There will be three ladies' and three men's events in the factories, and handsome forfeits on the holiday will not be levied in each section. Those present at last night's meeting were Messrs. McKelvey, Feldkamp, Mosley, Webster, Copeland, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Kite, Miss Meredith, Miss Allen and Mrs. Potter.

The weather conditions were favorable to the raiders and the Vindictive carried only a sufficient men to work her properly.

To The Editor of The Courier

To The Editor, Dear Sir:— With reference to an item which appeared in your issue of last evening, wherein a certain Russian appeared before the Trades Council for the purpose of having my action "investigated," a little general explanation may be in order. Were it not for the fact that this question is of interest in a general sense at this time I should have ignored the incident, and my reply is in no sense intended to gratify the offended gentleman or his friends. In passing it may be well to say that so far as the question of printing the book was concerned, we followed the usual procedure in such matters. It is well known to most people that any reputable printing establishment is obliged to obey the laws of the land in such matters. In the ordinary course of business it is sometimes necessary before undertaking to print certain books, pamphlets or circulars to first ascertain whether the publication of same is permitted in Canada, and in our experience we have had to refer such matters to the proper authorities on many previous occasions. So that in this instance the Russian customer was treated exactly as we have treated many requests of a like nature. The fact that I was Mayor of the City had in connection with the matter what was merely an ordinary business proposition, and I had only given the booklet a casual glance. Having just left the Police Department a few minutes before, I knew the Chief was in his office, and accordingly I phoned him, asking him if he would come over to my office, and inform me whether such a publication could be issued.

Here is the point where the true character of the Russian gentleman asserted itself. He was not content to enjoy the liberty so dear to all who live under the British flag. He demanded an "unrestricted license" and proceeded to direct a tirade of abuse at the "very idea" of the Mayor assuming to question his "right" to have printed just what he pleased. No Chief of Police, no Mayor or any other official should interfere with his "Bolshevik" given right to print and circulate anything and everything he pleased. The only thing lacking wherewith to create a revolution right on the spot was the little old "soap box." The Mayor was the "spy of the Capitalistic class" and the Chief was the "incarnate representative of the hated autocrats." We did not get a chance to get a word in edgeways but we were impressed with the Lenin, Trotsky and all the other "liberals" of Russia was speaking not "to" us, but "at" us.

I have been accused of lacking many virtues in the past, but this chap certainly said it all—and then some. It has been my pleasure to read Dantes "Divine Comedy," but here was comedy that was surely not funny. The Chief enjoyed it—better, ask him. I believe that even such a stern gentleman has a sense of humour. He came from the "old school" and the Chief, in a joking manner, said that he was a Scotch descent.

So much for the incident as a purely business proposition between MacBride as a customer and the Russian as a customer. However, now that the Trades Council has seen fit to permit the matter to be discussed in their rooms at their regular public session, an opportunity is afforded to correct a misapprehension in regard to my connection with Labour matters in this city. There is an opinion prevalent throughout the city that the "Independent Labour Party" is the Trades and Labour Council are one and the same body. This is entirely contrary to the facts. The "Independent Labour Party" is purely a political organization and is open to all men and women who work either by hand or brain. Its aim is the broadest democratic principles, and is not Socialistic in any sense.

The doors are wide open to any person who is prepared to stand for the principle of Democracy in Government under the British Constitution. We believe that it is necessary in the best interests of this country that the "Independent Labour Party" should be represented in Parliament and in our Legislative bodies. Our policy is "evolutionary" and not "revolutionary." The ballot is the only weapon we require, and we are thoroughly satisfied that Canada should remain a part of the Great Empire of Britain, and we are glad to do our part in the present struggle to defeat the arch enemy of freedom.

No more intensely loyal body of men and women are to be found anywhere than the members of the Independent Labour Party of this city. We love our country and we hope to make it a great free homeland for the generations yet to come. What better soil could be found in which to plant the seed of Democracy than this glorious Canada—a land with only seven million people and room for a hundred million more. Undreamed of natural resources to develop, every opportunity to profit by the mistakes of other countries. A heritage sanctified to us by the blood of "our boys over there." Is it not worthy of the best that we all can give? We strongly object to the exploitation of the public treasury by the Flavelle interests and the Railway Corporations, but we regard the honest investor as a mighty factor in the development of the country. Our membership is much larger than is generally supposed, and as the Expositor was once known to remark is a "force to be reckoned with." The brightest men from the different labour unions in the city are members, in fact practically all the workers in the city are more or less interested in the activities of the organization. Some of the members no doubt, have advanced economical ideas—some may even be Socialists in the broader sense of the word, but in all my experience in the movement I want to go on record as saying that no more loyal or broader-minded body of citizens can be found anywhere. No excuse need be offered for the existence of the Independent Labour Party—conditions made its organization necessary and its record will soon justify that existence.

The Trades and Labour Council is an organization composed of delegates from the different Labour Unions of the city, and constitutionally should deal with matters of an industrial nature and a non-political. Its relation to the Independent Labour Party is on a par with the relation of the Board of Trade to either the Conservative or Liberal Parties. There are men in the Trades Council who are also members of the Labour Party—and some of them mighty good fellows. I suppose I am not divulging any secret, however, when I say that they are also men in the Board of Trade who are good Grits and Tories—or are they all "Unionists" now? By Jove, won't it be most embarrassing when the time comes to discuss around? To those who find themselves in doubt, let me whisper "Come with us and we will do thee good."

