for exemption which have been submitted in advance of the sittings, and men who have sent these in will not be required to attend the tribunals until notified to do so. Other applicants should attend personally on the tribunal without notice.

How to report for service

Men who do not desire to claim exemption will report to the military authorities for service either by mail or in person at any time after the issue of the proclamation. Forms of report by mail will be found in all post offices, and, like applications for exemption, will be transmitted free of postage.

Early report advantageous

No man who reports for service will, although he may be medically examined and passed as fit, be required to go into camp or join a battalion until after a day fixed by the proclamation sufficiently late to permit of the disposition by the local tribunals of most, if not all, of the applications for exemption which may come before them. Thus no advantage will be gained by delaying or disadvantage incurred by prompt report for service on the part of those who do not intend to apply for exemption.

Facilities for immediate medical examination

Immediately upon the issue of the proclamation, medical boards will sit at every mobilization centre for the examination of men who report for service or who, subject to their right within the time limited to apply for exemption, desire to have their physical fitness determined in order to allay any doubts as to their physical condition, or to know definitely and in advance whether there is a possibility of their services being required. Certificates of physical unfitness issued by these Medical Boards will be accepted without any further investigation by exemption tribunals when they sit. Men found physically fit who have not reported for service may nevertheless apply for exemption on any of the prescribed grounds, including even their physical condition if dissatisfied with the Medical Board's conclusion.

Notice to join the colors

As reinforcements are required, notice to report at the nearest mobilization centre will be given from time to time to the men found liable and passed as fit for service. Disobedience of such notice will render the offender liable, but punishment for failure to report for military service, or to report subsequently for duty when called upon, will be imposed ordinarily by the civil magistrates; offenders, however, will remain liable for the performance of their military duties notwithstanding any civil punishment which may be imposed and will be liable to military punishment in cases in which civil proceedings are not taken.

Watch for the Proclamation

Notice of the day appointed for the making of a claim for exemption or for report for military service will be published as widely as possible, and, as no personal notice can be given until the individuals called out have so reported themselves or claimed exemption, men possibly concerned are warned to inform themselves with regard to the day fixed, since neglect may involve the loss by them of important privileges and rights.

CHAS. J. DOHERTY, Minister of Justice.

Ottawa, September 11, 1917.

At St. Louis.
Smith's steal home in the third inning yesterday enabled St. Louis to win the first game of the final series with Pittsburgh 2 to 1. With Smith on third and Miller on first and two out Jacobs tossed to Mollwitz trying to pick Miller off first. When he did so Smith dashed for the plate and scored. Score:—R. H. E. Batteries—Jacobs, Evans and Schmidt; Goodwin and Snyder.

At New York.
New York lost two games to Brooklyn yesterday, 13 to 6 and 2 to 1. The first game was a poorly played exhibition, Brooklyn winning by scoring seven runs in the eighth inning on four hits, three bases on balls, a fielder's choice and three steals. Benton threw away the second game in the first inning when his wild throw to second let in Olson and Daubert. Marquard pitched fine ball, a fumble by Olson enabling New York to secure its only run. Scores:—

First game—R. H. E. Brooklyn . . . 040001071—13 12 4 New York . . . 200100000—6 10 2 Batteries—Pfeffer and Miller; Krueger, Demaree, Anderson, Tesreau, Benton and McCarty, Haridon.

Sporting Comment

The B. C. I. rugby team held its first practice of the season yesterday afternoon on the O.I.B. grounds. Several of last year's players were in uniform and about thirty likely prospects, who will endeavor to make the team, were out for the preliminary work out.

The outlook for the coming season is encouraging, for the students are throwing themselves enthusiastically into the sport, and are heartily interested in the 1917 team. Of last year's aggregation Ken Baird, H. Middlemiss, R. Cook, L. Booth, J. Littler, B. Kitchen, P. Guenther and Harry Waddington were out last night, while "Dud" Hurley, L. Buckborough and T. Truss are counted on as surpluses.

Guelph have already commenced their training under the tutelage of a former Varsity man, an ex-coach of the O. A. C. The team that will represent the Royal City is reported to be lighter than last year, but fairly fast.

TELEGRAPHERS TO REACH AGREEMENT

Hopes Entertained in Settlement of the G. N. W. Trouble.