No comment is necessary from me as to the many and varied matters discussed by the Trades and Labour Council. They no doubt will continue to "conduct their own business as they see fit," but I have often wondered if they would not accomplish more and encourage a greater attendance from the Labour Unions if they tried the experiment of confining their discussions to matters of an industrial nature.

Certainly the attendance has fallen off to a remarkable degree in recent years, "for in the good old days" the old Labour Hall was usually filled on Labour Council nights. No good purpose is to be served by confining discussions to the concerns of public officials on any and all matters. No human being can hope to be perfect. It is a truism that "the man who never made a mistake never made anything." I have yet to come in contact with the man or woman who is much more than a good, fair average of right and wrong. In conclusion there is just one thing I am sure of at the present time, and that is that every man or woman who appreciated the blessings of British liberty should lend their best efforts to crush out the germs of revolution. I care not whether it be a Russian Bolshevik, a profiteering bacon hog, or a railway thief. They are all enemies of the very thing that our boys are fighting to save us from. They have gone out to fight to "make the world safe for Democracy." In God's name, let us "secure the money changers" from the temple, and crush every Judas who attempts to betray the flag. Such influences are as surely a betrayal of our glorious hero dead, as the act of Judas was, when by his perfidy, the Nazarene was given to the mob. Pilot failed in his duty. He shirked his responsibility. He chose the path of least resistance. Let our public men do their plain duty and we need not fear the Hun.

One dead Belgian is of more real consequence to humanity than a million Bolsheviks. The Belgians left to generations of the future an example of priceless worth. What an empty heritage the Bolshevik movement has given to Russia. Not only their own country betrayed but also the other nations which came to their assistance in their hour of need.

Thankful we are that we have many people from other lands now resident in Canada who fully realize that they are no longer living under old world conditions—and even if things are far from perfect here—the remedy is in their own hands in the form of the ballot. I am extremely glad that at this time it is my good fortune to be associated with Labor matters, inasmuch as it gives an opportunity to combat such vicious propaganda, and so long as I may occupy public office shall not hesitate to put my heel on any influences tending to create conditions contrary to the best interests of the people of Canada.

"If we be not true to them they shall not sleep in Flanders Field." M. MACBRIDE, Mayor.

ISRAEL'S RETURN TO PALESTINE. Dear Sir,—The return of the Jewish people to Palestine opens up one of the most interesting questions of the day, inasmuch as it is especially marked in prophecy. It marks the end of God's special favor to the Gentile nations and the re-establishment of the Jews as a world's power, which will in time be followed by Jerusalem becoming the world's metropolis, the first city of the nations. It is the culmination of the predictions of three of the greatest of Israel's prophets, and the Passover of 1918, April 27th, is particularly marked as being the date of their re-establishment as a nation to continue such for ever. On account of his preservation, Jehovah declared through Jeremiah, 16 verses, 13 to 18, his intention to scatter them among the nations and then in due time to re-gather them, but before we say that He says, verse 28, "first I will recompense their iniquity and their sin double." The term "double" is the key to the length of time they would be scattered among the nations having no polity of their own. The word "double" means a counterpart (see Webster), or a repetition in time. For 1845 years they had enjoyed His favor nationally, their prophet Amos representing God, says of them, "You only have I known of all the families of the earth"; now they should have an equal length of disfavor, a double, a retribution. Zechariah 9, verses 9 and 12, tell us when this "double" was to commence, as being the time when Jesus rode into Jerusalem on an ass, and because "they knew not the time of their visitation," he declared, "Your house is left unto you desolate," and noting the foregoing triumphant entry into Jerusalem, Zechariah continues, verse 12, "Even to-day do I declare I will render double unto thee." Turning to the Bible we are able to discover exactly how long God's favor had been upon them nationally and with that made clear it is easy to determine when the period of disfavor would terminate and their re-establishment as a nation commence. They were first recognized by God as a nation at the death of Jacob, Genesis 49:28. From that time to the Exodus was (Continued on page 8.)

Dunlop Means "Original" When you hear a bicycle owner say his tires are the original, not the imitation, he means that all other wired-on bicycle tires took Dunlop Tires for their model, because Dunlop was first in the field. The Pneumatic Tire Industry rests on the name "Dunlop." And next in importance to your realizing that fact is the necessity for realizing this one: Dunlop Tires from the first—1894—were made by a patented process. We found the way to make them right—a way that would impart to them such road mastery, such superiority of toughness and resiliency that they would sell eight times faster than any other make of bicycle tires. # SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

"A DOG'S LIFE"
Hunger, the most primitive of all emotions, according to psychologists, is the motive that supplies punch to many of the important scenes in Charlie Chaplin's new $1,000,000 comedy, "A Dog's Life," which will be shown at the Brant Theatre, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday. At the opening of the story, Charlie is awakened from his cut-door sleeping quarters in a fence-corner by the tantalizing odor of steaming viands offered for sale by a passing hot-dog vendor. This leads to a number of spirited adventures with the police, who resent Charlie's ambition to eat without paying the usual fee. Later on, Charlie's faithful dog, famishing for something to test his teeth upon, digs up a well-lined pocketbook that some crooks have buried in the ground. And when Charlie attempts to spend the money that has thus been provided in a nearby cafe, he meets the big moment of his career, for it brings him into contact with a beautiful cabaret singer, who is herself starved for love and kindness.

"BUNKER BEAN"
One of the most popular stories ever published in the Saturday Evening Post, "His Majesty Bunker Bean" has been dramatized for the screen as a Paramount picture and will appear next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Brant, starring clever young Jack Pickford, Louise Huff and an excellent cast will support Mr. Pickford in this clever story which deals with the adventures of a young stenographer who believes himself to be a reincarnation of a great king of Egypt, and until he is disillusioned, acts the part, marrying the daughter of his millionaire "boss" and making thousands of dollars in reckless Wall Street plunging. Director William D. Taylor, who also directed Mr. Pickford in "Seventeen," "The Varmint" and other successes, is responsible for the clever handling of the photographic version of this popular story. Bunker's Dog and Pony Circus, a feature attraction, will be the vaudeville offering.

"MR. FIX-IT"
In his newest photoplay, "Mr. Fix-It," Douglas Fairbanks has a unique role which, it is said, affords so many surprises as to entitle the portrayal to the distinction of being not only one of the best in which his athletic side ever has appeared, but one in which he is distinctly new in picture photography. From the slums in which Mr. Fairbanks battles desperately with gangsters and slides down the side of a house on a clothesline to an aristocratic home is only a casual step in this picture. It is "Mr. Fix-It's" theory that happiness is a habit and that real happiness comes to those who make others people happy. In pursuance of this idea, he enters the divorcee of persons of great wealth and skillfully proceeds to fix things physical and mental, which in his judgment are in need of repair. There are two pretty young women in the party who, although engaged to be married, are kept in hot water through fear of their future as the wives of their respective fiancés. The genial heart-fixer gets busy along original lines when he learns the stories of the young women, and he is involved in serious trouble through his unique methods, which shock and amaze all with whom he comes in contact. But "Mr. Fix-It" after many rebuffs which sometimes jar his pet theory to the breaking point, emerges triumphant, smiling and happy. Many of the situations are quite humorous, and all who know Mr. Fairbanks' wondrous nature, may be sure that in this portrayal, it is not subordinated to other considerations. Mr. Fairbanks is excellently supported in "Mr. Fix-It," which is to be shown at the Brant Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The cast includes many screen favorites such as Wanda Hawley, Margaret Daw, Catherine MacDonald, Frank Carpeau, Leslie Stuart, Fred Crookwin and others.

"THE SUSPECT"
The return of Anita Stewart to the screen is welcomed by a host of admirers whenever motion pictures are shown. There are few actresses who enjoy such popularity as she, and, indeed, after a most successful career, her name signifies that which is worth while in motion picture acting. She will be seen at the Rex the first of next week in a new dramatic masterpiece, "The Suspect."

In this story of Russian life, she achieves her most noted triumph. She takes the part of Sophie a Nihilistic spy. The introduction to the first reel is one of the most compelling dramatic conceptions ever filmed. One beholds the young daughter of a political suspect going to the prison to see her father. Arriving, she meets the levelled bayonets of the guards; but is taken in by the apparently kindly intercession of an officer. Within the prison walls, however, the apparent kindness of Karloff, the officer in question, proves to have been a cruel whimper for she is led to the spot in the snow where her father is mal-treated and left to die. And there she makes a vow, the fulfillment of which takes her through many adventures that explain much of the political intrigue of that great country.

"WOMAN AND WIFE"
Alice Brady, in "Woman and Wife," adapted from Charlotte Brontë's immortal masterpiece, "Jane Eyre," will be the feature attraction at the Rex Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. In this story, beloved by millions of readers in every land, Miss Brady's interpretation of the luckless heroine is already rich in worthy achievements. The story opens with Jane Eyre, a young girl living with rich relatives—Mrs. Reed, her son John, and her daughter, Bessie. Jane unfortunately happens to be reading a book the boy wants, and since he is the spoiled master of the household and she only "a poor relation," she is expelled to an institution ruled by the cruel Mr. Brocklehurst. She is introduced there as a deceitful minx, but her true character is soon discovered and she is loved by all. Meanwhile Edward Rochester, the leading male character, played by the popular Elliott Dexter—has fallen in love with Valerie (Leonora Moran) and ignorant of her hereditary dipsomania which his brother Raoul keeps from him, he marries her. After a child is born to them, Rochester learns the truth when Valerie becomes insane. He goes away with the child, and later receives word of Valerie's death from her mother. He determines to secure a governess for his little girl Adele; upon Brocklehurst's recommendation, Jane secures the position. Little Adele loves Jane at first sight; Rochester proposes to her, and their engagement is announced. Raoul reads of this news, and being in financial straits, he brings a letter, heavily yellowed, to Rochester's apartment. He is naturally bewildered, but he pays Raoul a sum of money, and decides to hide Valerie in his home until he sees what can be done with her. The mad woman breaks loose, roams about the house with a knife, enters Jane's room and sees the wedding dress there, which causes her to go wildly in search of Rochester. Her demoniacal laughter awakens Jane, who sees her enter Rochester's room, and finds him stabbed. He says it was a burglar, and for weeks Jane is kept in suspense, deeply mystified. Their wedding day arrives and during the service Valerie comes upon the scene, and the truth is disclosed. Jane is about to leave, despite her lover's frantic appeals to her to disregard "conventional commandments" when Valerie escapes to the roof, climbs down a tree, runs to the water and is drowned. Their cross lifted, Jane Eyre and Rochester now see an open path toward their well-won happiness.