By Courier Leased Wire
Montreal, Sept. 11.—The dispute between the G. N. W. Telegraph Company and their employees is not yet settled, but there are high hopes that to-day will see the end of the matter. The only question now in dispute between the company and representatives of the men is the grading of the officials of the company. The three arbitrators are meeting to-day to deliberate on this point, having concluded the hearing of the evidence and heard the arguments of the men's representatives during the past week.

The new franchise bill will cut off 1,200 votes in Waterloo County. Early harvest has made it possible in Southern Alberta to get a great deal of land under cultivation for next season.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW WAR LOAN

Sir Thomas White Engaged on Organization of Publicity Bureau.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—The publicity campaign in connection with the new war loan is now being organized by Sir Thomas White. Last week, after consultation with Mr. Imrie, secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Mr. White requested the association to name a committee of representatives and a number of advertising agents to co-operate with him. The advisory board of publishers named by the association includes W. J. Taylor, Woodstock Sentinel Review, and John Wold, Farmers Advocate, London. The advisory board of advertising agents nominated by the association includes J. E. McConnell, of McConnell and Ferguson, London.

The plan of the minister will be to cover the entire Dominion with a propaganda which will emphasize the necessity of national saving and subscriptions to the war loan in order that Canada may meet her own war expenditures in Canada and establish further credits for the imperial treasury for the purchase of munitions and foodstuffs and the maintenance of our industrial, agricultural and commercial prosperity, which is vital to our continued and unceasing effort in the war.

The minister does not share the belief that an election campaign would seriously militate against the success of the loan. He believes that the public as a whole, irrespective of political affiliations or nationality, will unite in co-operating to make the issue a great and striking success. All surmises as to the amount of interest which the House will be authorized to sanction and wholly unauthorized until the minister makes the official announcement in November.

SOME SLUGGEST WHICH LEAFS WON

Montreal, Sept. 10.—It required twelve innings of read old-fashioned honest-to-godness corner lot baseball, the affair being actually a burlesque with plenty of sluggings, base-running in abundance, rallies galore and a mixture of good and poor playing before Nap Lajoie's Leafs were able to claim a victory over the lowly Royals this afternoon. The final reading of the score board was 13 runs to 10, and this information, that about represents the play.

As the old-timer said, "It is the uncertainty of the game that makes it" and it was certainly the uncertainty of the final issue that caused all the excitement to-day. It looked as though the Leafs had the verdict safely tucked away under their cap of eight tallies, and it looked as though everything were over but the shouting. However, Smith's three-bagger and Damara's circuit clout gave the Royals a pair in the eighth, while in the ninth Al Leake, who had replaced Jack Warhop on the mound for the Leafs after the Royals had snatched the lead in the initial inning, developed a streak of generosity. Madden and Hoyt, who replaced Duffy on the mound for the Howletts in the first, both singled. Leake then passed the next two batters, forcing in a run.

Could also Generous
Mr. Gould then was called to the rescue by Manager Lajoie, but he, too, contracted the disease of passing batters. He issued two free transportation tickets, let go a wide heavy, which, coupled with an error by Truesdale, a fielder's choice and a hit enabled the Royals to register five more runs and tie up the count.

However, after Gould settled down, while the Leafs finally got to Hoyt in the twelfth frame. In this, the deciding inning, Jacobson led off with a two-bagger to left, and White-man sacrificed him along a peg. Lajoie was purposely passed, and Schultz came through with a Texas leaguer over second, which sent Jacobson home. Blackburne followed with a bingle to right, which enabled Murray's tap Schultz was caught at the plate, but while attempting to make a double play Blackburne came home.

APPLY CLOSURE ON ELECTION ACT

Second Reading of Franchise Bill Carried in Parliament.

LIBERALS GIVE FIGHT
Twenty-Minute Speeches are Permitted in the Debate.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—The war-time elections bill, extending the Federal franchise to female relatives of soldiers who have gone overseas, and disfranchising citizens of alien enemy origin naturalized since 1902, was read a second time under the closure rule in the Commons this morning. Before the motion for the second reading was carried the House voted down an amendment presented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier declaring: "The abridgement of this Parliament of the electorate franchise now enjoyed in any province of the Dominion by any class of his Majesty's subjects would be contrary to the peace, order and good government of Canada."