OPEN BRANCH IN MONTREAL.
By Courier Leased Wire
Hamilton, Ont., May 10.—An announcement of interest in financial circles was made this morning by the Bank of Hamilton, to the effect that it will open a branch in Montreal. This bank has been expanding at a rate in keeping with its prosperity, but its 126 branches have all been west of Toronto. The first branch east of Toronto will be the one opened in Montreal within a few weeks. The steady growth of business and close connection between Ontario and Quebec has made it necessary to open a Montreal office, it is explained.

Up to a short time ago there were still 15,000,000 bushels of potatoes alone in Aroostook County, Maine. The Aroostook farmers were then willing to sell for 75 cents a bushel. Growers in many States have vast quantities of old potatoes they would like to get rid of before new potatoes from the South come in in sufficiently large volume to make old potatoes unattractive to the housewife and her hungry family. The most critical food needs overseas at the present moment, and until the next harvest are wheat, meat, beans, and dairy products. The utmost effort must be made by the people of Canada to save these foods by eating less of them. ## TO MAKE EVERY CHICKEN COUNT

Advice to Poultry Raisers; How to Feed the Young Chickens

The aim this year should be to make every thing count. Make every hen lay her best, make every chick mature early enough, and thereby make every pound of feed give the maximum returns.
Hatch early. Make every effort to get your chicks out this spring before the first of June. As a rule the heavier breeds hatched later than that date are not satisfactory. At least 90 per cent. of the pullets in Canada were not laying during November and December of the past winter, because they were hatched too late.
A little sand or grit first. When the chicks are removed to their brooding quarters, there should be some coarse sand or fine chick grit scattered where they can have free access to it. They should be left until they show positive signs of hunger, which would be between the second and third days after hatching. They may then be given some bread crumbs that have been very slightly moistened with milk. This may be scattered on clean sand or chick grit. If being brooded by a hen she will see that no food is allowed to be around, but if in a brooder, that part of the food that the chicks do not pick up in a few minutes should be removed, as nothing in feeding wastes so much trouble as having food of that nature around until it is sour.
Feed for the first ten or twelve days. The following daily ration of five feeds given about 2 1/2 hours and a half apart and continued from the time the chicks are two to three days out of the shell until ten or twelve days of age should be altered or adopted to suit conditions:
First feed—Dry bread crumbs slightly moistened with milk.
Second feed—Finely cracked mixed grains or cornmeal chick feed.
Third feed—Rolled oats.
Fourth feed—Dry bread crumbs moistened with milk.
Fifth feed—Finely cracked mixed grains.
In addition to the above, give the chicks a little green food, such as grass, lettuce, sprouted oats, etc. Do not have the moistened ration, but in a crumbly state, and during this period let the chicks on to fresh soil or grass every day if possible.

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Whom, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired and nervous. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZ, 608 Ottawa St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultz's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.
For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

IN THE WORLD OF LABOR

Calgary team owners employed by the city are demanding that wages be increased from 70 cents to $1.00 an hour.

Brotherhood of Railroad Employes has succeeded in organizing the dining car department between Calgary and the coast, and similar good results are being attained in the east.

Calgary Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' Union has signed up an agreement with the general contractors' association which will mean work without cessation until January 1st, 1919. The agreement is based upon a minimum wage of 58 cents an hour.

Organized labor in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., is making good headway. There are now nearly 4,000 members in the various local trade organizations in the city, and one of the liveliest branches of the Independent Labor Party in the province.

Teamsters of the Myles Coal Company, Hamilton, after a three hours strike received an increase in wages and arranged that they should hereafter work around the yards and barns when rainy weather prevented the delivering of supplies.

For the first time in the history of the Hamilton trades and labor council a woman delegate, Miss Sadie Weir, representing the recently organized Retail Clerks' Union, was obligated and became a duly qualified member of the central labor body.

Crop reports from Western Canada indicate that conditions in nearly every section of the country are exceedingly promising. In the same districts the increased acreage under cultivation is 20 per cent., and in many districts the wheat is well above the ground.

Organizer Eddie O'Dell of the Boot and Shoe Workers' International Union, after a conference with the manager of the McPherson Boot and Shoe Company of Hamilton, succeeded in securing an increase in wages of 10 per cent for more than 300 of the employees of the firm.

Sydney, N.S. workers have formed a company for the purpose of buying and selling general merchandise on the co-operative and profit-sharing basis. An act of incorporation has been applied for and a number of active workers in the labor movement have been elected on its directorate.

The Canadian Association of Marine Engineers will have no trouble in enforcing its wage schedules and working rules during the present navigation season. This organization controls the situation on all the Canadian waterways, and its demands have practically been accepted without any real opposition on the part of the shipping interests.

The machinists in the C. P. R. shops at Smith's Falls have organized 100 per cent, every man carries the card and if a new man starts in and can't show the paste-board he is told it is up to him to get fixed up and into line. Business has been brisk, and quite a bit of overtime has been in evidence and the good old union is as solid as a rock, one of the best in the I.A.M.

Union men everywhere will be pleased to learn that Jim Lockwood, the candidate of the I.L.P. in Algoma West in the recent Dominion election, and Will Armstrong, one of the live wires of the party, have been appointed on the Advisory Industrial Committee of the High School in Sault Ste. Marie. The Labor party won a remarkable victory at the vote in the recent municipal election, and the Labor union as a result are securing direct representation upon all the civic boards.

The St. Thomas journeymen tailors are in fine shape and have been successful in securing their full demands for material increases in price lists. The bosses readily granted the pants and vest makers' demands, but wanted to compromise with the coat makers. The latter, however, insisted upon the entire bill as presented, and the employers finally agreed to acquiesce. Local 141 is one of the oldest locals of the craft in Canada, and Secretary Abernethy has held down his job for a number of years.

A representative committee from the Pictou County Trades and Labor Council recently interviewed the Provincial Government in regard to legislation in the interests of the workers of Nova Scotia. Among other measures pressed for were meet representatives of bona fide labor organizations weekly pay days, free school books, eight-hour day, stricter enforcement of the Mines Regulation Act, and that mine inspectors be appointed by a vote of the employees.

Journemen tailors in St. Catharines have succeeded in securing an increase in wages of 10 per cent. After securing the endorsement of the international executive, representatives of Local 235 met the masters tailors at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and after considerable of a tussle, lasting for an hour and a half, the demands of the union were agreed to. At six o'clock a meeting of the local was held and the agreement ratified. It was some quick going all right. The new bill of prices became effective on April 15th.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ALWAYS KEPT ON HAND

Mrs. Ernest E. Adkins, Broomton, Sask., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets with great success for four years and always kept a box on hand." Thousands of other mothers say the same thing—once they have used the Tablets for their little ones they will use nothing else. Experience shows them that the Tablets are the ideal medicine. They are a mild laxative, thorough in action and never fail to relieve the minor ailments of little ones. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HAIG'S APPRECIATION
By Courier Leased Wire
London, May 11.—(Via Reuters' Ottawa Agency)—Field Marshal Haig expresses his deep appreciation of the services of the artillery in the Somme and Lyz battles. He adds that the infantry was the first to admit the inestimable value of artillery support. The British commander-in-chief is confident that the reliance of each arm upon the most whole-hearted and self-sacrificing cooperation of the other is the greatest possible assurance that all further assaults will be met and defeated.

Don't Wait and—Wish Work Now and—Have!

When drastic regulations for the rationing of food come into effect (and such an Order in Council may be made very early next Fall) you will wish then, that you had a crop of nice vegetables ready to take off your garden or nearby piece of vacant land that you could have cultivated if you had really wanted to.

Don't Wait and—Wish

If you have not yet decided to plant a vegetable garden make up your mind to do so now. You will not regret it. There is still lots of time. Potatoes and beans may be planted up to June 1st and these are the best substitutes for wheat and meat.

For good, practical advice upon how to lay out and cultivate a Vegetable Garden, write for a free copy of the booklet entitled: "A Vegetable Garden for Every Home." This has been prepared by the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the guidance of citizens who will respond to this call for increased production.