The speeches of the opponents of the bill were in the main cast in one mould. They showed most concern over the sections of the bill providing for the disfranchisement of voters of German and Austrian birth. These sections, the speakers asserted constituted a breach of faith with persons who had come to Canada as settlers and helped to develop the country. They would, it was contended, have the effect of deterring immigration into Canada after the war. Another objection to the bill was that it did not extend the franchise to all women. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in dealing with the first phase of the argument against the bill, expressed disbelief in the suggestion that Canadians of enemy origin might prove disloyal to the land of their adoption. To him it was inconceivable that they should become traitors to the country in which they had found happiness and freedom. Further, he held that the best method by which the government could ensure the vote to female relatives of soldiers was to give it to all women. Sir Wilfrid stood for the acceptance of the provincial franchise instead of the establishment of a Dominion franchise.

Moderate in Tone
Some few members of the Opposition spoke with bitterness of the policy laid down in the bill, as for example, W. A. Buchanan, of Medicine Hat, who represents a section of the Liberal conscriptionists, protested against the bill as a repudiation by the government of the Western conscriptionists. Dr. B. Neely also opposed the measure as disfranchising nearly half the electors of his constituency of Humboldt, Saskatchewan. No reason was given for depriving these citizens of the vote and the Act is still in force. Hon. A. K. MacLean of Halifax, also opposed the bill.

PORT WINE HAD TOO MUCH KICK
Peterboro, Ont., Sept. 11.—Police Magistrate Dumble this morning gave judgment in a case where the Warne Drug Company, Limited, were charged with a breach of the Ontario Temperance Act in that they sold a brand of invalid port without a license. A fine of $600 was imposed. The case was preferred by License Inspector Stewart at the instance of the license commissioners. It was found that a bottle of port sold by the defendants and which was registered under the Dominion Patent Medicine Act and was medicated to a certain degree, contained nearly 36 per cent. of alcohol. The court held that the Ontario regulations were in force and the invalid port was not sufficiently medicated. There will likely be an appeal to the supreme court.

GERMAN MASKS NOT GAS-PROOF

Canadians Are Taking a Terrible Toll With Their Projectors at Lens.
FOE SHORT OF RUBBER
Their Head Protectors Are Now Made of Soft Leather.

By Stewart Lyon
Canadian Headquarters in France, Sept. 11.—The most notable development on this part of the front during the past few days is the increasing use of gas shells by the enemy in retaliation for the frequent projection of gas cylinders into the German lines. The gas projectors have been one of the big mechanical successes of the campaigning season. Almost every prisoner who is brought in tells of severe losses through the use of gas against the German troops in Lens. Men captured two days ago state that last week a company of the First Guard reserve regiment lost 20 dead as the result of a gas shell exploding in the cellar where they lay asleep. Before they could get their masks on the gas had overcome them. Another company of the same regiment had 17 casualties from gas in one day, of which seven died before their removal to a hospital.

Short of Rubber
The failure of Germany to obtain sufficient supplies of rubber probably is a contributing cause of these gas fatalities. The rubber of the German masks is poor and tears readily. Lately, masks of soft, flexible leather have been served out to the enemy on this part of the front. The leather is kept well oiled, and is easily put on, but not so quickly as rubber. The enemy's method of retaliation for our gas attacks is by concentrated shots with gas shells. A few days ago I mentioned the discovery of an eight-inch enemy gas shell behind our lines. This is a much larger calibre than any heretofore used by him. A single shell of that size would not seriously endanger our men in the open, so the Germans are attempting to direct a concentration of gas shells upon our artillery positions. Fifty or more of such shells release much gas, which permeates the atmosphere and makes it advisable that persons in the vicinity, especially those down the wind, wear masks. Despite these difficulties, our gunners continue to carry out their work of destroying the enemy gunpits.

An Outsider

(By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE)

AUTHOR OF
"The Lone Wolf"
"Joan Thursday"
"The Brass Bow" etc.

(From Monday's Daily.)
She was a love-sick school-girl of sixteen; a hundred times, if once, her barely parted lips breathed his name to the sympathetic night that never would betray her; "Donald—Donald—Donald Lyttleton—"

Now all the while she wasted sighing for him by the window Mr. Lyttleton spent his daily speculating about her—lounging in a corner of the smoking-room, on the edge of a circle of other masculine guests making common use of much alcohol to defer the tiresome formalities of going to bed and getting up again in the morning.

If this gentleman was Sally's junior in the matter of a year or two, he was overwhelmingly superior in knowledge of his world—a world into which he had been brought neither to tell nor yet to spin, but simply to be the life and soul of the party. And at twenty-five he was beyond permitting sentiment to run away with judgment; he could resist temptation with as much fortitude as any man, always providing he could see any sound reason for resisting it—any reason, that is, promising a profit from the deed of abstinence.

Mr. Lyttleton had ten thousand a year of his own, income from a principle fortunate beyond his power to apprehend; he spent twenty thousand with an easy conscience; he earnestly desired to be able to spend fifty without fear of consequences. Talents such as his merited maintenance—falling independent means, such maintenance as comes from marrying money and a wife above suspicion of parsimony. If only he had been able, or even had cared to believe himself, Mr. Lyttleton's fortunes might long since have been established on some such satisfactory basis. But his wife, severely handicapped by the weakness of a sentimental nature, would persist in falling in love with him—always, unobtrusively, women of that order means. He couldn't help being sorry for them and seeking to assuage their sufferings; he couldn't forever be running away from some infuriated female, and so he was forever being found out and forgiven—by women. Most men, meanly envious, disliked him; all men held him in passionate distrust. Devilish hard luck.

Take this Manwaring girl—pretty, intelligent, artless little woman—perhaps a bit mature, but fascinating all the same, affectingly naive about her trouble, which was simply spontaneous combustion, one more of those first-night affairs. He had noticed the symptoms immediately the night of her introduction to Gosnold House. He hadn't paid much attention to her during luncheon, and only sought her out when they sat up on the spur of the moment, for that informal after-dinner dance by moonlight on the verandah—partly because he happened to notice her sitting to one side, so obviously longing for him to ask her, partly because it was his business to dance, and partly because—well, because it was less dangerous, everything considered, than dancing with Mrs. Standish.

And then the clearest treachery of Sally's eyes and that little gesture of surrender with which she yielded herself to his guidance. It was really too bad, he thought, especially since she had made occasion to tell him frankly she hadn't a dollar to bless herself with. Still, he must give himself credit for behaving admirably; he hadn't encouraged the girl, nor, at all events, of course, it wasn't in human nature to ignore her entirely after that; moreover, to admit her would have been completely not to say nothing. But one must draw the line somewhere.

To-night, for example, he had danced with her perhaps ten or fifteen times, but he had said nothing of his own. And they had sat out a dance or two—awfully old-fashioned custom, went out years ago—still one did it, regardless, now and then.

Crispus girl, the Manwaring; one moment almost melting into his arms, the next practically warning him against himself. And curiously reticent—said she was "nobody"—let it go at that. Very probably told the truth; she seemed to know nobody who was anybody, and though she was apparently very much at her ease most of the time, and not readily impressed, he noticed now and then a little tenseness in her manner, a covert watchfulness of other women, as though she were waiting for her cue.

At this juncture in his reverie Mr. Lyttleton, peremptorily dismissed from his mind, compounded his nightcap at the buffet, and joined in the general conversation.

Coincidentally the reverie of Miss Manwaring at her bedchamber window digressed to review fragmentarily the traffic and discoveries of three wonderful days.

Days in whose glamorous radiance the romance of Cinderella paled to the complexion of a gordinally realistic narrative of commonplace, contemplating them, Sally, for the sake of her self-conceit, felt constrained to adopt an aloof, superior, skeptical pose. Conceding freely the incredible reality of this phase of her history, she none the less contended that no more true permanence inhered in it than in a dream.

She recapitulated many indisputable signs of the instability of her affairs. And of all those the foremost, the most glaring, was her personal success, at once actual and impossible. She saw herself (from that remote and weather-beaten coin of skepticism) moving freely to and fro in the great world of the socially elect, unhindered, unquestioned, tacitly accepted, meeting, chatting, treating, and parting with its denizens with a gesture of confidence that was never the gesture of S. Manwaring of the hardware notions; a Nobody on terms of equality with indisputable Somebody—nearly important Somebody, indeed, for by common consent mankind had created for them a special world within the world and set it apart for their exclusive shelter and delimitation, for them to live in and have their being untroubled and uncontaminated by contact with the commonality.