Fishing On Vancouver Island

ALTHOUGH I had always looked upon British Columbia as one of the very best trout fishing countries in the world, it was not until I came to Vancouver Island to live, that I fully realized how superlatively good it is. Sport which would be considered excellent in the best district of Eastern Canada, may be had at any time in dozens of streams and lakes on this island, and that, too, without being incumbent on the fisherman to travel more than half a dozen miles from the railroad, which, by the way, is now a branch of the Canadian Pacific system, although still retaining its original title of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway. At any one of a dozen points on this line, the sportsman who is not ambitious to overcome some of the really big fellows, can find excellent hotel accommodation within walking distance of water, which, for the reasonably skillful fisherman may be relied upon to yield daily baskets of from three to six dozen speckled beauties, running all the way from 1/2 of a pound to two pounds in weight, and withal full of fight and as game fish as can be found anywhere in the world. There are many camping inns where the best of accommodation can be secured, and the ardent fisherman who is looking for sport can make no mistake if he start out from Victoria by train and drop off at any station at which he spies an hotel. Should he desire a somewhat more elaborate outing with an even greater diversity of sport, let him take an automobile and strike out boldly. The simplest of camp equipment will suffice for such a trip during the summer time, and no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining frequent and ample supplies of gasoline. Thus equipped our sportsman may easily penetrate to lakes and streams which are veritably an angler's paradise. He will, however, find that on some, if not most of the lakes, fishing with a fly will be practically barren of results. Here he will need to bring a small spoon or an artificial minnow into play, and he will be rewarded with fish running as high in weight as three or even four pounds, monsters, which, if he be fishing for the sport with light tackle, will tax his skill and resource to the utmost ere he is able to slip the net under them. From this it is but a step to the last and crowning stage of trout fishing on the island. This consists in the following up of some few of the mountain streams, rivers, which really be a better word to use, which empty on the west coast of the island and which are comparatively difficult of access, but in which covet the patriarchs of the trout family, lordly fish which have been known to run as high as 14 pounds in weight and which are none the less as full of fight and sporting qualities as the very gamiest of their smaller brethren. Here may the true fisherman taste the sweetest of all earthly joys, that of landing a really big fish after a battle royal of perhaps a couple of hours duration, in the swirling, foaming waters of a rapid and difficult stream. This experience is not, however, for the lazy, unless one can carry a long line, light as thistle-down and with unerring accuracy, never a rise will one secure from the big ones. Let us suppose that our sportsman makes Victoria his starting point. Leaving the capital he will soon come to some famous grilse water where large baskets are caught almost every day in the proper season. The view of this water, known as the Saanich Arm, which is here shown, was taken from the roadway, some hundred feet above the water level. It is really a land-locked arm of the sea, and provides splendid sport for hundreds of fishermen from Victoria. Just a little further along one reaches another fine stretch of salmon and grilse water known as Ted Inlet, and here also excellent sport is to be had for the asking. Leaving the inlet behind and traveling some half a dozen miles further up the line, one comes to the Skwamish Lake station, from whence it is but a short ride to the lake itself. Here while domiciled in comfort at either one of the two excellent hotels to be found on the lake shore, the very best of sport with lake trout which sometimes runs as large as five and even six pounds in weight, may be had, and that too in the midst of scenery which will appeal to anyone with even the most rudimentary love of picturesque aspects. Eight miles further up the line Cowichan is reached, and here will be found one of the most famous trout streams on the island. This may be most conveniently fished from the town of Duncan, where the hotel accommodation is of the best. From this centre also a run of an hour's duration will take the angler to Cowichan Lake, where he is certain to find ample opportunity of testing his skill to the uttermost. Excellent fishing may also be had in numerous small streams in this neighborhood, still making Duncan one of the best resorts. The next jump will be one of rather greater magnitude, to Nanaimo. In fact, just over the mountains, through the angler who has chosen to make the trip by car, will find plenty of small streams which will well repay his attention. Leaving arrived at Nanaimo, the Nanaimo Lakes will first strike one's eye. They are not exactly easy of access, lying as they do some eight miles from the town, but there is a good road leading to them, through a forest in a st. state for many miles. As will be seen from the accompanying view of a morning's catch, the lakes there is no lack of fish, and that, too, of goodly size. While at the Nanaimo Lakes a tramp through the woods of an hour's duration will bring one to Echo Lake, a sheet of water which is also well stocked with magnificent fish, which will lead 9 pounds in weight. The best sport is secured for his surroundings the coal city also provides splendid sport in the shape of the trolling for salmon for those who like to see the branch of the angler art, through the town, holds many a fine specimen of sea fishing, will find himself been caught here running up to 12 well suited here. # BASEBALL, FOOTBALL, TENNIS AND CONCERTS AT REST BILLETTS

By Captain C. R. Carrie

After one of the regular, but nevertheless arduous, tours of the trenches before Lens, the 14th Brigade came back to the village of Y—, some miles behind the line from shell-fire, for a few days' rest. The village had long ago been demolished except for a few houses. The men lived in long huts—huts inhabited whether the men were there or not. In order to keep the battalions efficient in drill, and at the same time to give the most opportunity for the "rest" which it was intended they should have, parades were held in the morning only.

A Curtain Raiser.
The early part of the afternoon referred to was rather sultry, so that the men enjoyed a few extra winks of sleep. But about three they began to gravitate towards the rest field. An indifferent game was in progress, a curtain-raiser to the inter-battalion game at 3.30.

Soon the opposing teams arrived and proceeded to a short workout. A few hundred yards away on another diamond, two company teams of the 14th Battalion were having a friendly game surrounded by their roots. A few hundred yards away on another diamond, two company teams of the 14th Battalion were having a friendly game surrounded by their roots. A few hundred yards away on another diamond, two company teams of the 14th Battalion were having a friendly game surrounded by their roots.

Officers and Men.
Away down by first base, two generals and their staffs, along with quite a group of regimental officers, were enjoying a social hour together on chairs or benches in the shade of the trees, watching the progress of the game. The layout of the diamond was correct in every detail: home plate, chalked lines, bases—one would almost imagine one were watching a league game in its proper setting back home. Except for the distant gun fire, the occasional aeroplane overhead, and the absence of the fair sex, and civilian clothing, there was nothing in the whole setting that would suggest that these men were "strangers in a strange land." As the game progressed, one heard the familiar "jolly" hurled at the pitcher, the play and jokes shot at the players and at one another by the fans.

Umpires Scored.
Now and then a player objected to the decision of the umpire—through the umpires were officers, baseball, even on active service, knows no aristocracy. The 1917 rules book was consulted, the decision verified, and the game proceeded. Among the outstanding characters on the field was big "Slim," the Texas Leaguer, a member of the American Legion, who brought over all the latest baseball slang—as well as a few stunts in the twirler's art. As one watched, one would hardly think these men had just come out of the hell of the first line and were soon going back again. They were certainly not thinking about the war; the game was much too interesting.

Tea and Tennis.
Beyond the avenues of trees stood the Officers' Club. It was a 30 x 70 tent, especially fitted up for officers. Special reading and writing facilities were offered, with a good gramophone and records always "in attendance," and afternoon tea was served at the small tables with as dainty service as could be obtained in the finest London tea room. On the far side of the tent were the tennis courts. With the sides of the tent down, officers sat and enjoyed one another's company over a cup of tea, as they watched their brother officers trying to recover some of their old strokes in tennis. The courts were in fairly good shape, and the tennis shoes, racquets and balls were provided in the Officers' Club. Meanwhile, after an exciting finish, the ball game had ended. A line had already formed in front of the cinema. The doors were soon opened and a crowded house watched some of the latest life-size films from London. After a show lasting an hour and a half, the first audience dispersed, and a second, lined up outside, filed its way in, and the show proceeded.