For all that, Sally couldn't see why they must be so cared for and catered to. The only thing that apparently distinguished them from those who lacked their advantages, who looked up reverently to them and read enviously of their doings in the papers, was their assurance, a quality ostensibly inimitable; yet she imitated it with seemingly flawless art. A contradiction that defied her wits to reconcile.

As for her antecedents, the line which credited her to the city of Massillon passed unchallenged, while a conspiracy of silence kept private to the few acquainted with it that hideous secret of her mother's store servitude. Mrs. Gosnold would have said nothing out of sheer kindness of heart even if it had not been her settled habit to practise the difficult arts of minding her own business and keeping her own counsel. Savage was still in New York, but had been at Gosnold House would have imitated the example set by his amiable sister and held his tongue even when most exasperated with Sally. Mrs. Fargo, of course, knew no more than what he had been free to surmise from the girl's impulsive confession that she had been out of both work and money when befriended by Mrs. Standish; whatever her inferences, he kept them to himself.

A simple, sincere, stubborn soul, this Mr. Fargo; at least, he made himself nearest to Sally, persistently seeking her and dumbly offering a friendship which she, in the precipitation of the grand passion, had never thought now wish to cultivate, and which he himself ingeniously analogized for on the plea of self-defense. He frankly professed a dread of "strong women," one of whom, he averred mysteriously, was bent on marrying him by main strength and good-will first. Time she caught him with lowered curtains (Continued in Wednesday's Issue.)

Good Night Stories

(By Ruth Yancey Cameron)

BUCK, THE OLD BROWN MULE. Buck was an old brown mule with a very bad disposition. Nothing ever suited Buck. His food never tasted good, and the water of the sparkling spring was always too warm to drink. No matter which way you wanted Buck to go, Buck generally took it into his head to go just the opposite way.

In fact, Buck was the most stubborn, disagreeable animal on the place. "Some day when you lose this master and find a mean one you'll be sorry for the way you treat him," said Bossy, the brown cow, who shared the stable with him.

"I don't care to go to town on hot days like this," complained Buck when his master hitched him to the wagon.

"Go ahead and don't be foolish," Bossy advised. "The faster you go, the quicker you'll get back." But Buck went away in a rage and made up his mind that his master would be sorry for the trip that day.

He jogged along slowly, stopping every now and then to nibble the grass at the roadside, until his master, who wanted to hurry at last got out of the wagon and reined Buck's head up so he couldn't eat.

This made Buck quite angry and he started so quickly that his master lost his hat.

"Whoa, whoa!" cried his master. But Buck paid no attention and ran on down the road, never stopping until he reached the bend. The high bushes hid the other side of the road from Buck's view and suddenly he turned into the middle of the road and stopped dead still. He hadn't heard the foot of an auto horn, and before Buck could move aside, a great, big red auto crashed into him.

When Buck's eyes opened his master was stroking his throbbing head, and glad he's not killed," said the stranger.

"Yes, I'd hate to lose Buck. He's mean and stubborn, but I'm fond of him just the same. If he hadn't been cutting up one of his pranks, this would never have happened," said his master.

Buck, very much ashamed of himself, struggled to his feet. His poor old head ached and he trembled from head to foot.

"Well, I hope you profit by your bump. I've found if one does his work cheerfully it doesn't take nearly as long as when one is cross. Then, too, the tasks don't seem so hard."

"I've been stubborn and mean for the last time. If the master had beaten me for my meanness I wouldn't have minded nearly so much, but his kindness makes me ashamed of myself. Bless him!"

"From now on I'll work hard for him and if he wants me to hurry I'll run my heels off, no matter how hot the day," said Buck.

From that time on he was the best behaved animal on the place, for he had learned his lesson.

tumbling around." They See Everything Those People Do Through Their Prejudices. I think a great many people are like that. That is, they get prejudices against certain people, and then view everything they do through the blue glasses of that prejudice.

If the person disliked does some kind act they search jaundicedly for an unlovely motive.

If he does something really objectionable they fall upon it with delight, repeat it, exaggerate it. Some Caustic Unpleasant Comment. When they hear something that is neither good nor bad (like the news of the sprained ankle) they still find some caustic, unnamable comment to make.

It is strange to see what good, conscientious, lovable people will permit themselves to wear the blue glasses of prejudice. And the worst of those blue glasses is that one gets used to them so easily that one does not realize one is wearing them.

Pres. V. M. C. Chaplain Service, Brantford, Ontario, July 25th To the ladies of the Red Cross Society, Brantford.

Dear Friends—At present wearing a pair of socks and top is a little tab, and on it Brantford Red Cross. As the boys are wearing the same that it is only right to write line of thanks on behalf of and myself. I can assure you your work is greatly appreciated in France.

To know just how much I imagine doing from eight to ten days in the trenches and where everything you touch with a most generous mud and water. Nice dry socks a great deal of comfort, will no doubt want to know writing, and as we always address in the centre, this 730620 Pte. Harvey Fletcher 8th M. G. Co's Canadian Exp. France. As you are interested our welfare I will try to give some idea how we live day when going into the trenches resemble pack mules laden grub and material for our "Fritz" with lead souvenirs M. Gunners' shells. The rule is a piece of corrugated mud on the top. The about the same material, mud. This keeps the rain about 20 minutes, in case storm. It also keeps out earth and steel thrown up by whizz-bangs, etc. If one the top, good-night.

The shelter is one large five men and supplies about square. This is our kitchen, and a few blankets to stay for our spell in the line in the day and working. Nights are generally very fine. One for water, one for the rest either dig for more or put over a few thousand just to pass the evening. Water, we get by carrying it to some well that is as well Fritz as it is to us, and in the morning he makes a very pleasant putting a few blankets on. We wait till he is gassed, then we get water and home. After ducking a shell, we get back to the remarks "How quiet the night." The ration menu very similar experience. The party kept picking away in the trench, and the rest of the night we have a very busy time of it.

When we are in our all we are relieved, and then a merry chase back to camp everything we own on our this with our gun and makes a very respectable looking soldier. We have a few barbed wire, etc., and some English that is not Webster, we have a real time coming out.

When in the line we cook meals. You should see us with a primitive stove or a few holes in it, we make this operation we must not smoke. This is an art in itself. After struggling manfully two hours, our meal is done. Then our chef howls horn voice. "First call for coffee, second call for beer, like that. Everyone is required out of bed while the mess case any one insists on having a drink, he is severely reprimanded. There is generally a certain of hay in the tea, and plenty on the bacon, but our appetite, our teeth, our stomachs, each better, so that does us. Then comes the terrible washing the mess tins, and then we go to bed in our usual routine. We have the red and sixty-five days a enjoy it (?) But we get sometimes in France, you fitted to ten days leave. To as a rule six months later.

So everything is in the hands of the V. M. C. helps. We also have a few curious insects that keep Life in France is not all so have plenty of fun as well make the very best of it.

BRANTFORD RED CROSS MEMBERS

Editor Courier,
Dear Sir—Will you kindly print the enclosed copy of a letter from a boy at the front.

Yours truly,
CHARLOTTE LIVINGSTON,
Pres. W. P. L.
On Active Service,
Chaplain Service, Canadian Corps
France, July, 25th, 1917.
To the ladies of the Red Cross Society, Brantford.

Dear Friends—At present I am wearing a pair of socks and at the top is a little tab, and on it marked, Brantford Red Cross. As several of the boys are wearing the same, I feel that it is only right to write you a line of thanks on behalf of the boys and myself. I can assure you that your work is greatly appreciated by us in France.

To know just how much, you can imagine doing from eight to eighteen boys in the trenches and dugouts, where everything you touch leaves you with a most generous supply of mud and water. Nice dry socks gives a great deal of comfort. As you will no doubt want to know who is writing, and as we always put our address in the centre, this is mine: 730620 Pte. Harvey Fletcher, B. Co. 8th M. G. Co's Canadians, B. E. F., France. As you are interested in our welfare, I will try to give you some idea how we live day by day. When going into the line we greatly resemble pack mules laden with grub and material for supplying "Fritz" with lead souvenirs. As M. Gunners we usually have some kind of a shelter. The roof as a rule is a piece of corrugated iron with mud on the top. The walls are about the same material, minus the iron. This keeps the rain out for about 20 minutes. In case of a storm, it also keeps out a lot of earth and steel thrown up by H. E.'s whizz-bangs, etc., but if one lands on the top, good-night.