The Concert Tent.
Over in a big field on the opposite side of the baseball diamond, on which some enthusiasts were still having a work-out, stood a big concert tent 30 x 90. A sign outside advertised a sing-song at 6.30, followed by an address by the Rev. Capt. McNeil, of Toronto. Before the hour, the tent was filled and the meeting started. The singing was of a popular character and very spontaneous. Then, after the singing reached a more serious note, the speaker was introduced. A few rounds of healthy laughter showed the speaker's vein of humor was working overtime. Then everything became quiet except now and then when a short burst of applause showed the audience's approval of some pointed assertion made by the speaker. Then prayer followed and a closing hymn. Only those who have heard a meeting such as this sing "Abide With Me" or "Lead, Kindly Light," know how much religious feeling there is in the hearts of men on active service in a strange land. Gradually the meeting dispersed into the dark, each man quietly to his own billet with who knows what thought uppermost in his mind, breaking forth finally into some mighty resolve for the future.

The End of the Day.
But the evening had yet another interesting feature. Over in the Concert Hall, after the cinema performances were over, "A" Battalion of the brigade paraded to a performance by the Divisional Concert Party. Eight o'clock found the hut crowded to the doors. Round and round of applause greeted the artists as the performance proceeded. Not the least popular with the officers as well as men being Marjorie, the leading lady, in his, or, rather, her fashionable Parisian gowns. The theatre itself is well lighted with spotlights and drop curtains. During the performance an American soldier entered; the colonel of the regiment called on him for a speech. He must have felt pleased with the reception accorded him; and his message from the American troops in France to their Canadian cousins was received with great enthusiasm. After two hours of splendid entertainment, full of local color and much hilarity, the performance came to a conclusion. It was voted by many eyes to try to see the show on the London stage. Certain it is that the contrast between a London audience and an audience of Canadian boys engaged on the Great Adventure is as that between a funeral and a wedding. Does esprit-de-corps count for anything?

The day was over—one of five or six spent out of the line. But it was a day well spent—in its restful effect, in its break in the nervous strain, in its recreating of morale for the strain of the morrow.

Rupture is not a tear or breach in the abdominal wall, as commonly supposed, but it is a stretching or dilation of a natural opening, says J. Y. Egan of Toronto, the noted rupture appliance specialist who will visit Brantford, Kerby Hotel, Saturday, Sunday (all day and night) 2 days only, May 18, 19. The "Curatru" is now used and approved, will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete comfort, but is intended to assist nature to close the opening in the shortest time known. This appliance has received highest awards wherever shown, producing results without harmful injections or other aids. Mr. Egan has testimonials from our own section for inspection. # THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT

The rules of Golf Committee of the Royal Canadian Golf Association has issued a strongly worded request to all golfers the coming season, to conserve more carefully the rules of the game.

There are 36 general rules of golf; 16 rules for stroke competition not to mention 22 definitions. Rather a formidable array of the cardinal articles of golf which every golfer is supposed to have at his finger tips.

And the great majority don't pretend to know a title of them. The Rules of Golf Committee have taken the most important of the rules and issued them in tabloid form for the edification and education of golfers both experienced and inexperienced. The proper observance of the rules undoubtedly makes for the proper enjoyment of the game. The members of the Rules of Golf Committee of the R.C.G.A. is composed of Mr. George Lyon, Lambton Golf Club, Toronto, amateur champion (chairman), Mr. T. B. Reith, Beaconsfield Golf Club, Montreal; Mr. Vere Brown, St. Charles Golf Club, Winnipeg; Mr. Ross, Royal Ottawa Golf Club, Ottawa; Mr. R. H. Reville, Brantford Golf Club, Brantford, (Hon. Secretary). Any of these members of the committee will be glad to see that an interpretation or decision on the Rules is handed down. All disputes the coming season should be submitted to them.

This summer will see the opening of the new links at Midland, Ontario. A very sporting 9 hole course has been laid out by Nico Thompson, the Hamilton golf architect and the prospects are for a most successful club. The course is situated equidistant, between Midland and Penetang and promises to be the social centre of these prosperous places. The magnificent new Montreal Golf and Country Club "St. Bruno" will have the finishing touches put to green and fairways this season but the course will not be open for play until 1919. The Catararug Golf and Country Club, Kingston, Ont., will have several additional greens opened up this season and by the fall it is hoped to have the whole 18 holes in commission.

The Hon. Brand Whitlock, the U.S. Minister to Belgium, who took such a prominent stand in trying to save the life of the martyred nurse, Miss Cavell, at the latest prominent man of the war to come out strongly in favour of the continuation of sports these stressful times. In a letter to Mr. S. P. Jermain of the "Athletic" golf in Toledo he makes use of the quotation that Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton, and emphatically adds that old and young alike should continue their outdoor games. Mr. Whitlock is himself an enthusiastic golfer and was recently accorded the signal honor of being elected a member of the inveterate Golf Club, Toledo. Clean amateur sports, contends Mr. Whitlock, make for a strong, virile, moral nation. "Keep playing."