The shelter is one large room for five men and supplies about six foot square. This is our kitchen, parlor, sleeping apartments, etc. Here we stay for our spell in the line, sleeping in the day and working at night. Nights are generally very interesting. One for water, one for rations, and the rest either dig for more shelter or put over a few thousand rounds, just to pass the evening. To get water, we go probably a mile or so to some well that is as well known to Fritz as it is to us, and in the evening he makes a very pleasant trip by putting a few whizz bangs in, at intervals. We wait till he gets a bit tired, then we get water and start for home. After ducking a few more shells, we get back and somebody remarks "how quiet the evening is to-night." The ration man has a very similar experience. The firing party keep picking away most of the night. In case "Fritz" becomes real mean and forces our infantry back, all we have to do is to stay behind and keep the guns working till we are put out of business. You see we have a very busy time of it.

When we are in our allotted time we are relieved, and then begins a merry chase back to camp. We put everything we own on our back and this with our gun and munitions, makes a very respectable load. We hustle along through shell holes over barbed wire, etc., to dodging more shells and using a lot of pure English that is not written in Webster, we have a real pleasant time coming out.

When in the line we cook our own meals. You should see us cook, it is something never to be forgotten. With a primitive stove or a can with a few holes in it, we make a fire. In this operation we must not make any smoke. This is an art learned by soldiering in France.

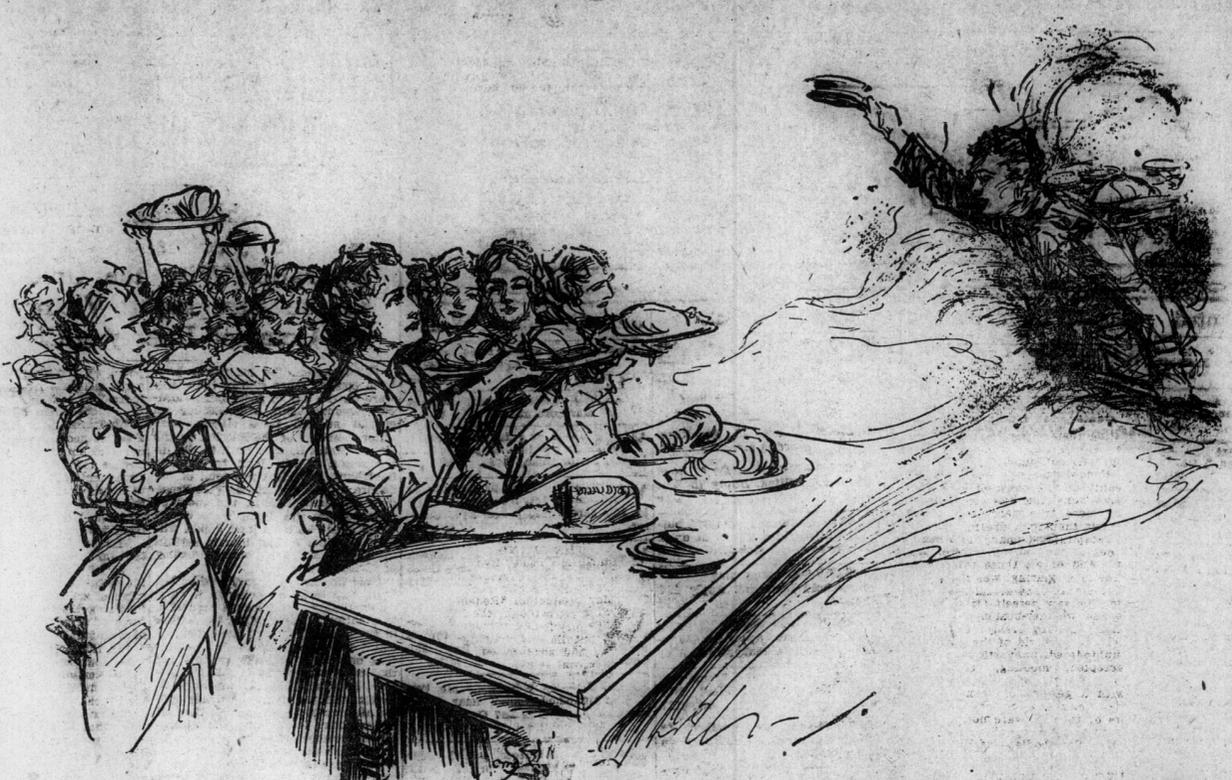

After struggling manfully for probably two hours, our meal is prepared. Then our chef howls in a fog horn voice, "First call for breakfast in the cafe car," or something like that. Everyone is requested to get out of bed while the meal on. In case any one insists on having breakfast in bed he is severely dealt with. There is generally a certain amount of hay in the tea, and plenty of sand on the bacon, but our appetites are keen, our teeth good and our stomachs better, so that does not trouble us. Then comes the terrible task of washing the mess tins, everybody claims that he did it last, and of course there is a row. If the dishes, by any chance, are not washed, well, we have to use them anyway.

When resting behind the lines we drill, play games and eat to keep us in shape. One satisfaction, there are no shells to get away from. Occasionally Fritz comes over in his aeroplane and drops a few bombs, just to let us know he is still on the job. When this happens we scatter right smartly. When the excitement is over, everyone says, "I wasn't a bit afraid. Just out walking for my health." So we go back to our tents and carry on. We have a certain time out, then we go in again. This is the usual routine. We have three hundred and sixty-five days a year, and enjoy it (?). But we get a leave sometimes if you can get through this, a year in France, you are entitled to ten days leave. This comes as a rule six months later.

So everything is fine. We have concerts in the Y. M. C. A., that helps. We also have a few rare and curious insects that keep us busy. Life in France is not all sorrow. We have plenty of fun as well, and we make the very best of it.

Now friends, I think I have given you some idea of how we live from day to day, so I will close with best wishes to the Brantford Red Cross Society. Again thanking you, I am,
Yours truly,
HARVEY FLETCHER.

Vision Your Sons, Mothers of Canada

Vision them at early morning when through rising mists, there bursts a hurricane of fire—

See your valiant boys—calm, grim, but cheerful—stand-to-arms—until the Hun's "morning hate" dies away.

Picture them at breakfast, the meal that must bring them the bodily sustenance to carry them through the strain of another day.

Then think of what might happen if, one morning, there was no breakfast—no food to be had, and the word went down the lines that Canada had failed them.

Vision all these things, and then—As Women of Canada—Mothers of Men—Answer this Call to Service.

Canada must send to Her Own, and to the Allies Fighting Forces, more wheat, more beef, more bacon, and more of such other foods as are non-perishable and easily exported.

They Must Be Fed

Statistics show that, everyday, in Canada, sufficient food is thrown into garbage cans, to feed the entire Canadian Overseas Army.

Travellers have often remarked that many a European family would live well upon the quantity and quality of food wasted in some Canadian homes.

Such waste is shameful at any time; but in these times it is criminal.

Woman's Auxiliary, Organization of Resources Committee, in Co-operation with The Hon. W. J. Hanna, Food Controller.

Sign the Food Service Pledge

Canada can do this, without depriving her own population of a fair share of any of these foods if You Women will but help.

All we ask of you is, that instead of buying so much white flour (if you do your own baking) you vary your baking by using one-third oatmeal, corn, barley or rye flour. Or, if you buy your bread, that you order a certain proportion of brown bread each day.

Second, instead of using as much beef and bacon as formerly, you vary your family's diet, by substituting for beef and bacon such equally nutritious foods as fish, peas, lentils, potatoes, nuts, bananas, etc.

Third, and this is most important—positively prevent the waste of a single ounce of food in your household.

Our only hope is that with these truths before you, and in view of the vital issues at stake, we may count upon your earnest co-operation in stopping this appalling waste; and in substituting other foods for the wheat, beef and bacon that must be sent overseas.

Next week a Food Service Pledge and Window Card will be delivered to you. The Pledge is your Dedication to War Service. The Window Card your Emblem of Honour.