Reports received up to May 1st from the leading clubs of the Dominion would indicate that over 3500 members have enlisted and that over 2500 golfers play at the supreme price. There are several clubs which have the proud record of over 100 members in khaki. First on the list comes the Royal-Ottawa of Ottawa with the splendid total of 115; 16 killed; Beaconsfield, Montreal, has sent 112, 3 killed; The Royal Montreal, Montreal, 110 of whom 15 have made the supreme sacrifice; Toronto Golf Club has over 100 members at the front, of whom 9 have been killed; St. Andrew's Golf Club, Calgary, 98; Norwood Golf Club, Winnipeg, 86, 10 killed; St. Charles Golf Club, Winnipeg, 86, 6 killed; Winnipeg Golf Club 66, 8 killed; Edmonton Golf and Country Club 55, 6 killed. The Vancouver golfers are represented by over 200 members with a death toll of 26. Of the smaller clubs the Norfolk Golf and Country Club of Simcoe, Ont., leads with the proud record of 53 of whom 3 have "gone west."

The Regina Golf Club has set an

Amsterdam, May 11.—Emperor William in congratulating Field Marshal von Hindenburg upon the Roumanian peace treaty according to Berlin newspapers of Thursday, notified the military leader that the big entrance gate to the old castle of the Knights of the Teutonic Order at Marienburg, Prussia, would have his name and arms inscribed on it. The Emperor also expressed the desire to name other parts of the castle after German generals.

The International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and Helpers is still making headway in Canada, and last week Vice-president Powlesland organized a local union with forty charter members, and arranged for another meeting to install the officers. It is expected that the new organization will soon be one of the largest in the Dominion.

excellent example for other clubs to follow. Owing to the unusually propitious weather the season opened there early in April and a match was arranged between teams headed by the Captain and the Secretary, in which the older and more experienced players were paired with the new members and players of only one year's standing. Golf, it is only a fair to confess, is rather apt to be a selfish game. The tendency is to make up matches with personal friends only; with players of one's own calibre. The beginner doesn't get a chance. He's side-stopped; he's not encouraged. Regina's idea is a good one. Once in a while a Captain in competitions should mix up the players—good, bad and indifferent. Give them all a chance to enjoy the game and profit by playing with a partner with some good shots in his bag.

The discovery in China of a tapestry over 500 years old on which are depicted figures swinging what look uncommonly like pre-historic golf clubs, has again given rise to the controversy in reference to the origin of the Royal and Ancient game. To the claims of the "Dutch" is now added those of the Celestial Kingdom. The majority of authorities however, will still stick to it that to auld Scotia belongs the credit of the greatest of all health-giving games. The following clever and humorous old poem sums up the whole question to the satisfaction of most followers of the Royal and Ancient.

When Caledonia, stern and wild,
Was still a poorly unklit child,
Two simple shepherds clad in skins
With leathern thongs about their shins,
Finding that dulness day by day
Grew irksome, felt a wish to play.
But where the game? In those dark ages
They couldn't toss—they had no wags.

Till one the brighter of the two
Hit on something he could do.
He hit a pebble with his crook,
And sent the stone across a brook.
The other, tempted then to strike
With equal ardour played the like.
And thus they went with heart and soul
Towards a distant quarry-hole,
With new success contented,
'Twas thus the prehistoric Scot,
Did wonders by an idle shot,
And golf was first invented.

THE NORTH AMERICAN ALPS.
As a help to the traveller who desires some definite information as to a territory that is exploited for a summer tour, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has issued a publication entitled "Scenic Features Through the North American Alps—Edmonton to Prince Rupert." The descriptive matter is concise and arranged in annotated form, by which all the special features along the line through the Rockies, down the Fraser River, across Central British Columbia and along the famous Skeena River are dealt with. The publication is also profusely illustrated with reproductions from direct photographs of the different points of interest that are referred to. Copy may be had free by writing to, or calling on, C. E. Horning, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont.

BE CAREFUL WHEN FILLING RADIATOR

It Should Not Be Filled to the Top—Timely Tip to Motorists

In filling the cooling system remember that when cylinders become heated the water expands, and that sufficient room must be allowed to take care of all this expansion.

Do not fill the radiator to the filling nozzle. If you do the expansion will force the water around the filler cap and cause it to run over the top of radiator and bonnet, giving them a dirty appearance. Frequently when this condition prevails, people are under the impression that the water has boiled over from over-heating, when as a matter of fact, it is simply the result of not allowing for the water's expansion, which, of course, always takes place when the cylinders become heated.

Put in only enough water to bring the level to an inch or an inch and a half above the top of the radiator tubes; this will give a room for expansion. Care in connection with this detail will save considerable annoyance.

When mud has become splashed upon the radiator and becomes caked on the tubes, or fills up the cells, it should be washed off with hose and water until the radiator is clean. If this is neglected, radiation is defeated, the water will boil and run out of the system, and the motor cannot be expected to perform satisfactorily. Be careful not to get water on the plugs, wires, or magnet, while using the hose.

When the water becomes rusty or dirty, flush out the cooling system through the radiator filler and petcock with water pump by pouring water from an ordinary garden hose into the radiator filler.
